Big Three Offer Arms to Middle East

Boy Critically Burned in Fall On Power Line

Richard Hinkley, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hinkley, 332 N. Sumner, was critically burned at 8:45 p.m. yesterday when he fell into one phase of a high-voltage line at the Priest Park Pump Station between Faulkner and Banks.

He was taken to Worley Hospital by a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance where he was considered in a critical condition by his physician. The youngster suffered second and third degree burns on his entire back, neck, arms, legs and thighs — an area, physicians said, of one third of his body.

He was given one blood transfusion and will be given another one sometime today, his doctor reported.

According to reports, young Hinkley was playing hide and seek in the trees around the park with a group of boys and is believed to have fallen from one of the trees and landed on a branch line carrying 7,600 volts. Women in the neighborhood told Herman Whately, Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home official, that they saw a flash near the transformer when the boy hit the line. The lights in the area went out and flashed back on again.

When Whately arrived the boy was hanging across the top of the barbed wire topped fence that surrounds the pump station, sparks leaping from his trousers. He was unconscious when hauled down by Whately with the aid of Davis Electric Co. and Southwestern Public Service men. He regained partial consciousness after being taken from the fence but was unable to tell what happened.

City Police notified the power company of the accident and power into that section of the city was cut off so the boy could be removed safely. The power cutoff knocked out electrical service in the northwestern section of the city, affecting Highland General Hospital for several minutes. The hospital, however, has its own emergency power plant that snaps on immediately under such conditions.

The youngster received only the first shock, power men said, because his contact with the wire was short-circuited and blew a fuse. Several power company men have hit similar high voltage lines during the past year, they added, and were knocked out but survived the shock.

Hospital attendants reported the boy as "reacting" but still critical this morning.

Walkout Halts Atom Project

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. — (AP) — A mammoth atomic plant construction project was shut down completely today by a wildcat walkout of AFL workers.

Some 3,000 workers are affected by the walkout. The AFL crafts involved are members of the Knoxville Building Trades Council, whose officials were not immediately available for comment.

Picket lines were established outside the various entrances to this atomic city early today, and by mid-morning pickets also appeared near a gate to the restricted area.

One union official, John S. Turner, a conciliation consultant for the hodcarriers, joined the AEC in saying he didn't know what brought about the walkout.

"I haven't the slightest idea who the instigators of this thing are," said Turner, adding that the union did not authorize the strike.

Turner said he would "talk to the boys" again and try to get them back on the job.

The AEC and the contractor said the effects of the strike could not be gauged yet, but Turner, declaring the laborers "should go back," termed the strike project "a job of such scope that it might mean the security of the entire nation."

The Atomic Energy Labor Relations Panel concluded a hearing Wednesday on a wage dispute between the union's Local 818 and J. M. Maxon Construction Co. principal contractor on the $227,000,000 project involved.

The union, reportedly asking a wage hike from 95 cents an hour to $1.25 and the company were pledged to abide by the decision of the presidentially appointed panel. Workers ended a seven-day strike April 21 when the body agreed to take the case.

Legion Auxiliary To Sell Poppies Here Saturday

Saturday has been designated Poppy Day by proclamation of Pampa's Mayor C. A. Huff.

The official proclamation asked all residents to observe the day by wearing a poppy in memory of Pampa men who lost their lives in the two world wars.

Three Men Unhurt In Costly Accident

CANADIAN — (Special) — Three persons miraculously escaped injury shortly before noon yesterday when a heavily-loaded cattle truck sideswiped a State Highway Department maintenance truck and sent it hurtling off a 20-foot embankment on Highway 60 four miles south of Canadian.

Clarence Kemp, driver of the Highway Department truck, and Monk Green, who was riding with him, emerged from the wreckage uninjured and Clifton Ray Fraser, 19, of Grady, N.M., driver of the cattle truck, brought his skidding vehicle under control without overturning.

Dead cattle were scattered along the highway for more than 100 yards in the wake of the wreck.

Fraser was hauling a load of 35 yearling Herefords on consignment to the Scammon and Martin Ranch (the Old Tandy Ranch) in northern Roberts County. Twelve of the yearlings were killed, and three others came out of the wreckage with broken legs and had to be destroyed.

Fraser, driver of the cattle truck, said his brakes failed to hold when he topped the steep hill and came up behind the slowly moving state highway maintenance truck. The Highway Department truck, pulling a rotary sweeper, was reported to have been traveling at about 20 miles per hour.

Fraser said a green Chevrolet sedan, driven by an unidentified person, was approaching from the other direction, started to stop, then accelerated and whipped past the two trucks. He stated he pulled his skidding vehicle to the right to avoid a head-on collision with the oncoming car, and apparently caught the cab of the Highway Department truck from the rear with the corner of the cattle trailer.

Clarence Kemp of Canadian, who was driving the state truck, said he didn't see the cattle truck. "The first thing I knew," Kemp told local officers, "was when the back end of my truck seemed to jump about 20 feet in the air."

The State Highway truck was pitched off the road, its front missing a concrete culvert and shearing off several poles and rolled down the steep embankment, coming to rest at the bottom of the ravine and heading in the direction opposite to that in which it had been traveling.

Kemp and Green crawled from the cab uninjured. Green was limping slightly from a bruise on one leg, but said he was unhurt.

The cattle truck came to a stop. (See THREE, Page 2)

Truman Rejects Plan For Voluntary FEPC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today rejected suggestions that a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) be set up on a "voluntary" compliance basis.

Determined southern opposition thus far has blocked Senate consideration of a bill to set up an FEPC with compulsory provisions. The bill would bar job discrimination against any person because of race, creed, color or national origin.

Rodeo Leaders Meet Tonight

The directors of the Top of Texas Rodeo, Horse Show and Fair Association, Inc. will hold a dinner meeting today at 7 p.m. in the basement banquet room of the Schneider Hotel.

The purpose of the meeting will be to complete plans for the annual Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show scheduled for Aug. 8-12.

As in the past, the Kid Pony show will be held Tuesday, Aug. 8. Horse shows will be held in the daytime on the 9th and 10th. Nightly rodeo performances will be held Wednesday through Saturday, Aug. 9-12.

Arrangements have been made for the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band of Abilene to furnish music for the rodeo performances. Goat Mayo of Peoria, Ill. will furnish the stock for the show and direct arena activities.

Methodist Group Reports Gains

BIG SPRING — (AP) — Reports made to the 41st annual Northwest Texas Methodist Conference in session here show a membership gain of four percent during the past year.

Dr. J. O. Haymes, Lubbock district superintendent, said last night that the conference now has a membership of 94,262, an increase of 3,426 for the year.

He said donations increased $750,000 for a total of $4,129,000.

Total building projects during the past year included $1,141,000 spent on 17 new churches and nine new parsonages.

SHORT RUN

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Firemen of Station No. 1 didn't have to go far to put out a fire today. It was on their own roof where an elevator shaft and hose tower are being constructed.

Announcement Emphasizes Supply for Defense Alone

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States, Britain and France today announced a joint agreement to supply arms to the Middle East—for defense alone. President Truman hailed it as a move to stimulate "increased confidence in future security" in that area.

The president expressed this view in a statement commenting on the three-power accord reached at London during the foreign ministers conference early this month.

Under the agreement, arms can be sent to both the Arab nations and Israel if they give assurances they will not use the military equipment "to undertake any act of aggression against a neighbor state."

The agreement marked an end to long-standing differences among the western powers over the question of providing weapons to the forces recently engaged in bitter fighting over the partition of Palestine.

Mr. Truman said the United States believes the action "will stimulate, in the Arab states and Israel, increased confidence in future security, thus accelerating the progress now being made in the Near East among countries toward the well-being of peoples there."

He added: "The participation of the United States government in the declaration emphasizes this country's desire to promote the maintenance of peace in the Near East."

The president declined to answer any questions on the statement at his news conference.

The announcement of the accord was made simultaneously in London, Paris and Washington.

Although there was no reference in the announcement of the strategic importance of the Middle East in the East-West cold war, officials here were of the opinion the Big Three foreign ministers had this strongly in mind.

Their joint statement said the three governments recognized that the Arab states and Israel "need to maintain a certain level of armed forces for the purpose of insuring their internal security, their self defense and to permit them to play their due part in the defense of the whole area."

Requests by middle eastern countries for arms "will be appraised in the light of these principles," the statement added.

The announcement said that middle eastern countries now receiving arms from the three powers already have given assurances the weapons would not be used for acts of aggression. Similar assurances will be requested of other states in the area before future arms shipments are authorized, it said.

This would indicate that Egypt and Hashemite Jordan, two of the Arab countries which fought against Israel over Palestine partition have pledged themselves to peace. They have been receiving arms aid from Britain.

Should any nation receiving arms under the arrangement show signs of preparing to "violate the terms of true lines," the statement said the three powers would "act at once" through the United Nations "to prevent such violation."

162 to Receive Diplomas at 8

One hundred and sixty two seniors will receive diplomas at the commencement exercises to be held in the Pampa High School auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock.

G. W. McCullough, general manager of the Phillips Chemical Co., will be the speaker.

Thirty-four of the seniors will receive vocational diplomas and the remaining will get pre-college diplomas.

Knox Kinard, superintendent, Frank W. Wilson, principal, and Sam A. Berger, assistant principal, will present the diplomas and confer special honors.

J. P. Crenshaw, minister of the Church of Christ, will deliver the invocation. The benediction will be given by Dr. Douglas E. Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Magazine to Tell Of Pampa's Efforts In Industrial Week

A letter has been received from J. Rose, editor of the magazine, Texas Industry, requesting complete information, with pictures and detailed data on the observance of Texas Industrial Week in Pampa, April 2-8.

The June issue of the magazine will carry the complete report on Pampa's activities during the week. Pampa's celebration was selected by judges as the outstanding one in Texas in towns of less than 25,000 population.

Pampa has been commended for its outstanding window displays and for its special scrapbook by R. E. Clements, president of the Texas Manufacturer's Association. A certificate of merit was presented to the Chamber of Commerce last week by Clements for the best scrapbook. A plaque will be awarded the chamber in October at a statewide meeting in Galveston for the best observance of any city in Texas under 25,000 population.

Investigating Staff In Senate Proposed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Two senators are quietly enlisting support for a plan to set up a permanent Senate investigating staff.

Senators Watkins (R-Utah) and Keatinger (D-Texas) are backing the proposal. They see a need for an investigating staff working on a full-time basis to collect facts for Senate committees — and the Senate as a whole.

"Our present committees are all wrong," Watkins said. "Our committees now act as investigators and a trial court at the same time — and that's no way to conduct investigations."

Watkins said a Senate investigating staff could gather information on presidential appointments, stir rumor from fact, and also do the investigating for such groups as those looking into crime and gambling — and the charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Mo.) that Communists have infiltrated the State Department.

Western Europe Due to Take Big Step Toward Free Trade

PARIS — (AP) — Western Europe takes its biggest step toward post-war free trade on July 1.

On that date, Marshall Plan experts announced, the new European Payments Union will go into effect. The union will set up a currency pool aimed at freeing trade within Europe's borders from the barrier basis which has strait-jacketed it since the war.

Officials of the Organization for European Economic Recovery (OEEC), which administers the Marshall Plan, said details of the program still are being worked out. But main decisions have been made, they declared, permitting the union to start working at the end of June.

Ministers representing the Marshall Plan countries will check on progress of the preparations at meetings June 2 and June 20. With no common currency pool heretofore, Western Europe's countries have been restricted in their purchases to buying from countries to which they sold.

The new union will permit a swapping of credits.

Italy, for example, may have Dutch guilders but no French francs. If she wants to buy from France, she may use her guilders in the pool to get francs which another nation has turned in. The pool will funnel the guilders on to some prospective customer of The Netherlands.

A special exception has been made to protect the British pound, the medium for about half the world's trade. Pounds will still be spent outside the sterling area made up principally of the British Commonwealth countries — only with special British permission. Otherwise Britain might have to redeem them in dollars, of which she is short.

Pounds held by any nation also may be held in reserve for future purchases in the sterling area. Other European currency

More Arrests In Atom Case Are Predicted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) predicted yesterday the FBI arrest of a Philadelphia chemist as an associate of British atomic spy Klaus Fuchs is only the beginning of a round-up of other accomplices.

Harry Gold, 39, research chemist of Russian extraction, was arrested in Philadelphia on charges of receiving atomic bomb secrets from Fuchs and turning them over to Russia. Fuchs is serving a 14-year prison term in Great Britain for betraying U.S. and British atomic secrets to Russia.

Two FBI agents are in London questioning Fuchs, former key official in the British atomic program at the time of his arrest last February.

