MOVES MADE TO POSTPONE CELEBRATION

SERIES OF BILLS ARE INTRODUCED IN LEGISLATURE

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 (AP)—Sponsors of a state appropriation to promote a Texas Centennial exposition in 1936 won an initial test vote in the Texas senate today, 13 to 10. Losers on two preliminary votes, Centennial sponsors rallied on a final test to defeat a resolution proposing sine die adjournment of the legislature on October 25. By constitutional limitation, the session will end November 10.

Senator T. J. Holbrook of Galveston termed the vote a clear-cut test of the Centennial issue. Two previous motions to delay consideration of the resolution lost, 12 to 10. Opposition to the Centennial proposal was further formed by introduction in the house of a resolution proposing that the observance be postponed.

The resolution was referred without discussion to the committee on state affairs, without a test vote to indicate the disposition of the house. Appropriation of $8,972,174 for use from November 1, 1934, to April 30, 1937, for the Centennial was sought in a bill introduced in the senate by Senator George Purl of Dallas. It was the first of a series of Centennial bills proposed.

Dallas county members said the plan for state financial assistance for the Centennial probably would be submitted in the house tomorrow. They said it would propose a levy on luxuries and allotment of a portion of the state gasoline tax.

Rep. J. W. Hunt Jr. of Dike offered the resolution to postpone the Centennial. It recited that state aid could be rendered only at the cost of other necessary activities and pointed to a mounting deficit as the reason why the observance should be delayed.

The levying of additional taxes will mean either the levying of additional taxes or diversion of existing tax revenue, in the one case imposing a burden on the people and in the other depriving the government of funds needed to carry on its ordinary operations, the resolution stated.

The aggregate deficit in state funds was placed at $14,000,000. Increasing demands being made on the state for relief of thousands of taxpayers are burdened with existing taxes, the resolution stated. The state, it pointed out, is faced with diminishing revenues due to decreased valuations and increased expenditures.

Other great fairs in celebration of historic events have heretofore been held at later dates than those marking even dates.

Under the proposal of Centennial leaders, all gasoline tax revenues (except the average collections for the past five years) would be apportioned to the Centennial, house members said. The heavy tax would encompass a broad field and would include all non-essentials and amusements.

Gasoline tax receipts the past year showed a marked increase due to better enforcement and to a return of more normal times.

The proposed diversion was expected to encounter strong opposition from house members interested in rapid completion of the state's highway system. The highway department needed all revenues it could obtain to match federal aid grants on the national road system and improve state roads.

The house turned down speedily a resolution proposing sine die adjournment of the special session on October 23.

All proposals to remit penalties and interest on delinquent taxes were set for hearing at 2 p. m. tomorrow by the house committee on revenue and taxation.

DEAN ON STAND IN RETRIAL OF CUSTODY SUIT

'Speedy' Mason And Mother Called 'Lovers'

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15 (AP)—Dean E. E. Davis of North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington, who told of observing Mrs. Beryl Turman and Weldon (Speedy) Mason ex-Southern Methodist university football star, from the rumble seat of Mrs. Turman's coupe one day in the summer of 1930, today was the defense's surprise witness in the re-trial of Mrs. Turman's divorce and custody suit against Luther C. Turman.

The husband, former millionaire Fort Worth oil man, now lives in Mexico, D. C.

"It was just a case of a couple of lovers," Dean Davis said.

The dean was vacationing in Colorado during the summer of 1930, he testified, dividing his time between Denver and Idaho Springs, where the defense alleges Mrs. Turman was intimate with the former Southern Methodist university football player.

Dean Davis said he saw Mrs. Turman and Mason alone on a number of occasions. He recalled once when the crowd at the resort went to Motel Turner, near Fort Collins, and he rode in the rumble seat of Mrs. Turman's car, which was driven by Mason.

Mrs. Turman was sitting in the front seat, said the educator, very close to Mason. Davis recalled that she was more on his side than her own.

"They were so close together," said Davis, "that I was uneasy on his shoulder part of the time."

When they reached the destination, which was a mountain lodge, Davis left the car and the couple remained there, said the witness. A little later, Davis said, he returned to the car.

"She had her head on his lap," testified the dean. "I turned and walked away. It was no place for a couple of lovers. That's the only way I can describe it."

Davis did not go back to Idaho Springs in the same car, he said, but on several occasions later saw Mrs. Turman's car parked in front of the hotel at Idaho Springs and saw her and Mason together.

GOVERNMENT IS UPHELD IN AIR MAIL DECISION

Section of New York Milk Act Held Invalid

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The government succeeded today in the supreme court in turning back an attack on the constitutionality of the cancellation of airmail contracts last February.

The court refused to review a case brought by Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., Lower courts had held it must be dismissed because the government could not be sued without its consent. Their decision stands.

In addition, the court refused to aid Alabama, Capone, convicted Chicago gangster recently removed to the Alcatraz federal penitentiary, in his effort to obtain freedom.

It declined to review the refusal of lower courts to release him.

The court also affirmed an injunction granted by the lower court against a section of the New York milk control act which prohibits milk dealers from selling their product purchased outside the state for less than the same grade produced within the state.

A special three-judge federal court had held the section unconstitutional and enjoined its enforcement.

The court agreed to pass upon the validity of Montana laws imposing taxes on telephone companies charging rates above certain figures.

TOPEKA, Oct. 15 (AP)—Gordon Clark, attendant at Gage Park here, reported to police today he had seen a man he believed to be Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd in an automobile bearing an Illinois license plate at the park entrance about 10 o'clock this morning.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—A five-year extension, where possible and desired, was decreed by the reconstruction corporation today for all outstanding loans. Jesse H. Jones, chairman of the corporation, released at his press conference a note which has been sent to managers of the RFC loan agencies.

Posse Seeking Desperados in Grayson County

SHERMAN, Oct. 15 (AP)—Four automobile loads of Dallas officers came to Sherman early to join a posse of county and city officers who spread a net around the west part of the county in a hunt for D. W. Hood and his two sons, Carl and Clifford, who last week abducted Jack Ripp, McAllen deputy.

The trio, after having eluded officers of Texas and Oklahoma since Thursday night when they released Ripp, appeared yesterday near Sherman and kidnaped a Sherman youth who was squirrel hunting. They tied him to a tree with balling wire and took his rifle and cartridges.

Then they burglarized a house in the same vicinity, obtaining additional weapons, ammunition and clothing.

State highway patrolmen and all available county officers were conducting the hunt for the men.

HURT BY DREDGE
HOUSTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Two men remained in serious conditions today after their lower limbs had been caught in a whirling digging blade of a dredge near Sumner's Point. T. H. Sumter, 23, of Galveston and J. D. Dault of Galveston were loopering a bearing on the digging blade of the dredge "the duplex." An electrician in the control room inadvertently threw the switch. The blades cut off Sumter's right foot at the ankle and amputation of Dault's left leg at the knee was necessary.

FARMER KILLED
ARCHER CITY, Oct. 15 (AP)—B. Campbell, 40, Archer county farmer, was killed last night when struck by a truck on Highway No. 30 near his home east of Holiday. On his way to Wichita Falls, Campbell stopped to assist Linnie Huggle of Wichita Falls, who was having car trouble and the truck crushed the men against the Huggle car. Huggle was injured critically.

DECLARES HE WAS AT HOME MAR. 2 1932

SAYS HE CALLED FOR HIS WIFE AT BAKERY

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann admitted on the witness stand today that he told a lie when he informed police on the day of his arrest that a $20 gold note found in his possession was part of $300 worth of such notes which he said he had saved.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Bruno Richard Hauptmann testified before Supreme Court Justice Ernest E. L. Hammer in supreme court, Bronx, today that he was at his East 222nd Street home in the Bronx the night of March 1, 1932, the night the Lindbergh baby was kidnaped.

Asked by his counsel whether he recalled "the first day of March, 1932," Hauptmann testified without hesitation that he remembered taking his wife, Anna, who preceded him on the stand, home from a Bronx luncheon where she worked that night.

He remembered clearly, also, he said, taking her to work that morning.

The prisoner said he called at the bakery between 6 and 7 p. m. the night of the kidnaping, had supper there and went home with his wife, remaining at home that night.

James M. Fawcett, defense counsel, completed his direct examination of the witness shortly before 1 o'clock, and a recess was taken until 2 p. m.

Hauptmann testified unhesitatingly that he remembered taking his wife home the night of March 1, 1932, his memory failed when he was asked whether he worked for the Majestic hotel on March 1, 1932. His counsel pressed the point, and Fawcett replied "as far as I can remember every day."

"But you don't remember exactly what days that check was in payment for, do you?" Fawcett asked.

"No, I don't," Hauptmann replied. The check in question was one of two introduced in evidence and was dated March 31, 1932, drawn for $36.67 on the Reliance Property Management Corp., evidently the owners of the Majestic hotel.

The second check was dated April 15, 1932, and was for $6.07.

The prisoner's alibi was given in a quiet, almost off-hand manner shortly before the recess.

Hauptmann could not remember whether he had gone to the Majestic hotel or to a Sixth Avenue labor agency to look for work, but he was sure he had taken his wife to the bakery at 7 a. m. after stating he was either at the hotel or the agency until 5 p. m. the prisoner said he returned to the Bronx.

"I went home," he said in a soft voice. "I changed my clothes and went to the bakery to get my wife. I got to the bakery between 6 and 7 p. m. I had supper at the bakery. Mr. Fredericksen came in later."

"What did you do after that?" Fawcett asked.

"I went home."

"Did you stay home that night and go to sleep until the next morning?"

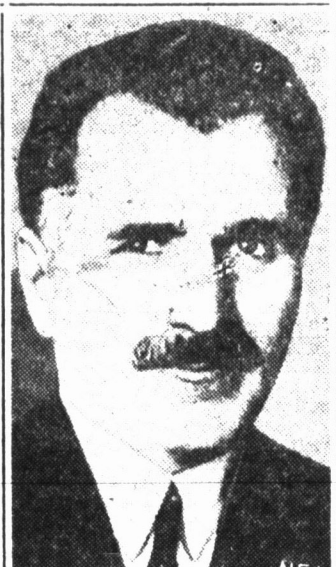

"Yes," Hauptmann replied.

"That's all," said Fawcett.

The prisoner was preceded on the stand by his wife, who testified the prisoner must have been home the night of the kidnaping.

PRESIDENT OF FRANCE IN WAR DIES SUDDENLY

Raymond Poincare Is Dead at Age of Seventy-Four

PARIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—Raymond Poincare, one of the last of France's great World war figures, died quietly at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

The war-time president and savior of the franc ten years later was 74 years old.

The shock of the Marseille assassinations may have hurried the end of M. Poincare, grieved over the disastrous event, for he knew King Alexander well and Louis Berthou was his life-long friend.

