Former Soviet Commander Named to Polish Politburo

WARSAW, Poland — (AP) — Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, former Soviet army commander now in charge of Poland's military forces, has been named to the Polish Communist Party Politburo — this country's most powerful political body.

Announcement of Rokossovsky's elevation last night followed forecasts of a shakeup in Communist Party leadership. The unconfirmed reports circulating here ranged from rumors of sharp criticism of prominent party members to wild stories of purges in the office.

The former Red Army chief, in addition to heading Poland's army, is a member of the State Council inner cabinet. His new appointment would appear to give him an even louder voice in Polish government.

Some diplomatic observers predicted further changes in the present composition of the Polish government would be announced shortly.

State Department officials in Washington recently said the Russians were planning a reshuffle of Poland's army and the Polish Communist Party.

Rokossovsky left the Soviet army last November to become marshal of the Polish army. At the same time he was approved by the Polish Parliament as a State Council member.

The announcement then said President Boleslaw Bierut had asked the Russian government to place Rokossovsky in Poland's service, because he was of Polish origin and very popular with the Polish nation.

Artificial Rain Efforts Upheld

NEW YORK — (AP) — A state supreme court justice has ruled that New York City's artificial rainmaking experiment is more important than possible loss of business by an update resort hotel.

Justice Ferdinand Pecora refused to grant a temporary injunction sought by the owners of the Nevada Country Club, Wawarsing, N. Y.

The owners of the Ulster County hotel contended that flooding operations being conducted by Dr. Wallace Howell, Harvard meteorologist, they said the rainmaking attempts jeopardized their large financial investment in the 600-guest resort.

Pecora, in his opinion, wrote that until the city's long-range program to solve the water shortage has been completed, such emergency measures as artificial rainmaking are necessary.

Distant Star

BY HERMINA BLACK
Illustrated by NEA SERVICE, INC.

When she came in, and by the evening she was coughing quite a lot. So that when Piers returned just before dinner, and came straight up to the nursery she asked him if he would mind very much if she stayed with Baba—as it was Louise's free evening.

"Of course I mind. I'll probably come and keep you company later," he told her. "If visitors are allowed!" Then the tender laughing faded from his eyes. "That kid does look off-color. I'll telephone in the morning for the doctor to come, shall I?"

"It would be a good idea," said Clemency. "Ought you to ask Mrs. Jones?"

"No. I shall tell her I have sent for him." Again that shadow in his face. But it was gone, and she forgot it as he drew her into his arms.

"Missed me today—a little?" "Every minute when you are not here," she confessed. "I always shall."

"Darling—" He kissed her, between her eyes so candidly full of her love, on either cheek, and then luxuriated on her mouth.

"You're a wonderful technique for a bachelor," said Clemency, rubbing her cheek against his shoulder. "Oh, Piers! I never dreamt I'd dare say all these things to you!"

He lifted her chin, a finger beneath it. "There are so many things I want to tell you and know what the most important will always be?"

"No—"

"You do. Three words."

"I love you—" She turned her head quickly. "Listen to that child coughing."

But Piers was in no mood to listen to anything of the sort just then as he drew her face round to his again.

CAN one be too happy? Clemency wondered dreamily, smoking a cigarette in the day nursery two hours later.

Baba was sleeping—not as quiet

In order that the city might not miss any bets concerning the health of its citizens, spraying equipment will be put to work spraying DDT in each ward as soon as the hauling of trash is completed in that ward.

It has been stressed by officials that each alley will be visited only once by trucks. This will make it necessary for people living on that alley to have their trash ready on the first day of the pickup period in their ward. Failure to do so will cause a slow-down in the campaign and could result in an unsuccessful one.

Although the civic clubs are sponsoring one ward each, the Fire Prevention Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will be the backbone of the operation. Members of that committee are Joe Fischer, chairman, Ernest Winborne, Huelyn Laycock, and Jack Edmondson.

E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said this morning, "This is more than just a clean-up campaign. It is a campaign to make Pampa a cleaner, healthier, and more attractive city in which to live.

Stores," he continued, "that need new neon signs are requested to install them, if for nothing more than to improve the looks of their establishments." Wedgeworth requested the cooperation of the citizens of Pampa in this campaign.