Johnson, a member of the joint Senate-House Atomic Committee, said he suspected when Fuchs was arrested there were "some rooks in this country." He added:

"I think Mr. Gold is one of those rooks and I think maybe there are others. I believe there will be further arrests as I don't believe one man could have done all of those things."

The body needs small quantities of iodine for growth and development, healthy skin and hair and mental alertness.

Unusual Texans Range From Jurors to Valedictorians

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

A fast look around the state caught by police while window peeping at an Odessa motor court, a culprit complained he was a "victim of circumstances. The shade was up and anybody would have stopped and looked, he said. Sure enough, police counted a dozen other footprints around the window. But the man paid a $25 fine just the same.

In commenting editorially on the outcome of a much-publicized murder trial at Amarillo in which the defendant was acquitted, the Beaumont Journal said:

"This far away from Amarillo it might be said to reveal that old criticism of Texas. You can kill a man in Texas, but God steal his hope."

The valedictorian at Killebrew High School, Governor's School for Valedictorians, with a 3.8 average. The amazing thing is that four years ago, Valedictorians couldn't speak a word of English. On April 17, 1946, he landed in Galveston from his native Sicily, and entered the high school. I was born, he said, in a Sicilian town. "I couldn't understand a thing the teachers were saying. This year the fellow students elected me the best student in the school."

And speaking of graduates, Glen McCarthy, Houston, oil man and hotel owner, received a number of commendations, including a diploma from the University of Texas at Galveston. He is now presenting a visit to that city. McCarthy sent each a note, saying, "I want to have the opportunity to extend my best wishes for your success as you embark on your new career. He sent no presents. The Galveston Daily Register commented: "According to a quiet, an announcement of commendation does not mean a gift but merely a note of congratulation."

State highway patrolmen stopped a man who was driving a new Cadillac between Midland and Houston and charged him in the court of W. F. Rogers, justice of the peace with residence in driving. The man paid a fine amounting to $34 and thanked the officers for their courtesy. "I am especially impressed," he

Revelation of Facts Planned By McCarthy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator McCarthy (R-Wa.) says he has decided to make public copies of pertinent parts of government loyalty files having a bearing on the Owen Lattimore case. McCarthy said the papers would expose deliberate fraud and deception on the part of the State Department.

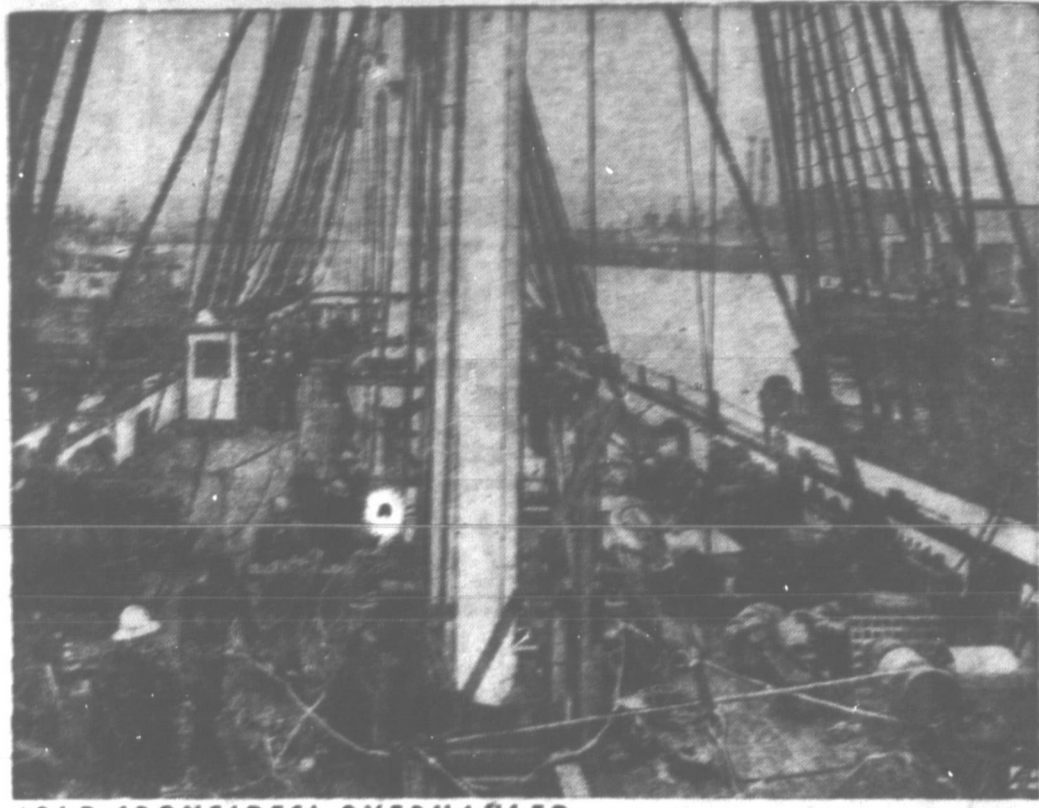

He said he has copies of the files and would take them public when he speaks in Rochester, N. Y., on June 1.

McCarthy has charged that Lattimore, a Johns Hopkins University professor and occasional consultant to the State Department on Far Eastern affairs, is a Russian spy in this country. Lattimore has denied this.

McCarthy said the files he intends to disclose are from the loyalty records of the old Office of War Information. He said the original documents now are in possession of the State Department.

Lattimore served during part of the war as deputy director of the OWI in charge of Pacific operations.

The State Department has said that Lattimore never was on its payroll and that it therefore has no loyalty file on him. McCarthy added: "If this were merely for the purpose of furnishing a link in the Lattimore chain of evidence, I would not produce these files in public at this time. It is necessary, however, to make these files available to the public to expose the deliberate fraud and deception which the State Department attempted to tell the American people in its white paper in which it tried to discredit the facts and evidence which I have produced."

Milland Unable to Escape Jokes, So He 'Joins' AA

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Ray Milland, who won an Academy Award for his rye-soaked performance in "The Lost Weekend," will start again. Miss Fontaine will be no help. When I asked her how she did her research for her drunk scenes, she replied: "I watched Ray Milland in 'The Lost Weekend' 10 times."

This time the greying Welshman is not prowling for bottles in chandeliers. He portrays a member of Alcoholics Anonymous, the organization which helps chronic drinkers recover their balance.

"I guess it was inevitable," said Milland who drinks moderately in private life. He portrays an AA member who is sent to straighten out a young actress (played by Joan Fontaine) who is on a binge in a hotel room.

I watched the pair go through their first scene in "Mr. and Mrs. Anonymous." Miss Fontaine was in the hotel room when Milland entered. He started to tell her about AA. "Are you a lush?" she mumbled. "Do you drink?" "I did," he answered with dignity. "Double-A showed me the way to pull myself out."

Milland fully expects all the drinking gags, which he has been subjected to ever since "The Lost Weekend," will start again.

Other workmen saw him lounge into the white hot ladle.

Texas Station's License Lifted

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Communications Commission revoked yesterday the license of Radio Station KTXN of Austin, Texas, on the ground there have been unauthorized changes in ownership and control.

The station was directed to leave the air by 11 p. m. CST June 26. The commission said that if the station makes formal application for hearings by June 7, it would hold the revocations in abeyance.

The action came from applications filed with the commission by the original owners to transfer the station to others.

Thomas G. Harris and six associates applied to transfer KTXN to Edward C. James. The commission said it had learned that Harris last November made a management contract with James which effectively passed control of the station to him "without the sanction of prior commission consent."

 The storm caused heavy property damage. Loss to farms in the hamlet of Bruchstedt was estimated at 95 percent.

Dallas District Attorney In Race for Supreme Court

District Atty. Will R. Wilson, Dallas, one of the foremost proponents of Texas' criminal law revision, has announced he will enter the race for associate justice of the State Supreme Court.
 Wilson will seek the post being vacated by Justice William M. Taylor, who previously announced he will not seek reelection.
 Wilson has prosecuted some of the state's most publicized criminal cases. The most well-known case he prosecuted was the "stomping" case reversed because the Court of Criminal Appeals held the indictment was faulty in that it did not say "stomping to death with the feet." The fighting D.A. has toured the state several times speaking strongly against loopholes and technicalities that permit criminals to go free and calling for what he termed "common sense indictments."
 He spoke before the Pampa Rotary Club several months ago at a time when he was being boomed for attorney general. The turn of events in state level politics that started with the unexpected death of Gov. Beasly and H. Jester apparently cancelled Wilson's plans for the attorney generalship. That was on the assumption that incumbent Price Daniel would seek another term instead of shooting for governor.

Wisconsin Chief To Leave Office

MADISON, Wis. — (AP) — Gov. Oscar Rennebohm has announced he will not be a candidate for reelection in the fall balloting.
 Rennebohm, a Republican, said his physician had advised him he needed a complete rest of several months and that it would be inadvisable for him to embark on a strenuous political campaign in the present condition of his health.
 Rennebohm became governor in 1947 upon the death of Gov. Walter Goodland and was re-elected to office in 1948.
 He was elected lieutenant governor in 1944, his first public office, and was reelected to that post in 1948.
 Rennebohm owns a chain of Madison drug stores.

Pipeline Request Arguments Heard

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The power commission heard final arguments yesterday on the application of Colorado Interstate Gas Co. to acquire facilities of the Canadian River Gas Co. and to build a new 215-mile pipeline from the Texas Panhandle to Colorado.
 William A. Dougherty, attorney for Colorado Interstate, told the commission his company now buys natural gas from Canadian River for resale in Colorado and Wyoming.
 Colorado and Wyoming are constantly increasing their demands for gas, and unless the new Texas-Colorado line is authorized, the pipeline company probably will be forced to build new facilities to increase its take from the Hugoton field in Kansas, the attorney explained.

The 1950 Rutgers football team will have, in order, Syracuse, Princeton, Temple, NYU, Lehigh, Brown, Lafayette, Penn State and Colgate.

South Africa Believed Rich In Uranium

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

PRETORIA — Union of South Africa — (AP) — South Africa is building up to a highly secret uranium industry in her rich gold fields.

The union government has launched a production project designed to extract uranium from previously-wasted by-products of the union's gold production. If South African expectations are fulfilled, the output may keep the West supreme in production of atomic energy.

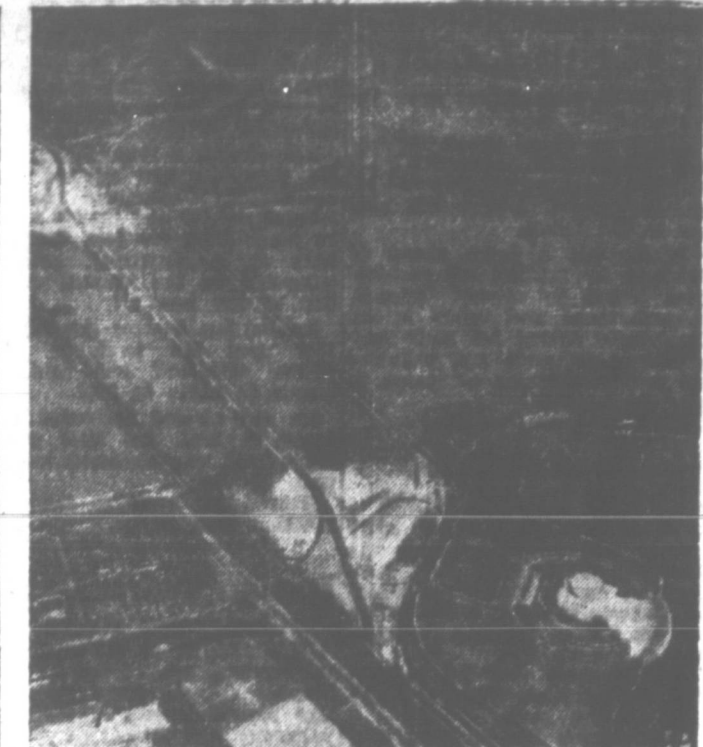

Top secret experiments are underway in a number of pilot plants along the rich Witwatersrand gold reef, the vast deposit which extends south and west of Pretoria to Johannesburg.

Successful production, persons connected with the project said, could make South Africa the world's largest supplier of uranium, an essential atomic energy raw material of which the earth offers a limited known supply.

Ahead of the union government has offered to sell her potential uranium output to the United States and Britain. The three countries still are negotiating over terms, with the United States reported as thinking South Africa's demands are too stiff.

The 40 to 50 mines along the Witwatersrand last year produced some 57,000,000 tons of gold ore. The amount of uranium in each ton is not great but "in the total — it means a very big amount of uranium," Eric Louw, then mines minister, told the union Parliament on June 16, 1949.

Though union scientists and technicians make up the entire staff of the pilot uranium production plants, American and British research was utilized in establishing the production facilities. This three-power research collaboration is continuing.

