INCREASE

proposal, but concentrated on the idea of giving the president a free hand.

Members of the committee disagreed today, however, as to whether the group had formally decided to adopt the suggestion by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) to tie controls to the cost of living.

Chairman Mayhew, who announced yesterday that the committee did make such a decision by voice vote, told reporters today there was "just discussion of making a study of some such procedure."

However, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said the committee made a final decision to adopt the Fulbright proposal.

There were unconfirmed reports that the White House had protested vigorously overnight to Mayhew that the Fulbright plan would destroy the flexibility Mr. Truman has insisted he should have with respect to putting the controls into effect.

The Senate committee yesterday also voted to have the controls bill include a section providing for up to a year in jail and as much as a $10,000 fine for hoarders and speculators.

Two broad issues confronted the House as it began the task of outlining Mr. Truman's grant of authority.

One was a Republican-backed bill offered by Rep. Kunkel (R-Pa.). The other was an expanded administration bill rushed into the House yesterday by Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the House Banking committee.

Both provided for stand-by authority to apply roll back controls over prices, wages and rationing as well as allocations and defense priorities. They differed on other matters. Kunkel's bill omitting Truman proposals for controls over credit and commodity trading.

The decisive test on the two opposing approaches was due before nightfall, but a final vote put over until tomorrow.

ALLIES ROLL

new arrivals in the battle sectors have the heaviest arms yet to be brought into combat on the allied side.

On the new consolidated front the Americans and South Koreans face the Communists on virtually equal terms in division strength. There were five American divisions and five South Korean divisions facing an estimated nine to 10 North Korean divisions.

Erickson said, however, the United Nations still lacked enough power to embark on any real counter-offensive. He said there would soon be more carrier based planes to help break up the long supply lines the Communists now must maintain.

The correspondent said the allied withdrawals were skillful. They conserved manpower and denied the Communists an opportunity to attack during the critical time when the reinforcing second infantry and first Marine division elements moved up.

These reinforcements arrived in the nick of time while a dangerous fight was going on along the perimeter around crowded Pusan.

The holding actions of the hard-hitting 24th, first cavalry and the 39th divisions in the Kumchun-Pusan corridor and the long thin western front brought the needed time for the buildup of allied forces. It gave commanders time for a deliberate choice of a strong natural defense line.

The Korean Communists can not move faster than their infantry can walk. They are not expected to hit the allied lines for at least 24 hours.

BUDGET

tract authority than the $34,688,000,000 recommended by the Senate appropriations committee — not including the $100,000,000 Spanish loan voted Tuesday.

The across-the-board cut sponsored by Senators Bridges (R-NH) and Byrd (D-Va) had the support of more than 30 other Republicans and Democrats. It was aimed at slashing an estimated $800,000,000 from the measure.

The first two amendments up for a vote provided:

1. $64,000,000 for the national health institute for cancer, heart disease, mental and dental health activities. The committee recommended only $15,750,000.

2. $25,000,000 for the maritime board for the immediate reconditioning of more than 100 military ships now tied up at Atlantic, Pacific and Gulf Coast ports.

While the Senate was arguing yesterday about whether the Marshall Plan should be exempted from the Bridges-Byrd economy amendment, Secretary of State Acheson went before the House armed services committee to urge speedy approval of another foreign aid request.

It would add $4,000,000,000 to the $1,222,800,000 already authorized by Congress for foreign military aid.

DEM LEADER

of life insurance companies. They already have been approved by the House.

A drive for immediate action on an excess profits tax, aimed at profiteers who failed in its first test yesterday. The House ways and means committee voted down 15 to 8 a proposal by Rep. Mills (D-Ark) to consider this tax along with a bill providing for renegotiation of government contracts.

EARTHQUAKE REPORTED

MEXICO CITY — (AP)—A strong earthquake shook Mexico City at 12:16 a. m. CST today but there were no immediate reports of damage or personal injury.

Former Resident of Gray County Dies

CLARENDON — John E. Mongole, 90, retired farmer and rancher, died at his home in Clarendon at 6:15 a. m. today. Mr. Mongole had been a resident of Clarendon and Donley County for 30 years. He worked for the late J. D. Jeffries in Gray County until he moved to Clarendon in 1919.

Mr. Mongole was married to Miss Maggie Muir, nee 16, 1899. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Miss Maible and Miss Edger Mae Mongole, Clarendon; one sister, Mrs. G. L. Stump, Foanoie, Texas; and a brother, Bate, Moorefield, W. Va. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in the First Presbyterian Church in Clarendon, of which Mr. Mongole was a member. The Rev. Paul Wright, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in the Citizens Cemetery, Clarendon, with arrangements by Murphy-Spicer Funeral Home of Clarendon.

the "cross-roads of the world." However, police reported no organized demonstrations there.

The New York Labor Conference for Peace sponsored the forbidden rally. The marchers were to have heard speeches by left-wing Negro singer Paul Robeson and Dr. W. E. B. Dubois, chairman of the Peace Information Center.

The center has led in the distribution of peace petitions urging the outlawing of the atom bomb. Government officials have called the petitions Communist-inspired.

The conference called the "peace rally" to demand mediation in Korea. The conference describes itself as made up of union and other groups interested in peace.

Police refused the conference a permit for the rally, on the ground it would lead to disorder. Yesterday, State Supreme Court Justice Eugene L. Brisach refused to lift the police ban, and the demonstrators announced they would rally anyway.

Area Farmer Killed In Amarillo Crash

AMARILLO — (AP)—A two-car collision about 15 miles northeast of here last night killed Oscar A. Detten, 45, a farmer. The victim's nephew, Donald Detten, 20, of Panhandle, was the driver of the other car. He was not hurt.

the information was for purposes of strategic bombing.

Pauley also said he had advised Mr. Truman in 1946 that the Russians might seek to force communism on all of Korea.

For the senators, Pauley produced letters and recommendations he had made to President Truman in 1946 indicating his belief that the Communists were seizing complete control of North Korea and would set up a puppet government there.

"Korea, Pauley said, 'is a land in which the north and south are as tied together as a pretzel. Under these circumstances the country was meant to be a whole, and it was for that reason we so argued in the United Nations. The Soviets know it was meant to be a whole, also — and that is why you have war in Korea today.'"

Pauley said that the Russians, after much pressure, agreed that a United Nations trusteeship should be set up for Korea. But Pauley said the Russians carefully set up a strong Communist control in North Korea from the state with the idea of taking over all of the land.

Pauley added: "Korea may be only the first battleground. Korea itself is but a symptom, bloody and costly as it may be, of a malignancy that could sweep the world, destroying democracy as the hopes of free people everywhere unless it is checked and checked now."

Detten, 20, of Panhandle, was the driver of the other car. He was not hurt.

Miss Peggy Hoelting, 20, a passenger with Donald Detten, was seriously injured.

damages for the Sheltons, totaling $17,000.

Shelton's attorneys asked $5,000 damages for him, $10,000 damages for Mrs. Shelton and up to $2,000 for the loss of their Ford pickup truck.

The suit arose out of a highway wreck on Nov. 5, 1948, on State Highway 152, one mile east of Laketon, when the Shelton's pickup truck and a truck-tractor, owned by V. B. Hubbard and being towed by Hubbard in a borrowed pickup truck, collided.

American Soldier in Korea Is Forced to Shoot Civilians

By DON WHITEHEAD
WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN KOREA — (Delayed) — (AP) — The American soldier must harden his heart and coldly shoot down anyone wearing civilian clothes in the combat area — if he is to protect his own life in this war.

 The Americans haven't done it yet. The kids from New York and Ohio and Texas and California with Sunday school backgrounds have respected people in civilian garb. And too many of them have paid for it with their own lives.

Demo Meeting To See Fight For Control

By DAVE CHEAVENS

AUSTIN — (AP) — There will be harmony efforts and the usual sharp struggle for control at the Sept. 12 state Democratic convention.
 The convention will be especially significant because it will name a state executive committee to handle the party's affairs into 1952, the next presidential election year.
 On the surface, it is the so-called "governor's convention." It will certify Democratic candidates for the general election ballot and adopt a platform on which Gov. Allan Shivers will seek reelection against a still-named Republican candidate for governor in November.

Shivers was nominated by 75 percent of the Democratic voters July 22 and is expected to have considerable support in the convention. He would like to have a harmonious meeting, but whether extremists on the right and left will permit harmony remains to be seen.
 It is known that Shivers, facing his first real test of party leadership, will ask that wishes of the district caucuses prevail in selecting the committee so the delegations from the smaller cities and rural counties actually have the votes that will determine another battle between liberals and conservatives.
 Contesting delegations, divided along those factional lines will show up at Mineral Wells asking to be seated. They are from Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston, where such scraps have been routine since 1944. If there is any way to bring about harmony in these groups, Shivers is expected to seek it and have the difficulties ironed out in advance.
 Executive Committee Chairman John C. Calhoun said at Corsicana that he was looking forward to a harmonious session. He said that while he had no record of the proceedings of all the county conventions, his newspaper reading has indicated there were very few, if any, that refused to take the loyalty pledge.
 Unofficial appraisals of the mine the state convention's tenor.

Cohen Wants Higher Fence Around Home

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Gambler Mickey Cohen has asked zoning authorities for permission to erect a five and one-half foot steel wire fence around his home.
 Zoning regulations permit only three and one-half foot fences in his neighborhood—Brentwood.
 Cohen has had considerable trouble with bomb planters and pranksters. The latter have been tossing firecrackers onto Mickey's lawn. It wasn't a prankster who blew the front of his house away last year, though.

Boy, 8, Realizes Life's Ambition Just in Time

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Little Eric Joseph Bloom wanted more than anything else to be a Cub Scout.

He was almost — but not quite — the required eight years old when the June Cub training program started. And by the time he was eight, he was dying in a hospital from the result of a fall from a coaster wagon.

Last Friday, a delegation of Cub Scout officials from his home town of Jeannette journeyed to Allegheny General Hospital to visit Eric. They had a special dispensation from Cub headquarters in Washington to make him a Cub Scout "on sight."

Eric was overjoyed. He was in an iron lung but he managed a big smile for the delegation. Yesterday, Eric died.

Hilarious Comedy Opens Friday

Comedy stars Robert Young and Barbara Hale are to be seen at the LaNora Theatre in "And Baby Makes Three," a story of a stork who came to a wedding. Played to the hilt by this pair of farceurs, and assisted by Robert Hutton, Janis Carter and Billie Burke, the richly comical proceedings are launched when the young bride (Hale) finds herself in an amusing plight shortly after she divorces her first husband (Young), adv.

Atom Spy Execution Proposed by Solon

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Execution of convicted atomic spies was advocated today by Rep. Brooks (D-La.).
 "The crime of murder is punishable by death," Brooks told a reporter. "And anyone who steals our atom bomb information and puts it into unfriendly hands is doing an act that probably will mean death for thousands. That person or persons certainly deserve the death penalty."

Tough-Guy Cagney Switches to Ballet For 'Point' Movie

By GLORIA YARBROUGH
 HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Now I've heard everything, Cagney will do ballet number in "The West Point Story."

You wouldn't recognize Jimmy these days, if your mental image has him talking tough and toting a rod. He hasn't slapped a blonde doll in months. He is acting very un-Cagneyish.

As for the change of character, he likes it, but "it's kinda hard on the old man." He's 46 but looks younger.
 Cagney is a part-time hooper. Press agents build him up as a threat to "And Baby Makes Three," but that sort of stuff actually embarrasses the guy. Those who saw "Yankee Doodle Dandy," eight years ago, in which Cagney played George M. Cohan, will recall that he did quite a bit of dancing. Or seemed to. He did some dancing, but the illusion — and it was that — that he was as good as Cohan had to be created. This was done by a movie device called "quick cutting" that is the camera wasn't aimed at Cagney's feet for very long at a time.

But it still takes some effort, and perhaps more so for one who is just a so-so dancer. Jimmy danced last six years ago and he admits he is a bit out of shape.
 "I started training for this picture last November," he said. "I worked out in heavy sweat shirts so I could lose some weight, too."
 Versatility is what keeps actors alive. After two pictures in which he played psychological killers, Jimmy felt it was time for a change. In addition to the ballet, he does a routine that has all the earmarks of a Danny Kaye specialty.

Alligator Rescued From Brave Indians

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — An eight foot, 225-pound alligator is back in the North Miami Zoo, saved from a life of wrestling with Seminole Indians.

The big creature disappeared Saturday night.
 Karl Engel, chief of the North Miami police, and Indian Agent Kenneth Manning, discovered the alligator in the Seminole Indian reservation at Dania yesterday.
 The alligator was found in a wrestling pit near the home of an Indian couple. Some Seminoles earn their living by wrestling alligators and charging tourists admission.

The Indians agreed to return the alligator when Zoo Superintendent Hudson Thomas said he wouldn't press any charges.

