APPEAL TO BE EXPEDITED TO HIGHER COURT

MAN IS INDICTED FOR VIOLATING LUMBER CODE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 31. (P)—Judge E. I. Grubb in U. S. district court today dismissed an indictment against W. E. Belcher, on the ground that the national recovery code for the fair competition for the lumber and timber products industry, on which the indictment was founded, is unconstitutional.

The order was entered on agreement of U. S. District Attorney James Smith and Jerome T. Fuller, of Centerville, representing Belcher, to expedite an appeal to the United States supreme court.

Belcher who operates sawmills at Centerville, Plantersville and other points, was indicted on charges of paying his employees less than 24 cents an hour and working them more than 40 hours per week as provided by the code of fair competition for the lumber industry.

Attorneys for the government and for Belcher in reaching the agreement said it would be in the public interest to have an early ruling by the United States supreme court on the validity of the national recovery act to clarify "confusion" as to the constitutionality of the act.

AMERICANS WIN $2,572,000 IN IRISH SWEEPSTAKES RACE AS FAVORITE RUNS AHEAD

Twinkles

It is our idea that there ought to be a law demanding that, before anyone starts shouting about the Centennial, he should read Texas history from "kiver to kiver."

He who predicts anything but sunny weather in a drought period in a Panhandle fall hasn't stopped to think. An occasional northerly breeze emphasizes how much good weather we have.

Home Demonstration clubs will demonstrate that the farmers have plenty to eat in their pantries. But, unfortunately, there are few well-filled pantries for Madame Cow.

"A dignified editor," says the Higgins News, "is the salt of the earth." But he usually called worse names than that.

To judge by the way those tough little Mexicans treated our harvesters out at El Paso, one would think some Pampa boy yelled "Remember the Alamo."

Musing of the moment: Pampa must be growing despite the lack of houses. Circulation of THE NEWS has increased to a point where the big press has to run from 3:15 to 6 p. m. to print all the papers needed. Circulation in the surrounding territory also is startlingly good. Mac West recently bought a slender horse. The point is, will the horse approve of plump Mac? Hunters should admit, in the beginning, that feet are made to walk upon and not to fill with No. 6 shot.

Brevitorials

"SEE TEXAS FIRST." Is a motto of one standing. The Centennial should translate it into a motto of real meaning. Certainly the varied assets of this state are little known to most of the population. The Centennial is based upon the assumption that the history of the state is worth commemorating. But history is worthless unless widely known. Many of the assets of the state are newcomers from other states. Such folks made Texas what it is and should be welcomed. There is pride for all in the fact that no matter what your state, residents of that state moved to Texas and help it make it what it is. Texans should understand that state appropriations must be necessary to any particular section. Every part imagines the other has been favored.

FEDERAL HOME loans are still unavailable. Federally insured remodeling and repair loans are available in comparatively few cities despite the publicity given to the government's proposition. In Pampa, no citizens with money have taken up the federal offer. Actually, however, a few loans are being made every week by individuals or the bank. These are on the same old basis of character, employment, and general trustworthiness. A number of persons desiring ordinary bank loans is not as large as many observers imagine.

RECENTLY we wrote as follows: Is Pampa, despite the general good business compared with other cities of this state, slowing down in leadership? We refer to financial leadership. Many other cities are going ahead with building campaigns by making the Government-insured loans possible. Pampa, with a keen demand for the loans, is going ahead so slowly that the pace is imperceptible. There is money here, but it is not building Pampa. Unless the financial leaders take more interest in building Pampa than they are showing now, the future of the city is imperiled.

The Dallas News printed the above and commented: The government is actually begging the people to borrow public funds. Business men are offered loans by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation and the Federal Reserve banks. Home owners are offered federal support in renovating, enlarging or reroofing their houses. But the takers are comparatively few. Nobody is in a hurry to make debts, at least nobody who expects to pay them in the future. Debt has become a monster of such hideous mien that to be hated has but to be seen. One of the reasons why business has been below normal is because so many Americans are determined to pay their debts and preserve their property or

THREE TICKETS HELD IN U. S. TO PAY $150,000 EACH

NEWMARKET, Eng., Oct. 31. (AP)—Wychwood Abbott, the favorite at 9 to 1, won the historic Cambridgehire stakes today. A field of 33 ran.

Commander III was second and Highlander third.

Commander III was quoted at 40 to 1. The odds on Highlander were 22 to 1.

Wychwood Abbott, ridden by Jackey Perryman and carrying 118 pounds over the mile and an eighth route, won by half a length. Commander III was a head in front of Highlander.

The winner by Black Abbott out of Sweet Hainault, is owned by O. V. Watney. Commander III is owned by J. Briscoe and Lord Derby is Highlander's owner.

The four American owned horses, Mat, Bondsman, Statesman, and Tabasco 4th, never figured in the race. All were well back at the finish.

When the field became separated, Spiritlike held a slight lead, followed by Blue Boy, Grindleton, and Caymanas. Commander III was slightly in front as they entered the stretch, but was quickly overhauled by the winner.

Prize money on Wychwood Abbott in the Irish Sweepstakes distributed in England totaled 100,000 pounds sterling. About $400,000 went to ticket holders in the United States and 10,000 pounds sterling was distributed in other countries.

The poor weather conditions made it almost impossible for the spectators to distinguish the leaders until Wychwood Abbott challenged with a final downhill rush and won with a fine burst of speed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—American holders of tickets in the Irish Free State hospital sweepstakes won a total which today amounted to approximately $2,572,000 as a result of the Cambridgehire hand-on race at Newmarket, on which the sweepstakes were based.

Three tickets were held in the United States in the winning horse, Wychwood Abbott and each of these tickets pays $150,000. Eight tickets were held in the United States on Commander III, which ran second, and each of these tickets pays $75,000. The four tickets held in the United States on Highlander, the third horse, each pay $50,000.

Other horses entered in the Cambridgehire, but which did not finish in the money, will receive $1,028,000 for their share.

In addition to the tickets on horses, Americans won consolation prizes totaling $293,500 and residual prizes totaling $1,200.

Holders of tickets on Wychwood Abbott in the United States were: Mrs. E. Feiz, 68-09 59th Road, Maspeth, L. I.

Miss Mac Neeson, 31-19 35th Street, Astoria, Ore.

Another who signed his ticket with the nom de plume "Never Quit," 391 First Avenue, New York.

Eight Irish hospital sweepstakes tickets were held in the United States on Commander III who came in second in the race and each of these tickets will pay the owners $75,000.

The winning tickets were signed: "Beechwood," 45 Clinton Avenue, Staten Island, New York.

L. Damize and another, 416 North 12th Street, Newark, N. J.

"Johnnie's Luck," 31 Middle Street, Newton, Mass.

"For My Baby," 1230 Belmont Avenue, Brooklyn, New York.

Freida Schebel, 13316 166th Street, Ozone Park, N. Y.

Francis E. Witz, 914 51st Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

We Heard--

A Mobile, Ala., native but now a resident of Pampa, saying, "What was the idea of her coming to Amarillo and missing Pamper on this visit." Many Mobile citizens add "rs" to the end of vowels and leave them out in the middle of words.

A group of Pampa football fans who saw the Borger football field declaring that the field should be condemned by the Interscholastic League. The playing field is caliche with chunks of hard earth all over it. Boys could be crippled for life and championship prospects could be wiped out in a minute on such a field.

Defies Union

Rejecting union demands that the 300 A. & P. groceries in Cleveland, O., be placed on a closed shop basis, John Harford, closed shop president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., took the drastic step of closing all stores, paying off 2300 employees, and ordering all stocks shipped to other cities.

Brown Telephones From Europe To Get Grid Dope

AMARILLO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Schooboy football in West Texas has reached the point of interest where phone calls from Europe are necessary to keep up with the activity.

M. K. Brown, Pampa rancher and oil man, is on an extended vacation in London, but he couldn't keep from worrying about prospects for the Amarillo Golden Sandstorm and Pampa Harvester Thanksgiving game. So he called by radiophone to ask how the teams were looking.

"It looks like a toss-up," Chas. Ware of Amarillo told Brown. "I'll be home for the game about a week before the clash," Mr. Brown declared in the London phone.

The Amarillo-Pampa game will be played here Thanksgiving day.

