

Reagan family prays for Kristina's health

By JEFF LANGLEY
State Editor

President Ronald Reagan and First Lady Nancy Reagan have been praying for a four-year-old Pampa girl with leukemia, according to a White House spokesman.

Kristina Ennis was released from Houston's M.D. Anderson Hospital Sunday and Monday, a letter from the White House was delivered to the Pampa girl's grandmother.

The letter from presidential assistant Anne Higgins to Barbara Fleming says the country's first couple has been praying daily for the recovery of Kristina Ennis.

The plight of the cancer-stricken child reached the White House and Nancy Reagan through a letter from a friend of the family, Peggy Hillman.

Much has been made of the first lady's china, but little has been said about her German, which is what she had to understand in order to read Hillman's letter.

Hillman, a German immigrant now living in Pampa, said she wrote to the first lady in German because, "I can't write in English well enough."

Along with her foreign-language letter, Hillman sent Nancy Reagan several stories about Kristina previously published in The Pampa News.

Hillman said her own daughter died of cancer about 10 years ago. She said correspondence from the Nixon administration was important to her dying daughter, and she decided to give the Reagans a try on behalf of Kristina.

Someone in Washington reads German, because Monday the White House replied.

The letter to Barbara Fleming says:

"President Reagan was very sorry to learn of Kristina's illness. Both he and Mrs. Reagan will remember Kristina in their daily prayers with the hope that each day finds her responding to her treatments in an encouraging way.

"A concerned friend, Peggy Hillman, called the news articles to the President's attention, and it was very uplifting to read of the effort and contributions so many of your friends and neighbors were contributing to help your family during this difficult time.

"With best wishes to all from President and Mrs. Reagan."
Signed: Anne Higgins, special assistant to the President.

The President and all of the Pampans who have been pulling for the child can take comfort in the news that Kristina was released from the hospital following her recovery from a "last-hope" bone marrow transplant. Even the family was surprised at Kristina's rapid recovery, Fleming said.

Fleming said before returning to Pampa, the Ennis family will live in a Houston apartment, so Kristina can receive six more weeks of out-patient treatment.

A lonely walk

Dorienda Stevens is helped away by a friend after the accident Friday afternoon.

Little Gene still watched closely by hospital staff

AMARILLO — Three-year-old Gene McCain of Pampa remains in critical condition in Northwest Texas Hospital here today, a nursing supervisor said this morning.

The boy, who underwent surgery late Friday night for head injuries from an automobile accident, is being closely monitored in the intensive care ward, the supervisor said.

The child, the son of Donna McCain of Pampa, reportedly opened the passenger door of an automobile he was riding in Friday afternoon and fell out of the car and beneath its wheels, Pampa police said. The boy was first treated at Coronado Community Hospital and then transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital. The driver of the car, Dorienda Stevens, 24, of Pampa, was reportedly backing out of a driveway at 1216 Osborne St. when the McCain boy fell out of the car, officers said. Pampa police are still investigating the incident.

Patrolman Rod Bishop checks the car from which Gene McCain fell and was injured.

Jail someone you love just for being ugly

By JEAN TIERNEY

"Impersonating a human being" is a pretty shaky legal offense, and the accused will be jailed without a trial. But the bail money and marshals' fees will go to help others.

Monday, even before the complaint forms and arrest warrants had been printed, half a dozen people phoned the United Way office to inquire about having a friend arrested for fun and charity. United Way Secretary Rosamond Reeves said this morning.

The legal-looking (at first glance) complaint form supplied by Pampa Police Chief J. J. Ryzman lists 42 specific offenses against "the peace and dignity of the state."

In case "Breathing my air" or "Addiction to video games" don't cover the suspect's villainy, the form adds a 43rd complaint which leaves the offense entirely up to the imagination of the complainant. It says simply "Other — Please specify."

For $25 this week, anyone in Pampa can have anyone else — friend or foe — arrested on Thursday and thrown into the slammer at the Pampa Mall. The arresting officers will be chamber of commerce members specially sworn in as temporary deputy city marshals for the occasion, and the jail sentences will be 15 minutes apiece. The hoosgow will be an old paddy wagon parked on the inside sidewalk at the mall.

The jailed — who will allegedly be guilty of such offenses as being "Ugly out of season" or having "No sense of humor," will be allowed to bail out early with a donation to the United Way fund. The fund's goal this year is $222,000 to help 15 charitable agencies in the area.

Some of the offenses listed apply only to bosses: "Failure to return phone calls," "Leaving early on Friday" and "Sexual harassment."

"Unable to type" applies only to employees. "Cheating on your score card" applies to golfers. "Being late for dinner" is reserved for husbands. "Wearing curlers in public" is reserved for wives.

But listed in the general category are enough offenses to jail almost everyone on the street: "Being grumpy," "Wearing a mustache in public," "Failure to appreciate aggie humor," "Being an Okie" and "Failure to smile regularly." Anyone who can't ride a horse, doesn't wear cowboy boots this week or doesn't know what an aggie is can wind up in the United Way slammer.

Reeves said she has "a whole stack" of the photocopied complaint forms and arrest warrants at the United Way office on the second floor of City Hall. "And if I run out, I'll go get some more." Her immediate worry, she said, laughing, is to keep the list of offenses from her husband: one of the things wives can be arrested for is "Failure to have dinner ready."

Bell gets go-ahead on higher rate

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. got approval today to put into immediate effect higher rates that will be used until the Public Utilities Commission makes a final decision on Dec. 30.

Approval of the interim rates under bond was made early today. PUC officials said.

Bell will have to make refunds to consumers if PUC does not approve the $471.5 million statewide rate request or reduces it. The original request amounts to $4.60 per month for basic residential service.

A hearing on Bell's latest rate request concluded Monday after 10 weeks of testimony from officials and technical experts. Bell officials had until noon to file rebuttal briefs. If the commission allows rebuttal witnesses, they would testify Wednesday.

PUC officials said the three commissioners would meet Dec. 30 to hear oral arguments and issue a final order.

Flags, poppies salute veterans

By JEFF LANGLEY
State Editor

Veterans' Day is Thursday, and plans for the annual Pampa sale of veterans' buddy poppies are underway, along with ceremonies to honor the area's deceased veterans at Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Veterans' Day began as Armistice Day, the anniversary of the armistice of World War I in 1918. It was changed to Veterans' Day, a legal holiday, in 1955 and is now observed in honor of all of the nation's veterans.

Pampa Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 1657 is sponsoring the sale of artificial poppies, with proceeds going to veterans' rehabilitation programs and to war widows and orphans.

The poppy sale is scheduled for Wednesday. Members of the VFW ladies' auxiliary will be selling the poppies at Pampa banks, the post office and at Ideal No. 1, 401 N. Ballard.

Don't expect the ladies to set a price for the flowers — all they want is a donation. Organizer Bonnie Stuckey said most people put 25 cents to $1 into the ladies' coffee cans, and some donate $5.

The ladies only sales pitch is: "Would you like to wear a poppy?" Stuckey said. Donation is then made according to what a person wants to give, she said.

The small, half-dollar-size poppies may be worn in a lapel or on a collar in honor of the nation's veterans.

The local sale of buddy poppies to benefit veterans' programs began in 1922, according to Stuckey.

She said the VFW poppies are assembled by disabled veterans. Each poppy has been made by hand by a disabled veteran in a hospital or nursing home.

Money from the local sale is used to purchase comfort items and to provide entertainment to veterans in the V.A. hospital in Amarillo. Local money is also donated to support the VFW widows' and orphans' home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., Stuckey said.

The theme of the poppy sale is "honor the dead by helping the living."

On the holiday Thursday, a show of flags at Pampa's Memory Gardens Cemetery honors the area's war casualties. Each flag is a casket flag which was used in saying goodbye to area servicemen. Each flag on display Thursday is a cherished reminder of a lost loved one and local hero, Stuckey said.

The number of casket flags representing dead veterans from Pampa and the surrounding area now number nearly 300, according to the organizer.

Each flag to be displayed at the cemetery includes the name of the deceased veteran. Those who want to view the flags are invited to drive through the cemetery between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Thursday, Stuckey said.

Local VFW Quartermaster Vernon Stuckey is planning the show of flags, and he needs help, his wife said. The flags are stored at the local VFW post, and volunteers will place them around the cemetery starting about 7 a.m. Thursday. Anyone who wants to help put out the flags should contact Vernon Stuckey at 665-8105.

Mounties always get their man, but this woman got her goat

ERWINVILLE, La. (AP) — Anna Marie Silvio said she had no choice but to strangle the billy goat that attacked her when she tried to gather a bowl of pecans for holiday candies.

"If you'd told me that this was going to happen, I'd have called you a liar," she said.

"I had to wrestle the thing for an hour and a half," said Mrs. Silvio. "I kept grabbing him around the neck. I kept trying to choke him, thinking he would let go."

But each time she released the animal it charged again, said the 50-year-old woman, who stands 5-foot-2 and weighs about 100 pounds.

"The third time, I got him on the ground. I was sitting on him, holding my hand over his mouth. I grabbed a stick and jammed it down its throat. Then I grabbed its Adam's apple," said Mrs. Silvio.

She said she was convinced the animal would have killed her otherwise.

Mrs. Silvio said it all started when she went last Thursday to a field near her house where local cooks have long gathered the nuts from about 100 pecan trees for their holiday sweets.

"It stalked me around the pecan trees. I got behind the trees to try and hide. When I'd take a step, he'd take a step. This went on for about an hour."

She said the goat, which apparently had jumped out of its nearby pen, then got ready to charge. She got between a tree and a small bush.

"When he charged, I grabbed the limb and put it between his horns," she said.

She said she yelled often for help, but nobody came.

He's 80, and Mom still tucks him in SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — When 80-year-old Bill Schluter was a boy, his mother would give him three square meals a day and put him to bed on time.

Nowadays, she still does.

Schluter's mother, Appy Kroll, is 106. About four years ago, when his wife died, Schluter asked his mother to move back in with him, and now they share happy times in their north Spokane home.

"I give him three meals a day and put him to bed on time. That's the best I can do," said Mrs. Kroll. She also reads to him and sings along when he plays the piano.

"She's a lot of company — and she can cook. Sure, I love having her here," Schluter said Monday.

Visitors to their place may find the house warm with the sweet smell of stewing prunes. Schluter is likely to be playing "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" on the piano.

If his mother coaxes him, Schluter will bring out his guitar and harmonica to play her favorite, "Beautiful Texas."

"That's the way he used to amuse himself while I was getting dinner, especially on Sundays," Mrs. Kroll said.

Mrs. Kroll was born in Anderson, S.C., in the national centennial year of 1876. She came to Spokane by train in 1901

— shortly before Schluter was born — and she remembers draft horses getting stuck in the mud downtown.

"The town was lousy with horses," she said. "Why, I saw the first Ford that came into town."

Schluter was born in Spokane, and the family moved shortly afterward to a homestead north of town, where they had a dairy herd.

Mrs. Kroll would bake all her own bread — using 50 pounds of flour every 11 days. She also helped her husband cut wood and sometimes took the horse and wagon on the 3½-hour trip to Spokane.

All that while raising six sons and two daughters. Four of her sons are still alive.

Schluter's father, Mrs. Kroll's first husband, died in 1915. Her second husband died in 1927.