Army System Is Described as Pyramid Standing on Its Nose

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — You'll be reading about the Army for a long time — about divisions, battalions, regiments, platoons, companies and squads. But do you know how an Army is made up?
 It's like a pyramid standing on its nose: it starts small and spreads out as it moves up toward the top. At the peak of World War II the Army had 8,500,000 men. Now it has only 550,000, a skeleton of its old self.
 This is how the Army is built: Squad — the smallest unit. Ten or 12 men. Commanded by a sergeant, assisted by a corporal.
 Platoon — four squads, with a total of about 48 men. Commanded by a first or second lieutenant.
 Company — four platoons. Total of around 200 men. Commanded by a captain.
 Battalion — four companies. Total of around 1,000 men. Commanded by a major or a lieutenant colonel.
 Regiment — three battalions. About 3,000 men. Commanded by a colonel.
 Division — this is where the spread-out really begins. A division has around 18,000 men and is commanded by a major general, assisted by a brigadier general.
 A division is made up of three regiments, plus a heavy tank battalion, a medical battalion, field artillery, and various companies of specialists, such as military police, telephone experts, and so on.
 An army — made up of three army corps. Commanded by a full general.
 An army group — this can consist of any number of armies. Commanded by a general.
 The army — this is the whole business, made up of all the armies. Its present commander is General J. Lawton Collins, chief of staff.
 At the peak of World War II we had 89 divisions. How we have 10. These 10 and their locations are:
 Second armored, third infantry, 11th airborne, and 82nd airborne, all in this country; seventh infantry, Japan; first infantry, Germany; the 2nd, 24th and 25th infantry divisions and the first cavalry division (really an infantry division), now in Korea.

Czechs Report Resignation Of Relief Mission Official

The official radio said yesterday Herbert Lass of New York has quit as chief of the CARE relief mission in Czechoslovakia, saying he could not "deliver American packages while the Americans are dropping bombs in Korea."
 The Czech branch of CARE — the Cooperative for American Remittances to Europe — was closed by the Communist-led government a week ago. No reason was given but the order was considered part of a campaign to get all western agencies out of the country.
 When reporters called Lass to confirm the broadcast, a man speaking Czech answered the phone and said the American was not at home.
 In New York Paul Comly French, executive director of CARE, said:
 "The purported statement sounds fantastic to me. I was in Prague three months ago and talked to Lass at that time, and therefore this seems to be completely out of character."
 "However, until we can talk to him again, I would prefer to make no further comment."
 Lass, 39, a married man whose wife and two children are in Prague with him, was scheduled to leave for Israel Sept. 1 to work for CARE there.
 A native of New York City, Lass was once a social investigator and administrative assistant for the city welfare department.

Treasury to Print Replacement Bills

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The treasury is figuring on printing a lot more money — to replace worn-out bills.
 President Truman sent to Congress yesterday, with his endorsement, a request of the budget bureau that $3,375,000 be appropriated to do the job.
 "Currency stocks are at a dangerously low level," the letter said, "and unless the output can be increased the government may find itself unable to replace its worn-out currency."
 The paper itself will cost $375,000. The remainder is for salaries and other printing expenses.

Suit Says Dog Works Too Much Overtime

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. — (AP) — Isobel H. Bowers has sued her neighbors for $10,000 damages on the ground their barking dog doesn't observe a 40-hour week.
 The complaint, directed at Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lyons, alleges that the Lyons' dog "barks at all hours of the night up to midnight and from 4 a. m. until after daylight."
 It asks that the defendants be enjoined permanently from keeping a dog on the premises "which is permitted to bark between 8 p. m. and 8 a. m. on successive days."
 As long as the seeds of hatred and tyranny and aggression are sprouting anywhere, freedom everywhere is endangered.

APPLE PIE
 Better-Than-Ever Apple Pie
 A McCall's Magazine Fall-Proof Recipe
 2 cups 9" pastry recipe
 4 medium apples
 3/4 to 1 cup sugar
 10 graining spices
 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 Make up your very best pastry. Roll dough out this and cut in two circles, one 1/2" larger than top of pie pan.
 Place the larger circle in pie pan and sprinkle 2 teaspoons of flour and 1/2 cup of sugar over it.
 Peel and slice apples. Then place a tight ring around rim of pie pan and pile remaining slices in center. Be sure to have middle of pile much higher than edge.
 Sprinkle remaining sugar and flour, as well as salt, over apples and top with chunks of butter or margarine. Cover with second (smaller) pastry circle, cutting slits in top so steam can escape. Seal edges tightly and tuck it in hot oven for 10 minutes. Then reduce heat to 350°F (moderate) and bake 1 hour. Serve with good, sharp cheese, of course.

Slam Double Helps Foe in Play of Hand

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When expert opponents have bid a slam of their own free will, you are not likely to get rich by doubling them. There are exceptions to this rule. Occasionally, you have an absolutely sure setting trick; and you are also sure that the enemy cannot escape to some safer slam contract. Sometimes, if your partner is to make the opening lead, you may double to ask for an unusual lead.

However, slam doubles in general are a losing proposition. It is especially bad to double a slam merely on prospects. "Possible" tricks have a way of vanishing, especially when you put the opponents on guard by doubling.

The grand slam shown today was too ambitious a contract. The culprit was not South, who bid the slam, but North. The jump to two hearts was too flimsy, for North should have had a better fit for clubs or a stronger heart suit.

South found out that his partner had three aces. His bid of four no trump, the Blackwood Convention, asked for aces; and the reply of five spades showed three aces. Now South thought it reasonable to count four aces, four diamonds, two hearts and one club. If North had the king of clubs, that suit would provide two additional tricks. If North lacked the king of clubs, he should have a very strong heart suit, which would then provide the needed tricks.

West knew that something had slipped. He knew that the hearts would produce only three tricks for declarer; and the clubs in his hand looked like good insurance against that suit. It looked to him as though declarer could make four spades, four diamonds, three hearts and only one club.

West's reasoning was excellent up to this point. Nevertheless, his double was a very bad idea since it told declarer how to play the hand, it enabled South to win over 2000 points. It was a very poor idea for West to give up more than 2000 points in the attempt to win an extra 100 points for himself.

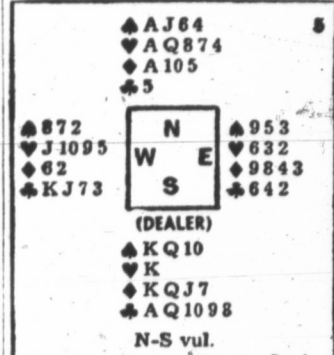

heart from the dummy, and then ran the spades.

By this time West was in great trouble. He could save only four cards. Three of those cards had to be hearts to prevent dummy's eight of hearts from becoming established. West therefore had to blank his king of clubs in the hope that declarer would take a finesse anyhow or that his partner had the queen of clubs.

South next cashed the ace and queen of hearts, discarding clubs from his own hand. He then had to win two club tricks to make his slam.

If West had not doubled, South might have taken the club finesse. However, the double practically located the king of clubs and South's only hope was that West had been squeezed on the spades and diamonds.

Declarer therefore led the club from dummy and played the ace from his own hand. Since this dropped the king from the West hand, declarer made his grand slam contract.

West's double would have gained 100 points if it had been successful. Since the double told declarer how to play the hand, it enabled South to win over 2000 points. It was a very poor idea for West to give up more than 2000 points in the attempt to win an extra 100 points for himself.

Director Calls Band For Rodeo Parade

Hereford Man Discovers Car He Had Just Bought Is 'Hot'

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff

Burnis Graf, a tall, slim, Hereford man is paying for an automobile he doesn't have.

Here's his unusual story:

Eleven months ago, Graf went to Lubbock and bought a 1949-model car from a used car dealer. The sort of fellow who takes pride in a car, Graf improved his new possession with around $500 in fancy gadgets, including an over-drive.

Last week, while Graf was working on a highway construction crew, a Texas Ranger and a state highway patrolman came along and confiscated the car — which Graf was — and still is — paying on. They explained to him that it had been stolen a year ago in Detroit.

"You figure you're getting along pretty good and — whom! — all of a sudden the bottom drops out," Graf told the Hereford Brand.

Ranger W. E. Renfro and Highway Patrolman Jack Crownover said some man bought the car in Detroit a year ago. Less than an hour later, it was stolen. The thieves had the car registered in Georgia, a state with unusually lax registration laws, Crownover said.

Next, the thieves took the Georgia registration and secured an Illinois state title — after doing a good job of changing the automobile's motor number. Then they sold the car — along with 146 other stolen cars, to a Dallas through August 13.

Opening of Housing Project Proposed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Combs (D-Tex.) has urged the Federal Housing Administration to reopen "Woodcrest," government-owned housing development in the Fort Neches-Nederland area of Texas.

The reactivation of a synthetic rubber plant at Port Neches, Combs told a reporter, is bringing additional families into the area and creating a housing shortage.

He said FHA officials told him a study is underway to determine whether closed housing developments should be reopened.

AFL Chief Says Group Ready For All-Out War Production

NEW YORK — (AP) — AFL President William Green said yesterday that American labor is "resolved to give whatever it takes to save the world from being overrun by Communist aggression."

Prompt repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act should stand as "the number one item on our national defense program," he said, arguing that this would inspire the workers to "pitch in and do the tremendous job that lies ahead of them."

Green's remarks were in a speech at the convention of the New York State Federation of Labor.

He began with a forceful expression of labor's support of U.S. action in Korea.

"As much as we hate war," he said, "we hate oppression more."

He said labor is convinced that if there is any hope for world peace it lies in the prompt attainment of overwhelming military superiority by America and her allies, because force is the only language Russia understands.

Green declared: "Much as we would prefer to utilize our natural resources and

Dawn Patrol's Groping Hand Reaches for Hidden Enemy

By TOM LAMBERT
WITH U. S. FORCES IN KOREA—(Delayed)—(P)—The whir of jeep starters jarred the dawn quiet. Engines sputtered, then purred smoothly. Sleepy men yawned as the jeeps roared out of a schoolyard compound and headed south.
The first cavalry's reconnaissance platoon was moving.
The jeeps sloshed through the muddy streets, past helmeted M. P.'s, bumped across railroad tracks and churned out of town.
For several hours the platoon drove steadily south, then into a long valley flanked by two high ridges.
"We were looking for any enemy or friendly troops," said Second Lt. L. E. Woodson of Jasper, Ala., platoon leader.
"I'd patrolled through there the other day on a long mission. When we were about 20 miles from base they opened up on us. They let my lead jeep driven by Sgt. Hypolite Alexander (New Orleans) through, then cut down on the second jeep and mine — the third."
"We drew both rifle and machinegun fire. We returned fire immediately."
"We engaged them for about 30 minutes in that draw, about 60 of them, at a range of about 200 yards."
"Finally one bunch with a machinegun jumped up and tried to run. We got them. Some riflemen jumped up and we punctured them pretty bad. We knocked off all we could — I figure about 25 out of 60 — then got out of there."
That's reconnaissance — probing for the enemy, seeking contact like the groping fingers of a hand, drawing enemy fire to spot enemy positions, then returning to base with vital information.
The reconnaissance unit, a deft instrument in the hands of a wise commander, is mobile and highly armed.
According to Lt. Samuel T. Rhodes of Washington, Ga., each man in the unit commanded by Capt. Charles V. H. Harvey of Texarkana, Texas, carries and can use two weapons.
What sort of soldiers are recon men and why do they pick this job?
Harvey calls them "the elite of the Army, the last remnants of the old cavalry, riding jeeps instead of horses."
If morale means elite, this outfit is elite. It's like the crew on a "happy" Navy ship, like a high class football team whose members are good at their jobs and respect the others for being good at theirs.

Higher Korean Red Officers Kill Selves, Avoid Capture

By BELMAN MORIN
TOKYO—(P)—An American intelligence officer said yesterday that no Red Korean officers above the rank of second lieutenant had been captured.
"They invariably kill themselves before we can grab them," he explained.
This was the first high official evidence that Koreans in the face of capture are committing hara-kiri, a former traditional practice of suicide among Japanese who considered themselves disgraced.
The bag of prisoners is extremely small, the officer said. Only 17 were captured Tuesday. He did not say how many Reds had been captured since the war started.
About four second lieutenants have been taken and "five or 10 noncoms."
The fact that allied forces have retreated almost constantly probably is one reason for the small total. The officer expressed the belief that the situation would change when United Nations forces swing to the offensive.
"We are itching to get an officer commanding a tank," he said. "But so far we haven't any luck. When a tank is hit by 3.5 inch rockets or the bigger five inchers from the air it usually is destroyed and the whole crew killed."
The officer said the only Red tankmen captured came from damaged machines. In such cases the commander, if unable to escape, shoots himself.
He said captured Red tankmen have disclosed they have two great fears — land mines and rockets from aircraft.
"They are mortally afraid of our planes," the officer said.
Large numbers of those taken prisoners were conscripted early this year. This indicates the date for war probably had been selected then.
These men received "only brief training" and the officers said "results can not be regarded as good."
Such troops contrast sharply with the Reds' crack divisions, at least those which had four years of training and were officered by Koreans who fought for the Chinese Communists. American officers have been frankly admiring the work of these divisions.

Border City Gets Bomb Attack Score

LAREDO—(P)—This border city had a bombing attack scare the other afternoon.
Several parachute flares were accidentally detonated just as a plane passed overhead.
Investigating officers said a man living in the eastern part of Laredo found the flares in a truckload of scrap metal he had bought several years ago. A yard man burning trash set the box of shells afire, sending several flares high in the air.