DILLINGER GANG PLAY HIDE-AND-SEEK WITH LAW

Attorney And Eight Flee Down Fire Escape

MONTICELLO, Ind., Oct. 31. (AP)—J. Edward Barce, deputy attorney general, and eight persons held as "witnesses" in the investigation of John Dillinger's "wooden gun" escape from Crown Point jail, disappeared early today when an attorney for one of the eight sought to serve a habeas corpus writ on Barce.

The writ was sought on behalf of Ernest Blunk, former prison expert, by his attorney, Allen P. Twyman of East Chicago, Ind., but when Sheriff William J. Hayes attempted to serve the writ he learned that Blunk and the seven other "witnesses" had been taken from the hotel where they had been stopping.

C. B. Wiprior, proprietor of the hotel, declined to permit the sheriff to search the rooms on the ground he had no search warrant. While the two were arguing Barce was reported to have gone down a fire escape, leaving with the "witnesses" by automobile for an unknown destination.

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO OPENS PROBE OF CATHOLIC CLERGY

MEXICO, D. F., Oct. 31. (AP)—The Mexican government started to investigate today charges that the Catholic clergy intend to overthrow it.

President Abelardo Rodriguez ordered Attorney General Portes Gil to make the investigation and prosecute those he found involved.

At the same time, the supreme court ruled all privately owned buildings, in which Catholic ceremonies of any kind are held shall become property of the nation, on her blow at the church in the current government drive against it.

President Rodriguez, in a letter to the attorney general, said the clergy on the pretext of fighting the installation of socialistic education, had initiated a frank campaign of sedition which reveals clearly its intention of bringing about a rebellion.

"These persons," he added, "in a majority of cases are of doubtful Mexican nationality because they are carrying out functions which according to their creed are their duties as dependents of a central organ of the Catholic church."

The president said he had documents in his possession to prove his charges.

He asserted the Catholic clergy "is following its persistent historical attitude of trying to combat all advanced principles or any conquest which the people have succeeded in snatching by force of arms from its traditional and secular enemy."

PAY CUTS OF U S EMPLOYEES ARE RESTORED

GOVERNMENT WORKERS WILL GET 5 PER CENT RAISE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31. (AP)—Full restoration of the government pay cuts next July 1 will be recommended by President Roosevelt.

The president made the announcement today at his semi-weekly press conference.

This means a 5 per cent increase in all government salaries which will make them reach the 1932 levels.

Mr. Roosevelt said the pay increase would be urged in expectation of an increase in values and in prices by July 1.

He does not feel the increase will be warranted by January 1 but is confident of the upward trend by the time the new government year begins in July.

Upon taking office the president brought about a 15 per cent cut in government pay. The last congress restored 10 per cent of this reduction.

Formulating his budget for next year, the president said he was receiving estimates on forthcoming relief and public works expenditures until at least the first of the year.

Meanwhile, he said he did not have the slightest idea what figures would be recommended.

Any tax cut, he added, would hinge finally upon the relief and public works expenditures.

Published reports of various public works programs being under consideration by the administration were disclosed by Mr. Roosevelt.

5-Year Term Is Given for Theft

A sentence of 5 years in the penitentiary was given Gus Bowers in 31st court today. Bowers pleaded guilty to theft of harness.

Judge Ewing pointed out that Bower had a "bad record" prior to his offense in this county. Bowers, angered by the sentence, told the judge that it was an "improper" sentence.

J. D. White, tried under the "nuisance" statute yesterday afternoon, was given an instructed verdict of not guilty when the State failed to connect him with sales of liquor at a local bar. Two defendants jointly indicted with him are due to go to trial tomorrow.

Salvation Army Drive Will End Former Solicitation

An annual appeal of the Salvation Army for general funds with which to conduct its work over the country will be made in Gray county this week by W. D. Pedigo, campaigner from the Dallas headquarters office.

The campaign, Mr. Pedigo said, will be the only solicitation for funds made in the county during the year, and any other solicitation will be unauthorized and should be ignored. A goal of $100 this year has been set for the county. The old method of continual tambourine solicitation is being abandoned, he said.

The funds will be used in the maternity homes, hospitals, and similar institutions of the organization.

Mr. Pedigo has been in this work for the Army for the last ten years.

Jazz Band Helps Revival Group In Beer Joint Tour

FORT WORTH, Oct. 31. (AP)—Surrounding bars and beer drinkers with their religious songs, Premillennial Baptists visited night clubs here last night.

Among the hymns heard as the brew foamed from bottles and kegs and as dancers glided over floors were "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder," "I Believe in Jesus," "The Old Time Religion," and "There's a Great Day Coming."

At one of the places visited the merry-makers joined in the singing and the dance orchestra did its best in an accompaniment.

Leading the revival tour were Rev. W. O. Alvis of Etolle, Texas, Charles McDowell of Bloomfield, Iowa, M. L. Mosier of Little Rock, and R. B. Key, Corsicana.

Witches Ride Again As Pampans Celebrate

Every cat has her night—at least one night in the year. And tonight she will join the witch, the owl, the bat, and hobgoblin in a grand climax of a season of revelry. For the last week local boys and girls have been making Halloween merriment. Typically at least for such an occasion was the group above which was snapped by THE NEWS photographer at a party at the First Methodist church. The boy is Jack Hessey, son of Supt. and Mrs. John B. Hessey. The girls, left to right, are Virginia Callison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Callison; La Verna Willard, daughter of Mrs. B. M. Pollard, and Byron Dodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dodson.

OFFICERS WILL WORK LATE TONIGHT--BOYS ARE WARNED

Halloween Fun Is Proper But Property Destruction Won't Be Allowed.

Taking note of Halloween, local officers today urged the day, or night, to be rather conservatively observed.

Ordinary reveling will not be molested, but all damaging of property will result in arrests if the offenders are caught. Marking of cars and windows with soap is taboo and will result in trips to the jail for youngsters who try it.

Both the police and the county-prominent groups will be on duty late tonight. Recent Halloween boys have been rather harmless, but officers will be vigilant to keep them so. Parents are advised that damaging pranks by the children will be costly to parents who have to pay the fines.

The officers do not pose as joy-killers but as protectors of property. Halloween has been anticipated in Pampa social life of the past week. Children and grown-ups alike have enjoyed traditional games, fortune telling, and colorful symbols of the ancient holiday.

Carnivals in the Halloween spirit have been chosen by school organizations in Pampa. LeFors, and Webb as "benefit" entertainments, while Hopkins Parent-Teacher association is sponsoring a Halloween bridge tournament this evening.

Costumed crowds of children are to gather at many parties this afternoon and evening for their last fling of the 1934 spook season.

Dallas Votes For Centennial Bonds

DALLAS, Oct. 31. (AP)—This city, where the Texas Centennial celebration will be held in 1936, counted votes today and learned that at a special election yesterday a $5,000,000 Centennial bond issue carried, 3,462 to 1,988.

Although no Centennial leaders would comment officially, they made it clear that Dallas could not be expected to finance an exposition that would benefit the entire state and southwest and bitterly assailed a move in the legislature designed to assess this city a five per cent sales tax to finance the exposition.

However, 500 tank trucks of gasoline moved into other parts of the state from East Texas Sunday, and the movement was reported here by the oil increase. There is virtually no state control of tank truck movements, although the government apparently has choked off such shipments at the state line.

This factor led to a widespread belief that cheap gasoline will be dumped in Texas, causing a retail price war comparable with the serious disturbances already in existence in the east and middle west.

Approximately 40 refineries of East Texas were shut down today.

Constitutional amendments to be submitted to the voters in the general election of November 6 were studied by Pampa Rotarians today.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 31. (AP)—Purging the registration rolls in Los Angeles county of alleged illegal registrations by a single suit affecting 24,000 voters was prohibited today by the state supreme court which left the way open for action on the basis of individual service.

The high court's order prohibited the Los Angeles superior court, where the action originated, from taking action affecting the rights or status of any defendant who had not been regularly served with summons, or who has not been otherwise personally served with notice to appear or who has not appeared in the case.

The supreme court still pondered an appeal involving thousands of prospective voters in next Tuesday's election.

"I think we have pretty nearly come to a conclusion," Chief Justice William H. Waste commented on the appeal to halt disfranchisement proceedings against nearly 25,000 Los Angeles residents charged with illegal registration.

Most of them were challenged on the ground the registrants do not live at the addresses they gave.

Air Inspector Urges Field Be Improved Here

R. W. Delaney, department of commerce inspector, visited the local airport yesterday afternoon. Mr. Delaney's visit was not official, but while here he outlined flying regulations to pilots of local ships.

