Flaming Battle Raging Near Pusan

Acheson Raps Proposal for Loan to Spain

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today opposed the Senate's $100,000,000 Spanish loan "order" to a pending ECA appropriation.

He told a news conference there were adequate funds for any justified Spanish loan already available in the export-import bank.

He also said that the State Department had met with no success in efforts in recent months to persuade Spain to adopt a more democratic government.

The Senate yesterday added to legislation appropriating funds for European recovery a clause saying a $100,000,000 loan should be made to Spain through the export-import bank.

Acheson recalled to his news conference that the State Department had opposed McCarran's plan in the past.

Though he did not phrase it that way, Acheson's attitude appeared to be this in short: He feels any loan to Spain ought to be handled in the regular way, in the hands of government agencies in negotiations with Spain by directly ordering a loan.

Acheson did say he is not opposed to the principle of a loan to Spain if it is economically justifiable and a good credit risk.

HST Asks Speed on Tax Bill; Excess Profit Levy Cry Rises

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman sent a new letter to Congress today urging speed in raising taxes $5,000,000,000 to help pay for rebuilding America's defense against communism.

The letter, addressed to Chairman George (D-Ga.), was read to the Senate finance committee as it began consideration of the tax increases.

Mr. Truman's new communication arrived as demands were made in Congress for an excess profits tax, aimed at "profiteering." Senator Brewster (R-Mo.) told reporters the president, in his new letter, did not call for an excess profits levy now.

George predicted quick passage of the $5,000,000,000 tax boosting bill, "substantially as submitted" by the president.

The House ways and means committee, meanwhile, turned down an excess profits tax proposal as part of new legislation for renegotiation of defense contracts.

Committee members said following a closed door committee session that the excess profits rider was tabled by a vote of 15 to 8.

They said however that the committee's action did not close the door to future consideration.

Determined Yanks Hold Tight To Hills North of Main Port

TOKYO, Thursday (AP)—U.S. 24th division troops recaptured hill positions northeast of Chujin and held on today in a flaming battle 40 miles from the main port of Pusan.

The arching battleline was marked by burning villages all the way from the southern coast to abandoned Kumchon, which blazed, too.

General MacArthur's headquarters said U. S. troops and the North Korean sixth division were locked in a grim battle east of Chujin at the western approaches to Pusan.

"No gains by the enemy have been made in this fighting in the last 12 hours," the war summary said.

For 18 hours or more the battle between tanks, artillery and men raged on the heights, just eight miles northeast of Chujin.

On the central front, Hunchon, obliterated and abandoned by the U. S. first cavalry division, scorching ruins are the only remains left of its outskirts.

Disputed tonight, east coast anchor town which has changed hands frequently, was a nominal band.

But the hardest fighting was just north of Chujin, about 40 miles west of Pusan.

Formosa May Yet Get Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Truman administration is considering reversing its policy of no-arms aid to the Chinese Nationalists in order to help Formosa.

The government has already taken one step designed to ease the flow of American arms to the Chinese Nationalists.

An order issued last week permits them to buy weapons through the defense department instead of having to go to the manufacturers directly as they had done for many months.

Responsible officials said today that Chiang has an adequate basic supply of weapons for the defense of the island but he undoubtedly needs spare parts for repairs and also additional ammunition.

MacArthur and his staff are believed to have examined the Chinese needs. His recommendations are expected to cover the types of equipment which should be sent, if U. S. aid is resumed.

Following his meetings with the Chinese leader, MacArthur had plans to meet with the American and Chinese forces "the better to meet any attack which a hostile force might be foolish enough to attempt."

He thus presented the United States and Nationalist China as being, in effect, allies against a common foe.

Chiang himself subsequently announced that MacArthur and he had agreed on the foundation of the defense of the island.

Malik to Try Nationalists' Ouster Again

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—Beaten in his first attempt at Security Council president to oust Nationalist China, Soviet Delegate Jakob A. Malik comes back for another try today.

He was defeated decisively, 8 votes to 3, but he didn't walk out yesterday.

Instead, he remained to trade bitter words with U. S. and Chinese delegates in a long, wrangling council session, and to accuse the U. S. of leading "ranked aggression" against Asian peoples in Korea, China, Indochina and the Philippines.

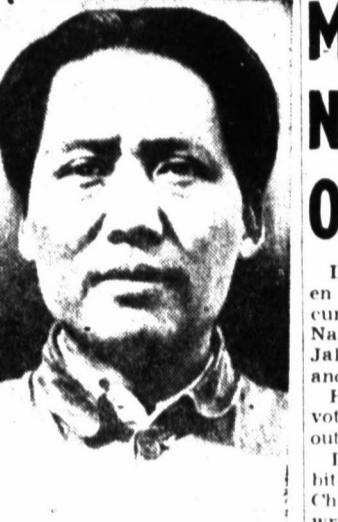

The fact that he stayed, instead of walking out on the Chinese question as he did when he was beaten last January, strengthened a belief that Russia is back in the U. N. at least for the rest of Malik's August term as president.

He called another meeting today to continue a wrangle over what should be on the agenda. Yesterday's session was devoted entirely to jousting over the unsetting of the Chinese Nationalists and over what subject should be discussed, and in what order.

Sir Benegal N. Rau of India, one of the three who voted to oust Nationalist China, said yesterday's meeting that he regarded it a "good omen" that Malik announced a meeting for today and apparently would attend it.

Malik wound up yesterday's three-hour council meeting, marked the end of his seven-month boycott, by attacking the U. N. Korean action. He asserted that peace in Korea must be considered along with the question of seating the representative of the Communist Chinese regime.

OFFERS AID — General Mao Tse-tung is head of the Chinese Communist government in Peking which offered aid to the North Korean Reds today.

Mao and Nationalist China leader Chiang Kai-shek were once close friends but became enemies when Chiang broke with the Reds.

Peiping radio said today that Communist China had offered military and financial help to the North Korean Reds but was turned down. The broadcast was heard here.

The Korean Reds were quoted as saying help was not needed now.

Monitors in Tokyo quoted the broadcast as saying the Communist radio of China has offered military and naval assistance to the people's republic of Korea. The people's republic replied that assistance was unnecessary at this time.

An American intelligence officer said the broadcast was made in the Tibetan language.

There was no evidence that the broadcast had been made in any other language. It is possible that it was a propaganda broadcast directed to Tibet alone. The Chinese Reds alternately threaten and cajole Tibet.

Truman Friend Behind in Vote

(By The Associated Press) President Truman's choice for the House of Representatives today in the Democratic senatorial primary race in Missouri.

The man supported by Mr. Truman, Senator Emory W. Voinson, had 159,396 votes to 171,062 for former U. S. Representative Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., in a 199 out of 4,676 precincts.

This gave Hennings a lead of 11,668 with 477 precincts still to be counted, many of the missing ones in Southeast Missouri where Mr. Truman always has polled a heavy vote.

So the outcome appeared still in doubt.

In the neighboring state of Kansas, Al Landon, Republican candidate for president in 1936 apparently was losing his campaign to regain control of the state party organization.

Other primaries, for candidates for the House of Representatives were held in Virginia and West Virginia with no national issues at stake.

All members of the House were re-nominated.

In the Kansas Democratic primary Willard Mayberry, his secretary when Landon was governor, against Edward F. Arn, former Kansas attorney general, for the Republican nomination for governor.

Boosters Entertain In Seven Towns Advertising Rodeo

An estimated 1,200 persons heard and saw the Pampa rodeo boosters on their first trip Thursday to White Deer, Panhandle, Amarillo, Claude, Groom, McLean and Lefors.

The largest crowds gathered in Amarillo where two stops were made.

The committee meanwhile appeared headed toward early final action on some form of renegotiation legislation patterned after World War II laws.

Earlier, Senator George predicted that President Truman's $5,000,000,000 tax boosting bill will be quickly passed, "substantially as submitted."

President Truman's plan lacked the excess profit tax feature.

George figured that the increased rates on corporations and individuals might raise $6,000,000,000.

Wichita Buses Ousted by City

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—The city council has given the Wichita city lines forty days to remove its buses from the city streets.

The council's order came yesterday at a meeting in which it cancelled the company's franchise.

The council also filed suit for collection of back payments in gross receipts taxes for six quarters and court cancellation of the franchise.

The action resulted from a dispute between the bus company and the council over the company's institution of new schedules and routes without consulting the council.

Demo Committeeman Named to Postoffice

WASHINGTON (AP)—John M. (Jack) Pedding, publicity director for the Democratic national committee, was nominated by President Truman today as assistant postmaster general.