Poincare will be given a national funeral Saturday immediately after President Lebrun's return from Belgrade to attend Alexander's funeral. The body will lie in state at the Pantheon until Saturday noon when it will be taken to the Notre Dame Cathedral for services, then returned to the Pantheon for Premier Doumergue's funeral oration.

After a military display the body will be taken to Saunoy for a private burial at Nubercourt.

Death came at his home here after a short illness which doctors thought was not serious. The elderly statesman had expected to leave for his annual winter trip to the Riviera.

Although virtually in political retirement since he resigned as premier in 1929, Poincare had just been named regent of the kingdom.

Representatives of the government were skeptical. They were not able however to determine the true state of affairs among the self-entitled miners. Five guards stand at the mouth of the mine. They are armed with pickaxes, and they threaten death to any who attempt to enter.

Texas Benefit Payments Total Fifth of Nation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The farm administrators huge rental and benefit payments to Texas totaled $59,818,355 as of September 1—more than one-fifth of the total to the nation, which was $294,809,565.

This was disclosed by the administration in a tabulation showing Texas had received more than one-third of all cotton payments—$55,567,670 against a national gross of $152,993,567.

As to other crops, the state had received $3,896,144 in the wheat program and $414,539 in the corn-hay program.

ment maze was interpreted by police as mute testimony of a brutal assault, but Stone's confession, as announced by Chief Inspector Michael J. Silverstein, said the girl was hurt in a fall.

Stone, discharged handyman at the apartment house, was quoted as confessing he had been playing with the child in the basement and had hit her with her rubber ball. She fell, he said, striking her head on the concrete floor.

Then she "turned blue."

Stone started to carry Nancy Jean upstairs, the confession continued, but became panic-stricken. He threw her into the flames.

MASS SUICIDE OF 1200 COAL MINERS UNDER GROUND LOOMS UNLESS WAGE DEMAND IS MET

PECS ASK 345 COFFINS BE SENT DOWN IN HUNGARY MINES

PECS, Hungary, Oct. 15 (AP)—Convinced there was "no more hope for them," a member of the Hungarian parliament emerged today from the black pit where for 106 hours, 1200 miners had been self-entombed, striking for more pay.

"I expect a terrible catastrophe in the coal mines any moment," said Janos Esterlivos, democratic socialist parliamentarian who descended into the mine in an attempt to mediate with the infuriated men.

"What I saw down there will be the most terrible remembrance of my life," he said. "The miners have become absolutely insane from their awful experience."

"They are determined either to die or to be rescued by wrecking the pumps, or to blow up the mine. There is no more hope for them."

They are determined to die, he said, together with a request for 345 coffins, was the last that had been heard from them. That was early this morning.

At 2 p. m. government officials wished to send troops to the bottom of the pit to force the strikers to the surface at the point of bayonet and gun, and put an end to their threats of self-elimination unless wage demands of $3.50 a week were met.

But the fact that the mine "blow" holds only 16 men, thus far had prevented the government from taking any step since authorities feared the famished and maddened miners might attempt to butcher the soldiers with pickaxes.

Terrible scenes were reported from the dark subterranean chamber where hunger striking miners now have endured 96 hours of steady self-confinement—because mine owners refused to give them more than two days' employment weekly and to pay more than $2.

The government hesitated to force the company owning the mine, in which Austrians and Britishers are heavily invested, to meet the miners' demands, fearing it might lead to complications with foreign governments. It would also lead, authorities feared, to similar strikes for wage increases among Hungarian miners throughout the country.

The villagers, tense and excited interpreted this to mean that the threatened mass suicide—without precedent in capital-labor controversy—was already partly accomplished.

Representatives of the government were skeptical. They were not able however to determine the true state of affairs among the self-entitled miners. Five guards stand at the mouth of the mine. They are armed with pickaxes, and they threaten death to any who attempt to enter.

BERKELEY, Calif., Oct. 15 (AP)—A request that he be permitted to attempt to resuscitate executed criminals in the interests of science was made today to the governors of Arizona, Colorado, and Nevada by Dr. Robert E. Cornish, who successfully revived a clinically killed dog in experiments to restore life.

Dr. Cornish, who put a mongrel dog to death in his laboratory last April 13 and revived the animal, asked the governors' cooperation in carrying out his proposed experiments.

Should such permission be granted the convict, if revived, would be free, but he added the prisoner probably would consent to serving a life term.

In his letters to the governors, Dr. Cornish declared he would not proceed without the consent of the prisoner, his attorney or relatives.

Laborer Confesses Slaying

Killed Five-Year-Old Girl
And Burned Body in
Furnace of Apartment House

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Oct. 15 (AP)—Police said today that Lawrence Stone, husky young laborer, had confessed throwing five-year-old Nancy Jean Costigan into a huge apartment house furnace.

A boy told him, a girl's wrist-watch and a few backbone bones were found near the furnace yesterday after the six-foot, oil-fueled furnace had been turned off. They were all that remained.

A trail of blood through a basement maze was interpreted by police as mute testimony of a brutal assault, but Stone's confession, as announced by Chief Inspector Michael J. Silverstein, said the girl was hurt in a fall.

Stone, discharged handyman at the apartment house, was quoted as confessing he had been playing with the child in the basement and had hit her with her rubber ball. She fell, he said, striking her head on the concrete floor.

Then she "turned blue."

Stone started to carry Nancy Jean upstairs, the confession continued, but became panic-stricken. He threw her into the flames.

See CHILD SLAIN, Page 8.

Blood smeared on his clothes led to the arrest of Stone, who is 24. He insisted during hours of questioning that he knew nothing of the slaying.

Police said he explained that he got the blood on his clothing while helping to turn upright a police patrol which had been in a collision on its way to the apartment house. But, Inspector Silverstein said, a ball man had noticed Stone's blood-flecked necktie before the slaying was discovered.

A tenant of the building said she had seen Stone and the child together.

LET US EXAMINE IDEALS BEHIND NAVAL TREATY

If the experts who are looking over the ground in London and Tokio are to be believed, the famous Washington naval treaty will expire painlessly at the end of this year, and all limits will be off naval construction. Japan does not propose to be bound by treaty limits any longer. England feels the need of more ships. France and Italy are openly building against each other. And Uncle Sam, apparently, is going to be left to contemplate the wreckage of what once looked like a remarkable achievement in disarmament.

Before we permit ourselves to get too stirred up by all this, it would be a good thing for us to look at the whole question realistically, with sentiment discarded.

We like to tell ourselves that the Washington naval treaty was the result of a great bit of pure unselfishness on our part, forced on designing nations by American idealism. As a matter of fact, it was not that at all.

The close of the World War found us with an enormous building program under way. We had six tremendous dreadnaughts under construction—ships of 43,200 tons each, mounting twelve 16-inch guns apiece, and estimated to cost $31,000,000 each without guns or armor.

Also under construction were four dreadnaughts of the Colorado class, of 32,600 tons each, mounting eight 16-inch guns, and costing upwards of $20,000,000.

Six great battle cruisers were also being built—incomparable vessels of 35,300 tons, mounting eight 16-inch guns, designed for a speed of 35 knots, and estimated to cost $30,000,000 each.

In addition, ten light cruisers were on the ways, and something like 100 destroyers.

All this represented one of the greatest naval programs in any nation's history. It was going to be horribly expensive. We wanted to get out from under. Tax reductions were inevitable. The load could not be carried.

So we proposed and put through the great naval treaty—and saved ourselves hundreds of millions of dollars that we probably could not have persuaded ourselves to spend anyway.

Now the treaty is expiring; and we will do ourselves no good at all if we feel that high ideals of a dozen years ago are being flouted.

It will be much better for us to re-examine our whole naval policy and decide whether we really need to be worried if England and Japan decide that they need more ships than we think they need.

WASHINGTON—Some day, soon, the administration will have to decide whether to take the consumer into the New Deal councils or to continue to kid him along.

Rising food prices may help speed the decision. The consumer was recognized at the outset with a Consumers' Advisory Board was established in the NRA and a Consumers' Counsel appointed in the AAA. Both organizations have fought nobly and the consumer—the fellow who pays the meat bills and the coal bills—has been represented here by honest, able groups.

But these two agencies continue to function as mere branches of NRA and AAA, controlled by two recovery administrations which have been busily engaged in raising the cost of living.

There have been cases of censorship and suppression from higher up when the consumer interest clashed with price-fixing policies or the interest of the middleman.

Now that food prices are rising rapidly, consumer organizations outside the government are beginning to complain that the AAA consumer protection organization—as they once complained of the CAB—is open to suspicion as an AAA propaganda arm whose chief function is to persuade the public that nobody should be disturbed because it costs a lot more to eat.

Meanwhile, the consumers' interest is getting a lovely break from the NRA, which has turned its face against price-fixing and production control provisions in codes whose effect was to make the consumer pay through the nose.

Consumers are represented on the new National Industrial Recovery Board, appointed to administer NRA, by Dr. Walton Hamilton of the CAB. The CAB also has equal representation with the Industrial and Labor advisory boards on the important NRA Advisory Council.

But strong representations are being made to President Roosevelt and "Assistant President" Donald Richberg for an independent consumer voice in government which can be heard in the administration councils whenever it appears that the consumers are threatened by a raw deal.

Under this proposal, the consumer would be elevated to a status in New Deal councils to which his friends feel he is entitled. Protests against NRA and AAA policies, codes, or marketing agreements which unfairly affected the consumer's pocketbook and purchasing power might then be presented effectively, whereas they now can be promptly squelched.

Dr. Willard Thorp, head of the National Emergency Council's consumer division, is one of the chief proponents of the change. Thorp is leaving NEC temporarily to become special assistant to the NRA Advisory Council.

He isn't expected to return to the NEC unit, whose Relief still is the most troublesome word in the "new deal" vocabulary.

The difficulties of administering relief distribution, the effect of the fibre of the people, the reflexes on the recovery agencies, and the continued undermining of the national budget all worry Washington.

A year ago, when winter set in, the government went about the task of relief without special concern. Mr. Roosevelt's policies were at the height of their popularity, and it seemed a rather simple thing just to find out where relief was needed, and administer it.

Since then officials have learned much. They found that the first real criticism of the "new deal" originated in the relief operations, and they want to avoid a repetition. If they were so sure, on other counts, how the November election was going, they would be deeply agitated politically.

The first evening service of a revival at the new Harrah Methodist chapel will be conducted this evening at 7:45. Lance Webb, pastor- evangelist, will speak on the subject, "Lacking Little to Live."

Opening service of the revival was conducted yesterday morning, but in the evening members were invited to McCullough Memorial church, where a week of meetings was concluded. Much interest was shown in the McCullough revival, with a score of additions to the church reported by the pastor.

