Subversives Ruling May Bring Trouble

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rules for freeing registration of Communist groups were officially laid down today by the Department of Justice.

Their application appeared certain to touch off a series of hearings and heated legal actions, with actual registration delayed for years.

Under the new anti-subversive law, Communist organizations have until Monday to sign up voluntarily. After that, registration by force is called for.

But this cannot be done until President Truman names the five-man bipartisan Subversive Activities Control Board set up in the act.

The Communist Party has said it does not intend to register and supply its roll of members, estimated by the FBI to number about 84,000.

Officials expect the first such citation to be issued against the Communist Party itself.

Then the party may call for hearings by the board. It can be expected to contest the definition in the law which says that a "Communist action group" is one dominated by a foreign government, meaning Russia.

This question has not been passed upon directly by U. S. courts. If the control board should say, "Communist action group," it would be a toss-up.

Solon Says China Shipments May Be 'Sensational Story'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator O'Connor (D-Md.) said today that information already in hand on shipments of strategic materials to Communist China indicates "the story as it unravels, may be very, very sensational."

O'Connor is chairman of a Senate commerce subcommittee investigating reports that American oil and other materials have reached China, where they could be sent on to the Communist invaders of South Korea.

He told reporters after being escorted with government officials Thursday that he is satisfied that about half a million gallons of oil were hauled to Communist China from the U.S. occupied Japan after the Korean war started last June.

The three said they saw no other Americans in Pyongyang except those they marched with from Seoul.

They said they were told in Seoul that Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the U.S. 24th Infantry Division who disappeared when Taejon fell last July, was in Pyongyang.

But when they arrived here they were told General Dean had died in Seoul. There was no confirmation of this report.

United Nations losses in dead wounded and captured approach the 25,000 figure.

Swinging down Stalin Street in the heart of Pyongyang, the bearded and long haired captives were found by a group of correspondents as the prisoners marched arm in arm with three North Korean students who had befriended them.

The three American survivors of the death march were: Air Force Capt. William Locke, 30, Rt. 2, Enfield, Ga., an F54 pilot whose wife, Ronaldia, is in Seoul.

Paratroopers Shut Red Escape Routes

G.I.'s Tell of Death March To Pyongyang

PYONGYANG, Korea — (AP) — Three newly starved American prisoners today told a ghastly tale of a "death march" from Seoul to Pyongyang by 283 U.S. soldiers.

Many of their comrades, the bearded trio said, were beaten and murdered by their Communist captors. The Reds shrugged their shoulders and said a few more atrocities against them did not matter.

The few survivors, said the liberated prisoners, boosted the American POWs held in Pyongyang to 373. Most of the 273 were moved to the north to an unknown fate as Pyongyang began to totter.

U.N. Ponders Lie Approval

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. — The United Nations Security Council today (20) voted 11-0 to try again to decide whether or not Trzygve Lie keeps his job as secretary general.

The outcome, key delegations say, is a toss-up.

Russia is determined to throw Lie out because he supports wholeheartedly United Nations action to combat aggression in Korea. Russia maintains that the North Koreans were innocent victims of American and South Korean warmaking.

The Soviet Union is supported in its campaign against Lie by Nationalist China, usually her bitterest enemy in the U.N.

Chiang Kai-shek's representative says the fact that Lie favors seating the Chinese Communist government in the U.N.

The United States strongly favors another term for the former Norwegian foreign minister.

India, following her usual policy of trying to conciliate East and West, has introduced a resolution calling on the Big Five to find an alternative to Lie.

Strong doubt was expressed last night by the Soviet Union.

General MacArthur Directs Spectacular Aerial Assault

TOKYO — (AP) — Thousands of American parachute troops leaped deep into Red Korea to clean up the war today. They had two missions: to finish the U.N. war and to rescue mistreated captive Americans.

General MacArthur himself directed the spectacular aerial assault, the first parachute offensive of the Korean war, from his plane overhead.

After a 15-hour flight to the scene, north of the captured Communist capital of Pyongyang, he said: "The war is very definitely coming to an end today."

The airborne troopers, floating down 80 miles south of the Manchurian border, slammed shut the Red escape gates north of Pyongyang.

They sought, too, to rescue American prisoners whisked out of liberated Seoul and to seize the fugitive Red military headquarters.