Pedding, the publicity director for the committee since April 1, 1947, was named to succeed Paul Aiken, who resigned to run for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Kansas.

Truman May Ask Rent Curb Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman today was reported considering asking Congress for blanket powers to restore rent controls wherever economic conditions warrant.

Housing Expediter Tighe Woods is understood to have submitted rent control recommendations to the White House last week at Mr. Truman's request.

An official familiar with Woods' recommendations told a reporter the housing expediter also wants Mr. Truman to ask Congress for power to bring new designs under rent ceilings for the first time if necessary.

Hughes Building Worker Injured

Woody Ledbetter, workman on the Hughes building, sustained a bruised left thigh Tuesday afternoon when a cement container fell from the fourth floor, striking him as he stood on the ground.

Ledbetter said he was standing in the elevator shaft on the ground and looked up to see that an object was about to topple groundward. He said he then jumped out of the way, but was struck on the thigh by the falling object.

He was removed to a local hospital in a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance.

Diet and Rest Can Cure 'Let-Down'

By JANE GREER
Written for NEA Service

I noticed after the birth of my first baby how easily I tired. After my second son's birth in October, I asked the doctor how I could avoid the fatigued "let-down" feeling.

He told me to watch my diet, not to try to do too much and to get plenty of sleep and rest. I protested that this was easier said than done — a little baby will rarely co-operate with a mother's need for uninterrupted sleep at night.

The doctor replied that the best plan was to adapt myself to the baby's schedule. I take short cat naps during the day while the baby sleeps. Days when I am at the studio, I manage a half hour rest at lunch-time. In the evening, I climb into bed an hour earlier than I used to and read or play canasta with my husband until we're sleepy.

To conserve my energy, I try not to spend too much time standing. I sit down to bathe the baby and to fold his clean clothes and diapers.

Our diet, says the doctor, should be planned to supply energy without a high calory count because it's easy to gain weight after a baby is born. Our appetites are good but our activities are limited. For this reason, I was careful to satisfy my hunger with protein foods such as meat, eggs, cheese; with vegetables and fruits; and to get lightly on rich sweets or fatty foods.

Because the birth of a baby depletes a mother's calcium supply, I still drink lots of milk to make up the loss. A pint of skim milk a day is the minimum amount that I drink. The doctor also recommended that I continue supplementing my diet with mineral and vitamin capsules.

Fussy beauty routines are time-consuming, but I think it's important to look well-groomed. It gives us self-confidence to know we look neat, pretty and unharassed by the new responsibilities.

To simplify my grooming, I have my hair styled so I can take care of it myself. The hair-do I like best is medium long, brushed smooth on top and fluffed at the tips. Because my hair is fine and soft, I had a permanent two months after I returned from the hospital. The permanent gives hair the "body" it needs to hold a curl.

To save time, I shampoo my hair when I shower. The only setting it requires is to pin-curl the ends. No matter how pressed I am for time, I do stick by the daily brushing habit — a 100 strokes a day using two brushes. This is the best way I know to protect the silky luster that sets off a simple hair-do.

Hand care is another problem for a new mother. Our hands are in and out of water so much — washing before and after handling the baby, rinsing out tiny clothes, bottles and so on — that the skin is apt to become dry. I put a small bottle of hand lotion beside the bathroom basin and the kitchen sink. This reminds me to smooth on the softening liquid every time I dry wet hands.

Frequent soaking of hands tends to make fingernails break and tear. I solved this problem by filing my nails quite short and protecting them with polish.

Unsung Heroine Is The Amateur Nurse
Who Tends Semi-Ill

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Nurses of the cool hands and starched white uniforms and caps have received a lot of public acclaim. But my idea of a real heroine is any woman when she's stuck with the job of tending someone who isn't sick enough to need a nurse.

As a matter of fact, very little attention, pro or con, has been paid to this form of refined torture. But if I had my way I'd reward any little woman who remains cheerful through a 16-hour day looking after Lester, home from the office with a nasty head cold, or who has kept little Willetta strapped between sheets in the convalescent days of measles.

They've gone after the housewife and mother in just about every area of her activity. They say she's a failure as a wife and mother, she's an incompetent housekeeper and cook. But I notice no one has raised at women about the way they minister to the semi-sick. I guess they don't dare, because they'd have a full-flowered revolt on their hands. In my opinion, there's nothing more productive of a hair-trigger temper than this type of servitude. What the patient wants, anyway, is a slave, not a nurse, and who likes that?

Of course, considerable work has been done in the way of printed advice on home medical care. I haven't even studied the subject, but I've picked up enough information to permit me to cope with sunstroke, should it hit the family. If anyone gets a mouthful of rat poison, I know what to do until the doctor comes. I can administer artificial respiration, and I know enough not to haul people around if it looks like bones have been broken.

As a matter of fact, I think I'd be quite a handy person to have around in the event of a dramatic, serious illness. But for the ordinary, dull complaints like stomach ache, poison ivy, wrenched back and the rheums, the greatest sufferer is the unfortunate who has to juggle the trays, find the mislaid glasses, invent games to keep little minds occupied and prepare meals, snacks, collations and cooling drinks. Funny, but the semi-sick are enormous eaters and fussy.

There's been occasional printed pieces of advice on tending ailing child, but I think there is a crying need for advice on how to care for the uncomfortable, irritable and not-very-sick adult.

Home-Made Terrace Possible With Work

Ingenuity and a little "sweat equity" can provide a terrace now — when you can most enjoy it. So don't put that cool comfort in the "when we can afford it" file. At little expense, you can plan and build it yourself.

A pavement of crushed stone, bricks, or broken odd pieces of concrete laid on a cinder base can serve as construction materials. For a good choice, try bricks. A glamorous effect can be achieved.

Plan your own distinctive design, and begin with a cinder base for drainage and a frost-cushion. Second level is a solid base of gravel upon which the bricks are set. Finally, pour the brick design is completed, pour mortar between them — and you have a terrace!

ever the item is, it involves at least one pair of stairs for the amateur or impractical nurse. The better design can't seem to keep anything on the bed, either, and a good portion of the litter-boxes, cleansing tissues, newspapers, radio program schedules, and even pillows — lands on the floor and somehow makes its way to an unreachable position under the bed.

The semi-sick develop fantastic curiosity, too, and require a word-for-word account of any callers at the door or on the telephone. They want between-meal snacks at the very moment when the nurse figures she can take an hour off and catch a little nap. Also they run out of water for pill-taking or whistling wetting at the most inconvenient times.

They always shout when the water is running downstairs and become very hurt and annoyed when they don't receive spilt-second responses to their requests, be it a witchazel rub-down or just a simple question like, "Do you remember that blonde divorcee we met at Lake Okechobe?"

My idea is that a fitting reward for any impractical nurse would be an automatic vacation of two days upon termination of the illness. This time the ex-nurse could spend in bed, catching up on sleep and strength.

* WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Somebody is finally going to get paid for figuring out the answer to the question, "Which Marries Whom and Why?"

The American Genetic Association has announced a prize of $1000 for the best essay written during 1950 in partial answer to that question.

By all rights, a woman ought to win the contest, for when women don't have anything else to talk about they can always pick out some couple and start wondering out loud why in the world he ever married HER or vice versa.

It's a topic that never ceases to interest and entertain women. Any marriage that doesn't fit the boy-from-the-right-side-of-the-tracks meets girl-from-the-right-side-of-the-tracks formula is good cause.

Any deviation from that "normal pattern" is open to question and conjecture.

ANY DIFFERENCE SPARKS IT
If there is any noticeable difference in the personal attractiveness of the couple, or in their backgrounds, or education, ages, or financial status — then women are intrigued by what he ever saw in HER or what she ever saw in HIM.

And somehow or other the most probable reason of all is generally overlooked by the women who are trying to figure out all the angles.

For the most likely reason of all is that the couple simply fell in love. But that doesn't make sense to women if her family happens to have a lot of money and his very little, or if he happens to be handsome and she is rather plain, or if she happens to be a few years older than he is, or if she has more education than he has, or if she comes from "a fine old family" and he lives on the wrong side of the tracks.

In any of these cases and in many more — it's anybody's guess as to why they ever married. And no one is likely to guess that they just happened to meet and fall in love.

For a quick lunch treat melt American cheese in tomato soup, stirring occasionally until thick and smooth. Add a slightly beaten egg, 1-2 cup thin cream, a bit of Worcestershire sauce and season with salt and pepper. In the meantime, broil strips of bacon, stirring occasionally until thick and crisp. To serve, place the bacon strips over the toasted buns, and cover with the hot cheese mixture.