Mother Helps Sons In Gotham Robbery

NEW YORK—(P)—A mother and three sons were charged today with robbing a luncheonette of $670.
Police said Mrs. Beatrice Pollock, 49, acted as lookout and engaged a policeman in conversation while her sons, Joseph, 20, and William, 16, burglarized the place.
A third son, James, 19, allegedly planned the job.
"It wasn't my idea for them to steal," Mrs. Pollock said as she and her sons were held in $5,000 bail.
"They did it of their own accord—just to help me, I guess."

Jim Thorpe Was Not Finest Gridder, Says Amarillo Ex-Player

AMARILLO—(P)—Mike Balenti, who ought to know, says Jim Thorpe thoroughly deserves the honor of being the greatest athlete of the half-century, but that he wasn't the greatest football player.
Balenti played in the backfield with Thorpe at Carlisle in 1907 and 1908.
"Jim wasn't good enough defensively," says Balenti, in explaining why he didn't think Thorpe was the mightiest footballer. "But then, the Carlisle backs didn't have to be. We had the kind of line that didn't let them into the secondary. But Thorpe was out of this world as an offensive player."
Balenti was an Amarillo player in the Tri-State Senior golf tournament. He's pretty good on the links, too.
Mike was a 158-pound quarterback under Pop Warner. He could, he says, outrun Thorpe in football gear but not in a track suit.
Balenti transferred to Texas A&M in 1909, playing under Charley Moran. That was the year the Aggies were undefeated and beat arch-rival Texas twice.
"When looking back at football of 40 years ago, people don't realize how different the game was," he declares. "A field goal counted four points, a touchdown five points, a point after touchdown one point and we played for 70 minutes — two 35-minute halves."
Balenti was a professional baseball player after his season at Texas A&M and was backfield coach at Baylor University from 1915 to 1919.
He went back to Oklahoma, farmed and managed a mild hot baseball team at El Reno, Altus, Kingfisher and Lone Wolf. He quit baseball at the age of 30.
Balenti hasn't seen Thorpe since 1915.

Polio Gains in Texas; 107 More Stricken

AUSTIN—(P)—Polio continued its rampage in Texas last week, striking 107 more persons in 42 counties.
The year's total jumped to 1,395 as the rate of incidence surpassed the 100-mark for the sixth straight week. Texas now has had 772 more cases than during the comparable period of 1949, which was a record polio year. State Health Officer George W. Cox reported.
Four counties reported their first cases of the year last week, bringing to 331 the number which have been invaded by the disease. Only 142 counties had been touched by polio at this time a year ago.
New counties on the polio list were Callahan and Wilbarger with two cases each and Eastland and Nolan with one each.
Dallas County reported 22 new polio patients.
Incidence in other counties: Harris, 12; Tarrant, 8; Bexar and Nueces, 6 each; Hunt, 4; El Paso and Grayson, 3 each; Bell, Cherokee, Hidalgo, Jefferson, Jones, Taylor and Wichita, 2 each; Blanco, Bowie, Brazoria, Caldwell, Cameron, Coleman, Duval, Ector, Ellis, Fannin, Fort Bend, Gregg, Haskell, Hill, Howard, Navarro,

Tel Aviv Fans Searching for Ring Champion

TEL AVIV, Israel—Ambitious Israeli boxing fans are looking far into the future—they're hoping that someday this little Jewish state will turn out a world champion.
The "Benny Leonard Club"—named in honor of the great American lightweight boxing champion—is attracting the cream of Israeli fighting material to Tel Aviv.
The club is teaching Israeli youths—anywhere from 12 to 23—the art of self-defense and keeping an eye open for anyone who might be promising enough to fight for a living.
But the club's principal objective is to give young Israelis a place and a chance to develop themselves physically and teach them how to defend themselves.
The "Benny Leonard" club covers a spacious part of a government building in the heart of Tel Aviv.
Here government employees and Orange, Sutton, Terry, Van Zandt, Victoria, Wood and Young, 1 each.
Four counties have suffered more than 100 cases each, accounting for 528 of the state's 1,395 cases thus far.
Hidalgo County in the Valley has been hit hardest, reporting 144 cases. Dallas County is next with 130 as a result of its high number of new patients the past week, followed by Tarrant, 127, and Harris, 125.

others interested in establishing the first amateur boxing club in Israel toiled for weeks to put a training gymnasium into proper shape. Up went punching bags, a regulation size ring, and about all the apparatus needed to put a young boxer into top condition.
Private donations gave the club a start. Its sponsors then dug out of storage the gymnastic equipment which they had to pack away in 1949 after the British

Bad Bargain Made In Holdup Attempt

LOS ANGELES—(P)—This holdup man struck a bad bargain. He dipped into the service station till for a handful of small cash. But when he ordered Manager Philip Nightengale to lie on the floor, the latter wrestled his gun away from him.

"Now you march," Nightengale said he told the hold-upper.
"Yes sir," said the ex-gunner, taking off on the run as Nightengale missed with two shots. He also left his hat—and his car.

National Service Insurance Plan Junking Is Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Congressional committee proposed yesterday that Congress junk the present insurance program for military personnel as "inequitable, relatively inefficient, and costly."

Instead, the House committee on expenditures in executive departments suggested a cost-free life indemnity for all in the armed forces.

The committee adopted unanimously a 68-page, often critical report drafted by a subcommittee headed by Rep. Hardy (D-Va.) on the operations and cost of the Veterans Administration National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) program.

The report described NSLI as "more gratuitous than insurance." The insurance part of the program protects policyholders only against normal civilian risk involving death or total disability, the report pointed out. The government, not the insurance fund, pays claims determined by the VA to be a result of the extra hazard of military service.

The report said it would be "more just and more in keeping with the principles of democratic government to provide for all who may suffer death or total disability equal protection by a gratuity indemnity."

The report stressed that existing NSLI policies are "definite, irrevocable contracts" that cannot be invalidated by the government. But it added there is no reason why the government cannot set a "cut-off" date for taking out NSLI policies and a deadline for converting outstanding term policies to a permanent form of insurance.

LITTLE DOC

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

XL
ALTHOUGH Dusty Rhodes was wounded, he wasn't hurt badly and, while he had obviously come to see Little Doc to have the wound dressed, the doctor knew that there was another reason for his being here.

Toad had witnessed the little scene in front of the office when Little Doc had kissed Kit. Toad, who had reason to hate Little Doc and Dusty Rhodes as well, would have not been the man to keep silent about it. The story could have been embellished and repeated to Dusty in such a way that Dusty's feelings toward Little Doc would not be charitable, to say the least. And Toad would be very happy if Dusty shot up Doc and went to jail for it.

Dusty eyed Little Doc a moment and then stepped into the office. "You beat me back to town, Doc," he drawled. "But I'm glad you did. I got a little job for you—providin' my credit's still good. I ain't even paid you for the last time you patched me up."

The grin remained on Dusty's mouth but his eyes were not smiling. "Let's take off your shirt and see what's what," Little Doc said. He helped the cowpuncher shed his shirt. Then he sponged the bullet rip below Dusty's shoulder muscle. "Nor bad," said Little Doc, crossing the room to get his antiseptic solution from the medicine cabinet. "We'll have you fixed up so you can go back to the round-up."

"I knew it wasn't bad, Doc," Dusty spoke again. He eyed the room. "Say! You sure got the Old Whitehouse swamped out, Doc. Dutch John told me you've been busy as a bird dog, too. Night and day, he said. You must be makin' money."

"Not money, but a living," said Doc, spilling a little of the antiseptic on some cotton. "Very few people pay me in cash, you know. But I get goods and services aplenty." He grinned a little as he applied antiseptic to the wound. "But I hadn't thought about the money end of it. All money is good for is to buy medicine and supplies from the druggist over in Glasgow. My patients give me everything else I need. My credit's still good with the druggist."

DUSTY RHODES winced as the antiseptic bit into his raw wound. Then he said, "How do you expect to pay the druggist and support a wife besides, Doc?" His voice had lost its drawl.

"Wife? What wife, Dusty?"

"You know what wife. Quit stallin'. We're talking about Kit." Doc took a roll of bandages out of his bag and started to apply it to Dusty's wound. "Kit doesn't want to marry me, Dusty," he said. "She likes somebody else better."

"Someone else?" Dusty's voice was incredulous.

"Yes, Dusty. She's waiting for you now, over at her house," Doc said, fastening the bandage with adhesive tape. "There, your arm's fixed. You'd better get over there right away and see her."

Dusty thumbed back the hat off his sweat-matted hair. "Let me get this straight, Doc." "There's nothing to get straight, Dusty. Kit likes you better. She told me so. You're getting a mighty fine girl for a wife, Dusty. The best there is, in my book."

Dusty seized Doc's hand and pumped vigorously. "Honest! Why, I've asked that girl to marry me so many times that I've lost count. Why didn't she say yes?"

"Maybe she didn't know till she had someone else around for comparison," Doc replied. "Ask her again and she'll take you up on it."

"I'm glad that slimy Toad was lyin' when he told me I'd lost my girl," Dusty looked up at Little

Doc again. "Can I borrow a shirt, Doc. I'm in a hurry."

"Sure," said Doc. "P-uh, spill the news. What happened to Toad?"

"Constable Butch Bell found a cabin with a dead man inside. Me and Toad were lookin' for Long Andy and so it wasn't accidental when we found him. It turned out to be a little gun ruckus. Long Andy hated the sneaking Toad and shot him on sight, but Toad lasted long enough to put a bullet in Long Andy's head. During the smoke, I got nixed in the arm by a stray chunk of lead. I left Butch to bring in the two dead men, while I got patched up. And—" Dusty paused, "—and I wanted to ask you a question or two, but I've got the answers now."

"Toad cheated Kit out of her hotel," Doc said.

"Yes, Butch told me," said Dusty. "And the deal was a fraud. Kit will get back the hotel. It seems that Blackjack Lambert forged some L.O.U.'s and told her they were given to him by her father for gambling debts to him and Toad. I shot Blackjack that night and that's partly the reason, but he was tryin' to cold-deck me in a game too. Toad took the L.O.U.'s to Kit and she gave him the hotel."

"And yet you let Toad tell you things about Kit," Doc said.

"When a man don't use common sense," said Dusty.

BROWNE appeared just as Little Doc found a clean shirt for Dusty, and added:

"Browne wants a job patchin' cows, Dusty. He's a friend of mine."

"If you're a friend of Doc's you got the job, Browne," said Dusty.

Browne shook his head. "No, Mr. Rhodes, I can't take it. I throwed in with Long Andy and Shorty on a horse-stealing deal."

"You must've had a good reason."

"He was broke and he had a wife and baby in Chinook," Doc explained.

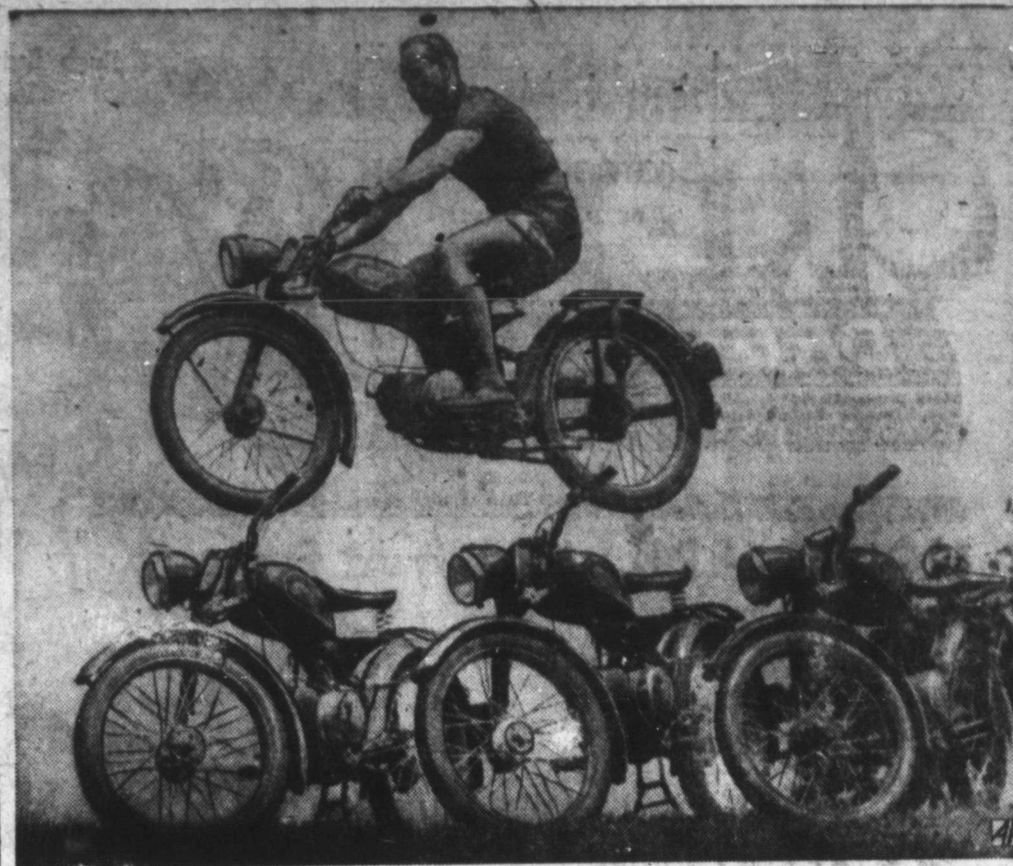

"But you won't want to hire a horse thief, Mr. Rhodes," said Browne.