Workers who expect to help in the clean-up drive are requested by Ernest Winborne, fire chief, to meet at the City Warehouse, 700 N. Ward, Monday at 8 a. m. for assignment to trucks. Two men besides the driver will be needed for each truck, Winborne said. No definite number of trucks available was given by the fire chief.

GERMAN

(Continued from Page 1) American proposals in this field conflict on some points. Generally, the British favor giving the Germans far more latitude in internal legislation with the high commission exercising vetoes, only when legislation comes in direct conflict with the international aims of the occupation, or increases the dollar and pound financing of German economy. The proposals would do away with recent vetoes, such as allied rejection of a German civil service law.

VIOLENCE

The strike started Wednesday with the union and carriers deadlocked over the issue. Members of the National Railway Media- tion Board remain in Chicago, available for consultation by either side.

The strike was hitting coal production in Western Pennsylvania and Indiana. With no empty cars to carry away the mined coal, 14 big mines have an estimated combined daily output of 35,000 tons. Some 55,000 miners may be idle by next week.

In Indiana, half of the state's coal mines had closed because of lack of rail transportation.

Continuation of the strike is expected to hit hard at other industries. The rail tieup has affected the produce and livestock markets.

ely as she would have liked her to be—(Piers was sure to remember to send for the doctor) and she was alone with her thoughts

Loving Piers—being loved by him—having each other always.

She thought, a little smile touching her lips. I suppose I always knew it would be like this—when I came I'm glad I never cheated—I'm glad I never cheapened myself. I'm glad every heartbeat—all I am are his.

She turned her head suddenly, conscious that there was someone else in the room, and saw Jon Amberley watching her from the doorway, that half smug on his face which she had noticed when he watched Syrie yesterday.

"Hello, future sister-in-law," he said, moving forward rather carefully. "I've come to see my daughter."

Obviously, although he was not drunk, he was far from sober.

"Don't go into the night nursery, please," Clemency said crisply. "Baba is asleep. She hasn't been well all day, and I don't want her disturbed."

JON was in the mood to take offense, having had far more to drink than his inexperience guessed. He looked at her truculently. "Why kid, isn't? Or has my wife given orders, or my wife's boy friend?"

"Don't be silly," she said coldly. "Baba's got a bad cold. If she wakes up now she won't get off to sleep again easily. And it's your fault she has got a cold. Why did you leave that nursery window open last night?"

Jon looked taken aback at this direct attack. "Me?"

"Yes, you. I came in and found it wide open."

His expression changed to dismay. "I went out on the balcony for a breath of air—it was stifling."

"It's never stifling in there. The ventilators are always open. I found her with no bed clothes on and chilled through and through."

"My fault. I was a fool."

"Be more careful next time," said Clemency more gently. "A child could get pneumonia that way."

Carnival Underway at Austin

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Southwest Conference's spring sports carnival — track, golf, and tennis — tied today with the annual business meeting for headlines.

Track and field athletes — scheduled to begin preliminaries — watched the skies, hoping the weatherman's prediction of rain would prove wrong.

Golf and tennis competition moved toward a conclusion.

The Faculty Committee of the conference opened its annual business meeting with these subjects up for discussion:

Naming of a new executive secretary.

Broadcasting and television rights of football.

A report from the committee which met recently with Texas Intercollegiate League officials concerning recruiting of high school athletes.

Texas A&M, defending track champion, and Texas are expected to stage a two-team fight for the title again this year.

An interesting sidelight will be Charley Parker's bid for his first dash. The Texas speedster is winding up his collegiate career and is a sentimental — as well as practical — favorite in this event.

Wesley Ellis, Jr., a sub on the University of Texas golf team, yesterday took a two-stroke lead in golf competition. He shot a four-under-par 67 in the first round of play and 73 in the second for a total of 140.

Jack Turpin of Rice defeated R. C. Deberry of Texas A&M, 6-3, 6-3, to pace tennis' title aspirants into the third round of singles play.

Top event of this afternoon's preliminaries was expected to be the 880-yard run. Otha Byrd and James Hoff of Rice, champion and runner-up last year, were back again. Also returning was Bill Bradford of Arkansas, who placed third in 1948.

They faced a tough bunch of challengers, including Alex Ortiz and Johnny Garmany of A&M, Dick Brooks, Lowell Hawkins and Don Sparks of Texas, Bill Grant of Rice, Sonny Smith, Oliver Gatchell and Tom Hardin of Arkansas.