He recommended that flying over houses in the neighborhood of the field, at low altitude, be discouraged and disclosed that protests had been filed with his department. He also recommended that the field be improved if it is to be used in the future.

A sewer ditch across the field has become a menace to aviation in Pampa. Several near crashes have occurred in the past month and, unless the ditch is repaired, the field may be condemned.

EDITORIAL

AN UNJUSTIFIABLE COMPLAINT

A recent caustic editorial in the Memphis Democrat expressed heated opinions about the "state" of Texas, that part other than the Panhandle, which were read with amusement and interest a year or two ago but which are no longer appreciated by Panhandle citizens as a whole. It used to be that we took a sort of amused pride in reading articles that stressed the sectional pride of the Panhandle, but no sound-thinking plainman now has any desire to further alienate the rest of the state from us.

Several years ago, certain editorial writers of the Panhandle formed the deplorable habit of constantly reiterating that the Panhandle never gets a fair deal down at Austin. They always failed to state both sides of the question and constantly piled higher and higher the chips on their shoulders. Those writers flattered the conceit of their readers but did little else. Such an editorial tack is downright displeasing to the average Panhandle reader now.

The Memphis oration dealt particularly with the Centennial bill now in the legislature and specifically with Senator Walter Woodward's resolution to "invite" West Texas to the Centennial celebration. Here is a sample sentence:

"West Texans, how long are we going to stand for virtual governmental slavery? We are being bulldozed by a government in which we have practically no voice except that wrangled from the remainder of the state by our representatives who have to fight to the last ditch for everything they get. . . . Ignoring West Texas in the so-called state-wide celebration is only another of the underhanded deals this part of the state has received throughout the years. . . . The "East Texas Centennial" should be boycotted by every West Texan."

If those declarations were not so tragic they would be ridiculous, and most plainmen will realize it. At any rate, they don't represent the beliefs of five per cent of the Panhandle people. One might be inclined to believe that they express the attitude of Memphis citizens if we did not know that only two weeks ago, five patriotic Memphis citizens, all civic leaders in that community, people who have lived at Memphis a long time, drove to Pampa to advocate the Centennial movement in the banquet here.

The same editorial says that the Texas senate is "East-Texas Governed." Admittedly, three of the most powerful leaders in the Senate are from West Texas—Senators Small, Woodward, Duggan. It has been said that Small and Woodward get anything they want at the Legislature, and they probably could get as much as any other Texas senator IF THEY KNEW WHAT THEIR CONSTITUENTS WANTED. But we are picking no quarrel with those able senators. They have represented us well. Now a senator has no idea what his constituents want unless they tell him. Has the irate Memphian ever disclosed his Centennial opinions to his senator in the last two years? We would gamble that he thought more about the Centennial while writing the editorial than at any time previous. Pampa has cooperated with the Centennial Commission for a long time now, and we have been given a square deal thus far. We are not crow to pick with the commission, and as for our attitude toward the Legislature, The Texas Weekly has aptly analyzed the situation thus:

"It is a fact that the Legislature has never been really interested in the Centennial. In every move it has made in connection with the proposal to celebrate the Centennial, it has had to be whipped into action by influences outside of its membership. It let the long regular session two years ago pass without even introducing a bill to carry out the mandate of the people. Then it let the first called session go by without action. . . . It is also the Legislature's fault that the central celebration was put up on the auction block to be knocked down to the highest bidder."

The Memphis editorial sounds as if the writer had just heard that there was to be a Centennial. Why didn't he inform his senator and representative of his attitude when the bill creating the Commission and authorizing the celebration was passed? That was the time to air one's objections. It might have done some good then; it won't now.

The slogan of West Texans from now on should be cooperation. If we show enough interest in our government to find out what is going on at Austin and to inform our senator and representatives of our desires, we will get a fair deal. But first we ought to get the chips off our shoulders. Only through cooperation, tact, diplomacy, and intelligence are we going to be able to get what we want in the future—and that's true in any country. Eternally squawking and nothing more will never get us anything.—A. F.

Brushing Up on Facts You Ought to Recall

Cold northerners swept down on the Spaniards from the snow-capped mountains at Tiguex that winter of 1540-1541 when Coronado and his men were camped there. The small houses of mud and stones seemed as though they would be blown apart by the next mad gale. Sleet fell, and dreary days of drizzling rain came. Added to the misery of the climate and the diminishing food supply, the Indians revolted.

Coronado had feared that it would be difficult to keep on peaceful terms with the Indians, and he was not greatly surprised when suppressed anger finally broke out in warfare. The fight was rather severe. Some of the Indians were shot by Spanish; some were drowned in the icy waters of the Rio Grande as it swirled on its downward course. The one terrible blow of Spanish explorations happened during the uprising. A captive Indian had been promised freedom, but the captain of the attacking party was not aware of the promise. Therefore, cruel as it was, for punishment the captive was ordered to die at the stake as a warning to neighboring tribes not to begin any quarrels. Although Coronado tried to reconcile himself and his men with the Indians through various gestures of friendship, he never again had their complete trust and understanding.

Towards the spring tales of gold and silver once more reached the willing ears of the Spanish. "The Turk," captive Plains Indian at Cileue, gave encouraging stories of the land of Quivira. Probably wishing for freedom, and thinking to gain it by the desire of the Spaniards, he was clever enough to know what they wanted him to say. He told them of great wealth and riches in cities to the East—in the far-away land of Quivira. Regardless of protests by Indians who knew the land and knew that the Turk was not telling the truth, Coronado made plans for the trip to Quivira in the spring.

It was with fresh hope and cheerful spirits that the men left Tiguex that sunny, balmy spring morning in April 1541. It was well that they did not know disappointment was again in store for them; for their burdens seemed light, and the pathway easy.

HITLER IS 'NOT INTERESTED' IN CHURCH BATTLE

DER FUEHRER DISPOSES OF FAR-REACHING CONTROVERSY

BERLIN, Oct. 31 (AP)—Services of Thanksgiving will be held Sunday by churches opposed to the Nazi German Christians, for Chancellor Hitler has decided he and his party are no longer interested in the church fight.

Thus der fuhrer disposed of, for the present at least, one of the most difficult and far-reaching controversies ever before him. His attitude may ultimately lead to separation of the church and state in Germany.

The chancellor's stand, taken at a conference with three insurgent bishops, was cheered by opposition forces today as a smashing victory. It climaxed their long fight against Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller and his dictatorial program to unify the German Christian or Evangelical church.

Insurgent leaders said Nazi German Christians who wielded power only because political authorities did police service for them, sooner or later must collapse—now that this support is gone.

Mueller, they feel, remains a mere "phantom," for his main strength was Hitler's backing—now withdrawn. It is immaterial to them, they say, whether Mueller resigns or continues in his powerless office. The fundamental decision coming from Hitler's conference yesterday with the opposition bishops was that the Protestant church has regained freedom of action.

Freedom of conscience, the opposition says, has been re-established if Hitler and his party really keep their hands off. For months, pastors who dared to oppose Mueller have been expelled, some of them arrested.

Hitler's decision may mean a break with tradition in Germany under which the Lutheran church rested for 200 years on the authority of state.

Commutation Of Sentence Asked By Pen Slayer

HUNTSVILLE, Oct. 31 (AP)—John M. "Pete" McKenize, mad man of the Texas penitentiary, awaited action of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson today on the request of his attorney, E. B. Simmons, for a commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment a request in which District Judge W. W. McCrory of San Antonio, declared legally sane after the death sentence had been imposed on him in 1927 for the murder of Sam Street, San Antonio chief of detectives, killed Ted Rogers, a Wichita county convict, in the prison here last Saturday night. Street was his second victim. McKenize having slain a warehouse man at El Paso and escaped from prison after he began serving a term for that murder. The death sentence was stayed in 1929 after another jury held he was insane.

Commutation of sentence would put McKenize legally in the penitentiary. He was left here by the sheriff who was bringing him back from his home in Kennett, Mo., where he fled after his escape from jail.

District Judge S. W. Dean announced yesterday that in the event the Walker county grand jury returned an indictment against McKenize next week for the Rogers killing, another sanity hearing for him would be held. Officers expressed belief that the old death sentence could be carried out if McKenize again were held to be sane.

Nearly 4,000 farm home shelters have been planted in Montana, the Dakotas and Wyoming in cooperation with the department of agriculture.

