The Air Force only a few hours before General Hoyt Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, said the Air Force is ready to fight but doesn't have enough to fight with.

In a radio interview last night, Vandenberg said that if war should come, the unnamed enemy would have an initial air superiority that must be wrested quickly from him before surface operations could start.

"The air defense of the United States is inadequate and must be greatly expanded and strengthened to meet the threat posed by recent developments," he said.

Vandenberg's remarks were expected to weigh heavily with the Senate when it gets around to considering the big bill financing almost all federal activities for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Today's House voting centers on these three economy amendments:

1. A prohibition against filling more than 10 percent of the vacancies occupying next year among Civil Service employees of the government. Exempted are the legislative and judicial departments, jobs filled by presidential Commission and the armed services, Public Health Service and Veterans' Administration medical personnel, law enforcement officers, and some others.
2. A limitation on amounts that may be spent for travel, transportation, communications, utility services, printing, supplies, equipment, and real estate.
3. A directive to the president to withhold $750,000,000 of the funds finally appropriated, with defense money exempted. The president would have to find the places to do the cutting.

work" and that the second fireman would be unneeded on a diesel which has no fire to tend.

The Brotherhood insisted the man should be added as a safety measure. Union leaders said their men were being disciplined continually for leaving the locomotive cab to tend engines in another unit of the locomotive. They claimed this meant the carriers expected one fireman to be in two places at once.

Before O'Neill mentioned the "package" deal, Roob Allie, secretary of the Michigan Association of Railroaders, said he was informed all demands of the Brotherhood had been settled except one for assignment of a fireman to switchers of less than 90,000 pounds.

O'Neill said no further sessions were scheduled and added: "If either side wants to resume talks they can notify me."

The New York Central, one of the struck lines, uses a fireman on such engines now. The Pennsylvania does not. Other lines whose operations are crippled by the walkout are the Southern Railway, serving the South, and the Santa Fe, a principal carrier between Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Weinberg, now assistant professor of physics at the University of Minnesota, had no comment last night on her testimony. Like Dr. Oppenheimer, he was in the University of California physics department at the time. In 1949 he was named by the House Un-American Activities Committee as the "Scientist X" accused of giving away important scientific information in 1943 to a Communist Party official. Weinberg denied that accusation.

In his Washington statement last night, Dr. Oppenheimer went on to explain:

"I have made no secret of the fact that I once knew many people in left-wing circles and belonged to several left-wing organizations. The government has known in detail of these matters since I first started work on the atom bomb project."

He gave assurance, however, that "the non-Communists nations together have two-thirds of the world's people and three-fourths of the world's productive power plus — the greatest attraction of all — human freedom."

Steel Pipe to Iran

LONG BEACH, Calif. — (AP) — Port Manager E. J. Amar is supposed to be on vacation but he has just completed one of the largest deals in the history of Pacific Coast shipping.

Amar left here May 1 on a combination vacation and business trip. Now port officials have received word that he has contracted, on behalf of California

PRINCESS, AMERICAN WED IN MOSLEM RITES

Interests, to supply Iraq with 200,000 deadweight tons of 34-inch diameter steel pipe. The pipe is to be manufactured by the Consolidated Steel Corp. at Maywood and will be delivered to the Iran Petroleum Co. Ltd.

PARIS — (AP) — Persian Princess Fatiemeh and her American husband paved the way to peace in Iran's royal family with a second — and Moslem — wedding ceremony here today.

Fatiemeh, sister of the shah of Iran, revealed also that her 28-year-old bridegroom, Vincent Lee Hillyer of Los Banos, Calif., had abandoned Christianity last Sunday and accepted her own Moslem faith.

The couple was married first in a civil ceremony in Rome early in April. The angry shah stripped the young and beautiful princess of her royal prerogatives. He later relented and said he would restore the privileges if the pair went through a Moslem ceremony.

Among the guests at the wedding today was movie actress Rita Hayworth. She herself went through the Moslem ceremony last year with Aly Khan.

Rita took time out from the wedding to repeat to reporters denials of recent rumors in an Italian paper that she and Aly might divorce.

"It's not true," she said.

Rita's father-in-law, the Aga Khan — one of the world's richest men and spiritual leader of the Ismaili religious sect — also was present. He did not perform the ceremony, however, although last night he said he would. Instead an Iranian priest officiated.

For the wedding today, held at the Iranian embassy, the bride wore a white wedding gown fashioned by Maggy Rouff's Dress Shop. Hillyer wore a morning coat and striped pants.

Earlier the princess said her husband changed his religion at a short, simple ceremony last weekend.

Vincent, she said, stood before the mufti of French Moslems, aged Si Kaddour Ben-Ghabrit, and embraced the faith by saying these words:

"There is one God and his messenger is Mahomet."

Hillyer, a graduate student at the University of California at Los Angeles, is writing a travel book on Europe and the Middle East.

The book will tell of his trip to Tehran two years ago, when he first met the princess.

Good Will Violator Given 10-Year Term

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Irving Grossman, 29, has been sentenced to 10 years imprisonment on charges that the "dye" which he sold to foreign firms actually was common table salt.

Federal Judge Harry C. Westover, in sentencing him, said: "This is the most serious crime against international good will that I have encountered."

Grossman was ordered to make restitution to his victims in India, Holland, Belgium and Italy. It was charged that on one shipment of 115 drums of salt Grossman received $34,000.

Piggy Bank Stolen From Copper Magnate

ARANAC LAKE, N. Y. — (AP) — State police are looking for a copper magnate's stolen piggy bank.

The bank, containing 500 pennies and $5 in silver, was in $2,000 worth of loot taken by burglars who broke into the summer home of Edmond A. Guggenheim of New York City.

Three men are held in Franklin County jail at Malone on charges in connection with the theft.

State police said yesterday some of the loot had been recovered, but not the piggy bank or 80 bottles of liquor.

Texas Site of 'Black Dahlia' Suspect Hunt

HOUSTON — (AP) — Two Los Angeles detectives have been in Texas since April 28 checking for a suspect in the "Black-Dahlia" murder case in Los Angeles.

Detective E. R. Barrett said the man he and Detective A. W. Hubka are looking for is a "musician, tall, handsome, the kind women go for."

Barrett said he knows the man was in Houston about eight months but left around mid-April.

Deputy Chief Thad Brown of the Los Angeles police department told the Houston Chronicle by telephone his men have definite information on the man being sought in Texas.

"We've got something that may tie him to two cases when we catch him," Brown said. "He also may be connected with some other unsolved slayings out here."

In addition to what evidence we already have, the fact that he keeps dodging police is enough to cast further suspicion."

The Black Dahlia slaying involves the death of Miss Elizabeth Short, 25, whose body was found dismembered on a vacant lot in Los Angeles.

The other case referred to by Brown was the death of Mrs. Gladys Kern, 40-year-old real estate woman who was stabbed to death in a Hollywood home she was showing to a prospective tenant.

DiMaggio's Hitting Slump Is Problem

(By The Associated Press) What's wrong with Joe DiMaggio? The star outfielder of the world champion New York Yankees, one of the greatest and highest paid figures in the game, is in the midst of one of his worst batting slumps.

Not only does it have Joe worried, it has the entire Yankee team concerned. DiMaggio is the first to tell you that he's never felt better in his life. No aches, no pains, no back trouble and no sign of the heel disorder that kept him out of the first 65 games of the 1949 season.

What then is the reason for his current puny .247 batting mark? The Yankee Clipper would give a large chunk of his $100,000 salary to know.

"I can't explain it," he said before last night's game against the St. Louis Browns. "All I know is that my timing is off. There is absolutely nothing wrong with me physically. I had a great spring, I'm in perfect condition. My weight is just right. I suppose I need more batting practice."

Joe, nearing 36, got in some extra licks before the game. Still he went naught for four as the Yankees defeated the Browns, 4-2. Lefty Ed Lopat pitched a three-hitter for his third triumph.