Before his retirement in 1967, Schluter worked as a lumberman, a school janitor and an oil company employee.

Mrs. Kroll now needs a huge magnifying glass to make out the Bible verses, but she says she never passes up a chance to read scripture.

"If you have your Bible to read, the hard part of the world don't bother you."

Inmate in fire was held only as being a danger to himself

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — A man with a history of mental disorders was being held only "for his own protection" when he allegedly set a smoky jail fire that killed 27 fellow inmates, authorities said.

Robert E. Pates, being held at the Harrison County Jail where the deadly fire broke out Monday morning, now faces 27 counts of capital murder, said District Attorney Albert Neacase.

Pates, one of the first inmates rescued, remained under guard at a local hospital while recovering from smoke inhalation and second-degree burns. No arraignment had been set, a police spokesman said.

"We thought we ought to pick him up for his own protection," said policeman Dan Russell, who arrested Pates, 31, of Granite City, Ill. for public drunkenness after a disturbance Saturday at a lounge. "I wish now we hadn't."

Pates was being held Sunday in a padded isolation cell at the jail. At about 1:30 a.m. Monday, authorities said, he started a fire in the small polyurethane-lined chamber.

Coroner Ed Little said he "may have first ignited the mattress on his bed and this spread to the padding. The flames were limited to the one cell but the ventilation system quickly carried the smoke to the rest of the building."

It was not known how Pates could have started the fire. Matches are banned in isolation cells.

The smoldering polyurethane released smoke and toxic gas, said Harold Windham, an assistant fire chief.

When jailer Tom Miller passed out, the other prisoners lost their chance to flee. Miller had unlocked doors in the north cell block where the fire broke out, but was overcome before he could get to the south block.

The dense smoke hid him and the keys from other would-be rescuers.

At least 47 people were injured, including 30 inmates and 17 support personnel such as firefighters, police and emergency technicians.

Miller and 10 inmates were hospitalized in critical condition, but they were all stable and improving by late Monday. There were 97 inmates and three jailers in the 102-prisoner facility when the fire broke out.

Later Sunday a judge ordered Pates committed for mental treatment. His family reported Pates had been confined to mental institutions regularly for the past 10 years. Hobbs said.

Ron Welch, director of the Mississippi Prisoners Defense Committee in Jackson, charged Monday that polyurethane should not have been used in the prison because it releases cyanide gas when burned.

Polyurethane has also been blamed in a 1977 jail fire in Maury County, Tenn., that killed 42 inmates.

Tylenol suspect's mom pleads

CHICAGO (AP) — As the task force investigating seven Tylenol-cyanide deaths was being trimmed back, the parents of a man wanted for questioning in the case pleaded for their son to come forward and clear himself.

A letter signed by the mother of Kevin Masterson asked her son "to come forth to have the matter quickly cleared." It was hand-delivered Monday to Chicago's two major daily newspapers.

The mother, who signed her name Mrs. John Masterson, complained that the news media had made a "mockery" of the judicial system. "Today it is trial by media, and guilt by implication until proven innocent," she wrote.

Illinois Attorney General Tyrone Fahner, spokesman for the task force investigating the seven Chicago-area deaths, said Monday investigators were still looking for Masterson. A police all-points bulletin was issued for the 35-year-old Chicago-area resident last week. No charges have been filed against him, however.

Fahner also said that by the end of October, the task force had been scaled down to 52 agents from a high of 114.

About 1.5 million capsules of shelf-stocked Extra-Strength

Tylenol have been checked by the federal Food and Drug Administration, and "we've seen the end" of deaths from the original cyanide-tainted capsules, he said.

Investigators have collected 11,500 pages of case reports as well as checked 16,702 individuals, 10,246 businesses, 8,201 phone numbers and 777 license plate numbers. All had been programmed into a computer for cross-checking, he said.

Illinois Department of Law Enforcement agents alone had put in 12,800 man-hours, with 6,000 of them logged in the first two weeks after the deaths were reported Sept. 29 through Oct. 1, Fahner said.

Investigators also still want to question James and LeAnn Lewis, of Kansas City. Lewis has been charged with extortion after allegedly sending a $1 million demand to Johnson & Johnson, parent company of the manufacturer of Tylenol.

Meanwhile, Johnson & Johnson, parent company of McNeil Consumer Products Co., plans to unveil new tamper-resistant packaging for the pain reliever Thursday during a closed-circuit television hookup to 30 cities.

For school superintendent's wives

Nepotism bill will be proposed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The 1983 Legislature will be asked to approve a nepotism bill that would allow a school board to hire a superintendent's wife or husband as a teacher, if it took that to keep the superintendent.

"This is quite a serious problem in some of our school systems," said Chris Stanley of Dallas, a member of a subcommittee of the Public Servant Standards of Conduct Advisory Committee.

The proposed legislation, which will be presented to the full committee in December, generally would keep state agency officials from hiring kinsfolk to the third degree, which includes great-grandparents or second cousins.

"This looks like a pretty good bill to me," said Speaker Bill Clayton, who sat in on the meeting. "Now who's going to help me lobby this through the next Legislature?"

Much of Monday's meeting concerned possible exemptions for "hardship" cases.

"I don't think we have many hardships," said Clayton. "Most of this is just another loophole to get around the law. ... If we open the door too wide what's to keep some supervisor from hiring all his cousins and aunts?"

Gary Hughes, a subcommittee member from Austin, said there had been requests for such an exemption from the Texas Department of Corrections.

"There are some areas of the state where the work forces are smaller and it may be a hardship to fill vacancies without getting those who are kin," he said.

Staff members said the Department of State Highways and Public Transportation also requested that "hardship" exemptions be allowed where two kinsmen had worked on the same payroll for a number of years.

The special amendment applying to school superintendents says their spouse may be hired by the school board after an open public meeting if that is necessary to employ the superintendent.

Later another subcommittee of the Public Servant Standards of Conduct group discussed conflicts of interests among legislators and state officials and state employees but took no action. Members agreed to hold at least two more meetings on the subject before making recommendations to the full committee.

There was an informal agreement to consider conflict of interest legislation for state officials and employees separate from legislators and legislative branch employees. Local officials and employees will be discussed at a Nov. 19 meeting.

"I don't think we can specifically include legislators along with state officials and employees because they do not look to the state as a primary source of income," said Jack Gullahorn, Austin, subcommittee vice chairman.

Proposals presented the subcommittee, but not voted on, would say a state official or employee had a conflict of interest if he intentionally acted on any matter in which he had a financial interest of 10 percent of his holdings or $2,500.

It was proposed no former state official or employee be allowed to appear before a state agency or receive any services for a matter he acted upon while on the state payroll.

Blast kills welder

MORGAN'S POINT, Texas (AP) — An official says an explosion that killed a Pasadena welder may not have been sparked by fumes from the docked drilling rig he was working on.

"There were no flames," said Bob Egan, manager of the Barber's Cut Terminal of the Houston Ship Channel, of the Monday afternoon blast. "I suspect it was some sort of compressed gas in a container, because no parts of the rig appeared from the ground to be seriously damaged."

Marcel A. Chiasson, 58, of Pasadena, was pronounced dead at the scene after the explosion at 4:18 p.m., said Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd. Officials said his welding torch apparently set off some type of fumes.

"As far as I know, nobody knows what they are right now," said Tom Pallotta, a crew member of the Houston Port Authority's fire boat Captain Farnsworth. He said there were 30 or 40 workers on the rig at the time of the 3:30 p.m. blast.

The $30 million submersible rig is being built by Vemar Inc. of Houston for Portal Drilling Co. of Dallas, said Vemar marketing manager Jerry Dobson. Coast Guard Lt. Mark Gould said the rig was to set out for a Gulf of Mexico drilling site near Mobile, Ala., Wednesday.

Harrelson professed love to women he asked not to talk to the FBI

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The man accused of the contract killing of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. professed his love for two female witnesses during secretly recorded conversations and urged them not to talk to the FBI.

Prosecutors said they would continue today to play tape recordings of Charles V. Harrelson's telephone and jail visiting room conversations with the wife of a friend and another woman who hired him as a bodyguard.

Two tapes made in 1980 and played late Monday showed Harrelson on two consecutive days told the two women how much he loved them and how much he abhorred people who talked to the FBI.

Both Jo Ann Robinson, the wife of Harrelson's friend Hampton Robinson III, and wealthy El Paso businesswoman Virginia Farah have testified for the prosecution in the trial of Harrelson, his wife, Jo Ann Starr Harrelson, and Elizabeth Chagra.

"I love you so much," Harrelson told Mrs. Robinson in a Nov. 18, 1980, telephone conversation recorded by the FBI. "...God, I miss you."

"I dream of you everytime I got to sleep," he told wealthy El Paso businesswoman Virginia Farah the next day in another recorded telephone conversation. "...Virginia, I love you."

Harrelson and his wife, seated two chairs apart at the defense table, did not look at each other while the tapes were played, but afterwards he went to her and whispered something before both were taken back to jail for the night.

Harrelson, 44, is accused of killing Wood on May 29, 1979, for a $250,000 fee. Mrs. Harrelson, 41, is charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice and Mrs. Chagra, 28, the wife of the man accused of paying for the judge's murder, is charged with conspiring to kill Wood and to obstruct justice.

Imprisoned narcotics trafficker Jamiel "Jimmy" Chagra will be tried later on murder charges alleging he paid for the killing to prevent Wood from presiding over his pending drug trial. Joe Chagra, Jimmy's brother, has pleaded guilty to conspiring to kill Wood.

Harrelson's step-daughter, Teresa Starr Jasper, 25, told the jury during sensational testimony earlier in the trial that she had an "affair" with Harrelson in late 1979 and early 1980.

"I love you with every fiber of my being," Harrelson told Mrs. Jasper in a letter he wrote to her last year while she was jailed for contempt of court for refusing to testify before the grand jury investigating Wood's death.

Mrs. Harrelson is the only one of four women Harrelson claimed to have loved that has not appeared as a prosecution witness. The letters and phone calls showed that Harrelson was trying to persuade the women to be distrustful of FBI agents, whom he referred to in obscene terms and contended were trying to frame him.

Mrs. Farah, the government's 78th witness, told jurors Monday she employed Harrelson as a bodyguard in the summer of 1980 until the time of his arrest in Van Horn, Texas, for jumping bond in Houston on state firearms, narcotics and gambling paraphernalia charges.

Mrs. Farah, a widow, told the jury that Harrelson was introduced to her as "Joe Robinson" and that she had no idea he was a fugitive or suspect in the Wood slaying until after his arrest.

Mrs. Farah said she let Harrelson store two stacks of $100 bills in her safe while he was staying at her house from late June 1980 until his arrest.

Mrs. Jasper testified earlier that her mother and Harrelson sent her to Las Vegas to pick up $250,000 from a pregnant woman.

Annual Texas Baptist convention opens today

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Delegates to the annual convention of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will begin attending to the business of group today, including considering a $50 million budget for mission causes.

More than 6,000 delegates from the 2.2-million-member group are expected for the convention here, which also will mark the end to the reign of executive director James H. Landes.

Delegates elected by the 4,500 Southern Baptist churches in Texas will consider a variety of proposals and will elect a president, said spokesman Orville Scott.