Preaching services will start at Harrah Chapel each evening this week at 7:45. Young people will meet at 7 p. m. in a service directed by Verion Twaddell, and children at the same hour with Mrs. Webb in charge.

They foresee that the relief item will be the most carefully scrutinized on the balance sheet, and that is why they are casting about so eagerly for a new relief program as nearly invulnerable as possible.

CHINA IMPOSES TAX ON SILVER FOR PROTECTION

U. S. Sticks to Plan While Chinese Protest

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—The United States, promising consideration to the Chinese government, nevertheless stood firmly by its silver policy today as a tax wall arose around China's supply of the white metal.

Secretary of State Hull, in a note to the Nanking government, said that the policy under which the United States is buying silver in world markets was laid down by congress and cannot be changed, in its broad objective, by the executive.

Although he said that "so far as may be possible," the United States will avoid "disturbances to the economy and public finances" of China, that nation put into effect a tax of 10 per cent on silver exports.

This was designed to keep the Chinese supply of the white metal intact. The oriental government—which is on a silver standard—had protested that American buying threatened to sap her reserves, besides damaging Chinese business by causing a "harsh deflation."

The Chinese minister, Sao-Ke Alfred Sze, in a note dated Oct. 2, told Hull that the rise in the price of silver due to American buying discourages the export of Chinese commodities "and thereby impairs China's purchasing power for imports."

"Could not the American government," he said, "for the present restrict its purchases to silver already in America to avoid further promoting the drain from China?" Hull, in reply, stressed the "mandatory" nature of the act of congress which directs the president to buy silver until it reaches a ratio of 1 to 3 with gold in the currency reserves.

Hull left the door open to "friendly discussion" of an inquiry by China regarding the exchange of silver for gold. There has been unofficial talk that the United States might swap gold for silver to help the Nanking government get on a bi-metallic or gold standard.

Priest Foe of Dead Monarch Weeps at Bier

ZAGREB, Yugoslavia, Oct. 15. (AP)—Yugoslav subjects wept today before the coffin of the King many of them had opposed in life.

A royal train bearing the coffin made its way through long lines of weeping peasants yesterday from Split, where it had been brought from Marseille by the destroyer Dubrovnik.

Because of the thousands of requests for an opportunity to pay last respects to Alexander, it was decided to have the train halt at various towns between Zagreb and Belgrade, delaying its arrival in the capital until tonight.

Belgrade is already thronged with foreign princes and notables who will attend the funeral.

One of the most touching scenes when Alexander's body arrived at Split was the appearance beside the coffin of Father Antone Koroshetz, a Serbian-Greek priest and leader of the Slavonian clerical party who has spent two years in exile on Alexander's orders.

The leader was allowed to hire a small boat on the lonely island where he is guarded and come to Split to "say a prayer and drop a tear" on the coffin of his former foe.

For several minutes Koroshetz knelt sobbing beside the bier and then said: "This is a moment when the whole nation is weeping over our lamented sovereign. We must forget the past. We must work and live for Yugoslavia."

Diagrams of Danger—No. 2

No one is more active in the campaign to persuade the automobile driver to exercise the care, courtesy and common sense which will reduce the appalling number of accidents than Motor Vehicle Administrators. They know the facts. Ten of them, officers of National and Regional Associations, have described the most common driving and pedestrian faults.

By PAUL H. DOYAL, Chairman, State Revenue Commission, Georgia Vice-President, Region No. 2 of American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators

If a motorist were to find himself in a wholly dark car on a wholly dark road, it is fairly certain that he would not take a chance, but would stop. Yet, that is exactly what the motorist does not do when he endeavors to pass another car on a curve. The way is entirely blind ahead of him. He does not know what is around that curve. There may be a big truck or a fast flying bus or even a small car just over the brow of the hill. That means an accident.

According to figures supplied by the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, there were 5,420 accidents last year due to an attempt to pass another car on a curve, particularly on a hill. The deaths numbered 140 and the injuries 5,530. There was a truck

FURTHER BUYING OF CATTLE IS LEFT ENTIRELY UP TO PRESIDENT

AMARILLO, Oct. 15. (AP)—Stockmen in 10 principal ranching states have expressed hope that President Roosevelt will take action to continue emergency cattle buying in areas hardest hit by the drought.

Jay Taylor, president of the Panhandle Livestock association, who headed a delegation of Southwest stockmen in a series of conferences the first week of October with federal authorities at Washington in an attempt to have the program continued, said action in the matter had been left entirely to the president.

"We have telegraph reports from 10 states indicating that at least 2,000,000 head of cattle will starve this winter if some sort of relief is not given," Taylor said. "We have hopes that the president at least will take action to give relief to extreme emergency areas."

Taylor said reports indicated starvation cattle in the ten states as follows:

- Arizona—30,000 head. California—40,000. Colorado—55,000. Idaho—30,000. Montana—100,000. Nevada—21,000. New Mexico—300,000. Texas—1,000,000. Utah—50,000. Wyoming—100,000.

"With this number of cattle taken from the range in the 10 ranching states we might be able to make it through the winter on the extremely scarce grass and feed," Taylor pointed out.

Stockmen said they had no hope for the buying program to be put in full blast again, adding that they would be satisfied with a program that would enable ranchers in extreme emergency areas to sell unmarketable cows.

A survey made from reports from the various states indicated that practically all of the rangeland is barren, feed is extremely scarce and that there is little hope for wheat pasture.

Cattlemen who made the trip to Washington listened to a plan for cheap cow feed outlined by federal authorities by which Cuban mol-

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION TO BE PROPOSED IN JANUARY TERM

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—A constitutional convention to remodel Texas fundamental law will be proposed at the regular session of the legislature in January.

Those sponsoring the convention movement would have the old document gone over from top to bottom and revised to clarify any conflicts or inconsistencies. The last constitutional convention was held in 1875.

Since that time Texans have resorted frequently to the practice of amending the constitution until virtually every section as written by the statesmen of the 70's has been changed.

Approximately 80 amendments have been adopted since 1875 and many others submitted by the legislature have been defeated. Hundreds of proposals to make changes in the historic instrument have been made in the legislature but never were sent to the electorate for final decision. The task of rewriting the constitution would be extremely difficult and tiresome and likely would require months before it could be finished. History recounts some of the bitterest controversies ever recorded in Texas occurred in the constitutional conventions.

There are many who hold that those who wrote the original document accomplished great results and that there is little need for a sweeping revision. The constitution, they assert, has stood the test of time, in the main, and should be maintained with only such additions as may be found necessary to meet changing conditions.

The fact that 80 amendments have been adopted in little more than a half century indicates that the constitution has been kept sufficiently flexible to meet the needs of the people. Some would have it made more flexible by permitting the legislature to propose amendments at any time instead of restricting submission of constitutional changes to regular sessions.

Eight amendments will be voted on at the November general election. Four were adopted at a special election in Aug. 33.

Several members of both houses are preparing resolutions calling for submission of changes in the constitution for presentation at the regular session.

WHICH IS WHICH? CHICAGO (AP)—Gerald and Erick, the nine months old twin sons of Mrs. Fred Eilers, look so much alike, she says, that she resorts to this method to tell them apart: She picks them up together and holds one in each arm. Gerald will be in the arm that tires first because he's a half pound heavier than Erick.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Mize of LeFors were Pampa shoppers Saturday afternoon.

Do you remember this Pampa business district view, taken just before gas and oil development started Pampa on her rapid progress to become one of the truly important cities of Texas?

A recent view which visualizes the astonishing growth of Pampa's business section during the past decade of gas and oil activity.

Disaster Threatens this City that Gas and Oil Built!

"Stripping Plants" Are Wasting Into The Air The World's Greatest Natural Gas Reserve!

THESE "stripping plants," connected up to less than 2 per cent of the gas leases of the Panhandle natural gas field, are rapidly destroying this whole pool to get less than one cent's worth of natural gasoline out of every 1,000 cubic feet of gas produced! This slight recovery represents LESS THAN 3 PER CENT OF THE HEATING VALUE OF THE GAS WITHDRAWN—97 per cent is thrown away.

Each day these plants waste into the air a volume of natural gas equal to the domestic gas consumption of the ENTIRE UNITED STATES. Already approximately 30 per cent of the estimated gas reserves are gone. Competent engineers advise that in eight years—and probably sooner—there will be no Panhandle natural gas field if this wasting is allowed to continue. Furthermore, they estimate that 500 millions of barrels of crude oil, that could otherwise be recovered, will be left in the ground permanently if the gas pressure to bring it to the wells is destroyed.

This appalling destruction of the world's greatest natural gas reserve and second greatest crude oil reserve is made possible by an ill-advised legislative act passed early in 1933. Hence, these "stripping plants," requiring little investment, few employes, and slight expense, are springing up like mushrooms—the INCREASED waste each month over the previous month being equivalent to a six and a half year domestic and commercial gas supply for Pampa.

Pampa owes most of her astounding development to gas and oil. If she loses these twin resources quickly, the results will be terrible; a vanishing population; destroyed property values; business bankruptcies; collapse of important industries; and a return to coal scuttle and a difficult existence with double cost for fuel.

This destruction is so stupendous that it is almost unbelievable—the greatest waste of natural resources ever known in the history of civilization. It concerns you vitally—and you should help to get it stopped, and stopped quickly, before it is too late!

You can help stop this gigantic wastage! Your representatives in the State Legislature would like to know your views. So communicate immediately with your state Senator, Hon. C. C. Small, Amarillo, Tex., and with your State Representative. (The names and addresses of the State Representatives in the Panhandle are: Hon. H. K. Stanfield, Amarillo, Tex.; Hon. B. L. Rogers, Farnsworth, Tex.; Hon. A. B. Tarwater, Plainview, Tex.; Hon. Eugene Worley, Shamrock, Tex.) Ask that immediate legislative steps be taken to stop this colossal destruction! And also write us today for additional gas wastage facts, furnished gratis upon request.

HOLLAND-MITCHELL MARRIAGE SOLEMNIZED IN HOME SERVICE

ONLY FEW ARE WITNESSES OF LOVELY EVENT

COUPLE START MOTOR TRIP TO MEXICO YESTERDAY

A surprise to their friends will be the announcement of the marriage yesterday of Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, and Arthur J. Holland.

The morning wedding ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's parents on Gray street. Only a small group of friends witnessed the marriage, which was read by Father Francis J. Ludwig of the visiting Catholic mission.

Yellow and white flowers decorated the attractive home. Wrought iron candelabra holding lighted yellow tapers marked either side of the improvised altar. Baskets of huge chrysanthemums furnished a colorful background for the wedding party.