DiMaggio now has gone six games with only two singles to show for his efforts in his last 22 times at bat. That's a microscopic .091 batting mark. During that time he has failed to drive in a run or score one. True, he was "robbed" of a couple of hits by some fancy Tiger outfielding last Monday, but the handle hit he got into short left field that day was nothing to brag about.

Is DiMaggio in just one of those hitting slumps that every player undergoes at certain intervals? Or have the years sneaked up suddenly on one of the greatest outfielders of American League history?

Meanwhile, Ralph Kiner, National League's home run king went on another batting spree last night. He blasted two home runs, one with the bases full, to defeat Brooklyn almost single-handedly. Kiner's sixth and seventh homers of the season enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to overcome a 5-0 deficit and whip the Dodgers, 10-5.

Kiner's grand slammer, which came in the bottom of the eighth, was his second of his big league career. That tied him with Philadelphia's Bill Nicholson for most grand slam homers by active National League players.

Only Rogers Hornsby, the old St. Louis slugger, and George Kelly, former New York Giants first baseman, made more. Hornsby hit 12 and Kelly 10. Lou Gehrig, famous Yankee first baseman hit the most in the majors, 22.

Met Parnell pitched the Boston Red Sox into a first place tie with Detroit in the American League, defeating the Tigers, 6-1. Walt Dropo, subbing for the ailing Billy Goodman at first, hammered his second home run in eight games for the Sox.

Eddie Joost's eighth inning home run enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to shade Cleveland's slumping Indians, 9-8, as Lloyd Little turned in a 3-2 victory for Washington over the Chicago White Sox in his first start of the season.

Lefty Johnny Schmitz hurled the Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 6-0 shutout over the New York Yankees.

Met Parnell pitched the Boston Red Sox into a first place tie with Detroit in the American League, defeating the Tigers, 6-1. Walt Dropo, subbing for the ailing Billy Goodman at first, hammered his second home run in eight games for the Sox.

Dukes Top Hubs, Haskins In Tight Pitchers' Duel, 3-2

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Jordan Pitta spun a neat six hitter for the Albuquerque Dukes here last night, beating the Lubbock Hubbers 3-2 in a tight mound duel with Chris Haskins, who lost his first start of the season.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the same two clubs are scheduled to meet at Oiler Park with Earl Doud, bespectacled righthander with a 2-1 win-loss record, scheduled to pitch the Hubbers against Paul Dean of the Clovis entry will decide between Bill Roasin and Frank Thomas.

The victory was a costly one for the Pioneers. They lost the services of their speedy and certain shortstop, Willie Earhardt, who suffered a broken arm in the ninth inning while sliding across the plate with the tying run. He will be out of the lineup for a long while.

Hits by Johnny Jeandron, Virgil Richardson and Joe Fortin gave the Oilers their runs in the first. Then both pitchers hurried and peddling them back to the more affluent outfits.

Once Lane talked to Wakefield, after completing and announcing the purchase, he undoubtedly knew he was the latest to be fooled by the Michigan neurotic. His mistake was not contacting him first.

Other White Sox officials realized Lane had been caught in the switches. For after the head man said, "Wakefield is a million of a million out of Detroit in eight years."

When does the silly season end in baseball?

George Weiss and Casey Stengel of the Yankees had the same idea when they swapped an extraordinary first basing prospect, Dick Kryhoski, to the Tigers in exchange for Wakefield, but the man of means held out, and reported late, when his Detroit percentage was cut the maximum 25 percent, or $525. The Chicago rubebarb came about, of course, when the slugger who takes too many third strikes demanded that the reduction be restored.

Baseball itself put young Wakefield in business and in position to do as he pleases. Baseball developed his financial astuteness, which is his strongest point.

Dick Wakefield was thoroughly spoiled by getting all he will ever need before he started. The original bonus baby — $52,000 worth — took close to a quarter of a million out of Detroit in eight years.

Hustling Men Of Paul Dean Win in Tenth

The "punchless Pioneers" of 1949 have turned into the "peppery Pioneers" of 1950, and the change in style of play has turned them into winners. They took a firmer hold on first place in the West-Texas-New Mexico League last night by coming from behind in the ninth inning to force the Oilers into extra innings. In the tenth they scored three times to take the lead; and then in the last half of the inning they put on a display of sure fielding to smuff out an Oiler rally with the bases full to take the 4-4 decision.

Until the ninth inning George Payte had had things all his own way. The Oilers scored two runs in the first frame off of Johnny Wasechuk after which the two hurriers settled down to a scoreless pitching duel for the next seven and one-half innings.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the same two clubs are scheduled to meet at Oiler Park with Earl Doud, bespectacled righthander with a 2-1 win-loss record, scheduled to pitch the Hubbers against Paul Dean of the Clovis entry will decide between Bill Roasin and Frank Thomas.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hass—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Joe DiMaggio holds the record for hitting safely in how many straight games?

MORE ABOUT the recent book written by Connie Mack, the "Grand Old Man of Baseball." The book, "My 36 Years in the Big Leagues," is published by the Winston Company, and hit the bookstands on April 21. Following are two of the articles as written by Mr. Mack.

"When Ty Cobb played his first game for the A's I felt somewhat embarrassed. Here was the greatest player of his time, twenty-two years as the star fielder with Detroit and six years its able manager. He was noted as an expert on the strong and weak points of all the batters at all the other teams. I hesitated in giving orders to this great of the greats.

"However, I realized that I was responsible for the strategy of the game. A rival batter came to the plate. I felt that Ty knew where to play him, but it seemed to me that he was playing too far to the right of the batter. I was about to signal my pitcher to put the ball where, if hit, it would go far to the left of where Ty was standing.

"Standing up in the dugout, I waved to Ty with my score card to move over to the left. Everybody saw the signal. Even the pitcher turned and looked. What would the great Cobb do? Would he follow his own judgment or would he accept my decision? He saluted me as a soldier salutes a general and followed orders.

"Now I was on the spot. If the batter hit the ball to where Ty had been standing, I'd certainly look silly. Ty had barely reached the position I had designated when the batter walloped the ball. Where did it go? Right into the hands of Ty Cobb! Did I feel relieved? I'll say I did."

"There are many who claim to have discovered the Great Rube (Waddell), but I'd like to put in my claim for a share of the honors.

"Like many of the early players, he liked his cups. When he was reprimanded for drinking, he would remark: 'Well, I guess I'll go fishing.' I'd rather fish than play baseball anyhow."

"Rube's wanderings took him to Detroit, then in the Western League; to semi-pro games in Canada; back to the professionals in Columbus; then to Grand Rapids; back to the Louisvilles, and on to Pittsburgh.

"A crowd had gathered in Brooklyn one day in 1900 to witness a game against Pittsburgh, with the Great Rube in the box for the Pirates. When the time came for the game to start, it was discovered that Rube had wandered out of the park. Immediately a frantic search was made for him.

"After many anxious moments the missing celebrity was found. A field of about 30 is expected. The Great Rube was under the

Gold Sox Drop Tilt to Abilene

ABILENE — (AP)— Amarillo and Abilene resumed their slambang baseball rivalry here last night with the Blue Sox collecting the long end of hits and runs after Amarillo had taken the first three games at home.

Abilene reversed the procedure with a 12-9 victory in the series opener, whacking out 18 base hits against three Gold Sox pitchers while Dick Tross went the route for the Blue Sox, giving up eight bingles.

The score was tied three times before Abilene went on a seven-run spree in the sixth to take the lead for the first time.

Round-Robin Brings Golf to Crown

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. — (NEA) — The 16-man Palm Beach Round-Robin Tournament at Wykagyl Country Club, June 15-18, with Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret as leading entries, brings the program to a close.

Spaden has rearranged the order of holes, leading the players back to the clubhouse for the 16th, the last four holes being in the immediate vicinity.