But, up until a late hour Friday, there was no word whether the American prisoners, some of them forced to a death march from Seoul, had been rescued.

Some prisoners liberated in Pyongyang said many died.

They said these included Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, commander of the U.S. 24th Division who disappeared in the battle for Taejon in July, early in the United Nations defense of the South Korean territory.

There was no confirmation of this report.

Cop Finds Skunk Real Sharpshooter

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Police Officer M. A. Talbert for a while here early today wasn't sure whether he was going to win a "shooting" duel with a skunk or not.

The officer in his report said each time he fired four shots at the animal it "fired back," and that it was hard to tell whether the skunk was chasing him or he was chasing the varmint.

Two more shots by Talbert, however, turned the battle in his favor.

Texas Allowables Decreased Slightly By RR Commission

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas crude oil allowable production of 2,722,705 barrels daily was ordered Thursday by the Railroad Commission for November. The action cut permissible flow 26,808 barrels under the present daily total.

Told by oil industry leaders that the crude supply situation is in good shape, the commission held production at practically the same level by cutting one day of the statewide producing schedule and one off East Texas.

This will mean 21 statewide producing days in the 30-day month of November and 26 days in the East Texas field, whose bottomhole pressure has dropped steadily the past six months.

The Fullerton field in West Texas also was placed on 29 days and the Willamer field in southwest Texas on 12 days next month.

Despite the reduction, next month's allowable will be 372,705 barrels per day higher than the Bureau of Mines forecast of market demand for Texas crude.

Production of 321,997 barrels of natural gasoline and distillate daily will boost the state's total petroleum output to 3,044,702 barrels per day.

Soviet Scorns Stassen Talks

MOSCOW — (AP) — Pravda heaped scorn today on Harold E. Stassen, calling him selfish, crude, ridiculous and several other things for requesting a conference with Prime Minister Stalin on world peace.

One of the Communist Party newspaper's top commentators, Yuri Viktorov, signed the article, the first comment on the U.S. letter by the Communist Republic of the Soviet Union.

The Pravda article amounted to a categorical rejection of the Stassen proposals. The writer made it plain that the Soviet government does not consider Stassen's letter worthy a formal answer from the Kremlin.

The official newspaper of the party also made it clear that the Soviet view is that the Stassen letter was couched possibly in terms impossible for the Soviets to accept.

Stassen, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, and a former aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination, urged Stalin in the letter to make possible a face-to-face meeting of Americans and Russians in an effort to "stop the drift toward war."

He also urged Stalin to change Russia's present policy and "move toward world peace and freedom for mankind."

"Stassen," said Pravda, "in his letter demands no more, no less than a change by the Soviet Union of its policy."

It is not difficult to see that Stassen is not only crude but also ridiculous in advancing this wild demand which excludes all possibility of a serious view of any degree of "document" worked out by the two nations.

Government Orders 25 Percent Cut in Natural Rubber Use

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government today ordered a 25 percent cut in the use of natural rubber by tire and rubber companies effective Nov. 1.

The reduction limits consumption to 75 percent of the average monthly consumption of natural rubber in the 12 months preceding last June 30.

A deeper cut to 62 percent of the earlier period is provided for December in the regulation, issued by the National Production Authority (NPA).

The order also:

1. Limits the use of total new rubber, both natural and synthetic, to 81 percent of the monthly average in the year prior to June 30.

2. Restricts the use of latex in this quarter (October, November and December) to one-fourth of the consumption in the same base year. This in effect restricts current usage to 25 percent of the base year.

3. Requires importers of rubber latex to offer at least 10 percent of the shipments to the government's General Services Administration for federal stockpile purchases at current market prices.

4. Limits the use of total new rubber, both natural and synthetic, to 81 percent of the monthly average in the year prior to June 30.

5. Restricts the use of latex in this quarter (October, November and December) to one-fourth of the consumption in the same base year.

France Downs Peace Move

PARIS — (AP) — France's National Assembly voted solidly today to turn down any immediate peace negotiations with Indochinese rebel leader Ho Chi Minh and endorsed the government's policy in that key southeast Asian spot.

In supporting Premier Rene Pleven's Asia policy, the Assembly bent back by 408 to 171 votes a Communist motion urging immediate peace talks with the Moscow-trained guerrilla leader.