Water Flowing to Gulf Called Answer To Texas Shortages

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Texas Water Code Committee heard yesterday the answer to the state's water supply problems can be found in conservation of water lost from Texas rivers.

A. P. Rollins, state board of water engineers, Austin, said 54,000,000 acre feet of water annually flow from Texas rivers into the Gulf.

Rollins spoke at the last meeting held in the state by the committee. The group is to make recommendations to the legislature next year.

He said the San Jacinto River pours 2,000,000 acre feet of water into the Gulf annually although the river frequently is dry above Marlin part of each summer.

Portions of the Brazos River and the entire Sabine, Trinity, Colorado and Nueces rivers, he said, are "good" water that is going to waste because of inadequate conservation measures.

Nicholas A. Rose, consulting ground water geologist of the San Houston Water and Sewage Association, Houston, said the maze of water systems drawing from a common Houston area supply must be made to cooperate in determining uses and effective means of conservation.

Publishers Oppose New Textbook Plan

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Protests against the gradual introduction system for supplementary readers by the State Board of Education were voiced here yesterday by publishers' Texas representatives.

The bookmen protested at a meeting of a committee of the state board headed by Tom Ramey of Tyler.

The plan proposed by Dr. J. W. Edgar of Austin, state commissioner of education, calls for introduction of a relatively few books each year rather than wholesale purchase and introduction every few years resulting in pyramiding costs.

Bands Upshaw, J. W. Cantwell, D. E. Rosser and Dave Neale, all of Dallas, and A. W. Bain of Austin, all publishers' representatives, told the committee the companies signed their contracts in good faith and under the new system will take a 20 to 30 percent loss on value of the contracts. They objected to the limited notice given them of the proposed change.

Site of Academy Expands Borders

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — (AP) — This historic, 301-year-old city, home of the U. S. Naval Academy, expands its area by seven times today and adds 9,450 to its population.

Remnants of eleven fringe communities voted 1,056 to 943 to annex them to the city.

Tightly packed "Crabtown" grows from .737 to 6.55 square miles, its population goes from 15,500 to about 25,000.

President Proclaims U. S. Memorial Day

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has asked the American people to observe Memorial Day "as a day of prayer for permanent peace."

In a proclamation he designated the hour beginning at 10 a.m. Tuesday, May 30, "as a period in which all our people may unite in prayer, each in accordance with his own religious faith, for divine aid in bringing enduring peace to a troubled world."

SAMNORWOOD — (Special) — Samnorwood High School will soon have one of the largest storm cellars in Northwest Texas in its back yard. Orville Cunningham, superintendent of the Samnorwood Consolidated Schools, is receiving funds for the erection of the huge cellar, which will be 20 feet by 50 feet in size.

"We expect to be able to put 270 of our boys and girls in there at one time if it becomes necessary," he said.

State Constantly Battling Moonshiners in East Texas

By BO BYERS
 AUSTIN — (AP) — The war between state "revenooers" and moonshiners continues unabated in East Texas.
 Inspectors knocked over six stills in April, but the boys in the backwoods probably replaced those and added a couple more by now. Seems like few arrests don't dampen the spirits of the illegal-liquor boys very much.
 That's straight from the lips of the man who should know — John Hilliard, chief supervisor of the Texas Liquor Control Board.
 "It's hardly noticeable, but the number of stills we capture each month has been gradually increasing ever since the war. At least we just had two or three each month. Now we average six or seven," said Hilliard. This is still a far cry from the 1936-41 period, right after prohibition ended and Texas went dry. Fifty to 100 raids a month was not unusual then, Hilliard recalled.
 How come all the stills seem to be in East Texas? Are all those cowpokes and sheep herders in West and South Texas moonshiners?
 "It is rather peculiar, but there are three reasons," Hilliard explained.
 First, the locality. East Texas topography is conducive to successful operation of stills. Plenty of running water for the stills and plenty of trees and brush to make it hard for law enforcement officers to find the moonshiners.
 Second, the type of people. "The colored people and low-class whites are a good market for that moonshine stuff," Hilliard said.
 Third, East Texas is so-called "dry" territory north of Beaumont, except for Gregg County. Isn't West Texas almost as "dry?"
 "Yes, but it's harder to hide a still out there, and actually the illegal whiskey problem is tougher to solve in West Texas than in East Texas," replied Hilliard.
 How come?
 "Because the illegal whiskey is a regular company — distilled, tax-paid, that is, transported by truck. It's harder to catch them in the act of breaking the law than it is to catch a moonshiner running a still."
 The "revenooers" captured 1,125 gallons of mash, made four arrests, and destroyed 95 1-2 gallons of moonshine liquor last month. They took three stills in Titus County and one each in Bowie, Red River and Freestone counties.
 Compared with four cases of possessing illicit equipment, there were 22 cases of liquor transportation in dry areas in April.

Worker Is Injured

HOUSTON — (AP) — A fire at the Sinclair oil refinery on the Houston Ship Channel hospitalized one man yesterday.
 A. O. Workman, 35, a still operator, received third degree burns.
 The fire, confined to a still, was brought under control by Sinclair fighters.

Sunshine Aids Planting Over Much of State

AUSTIN — (AP) — Sunny skies brought planting, replanting and cultivation to much Texas farm land last week.
 The U. S. Department of Agriculture reported there was also some rain that stopped field work in the north central and north-eastern counties. Damaging hail hit many local areas.

 More showers in the northern High Plains came too late to help wheat, USDA said, but will supply moisture for range grasses and feed crops.
 Corn made good recovery and was generally of good color. Much of the crop was planted late. Stands were poor in many fields.
 Cotton had reached the speckled boll stage in the Lower Valley. It was squaring in the coastal bend area. Cool nights hold it back, however, in North Texas.
 Temperatures favored most vegetables. Tomatoes move actively from the Lower Valley. Watermelons were moving from the Fallurrias and Laredo sections. The Pearsall crop is expected this week.
 Ranges and pastures were supplying abundant green feed over the eastern two-thirds of the state, USDA said. In the extreme southern and High Plains counties, ranges were greening up.
 When you're deep fat yrting, have enough fat in the kettle to cover the food generously, but don't fill the kettle more than two-thirds full of melted fat.

Swiss Firm Object Of U. S. Crackdown

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government cracked down yesterday on a Swiss firm accused of selling American chemicals to a Russian satellite in violation of U. S. exports controls.
 The Paul Wormser and Company of Zurich was stripped of export licenses and prohibited from getting U. S. goods that are subject to export controls.
 The action was the first against a foreign firm since this country banned shipment of "war potential" goods to Russia and Eastern European nations in its sphere.
 The department accused the Swiss concern of importing an American industrial chemical by representing it was to be used in Switzerland and then re-shipping it to Communist-dominated Czechoslovakia.
 Similar actions can be expected against other European importers, officials said.

Mississippi Tops Area Oil Output

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Mississippi is the fastest growing oil producing state in the southeastern section, the U. S. Bureau of Mines reports.
 The bureau said Mississippi, which did not become a producing state until 1939, now produces about 80 percent — 45,886,000 barrels — of the area's total.
 The states listed as making up the southeastern area are Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Florida, and Virginia. Mississippi's total production since 1939 is 208,044,000 barrels.
 The southeast now produces 2.7 percent of the nation's output.

U.S. Has Hard Time Selling Export Wheat Despite Price

(By The Associated Press)
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U.S. is having a hard time selling its wheat in the world markets, despite its bargain offer of 54 cents a bushel under domestic prices.
 The domestic price is about $2.20 a bushel, at Kansas City. An international agreement dividing export markets among major surplus-producing countries gave the country a quota of 234,899,000 bushels for the sales year ending Aug. 1. The agreement is supposed to help stabilize supply and prices.
 Only about 110,000,000 bushels have been sold. Agriculture Department officials expect sales to fall at least 30,000,000 below the U.S. quota.

 The agreement fixes top and low prices for sales under the quota. Domestic prices supported by the government's farm program, have averaged more than 50 cents a bushel above the maximum world market price.
 The government thus pays exporters this difference so they can make sales abroad under price ceilings of the wheat pact.
 One reason this country is not expected to sell its full quota is that production has been increasing in many countries which normally depend upon imports.
 The U.S. may have to make an even greater sacrifice on export prices during the new marketing year beginning Aug. 1.
 Prospects of a relatively small crop have pushed domestic prices up in recent weeks and promise to hold them at possibly higher averages than during the current marketing year.
 With no change in the maximum price in the world market covered by the agreement, the higher the price in this country, the greater the cost to the government in the form of the subsidy paid exporters.
 The U.S. cannot withdraw from the market unless it lacks enough grain to supply its own needs and fill its export quota. It must offer the full amount of its quota at the maximum price, regardless of the cost.
 The government has no desire to surrender its quota, even if it is costing money to make the sales. Officials say this country must hold a sizeable portion of the world market or force many wheat farmers out of business through drastic production controls.
 Prospects of a short crop this year does not alter the need to hold foreign markets, officials say. Reserves of wheat accumulated during the past two years under government price support programs assure ample supplies to meet both domestic needs and the export quota.

U. N. Body Approves Journalism Ethics

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — (AP) — A United Nations subcommittee has approved a code of ethics calling for journalists to be factually accurate and objective in their work.

The code, which is approved by the U. N. Economic and Social Council will depend for enforcement on the journalists themselves, condemns acceptance of bribes, calumny, libel or plagiarism.
 It also calls for voluntary corrections of false news, identification of rumors as such, assumption of responsibility for all statements published or specific disclaimers, in advance, where responsibility is not assumed; publication of news of individual private lives only in the public interest, not to satisfy public curiosity; respect for the confidence of news sources and wide background knowledge of foreign countries by correspondents covering those countries.

Garbageman's Job Appeal Apparently Left Up to Queen

BEBINGTON, England — (AP) — Queen Elizabeth appears to be the court of last appeal for the garbage collector who got fired because he shared royalty's applause.

The Bebington town council has upheld the dismissal of garbage truck driver Sidney Cooper, who bystanders said drove his bright orange truck behind the queen's car and took bows as a local crowd cheered. The queen had been enroute to a ship launching.

The local branch of the Labor Party said it would appeal the queen to intercede for following for two miles behind the queen's motorcade, one car who also was stripped of his pension rights after 17 years of service.

 One Bebington housewife, Mrs. Mabel Edwards, said she already had 1,500 signatures on a petition asking the queen to say a good word for Cooper.

The council voted 23 to 10 in confirming Cooper's dismissal by its health committee. More than 500 persons packed a public hall for the hearing but Cooper was not present. He had admitted

500,000 Workers Added to Payrolls

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that more than 500,000 workers were added to industrial and commercial payrolls between mid-March and mid-April.
 The bureau said that about 800,000 jobs were added to the work force in the two months ended April 15 — not including the return of strikers.
 Last year in the same period, employment declined by 109,000. A total of 42,800,000 workers in these non-agricultural and non-military jobs was reported this year. Unemployment dropped substantially for the second successive month. It declined to 3,500,000 in April from 4,100,000 in March, the bureau reported.

"Too much studying and not enough physical education!"

French Idea of Sports Not Relaxing in Sidewalk Cafe

PARIS — (NEA) — Many Americans still cherish the idea that the average Frenchman's favorite sport is sitting at a sidewalk cafe, sipping aperitifs while he watches the world go by.

Those may be the French the tourists have seen — and will see again this summer and fall. Hundreds of thousands they don't see, however, will be flocking to football games, watching the yearly six-day bike race, leaving work to cheer competitors in the bicycling "Tour de France," most grueling endurance test in the world, or taking part in sports themselves.

Off the boulevards where the tourists walk, open-air swimming "beaches" dot the quays of the Seine in the heart of Paris. They'll be doing a roaring business all summer with men and women who devote their lunch hour, on nice days, to swimming.

Last year the government voted a budget of about $7,000,000 for the country's sports program, which comes under the department of physical training in the Ministry of Education.

Among the things such a budget has made possible is the establishment of 220 "physical re-education" centers to combat the harm suffered by children in the years of undernourishment during and after the occupation.

These centers put more than 15,000 physically deficient youngsters back on the road to health during the 1948-49 school year.

This year the requirement that a "sports certificate" be produced before elementary school graduation has been extended to the equivalent of American high school graduates.

This has built up sports enthusiasm among young women, as well as men. In 1949 there were more than 600,000 French girls holding sports certificates, and 100,000 of them took part in organized competitions.

Sports clubs in commercial and industrial organizations are not required by law, but since liberation more than 1700 such groups with 110,000 members have been formed.

Football holds first place in French sports interest. There are something like 800 amateur football clubs, plus 781 professional groups, and the football federation counts 428,000 members. Basketball accounts for another 82,000.

