RADICAL THEORIES WEAR DOWN WITH TIME

Is the United States going radical? Is this country being ushered into Socialism through the back door? Every political discussion you hear these days hinges around those questions.

That depends. Let's dig into the dusty files of the Library of Congress and retrieve a forgotten document. It is the Socialist Party platform for 1912. The Socialist Party then was radicalism par excellence.

The socialist platform of that pre-war campaign of 22 years ago starts out with the familiar socialist thesis that there must be war between the classes and that socialism must replace the present capitalist economic system in toto.

Public ownership of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, wireless telegraph (sic), express and all transport lines, grain elevators, stockyards and distributing agencies, mines, quarries, oil wells, forests, and water power.

Collective ownership and democratic management of the banking and currency system was demanded. Government relief of the unemployed "by the extension of all useful public works" was proposed.

In industry, a shortened work day with a day and a half of rest each week for every workman (the 10-hour day, or at best the eight, was standard in 1912).

Initiative, referendum, and recall, and proportional representation. Abolition of the senate (this was just before direct election of senators) and no more presidential veto.

Creation of a department of labor (one of Wilson's first acts on being elected). A department of education. Curbing of the injunction power, and calling of a convention to revise the constitution.

Those were the important planks of the most radical platform presented to the people in 1912. You may judge how radical it sounds today, and how far we have come along the road it points out.

STORM BREWS IN FEDERATION AT CONVENTION

GREEN SAYS WORKERS OF WORLD MUST INSURE PEACE. SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—The storm brewing in the building trades department came to a head today, casting a shadow over the American federation of labor convention.

The executive council of the A. F. of L. decided to take up the controversy late today in a last minute effort to keep it from the floor of the convention.

While the delegates watched anxiously the developments in this internal dispute, the words of President William Green were still fresh in their minds that workers of the world must unite in the interests of international peace.

Saint Destroyed, Mexico Indians Become Enraged

MAGDALENA, Sonora, Mexico, Oct. 4 (AP)—Yaqui Indians and Mexican peons poured down from the far Sonora hills today for the annual fiesta of San Francisco Xavier. But they came not in their usual festive spirit. Angry resentment smoldered in their breasts for the plaster statue of their patron saint has been destroyed.

The ancient cathedral in which they worshipped his image as long as the old men could remember, was closed to them—turned into a political meeting place—the priests in exile. The Yaqui were forbidden their pagan "pascola" dance about a rag-doll Christ and a straw Judas.

The image of the saint was cremated in Hermosillo, the state capital, when the state took over the church and exiled the priests for teaching alleged superstitious doctrines to the peons and Indians.

Distant throbbing of tom-toms has been heard in the hills, council fires have flamed in well-hidden valleys and rumors have floated in that the fierce Yaqui warriors might try to avenge their patron saint.

Although Governor Rodolfo Elias Calles denied there has been any signs of discontent among the Indians, the federal garrison here has been strengthened.

REWARD PAID

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Attorney General Cummings today authorized payment of $5,000 of the John Dillinger reward money to Captain Timothy O'Neill and Sergeant Martin Zarkovich, of the East Chicago, Indiana, police force. The payment is for information leading to the capture of Dillinger, who was shot when leaving a Chicago moving picture theater several weeks ago.

RANGES FROM LOW OF 4¢ TO 8¢ AT RALEIGH

LOWEST PRICES EXIST WHERE INDUSTRY IS REGULATED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The AAA produced figures today to show striking variations in the spread between the price the dairy farmer gets for milk and the sum the housewife pays for the bottle on the doorstep.

After surveying 50 cities, the farm administration disclosed that this spread, called the gross operating margin of the milk distributors, ranged from a low of 4.1 cents a quart at Chicago to a high of 8.34 cents at Raleigh, North Carolina.

The report noted that four out of the five localities where the spread is below 5 cents are under federal regulation in the form of milk marketing licenses. The four are Chicago, Baltimore, Boston, and the so-called "quad cities" of Davenport, Iowa, Rock Island, Moline, and East Moline, Ill. The AAA, however, did not claim the credit for the lower margins in those markets.