Instead the assembly adopted, 351 to 215, a motion assuring the forces fighting the Indochina rebels of French solidarity and expressed confidence in the government's policy to handle the situation, despite recent setbacks.

A DeGaulle motion criticizing the Pleven regime for lack of decisiveness also was turned down 490 to 59.

In an hour-long speech before the assembly, Pleven said it seemed established that Red China has trained and armed a good part of the Communist-led nationalists who are plastering the French in Indochina.

If it is found that foreign troops have joined Ho's forces, the Premier said, France will have to look for further support from her allies. This was interpreted as a threat to call for United Nations aid.

Pleven said that the Chinese have sent a military mission to the Vietnam and have given some 20,000 nationalists advanced military training within Red China.

The Premier hinted that the French may pull out of the jungle-mountain border country entirely and concentrate their forces along the Red River delta surrounding Hanoi.

Air Force Hunting Reason for Crash Of Bombing Plane

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Air Force officers are hunting the reason why a B-29 bomber, after an aerial explosion, then crashed and blew up its eight crew members.

The wreckage of the B-29 bomber, which was shot out of the sky, was found in a field near Seguin, 34 miles northwest of here, shortly after noon. Explosions ripped it to bits. Pieces of airplane flew half a mile. The largest piece found was about six feet long.

The wreckage and witnesses indicated there was a minor explosion in the air, then the crash and an earth-shaking blast, officers said.

People at Seguin, three miles away, said windows rattled.

Edna St. Vincent Millay, 58, Dies in New York Home

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Edna St. Vincent Millay, poet and author, died today in her home in New York City.

She died alone, as she had lived since the death of her husband, Eugene Jan. Boissevain, about a year ago.

Miss Millay, 58, apparently suffered a heart attack early Thursday. Her doctor said after she had worked all night editing proofs of some new poems. Her body was found in the afternoon at the back of the stairway in her big white house on East Hill.

Dr. Oscar Wilcox said, who probably had started upstairs to bed and fell on a pane of glass. He had been dead about eight hours when his body was discovered by caretaker James Paine. The body was moved to a funeral home in Flatbush near Third Avenue and 10th St.

A Pulitzer Prize winner, Miss Millay scribbled her poems in cheap notebooks and sometimes had difficulty reading her own handwriting later. She frequently worked all night composing the poems and other lines that gained her fame.

DEATH MARCH U. N. PONDERS and nine months' old daughter, Karen, were at Yonkers Air Base in January when he crashed in North Korean territory near Wagon, N. Y.

Army Lt. Alexander Makarov was shot by a Communist plane, Lowell, Mass., on July 1, 1950. Reportedly, he was shot near Haidong July 27.

Army Sgt. T. J. Rinaldi of Honolulu was shot in the chest by a Communist plane on July 27, 1950. He was captured July 28 when the Reds took Taipei.

They were found by a group of communists as they walked down the street arm in arm with three South Korean students. They had been hiding since Saturday.

The three were the only survivors of a group of 24 American prisoners of war, captured here from Seoul in late September and early October.

The trio and the Red Koreans told them they were being moved from Seoul by Pyongyang for "refugees."

Captain Locke said he pleaded with North Korean officials not to force the march and to give medical attention to the wounded.

The women and the North Koreans replied:

"We already got enough atrocities listed upon us, so a few more won't make any difference."

Captain Locke said that during the death march Americans "died like flies from starvation, cold, pneumonia and dysentery."

Sixteen in the group were wounded when an American plane strafed their column, obviously mistaking them for Reds.

The three survived because they had hidden under the school. They said others of the group were marched north as the United Nations forces approached Pyongyang. Their fate was not known.

On the train from Seoul to Pyongyang, the trio and the Reds shot those Americans who could not walk.

Some of the men were carrying their babies on their backs. The girls who fell down were beaten and bayoneted to the Red trucks.

Rinaldi and the North Korean guards told him earlier. The Americans were to be taken to Mampoon, which is located along the Yalu River on the Korean-Manchurian border.

The three survivors seemed to be in fair physical condition. They said they were in better shape than any of the Americans who had been marched out of here Saturday.

 rid of their merchandise at present but that the automobile industry won't be getting the steel in the future to make them. These same men were unable, Cull said, to answer as to "why" when the government declared earlier not more than one percent of the steel output would go directly into armaments.