Biggest handicap to the national sports program is the lack of sufficient instructors. The government's 1450 coaches and 1720 male and female instructors aren't enough to go around, and budget restrictions have limited new appointments.

Death Verdicts Reversed by Appeals Court

AUSTIN — (AP) — Two death sentence convictions were reversed by the Court of Criminal Appeals yesterday because the grand jury which returned the indictments was invalid under a new law passed by the 51st Legislature.

The reversals were in the Hardin County cases of Alex LeViness and Darius Golemon, convicted of murder in the pistol shooting and beating of Cloyce Eloise Twitchell who gave them a ride when they were hitchhiking from Beaumont Sept. 28, 1948.

The new law fixed two consecutive terms for the Hardin County District Court providing practically continuous sessions for the court effective May 12, 1949, the appeals court noted.

Two days after the effective date of the new law, the judge of the court ordered a special session of the court for May 16 through the first Monday of September, 1949, the latter date provided by the new law as the beginning of the court's second term. The grand jury that had been drawn at the previous regular term was empaneled and sworn in, court records showed.

"We think the term of the court was a valid one, but that the utilization of a grand jury drawn in January prior to such special sessions was invalid," the appeals court said in its written opinion. The court said a special grand jury should have also been ordered.

Funny Story Basis Of Appeal in Case

AUSTIN — (AP) — The State Supreme Court will decide whether it's proper to tell a funny fish story in arguing a damage suit.

It's a point that will come up in the appeal of the Southwestern Greyhound Lines in a damage suit brought by Gladys L. Dickson in 33rd District court here.

The district court awarded her $28,246 damages for injuries when she fell over a hose at the bus station.

Records showed an attorney for Miss Dickson told a fish story during arguments. This brought guffaws from a juror. Bus lawyers contended the lack of decorum was a factor in alleged misconduct that should be reviewed. The Supreme Court agreed, and will hear arguments June 21.

High Court Proves Friend of Dogs as Shelter Approved

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — A dog found a friend in a high court yesterday.

Associate Justice James R. Norvell, in an opinion of the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, ruled that dogs have "a place in modern society."

The appeal court upheld a ruling by District Judge P. C. Sanders allowing the Animal Defense League to maintain a shelter on a 25-acre tract north of the city.

Foes had contended the shelter valuable property they owned adjoining the 25-acre tract. In his opinion Norvell wrote: "Despite a sizeable minority opinion, the majority consensus gives the dog a place in modern society."

"While it may be conceded that dogs are recognized by a sizeable portion of our population as wholly unnecessary annoyances, yet man emerged from the prehistoric past with the dog at his side as a servant and companion and today, even in our great metropolitan cities, man lives in the midst of dogs and cats and birds and other creatures."

The shelter is to house 200 dogs.

Egyptian Princess to Wed Husband in Moslem Service

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Princess Fathia and her commoner husband are about to end the "kissless" feature of their month-old civil marriage.

On Sunday Riad Ghali, 31, will wed 19-year-old Fathia in Moslem rites at Fairmont Hotel on Nob Hill.

"It will be a real marriage this time," Ghali said. He and his princess didn't consider the civil — but platonic — marriage official. They have maintained separate suites.

Whether the Moslem ceremony will be considered official by Fathia's brother — King Farouk of Egypt — seemed doubtful. Farouk labelled Ghali "adventurer," stripped Fathia of her title and impounded the wealth of both Fathia and the Queen Mother Nazli.

Farouk directed much of his wrath at his mother because she openly approved the romance between her youngest daughter ter and the non-Moslem Ghali. Fathia's choice for a honeymoon site was not disclosed. She favors Hawaii, where her sister, Princess Faika, recently honeymooned following her marriage to Dr. Fouad Sadek.

Faika, too, ired brother Farouk with her marriage — but not to the degree that Fathia has. Faika's husband is a commoner but he is also a Moslem.

Faika and her husband were included in Farouk's edict to his royal family: return home. Faika and Sadek boarded a TWA plane Tuesday night — Cairo bound.

In 1949, a total of 520 stake races with a value of $7,701,879 were run at tracks in the United States.

Bobby Jones won the U. S. amateur golf championship five times (1924, 1925, 1927, 1928 and 1930).

Coal Executive Says Imports Of Oil May Make 200,000 Idle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — R. M. Davis, a West Virginia coal executive, said yesterday that unless something is done to curb foreign oil imports 200,000 coal miners may lose their jobs within 18 months.

Davis, president of the Davis-Wilson Coal Co., said production of coal may be cut in half if large shipments of foreign fuel oil are started inland from the eastern seaboard.

He told a Senate labor subcommittee the tariff on oil should be increased from 10.5 cents to $1.05 a barrel. The causes of "increasing unemployment" in coal, railroad, oil, silver, lead and zinc industries.

Davis said about 500 coal miners employed in the two mines of his company "are losing several hundred thousand dollars annually because of the competition of foreign oil."

His plea that Congress act to prevent "the dumping" of foreign oil in this country was backed by George F. Parrish, executive secretary of the West Virginia Railroad Association.

Parrish said railroads have suffered a heavy loss in coal traffic because of oil imports and have laid off employees.

Previous coal industry witnesses have testified oil imports last year cost 25,000 coal miners their jobs or reduced their work week. They estimated another 25,000 will be thrown out of work if oil imports continue at the present rate.

Sen. Neely (D-W.Va.) asked Davis if he agreed with these estimates. Davis replied he thought they were not high enough. Unless oil imports are curbed, he said, "I think we will have 200,000 miners out of their jobs in a year to 18 months."

That would be about half the total number of miners.

Davis said he sees nothing to prevent foreign fuel oil, now sold largely along the eastern seaboard, from being shipped to inland states by barge or tank car.

British Are Accused By Reds in China

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The Chinese Communists have accused Great Britain of aiding China's Nationalists while seeking to establish diplomatic relations with the Red regime.

A Peiping broadcast quoted a spokesman for the ministry of foreign affairs as saying "it is completely necessary to ask the British government to clarify further again its position."

Parents Aroused by School Head's Edict

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Bare midriff dresses, shorts, and sun dresses — "that don't cover the child" — were banned yesterday in Carroll Elementary School by Principal S. Vinson Strain.

Mothers promptly accused Strain of "trying to be a dictator." They protested to school officials. Two who contended that scanty sun dresses are proper and ideal for Texas summer weather were Mrs. Harry Sims and Mrs. David S. Maples.

School officials said the only regulation on clothes is that they be "appropriate and in good taste." They promised to look into Strain's controversial order.

Revue is sponsored by the National Secretaries Association.

Shower Honors A Bride-Elect, Miss Betty Dillman

Miss Betty Dillman, bride-elect of Bob Brandon, was honored with a miscellaneous shower in the Catholic Parish Hall. Mrs. J. P. Brown, Mrs. George Dillman, Mrs. Walter Rogers, Mrs. Ed Holland and Mrs. Dick Sullivan were hostesses.

A large Maypole with pastel streamers, placed in the center of the hall, was the focal point of the decorations. The honoree's chosen colors, blue and white, were carried out in decorations on the silver appointed serving table. A small Maypole centered the table, and was encircled at the base with blue and white flowers. Blue and white streamers were draped over the table.

Mrs. Lillian McNutt presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Clara Dillman registered guests in the bride's book.

After the guests were served Miss Dillman was crowned May Queen and was presented with many gifts. Several humorous surprise packages were mixed in with the gifts and supplied the evening's entertainment.

There were 75 guests present.

Czechs Set Up Security Agency

PRAGUE — (AP) — The Communist-controlled Czechoslovak cabinet decided yesterday to set up a new ministry — the Ministry of National Security — with Ladislav Kopriva as the minister.

This probably is a phase of the recent government shakeup in which Defense Minister Ludvik Svoboda was replaced by the ardent Communist Alexei Copicaka, son-in-law of President Klement Gottwald.

Helicopter Carries Commuter to Work

FORT WORTH — (AP) — W. K. Stripling, 60, president of a department store, became the city's first helicopter "commuter" yesterday. A pilot hopped him from River Crest Golf Club near his home to the roof of his firm's parking garage in four minutes.

"Faster than brushing your teeth," laughed the executive. He told the pilot, Wayne Schlesinger, he "felt safer than I did in 1919 when I made my first flight in a shaky old Jenny airplane."

The demonstration flight was sponsored by Central Airlines, an applicant for permission to operate mail-carrying helicopters in the Fort Worth-Dallas area.

WANTS CHANGE FROM HOUSEWORK

Dear Mrs. Friend:
My husband never takes me anywhere.
I stay at home day in and day out, doing the housework, cooking and taking care of the children. I keep the house nice — I might as well there is nothing else to do. I keep my two children clean and neat. I am a good enough cook.
It seems that I deserve an occasional night out but my husband doesn't agree. He says he works hard and when he gets home he wants to stay here. He can't understand why I want to go places occasionally.
My husband says that our home is comfortable and he is going to stay in it.
How can I persuade him to take me out once in a while or even have company here? After all I would like to try out my cooking on someone besides my family if he would let me.

Mrs. Mary J.
I think that husbands who are away at their businesses all day are prone to forget how lonely a wife can become at home by herself or with her children. They are out where they meet people and so when they get home it is not surprising that they are happy to remain there in restful and quiet surroundings. Especially when their wives see to it that their home is a pleasant place.
I suppose that in a way you should feel complimented that he is so eager to remain at home with you and your children.
On the other hand, it is necessary that you have an occasional outing. Personally, I feel that a housewife should be taken out to dinner at least once a week in order to break the monotony of planning and serving meals.
Further, I think that the children should be left home with some competent person so that you can really relax and enjoy yourself.
Getting your husband to believe it is another matter.
Have you tried to compare your job to his? Have you explained that you, like him need a change from your daily routine?
If you can't persuade him to go out with you why not go out with a woman friend for a movie once in a while. Leave him home to watch the children.
If you don't want to leave him at nights, get a sitter for your youngsters and go out during the day to a luncheon or a party or to a matinee.
If he doesn't want to bother with dinner guests, why don't you have a few friends in for luncheon and cards? You can have a party and by the time he is home, have your house in order again and you will be a gayer, happier companion for him when he does return.

Jann Ethridge Wins Piano Honor

Miss Jann Ethridge has received the high school diploma which is awarded by the National Guild of Piano Teachers for having successfully passed the required tests in the recent national piano auditions held here.

Only high school seniors are eligible for this diploma and to receive it the student must present a program of ten memorized selections as well as pass tests in five musicianship phases.

Miss Ethridge is a member of this year's senior class and has participated in many musical activities in school and in the city. She has been a piano student of Mrs. H. A. Yoder for several years.

Women's Group Meets for Study In McLean Church

McLEAN — (Special) — An interesting mission study was given in the parlor of the First Baptist Church, Tuesday afternoon by the Elizabeth Pool circle of the Women's Missionary Union.

The lesson was a review of the first chapter of a home mission book, "The Prophet of Little Cane Creek" by Harold E. Dyer, presented by Mrs. Buell Wells.

The writer centered his story around A. S. Petrey, a missionary to the mountain people near Hazard, Ky., in a story relating the conversation of Mountaineer Drew Frazier. The book stated the work among these people is as hard as it is in foreign lands.

The speaker has just recently arrived at McLean from Kentucky.

Those present were Miss Wells, Colebank, R. L. McDonald, Frank Howard, R. A. Young, Bunia Kunkel, Homer Abbott, Frank Reeves and Luther Petty.

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — A friend hinted yesterday that crooner Frank Sinatra and his wife, Nancy, may reconcile. Sinatra was in town at the home of Paul Dudley Dudley said reconciliation is possible. "I drove him out to Luca Lake Monday night," said Dudley. "He visited Nancy and the two older children for a couple of hours and gave them presents." Sinatra gave his dark-haired wife a gold charm bracelet he bought in Paris. Earlier, he denied a report that he gave Ava Gardner a $10,000 emerald necklace when he visited her in Spain. Mrs. Sinatra, who has a suit on file for separate maintenance from the crooner, has not commented publicly on Miss Gardner.

DALLAS — (AP) — The Times Herald says informed sources revealed today that Dallas and Fort Worth are making a concerted effort to have the proposed new Air Force academy located in their area. The Herald says the two cities have suggested a site in the Garza-Little Elm Lake area, 25 miles from Dallas, near Denton. "It is understood that the Army Corps of Engineers has been asked to furnish special studies of the Garza-Little Elm site to the board of experts which will recommend sites to Congress," the Herald says. Cisco Kid Proves Westerns Are Still Big Money-Makers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — The cowboy industry is big business today. And if you want to strike it rich you no longer have to discover oil — just sit down and dream up a cowboy character the kiddies will go for. He'll produce more lasting wealth than any oil well, because a good fictional cowboy never wears out or grows old. Take "The Cisco Kid," one of the leading rivals of Hopalong Cassidy. Both began mildly enough and now Cisco Kid is reaching epidemic proportions. He first spurred into public view as a minor character in a short story in a book by O. Henry called "Hears of the West" in 1907. O. Henry probably got about $100 to $300 for the story.

