Success Secrets By ELMER WHEELER

Here's a new twist on the old Everyone has been estimatabout 90 percent of the "raw material" a person needs in order to succeed. Brains

Not long ago a group of psychologists studied hundreds of school children to find out just what this mysterious thing called "Personality" really is, found, in the words of Dr. Henry G. Link, that just as intelligence is what a person knows about things, "Personality" is what a person does about things and peo-An individual's "Personality" can be measured by the degree he is able to influence people by what he does. And this, in turn, depends upon how well he is able to do a wide variety of things, A person who can dance well, for example, has just that much more personality than a person who dances poorly, or not at all.

make up only about 10 percent.

Personality, then, is made up of "success." The more things that you can do, and do really successully - the more personality you have. This does not mean that you must learn to dance in to have a good personality. The Earlier, nearly half of them had signed a memorandum calling for the creation of a federal government uniting 15 nations of western Europe. It would not be accurate to say that events in Korea produced these proposals for they were talked about in the Council of Europe long before the Korean trouble began. The note of urgency that marked the Strasbourg meeting is, however, a direct consequence of the Korean war and of the reverses which our army there has suffered. It should have been apparent to all Europeans, as it was apparent to some, that our diplomacy since the war ended was promising much more than it could deliver. Thru such formal treaties as the North Atlantic pact we were committed to the defense of western Europe. Thru the United Nations we were committed to the defense of any victim of agression anywhere. Europeans, eager to avoid paying the costs of defending themselves, were delighted to discover the United States assuming the burden. The tremendous achievements of American arms in the recent war and the knowledge that we had the atom bomb persuaded Europeans that they could leave everything to us without risk to themselves. The Marshall plan convinced them that we were inveterate suckers.

Korea was an eye opener. Our equipment wasn't as good as expected. Our few divisions were inexperienced and ill-trained. Our tactical methods left much to be desired. An Asiatic half nation. employing communist weapons and tactics, pushed us around. If we couldn't overcome ten or a dozen North Korean divisions using such arms as Russia had provided them, what protection could we offer western Europe if Stalin ordered a couple of hundred of his best divisions, under his best generals, to march westward.

Western Europe can defend itself against Russia without our help, providing the people value their independence enough to fight for it. There are more men. more and better factories, more education, more and higher skills in western Europe than Russia can command. Our North Atlantic policy instead of protecting Europe, luiled the Europeans into dependence on hot air. If Europeans at last realize that their defense is primarily their own business, not ours, and that they had better look to it in a hurry, the Korean campaign will have yielded a dividend to them and maybe to us more personality you have - the more "successful" you can become.

that the reason more people do not have good "personalities" is that they simply do not take the trouble to learn a variety of skills. It goes against the grain, at first, to go through the practice that is required for mastery in any skill. No child likes to practice scales on the piano. No adult likes to practice improving his English, meeting new people, or making a speech for the first time. But if you'll stick it out you'll soon find that you've discovered a new source of pleasure. For the things that we do well, that is, successfully - not only improve our Personalities and make us more successful in life, but also brings us genuine pleasure.

chronic bursitis are resistant to all these forms of treatment. Injection of a local anesthetic into the bursa itself is often useful but may not bring lasting effects. The injection of some irritating fluid called a sclerosing solution has been reported to be useful occasionally. In the most resistant cases, an operation involving removal of the entire lining of the bursa may have to be employed, but this is more or less of a last resort. The sufferer from a severe bursitis usually feels quite sorry for himself-and with good reason. Dr. Jordan will answer ques

Refrigeration Isn't Just a Seasonal Affair of Whimsey

You've read the oft-repeated saying "cold alone is not enough." With the advent of the hunting season, this statement assumes the mantle of even greater importance. With the influx of game to be stored in the family refrigeration equipment it's high time some thinking was done concerning what to do with the dove and duck, the goose and gobler, the