Members entered to the strains of "I Love You Truly" played by Mrs. Frank Keehn at the piano and Mrs. Walter Nelson, violinist. The soft musical accompaniment continued through the impressive service.

Mrs. John Venable, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a costume of Alice blue trimmed in rhinestones, and carried a sheaf of yellow chrysanthemums. The groom's brother, Gene Holland of Wichita Falls, acted as best man.

Miss Mitchell was lovely in a suit of Eleanor blue duvetyne with white fur trim. Her bouquet was of tall-mast roses with a shower of baby breath.

Following the ceremony the wedding party and guests went to the Schneider hotel for a breakfast. Decorations of yellow and white predominated there also.

In the center of the U-shaped table stood the wedding cake. Yellow tapers in white holders lighted the table, and at each plate was an individual favor of yellow. A delicious breakfast, interspersed with toasts and good wishes to the young couple, was enjoyed.

Places were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Holland, Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Mitchell, Mrs. Waagener, grandmother of the bride, Messrs. and Mrs. Dan Gribbon, A. B. Zahn, Leon Brooks, John Venable, Julian Barrett, Misses Myrtle Simmons, Mable Earnest, Olive Williams, Walter Nelson, Frank Keehn, Misses Dorothy Mitchell, Aletha Jones, Lillian Smart, Wilda Stuart.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Kern of Cordell, Okla.; J. L. McManhan and Gene Holland of Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Holland left immediately for a motor trip through Old Mexico. On their return they will reside at 1128 Christine street.

Both are popular young Pampa residents. Miss Mitchell is prominent in young women's social and club activities. Holland has been with the Texas company for some time.

Hundred College Girls Share Work In Big Household

CANYON, Oct. 15.—Learning to work and live together, not by reading about it in books, but by doing it is part of the education of a large number of students who are meeting conditions of drought and depression by the cooperative operation of Randall hall and the T-Anchor ranch at the West Texas State Teachers college. One hundred and forty-four young people are attending college here this year through these two agencies.

In September, 1933, Randall hall opened on the new basis and 100 girls, carefully chosen from 38 counties gathered to try a new scheme of cooperative living. Those who had money paid $13 each month and worked one hour each day; those who had less money, but had food products of high standard which they could bring from home, paid $6 in money, $7 in produce and worked one hour each day. This year there are 104 girls in Randall. With rising food prices it has become necessary to change to $14 per month.

A trained supervisor, Miss Mittie Hill, a member of the college faculty, plans the work. One cook is employed, the young women assisting her. Each girl has certain duties assigned her, for there are 37 different tasks in the big household; these tasks range from cooking to drying faded draperies; from answering the telephone and receiving the mail carriers who come to the hall, to waxing the floors and scrubbing the bath tubs.

Life at Randall cooperative home is not all school work and housework. There is time for social life. One of the aims of the home is to help the young women to become pleasant hostesses, to give and receive social courtesies graciously. To this end guests are frequently entertained at dinner and it is a very special occasion when a visiting lecturer or the president or dean of the college comes to dinner.

Open house one hour each week brings boys and girls here in large numbers to the hall and merry games, singing, conversation, and dancing furnish amusement until the study bell rings at the end of the hour.

The girls feel they are having a successful experience and are proving that they can manage their own household and keep expenses down while living full lives.

MANY VISITING SPEAKERS ADD UNUSUAL INTEREST TO CHURCH SERVICES OF CITY YESTERDAY

Out-of-town speakers were heard in most Pampa churches yesterday, a day of unusually interesting religious services.

Mrs. Joe J. Mickle, visiting in Amarillo after 13 years in Japan, lectured at First Methodist church yesterday morning, while Harold Lovett, state secretary of Christian Endeavor, spoke at First Christian church, the Rev. F. C. Sharp, of Canyon at the Presbyterian church, and H. J. Appelman, Baptist state evangelist, continued a revival at First Baptist church.

Yesterday evening Francis J. Ludwig started a series of lectures at Holy Souls Catholic church that will continue daily this week at 8 p. m. He is presenting explanatory lectures on teachings of the Catholic church, and invites the public to hear him and ask questions.

Attendance records for the Francis Street Church of Christ, Sunday school were again broken with a total of 233 present. Five additions to membership were reported.

First Christian church had a program by the Christian Endeavor society of Panhandle at its worship hour last evening. The minister, John S. Mullen, is in Des Moines attending the international convention of Christian churches.

The First Methodist minister is also out of town, and the evening service there was a dramatic sermon by Mrs. Gaston Poole. A week of revival meetings started at Harrah Methodist chapel, following a similar series at McCullough Memorial church. Lance Webb, pastor, is preaching.

Texans to Join In BPW Meeting

Mrs. Faye Gordon of Amarillo, state president, will represent Texas at the south central regional conference of the national federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, to be held in Wichita, Kan., on November 10, 11, and 12.

Nearly 10,000 women from 290 clubs are working to make this last regional conference of the federation for 1934, the most successful.

Judge Grace A. Miles of Independence, Kan., national membership chairman of the federation, is regional chairman and Mrs. Millie Shaw Hamlin of Wichita is general conference chairman.

The program of the national federation for 1934-35 stresses the fact that there can be no economic security for any class or group unless it is achieved for all and seeks for women "employment, appointment, salaries, and promotion on equal terms with men." A panel discussion on Sunday evening, November 11, will bring out group opinion on national and world questions. The contribution which women can make toward economic readjustment, and the advantages and disadvantages of unemployment insurance will be among the topics discussed.

The six states participating in the regional conference are Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Missouri, and Texas.

IRRIGATED GARDEN PAYS PANHANDLE—In spite of the drought, 18 varieties of vegetables are being grown in the garden of Mrs. Tom Ripping of Carson county. Three years ago Mrs. Ripping installed a subirrigation bath in her garden of 30 by 60 feet at a cost of $240 and is still finding its use beneficial. On July 22 she planted 10 rows of pinto beans which came up on July 26, and on September 11 she exhibited some of the fresh beans at the Carson county home demonstration exhibit. At that time she said she had a bountiful supply for canning and for fresh use.

8 LIVES LOST IN ACCIDENTS IN WEEK-END

HI-WAY AND RAILROAD CRASHES INJURE MANY

(By The Associated Press.)
Eight lives were lost in Texas highway and railroad accidents during the week-end while another Texas youth, a 20-year-old popular Dallas youth, was killed in a West Virginia automobile crash.

Three Mexican cotton pickers, en route home to Weslaco from Mississippi fields, were killed near Teague. They were Lorenzo Sausado, 24; Primitivo Ramos, 12 and Gregorio Castro, 40. Three others were critically injured and 30 received minor hurts when two trucks collided. The tragedy failed to halt the birth of a baby girl to Mrs. Josefa Villareal, 37, one of the injured.

Two Paris residents, Tom Robeen, 60, and his wife, 55, were killed and four others critically hurt in a crash on a highway south of Paris. Three Cooper youths, Martin Boyd, Newman McGuire and Quentin Miller, were seriously injured. The Robeen's granddaughter, Mary Whitledge, 16, was hurt badly.

Services for Samuel Bowen Moore, son of Dr. Hugh Leslie Moore of Dallas, president of the Southern Medical association, killed near East Ranelle, W. Va., in a highway accident after a football game, will be held at Dallas Tuesday. Young Moore was a student at Washington and Lee University.

Train wheels killed an unidentified white man near Corsicana. His right leg was severed and his skull fractured.

Two machines crashed at a highway intersection near Childress. Joe C. Richardson, 50, farmer living near Childress, and Morgan Clowers, 20, of Paducah, were killed.

Probably fatally injured in a highway crash north of Temple was J. C. Terrell, Bell county farmer. Two University of Texas women students, Miss Annie Morgan of Corpus Christi and Miss Josephine Steele of Mexico, D. F., were seriously hurt but will live, physicians said.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS. William Brown is acquitted of attempting a bride to pay's defective work in a new high school building, and Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, reaches home from the courthouse just in time to learn that her school friend, Silver Hondon, has been granted a divorce from her husband, Cliff. Then her editor calls to say that Cliff has shot himself, and Marian must go to Reno to break the news to Silver.

Marian finds Silver in the midst of a celebration; Silver declares Cliff shot himself to shame her.

Chapter Eight
CLIFF'S LETTER

Marian Gordon looked down at the letter Silver had handed her. It had been written on a computer pad, the thick gum still holding the top corners together, and along the side the blue seemed to have congealed again after the letter had been mailed. A blurred purple ink stamp topped the page, but Marian didn't try to decipher the words, her eyes were intent upon the bold letters which rushed across the page; upon sentences which ended without punctuation.

Marian knew nothing of graphology, but even she knew this was the handwriting of an impetuous man.

She read the salutation, but her alert eyes saw that the man who had written it had spent many moments on the name. There was a definite shading to each scrawling letter as though he had caressed each one.

"You're sure you want me to read this?" she asked, looking up at Silver who was bending over her shoulder.

"I most certainly do," the girl answered, and Marian read:

By the time you receive this, you will no longer be Mrs. Clifford Hondon. Give thanks for that, I do.

"See," came in bitter triumph from Silver, "he's glad of the divorce, though the world will never believe it!"

Marian nodded and read on:

That name meant something, when we were married. I realize now, you wouldn't have accepted it if it hadn't. It will mean something different tomorrow... stigma on it that even you with your neat way of evading responsibilities, can't escape. Don't blame me, it's your own fault, unless I'm at fault for never having refused you anything I could give. You seemed to figure your Dad and his reputation were more important than me... you were right of course... only... oh well.

"No one but a cad would condemn a girl for helping her father," interposed Silver.

Marian shook her head with a vague gesture as though trying to rid her ears of Silver's voice. She turned a thick page, sensed some sort of loss between the first and second and decided it was merely Sifting evidence in one of the most famous criminal cases in history, with the nation tensely waiting for their verdict, a group of men and women, the Hunterdon county grand jury, returned a murder indictment against Bruno Hauptmann in the Lindbergh baby death case. In the rapid five session, Colonel Lindbergh and several surprise witnesses appeared before the inquisitorial body, meeting in Flemington, N. J., Hunterdon county seat.

I can't help thinking of giving to you now. I don't mean I regret it... but you wanted an island. I had had one built for you out here on the tides. You wanted a house that was different... this is so different I haven't been able to sell it to save myself. Someone will like it when it's too late but they won't pay the price I paid to satisfy your whim... grand place this room, all windows... I'm looking out on the bay and the lights of San Francisco. Easier than looking around this room. They've covered the chairs and divans with white cloth. Shrouds. Very appropriate.

She turned another page, thinking it seemed:

The big chair you liked to to Fells Storage. Your attorney will explain why I asked you to buy them from me—

"The queerest thing," Silver said in explanation, "he made me buy, pay actual cash for my very own household things."