Texas entered 28 men in track and field preliminaries. A&M had 27 trying to qualify.

Yanks Suspend Wakefield And Hand Case to 'Hap'

NEW YORK — (AP) — The explosive Dick Wakefield case was shoved back into Commissioner A. B. Chandler's lap today, with the career of the temperamental outfielder in the balance.

The New York Yankees suspended the 29-year-old flycatcher without pay yesterday shortly after they had been ordered to take him back in the deal with the Chicago White Sox that didn't sell.

Wakefield, in Ann Arbor, Mich., said he'd give George Weiss, general manager of the Yankees, "48 hours to talk it over with me as a gentleman."

"If he doesn't do it," he added, "my alternative is an appeal to the commissioner."

It seemed unlikely Weiss would make a dash for the telephone.

The Yankee major domo appeared miffed when he called a hurried post-game press conference and announced Wakefield was suspended indefinitely, effective April 29, for failing to report to Chicago.

"He will not play again with the New York Yankees," Weiss declared.

A few hours earlier the commissioner had voided the April 28 deal that was supposed to send Wakefield to the White Sox for a sum of cash and outfielder Johnny Odom.

Wakefield's sudden report to the White Sox unless they restored a $5,400 pay cut from his 1949 salary at Detroit, giving him $22,800 for the year. His Yankee contract called for $17,100.

When the outfielder didn't show up, Chicago general manager Frank Lane called the whole thing off. Weiss protested, asserting the trade was made through proper channels and "in good faith."

They put it up to Chandler, who held that their verbal understandings were "at variance" and he had no choice but to "have the situation revert to the status that existed."

The commissioner, reached at his Versailles, Ky., home today, said he had no comment on Mr. Wakefield.

Under baseball law a suspension can last more than 30 days.

These are the various possibilities:

1. The commissioner may rule in favor of Wakefield, in which case the Yankees would have to take him back and restore his pay.
2. The commissioner may rule the Yankees acted fully within the baseball law. Thus the suspension would stick.
3. Wakefield may make peace with Weiss and come back home to be farmed out to the minors, probably Kansas City. (Weiss says he'll never play with the Yankees, Wakefield says he'll never play in the minors.)
4. After the 30-day suspension period is up, the Yankees may take the outfielder on the ineligible list. He would be out of baseball with no pay.
5. Wakefield may quit.

DIAMOND DANCES—The technique is different but result the same as, left, Yogi Berra, back to camera, and Bobby Brown grapple for Joe Gordon's pop fly in Yankees-Cleveland game in New York; and, right, First Baseman Henry Arit and Owen Friend, 7, collide chasing Ted Williams' fly in St. Louis-Red Sox game in Boston. Third Baseman Brown and Second Baseman Friend made the put outs.

Borger Gets Two Players

BORGER — (AP) — A red-headed Cuban catcher who roamed in Brooklyn, Joe Abreau, 28, and Joe Argento, Jr., a right-handed pitcher, arrived in Borger yesterday for a tryout with the Gasers.

Abreau, a trag agent, is a class man catcher with five years of professional experience. He spent his first year in pro ball, 1945, with the Chattanooga club of the Southern Association.

Abreau will catch tonight's game at Pampa. Manager Mickey Burnett said, after utility man Earl Perry's departure for Tulsa Thursday where his baby was seriously sick, Abreau will go on the active list today, Burnett said.

In 1948, he batted .341 while participating in 105 games with Bridgeport of the Class B Colonial League. Last year in the amateur league he hit .333 while playing 78 games.

He was handicapped in 1949 by an ankle injury obtained in spring training.

Argento, 19, is a rookie who has only previous experience as a slacker in the St. Louis-Red Sox League three years ago. He served as a reliever pitcher at that time.

YORK clubs, out of their home floor, where they play nearly all of their games, giving them a big advantage over the other tournament teams. . . CCNY's surprise win last year was probably the major contributing factor to the change. . . American League rosters show 28 ten-year men and ten more who'll achieve that status this season. . . There's some question whether all of them are active players. . . Oklahoma coach Bruce Drake deserves an assist along with his No. 1 player, Jimmy Vickers, for Charley Cox's victory in the Western Amateur Golf Tournament recently.

Just before the 128-pound Vickers went out to play Frank Stranahan, Drake wired him: "Vickers vs. par, not Stranahan."