William M. Pinson Jr. will succeed Landes on Dec. 31, when Landes retires after eight years as the convention's executive director.

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

Watt's junkets appalling

A Cabinet officer who misused government aircraft for his family's personal travel and his own partisan political appearances would be an embarrassment to any administration. But Interior Secretary James Watt's profligacy at taxpayers' expense is doubly damaging to the Reagan administration, pledged as it is to a war on every form of government waste and abuse.

According to congressional investigators, Watt and members of his family have spent tens of thousands of dollars jetting about the country in an Interior Department aircraft on trips that could hardly be described as official business.

Neither Watt nor his spokesman have deigned to discuss these findings with the Watchdog General Accounting Office or with investigators for the House Government Operations Committee. Thus, arrogance has been added to the sin of misusing public funds.

If Watt has a defense against these charges, the public, the GAO, and no doubt the White House too would like to hear it.

If he does not, or if the proffered defense is found wanting, the White House will have to consider ways of undoing some of the damage to the administration's image.

Sending the Department of the Interior a schedule for reimbursement payments by Secretary Watt would, we think, be a good start.

Day of reckoning inevitable

Listening to some politicians, one might imagine that the Social Security system is suffering from nothing more than a momentary cash flow problem.

But reality has a way of making itself felt notwithstanding the fanciful rhetoric of politicians who would rather not answer hard questions about Social Security.

Recently, Social Security officials announced they will be forced for the first time ever to borrow to meet obligations paid out of the system's old-age trust fund. Sometime after election day, up to $2 billion will be diverted from Social Security's disability benefits or health insurance funds to the depleted old-age trust fund.

Even a cursory look at the old-age trust fund shows that this is something more than a passing cash flow difficulty. The old-age fund has had a chronic operating deficit because monthly benefits have been exceeding revenues from the payroll tax.

Making up these deficits has steadily eroded the trust fund's cash balance to the point where it now totals less than one month's expenditures. Thus, the need to borrow from other Social Security funds may well become as chronic as the trust fund's past deficits.

Still, that might be no particular worry except for the fact that disability and health insurance funds seem headed eventually for a revenue crunch comparable to that confronting the old-age trust fund.

Social Security has problems that can no longer be papered over.

Stock market's signal

By WILLIAM A. RUSHER

NEW YORK (NEA) — Well, well, what have we here? Is the stock market trying to tell us something? If so, should we listen?

About a year ago, when President Reagan had just finished quarterbacking the main features of his budget and tax programs through Congress, Wall Street insisted on remaining in the doldrums.

Aha! shrieked Mr. Reagan's critics (and here I include not only Tip O'Neill but all those anchors and White House reporters for the major television networks who collectively are such an important arm of the Democratic National Committee). Wall Street is signaling that it, too, thinks Reagan's program is a bummer.

Now, in point of fact, Wall Street's reluctance to cheer up in the autumn of 1981 didn't necessarily signal any such thing. Even in retrospect, it seems at the least equally possible that Wall Street's pessimism was based, not on any lack of confidence in Reagan's program, but on the gloomy conviction (based, let me add, on long and bitter experience) that the Democrat-controlled House of Representatives would find some way of preventing any series of proposals so healthy and sensible from actually taking effect.

But what was even more dubious than the stock liberal interpretation of the "message" Wall Street was trying to convey was the solemn deference that liberal displayed toward Wall Street's supposed opinion. This was, to say the least, slightly out of character. Liberals had never theretofore shown any great respect for either Wall Street or its views; yet suddenly here they were, down on their knees and worshipping the Manhattan Mammon as if the merest belch would reveal the secrets of the future.

Any office boy in a Wall Street brokerage house who could be counted on to toe the anti-Reagan line was likely to find himself on the "Today" show, being interviewed reverently by Tom Brokaw. The suspicion would not down that what Wall Street's new devotees were really worshipping wasn't Mammon at all but his (allegedly) anti-Reagan message.

I warned my readers at the time that Wall Street is and always has been an undependable forecaster of long-range trends, tending to overreact to quotidian events like "a small, hysterical dog." If and when Wall Street sensed an economic turnaround, I predicted, it would take off for the stratosphere with just as little justification as it had spending the fall of 1981 in the cellar.

And so it has turned out. It is as plain as a pikestaff that the economy is now on its way out of the recession, and that the Reagan economic program has laid the foundation for a far healthier and longer-lasting recovery than any of liberalism's fast jolts of inflationary laughing gas ever did or possibly could. Inflation has been knocked to its knees; and when Wall Street saw those supposedly inflexible interest rates start sagging downward at last, it went on a spree that broke all records.

It is perfectly proper — even necessary — for sensible people to correct for Wall Street's overenthusiasm. But it is impossible not to wonder just a little where all those Wall Street signal-worshippers have gone. If Wall Street's stubborn bearishness in the autumn of 1981 was such a solemn portent of failure for Mr. Reagan, why isn't it sudden bullishness in the late summer of 1982 an equally respectable harbinger of good times ahead?

Sir you need her

We do not yet know why.

But it will shortly be obvious why I thought you should at least know what we do now know.

Psycho-neuro-immunology is an emerging science about which we as yet know very little.

As a boy I always got pimples before an important date.

But why?

Stress-related research, relating physical ills to psychological causes has been accepted without being understood.

For centuries, Orthodox Jewish families, bereaved, have "purged themselves of grief" with several days of sitting and weeping with family and friends; they were healing their emotional wounds and protecting and restoring their immune mechanism.

In centuries of human experience we have done some things right without knowing why.

But we've probably done many things wrong, also, and that is what spurs this new field of study.

Sit at the feet of medical scholars and, when one gets over the awe at all we have learned, one is staggered by recognition of how little we know. The human immune system is a baffling medical mystery, the fuller understanding of which we are beginning to unravel.

Already in the study of psycho-neuro-immunology we do know that: They may bottle it up and explode at puberty.

We know at fear and grief and anger are reflected in humans in blood samples. Our psyche that closely affects our chemistry.

And we know this: We have established that in the instance where a married partner dies, the surviving widower is much more susceptible to disease than is a surviving widow.

Sir, you need her!

Oil lobby to focus on tax issues

HOUSTON (AP) — The oil industry lobby is mounting a spirited campaign against higher oil taxes, claiming it already is over-taxed and that a further burden would endanger the nation's energy security.

"We can and must show that our industry is not — cannot be — a magic source of endless revenue," Charles J. DiBona, chairman of the American Petroleum Institute, told the trade group's annual convention Monday.

DiBona said new taxes on the oil industry would discourage domestic oil production, lead to a greater reliance on imported oil "and ultimately cause shortages and higher consumer prices" for energy.

DiBona gave little attention to the oil lobby's long and unsuccessful attempt to win congressional acceptance of faster decontrol of natural gas prices. That had been the central issue of the 1981 convention.

DiBona told a news conference Monday that Democratic gains in the Nov. 2 elections made it "obviously more difficult" to win congressional approval of a plan for accelerating the decontrol of gas prices.

The trade group favors an acceleration of the present schedule for ending gas price controls. Under the current law, natural gas discovered after April 20, 1977 will be removed from federal price controls by Jan. 1, 1985. Gas discovered before that date will remain controlled indefinitely.

The tax issue gained greater attention at the group's meeting of about 2,000 oil executives because of a court ruling that the windfall profits tax on domestic oil production is unconstitutional. U.S. District Judge Ewing Kerr of Cheyenne, Wyo., ruled last Thursday that the tax was unlawful because it is not applied uniformly; some Alaskan oil is exempted.

DiBona said the possible tax proposals in the next session of Congress included a new windfall profits tax on natural gas, increases in the existing oil tax, additional taxes on refineries, more gasoline excise taxes and oil import fees.

"The main victims of excessive taxes levied against oil producers would be energy consumers," DiBona said. "They would not have the petroleum that this industry could no longer afford to find."

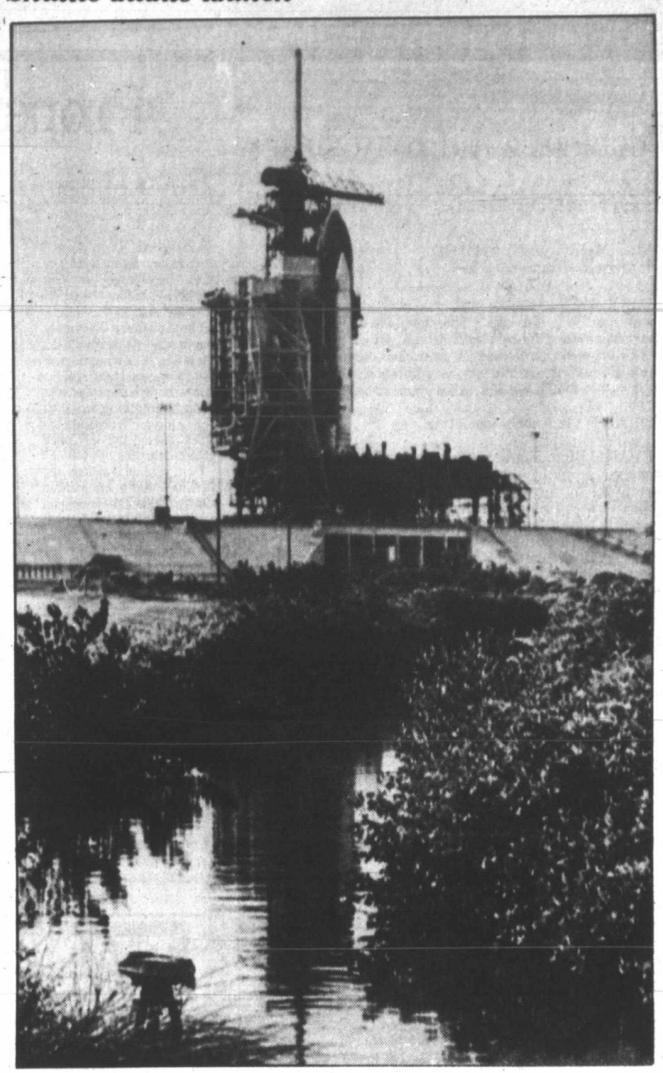

"The results for our nation could be disastrous," DiBona said.

Other oil executives echoed DiBona's concern about new energy taxes.

Closing arguments to start in murder trial

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Both sides have rested their case in the retrial of a prison inmate Eroy Edward Brown, whose first trial on charges he drowned a warden ended when two jurors refused to join the 10 who voted to acquit him.

State District Judge Darrell Hester of Brownsville told attorneys to present their closing arguments today.

Brown, 31, is accused of capital murder in April 4, 1981, drowning of prison warden Wallace Pack, 54. Prosecutors have said Brown could be tried later on charges he shot prison farm manager Billy Max Moore, 49, to death.

The defense claims Brown killed the men in self-defense because he feared they were going to torture him. Brown said he tried to persuade Pack to quit fighting him and drowned him only when the warden persisted.

The inmate's first trial ended in March with jurors, after 3 1/2 days of deliberations, deadlocked 10-2 for acquittal.

The current jury will be asked to decide whether State District Judge Henry Dalehite declared a mistrial too soon. If the panel rules the judge should have allowed more time, Brown will be acquitted, defense attorneys said.

Testimony ended Monday after three fellow prisoners refused to testify about the reputation of Pack, saying they feared reprisals.