The retail price of delivered milk ranged from 9 cents per quart at Evansville, Ind., Indianapolis, Ind., and the quad cities to 15 cents at Miami, Fla. Prices paid to producers scaled from a low of $1.75 per hundred pounds at Duluth, Minn., to a high of $3.40 at Fall River, Mass.

Officials pointed out that the review does not include allowances for milk sold at wholesale or prices the consumers pay at stores, which are frequently a few cents less than the delivered price. It also ignored supplies of relief milk distributed by dealers.

One out of every eight students enrolled in accredited colleges and universities in Texas this winter will receive student-aid relief, the Texas relief administration announced.

FOREIGN MAIL INVESTIGATION OPENS IN WASHINGTON TODAY

36 COMPANIES CARRYING MAIL TO BE QUERIED

CONTRACTS WILL BE MODIFIED OR CANCELED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The post office department opened exhaustive hearings today which it hopes will point the way to an annual saving of at least $10,000,000 in carrying Uncle Sam's mail abroad.

Ordered by Postmaster General Farley, upon the direction of President Roosevelt himself, to appear and show cause why their contracts "should not be modified or canceled," 32 ocean mail and four foreign airmail carriers will be questioned on the use they have made of the $32,000,000 a year the government has been paying them for their services.

Most of this outlay—$312,684,394 for the steamship companies alone under their 10-year contracts—is admittedly subsidies for developing the American merchant marine and foreign airmail carriers will be questioned virtually certain some sort of subsidy for those purposes will still be provided, there is a strong move to divorce it from the mail carrying expense.

estimates that whereas it cost more than $26,000,000 last year to have its mail dispatched on ships, the cost would have been only around $3,000,000 on a straight-out weight basis.

The project of remodeling of the ocean-foreign airmail machinery follows last winter's spectacular shake-up in the domestic airmail service.

The ocean mail contracts were let under the 1928 Jones-White merchant marine act, on condition that so many new vessels be built.

The senate committee reported that in many cases the government funds had not been used for new ships but for high salaries and dividends.

The operators contended the depression and reduced foreign trade had made it impossible for them to expand their fleets or operate profitably.

The postmaster general must report to the president by December 11, with his recommendations. There has been considerable conjecture whether he will follow suggestions

Farmers Favor AAA in Voting

DES MOINES, Oct. 4 (AP)—An "election" in agricultural circles was rolling up a heavy majority in the midwest today for the leading candidate—the AAA—early returns from two states indicated.

The "election" is an informal referendum sponsored by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the AAA to give a million corn belt farmers a chance to air their views on continuation of an agricultural adjustment program.

"Election day" is from now to October 13 when the results will be compiled and sent to the AAA. The voters exercise not the franchise of citizenship, but merely the franchise of "being a farmer."

1. Do you favor an adjustment program dealing with corn and hogs in 1935?

2. Do you favor a one contract per farm program dealing with grains and livestock in 1936?

Iowa, where there are approximately 213,000 farmers, 176,000 holding corn-hog contracts, showed a count of 7,528 votes for continuance against 2,819 "noes" in 41 counties today.

More Than 20 Bombs Explode In Cuban Cities

HAVANA, Oct. 4 (AP)—A double-barrelled outburst of terroristic bombing in Cuba's two largest cities, Havana and Santiago, ended at dawn today without a casualty.

Squadrons of cavalry clattered through Santiago last night and took control of the streets after electric light and power lines had been slashed, making nervous citizens even more anxious.

More than 20 bombs exploded. Motion picture houses and other public places closed immediately. Terrorists were protesting the inauguration of Dr. Ernesto Galtieri as mayor. Radicals oppose him because they claim he is an attorney for banking interests and United States firms.

Some 18 bombs went off in Havana but most of them were small.

Lady Furness Is Coming to Deny 'Tissue of Lies'

PARIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—The former Lady Furness, twin sister of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt, rapped her mother's stand in the New York suit over the custody of Mrs. Vanderbilt's daughter, Gloria, as she was preparing today to return to the United States.

