CANYON—The United States fought a war conceived by the lamented Woodrow Wilson as a gallant effort: "to make the world safe for democracy." Tragically, the terrific cost of that war in lives, money, ideals, and equilibrium, has paid democracy to a test for which the people of the world were not adequately prepared. For the present at least, communism and nazism, fascism, and military dictatorship have gripped nations, stifling democracies and monarchies alike.

IN THE midst of widespread doubt that democracy can survive in this country, and in a period in which so-called "brain trusts" are accused of being socialist and communistic, it is refreshing to visit an institution of higher learning in which the simple ideals of democracy and self-government are still alive and vigorous.

The late Dr. R. B. Cousins, first president of the West Texas State Teachers college, was a democrat of the purest philosophy, a man who spoke with the assurance of a prophet and the courage of a soldier. As state superintendent of public instruction before assuming presidency of the first state college established on this then far-flung frontier (1910), he was thoroughly grounded in the best educational theory.

DR. J. A. HILL, former textbook author (American history) one of the "original" faculty members of the college, has carried on with vigor the policies and ideals of Dr. Cousins. President Hill, praised by his board of regents as an educator who ranks with the best educational leaders of Texas, reaffirmed his philosophies in keynoteing the Silver Jubilee of the college last week.

DR. HILL sees no Utopian solution of the world's problems in materialistic statutes and laws. His ideal is that of an honest, thoughtful and educated man busy in the simple pursuits of living an abundant life, unfettered by useless laws and unhampered by experimental and paternalistic federal schemes.

He thinks too much money is spent on school buildings, too little for skilled teachers. He is a stickler for intellectual individualism. He believes that "life's abiding values the invisible" and that "true abundance is spiritual and mental."

THE HON. Ruth Bryan Owen, U. S. minister to Denmark, asked in warm tones in an appearance which drew listeners from all parts of the Panhandle. Her theme was international understanding between nations; her exhort that residents of Denmark judge America by Americans living abroad, by crime news cabled in Danish newspapers, and by movies created to entertain Americans but calculated only to confuse and prejudice foreign audiences. Mrs. Owen, orator, was clear spoken and charming, rather than beautiful as our writer called her. She has the "woman's viewpoint" in the best sense. She is intelligently seeking to represent the real America and to present to Americans the real Denmark.

MRS. OWEN will seek to interest American press associations in sending more specifically, less crime news to America. At the same time, defend his craft from misunderstandings which might arise without more information in the hands of Mrs. Owen.

THE Danish newspaper, "The American news report" what they wish. Cable rates are almost exorbitantly high. Only startling "spot" news from which a headline can be drawn is therefore desired by Danish papers. The more worthwhile news is received by them by mail, weeks late but nonetheless educational. They use little of it. The same thing may be said of American papers. Americans like to think that communism is 100 per cent bad. It is considered unpatriotic—anything favorable to Stalin, Hitler, or Mussolini. Leaders of those countries claim that we Americans read only of the worst.

YET A STUDY of American newspapers and magazines will not support such a charge. The Dallas News, for example, has just recently printed a series of impartial articles by its agricultural editor on Russia. The New York Times keeps a competent writer in Russia. So do many other big papers. American newspapers do, it is true, lean heavily toward "spot" news. This is the moment, something to make a headline, something to justify one of the frequent editions. Instant communication has so multiplied news of this kind that the day is here when it is impossible to print it all, even in 50 pages a day. Magazine material is logical only in Sunday editions. Spot news is necessary.

Gunman Floyd Comes To Inglorious End--by Guns

TRAPPED THUG GETS BULLETS IN HIS BACK

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 AGAIN IS FATAL NICKNAME

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Washington Evening Star said today that Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd a few weeks ago made to the justice department the fourth of a series of proposals to surrender if he were promised immunity from execution.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 23 (AP)—Charles Arthur "Pretty Boy" Floyd, in famous outlaw whose bullets blazed a crimson path over a dozen mid-western states, is dead.

Armed to the hilt, the bandit "who is the trigger man" in the Kansas City union station killing of June, 1933, turned tail and ran when the law caught up with him. Fifteen bullets tore into his body—each one into his back.

The desperado, listed as public enemy No. 1 since the death of John Dillinger exactly three months ago, was mortally wounded late yesterday on an isolated farm, seven miles north of here.

His nemesis was Melvin Purvis of the department of justice—the man who got Dillinger—aided by three of his agents and four East Liverpool policemen.

So lacking in drama so quick was the death of the desperado that it shocked the peaceful countryside only after the full import of the slaying became known.

Made Up Story
Floyd crawled up in a corn stubble field 50 feet from a corn crib where he had taken momentary refuge, before heading toward a wooded ridge. Only an hour before he had appeared at the Ellen Carter farm, 10 miles north of here, where he had been out of Beaver Creek valley in the sparsely settled Spruceville section. He slipped at the back door of the house, Mrs. Conkle, cleaning a smoke-bomb nearby, called a response to the stranger.

"You don't want anything to eat," said Floyd. "I'll pay you." Mrs. Conkle fixed a meal for him. Floyd was polite, but Mrs. Conkle did not like his looks. She was alone on the farm. Floyd washed up in the kitchen. Mrs. Conkle told him to go out on the porch and he was ready. Floyd talked. He asked for newspapers. Mrs. Conkle grew suspicious.

The desperado manufactured a story. He and his brother had been fighting Sunday, he said, and they had lost in the woods at night and became separated. Suddenly, Mrs. Conkle asked him what they had been hunting.

Changes His Yarn
"Squirrels," replied Floyd, for "rats" or "don't know" squirrels at night. "I don't know" asked the widow. Floyd changed tactics. "To tell you the truth, lady," he said, "I got aunk last night, and I don't know where I am exactly. I'll pay you if you will drive me into Youngstown."

Youngstown is some 25 miles north of here. Floyd ate. It was a good meal. He told the widow as much and paid her a dollar.

AMARILLO BOY IS KILLED BY HIT-RUN PAIR

AMARILLO, Oct. 23 (AP)—J. R. Riggs, 29, and Clyde Sanders, 23, both of Amarillo, this afternoon were charged with murder in connection with the death this morning of Earl Harley, 8, who was struck and killed by a hit-and-run driver.

Three school boys who said they saw the boy crushed to death reported that two men were riding in the speeding car that struck the boy. Police started a hurried investigation, notifying officers in neighboring towns to keep a sharp lookout for a car described by the school children as a light coupe.

Grave Site Prepared
SALLOSAW, Okla., Oct. 23 (AP)—A mother's premonition has come true.

For more than a year Mrs. W. P. Floyd has tended a vacant plot in the little Atkins graveyard near here, seemingly sure that she would have to bury there her errant son, Charles Arthur Floyd, the son-known to the nation by the sobriquet of "Pretty Boy"—slumped to an Ohio hillside yesterday, ripe for a crime and a disgrace the way cities and communities, in-

Uncle Sam Now Leading Buyer in Cattle Sections

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—The government has bought almost one-sixth of all the cattle in the 24 frontier states.

AAA surveys disclosed the result of the cattle-purchasing campaign today. More than 7,000,000 have been bought, out of a total of 45,520,000 in the 24 states. The government has paid $90,379,155 out of $101,217,500 appropriated for the purpose. The average price was about $13.

Of the purchases about 1,110,000 were delivered on the farm as units for feed. Huge inroads on the cattle herd of several states were noted in the official tabulation.

Texas leads in cattle purchased. There the government has bought 1,389,702 of the estimated 6,602,702 in the state, paying an average of $12.06 per head or a total outlay of $16,744,969.

BANKERS' HEAD PLEDGES AID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—American banking received a positive assurance today from the Roosevelt administration that the government "is here to aid you—not to run your business."

This statement came from Leo T. Crowley, chairman of the federal deposit insurance corporation in an address before the 60th convention of the American Bankers' association.

Crowley also declared his belief that the present limit on bank deposit insurance—$5,000 for each depositor—should not be raised. Some bankers have been fearful that all deposits would be insured.

FORMER LAW STUDENT GETS PROPER PRAISE

MELVIN H. PURVIS DOES WHAT VETERANS TRIED FUTILELY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—A thin little fellow who likes to be called "buck fever" when the guns begin to go off, set out today to put his third public enemy number one out of circulation.

He is Melvin H. Purvis, 30-year-old former law student, who sprang the trap on John Dillinger. It was Purvis who led federal agents and police in killing Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd yesterday.

The odds are heavy that Purvis, chief of the Chicago agents of the department of justice, will have a hand in bringing Lester M. Gillis, better known as "George" "Baby Face" Nelson to book.

The "baby face" companion in crime of Dillinger moved into first position among America's bad men today. He was tagged as the new "public enemy number one"—a tag which is rapidly becoming a ticket to death.

Since Al Capone, who held that title, was sent to prison for a term of years, a similar list of names has been denominated, and most of them have come to no good end.

J. Edgar Hoover, whose prosaic, almost plodding methods in building up the justice department's bureau of investigation have brought sensational results, has stamped Nelson as a "crazy killer."

"We're going to get that fellow," Hoover said. "Nobody can kill our men and get away with it."

He referred to the slaying of W. Carter Baum, special agent killed in a Wisconsin wood last April when Dillinger and his mobsmen blazed their way out of a country inn to freedom.

Expected Slash in Price of Oil is Made in Tulsa

TYLER, Oct. 23 (AP)—Fred E. Wicks, oil attorney here, predicted today that other marketing companies would not follow the crude oil price cut started by the Atlas Pipe Line company. He said he believed oil firms should give federal authorities time to make their plans effective for stabilizing the industry before reducing prices.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 23 (AP)—The long expected break in the price of crude oil came today as the Atlas Pipe Line company of Shreveport, an affiliate of the Spartan Refining company, cut East Texas petroleum from $1 flat to 60 cents.

The firm purchases between 5,000 and 6,000 barrels daily.