They always clear up the mystery, after some hard-riding and bang-bang, and emerges as heroes. The horses take the films more seriously than the cowboys. "They become camera-conscious," said Renald, "and if there is a crowd watching, they start prancing around and showing off. They are regular hams."

Housing Plans for Military Bases in Texas Are Reduced

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Five Texas Army and Air Force bases failed to get House approval of military housing projects valued at millions. The House sent to the Senate a $930,000 military construction bill, military and naval installation program which provided $590,000,000 for public works construction at military and naval installations. Before the bill was passed, Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.) proposed an amendment which eliminated $108,000,000 in authorizations for military housing in the United States. Armed forces committee attaches said that the amendment eliminating family quarters and utilities would result in these reductions for individual authorizations in the house bill as proposed by the committee: Fort Hood, Texas, from $9,100,000 to $718,000. Special weapons project (sites unspecified) from $12,139,300 to $2,258,800. Air Force: Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso, $4,787,000 to $3,203,000; Hood Air Force Base, Temple, from $2,309,467 to $1,913,467. The amendment would eliminate these authorizations. Fort Bliss, $462,000. Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin, $1,561,000.

Increasing Trend Toward Long Labor Pacts Studied

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A growing trend toward longer-lasting labor contracts is capped by the new five-year agreement at General Motors. That feature of the pact negotiated by GM and the CIO auto workers in Detroit interested government officials in their study of its terms. They said there is bound to be a steady effect on the nation's economy from an agreement assuring continuing production without strikes for so long a period in such a major firm. The GM agreement comes at a time when unions are showing more and more willingness to sign long-term contracts. Other auto industry contracts run two years. Contracts in the steel industry also extend two years. They can be reopened for wage rates at the end of one year, but pension terms are fixed for five years. In coal, John L. Lewis agreed to a two-year pact, but has the privilege of ending it at the end of one year. These longer contracts have some element of gamble both for management and labor. Both are looking into the future and fixing their terms on an appraisal somebody might guess wrong. But some of the bigger unions and firms now seem to figure that taking a chance is worth avoiding a knock-down wrangle once every year. GM and the UAW have taken some of the guesswork out of the future. The company has pretty well fixed its labor costs and assured steady production of automobiles. The union has won an annual four-cent hourly wage boost for its members, plus a right to get more money if living costs go up. "Welcoming the five-year term of the GM contract and the annual pay boost it provides for workers, Secretary of Labor Tobin said: "It means that there is confidence in the future prosperity of this industry and its ability to produce so efficiently that it can continue to pay higher wages and, at the same time, to insure greater security for its workers when they are ill or retired." Cyrus S. Expert Would Like To Try Crossing Of Human and Ape

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. — (AP) The artificial cross-breeding of apes with humans would raise a batch of moral and ethical questions, says the University of Virginia's Dr. Sydney William Britton. But he declares he would like to conduct such an experiment "from the standpoint of cold scientific curiosity." The physiologist made his statement in answer to criticism over a recent suggestion he made at a Washington meeting that such cross-breeding be used to give the ape a boost up the evolutionary ladder. "I tried to be funny," said Britton to the National Academy of Sciences, at which he spoke mainly on the probable effect that gravely played in the development of man's brain. "All I did was quote other physiologists on the subject and remark that creation of a new type of beast might again lead to traffic in slavery," he declared. And he maintained that the breeding poses no scientific difficulty and will be tried eventually if it hasn't already. "After all," he observed, "it's time to stop fooling around with fruit flies and start on the apes." To make a new kind of filling for a jelly roll mix together cream cheese, orange rind, sugar to sweeten, and a little orange juice.

WHY STARVE TO TAKE OFF FAT?

When you buy Barcinate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for a printed diet. Barcinate is not a vitamin tablet to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment, while reducing with Barcinate. It contains no harmful drugs, but does contain ingredients to make you feel better. Barcinate when mixed with grapefruit juice does this: First, cuts down your desire for sweets and fatty foods, but you do not have to FORCE yourself. Barcinate takes care of your DESIRE. Second, dehydrates and eliminates, so that water is carried away — almost like melting fat. At the same time you feel better, more peppy, more alive, but never starved or hungry. NO STARVATION DIET "I have taken lots of medicine but none to compare with Barcinate. It's easy. field of labor relations and a milestone in the progress of collective bargaining." By NORMAN WALKER WASHINGTON — (AP) — A growing trend toward longer-lasting labor contracts is capped by the new five-year agreement at General Motors. That feature of the pact negotiated by GM and the CIO auto workers in Detroit interested government officials in their study of its terms. They said there is bound to be a steady effect on the nation's economy from an agreement assuring continuing production without strikes for so long a period in such a major firm. The GM agreement comes at a time when unions are showing more and more willingness to sign long-term contracts. Other auto industry contracts run two years. Hard Luck Joe Can Blame Only Himself for Losing

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
"I really thought I was going to make that hand," mourned Hard Luck Joe. "All I needed was to find that miserable queen of hearts on my right instead of on my left."

Joe was half right. If the queen of hearts had been favorably located he would have made his contract. However, we shall come back to this point later on. West opened the deuce of hearts, and East won with the ace. East returned the ten of hearts, and Joe, playing the South hand, hopefully finessed the jack. If this finesse had succeeded, Joe would have made his game contract. Unfortunately for Joe, West was able to win the second trick with the queen of hearts. He returned a heart, clearing the suit. Now, of course, South was a perished pigeon. He could not make his contract without setting up diamonds. And the moment South led diamonds East was bound to take the ace and cash the rest of the hearts. The contract was therefore set on trick. As usual, Joe had created his own hard luck for himself. If he had played the hand properly he would have made his contract. Do you see how? The opening lead of the deuce of hearts indicated that West had led either from a four-card holding in hearts, or from three to the queen. From any other combination West would probably have led his top heart, rather than his lowest heart. It was, of course, just barely possible that West had led a singleton deuce of hearts. It was unlikely, however, that East had so many hearts. Moreover, West might not have led a singleton deuce of hearts but might have tried some different suit in view of South's determined bidding in notrump. Assuming that West held either four hearts or three to the queen, South should have played the king of hearts at the second trick. There would be nothing to fear if each opponent had four hearts. If West had three to the queen. This would clear the heart suit. At the third trick, South would lead a diamond, knocking out East's ace. East would now have to lead a heart to his partner's queen. This would clear the heart suit, but there would be no way for East to regain the lead in time to cash his good hearts. West might make a good try by leading a club through dummy, but declarer would hop right up with the ace and cash his nine tricks: four diamonds, one club, one heart, and three spades.

Everything Occurs Around Brooklyn

(By The Associated Press) Everything happens in Brooklyn! It's corny but it's true. Remember the day three men wound up on third base? The fly balls that bounced off Babe Herman's head? The sparrow that flew out of Casey Stengel's hat? The 1950 Dodgers last night added the novelty of a three-man race from third base to home plate that wound up an "interference" double play by the Chicago Cubs. Sound complicated? Well, it is.

Jackie Robinson was on third base and Gil Hodges on second in the eighth inning. Eddie Miksis hit a ball to third base. That set it up.

The third baseman threw to the plate and catcher Mickey Owen chased Robinson back to third.

When Robby arrived he found Hodges also standing on the bag. Owen touched both men and the umpire ruled Hodges out.

Then Miksis headed for second base and Owen threw to Wayne Terwilliger. Although he had been ruled out, Hodges started for the plate in a three-man race with Robinson and Owen.

Down the stretch they came virtually shoulder to shoulder. Robinson first, Hodges second and Owen third. But the finish was not official. An objection was lodged. The relay from Terwilliger was taken by first baseman Phil Cavarretta, protecting home plate. He tagged Robinson sliding across the rubber. Plate umpire Art Gore ruled Robinson out because Hodges interfered.

The official scoring was a double play — third baseman Bob Ramazzotti to Owen to Terwilliger to Cavarretta. Owen got the putout at third and Cavarretta the one at home.

Oh yes, the score. Brooklyn won with rookie pitcher Dan Bankhead going the route for the first time. It was the Negro righthander's fourth straight victory, breaking a five-game win streak by the Cubs' Bob Rush. Duke Snider, George Shuba and Roy Campanella smashed homers off Rush, who hadn't thrown a gopher ball in all his previous games. Andy Pafo ruined Bankhead's shutout with a homer.

Those Philadelphia Phils stuck right on the Dodgers' heels by blasting six runs in the eighth inning for a 6-3 edge over Pittsburgh. Dick Sisler's three-run homer off Murry Dickson started the big uprising.

Rookie Clyde Boyer pitched fine relief for the St. Louis Cardinals after lefty Max Lanier had to leave the game due to a pain in his shoulder. The Lanier-Boyer team shut out the New York Giants, 2-0, with four hits. Monte Kennedy pitched a five-hitter, but hits by Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial and a steal of home by Stan Costello hit the game.

Warren Spahn turned in his best effort of the season, a three-hitter for Boston against Cincinnati. The Braves got to Ewell Blackwell for six hits and all four runs before he gave way to Frank Smith.

Lain washed out the "big game" in the American. The Detroit Tigers series, but the Boston Red Sox clung to an early lead down the St. Louis Browns, 7-5, for Mel Parnell's fifth victory. Two triples by Al Zarilla and doubles by Walt Dropo, Billy Goodman and Ted Williams led the 10-hit attack.

Gene Bearden, the 1948 world series hero but a flop ever since, bounced back with a fine relief job for Cleveland against Washington. Replacing Early Wynn in the second, Bearden allowed only four hits in 7 1/3 innings for a 5-4 decision over Joe Haynes.

The Chicago White Sox came from behind to topple Philadelphia, 10-7, with five runs in the eighth.

Oilers Take Opener from Hubs, 9-1

Payte Hurts 4-Hit Effort; Earl Doud To Pitch Tonight

The Pampa Oilers returned home last night to knock off the league-leading Lubbock Hubs in the first of a two-game series, 9-1. George Payte, righthander par excellence, pitched a four-hitter and then produced three hits himself to gain his third win of the season against five losses.

The victory was the second in eleven starts for the Oilers.

Tonight the same two clubs will meet in the final game of the series. Game time will again be 8:15. The starting hurler for the Oilers will be righthander Earl Doud. He is expected to be opposed by another righthander, Billy Ewing.

Again tonight the novel scoreboard, "Gertie and Jr." will be on hand.

B. A. Bridgewater, sports editor of the Tulsa World, in his column last night said his information came from a "well-informed" source outside the Tulsa Baseball Club.

Gardner said here that "I don't like to see attendance drop, but I don't see what I can do about it."

President of the Class AA baseball league for 17 years, Gardner said Bridgewater was entitled to his opinion, but that "I can't do anything about the weather."

Gardner yesterday released figures which showed attendance drops for every club, with San Antonio reporting a slip of more than 50 percent.

The league for the first quarter, including 135 games, drew 394,805 this season compared to 505,499 for the same period and same number of games last year.

Bridgewater in his column said opinion was sharply divided among league members at this time. He said Oklahoma City, Beaumont, Shreveport and Dallas were pro-Gardner; Tulsa, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio anti-Gardner.

Only two club owners could be reached for comment.

Dick Burnett of Dallas had no comment to make on Bridgewater's speculation, but said "it's the first I've heard of anyone trying to get Mr. Gardner out of office."

Gayle Howlett of Tulsa said he was not prepared to reveal his club's position on the matter.

"We have just one vote in the league. When the time comes to cast it we'll cast it how I can't say at this time."

Rumor Gardner to Be Ousted From Texas League Head Post

DALLAS — (AP) — Texas League attendance is down 21.8 percent and a Tulsa, Okla., sports writer last night speculated that if it continues to slip league President J. Alvin Gardner may be ousted from his job.

B. A. Bridgewater, sports editor of the Tulsa World, in his column last night said his information came from a "well-informed" source outside the Tulsa Baseball Club.

Six Americans in British Amateur

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland — (AP) — Big Bill Campbell of Huntington, W.Va., defeated defending champion Sam McCready of Ireland on the 19th hole today to lead a field of six Americans into the round of 16 in the British Amateur Golf Championship.

The long-driving state legislator, who yesterday eliminated former champion Willie Turnesa, sank a 12-foot putt for a birdie three on the first extra hole to subdue the laughing Irishman after a tense duel.

McCready, with a chance to win the match on the 18th hole, flubbed a five-foot putt to carry the match into overtime, and Campbell lost no time in grasping the opportunity. Both men shot brilliant golf, McCready doing the regulation 18 in 72 strokes to the American's par 73.