A fourth inmate, Robert J. Franks, at first refused but later agreed to testify.

"He was a very violent man," said Franks, serving a life sentence for aggravated robbery in Harris County.

Aubrey Komurke told jurors at the first trial he once saw Pack beat an inmate. Afterward his son, who also is a TDC prisoner, was "almost killed," Komurke said.

When asked by Hester if he was refusing to testify again, Komurke responded, "I want to testify but I am afraid that under the circumstances I must not unless my son can be protected."

Komurke is serving a 20-year sentence for sodomy.

NASA confident of timely liftoff

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The space agency voiced confidence that Columbia's first commercial mission will lift off on time Thursday despite a leak in the space shuttle's steering system that interrupted the countdown.

Engineers were evaluating the problem overnight and expected a final decision today on whether the countdown would continue, leading up to a scheduled liftoff at 7:19 a.m. EST Thursday.

A statement issued Monday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said experts as a precaution were analyzing the leak found Sunday in a backup helium regulator in the system of 44 small jets used to steer Columbia in orbit.

"Engineers believe the test will show that leakage through the regulators is at a low enough level to permit use of the system in its normal configuration for the ascent phase of the mission," it said.

If officials decided to replace the leaky unit, the flight might have to be delayed several weeks because of the need to return the spaceship to its hangar for repair work.

Backing its confidence, NASA directed the four astronauts who will man Columbia's first satellite-hauling trip to fly here today from their training base at the Johnson Space Center in Houston.

Commanding the shuttle's first four-man crew is veteran astronaut Vance Brand. The others are space newcomers — Pilot Robert Overmyer and mission specialists William Lenoir and Joseph Allen.

The major goal of the mission is to place in separate orbits two commercial communications satellites built for Satellite Business Systems of McLean, Va., and Telesat Canada, Inc.

Dear Abby Problem child may suffer from learning disabilities

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: In July 1980 you printed a fine article about "problem children." The Lancaster (Pa.) County Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities is now conducting an awareness campaign, and a rerun of that letter would help us enormously. Thank you.
PAT DEMMY, ASSOCIATION SECRETARY

DEAR PAT: Here's the letter:

DEAR ABBY: Eight years ago I wrote to you concerning a problem we were having with our son who was then in the third grade. His teacher told us he was having difficulty keeping up with his class because he couldn't read. (She even hinted that he might be "slightly retarded.") She said he was also a discipline problem and she couldn't recommend him for the fourth grade.

I wrote to you in desperation, and you suggested I write to the Association for Children with Learning Disabilities. I did, and want you to know that this organization has helped us enormously. Our "problem child" is now a high school senior who qualifies for college.

Abby, please acquaint others with this wonderful group. Had it not been for you, we never would have known about it.

GRATEFUL IN ELIZABETH, N.J.

DEAR GRATEFUL: Thanks for this opportunity to advise other parents to take a closer look at their "clumsy" 3-year-old who can't sit still and seems hard to handle, or the slow learner who's a troublemaker and disrupts the class.

That child could be brighter than average but afflicted with a learning disability that is treatable if detected early.

A letter requesting information can be sent to: The Association for Children and Adults with Learning Disabilities, 4156 Library Road, Pittsburgh, Pa. 15234. It is not a high-pressure group and does not solicit public funds. It helps by sending educational material. The organization is non-profit, so when writing, please enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Please add this suggestion to your annual fire prevention article: "And if a child is burned, contact any Shriner."

We budget $81,460,000 for our three burn institutes to treat children up to the age of 18 free — regardless of race, color or creed.

Pass this along, Abby.
J. AUSTIN VINCENT, THOMASVILLE, GA.

DEAR J.A.V.: For years the Shriners have been famous for their crippled children's hospitals, but their burn treatment centers are relatively new. Any child who has been disfigured by fire qualifies for free treatment. Contact any Shriner.

Proper wood furniture care makes beauty last

Finally, that long-planned-for dining, bedroom or living room furniture has been delivered to your home. You're naturally anxious to protect your investment with the proper care procedures that will keep it looking beautiful for many years.

The Southern Furniture Manufacturers Association offers the following recommendations and clarifies some common misconceptions about maintaining wood or "casegoods" furniture — tables, chests, dressers, wall units and the like.

First, read all handtags and literature that accompanied your purchase. These contain important information about the type of construction used in your furniture.

Probably, it has been crafted with wood solid and veneer surfaces, so keep in mind that wood remains a living thing and is subject to extremes in temperature and humidity.

Protection from elements

Prolonged exposure to extreme dampness can cause swelling or warping. . . . constant direct sunlight or heat from a too-near outlet may crack or discolor the surface.

Today's multi-step furniture finishes provide a degree of protection from ordinary moisture such as water, as long as it is quickly wiped away, but standing condensation from a water glass can leave an unsightly ring on the finish.

Beware of chemicals

And, certain materials such as plastic cause a chemical reaction with the finish, resulting in permanent damage if they rest for a long period on the surface.

Indeed, any chemical substance can ruin a fine wood finish, the most common offenders being nail polish and remover, medicines, perfumes and beverages containing alcohol.

Immediately blot up such spills and, if you've applied a protective wax coating, chances are no permanent harm has been done.

A common misunderstanding is that one must never use a wax or polish containing silicone. People have been told that such products may cause "buildup" and make furniture refinishing impossible.

This is actually a myth. More than 80 percent of the furniture polishes sold today contain this ingredient, and such products are an effective way to clean soil and provide a protective wax layer.

It is important to read product directions carefully; always use a clean, soft cloth; apply light, even sprays; and rub with the direction of the woodgrain until the surface is completely dry.

Too-heavy applications and polish residue not removed can indeed cause buildup — as can oil polishes over previous wax coatings. For routine care, moisten a clean cloth with a spray product to remove dust and ordinary soils.

You may wish to occasionally apply paste wax over the entire furniture surface. Use two cloths, one to apply, one to polish, and cover a small area at a time.

If you encounter waxy buildup, streaks or a cloudy film, you can use a spray or creamy furniture product in generous amounts to dissolve and clean away such coatings. Again, use at least two clean cloths, rub with the grain and cover small areas at a time.

Cleaning essential

Occasionally, a thorough cleaning of furniture may be necessary.

Contrary to popular opinion, it's best not to wash furniture with soap and water solutions. Instead, use a household solvent such as odorless mineral spirits or naphtha, available in hardware and paint stores.

Use the small area, two-cloth technique previously described, but work in a well ventilated room and remember such solvents are highly flammable.

Never smoke or operate electrical appliances during or immediately after cleaning and throw out all cloths used. After drying and airing, apply a protective wax product and rub to a soft patina.

Hide imperfections

Ordinary mars and scratches can often be hidden with wax products. If not, try applying paste wax with very fine steel wool, rubbing gently with the grain and buff.

If the blemish still shows, try removing all polish with a solvent as outlined above and camouflage with one of the following colorings. . . . the meat of raw black walnut or Brazil nut; linseed oil; crayon; wax sticks; paste shoe polish; iodine; or stain applied with a cotton swab.

Test for the right color in a raw wood area on the inside or back of the furniture before applying.

Cigarette burns or severely damaged areas call for expertise. . . . perhaps yours, but most likely a well-recommended furniture refinisher.

Engraved furniture finishes that become scratched or marred require special expertise and deep damage may be impossible to satisfactorily repair. Other surfaces that demand repair skill include lacquer and paint finishes.

Laminated plastic surfaces are tough, withstand common stains and can be maintained with soap and water or occasional applications of a creamy furniture product.

However, a break in the laminate again would be virtually impossible to repair satisfactorily. The axiom "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is particularly true with furniture.

Whatever the furniture construction, it's possible with time, use, and especially moving for joints or parts to loosen or some other structural problem to occur.

Consumers with carpentry skills may be able to handle such repairs; but the sophisticated glues and current materials used in construction usually demand the knowledge of an expert in furniture repair.

Seek advice

In all cases, seek the advice of the retailer who sold you the furniture if repairs are necessary.

Decorating ideas to perk up the house

By BARBARA MAYER
AP Newsfeatures

Are you on the lookout for some inexpensive do-it-yourself decorating ideas to perk up your home?

Here are some thoughts to consider from the wall coverings industry:

—Cover three mailing tubes of different heights with metallic wallpaper and slip clay or glass pots inside them. Group the three together to make an indoor planter area.

—Buy or make two different size plywood boxes. Cover each one with straw matting or other grass cloth-textured wall covering. Stack one box on top of the other for an easy and inexpensive contemporary coffee table.

—Make a decorative folding screen with two or three hinged plywood panels covered in a wallpaper pattern that matches your decor.

—Create interest at the end of a long hall by wallpapering a "garden view" or trompe l'oeil scene on the back wall.

—Cover an unpainted chest with wallpaper and use a different coordinating pattern to line the drawers.

The versatility of these simple-to-execute ideas is based on wall covering. It is this versatility that helps explain why wallpaper is coming back into fashion after several decades of being relegated to the kitchen and bathroom.

At a recent discussion in New York sponsored by the National Home Fashions League, some industry executives offered evidence that wall coverings are being used more frequently as homemakers concentrate on upgrading their quarters with do-it-yourself projects rather than moving or engaging in costly new decorating schemes.

To some extent, the ups and downs of wall coverings seem to have no rhyme or reason. As Lyn Peterson, president of Motif Designs, pointed out: "Ever since it was first invented, wallpaper has been going in and out of style with regularity."

After enjoying great popularity in the era just after World War II, wallpaper went out of fashion between the 1950s and '70s.

Last year, however, sales of approximately 125 million rolls were recorded. Though this is far below the 400 million rolls sold annually in the 1940s, the executives see definite evidence that wallpaper is once again on the rise.

Changes in the product as well as its display and selling methods have made it easier to choose and use than before. As one panelist said, "The average wallpaper and paint store of 25 years ago had 50 or so dusty books stacked 4 feet high on a table somewhere in the back."

Today, said Neil Janovic, a paint and wallpaper retailer in New York, many specialty stores display hundreds of sample books in well-lighted, systematically-arranged viewing areas. In addition, many stock wallcoverings so a customer can see, touch and walk away with her choice instead of having to special order and wait for it.

According to Lionel Libson of GTR Wall Coverings, growing numbers of subtle textural wallpapers are available in colors designed to go with those current in other home furnishings products. Such wallpapers are more appropriate for the living room and bedroom than more strident and "trendy" patterns would be, he said.

"On the commercial side, wall coverings are being specified by architects and designers of large hotels and office buildings more often because they find they add warmth to the settings," said Libson.

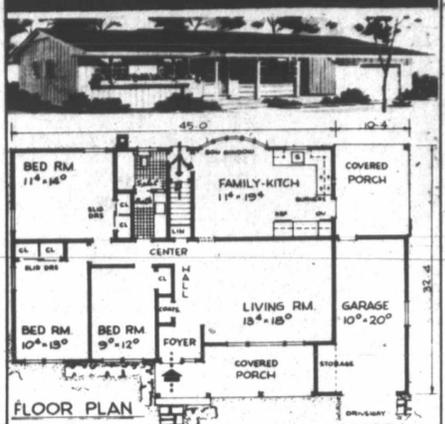

He also argued that wall coverings represent a better buy than paint since they may last from three to five years with little or no maintenance while painted surface must be cleaned regularly and renewed frequently.