Jimmy went out and licked them both.

ANSWER: Lanky Ted Williams hit 43 to top the junior circuit.

Longhorn League Plays Twin Bills

(By The Associated Press)

Odessa may not run away from the rest of the Class D Longhorn League, but the Oilers at the moment look like they might.

A double win over Big Spring last night, 6-1, 12-0, gave them a four-game lead over the Broncs.

Manager Al Monchak helped his team's cause with home runs in each game and Al Sokolowski came through with a two-hit pitching chore in the second one.

In other games last night, Midland and Vernon split two, each winning by 2-1 scores; San Angelo beat Sweetwater twice, 4-3, 6-3, and Roswell knocked off Ballinger twice, 9-2, 8-5.

George Fimbach's high 111 scored the winning run for Midland in the first game and a pinch hit in the seventh by Stan Graywax won for Vernon.

Wayne Wallace hit a two-run homer for San Angelo in the first game and another two-run circuit clout in the second to pace the Colts' victory.

Roswell just bunched hits to beat Ballinger.

Oleander Skeet Shoot Opens Despite Breeze

GALVESTON — (AP) — Brisk southerly winds failed to keep down high scores in the opening of the third annual Oleander Open Skeet Championships here.

George Glass, Sr., of Midland, won the sub-small gauge (.410) championship, yesterday, downing 48 out of 50 birds.

Herman Ehler of Dallas and Michaelis of Galveston tied for the small gauge (.20) title with 99 out of 100. Ehler won the shootoff.

Mrs. Ann Martin of San Antonio won the women's sub-small gauge with 43 birds and the small gauge with 93.

Indians' Win Streak Continues

(By The Associated Press)

Oklahoma City's winning streak is now eight games, but the Indians can't gain ground in the standings.

Last night Oklahoma City duped Houston, 5-3, but losing setting Fort Worth bunched Beaumont, 4-2, to run its own little winning streak to four and keep a four-game lead over the Indians.

Dallas won its third in a row by defeating Shreveport, 5-1, while San Antonio and Tulsa's tilt was postponed because of rain.

Oklahoma City scored in bunches — two in the second inning on doubles by Stu Locklin and Vince Shupe, a walk and a single by pitcher Charley Shupe. It added three more runs in the fifth with a double by Harry Mathisberg, a single by Fred Mathis, and an error contributing to the outburst.

Dallas bunched three runs off four hits and an error in the first inning and added four more in the second off three hits and another error.

ABC Opens Big Meeting Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — The convention of the American Bowling Congress opens today with indications of a spirited fight over limitation of the group's membership to "white males only."

Delegate Jack Bunsey, president of the Bowling Aircraft Bowling League in Seattle, Wash., will recommend the congress strike out the word "white." Some 30 to 40 city bowling associations, including New York City, Albany, N. Y., and Milwaukee, are expected to back Bunsey.

Lobbyists both for and against the "white male" clause were button-holing the 618 delegates in Columbus hotels. A change in the membership will require a two-thirds favorable vote — 345 of the 618 delegates.

Recent court suits have accused the ABC of racial discrimination. The ABC has replied: "No one has the inalienable right to demand membership; rather, it is a privilege."

Other proposed amendments to the ABC constitution and its rules and regulations are on a lengthy agenda of the congress.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Steve Owen, the football Giants coach, "couldn't be disturbed" in his movie cubicle. . . But when he emerged, trained by assistants Al Sherman and Ed Kolman, he grunted sheepishly and admitted: "I was showing these kids how Tuffy Leemans used to play." . . To not-too-stout Steve, they don't come much better than Leemans, and he's just hoping Travis Tidwell will turn out to be the same kind of player. . . "Tuffy wasn't so fast, but he was shifty and smart," Steve recalled. "He used every blocker, and even when they didn't block for him, he'd use them as shields. . . They said he couldn't pass, but he was always throwing those touchdown passes — about ten a season. . . Tidwell has a lot of savvy, too; he's played a lot of football. And you never know what he's going to do, either."

SAME PLAKATUNE

If he has the right kind of material — and there should be plenty next fall — Owen hopes to use a two-team system instead of offensive and defensive platoons. . . The platoons have worked pretty well for me, but sometimes a player doesn't stay in there long enough to get mad," Steve explains. . . "When we had our long winning streak in the 1930's, I used one team in the first quarter and another in the second. . . We were playing the Bears and they had the ball on our one-yard line. . . The first team held them for two downs, then the quarter ended. . . I just asked the other boys, 'Do you think you can hold 'em for two more?' and sent them out. . . They took the ball on the one-yard line and that really was the making of that team."