Music Is Fine,
But Banks Are Made for Money

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

I see that women are being given full credit for the "innovation" of piping constant, muted music into banks.

The idea seems to be that women like a friendly, informal atmosphere everywhere, including banks. I had a permanent two months after I returned from the hospital. The permanent gives hair the "body" it needs to hold a curl.

To save time, I shampoo my hair when I shower. The only setting it requires is to pin-curl the ends. No matter how pressed I am for time, I do stick by the Suddenly, from the concealed loudspeakers came the notes of "I'll Follow My Secret Heart." The (Female) teller stopped counting the money, turned to the girl in the next cage and told her to listen, they were playing her favorite song. Then she sang it, two full choruses, and wound up by giving me the needless information that she knew all the words. Then she started counting my money again.

Thereupon I retired to a glass-topped desk and started to jot down figures in an effort to prove the bank was short $131.21 in my accounts. Even under the best circumstances, I find it necessary to concentrate completely where mathematics are involved and use both fingers and toes in totting up sums.

I had no sooner started to decipher a cryptic note involving a $35.46 check to a "S. T. Co." — my handwriting but no recollection of drawing check or running up a debt — than the wretched loudspeakers started to play "Night and Day."

It is a recognized fact that any woman over the age of 25 — and some under that age — have certain memories bound up in the song "Night and Day." Also "Star Dances" but that has nothing to do with me and my bank. Anyway, there I was with checks strewn all over the desk, pen in hand, a waiting line of anxious depositors, and me lost in memories of a moonlit lagoon and a half-forgotten summer romance. It took me almost an hour to get back into a financial mood, find the missing $131.21 (mortgage payment I forgot to write on stub and garage bill, ditto) and get out of there. It also involved assistance from a young man who must have been at least a vice president.

Therefore, I am against muted music in banks. I am sure music is wonderful for production-line workers. Some people may like it in restaurants, although personally I hate to shout over even muted music. But banks I think they better let alone.

Sam O'Shanter Golf Scramble Set Thursday

CHICAGO — (AP) — Golf's wild money scramble, the $75,000 Sam O'Shanter extravaganza, begins its 10-day run tomorrow with record entry of 400 men and women players.

All the game's big shots, with the exception of Ben Hogan, are ready to start the annual scramble for the richest prize list in sport offers.

Hogan has always shunned the event because of its carnival-like atmosphere and probably would still remain absent even if he were in shape for the longest golf marathon conceived.

The first phase of the jubilee is the All-American section with men pros, men amateurs, women pros and women amateurs competing for respective championships. Cash awards involved in his traffic jam is $20,000.

All this ends next Tuesday when on Thursday the "World" championships begin with select fields and a pot of $55,000 for the professionals.

Basketball Squads Will End Training for All-Star Game

AUSTIN — (AP) — Schoolboy basketball squads wind up training today for the annual All-Star game of the Texas Coaching School. The squads, one coached by Henry Iba of Oklahoma A&M, master of the defense, and the other by Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, the man who scores after points in clusters, will clash tomorrow night in Gregory Gym of the University of Texas with a crowd of 3,000 or more expected.

Iba and Rupp indicated their starting lineups as they held practice yesterday afternoon.

Iba said he would open with Henry Ohlen of Paschal (Fort Worth) at center, Dick Bryant of Crozer Tech (Dallas) and Gib Ford of Amarillo at forwards and Joe Abbott of Canyon and Jackie Bell of Poly (Fort Worth) at guards.

Rupp indicated he would send Joe Dan Dickerson of Waco to center, with Jack Mosher of Texas City and Richard Menches of Sidney Lanier (San Antonio) guards and Stacy Cole of Thomas of Lampasas at forwards.

The South, Iba's squad, is a solid favorite to beat Rupp's more northern combination on the basis of more experience, height and better ball-handling.

While the "ragers" stepped off there was more scrimmaging ahead for All-Star football squads that will clash Friday night at House Park, local high school stadium.

The North squad, coached by Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma, had a couple of tough losses yesterday.

Pat Randall who relieved Bill Ross in the north was charged with the defeat.

Blue Sox Rally for Win Over Pioneers in Eleventh Inning

CLOVIS — (AP) — Ahlberg's Blue Sox came from behind last night to tie the score with two runs in the eighth inning and then capitalized on three Pioneer errors and two hits to tally five in the eleventh for a 7-2 victory over Clovis.

The Blue Sox won after a close chase in the ninth when the Pioneers loaded the bases with one away. But Manager Ray Bauer lined to G. W. Poyner at third, who threw to Ozzie Santa Cruz at second doubling off the threat.

Righthander Bob White and his "nothing" ball handcuffed the Pioneers with ten scattered hits, one of which was a double by Ray Koubel. It didn't figure in the scoring.

Pat Randall who relieved Bill Ross in the ninth was charged with the defeat.

Kilgore Takes Narrow Game From Marshall In Extra Frame, 10-9

(By The Associated Press) — Kilgore knocked off second place Marshall in the East Texas League last night, but it took them 10 innings to accomplish the deed.

The Drillers rolled up three runs and then put down a rally in the bottom of the extra frame to come off an 11-9 winner.

Gladewater in first place scored 4th away 7-3 win over Henderson and Tyler pounded out a 5-2 decision over Longview.

Kilgore scored its two runs on two hits and two walks. One of the hits was a two-run double by Bob Greene. B. W. Bruce homered for Kilgore, and Mark Fassero and Darrell Johnson homered for Marshall.

Leading Odessa Falls Twice in Longhorn Loop

(By The Associated Press) — The Big Spring Bonics slipped down the Longhorn League leading position today by losing their eighth game of the race.

Ballinger whipped second place Vonon, 5-2, and Sweetwater blanked San Angelo, 3-0.

Ray Knoblauch, Odessa hurler who hosts 16 wins, was the victim in both of Big Spring's triumphs. The Bonics slapped him for six hits and a 2-1 win in the opener and then blasted out

REBOUNDING PREPRIE—Shortly after being asked to go to the minors for the second time this season, Johnny Mize took over at first base, and the cannonading was devastating as the Yankees won six straight. Here are the swing, eyes, grip and stance that enabled Big John to drive in 11 runs pounding out 13 hits, five of them homers, in 15 times at bat for an average of .867 through a four-game stretch. And the 37-year-old Georgia giant polishes his budgeon for a sustained attack.

Howard Suffers 1st Loss As New Amarillo Manager

The Pampa Oilers continued their unrelenting surge toward the West Texas-New Mexico League pennant when they threw a wrench into high-geared plans of Manager Crawford Howard and his Amarillo Gold Sox last night by slugging the Amarilloans, 6-5, in the opener of a three-game series in Oilier Park. It was the first loss for the Amarillo skipper after piloting his crew to six straight victories and extended the Pampa victory skein to eleven straight.

The Oilers used Johnny Jeandron's two-run blast over the left field wall in the sixth inning, and the fine relief hurling of George Payte, to notch the triumph. They had battled from behind throughout the first five and one-half frames, but Jeandron's blow pulled them from their deficit and climaxed the scoring.

Tonight at 8:15, lefty Roy Parker and Ray Faust, two All-Star pitchers, are slated to make their final appearances before the annual All-Star classic in Oilier Park Friday night. Parker, chunky Oilier lefthander, will be striving for his 22nd major triumph of the campaign. He was named to the team as choice for a Southern star hurler. Faust, a speedballer deluxe who has compiled a record of 10 wins and 13 losses, will fire for the Yanks next Friday. The two teams will conclude their series tomorrow night at the same time.

Big Metz LaFollette had opened on the mound for the Soxers and had battled with Bill Garland, slight Oilier southpaw, until both hurlers began to weaken in the middle innings. LaFollette gave way to Jerry Barfa in the sixth, although Garland lasted one inning longer, staying until the sixth, where Payte came on.

Both starters were erratic from Pinky Higgins' smack in the initial inning on Garland's first pitch that opened things. Higgins "Would you?" he was asked, "I'd bet that I'll make you." He has a contract, but he doesn't have one? Can you recall Mike having made any serious legal fumbles over the years?

"Well, no, when you put it that way," replied the spokesman thoughtfully. "All I'll say is that I can't imagine Uncle Mike handling the ticket sale personally — running up and down those steps the way he used to."

9 Pampa Ladies to Play in PWGA Meet On Phillips Course

(By The Associated Press) — Approximately 43 women are expected to participate in the annual Panhandle Women's Golf Tournament which opens today at the Phillips Country Club. Teams entering women in the annual meet getting attraction are Huber, Amarillo Country Club, Pampa Country Club, Ross Rogers and Phillips.