She said that the action of her mother, Mrs. Laura Kilpatrick Morgan, who presented an affidavit in court directed against Mrs. Vanderbilt, was incomprehensible to her.

"I cannot understand mother's attitude at all," said the former Lady Furness. "She was present (at Biarritz) all the time when Prince Hohenlohe was there. If there was anything wrong, why didn't she get out?"

Accompanied by her brother, Harry Hays Morgan, the former Lady Furness, who previously was Mrs. Thelma Morgan Converse, will take a fast liner to New York "to support my sister in her denial of a tissue of lies."

liquidation in advance of the bureau report due October 8. December eased off to 12.10 and March to 12.22, or 16 points down from the early highs and 10 to 12 points under yesterday's close.

At mid-session the market was steadier but at the lows.

Factured Leg Is Suffered By Amarilloan Here

Mrs. Carl G. Sutton, 811 Eighth street, Amarillo, is in Pampa hospital with a compound fracture above the ankle on her right leg and also a badly sprained ankle, suffered about 5:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a car she was driving ran into a ditch northwest of Pampa.

The injured woman was found by Neal Bean and W. "Shorty" Stickler a few minutes after the accident. She was taken to the hospital in a G. C. Malone ambulance, and this morning was reported to be resting well.

Mrs. Sutton had been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Yoder and was en route back to Pampa to join her husband when the accident happened. Mrs. Sutton said she was driving slowly when the front wheels suddenly locked, turning the car across the road and into the ditch, a drop of about six feet, before she could bring it to a stop. The car did not turn over but nosed into the bank.

Mrs. A. Cole and Miss LaVerne Ballard have returned from a trip to East Texas. Mrs. Cole visited in Van with Mr. and Mrs. Finney, former Pampa residents, and Miss Ballard attended the funeral of her uncle, Judge Short, at Center.

INDIANANS TO PLAY AT BALL THIS EVENING

A popular orchestra will greet dancers and music lovers tonight when Bob Dunning and his Indianans play for the regular Thursday night dance. The band is billed as the "hit band from the banks of the Wabash" and reports from the many places where they have played has led the management of the Pla-Mor auditorium to make plans for a large crowd tonight.

The regular tie-up with the theaters will be given in connection with the dance. Admission will be 25 cents with a charge of 5 cents per dance with the admission charge credited for that amount on a ticket to the theaters. Credits will be allowed for any admission paid before 9 o'clock.

The Dunning band comes to Pampa—highly recommended—and a big evening is planned. Ten pieces make up the band which plays a wide variety of numbers.

In the entire territory of Alaska only two destitute families were reported as being sustained by government relief.

GOVERNOR TO TALK AT API ANNUAL MEET

CONGRESSIONAL GROUP WILL ALSO BE PRESENT

DALLAS, Oct. 4.—Governors and oil control bodies of the southwestern states will meet with the oil leaders of the nation at a banquet to be given by the Dallas chamber of commerce during the annual convention of the American Petroleum Institute here November 12-15. George Waverly Briggs, chairman of the banquet committee, announced. In addition to these guests, James V. Allred, attorney general and governor-elect of Texas, directors of the Texas regional chambers of commerce, presidents of the chambers of oil cities in the southwest, and members of the congressional oil investigation committee will be honored, Mr. Briggs said.