The reduction was made effective at 7 a. m. today, and ends 12 months of dollar oil, the longest period the midcontinent ever has seen without an official change.

being made to restore employment and to promote well being and this is as it should be.

He said "a recognition of the vital need of individual initiative and of fair profit is a sine qua non to recovery" and declared President Roosevelt's recent statement on that subject was "reassuring." He also stressed "the importance of recapturing our foreign trade."

Law struck into the heart of a paramount recovery problem—huge funds lying idle in the banks. There has been criticism that banks are averse to lending but Law denied it. Declaring the banks are cooperating fully with government and business, he told nearly 4,000 delegates to the convention:

Change's Heart-Broken; Cal's Face Is Red

An undeniably brilliant exhibition of magic was concluded dismally for Li Ho Chang, Chinese spiritualist and magician, at La Nora theater last midnight but the audience was convulsed with merriment.

The theater was in total darkness. As promised by the Chinese "trickster," a ghost-like skeleton began to float over the audience.

"Lights!" some cried out in the audience.

To Cal Harvey, theater employee who was working the lights from the projection room, this sounded like the voice of the performer. He threw a switch and the theater was flooded with brilliance.

The dimly lit Oriental was revealed dancing a phosphorous coated cardboard skeleton from a string tied to a lengthy bamboo pole. Li Ho Chang retreated in confusion, closing the show abruptly, and refusing to be contacted.

PAMPA SEEKS BIG FUND FOR A CELEBRATION

Through Senator Clint C. Small, Pampa today asked for a $25,000 appropriation for a local Centennial celebration in 1936. B. C. D. and Jaycee officers filed the request late yesterday, along with similar requests from other West Texas cities, including San Angelo and Amarillo.

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—Proposed appropriation of approximately $9,000,000 in state funds to aid in financing the Texas Centennial drive in the Texas houses of representatives today, while a senate committee continued to hear representatives of cities seeking a portion of the celebration.

Representative Harold Kavton of San Antonio offered a resolution requesting the Centennial commission to abandon its plan of a central observance at Dallas, with lesser ceremonies at other cities, and to outline a series of pageants that would be given in sequence at the most historic points in the state.

Kavton said there was widespread criticism of the plan of a central observance at Dallas, with lesser ceremonies at other cities, and to outline a series of pageants that would be given in sequence at the most historic points in the state.

Location of the next meeting was left to the executive committee to name.

Those present at last night's meeting were: Wellington—John Bonner, Eugene H. Vaughn, Bert Newman, and J. T. Forbis.

Borger—Paul Potter and H. H. Beavers.

Wheeler—Rev. E. F. Kirby, W. H. Miller, and Bob Clark.

Panhandle—Fred Surratt and W. J. Adkins.

Hoover—J. M. Daugherty, C. D. Turcott, and E. W. Hogan.

Shelbytown—Arthur W. Bunker Hopkins—John Shannon.

Missing Girl Is Merely on "Hike"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 23 (AP)—Dorothy Marie Hanshaw, 14, of Huntington, believed by her parents to have been kidnapped, was found today by Charleston police who said she told them she left home to "hitch hike" to Florida.

SCOUTERS OF COUNCIL HAVE FINE SESSION

GOOD PROGRESS MADE IN AREA—TALKS HEARD

In what was said to have been the most enthusiastic meeting of the year, members of the executive committee of the Adams County council of Boy Scouts and scouters from over the area convened in Scout headquarters in the city hall last night with President A. G. Post of Pampa presiding. There were 42 present.

Committee reports were given, the most interesting of which was the troop committee report by Raymond Harrah, who told the gathering that on January 1, 1934, there were 44 registered troops in the council with a registration of 861 Scouts and 261 scouters. Two troops re-registered but two dropped during the period. A. L. Patrick announced that there were two cub packs in Pampa and one cub pack in Wellington, with memberships of 24 cub Scouts.

Interesting reports were also given by George W. Briggs, Harry Kelley, Chris B. Martin, Gilmore N. Nunn, John Bonner, and others. R. A. Selby spoke on the value of reading and the fact that there is a Boy Scout merit badge available for reading.

Principal Sane Talks

L. L. Sone, principal of the high school, talked on the subject, If I Have To. He told of a boy who appeared in his office this week who had been making grades of 72 in each subject. When the principal asked him if he couldn't do better, he said: "Sure, but isn't 72 a passing grade?"

Judge W. R. Ewing spoke feelingly on the youth of the country. He told how men can do wonders with their boys and by taking an interest in the Boy Scout movement.

"In my 18 years on the bench, I have not had to sentence a Scout-trained boy to the penitentiary," Judge Ewing declared. "Scouting builds citizenship and I wish I had more time to devote to that work."

Funds Are Low

J. O. Gilliam, treasurer of the council, made a financial report which showed a small balance on hand.

Bob Clark of Wheeler, coach of the Wheeler football team, gave a slight-of-hand exhibition that equaled the work of a professional. Mr. Clark is recognized as one of the best magicians in the country, although he does not advertise his accomplishment.

Location of the next meeting was left to the executive committee to name.

Those present at last night's meeting were: Wellington—John Bonner, Eugene H. Vaughn, Bert Newman, and J. T. Forbis.

Borger—Paul Potter and H. H. Beavers.

Wheeler—Rev. E. F. Kirby, W. H. Miller, and Bob Clark.

Panhandle—Fred Surratt and W. J. Adkins.

Hoover—J. M. Daugherty, C. D. Turcott, and E. W. Hogan.

Shelbytown—Arthur W. Bunker Hopkins—John Shannon.

LATE NEWS

KILGORE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Capt. E. N. Stanley, Chief engineer of the Texas railroad commission, said today he would recommend that the commission shut down the East Texas oil field should a general cut in the price of crude oil occur.

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 23 (AP)—After a two-hour debate today a sub-committee on adjusted compensation of the American Legion reported it had failed for the present to agree on the type of bonus resolutions to be presented to the convention here.

DESENZANO, Italy, Oct. 23 (AP)—Lieut. Francesco Agello today apparently broke the world's all-time record, which he also held, racing his seaplane at a rate reported unofficially at 700 kilometers (435 miles) an hour over Lake Garda.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Oct. 23 (AP)—Rufus E. Edwards, Thayer real estate man, today confessed that he had hired Luck Braden, of Thayer, to kill Oscar Bushart, his 27-year-old stepson, last July. Sergeant Nathan Masie of the state highway patrol announced Braden also confessed his part, Masie said.

AUSTIN, Oct. 23 (AP)—The Texas house of representatives today refused to accept senate amendments to a bill to release penalties and interest on delinquent taxes and threw the bill into a conference committee to seek a compromise.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 24 (Wednesday) (AP)—Parmentier and Moll, lost for hours in rainstorms, 200 miles northeast of Melbourne, landed safely at Albany at 1:20 a. m. today. (10:20 a. m., E. S. T. Tuesday).

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—President Roosevelt today presented a Dougherty prize of $500 to George A. Delhomme, Jr., of Houston, as winner of the sixth annual Jorgas essay contest.

Citizens Are Urged to Attend School Assembly

Residents interested in education, social service, and social welfare are invited to attend a general assembly of the Emergency Educational school this evening at 7:30 in room 309 of high school building.

Various phases of the emergency education program, including vocational education, night classes for adults and nursery schools for underprivileged children, will be discussed by Supt. R. B. Fisher, director here, and James Todd Jr.

Club women, city and county officers, and business men and women are especially invited.

Adult classes in many subjects are under way at high school nightly, and are still open for enrollment. Any person past the age of 16 and not enrolled in another school is eligible to attend. Those interested in joining any class are urged to be present this evening.

Special Football Train Tickets on Sale Here Today

Tickets for the special train to El Paso, where the Pampa Harvesters play football Saturday afternoon, are now on sale at the Santa Fe depot and the office of Joe Smith in the courthouse. Tickets in day coaches are $10.30.

It will be necessary to have 150 tickets sold before the train can be assured, and those in charge urge immediate purchases. O. T. Hendrix, local Santa Fe agent, and C. O. Busby, one of the sponsors of the train started selling tickets to those already signed to go, and in the business section, this morning.

If enough persons purchase Pullman tickets, a Pullman car will be added to the train. Pullman reservations will be at the regular rate. It will be necessary to have enough tickets sold for the Pullman by noon tomorrow.

It is planned to have the train leave here at 5 o'clock Friday and return Sunday night, leaving El Paso about 5 o'clock Sunday morning.

If the train is secured, Coach Mitchell may send about 20 Harvesters to El Paso in a special coach on the train. He would like to take the entire squad, but the expense by train would be too great. The coach said this morning that persons planning to go to El Paso in cars and who have room to take players, will be allowed $5 for each boy they can take. In that way the substitutes could go by auto.

Fans who can take players by automobile should get in touch immediately with Coach Mitchell at 70 or 1033-J.

Bob Fuller made a business trip to Tulsa yesterday.

WIFE IS FIRST WOMAN ALOFT IN SUCH WORK

BIG SILVER BAG IS MOVING 15 MILES AN HOUR

BULLETIN
CADIZ, O., Oct. 23 (AP)—The Piccard stratosphere balloon was reported to have made a landing about one mile west of here. The reported landing place was an isolated section. Reports were that the bag and gondola landed on the John Hanfield farm, about 4 1/2 miles west of Cadiz.

DETROIT, Oct. 23 (AP)—Veering "outward" by the stratospheric balloon in which Dr. Jean and Mrs. Jannette Piccard are making observations of the cosmic rays was sighted over Akron, O., about 1 p. m. today, at an altitude of about 40,000 feet.

The report, received from the Akron airport, said the balloon was drifting in a southeasterly direction at a speed of about 15 miles an hour. It was sighted from an airplane.

Prof. Jean Piccard and his wife took off from Ford airport at 6:58 a. m. (EST) today.

The huge silver balloon shot up rapidly into the gray early morning sky after more than two hours of waiting while ground crews struggled to pull down a flap which had been caught in the gas bag by the vacuum exerted by the ascent from the ground, moving in a southwesterly direction. It was expected that ultimately the prevailing winds would carry it in a southeasterly direction from Detroit.