Turkey Dealers Acquitted of Fraud Charges

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday cleared two turkey dealers of fraud charges and reduced a jury verdict of damages against them by $13,390.

The court upheld only one part of a verdict against Mr. and Mrs. John C. Faust, defendants in the so-called "turkey egg" case.

Charges of fraud against the pair were filed by T. A. Garrett and his wife, Elizabeth, owners of the Garrett Turkey Ranch in Highland, Texas. The Garretts filed suit for $36,000 damages.

A jury in February, 1949, ordered the Fausts to pay $13,390 for alleged "false representations" and $3,600 for eggs they had received.

The circuit court ruled that only the $3,600 judgment awarded by the jury could stand.

In an opinion written by Albert B. Maris the court held there was not a "scintilla of evidence" to support the charges of misrepresentation.

"A careful study of the record satisfies us that the plaintiffs wholly failed to produce evidence that any of the foregoing statements by Faust were untrue, let alone fraudulent."

The Fausts, who operate the Ephrata Hatcheries in Pennsylvania's Lancaster County, deceived and defrauded them in a series of deals in 1945. They charged, too, that the Fausts broke contracts under which they were to take the entire egg output of the Garrett ranch for 1945.

The Fausts were acquitted, at another trial, of criminal charges of using the mails to defraud scores of turkey farmers in the South and Southwest.

Tightened Export Controls Due on More Commodities

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Commerce Department is preparing to tighten export controls over materials needed for big-scale arms production.

Secretary Sawyer, it was learned, shortly will announce the addition of a number of materials to the 800-odd commodities for which export licenses must be obtained.

This will provide data on the volume and type of materials flowing out of the country by October 1, quotas may be imposed on the shipment of those needed in the armament effort.

The decision marks a turning-point in U.S. policy. Since March, 1948, export control has been primarily a strategic weapon to bar the leak of war-potential goods to Russia and the Soviet satellites.

The moves now planned would restore export control to its purpose in World War II — to prevent a draining-off of materials needed for military and essential civilian goods.

The officials who gave this information did not disclose the probable list of items to be restored to control, nor could they guess the extent to which shipments might be cut down.

Until early 1948 about 2,300 types of commodities were controlled. The list has diminished steadily, until it now covers little except those "strategic items" which might help build the Russian war machine if they found their way behind the Iron Curtain.

The granting or denial of licenses therefore has become mainly a device for blocking war-potential shipments which might wind up in the Russian sphere, either through direct Soviet purchase or by transshipment through third countries.

About 35 percent of all 1949 American exports were subjected to such scrutiny. The proportion of trade moving under license had dropped to 22 percent by the end of the year. Bringing new commodities under licensing will not in itself cut down shipments. Officials said the curtailment will come if, by October 1, it is found that export quotas must be set on essential goods to keep domestic shortages from developing.

The impression was given that there would be little if any trimming of Marshall Plan shipments to Europe. The country is committed to keep the recovery program moving and, it was noted, most of the goods shipped under Marshall Plan grants are not of the type likely to be critically scarce here.

Union Picketing Another Union

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — The Building Service Employees Union is picketing the bakers union today because bakery workers have been washing windows and doing janitorial work for their employers.

Three pickets patrolled the sidewalk in front of bakers' hall. The Building Service Employees Union wants the bakers' union to switch its affiliation.

The bakers' union since 1938 has relegated to its beginners the task of cleaning and janitorial work while helping out with the baking.

One More Child Will Give Two Full Teams

POTTSVILLE, Pa. — (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Shaw of Mount Carbon, Pa., need one more child to have two full baseball teams.

Mrs. Shaw, who is 41, gave birth yesterday to her 17th child at Warne hospital.

Her seven other daughters and nine sons are all living. Their father is a night fireman at a Mount Carbon brewery.

Let's Have No More Surprises

When President Truman decided to intervene with armed forces in Korea, the American people were surprised. It was now quite clear that this view was very wrong. The northern Koreans themselves are quite a handful and that American forces are in for anything but a quick and easy victory.

How did we come to make such a mistake in judgment? Well, for one thing, the American people are likely to think pretty well of themselves and all things American. It is his not the most powerful nation on earth? Did it not whip two well prepared foes, one on each side of the world? Did it not conquer a backward people industrially and culturally? Very well then, let's get this disagreeable business over with.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—The old concept of a conservative Yankee Republican state is long out of date. Vermont is now a paradox, a left-wing state under nominal Republican administration.

A few citizens of Vermont who maintain the traditions of their state and the old principles of the Republican Party have tried for some time to call attention to the great change.

A farmer living not far from the newly-disclosed Communist center at Bethel and Randolph presents some views of an old-style Vermont Republican.

"This so-called rock-ribbed Republican state is represented by a left-winger in the Senate named Aiken," he writes. "Aiken stands without opposition in the Republican primaries in September."

The Vermont farmer who wrote his letter was not implying communism in his use of the term "left wing." He just meant something far to the left of the professed Republican character of the party. Indeed, although he realized that something was wrong, he did not know that a Communist colony had been corrupting the politics of the native Vermonters in a place less than an hour's drive from his farm.

He was surprised when he was told that John Abt, Nathan Witt, Le Pressman, Alger Hiss and Marie Bachrach were in the liberal sense of the word, his neighbors. Even if he had known they were his neighbors, this Vermont Republican farmer, like practically all other Americans, would not have remembered that Whittaker Chambers, in the testimony which eventually convicted Hiss of perjury with implications of treasonism, said:

"The head of the underground group was Nathan Witt. Later, John Abt became the leader. Le Pressman also was a member of this group, as was Alger Hiss." Or that Louis Budenz, the reformed Communist, testified that he personally knew Pressman, Abt and Witt to be members of the Communist party.

But Budenz said on oath: "Abt's sister, Marie Bachrach, was present in a number of party conferences as Abt's representative."

The Bachrach woman is cited four times previously in the records of the Committee on Un-American Activities and her name appears over articles in a monthly Communist magazine.

The genuine Republican senator from Wisconsin, Joe McCarthy, who is scorned as a worse influence than the Communist fifth column in one of these Vermont "Republican" editorials, disclosed a few days ago that he personally examined and checked and modified. And there is no public opinion because Americans have forgotten the motions of giving the foreign affairs the domain of some elite, the members of which are privileged to have information and knowledge which the citizen has not.

Many times these columns have criticized the Washington authorities for lack of candor in matters of foreign policy; for being too greatly inclined to give only such information that supports their own actions and the policies which they want to follow. We think that criticism is valid. But it is also true that Washington could not pursue such a course if there was an alert country demanding the facts.

There was probably not one American out of ten who could tell what this country had done in Korea, if more had taken the trouble to know, more would have known that the policy was mostly no policy at all. But Korea is far away. It is, of course, but that kid down the street can get shot there.

Export-Import Bank says it has never made any loans to Australia, has no application on file to make one now. The Labor government talked a little about a loan after the war. Nothing came of it.

But a situation making a loan awfully convenient has been building up in Australia since the war. The sum and substance of it is that while Australia has big surpluses of pounds sterling and Australian pounds, she is short of dollars. And there are a lot of things Australia wants to buy, which can be bought only with dollars.

For the first ten months of the Australian fiscal year, which ends in June, Australia imported $95,000,000 worth of American products and sold the U. S. only $90,000,000 worth of Australian products. For the corresponding period of the years before, imports were $74,000,000 and exports only $45,000,000.

Owen Lattimore, whose notoriety needs review just here, had bought a joint interest in a dwelling at Bethel, Vt., with a character known as Vilhjalmur Stefansson. This is the Scandinavian equivalent of William Stevenson, a Stefansson was known to some of his schoolmates at the University of North Dakota many years ago. His career there was turbulent. He is cited more than 30 times in the records of the Committee on Un-American Activities.

Not only did Lattimore buy an interest in Stefansson's dwelling in a backwoods Vermont spot where Abt, Hiss, Pressman, Witt and Bachrach had settled, but less than three months later he sold it to a buyer described as a prominent Communist.

In Congress, Senator McCarthy called Lattimore "the top Russian espionage agent in this country." The Tydings Committee, trying to vindicate President Truman's red-herring, absolved him of culpable connection with Communists.

And who bought Lattimore's interest in the House? Senator McCarthy identified the purchasers as Orday and Mary Southard, and said Orday had been the Communist candidate for governor and his wife a Communist candidate for state senator in Alabama in 1942.

The Associated Press reported that Lattimore said "the property was sold to a complete stranger about whom I knew nothing."

Continuing his letter, the puzzled Vermont farmer writes that "many Vermonters with whom I have talked didn't know that Le Pressman was among the few Republicans who held out to the end for OPA price controls and rationing. Aiken favored the C.I.O. He is worth a dozen Democrats to Truman, who repaid some of the debt by appointing Republican ex-governor Ernest W. Gibson, an Aiken protégé, judge of the federal court."

This is the judge who would have tried Alger Hiss had a change of venue been granted from New York to Vermont where the Communists, up to the time undisclosed and operating in stealth, almost certainly would have been able to plant at least one of their own on the jury.

Bid For A Smile

Mother—How do you know that Martin is in love with you, Doris? Has he told you? Daughter—No, mother, but you should see the way he looks at me when I'm not looking at him.

A school presided over by a very harsh and bad-tempered teacher had a visit one afternoon from the bishop of the diocese. The bishop, a genial soul, called before him a white-faced urchin who was very much cowed and depressed. An undesired punishment he had received that morning.

Bishop—My boy, who made this great and glorious earth of ours, set the sun, moon, and stars in the wonderful firmament. The white-faced boy—Yes, but I won't do it again.

Mistress (severely)—If this occurs again, Jane, I shall be compelled to get another servant. Jane—I wish you would, mum, there's quite enough work for two of us.

Diner, in Middle European restaurant—Hungry up, I'm hungry enough to eat a horse. Waiter (under breath)—You've come to the right place, sir.

Pat's wife was suing him for maintenance. Jury Foreman—We have decided to award you $100 a month. Pat—That's fine of you. I'll see if I can add a quarter or two now and then.

Friend—Do you believe in telepathy? Man—Well, two days ago a man paid me a hundred dollars he owed me, and this morning he got a letter from my wife demanding a hundred.

There are all U. S. Department of Commerce figures. GETTING PROUD OUT Australia licenses its imports, in order to conserve dollars. But some things like tin plate, sulphur, and machinery, Australia can buy from no other country.

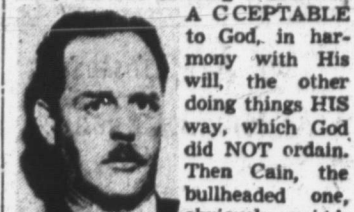

Australia has been a big buyer of U. S. tractors, imports this year running to $27,000,000. Australia's shortage of dollars has made it extremely difficult for American companies to get their profits out of Australia.

Moving picture companies are believed to be the biggest sufferers. Since 1946 they have been permitted to take only 50 percent of their earnings in dollars. Last year moving picture earnings in Australia were estimated at around $6,000,000. U. S. movie makers are now considering producing pictures in Australia, to use up their frozen funds.

Am My Brother's Keeper

BY DAVID BAXTER

The story of Cain and Abel in the Bible has to do with two men, the one offering a sacrifice to God, in harmony with His will, the other doing things His way, which God did NOT ordain.

Then Cain, the bulheaded one, obviously with his superior PHYSICAL but not spiritual or moral strength, went into a tantrum and killed his brother, Abel.

As far as I know, Cain didn't have anything on some of his brethren of our day and age—those superior souls who collectively get together and, under the leadership of political devils, vote their immoral dictatorships on the rest of us. That's no fib. Roosevelt was elected President four times by whopping majorities, so there simply must be a whopping majority of silly asses somewhere amongst us. This same crackpot majority was responsible for electing congressional leaders (?) who at one swipe abolished the entire independence of the nation.

Giving themselves the power to tax the incomes of the citizenry. There being absolute NO LIMIT to the amount Congress can take your income they can take it ALL if they want to. The fact that they only take part of it doesn't mean that they do not have the POWER to take it all. They limit themselves, of course. Even a greedy politician has sense enough to know that if he takes your money away from you, you haven't any more left for him to get—in which case he might have to come down to your level and go to work for a living. It's better to take just as much as he thinks he can safely get away with and still leave you some small means of earning more, lest he kill the geese that lays the golden egg. If you yelp loudly enough, he may even lower your taxes a bit and give you a little of the heat is off. He has a healthy respect for majorities, whom he always wants to keep on his side. Minorities, although they may be morally right, don't count. They can't elect anybody.