Even more important for consumers than the appearance of understated patterns has been the development of coordinated home furnishings which offer a family of products in fabric, wall coverings and accessories.

Nowadays, it is common to find several such themed collections in large department stores and home centers, said Libson, citing such pioneering groups as Gear and Laura Ashley.

Taking a leaf from such books, wall coverings makers have become better at editing their offerings, introducing books which gather together a variety of coordinating wallpapers and fabric offerings organized around a single theme such as "country style" or American traditional.

Create child's room for learning and play

Space, design, storage and color are the basic considerations when decorating a room for a newborn or toddler.

"Keep in mind the child's size," advises Janet Spencer King, editor-in-chief of Mothers' Manual magazine. Living space is designed to meet adult needs with pictures hanging at eye level and furniture scaled to grownup size.

People who are two-foot-tall, experience space differently from people whose height is six feet. The use of child-sized furniture, and toys that have been miniaturized, makes the environment more accessible to youngsters at an earlier time.

A SECURE SPACE for crawling, hiding, exploring and reaching out can serve as an ideal environment and play area for a small child.

Parents often place a baby's mobile across the crib so visitors can appreciate it, but the baby lying below sees only the bottom edge.

A special section about "The Child's Environment," is featured in the magazine. The editors suggest pictures and mirrors should be placed lower down so that small children can appreciate them and see themselves.

When infants can reach out and make successful contact with crib toys that are accessible, as well as attractive, development is accelerated.

When we asked Ms. King about the use of color in decorating a child's room, she explained that the old saw — pink is for girls, blue for boys and yellow a happy compromise — is not necessarily correct.

Research shows that color can and does influence behavior. Babies love reds, oranges, pinks and yellows, responding to them favorably. Toddlers need some strong, stimulating colors in their environment. Excitable children might do well with soft colors, and a quiet child with brighter ones.

Lawyers accuse government of misconduct

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attorneys for flamboyant auto executive John Z. De Lorean, accused of cocaine trafficking in a transaction videotaped by undercover agents, say they plan to attack "outrageous conduct" and entrapment by the government.

De Lorean, 57, faces trial early next year on the nine-count federal indictment to which he pleaded innocent Monday. His attorneys said they will file motions alleging government misconduct and entrapment, probably before the trial.

De Lorean is accused of financing a $24 million cocaine distribution deal in what prosecutors said was a desperate bid for cash as his car company failed.

Attorney Seth Hufstедler, who entered the case Monday, told reporters the government had generated negative "propaganda" about De Lorean since his arrest Oct. 19 and "much of it is half-truths and much of it is downright false."

"There is a procedure by which the outrageous conduct of the government can be attacked, and we intend to do so," Hufstедler said.

Hufstедler was one of four prominent attorneys flanking the tall, silver-haired De Lorean as he appeared in court Monday for the first time since his release from prison on $10 million bail.

De Lorean and his wife, model Cristina Ferrare, held hands tightly as they pushed their way through a mob of reporters and camera crews at the courthouse. They did not speak outside court.

De Lorean's co-defendants, William Morgan Hetrick, 50, and Stephen Lee Arrington, 24, were brought to the courtroom in handcuffs from the Terminal Island federal prison. Hetrick's attorney asked the judge to consider reducing his $20 million bail, and a hearing on the request was scheduled for Wednesday.

Arrington, being held on $250,000 bail, filed papers saying he could not afford an attorney and received a court-appointed lawyer.

De Lorean, accused of conspiring with Hetrick and Arrington to sell cocaine from South America, never glanced at them as they were arraigned. His attorneys never mentioned the co-defendants.

"He will present a careful and complete presentation of the facts in this case at the time of trial," Hufstедler said. "And he is fully and firmly convinced on doing so, a fair-minded jury will find him innocent."

Attorney Joseph Ball, who has headed the De Lorean defense since shortly after his arrest, said he expects a six-week trial after a long series of pretrial motions.

U.S. District Judge Robert J. Takasugi tentatively scheduled trial for Jan. 7, but De Lorean's attorneys said they would seek a later date. Takasugi said he would rule later on the request.

FBI agents have said they videotaped De Lorean accepting delivery of a package of cocaine at a Los Angeles hotel.

Reagan to see arguments against dense pack

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is expected to study a Nobel-prize winning physicist's reported reservations about the vulnerability of MX missiles deployed close together, Defense officials say.

The scientist is Charles Townes, who headed a special Defense Science Board panel that studied the strengths and weaknesses of the closely spaced deployment concept, dubbed "dense pack" by the Air Force.

Townes is said by sources to have questioned whether the proposed 100 missiles could be deployed in "superhardened" launch silos faster than the Soviets could develop technology to neutralize them.

The University of California physicist was reported Monday to have taken a less optimistic view than the Air Force about the length of time the new missile system could remain impervious to Soviet counter-action.

There had been behind-the-scenes reports the Air Force sought to block the Townes views from reaching the president, but senior Defense officials said they believed that Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger would make certain Reagan received every relevant document before making the final MX basing decision.

The president is scheduled to decide before Dec.

Weinberger returned Monday night from an 11-day trip to five Pacific-area nations, and Pentagon officials said they believe he will take more time to make up his mind. The officials suggested this will require at least several more days.

The key to closely spaced basing is a theory that attacking Soviet missile warheads would destroy or disable each other by blast.

TEXAS STATE OPTICAL Since 1935.

Akers: Texas belongs in top 20

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas coach Fred Akers says his Longhorn football squad has shown the last two weeks that it belongs among the top 20 teams in college football.

"Texas fell out of the rankings after allowing a total of 58 points in losing to Oklahoma and Southern Methodist. But the Longhorns are ranked 20th in the latest poll that follows Texas' 27-0 win over Texas Tech 27-0 and its 50-0 drubbing of Houston last Saturday.

Asked if the victory over Houston was the best game ever by one of his Texas teams, Akers said:

"It was a good one. It wasn't as precise as some other games we've played. We still made enough mistakes in that game to keep our attention this week. I think the results were as complete as any ball game that I've ever seen."

Asked at his weekly news conference Monday if he thought his team was a top 20 team, Akers replied, "Yes. I thought we were last week."

He also said expected a fanatical effort by Texas Christian against Texas in Fort Worth on Saturday.

Although TCU is 3-6, three of its losses have been by a total of nine points, including 16-13 to Southern Methodist. SMU is the undefeated leader of the Southwest Conference and beat Texas 30-17.

Texas, 5-2, still must play TCU, Baylor, Texas A&M and Arkansas. "We're just into the meat of our schedule," Akers said.

Baylor upset previously undefeated Arkansas on Saturday, and Akers said, "We've learned ourselves that anything can happen on a given weekend in this conference. Games like last week between Arkansas and Baylor vividly point up that fact. There's no such thing as an off week in this league."

"I think TCU is a different football team than what the season results have shown," he said.

Akers was asked if he expected a "win-one-for-coach" effort by TCU, and he replied, "We'll get that."

Dolphins place second at Amarillo meet

Twenty-seven Pampa Dolphin members attended a swim meet in Amarillo on Halloween weekend, and all of them brought in points which helped the team win second place. The Amarillo Aquatic Club won the meet while the Red Raider Aquatic Club of Lubbock placed third.

Mendi Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson, is a new Dolphin who swims in the 8 and under age group in the C division. She won a fourth place in the 50 free and a fifth place in the 50 back.

Kim Burton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Burton, is also a new Dolphin and swims in the 9-10 age group. Kim swam on a 9-10 year old 200 free relay, which won a fourth place.

Amy Cross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Cross, swam in the C division of the 9-10 age group and won eighth place in the 50 and 100 free, sixth in the 50 breast, fifth in the 50 fly and fourth in the 200 free relay.

Amy Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edwards, swam in the C division of the 9-10 age group and won sixth place in the 50 free and 50 back, fifth in the 200 free and fourth in the 200 free relay. Amy is another new Dolphin member.

Brad Pope had an outstanding meet. He and his brother, Zach, are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Pope. Brad swam in the C division of the 13-14 age group and won third in the 100 fly, second in the 200 free, 200 IM, 1650 free and 500 free, and first in the 400 free relay, 100 back, 400 medley relay, 100 free and 50 free.

Zach Pope swims in the C division of the 11-12 age group and also had a good meet. Zach won fifth in the 400 medley relay, fourth in the 100 back and 100 breast, third in the 200 IM, 100 fly and 200 free, and second in the 50 free, 500 free and 400 IM.

Keri and Keith Barr each had a good meet. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Barr. Keith swims in the C division of the 11-12 age group and won an eighth place in the 100 free, seventh in the 50 free, 100 back and 200 free, sixth in the 200 back, fifth in the 200 breast, and first in the 400 medley and free relays. Keri swims some events in the C division and some in the B division of the 10 and under age group. In the C division, Keri won fifth in the 50 free, third in the senior 500 free, and second in the 100 free and 200 free. In the B division, Keri won first in the 50 free, 100 IM, 50 fly and 50 breast. She also helped win a second place in the 200 free and medley relays.

Thurston and Wallace Selby, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Selby, showed much improvement and had a successful meet. Wallace swims in the C division of the 8 and under age group and won second places in the 200 medley relay, 50 back and the 50 fly. He won first in the 100 IM, the 100 free and the 50 free. Thurston swims in the C division of the 11-12 age group and won an eighth place in the 100 back, seventh in the 100 fly, sixth in the 200 IM, 100 breast and 50 free, fifth in the 400 medley relay, fourth in the 200 free and third in the 500 free.

Rhea, Richelle and Renita Hill, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hill, did quite well.

Rhea swims in the C division of the 9-10 age group and won seventh in the 50 fly and 200 free, sixth in the 100 free, fifth in the 200 IM, 50 breast and 50 back, second in the 200 medley and free relays. Richelle swims some events in the B division and some in the C division of the 11-12 age group. In the C division, she won first in the 1650 free and 100 fly and 200 breast. In the B division, she won second in the 400 free and medley relays, the 200 IM, the 100 breast and the 100 back. She won first in the 500 free, 100 free and 200 free. Renita swims in the C division of the 13-14 age group and won second in the 200 free, 400 medley relay, 100 free and 50 free. She won first in the 500 free, 100 back, 200 breast, 200 back and 200 IM.

Pauletta and Pam Morrow, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morrow, swim their events in the C division and had a good meet. Pam swims in the 9-10 age group and won eighth in the 200 free, seventh in the 100 free and 50 back, sixth in the 50 fly, third in the 50 breast and second in the 200 medley and free relays. Pauletta swims in the 13-14 age group and is also a Pampa High swim team member. Pauletta placed second in the 100 breast, 500 free, 100 back, 200 breast, 200 IM and 400 free relay. She placed first in the 100 free, 200 free, 50 free and 100 fly.

Mitchell Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haynes, is another new Dolphin who had a good first meet. Mitchell won a seventh in the 50 breast and helped win a second in the 200 medley relay.

Billy Perdue, son of Barbara Perdue, is a new Dolphin and did well in his first meet. Billy won seventh in the 200 free, sixth in the 50 free and second in the 200 free relay.