Stranahan defeated Hans Thorenstenson of Sweden, 6 and 4; McHale defeated Tom Hiley of Britain, 5 and 4; Goodie defeated Dr. Frank Deighton of Britain, 4 and 3; Chapman defeated H. G. Bentley of Britain, 4 and 3, and Gravelly eliminated M. G. Thornton of Colombia, Ceylon, 5 and 3.

One American was certain to be eliminated in the afternoon round, as Stranahan and Goodie were paired against one another. Campbell faced another rugged Irishman, Joe Carr of the 1949 British Walker Cup team. McHale met squad leader C. H. Beamish of Britain, Gravelly played P. G. Tait of Britain, and Chapman faced J. Mitchell of Britain. The field was reduced to eight quarter-finalists by nightfall.

Gassers Pound Sox For 20-8 Victory

AMARILLO — (AP) — The Borger Gassers dumped hurlers Ray Faust and Joel Calloway at will here last night, piling 24 hits including five homers to beat Amarillo, 20-8, in the series opener.

Eddie Carnett went the route for the winners and was socked safely 18 times but managed to scatter enough that the issue wasn't in doubt after the fourth inning. He was supported by errorless defense and at times the Gassers were sensational afield.

The Gassers' assault began in the second with a burst of five runs, featuring a walk, three singles and the first of Manager Mickey Burnett's two homers.

Borger found five a favorite number in the fourth when Faust departed being pelted for two singles, a double and a homer by Pappy Williams, the league leader. Carnett followed Williams with the first of two homers, solving Calloway.

The slugger continued in every inning with Carnett connecting for four sacks again in the seventh. Nim Free hit safely his first five trips and Earl Perry registered on his first four turns.

Amarillo got on Carnett for four in the third when Stan Surma homered with Pinky Higgins aboard and added two more on singles by Crawford Howard, James Byron and Tom Calhento.

The Sox picked up stray rallies when Rocco Cardinali smashed one out in the fourth with nobody on and Crawford Howard and Ed Brown poled homers in the fifth with the bases bare.

Singles by Doug Lewis, a double by Howard and Calhento's single gave Amarillo its first run in the ninth.

Bob Rose and Earl Perry each turned in a couple of remarkable fielding plays to support the Carnett cause.

Indians Snap Win Streak of Sports

(By The Associated Press)

San Antonio stopped Shreveport short of seven and Houston helped itself stop short of this number.

The Missions clipped Shreveport, 13-1, last night to snap the Sports' six game winning streak.

Houston humbled Beaumont, 4-3, to stop its six game losing streak.

In other games, Oklahoma City came from behind to beat Dallas, 7-2, and Fort Worth shaded Tulsa, 1-0.

Tonight the same teams meet again — at Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, and Houston.

San Antonio pounded out 14 hits, good for 31 bases, in the one-sided victory and the assault included home runs by Joe Frazier, Joe Lutz, Rocco Ippolito and Charley Grant.

For Eddie Albrecht, it marked his third straight pitching triumph.

John Rutherford, Fort Worth's rookie righthander, won his fifth in a row in besting Rudy Minarcin. He allowed six hits, Minarcin only four in a game that was ruled off in one hour and 34 minutes.

Pioneers Rally to Defeat Dukes, 11-5

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Clovis collected five runs in the top half of the ninth inning and quelled an Albuquerque rally in the bottom of the same frame for a 11-5 West Texas-New Mexico baseball victory last night.

Clovis took a 6-1 lead after the fifth inning. Albuquerque came within one run of tying the score in the eighth but fell before Clovis' rally in the next frame. Clovis batters collected 18 hits off three Albuquerque pitchers.

Clovis broke the game wide open with five hits producing five runs in the ninth.

Clovis opened with a pair of runs on a single, double and a walk by starter Lou Lockhart. Five singles produced two more for the Pioneers and a walk, Harriman's error and Rogerson's booming triple got another pair for six.

Girl All-Stars Calling Players

A Pampa girls softball team is being organized under the supervision of Charley Robinson, local businessman. The team, known as the Girl All-Stars, is sponsored by local merchants and will play in a regular league.

Other member cities of the league include Borger, Panhandle and Amarillo. Six teams have been entered, some towns having two.

Robinson has invited any local girl athletes who would like to try out for the team to participate in a practice session on the diamond near the Fischer Grain elevator across from Oiler Park on W. Brown Street. Practices are held every evening at 5:30. The sponsoring merchants have purchased uniforms and equipped the team with bats, balls and other needed equipment.

City Softballers to Play Three Tonight

The Pampa City Softball League will resume play tonight on three fronts. Phillips plays Skelly at the Skelly diamond; the 20-30 Club faces Cuberson Chevrolet at Phillips; and the First Baptist Brotherhood team plays General Atlas at Elm's Park.

The games are scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

First the rule mentions "bases unoccupied." Then it reads "no other runner."

Medical Marvel

The May issue of Coronet magazine carries an exceptional important article entitled "Medical Marvels" written by one of the country's outstanding writers on scientific subjects, J. D. Rathjff. The article is found in the first paragraph. "We don't think of a slab of juicy steak or a chop as medicine. Yet the proteins they contain have as many accomplishments to their credit as any miracle drug."
 "Back of that lies a dramatic story. The proteins which are found in a complete state in a limited number of foods, including meat, fish and milk, are used to be regarded with considerable suspicion. Meat, for example, was thought to be particularly dangerous to people with kidney disease and to people with diabetes. At one time cases of ulcers were treated with a starvation diet. Old people usually avoided the so-called "heavy foods" which are not meat, the theory went, provided most of the "nutrient" grandmother and grandfather needed.
 Recent discoveries, backed by a huge mass of actual practical experience, have almost completely reversed the old-fashioned theories. To quote Mr. Rathjff again: "Proteins are reducing the hazards of surgery, cutting complications of pregnancy, giving newborn babies a better chance at life. With one exception, however, they are being used to cure various ailments — arthritis of the liver — proteins are changing the picture from despair to hope. In sum, a dietary revolution is under way. The glimmerous vitamins are giving up the spotlight to the even more glamorous proteins."
 Moreover, the scientists have found a high protein diet has a beneficial effect on mental health and morale as well as physical well-being. So if you feel like a juicy steak, eat it!
 It's good for you.

Ahead of Grandpa

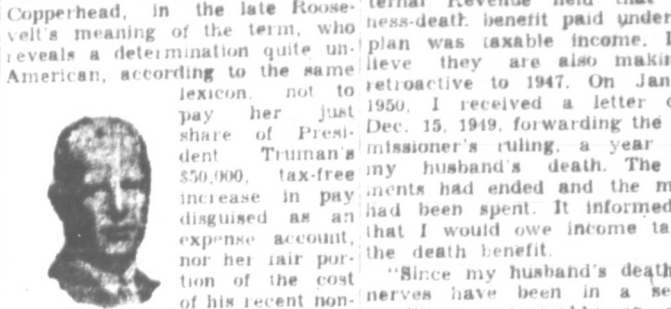

The huge meals Americans are supposed to have eaten 40 years ago are only a shadow of the legend. According to the incredible quantities of steaks, roasts and everything else made the dinner table groan three times a day.
 The fact is, however, that this year the average American will eat about five times as much of meat than his forefathers consumed in 1910. And what makes that particularly remarkable is that our human population has increased by 65 percent since 1910, while the meat animal population is only twenty-seven percent greater.
 "What has happened is that in 40 years, enormous progress has been made in the meat industry in all its branches. Many farmers have marketed two, or three crops a year instead of one.

Washington.....by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Five governments of Southeast Asia now have plans and requests for technical assistance on such things as the U. S. government. Total cost of the proposed projects is estimated at $64,000,000. The next 15 months they will require the assistance of some 250 technical experts in the fields of medicine, agriculture, education, agriculture and engineering.
 Viet Nam, Indochina, has asked for the largest assistance, about $20,000,000. The remainder has been requested by Burma, Siam, Malaya and Indonesia. Burma and Siam may make additional two-year, $12,000,000 engineering contracts with U. S. firms.
 All this technical assistance is exclusive of any military assistance which may be furnished by the U. S. government to Viet Nam in its war against communism. It is also over and above the $100,000,000 Export-Import Bank credit authorized for Indonesia.
 Most significant news in these disclosures is that assistance can be given to Southeast Asia for "reasonable" amounts.
 Funds for this aid are believed to be immediately available from the $100,000,000 of suspended Marshall Plan money earmarked for China.
 It is believed this technical assistance can begin to flow to Southeast Asia without waiting for congressional appropriation of Point Four money. If additional legislation requires the program may be too late as the need is considered desperate to bolster up the new governments in this area.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER
 "In a ruling dated May 10, 1949, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue held that sickness-death benefit paid under this plan was taxable income. I believe a determination quite un-American, according to the same lexicon, not to pay her just share of President Truman's $50,000 tax-free increase in pay disguised as an expense account, nor her fair portion of the cost of his recent non-political visit to the far-flung haunts of the Faceless Man. I trust that the Treasury and Department of Justice will send her to prison that the majesty of law and justice shall be not mocked.

My husband was employed by the New York Telephone Co. for about 30 years, giving all of himself in faithful service until ten days before his death on Dec. 13, 1948. This character was on a hospital for a final check-up so that he could breathe, when he died. When he started work he was informed of the plan for employees. Under this plan he served forgoing opportunities to work elsewhere where he might have received bonuses and so forth. He felt a sense of security in the event of his becoming disabled. It felt that in the case of his death his wife and child would be given a death benefit from the company. About three and one-half years before his death he developed cancer. He was operated on and one lung was removed. His back remained open for almost two years. He had a subsequent operation before the stiches would hold together and the flesh heal. Meantime, he had been back to business because he loved his company and his work.

The reader will note the reluctance, capitalistic spirit of deceased and the surviving spouse.
 "During this time he was shown the highest consideration by the company. However, our expenses were tremendous for doctors, medicines, dressing and oxygen which had to be in our home at all times. This costed all our savings.
 "Upon my husband's death, the company paid me a year's salary in monthly installments. I don't mind it. I took his death benefit to cover the period of one year rather than a longer period, to pay the funeral expenses, buy a tombstone, to which my husband was entitled, and pay bills accumulated as a result of his long illness. I felt that I could then find a position and save for sickness and other emergencies the other small insurance which my husband carried.

Beef is fattened more quickly. Loss of animals has been reduced through better sanitation and handling methods.
 The packers of meat have held up their end. Meat is a highly perishable food, yet spoilage is virtually nonexistent. All of it moves into the channels of consumption in wholesome condition. And finally the retailer, with his dependable sources of supply, is able to keep on hand what the right size and quantities of meat for his trade.
 The point is that we Americans eat better, more healthful and more nutritious meals than we ever did before. We consume more of the vital proteins bearing on stamina and physical and mental well-being.
 We're ahead of grandpa!

My husband's death was investigated. I view the future with awe. The representative of the company who delivered the papers to me said the company would like to know my reaction. This is the company, remember, which had the surly effort to refuse to buy insurance from Jimmy Roosevelt. To be sure, the company soon found itself "investigated" by the Department of Justice at a cost of $4,200,000 to the stockholders and $1,500,000 to such taxpayers as the unsocial author of the text under contemplation here today. But it wasn't convicted of monopoly, so another prosecution was started which is still pending. The mills of the Party of Humanity grind slowly.

"I said: you can tell them I will never pay. I will take the whole matter to Mr. Pegler. Let me hasten to wash my hands of this sordid case. I do not know this Fascist-minded evangel of greed and civic anarchy. I do not endorse her reluctance to contribute to Mr. Truman's $50,000 tax-free raise and the cost of his barnstorming trip in the interests of the Democratic Party. I don't want no trouble with no tax collectors."

"On March 18, I filed the income tax form. I will never pay the tax. I will go to jail before I will pay."
 Certain narrow enemies of Mr. Truman have pointed out that he is even stinger than the late Roosevelt and Harold L. Ickes and will not spend $5,000 a year extra and tax-free, on the expenses of his office. That is hearsay and bigotry. Nobody can prove that he did spend a nickel of it. On the other hand the same selfish enemies of organized greed have inconstantly reproved him for extravagance. After all, frugality begins at home and if Mr. Truman saves the entire $50,000, plus the tax that he doesn't have to pay, he is setting the nation a fine example.
 I shall try to learn the outcome of this rash defiance of our laws and report this offender's progress toward prison.

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN
 A bulletin from New York says: "U. S. florists are facing an industrial crisis unless they can figure out a corsage that can be pinned on a strapless evening gown."
 They should hire my sister's boy, Nero, who did so much for the jewelry industry. Nero not only invented a way to remove cheap gum from inside watch cases, he figured out how to get the gum inside the watches in the first place.
 Fastening a corsage on a strapless gown doesn't seem to be a problem to me. You can wear ordinary, ornate, expensive jewelry underneath the gown and pin the flowers to that — or pin it to a piece of adhesive tape and stick that on the lady's skin.