The Congressman also told the group that Washington at present is not ready to fight a war and they are going all out to get ready, if needed.

Atty. J. E. Thompson, representing Democratic congressional nominee Walter Rogers, said he was asked to attend the meeting solely to find out the dealers' feelings on the matter, adding he had not been able to discuss the regulation at length with the members, but wanted to carry back an overall picture on how far the controls had cut into business.

But the bright side of the picture started to come to life when a Studebaker salesman said the Lewis Motor Co.'s quota had been upped several cars a month. This was reiterated by Rose who added, "I have more cars coming in next month than I like to think about."

At the close of the meeting, Rose appointed a committee, representative of every line, to draw up a report on conditions and make concrete suggestions on what to do, also building a letter of protest coupled with practical suggestions on alternatives, especially on the time payment element to be sent to Washington.

Members of the committee are: Bob T. Johnson and Frank Culbertson, co-chairman; Paul Crossman, C. P. Parsley, Charles Cook, Ken Meaders, A. A. Schumann, Ralph Gardner, Joe Daniels and C. L. Farmer.

In the meantime the various dealers intend to, individually and collectively, put on a publicity campaign by newspaper advertising and radio, telling the public what they can buy and how, also explaining how the regulation will work and where it will hit.

Takes A Doctor's Advice

Gas Station Man's Aches and Pains Leave Completely After First 3 Bottles Of Hadacol

Father helped, too, who also had deficiencies of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Wesley Sealions, energetic young gas station attendant in Pampa, Illinois, tells how HADACOL keeps him on the job. Wesley Sealions has this to report: "I took HADACOL upon the advice of my father who has taken it regularly for some time. He could not eat, was unable to get around, lost sleep and was generally run down because he had these deficiencies. My brother who is a doctor recommended HADACOL to Dad. Since taking HADACOL, Dad has been feeling like a different man. He now has a hearty appetite, sleep, well and not around once again and well."

"I have had pains in my right arm and leg due to these deficiencies. But many days of work until I started to take HADACOL. After only three bottles the pains left me completely and now I work every day without having any pains. I am a gas attendant and need full use of both arms and legs in my line of work. Thanks to HADACOL I can now perform my job satisfactorily and feel fine."

Man Coughs Up Old Hunting Souvenir

POTTSVILLE, Pa.—Charles A. Klaser awoke in a fit of coughing and found a brain in his mouth.

Consulting his physician, the 53-year-old assistant controller of the Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron Co. was told it was the pellet that lodged near the base of his brain in a hunting accident 13 years ago.

Since then the soft-soled copper-jacketed .32 caliber slug had worked its way slowly through Klaser's neck, emerging through an old scar from a tonsil operation, the doctor said.

What About Prayer?

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Some years ago I read a book about the Vigilantes in early Montana. One story, in an extreme way, suggested the erroneous ideas that many have regarding prayer, and its nature and place in the Christian life.

It is my conviction that the great function of prayer is to bring us nearer to God, and into the knowledge of His will and purposes. Prayer is the ultimate act of unselfishness and personal commitment to God.

New Building to Cost $160,000 Planned by Francis Avenue Church

Big schemes are in the minds of the members of the Francis Avenue Church of Christ. A new $160,000 church, the auditorium having a capacity of 850, and featuring 21 classrooms, church office and church library, is in the early stages of planning.

Members who are active on the building committee are N. A. Cobb, H. W. Waters, A. C. Cox, D. W. Coffman and J. R. Perkins. These men are also elders of the church.

The present sanctuary is located at Warren and Francis. The front part of this building was constructed in 1928; the year following the official organization of the church with Mr. Gray of Kansas City dedicating the church. The church had been organized as a group since 1925, when a few members had gathered at Elder's home.

Those charter members who are still attending services here are N. A. Cobb, Mrs. Clarence Kennedy and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams.

After the organization of the church, a Mr. Merritt came as minister. Following him were Jesse Wiseman, E. C. McKinnon, M. C. Cutherson, Claude Smith, David Nicol, Guy Caskey, Luther Roberts, and J. P. Crenshaw.

Mr. Crenshaw and his wife came here in 1946. Other officers of the church are the deacons, Hugh Layne, J. L. Spencer, E. R. Wood and E. L. Balch. A. C. Cox serves the church as music director, assisted by H. W. Waters, W. S. Eller and J. K. Barbee.