Spencer and Darby Staggs, children of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Staggs, did well. Spencer swims in both the C and B divisions of the 9-10 age group. He won fourth in the 50 fly and second in the 200 free in the C division. In the B division, he won third in the 200 IM and the 100 free, second in the 50 back, 50 breast and 50 free. He also helped win a fifth in the senior boys 400 medley relay and a second in the 200 free relay. Darby swims in the C division of the 11-12 age group and won third in the 200 IM, 100 breast, 100 back and 200 free, and second in the 50 free and 100 free. She also helped win second place in the senior girls 400 free and medley relays.

Johnny and Jennie Haesle, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Haesle, are both C division swimmers with the exception of Jennie's one A division event. Johnny is an 8 and under swimmer and won third in the 100 free and 50 fly, second in the 100 IM, 50 free and 200 medley and free relays, and first in the 50 back. Jennie placed second in the 50 fly and the 50 free, and first in the 200 free, 200 IM, 100 free and 50 back. She also helped win second in the 200 free and medley relays. She placed second in the A division in the 50 breast.

Brad and Beth Johnson, children of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson, had a good meet. Beth won an eighth in the 50 breast and helped win a fourth in the A 200 free relay. Brad won eighth in the 50 free, sixth in the 200 back and 100 free, fourth in the 500 free, 200 free, and third in the 200 breast and first in the 400 medley and free relays.

Neil Turner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Turner, is a C swimmer in the 11-12 age group.

Neil won seventh in the 100 breast, sixth in the 100 fly, fifth in the 400 medley relay, 200 IM, 200 free and 50 free, fourth in the senior 500 free, third in the senior 200 breast, and second in the senior 100 free.

Patt Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Richards, is in the 13-14 age group of the C division. Patt won sixth in the 100 free, fifth in the 200 IM, 200 free, 500 free, 50 free and 100 back, fourth in the 100 fly and 200 back, and first in the 400 medley and free relays.

By placing in the top eight in their events, all of the Dolphins helped win that second-place trophy.

McRae, Bannister head list of free agents

NEW YORK (AP) — There aren't many million-dollar babies among them. Still, this year's family of baseball free agents comes from some pretty good stock.

They number 41 in all, 23 from the American League and 18 from the National League. Among them are 11 pitchers, six catchers, 14 outfielders and 10 infielders.

Four free agents hit .300 or better, eight drove in 50 or more runs, and four homered 20 or more times. Three of the pitchers won in double figures, and four had ERA's of 3.50 or less.

The 1982 free agents, who will be drafted on Wednesday, include major league RBI king Hal McRae of Kansas City (133) and American League strikeout leader left-hander Floyd Bannister of Seattle (209).

Bannister is one of three A-ranking free agents, who will require compensation in the form of a professional player from a special pool created for the draft. The others are outfielders John Lowenstein of the Baltimore Orioles and Steve Kemp of the Chicago White Sox.

Besides McRae, the 50-plus RBI men included Steve Garvey of Los Angeles (86), Reggie Smith of San Francisco (56), Don Baylor of California (93), Bruce Bochte of Seattle (70), Al Cowens of Seattle (78), Kemp (98) and Lowenstein (66). The 20-plus homer group starred McRae with 27 and also included Baylor (24), Cowens (20) and Lowenstein (24).

Some of these players were not ranked because they either had 12 years or more of major league service or had gone through the free agent re-entry draft before.

Despite his A ranking, Bannister is expected to be selected by more teams than any other free agent. He compiled a record of 12-13 with the struggling Mariners this season, and he had an ERA of 3.43.

Other double-figure winners were Bob McClure of Milwaukee, 12-7, and Paul Splitter of Kansas City, 10-10. The under-3.50 ERA men were Bannister, Tom Burgmeier of Boston (2.29), Terry Forster of Los Angeles (3.04) and Randy Moffit of Houston (3.02).

North Amarillo wins Optimist grid tourney

North Amarillo defeated Borger, 12-7, Saturday to win the Pampa Optimist Invitational Football Tournament held in Harvester Stadium.

North Amarillo downed Borger, 12-7, and Borger won over the Dumas Hawks, 21-6, in the semi-finals.

In the opening games, Borger blanked the Pampa Raiders, 35-0, the Dumas Hawks slipped by Canyon, 7-6, and North Amarillo rolled past Perryton, 37-0.

Selected as Most Valuable Players were Donnie Wright, Borger (offense) and Brad Gaines, North Amarillo (defense).

Some Answers for AT&T stockholders

In Southwestern Bell's territory, there are 224,000 AT&T stockholders and more than 100,000 of them are right here in Texas. Many of you have questions about what will happen to your AT&T stock after divestiture.

Currently, AT&T stock represents an investment in the total Bell System—Long Lines, Western Electric, Bell Labs and the operating companies, like Southwestern Bell. At divestiture, the assets of the Bell System will be divided.

For example, a share owner who currently owns 50 shares of AT&T stock will still own 50 shares of AT&T stock after divestiture. In addition, the stockholder will own a proportionate interest in the divested operating companies.

No final decision has been made on a procedure for dividing the stock once AT&T spins off the 22 operating companies. However, AT&T is working on a plan to make it easy and inexpensive for share owners to manage their holdings.

Specific investment procedures and other details have not been finalized. Any plan regarding AT&T stock requires review by the Bell operating companies, the Department of Justice and the federal court before it can be enacted.

Whatever plan is accepted, AT&T is committed to ensuring the plan is fair and equitable. In addition, AT&T plans to minimize, as much as possible, transaction costs associated with the consolidation of small share holdings.

Check Identification Whenever in Doubt

It's a good idea to make sure you're satisfied before letting anyone in your home. That's why every Southwestern Bell employee carries an identification card.

The ID card shows his or her name, a photograph and an expiration date. The next time a Bell employee comes, you can request

Planning Before Emergencies Occur

The best way to prepare for emergencies is through advance planning. Make sure that every family member—especially small children—understand what they should do when the unexpected happens.

Remember to keep important telephone numbers near the phone. Police, fire and ambulance numbers should head your list. You might also note doctors, hospitals, neighbors and near-by relatives.

In families with small children, note the pediatrician, poison control center, school or day care numbers as well as how to reach you at work. Also take time to review how to report an emergency with youngsters.

They should give the nature of the emergency, name and address and a contact number. If the emergency requires leaving the house, always give a neighbor's phone number instead of your own.

A Directory Keeps Numbers Safe, Handy

Record emergency numbers as well as important addresses and dates in a Personal Directory. If you'd like a free copy, send your name and address to: Southwestern Bell, Personal Directory, P.O. Box 225265, Dallas, Texas 75265.

This time of year reminds me of all the good things in life to be thankful for. I hope that this year's holiday season is equally special for you, too.

Saints Accept Offer

Guido Merkens, alternate player representative for the New Orleans Saints, stands outside the Louisiana Superdome with a copy of the players' proposal to resume playing in the National Football League while contract negotiations with NFL owners continue. The Saints voted, 45-1, Monday to accept "in principle" the latest offer by the owners. (AP Laserphoto)

Garvey accuses owners of illegal tactics

NEW YORK (AP) — The war of words continues in the National Football League players' strike, with union leader Ed Garvey discounting an apparent crack in the Players Association's solidarity by noting that 25 teams had rejected the owners' latest offer.

Garvey accused the owners of further "illegal tactics" Monday night at an NFLPA news conference and said that a vote by the New Orleans Saints in favor of accepting the NFL's most recent proposal in principle "is just one of 28 teams and we're not too concerned."

"Once they see all the facts, I'm confident they will reject it, too."

"Most of the teams felt there was not enough there to warrant a vote. Twenty-four teams rejected it in one way or another. (Another club voted against the proposal several hours after the news conference; the Houston Oilers said they would vote today and one other club had not reported its vote.)

"We are delighted that management's latest illegal tactic has failed," he said. "They players don't think it's a representative offer. They know it's not the bottom line."

The Saints voted 45-1 with one abstention to accept the owners' offer and urged other teams to do the same, according to Guido Merkens, the Saints' alternate player rep.

The Saints "agreed to

Schramm says fate of season up to players

DALLAS (AP) — Tex Schramm, the President and General Manager of the Dallas Cowboys, said Monday night on his weekly radio show that the fate of the National Football League season is in the hands of players who have silently been on the sidelines since the strike started seven weeks ago.

"I feel we've reached a point now where it is extremely difficult to make an agreement with leadership of the (NFL Players Association) union," Schramm said. "It seems everytime we moved in their direction they move a little farther away."

"It doesn't seem to be a sincere effort (by the union) to make an agreement."

Schramm said "the answer does now lie with the players in the field, the members of the teams who have not had a strong voice or exercised one. If there is a solution that is where it must rest."

He said "We're at the point now where something has to happen, you can't go on and on this way."

Schramm said "It is obviously improbable that we will play this Sunday."

accept management's offer in principle while realizing there are details that need to be refined," Merkens said.

"I took what I heard up there (in New York at Players Association meetings during the negotiations, which broke off Saturday night) and explained it to our players here as it was explained to me," Merkens said on ABC-TV's 'Nightline.' "We asked, 'What do you want to do, accept it in principle or reject it altogether? We think there is a workable framework there."

"It's not true that management persuaded us (on how to vote). We're trying to let the union reps know how the New Orleans Saints feel."

Garvey didn't seem worried by the New Orleans vote.

"Twenty players met with (Saints owner) John Mecorn Jr.," Garvey said, "and then they voted. The owners are seeing if they can sell their latest offer to the players by going over the head of the union."

Georgia moves to No. 1 position

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

For the second time in three years, the Georgia Bulldogs have climbed into first place in The Associated Press college football poll thanks to Notre Dame.

In 1980, Georgia beat Florida 26-21 and jumped from second place to first when No. 1 Notre Dame was held to a 3-3 tie by Georgia Tech. The Bulldogs went on to win their only national championship.

On Monday, Georgia jumped from third place to first following a 44-0 rout of Florida, while Pitt dropped from first to eighth by losing to Notre Dame 31-16. The victory also boosted the Irish back into the Top 20.

Georgia, Southern Methodist and Arizona State, the only three unbeaten and untied major college teams, held the top three spots in this week's rankings, while Louisiana State jumped from 11th to sixth — its highest ranking since 1972 — and Arkansas fell from fifth to 10th.

"The call from the AP two years ago that we had won the national championship was much better than this one," said Georgia Coach Vince Dooley. "Seriously, it will be a great point of pride this week. We play at Auburn and we'll find out if we're mature enough to handle a No. 1 ranking."

Last week, Pitt was first, SMU second and Georgia third, only three points behind the Mustangs. But Georgia swamped Florida and received 33 of 59 first-place votes and 1,150 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. SMU, which defeated Rice 41-14, received 19 first-place votes and 1,126 points, while Arizona State, a 30-16 winner over Oregon State, received five firsts and 1,049 points. The Sun Devils were fourth a week ago.

Nebraska moved up from fifth to fourth with one first-place ballot and 984 points for a 48-10 triumph over Oklahoma State. Penn State received the other No. 1 vote and 955 points after crushing North Carolina State 54-0.

LSU was sixth with 865 points following a 20-10 licking of Alabama, which dropped the Crimson Tide from eighth to 17th. Washington rebounded from its only loss of the season and edged UCLA 10-7, climbing from 10th to seventh with 779 points and dropping the Bruins from ninth to 12th.