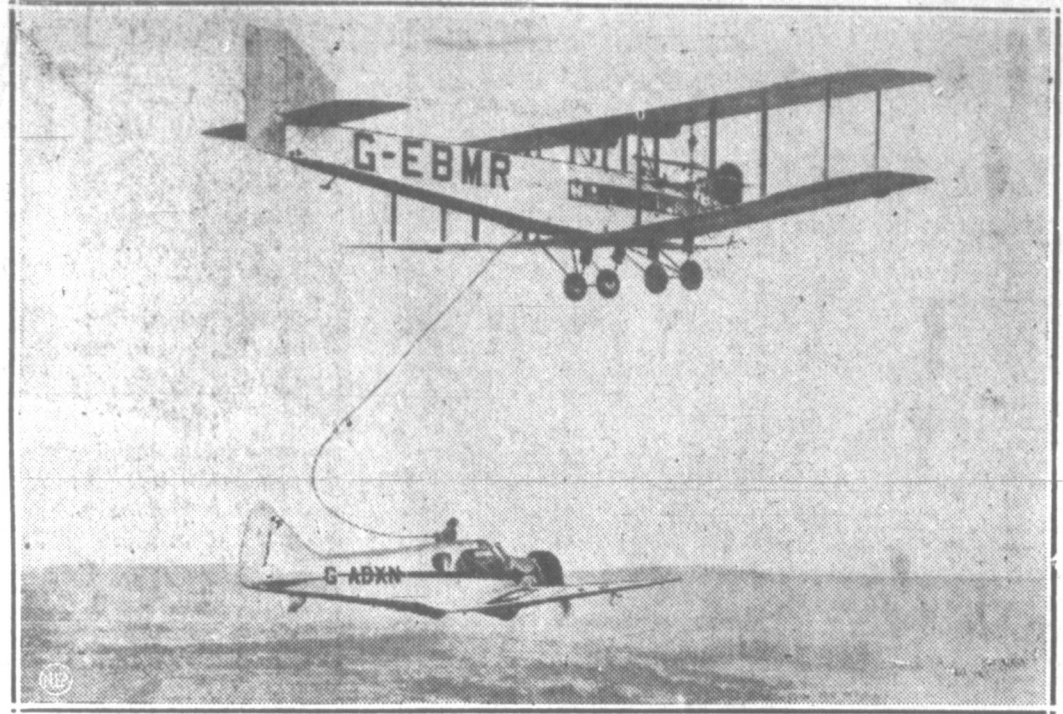

The general committee for the A. P. I. convention have approved the plans for a high bridge to connect the Adolphus and Baker hotels, joint headquarters of the convention. This Venetian bridge will span Commerce street above the trolley wires and will do much to unify and speed the convention, R. B. Whitehead, chairman of the hotel committee, said.

Lavey Walker of New York, secretary and assistant treasurer of the A. P. I., is in Dallas working with local committee on details of the program for the meeting. Honored at a luncheon, Mr. Walker expressed his pleasure at the progress being made and predicted the greatest meeting in the history of the organization.

The importance of this meeting cannot be over stressed, Captain J. F. Lucey, chairman of the general committee, said. The southwest is the greatest oil producing territory in the world and the majority of the problems facing the industry are within the area. The nation's oil leaders are coming to Dallas to make a serious effort to settle these problems, and for mutual interest it is necessary that the co-operation of all concerned is gained, Captain Lucey explained.

Some 302 oil companies have reservations for the convention, many of them taking advantage of the offer by Dallas office building owners of free office space during the meeting. Hotel reservations are still mounting, but approximately 1000 rooms remain available, Mr. Whitehead, chairman of the committee, said.

Death Comes in Wake of Refueling for Long Hop

Disaster came in the wake of this refueling operation over Portsmouth, Eng., in which tanks of the plane of Sir Alan Cobham, famed English aviator, were filled for an attempted non-stop flight to India. Returning to their airbase from Portsmouth, the four occupants of the refueling ship were killed when their craft crashed in flames near Aylesbury, Eng. Cobham also encountered ill-fortune, being forced down at Malta.

TIGER ISLAND

By GOUVERNEUR MORRIS

Chapter 32
HUMAN BAIT
As a boy, Bowers had mixed fishing and shooting, and had mended and even mended rods. To wrap the gun with wire he used the same technique with which the joints of a fishing-rod are wrapped.

Laver succeeded layer until he felt sure that the pieces of the barrel, when it was burst, would not fly dangerously. He added many extra layers of wire to those already concealing the junction of the barrel and the breechblock, the real danger-point.

Few nights now passed when the tigers could not be heard making angry lamentations in some part of the island or the other. Bowers may have been right about the new spring crop of goats and the careless mammals, but his ears told him that the tigers were not getting enough meat to content them.

Ivy's best efforts to capture one of the wild monkeys had been unsuccessful. They relished any food that was thrown them, they made great and on the whole ingratiating chattering and chattering, but neither she nor Helen could induce one of them to climb all the way up the notched palm trunk and submit to capture.