Who Says Social Aid Really Free?

The Economist, of London — which England's principal journal in its field — recently published a searching article called "The Cost of Welfare." It deals only with the experience in Britain. But it is of world-wide significance...

When people began to live in tribes, they saw this and drew up rules and laws to make life longer and more livable. These rules and laws were simply an agreement, or social contract, by a lot of people who wanted to live together without fear of danger.

Most interesting of all is The Economist's account of how government social security developed in Britain, in a very short period of time. Prior to 1908, poor relief and public education were practically the only forms of social payments...

Society's Restrictions Have Brought About Freedoms

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON — (AP) — If you were a pre-historic man, living alone, you'd have absolute freedom. But you'd be no more than a wild animal...

So never for one moment of your life would you be free of the fear of what some stranger might do to you. This would be pretty shaky living. When people began to live in tribes, they saw this and drew up rules and laws to make life longer and more livable.

When the American people decided to live together, they, too, gave up a certain freedom — freedom to kill. In return, though, they got a new freedom — freedom from fear of being killed.

Some of those laws take away from individual freedoms. For instance, laws against murder, kidnapping, rape, theft, etc. Their purpose is to protect against abuses of freedom. At the same time it is the purpose of the constitution to see that:

Justice Jackson said this week: "The court's day-to-day task is to reject as false, claims in the name of civil liberty which, if granted, would paralyze or impair authority to defend existence of our society, and to reject as false, claims in the name of security which would undermine our freedoms and open the way to oppression."

Such a decision, while appearing to be a defeat today, may well be a victory in a way that cannot be foreseen and serve as a precedent for some future court to approve a law that cripples freedom badly.

POLITICAL EXPEDIENCY AND DEBT. If by some miracle out of a Thousand and One Nights, the genie of Aladdin's fabulous lamp were to appear before me...

The Nation's Press WHY NOT INVESTIGATE THE LOYALTY BOARD? (Chicago Tribune) We commented a few days ago on the fact that George Shaw Wheeler, former state department employee, has renounced allegiance to the United States.

Wheeler had been cleared three times by Mr. Truman's loyalty board. At some difficulty, Willard Edwards of our Washington bureau has just dug up the records of the first of those hearings, in 1945.

The FBI and other security agencies had Wheeler dead to rights, as his subsequent conduct proved. He had been active in a number of the more notorious communist front outfits, including one that even Eleanor Roosevelt had the wit to leave because she found it run by Reds.

Through the hearing Wheeler's policy was to deny everything, and he was proved a liar on numerous counts. He had asserted, for example, that he was a New Deal Democrat. It was shown that he had been a member of the Socialist party during the early New Deal days, and one witness told the FBI that he quit the Socialists because Norman Thomas denounced the Hitler-Stalin pact, which Wheeler had defended as "realistic."

Wheeler presented some character witnesses. One of them was his boss at the time, David A. Morse, then an army major, now director of the international labor organization of Geneva. Morse got letters of recommendation for Wheeler from two higher army officers, and testified personally. He had already kept Wheeler on duty in Europe for 10 months in defiance of the civil service commission's finding that the man was disloyal.

National Whirligig news behind the news

WASHINGTON — New York City is a disgusting burgundy place of dirt and depravity, crime and carnal, beggars and banks, where the "tragic evils" of the capitalist system forecast its eventual doom and illustrate by contrast the splendid strength and virtue of Russia's communistic society and state.

It is the word picture of our metropolis which the first post-war reporters assigned to the United States by Pravda, Stalin's official newspaper, have sent to their readers. It shows graphically and more eloquently than President Truman's notes and speeches in order to deny world affairs are withheld from the Russian people.

It also suggests, significantly, that living conditions within Russia and the satellite countries must be unbelievably harsh and rugged. If such willful deceptions become necessary in order to make Stalin's subjects satisfied with their hard lot.

TRAGIC — This example of Russian reporting has current interest for government officials and the Washington press corps because the two men who wrote it, Gregori I. Rasnadin and Ivan Filippov, have applied for membership in the newspaper group officially accredited by Congress.