Marian sat up, alert. Now she was beginning to understand—but you didn't pay full value," she stated.

"No," agreed Silver, "I didn't pay much of anything."

"Wait," Marian was reading swiftly now. Behind the scrawling letters lay the story of an impulsive, quixotic, sacrifice.

"He'll explain a lot of things but you won't understand... you're short on understanding... not expecting it... but oh I wish, to... oh what's the use."

Some fool poet said love blind. "Isn't. Just cock-eyed. You love a person. You know every fault but you figure their virtues outweigh their faults. That's a laugh."

If I loved you enough I'd stick around and teach you a lesson 'stead of going away... but then some other fool blinded by your beauty would save you I suppose.

If this life is a preparatory school to discipline the soul, there's only one hope for you... that some day you'll fall in love with someone who does not love you... and after you're old and have lost your beauty... providing you could lose that or love anyone other than Silver—

Marian tossed the letter aside as she arose and began pacing the floor—"Silver, what kind of a settlement did Cliff make on you?"

"The stingiest you ever heard of. Just a house on the San Ramon river, and a few silly little bungalows in Alameda that won't pay enough to keep me in stockings."

"The old Hondon homestead was in Contra Costa County, wasn't it? And this is a part of that, his house?"

"Yes, his mother left him the bungalows, so he's not out anything."

"Silver, listen. See if you can't understand what he has done for you. You know the community property laws of your State, don't you? Oh my dear, how can you be so blind. Cliff was facing bankruptcy. He knew his creditors could demand the liquidation of all your community property to meet his debts. He held them off until you won your degree, then like the gentleman he tried to be, he went about putting himself out of the way so the State could not assume the inherited property by proving collusion. Don't you understand, Silver?"

"You bet I do," she retorted with narrowed eyes, "he told the truth in that letter when he said he would teach me a lesson. He's only trying to shame me. I doubt if he's even fatally wounded."

Marian didn't answer. She stood staring blindly before her, seeing the cubicle-like rooms of the Emergency Hospital, the white iron cot the low shaded lights, the nurse bending low over a prostrate form, listening to breathing that ebbed as the dangerous hours of the night moved on.

"Silver," Marian stood before her pleadingly, "won't you forget yourself, just once? Telephone the hospital. Send Cliff word you're flying down to be with him. Have the attendant tell him you understand and appreciate what he has done. I know if he thinks you're coming he'll fight to live until your reach there."

"Don't be a fool," cried Silver, "I'm not a milkop like yourself. Do you think I'm going down there and make a spectacle of myself for your newspaper readers to gloat over? Well I'm not. I don't care whether he lives or dies. I'm through I tell you, through. I've had all of his jealousy and penny-pinching I intend to live. I wouldn't lift a finger to save him."

"All right," Marian's blue eyes were black with anger, "if you won't, I will. Get out of my way."

With swift determined steps she crossed the room to the telephone—"Oakland," California, Lakeside 1500," she said, then looked up.

Silver Hondon was crossing the room with a catlike tread, arms stretched towards the instrument Marian held. But swifter than Silver, came Max.

The call went through instantly. Bowen's brisk voice answered—"Marian took a deep breath.

"Marian Gordon, Mr. Bowen. In a pickle."

"So's Hondon. Just heard from the hospital that he has a chance for life, but he won't take it. Nothing to fight for, I guess."

"Oh—would it help if he thought Silver were reconciled again?"

"I don't know, but I should think so."

"All right," said Marian, taking another deep breath. "Paul is Mr. Bowen, she's not. She thinks Cliff did it to spite her, or something like that."

"The hell you say."

"Yes—but can we say that. It will make Silver all kinds of a fool (Marian watched Silver struggle in Hamilton's arms) and when she comes out of her excitement won't she turn on us?"

"Very likely. There's more back of this than shows."

"Well, can't you send word to Cliff that Silver does understand, and wants him to fight? That might help him. And then can't we give just the bare facts in the newspaper? We can say Silver's going to Oakland right away, and I'll see she does."

Bowen thought a half second. "Yes. I'll send word to the hospital and you can give your story to a rewrite man."

Marian heard Bowen shout "Hey, Frace, take a piece on No. Six." She sighed in relief. Cliff would have his chance.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Fledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Celebration:

"I will think—talk—write Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

DALLAS, Oct. 15 (Special)—Dallas' first major step in the financing of its participation in the observance of Texas' centennial in 1936 will be taken October 30 when local taxpayers will vote on a $3,000,000 bond issue to be utilized in the city's expenditures for the centennial. Approval of the proposed bond issue is assumed.

COMFORT, Oct. 15 (Special)—Travelers along the old Spanish Trail, northwest of San Antonio in 1936 when celebrations of Texas' centennial will be held will be interested in learning something of the unique industry which Charles Apelt has established at the little city of Comfort. The Apelt Armadillo company is the only concern of its kind in the world, making souvenir baskets from the carcasses of wild animals.

For fifteen years Mr. Apelt lived in a little log hut on his small farm near Comfort. One day he saw his first armadillo—one of those accordion-like, hard-back ant-eaters, which abide in southwest Texas to devour ants, insects, etc., and which live in the same holes with rattlesnakes, crossed his path. He killed it with a stone and took it home to show to his wife. Neither of them knowing what to do with it, he threw it into the back yard of his residence.

On the next day he noticed that the animal had curled up, its tail bending toward its nose. Having served an apprenticeship in the basket-making trade in Germany, the armadillo's curled shape suggested a basket to him. He figured that if he could clean and polish that hard shell, line it with brightly colored silk and embellish it further where the tail linked with the snout, he would have a basket that would be his own advertisement.

For the past 35 years visitors to San Antonio, including hundreds of thousands of soldiers who have been stationed or trained in the Alamo City, have been sending these useful mementos from Texas to their homes. Centennial visitors doubtless will continue the practice.

21 OUT OF 23 ST. LOUIS CARDINALS SMOKE CAMELS!

by FRANK FRISCH

They sure made it hot for us this year, but the Cardinals came through in great style clear to the end when we needed every ounce of energy to win. We needed it—and we had it. There's the story in a nutshell. It seems as though the team line up just as well on their smoking habits as they do on the ball field. Here's our line-up on smoking: 21 out of 23 of the Cardinals prefer Camels.

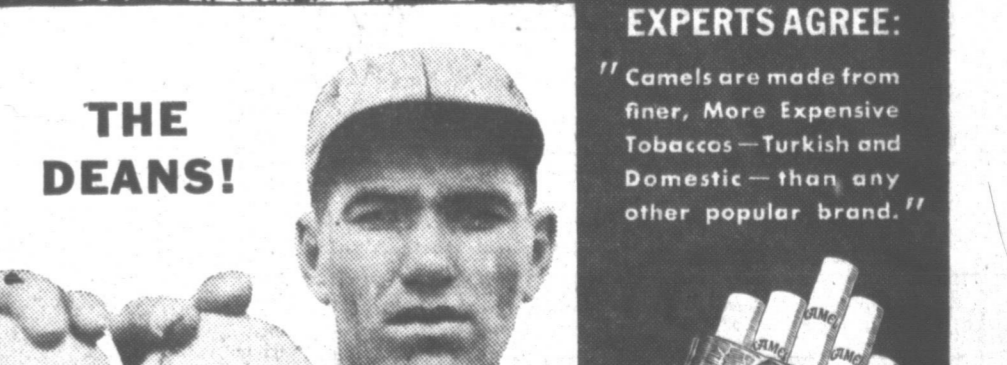

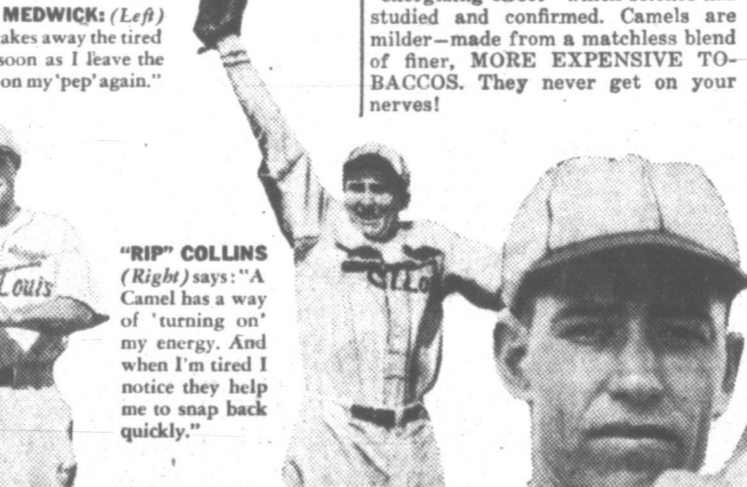

The World Series is over. The Cardinals are on the top. Their astounding achievement will go down in history—a sensational charge from 7 games ahead and behind to win the pennant... and then the series!

They are champions—and popular champions. Frankie Frisch, Carleton Rothrock, Orsatti, Leo Durocher, Bill Walker, Medwick—all America knows

ALL EUROPE IS SEARCHED FOR KING KILLERS

HIGHER UPS IN PLOT ARE OBJECT OF HUGE HUNT

PARIS, Oct. 15 (AP)—A search of all Europe for Dr. Ante Pavelich and Gustav Pecec, named as Balkan terrorist chiefs by confessed fellow conspirators of the assassination of King Alexander, was begun today to stamp out what police call a "gang of international assassins."

Fears for the lives of Yugoslav government leaders spurred the search for "higher-ups" along with three fugitive members of the "suicide squad" including a beautiful Slav girl, associates of Kalemen.

(Yugoslav officials have revealed the real name of King Alexander's assassin was Vlada Georgeff Tschernometski, a notorious Macedonian terrorist and associate of Ivan Mihaloff, whom they held responsible for several previous assassinations.)

Photographs of Pavelich and Pecec were sent to police by the French and Yugoslav secret service chiefs. Yugoslav terrorism of recent years has been attributed to the band by Belgrade officials.

The body of a man was found in Fontainebleau forest, but the French sure doubted that it was the man known as Sylvester Malny, alias Zini, who escaped from gendarmes there on the day of the assassination. The gendarmes failed to identify the body as that of the man who escaped their clutches. He had been dead 36 hours.

The "gun girl" Marie Vloudroch, like the others, has vanished. The sure she is the one, Kvaternik and Malny had managed to cross the frontier afoot, aided by compasses with which members of the band were supplied.

Kvaternik was called the chief of the "assassination squad" by Yugoslav authorities who described him as a 24-year-old law student born at Zagreb, whose first name was Eugene.

He was called "the delegate." Speaking several languages, including French, he was believed by police to have maintained a liaison among the other four, giving them orders, money and arms.