Prof. Piccard and his wife entered the first gondola at 6:40 a. m. after having been at the airport since 4 a. m. They were dressed warmly for the sub-zero temperatures they expected to encounter in the stratosphere.

Mrs. Piccard wore the gray knicker suit and a three-quarter coat she wore on her practice flights which enabled her to qualify for the only women's balloonists' license ever issued by the department of commerce.

Turtle Is Mascot

In addition to a great quantity of scientific instruments the Piccards took aloft with them a mascot in the form of a small turtle named "Fleur de Lys."

The Piccards planned to make a descent somewhere in the vicinity of eastern Pennsylvania. Until that time they planned to keep in touch with the ground by means of two-way short wave radio set. W. O. Gassett, Ford Motor company radio engineer, left the airport by automobile for Toledo several hours before the takeoff, there to await the first signals from the balloonists and then to follow them on the ground.

The balloon's radio set has a radius of 150 miles and a wave length of 5 meters. Its call letters are WIOXDV.

EDUCATOR SUGGESTS CHILDRESS, Oct. 23 (AP)—

Public services will be held tomorrow for W. B. Howard, 67, former superintendent of schools at Amarillo, Beaumont, Goliad and Childress, who died here after a short illness.

GAZ WASTAGE

Submission to a senate committee of the report on gas wastage in the Panhandle field, by a committee of gas pipe line engineers, brings before the public again a problem that has created discussion for some time. The actual effect of present regulatory laws is generally admitted as one of extreme waste. The loss in natural resources to Texas has been a heavy one and is continuing. But, like Mark Twain's remark about the weather, Texas gas waste is roundly discussed and practically nothing is done about it.

The pipe line engineers went about making their case impressive. The report states that the heat equivalent of the annual gas wastage is more than 62,000,000 barrels of fuel oil, or 24,300,000 tons of coal. The inference is that in other heat producing fuels, the producers go to considerable cost and trouble merely to provide substances whose equivalent is available in the Panhandle and other natural gas fields and is being dissipated into thin air.

The public has an interest in this condition that it may realize too late. Natural gas is cheap gas. It is serving all of North and Central Texas and much of the rest of the State now. Once, however, the natural gas fields have been exhausted, replacement will be costly. Unless cheaper natural fuel has replaced it, the consumers will live to regret the present reckless waste. The natural gas waste is a problem that comes squarely up to the Railroad Commission and the Legislature behind it. The logical handling of the stripper wells should be determined and a sound State conservation policy applied, before the Forty-Fourth Legislature adjourns next year.—Reprinted from The Dallas Morning News.

OUT OUR WAY By WILLIAMS

TEXAS HISTORY Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

A devout Catholic, Cabeza de Vaca thought it an act of God that he was permitted to give the Indians such encouragement over their illnesses that they thought him possessed of supernatural power.

"They wished to make us (Lope de Oviedo and Cabeza) physicians," he wrote in his journal, "without examination or requiring diplomas." De Vaca simply made the sign of the cross over the sick one, repeated an Ave Maria and the Pater Noster, and the sick one declared himself well. The Christian Lope was wary of attempting cures, for he was afraid his former misdeed might bring a disastrous result.

In spite of the fact that Lope and Cabeza were with Indians so kind-hearted that they wept a whole year over the loss of one child, they were treated none too kindly. "I had to dig for edible roots from among the cane until my fingers were so worn that did so much as straw touch them they did bleed," he said. Cabeza knew that some of his Spanish companions were on the Islands, but Lope de Oviedo could never get up enough courage to leave the tribe of Indians and go with Cabeza to look for the others. His stout muscles were not an indication of a stout heart. Each year Cabeza tried to persuade Lope to leave with him, but six long years had passed before they finally set out together to look for their lost friends. On Christmas day they discovered them—Andres Dorantes, Alonso del Castillo Maldonado, and Estevanico, the Arab Moor. It was probably with unaccustomed tears streaming down their cheeks that they greeted each other.

"We gave many thanks at seeing ourselves together, and this was a day of the greatest pleasure we had enjoyed in life. Thus the Almighty had been pleased to preserve me... that I might lead them over the bays and rivers that obstructed our progress."

Cabeza found out from Dorantes that Narvaez had died in a boat a storm had washed out to sea. Another man had died because an Indian woman dreamed he was about to kill her son. The others had died through illness or starvation, and some the Indians had killed for their "diversion."

Lope turned his footsteps back one day, disappearing into the land from whence he had come. He was never to return to his native land, nor was he to take part in the exploration of that beautiful country through which the "River of Palms"—the Rio Grande—courses: Cabeza and his companions went onward—the first Europeans to set foot on Texas soil.

Ruling on Use Of Relief Funds on Roads Is Made

AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—State Relief Director Adam R. Johnson has cautioned county administrators to observe that portion of the relief law recently enacted providing for a minimum expenditure of relief funds on work relief projects. The letter follows:

"The new state relief law, as adopted by the fourth called session of the forty-third legislature, provides that at least 35 percent of the state funds allocated to any county shall be expended on the construction, repair or maintenance of lateral roads or other work projects.

"Each county administrator is hereby advised that it is his duty and responsibility to see that this provision of the law is fulfilled at all times. There is no discretion left to you or to the state administration. The law is clear in its statement, and it must be observed.

"The determination of the amount of funds spent in any given county for work relief will be one of the functions of the auditing department, and county audit reports will be checked closely to see that the above provision of the law is adhered to. Attention is called to the fact that 35 per cent is set as a minimum. It is not the desire of the State Board of Control nor of the state administrative office that work relief expenditures shall be restricted to the 35 per cent minimum. On the other hand, it very definitely is the desire of the Board of Control and of this office that every employable person receiving relief shall be employed on an approved work project to the full extent of his monthly budget."

WASHINGTON — The money magicians whose incantations once charmed our president have found quarters in the same ashen which houses the professional rain-makers who hired themselves out to end last summer's drought.

Prof. George F. Warren of Cornell, who used to have the president's left ear, and Prof. James Harvey Rogers of Yale, who monopolized the right ear, spoke different pieces. But the White House now is equally oblivious to them both.

Warren, who guided the gold policy through its most spectacular jumps, was around seeing Roosevelt the other day. No one had asked him to come, but he had been pounding on the White House door for days, so they let him in.

He wanted to tell Roosevelt the gold maneuvers had helped the country enormously, which Roosevelt doesn't believe, and to urge more of the same.

Prof. Rogers also has been here. Hardly anyone knew it. He didn't even get inside the White House, thought he might have if he had demanded an audience, without waiting for an invitation.

Months ago he had been sent on a mission to study the silver situation in China. He cabled reports to the Treasury. About the middle of September he returned here, saw Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, and expected a call to the White House—which never came.

Secretary Ickes, by the way, is chiefly responsible for Roosevelt's move to bring President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago—the boy wonder of higher education—into the administration. Ickes is a Chicagoan, a friend, and an admirer.

Hutchins may or may not become the brightest star in the Brain Trust. But he certainly won't be the most popular one.

Anyway, it's the Harvard Law School boys—abounding in the emergency agencies—who tell you that Hutchins made such a splendid breeding ground of intellectual ferment and sociological study out of the Yale law school that it just didn't turn out any good lawyers.

Prediction in these dispatches that the three "crown princes" of NRA would be on the way out after General Johnson's retirement may turn out to be only 66 2-3 per cent correct.

Johnny Swope, son of General Electric's Gerard Swope and chief of the NRA field section, and Robert K. Straus, son of the ambassador to France and holder of one or two high NRA posts, won't be with us long.

But young Lieut. Kilbourne Johnston, son of the departed general, is another case. Some of the new NRA bosses insist that Kilbourne has shown executive ability and can be useful.

They admit, if you press them, that it might be a bit embarrassing to feel any other way about it. Johnston is on leave from the army, detailed to NRA at his father's request, and the army won't recall him unless and until NRA requests it.

Any such request would be a slap at the general which nobody wants to take.

While President Roosevelt is conferring with the captains of industry, he might find out which of them intend to be good soldiers and get into step with the government.

Secretary Ickes thinks Herbert Hoover's book would do the democrats more good than his own. Republicans will take the hint.

World series, football, revolutions, assassinations, who cares? John D. Rockefeller has gone to Florida.

RADIO AMATEURS ARE TO HAVE SESSION AT SAN ANTONIO SOON

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 23. (AP)—San Antonio will become a mecca for radio telegraph "bugs" Friday and Saturday, Oct. 26 and 27, when the convention of the West Gulf Division of the American Radio Relay League is held here.

Radio amateurs from Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and part of Louisiana comprise the West Gulf divisions and experts from all parts of the country will attend the convention, many bringing with them interesting and perhaps startling developments in radio, according to Albert Rose, president of the San Antonio radio club, which is sponsoring the convention. Three hundred are expected to assemble here.

The American Radio Relay League is an organization of radio amateurs with receiving and transmitting sets.

According to E. G. Conroy, supervisor of the San Antonio police radio system, most of the important advances in radio engineering in recent years have been made by amateurs and as a result their meetings are watched with interest by the entire radio industry.

Among well known radio men who will speak at the convention are Dr. B. T. Simpson of Buffalo, N. Y., assistant director of the Atlantic Division of the league, and also a famous physician, A. A. Herbert of West Hartford, Conn., treasurer of the American Radio Relay League; Robert Smith, a famous amateur of Kansas City, and Frank M. Corlett of Dallas, director of the West Gulf division.

The convention opens at the St. Anthony hotel Friday, Oct. 26. Friday afternoon an Army field demonstration will be given at Fort Sam Houston. A "hard boiled owl" party will be given at Mayfield Park Friday night. At that time the army will put on a plane-to-field radio demonstration. The program also includes stunts and an initiation.

A business session will be held Saturday and the convention will close with a banquet Saturday night.