With the rugged, 370-yard par-4 18th played as the 15th, the closing hole will bow to many a sub-par effort. In the new order, the par-5 18th hole, actually the ninth, is susceptible to birdies with a long, true second shot. It was eagled three times by Byron Nelson in the Red Cross Open of 1944.

AAU EXODUS NEW YORK — The Amateur Athletic Union will supply personnel for seven major track and field excursions abroad in 1950, involving approximately 100 athletes.

gator and dragged it out victoriously. We had difficulty in keeping him out of alligator pools from that time on."

ANSWER: DiMaggio hit safely in 56 consecutive games.

DOUBLE PLAY—Richie Ashburn of the Phillies grounds to Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers in the seventh inning at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. Fee Wee Reese covers second base, but Robinson reaches out and tags Dick Whitman going to second, and throws to First Baseman Gil Hodges, who stretches to get the ball in his glove, and retire Ashburn. The latter, one of the fastest men in baseball, is rarely doubled. The Brooklyn club won, 7-5.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. NEW YORK (AP)— After committing his eleventh balk in eight games (33 1-3 innings), pitcher Charles (Red) Adams of the Portland Beavers admitted he found his hobby easier than obeying the balk rule. A quick checkup of PCL questionnaires revealed his hobby as "taming mountain lions and making tips out of them."

Cliff Lewis, Cleveland Browns quarterback, once drove the trotting horse, Bunter Hanover, to a track record at Berea, Ohio. The Cincinnati Reds have the word of Al Vincent, his coach last year, that rookie Frank Smith is "one of the most unperturbed pitchers in a jam I've ever seen."

WHAT'S ON THIRD Ray Stovick, Arnolds College coach, passes this one along for what it's worth. Seema Ray's third baseman, Andy Robustelli, coaches a girls' softball team in New Haven in his spare time. In a recent practice session, Andy saw an opening for a double play and shouted to the gal on third: "Second, throw no second!"

One-Run Games Feature Play in Big State Waco's backers in the Big State League must be getting wrinkles from worrying. Their Pirates are winning again, all right, but this latest victory spree has been by the thinnest of margins.

One-run victories went to the other three winners last night — Texarkana over Temple, 10-9; Gainesville over Greenville, 10-9, and Sherman-Denison over Wichita Falls, 12-11.

There were 26 walks in this weird tilt, with each club getting four runs the first inning, all via bases on balls.

Fine Hurling With Stars Out Indicates Cards Still Tough

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The Cardinals were relegated to the second division by numerous handicappers this spring.

When the Dodgers invaded St. Louis for the first time, Eddie Dyer presented a batting order that hardly would be recognized as blocks in red blazers, and it was hitting a roarer, 222. It went like this: Glaviano .227, Diering .240, Slaughter .216, Bilko .231, Blatnik .231, Schoendienst .171, Rice .263 and Miller .194.

With precisely no one hitting a lick, what then has held the Cardinals up? The answer is, of course, magnificent pitching, which indicates that there is a last gasp in the old pros of Sportsman's Park.

In seven of their first 10 games, Cardinal pitchers yielded six hits or less. Harry Brecheen turned in a three and a five-hit job, the latter in 13 innings. Max Lanier shut out the Reds with four hits. Howie Pollet turned back the same outfit with five, and Red Mungler and Ken Johnson, now with the Phillies, lost the same kind of a production to the Pirates. Gerry Staley and Mungler each repelled the Pittsburgh club with six.

The Cardinals got this kind of pitching with Alpha Brazle, a dependable left-hander, sidelined by a bad arm, and the stickout relief worker, Ted Wilks, suffering from elbow trouble and the nives.

The Cardinals' refusal to fold with Musial, Marion and Jones out, and with nothing in the way of an attack, had people wondering what would happen when Manager Dyer put the great Stan Musial back on first base and the outfit started hitting.

Dyer had made the decision to return Musial to first base when the Donora Dandy turned his ankle rounding first base in Pittsburgh.

Steve Bilko, the Tony Glaviano of first basemen, just won't do in the field, and wasn't smiting the sphere. Nippy Jones, a spinal case, is through indefinitely.

The acquisition of Johnny Blatnik from the Phillies in exchange for Ken Johnson, paved the way for Musial's return to the infield, where he was when the Cardinals won their last pennant—and World Series—in 1946.

Blatnik, who manufactured 15 home runs for Toronto last trip, could be a reasonable facsimile of the right-hand power hitter the Cardinals need to swing between the left-hand hitting Country Slaughter and Musial.

Dyer was smart in picking up Eddie Miller when he was let go by the Phillies. The veteran was a lifesaver when Marty Marion chipped a small bone in his knee.

Eddie Kazak wasn't hurt. He wasn't hitting as he'd until he broke his ankle at Ebbers Field last summer, and the war-torn resident of Austin, Tex., has to do that to keep Tommy Glaviano off third base.

Another cheering note for the Cardinals is that Stan Musial got off with a rush at bat for a change. He was hitting .448 when the ground gave way under him at Forbes Field.

And as Leo Durocher of the Giants says, the other side is in trouble every time they open the gates and That Man walks in the park.

DOUBLE PLAY—Richie Ashburn of the Phillies grounds to Jackie Robinson of the Dodgers in the seventh inning at Philadelphia's Shibe Park. Fee Wee Reese covers second base, but Robinson reaches out and tags Dick Whitman going to second, and throws to First Baseman Gil Hodges, who stretches to get the ball in his glove, and retire Ashburn. The latter, one of the fastest men in baseball, is rarely doubled. The Brooklyn club won, 7-5.

Cats Boost Lead in Texas League With 6-2 Win

(By The Associated Press) Dallas and Houston traded places in the Texas League standings again last night — Dallas going into seventh, Houston tumbling back to last place.

Dallas vacated the cellar on a 3-0 victory over Beaumont. Houston didn't have a chance at keeping its seventh place position. The Buffs were rained out at Tulsa.

In the only other game last night, Fort Worth dumped Shreveport, 6-2, to boost its lead to three and one-half games over Oklahoma City, rained out of its scheduled tilt with San Antonio.

Tonight Shreveport moves into Dallas, Beaumont goes to Fort Worth, San Antonio switches to Tulsa, and Houston to Oklahoma City.

Finaldo Ardoina, a recent addition to the Dallas roster, pitched a two-hit shutout his first time out. He's on option to the Eagles from Seattle.

His mates backed his pitching with single runs in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings and slapped four pitchers for ten hits.

Rookie John Rutherford set Shreveport down on five hits and Tommy Tatum and Gene Clough each contributed two-run home runs to the Cats' attack. Rutherford got two of Fort Worth's 11 hits, one a triple that drove in the first tally of the game.

But, in the week it had been up, Binghamton failed to capitalize on it, while their opponents smashed two a game.

In this case, the chicken wire laid an egg.

In a bid to spur attendance, the New York Giants are putting on a couple of vaudeville acts before each night game. And not simply Leo Durocher jiggling lineups, either.

Unless the poor Giants start winning soon, it'll take more than vaudeville to get the fans inside the Polo Grounds.

They'll have to give free dishes, free beer and stick Laraine Day at the box office to kias every ticket purchaser.

Dick Wakefield said he wouldn't report unless the White Sox restored a $500 pay cut. So the White Sox said nothing doing and cancelled the deal.

General Manager Frank Lane reasoned that he can always put somebody out in left field, but there's no substitute for $500.

Wakefield said he didn't mind taking the cut with the Yankees, because he had a good chance at a fat World Series but, the Sox were a different story.

The incident points out the fact that baseball is a capital game—and Wakefield wanted some of it.

Fred Wilt took the Boardwalk Mile at Atlantic City in 4:05.5—the fastest ever run by an American outdoors.

For once, there weren't any splinters in the boards — just sprinters.

Tom Brown of Brooklyn was suspended because the Dodgers' utility outfielder failed to see the dentist, as ordered by Manager Burt Shotton.