Membership of the church totals about 400 with a Sunday School attendance of about 300. There are no independent organizations within the church.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Probation After Death" is the subject of the Lesson - Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, October 22.

The Golden Text is: "Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him" (James 1:12).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality" (I Corinthians 15:53).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Good demands of man every hour, in which to work out the problem of being. Consecration to good does not lessen man's dependence on God, but heightens it" (page 261).

What Is Your 'Parents Quotient'?

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Education Writer

We've heard much about "I.Q." tests for children through which attempts are made to measure the intelligence of children and their ability to do certain school work. Now, along comes Dr. Mary G. Ascher, Administrative Assistant and Coordinator of Guidance on the staff of the William Howard Taft High School, in the Bronx, N. Y. C., with a "P. Q." test for parents. Through it a parent can find out just how high a "Parent Quotient" she establishes.

For those of you who would like to test yourselves, we list the questions below. Five points are scored for each "Yes" answer and one point deducted for each "No" answer. A parent scoring 76 or more is regarded as doing an excellent job in assisting in the guidance of her child. Ask yourself:

- 1. Do I see to it that my child gets enough sleep, and rises early enough to consume a wholesome, substantial breakfast?
2. Do I see to it that my child looks clean and attractive before he leaves for school?
3. Do I furnish my child not only with an allowance, but an understanding of budget planning?
4. Do I refrain from making unfortunate comparisons between one child and another in the family or between my child and someone else's which makes my child or one of them appear stupid or inferior by comparison?
5. Do I personally inspect and sign my child's report cards?
6. Do I discuss with my child the ways in which his scholarship may be improved?
7. Do I check carefully the record of absence and lateness on the report card, and if the record shows absence and lateness of which I am unaware, do I make an appointment with the counselor to investigate the discrepancy?
8. Do I mail immediately to the school, with an explanation, the postal card that I receive when my child is absent from school?
9. Do I realize that absence

'Mental Health' to Be on Club Program

The health committee of the Business and Professional Women Club is sponsoring "Mental Health," a comparatively new subject in the club program.

Early in 1951 the health committee of the local B and PW Club plans to show moving pictures relative to mental health, chosen to help the people in this community become aware of the problems they face and how they effect the groups with which they are associated. The pictures will also indicate what each can do to help safeguard mental health in the community.

The films will be shown at a meeting open to the public. Men talk as if victory were something fortunate. Work is a victory. Wherever work is done, victory is obtained. —Emerson of whatever sort. —T. T. Munger

Fighting Harvesters Battle Lamesa There Tonight at 8 p.m.

Owl-Mustang Grid Battle Ranks No. 1

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Editor

Southern Methodist's many-pronged offensive slashes at the Rice Owls tomorrow night in the blue ribbon feature of Southwest Conference football. It also is the only game in the country matching major undefeated, untied college teams.

The Methodists and Owls play at Houston with a sell-out crowd of 70,000 jamming the stadium, most of them hoping the boys who make the odds have slipped a cog. The folks who put money on the line have installed SMU as a 13-point favorite.

On the basis of the season record, that should appear to be about right.

Rice's stock tumbled like the market in 1929 when it was able to beat impotent Pittsburgh only 14-7. Pitt was slaughtered by Ohio State which SMU licked 32-27.

This game will be the first for both SMU and Rice in conference championship play.

Before the Owls and Mustangs trade touchdowns, two conference games will have been played. In the afternoon Texas A. & M. opens the title chase against Texas Christian at College Station. TCU will be playing its second conference game, having won the first — 15-6 over Arkansas. Also, in the afternoon, Texas and Arkansas get together at Austin. It may be Arkansas' last fling. The Razorbacks already have lost one conference game, and that will mean elimination from the championship hunt. Texas will be playing its first.

Arkansas, which hasn't won from Texas since 1938, when the Porkers smashed the Longhorns 42-8, is a 12 1/2-point underdog. Texas A. & M. is a 12-point favorite over Texas Christian.

Baylor's Bears, kicking their wounded paw after a drubbing from Arkansas last week, get Texas Tech, a four-times beaten team, at Waco. The game means nothing in the conference race. The Bears are 12-point favorites, but Tech has its ground pound back in the form of Ike Stover and Earl Jackson, who were all in last week against TCU. A Christian when the Techs lost 19-6.