CHURCH UNITY SHOULD REPLACE DENOMINATIONS, PREACHER SAYS

One of the largest crowds of the entire meeting heard Evangelist Cogdill last evening in the revival being conducted at Francis Avenue Church of Christ. Visitors were present from Miami, Panhandle, Shamrock, White Deer, and McLean. Two addresses were reported. Mr. Cogdill read the first six verses of the Ephesian letter and stated that he believed these verses to be the platform of the church of God. His subject for the hour was "God's Plan for Unity."

"Nothing is more needful today among the believers in Christ than unity, co-ordination and cooperation. Not only is it needed among believers in a local sense but its needs are felt throughout the world.

"The same degree of oneness that exists between God the Father and Christ his son should exist among religious people today.

"Denominationalism cannot be a blessing to mankind because it is contrary to the prayer the Savior prayed for the unity that should exist among his professed believers. Denominationalism and religious division have been a hindrance rather than a help to the growth and development of the kingdom of God on earth.

"Sectarianism is carnal; the Apostle Paul rebuked the Corinthian church for permitting the spirit of sectarianism to develop in that ancient congregation of believers.

"The church is the kingdom, Christ is the king, Christians are subjects of the king, God's word is the law. Oneness is seen here. One king, one kingdom and one law to govern the subjects in the kingdom.

"The territory of God is not divided. If it is divided or could be divided it surely could not stand because the Savior taught while upon earth that a house divided against itself cannot stand.

"The church of the New Testament is spoken of as a family, or the family of God. This family is the church and the Apostle Paul clearly states that there is one body of church and that all God's children are his spiritual family. He has no children other than in his family and all entered that spiritual family by virtue of birth, a spiritual birth. God is the father of but one family.

"Denominationalism is of modern origin, having started not earlier than the fifteenth century. The church for which Jesus died had its beginning upon the earth in the year 33 A. D. Jerusalem was the place of its birth."

Baker Carnival Is Attended by Several Hundred

Attended by several hundred persons, the Halloween carnival at B. M. Baker school last evening was pronounced a success by the Parent-Teacher association, sponsoring organization.

Reports of the proceeds had not been completed this morning, but a substantial sum was added to the treasury.

String music by Jimmy King and Roy Holt, and members of the school band entertained through the evening. The snake charmer, bearded woman, and cannibals attracted many patrons, as did the motion picture show.

Carnival refreshments were sold in the cafeteria by the hospitality committee, headed by Mrs. T. O. McKinney.

Appreciation for the work of teachers, pupils, and patrons of the school in making the event a success was expressed today by the executive board.

Youngsters Enjoy Halloween Party With Joyce Stine

Mrs. C. L. Stine honored her daughter, Joyce, with a Halloween party Tuesday afternoon. Guests were greeted by a witch, then led to a hall where fortunes were told.

Such games as ducking for apples, and pitching balls in pumpkins were enjoyed for an hour. Refreshments were served, and favors of black and orange lollipops were given.

Present were Joella Shelton, Juanita Jones, Ethel Lane, Warren Fathere, Henry Lane Jr., Don Stine, Billy Crouson, Lewis Duvall, Koma Jo Johnson, Anna Lane, Bonnie Ruth Seeds, Kenneth Johnson, Jeannine Worrell, Sammie Stine, Jack Peddicord, and Joyce Stine.

Subject for this evening, 7:30 p. m., "The Second Coming of Christ."

COSTUMES ADD COLOR TO GAY HOLIDAY PARTY

LARGE NUMBER ARE PRESENT FOR PARTY

Halloween decorations transformed the basement of First Baptist church last evening, when members of the Builders B. T. S. class met there costumed as spooks, clowns, cowboys, Spanish dancers, and colonial ladies.

Games were in the holiday tradition, and a trip to the "death house" ended the evening. Pumpkin pie and coffee were served, then everyone joined in songs led by H. E. Pearce. R. E. Gatlin gave the benediction.

Eighteen persons were present from group one, captained by Calvin Whitley, and 24 from Mrs. R. E. Gatlin's group two. Mrs. C. E. Cheatham and Mrs. E. N. Dean were in charge of the entertainment.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Gatlin, Hugh Ellis, W. M. Moore, Nolan Harris, Floyd Young, D. B. Jameson, Pearce, H. E. Crocker, Harvey Anderson, Cheatham, J. A. Arwood, Ollie White, W. R. Hallmark, Whitley, S. G. Cecil, W. E. Yeager, A. C. Crawford, Dean, Joe E. Foster, Robert L. Banks, Mmes. C. L. Stephens, W. R. Bell, John Bell Jr., R. L. Edmondson, C. F. Fisher.

Tickets Now on Sale for Comedy

Tickets are on sale now for the three-act comedy, Laff That Off, which will be presented Monday evening in city hall auditorium. Members of First Methodist young people's department, sponsors, are in charge of ticket sales.

The play is to be presented by the Plains Players, a recently organized dramatic group.

The sponsors recommended it as a breezy comedy, full of humorous situations and witty lines; a wholesome, skillfully produced entertainment for the whole family.

Its complications revolve around the adoption of a homeless young girl, played by Clotilde McCallister, by three bachelors, portrayed by Verlon Twaddell, LaVerne Corson, and John Kettler. Dorothy Harris and Mrs. Wade Thomason complete the cast. All are experienced on the stage, and are working to make the first performance by their organization a memorable one.

'RED' FANNING MAY BE LOST REST OF YEAR

CHUBBY STEWART BACK IN UNIFORM AFTER MONTH'S ABSENCE

Darwood "Red" Fanning, Pampa fullback, may be lost to the Harvesters the rest of the season, attending physicians said yesterday after making a more thorough examination of his dislocated elbow, an injury received in the game in El Paso Saturday afternoon.

Fanning received his injury in the second quarter and it was some time before a doctor reached the hospital where he had been taken. Then it was necessary first to take care of Monroe Owens' injuries, which were more serious. As a result of the delay, the dislocation became inflamed and now the joint is swollen and Fanning suffers severe pain.

Owens' injured back is still painful and it is impossible for him to stand straight. He is receiving daily treatment and the soreness should be gone in a week or two. Fred Mumford's strained back is responding to treatment and he may be in uniform later in the week.

Chubby Stewart appeared in uniform yesterday after an absence of more than a month and may be ready to get in the Lubbock and Amarillo games. Stewart is one of the best line backers on the team.

The team stepped up its practice speed yesterday afternoon in preparation for the coming of the Plainview Bulldogs Friday night. The game was changed from Saturday afternoon and the admission price reduced to 50 cents. The game will be called at 8 o'clock.

With three regulars out of the lineup, and Plainview at full strength for the first time in a month, the Harvesters are expected to be hard pressed to eke out a win. Last

1,000 RESERVE TICKETS TO L'FORS BATTLE GO ON SALE

Pirates and McLean Tigers To Play Friday Evening Nov. 9, At LeFors.

One thousand reserve seat tickets for the football game between the LeFors Pirates and the McLean Tigers at Shaw Field, LeFors, on Friday evening, November 9, were placed on sale in LeFors and McLean this morning as lines of fans waited in both cities for the opening of ticket windows.

Pampa football fans desiring reserve tickets for the game should get in touch with officials at the LeFors high school immediately. Telephone calls or letters will receive prompt attention. Reserve seat tickets will be only 50 cents.

It is estimated that more than 2,000 fans will fill Shaw Park for the big game. The Pirates, coached by Coach Bill Bronson and Francis Smith stand a good chance of winning over the Tigers of Coach Gardner Rush. The Pirates are undefeated this season while McLean has lost two games and tied one.

McLean will have the advantage of weight and experience over the green Pirates, but injuries have proven disastrous to the Rush-coached team. It is expected, however, that the Tigers will be at near full strength for the tilt.

On paper, McLean has a 10-point advantage over the Pirates. McLean defeated Miami 30 to 0 while LeFors downed the same team 20 to 0. Miami, however, was a much improved team when they met the Pirates in LeFors last week.

LeFors is already at white heat of interest over the game. Picnards have been prepared and fans are playing the game already. A defense to stop the terrific drives of Tolliver, fullback, and Dow, fleet halfback, is being prepared.

McLean is figuring how to stop the rushes of Cumberland, LeFors fullback, and the end runs of Morgan, midget halfback.