Shooting Birds on Telephone Wires Is Cause of Trouble

Shooting birds may be great sport for the hunters, but it presents a serious problem for the maintenance department of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, E. Hooks, district manager, said today.

When the dove season opened September 1, trouble on long distance lines in the Panhandle district more than doubled. There were 33 cases of trouble in the first 15 days of September, 17 of which were caused by hunters.

Shooting into telephone lines causes either an immediate break in important circuits, or weakens the lines to the extent that they snap when the first cold weather comes, Mr. Hooks explained.

In some cases it is necessary for maintenance men to travel many miles to repair damage on long distance lines caused by thoughtlessness of bird hunters. Cooperation of local sportsmen is urged in the interest of keeping telephone service, both local and long distance, up to a high standard.

PINNED DOWN

CLEVELAND, Tenn.—Bud McAlester's trusty safety pin and hound dog saved him from being robbed. A prowler attacked the 80-year-old farmer and attempted to grab his pocketbook. But the pin, fixed securely in McAlester's clothing, held fast and balked the assailant until McAlester's dog arrived. The dog fought the prowler until help came.

FEDERAL LOANS AND GRANTS TO TEXAS NOW 541 MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. (AP)—The democratic national committee has prepared for use of party candidates in Texas a compilation designed to show relief and recovery agencies of the Roosevelt administration have appropriated, in grants and loans, $541,040,114 for the state.

Republican leaders have denounced use of such material, claiming it is intended unduly to influence the voters by financial considerations.

Likewise included was a statement that total revenue collections from Texas for the 1934 fiscal year were $50,877,753, against $34,167,496 for 1933.

Loans and grants to Texas as listed by the committee follow: Agricultural adjustment administration—rental and benefit payments $57,755,766, of which $53,955,094 was for cotton and $3,800,671 for wheat. (Processing taxes collected in the state to August 1, where put at $11,212,715.)

Emergency conservation work (CCC)—$11,854,234.

Farm credit administration loans—$189,985,230.

Emergency relief administration—Relief funds $31,383,624; civil works (now inoperative) $31,783,000.

Home owners loan corporation—Loans of $59,774,260.

Public works administration—Federal projects allotments, $49,931,317; non-federal allotments, $52,492,757 (not broken down as between direct grants and loans)

Reconstruction finance corporation—Loans and preferred stock, subscriptions on preferred stock, purchase of debentures, $33,374,250; loans to receivers and conservators

GEORGE AND EDWARDS WILL CLASH IN SEMI-FINAL

Mr. Danny McShain, better known as Dapper Danny, the Irish Sheik from Washington state, will arrive in Pampa in all his glory tonight to do battle with Ernie Arthur, French-Canadian Panther from the back woods of Quebec, at the Pla-Mor auditorium. The two roughsters will meet in the main event of a wild card.

The Irish dandy has just arrived back in the Panhandle after wrestling in Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Kansas City, St. Louis, Fort Worth, Houston, and other large cities. He was chased out of most of them because of rough tactics. The Irishman won most of his matches, but in his own way and not according to wrestling rules.

Mr. Arthur doesn't have the appearance of a wrestler until he bunches his muscles and starts to work. He is tame until the other fellow gets rough. The French-Canadian has a method of his own to punish the rough boys. He hasn't had to use it here before but will probably break loose tonight when McShain gets started.

In the semi-final, 30 minutes or less, Sam George, a lightning fast grappler with a wonderful knowledge of holds and their uses, will meet Buddy Edwards, rough and tough cousin of the light-heavy Billy Edwards. Edwards likes the going rough. It is not known whether George is of the same mind or whether he dishes out punishment with clean holds.

Andy Gump, Pampa Swede, will attempt to tame Howard Belcher of Amarillo in the preliminary which will get under way at 8:15 o'clock, 15 minutes earlier than other bouts.

It is more than likely that Lobo Brown of Amarillo will challenge Pat Garrison to a return match and Amarillo grappler writes THE NEWS that he is not afraid of Garrison and can best him.

NAVY LOOKING BETTER THAN ARMY ELEVEN

LOU LITTLE SAYS IT HAS EVERYTHING NEEDED

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor
NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—Bar-nacle Bill may not know the difference between a triple lateral and a spinner buck but he opines it looks like a good year for the Navy and he's probably right.

Not since 1926 has Annapolis sent a team to the football wars that carried so many effective-looking weapons as those which struck down the Rose bowl Lions of Columbia last Saturday. And you can't blame a sailor for hoping it forecasts the long-awaited turn of the gridiron battle against the Army.

It's a bit too early to leap to definite conclusions. Many a fumble or intercepted pass will upset calculations between now and Dec. 1, when the service academies put on their show at Franklin field, but from this corner it seems Navy has more basis for real optimism over its football prospects than at any time since Tom Hamilton—the head coach—was a Midshipman himself and one of the best all-around backs in the country.

Take it from Lou Little, who had a close-up view from the sidelines as Buzz Borries, Clark, Burns and company bewildered his robust Columbi-ans, the 1934 Navy eleven has every essential to greatness. It has speed, deception and variety on attack. It has a rare passing specialist in Buzz Borries, who also knows his way through a broken field. It has a kicking ace in Iowa Bull Clark and a line which, despite some awkwardness at executing shift plays, carries a terrific charge.

Navy's prowess and staying powers will be thoroughly tested before the Army game. The Middies tackle Pennsylvania, Washington & Lee, Notre Dame and Pittsburgh on the next four Saturdays before taking two full weeks to prepare for West Point. It would be asking too much of Lieut. Hamilton's squad to go through such a formidable set of opponents undefeated but the Army is the one shining goal and all will be forgiven if the sailors carry that objective.

You must consider that Navy hasn't beaten Army since 1921 in order to realize how earnestly the whole annapolis campaign is pointed toward the service game. There have been some close contests since then but the famous 21-21 tie of 1926 at Chicago marked the last time the Midshipmen had a real chance to win.

Jack Buckler, the triple-threat Texan and all-America halfback, remains to lead the Army charge this year but he may meet his match in the elusive, versatile Borries.

RAY ELKINS, WITH BROKEN BONE IN RIGHT HAND, LOST TO HARVESTERS FOR PRESENT

The Harvesters will be minus the services of Ray Elkins, fleet little substitute halfback, when they invade El Paso Saturday afternoon to battle the Bowie Bears of that city. Elkins complained of a sore right hand after Friday night's game and yesterday it was learned that he had fractured a small bone.

"Elkins will be out of the game Saturday and may not be ready to play against Plainview," Coach Odus Mitchell said yesterday afternoon. "I planned to use Elkins a lot, after his good showing last Friday night against Trinidad."

Punting, passing, and open field work featured the Harvester work-out yesterday afternoon. New plays were given and the boys worked hard against the Mexican team.

The El Paso game was won and lost with less than five seconds to go. Trying desperately to win, Salcedo, Bowie fullback, hurried a pass which was on the 20-yard mark when the gun went off for the end of the game.

Bowie had everything its own way for more than three-quarters of the game and only the breaks of football kept the Bears from being routed. The Bears out-punted El Paso an average of 10 yards to the boot and were more deary in passing. Salcedo's spotting of long tosses was uncanny and his receivers, generally were better than those of El Paso high. It was the other way about when the El Paso boys threw passes all over Butler field in an attempt to defeat the Sandies on their home lot.

The El Paso Times says, "The work of Montoya and Hernandez on receiving passes, and Hernandez' brilliant play in getting down under punts to down the Tiger safety man in his tracks most of the time, were highlights of the game which thrilled more than 4,500 fans who packed high school stadium."

"Perez, heady little quarterback, went through the line to block two services of Ray Elkins, fleet little substitute halfback, and the little fellow crashed across for the Bowie touchdown. Perez also caught more of Heineman's forward passes than his own teammates were able to take for completions. The work of Lopez, big tackle, Saenz and Arroyo, was outstanding in the Bowie line. Time after time the three broke through to smother El Paso plays behind the line of scrimmage."

"Bowie was favored to be district champions, but the surprise victory of the El Paso team threw the race into a middle. The Tigers will meet Austin High of El Paso, already defeated by the Bowie high team, and a loss for El Paso would throw the district into a three-way tie."

The duck season in Texas will begin at sun-up Friday morning and nimrods will have 30 full days of hunting, the state game, fish and oyster commission has announced, but the days are extended over a period of 10 weeks, October 26 thru December 30.

The new state law conforms with federal regulations to permit hunting on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of those weeks. There are no restrictions as before as to zones.

Of common variety of ducks the hunter may kill 12 in one day, but must have no more than 24 in possession at one time. Limits of five per day are placed on the following classes: wood duck, elder duck, car-vasback, greater or lesser scaup, ring-neck, blue wing teal, green wing teal, cinnamon teal, shoveler and gadwall.

The state requires no license to hunt in one's home county but it is compulsory to have a migratory bird hunting stamp. These stamps are available at postoffices throughout the country at $1 each. Failure to have one of these stamps carries a fine of $500. The stamps can be secured at the postal savings window at the local postoffice.

Mrs. Mulligan, the mother of three other children, was reported recovering.

TEXAS STAR RECOVERING SLOWLY BUT MAY BE READY

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
The only undefeated Southwest conference football team—the Rice Owls of Houston—went behind barred gates yesterday in their initial practice for Saturday's important championship battle against the University of Texas Longhorns.

Coach Jimmy Kitts gave the Owls a few new plays to spring on the orange huskies when they clash in a game many critics claim will definitely settle the 1934 conference championship issue, even though the conference has just started. The Owls did not appear over-confident. Having whipped Southern Methodist, Purdue, and Creighton, the Owls are taking their games as they come and they realize they face trouble Saturday.

The Owls have one prayer—they hope Bohn Hilliard, Texas' injured ace of halfbacks, will be able to compete. Hilliard did not play Saturday when Texas lost a 9 to 6 battle to Centenary.