Last week our average for picking them fell to a season low. We hit only four out of six. Nobody should beat that. So what do we have to lose this week?

Texas Christian vs Texas A. & M. at College Station — The Aggies should win, everything considered, but you can't cover anything in this conference. We'll take TCU in a close one because of its passing.

Texas vs Arkansas at Austin — A vote for Texas.

Baylor vs Texas Tech at Waco — The Techs couldn't be helped after four straight losses; Baylor won't be too high, but the Bears ought to have enough to win by a touchdown.

Southern Methodist vs Rice at Houston tonight — We doubt that Rice can score five times and that's what it will take to beat SMU; the Methodists by two touchdowns.

Guerillas Score 53-19 Victory Over Plainview

The Pampa Guerillas ran the Plainview Bullpups out of Bulldog Stadium at Plainview Thursday night, punching out a 53-19 grid triumph.

Plainview jumped out in front in the first quarter. Don Sufferfield took the opening kickoff and ran it back 90 yards for a touchdown to put the Bullpups into the lead, 6-0. The try for extra point was good and Plainview led, 7-0.

The Guerillas came right back and scored two quick touchdowns to go out to 13-7 and they were never headed after this. Reggie Mayo scampered 35 yards for the second touchdown and the try for extra point was good and Plainview's 12.

The game turned into a rout at this point. Pampa scored two touchdowns to lead at half-time, 27-7.

Jimmy Keel ran 70 yards for the Guerillas final tally and the try for extra point was good and the Guerillas were on the long end of the score, 53-19. Pampa racked up 29 first downs to Plainview's 12.

Five Years Ago — The New York Yankees said there would be night ball in Yankee Stadium in 1946.

Ten Years Ago — The Washington Redskins posted their fifth straight National Football League victory, defeating Philadelphia, 31 to 17.

Fifteen Years Ago — Hank Greenberg of the Detroit Tigers was voted the most valuable player in the American League.

Twenty Years Ago — The St. Louis Browns, says minor league baseball will be killed if major league broadcasts continue.

He told some 80 baseball leaders from nine minor leagues, meeting here yesterday to discuss realignment in the southwest that "major league game broadcasts are making big league fans — not fans of your hometown clubs."

Directors of the Class AA Texas League sat in with the other eight leagues represented in an advisory capacity.

The representatives of the Big State, East Texas, West Texas, New Mexico, Sooner State, Arizona-Texas, Rio Grande Valley, Gulf Coast and Longhorn Leagues almost unanimously supported De Witt in his views.

A few thought the big league radio broadcasts were helping baseball but most of them were in the opinion of A. D. Ensey, owner of the Odessa club in the Longhorn League, who said:

"I am against these broadcasts. They are making the fans in the big league cities acquainted with the big league players and our own players are being overlooked and forgotten."

Jack Zeller, chief scout for the Boston Braves, asked what could be done to stop the broadcasts in view of FCC and justice department rulings.

De Witt said all baseball could do was to compile statistics to show how the broadcasts and television were hurting the game and actually were in restraint of trade as regards baseball instead of baseball being in restraint of trade in television broadcasts.

All of the eight leagues here to talk realignment except the Class East Texas indicated they would be able to operate next season. The East Texas leaders say the cities are too close together. Tyler said it was ready to bid for a spot in the Class B Big State League.

Roswell, N. M., of the Longhorn League wants to change places with Abilene of the West Texas New Mexico League; Corpus Christi of the Rio Grande Valley League wants in the Big State and its owner, George Schepps, who also owns Greenville in the Big State, said he wanted to put Greenville in a Class C League, probably the East Texas; and John Phelan, general manager at El Paso of the Arizona-Texas League, said he wanted in the West Texas New Mexico League or in a league that would include Lubbock, Pampa and Amarillo, Texas plus Phoenix and Tucson, Ariz.; Juarez, Mexico, and Albuquerque, N. M.

Howard Green, president of the Gulf Coast League, said he had Crowley and Lake Charles, La. and Galveston, Port Arthur and Texas City, lined up for 1951 and that Victoria, Texas, and Eunice, La., were considering entering the circuit. Bryant, former member of the East Texas League, also expressed interest. R. C. Dansby, president, said Bryan wanted in baseball next season whether it be the East Texas, Big State or Gulf Coast.