'NATURAL' TO BE PLAYED ON ATHENS FIELD

26 DISTRICT GAMES ON SCHEDULE FOR WEEK-END

The "natural" will be Friday at Athens where Jacksonville and the Athens Hornets will clash. These two teams are two wins and no defeats in district eleven. Athens breezed through last week with a 35 to 6 decision over a strong Nacogdoches team to retain an unmarred record. The winner of Friday's game is expected to grab off the district championship.

Districts two and three are without important district combats this week. Lubbock, Amarillo, Breckenridge, Ranger, San Angelo and Big Spring, the pace-setters, will play non-district foes.

El Paso, with three victories and no defeats, continued to lead in district four where no district games are carded this week.

The Electra and Quannah battle Friday at Quannah may develop into a tough scrimmage. Quannah is tied with Vernon for top place in district five with two wins and no defeats. Electra is credited with no wins and one defeat.

With Denton at Highland Park, Gainesville at Sherman and Denton at McKinney, district six faces a full schedule of championship tilts. Gainesville, Dallas Highland Park and Sherman are tied for top two Fort Worth aggregations. Polytechnic and Masonic Home, hold the pinnacle in district seven. The outstanding battle Friday in this district will pit Central against Masonic Home. In other district tilts, Northstripling, Thursday, and Mineral Wells takes on Polytechnic Saturday.

Having won last week in a 20 to 7 victory over a powerful Forest team, the Dallas Sunset Bisons take on another strong district eight rival Friday in the Woodrow Wilson district. Sunset, with two wins, and Dallas Woodrow Wilson with one victory, are tied for the lead.

The Greenville Lions, 1933 state champions, got away to a flying district championship start last week when they smothered Paris, 85 to 0. District nine is comprised of only three teams, Greenville, Paris and Sulphur Springs.

District ten is plastering the billboards with a headliner for Friday when the two leaders, Marshall and Longview clash at Longview. Both are undefeated in district competition. Texarkana at Tyler Saturday is the other district battle.

Last week, Corsicana conquered Waco, and Temple crushed Cleburne to leave these two in a deadlock for first place in district twelve.

District thirteen has three Houston schools, San Jacinto, Jeff Davis, and Sam Houston setting the place with unmarred records. Sam Houston is favored to beat Jeff Davis Friday. Milby and John Reagan clash Saturday in the other district game.

Hang conquered South Park of Beaumont last week, the Port Arthur Yellow Jackets are leading in district fourteen with two wins and no defeats. The district game Saturday will put Beaumont at Galveston. Neither has yet played a district game.

Districts fifteen and sixteen will not disturb their leaders this week. District standings and district championship games this week follow:

BABE RUTH HAS NO OPENING TO BECOME A TEAM MANAGER

BY ALAN GOULD, Associated Press Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—It has become increasingly evident if not absolutely definite, that there is no opportunity in the American league for Babe Ruth to fulfill his ambition to launch a managerial career next season.

What will happen after 1935, when Joe McCarthy's contract runs out with the Yankees and perhaps other vacancies develop, remains to be seen. Meanwhile, the Babe is in the position of having burned his bridges behind him, with no place to go after he finishes a trip around the world. He had publicly declared himself out of the player ranks, which makes it official, but it is difficult to imagine his retirement, even if there isn't a manager's job available. Besides, the great man can always change his mind.

In rapid succession within the past fortnight, the possibility of Babe Ruth becoming manager of the Philadelphia, Boston, or Washington club in the American league has been discussed and discarded. It is no secret that most major magnates consider the Babe too big a gamble as a manager, to justify the substantial investment required in signing him up.

"Ruth unquestionably has the background, the personality, and many of the qualifications essential to become a successful major league manager," one club owner explained recently. "There should be a spot where he could have a chance to show what he can do with a ball club but, frankly, I don't know anybody willing to undertake the experiment. The big question concerns Ruth's ability to maintain discipline. He has never had such responsibility. It is also doubtful whether he would take the time and exhibit patience necessary to building up a second division club. Meanwhile, the more successful teams do not need him."

HILLIARD TO BE IN LINEUP ON SATURDAY

MUSTANGS WILL FACE DETERMINED CREW OF LONGHORNS

Southwest conference football teams are down to the stern business of preparing for Saturday's program which calls for three championship and one non-conference game. Topping the program will be the Southern Methodist and University of Texas battle at Austin.

Cheered by a large delegation on their return yesterday from New York where Saturday they defeated Fordham, the Southern Methodist Mustangs went at once to their training field and started work on new plays to use against the Longhorns.

Coach Ray Morrison warned the Mustangs that they face their hardest game to date. "The Longhorns will be stronger than Louisiana State, Rice, or even Fordham, because they have more material, which means reserve strength. Also don't forget they will be fighting mad after losing consecutive games to Centenary and Rice." Morrison said. Most of the Mustangs' drill yesterday was devoted to a score of new plays Morrison hopes will click against Texas. The Mustangs were equipped with 86 plays when they met Fordham, but used only 43 of them. Mac Stewart, Junior, will replace the injured Captain Ray Fuqua at right end.

At Austin, Coach Jack Chevigny drilled his Longhorns on pass defense. Practically the entire afternoon was devoted to knocking down aerial heaves.

"We intend tossing a few aerials ourselves Saturday," Chevigny said, "and you needn't be surprised to see the air full of footballs." Bohn Hilliard and Jack Gray, halfback and end, respectively, who were injured prior to the Rice game, reported for practice and will see action against the Mustangs.

In other camps it was a busy day of getting down to work after Monday's limbering up exercises. The Texas Christian Frogs and Baylor Bears who will clash Saturday at Fort Worth, went in for a complete routine of running, passing, and kicking. It is doubtful if Geo. Kline, Frog halfback, will start because of a hand injury. Coach Jennings hopes to have Lloyd Russell, star back ready.

The undefeated Rice Institute Owls are taking it rather easy this week since they will catch a breather in Texas A. & I.

RACE TRACK OWNERS AND MACHINE VENDORS AGREE TO LEVIES

MAN OPPOSE TAX TO HELP TEXAS EVENT

TELEPHONE, EXPRESS COMPANIES TAX AGAINST TAX

AUSTIN, Oct. 31. (AP)—Imposition of additional taxes to provide funds for a Texas Centennial continued to draw fire in the Texas legislature today although two industries rallied to accept levies to aid the observance.

They were the race track industry and owners of coin operated vending machines. Other enterprises, including telephone and express companies and independent oil operators, stoutly opposed any addition to their tax burdens at this time.

The house revenue and taxation committee planned to resume its hearings tonight on an omnibus tax bill sponsored by the Centennial commission to raise revenue for the observance of Texas' 100th anniversary of independence. The hearings started Monday night.

Representative Harold Kayton of San Antonio has prepared a substitute for the Centennial commission bill. It would provide for a retail sales tax of five per cent to be levied in Dallas only to supply finances for the Centennial. The amendment is regarded as of doubtful validity and a point of order will be raised against its constitutionality when offered.

The substitute would authorize residents of Dallas, where the main unit of the Centennial would be held, to hold an election to determine if the tax should be levied. The Centennial commission would be permitted to issue $10,000,000 in bonds to be retired from the tax.

J. B. Murphy, representing the four major Texas race tracks, said the racing industry was willing to accept taxes aggregating $500,000 over a two-year period to promote the Centennial. Murphy said the race tracks would donate to the Centennial commission five per cent of the seven and one-half per cent retained by the track from money wagered through pari-mutuel machines. Race track operators also would absorb an additional five per cent on admissions and would add five cents to their printed programs.

The offer was made as a substitute for a proposed increase of five per cent on all moneys wagered through the machines. Murphy said he feared an additional five per cent of the total wagers would kill horse racing in Texas.

Telephone Man Protests
Representatives of coin vending machines accepted without comment the stiff license provided in the bill on both the machines and an occupation tax on owners.

Although no protest was entered by telegraph companies against an increased tax of one per cent of their gross receipts, representatives of telephone companies strenuously opposed it. Similar protest was made by express companies.

H. M. Stewart of Austin, representing the telephone companies, told the committee that 12 cents of each dollar collected by the utility was paid out in taxes and said the industry could not see its way clear to accept the tax.

"It would be the one per cent that breaks the camel's back," Stewart said. He added the companies would be glad to pay the assessment if the Centennial would increase their business volume but asserted that telephone companies, in the main, would derive no direct benefit from the Centennial.