Well, there's your collective Cain. The principle of taking money—which he earned—away from a citizen for which little or no service is given in return, is wrong. The principle of forcibly taking one single penny or square inch of property away from a man who has earned it in order to force him to pay for services he doesn't want—such as the salaries of the alleged State Department homosexuals, for instance—and topheavy, bureaucratic government, is wrong. Which doesn't bother our political Cains in the least. Right or wrong, they're going to do it THEIR way. And they are killing their fellow men daily. Not physically, but in sucking the productive and financial blood from the veins of the people, big and little. No one feels like producing when every effort to do so is heavily penalized by every manner of injunction, tax, license, law, prohibition and financial blood-sucking. It hurts incentive, private initiative and independence. With the incentive to produce, which gets hurt so goes labor. When the producer slows down working men are out of a job.

When Cain killed Abel and God wanted to know where Abel was, Cain asked, "Am I my brother's keeper?" So far as I can discover, God didn't even answer him. However, the question that God Himself did not answer is brazenly answered in the affirmative by those who do it THEIR way. They'll keep their brother by voting to let him gamble or drink or keep all of the money or property he earned or make him pay for things THEY think he needs or tax him to death if they think he's making more money than is good for him and, to some extent, even what he may say or think. Modern Cains are KEEPING their brother, all right—in the same sense that you keep your title pooler rather than covered doghouse, with all the liberties he is entitled to, except for a chain around his neck. The whole thing is a liberty-destroying initiative force, as contrasted to the PERSUASIVE—never FORCED—influence and goodness of Jesus.

A weekly newspaper, catering to the religious bloodhounds, who in that particular instance, set themselves up as their brother's keeper by sanctioning and forcing legislation against gambling, actually went so far as to say editorially that "gambling was a worse menace than Communism. The paper, while solemnly pledging itself not to endorse candidates for public office, picked out a candidate for attorney-general and endorsed him because he wanted to get a majority to vote him in. "Love's Thou Me?" three times. "Love's Thou Me?" three times. Peter affirmed that he did. And three times Jesus told him, "Feed My Sheep." That was to be Peter's job. Yet, after these explicit instructions given to HIM as an individual, Peter still had a few nosey collective germs left in his system—the old "Am I my brother's keeper?" idea. So he looks around and sees young St. Louis. Then he asks Jesus, "Lord, WHAT SHALL THIS MAN DO?" Jesus' answer was, "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou Me."

Under the proposed reduction, the cheaper varieties would have retailed at a nickel less than the "big four." Treasury experts originally estimated that increased sales would have meant more rather than less revenue for the government, and statistics seemed to bear them out.

Had Mr. Doughton not have been able to force both Treasury statisticians and committee members to change their minds and votes, the "big four" would have been confronted with sharp competition from the independents.

In that event, it is doubtful if manufacturers of the more popular brands would have dared to increase costs. With take-home pay for millions of smokers sure to decline because of steeper income taxes and higher living costs, they might have shifted to the low-cost article. That is what they did in World War II.

INCREASE — The breakdown details of the new increase have certain interesting aspects, especially for chain-smokers whose addition to the weed never leads them to count the costs.

The "big four" upped the price. He does answer it for the benefit of other people who seek enlightenment on the subject. In the last chapter of the Gospel of St. John, Jesus, preparing for His ascension, asked Simon Peter three times, "Love's Thou Me?" three times. Peter affirmed that he did. And three times Jesus told him, "Feed My Sheep." That was to be Peter's job. Yet, after these explicit instructions given to HIM as an individual, Peter still had a few nosey collective germs left in his system—the old "Am I my brother's keeper?" idea. So he looks around and sees young St. Louis. Then he asks Jesus, "Lord, WHAT SHALL THIS MAN DO?" Jesus' answer was, "If I will that he tarry till I come, what is that to thee? Follow thou Me."

COMPETITION — But tobacco specialists doubt whether the "big four," for competitive reasons alone, would have dared to raise their prices overnight, and admitted that generally, the tax on the "economy brands" had been cut to only 4.9 cents per thousand from the seven cents now imposed on all brands, regardless of their retail selling figure.

National Whirligig news behind the news

WASHINGTON — "Old Bob" Doughton's successful, one-man fight against lowering the federal tax on the so-called "economy cigarettes" will also add to the annual bill which American smokers pay for "taking a treat instead of a treatment," according to Uncle Sam. Therefore, to make things easier for themselves, they raise the price per pack by one cent flat.

Divide 20, the number of cigarettes in a pack, into 308 billion, the number sold by the "big four" last year, and the total increased bill for smokers is approximately $182,500,000. Of this, about $99 million goes to the manufacturers, and $83.5 million to the retailers.

It has been whimsically suggested by his good friends on Capitol Hill that Mr. Doughton's nickname of "Muley Bob" be changed to "Cigaret Bob." Incidentally, he neither smokes nor drinks.

DAWDLING — The Senate's dawdling over passage of the packaged budget bill for the current year's appropriations has alarmed the executive branch of the government to a standstill. It has handicapped seriously various maneuvers for strengthening the United States in the Korean fray and in preparing for a possible showdown with Russia.

Almost every governmental department will receive additional funds for routine and emergency activities, if the measure gets through the Senate in the shape of the "Voice of America." But there may be many changes in the upper chamber's version, and even these may undergo modification in conference committee or in subsequent House-Senate action on the conference compromise.

POLITICS — As a result, nobody in the downtown offices dares to hire essential personnel, make radio contracts for the "Voice of America," engage new experts for the National Resources Security Board, Treasury, State, Commerce, Agriculture, etc. In short, weeks of delay faces strengthening of the home front in the current emergency because of senatorial indecision and politicking.

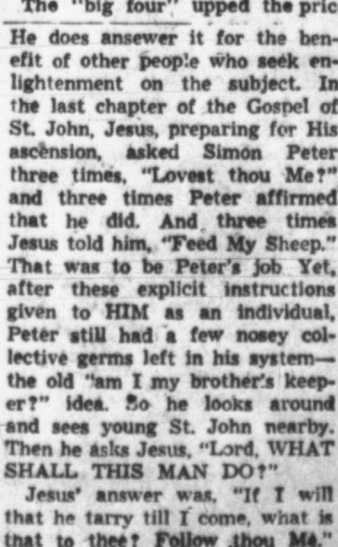

For some reason or other, although he knows the difficulties which this legislative dragging has caused, President Truman has not used his influence to speed action.

On both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue there seems to be no realization that, once again, it is a question of "too little and too late." Both Congress and the White House, both Republicans and Democrats, are responsible for this "politics as usual" attitude and supineness.

WHISTLING LANGUAGE — On the island of Gomera, one of the Canary group, the inhabitants have a language that is carried on entirely by whistling. Through its use, lonely gatherers out on the mountain peaks make conversation with other gatherers on distant peaks.

COMPLICATED — The name "Russia" seems to be a corruption of the Finnish name for the Swedes, and meant "seafarer," according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

KING'S COMMENTS

By DR. WILLFORD L. KING, Nationally Recognized Economist, Economics Professor Emeritus, New York University

PLANNING FOR SECURITY—1950 MODEL

To safeguard us against early defeat in World War III, our State and War Departments are urging Congress to appropriate for coming fiscal year $1,222,500,000 to aid our allies in strengthening their defenses against Russia. This amount represents roughly $35 for each American family—a sizable sum! However, if we can really purchase security at that price, few of us will begrudge the cost.

But will this $35 per capita family expenditure really buy us security? Many of us remember that, after World War I, the French spent vast sums building the supposedly impregnable Maginot Line. When Hitler's army attacked the Maginot Line, it was overrun within a few days. Why? Mainly because the weapons of World War I had become obsolete before World War II. And it is not now evident that many of the weapons of World War II will likewise be obsolete when World War III arrives?

Suppose, for example, that, as Dr. Vannevar Bush suggests, our European allies are supplied with plenty of field artillery, land mines, and improved bazooka anti-tank guns. Exactly how will such armament prevent the approach to our coast of Russian submarines laden with atomic bombs? How will it hamper their long-range bombers carrying similar cargoes? Echo answers: "How?"

But perhaps our inability to answer these questions is the result of our lack of understanding of the new concepts of military strategy which our authorities in Washington seem to have evolved. In bygone days, it was considered definitely undesirable to have the enemy occupy the territory held by one's allies. But, under the new strategy, we have acquiesced in Russia's seizure of the Baltic States, Poland, Czechoslovakia, the Balkans and China on the hypothesis that our enemy will be so encumbered with men and resources that he will find it impossible to fight effectively.

Our old-time military authorities always suffered from the illusion that war should be fought on the enemy's territory, hence they believed in strenuous defense of all outposts. Our present Washington experts recognize, however, the desirability of getting the enemy to extend his lines as much as possible. They therefore are willing to abandon Formosa, South Korea, and probably the Philippines and Japan, in order to assure that our fighting will be at home, close to our sources of supply.

On the basis of incontrovertible evidence, it is also coming to be clear that our old-time strategists were sadly lacking in chivalry, for they actually advocated striking the enemy while he was weak. But no such charge can be leveled against our statesmen of today. They insist that, at all costs, the war must remain "cold" until Russia feels that she is completely ready in all respects. Then, even if we are conquered, we can say with a clear conscience that we never took advantage of the enemy in any way. Think what a comfort that will be to those of our young men who find in Russian concentration camps months and years in which to meditate.

An interesting development in what Representative Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut terms our "peace through strength" policy is the emphasis which is now being laid upon planning for World War III. It is hoped that, by 1952, plans will have been perfected for removing our major industries from our great cities to rural regions—perhaps placing the factories beneath the ground. Under stress, such a program might be pretty well completed by the end of the century. But suppose the atomic bombs drop in 1951! Just at present, the planners are concerning themselves mainly with the problem of what to do after Russia drops some of her atomic bombs on our cities. Paul J. Larsen, head of the Office of Civilian Mobilization, is busy figuring out the best procedure to follow after the bombing has taken place, in order to maintain order, control fires, care for the injured, prevent epidemics, and restore public services. All of this planning is apparently based upon the assumption that the Russians will be considerate and drop one medium-sized atomic bomb on each large city.

But suppose they should thoughtlessly drop several on the New York metropolitan area. It is very comforting to those of us who live in that city to know that months, or perhaps years in the future, when the deadly radiation has faded away, well-organized groups of researchers will rake through our ashes and wonder just who used to live here. But will the researchers be Americans or Russians?

And suppose, also, that several atomic bombs explode in Washington and its environs. Then any mortal eyes surviving will see nothing but desolation where once our beautiful capital city stood; but, perhaps the President and his Cabinet will later gather in some astral sphere and explain to one another that all their plans would have worked out perfectly, if only the Russians had "played fair."

All in all, ain't modern planning for peace—permanent peace—wonderful?

Ironie note to Jane Cowell's death. One of her last acting jobs was a death scene in "No Man of Her Own"... Milton Berle and Warner Brothers are going round and round over whether he'll star in another movie. "Always Leave Them Laughing" stuffed the green backs into Uncle Miltie's pockets, but not Warner's... Steve Brodie, ex-husband of Lois Andrews, will marry Barbara Stanwick, widow of Jan Cavitt, when he completes his tough cop role in "M."

Julie Bishop's prize crack about television: "It's like summer stock—only autumn never comes."

Miriam Hopkins, talking about how men can't be trusted, has this prize: Charley Brackett line in "The Matting Season". "I once knew a brigadier general who couldn't be trusted alone in a room with a French telephone."

Producer Aubrey Schenck is talking bows for his latest hit, "Wyoming Mail." He broke all the accepted rules. He dug up the story from one of his children's history books, filmed it in brittle documentary style, used color in low key and cast the supposedly cold Alexis-Smith as a torrid western tamale.

Maternity Clothes Fit in Wardrobe

Maternity clothes she wore before her new son was born are still in actress Jane Greer's post-pregnancy wardrobe—after a few changes were made. The skirt at left was slimmed down by cutting out excess "expansion" fabric and seaming up the sides. The boxy blue linen suit jacket at right was belted at the waist to give it a bloused silhouette currently seen in many new fashions.

By JANE GREER

Written for NEA Service
What to do with maternity clothes after the baby arrives? After wearing them constantly for several months, the urge to bury them in the attic is understandable but uneconomical in these days of high costs.

The clothes I wore while I was pregnant were easy to convert to flatter my new slim figure after my baby was born. Naturally, as an actress, I have an extensive wardrobe, but I liked some of the maternity clothes so well I was proud to add them to my new post-pregnancy outfits.

A favorite dark blue linen suit, for example, needed only a few changes to give it a brand-new appeal. The skirt, which had an expandable drawstring waistband, was slimmed down by cutting out the excess fabric from hip to waist and seaming up the sides. To convert the boxy jacket, I belted it tightly around the waist with a patent leather belt. This gives it the bloused silhouette you see in many new fashions.

A trick I'd like to pass on to other new mothers is to bob off the boxy jackets that have an unmistakably "maternity" look to them. The length that concealed, our expanding figures so obligingly is often too long to be smart when concealment is no longer necessary. I shortened my colorful butcher-boy jackets about two inches. These are still serving as bright toppers for separate skirts and slacks.

Another jacket which was quite full, I changed in a different way. I had the straight front fitted in at the waist and hip-line. Then I cut slots in the side seams and threaded a belt through so that it was under the jacket in back. When the belt is buckled, the jacket has a slim line in front and the back flares cape-style.

High-heeled shoes, which had been taboo during my pregnancy, were shined up ready for wear. But the doctor curbed my enthusiasm on that score. He told me to save my high-heeled pumps and sandals for dress-up occasions.