If he wants to fill a hole on the diamond, Brown has to fill a hole in his mouth.

The Binghamton, N. Y., Triplets of the Eastern League removed a "ridiculous-looking" chicken wire fence that was used to shorten right field.

The chicken wire had been erected to help left-handed batters pultet over the fence.

But, in the week it had been up, Binghamton failed to capitalize on it, while their opponents smashed two a game.

In this case, the chicken wire laid an egg.

CRIMINAL TENDENCIES BRING JAIL SENTENCE

BOSTON — (AP) — A municipal judge imposed a year's jail sentence on a former Marine who had submitted to brain surgery in an effort to cure criminal tendencies, then advised: "It would be foolish to send you to a hospital. You have escaped from every one thus far. Doctors aren't going to cure you until you appeal to God to help you."

Charles Hinckley, 25, of New York City drew the sentence — and the advice — from Judge Joseph V. Thomasello. Hinckley was found guilty of theft of a $150 watch from a jewelry store. He appealed, and was jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Hinckley also drew a verbal spanking from the Rev. Herbert R. Houghton, Jr., of Deerfield, a witness, who admonished: "I've known you for 11 years, you just weren't spanked enough years ago. You think you are God Almighty. That's been your attitude as long as I've known you."

Hinckley escaped six weeks after entering a Topeka, Kans., hospital for a brain operation he requested following his arrest in Miami, Fla., on a charge of passing worthless checks.

Two weeks ago, upon his re-arrest in Deerfield, he commented: "They kept me in a lockup ward where the social life was most unsatisfactory. There was no one to talk to and I had no freedom. I don't know how they expected me to come out normal at that rate."

Police said Tollin supplied music and race results by wire to various subscribers. They contend his operations are in violation of a Delaware law which prohibits

Keep Most Dangerous Opponent Out of Lead

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
Sometimes one opponent is more dangerous to you than the West opened a trump, and South won in his own hand. He saw immediately that East was the dangerous opponent. If East had the chance to lead a club, the enemy might rattle off three club tricks at once.

South saw that he would make his contract if East had the ace of clubs, since then there would be no great danger. South would have no trouble, likewise, if West had the king of diamonds, since then an ordinary finesse in that suit would bring the game contract safely home.

However, South saw that he could make his contract even if all finesses lost. All he had to do was keep East from winning a trick.

At the second trick, therefore, other. If the dangerous opponent wins a trick, he may be able to make the killing lead. In such a situation, the hand should be developed so as to keep the dangerous opponent out of the South led the queen of hearts to dummy's ace. Next he returned the jack of hearts from dummy. South was ready to discard if East actually put up the king. Hence South ruffed.

Declarer got to dummy by leading a trump to the ten. It could have been pleasant if both opponents had followed, but South could not afford to draw the last trump when East showed out of trumps. Instead he cashed dummy's ten of hearts, discarding a diamond from his own hand.

Now he was in position to play the diamonds just as he had played the hearts. He took a diamond ace and led the queen back. He would have thrown a club if East had played a low diamond, but East actually ruffed with a high trump, saving one of his low trumps.

Declarer could now lead his low trump to dummy's queen and discard two clubs on dummy's remaining high diamonds. Since that left only two clubs in his hand, he was bound to win eleven tricks.

South's contract was never in danger as long as he played the hand properly, although he would have been set if he had taken the "normal" finesse in diamonds. East would take his king of diamonds and lead the jack of clubs. Three club tricks would then be taken to set the contract.

Wealthy Man Will Turn to Gospel Work

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Daniel A. Marra had a half million dollars, a successful business and an idea.

The idea was that only by spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ could he become truly happy — and help others to achieve happiness at the same time.

Marra sold his business, the National Torch Tip Company, a year ago and now he plans to stump the country preaching Christ to anyone willing to listen. He has already rented Memorial Hall in Pittsburgh for a meeting May 28. From Pittsburgh, he will go on to other cities, but there will be no collections at his gatherings.

"As long as I provide a good home, clothing and education for my five children," he said yesterday, "I won't worry about the money. I'll spend what I need for this work."

His idea was not recently acquired, Marra said. As a young man of 20 — he's 60 now — he memorized the four books of the Gospel.

"I knew then," he said, "that I wanted to spend my life reviewing for people the words of Christ, but I realized that I needed more maturity. That's why I worked so conscientiously — to gain that maturity and the money I'd need to do what I'd planned."

A Midnight Snack? -- Smorgasbord!

SMORGASBORD SPECIALTIES, such as Swedish eggs, salmon rolls and potato salad, make a midnight snack even more welcome.

By GAYNOR MADDON
NEA Staff Writer

For the "get-together" after the movies or theater, go Swedish. Arrange a few smorgasbord specialties on a large tray and serve with hot coffee. If some guests have sleeping problems, give them decaffeinated coffee. A good hostess keeps everyone happy.

Stuffed Eggs (Fyilda Agg)
Hard cook 6 eggs. Plunge into cold water and chill. Split in half lengthwise and scoop out yolks. Mash yolks with 2 tablespoons anchovy paste. Moisten with a little mayonnaise and season with salt and pepper if desired. Stuff back into egg white shells. Sprinkle with paprika and chopped dill.

Salmon Rolls (Lax Rullader)
Cut thin slices of smoked salmon into narrow strips about 3-4 to 1 inch wide and 2 to 3 inches long. Wrap around chunks of dill pickle and fasten with toothpicks. Stuffed Sausage (Fyilda Korv)

Cut thin slices of pressed ham or other firm sausage into wedge shapes. Spread with cream cheese moistened with cream or mayonnaise and seasoned with mustard. Roll up, starting with large end and going toward point (or roll into cornucopias). Garnish open ends with tiny sprigs of parsley.

Potato Salad (Potatisalad)
Six medium sized potatoes, 1-3 cup mayonnaise, 1-3 cup sliced onions (very thin), 1-3 cup white or tarragon vinegar, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, 3-4 teaspoon sugar, 3-4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley.

Wash, boil and skin potatoes. Cut into small slices. While potatoes are still hot, blend with remaining ingredients (except parsley) mixed together. Chill, and when ready to serve, pile on a chilled platter, sprinkle with parsley and garnish with water-cress. Salad may also be garnished with slices of hard-cooked egg and strips of pimiento if desired.
Serve also several different kinds of cheese.

Solon, 75, Raps Reference to Age

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Angell (R-Ore.) says he's only 75 years old, not 81, and furthermore he thinks nothing of walking five miles a day to and from work.

The question came up in connection with the Oregon primary elections next week. Angell's opponent, R. J. Jensen, had suggested that the congressman retire, that the work in the House is "too strenuous for a man 19 years away from 100."

Angell replied in a telegram: "When I reach 81 or when I lose my good health, vigor, energy and zest for work, I'll consider retirement."

Octogenarians in the House include Rep. Sabath (D-Ill.) who just celebrated his 84th birthday, and Rep. Doughton (D-N.C.), who is 87.

"That's Cookin'
In Gray County
HD Club Work

By MARY ANNE DUKE
FAMILY LIFE EDUCATION: Interest is growing in Pampa and throughout the county in the teaching of "Family Life Education" to parents and youth of all ages.

For the past two years family life education has been correlated with major demonstrations in Home Demonstration and 4-H Club work. Special emphasis was placed on the study of the pre-school child last year. Adolescence is being studied this year.

The First Methodist Church has just completed a course on "Marriage and Family Living." This course was taught by Mrs. Orion W. Carter.

The Rotary Club recently heard a talk by Mrs. Eloise Johnson on "Family Life Education." Mrs. Johnson is a specialist in Family Life Education from the Extension Service at A. and M. College.

Several months ago, the Newcomer Club added more than a dozen books on Family Life Education to the Pampa Library. Such books as "Growing Up," "Family Relationships," "Let's Tell The Truth About Sex," and "When You Marry" are among the list. Many helpful new bulletins on family life education may also be found in the Pampa Library.