McDonald Meacham of Houston, representing certain independent oil operators, declared imposition of a tax of one-fourth of one cent per barrel on oil would be "a grievous mistake." Meacham also asserted the oil operators would receive no benefit from the Centennial.

"Are you for the Centennial?" asked Representative J. C. Duval of Fort Worth.

Against Centennial
"If you get away from this capital and out among the working people they will say the hour is not at hand for the Centennial," Meacham answered, expressing regret that he had been asked the question. "We ought to speak frankly. It is all right to have a dime if we can pay the fiddler. It is no time to have

CHOKING AND GOUGING WIN ROUGH MATCH

Fans Hurl Chairs At Watkins; Tex Arms Himself With Tack For Opponent.

Pat Garrison of Pampa and Sam George of Corpus Christi stole the show at the weekly wrestling brawl at the Pla-Mor auditorium last night. The two grapplers put on a great exhibition of speed, scientific holds, and open rough stuff to make it one of the best matches in some time.

If there was such a thing as disqualification in Texas wrestling, Sailor Tex Watkins of Post would have lost the main event, but because there isn't, Watkins won the first and third falls with Art Perkins of Detroit, Mich., taking the middle fall.

Lobo Brown and Art Belcher put on a great exhibition for about 12 minutes and then something went wrong. Brown finally won in 18 minutes after a series of slams. Brown would have been counted out earlier in the match had Belcher not hit him, but for some reason Belcher didn't, and Brown came back to win. The two preliminary boys applied some good holds and generally gave a good exhibition.

Garrison and George took about 5 minutes to get warmed up and then they went after each other like a couple of wild men. They applied and broke holds rapidly with George using nerve holds which sent Garrison high into the air and nearly caused him to break his promise to stay clean. He took several swings at George, following nerve pressures, but the fleet Texan got away.

George used arm holds and toe holds nicely, while Garrison worked drop toe-holds from a sitting position in a pretty bit of wrestling. Flying mares were common, and headlocks numerous, as the two battled at top speed for the full 30 minutes.

Watkins opened the main event with a flying mare and Perkins retaliated with a flying head scissor and roll. Watkins then started choking and eye-gouging and twisting a single finger. He followed by hitting Watkins with a flying mare and Perkins took a hand in the rough stuff by planting some nice blows on Watkins' sore ear. He punished the sailor with toe holds and arm stretches that sent Watkins to the ropes.

Referee Howard Belcher appeared helpless against the tough sailor Watkins finally choked the Michigan grappler, knelt him under the chin, and used some other unorthodox methods to win in 23 minutes.

The second fall started out a hair-pulling contest, with Perkins winning. Watkins punched and choked, but Perkins started using his pet flying head scissors and rolls until he had Watkins on his back. It took Belcher about a minute to decide to count Watkins out, but the fans finally got him convinced that Watkins was down. Perkins pulled and all the rough stuff, featured the last fall, won by Watkins in four minutes after he had choked and gouged Perkins until that worthy was blinded and gasping for breath. A couple of chairs were hurled at Watkins by the wild-eyed fans during the melee and Watkins pulled a tack out of the mat and stuck it in his trunks for use if necessary.

Watkins entered the ring in a white silk kimono, with slits in the sides for his arms. He looked like a chariot herder of old as he strutted around and patting himself on the chest and head to show fans that he used his head to get him out of trouble.

Lobo Brown issued a challenge to Pat Garrison following the semi-final.

Rebuilt Closet Inspires Woman To Improve Home

Mr. Leo Paris, bedroom cop-operator of the Laketon Home Demonstration club has demonstrated how "The good work must go on," by carrying home improvement throughout the house. She has gained a new bedroom, with new wall paper, refinished floorwork, and new well-arranged kitchen.

It was all started from the building of a clothes closet in cooperation with the bedroom and wardrobe programs in the county. The closet is 4'x11' and made of sheet rock. It contains many shelves and two rods for coat hangers. These are of the correct height for the adults and the children of the family.

The living room was originally 16'x24'. Mr. Paris, using scrap lumber put in a partition and thus made two rooms. The living room is now 16' by 24' and the newly gained bedroom is 10'x10'. Each room has sufficient light and ventilation.

A shed room has been converted into a modern kitchen 9x12 with cabinet space across one side. All the wall paper, labor, and equipment needed cost $17.28.

ARMY-ILLINOIS GAME HOLDING BIG INTEREST

UNDEFEATED CLUBS OF MAJOR CALIBRE TO PLAY SATURDAY

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.
NEW YORK, Oct. 31. (AP)—The meeting of two undefeated teams of major caliber, Army and Illinois, shifts the center of national football interest to Champaign, Ill., this week.

It is the only contest of that standing on the schedule and probably will write several chapters of the story of the 1934 national title struggle. The Cadets have had only one real test so far, coming through with flying colors when they walloped Yale 20-12 last week. The Illini have turned back Ohio State and Michigan by one-point margins.

The game which probably will wreck the title aspirations of one or both teams has a brief but colorful background. Although playing plenty of mid-western competition, Army has met only Illinois of the Big Ten in recent years. The Cadets lead 2-1 in the series.

A number of other interesting inter-sectional frays also are at the top of the card. Only one, however, involves a major undefeated and untied team. Navy, with a perfect record so far, goes up against Washington and Lee, a southern neighbor which made Princeton battle for its victory two weeks ago.

Fordham and Tennessee, meeting for the first time, may put on a good show despite their defeats and the injuries that are troubling them. George Washington, with only a tie to mar its record, faces the Vanderbilt Commodores. Pitts-burgh, coming back after its loss to Minnesota, encounters Notre Dame which also is traveling the come-back route at a good clip.

The eight-cent stamp is a gray-green shade and shows Mt. Zion in Utah. The nine-cent stamp is gray, showing a scene in the Glacier national park in Montana. The ten-cent stamp is a reddish-orange color and shows Smoky Mountain in Tennessee.

The special delivery airmail stamp is blue and bears a shield.

A SAFER WAY to relieve constipation in any child...

This simple experiment has often meant a changed child, mothers.

A test that is easily made, and should be made, when children are occasionally upset or constipated.

Doctors urge a liquid laxative for children. The child who has been convalescing in a hospital, will usually come out with bowels working like a well-regulated watch. Hospitals give children a liquid laxative of suitable ingredients, suitable strength, and in suitable amount.

Children should never be given the strong cathartics that are meant for adult use.

So, avoid all use of mineral drugs, whether they are salts, pills, tablets, or "candy" form. Even once a month is too often to give any child a cathartic containing powerful drugs.

The Proper Treatment
Give that sluggish child a liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative). California Syrup of Figs has the right amount for children's use, and this rich, fruity syrup does not upset them.

Just give any headachy, bilious child a little of this gentle laxative when constipated, and a little less if dose is repeated until bowels seem to be moving regularly and thoroughly without need of help.

When you change to California Syrup of Figs instead of harsh medicines, you'll risk no more violence to your child's appetite, digestion, and general physical condition. You'll have a safer, more satisfactory result, too.

So, get a bottle of California Syrup of Figs from your druggist, and start tonight, if your child is constipated, giving a good, cleansing dose. Repeat as necessary, giving a little less each time. That's the secret of this treatment — gradually reduced dosage.

Here is a simple way of finding out if any youngster with irregular or insufficient bowel movements is in need of relief, or getting the wrong treatment:

THE "LIQUID TEST"
This is the way to relieve occasional sluggishness, or constipation in a child of any age:

First: select a liquid laxative of the proper strength for children. Second: give the dose suited to the child's age, and condition. Third: reduce the dose, if repeated, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

An ideal laxative for this purpose is California Syrup of Figs which every druggist keeps in stock. Be certain that it is the genuine product, with "California" blown in the bottle.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: While on their honeymoon, Marian and Lon Casad find just the tract of land Lon has been looking for to develop into a community of beautiful small homes for people of taste but no means. Lon and Marian are in their own home, and Lon is pushing work on the others when he learns that a secretary has decamped with all the money back of the scheme. Marian tries to comfort Lon by the time-tried cake and coffee method — and drops the cake.

Chapter 22 THE LOAN

"Look, Lon, 'twasn't Baltimore at all, it was the Montana bad lands."

Lon looked down on the crushed cake. "It's easier to eat on the rug," he said valiantly. "Doesn't take so much chewing."

"Glad the coffee wasn't on the tray. It would have ruined the rug." She sped back to the kitchen, returned, poured two cups of the strong black beverage and handed him one.