So my low-heeled one-strap shoes—my constant companions during pregnancy—stayed on the job during the four months after the baby came. It's true that we spend a good deal of time standing or walking and that low-heeled shoes cradle the feet more comfortably. The doctor also pointed out that shoes with medium or low heels are less apt to cause poor posture, which is a major cause of fatigue.

But I do slip into my prettiest pumps when we invite friends over for dinner.

Altogether, about 70 members of the family gathered for the reunion and lunch in the park.

LUNCH BACON, EGGS

Bacon and scrambled eggs are a typical breakfast treat. But to turn this combination into a lunch or supper main dish provide a side dish of thick mushroom sauce or tangy Spanish sauce.

Two Are Hostesses At Miami Luncheon

MIAMI — (Special) — Mrs. Matt Day, assisted by Mrs. J. W. Thompson, was hostess at a luncheon, in her home, Friday afternoon. A profusion of garden flowers was used in decoration. After the luncheon, consisting of a salad and a dessert course, was served, the afternoon was spent in playing canasta. Those present were Meses. Ed Daugherty, James Flowers, Bryant Flowers, Randall Gill, Bill Gill, Bill Cox, D. J. Faggard, J. D. Paris, Wallace Locke, John Pennington, and the hostesses.

France Debates Token Support

PARIS — (AP) — French government leaders are debating sending a "token battalion" of troops to fight under the United Nations flag in Korea, a spokesman said today.

French sources said the main obstacle to dispatching French troops to Korea is France's "own dire need of military strength in Asia."

France has been fighting a guerrilla war for five years against Communist-led troops in Indochina, and has some 140,000 troops stationed there.

Birthday Dinner Is Compliment To Three Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Flue, 833 S. Nelson, were host and hostess to a birthday dinner honoring three last Sunday. Guests of honor were the Flues' son, LeRoy Jones, their daughter, Bette Jordan, and a friend, Betty Glascock.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Marion Husted, Groom; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Babcock, and two sons, Don and Ronny, and two daughters, Joy and Tommie, of Groom; Mrs. Tom O. Kirby, Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Byars, Clarendon; Mr. and Mrs. Jean Collins and daughter Kathy, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jordan and two daughters, Glens Rustine and Glens Beatrice, all of Amarillo.

Mrs. J. P. Dunn, Mrs. Mary Rainbolt, Mrs. Lizzie Ashley, Miss Katie Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Ritter and son, Libbern, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Gillon, and daughter Lona Sue; all of Pampa; Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Jones and son, Geary, Borger; Mr. and Mrs. George Glascock and two sons, Mike and Gerald, Phillips.

The lace covered table held three birthday cakes. One was iced in cream color with blue decorations; one was white trimmed in yellow, and the other was white with pink decorations. Dinner was served buffet style.

POWERFUL BOLT

Two birds with one stone is exceptional; but one bolt of lightning killed 1500 sparrows at Clarendon Va., in 1931. The birds were perched on an electric light wire when the lightning struck.

KILLED BY VACUUM

Many soldiers killed by shells during World War I showed no wounds and were not even hit. The high explosive shells created a partial vacuum around their bodies, causing instant death.

Cobbler Is Ideal Summer Dessert

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Staff Writer
Here's a pleasant summer picture — an oblong heat-resistant glass utility dish filled with pineapple cherry cobbler. And on top of each individual cobbler goes a large scoop of bulk ice cream. Interested?

Pineapple Cherry Cobbler

a la Mode
(Serves 6)

One quart vanilla ice cream (bulk), 6 slices canned pineapple, 2 cups canned pitted sour cherries, drained; 1-2 cup chopped nut meats, 2 cups sifted flour, 1-2 cup sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, pinch of salt, 1-4 cup butter, 1-2 cup milk, 1 egg, beaten.

Place ice cream in freezing compartment of the refrigerator until ready to use. Arrange pineapple slices and cherries in a buttered 2-quart heat-resistant glass utility dish. Sprinkle with chopped nut meats.

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder and salt together. Cut butter into flour mixture until particles are the size of small peas. Combine milk and beaten egg. Stir into flour mixture mixing just enough to dampen the dry ingredients. Pat dough out lightly on a flour-dusted board about 1-4-inch thick. Cut into 6 rounds with a 3-inch biscuit cutter.

Place rounds on top of cherries in approximately the same position as the pineapple slices. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for one hour. When serving, invert each serving so that the biscuit is on the bottom. Top with a large scoop of ice cream.

Apple Cheese Crisp

(Serves 8)

Five cups sliced apples, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-2 cup grated Cheddar cheese, 2-3 cup sugar, 2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup uncooked oatmeal, 1-4 c u butter.

Arrange apple slices in a greased 10-inch heat-resistant glass fluted edge pie plate. Pour lemon juice over apples. Combine cheese, sugar, spices, salt, oatmeal and shortening; mix thoroughly. Spread over apple slices. Bake about 30 minutes in moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Serve hot or cold.

You are introducing a girl and a boy.
WRONG: Say, "Bob, this is Helen Brown."
RIGHT: Say, "Helen, I want you to know Bob Smith, Helen Brown." (The girl's name should be spoken first.)

When a guest in another's home you are offered a cocktail.
WRONG: Say, "I don't drink."
RIGHT: Say, "No thank you," as the other reply is likely to sound disapproving.

Firemen Preparing For Any Emergency

BOWLING GREEN, Md. — (AP) — The Bowling Green volunteer fire company's baby contest Aug. 16 is being planned down to the last detail.

Seven experienced baby-sitters will be on hand.

And there will be a booth, manned by trained personnel of a diaper service, to deal with all eventualities.

Without Painful Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 40 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Grace Friend

GRACIOUS ACT

Dear Grace:
A new family has moved into our neighborhood and I should like very much to call on Mrs. J. But as I am shy and the prospect of starting a conversation with a stranger to whom I have never been introduced frightens me.

She has two children and so do I so we could talk about them I suppose, once we got started.

But, Grace, how do I get started?

Mrs. M.

Dear Mrs. M.
Start in the easiest possible way—ring her doorbell, when she comes to the door, say "Good Morning, I am Mrs. M. I live in the green house across the street."

She will ask you in and you will be astonished at the ease with which you converse with her.

Naturally you will talk about your children and perhaps you can give her information about play grounds or swimming pools with which she might not be familiar yet.

Before you know it you will be off on other subjects.

Don't stay too long and when you leave, ask her to call on you and arrange for your children to play together soon and you will find yourself with a new friend.

I am glad that you want to call on your neighbor as too often new families move into a neighborhood in which people busy with their own affairs, don't take time to notice them.

FRENCH SANDWICHES ...
Here's an unusual dish using that leftover cooked roast in your refrigerator. Grind meat and combine with a can of cream of mushroom soup. Spread between slices of bread, dip the sandwiches in a French toast mixture and brown on both sides in hot fat.

SLOW PANBROILING
To cook a thin tender beef steak, place it in a frying-pan without additional fat. Let it sizzle, place it in a frying-pan and pouring off the excess fat as it accumulates in the pan. When browned on both sides, season and serve immediately.

lengthened, then shortened to keep up with the changing styles. And suppose you went through endless hours of shopping to replace garments arbitrarily made obsolete by a group of women who had decided that men were too satisfied with the clothes they had.

Ridiculous, isn't it, Mr. Puckett? You men wouldn't put up with it for a minute, would you? Well, then, why pick on us women?

If we're satisfied with what we've got in the closet, don't start in trying to make us unhappy. Not having a thing to wear isn't as funny as you men think. It's downright tragic, that's what. So no more "new looks" please. Let us alone and we'll soon enough wear out the clothes we are now so happy with, the way you men have a chance to wear out yours.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars. You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflo Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room, all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflo Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices, a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only Buick has Dynaflo Drive and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models) • NEW PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD front-end, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, low over-all height for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher. *Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

FOUR-WAY FOREFRONT—This rugged front end (1) sets the style note, (2) saves on repair costs—vertical bars are individually replaceable, (3) avoids "locking horns," (4) makes parking and garaging easier.

Shamrock Band Set For Parade Entry

The Shamrock Irish Band, under the direction of Ray L. Showalter, will participate in the Top of Texas parade next Wednesday, according to Paul Crouch, parade marshal. The band will be the guest of the rodeo association for the first performance, as will other visiting bands.

Some of the early entries in the parade include, besides the Shamrock band and the Harvester band, the 20-30 Club, Royal Neighbors of America, Noblitt Coffey Pontiac, and Price Greenhouse.

Gold statue trophies will be presented to the best organizational entry and the most typical ranch entry, Crouch said.

The parade will form on W. Foster at 3:15 p.m. and will move at 4 p.m.

Former Pitcher Faces Charges Of Manslaughter

RED BLUFF, Calif. — (AP) — One-time Cincinnati Reds baseball pitcher Lee Grissom faces a manslaughter charge after a man he allegedly hit in a bar died of a fractured skull.

Sheriff James N. Froome said the incident occurred Sunday night at a tavern in nearby Tehama. Warren Sherman, 27, died of injuries which the sheriff said were received at the time.

Grissom, married and presently working as a rancher and truck driver, left the major leagues in 1942 to join the Army.

He was with the Cincinnati Reds in the '30's and won 12 games with the Reds' second division team. In 1937 he was selected on the National League's All-Star team that year.

In 1939, the Reds traded him to the New York Yankees. He subsequently played with both the Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn.

Crosby Began Yearly Move Of Stars to Seaside Town

By BOB MYERS (For BOB THOMAS)

DEL MAR, Calif. — (AP) — At this time each summer, this little hamlet by the sea wakes up and finds it is practically a suburb of Hollywood, peopled by many famous, odd and unusual characters from the movie capital 100 miles to the north.

The celebrities come here to vacation and bet on the horses running at the Del Mar race track.

They vacation by morning strolling along the beaches and private swimming pools, basking in the sun, and you haven't seen anything yet until you see Al Jolson or Chico Marx in shorts.

Or, for that matter, Betty Grable, if you care for a contrast.

Betty's frenzied activity each afternoon in trying to pick a winner, the pace is uncommonly leisurely and slow; matching, as it does, the quaint Del Mar telephone system. It takes longer to get room service at Del Mar than it does to pick a winner at the track, and there have been instances where visitors left without consummating a deal in either department. Comedian Joe Frisco, they say, was one.

Del Mar is used to the famous alk, however, and can thank or ensure a man named Bing Crosby for the situation. He introduced Del Mar to the stars, and vice versa, for better or worse.

The first meeting was nearly 15 years ago, when Del Mar started his golf tournaments down here. The nation's leading golfers competed, and after a fashion, so did his cronies from Hollywood.

The nearby Rancho Santa Fe course, in fact, still bears the scars where Bob Burns applied his Ozark golfing methods. And the natives swear there are small trees and thickets bordering one fairway that have never regrown where Johnny Weismuller blazed a masher trail one afternoon searching for a lost ball.

Then about 11 years ago the race track was built and Crosby became president. Pat O'Brien was his vice president, and tourists entering the gates were often dumbfounded when they were greeted personally by both Bing and O'Brien.

The 1906 Boston Red Sox lost 20 games in a row, 19 of them at home.

Shamrock Band Set For Parade Entry

The Shamrock Irish Band, under the direction of Ray L. Showalter, will participate in the Top of Texas parade next Wednesday, according to Paul Crouch, parade marshal. The band will be the guest of the rodeo association for the first performance, as will other visiting bands. Some of the early entries in the parade include, besides the Shamrock band and the Harvester band, the 20-30 Club, Royal Neighbors of America, Noblitt Coffey Pontiac, and Price Greenhouse. Gold statue trophies will be presented to the best organizational entry and the most typical ranch entry, Crouch said. The parade will form on W. Foster at 3:15 p.m. and will move at 4 p.m. Banana is a harbor town in the Belgian Congo, one of the country's most important trading centers.

Former Pitcher Faces Charges Of Manslaughter

RED BLUFF, Calif. — (AP) — One-time Cincinnati Reds baseball pitcher Lee Grissom faces a manslaughter charge after a man he allegedly hit in a bar died of a fractured skull. Sheriff James N. Proome said the incident occurred Sunday night at a tavern in nearby Tehama. Warren Sherman, 27, died of injuries which the sheriff said were received at the time. Grissom, married and presently working as a rancher and truck driver, left the major leagues in 1942 to join the Army. He was with the Cincinnati Reds in the '30's and won 12 games with the Reds' second division team. In 1937 he was selected on the National League's All-Star team that year. In 1939, the Reds traded him to the New York Yankees. He subsequently played with both the Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn.