BOWLING PINS FLY
CLEVELAND — (Special) — Don Toronski, 19-year-old bowler, created quite a stir among Cleveland bowlers on Oct. 9. Toronski smashed an 830 series in the Marcelline Recreation Home league that night with games of 254, 277 and 299. It is the highest reported to the ABC, this season and is the highest in the nation since 1947.

Allie Brandt, Lockport, N. Y., holds the all-time ABC record with an 886 total, made up of 297, 280, and 309 on Oct. 25, 1939. Billie Golembiewski, Grand Rapids, Mich., won the ABC's high score award last year with four pins less than Toronski's 830.

Pampa to Field Crippled Eleven Against Tornadoes

The Fighting Harvesters will go out after their sixth straight victory of the season tonight at Lamesa, when they go up against the undefeated, untied Tornadoes, in the number one double A game in Texas.

Coach Tom Tipps will field a crippled eleven tonight. The Harvesters will be without their star quarterback, De Wey Cudney. Cudney's position will be taken over by Sid Mills, with Harold Smith slated to see plenty of action in the quarterback slot.

Pampa will also be hard pressed in the line. Tackle Jerry Walker will be used on defense only. The big tackle is still favoring an injured knee. He saw action in the Lubbock game, but the knee gave him plenty of trouble. Another question mark is Dale Gantz. The hustling guard is still bothered by an ankle injury and he re-injured it in practice this week.

Tollie Hutchens will take over the pivot position. Gerald Matthews missed Wednesday's practice because of high fever. Don Burns will be filling in one of the end positions. Tommy Martin is sidelined for two weeks with a broken hand suffered in the Lubbock contest.

Lamesa will be throwing all types of formations at the Harvesters. They run off a single wing, double wing, T, and use the spread formation.

Pampa didn't hold a practice session Thursday. Instead, Coach Tipps took his boys on to Lamesa, where they spent the night.

PROBABLE STARTERS

Players	Pos.	Wgt.
Jimmy Cook	LE	156
Jesse Dykes	LT	185
Eddie Scheig	LG	177
Tollie Hutchens	C	165
Dawrence Rice	RG	150
Buddy Cockerill	RT	200
Don Burns	RE	146
Sid Mills	QB	145
Elmer Wilson	LH	150
Carl Kennedy	FB	160
Jimmy Hayes	RB	179

Lamesa has plodded through the first part of their schedule without a loss. However, the competition hasn't been as rugged as Pampa's. The game tonight will be a good indication what the Lamesans can do when pitted against one of Texas' top ranking teams. They use all types of formation, working off the T, single and double wing, and mix in plenty of spread formation stuff. How the Pampa reserves combat it remains to be seen.

Jimmy Cook is the only regular end ready for full time duty, and Dale Gantz and Jerry Walker will see only part time service. A lot rests with the reserves. If they can stop Lamesa, they'll have earned their football spurs.

I'll go out on the limb and pick Pampa to win, 20-13.

Colleges and universities throughout the country are losing money every Saturday when they play a game. Although untemperant fans' green stuff fills the athletic department's cash register, the colleges are still losing money. Why pay four officials for calling a game when they can get the job done for free. Who, you may ask, is willing to officiate a football game for free? It's very simple. Get the sports editor, who is following the game to call it from the press box. If you don't believe he can do it, just ask him.

From his precarious perch along the fifty, he can follow each play, set each infraction of the rule, and administer the proper punishment to each team. He's in a better position to catch the infractions than the four officials on the ground. If he should miss one, which he never does, he could announce the winner in Monday's morning paper after watching the movies of the game on Sunday.

Of course, the readers will be left out in the cold if they expect to read a follow up story "We Wuz Robbed."

Just think of the excitement of waiting until Monday morning to find out whether Podunk lost 28-27, or won 27-7. My plan is fool proof because a sports editor never makes a mistake. It could revolutionize football. It would be the greatest thing since the invention of the wheel, if the writer starts calling the game from the press box. Gridiron pastures would never be littered with pop bottles. Policemen could return to their beats. No longer would protection be needed for the poor referee.

To make sure the press box brigade isn't partisan, I will favor several tests for the future grid callers.