They salvaged the cake, nibbled on it wondering if the broken glass plate had left any splinters in it. After the coffee pot was empty Marian curled up beside Lon on the divan.

"Silence while the fire crackled, then—"You see, Lon," she began, "what worries me most is that I'm broke flat broke. I was so sure I could wire for money and have it here within twenty-four hours that I paid cash for everything."

"The worst of it is I gathered that crowd of unemployed fellows to do the road work and I haven't the money to meet the pay-roll Saturday night."

"How much do you need?"

"About five hundred dollars. I scoured Eaton out on a loan and you read the answer. I could try to mortgage this place, but mortgages on orchard land won't be looked upon with favor. I might try to sell the car but I don't believe I'd get that much and—"

"Lon, I have some money. The aunt who sent me to school left me a thousand dollars when she died. I've spent some of it, but I believe I have six or seven hundred dollars left."

"You could borrow it," Marian insisted, "you could borrow it at five per cent. I'm only receiving four percent at the bank and it would be such fun to have you paying interest to me." She forced a laugh with some success.

"And where would I find the interest?" he asked, unconvinced.

"You'll find work right away," she assured him, "and Lon, it would be better to borrow it from me than to let those poor fellows do without their pay, wouldn't it? I have you to take care of me and they probably haven't."

"If you'll look upon it as a business loan," he conceded and she nodded he had brightened perceptibly. "I'll go out and find myself a job in the morning."

Marian saw him off in the morning, running to the hilltop to wave with her wisp of an apron, and running back later in the day to watch for him.

The hours passed. Mount Diablo turned from purple to green and then to dark blue as the sun spanned the valley and moved on and then into the road that led to their home came Lon's car.

Marian, binoculars to her eyes, read the story in the droop of his shoulders as he left the car to open the gate, but rushed down to meet him with Hero.

"Meet one of the army of the unemployed," was Lon's greeting, as he stopped the car to let Marian and Hero join him.

"Lon," cried Marian, "you're not dead. Imagine a man thinking he could go into a strange town and pick a fine job off the first tree."

"I tried more than one tree, Ian," countered Lon seriously.

"Of course you did, dear, but you mustn't feel downhearted because you haven't succeeded in the first try."

"I'm not downhearted because of that," he informed her "but because of the attitude of the men I interviewed. They asked me why I didn't go back to Cleveland where I belonged. You see I had to tell them I came from here."

"Did you tell them you owned property here?"

"I told one man. He said if I had enough money to own property he'd better give his stray jobs to some poor devil who had nothing at all."

"Of course butting in picking up again," Marian insisted "and by fall it should be in some sort of shape."

"And how will we live until fall?" demanded Lon, a note of irritation in his voice.

He swung the car into the driveway and brought it to a stop before the house.

"Well, Lon, it's nearly July now, you have the nuts and fruit to harvest, we have food enough to last us for months and anytime we want to run up home we can have as much more—"

"I'm not living off your folks," interposed Lon.

Marian started to retaliate, then remembered it was the hurt pride of a man speaking, checked the words and put others in their place—"we can trade them prunes and walnuts without their knowing what it's for, can't we?"

"Don't worry, I'm not down to the barter and trade level yet."

"Lon, listen," Marian's red hair was beginning to bristle. "I think you're being a rotten sport. I know how you feel about the money. Lending gave you the worst deal possible. But surely you have enough backbone to face it like a man. I don't like the way you're talking to me. My folks came out here in the early days when there was nothing but barter and trade and were glad they had something to exchange with the next fellow. I'll bet your mother's people did the same."

"I'm sorry honey," he threw his arm around her shoulder and nuzzled his head down into the warmth of her hair. "I'm just so—so sunk at thinking that maybe I won't be able to keep you—gosh, it scares me. Suppose I lost you."

"Try to lose me and see how far you get with it," whispered Marian, divided between laughter and tears.

The storm blew over. They had their dinner, then went out to the hilltop to watch night move slowly into the valley, to watch the air beacon on Diablo flash its ruby and white beams.

Texas Fox, Wolf Hunt Will Begin At Hearne, Nov. 5

HEARNE, Nov. 31. (AP)—Caravans of hunters, horses and hounds will begin trekking towards Hearne soon for the forty-second running of the Texas Fox and Wolf Hunters' association annual field trials, classic fox hound competition of the southwest, which opens November 5. From as far away as New Mexico on the west, Illinois and Missouri in the middlewest, Kentucky, Tennessee, and Mississippi in the old south, and Oklahoma, Arkansas, and Louisiana the finest blooded fox hounds will come to Texas to compete in a four-day program of hunting over the rolling oak-studded hills and blackjack-thicketed creek bottoms at Camp Ed Wicks, six miles east of Hearne.

LEARN FROM DOCTORS HOW TO TREAT COLDS

Four Points to Remember

As colds cause more loss of time and money than any other disease, every one should learn what modern medical science teaches as to their proper treatment. Your doctor has the following objectives:

First—To relieve the congestion in the nose and throat, thus aborting, or lightening the attack and relieving the symptoms caused by the congestion—Calotabs, the improved calomel compound tablets, accomplish this by attracting the excess blood to the bowels.

Second—To help the kidneys wash out of the blood the cold-poison which causes the chilly sensation, feverishness, aches, and mean feeling—Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, assisting them in ridding the blood of the poisons.

Third—To expel the germ-laden mucus and toxins from the bowels.

thus preventing their absorption into the blood—Calotabs accomplish this thoroughly.

Fourth—To keep the bile of the liver flowing freely through and out of the intestines, thus relieving the biliousness and constipation, which attend and aggravate a cold. As Calotabs contain calomel, they promote the flow of bile.

Thus, Calotabs meet these four important objectives of medical treatment for colds. One or two Calotabs at bed time, with a glass of sweet milk or water, is usually sufficient; but should be repeated the third or fifth night if needed. The milk tones down the action, making it milder, if desired.

Why risk doubtful or make-shift remedies? Get a family package of Calotabs containing full directions, only twenty-five cents; trial package ten cents, at your dealer's. (Adv.)

Youth Is On Trial For Stabbing Man

EASTLAND, Oct. 31 (AP)—Additional defense testimony was in order today in the trial of Glen Motley, 20, touselled-haired and over-all-clad youth charged with murder for the stabbing of Carl D. Herring after the two "bumped together" on the floor at a private dance here.

Newton Nunley testified he heard Herring say, "if you want to start something, then come outside." Sug

Robertson said that downtown, during the afternoon, he had seen Herring and another youth "loafing" and was of the opinion they had been drinking. He said he ejected Motley from the residence where the fight occurred and at the hospital observed that Herring was "cut all to pieces."

Herbert E. Metcalf, San Francisco attorney, spent three years developing an unusual variety of peonies through the use of X-rays on their seeds.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write—do—live—Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

DALLAS, Oct. 31.—Texas has three towns named for their pure sweet water: Agua Dulce, Mobeetie and Sweetwater. Agua Dulce is the Spanish word meaning sweetwater, and Mobeetie is an Indian word significant of the same. Mobeetie and Sweetwater both were called "Sweetwater" in early days, and applied for this designation of their post offices about the same time. Mobeetie was a little behind with its application and so took its original Indian appellation, but the creek on which the town borders still is known as Sweetwater Creek.

On the same day that Texas Independence was declared at Washington-on-the-Brazos, March 2, 1836, a day that will be commemorated by the Centennial in 1936 by the entire state with celebrations in Texas cities, Agua Dulce was the scene of a tragic incident of the Revolution. Near there Dr. James Grant and a force of about twenty Texans were surprised by the army of General Urrea advancing from Matamoros and all but one were killed.

That complicated matters, for the snake overlooked the trap and it remained hanging from the reptile's mouth.

Apparently the snake, in trying to get out of the kitchen, crawled in some manner up the wall and entangled the trap with a nail, suspending itself neatly in the air.

Fannin and Col. Francis W. Johnson had headed an ill-advised expedition against Matamoros, authorized by the provisional council, although the move was opposed by Governor Henry Smith and Sam Houston. At the time of his death, Dr. Grant was rounding up horses on the Nueces for the Texans' cavalry, while the main body of the expedition remained at Goliad. A few days previous, on Feb. 27, a detachment of about fifty, under Johnson, had been surprised by Urrea at San Patricio and all but Johnson and two companions slain.

The failure of these forces to rejoin Fannin, according to plan, forecast the tragedy of Goliad, where Fannin and the majority of his men met death.