Swiss officers said a meeting of the plotters at King Alexander's death was held at Lausanne September 28, where "the minutest detail of the massacre was planned with machiavellian cunning."

Police Chief Is Feted on Birthday

Chief of Police Art Hurst forgot all about yesterday being his birthday until he returned from a "wild goose chase" late in the afternoon to find a turkey dinner spread in the city court-room in the basement of the city hall. Beside the chief's plate was a basket of presents from his family and friends.

Those present were Mrs. Hurst and two daughters, Judge W. M. Craven, John Sturgeon, Aaron Sturgeon, Dr. T. J. Worrell, Frank Hunt, and Police Officers G. D. Holmes, W. C. Dillman, Neils Dodson, Weidon Wilson, and Jeff Guthrie. Traffic Officer Wayne Nicholson was unable to be present because of injuries received in an automobile accident last week. A plate of turkey was taken to him at his home.

NOBODY HAS ENOUGH POWER TO SPANK ELEVEN-YEAR-OLD KING

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press) BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Oct. 15 (AP)—Crown Prince Peter, the schoolboy, returned to his native land Saturday as King Peter II, and with the dignity of a born sovereign took his place at the first meeting of Yugoslavia's regency council.

Standing at the train behind his stately grandmother, Queen Marie of Rumania, and his regal but heartbroken mother, Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, the smiling 11-year-old sovereign made an unforgettable impression of boyish charm and simplicity upon the thousands who came to cheer him.

But in spite of their outward happiness, the legions of people gathered to pay homage to the adolescent king numbered among them many Slav peasant women, known for their superstitious belief in an evil omen of death.

They whispered among one another it was a bad sign that Peter should arrive to begin his reign on a "black unlucky thirteenth." The less pessimistic among the crowd insisted that the sudden appearance of the sun after three days of rain was a good augury for the boy monarch, adding that the thirteenth is not really unlucky unless it falls upon a Friday.

The boy's own appearance helped vastly to dispel the gloom that was an inevitable part of the picture, with all the emblems of death and sorrow for the slain King Alexander. Peter's father, in which Yugoslavia was ensnared. The very youth of the new king seemed to personify hope.

Long ranks of Yugoslav school children who knew Peter by sight lined the route taken by the royal automobile which bore Peter and his queen mother and grandmother from the station. Although they do chief regent who may appeal for the right of chastisement to Queen Marie, Peter's mother.

not yet know what King Alexander's death may mean to the country, the school children were delighted that one of their own comrades who had just finished his primary school course, should become king and live in the royal castle.

Suddenly evading military guards, Peter's own classmates jumped out of line and rushed toward the royal auto, shouting "long live the king!" Despite his tender years Peter never will be allowed by his preceptors to forget that by reason of the crown authority residing in him he is actually "boss" over six elder regents and vice regents.

If the child king becomes naughty and refractory, and tires of his royal duties, there is nobody with sufficient authority to reprove or spank him, unless it be his Uncle Paul, the

MCLEAN WITHDRAWS AS HARVESTERS' GRID FOE HERE NEXT FRIDAY NIGHT

COACHES HAVE NOT SIGNED UP ANOTHER CLUB

MITCHELL IS SEEKING STRONG TEAM FOR NEXT GAME

The Harvester football squad will spend the week practicing for "they know not what." The game with the McLean Tigers has been canceled and Coach Odus Mitchell is burning the wires seeking a good team to replace the Tigers here Friday night.

Coach Garrison Rush of McLean called Coach Mitchell yesterday and asked to have the game called off. He said that because of injuries his team is completely shattered and could not give the Gorrillas a good tussle. Rather than give Pampa fans a poor brand of football, Coach Mitchell agreed to call the game off, and as a result, is looking for a strong team to come here Friday night.

The Harvester mentor telephoned Coach Jim Lookabaugh of the Capitol Hill Indians of Oklahoma City for a return game but Capitol Hill has an important game Friday and cannot come to Pampa. The Indians, it will be remembered, defeated the Harvesters 18 to 0 in the opening game of the 1934 season. Since that time the Harvesters have improved until they should be able to give Capitol Hill a battle.

Several good teams have been contacted and Coach Mitchell hopes to sign a team by tomorrow night. He is looking for really tough opposition, and will take the most promising team offering itself for competition.

A battle for the fullback position on the squad is expected to develop this week when Red Panning will be back in the ranks. Mayne Nash, a quarterback, filled the fullback assignment Friday night like a veteran while Panning was out because of failure in his studies. The two boys will stage a battle for starting honors.

The squad came out of Friday's encounter with only a few bruises. Even Drake and Elkins were used for a few minutes to loosen up leg injuries, with Elkins stepping out for one of the Harvester touchdowns.

The necessity of a pass defense was brought to the Harvesters Saturday afternoon when they saw the Port Worth team complete 17 passes for a total of 117 yards against the Amarillo Sandies. The value of a good passing attack was also presented and the Harvesters came home determined to get down to business on the pass situation.

The Mitchellmen have been coming along fast in the last two weeks, but they still have a lot to learn. There is little danger of the team getting to peak form before it encounters Lubbock and Amarillo. Just about everything will be studied this week by the squad, coaches said this morning. There will be scrimmage sessions, blocking, tackling, aerial offense and defense, and several new plays worked out during long practice sessions.

Grid Leader of T. C. U.

CAPT. JOE COLEMAN
1934 HORNED FROGS

Capt. Joe Coleman, quarterback for the 1934 Horned Frogs of Texas Christian University, is one of four seniors on the T. C. U. squad and the only two-let man in the outfit. He plays a hard-running and blocking game and is also adept at hurling the pigskin. He weighs 170 pounds and starred in high school under Paul Tyson.

SANDIES' STOCK RISES AFTER IMPRESSIVE PANTHER VICTORY

Big Three in District Are Rated About Equal; Amarillo to Play Norman.

The football situation in District 1 remained unchanged over the week-end, except for placing the Amarillo Sandies in a stronger light, and on a par with the Lubbock Westerners. The stock of the Pampa Harvesters hiked a little, but the three teams remained as almost even contenders for honors in the district.

Borger's stock took a slump, due largely to permanent injuries to two star backfield men. The Plainview Bulldogs price rose in the opinion of critics, when the inexperienced Bulldogs showed a world of improvement over the previous week.

The Harvesters won a surprising 44 to 6 game from the Shawnee Wolves, who were much weaker than expected. The Harvesters showed promise of being a fair mid team, when the last three periods were played on a somewhat slippery field. The Harvester opposition for the week-end has not been named.

Amarillo's Sandies rose to new heights in defeating the Central high school Panthers of Fort Worth 27 to 13. After being played off their feet in the first half, the Sandies came back against a fading team and carried off the game. Amarillo will go to Norman, Okla., next Saturday.

Using substitutes most of the way, the Lubbock Westerners swamped the Borger Bulldogs 38 to 0 in the first conference game in the district. Morris White, ace of the Lubbock backfield, played less than 20 minutes, but long enough to score four touchdowns. The big Abilene Eagles will be in Lubbock, while Panhandle will invade Borger this week-end.

Plainview showed a world of improvement over previous performance in holding Spur to a 7 to 7 tie. Several new stars were uncovered in the game and experience is all that is needed to hike the Plainview stock. Childress will invade Plainview Friday night.

Journey to Hawaii for football games on Christmas day and New Years contains a clause abrogating the agreement if the Golden Bears win the Pacific Coast conference championship or are chosen to play in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Football players of San Jose, Cal., state college will be among the best dressed griders of the nation this year with high weight blue pants, set off by yellow stripes and yellow jerseys with blue stripes topped off by matching colors in the same color.

Francis "Bud" Toscant, red-headed Italian backfield star of St. Mary's several years ago, has become backfield coach of the Santa Rosa, Calif., junior college football squad.

When E. P. "Slip" Madigan took over the coaching job at St. Mary's Calif. college in the spring of 1931 he was instructor in history and economics as well as mentor in baseball and basketball and trainer. As dean of far western coaches, he devotes his time nowadays to coaching football.

Under the first year of Washington state's athletic commission's administration of wrestling and boxing, just ended, 53,715 persons paid admission to professional contests.

Mrs. Ray Burson is the guest this week of her sister, Mrs. Roy Bourland. She has been living in Stamford, but will go to Amarillo the last of the week to make her home.

MINNESOTA TO MEET PANTHER WEEK-END

WASHINGTON AND LEE WILL BE TEST FOR PRINCETON

BY HERBERT W. BARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The football whirligig, dizzy, than ever this year, swirls along this week with no signs of a set-up anywhere along the line.

Slowly but surely potential conference or sectional champions are emerging from the dust of conflict, although it will take several more weeks before the outline is clear enough to be read accurately.

This week's slate lines up this way: East—Two great intersectional offerings top the card. Pitt, conqueror of Southern California, collides with the "Big Ten" powerhouse, Minnesota.

Foodham engages St. Mary's in a duel that lost some of its interest when the Gaels were so unexpectedly set back by Nevada last week. Princeton's first test comes against Washington and Lee while Army continues its warm-up campaign against Sewanee.

Midwest—Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame, Colgate and Ohio State, Georgia Tech and Michigan for intersectional flavor, while Purdue and Wisconsin and Chicago and Indiana meet in Big Ten conference duels.

South—Alabama against Tennessee in the big battle of a South-eastern conference program marked otherwise by the Vanderbilt-Auburn and Tulane-Georgia matches. Virginia Poly and Maryland are paired in the only Southern conference game of the day.

Far West—Southern California, beaten twice in succession for the first time since Howard Jones became coach, will try to get back into the winning column against Oregon State, while California plays U. C. L. A. and Oregon tangles with Idaho.

Southwest—Texas and Arkansas, Colorado Aggies meet Colorado Mines, and Colorado college plays Colorado Teachers.

Rocky Mountain—A heavy slate headed by the Utah-Denver battle, Utah Aggies play Wyoming; Brigham Young tackles Colorado west.

Midkiff Beats Grover Austin In Final Match

A. C. Midkiff yesterday afternoon won the Country club handicap golf tournament, defeating Grover Austin 4 and 3, in a heated match. Midkiff shot sub-par golf to defeat Austin and win a 21-inch statue.

Austin had to "spot" Midkiff 4 strokes but the tournament winner earned a 70, one under par, to defeat Austin, who shot a 71. Midkiff played one of his best games to win while Austin was erratic.