Crosby Began Yearly Move Of Stars To Seaside Town

By BOB MYERS (For BOB THOMAS) DEL MAR, Calif. — (AP) — At this time each summer, this little hamlet by the sea wakes up and finds it is practically a suburb of Hollywood, peopled by many famous, odd and unusual characters from the movie capital 100 miles to the north. The celebrities come here to vacation and bet on the horses running at the Del Mar race track. They vacation by morning, strolling about the beaches and private swimming pools, basking in the sun, and you haven't seen anything yet until you see Al Jolson or Chico Marx in shorts. Or, for that matter, Betty Grable, if you care for a contrast. Barri — the frenzied activity each afternoon in trying to pick a winner, the race is uncommonly leisurely and slow; matching, as it does, the quaint Del Mar telephone system. It takes longer to get room service at Del Mar than it does to pick a winner at the track, and there have been instances where visitors left without consummating a deal in either department. Comedian Joe Frisco, they say, was one. Del Mar is used to the famous folk, however, and can thank or censure a man named Bing Crosby for the situation. He introduced Del Mar to the stars, and vice versa, for better or worse. The first meeting was nearly 15 years ago, when Del Mar started his golf tournaments down here. The nation's leading golfers competed, and after a fashion, so did his cronies from Hollywood. The nearby Rancho Santa Fe course, in fact, still bears the scars where Bob Burns applied his Ozark golfing methods. And the natives swear there are small trees and thickets bordering one fairway that have never regrown where Johnny Weismuller blazed a maulie trail one afternoon searching for a lost ball. Then about 11 years ago the race track was built and Crosby became president. Pat O'Brien was his vice president, and tourists entering the gates were often dumbfounded when they were greeted personally by both Bing and O'Brien. The 1906 Boston Red Sox lost 20 games in a row, 19 of them at home.

Price Daniel Names New First Assistant

AUSTIN — (AP) — Attorney General Price Daniel has named Charles D. Mathews of Lubbock as his first assistant. He has been executive assistant. Mathews will succeed Joe R. Greenhill, who resigned to enter law practice here. Mathews has been an assistant throughout Daniel's administration which began Jan. 1, 1947.

Death Ends Career Of Labor Mediator

FRACKVILLE, Pa. — (AP) — James F. Dewey, 63, a federal labor mediator who acted as peacemaker in some of the nation's most bitter strikes, died today. To his credit were these strike-ending projects: The walkout of 175,000 CIO workers at General Motors plants in 1946. A 10-day strike at the Ford Motor Co. in 1941. The 1939 bituminous coal industry deadlock threatening a strike of 332,000 soft coal miners in John L. Lewis' union. Grissom, married and presently working as a rancher and truck driver, left the major leagues in 1942 to join the Army.

He was with the Cincinnati Reds in the '30's and won 12 games with the Reds' second division team. In 1937 he was selected on the National League's All-Star team that year.

In 1939, the Reds traded him to the New York Yankees. He subsequently played with both the Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn.

All-Stars to Start Trek to Oiler Park

Thirty-two West Texas-New Mexico League All-Stars will begin assembling in Pampa tonight for the annual All-Star game, tomorrow night in Oiler Park. Most of the stars will leave from wherever they happen to be playing immediately after tonight's game, so as to be able to rest all day tomorrow.

Seven members of the third-place Lubbock Hubbers, including playing-manager Jackie Sullivan, will compose the largest single representation. The Lamesa Lobos have five Southern players, the Oilers three, and the Abilene Blue Sox, only one.

The northern squad is made up of six players from the Berger Zippers, four from Albuquerque, and three each from Amarillo and Clovis.

There were three unanimous selections, all on the Southern squad. Roy Parker, Pampa pitcher, Eulis Rosson, Lamesa hurler, and Mike Dooley, Lubbock catcher, were the three without a vote against them.

Manager Hershel Martin, Albuquerque, was chosen by players to pilot the Yankees, while Sullivan will boss the South. Both were selected as players, also.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Leders Jewelry, Frank Dial Tire Co., and Richards Drug.

Dukes Even Series With 13 to 5 Win Over Lamesa Lobos

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — Albuquerque split the current series with Lamesa last night with one game to go, winning 13-5 to move within a game and a half of third place Lubbock.

Steve Lagomarsino gave up 12 hits on mound duty for the Dukes but kept them from scoring effectively enough so that the heavy Albuquerque hitting could produce the victory.

Albuquerque collected 17 hits off pitchers Fetzler and Ten, roaring into a four-run lead in the first inning. The other big Duke was the sixth when the Dukes collected five tallies.

Tam O'Shanter Has Pros Off At Daybreak

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
CHICAGO — (AP) — The $75,000 Tam O'Shanter gold jubilee became a milk wagon derby today. The main batch of 250 pros was forced to tee off at daybreak.

There was such a last minute rush of entries that Promoter George S. May had to revise his schedule for the first two days into a dawn-to-dusk affair.

With the exception of exempted players who were automatically awarded berths on the basis of past records, the horde of less fortunate pros were to tee off at the unheard-of hour of 6 a.m.

While roosters were crowing they started off on an 18-hole qualifying jaunt for 66 places open in the All-American tourney bracket.

So large was the field that extended qualifying trials were also set for tomorrow-morning. The 66 qualifiers and 29 hand-picked pros begin 72-hole medal play for the All-American pot of gold Saturday.

Meanwhile, the women and the men amateurs opened fire today. In all, more than 400 players were ready to uncork the biggest bombardment in golf history.

After today's early birds got started, the nation's best women pros and amateurs followed in their first round of tourney action. The bumper to bumper procession is expected to develop into a race against nightfall.

All of golf's shotmakers except Ben Hogan were on hand, favorites include Tam's own representative, Lloyd Mangrum, who is shooting for his third consecutive All-American title; the sensationally rising star, Jack Burke; British Open Champion Bobby Locke, the 1947 Tam titleist making his initial start on American fairways in a year; Sam Snead, and Jim Ferrier.

Snead, known to his friends as "Old Moneybags," entered the jackpot drive as the nation's top money winner with $26,223. Ferrier is second with $18,246, followed by Jim Demaret, with $14,676, and Mangrum with $12,855.

Most favorites agree that the winning score will be a round of 280, compared to the tourney record of 289 by Byron Nelson in 1945 and Mangrum's winning 276 of last year.

Mangrum has been posting the best practice rounds. He hammered a 68 yesterday. Patty Berg, carding a trial 71, has been made a co-favorite with Babe Zaharias in the pro women's ranks.

Parker Allows Seven Hits In Notching 22nd Victory

The chips were down last night, and the Pampa Oilers used lefty Roy Parker and Dick Dawson to deal plenty of misery to the Amarillo Gold Sox in the middle game of a three-game series in Oiler Park.

Dawson smacked a home run in the bottom half of the tenth inning to give the Oilers their second straight victory over the Amarillo Golden Hose, 6-5, as Parker handcuffed the Amarilloans on seven scattered hits in notching his 22nd victory of the campaign. The score was identical to the Tuesday night contest, giving Manager Crawford Howard his second loss after taking over the Sox managerial problems (with Pampa) and extending the Oiler winning streak to twelve straight.

The Oiler victory extended their league margin to four full games over the runner-up, Lamesa Lobos, and seven games over the third place Lubbock Hubbers.

Ray Faust, the Amarillo starter, and Parker, both All-Star selections making their final start before the annual classic Friday night in Oiler Park, gave the fans a first-hand account of their twirling talent. Both were tough all the way, although Faust couldn't make the final two innings and relinquished his duties to lefty Tom Graham in the bottom of the ninth inning after two were already out. Graham faced only two men — Parker in the ninth and Dawson in the tenth — but was charged with the defeat.

Pampa jumped into a 1-0 advantage in the first inning on Joe Fortin's single after Dick Dawson had walked and advanced to second on Deck Woldt's hard grounder to second.

They added two more in the third on two walks, issued by Parker and Woldt, and singles by Dawson and Richardson. The visitors had countered their first run in the top of the inning on two costly Oiler errors, a walk to Vince Castino, and Frank Murray's one-base blow to centerfield.

The Sox had their first, and only, taste of the lead when Crawford Howard shoved a bunt squad into a temporary 4-3 advantage with a three run homer blast in the fifth. The Amarillo skipper's blow came after Higginson had reached first on an error, while Woldt, and Duff scratched a single off Jeandron's glove at shortstop.

But the Amarillo joy was shortlived as the Oilers roared back to knot the count on Deck Woldt's single, Faust's wild pitch, and an Amarillo blunder on the Sox's ground ball, in the fifth. The Pampanans added to Amarillo troubles in the seventh as Richardson and Rickelson cracked singles, and Oe Engle followed with a double to make the count 6-4, with the Oilers in front.

Jay Difani forced the fracas into extra innings when he powered a Parker fast-ball over the left-field wall to open the ninth inning.

Faust proceeded to work himself into a hole in the Oiler ninth. After getting Fortin on a bouncer to short, he walked Rickelson, and then passed Oe Engle intentionally to load the bases. He fanned Jim Martin before Manager Howard strategically removed him in favor of Graham. Faust proceeded to get Parker on a slow roller to second base, but his efforts were in vain since Dawson's four-master pinned the defeat on him anyway.

Don Rickelson, with three hits in five trips, led both teams at the plate.

Pampa Ladies Win Matches In Golf Meet

Eight Pampa ladies saw action in the first round of the Panhandle Women's Golf tournament yesterday, and six of them emerged from the initial firing as victors.

In the championship flight, Beth Heiskell defeated Helen Moore of Amarillo Country Club, 1 up on the twentieth hole. In another championship flight match, Miriam Luedders dropped a battle to Betty Copland of Amarillo, 1 up on the 19th hole.

In the second flight, Lila Austin defeated Mrs. G. Farquhar of Phillips, 5 and 4. Marge Austin, 5 and 4, and Higgs Austin, 5 and 4, followed.

Sally McGinnis outstruck Mrs. S. Stewart, 3-2, in the third flight, and the same division, Sally Austin, 5 and 4, followed. Fern Parker won her fourth flight battle with Mrs. L. Hare, 2-1, although teammate Oak Alee White lost her match to Mrs. J. Farquhar of Phillips, 5 and 5, in the same flight.

Mrs. Orpha Mitchell, drew a bye in the fifth flight. The tournament is 18-holes matched play, and will run until Saturday.

Blue Sox Tighten Hold on Seventh by Trouncing Pioneers

CLOVIS — (AP) — Abilene's Blue Sox strengthened their grip on seventh place here last night denting the plate seven times in the fifth inning and then stomping to a 13-10 victory over the helpless Pioneers.

Last night's triumph following the last night in the series opened up Abilene four games ahead of the Pioneers in the battle for the cellar.

The Blue Sox had excellent opportunities tonight, taking full advantage of Tom Gallagher's weakness and four Pioneer errors as well as some timely hits to outlast the home club in a contest which started out as a pitcher's duel.

White Baffles Yankees 4-0 To Extend Detroit Command

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Maybe Red Rolfe had a hunch about Hal White. Maybe he was just plain desperate with Art Houtteman on the shelf. But hunch, desperation, luck, or shot-in-the-dark, the Detroit manager's move was a touch of genius.

White, an obscure referee from the bullpen, gave the Tigers' pennant hopes a shot in the arm yesterday with a brilliant two-hit shutout of New York, 4-0. That's why the Tigers are two games out front in the American League.

The White of Aug. 2, 1950 finally fulfilled the promise of the "kid from Ulica" who blazed a 12-12 record for the Tigers in his rookie year of 1942. But there have been many blank spots in between. Particularly World War II.

The war took something out of Hal. When he came back, he just didn't have it. Four years of flops. Finally in May of 1949, Rolfe sent White to Toledo — a give-up gesture.

White fought his way back to the majors with a 10-8 record at Toledo. But not as a starter. Last spring, Rolfe had new hopes for White — in the bullpen. However, he got a chance as a starter in late June and early July. After three starts he went back on relief.

Yesterday the 31-year-old right-hander faced only 31 men. Six of them didn't have a chance to emerge from the initial firing as victors.

In the championship flight, Beth Heiskell defeated Helen Moore of Amarillo Country Club, 1 up on the twentieth hole. In another championship flight match, Miriam Luedders dropped a battle to Betty Copland of Amarillo, 1 up on the 19th hole.

In the second flight, Lila Austin defeated Mrs. G. Farquhar of Phillips, 5 and 4. Marge Austin, 5 and 4, and Higgs Austin, 5 and 4, followed.

Sally McGinnis outstruck Mrs. S. Stewart, 3-2, in the third flight, and the same division, Sally Austin, 5 and 4, followed. Fern Parker won her fourth flight battle with Mrs. L. Hare, 2-1, although teammate Oak Alee White lost her match to Mrs. J. Farquhar of Phillips, 5 and 5, in the same flight.

Mrs. Orpha Mitchell, drew a bye in the fifth flight. The tournament is 18-holes matched play, and will run until Saturday.

Larry Doby hit three successive homers for the Indians last night as Bob Lemoine won his 17th the easy way — by an 11-0 score over Washington. Lemoine, top winner in the majors, hasn't lost since June 20 and now has nine straight victories.

Texas Coaching Association To Have New President Today

AUSTIN — (AP) — Grady Heater of Corpus Christi is due to become president of the big Texas High School Coaches Association at its regular annual meeting today. He succeeds Macco Stewart of Longview.

Heater, now vice president, becomes head of the organization under the plan of elevation followed by the association.

Three new directors also take office. They are Howard Lytle of Houston for Region 1, Johnny Stovall of Fort Worth Tech for region 3 and I. B. Griffith of Silsbee for Region 5. Weldon Phillips of Harlingen was re-elected director for Region 7.