But one day Ivy came softly through the cave to the back door where, in the pleasant afternoon shadows, Bowers was whittling her a spoon out of orangewood, and said that the monkeys had come on a visit, and she thought perhaps if she herself kept out of sight they might actually come on the ledge and play with Helen.

"If they only come once," she said, "and find that nothing awful happens to them, they'll repeat. Some of them in their hearts long to tame monkeys."

After a while she stole back to the front of the cave to see if she had guessed right. What she discovered was the opposite of what she hoped. The wild monkeys had not yielded to Helen's invitations and blandishments. It was she, the bad little egg, who had yielded to them.

Ivy was disappointed, and at the same time she was more amused than troubled. It was not the first time that Helen, as Ivy expressed it, had listened to the "call of the wild and gone native."

She returned to Bowers and reported. He cut a delicate shaving from the handle of the spoon and thought to himself: "If not Helen, then what—or—?" and a smile flickered in the corners of his mouth, "who?"

That night the tigers paid a visit, but this time they came up through the back valley and kept a certain distance. Bowers' arrangement of heavy logs all ready to fall was viewed by them even in their ravenous state of hunger with profound suspicion.

To the question "Who?" there could be but one answer. No pig or goat was to be obtained. Helen had run off, Ivy was of course out of the question, and it seemed to Bowers that he himself was the only possible solution.

Two nights later, while Ivy was soundly sleeping, the opportunity offered. The moon was nearly full. Having looked from the front of the cave and seen nothing and heard nothing he had gone to the back.

He perceived the tigers almost at once. One was standing and one was lying. Their heads were turned in his direction. The one that was lying down growled and rose to its feet. The beasts looked thin and ragged. Their ribs were prominent. Bowers fetched his gun and hammer-stone, to be on the safe side, also his ax, and climbed down the notched ladder into the gully.

He believed in his deadfall. He believed himself to be in no more danger than if he had remained in the cave. Nevertheless, at finding rier of fire against him. Sometimes he came close to this fire and roared at them.

While Bowers toiled Ivy stood by with the gun and the hammer-stone, ready to pass them to him if the need arose. This time he was working backward from the mouth of the gully in order to place at least a few heavy logs and one loosening trigger between them and the enemy.

But this necessitated certain changes and rearrangements, and what with this and the fact that he was working nearly all the time with one eye on a tiger, made progress slow.

(Copyright, 1934, by Gouverneur Morris)

Tomorrow, Ivy breaks a lifelong habit.

TIMES DO CHANGE
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif.—Four years ago Fred T. Beaty, then a member of the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, announced he would not seek re-election because he could not live on the $5,000 a year salary.

Yesterday he pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor so he could receive free medical treatment for rheumatism in the county jail hospital.

"If I remember correctly, I hoped to have the justice of the peace appointed to his position," he commented.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission:
"I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement may give for the glory of my native land for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (Special)—Texas consistently has had a record for rapid increase in population which has been equaled by few other states and, as every visitor may be regarded as a prospective citizen, it is not far-fetched to conclude that with the millions of visitors expected to attend the Centennial celebrations of 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Dallas and other cities there may be expected a sizeable addition to the total of those who reside within its far-flung boundaries following those events.

Owing to its vast area and its natural wealth, the State has an almost unlimited capacity for the support of additional population and that there is plenty of room for many additional Texans is evidenced by the fact that census figures of 1930 show that the density of its population amounted to only 22.2 or little more than one-half of the density of population of the United States, at that time 41.2. Possessing a population slightly in excess of 6,000,000, were Texas as thickly populated as the whole country it would have today a population of 10,700,000. With the density of population of North Carolina, the state would have a population today of about 17,000,000.

A larger percentage of the total area of Texas is susceptible of cultivation than of the country as a whole, and Texas has a greater annual production of minerals, forest products and other natural resources in proportion to area, than has the remainder of the country for the support of a future population.