The Pampa American Legion Auxiliary has begun a project of promoting the church attendance of children. Mrs. Al Lawson and Mrs. M. L. Roche are co-chairmen of this project.

A new program entitled "Problems of Youth" is now being sponsored by Radio Station KPDN. Sue Mayo, KPDN staff member, is moderator for this program, which is heard from 10 to 10:30 each Saturday morning. In addition to the moderator, two adults and two teen-agers appear on this unheated program. Mrs. Farris Oden and Dr. Douglas Nelson present the adult viewpoint, while two high school students, usually a boy and a girl, present the teen-age view on pertinent questions which confront teen-agers and their parents.

The purpose of this program is to promote better understanding between parents and their teen-agers.
Sue Mayo says questions from listeners are certainly appreciated. Let's listen to this program and encourage it by sending in letters and cards with comments.

The P-TA Council has devoted part of the last two monthly meetings to the study of family life education.

At the Thursday meeting, a panel discussion on "Evidences of The Need to Strengthen Family Life Education in This Community" revealed that almost one-third of the marriages in Gray County are dissolved in the first two years and that each party goes back to parents' home. Records from the Juvenile Officer indicate that 88 charges have been brought against juveniles during the year. These charges included stealing, traffic offenses, forged checks, run-aways, immoral conduct, etc. Lack of parental supervision was the main factor in each case, according to H. A. Doggett, juvenile officer.

Other panel members said parents and children seldom meet on common ground; that is, share the same experiences, and that there is a lack of interest by parents in what their children are doing in school.

There are other similar projects underway. All are indications of a growing interest in promoting happier family living in this community.

Care for Hands

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Your hands will show lack of care more quickly than any other part of your body. Therefore, as you do your housework, take precautions—gloves, soap, hand lotion and hand cream—to keep your hands from going rough and red.

When you wash dishes, don't put your hands in hot dishwater without first slipping on rubber gloves. Use rubber gloves for any household task involving the use of water.

For all other cleansing, use fabric gloves. Before you put them on, coat your hands thoroughly with a good hand cream. The combination of cream and the exercise your hands get will act as a beauty treatment. When you take off the gloves, massage your hands, working from the tips to the palms. This will absorb any remaining hand cream.

Keep a bottle of hand lotion near the kitchen sink. It's quicker than hand cream so you'll use it more often. Remember to dig your nails into a cake of soap before you begin any cleaning job, even though you're wearing gloves. The soap will keep dirt from caking under your nails. Dirt can penetrate gloves at times.

Use a nail brush frequently during the day, particularly after gardening or any outdoor chores. Wear gloves for outdoor tasks, of course, and see that they are washable white cotton. Keep several pairs so that you always have a clean pair on hand.

If you can find escarole in your market use it with other salad greens frequently. It is an excellent source of vitamins and minerals. If the outer leaves are wilted they can be freshened by placing them in cold water for a short time.

Sardines make a good sandwich spread. Mash them with lemon juice and chili sauce and add a few chopped pimento-stuffed olives if you like. This spread is good on both white and whole-wheat bread.

Stains made from medicines often can be removed with hot water or wood or denatured alcohol.

Two Operettas at Alanreed Thursday

ALANREED — (Special) — Students of the Alanreed school plan to present two operettas in the school gymnasium beginning at 8 p. m. Thursday.

The public is invited to attend this free affair, it was announced. The operettas to be presented are, "Folly's Make Believe Orphanage" and "Streamline Cinderella."

Cornmeal, salt, or talcum powder should be worked around a fresh ink spot on a rug until it is absorbed.

Horace Mann P-TA
To Meet Thursday

Kadels, Canadian Hold Open House in Former Hospital

CANADIAN — (Special) — About 75 persons attended "open house" in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Troy C. Kadel Sunday afternoon.

The Kadels came to Canadian only a few weeks ago. They live in the house that formerly served as the Canadian Hospital. When they first moved there they were frequently annoyed by people coming in, thinking it was still the hospital, and in fact some of the rooms had not yet been changed for regular home use.

When the redecorating and "transformation" was completed, the Kadels decided that holding open house would be a good way to get acquainted with their new fellow-citizens.

Many who attended could hardly believe that the beautifully furnished home was once the hospital.

Mrs. E. H. Morris presided at the punch bowl. The serving table was beautifully decorated with a centerpiece of flowers, a gift from Mrs. Morris.

Miss Joyce Bernson registered the guests.

You don't have to scrape or pare carrots; just scrub them with a stiff brush and cold water.

B & P.W. Club will have a Mother's Day Breakfast in the dining room of the Schneider Hotel at 8 a. m. Sunday.

For a cooked vegetable casserole mix celery crescents with diced carrots, green peas, diagonally sliced snap beans and small white onion rings. Add a cream sauce and top with buttered crumbs; place in a moderate oven until the sauce and vegetables are heated through and the topping is lightly browned.

Wiener Roast at Sand Spur Lake

KELLERVILLE — (Special) — A wiener roast was held at Sand Spur Lake by the young married couple's class of the Baptist Church.

Those attending were Mesdames. A. M. Dean, Raymond McReynolds, Vernie Immel, Jack Harris, Edwin Owen, J. B. Brown, and Mrs. L. F. McDonald, Mrs. Elmer Immel, and the Rev. and Mrs. Price Bishop.

For a new salad-dessert served halved baked apples filled with cream cheese and chopped Brazil nuts. Place on shredded lettuce or watercress and accompany with salad dressing.

Auto Muffler Cutout Back, But It Has Fancy Name

BALTIMORE—An American muffler cutout, designed by a Baltimore engineer, is being marketed as a "Hollywood muffler" because of its fancy name.

The muffler cutout is a device that allows the driver to bypass the muffler when the engine is idling, thus saving fuel and reducing noise. It is a small, cylindrical device that fits between the engine and the muffler.

The inventor, a Baltimore engineer, claims that the muffler cutout is a "Hollywood muffler" because it is a "cutout" that allows the driver to "cut out" the muffler when the engine is idling. He says that the name "Hollywood muffler" is a "fancy name" that makes the device sound more sophisticated.

COWBOY STAR'S SON LOSES WILL BATTLE

LOS ANGELES—William Hart was prevailed for in a will battle that set up before the court the will of the late actor, which was written by his father, when the actor was 17 years old.

The will was written by the actor's father, who was a wealthy man. The actor, who was a famous cowboy star, died in 1946 at the age of 38. He left a large estate, and his will was a subject of much controversy.

The actor's son, William Hart, Jr., was named as the executor of the will. However, the actor's father's will named a different executor, and this led to a long and costly legal battle.

Air Steward's Body Found on Long Island

MEDFORD, N. Y.—The body of flight steward John Harris was found in the Long Island woods yesterday—almost three months after he was sucked out of a giant airliner.

Unusual Irrigation System Draws Many to South Plains

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

"It's just something I dreamed up," said Leslie C. Crews of New Deal, Texas.

He was speaking of the irrigation system on his South Plains farm. Other farmers drive from all over that part of the country to see it. Crews has 122 acres of tight sandy loam - almost as level as a billiard table. And here is what his irrigation system looks like: There are two irrigation wells on the north end of his farm—one on the east boundary and one on the west. They are equipped with deep turbine pumps driven by automobile engines which burn butane gas instead of gasoline and each well produces from 800 to 1,000 gallons of water per minute. These wells are connected by 12-inch concrete pipe, which runs underground between them. In other words, the output of both the wells goes into the concrete pipe.

The concrete pipe has valve-controlled outlets every 140 feet. Crews has a long canvas pipe which he can drag from one of these outlets to another. The canvas pipe has 36 smaller canvas pipes extending from its sides.

Crews lays the canvas pipe parallel to the concrete pipe, and the 36 small canvas pipes each extend out into a row of the field. When the water is turned on, it runs right out into the individual rows. "The thing about my system," said Crews, "is that no water is wasted. I estimate it is about 25 percent more efficient than the open ditch irrigation system I formerly had, meaning that I'll be able to get along with 25 percent less water. So my system will pay for itself in a few years."