Irritating scrimmage injuries this week, Rice will be in perfect physical condition for the orange. Buck Friedman, halfback who was injured in the Southern Methodist game and didn't make the trip to Creighton's is ready to play.

With no definite announcement concerning Hilliard's playing status, Coach Jack Chevigny sent his Longhorns through a light drill. "You've got to keep your chins up and keep going this week or we'll go down Saturday," was Chevigny's warning. It will be the Longhorns first 1934 equal to 62,634,000 BARRELS OF OIL . . .

—Enough Barrels of Oil to form a solid belt around the earth!

This practice might be compared to pulling all the cotton blooms to get their small content of honey and thus utterly destroying the cotton crop itself.

Concerted action on the part of the people of Texas is essential to stop this colossal waste. If the Natural Gas resources of Texas are saved for their proper use, industries and homes may continue to enjoy the economy and convenience of Natural Gas for power and fuel for generations . . . if the waste continues and increases at its present rate, the entire supply may be exhausted in a few short years or months and the industrial growth of Texas will be stopped.

Men and women who are interested in the welfare of Texas are urged to send for free booklet which tells the complete story. The 600,000 families in Texas who depend entirely on gas for fuel should demand at once that this waste be stopped. ENGLISHMEN WIN REMARKABLE AIR RACE AND SET NEW RECORD

"LOUSY TRIP AND THAT IS PRAISING IT"

C. W. A. SCOTT

DUTCH TEAM SECOND AND AMERICANS THIRD

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 23.—Two exhausted Englishmen landed their monoplane here this afternoon to end one of the most astounding flights in history.

Charles W. A. Scott, 31, and his partner, Tom Campbell Black, 35, won the $50,000 speed race to Melbourne and in doing so set a new record for long distance flights.

In a dizzying rain their Comet plane crossed the finish line at 3:34 p. m. (12:34 a. m. EST), 70 hours, 50 minutes, and 50 seconds out of Mildenhall airdrome, England.

Back of them was scattered a field of outstanding pilots, most of them badly beaten in the ambitious 11,323-mile race half-way around the world.

The Dutch team of K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Moll, which kept stubbornly in pursuit of the pace-setting Britons, were in second place. They landed at Charleville, but 787 miles from Melbourne at 3:45 a. m. EST.

They were delayed there by oil trouble but hopped off for Charleville at 3:41 a. m., holding third place.

"It was a lousy trip and that is praising it," said Scott as newspapermen swarmed about him for interviews.

The trip cut by more than two-thirds the records for a flight to Australia. Scott and Black, former British army fliers, respectively, averaged 176.5 miles an hour flying time and 160 miles an hour for total elapsed time. They used a British plane (De Havilland Comet with Gypsy VI motor).

More than 30,000 persons gathered to welcome the fliers at Laverton airdrome, after they had crossed the finish line at Flemington field.

Both fliers were greatly fatigued and hardly able to stand when they pushed open the cowlings of their machine and climbed down into the arms of joyous friends.

"It seems to me we started the race some five centuries ago," Scott exclaimed in a husky voice. "With every mile on the last lap to Melbourne (from Charleville) it seemed we slipped back two.

"I do not adequately realize I am here. This paper in my hand tells me that I am, so it must be so. The press never lies."

"Neither of us got a wink of sleep on this trip," he added. "We had to be on the job with the plane all the time. We were feeling pretty good on the run down but I feel better now that we are here."

In addition to the $50,000, Scott and Black receive a gold cup valued at $2,500. The second place winner gets $7,500 and $2,500 makes up third prize.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marion Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, has protected the callous Silver Hendon against the world and against Silver himself. Silver just has divorced her husband, and he has shot himself. Marion sends word from Reno that Silver is reconciled to her former mate. But now Silver has set her cap for Lon Casad, Marian's friend, and, to escape, Marian and Lon are starting to drive alone in the early morning from Reno back to Oakland.

Chapter 15
LIFE HISTORY
Lon was waiting for Marian in the lobby, and after helping the boy stow the boxes in the rear he tucked her under a huge woolly robe as if she were something fragile. He even cautioned Hero not to crowd her.

As the shining nose of the car headed along Virginia street, and on the long, unpopulated highway they laughed together. There was a sense of adventure in this running away from the gently determined Silver.

And then, rolling over the white pavement and through mountains where blazing stars seems to have slipped from the sky to become entangled in the high ridge of pines, Lon began to talk; talked seriously, personally.

"Jan, I said I had a lot to talk about," he began. "You'll probably laugh when I tell you that I am the subject. But you see, you don't really know anything about me, and I want you to know everything."

"You know I come from Al's town, Cleveland. And you know that before I went to Cleveland I came from farther south and that I have a few relatives down Missouri way. That's about all. You know I came out here to go into business for myself, but you don't know where my money for that business came from nor anything of the real me, so here goes."

"I was born and grew up in St. Louis. My people were poor, and I mean poor; you have no idea of what poverty can mean. My father was Irish, a happy-go-lucky fellow who worked when he couldn't find anything else to do. My mother was a Canadian, and like most Canadians, worked all of the time.

"Dad had the wanderlust. The reason the family settled in St. Louis was because mother refused to go any farther. There were three of them, a sister and brother older than myself.

"When I was four, the other two contracted some kind of fever and died. A few years later Dad wandered off and forgot to come back.

"By that time mother had paid a small amount on the old house in which we were living. It was large, a regular barn of a place and as inconspicuous as a church would be for keeping house. However, she did the only thing she could do to make it do not adequately realize I am here. This paper in my hand tells me that I am, so it must be so. The press never lies."

"Neither of us got a wink of sleep on this trip," he added. "We had to be on the job with the plane all the time. We were feeling pretty good on the run down but I feel better now that we are here."

In addition to the $50,000, Scott and Black receive a gold cup valued at $2,500. The second place winner gets $7,500 and $2,500 makes up third prize.

W-HOLLOW'S NOT ON MAP BUT KENTUCKIAN PUTS IT THERE WITH 703-SONNET STORY

GREENUP, Ky., Oct. 23.—The man behind the bull-tongued plow—Jesse Stuart, 27-year-old high school principal from picturesque W Hollow is Kentucky's latest contribution to the literary world.

Stuart's book, "The Man Behind the Bull-Tongued Plow," tells of the living and dead, the fit and "un-fitted," of W Hollow.

Now W Hollow is not to be found on the map. It is reached by walking miles along a narrow, crooked, brick-covered cow path. Its location is between two towering hills in the northwestern part of Greenup county.

The young author, who writes of the loves, sorrows, emities, and joys of the people of the Hollow was born there, the son of John Stuart, farmer, August 8, 1907.

Born in One-Room Cabin.
Young Stuart's first home was typical of the Hollow. Many are still standing today. It was a one-room structure, of logs, which his father and uncle had cut in 1896.

The furnishings were meagre and had been roughly constructed by the men of the Hollow. One corner of the house was used for sleeping.

Three hard beds provided sleeping space for seven children and two adults. A heavy, unplanned wooden table occupied the center, while the other end of the room served as a kitchen.

At nine, Stuart was "hired out." He received 25 cents a day. His working hours extended from sunrise until sundown. His duties were to follow a half-starved horse pulling a plow.

Another of the one-room structures of W Hollow was the school building. The term started about July 1 and ended with Thanksgiving. It was here that young Stuart had his first experience at writing. His vivid portrayal of the folks of the Hollow was anything but pleasing to the teachers. His first efforts met with threats of violence and later "hickory switch" thrashings.

Hard on Teachers.
Only the rugged, two-fisted type of teacher remained long. It was a knock-down, drag-out battle to conquer the big boys of the school. If he won the fight, he kept his job. If he lost, he silently stole from the Hollow under cover of darkness. To lose a fight in the Hollow meant disgrace.

After finishing the Hollow's elementary course, Stuart walked 18 miles back and forth between his home and Greenup to attend classes at a centralized high school. He was graduated in 1926 and in the fall of that year enrolled at Lincoln Memorial university. Later he attended Vanderbilt university as a post-graduate student.

Stuart served one year as superintendent of schools of Greenup county. At the end of his term, he was appointed principal of McKell high school, Puleston, Ky.

Made Notes at Plow.
For 17 seasons, Stuart has followed a plow on his father's farm. The plow known as the "bull-tongue" is used extensively by the hillside farmers of eastern Kentucky. It is sturdy and especially adapted for unearthing the stubborn growth of roots of young bushes and trees.

It was while following this plow that the 703 sonnets included in his book began to form. At the end of the long hillside row, he would stop and scribble down his thoughts. As they increased, he found a ready market for his work with several of the country's leading magazines. They also appeared in the Dublin Review, and selected verses were published in London.

Stuart, who says that he's only a "clod-hopper" from W Hollow, speaks the language of his people. He was "fetched up" among them. He knows all about Georgia Greene, the female evangelist of the hills, who drank a quart of kerosene daily and tolled her "likker" in the steam kettle perched on top of the church steeple.

Portrays Local Lights.
He knows exactly why Tom Long was such a poor soldier and couldn't fight in France, although Tom was a hell-raiser to the nth degree in W Hollow. Stuart is also well acquainted with the story of why Jennie, the reigning belle of the Hollow, left the region, never to return.

Hog Mullins, Tiger Blevins, Rag Tussey, who was hanged to a tree for shooting Tom Wilburn during a friendly "wrasse." Blind Fralley, the old time fiddler, Bad-eye Johnson, Jiles, Knat Hornbuckle, Chit Woods, Murt Lane, who was shot and killed when she raided Oscar Dunn's chicken roost once too often, Glenn Hylton, and Bert Scaggs, who raised the finest tobacco in the Hollow, we all friends of Stuart. He met them daily while following the plow. All the gossip of the hallowed-in Hollow was told and retold to him.

Here is one of the sonnets to Fralley:
When old "Blind" Fralley starts his magic fiddle
And a Plum Grove man is there by chance,
You ought to watch this man step out and dance.