Huber and Ross Rogers are sending the largest entry list with ten players each. Pampa Country Club will send nine, Amarillo Country Club has indicated they will enter five players while Phillips will be represented with nine.

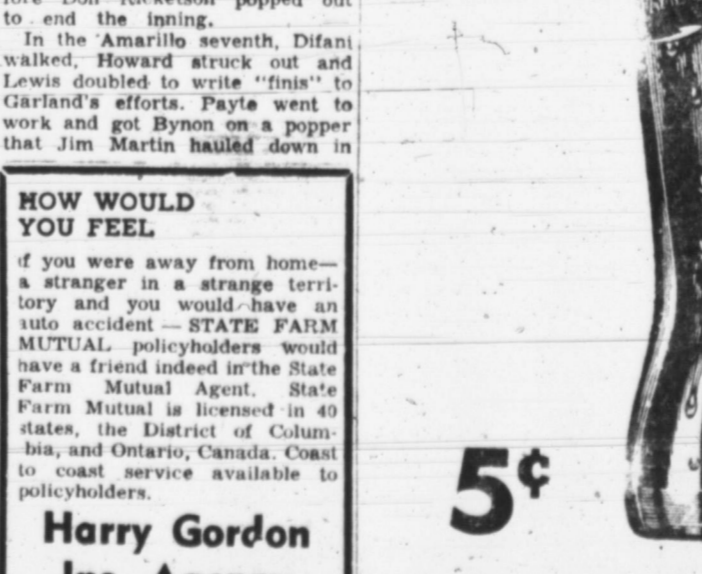

Sendings cannot be announced until this afternoon late pending the possible entry of more players from the Amarillo Country Club. The pairings will be posted on the bulletin board for the women and they can determine

Dado Marino Decisions Allen To Win Flyweight Ring Crown

(By ROY ESSOYAN) — Dado Marino, an old man of 34 in the ring, today owns the world flyweight title that had eluded him for years.

The Hawaiian-born Filipino won a close but unanimous decision last night over London's Terry Allen in 15 bruising rounds. Marino scored 112 points, Allen 111-1-2.

"The first punch he hit me with, I knew I could win," Marino said in his dressing room. He is the first American citizen in 20 years to win the flyweight crown.

He opened a cut over Allen's left eye in the second round and kept the blood flowing.

Allen's best rounds were the fourth, 12th and 13th. In the latter he forced Marino backwards with sharp left hooks.

Both shot the works in the last two rounds. When the final bell sounded, they were standing toe-to-toe, their fists flying like windmills.

their opponents when they arrive at Phillips. Grace Farquhar at Phillips reports that all matches will be played in twosomes.

First round matches must be played by tomorrow evening and the finals are scheduled Friday.

Kathleen Higgins of the Amarillo Country Club won last year's tournament by beating Eleanor Robertson of Ross Rogers, one up on the 22nd hole at the Pampa Country Club.

Beaumont Cuts Gap In TL, Winning 7-6, While Cats Lose, 2-1

(By BILL HITCH) — The Beaumont Roughnecks picked a good time to salvage the last game of their Texas League series with Dallas—they whipped the Eagles, 7-5, last night while front-running Fort Worth fell to Shreveport, 2-1.

The win enabled Beaumont to crawl back up to within five and one-half games of the leaders. The Houston-Tulsa and San Antonio-Oklahoma City games were postponed by the weather.

The Ruffs pounded four Dallas pitchers for 16 hits in their victory. Ernie Nevel went all the way for Beaumont and gained his 18th victory to take over leading hurling honors in the loop.

Grant Dunlap homered for the Eagles with one on in the third. Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe returned to Fort Worth to haunt the Cats as he let them down with only six hits. The lone run off the former major leaguer was unearned.

Tonight Fort Worth moves into Dallas for a single game. Houston visits Beaumont, Shreveport tangles with the Missions at San Antonio and Tulsa meets the Indians at Oklahoma City.

Each of the four members of the University of Texas 440-yard relay team is a former scholastic spring champion of Texas.

Let's Talk Things Over With Gabby Garrison

The fickleness of baseball fans has long been a topic among sports scribes. What I'm wondering is — how long will it be before Pampa fans forget the 1950 selections of the Southern All-Stars?

Warren Haase, News managing editor and KPND sportscaster, and I have been the prime targets for a horde of questions and remarks, concerning the voting in the selections this year. Pampa fans rightfully can gripe and unless something is done, the beef will probably occur again sometime. At the present time, however, nothing can really be accomplished in regards to Friday night's game. The teams have been chosen and that's all there is to it. The Oilers will have three men playing, and whether we like it or not, we must be satisfied.

But, precautions can be taken that will perhaps prevent this sort of thing in future years. Many people think that the best way to choose an All-Star squad is to have the fans name it. That way, at least the people will be pleased, and they're the ones that pay the dollars to see the games. Never before, in this league, has that scheme been tried, nor to my knowledge, has it even been officially suggested.

The proper procedure would be for fans to assemble and sign a petition, asking for the right to name the teams. The petition should not be limited and, for genuine effectiveness, should be circulated in other league cities. Then, when this league has its winter meeting, the petition should be presented by some formidable person, and the matter would be taken care of.

I feel certain that the circuit writers, sportscasters, managers, and players, would have no objection to the fans naming the All-Star teams. In fact, I personally think it would be one of the finest plans formulated within this league.

One of the highlights of the major league season is the balloting for the American and National League All-Stars. The same type fun in naming such a club could be had in this league. But, if it is to be obtained, then there must be a method. And the petition plan is probably the best scheme.

Lubbock will be represented by seven playing members on the South squad here Friday, including Manager Jackie Sullivan. What I can't figure out is, if the writers and managers figure that the Hubbers have seven of the best players in the league, plus the best manager in the Southern division, of which the three top teams are members, then why in blazes aren't they at the top? How could such a team be behind the Oilers. Surely, they

Four Texans Set for Action In Cotton Bowl, August 30

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS — Imagine having Sam Baugh, Doak Walker, Bobby Layne and Gil Johnson all in football game — that is, imagine what it will mean to Texas fans. Any one of those fellows is capable of packing the Cotton Bowl. And all four will appear here Aug. 30 when the Detroit Lions play the Washington Redskins in a National Football League exhibition.

Sponsors of the game — the Dallas Salesmanship Club — are chortling in their coffee over scheduling such a grand slam. They knew they had a dilly of a ball game so far as the gate is concerned when they got Detroit and Washington on the line some time ago. Walker, a three-time All-America from Southern Methodist, had already signed a contract with Detroit. Baugh has been playing with Washington for 13 years.

Walker is credited with being the main force as Southern Methodist played to nearly a half-million fans in the Cotton Bowl last season. The magic name of Baugh always has and always will be box office in Texas. He's an all-time great of Texas Christian. Johnson wasn't a slouch at getting the fans into the bowl. He was the passing man of don't contend that six games are a margin of luck. Last week, Albuquerque fans staged a Herschel Martin night, in recognition of their playing skipper who they deemed as one of the finest in the history of the circuit — and he is.

But, if fans really owe somebody a tribute then I think Oilers fans owe Manager Grover, Setz and some of his players a night of appreciation. After all, with a team that has received as little recognition (except being at the head of the standings) as have our Oilers, the Pampa fans should "blow" their own horns. It seems as if no one else is going to, probably out of pure jealousy.

This year has been one of the finest in history for local partisans. The diamond fever has remained at a high pitch all season as Setz and his band moved from the cellar to the top in four weeks.

"It's a shame we can't hold 'Grover Setz Night,' or 'Virgil Richardson Night,' or 'Jim Martin Night,' during the All-Star game Friday evening. All three of them should be taking part in the contest in some way or another.

Wonder who the umpires for the All-Star game will be? Players all around the circuit declare that Leonard Roberts, young official with a Southern accent as strong as any I've heard is the best in the league. He is, too, for our money, and should be named to one of the All-Star jobs. The posts are appointed by Milton Price, league president.

I'll never forget the 1946 game at Abilene. Grover Setz managed the Southern team, although at the time the game was played, he was in the dog-house with Umpire Steve Sadowski, All-Star umpire. Grover had been suspended for "grossly protesting against the league ump (reportedly, kicking him in the shins) and went to the All-Star game after a game in which he had taken part in another ruckus with Sadowski.

He was pretty angry at Sadowski, and the umpire was so at the meeting held before the game. The game came off without any trouble, though, despite the fact that everybody was on pins and needles, expecting the roof to blow off any minute.