BROADWAY — They wrote that Broadway is a crowded boulevard lined with bars, joints and gambling joints frequented only by the wealthy. But they said that its bright lights, its restaurants, its jazz and skycraper buildings are only to be seen from the "ghastly social contrasts" of the city.

"WE OWE IT TO OURSELVES" Uncle Sam owes a lot of money — $27 billion, in fact. That amounts to some $1,700.00 for every person in the United States. This means that, if every man, woman and child were loaded with as many silver dollars as he or she could carry, they still would not have money sufficient to pay off the nation's creditors.

Admittedly, a debt which, for the average family of four, comes to some $6,800.00, is tremendous. The pessimists say that, whether we realize it or not, we, as a nation, are bankrupt. The fact is, however, that our Federal Government can still borrow billions of new money at interest rates below three per cent. What is the explanation of this strange situation?

The answer is simple. Bankruptcy occurs only if one cannot pay his obligations when due. In this instance, the taxpayers of the nation will eventually be called upon to pay the entire $27 billion, plus interest. But, during the same period, the bondholders will have received the entire $27 billion plus interest. And both the bondholders and the taxpayers are, in nearly all instances, citizens of the United States.

It is the word picture of our metropolis which the first post-war reporters assigned to the United States by Pravda, Stalin's official newspaper, have sent to their readers. It shows graphically and more eloquently than President Truman's notes and speeches in order to deny world affairs are withheld from the Russian people.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

NORFOLK NAVAL BASE, Va. — (AP) — They called submarines "the silent secret" during World War II, because they couldn't report where they were till they got back in port. It wasn't silent because it didn't have anything to do with the record of the Pacific war shows one-third of the Jap Navy and two-thirds of the Jap merchant marine were sunk by U. S. submarines. And this was done by less than 2 percent of the entire Navy force.

There is nothing silent about this service now. There is as much interest today in submarine and anti-submarine warfare as in any branch of the national defense effort. Main function of the U. S. Navy's submarine fleet today is to serve as "enemy games" for anti-submarine war games. The sub goes out and hides, then the aircraft carrier task forces try to find them and simulate sinking them. Or vice versa — the task forces come out and the submarines try to penetrate their radar screens.

One reason the Japs were defeated in the last war is that they were negligent on their anti-submarine work. Says Rear Admiral James H. Pife, Jr., now commander of the U. S. Atlantic Fleet, "The Japs were negligent in this respect, but something is being done about it now. Of the 194 'S' or fleet-type U. S. submarines in service in World War II, 90 are now in service. They can be preserved that way for five or six years. But what the Navy is angling for is to have the mothball fleet modernized, a few at a time, so as to prepare the entire force for an emergency. CANT DO EVERYTHING. Yet there is keen realization of submarine limitations. As Capt. Roy S. Benson, in charge of submarine experimental work for the Atlantic fleet puts it, "Most submarines are done by submarines can be done better by other ships or aircraft, provided they can get there, do the job, and get home. Conversely, most or many of the things done by surface ships and aircraft can also be done by submarines."

Two of the old fleet-type subs have been converted into transports. Each will carry 100 Marines and full equipment. Still another of the old hulls has been converted into an "oller" — a submarine supply ship intended to refuel the combat subs. New developments in underwater communications make the detection of enemy submarines much more accurate. While the Russians may have the advantage in numbers of submarines, the United States is now believed to have the advantage in anti-submarine warfare, due to the higher technical skill of this country. But the use of atomic-powered submarines and of torpedoes carrying atomic warheads is still too far in the future to be a factor.

Perhaps the greatest asset which the U. S. submarine service has, however, is in its manpower. It is strictly a volunteer service, and anyone in it who doesn't like it can get out by complaining. The reason is that the submarine service always has a waiting list from recruits up through Annapolis graduates. There is less of the old Navy stiffness about the submarine service than any other branch. Submariners have their traditions, their tall tales and their pride, but they aren't rubbed in on outsiders. Living in pretty close quarters, the officers' petty officers, ratings and enlisted men eat the same food out of the same galley. There is an easy familiarity, without any apparent loss of discipline or close teamwork.

Practically every one of some 30 civilians attending a week-long orientation course at the Norfolk base came away more impressed by the submariners than by anything the Navy had to show.