Of course he has some patches on his pants
And by his side the old man jigs a little
And laughs and listens to the talking fiddle.
"Blind" Fralley stops for rosin on his skull.

And when he starts to fiddle up he cries:
"Girl With the Blue Dress On!" Boys,
Let's go!"

And then course shoes like mauls thug on the ground
Until they nearly drown the fiddle sound,
And soon a jolly crowd is gathered there
With best of drink upon the courthouse square.

And talk about dancing and the fiddling there!
This is one is in a less frivolous subject:
I shall feel wet oak leaves close to my skin
And I shall smell these dead leaves after rains.

The winter of this life is setting in—
I do love oak leaves' coffee-colored stains.
My body will be stained from head to toes
And I shall have the oak roots through my skull.

And fern roots through my lips and eyes
And nose.
Each summer I shall wear loose green in full.
I think I shall be able to discern
You and the rain through hard eyes of the trees.

Quaker State Representative Is Here for Talks

Representatives of the Quaker State refinery will be at the Hampton & Campbell garage tomorrow and Thursday conducting a supervised greasing service. Free souvenirs will be given to all persons bringing their cars on these two days.

The men in charge will be W. W. Sherrill, superintendent of sales; C. W. Daniels Jr., lubrication engineer; and W. I. Godley, refinery engineer, all of the Quaker State refinery.

New Engineers in Relief Division

AUSTIN, Oct. 23.—The State Board has named J. B. Keely chief engineer of the work division of the Texas Relief commission. Mr. Keely takes the place left vacant by E. A. Baugh, who was named by the board to succeed C. B. Braun as assistant director. Braun resigned to become state director of the Mississippi relief organization.

In connection with the appointment, Adam R. Johnson, state relief director, by authority of the Board of Control issued a statement to employees in which he said: "These changes will take place at the close of business October 18."

"Effective immediately, Mr. W. B. Willie is in charge of the auditing and accounting department, taking the place formerly held by Mrs. Geo. R. Dennell.

"In line with the policy announced by the Board of Control, all employees who are functioning properly, who are faithful in performance of their duty and whose services are necessary to the orderly conduct of the affairs of the commission, need feel no concern about their jobs."

Keely has been with the Relief Commission since last November in the capacity of assistant to Mr. Baugh. He came to Austin from Dallas.

CRAWFORD BURTON...gentleman rider...twice winner of the Maryland Hunt Cup...dean of the strenuous sport of steeplechase riding...and a Camel smoker.

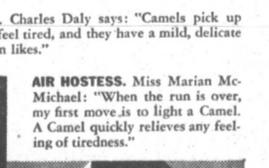

GET A LIFT WITH A CAMEL!

Have you ever tried this enjoyable way of heightening energy?

HOUSEWIFE. Mrs. Charles Daly says: "Camels pick up my energy when I feel tired, and they have a mild, delicate flavor that a woman likes."

AIR HOSTESS. Miss Marian McMichael: "When the run is over, my first move is to light a Camel. A Camel quickly relieves any feeling of tiredness."

Crawford Burton, the famous American steeplechase rider, is speaking: "Whether I'm tired from riding a hard race, or from the pressure and tension of a crowded business day, I feel refreshed and restored just as soon as I get a chance to smoke a Camel. So I'm a pretty incessant smoker, not only because Camels give me a 'lift' in energy, but because they taste so good! And never yet have Camels upset my nerves." Note these important points: that Camels taste so good. And that they make available your stored-up energy. Science tells us that Camel's "energizing effect" has been fully confirmed. Try Camels yourself. You can smoke them constantly. For Camels are made from finer and MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS. They never taste flat...never get on your nerves.

COGDILL GIVES FIRST TALK IN REVIVAL SERIES

"Fair Trial in Bible Study" Urged in Sermon

A large audience heard the first sermon of Evangelist Roy E. Cogdill in the revival at Francis Avenue Church of Christ last evening.

His subject was Why and How to Study the Bible. "There are many reasons why all should be interested in study of the Bible," he said.

He arrived yesterday from Dallas, after the revival was started Sunday by local workers.

Tearful Mood

A stormy courtship, in which she charged she was kidnaped, and a stormy married life of six months, culminated in divorce court, when Marjorie Crawford, Hollywood actress, shown here in tearful mood on the stand, was granted a decree from Danny Downing, film dance director. She testified that he had threatened her life.

man what he is, or should be, where he came from, and where he will spend eternally.

"The promises of Jehovah are revealed in the Bible. We should be deeply concerned as to what God would have us do that our lives might be pleasing to him.

"We should study the Bible, not to find if we are right, but to find what is right regardless of our opinions. We fail to understand and appreciate the Bible simply because we do not know how to study it intelligently. We need to make a proper division of the word of God. Many commands are given that are not addressed to us today. Many are not authoritative to us in this age of the world.

"The one outstanding rule in proper study of the Bible is that the attitude and heart of the individual must be in tune with the infinite and the individual must be concerned with things that please God and not the things that please self.

"We should give the word of God a fair trial. We frequently render a verdict before all the testimony is given, and this is especially true in matters of religion. Let the truths of God be interpreted in the light of all other truths in the Bible.

"Accept the word of God at face value and do not be anxious about things that are not revealed therein. If the Bible does not mean exactly what it says, we are left without any source of information concerning spiritual things. A word in the Bible means exactly what it means when found elsewhere.

Mr. Cogdill expressed his pleasure in being associated again with his old friend, E. C. McKenzie, pastor here, and in being in Pampa. He was surprised at the size of the city, and delighted with its hospitality.

He promised that his discussions through the revival would be "only of those things spoken by the Holy Spirit of God." He deplored that people should attend church creches out of curiosity, for social purposes, or for any purpose than to learn the will of God.

The sermon subject this evening is Why Old Testament Scriptures Have Been Preserved. Two services are conducted daily, at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

FIRST COUNTY P-TA MEETING ON SATURDAY

DELEGATES, VISITORS WILL ATTEND FROM PAMPA UNITS

The first County Parent-Teacher council meeting of this term will be conducted at McLean Saturday and a number of delegates and visitors from Pampa units are expected to attend.

McLean women will serve lunch to visitors at noon, and the business and program hour will follow.

All Parent-Teacher association members are invited who wish to go. All who plan to make the trip are asked to notify Mrs. Claude Lard, city council president, or Mrs. Roy Holt by tomorrow evening.

Delegates from Pampa associations are Mmes. Holt, H. G. Myers, J. M. Turner, S. C. Evans, and O. E. Palmer, with Mmes. J. C. Browning and J. M. Daugherty as alternates.

J. Y. P. Class Makes Large Gains Sunday In Number Present

J. Y. P. class of First Christian church had its largest attendance of the year, with 42 members present and 15 members of the Berean class, whose teacher is out of town, as visitors Sunday.

The classes in Christian Sunday school are having a football contest, and enough members were present to count two touchdowns for the J. Y. P. class. Twenty-eight is their goal, and for every 10 present over that number, they score an extra touchdown.

A Halloween party is planned for October 31, when all who wish may wear costumes. A prize will be awarded the best costume.

Every member is urged to bring a guest Sunday to help make three touchdowns for the class.

Snake Charmer To Be Attraction at Carnival This Week

Sandra, the beautiful snake charmer, will be one of the many attractions at the Horace Mann Halloween carnival Friday evening.

The Parent-Teacher association there is to sponsor the carnival. Educated animals will perform their baffling tricks, and gifts will be fished from a pond in other side-show booths. Every room in the building will have its attraction.

Candies and other carnival refreshments will be on sale, and various forms of entertainment will be included. The public is invited to attend.

Threat Ended

After almost two years of investigation, police have arrested Fred Albright, 40, at Pleasantville, N. J., on charges of sending threatening letters to Miss Ellen Gowen Hood, above, and other Philadelphia social registers. The letters bore symbols similar to those on the Lindbergh kidnaping notes.

Laketon Club to Hold Open House

Mrs. Leo Paris presided during a business meeting of Laketon Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. E. C. Murrell Thursday afternoon.

Plans were made for the club achievement day, November 15, at the home of Mrs. Lawton Hoffer, 4-H pantry demonstrator. This will be an all-day meeting with a turkey dinner at noon honoring husbands of club members. Open house will be held from 2:30 to 4 o'clock for visitors to view Mrs. Hoffer's pantry.

The club will have a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Roberts Friday night, October 26. The program and recreational committees will be in charge of the entertainment.

Punch and cake were served to Mmes. E. L. Tackett, Leo Paris, Lawton Hoffer, Edgar Gray, M. L. Roberts, Chess Terry, C. V. Talley, and the hostess.

Leo Chase, Well Known Wrestler, Dies in Pampa

Leo Chase, 44, of McLean, a former resident of Pampa, died in a local hospital last night following an operation. He had been ill only a week.

Mr. Chase, up to a few years ago, was a well known wrestler. He appeared in matches in Pampa for many years before leaving for Oklahoma to make his home. He returned to Texas two years ago, settling in McLean and working in the oil field, where he was active all during his wrestling career. He met some of the best in the country and was a real contender for heavyweight honors until injured.

Mr. Chase is survived by his wife and two daughters, Ella Gladys and Katherine Elaine, and two sons, Leo Riley and James Robert, all of McLean. Other survivors are a brother and sister.

The body is at rest at the G. C. Malone funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

DORCAS CLASS

The Dorcas class of the first Baptist church will be entertained with a tacky party at the home of Mrs. Post, 811 E. Kingsmill at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday. All members including members in service are invited to be present and wear a mask.

E. Berg of LeFors was a Pampa visitor this morning.

LUNCH STARTS BEST MEETING OF M. E. BODY

EVERY CIRCLE GIVES PART OF THE PROGRAM

Pronounced the best general meeting of this year, a luncheon and program of the Methodist Missionary society was attended by 75 members and a number of guests yesterday at First Methodist church.