Both players were pressed to enter the finals. The tournament has been in progress for more than a month with 40 golfers competing. Scores recorded by the two finalists:

Out—Midkiff 535 353 445-36
Austin 435 345 454-35
In—Midkiff 533 344 354-34-70

Horton Smith Wins Open Golf Tourney

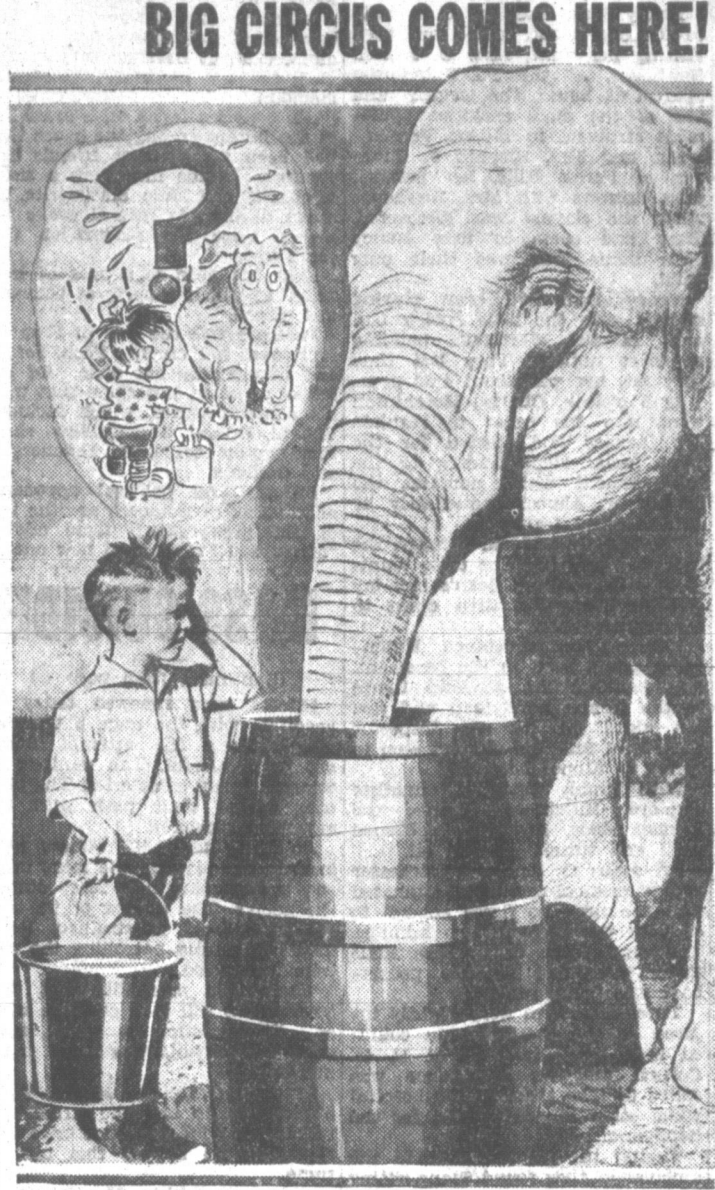

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 15. (AP)—Horton Smith, 26-year-old professional at Oak Park, Ill., today held an impressive victory over a field of 20 in the first annual Louisville $5,000 open golf tournament.

Smith went into the final 18-hole round yesterday with a three stroke lead and posted a 72-hole total of 286, two under par to win the $1,000 first prize. Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., took second prize of $800 with 289 and Tommy Armour, Chicago, with 290 took down third money of $600.

Tony Manero of High Point, N. C., and Billy Burke of Cleveland split fourth and fifth, taking $450 each.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Owens visited yesterday in Lubbock and Slaton.

CHANCE TO GET JOB WHEN BIG CIRCUS COMES HERE!

What Pampa urchins will win their way into the "big top" by toting water to obese and apparently hollow elephants—three great herds of "em"—when the Al G. Barnes circus pitches camp here for a one-day stay Wednesday, October 17?

In the big herd, comprising practically one-quarter of all the elephants in America today, are three babies, as rugged as any youngster, whose tipping capacity is much smaller than that of the older members of the herd.

Or it could be that some of the lads would prefer to cury-comb a zebra, or have the ineffable joy of leading a holy cow from India, or a single or double-humped camel from the show trains to the grounds the morning of show day.

Such opportunities will be afforded, says the circus man, just as they have existed since the days when gray-haired grand-dad toted water to Jumbo.

Already the signs point to an alarming devastation among office boys' grandmothers—such havoc as only comes with the arrival of the "big show." It is still one of the world's largest amusement organizations, traveling upon three special railroad trains, and pitching 22 tents—big and little—for its 22 local housekeeping.

The opening whistle will be at 8:30 o'clock and not until then will it be known how the going will be in the "Irish" preliminary.

The Mackey-Edwards match has been brewing for weeks. Mackey saw the Tiger man wrestle in El Paso some time ago and made a wise crack to some friends. Edwards heard about the remark and has been working himself up to the meeting. He challenged Mackey and the Amarillo veteran accepted.

Bud Edwards, known in wrestling circles as the Tiger man of the ring, will appear on the Pampa mat tomorrow night with Cyclone Mackey of Amarillo providing the opposition. Edwards, a cousin of the well known Billy Edwards, has been treating grapplers to some real mauling in El Paso. He will be making his Panhandle debut here tomorrow night.

A real semi-final has also been arranged. Tuffy McMullen, the East Texas terror, will meet to battle with Ernie Arthur, French-Canadian lumberjack. McMullen doesn't mind who he wrestles, whether he wrestles, or what kind of wrestling he gets up against. He would just as leave wrestle on concrete as on a nice, soft mat. Arthur is well known here and fans are expecting a big evening, especially in the semi-final.

Pat Garrison, Pampa's Irish old man, and Eddie O'Shea, Fort Worth's gift to the Irish division of the wrestling game, will meet in the preliminary. Garrison says the going will be nice and clean while O'Shea says it will be rough and

Kobrosky Leads Scoring Battle

A driving halfback from one of the east's smaller college teams, Mickey Kobrosky of Trinity College (Hartford, Conn.) sets the pace for the nation's individual football scorers.

Kobrosky has scored eight touchdowns in three games to lead his nearest rival, Stan Kostra of Minnesota, the Big Ten leader, by 12 points.

The leader in each of the nation's major conferences or groups, as compiled by the Associated Press, follows:

AGGIES HOPE TO WIN GAME ON SATURDAY

RIVALRY WITH T. C. U. TO BE RESUMED ON 'FARM'

BY BILL PARKER, Associated Press Sports Writer.

One Southwest conference championship game will be played Saturday when the Texas Christian Frogs will strive to prolong their jinx over the Texas A. & M. Aggies.

Having rushed through two important weeks of great football in which they gained national prestige for the Southwest, the other conference members will be up and plowing for touchdowns again Saturday in a schedule of four intersectional and one non-conference within the state game.

For several years the Christians of Fort Worth have held the upper hand over the Cadets of College Station. Many of the games have been close but always the Christians have won. The Aggies hope to reverse the charges Saturday at College Station, where they will enter the Fort Worth school in the first 1934 conference game for Texas A. & M. and the second for Texas Christian.

The Frogs started their conference campaign two weeks ago by dropping a 24 to 10 battle to the University of Arkansas. Just to prove they still have scoring punch, the Frogs invaded Tulsa Saturday and beat Tulsa university, 14 to 12. At the same time, Texas A. & M. was losing to Centenary college, 13 to 0.

On this year's records, Texas Christian holds an edge in the long conference struggle Saturday but beating the Aggies on Kyle Field has always been a difficult job.

Tied for the conference lead, the Rice Institute Owls will invade Omaha, Neb., to tackle Creighton in a night game. Having whipped Southern Methodist Saturday, 9 to 0, when Bill Wallace scored a touchdown and John Sylvester booted a field goal, the Owls again proved they have the stuff of which championship teams are made. Creighton defeated Rice last year, 14 to 13. It probably will be a Rice victory this year.

Away to a flying start with conference victories over Texas Christian and Baylor, the University of Arkansas Razorbacks are in for a severe test of their scoring power when they battle Louisiana State at Shreveport. The Razorbacks got Fullback Criswell through for a touchdown Saturday at Little Rock to beat the Baylor Bears, 6 to 0.

Louisiana whipped Arkansas last year, 20 to 0, and this year the Tigers have played a pair of South-west conference teams, Rice and Southern Methodist, to ties.

Having breezed through a 19 to 0 victory Saturday over the University of Oklahoma, the University of Texas battles Centenary college at Austin. The Longhorns will be severely crippled for this contest because of Bohn Hilliard's hip injury, received in the last half of the Oklahoma game. With Hilliard, ace halfback, out of the lineup the Longhorns are in dire danger of having their undefeated record spotted. Irvin Gilbreath kept the record spotless Saturday when he galloped for three touchdowns against the Sooners.

Oklahoma A. & M. will invade Dallas to battle Southern Methodist. These two teams played a 7 to 7 tie last year. The Mustangs' aerial attack was a complete flop against Rice. Robert Wilson, ace Methodist ball kicker, could not plow the Rice defense. The Mustangs high preseason stock has suffered a sharp decline.

Baylor university will play Hardin-Simmons university in a night game at Abilene. This should be one in the win book for Baylor.

BASEBALL PLAYER DIES
SAN ANGELO, Oct. 15. (AP)—Leslie C. Cox, 29, former professional baseball pitcher; died here yesterday of acute appendicitis. He pitched for the Chicago White Sox prior to 1929 and had also been with the Palestine, San Antonio, Oklahoma City, Des Moines, and Petersburg, Va., professional teams. He is survived by the widow and a five year old son. The body was sent to Stephenville, his former home, for burial.

Eight Million Will Be Sought For Centennial

DALLAS, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Texas Centennial commission, determined to stage a celebration that will be a fitting tribute to the state's achievements, Saturday authorized efforts to seek an appropriation of approximately $8,000,000 from the legislature, now in special session.

The commission appropriated several thousand dollars to carry on the publicity campaign leading up to the main event here in 1936 and smaller celebrations over the state. This educational work, intended to build up support for the centennial, is under the direction of George Waverly Briggs.

Cullen P. Thomas, president of the commission; Walter D. Cline of Wichita Falls, executive committee chairman, and R. L. Thornton of Dallas, member of the executive committee, plan to be in Austin today to boost the centennial before members of the legislature.

Centennial workers have in mind various ways the celebration can be financed through the legislature without calling on the general fund for money. These include contemplated taxes on cosmetics, oil pipelines a small charge on pay telephone stations, amusements and other phases of business expected to reap the greatest benefit from the centennial.

Ideas of the historical planning committee were given to the commission by Mrs. Walter P. Sharp of Houston. Her plans were approved. They call for full attention to San Antonio, Galveston, Brazos, Brenham, Houston, Galveston, Nacogdoches, and other places of historical renown.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Stocks tumbled along an uneven highway today and speculative enthusiasm was at a low ebb. Most traders apparently decided to resume their seats on the sidelines until the arrival of more stimulating news. Mild bullish and bearish incentives were about divided. The close was easy. Transfers approximated 600,000 shares.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—Corn took first place in grain trade attention much to the time today, and scored material upward in value.