NO ALADDIN'S LAMP AVAILABLE The executive department has just recommended costly new increases in unemployment compensation payments (to $120 monthly) and a revision making it possible for idle workers to draw the payments six months out of the year. One commentator who reported the news from Washington said political observers considered the recommendations as a gesture "for making political capital for this year's Congressional elections. But I think we'd better take it a lot more seriously than that."

LONDON — (AP) — Britain's Labor government defeated a Conservative attempt in the House of Commons last night to cancel a 16 2/3 percent increase in freight rates on the nationalized railways.

The government said unless the increases were made, the railway system would have a deficit of pounds sterling 100,000,000 ($280,000,000) by the middle of 1952.

Third War Not Imminent

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff

LL. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger speared a crisp slice of bacon just as the chef walked up. Eichelberger, who led the amphibious Eighth Army on island hops up the Pacific and who for three years was Gen. Douglas MacArthur's No. 1 man in the occupation of Japan, was breakfasting in a Dallas club.

The chef — and he wore his high white hat — was Ellis Nedjar, former Frenchman.

"You take bacon," said Nedjar reprovingly, "and we have fine Virginia ham."

The general, now retired and a consultant to the Army, and in Dallas for a speaking engagement, grinned. "That's fine. Just save it and I'll have it tomorrow morning."

Nedjar popped into a chair at the table.

"In what part of the world is the war with Russia going to start?" he asked.

"Do you think there will be a war?"

"Oh, yes, there will be war." "I'm not so sure of that," said the tall, friendly general, a man decorated repeatedly for bravery in both world wars. "We have a habit of out-manufacturing our enemies and the word gets around. First there was the Kaiser and then there was a fellow with a black moustache. We out-manufactured them both.

"Now those fellows over there in the Kremlin have something we people in a democracy don't have — the power of decision. Over here, everything has to be referred to at least two or three committees before any decision is made.

"But in Russia, 16 men in the Kremlin have the power of life and death. The cars were bad enough at disposing of their enemies — but the boys running Russia now make the old cars look like pikers. You don't hear of people escaping from Siberia like they used to — it's a one-way ticket. You don't live to escape."

Eichelberger pointed to a couple of Negro waiters. "There's no discrimination in Russia. They'd kill a Negro just as quick over there as a white man. Not any quicker but just as quick."

"That's what the power of decision means. Life or death. Peace or war. Those men in the Kremlin could start a war tomorrow. But maybe they remember how we out-manufactured the Kaiser and Hitler. Maybe they figure we'd drop something right in the middle of their sacred red square — maybe not a hydrogen bomb — it could be something worse. you see?"

"Ah, yes," said Nedjar. "I see."

Some Experts Say Inflation Returning as Household Word

By SAM DAWSON
 NEW YORK — (AP) — Another series of price boosts here and there this week sharpens the debate over the prospects of inflation becoming a household word again.

Here is the packet of news: Wool futures prices in New York at a new seasonal high; millers bidding on government orders for fabric now ask as much as 45 cents a yard more than they did last October; the Sydney (Australia) market strong, with the world supply of fine wools tightening.

Metals on the rise again; zinc up another half-cent to 12 cents a pound; copper price advances rumored, as the price of brass and copper products goes up; steel scrap firm after recent price advances; tin up again.

Tire prices expected to go up about five percent within a month; natural rubber prices, up 40 percent since last fall, holding fairly steady at new highs; natural latex, the liquid rubber from which foam rubber products are made, now 35 cents a pound against 21 last summer; prospects for higher prices for latex products — auto cushions, mattresses and pillows.

Dressed pork prices up sharply this week; hogs inching up recently; spot prices for wheat, corn, beef, higher Tuesday; cocoa prices, up 20 percent in a month; still higher Tuesday, putting a squeeze on the candy maker.

Gasoline prices holding firm after their recent climb to new highs in many parts of the country; eastern fuel oil dealers announcing that this summer they will not give any price discounts to lure house-holders into filling up their tanks early.

Whiskey drinkers being told once more that the price of Scotch is likely to hold where it is because of an unbalanced world demand for limited supplies; but some brands of bourbon have come down in price recently. And vacuum packed coffee continued to weaken in price under the determined resistance of the housewife; further cuts of two or three cents a pound this week have been unable to move their stocks.

But with several of the various wholesale commodity price indexes at their highest level since late 1946, the debate over the strength of the inflationary trend grows louder.