That will be almost the same situation Friday night, although this time, it will be the angry fans who may blow up. I sincerely hope not, however, since it wouldn't do any good. The players had nothing to do with the naming of the team, and deserve the heartiest congratulations on being selected. They should get plenty of cheers — not jeers — whenever they appear.

And now the game sponsors find their cup runneth over. Layne has just signed a contract with Detroit. Layne, the former University of Texas passing star, has been in pro football two years. He went to the Chicago Bears, was traded to the New York Bulldogs, who traded him to Detroit.

Layne and Walker were high school stars together. Each made the Texas All-State team. Layne, however, finished a year ahead of Walker and went to Texas. Walker was thinking about going to Texas, too, when he got out of the Merchant Marine in 1945. But he changed his mind and chose SMU.

Doak and Bobby met in a couple of duels in 1945 when Layne's team won and 1947 when Walker's team came through. They have been close personal friends, each thinking the other is the greatest football player around.

A passing duel, with Layne and Johnson vs Baugh, is something to contemplate with relish. Add the twisting runs, pass-

Bengals Continue Pace by Thumping Yankees, 7 to 3

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer

The sensational stickwork of Vic Wertz is keeping the Detroit Tigers on top in the pulse-pounding American League pennant race.

If Wertz hadn't picked this week to go on a .764 batting tear, the Tigers might be deep down in third place today instead of leading the field by one full game. His big bat has personally accounted for four Detroit triumphs in the Tigers' current home stand.

Tommy Byrne, an old Tiger tamer, found the feat impossible last night. As a result, the southpaw lost his first game of the season to the Tigers, who went on to whip the New York Yankees, 7-3, in the first of an all-important three-game series.

Wertz hammered two home runs and a single and drew a walk in four times at bat, to drive in three runs. The pair of four-baggers gave the 200-pound outfielder seven homers in five consecutive games. They tied a record set by Babe Ruth in 1921 and equaled by Jim Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals in 1929.

Dizzy Trout, a last minute pitching replacement for ailing Art Houtteman, turned in a masterful job in turning back the Yankees with six hits. He was behind only once when he served a two-run homer to Johnny Mize in the sixth. That gave the Yankees a 3-2 advantage. The Tigers roared back with five runs in their half of the sixth on Wertz' second homer and a two-run single by Johnny Lipon and George Kell. Houtteman came up with a sore side muscle before he was to pitch.

Cleveland's third place Indians shot to within a game of second when they defeated Washington, 8-2. Jim Hegan paced the Tribe's 11-hit attack with a double, triple and home run. He battered in four runs.

The fourth place Boston Red Sox continued their domination over the St. Louis Browns with a 7-3 victory. Mel Parnell went the route for his eighth triumph. Walt Dropp rapped three hits for the victors, drove in two runs and took over the pitcher's RBI lead with 101.

Billy Pierce pitched the Chicago White Sox to an easy 8-1 win over Philadelphia. Chico Carrasquel, rookie White Sox shortstop extended his consecutive hitting streak through 20 games with a single triple.

The National League swept tonight when Brooklyn swept two games from Pittsburgh, 2-1 and 3-1 to close within three and a half games of the pace setting Philadelphia Phils. The Phillies split pair with Cincinnati, winning the opener, 6-4, and losing the second, 4-1.

The Cardinals regained second place, three games off the pace, thrashing the Boston Braves, 6-1. The defeat dropped the Braves into fourth place, "one percentage point behind the Dodgers.

Rookie right-hander Cloyd Boyer spaced six hits for his fourth Cardinal triumph. Boston's Earl Torgerson's consecutive hitting streak was snapped at 22 games. Del Ennis smashed his fifth home in six games and drove in two more runners with a single to pace the Phils to their first game triumph as rookie Bob Miller notched his 10th win. Ewell Blackwell gave the Reds an even break with a four-hitter in the nightcap.

Army-bound Curt Simmons, who flew to Philadelphia after getting a special pass from the National Guard, was knocked out in the fourth inning. He was charged with his sixth defeat. He has won 14. It took the Dodgers five weeks to get their June 23 victory over Pittsburgh in the official records. But they finally did it last night when they concluded the suspended game prior to playing their regularly scheduled one. Erv Faubus allowed only five hits in the regular game. A homer by Pete Castiglione deprived him of a shutout.

Eagles Tighten Big State Race With Two Wins

(By The Associated Press) The Temple Eagles tightened up the Big State League race last night with a double victory over Austin. The Eagles took the opener, 4-1, and came back to snatch the tie with Wichita Falls for third spot, nine and one-half games out of the lead.

First place Texarkana had an easy outing as it blanked Waco, 11-0. Wichita Falls battered second place Gainesville, 13-3, and Greenville blanked Sherman-Denison twice, 7-0 and 2-0. Temple grabbed the seventh inning opener from Austin by scoring three runs in the top of the seventh to break a 3-1 tie. Pete Maynor won the opener on the mound and then gained credit for the second hit when he relieved Junior Bunch in the ninth. Lou Finney singled across the winning run for the eagles in the 10th frame.

Joe Busby of Texarkana held Waco to seven hits for his 12th victory and Texarkana's 13th win in 15 games with Waco this season. Emory Hresko homered with Texarkana, and his teammate, Dick Demski, homered with the sacks empty in the seventh, catching, kicking and passing of Walker and imagine the result! Just try to get a ticket.

Sugar Ray Picked to Give Fusari Lumps—for a Buck

By JIM BECKER NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, the welterweight champion who frequently has showed up missing on fight nights when a hefty purse was involved, is odds on to keep a date in the ring on Aug. 9 and he'll only get a dollar for his efforts. Ray will defend his 147-pound crown against blond Charley Fusari of Irvington, N.J. The 13 round bout will be held in Jersey City. Robinson is delivering his purse, minus the buck, to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

Fusari will be paid for what is going to happen to him. Robinson is a clever, classy fighter. There are those who rate him the finest in the world, at any weight. He does everything better than anyone else — boxing, hitting, slugging.

Fusari is a competent workman probably the second best welterweight around. He is weak on ring generalship but he boxes and hits hard. What he could search this town until fight night without finding anyone who really thinks he can whip Robinson.

Victor Marsilio, Charley's manager, naturally thinks his boy has a chance, but even he isn't claiming victory. He thinks it will hurt Robinson to make the weight. "I took this match," he explains, "because my kid is 147 pounds and he is strong. Now Robinson is the best, but we got a chance to lick him. If the champ doesn't knock Charley out in four or five rounds, he's liable to run into plenty of trouble.

"I waited three years before I took this match. I turned it down a couple of times because Charley wasn't ready for it. What's the use of kidding ourselves? Robinson is the greatest piece of fighting machinery we have ever seen. But now my kid is ready.

"We might as well shoot for the big purse," Marsilio probably is right. Fusari is as ready as he'll ever be, and there always is the possibility that making weight may weaken Robinson although there as yet has been no indication along those lines.

The fight mob is sure Sugar Ray will keep his date with Fusari because he is in the bad year development plan in Malaya since now of the Pennsylvania

Carr Fails to Touch First Base, Giving Gassers 3-2 Victory

LUBBOCK (AP) — Len Ruyle pitched no-hit ball for seven and two-third innings here last night as the Berger Gassers beat the Lubbock Hubbers 3 to 2, but only the alleged failure of Al Carr to touch first base in the eighth inning saved him the victory.

In one of the most dramatic moments of the year, the Hubbers took advantage of an error by Ruyle himself in the eighth to stage a belated rally. Wiley Moore tripled for one run and scored on Don Moore's single. Mike Dooley followed with a double and the stage was set for the disputed play.

Carr stepped in, took a strike and drilled the next pitch into right centerfield on a line. Both runners scored easily and Carr went all the way to third.

Eddie Carnett, former Berger manager and old baseball head, called for the ball. Nim Free relayed it to Rene Vega, who tossed to Carnett and Umpire Tom Burden, stationed over near third base, upheld Carnett's protest that Carr had failed to touch first.

That wiped out the Hubbers' third and fourth — and winning — runs. Ruyle retired the Hubbers in order in the ninth and BERGER won.

For all the work you put into it, crime doesn't pay. A burglar scaled the fence around Lawrence Allen's cement block factory, pried open a door with a crowbar, jimmied an office door and hauled in welding equipment from the shop.

He knocked the tumbler from the office safe, but in trying to burn it open, he welded it together instead. Then he burned three holes in a smaller safe but couldn't open it, either.

Net take for the night's work: $10 from a strongbox. Both safes were empty anyway.