A notable stimulus to the corn market was announcement that the government would offer $1 a bushel option contracts on seed corn in drought states to owners who had accepted corn loans at 85 cents, besides a decrease of 561,000 bushels was shown in the corn visible supply, and for the first time in many weeks the total supply fell below the corresponding 1933 aggregate.

Corn closed unsettled, 1/2-3/4 over Saturday's finish, May 78 1/2-79, wheat 1/2-3/4 down May 99 1/2-1.00, oats 1/2-3/4 up, and provisions unchanged to 20 cents decline.

CHILD SLAIN

gether half an hour before the horror-stricken hall man, following the drying spotches, saw the little skull through the leaping flames.

Nancy Jean, daughter of a well-to-do Long Island couple, had been visiting her aunt, Mrs. C. Russell Newhouse, at the Pel-Hutchinson apartment house, the largest and one of the most exclusive apartment structures in Mount Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Costigan of Forest Hills, her parents, were upstairs with Mrs. Newhouse, when the slaying was discovered. They had come to take Nancy Jean home. She was their only child.

Nancy Jean had been playing merrily with the little rubber ball most of the afternoon, building a tower of blocks. They last time they saw her was about 4:30 p. m. At 5 o'clock, Charles Hutchinson went into the cellar to regulate the furnace and started for the steep metal steps leading to the sub-basement which contains the oil burner. Almost immediately he noticed blood stains.

The trail meandered through the basement and into the table tennis room, where Nancy Jean's ball lay on the floor, and then down to the furnace door.

Hurrying for assistance, Hutchinson saw a man in the basement. He identified the shadowy figure as the former handyman and saw the blood on his tie. Inspector Silverstein said. He did not stop to speak to Stone, however.

With Frank Springer, another employe, Hutchinson opened the furnace door, saw the blackened skull and turned off the oil.

Dr. Amos O. Squire, Westchester county medical examiner, estimated that the fire was fierce enough to cremate the body in two minutes. The ring from the child's little finger identified it. Her pocketbook was found nearby.

Three detectives were slightly injured as the patrol wagon collided with the automobile of H. G. Cornell and an ambulance was called to take them to the hospital while other officers hunted for the handyman.

Taking the injured men to the ambulance, they found Stone sitting inside. He had received no injuries, however, and was taken from the hospital to police headquarters, there to be questioned about the blood on his body and clothes.

Stone readily told police that he was employed as a relief worker on a street-widening project outside the apartment building. He was in the vicinity to trim and light red lanterns so that motorists would be warned of the construction work.

comeback. Doctors two years ago gave him up for lost. "He was just worn out," they said today.

All last night his wife and friends watched with him. He was conscious but an extension of his paralysis stilled his voice. He died in a silent room as a cold and windy rainstorm rattled the windows of his Paris home.

Poincare's last written words contained a newspaper article he had dictated about Barthou. He worked until the last seeking to finish his memoirs.

His body lay today on a brass bed in the library among the books that had been his greatest friends and comfort. Beside him were a sister of charity and Mme. Marguerite, his nurse during his several grave illnesses since his resignation five years ago.

Near his head is a vase of holy water in which a sprig of boxwood was placed.

Poincare was the last of France's four great war chiefs. Foch, Joffre and Clemenceau are gone. Of the school of noted statesmen that were his contemporaries, which included Viviani, Briand and Caillaux, there remain only McLie and Doumergue, and Caillaux.

Friends and political opponents alike speak of Poincare as "the last of the great men," some adding "where will France find new ones?"

MASS SUICIDE

Efforts were renewed today to negotiate with the men, but it appeared likely the attempt would not be successful. The minister of commerce sent emissaries. The sentries barred their path with the menacing pickaxes.

An additional 3,500 miners were locked out today by the mine owners, precipitating new fears among the people. The temper of the 40,000 inhabitants is strained. Regiments of militia patrolling the city were reinforced.

There is a possibility that the government will take over the mines. What action it would take, once in control, was not made known.

Premier Goemboes sought without success to end the strike yesterday. He sent five emissaries into the mine to deliver this ultimatum: "Come up within 30 minutes. If you refrain from lawlessness, and violence, we will negotiate with you."

It served but to anger the men the more. The emissaries were held hostage. Word was sent back: "Rather than suffer the slow pangs of death by starvation, we will commit suicide by smothering ourselves."

Ruffing Marries Home Town Girl

Charley Ruffing, star New York Yankee pitcher, has plenty of reason to rejoice even if his team didn't win the pennant. Ruffing hurried to Nokomis, Ill., his home town, after the season closed to wed Miss Pauline Mulholland and he's shown here with his pretty bride just after the ceremony.

RETRIAL

Cross-examined by Jesse E. Martin, Davis admitted that at least one other person was in the car, and perhaps more. He said a boy was with him in the rumble seat. Martin tried to bring out that Luther J. and Thomas Robert Turman sons of Mrs. Turman, were sitting in the front seat and, because they were crowded Mrs. Turman was sitting close to Mason.

Davis did not think that was the reason.

ATHLETE MOURNED

STEPHENVILLE, Oct. 15 (AP)—Friends of Leslie W. Cox former University of Texas athletic star, gathered here today for funeral services for the one-time orange and white performer who died after an emergency operation at Brownwood for appendicitis. He pitched for the Chicago White Sox prior to 1929 and also had been with the Palestines, San Antonio, Oklahoma City, D. S. Malines, Ia., and Petersburg, Va., professional teams. He is survived by the widow and a 5-year-old son.

STOLL

the kidnaper could have found a place to conceal themselves for weeks.

So far as the man who is directing the search is concerned, the case apparently is exactly where it started.

"I won't claim any progress has been made," said Harold Nathan, department of justice agent.

The five futile days have yielded clues and have been marked by important development, but no results.

Thursday morning passed with quiet organization of a widespread hunt for the young society matron. Officers searched cabins and houseboats on the Ohio river, one day gone.

Friday morning saw the $50,000 ransom started on its way. The bundle of small bills lay that afternoon in Nashville waiting to be claimed. The husband returned from a furious drive through central Kentucky and broadcast an announcement that "we have met all the ransom requirements."

The statement, designed for the kidnaper plainly indicated the ransom had been paid according to his directions. Two days gone.

Saturday, and there was no hint of fulfillment. Federal, state, and city officers suddenly swooped down upon the Stoll neighborhood and started a methodical combing of the wooded lands around it. The roar of their motors and the bustle of their search destroyed the picture of peace and quiet carefully built up to assure the kidnaper he could make contact unheeded by the law. Three days gone.

Sunday morning saw an army airplane hastily rise to scan the highways leading from Louisville. It sought a car reported by James E. Scales, a contracting plasterer, to contain Mrs. Stoll, bound and helpless. The intensive search of the countryside continued. The fourth day ended in vain watching.

Their hurried and literal compliance with the specific directions of the kidnaper gave the Stolls hope that the death they feared threatened her might be averted. Despite growing conviction among many that the captive is already dead, they passed Sunday awaiting the word for which they have appealed by newspaper and radio time and time again.

LAMAR KINSMAN DIES

NACOGDOCHES, Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Lamar Estes, 92, closely related to Mirabeau B. Lamar, second president of Texas, died here today. She was well-known throughout the state. Funeral services will be held at Leesburgh in Camp county.

BUTTING INTO A JOB

SHERIDAN, Mont.—The sheep that butted through the plate glass window of the Madison County F. C. may remain in the newspaper plant as a mascot. Robert Julian, the editor, said the animal at present market prices wouldn't pay the cost of a new window.

COURT RECORD

The civil suit of L. R. Hartell against the Citizens State bank of Wheeler was begun in 31st district court. The grand jury convened to resume its investigations.

County officers were given little business during the week-end. Justice Baxter's records showed five persons arraigned for drunkenness and one for disturbing the peace.

Marriage licenses have been issued to A. J. Holland and Miss Ruth Ann Mitchell; Thos. E. Peary and Miss Ola McCain; and A. W. Genn and Miss Anna Bell Piasce.

HORSE PLAY

SAN FRANCISCO—From an encounter with a draft horse, 20 members of the Sunset Athletic club football squad and their coach came home rubbing bruises. The horse made a surprise play by running onto the highway and blocking the bus in which the team was returning from a game at Pittsburgh, Calif. There was a big pile-up inside the bus as it came to a stop.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 15 (AP)—The market ruled quiet all morning with prices fluctuating narrowly. At the end of the first hour of trading December eased to 12.26, March to 12.37, and May to 12.44, or 7 to 9 points below the close of Saturday. This decline was due to lack of buying power.

Later prices rallied 9 points from the lows on moderate trade buying and covering by shorts, reaching new highs at 12.35 for December, 12.46 for March and 12.53 for May, or 2 points net down to 2 points up compared with Saturday's close.

MRS. CHASE DIES

GALVESTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Fred Chase, 71, of Galveston, past president of the Order of Eastern Star in Texas, died at her summer home at South Orrington, Maine today. The body will be brought here for interment.

night of March 1, 1932, as it was Tuesday and he always called for her on Tuesday nights.

On cross-examination, she acknowledged that she had told Inspector Henry Bruck, in charge of Bronx detectives, a short time after her husband's arrest that she didn't know whether her husband was at home the night of the kidnapping.

Fawcett, on re-direct examination, asked: "What did you do the night of March 1, 1932?"

"My husband and I drove home from the shop," he replied.

"Did you stay home all night?"

"Oh, yes," Mrs. Hauptmann said.

During his cross-examination of Mrs. Hauptmann, Wilentz for a time directed attention to a shoe box in a closet in his home.

Mrs. Hauptmann said she had not seen the box. Responding to Fawcett's questioning, she said the top shelf of the closet, on which the box was said to have been lodged, was "several feet higher than I am."

She said that when the money finally was called to her attention by police it had been wrapped in newspapers. She said she did not know her husband had the money, and that she did not know anything about the package until after Hauptmann had been arrested.

Mrs. Hauptmann testified that on the day of her husband's arrest, police showed her bundles of money wrapped in newspapers and that one of them remarked "this is wrapped in a late paper; it is only a short time ago."

She said she never saw the money before and at that time she did not know it was the Lindbergh money. She said she never knew her husband had $14,000 in the garage or that he had a pistol there.

TURN OUTS FAIR PLAY

MINNEAPOLIS—Detectives Fred Seidensticker and W. H. Fabriz are all through hunting for the accused—now they are seeking the accuser. Getting a description of his assailant from a battered and bruised man, they rounded up two suspects. The victim identified them. They were taken to jail to await charges, and the sluths returned for the hospital victim's statement. He had disappeared.