Hold-over directors are Abe Houston of Brownwood for Region 2, F. O. Scroggins of Monahan for Region 4, Buck Prejean of Lufkin for Region 6 and Jewell Wallace of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio) for Region 8.

The most important business is to add a day to the Texas Coaching School because of the overcrowded schedule under which it now works. With more than 1,500 coaches enrolling, it is difficult for all of them to attend all lectures. The plan is to add a six-day school instead of five and allot certain days for each sport instead of trying to carry all on one.

Quarter-Finals Slated Today in Tennis Tourney

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. — (AP) — Quarter-final battles on today's menu at the eastern grass court tennis championships promise to produce fancy scrapping.

In the men's singles, it's Billy Talbert of New York vs. Vic Selvas of Philadelphia; Earl Cochell of San Francisco vs. Jim Brink of Seattle, and Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, vs. Dick Savitt of Orange, N. J.

One third round match in the men's division remains to be played. It pits Australia's George Worthington against Sam Match of San Francisco. The survivors will tackle Herb Flam, midge-t Beverly Hills Californian, in the round of eight.

All-Star Game Set Tonight in Austin Among Cage Stars

AUSTIN — (AP) — The first of the two major features of the Texas Coaching School goes on tonight when All-Star basketball teams from the Northern and Southern regions of the Texas Interscholastic League clash in Gregory Gym.

Tomorrow night the All-Star football game operated on a similar pattern will be staged at House Park, the Austin High School stadium.

The North cagers coached by Henry Iba of Oklahoma A&M are heavily favored in tonight's game but it is nothing new. The North has won all five of the games played to date since the basketball feature was inaugurated in 1946 at Corpus Christi. Last year the Northerners won twice, Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, coach of the South, said he didn't have a ghost of a chance against the smooth North outfit. He has been commenting all week during the workouts that he was given a decidedly inferior squad. The South starting team has an inch advantage in height but lacks speed and ball-handling finesse.

A crowd of 3,000 or more is expected when the two teams square off at 8 p.m. in the University of Texas field house. It will be the biggest crowd ever to see this game.

Starting lineups: SOUTH
Flinders (San Antonio)—F Cole (Corpus Christi)—F Dickson (Waco)—G Mosher (Texas City)—G Menchaca (San Antonio)—G

NORTH
Ford (Amarillo)—F Bryant (Dallas)—F Ohlen (Fort Worth)—G Abbott (Canyon)—G Bell (Fort Worth)—G

Light sulky racing, America's fastest growing sport, was organized on a modern pari-mutuel basis in 1942.

The players on the 1921 Washington team were hit 59 times by opposing pitchers.

Rampaging Gassers Sweep 2nd Straight From Hubbers, 5-2

LUBBOCK — (AP) — The rampaging Berger Gassers took their second win in as many nights here last night, grabbing a 5 to 2 decision from the Lubbock Hubbers.

The Gassers pounded three Lubbock pitchers for 15 hits, but could make them count for only tallies. The Hubbers collected six safeties off Rudy Lorona, a no-hitter working for the scoring ice in setting to south for four hits of two errors.

Hall of Fame Is Established for Football Heroes

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A professional football Hall of Fame has taken in 25 "charter" members.

Here is the roster of pro greats named by Los Angeles area sports editors for the Helms Athletic Foundation:

Cliff Battles, Sammy Baugh, the late O.E. Carr (first National League president), Dutch Clark, Paddy Driscoll, Turis Edwards, Ray Flaherty, Danny Fortmann, Red Grange, George Halas, Mel Hein, the late Bill Hewitt, Clarke Hinkle, Cal Hubbard, Don Hutcheson, Curly Lambeau, Tuffy Leemans, Bronko Nagurski, Ernie Nevers, Steve Owen, Ken Strong, Joe Stydahar, Jim Thorpe and George Trafton.

Four names will be added each year.

Golfers Will Compete For National Permits in Tourney Next Week

NEW YORK — (AP) — One thousand and 24 golfers will compete next week for 201 permits to play in the national amateur championships at Minneapolis this month.

Forty-five sectional qualifying will be held next Tuesday. Sixty-six will be held at Lake City on Monday.

The Coe of Oklahoma City, defending champion, and other assorted champions complete the national amateur at the Golf Club, Aug.

Baruch's Asking for Curbs 'Good Politics' for Truman

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Old Bernard Baruch lit a firecracker under Congress and the president. The result, Congress probably will give President Truman power to freeze prices and wages. If you looked at the 16th face of the 80-year old Baruch, who's been an economic adviser to presidents, you'd guess he was shrewd enough with money to be rich, which he is. He came down to Washington last week and spoke his piece to Congress. In effect, what he said was "don't play a round, don't take chances, don't use half-way measures." After we got into the Korean fighting, President Truman asked Congress to do some things to help pay for rearming and stop inflation. He asked for higher taxes, government controls on buying things-on-time, and enough government control over industry to say what firms could use what materials, and who could have them "first." This fell far short of asking for all-out controls which would have to include controls over prices and wages. The president said he doesn't think they're needed now. He said he'd ask for them, if and when. Even so, what the president asked for was too much for Senator Taft, Ohio Republican, and those who follow his line of thinking. Taft said the president wanted too much power in the controls he mentioned. This sort of divided thinking around here until last week when Baruch arrived on the scene. And what he told Congress went like this: "This is no time for business as usual or the middle of the road. If we're getting ready for war — if it comes — let's go all the way. If we fiddle around and let prices and wages get out of hand, we'll ruin the economy." Almost at once the feeling began to change. More and more congressmen began to take up the Baruch line. And finally

Federal Worker Devoted to Job

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Interstate Commerce Commissioner William J. Patterson likes his work. So when he turned 70 in June he just ignored the rule that says a man his age must stop working for the government. But Patterson also likes his pay. When the other commission members got their monthly checks, he drew a blank. Legally, he was retired. Now President Truman may have to decide whether Patterson will be allowed to stay on the job. "In the meantime," Patterson told a reporter, "I'm going right ahead with my work." Patterson was named to the commission in 1939. His present term was timed to run until the end of 1952.

Arctic Explorer Killed in Crash

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Col. Charles Joseph Hubbard, 48, famed Arctic explorer and a former Harvard football player, was killed Monday in a plane crash 800 miles from the North Pole. The weather bureau announced yesterday that Hubbard and eight Canadians died in the crash. They were dropping supplies by parachute to a weather station on Ellesmere Islands when the plane crashed and exploded, killing all aboard, the announcement said. Hubbard was chief of the weather bureau's Arctic section.

Chest X-Ray Drive Slated October 3-10

The annual tuberculosis X-ray project of the state health department will be held in Pampa in early October, officials connected with the local drive have announced. The chest X-ray work, sponsored by the Tuberculosis Association and the Medical Society, of Gray County, is tentatively scheduled to be given at the American Legion Hall. All residents of the county may have an X-ray made free of charge, officials announced. Last year an estimated 7,800 persons came through the X-ray line. And it is emphasized that the examinations are not for charity cases, but are available to all persons as a precaution against tuberculosis. Persons connected with the drive further state that those who had the tests last year should be re-examined this year.

After the chest pictures are made, they are forwarded to Austin for developing and study. Shortly afterward, the person and his physician are notified of the results. A spokesman pointed out that a person does not have to remove any clothing for the chest shot. However, he must remove all objects from his breast pockets. Dates for the X-ray work in Pampa are October 3 through 10. None will be made, Sunday, October 8. On October 12, the X-ray unit will visit McLean. Named steering committee members for the Pampa chest X-ray drive were: Dr. J. M. Donaldson, Mrs. Jesse McKinney, Don Conley, Rusty Ward, Dr. Douglas Nelson, Mildred Lafferty, H. W. Laycock, Oscar Redd, Boyd Meador and the Rev. Dan Belz.

14 Mothball Fleet Ships at Orange Due for Active Duty

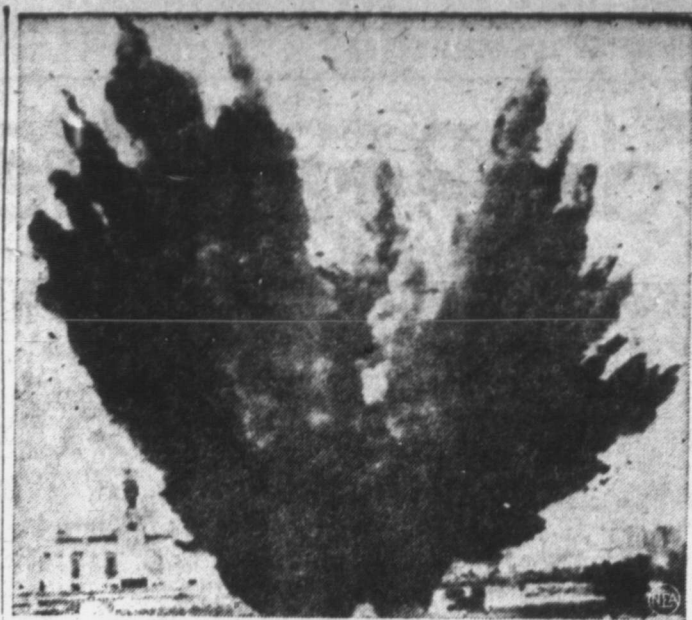

HOUSTON — (AP) — A Navy official yesterday said five tankers and nine auxiliary ships from the Orange "mothball fleet" are to be restored to service. Capt. W. S. Campbell, commander of the Texas group of the Atlantic reserve fleet, said the tankers eventually will be chartered to a New York firm and the auxiliary ships will rejoin the Navy. No combat ships are included in the 14 vessels being restored to service, Campbell said. He said the tankers will be turned over to the military sea transport service for charter to the Tankers Company, Inc., New York City, for operation for the Navy but with civilian crews. He said the auxiliary vessels are being returned to the active fleet "for the augmentation of our naval forces in support of the Korean emergency."

Hobbs Air Base Due Reactivation

HOBBBS, N. M. — (AP) — Word was received yesterday that the Hobbs Air Base, inactivated since shortly after World War II, will be reopened shortly as an auxiliary field for Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock. The chamber of commerce was told that probably 200 cadets and 15 instructors will be stationed here with the first arrivals next week. At the peak of war operation the Hobbs base had 5,400 personnel. Reese Air Force Base announced in Lubbock it abandoned the base at Clovis as an auxiliary field July 31 because of extreme deterioration of runways. The scientific name for the base contractor is "constrictor constrictor."

Civilian Defense Program Is Due, Solon Forecasts

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio) said today that a "very effective" civilian defense program is "nearly ready for announcement" by the National Security Resources Board. Women will have an important role, she added. Mrs. Bolton said the program would provide training for local citizens groups in such things as what to do in event of atom bomb attacks. This work will be directed by experts who witnessed bombing raids in London during World War II and studied the results of atom bomb attacks on Japan. She said local leaders would be wise to start at once listing both men and women available for civilian defense tasks.

ECHO OF WORLD WAR II—Prior to this blast, British and Russians temporarily suspended the cold war in Berlin and worked amicably together against a common foe—unexploded World War II bombs. Bombs were dug up where British sector joins the Russian sector. Red war memorial is in background, etc. Bomb disposal experts safely exploded the wartime auds.

Gulf Awards Plant Contract

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Gulf Oil Corporation reported yesterday it has awarded a contract for construction of a 60,000 barrel a day fluid catalytic cracking unit at Fort Arthur, Texas. The contract was given to the M. W. Kellogg Company of New York. The plant is expected to have an output 20 percent greater than that of any similar installation. Gulf's new "cat cracker" will produce ingredients for aviation gasoline, materials for synthetic rubber production, high quality automotive gasolines and fuel oils. It is expected to be completed by the early fall of 1951 at a cost of about $8,000,000. Foundation work will start within the next several weeks.

Court Considering Flynn's Fund Plea

Egypt Passes Law Banning Unokayed News of Royalty

CAIRO, Egypt — (AP) — Parliament authorized jail terms for foreigners and Egyptian newsmen who publish anything about the royal family without written permission. Interior Minister Fuad Serag El Din Pasha personally guided the bill through both houses of Parliament. There was sharp debate. The bill, which became law immediately upon passage, reads: "Anyone who publishes in the press or in other publications without written permission from the minister of the interior, news, pictures, drawings or symbols of the personal affairs of the royal family or any of its members shall be punished with imprisonment up to six months and/or a fine of one hundred Egyptian pounds ($287)."

Bahamas Okay Building of U.S. Stations

NASSAU, Bahamas — (AP) — It's all right now for the United States to go ahead and develop observation stations in the Bahamas for its $75,000,000 guided missile base. The Bahamian house of assembly yesterday passed a bill implementing a treaty signed by the United States and Great Britain calling for joint development of rockets and other long range guided missiles. The measure provides for the erection of telemetering stations on the Bahama Islands. These use radar and radio equipment for recording the passage of missiles and measuring their speed, altitude and course. Other technical observation stations will be developed to give the United States a range extending about 5,000 miles over the Atlantic from the guided missile base at Cape Canaveral, near Cocoa, Fla. Two rockets were fired from Cape Canaveral last week, but Navy air and surface craft were used to track them at sea. Yesterday the guided missile base was officially re-named Patrick Air Force Base in honor of the late Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick of Lewisburg, W. Va., first chief of the Army air service.