Crews, a 43-year-old man with brown hair and blue eyes who weighs 170 pounds and is 5-10 1/2 inches tall, was born near Corsicana and has been farming for 27 years. He likes irrigation farming "because when your crops need water you don't have to start watching the skies—you just pour it on. Makes you independent."

He finished his new irrigation layout early this year. Then he ran a stalk sutter over his field; chiseled it twice with a chisel plow and listed the land, putting it in rows. Then he soaked it with water twice—in a two-week period—and then late in April he planted 77 acres in cotton. "I wanted to stay safely in my quota which was 78.2 acres." He'll raise maize and an acre or two of corn on the rest of his land. Also has a little garden, some fruit trees, some chickens and a cow.

Negro Will File For Lieutenant Governor Post

CORSICANA — (AP) — A Negro Methodist minister from Austin said yesterday he will be a candidate for lieutenant governor in the July 22 primary election.

F. E. Womack said he will file for the race about June 1 with Chairman John C. Calhoun of the Texas Democratic Executive Committee. The minister, 35, was born in Freestone County, and is an African Methodist Episcopal Church minister. He has been a minister for 40 years and has lived since 1936 in Austin.

Six Million in Taxeaters' Army

THE CENSUS BUREAU says that 6,500,000 Americans are public payrolls including members of the Census Bureau.

Of this army of tax-eaters 2,047,000 are working for the federal government, 1,037,000 are on state payrolls and 3,426,000 are local government employees.

In complaining of payrollers one is disposed to assume that most of them cluster about the Washington headquarters.

If Americans want tax relief, they can take action without budging from their own beds.

Of the $700 in hidden taxes which the average American family pays each year, $177 is in the form of property taxes.

Forty-eight dollars in retail sales and 44 in gasoline taxes are largely local levies too.

Of course, the functions of local government — policing the community, guarding against fire, pumping water, instructing school children, maintaining parks and streets — cannot be performed by robots.

All three categories of government are overmanned. Fifty-eight million Americans are workers, and more than six million of them are on government payrolls.

The Hoover Commission has reported that every year about one-fourth of all federal employees leave their jobs.

That's a commendation devoutly to be wished, but hardly to be expected.

In Wisconsin, a man who pleaded guilty to stealing a pair of hair clippers explained that he thought they were included in the $1 he paid for a haircut.

This point of law should be cleared up or many people will be in big trouble — especially my Cousin Benney, who has been appealing an unjust decision like that.

By GRACIE ALLEN

Washington, D.C. — (NEA) — Congress kept its customary low batting average in April. It completed action on only 10 bills.

Considering the fact that the House took a 10-day Easter vacation, this April record is no worse, though no better, than the average pace set so far this year.

As usual, most of the new laws passed last month were of routine nature. There was a law to amend the District of Columbia alcoholic beverage control act.

Only two laws of any importance passed last month were amendments to the National Housing Act and the awarding of medals to the nine Navy plane crew members killed when their patrol bomber was shot down by the Russians.

Rep. George M. Grant of Alabama once introduced a bill to create a National Farmer's Day.

America Promises Aid to France for Indochina

By DEWITT MACKENZIE AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the most important (and delicate) problems for solution in U. S. Secretary of State Acheson's conferences in Paris with French Foreign Minister Schuman, has involved France's request for aid in fighting communism in French Indochina.

The secretary announced Monday at the end of his first day's conference with Schuman that American military and economic aid will be sent to French Indochina immediately.

The bulk of $75,000,000 already appropriated by Congress to combat communism in the Far East will go to Indochina.

Diplomatic sources in Paris say that in return for this aid America wanted, and received, a guarantee of greater independence for Indochina.

Such an American qualification had been expected. The writing on the wall for all to see is that imperialism in Asia is dead.

The big question has been whether France was prepared to accept the inevitable. In short, was Paris ready to grant Indochina greater independence.

Well, Indochina is the Aladdin's lamp which might open up the riches of all Southeast Asia to the communists.

In other words it is a highly strategic area. It is true not only in the military sense but from the standpoint of natural resources and food supplies for an always hungry part of the globe.

The warfare in Indochina has been proceeding unceasingly for some four years. French supported Emperor Bao Dai of Vietnam is battling the guerrilla forces of Ho Chi Minh, a communist who was trained in Moscow and is receiving Soviet aid.

Ho's jungle government is recognized by Moscow. The Red court of neighboring China puts the communists in an enviable position for rendering further assistance to Indochina and to Red guerrillas in other countries.

There is no doubt that Indochina is in grave danger from the Communists. If they succeed in gaining control there they will help to a great extent to strangle the great Yangtze Valley and threaten the lives of some 20,000,000 people, many of whom now are reportedly subsisting on grass roots and bark.

With Indochina in their hands, the communists would be in much better position to take over other neighboring countries which in turn possess vast natural wealth and produce great quantities of foodstuffs.

There is Thailand (Siam), Burma (one of the biggest rice producing countries), and the Malay Peninsula. All these will be in grave danger if Indochina falls.

He sold the autos for barely enough to move the freight car into his home.

But, until the lawyer who's Sidney's cell-mate is promoted to the Supreme Court, his appeal isn't doing much good.

By GRACIE ALLEN

Washington, D.C. — (NEA) — Labor Day was observed as a national holiday. It was a day to honor the farmers?

When Sen. George Aiken of Vermont heard about it, he remarked with Yankee dryness: "Maybe it would be a good idea to turn it into a day of prayer to protect the farmer from congressmen and other people who are always trying to give him something he doesn't want."

National Association of Manufacturers' "News" recently carried a review on a new book, "Peace by Investment," written by Benjamin A. Javits.

For instance, the 10-point farm program announced by Axel J. Beck of South Dakota, chairman of the Republican National Committee's subcommittee on agriculture, included promises of full parity prices on non-perishables, semi-perishables, feed, livestock, egg and dairy products.

This new Republican farm program recommendation recalls the story of a POW who once held between Sen. Kenneth Wherry of Nebraska and President Allen B. Kline of the American Farm Bureau Federation. "Give me a short answer," Wherry requested, "for the fellow who demands 90 percent parity price supports?" Kline went into his usual five-minute speech to prove that flexible price supports were better than high, fixed price supports. When it was over, Wherry said: "Yes, but give me the same thing in a short answer." Kline thought a minute and then said with a grin: "I guess the only thing to tell him is that you're for 95 percent parity."

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

Dollar Shortage Twaddle

When a socialist movement is advocated, the advocates invariably use loose, vague words to confuse and confound the people.

One of these new words is "dollar shortage" which is being used by socialists in this country who want to help give the wealth of this country away to Europe.

The "dollar shortage" is not confined to European people. Everybody is short of dollars in the United States. While they might not be short of dollars to buy the things for their own personal comfort and pleasure, they are short of dollars to buy tools that will make it possible for more and more people to have a better standard of living.

The American Institute for Economic Research in their April 10th pamphlet clearly show the meaning of this dollar shortage in an article under the heading of "The Dollar Gap Bogeyman".

The article follows: "A recent press release states, 'Gordon Gray, retiring Secretary of the Army, was appointed today by President Truman as a special Presidential assistant to co-ordinate Administration efforts to close the dollar gap.'"

The test will come — may come late today — when the lower chamber votes on final disposition of the one-package appropriation bill, which provides approximately $29 billion for financing the domestic federal operations for the 1951 fiscal year.

The outcome will be unusually important because this new method of handling money bills in an attempt to speed up the elimination of hit-or-miss, pork-barrel spending.

Although the $29 billion represents $1.5 billion reduction of President Truman's original budget demands, it does not include funds for foreign economic or military aid or for fixed charges like the annual interest on the public debt.