Rosson Limits Dukes To Six Hits, Tosses Lobos to 6-0 Verdict

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Ed Rosson, on the mound for mesa, held the Albuquerque Dukes to six hits — none which turned into runs — in a 6-0 shutout in the West Texas Mexican League.

Rosson became the first West Texas-New Mexico pitcher to score a shutout over Albuquerque this year. He left nine on base, issued five bases on balls, struck out six.

The Lobos collected 10 hits Pitta and Stenberg, on the mo for Albuquerque.

Four of Lamesa's tallies came in the eighth but they were needed. Singles in the second and third were enough. The hit attack included a home run Hank Robinson.

Defense Rules Put Back Into Effect In Baseball Executives

CINCINNATI (AP) — Organized baseball's national defense rules — put through to protect ballplayers called to service in World War II — were back in effect today.

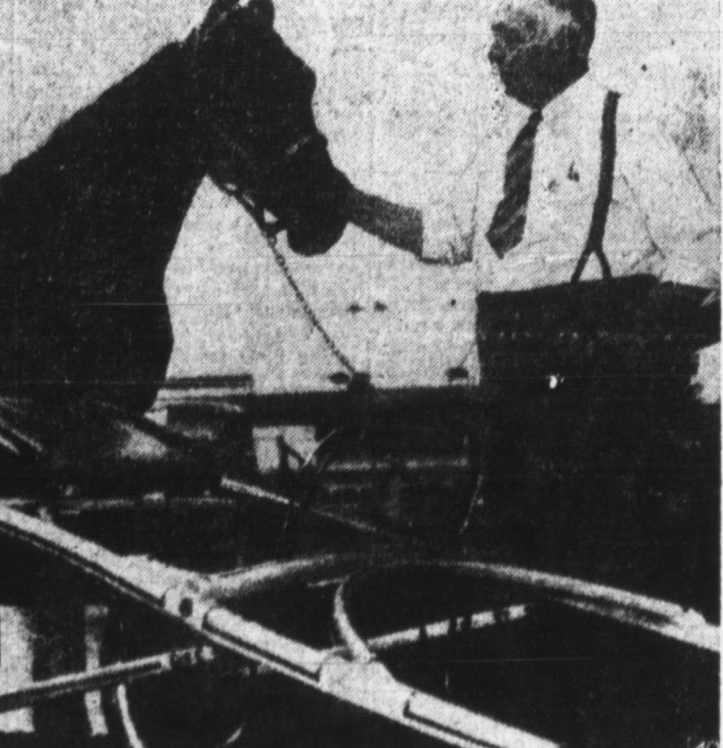

Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler said the rules were revived as of yesterday for 1950. The original national defense regulations, he explained, were adopted so players going into the armed forces would keep their status, not losing time in baseball during their service.

There are two major provisions in the reactivated World War II regulations contained: 1. A player going into the armed forces shall automatically be placed on the national defense list and shall not count in a player's limits of his club until removed from such national defense service list; and 2. A player on the list "must be reinstated before he can be conditionally released."

Minor leagues aren't affected by the order yet, the commissioner said, but the order will apply to them as well as to the major leagues as soon as they vote approval.

Hoarding on Wane, Ohio City Reports Keeps Job, No Pay

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Hoarding of grocery items apparently on the wane here as the hoarders have stored up all they need. Most grocery items surveyed reported demands for sugar, soap, soap powders and paper products — the hoarders' delights — had slackened last week. Sugar sales were approaching normalcy and reserve stocks were on hand in most cases.

Cotton Quota Program Due Panel's Okay

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bill setting up a new formula for cotton acreage allotments, passed by the House, faces prospects for early approval in the Senate agriculture committee. It is designed to remove inequities in the present law and virtually assures that cotton acreage quotas will be proclaimed for the next two years. It requires the secretary of agriculture to proclaim the acreage that may be planted if cotton production threatens to exceed domestic consumption plus exports, rather than waiting until production exceeds consumption and exports by 30 percent. House members from states that only recently went into cotton production opposed the change, in debate leading up to the final 190 to 85 vote. Presumably they felt the change would primarily benefit states with an established cotton growing history.

Canada Labor Minister Dies

OTTAWA — (AP) — Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell, in poor health for more than a year, died early Tuesday. He was 68 and had been in bed since Sept. 9. A liberal member of Parliament for Welland, Ont., Mitchell had been a cabinet minister since Dec., 1941. His last public appearance was as an honorary pallbearer last week at the funeral of former Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King. Mitchell had entered a hospital several days ago for a medical checkup. The minister was born in Sussex, England and came to Canada in 1912. A longtime leader in the Labor movement, he was chairman of the Ontario executive board of the trades and labor congress when first elected to Parliament in 1931. Mitchell was married and had two sons.

press." What does this statement mean? Does it indicate that any person is free to libel or slander another? Does it mean that malcontents of criminals are permitted to stir up revolt or to encourage lawbreaking? The Supreme Court says "No." But the same Court has repeatedly held that the First Amendment does protect the right of law-abiding citizens to express both orally and in print their views on various questions. They are free to discuss not only private but also public issues, as long as they do not indulge in vituperation or improper language. Does Congressman Buchanan believe that the mere fact that citizens have banded together for mutual advantage in a corporation or association abrogates this Constitutional right? If such is the case, our newspapers and magazines can be ruthlessly muzzled, for nearly all of them are published by corporations.

Of course, a Marxian fanatic is likely to look upon a corporation as just a plunderbund engaged in robbing the downtrodden masses. But a man of Congressman Buchanan's intelligence and education must be fully aware of the fact that the beneficiaries of the corporate form of organization, ranked in the order of magnitude of their gains therefrom, are:

1. The customers
2. The employees
3. The stockholders and bondholders

When the corporation prospers, all of these classes gain; when its business is depressed, all lose. The interests of the corporation are, therefore, largely synonymous with the interests of that part of the public made up of the industrious, thrifty, and law-abiding citizenry. Because corporations have made better goods cheaper, the ordinary American workingman enjoys more luxuries than were possessed by the potates of the past. Because corporations and their stockholders have amassed the capital required to buy marvelous machines, our production per man hour, and, hence, our average hourly wage rates are the envy of the world's workers.

It appears then, that anything that lessens the prosperity of our great corporations likewise lessens the prosperity of most of the people of the nation. Every Congressman when voting upon legislation designed to curtail the Constitutional rights of citizens organized for mutual benefit should keep this fact in mind.

Doughboy, 18, Only Survivor As U.S. Squad Is Wiped Out

By HAL BOYLE
WITH U.S. TROOPS IN KOREA — (AP) — An 18-year-old American soldier, wearing the white pants and white shirt of a Korean, stumbled tiredly into a command post. A group of doughboys saw him and began to jeer at him good-naturedly. "Where'd you get the goods, kid?" one called. The young soldier — Pfc. James Cannon of Medford, Mass., grinned shyly at them and then trudged wearily into headquarters. There he reported that he was the only survivor of a squad of eight men trapped in Kochang during a battle where the Reds seized control of that central bastion of the western front. He said his seven comrades were cut down by machinegun fire trying to break through enemy lines and that he escaped across the mountains after trading clothing with a South Korean refugee. "We were trapped behind a brick wall in the city," Cannon said. "We decided the only thing to do was to run for it rather than surrender. They had us surrounded."

In Hollywood

By ESKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — There is an effete yachting crowd in Hollywood which goes down to the sea in white flannels and brass buttons and steps aboard varnished cruisers and gleaming white hulled sail boats. While skippers, deck hands and stewards snap to attentiveness, the Hollywood men and their ladies, in Esquire and Vogue attire, collapse on foam rubber cushions. Then there's Sterling Hayden and the "Oscar Tybring" a match for each other in ruggedness. "Oscar" is a 38-ton, 45-foot Norwegian double ender, built in 1908, on which Hayden goes to sea in faded, patched dungarees as a combination skipper, deck hand and steward for his wife and two infant sons. The sails of "Oscar" are far from snowy white. She has no polished chrome or sparkling varnish. There are black stains on her topside. She's low and bulky — no match for the sleek ingenues of the Hollywood yachtmen who worry only about speed. "Oscar was built to be seaworthy, not to impress anyone. For 35 years she's conquered wind and tide on 'round the world cruises and as a rescue ship for Norwegian fishing fleets with a record of saving 650 boats in distress and 3000 lives. Sterling loves her with a love only real seafaring men can know for fine designing and craftsmanship.