A covered dish luncheon was followed by introduction of members and guests, then a business session conducted by Mrs. Joe Shelton. She appointed Mrs. John Hesse, Mrs. H. B. Carson, and Mrs. Lee Harris as a nominating committee to choose a ticket of officers for the year which starts next month.

Next Monday will be observed as visiting day, and at the first November meeting a lesson from the World Outlook will be studied, she announced.

Work is reported. Reports of home mission work were read from each circle and showed a total of 79 bouquets, 224 magazines, $14 in cash, 89 garments, 131 trays, and 17 other donations made during the month, and 362 calls to the sick and other members.

Each circle contributed to the program. Circle three presented little Patricia Lively in a vocal solo, accompanied by her sister, Jean; and Betty Ann Culbertson in an accordion solo.

A talk by Mrs. Frank Shottwell, Experience of Answered Prayer, was the contribution of circle two. Mmes. Roy Tinsley, Carlton Nance, and Waters of circle four presented a play, Taking the Census.

Circle one presented sacred moving pictures accompanied by hymns, and circle five gave a humorously pointed play, Packing the Missionary Box.

Mrs. John Hodge, superintendent of supplies read a note of thanks from the Wesley house where a box was recently sent by the society. Mrs. W. Purviance read a poem, My Prayer, as a benediction.

In addition to members, visitors present were Mmes. John Hesch, Walker Behrends, G. H. Anderson, A. B. Smith, Dubbs, Connor, Betty Sr., Buckner, Campbell, Hines, Bowerman, Mack Waters, Montgomery.

Hope to Receive Work Order on Highway 88 Soon

Work on highway 33 through the city is nearing completion by men on relief roll, it was announced yesterday. The men have been placing first and second coats of caliche and building curb and gutter.

Some time ago the Texas highway commission and later the Texas Relief commission approved work on highway 88 south of the city and it is hoped that a work order on that project will be issued before the work on highway 33 is completed.

Manager George W. Briggs of the Board of City Development and Alex Schneider, chairman of the Gray county relief board, are in touch with relief and highway officials and they believe the approval order will be received soon so that men will not be idle.

Maine Potatoes To Be Shipped to Relief Clients

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Texas relief roll clients will have their potatoes this winter from Maine. And they will be distributed as a surplus commodity not to be charged against the client's budget.

A survey of storage facilities for carrying potatoes through the winter has been completed by the Texas Relief Commission and it was found that the state has available space for storing 36,000,000 pounds of potatoes.

Acting on this information, C. Z. Crain, head of the surplus commodities department placed with the Federal Surplus Relief corporation an order for 1,200 cars of Maine white potatoes. They will be shipped in bulk from Maine to Galveston and distributed by train from this point to destitute families in Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas.

BEVERAGE FIRM ROBBED

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (AP)—A father and two sons who kidnaped a deputy sheriff at Edinburg two weeks ago were suspected today of being the men who robbed Max Glazer, manager of a beverage company, of $2,300 in cash and checks last night.

Mrs. John Shannon of Hopkins was a shopper here yesterday.

Son Hunted

Charged with aiding and abetting the kidnaping of Mrs. Berry Stoll, Thomas H. Robinson Sr. is shown here after he pleaded not guilty and posted $25,000 bond in Nashville, Tenn. The elder Robinson, a bridge builder, was named intermediary by the kidnaper, believed to be his son, Thomas, now target of a widespread hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Logan and daughter, Patsy Ruth, are here from Lubbock visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Henry.

Cavalcade May Meet Equipoise In Next February

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—If and when Cavalcade, "the" horse of the year, and C. V. Whitney's mighty little Chestnut, Equipoise, match strides it probably will be in the $100,000 handicap Feb. 26 at the newly constructed Santa Anita track, near Los Angeles.

Mrs. Dodge Sloane has announced the retirement of Cavalcade for the remainder of the year. Equipoise has not been seen on the track for a week, indicating that he will not be in shape to start his comeback in the $25,000 special stake at Narragansett Park, Oct. 31.

Both owners have designs on the rich west coast handicap, however, and will point their stars for the event. Equipoise needs the money if he is to supplant Sun Beau as the world's leading money-winning thoroughbred. A triumph for Cavalcade would boost the three-year-old's earnings above the $200,000 mark and give him a good start on 1935.

Huge Tumor Will Be Removed Today

DALLAS, Oct. 23 (AP)—Surgeons tomorrow will start an operation to remove a 194-pound tumor from the abdomen of Sophie Johnson.

Dallas surgeons said the tumor weighed at least 10 pounds more than any which they had been able to find on record. The operation will require several days, Dr. L. H. Leberman, surgeon, said. Sudden removal would prove fatal, he said.

The woman weighs 345 pounds and will have a fair chance to survive, surgeons said.

KIDNAPERS WILL BE ARRAIGNED WITH SECRECY

Officers Refusing to Reveal Where Youth Kept

MOUNT VERNON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Arraignment of Harvey Ferguson, 30-year-old trusty prisoner, on federal charges of kidnaping in connection with the abduction of Mrs. Ennis Little, wife of the Franklin county sheriff, was planned today.

However, Franklin county authorities declined to reveal where young Ferguson, hidden away in an unnamed jail, would be arraigned.

Ferguson, near exhaustion after a 24-hour flight from the law, was captured by 7 Franklin county officers in a wooded section 15 miles south of here late yesterday. He offered no resistance and merely remarked that he knew "everyone was hunting me."

Hundreds of possumen had searched the brushy lowlands in this vicinity after Mrs. Little had been released at Winfield Sunday night by the youth. She had been his prisoner for 24 hours in a wild dash into Oklahoma and back to within a few miles of the spot from which she was abducted.

WACO, Oct. 23 (AP)—Fagan Parker, foreman of the Holloway ranch, east of here, was under $2,000 bond today after he had been charged with the slaying of Bailey Whitley of Lamesa. Officers said Whitley, unarmed, was killed in a stump of mesquite trees near the ranch. Parker surrendered to W. B. Mobley, sheriff of McLennan county.

McLean Youth Looking Good at Hardin-Simmons

A clipping from the Simmons Brand, weekly publication of the student body of the Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene, informs its readers that "Buell Ellison, who did his high school football playing at McLean is proving one of the terrors to opposing teams."

"Ellison is an all-around blocker, tackler, and heady man. He plays his position well, is hard to take out of plays, and can open big holes in opposing lines," says the paper.

The McLean boy played four years at right guard for the McLean Tigers. Last year Ellison played a great game against the Harvesters when they held the Pampa team to a 6 to 6 tie.

MURDER CASE ARGUED

HALLETTVILLE, Oct. 23 (AP)—Attorneys' arguments began in district court today in the trial of Frank Wick on a murder charge in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Clara Floger, well-to-do Yorktown woman, Aug. 17.

The jury likely will get the case before midnight.

Miss Mary McKaney of Lubbock spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McKaney.

Thirty Games Are To Be Seen Before November 26

Intramural sports will get into full swing tomorrow night with two basketball games. Thirty games will be played between now and Nov. 26.

Six games will be played each week, two each Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday night, beginning at 6 and 7 o'clock respectively.

Harry Kelly, director of physical education, has worked out a schedule in three brackets with four games each. The winners of the three brackets will play double elimination matches for the championship. The complete schedule is posted on the front bulletin board.

At 6 o'clock tomorrow night the first hour gym class first team will play the fifth hour gym class second team. At 7 o'clock the third hour class' first team will play the fifth hour gym class' first team.

A suitable trophy will be awarded the winning team, and an all-tournament team will be selected.

Mr. Kelly says these games will develop material for school teams and will furnish physical training for boys not playing on athletic teams.

Following the basketball tournament, a soft ball tournament will be held.

Harvesters To Go To Border City On Special Train?

If the special train runs to El Paso, the Harvesters will leave on it early Friday morning.

They will play their last non-conference game there Saturday against Bowie High school. Following the El Paso game, they will open the conference season by playing Plainview here.

The Harvesters looked good in defeating a weakened Trinidad, Colo. team 41-0 Friday and should give El Paso quite a tussle. The Harvesters did some sensational playing with Bill Dunaway, half-back, running 77 and 88 yards for touchdowns.

A determined Gorilla team fought its way to a 19-13 victory over the Wheeler Mustangs for their first victory of the season last Friday.

Wheeler was leading 13-0 at the half, but the fighting determined Gorillas came back the last half to score two touchdowns and add one extra point.

The defensive work of Green, Ekins, and Walstead was outstanding, while Woolridge, Foster, and Showers stood out in the backfield.

SENIORS HAVE FUN IN BEING "KIDS" AGAIN

Jerry Mitchell and John Martin Win Prizes

About 150 seniors donned their kid clothes once more and had a most successful party last Thursday night in the gym.

Kid games were played in keeping with the theme of the party. Suckers, ice cream, and candy kisses were served. Noise-makers of various kinds were given as favors.

Prizes for the most original costumes were awarded to John Martin and Jerry Mitchell. John wore a diaper and sucked a bottle, while Jerry wore a short gingham dress and had her hair made up in "pig-tails." Several teachers were also dressed out in kid clothes.

F. F. A. Meeting To Be Held Tomorrow

The F. F. A. boys, under the leadership of their sponsor, J. L. Lester, and their president, Everett Vandenburg, are fast working out a list of objectives for the year's work.

Many are trying to make the basketball team to represent the club in the intramural contests. The following are trying out for the team: Denver Tucker, John Mackie, Albert Ayers, Stokes Green, Fred Hartman, Ralph Walker, Everett Vandenburg, Julie Price, and Jimmy Hamill.

The judging teams are training for contests to be held in the near future.

All members are asked to be present at a club meeting Wednesday.

Noted Humorist Will Entertain P. H. S. Students

Thomas H. Taylor, district governor of the 41st district of the Rotary club, will speak in assembly tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. He is reputed to be one of the best humorists of the west.

Mr. Taylor has often been compared to Will Rogers for his originality and humor. Those who fall to hear him will miss a treat, according to Ben Gull, who is in charge of the assembly program. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Taylor is paying his annual visit to the local Rotary club. He is president of the Howard Payne college at Brownwood.