Observers point out that in most instances prices have not climbed back anywhere near their post-war highs. Even the rampant metals are still well below their peaks in spite of the recent steady recovery.

The wholesale price index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, more general than most other indexes and therefore less sensitive, is climbing again but is still one percent below a year ago and 10 percent below the postwar high of mid-1948.

Inflation is on the march again, says D. W. Michener, director of research for the Chase National Bank of New York. He has his eye more on the money market than the commodity pits. He sees credit expansion at an all-time high; farm prices held high by the government; foreign aid keeping exports above their natural level; housing boomed by federal appropriations; and a easy money policies in the ascendancy.

On the other hand, Dr. Marcus Nadler, finance professor at New York University, admits inflation forces are inherent in the economy, but says the indications are strong that further increases in commodity prices and the cost of living will be slow. Increasing costs of production are more inflationary than the federal deficit financing policies, Dr. Nadler says. But this is likely to lead to a decline in demand, followed by a decline in prices and profits, and a rise in unemployment.

So, in this view, what you might gain in lowered cost of living, you might lose in income. Some days you just can't win.

Report Clears State School

AUSTIN — (AP) — An official report has cleared the State School for the Deaf of recent charges that pupils and employees are being abused there.

State Hospital Board Executive Director Moyne Kelly told the board by letter that he has investigated the charges personally and found no basis for them.

Three employees in letters of resignation recently complained that they had been personally abused by Supt. Roy Stelle and that students and other employees were also being abused.

Kelly said he had found during a one and a half day visit to the school that morale was good and atmosphere wholesome among both employees and students.

"I could find neither man, they had ever been personally mistreated or abused in any way by Mr. Stelle or other members of his staff," he said.

Joseph A. Jancke, made separate contacts at the school and took sworn statements, Kelly said.

Jancke reported to the board by separate letter that he had found the students contented and happy.

"Any recent charges of mistreatment or abuse are unfounded," he said.

The charges had been brought in letters of resignation of Miss of Miss Bonnie L. Flanagan, Mrs. Evelyn Buck and Mrs. Lei P. Griffin.

Free Trip Proves Expensive in End

WASHINGTON — (AP) — There's a federal law against unauthorized use of a railroad pass, and because of it a 39-mile ride cost a woman $100 in court yesterday.

She pleaded guilty to using the pass of her sister, the wife of a railroad employe, on a trip from Baltimore to Washington.

The $100 fine is $88.45 more than the coach fare she saved.

NO!
NO!
NO!

President Roosevelt's Board said—
President Truman's Board said—
Still the leaders of the Railroad
Firemen's Union say—

"STRIKE!"

This ridiculous strike is an affront to every citizen of the nation. It's not for more money. It's not because of hours. It's only for soft feather-bedding spots for additional unnecessary firemen to go along in diesel locomotives just for the ride. A leading liberal newspaper calls the demands of the union leaders "horse-feathers"!

• The reckless leaders of the firemen's union want to force down the throats of the railroads and the public a ridiculous "make-work" proposal which has been twice ruled out by Presidential Fact Finding Boards duly appointed under the provisions of the Railway Labor Act.

This demand of union leaders for additional and unnecessary firemen to ride in diesel locomotives was rejected —after months of hearings—by a Board appointed by President Roosevelt in 1943.

It was again rejected in 1949 by a Board appointed by President Truman.

Recent meetings with the National Mediation Board have brought no change in the attitude of the union dictators.

Union Leaders Defy Intent of Law

The union leaders helped write the Railway Labor Act. Yet in an attempt to jam through this scheme of pure "feather-bedding" by leading the members of their union out on strike and threatening paralysis to large areas of the nation, they are defying the spirit and intent of the very law which they helped to create.

This strike is not for higher wages. It is a strike to force the railroads to employ many more thousands of firemen who are not needed! It would be indefensible waste. The railroads have refused to place this additional and unnecessary burden on the public.

But more important than any other consideration, is the action of these few irresponsible union leaders in seeking to force a crippling strike upon the nation for their own selfish purposes.

There is no other possible answer to such a demand but "No!"

The railroads in making such a reply believe they have the whole-hearted support of the people in whose interest they are willing to fight this out, despite the loss and inconvenience that all will suffer.

It is time to put an end to such un-American demands.