Pitt, a 31-16 loser to Notre Dame, plummeted from first to eighth with 765 points. Florida State rose from 12th to ninth with 686 points by routing South Carolina 56-26. Arkansas, a 24-17 loser to Baylor, rounded out the Top Ten with 572 points.

The Second 10 consists of defending national champion Clemson, UCLA, Notre Dame, Michigan, Oklahoma, Southern California, Alabama, Maryland, West Virginia and Texas. Last week, it was LSU, Florida State, Clemson, Oklahoma, Michigan, Southern Cal, West Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland and Florida.

Congressional race recount ordered

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A hand recount of Tarrant County ballots has begun in Democrat Tom Vandergriff's slim victory Nov. 2 over Republican Jim Bradshaw in the new 26th congressional district.

Judges in four North Texas counties — Tarrant, Collin, Denton and Cooke — ordered the recount Monday.

The hand tabulations began Monday evening in Tarrant County, but the three other counties were not expected to begin the recount until at least Wednesday, officials said.

Final canvassed results were not expected until Friday, officials said.

Another check of voting machines in Tarrant County added 191 votes to Vandergriff's total Monday night, according to officials.

Bradshaw said Monday he was "confident" enough votes will be located to reverse his defeat.

"I feel good," he said. "I've always said we'd probably find a distinguishable difference... in Collin County."

Bradshaw said he believes several thousand votes could have been lost in Collin County through computer malfunction.

Vandergriff, a former Arlington mayor, held a 434-vote lead over Bradshaw last Wednesday after votes from the Nov. 2 general election were counted.

But Vandergriff's lead dwindled to 122 votes Friday when errors were discovered in Tarrant County tabulations.

JAMES CAGNEY

Names in the news

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Actor James Cagney, whose film career spans more than a half-century, will receive a lifetime achievement award at the Jubilee Ball of the American Diabetes Association on Friday.

Cagney, 83, agreed to attend the event because he has suffered from diabetes most of his life, said association spokeswoman Chen Sam.

Among those attending the affair at the Franklin Plaza Hotel will be actors and actresses who appeared in films with Cagney, including David Huddleston, Ruby Keeler and Sylvia Sydney.

Cagney's films, beginning with releases in 1930, include "The Public Enemy," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Devil Dogs of the Air" and the recent "Ragtime."

Cagney, who was honored last year by President Reagan, lives in New York state and recently celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary with his wife Willie, Ms. Sam said.

DETROIT (AP) — David Ruffin, former lead singer of the Temptations, has been sentenced to six months in prison and ordered to pay a $5,000 fine after pleading guilty to income tax evasion.

Ruffin pleaded guilty June 3 to a charge of failure to file a 1976 tax return on $177,359 income. He was sentenced Monday by U.S. District Judge Philip Pratt, said Leonard Gilman, U.S. attorney for the Michigan's eastern district.

The former soul singer originally was indicted by a federal grand jury on three counts of income tax evasion, Gilman said. Two of the counts were dropped in exchange for his guilty plea.

Ruffin will begin serving his sentence Nov. 15, Gilman said.

White begins arguments in state-federal suit

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A federal judge here will spend most of the week hearing technical testimony from energy experts in a complicated lawsuit alleging that the federal government bilked Texas out of $1 billion in off-shore oil and natural gas rights.

U.S. Justice Department attorneys today will begin cross-examining a Houston energy consultant who testified Monday that the federal government has sold more than $7 billion worth of leases in four disputed tracts.

Attorney General Mark White filed the lawsuit in 1979 claiming that Texas is owed $1 billion of that lease revenue.

Testimony began Monday in federal court here before U.S. District Judge Robert Parker.

Governor-elect White contends that the U.S. government drained oil and natural gas from Texas deposits without compensation, and that the federal government benefited from early Texas exploration of off-shore finds.

The non-jury trial is expected to last several days. Any award to the state would benefit the Texas Public School Fund — the beneficiary of state revenues from oil and gas leases.

Under federal and state laws, Texas owns jurisdiction to undersea oil and natural gas extending three leagues or 10.2 nautical miles from shore. Three miles beyond that boundary, the federal government is able to sell tracts to companies for exploration and production.

White began presenting geological surveys to back his contention that drillers in federal waters drained oil and natural gas from Texas deposits.

The lawsuit also alleges that the U.S. Department of the Interior sold leases at a higher price because investors already knew of Texas' proven finds.

Lawyers for the Interior Department

say Texas was properly compensated, and that the state has no legal grounds for its claim that federal sales benefited from the state's experience.

White, two attorneys from his Austin office and a Beaumont lawyer hired by the state as a consultant questioned Houston energy consultant P.T. Von Tungen during the opening day of the trial.

Von Tungen estimated that auctions of federal off-shore drilling rights have netted more than $7.228 billion. White says the state is owed $1 million of that revenue.

White also quizzed Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong on the history of off-shore leases in the Gulf of Mexico.

Armstrong said there were unresolved problems between the state and Interior Department "right from the beginning."

"We were asked to operate in the dark," Armstrong said.

News briefs

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A school administrator was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon for ordering his 40-pound dog to attack an 8-year-old girl, but a judge reduced the offense to misdemeanor assault.

Charles Moxon could have lost his job as vice principal of Centerville Junior High School if the felony conviction stood, but Alameda County Superior Court Judge Dawn Girard gave Moxon three years' probation Monday and told him to "be nice" to his neighbors.

The case stemmed from a dispute between the Moxons and the family of Michelle Chrisman, who needed 16 stitches after the October 1980 attack. Her father called the sentence "a gross miscarriage of justice."

PAWTUCKET, R.I. (AP) — Mayor Henry Kinch says he is confident the U.S. Supreme Court will review an appeals court ruling barring the city from sponsoring a nativity scene as it has for the past 40 years.

"What kind of holiday would Thanksgiving be without the turkey or the Fourth of July without the flag?" Kinch said Monday. "We are not advancing religion; we are merely displaying a Nativity scene," which he said is an inherent symbol of Christmas.

The 1st U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston voted 3-1 last week to issue a permanent injunction against the city-sponsored creche.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Victims of October's devastating brush fires in Los Angeles and Orange counties will be eligible for low-interest loans, the Small Business Administration has announced.

Homeowners will be eligible for up to $55,000 in loans and business owners for $500,000. Gerold Morita, regional director of the SBA's Los Angeles office, said Monday.

However, losses in Ventura County were not great enough to meet the SBA's requirements for disaster declaration, Morita said. The Dayton Canyon fire in Los Angeles and Ventura counties and the Gypsum fire in Orange County destroyed 79 homes and caused $23 million in damage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, seeking to make U.S. savings bonds more competitive with other investments, is raising interest rates on the bonds to 11.09 percent annually between Nov. 1 and April 30, 1983.

Under the new system, rates will fluctuate every six months for existing and newly issued bonds that are held for at least five years. However, minimum rates are guaranteed, Treasury officials said Monday.

Rates on new Series EE

bonds, issued as of Nov. 1, will be linked to the market interest rate on five-year Treasury securities, but a minimum return of 7.5 percent a year is guaranteed.

The bonds mature in 10 years, but lower interest will be paid for early redemption.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal housing officials have illegally used government cars to commute between home and work during the past year at a cost of $5,000, an inspector general's report says.

The report, made public Monday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said officials also used government cars to go to and from National Airport after hours although taxicabs would have been cheaper.

Donald E. Kirkendall, assistant inspector general of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, said the department had agreed to recover the money from the officials responsible.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Vietnam veteran who walked 1,250 miles from St. Paul, Minn., to the nation's capital says he hopes his effort helped to spur public interest in determining the fate of nearly 2,500 fellow servicemen still missing in action in Southeast Asia.

Brian Burke, 39, of Bloomington, Minn., was greeted by Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., on the

Congressional race recount ordered

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — A hand recount of Tarrant County ballots has begun in Democrat Tom Vandergriff's slim victory Nov. 2 over Republican Jim Bradshaw in the new 26th congressional district.

Judges in four North Texas counties — Tarrant, Collin, Denton and Cooke — ordered the recount Monday.

The hand tabulations began Monday evening in Tarrant County, but the three other counties were not expected to begin the recount until at least Wednesday, officials said.

Final canvassed results were not expected until Friday, officials said.

Another check of voting machines in Tarrant County added 191 votes to Vandergriff's total Monday night, according to officials.

Bradshaw said Monday he was "confident" enough votes will be located to reverse his defeat.

"I feel good," he said. "I've always said we'd probably find a distinguishable difference... in Collin County."

Bradshaw said he believes several thousand votes could have been lost in Collin County through computer malfunction.

Vandergriff, a former Arlington mayor, held a 434-vote lead over Bradshaw last Wednesday after votes from the Nov. 2 general election were counted.

But Vandergriff's lead dwindled to 122 votes Friday when errors were discovered in Tarrant County tabulations.

LOU GOSSETT DAVID RUFFIN JAMES CAGNEY

Names in the news

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Actor James Cagney, whose film career spans more than a half-century, will receive a lifetime achievement award at the Jubilee Ball of the American Diabetes Association on Friday.

Cagney, 83, agreed to attend the event because he has suffered from diabetes most of his life, said association spokeswoman Chen Sam.

Among those attending the affair at the Franklin Plaza Hotel will be actors and actresses who appeared in films with Cagney, including David Huddleston, Ruby Keeler and Sylvia Sydney.

Cagney's films, beginning with releases in 1930, include "The Public Enemy," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Devil Dogs of the Air" and the recent "Ragtime."

Cagney, who was honored last year by President Reagan, lives in New York state and recently celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary with his wife Willie, Ms. Sam said.

DETROIT (AP) — David Ruffin, former lead singer of the Temptations, has been sentenced to six months in prison and ordered to pay a $5,000 fine after pleading guilty to income tax evasion.

White begins arguments in state-federal suit

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A federal judge here will spend most of the week hearing technical testimony from energy experts in a complicated lawsuit alleging that the federal government bilked Texas out of $1 billion in off-shore oil and natural gas rights.

U.S. Justice Department attorneys today will begin cross-examining a Houston energy consultant who testified Monday that the federal government has sold more than $7 billion worth of leases in four disputed tracts.

Attorney General Mark White filed the lawsuit in 1979 claiming that Texas reduced $1 billion of that lease revenue.

Testimony began Monday in federal court here before U.S. District Judge Robert Parker.

Governor-elect White contends that the U.S. government drained oil and natural gas from Texas deposits without compensation, and that the federal government benefited from early Texas exploration of off-shore finds.

The non-jury trial is expected to last several days. Any award to the state would benefit the Texas Public School Fund — the beneficiary of state revenues from oil and gas leases.

Under federal and state laws, Texas owns jurisdiction to undersea oil and natural gas: extending three leagues or 10.2 nautical miles from shore. Three miles beyond that boundary, the federal government is able to sell tracts to companies for exploration and production.

White began presenting geological surveys to back his contention that drillers in federal waters drained oil and natural gas from Texas deposits.

The lawsuit also alleges that the U.S. Department of the Interior sold leases at a higher price because investors already knew of Texas' proven finds.

Lawyers for the Interior Department

say Texas was properly compensated, and that the state has no legal grounds for its claim that federal sales benefited from the state's experience.