Weakened — The prospective savings engineered in the House Appropriations Committee and during floor debate amount to far less than the reductions included on such sincere, economic-minded men as Senator Taft of Ohio on the Republican side of the aisle, and by Senator Byrd of Virginia on the Democratic side.

They have demanded cuts ranging from $3 billion to $5 billion in an attempt to avoid a deficit estimated at $5 billion for 1951, on top of 1950's prospective deficit of $7 billion.

But the vocal forces of extravagance and huge federal borrowing which are the basic hidden causes of high prices, peak taxes and the heavy burden of national and individual indebtedness, weakened when the time came to vote on costly projects for their own districts.

As each paragraph and project is brought up in the House, a member can demand that the specific amount for this item be reduced or increased. It is usually kept at the committee figure or boosted in these piecemeal votes, which are rarely recorded.

As a result, the final bill carries the original committee amount, or an even larger total. Everybody climbs aboard the gravy train.

The Communist System

National Whirligig

By RAY TUGGIER

WASHINGTON — The most eloquent advocates of government economy in the House are begging the Republican leadership, especially Minority Leader "Joe" Martin, not to force a showdown on this issue in a reelection year.

His good nature and his desire to elect a GOP House next November may incline him to agree to their pathetic pleadings.

The other means of annihilating or revising a questionable piece of legislation is to vote against final adoption. That required the committee to re-visit the bill, and try to write a bill that will pass. It is a harsh remedy, but it is the only practicable one for men who actually want economy, lower taxes, lower prices and general economic stability.

But — and here is the catch — what usually happens is that the stump speakers for economy vote to recommit, and when that fails, vote in favor of the overall measure itself. Then they point to the greatest peacetime budget in history as evidence of their heart bleeds for the taxpayer, without mentioning their paragraph-by-paragraph vote on their approval of the bill in its final and unchanged form.

PROBLEM — The problem confronting Mr. Martin is whether to base his economy fight on a mere motion to recommit, or to insist on a roll call vote on the bill itself after, as expected, the recommitment motion has been defeated.

In other words, will the GOP leadership force every member, including its own partisans, to go on record for or against the greatest peacetime budget in history, and in one of the country's most prosperous years?

Unfortunately, a majority of the money-savers on both sides of the aisle are asking him to sidestep a showdown.

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

I've taken a lot of kidding lately by friends who have seen the play, "Death of a Salesman."

"Do you still think that super-salesman, who explains why the pathway to success?" They ask me.

My answer is I most certainly do. Willy Lowman failed in life, and ruined the lives of all those about him not because he was a salesman — but because he wasn't.

Those of you who have seen the play know that Willy went through life slapping people on the back, giving them a bright smile, flattering them. He stalked everything on his "contacts." He knew the right people. But he failed and became so frustrated he not only killed his own sons, but finally killed himself in sheer frustration.

Willy never considered how he might have to offer other folks. His philosophy was to work on them with "slick tricks" of salesmanship. He had the delusion that people "ought to" buy from him because he was a good guy.

Willy's brother put his finger on the whole thing towards the end of the play when Willy was complaining about losing his job. He kept saying that he had suggested "Howard" as his boss' name when he was a baby. Finally, Willy's brother said something like this:

Suppose you did name Howard. Suppose you did know his father. You can't sell that, Willy. And the only thing you are worth to the world is what you can sell. Being a salesman you ought to know that.

The American Way

By George Peck

Our good neighbor to the North, the Dominion of Canada, too has its quota of citizens who are moving Heaven and earth to get out of "The Land of the Maple" into a socialistic economy.

In the opinion of at least one prominent Canadian, these forces are not going to prevail. He is A. E. Pequegnat, General Manager of the Mutual Life Assurance Company of Canada (one of Canada's leading insurance companies).

At this Company's 1950 Annual Meeting, Mr. Pequegnat expressed his conviction that the world trend is away from Socialism. He stated that the average freedom-loving citizen in English-speaking countries is not attracted by a state in which "Everybody owns everything and nobody does anything." As proof of his contention he pointed to the increasing recognition in many countries of the undesirability of nationalizing life insurance.

This Insurance Company official stated the case against socialism so well that I would like to pass on to the readers of this column extracts from his address. From here on it is Mr. Pequegnat speaking:

Within the last hundred years a definite conflict has emerged between those who maintain that the best interests of a people can only be secured through the intervention of an all-powerful state machine, and those who advocate a form of government in which the individual citizen only to the degree necessary to preserve the safety and honor of the realm and to protect citizens generally against exploitation and abuse.

During the last three decades the advocates of statism have shown progress. In countries where human progress has been most retarded and despotism has been the governing force, but changes made have been more apparent than real, the transition being merely from a form of abject slavery to a more attractive, but deceptive, type, being clothed in the guise of security.

In countries where previously no security had existed the new doctrine made converts rapidly among malcontents of adjoining states. But in countries where forms of government protect the right of individual citizens to determine and work for the form of personal and family security to which they might aspire, totalitarian theories have had but little appeal.

Foremost in the vanguard of the forces fighting for the preservation of the freedom of the individual is found the united voice of life insurance policyholders.

It was not unexpected that the program of the socialist party, in both Canada and Great Britain, should include the nationalization of life insurance. However, this was apparently far from popular even among the members of the socialist party for it was quickly dropped from the party program.

In Great Britain full nationalization of life insurance companies was restricted to industrial insurance, and now mutualization of industrial companies has been substituted for nationalization.

In Australia and New Zealand the welfare of the state has recently been removed from the control of socialist governments. In Sweden, a commission appointed to survey the operations of life insurance companies, with the view of possible nationalization, advised that no change be made other than that policyholders should be more actively represented in the management of the companies. This recommendation, coupled with the change of attitude in Great Britain pays great tribute to the mutual principle on which the great life insurance structure of the North American continent has been largely erected.

We are all engaged in the building of a democracy of freedom, not of economic slavery. The mainspring of our social and economic progress here in America during the past century has been the incentive of financial independence. Life insurance is the way the free man takes to provide personal and family security.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D. WRITTEN FOR NEA

Multiple sclerosis is a disease of the nervous system. A few years ago it was considered rare in this country.

It seemed somewhat more common on the European continent and in Britain. Today while still an unusual condition there are many reasons for believing that it is increasing.

Even if it had remained extremely rare, however, it would have been important to those who had it and methods of preventing and treating it would still be urgently needed.

It may attack one or several parts of the nervous system and it is for this reason that the term "multiple" is attached to the name. The symptoms depend, therefore, on what part of the nervous system is involved.

Since the location varies there are no completely typical symptoms, though seeing double, a trembling or tremor when trying to pick up some object and a gait which looks somewhat like that of a drunken person are probably the most common.

One or all of these may be absent and consequently the diagnosis may be difficult to make or long delayed.

The cause of this disease is not understood. Many theories have been suggested and studied but so far there is no one cause which has been accepted by all authorities.

A great many kinds of treatment have been tried. These have included fever treatment, the use of drugs to delay blood coagulation, attempts to desensitize to allergies, vaccines and several different drugs. Unfortunately none of these have proved really successful.

A good long rest is the best form of treatment during the acute stage of multiple sclerosis. The patient usually goes through periods of great improvement. If these good periods can be lengthened and the bad ones shortened, it is a good sign.

A warm climate and freedom from colds and other infections of the nose and throat may help to prevent the downward swings of the disease.

AGENCY INVESTIGATES

We need to know more about multiple sclerosis. Of this there is no doubt and therefore a group of citizens and physicians has been formed to aid in the necessary investigations. This group is called the Association for Research on Multiple Sclerosis, 270 Park Avenue, New York.

It was started by patients themselves, together with their friends and relatives and in co-operation with some of the country's leading physicians. The added interest and support provided by this society should lead to a more rapid increase in our knowledge of the causes and treatment of multiple sclerosis. Already this society has begun to aid several important research projects.

Dr. Jordan will answer questions from his readers in a special column once a week. Watch for it.