Statistics Prove Harvester Ability

In the first five games the Harvesters have played, statistics have shown them quite superior to their opponents. In only one game have they been on the short end of the flature. That was the Oklahoma City game, the season's opener, 0-18.

The Harvesters have scored 155 points to their opponents' 31. They have gained 1,525 yards from scrimmage to their opponents' 576, and have pushed over 74 first downs to 33 for their opponents.

SO CHEER, CHEER

Here is another of our school songs. You may wish to learn the words.

Cheer, cheer for that Harvester team.

Lift up the colors gold and green: Friends of Harvesters, cheer of high.

Bring down the thunder from the sky.

What e'er the odds be great or small.

That Harvester team will win over all.

While our loyal boys are fighting Onward to victory.

New Drum Majors Will Appear Soon

Two more drum majors are being developed by the band and will appear soon. They are Clarence Jeffries and Pauline Stapp. Their first appearance will probably be made at the Plainview game.

The band is also trying out students to fill the bass drum position. Earl West is a new member of the band. He plays the alto horn.

PRINCETON GRAD SPEAKS

D. H. Lucky, a graduate of Princeton university, gave an interesting talk to Mrs. C. A. Clark's home room yesterday morning about college work. He answered all questions that were asked.

Did You Know?

That a number of classes visited the flower show in the Presbyterian church Friday?

Two students enrolled as juniors in P. H. S. yesterday? They are Edythe Shearer and Hazel Bennett, from Berger and Quail, Texas, respectively.

The sophomores will hold a Halloween party Oct. 29.

A special train is in prospect for those who wish to make the trip to El Paso?

PRETTY BOY

(Continued from page 1.) "Drive behind the corn crib," he ordered. Dyke started the car. Uses Profanity "Get going!" shouted Floyd with a burst of profanity. The desperado pulled a gun and jumped from the car. In a split second he had sought refuge under a corn crib. Meantime the officers—eight department of justice agents and police—scrambled from their machines, guns ready. Instead of staying in his barricade, Floyd crawled out and started for the Dyke machine. Again changing his mind, he changed direction and pace and started for a nearby wooded ridge. "Halt!" yelled Purvis. Floyd ran. "Fire!" ordered Purvis. Four bullets tore into the Oklahoma bandit's body. He went down, fatally wounded. Purvis approached him. Deftly, handcuffs were slipped on Floyd's wrists. Here Floyd's vanity got the better of him. As he lay dying, he apparently thought not of his own life, of those of his wife and child. "Who the hell tipped you?" he asked. Denis Massacre Purvis began questioning him about the Kansas City massacre. But Floyd was tight-lipped. "He wouldn't admit it," said Purvis later. But he did admit his identity. "I am Floyd," he said. "Where is Eddie?" Evidently he referred to Adam Fichetti, his partner in crime now held at nearby Wellsville. Fichetti also is wanted for the Kansas City slayings. Dazed, weakened by loss of blood, Floyd thought the officers' gunfire had reached him only twice. "You got me twice," he said. His voice choked. "Floyd's last few words are the secret of Purvis. The bandit talked, but Purvis did not disclose what he said. The officers picked up the wounded fugitive and carried him to the highway. He died before they placed him in an automobile. Was Bewildered It was not the Floyd of old who asked Mrs. Conkle a widow, for a meal. It was a man hunted who knew not where to turn. Nor was it the dapper Floyd who used to ride into Salinas, Okla., to visit his mother, the man who used to rob banks in familiar haunts and joke with old friends while he fondled the weapons which were his only protection against death at the hands of peace officers. Floyd and two other men robbed a bank of $500 at Tiltonville, O., four days ago. He was near the end of his rope financially. On his person was only $120. His white shirt was dirty, open at the neck, his hair mussed. "I look like a wild man," said he to Mrs. Conkle. "don't I?" The man responsible for Floyd's death, perhaps more than any other, was Purvis, whose killing of Dilinger was only part of the day's work. Purvis came to Ohio for Thomas H. Robinson, Jr., the kidnaper of Mrs. Alice Stoll, Louisville society matron. Robinson got away from Springfield, O., before officers could close in. Purvis came here Sunday.

Many See Body The body was brought to a mortuary here. Then the parade of the curious began. A crowd of hundreds gathered at the entrance to the establishment. They got to view Floyd's body in spite of the wishes of Floyd's mother, Mrs. Walter Floyd, who telegraphed from Salinas to the chief of police, asking that he bar the public. At Floyd's head stood Police Chief Hugh J. McDermott of East Liverpool.

The telegram from Mrs. Floyd, mother of the bandit, said: "I am the mother of Charles Floyd. If he has been killed, turn the body over to a reliable undertaker and prevent any pictures being taken of him and bar the public. Pass this request to the U. S. department of justice. Hold body until I arrive." Chief McDermott said he would not allow the public inside the mortuary tomorrow. Meantime, a conference of officials occurred at Wellsville where Richetti is held under a guard of a dozen specially deputized citizens armed with rifles. George Lafferty, Columbia county prosecutor, late yesterday agreed to turn Richetti over to federal agents today for a grand jury hearing in the Kansas City union station massacre.

"My boy was not bad at heart," Mrs. Floyd sighed yesterday. "He warned all boys to steer clear of crime." But later she added: "He has reaped his reward." The mother seemed determined to keep her sorrow to herself. The funeral, it was made known, will be a private one. All arrangements have not been made. An Ohio undertaker was told to bar curious from Floyd's bier. Ruby Floyd, divorced wife of the outlaw, and mother of his 9-year-old son, Jack Dempsey Floyd, hurried to her parents' home at Bixby, Okla., after having heard in Oklahoma of her former husband's death. "I have nothing to say," she exclaimed, dry-eyed. "He's dead and I loved him."

BUSINESS CRASH CAME FIVE YEARS AGO

PANIC ENDED AN ERA--NEW ONE IS BEGUN

EXPERTS STILL MINUS EXPLANATION OF CHAOS

By W. R. HUFF NEW YORK, Oct. 23. (AP)—Five years ago this week crowds gathered in Wall Street to watch, unwittingly, the end of the "new era."

As panicky thousands listened to the muffled roar from the trading floor, officers of the law lined the steps of the subtreasury, blocked the entrance to the Federal Reserve bank, and guarded the stock exchange. Thousands of people swarmed through the streets and pressed against the doors of the exchange anxious for information. At 3 p. m. on Wednesday, October 23, 1929, a shout of relief rose above the rumble of trading hysteria as the final gong rang. Exhausted traders had witnessed the sharpest crack in stock prices since the war, the beginning of the end of the fabulous era of the twenties. In the last 50 minutes of trading, 2,600,000 shares were transferred. One stock broke 96 points, another 77, a third 46, while breaks of $6 to $15 a share were common. Even after a month of nervous and erratic markets, the disaster which engulfed Wall Street struck with unforeseen force. The morning papers of October 23 prominently displayed the statement of a leading economist that the market was not inflated. The next day fulfilled the fears born in Wednesday's last hectic hour. Trading reached the undreamed-of volume of 12,894,000 shares, the last day's record on the quotation tape at 7:03 p. m., more than four hours after the close. As the house of cards collapsed, reputations crumbled with prices. "Big names" whose words once had swayed the mob were overlooked, hastily-called bankers' meetings, huge stock pools under high sponsorship, extra dividends from important corporations, heavy stock purchases by national business leaders—nothing could calm the storm. The decline finally wore itself out on November 13. "Gone was the 'new era.'" No one knew just why. For five years, the reasons for the collapse have been sought. As the world has searched for a way back to "prosperity," one explanation after another has been hit upon and then discarded as inadequate or inconsistent with the facts.

Robinson, Jr., Stoll kidnaping suspect, were found in Springfield, O., where he registered at the Mrs. Edna Dearwester boarding house, shown in top photo, and paid Mrs. Dearwester, right below, the $50,000 ransom was in the $11 A $5 bill identified as part of the $50,000 ransom was in the $11 A $5 bill which was carrying, with cardcase and toothbrush, and the cartridge clip and overcoat which investigator G. A. Snodgrass is holding, left below.

Dixie-Fattened Drought Cattle Keep Federal Canneries Busy

By EDWIN HOLMAN ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A cow in the can is worth two on the hoof! That, in effect, is the view of the federal emergency relief administration. So it has set up canneries throughout southern states to preserve the meat of western cattle saved from drought-parched ranges and fattened on Dixie's green pastures. There will be many hungry mouths to feed in the homes of the country's destitute this winter. This the administration knew when it started rounding up thousands of starving cattle in the west last summer. And now after three months of fattening the cows, for the most part, sleek and ready for dinner tables. Pasture lands, which the government rented on a basis of 50 cents a month or more per cow, have done their duty well. But now that is in the air and so the verdant meadows and hillside will afford but meager grazing. And so with the first tinge of fall a great round-up, the likes of which

Patients of Dentist Believe In Signs

DUNDEE, Scotland, Oct. 23 (AP)—A Dundee dentist has just discovered why so many of his patients, after having seated themselves comfortably in the chair, suddenly rose, left his office and never returned. It was particularly noticeable with those to whom he was about to administer gas, related the doctor in addressing the British Dental association's convention. They were forever deciding at the last minute that they wouldn't take gas that day. Recently the dentist, without anything to do for the moment, sat down in the chair and looked idly out the window. Then he saw what had been happening to his patients. On the opposite wall, on premises occupied by the Salvation Army, was painted in large letters: "Prepare To Meet Thy God."

of the unemployed. Thus the administrators feel they have served the dual purpose of giving work to idle hands and preparing winter food for the needy. Georgia, typical of other southern states in the relief canning projects, has nine plants which employ about 6,000 people. An average plant has the capacity for canning about 150 head of cattle daily. All told, Georgia has 103,000 relief cows—which means the canneries are running full blast to finish processing them by cold weather.