DALLAS, Oct. 4. (Special)—Interest in the Texas Centennial to be celebrated in 1936 at San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Dallas and other Texas cities, has stimulated activity in the Dallas Public Library to such an extent that all books dealing with Texas historical subjects have been removed from their regular shelves and put in a special place all their own out in the front part of the library, where patrons can pull over them to their heart's content. All fourteen-day books have been made seven-day books.

The reference librarian is particularly busy. That obliging person is called every hour of the day, over the phone and by visitors, to answer questions that will help some patriot write a pageant or a club paper or a radio speech. "The Raven" by Marquis James is so popular that there is always a waiting list, though the library has a number of copies.

"Something about the Alamo!" is the request most often made by school children; and the Texas history by Gambrell and Newton, and "Texas the Marvelous" by Winter are frequently demanded by adult readers.

"The History of Texas as Told in Counties," by Fulmore is in use very much, indicating that Texans are desiring a more detailed record of their state than that given in general histories.

Librarians note that many persons seeking historical information are out-of-state people. "We do not know, of course, whether they are transients, or newcomers who intend to make Texas their home, but can tell that many of them have just recently come to the State," said one librarian.

MARSHALL, Oct. 4. (Special)—President F. S. Groner of the College of Marshall is confident that Texas centennial celebrations such as are being planned for San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville, Dallas and other cities of the state in 1936 will stimulate every phase of the state's commercial, industrial, educational and cultural activity and that all Texas will share in the success that is achieved.

"One hundred years is but a brief period of the life of a people," said Mr. Groner, "and yet within the circle of a century the great commonwealth of Texas has a recorded history of romantic adventure, patriotic sacrifice, and material progress unsurpassed in the annals of the world."

"The celebration of the Texas Centennial in 1936 is fraught with vital significance for every son of Texas, and of inspiring interest to the whole nation. Within the limits of a state-wide centennial celebration there is time and place for recounting in song and story, and dramatic pageantry all the heroic traditions of the past that through the years have colored the life and thought of Texans, and made possible the Texas of today."

"In the light of today's problems it is well for all Texas to remember the valor and devotion that wrought an empire from the wilderness, and to review the way by which as a state we have arrived at our present place in the national life. It is fitting that the whole American people be made aware of the splendor of our history, the magnificent scenic beauty of our state, and the vast potentialities for development in our great natural resources. A centennial celebration in keeping with the history and traditions of Texas, and attuned to the spirit of progress that has made possible the achievements of the century we commemorate, will stimulate every phase of the state's commercial, industrial, educational, and cultural activity, attract thousands of visitors, and establish regular tourist

Prince Denies Testimony Told By Vandy Nurse

LANGENBURG, Germany, Oct. 4 (AP)—Prince Gottfried Zu Hohenlohe said today if necessary he and his wife, Princess Margarete, would go to New York to refute testimony in Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's suit to recover custody of her daughter.

"The names of Prince Zu Hohenlohe and Mrs. Vanderbilt were linked in testimony by her former servants."

"We will decide this afternoon whether to go," said Prince Gottfried, speaking by telephone from his castle. He said he was engaged to Mrs. Vanderbilt in 1927 and 1928 and "my wife and I are still in close contact with her."

"We are utterly disgusted over the horrible slanders hurled at her in the trial. I often warned Mrs. Vanderbilt of her mother and the nurse. The maid hardly knows me, for I only saw her once or twice in Paris during the two years I was engaged to Mrs. Vanderbilt."

"Mrs. Vanderbilt and her sister (the former Lady Furness) visited us at Langenburg castle twice this year. Only about a month and a half ago they stayed with us for two days."

travel that will increase with the years. All Texas will share in the success of the Texas Centennial."

DALLAS, Oct. 2. (Special)—International recognition already is being accorded the Texas Centennial celebrations to be held in 1936, with the Republic of China as the first foreign nation to seek information regarding the statewide event.

A vice consul of the Chinese government, stationed in Houston, has requested that he be supplied with data as to the plans for the celebrations, which aside from the exposition to be staged in Dallas, will include proper commemoration of historical events in San Antonio, Houston, Goliad, Brenham, Nacogdoches, Huntsville and other points in the state.