Jaycees Hear Region Chief

Jack Pate, vice president of Region One of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was guest speaker at the Pampa Jaycees yesterday. Pate, whose home is in Amarillo, said his principal job is to promote and further the relationship between local clubs and the state organization. Pate discussed the issues to be introduced at the executive meeting which will be held in Abilene May 19. Those issues include a proposal to move the state office from its present location in Abilene to a more centrally located city; location of the fall board meeting; and continuance of the Jaycees national project, the Hoover Commission report. Concerning the Hoover report, Pate said "We have done a wonderful job on the report, but we've only begun. There is still a lot of work to be done." The report favors the reformation of all government agencies for more economical operation. Pate complimented the Pampa group on its ability to get things done, and requested its further cooperation with the state organization. A second guest was Max "Spade" Cooley, regional vice president from Ponca City, Okla. Perry Franklin made an announcement concerning the Jaycees' part in the forthcoming clean-up campaign.

1-Card of Thanks In my Father's House are many mansions... I wonder, I wonder, where the little face that I once saw...

I love to think that somewhere, in the country we call heaven, the land most dear to anyone who will unite them be given.

A hand of little faces—very little, very fair—and every one shall know its own and cleave unto it.

O grant it, loving Father, to the broken hearts that plead, Thy way is best—yet I rest in perfect faith indeed!

To know that we shall find them, even them, the way is best indeed. At thy right hand, in the bright land, by living water.

CAROLYN LUNNE BROOKS Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Brooks and family wish to express their deep appreciation to those who were so kind and thoughtful of us in so many ways at the time of our grief in the passing of our dear baby girl, Mary Louise, who was born on May 10, 1949, and died on May 10, 1950.

Distant Star

BY HERMINA BLACK

THE STORY: Falling in love had not been Clemency Norton's idea when she became nursery governess to the young daughter of Syrie and Jon Amberley. Soon Clemency realizes that she has lost her heart to Frank Amberley, Jon's brother. She tries to break her engagement to the young man and to love with Syrie herself, making ugly mistakes when she learns they have gone for a honeymoon to the seashore. Later Syrie finds Clemency in the garden and tells her she is his wife. Happily Clemency accepts. The next morning they tell Jon and Syrie, standing at the top of the driveway, overheard the news.

XXXIV
FOR a moment Syrie Amberley remained at the top of the stairs looking down at Piers, her husband's brother, and Clemency Norton. One of Syrie's hands gripped the banister beside her.

Then she began to descend. When she reached the bottom step, Syrie was smiling at Piers.

"What?" she repeated, and this time, although there was something brittle in her voice, the word had an almost playful sound.

"Did I hear right? Is the apparently incurable bachelor thinking of changing his state?"

"Determined to," said Piers coolly.

"Well—wonders will never cease! I certainly congratulate you—Clemency!"

As Syrie looked deliberately at her, Clemency felt a little shock of dismay; she had known the other women were angry with her last night, but she had never in all her life met such open hatred in anyone's eyes, though Syrie's lips were smiling.

Piers said: "It is I who should be congratulated."

"Of course—conventionally. But I am sure Clemency will accept my tribute to her—cleverness."

"Thank you. I think I am very much to be congratulated," said Clemency quietly.

"I shall certainly dance at your wedding, Piers," said Syrie lightly.

"That is—if I am asked to. And poor Babe will have to get another governess. Does your engagement to me terminate from this moment, Clemency—I really can't call you Miss Norton any longer."

"No, of course not," replied Clemency quickly.

"We can discuss that later," Piers' tone was curt. "Meanwhile, I shall want Clemency this morning. I am driving into Biskra, and I should like her to go with me."

"That's all right," Syrie glanced at Clemency again. "Perhaps you'll tell Loulie to cope. I only came down to find some cigarettes."

But if the cigarette had seemed important, she had forgotten that. She turned and went quickly upstairs again without appearing to even notice that her husband was present.

Jon was leaning against the bottom of the banisters and perhaps Clemency was the only person who remained aware of his presence.

Beside her, Piers said: "Let's go out into the garden for a few minutes."

And as she followed him she carried with her the strangely uncomfortable memory of Jon watching his wife, his face contorted with an almost frightening grin of sardonic amusement.

PIERS was determined that Clemency should dine downstairs that evening.

When they had returned from their drive she had insisted on going up to the nursery and carrying on exactly as usual until Babe was in bed.

Piers' delight at the "so good news" had been spontaneous and sincere. Obviously everyone in the house knew it now—there was an air of "fete" about the servants.

Abdul sent an outside basket of roses to the nursery where Clemency found it after her drive. Quite plainly the chef would spread himself at dinner, which would be a celebration.

BULLFIGHTING PICTURE MUST SHUN VIOLENCE

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (P) — How can you make a picture about a bull fighting without showing the bull being killed?

That is the problem facing Robert Rossen, who won the latest Academy Award with his film, "All the King's Men." The writer-director-producer is making the Tom Lea novel, "The Brave Bulls," into a movie. Censorship codes decree that he cannot show the matador's sword dispatching the bull.

That's the problem facing all bull fight pictures. It wasn't solved in the Esther Williams film of a few seasons back, "Fiesta." That fantasy showed all the flourish of the bull arena, but skirted the actual fighting. To anyone unfamiliar with bullfighting, it resembled a ballet with animals.

"We aren't able to show the matador applying the blade or the bull dying," admitted Rossen. "But we will show everything else. The actual moment of the kill will be depicted by reaction, rather than action. We'll see the effect on the faces of the crowd and Mel Ferrer, the matador."

"After all, motion pictures tell stories in terms of reaction. It is not the moment of impact of an automobile accident that makes the drama; it's the reaction of the people who see it."

The drama of the bull fight will be captured in the cutting room, Rossen hopes. During his recent

As Clemency changed her frock, she was dreading that dinner—as she would, she could not get the memory of that first one out of her mind, and somehow she hated the idea of Jon and Syrie being there—watching her romance with their unhappy cynicism.

Besides, it was clear that however she tried to behave, Syrie had taken a violent dislike to her and that she bitterly resented the engagement.

But why? Sitting before her dressing table, Clemency asked herself that question for the 20th time.

WHAT a wonderful day it had been in Biskra Piers had had her finger measured and ordered her engagement ring to be specially made for her. It would be really lovely, a big square sapphire, set around with narrow oblong emeralds, and the loveliest thing about it, the most valuable would be that it was her beloved's gift. Meanwhile, because it would not be ready yet, he had insisted upon buying her a diamond "eternity" ring.

"Can't you go about without some sign that trespassers will be prosecuted," he had told her laughingly.

They had lunched in Biskra, and gone to see the Sandersons before driving back to Red Aloss.

Piers was very fond of Mrs. Sanderson, and as Clemency had already gathered, the older woman returned his affection. She received their news with delight.

Hannah and his sister were both out for the day with a picnic party.

"You are not going to rush the girl into any kind of hole-in-the-corner wedding, Piers," Mrs. Sanderson had announced firmly.

"She's only expecting one wedding day in her life, and it must be a real one. She will come and stay here, and from here you will be married—with white astin and tulle and all the accessories."

"What I have let myself in for!" groaned Piers.

That dinner was not, after all, the uncomfortable thing she had feared—it was, in fact, just another slice of her particular earthly paradise.

location in Mexico, he filmed actual fights with five or six cameras. By piecing the footage, he hopes to tell his story.

I asked if he is ready for the protests of animal lovers who dislike the picture.

"Well," he grinned, "I haven't made a picture that someone didn't protest. I wrote a picture about lynching, 'They Won't Forget' that wasn't played in the South. I made 'Body and Soul,' that the boxing crowd didn't like. And I didn't expect 'All the King's Men' to be hailed in Louisiana."

"I think that's the trouble with motion pictures. Too many of them are made to please everyone. If a picture is strong enough, it's bound to offend someone."