SHIPBUILDERS ART
His eyes lit up as he stood beside him at the helm: "She's a monument to wooden ship building," he said. "She's the kind of a ship a skipper doesn't have to worry about — she'll take care of the skipper." There isn't even an auxiliary motor. "I've got a fetish about motors on sail boats," Sterling says. "Sailboats were meant to sail." But sometimes when there's no wind and an appointment to be kept in Hollywood, he promises himself and Mrs. Hayden that he'll install a motor. "He's been saying that," Mrs. Hayden said, "ever since he bought the boat a year ago. But I never see any motor."

"I'm getting one," Sterling grinned. Mrs. Hayden tossed him a "I bet you never will" look. No, Sterling Hayden isn't a Sunday sailor. He went to sea at 15, was a Gloucester fisherman for two winters, navigated the famous "Gertrude L. Thebaud" against the Blue Nose in the 1938 International Fisherman's Race, captained another schooner to Tahiti and mastered two of his own sailing ships in the West Indies. Now he's become a movie star and now he plays the starring role of Dix in John Huston's crime thriller, "The Asphalt Jungle." But to Sterling Hayden it's more than just a movie, more than just the best role of his career. It's the turning point in his life. You may remember the pre-war Sterling Hayden, who left the sea to star in two films at Paramount and then rushed back to sea to emerge as a war hero with the Marines and the O. S. S. If you don't remember — skip it. Hayden wants to forget it. He says, "It's all a blank. I've settled down."

HAS ACTING FEVER
There's now an ambition to act, a permanent Hayden address in Westwood and the sea is for weekends and vacations only. He brushes off the pre-war Hayden-the-actor with: "I was scared to death. I couldn't wait to get back to something I knew." There was no acting fever then. Just sea-fever. Pre-war Hollywood to him was a means to his private and secret goal — another boat. He had just lost his own in a storm off Cape Hatteras. His favorite words were in the poem "Sea Fever": An English trade paper of sailing ship news, "Sea Breezes," not Variety, was his Bible. Now Things Are Different. A long war service, a happy marriage, a home, two sons, another visit from the stork logged for mid-August, and an acting performance no one can sneer at have all the wanderlust out of Sterling Hayden. The sea fever is still there but it's under control. Every time the "Oscar Tybring" leans seaward into a stiff blow in the blue water off the San Pedro harbor breakwater, Sterling turns to his wife and grins: "At this point I always wonder — Why go back?" Mrs. Hayden smiles and nods and, as usual, says nothing. Sterling smiles and, as usual, says nothing. He confided: "I know and she knows we will be back."

If I don't answer the first time you buzz Mr. Wump, it's because I've got something important on my mind.

Non-Farm Employment in Texas May Set New Mark

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas' non-farm employment is expected to reach an all-time record by mid-August as a result of the Korean crisis, the Texas Employment Commission reports. Construction, trade and service industries should lead the way in hiring more persons, but a sharp advance in manufacturing employment is also anticipated, TEC said. It predicted a "perceptible tightening in the state's skilled labor supply." The record for non-farm employment is 23,750,300 set in December of last year. Hiring of 8,000 workers in the next two weeks would shove employment to a new high, TEC predicted. About 40 percent of the new employees will enter manufacturing jobs, and 60 percent will go to non-manufacturing industries. Dallas is expected to put on a large number in the apparel and allied products industries. The Beaumont-Port Arthur area also should see an improvement in the employment outlook, particularly in the refining and construction industries, TEC said.

I help build Sub Stations?

THAT'S RIGHT... many a housewife has a lot to say about building your Public Service Company.

How? Through her investments, of course. Whether it be a sub station or a service car, our company is truly "owned" by the stockholders — ministers, doctors, lawyers, teachers — yes, even you or your neighbor... and no one of them owns more than 2% of the total stock.

Perhaps you have a savings account — or a life insurance policy — it's pretty certain that some of those funds have been re-invested in your Public Service Company.

And so, you see, we really belong to the people. It's a working example of free enterprise... the system that has made America great and strong.

LITTLE DOC

Copyright 1950 by NEA-Service, Inc.

LITTLE DOC informed Brownie on the trail back to Wolf Point that he had a professional call to make. They swung off the trail toward the Rocking R, where the boy was sick with scarlet fever.

They halted at the ranch house and dismounted. Then Doc said to his companion:

"I'll take about half an hour, maybe longer. See if you can fix a razor in the bunk house. Clean up the best you can and then we'll ride back to town."

The boy was somewhat improved and Little Doc left some medicine with his mother and told her he would ride back the next day. Barring complications, which reasonable care could prevent, the lad would soon recover.

Brownie had shaved off his beard and looked less like a horse than when he came from the bunk house to find Doc waiting by his horse. They rode to town and stopped at the Whitehouse.

Kit opened the door. She was white-faced and her shaky laugh had a sob underneath.

"Oh, Doc! I'm so glad you're back!" She clasped his arm as she reached his side. "Old Dad woke up this morning and saw Long Andy taking you away blindfolded. He came over and told me you were kidnaped and I woke up in Butch Bell. He organized a posse — did you see them anywhere?"

Doc shook his head. "I must have missed the posse when I rode over to the Rocking R to see the sick boy," he said. "I did ride off this morning with Long Andy, but he was just — cautious, you might say."

DOC flexed his limbs, stiff after his long ride. Then he jerked loose the saddle strings that held his bag.

"Kit, this is Mr. Brown, a friend of mine I met on the train. Mr. Brown, this is Kit, my nurse." Kit and Brownie acknowledged the introduction and then Kit called to a man who was passing to send over the barn man. After that, she led Little Doc and Brownie into the house.

She spoke in a low tone: "Dusty got back to town an hour ago. He didn't come to see me, but Old Dad brought the news. Old Dad said Dusty came in to town to have a bench warrant sworn out for Long Andy's arrest for stealing some of his horses. Then, when Old Dad told him Long Andy had a gun in your back when you rode away, Dusty saddled a fresh horse and took Toad with him."

"Toad?"

Kit nodded. "Goodness knows Kit Toad has told him about us since night. I'm glad you didn't see Dusty."

Little Doc looked at Kit for a long moment. There were tears in her eyes now. A slow smile spread across his face, that was drawn and gray with utter weariness.

Little Doc spoke softly to her. "You love Dusty Rhodes, don't you, Kit?" He did not wait for her reply. The slow flush creeping across her face was reply enough for Little Doc. "I've a notion you just found it out. That's the way it goes. You just get a nurse broken in to see she knows the difference between a hypodermic needle and a stethoscope and she ups and gets married."

"You — you're — you're not hurt, are you John?"

LITTLE DOC shrugged and smiled. "I never felt happier. Kit, take off your nurse's uniform and put on the dress that Dusty Rhodes likes best. That's the last of Little Doc's orders."

Old Dad, the sheepherder, opened the back door and entered. "I've changed my mind about going back to sheepherding," he said.

"What's the matter, Dad?" Doc asked. "Can't you take it?"

"I can take it all right," Dad said. "That ain't the reason. I just been figurin' you need a man around to do the chores and tend things, Little Doc. The next fever that comes ridin' up of a night will find me ready for him with a sawed-off double-barreled shotgun loaded right up to the muzzle with buckshot. Ain't nobody goin' to lay a hand on Little Doc while me and Shep's around."

KIT vanished to change her clothes for Dusty Rhodes and Old Dad wandered back to his quarters. Little Doc and Brownie hauled out a wash tub and took a bath. Afterwards Brownie urged the weary doctor to lie down.

Doc sank onto his cot and it seemed as if he had no sooner shut his eyes when he was awakened. He opened his eyes and saw Old Dad standing beside him shaking him into wakefulness.

"Dusty Rhodes is comin' yonder," he said.

Doc swung his feet out of bed and pulled on his boots.

"Thanks, Dad," he said. "Now you and Brownie go out to the shed and play a game of checkers." Doc washed the sleep from his eyes and sat down at his desk. He was checking the contents of the black bag when the front door opened without a warning knock.

Dusty Rhodes stood in the doorway, a flat grin on his face and his right sleeve soaked with blood. He carried his arm in a sling made of whang-leather saddle strings.

Missing Leg Doesn't Stop Paris Negro From Gardening

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD Associated Press Staff
Jordon D. Stewart, 59-year-old Paris, Texas, Negro, chops weeds from a wheel chair.

Jordon had been handling a hoe just about all his life. So when he lost his leg three years ago he couldn't get out of the habit.

"Dew poison got in my leg and it had to be taken off," Stewart told Ed Bryson of the Paris News. The old man tried an artificial leg, couldn't make it work, and finally wound up in the wheel chair.