Trap Catches Both Snake And a Mouse

GAINESVILLE, Oct. 31 (AP)—A trap had a mouse and a mouse had a snake and thereby hangs a tale.

It was a moosey catch that Joe Cooke found dangling from a nail on the wall of his kitchen.

The night before Cooke had placed several traps around his farm house and, in one of them, a mouse was caught. Then along came a snake and swallowed the mouse.

That complicated matters, for the snake overlooked the trap and it remained hanging from the reptile's mouth.

Johnson had headed an ill-advised expedition against Matamoros, authorized by the provisional council, although the move was opposed by Governor Henry Smith and Sam Houston. At the time of his death, Dr. Grant was rounding up horses on the Nueces for the Texans' cavalry, while the main body of the expedition remained at Goliad. A few days previous, on Feb. 27, a detachment of about fifty, under Johnson, had been surprised by Urrea at San Patricio and all but Johnson and two companions slain.

The failure of these forces to rejoin Fannin, according to plan, forecast the tragedy of Goliad, where Fannin and the majority of his men met death.

FDR PROMISED BIG MARGIN IN CONGRESS; GOP CRIES 'PORK'

REPUBLICANS HOPE TO WIN HOUSE SEATS

DECLINE TO CONCEDE ANY LOSSES IN SENATE

BY CECIL B. DICKSON. WASHINGTON, Oct. 31 (AP)—Democratic leaders told President Roosevelt today that the new deal will receive a smashing endorsement in next Tuesday's elections despite republican forecasts that the G. O. P. will score gains in congress.

Democratic headquarters assured the president after a survey that the democratic majority in the senate would increase, with a probable gain of strength in the house.

Republicans disputed a prediction by Postmaster General Farley that democrats would control both branches of the seventy-fourth congress by two-thirds majorities. Republican headquarters declined to concede any senate losses and said they would pick up about 40 house seats.

As 1,450 candidates for 432 house and 34 senate seats and 33 governorships headed down the final stretch, the G. O. P. high command charged that the administration is playing politics with relief.

It referred to the allotment yesterday of $135,000,000 in November relief money, to be divided among all states except Maine which has already held its election.

The republican senate-congressional campaign committee said "the new deal administration carries itself of the change of using federal relief funds for political purposes and as a substitute for a campaign fund."

Explaining the allotments, officials said Maine's needs for next month had not been determined. The republicans noted that the allotment, which represents an increase over the $112,599,490 grant for October, was several days ahead of custom and a full week in advance of the election. They added, "this is the way to reap the full political benefit."

Chairman Fletcher of the republican national committee said "no such shameless use of public funds to influence elections can be found in the most sordid annals of our municipal politics."

Acute public interest in the new deal's first major test was indicated when a compilation by the Associated Press showed that 47,959,929 persons have qualified to vote.

For an off-year election, this figure is unusually high although it is a million less than the record registration inspired by the Roosevelt-Hoover contest in 1932. Two years ago, 48,962,530 persons qualified as voters and 39,791,886—a record—cast ballots.

During off-year elections, the vote cast usually totals about 70 per cent of the turnout in the previous presidential election. Therefore, democratic and republican headquarters say they expect 28,000,000 to 30,000,000 to vote next week.

That the democrats will control the next congress is conceded by even the most optimistic republicans. The G. O. P. hope is to prevent democratic control of both branches by two-thirds majorities and to win back as many governorships as possible. The republicans seek to prepare for 1936.

At present the senate lineup is: Democrats, 60; republicans, 35; farmer-laborites, one. The house roster is: Democrats, 309; republicans 114; farmer-laborites, 5; vacancies, 7.

National democratic headquarters says the democrats will gain between six and nine republican senate seats besides retaining all of their own. Only four additional seats are required for a two-thirds control of the senate.

Democrats predict they will win easily senate seats now held by republicans in Maryland, New Jersey, West Virginia, Missouri, Indiana, Ohio, and that their candidates in Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Michigan, New Mexico, and Vermont have good chances.

Republicans on the other hand, declare they will capture senate seats

Roll Call for Red Cross Will Be Swift One

Campaign machinery is rapidly being perfected for the November 11-29 roll call of the local chapter of the American Red Cross. According to Jim Collins roll call chairman, the entire jurisdiction of the chapter is being zoned to insure complete coverage in a personal solicitation by volunteer workers. Several campaign leaders already have been enlisted, he added, and other preparations made which promise the most spirited appeal of its kind in recent years.

With the knowledge that the local citizenship has gained of the Red Cross in recent years, the roll call director said, "anything but a swift, successful campaign is inconceivable. Because so many more of us have seen it in action during the depression period, there are few who do not recognize that the organization has become a vital part of our community life. Its work must go on—and will, with the individual support of local citizens."

Reporters who wished to follow the party found they were unable to do so. One reporter said someone had let the air out of one of his car's tires while another, Horace M. Coats of Indianapolis, reported his ignition key was missing. Coats swore out an affidavit for the arrest of Sandor Singer, a Hammond, Ind., detective charging Singer took his ignition key. Later Coats said he found the key had been returned.

Singer has been on leave of absence from the Hammond police department assisting Barce in his investigation of the Dillinger affair. The investigation a week before election day brought repercussions in Indiana politics.

Barce had indicated he had information to warrant arrest of three persons on charges of aiding Dillinger to escape, and said "there may be important developments" today.

Republican politicians and some Lake county democratic officials criticized the state's action in seizing the eight "witnesses" early yesterday at their Crown Point homes and bringing them to Monticello under heavy state police guard.

Prosecutor Robert G. Estill, who once posed for a photograph with an arm about Dillinger, termed it "kidnaping." Judge William J. Murray of Lake county court said the six men and two women were seized "without legal process" and that they "have rights which the court is bound to protect."

Barce said he expected to show a conspiracy to free Dillinger was hatched at a Lake county beer tavern and that $1,900 was paid for a set of blue prints of the "escape-proof" jail where Dillinger was held on a murder charge.

SWEEPSTAKES

On Highlander, the horse which came in third, four tickets were held in the United States and each of these tickets pays the holder $50,000. They were signed:

Susan Ahrenholz 134 Moshulu Parkway, The Bronx, N. Y.
Mrs. Emma Atherton, Buena Park, Box 250, Orange county, Calif.
Mary Booth, 2201 15th street, N. W., Washington, D. C.
J. W. Connors, 169 River street, Dedham, Mass.

held by democrats in Wyoming, Nevada, and probably Montana. They insist that they will hold their own elsewhere.

The gubernatorial race of Upton Sinclair, former socialist, running in California on the democratic ticket without administration sanction, against Frank P. Merriam, republican governor, has held the spotlight of national interest. But senatorial contests in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Ohio, and New Mexico have attracted a fair shade of attention.

More than 60 democratic candidates for the house are unopposed as compared to five republicans.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Oct. 31 (AP)—The stock market closed the books on October today with profits and losses about even on the month and settlement decidedly mixed. A few specialties worked up substantially in today's session, but most of the old-line leaders were only slightly higher. Final prices were about steady. Transfers approximated 400,000 shares.

WOOL MARKET

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 31 (AP)—Continuing their rush to buy Texas wools, eastern purchasers have taken more than 2 million pounds in the last week, bringing the total 12-months wool in the state to below 7 million pounds. Part of the estimated 2,750,000 to 4,000,000 pounds of fall wool, shearing of which is now being completed, has been sold.

Prices of 12-months wool have held firm at 20 to 22 and 1/4 cents a pound, although no rise has been noted. Eight-months, or short wool, however, has risen several cents a pound to a high of 21 and 1/4 cents. The high was paid by Tom Richey, buyer for A. W. Hilliard & Son of Boston, who got 125,000 pounds from the Producers Wool and Mohair company at Del Rio at that price.

He also paid 20 and 1/4 cents for 200,000 pounds from the same firm. Previously, 8-months wool had sold at 15 to 17 cents a pound.

Estimates place the amount of wool on hand in San Angelo, largest inland wool marketing point in the world, at around 3 million pounds. In the meantime, sales of consigned wool to the east have increased and returns are drifting into West Texas.

Interest is high in the play of a group of Boston wool dealers under government control to set up a wool finance corporation for handling of free wool, or wool not mortgaged to any U. S. agency. The plans call for borrowing of 80 per cent of the money to be loaned on the wools by the R. F. C. with advances to the growers not to be guaranteed.