White, two attorneys from his Austin office and a Beaumont lawyer hired by the state as a consultant questioned Houston energy consultant P.T. Von Tungein during the opening day of the trial.

Von Tungein estimated that auctions of federal off-shore drilling rights have netted more than $7.228 billion. White says the state is owed $1 million of that revenue.

White also quizzed Texas Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong on the history of off-shore leases in the Gulf of Mexico.

Armstrong said there were unresolved problems between the state and Interior Department "right from the beginning."

"We were asked to operate in the dark," Armstrong said.

News briefs

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A school administrator was convicted of assault with a deadly weapon for ordering his 40-pound dog to attack an 8-year-old girl, but a judge reduced the offense to misdemeanor assault.

Charles Moxon could have lost his job as vice principal of Centerville Junior High School if the felony conviction stood, but Alameda County Superior Court Judge Dawn Girard gave Moxon three years' probation Monday and told him to "be nice" to his neighbors.

Homeowners will be eligible for up to $55,000 in loans and business owners for $500,000, Gerold Morita, regional director of the SBA's Los Angeles office, said Monday.

However, losses in Ventura County were not great enough to meet the SBA's requirements for disaster declaration, Morita said. The Dayton Canyon fire in Los Angeles and Ventura counties and the Gypsum fire in Orange County destroyed 79 homes and caused $23 million in damage.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, seeking to make U.S. savings bonds more competitive with other investments, is raising interest rates on the bonds to 11.09 percent annually between Nov. 1 and April 30, 1983.

Under the new system, rates will fluctuate every six months for existing and newly issued bonds that are held for at least five years. However, minimum rates are guaranteed, Treasury officials said Monday.

Rates on new Series EE bonds, issued as of Nov. 1, will be linked to the market interest rate on five-year Treasury securities, but a minimum return of 7.5 percent a year is guaranteed. The bonds mature in 10 years, but lower interest will be paid for early redemption.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal housing officials have illegally used government cars to commute between home and work during the past year at a cost of $5,000, an inspector general's report says.

The report, made public Monday by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said officials also used government cars to go and from National Airport after hours although taxicabs would have been cheaper.

Donald E. Kirkendall, assistant inspector general of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, said the department had agreed to recover the money from the officials responsible.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Vietnam veteran who walked 1,250 miles from St. Paul, Minn., to the nation's capital says he hopes his effort helped to spur public interest in determining the fate of nearly 2,500 fellow servicemen still missing in action in Southeast Asia.

Brian Burke, 39, of Bloomington, Minn., was greeted by Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, R-Minn., on the Capitol grounds as he finished his marathon walk, which he began Sept. 18.

Burke, who said he served as a helicopter crew chief in the Central Highlands of Vietnam in 1966-67, is joining tens of thousands of other veterans here this week in a salute to Vietnam-era servicemen.

Clean water regulations issued

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has unveiled new water pollution regulations in a move the agency's head says proves the administration's commitment to cleaning up the nation's water.

The new regulations approved by the EPA, for the most part, define tighter dumping standards that a dozen industries will have to meet in the mid-1980s.

"The issue is environmental progress for the American people," said EPA Administrator Anne Gorsuch in an interview Monday. "There's no question that these proposals will mean environmental progress."

The action on water pollution standards follows months of criticism from environmentalists who have accused the Reagan administration of giving the green light to polluters by failing to enforce laws governing hazardous waste, drinking water and dangerous chemicals.

Mrs. Gorsuch said the regulations demonstrate that the Reagan administration is serious about cutting back the poisonous chemicals industries pump into the nation's water.

In 1972, EPA was ordered by Congress to develop guidelines for industry covering the chemicals that could be dumped into water, but the proposals have been held up ever since. EPA was sued by environmentalists in 1974 over the slow progress and ordered in 1976 to get moving on the standards.

The court order had little effect; EPA missed repeated deadlines. One final regulation was issued during the Carter administration, just days before President Reagan took office.

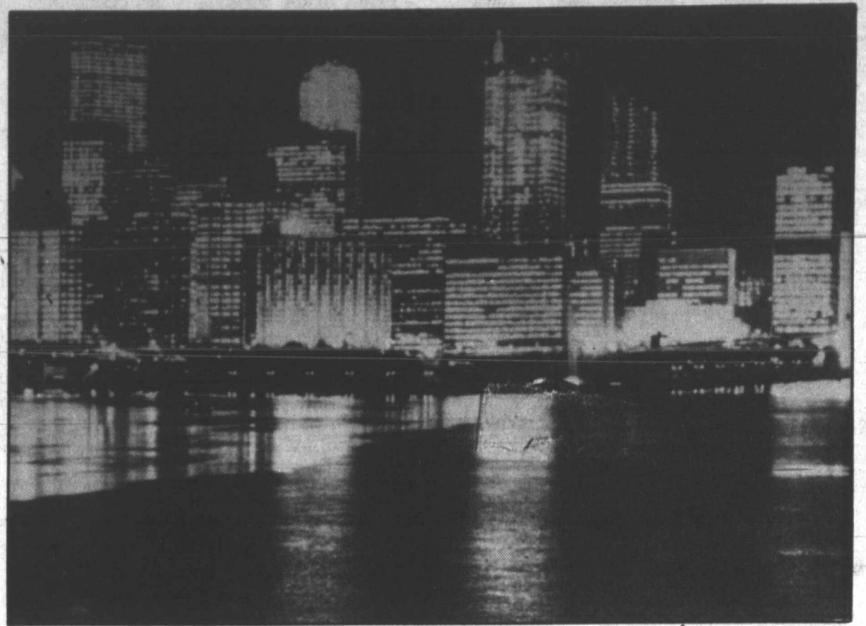

Mrs. Gorsuch criticized the Carter administration's failure to meet deadlines, saying the delay had the effect of being "anti-environment."

She said the Reagan administration diverted personnel and funneled an additional $4.5 million into the program. It now is meeting the court's deadlines, she said.

Under the federal Clean Water Act, specific industries are supposed to meet increasingly strict discharge standards in two phases. The first phase required controls known as "best practicable technology." Most industries are in compliance with those standards.

The second phase was supposed to require a stricter standard using the "best available technology." The problem for the last decade has been defining what that technology is.

Nuclear weapons to be deployed in Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the vocal nuclear freeze movement on both sides of the Atlantic, NATO officials say there are no plans to delay the stationing next year of new American atomic weapons in Europe.

"We are determined to go ahead with the deployment" of the Pershing II missiles, said Paolo Pansa Cedronio, former Italian ambassador to the United States.

Air Vice Marshall J. Gilbert of the British Defense Ministry reiterated that view, adding, "There is no question at all. The government of Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher is absolutely committed on this."

The comments by Gilbert and Cedronio came Monday at a news conference as a group of officials from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization began a tour of the United States.

The trip is part of an effort to convince the United States that Europe is shouldering its fair share of the NATO defense burden. U.S. officials have often suggested that European NATO members should spend more on defense.

The NATO officials noted the growing peace movement in a number of their countries. In addition a number of states and cities in the United States approved in last week's mid-term elections a proposal calling for a freeze on U.S. and Soviet nuclear weapons.

Starting late next year, the United States plans to put 108 Pershing II and 464 nuclear-tipped cruise missiles in five NATO nations. The weapons are in answer to the Soviet deployment in western Russia of intermediate range SS-20 missiles.

The United States has run into problems testing the Pershing II. The rocket blew up during the first attempt. A second test failed last week when the rocket did not ignite.

Alfons Boecker, deputy chief of the West German mission, said his nation is happy with the "two-track" Western approach of deploying the missiles while arms reduction talks are going on in Geneva.

"The peace movement is important to take note of," but there is support for the new nuclear weapons, he said.

See a penny, pick it up, it might bring a $6 million endowment

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — When Terry Armstrong finds a penny on the ground or a dime in a phone booth, it goes to the University of Idaho instead of his pocket.

Armstrong and about 200 other people are saving money they find in odd places and giving it to the university for an endowment fund. So far, they've got $120, and their sights are set on $6 million — in a century or so.

"We call it the Found Money Fund of Idaho," said Armstrong, executive assistant to the university president. "About 200 of us true philanthropists donate all the money we find around town."

It all started with a penny in Armstrong's shoe.

"I walk a half-mile to work and over the years picked up pennies or nickels and put them in my shoe for good luck," he said Monday.

One day in January 1981, Armstrong spotted 8 cents on the sidewalk in front of a sorority house. "I decided it was time to put all that money in a jar and see how much I could collect in a month," he said.

Armstrong's colleagues took to the idea and started depositing their "finds" in the jar. "In five months, we had $6 or $7 and realized we had to put the money to good use," he said.

Armstrong decided to start buying shares in Idaho's Fund for Academic Excellence, a general university trust fund that finances honors programs, special projects and faculty development.

Shares in the fund sell for $10 to $12, and each time the jar fills up, Armstrong buys a share in the name of the Found Money Fund. "We already have 10 shares of stock valued at $120," he said. "And there's another $12.05 in the jar."

"We're really smokin'," Armstrong said. "We've calculated it out and by plowing all the interest back into the principal, we'll have $5 million or $6 million by the 200th anniversary of the university — in 2089."

The Found Money Fund has no official roster of its contributors, whose finds usually are pennies, nickels and dimes.

Occasionally, however, there are bonanzas. "Just last week, our director of high school relations found two $5 bills on a cafeteria floor in Twin Falls," said Carol Yenni, co-founder of the fund.

"But we do have our rules," said Ms. Yenni, admissions assistant at the university's College of Law. "You must find the money. It can't be your own change. And if you know who the money belongs to, you've got to return it."

Finders also must be "totally dedicated," Armstrong said. "If you find $100, you've got to turn it in to the fund."

For those of you who, When given a choice, always select the best...

Senate faces housing problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — The election of only five new senators last week is posing a housing problem for many current members: they're going to be herded into the new $137 million Hart Office Building like it or not.

The spacious marble building, one of the most expensive government structures ever, opens later this month. But few senators want anything to do with it. Most of the Senate's most senior members flatly have refused quarters in the new building, preferring to stay in their old, cozier suites.

The Hart Building, despite its high construction pricetag, lacks many of the frills of older Senate offices — including a feature many senators deem crucial — a private entrance offering an escape route.

Selection of new office space began last Wednesday, the day after the elections.

Members with the most seniority were offered new offices in the Hart building first. Their laughter could almost be heard echoing through the halls of Congress.

One after the other, senators turned down the invitations.

And since only five new members will be arriving in January — the tiniest freshman class this century — a lot of current senators will be forced to make the move.

WHEN YOU SET OUT TO SAVE DUCKS, YOU SAVE A LOT OF LIVING THINGS ALONG THE WAY.

Our name only mentions ducks. But the marshlands that we protect and restore are homes and breeding grounds for hundreds of wildlife species — for many birds, fish and mammals on the Endangered Species List.

Ducks Unlimited has preserved over 2.7 million acres of habitat — more than any other private wildlife organization. Most of our work is done in Canada, where United States Federal funds don't reach. And where 70% of North America's waterfowl are hatched.

Today, the impact of people and pollution makes our work more vital than ever. We're literally racing against time to provide perpetual habitats for North American wildlife. Please help Ducks Unlimited. We need your dollars...to help a lot more than ducks.