Most any day you drive by Jordon's place in northwest Paris you'll see him rolling himself up and down the garden rows, hoeing away the weeds. Or he may be across the road in his cotton patch.

Jordon doesn't have to work either his garden or his cotton but he thinks he does, and the sun never boils down too hot for him when he makes up his mind to weed that garden or that patch of cotton," Bryson said. "He calls it a 'gone-by-day' when the sun goes down."

Jordon is the only surviving member of a family of 17 children. He was born in Dec., 1886, in Cass County. He has dim memories of slavery days.

Half a century ago Stewart returned to Paris and was employed by the late Mark Roden. As the years passed, he worked for other people. He raised a family. His wife is dead and he lives with a daughter. He has two other children, both of Paris.

Jordon's mother lived to be 102. He figures he has a long time to go and a lot to do.

"Most people, confined to a wheel chair at 89, would roll themselves into the shade and take it easy," Bryson said. "But not Jordon Stewart. He has too much grit to quit."

Chiang Declares Formosa Defense Plans Underway

TAIPEI, Formosa — (AP) — Chiang Kai-shek declares he and General MacArthur have reached agreement on "a foundation for the joint defense of Taiwan" (Formosa).

The veteran Chinese Nationalist leader issued a brief statement shortly after MacArthur returned to Tokyo from a flying visit to this island threatened by Communist invasion.

Chiang said a foundation also had been laid for Chinese-American "military cooperation."

"Our struggle against Communist aggression will certainly result in final victory," Chiang declared.

MacArthur flew back to Tokyo after talks with the generalissimo.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

Play Plunges Sextet Into Discard

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service
The following letter from Chicago is self-explanatory:

"Here's a real dilly of a problem if I ever saw one. The stock pile was very large. Our side had already melded our 120 points but not so our opponent."

"I discarded a nine. The player to my left picked it up and melded her required 120 points. But she did not have a natural pair of nines in her hand, and her required 120 was thusly:

9-2 10-10-2 K-K-2
"After everyone counted her 120 points, she continued to meld of the pile she had picked up. However, no one noticed this error, until the next player had picked a card from the closed pack, made a three-card meld for our side and discarded. Then I discovered the error.

A terrific debate followed as to penalty, renege, whose fault, discovered too late, etc. Would you please straighten it out. We're completely at a loss!" (Signed "Perplexed-Sextet.")

I admit the question is a dilly; however, the sextet have a simple way of solving their problem. Law 29, of the Official Laws of Canasta, as found in my books and all the other standard books on the game, reads as follows:

"Condonement of Illegal Melds: If after an illegal meld the next player completes his play before attention is drawn to the error, there is no penalty. An initial meld with insufficient count stands as a correct first-meld. Likewise, all other properly melded combinations stand as correct. Combinations of cards that do not form a meld are replaced in the offender's hand.

"COMMENT: An example of cards that do not form a meld would be king-ten-deuce. Such cards are replaced in the offender's hand if the error is condoned."

Hence, in this instance, since the next player has completed his play, the entire play and meld stand as legal and the opponents have no redress.

Incidentally, this letter shows exactly why the law was made that way. If an illegal meld could be called at any time, imagine what would happen if instead of being discovered after one player had played, it was not discovered until several plays had been made. It would take the Supreme Court four years.

Many No-Hitters Flung in Minors During Campaign

By FRED HAYDEN
NEW YORK — (AP) — Note to major league managers seeking pitching strength: There have been 21 no-hit games in the minors thus far this season.

Marlin Stuart, who pitched a perfect game for Toledo of the American Association (Class AAA) in beating Indianapolis, 1-0, on June 27, already has been recalled by the Detroit Tigers.

Stuart struck out three, walked none and received errorless support in that nine inning night game.

Eleven minor leagues can boast of no-hit contests, headed by the Carolina (Class B) League with four.

Of the 21 games, eight were seven inning affairs, but they count as regulation affairs. One of the nine inning jobs was shared by two pitchers.

The last big league no-hitter was in a night game Sept. 9, 1948, when Rex Barney of the Brooklyn Dodgers blanked the New York Giants, 2-0.

One of the no-hit games was in the Big State (Class B) League on July 21 — when Bob Friend, Waco, beat Wichita Falls, 10-0, nine innings: struck out two, walked two. Friend now is with Indianapolis.

Station Gives Sugar With Gas Purchase

CHICAGO — (AP) — Motorists who buy eight gallons of gasoline at a south side service station during the next week will get a pound of sugar free.

"There's plenty of sugar," said Milton Lambert, station owner. "Hoarding it is silly."

Food is so scarce among the Siriono Bolivian Indian tribe that they may be said to be always

Californians Protest Square Dance Callers

UPLAND — (AP) — Upland's sleepless citizens have nothing against square dancing. It's the callers who bother them.

Acting City Manager Elwin Alder says letters of protest are pouring in from residents who complain that the gens who call the city's square dances should be calling hogs instead.

Economists Foresee Lower Living Standard in America

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK — (AP) — The question is: who's going to pay for this war, you or your children? And another is: will your neighbor go on living fat, while you have to pull in your belt?

That's what the debate in Washington is about: taxation vs. government borrowing, inflation vs. controls.

In the long run, no matter how the defense spending is financed, it will mean a lowering of the general standard of living, economists contend.

Some of those in the pay-as-you-go ranks, plugging for higher taxes and tougher controls, appear to be in strange company, since they've been the loudest to complain about taxes in peacetime. But they say that after two big wars they've learned that any other way of financing a war is just fooling yourself, and paying more in the long run.

The National Assn. of Manufacturers' tax consultant, Dr. Harvey L. Lutz, comes out today with a pay-as-you-go program. He approves of some of President

LOUISIANA GIRL THINKS HADACOL IS WONDERFUL

Suffered Deficiencies of Vitamins B1, B2, Niacin and Iron

Pretty Betty Jo Prejean, 101 East Pine St., Ville Platte, La., says she wouldn't trade her bottle of HADACOL for all the tea in China. By giving her system the vitamins it lacked, B-1, B-2, Iron, and Niacin, HADACOL has given her that wonderful HADACOL feeling.

Here is Miss Prejean's own statement: "Before I started taking HADACOL I was troubled with colds all the time. My system was so run-down that I actually couldn't work—I had to quit my job. I was very nervous, too; in fact, everything seemed to go wrong. I started taking HADACOL over a year ago. What HADACOL has done for me is amazing—my nerves are just as steady as they can be and, best of all, I have gained weight. With the best of health, I feel like I'm

Auto Makers Schedule Peak Monthly Total

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT — (AP) — The auto factories have scheduled for production in August the largest number of vehicles they've ever built in a single month.

Of course schedules aren't always filled. Labor disputes often interfere. But most industry sources agree the factories have a good chance of completing close to 850,000 cars and trucks this month.

If that figure is realized the industry's eight-month output this year will come to approximately 5,350,000 vehicles. The factories then would have four months in which to produce the additional million units needed to match last year's record-breaking output.

This month's assemblies will include some new models besides Kaiser-Frazer's 1951 line already in sizable output. Packard is getting some volume production on its new models and one or two other "independent" makers have scheduled showings of their 1951 cars for mid-September.

Model changes among the "big three," of General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, aren't expected to be made until the final weeks of the year and some will not appear until after next Jan. 1. All the companies making up the "big three" are rolling out current models at the highest rate in their history and are using just about all the manufacturing capacity they have.

Cavorting Kitties Strymie Patrolmen

DAYTON, Ohio — (AP) — A pair of playful polecats strayed two patrolmen and a Dayton family last night.

The Pinkard Johnsons smelled and then spotted the skunks cavorting on their front lawn.

Patrolmen P. T. Steward and J. L. Brown gave chase and finally trapped the pair under two cardboard boxes.

The patrolmen suggested that the Johnsons call the animal shelter.

But rain and the frolicsome skunks wrecked this idea. The watersoaked cardboard boxes collapsed, freeing the animals. When last seen, they were playing again on the Johnson lawn.

Willacy County Oil Payment Is R. uced

HOUSTON — (AP) — Pan American Production Company yesterday knocked 10 cents a barrel off its price for crude oil from the Willamar Field, Willacy County.

The adjustment became effective yesterday morning.

Pan American president E. R. Turner said the company has been unable to market Willamar crude at its former $2.50 a barrel price because, he said, the crude has a high salt content and relatively small and low octane gasoline yields.

Lived high. The majority could never figure "where the money goes."

"Today war savings bonds, pensions and life insurance policies are being paid in 50-cent dollars," the bureau says, pointing the finger at inflation both of government borrowing and piling up of national debt.