'I Raise You, Harry'

 Approval of European Relief By American Institute for Economic Research

Since one of the tax burdens of the American people is relief to Europe, and since Congress will continue continuing this relief after July 1, 1950, an appraisal made by the American Institute for Economic Research is very much to the point. I quote: "By the end of 1949 the European Recovery Program had reached the half-way mark, at least from the point of view of aid given. Procurement authorizations totaled $8,000,000,000 at the end of the fourth quarter of 1949; and, by June 30, $10,000,000,000 is expected to have been allocated. At present Congress is considering legislation authorizing continuation of aid appropriations for the Economic Cooperation Administration during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1950."

"Presumably, in order to judge the effectiveness of our aid to Europe, the ends sought should be clearly understood. The objectives stated in the Foreign Assistance Act of 1949 were (1) to help the free nations of Western Europe achieve economic recovery; and (2) to encourage the unification of Europe." In our original analysis of the European Recovery Program, we concluded that only constitutional justification for giving aid was to implement this country's foreign policy; and we assumed that the official objectives are means for implementing the Nation's foreign policy.
 "Discouragement of the European nations has been a reason for extending aid. Of course, providing relief was intended to help in this respect. In addition, aid was intended to facilitate industrial and agricultural recovery, thereby enabling the nations of Europe to become stronger and more useful allies against our potential enemy, Russia. From a long-term point of view, aid presumably was intended to promote economies that would function compatibly with our own. Although the foregoing have not been published as official reasons for extending the aid, I will never continue to pay farm subsidies to our people.
 The two-billion-dollar increase in funds for the Commodity Credit Corp. is the measure on which the anti-Dixie program was approved. It cannot offer courtroom proof of the White House plot, they advance strong circumstantial evidence for their contention that they are victims of parliamentary procedure and direct reprisal. Here is the story:

"HURT — Vice-President Barkley has informed his close friends that he is 'completely fed up' with his role of 'crown prince' of the Truman Administration. The story, which has entered into such acts as kissing movie stars, crowning strawberry festival queens and cavorting around the countryside, has vanished from the 71-year-old Kentuckian.
 The V.P. is also hurt by White House big game. He is in an important affairs of state. Although he was promised an active part in conduct of government business, he has been squeezed out of the picture even more than Mr. Truman was under Franklin D. Roosevelt's reign. In several instances the president has gone counter to his earnest advice, with the result that the Senate has defied the Barkley-Lucas leadership.
 Nor does the genial veteran enjoy the personal bitterness which has crept among the once friendly groups on the Senate and House sides. Like Speaker Sam Rayburn, he is still loyal to the 'head man,' but he figures that life is too short to get involved in all the feuds the President seems to enjoy.
 This Barkley-Rayburn attitude, which they no longer try to conceal from their colleagues, is largely responsible for the virtual snubbing of the 'Truman fair deal' on Capitol Hill."

Common Ground

By RAY TUCKER
 WASHINGTON — Southern members of Congress begin to suspect that President Truman and Secretary Brannon are staging a two-billion-dollar "aqueze play" against them in order to support certain portions of the "fair deal" program now held up by their opposition.

Even if the stymied legislation cannot pass, he seeks a showdown so that he can blame its defeat on the men he calls "obstructionists" in November's Congressional campaign.

"In our original analysis we concluded first that 'Humanitarian aid primarily for relief purposes should be handled separately from the aid that is intended to implement that foreign policy of the United States.' Of course, humanitarian aid has been a substantial proportion of the aid thus given. Authorizations for purchases of food and agricultural products (not all of which were for relief purposes, however) were sent by Europe totaled $3,711,200,000 by January 1950, nearly half of the total authorizations made. Furthermore, although widespread starvation and poverty have been overcome or avoided, authorizations for large shipments of food and textiles to Europe presumably will continue. One authority has indicated that, in spite of a 25-percent increase in agricultural production since the end of the war, farm output is now only at the prewar levels. Furthermore, he asserts that consumption of goods is still 10 per cent below prewar levels. Another report indicates that, although diets have been improved, many individuals in all countries receiving aid are still undernourished. Nevertheless, we conclude that aid for relief purposes is no longer essential to the success of the aid program. Poverty has been a problem of European nations for generations and cannot be solved in the future by American aid alone.
 Nations Requiring No Aid
 "Our second, earlier conclusion was that 'No aid, other than that temporarily needed for relief purposes, should be given to the following nations: Denmark, Iceland, Ireland, Norway, Portugal, Sweden, and Switzerland.' This opposition to the old colonial powers was also found strong against the British in Malaya and Burma, and against the Dutch in Indonesia. European technicians are being kicked out as fast as possible. The result is that all these countries are desperately short of top government administrators, doctors, farm experts.
 The big problem in Viet Nam was found to be increasing rice production and fighting malaria and other tropical diseases, particularly in the rich Red River valley. Heavy machinery for repair of dykes and irrigation canals is also needed.
 In Burma, a shortage of skilled labor and too few government pay scales for technicians were found to be an economic bottleneck. There is also a need for hand tools and railroad shop equipment. Consideration was given to procuring them in Japan.
 Indonesia, on the other hand, had a surplus of skilled labor but a lack of organization for multi-shift operation and an inability to organize resources available. Recommendation has been made for revival of the country medical service that existed under the Dutch prior to the war, and the furnishing of 40 mobile health units.
 All the countries are potentially dollar rich, because of their natural resources. But simple health, education and welfare are luxuries for most of the people.
 Their new governments all want to start with TVA's, and go on from there. But their capacity to use this high technical development simply does not exist. That is why it is considered unwise to furnish more aid to Southeast Asia than is now being proposed.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — Southern members of Congress begin to suspect that President Truman and Secretary Brannon are staging a two-billion-dollar "aqueze play" against them in order to support certain portions of the "fair deal" program now held up by their opposition.

Even if the stymied legislation cannot pass, he seeks a showdown so that he can blame its defeat on the men he calls "obstructionists" in November's Congressional campaign.
 The two-billion-dollar increase in funds for the Commodity Credit Corp. is the measure on which the anti-Dixie program was approved. It cannot offer courtroom proof of the White House plot, they advance strong circumstantial evidence for their contention that they are victims of parliamentary procedure and direct reprisal. Here is the story:

"HURT — Vice-President Barkley has informed his close friends that he is 'completely fed up' with his role of 'crown prince' of the Truman Administration. The story, which has entered into such acts as kissing movie stars, crowning strawberry festival queens and cavorting around the countryside, has vanished from the 71-year-old Kentuckian.
 The V.P. is also hurt by White House big game. He is in an important affairs of state. Although he was promised an active part in conduct of government business, he has been squeezed out of the picture even more than Mr. Truman was under Franklin D. Roosevelt's reign. In several instances the president has gone counter to his earnest advice, with the result that the Senate has defied the Barkley-Lucas leadership.
 Nor does the genial veteran enjoy the personal bitterness which has crept among the once friendly groups on the Senate and House sides. Like Speaker Sam Rayburn, he is still loyal to the 'head man,' but he figures that life is too short to get involved in all the feuds the President seems to enjoy.
 This Barkley-Rayburn attitude, which they no longer try to conceal from their colleagues, is largely responsible for the virtual snubbing of the 'Truman fair deal' on Capitol Hill."

"In our original analysis we concluded first that 'Humanitarian aid primarily for relief purposes should be handled separately from the aid that is intended to implement that foreign policy of the United States.' Of course, humanitarian aid has been a substantial proportion of the aid thus given. WASHINGTON (UPI) — Five governments of Southeast Asia now have plans and requests for technical assistance on such things as the U. S. government. Total cost of the proposed projects is estimated at $64,000,000. The next 15 months they will require the assistance of some 250 technical experts in the fields of medicine, agriculture, education, agriculture and engineering.
 Viet Nam, Indochina, has asked for the largest assistance, about $20,000,000. The remainder has been requested by Burma, Siam, Malaya and Indonesia. Burma and Siam may make additional two-year, $12,000,000 engineering contracts with U. S. firms.
 All this technical assistance is exclusive of any military assistance which may be furnished by the U. S. government to Viet Nam in its war against communism. It is also over and above the $100,000,000 Export-Import Bank credit authorized for Indonesia.
 Most significant news in these disclosures is that assistance can be given to Southeast Asia for "reasonable" amounts.
 Funds for this aid are believed to be immediately available from the $100,000,000 of suspended Marshall Plan money earmarked for China.
 It is believed this technical assistance can begin to flow to Southeast Asia without waiting for congressional appropriation of Point Four money. If additional legislation requires the program may be too late as the need is considered desperate to bolster up the new governments in this area.

INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS

By RALPH W. GWINN
 Distinguished Member of Congress, Lecturer and Author

Our national lottery is the so-called social security scheme. For every winner, more than a dozen suckers must ante up the money. The losers can't quit either. They are caught. Their stakes are taken out of their pay envelopes by law. And they will never collect. Their only escape is to stop working and earning money.
 The first spin of the wheel was in 1936, an election year. No voters were taken out of the workers' pay before election. But all voters were promised peace and prosperity in their old age. It helped win re-election.
 The second spin was more serious. On Jan. 1, 1937, right after election, the Administration started digging into millions of workers' pay envelopes. For years it was mostly gravy for the politicians in power.
 The approaching third term election made changes inevitable. So, the Social Security Act was amended in 1939. It provided monthly benefits for widows and children of a few workers who died as well as those who were retired at 65 from employment covered by the Act. That, there was only one who got paid for every 366 workers whose pay envelopes were looted during the war, the number of losers and their forced contributions increased rapidly. But so did the number of winners. Even so, the Administration was still taking in millions and paying the winners only tens of thousands. By the end of 1942 there was one monthly winner for every 36 losers. The Administration was taking in $4 for every $1 paid out. It was still a tremendous money-making proposition for the socialists. Funds could not heat it.
 The scheme spun merrily on. But the number of claims for social security began to grow faster than the number paying it. It became alarming. So, the Administration enforced drastic cuts to disqualify many who could make claims. The Administration ruled that unless the claimants agreed to depend wholly on their social security it would be denied them. If a worker had a job he got his social security payments besides. That was a deliberate move to cheat him. Our governing men know that millions would prefer work and live in some comfort instead of being socially secured and starve. So, the managers of the game kept the proceeds of their social security and cheated the people. Like any other gamblers, they must kiss their ante goodbye. Those who pay into the fund for a short time and then quit or marry lose everything, too.
 Finally, the wheel of fortune and misfortune began to bog down. The value of the dollars paid to the winners continued to fall. Winners of social security found they could get more money by going on the job. The game was losing. Twice as many old people were on relief in 1946, a period of great prosperity, as there were in 1936, a period of depression.
 Tragically, the Congress is now in the game to try to save the social security system from collapse and scandal. It felt the sad plight of those past 65 growing worse. Something had to be done. The proposed new bill takes in and taxes 8,000,000 new workers or suckers not now included. The Administration, under the bill, will take in billions more than 8,000,000 sucker list, to pay off the claims of the troublesome millions in the old group whose funds have been gambled and lost. Who will pay the 8,000,000 new suckers 20 or 30 years hence? Bear in mind the delays, you can't work and draw your social security. Some will have to eke out their existence with the help of past savings. Uter dependence of those past 65 will vastly increase. Black markets (or illegal working) to heat the oil and existence must increase. The state

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M.D.
 WRITTEN FOR NEA

The blood contains small round disks called red blood cells, or erythrocytes. Normally, there are about five million of these cells in each cubic millimeter of blood. (There are more than 16,000 cubic millimeters in a cubic inch.) These cells contain oxygen and a red coloring matter—hemoglobin—which are indispensable to life. When there are too few red blood cells or not enough hemoglobin the condition is called "anemia."
 Anemia is not a single disease. Many different things can cause a lack of red blood cells or hemoglobin. One form is called pernicious anemia, or primary anemia. The cause of this condition is not known, though the discovery of the value of liver—and more recently Vitamin B12—has changed it from a disease which used to be fatal into one which can be successfully treated in almost all cases.
 With the exception of pernicious anemia, the problem boils down to finding out what has caused the lack of red cells or hemoglobin, or both. One of the most simple and yet a very fresh-sounding in the body.
 If a person has less blood than the system can reduce, anemia develops. If this is sudden, as from a wound, the difficulty can be remedied promptly by stopping the hemorrhage and giving a blood transfusion. If hemorrhage is slow, it is necessary to find where the bleeding comes from and to stop it if possible.
 If this kind of anemia is severe, it may be necessary to give transfusions or take other measures, including the use of iron preparations, iron being an important part of hemoglobin.
 On kind of anemia comes most commonly in women between 30 and 50 years of age. The cause of this anemia is a deficiency of iron due to several things, probably including defective diet and poor absorption due to disturbances of the stomach and intestines.
 This causes a feeling of weakness, shortness of breath, nervous disturbances, dry hair, sore tongue and paleness. Fortunately once it has been identified it can be successfully treated by giving iron.
 Anemia may result from the failure of the organs which make the blood to meet the needs of the body. This difficulty lies principally in the bone marrow and is much like the anemia which comes from certain poisons, which comes from the reflection. Anemia is usually strongly wrong with the body. No one with severe anemia can feel well or can be normally energetic. The cause should be tracked down and proper treatment employed.

CREDIBILITY

(San Diego (UPI))
 In the trial of any legal case, one of the important factors for the consideration of the jury is the credibility of witnesses. The Senate hearings on Communist infiltration into government service, more particularly in the State Department, reached a point a few days ago wherein Louis B. Brown, former Communist editor of the leading Red propaganda sheet known as the Daily Worker, testified that he had ample reasons to believe that Owen Lattimore had been active in the Communist organization, the Pacific Institute of International Relations, and that he had been informed by other party members that Lattimore was a Communist cardholder.
 In our opinion, the administration was not wise in its choice of Earl Browder as a witness in rebuttal. In the first place, Browder was convicted and served part of a sentence in federal prison for passport fraud — having been pardoned by the late President Roosevelt, while his wife was admitted to the United States by way of Canada under questionable circumstances through the influence of persons high in administration ranks.
 Browder comes to the witness stand not only as a convicted person, but under two obligations: the obligation, as a Communist, of lying for the benefit of the party, and the obligation of repaying the administration for the leniency extended him.
 The Senate committee, of course, is not a jury. But if it has the same obligation to take into consideration in a case like this, the factor of witness credibility.

McGrath Denies Red Infiltration

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Attorney General McGrath asserts the Communists of the country are known to the FBI and other federal law enforcement agencies and "we know of none in the government today."

If one is found in government employment, he will be swiftly dismissed, McGrath told the fifth Conference on Citizenship.

He said, however, there will be "no" gestapo witch hunts. The basic rights of an individual will be securely protected and defended as guaranteed by law, he added.

McGrath brought up the Communist subject with a remark that his audience probably had heard "fantastic stories about alleged infiltration in or the capture of our government by Communists."

This apparently was a reference to charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that the State Department is harboring Communists and their friends.

Friendship Through Letters Is Goal of Unique Service

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — When a friendly young American woman suggested to a few acquaintances in Europe that they drop her a line, she received about 11,000 replies.

From this beginning, more than 57,000 persons in 14 major countries and many small ones now correspond with each other, exchanging ideas, interests and information in a world-wide movement toward friendship and understanding.

Miss G. Alison Raymond, who had the happy inspiration for international letter writing, is the director of the resulting service, "Letters Abroad." She said she became convinced, about a year and a half ago, that international relations, if they are to be neighborly and peaceful, would have to be brought down to a cozy, personal level.

With this in mind she wrote the mayors of several towns in Europe suggesting they designate a few private citizens to write letters to her. She in turn would pass the letters on to Americans who would cultivate a friendly correspondence.

Ever since then "Letters Abroad," which is now a part of the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia, has been winning friends and influencing people to be good neighbors all around the world.

Correspondence, is on a purely personal, friendly basis, aimed at getting to know each other and to learn about each other's countries. Nothing of the character of a propaganda drive is suggested.

"After a few letters you forget that the correspondent is German, Dutch, Swiss or whatever," one American letter-writer said. "They're just people, my friends."

Discussions of world affairs often occupy the writers, however, Miss Raymond pointed out. When the matter of Indonesian independence was before the Dutch, letters were full of it. Other subjects which have been in lively discussion included international monetary matters, the Atlantic Pact, the Marshall Plan and prospects for an Austrian treaty.

One American Letter-writer (Miss Gaynelle Bennett, a nurse in Grafton, Mass.) got so interested in her German correspondent that she flew to Germany to spend the Christmas holidays with her. Other visits have grown out of the letter friendships.

The operation of "Letters Abroad" is simple. Since Miss Raymond's initial suggestion, the organization has told schools, clubs, civic groups, churches and professional organizations both here and abroad, about the idea. Letters stack up in the little office where Miss Raymond and a crew of volunteers (the enterprise cannot afford adequate paid help) sort them out and pair them off. Two correspondents are introduced to each other and from then on are largely on their own.

For the most part correspondents are paired on the basis of occupation — architects writing to architects, policemen to policemen and farmers' wives to farmers' wives. So far as possible correspondents are also matched as to age, general educational background and hobbies.

Whenever the idea is known it has taken hold immediately. A brief announcement on the Dutch radio brought 900 letters by air and many more by ship. Another mention on the BBC brought thousands of replies.

Much of the correspondence is in English both ways, although by no means all of it. One letter from Japan was beautifully written on rice paper.

Effort is made to weed out package seekers, who are remarkably few, and the matrimonially-minded. Complaints have been extremely rare, although one young American woman did ask for a new correspondent, saying rather wistfully the one she had wrote lengthily about her activities as a jewelry thief.

Foreign Oil Output Sets New Record

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — Foreign production of crude oil in March established a new record of 4,688,000 barrels daily, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday. The output was an increase of 2.7 percent over February and nearly 18 percent above that for March, 1949.

Total world production, the Journal said in its monthly report, showed only a slight gain during March. It reached 9,618,000 barrels daily, or 5,500 barrels over February production.

The United States' share of the world's total production is now slightly under 51 percent. Its March output was 4,849,000 barrels compared with February's 4,966,500.

A year ago, this country's output was about 56 percent and in 1948 nearly 60 percent.

A major factor in the record-breaking foreign production for the month was the Persian Gulf area's climb. Although Saudi Arabia was down to 411,500 barrels from February's 496,400, Iran was up to 706,500 from 629,800 and Kuwait increased to 311,600 from 268,300.

School Taxpayers Are Given Hearing

AUSTIN — (AP) — A group of unhappy taxpayers from Lamar County were granted a Supreme Court hearing yesterday.

They had lost lower court efforts to halt the spending of West Lamar Rural High School District bond funds for frame buildings. The Sixth Court of Civil Appeals at Texarkana said since the buildings were practically finished, the case was moot.

The Supreme Court ruled that H. C. Hulet and others who brought the suit should have their legal say anyhow. The case was docketed for oral arguments June 21. It is styled Hulet et al versus The Board of Trustees, West Lamar Rural High School District.

WHAT STATES SPEND ON PUBLIC SCHOOLS—The Newschart above, based on data from the National Industrial Conference Board, shows what individual states spent on each pupil in public grade and high schools in the school year 1947-48. New York topped the list of states, spending $257 for every pupil—more than triple the amount spent in Mississippi, at the bottom of the list.

California Staging Lively Campaign; Bigger Roll in National Politics Main Objective

By BRUCE BOSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

California, warming up for a bigger role in national politics, is staging a lively, tangled primary campaign with U. S. Senate seats and the governorship the main prizes. Voting day is June 6.

The state's entry into the 10,000,000 population class means that starting in 1952, it will pack much greater weight than heretofore at national party conventions. Winners in California will have to be reckoned with in presidential slate-picking.

The toughest scrap this year involves a former actress and a publisher.

The lady is Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas, wife of Actor Melvyn Douglas and now an experienced congresswoman. She's running for the Senate on the Democratic slate against Manchester Boddy, middle-of-the-roader and publisher of the Los Angeles Daily News. He's new to politics.

In the governorship race the leading figures are heavy Gov. Earl Warren, 1948 GOP vice presidential nominee now seeking a third term at Sacramento, and James Roosevelt, ex-Marine, Democratic state chairman, eldest son of a famous father.

Neither has primary opposition within his own party. But California's odd cross-listing system, which allows a candidate to seek both party nominations, has Warren and Roosevelt battling each other as if the fall election were coming up.

Mrs. Douglas, an ardent Fair Dealer, has been canvassing California like a veteran trouper used to one-night stands. She began her drive last October and, except for short interludes in Washington, has been at it ever since.

Labor has lined up almost solidly for her, and she claims the backing of eight Democratic county organizations. Some key Democrats, however, are cool to her.

Lately she has charged that the Los Angeles press, including her opponent's paper, is imposing a "news blackout" of her campaign. She has been buying advertising space in the Daily News to "bring light to the blackout."

Boddy's paper announced that "in the interests of accuracy" it would measure the space devoted to the Douglas campaign and publish the findings.

Some observers believe Boddy's entry into the race took some of the steam out of Mrs. Douglas' efforts. Until late winter she campaigned on the assumption her opponent would be Sen. Sheridan Downey, incumbent Democrat and arch foe of Michael Strauss, head of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation. But Downey withdrew, willing his political organization to Boddy and killing reclamation as an issue.

Entering the fight with little more than two months to go, Boddy launched a determined drive to weld together all conservative Democrats, many of whom had been looking for a place to land.

Boddy's keynote has been: produce more wealth in the U. S. to meet the mounting cost of foreign and domestic programs. Without more wealth, he sees federal subsidies, farm price supports, pensions and other benefits as like "feeding a cow her, own milk."

Boddy and Mrs. Douglas have more than each other to worry about. Another Democrat, State Senator Earl Desmond of Sacramento, may chip away some of their vote. And the main GOP candidate, Rep. Richard M. Nixon, has cross-filed in the Democratic column.

Lebanon Sentences Would-Be Assassins
BEIRUT, Lebanon — (AP) — Two members of the outlawed "Syrian Popular Party" were sentenced to death late yesterday. They were convicted of trying to assassinate Premier Solh last year.

Two others also were convicted of complicity in the abortive plot on March 9, 1949, and sentenced to life at hard labor.

Nixon, a Navy veteran who gained notice for helping to dig out facts in the Alger Hiss case as a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee, is slugging hard against the Democrats. He's given a mathematical chance to win both nominations, since Boddy, Mrs. Douglas and Desmond could divide the orthodox Democrats badly.

Roosevelt, in his first try for office, can't ignore the same threat. Warren turned the trick in 1946, taking the Democratic nomination by some 60,000 votes.

Roosevelt is admittedly a far stronger opponent than Warren's previous adversary, but the governor has a powerful hold on California voters.

A progressive Republican, Warren has fought successfully for some welfare measures and vainly for others. Having won both nominations last time, he gave his second term a strong "non-partisan" flavor. This may have helped him in a state with a majority of the voters registered as Democrats.

It did not endear him to old-line Republicans. Some wrote him off after his defeat on the Dewey ticket, but he snapped back strongly. Today the GOP leaders are with him again. They know he's a vote-getter—and they have nowhere else to turn.

To Warren this is a "vote of confidence" campaign. He's making his hardest push since 1942, continuing his "non-partisan" approach and assailing Roosevelt (though not by name) for promising too much.

The lanky Roosevelt, flashing

the family grin, goes on plugging in his factory-gate, street-corner campaign to break into state—and national—politics. Some observers suggest he may have burned himself out too early—and is possibly losing ground.

But Jimmy, remembering his background, is confident he's on his way.

"Thanks to my father and mother, I feel I've had the soundest possible political training."

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Why "Moose" Changed His Mind

Last week, parents were calling Moose Jackson on the phone—and kids were hooting at him in the streets. All because Moose fenced in his field near the depot, where the kids like to play ball.

Moose got sore the way folks acted—refused to budge. Then Doc Sherman, who likes to play center-field himself sometimes, decided to "see a little psychology."

Over a friendly glass of beer at Andy's Garden Tavern, Doc says, "Sorry this came up, Moose. We were thinking of asking you to umpire—what with your professional experience and all." (Moose used to play a little semi-pro ball.)

That did it! Next day Moose put up a stile over his fence. In return, the kids promised not to cause any damage. From where I sit, when you try to understand the other fellow's point of view—like his personal preference for beer or coffee—and then take into consideration the will of the majority, why, things seem to go better all around.

British Unions Lash Out at Wage Freeze

LONDON — (AP) — The wage freeze policy of Britain's Labor government faced mounting pressure today from unions wanting higher pay. The new demands aroused expectations that a new government statement on wages soon would be made.

Two large unions of government employees, the National Union of Post Office Workers and the Civil Service Clerical Association, announced yesterday they would no longer support the voluntary wage freeze designed to combat inflation.

They were the latest in a series of unions defying the giant Trades Union Congress (TUC), parent body of British unions, which supports the government's policy against wage increases.

Others opposing the government position are the tobacco workers, the National Union of Railwaymen and the National Union of Mineworkers.