1 — Voice test over the loud speaker. Fans must hear each play.

2 — IQ test of all the rules.

3 — Ethics test. Only one question in this department. "Would you welcome your mother-in-law for a three month visit?"

4 — Eye, ear, and nose test. It helps if he can see, hear, and smell.

5 — Finger nail test. This will eliminate the baldies, who sometimes are more concerned with their toupees than the game down below.

6 — Nervous test. This would be given to find out if the writer keeps his head attached when watching a game. It would be simple. He would be handed a 1-A draft status during a crucial play.

If he flunks all six of the tests, he's ready to start calling!

NO OBSTACLE HERE—Right end Walter Gody of Miami leads the squad around the curves of a unique obstacle course—formed by a cluster of pretty co-eds at Coral Gables, Fla. School officials say the stunt could revolutionize pigskin practice. It would cut down absenteeism, no doubt.

Top College Grid Eleven Face 'Breather' Tomorrow

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK — (AP) — This is "breather" week for the two top college football teams in the country — Army and Oklahoma. If either of the powerhouses loses tomorrow, it would be as big a bombshell as Purdue beating Notre Dame two weeks ago.

But each figures to triumph almost as it pleases. Top-rated Army, fresh from licking Michigan of the Big Ten, this time invades the Ivy League for a tussle with Harvard, one of the weak sisters of the loop, at Cambridge, Mass.

The Oklahoma Sooners, sporting the longest winning streak in college football — 24 games — entertains Kansas State of the Big Seven. This, too, should provide easy pickings for Bud Wilkinson's eleven, for Kansas State has dropped four games.

Southern Methodist, the No. 3 outfit, however, could run into trouble. Moanin' Rusty Russell leads his bid to Houston, for a battle with Rice that could decide the eventual winner of the Southwest Conference race.

That 56-0 triumph Southern Methodist scored over Oklahoma A. & M. last week, apparently isn't fading Rice in the least. Rice came out with a 41-27 decision last year.

Notre Dame, dumped to the No. 11 spot in the national ranking, takes on Indiana. If Frank Leahy's band wins impressively, it might regain some of its lost prestige.

The last major untouched goal line was crossed yesterday when Clemson played a 14-14 tie with South Carolina at Columbia, S.C. Clemson had won its first three games without yielding a score.

Most of the conferences have important games on tap Saturday besides the SMU-Rice affair in the Southwest, there is Texas, Arkansas at Austin and Texas A. & M.-Texas Christian at College Station.

In the Big Ten, Wisconsin, the surprise leader, faces Michigan which last week bowed to Army. The Wolverines will be out to redeem themselves. Ohio State, No. 9 in the country, and Rose Bowl champions, will play Minnesota at Minneapolis.

California is favored over Oregon State at Berkeley, while Stanford rates over U. C. L. A. at Los Angeles.

Texas Could Land Two Gals in Finals

FORT SMITH, Ark. — (AP) — There'll be at least one Texas contender and maybe two in the final of the Hardacreable Women's golf tournament here tomorrow.

Of today's semifinalists the only non-Texas is defending champion Patty Berg from Minneapolis.

Miss Berg meets Alice Bauer of Midland, in one semi-final match; Betsy Rawls of Austin and Betty MacKinnon of Dallas meet in the other.

Miss Berg came through the quarterfinals yesterday with a 3 and 4 victory over Marilyn Smith, Wichita. Miss Bauer defeated sister Marlene Bauer, one up. Miss MacKinnon won one up on the 19th hole over Marjorie Lindsay, Decatur, Ill. Miss Rawls downed Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., 3 and 2.

Football Game Caps Berger Celebration

BORGER — (AP) — A fireworks display followed by the Phillips-Dalhart football game will end Borger's "know your own strength" celebration tonight.

During the day conducted tours were planned at Phillips Petroleum Co. plants in this area. A special luncheon was to honor oil field workers with 10 years of service.

6 — Nervous test. This would be given to find out if the writer keeps his head attached when watching a game. It would be simple. He would be handed a 1-A draft status during a crucial play.

If he flunks all six of the tests, he's ready to start calling!

Baseball Bonus Rule Appears

NEW YORK — (AP) — Baseball's bonus rule appears on the way out. And if major league executives have their way, the world series' radio-television money will go into the players' pension fund.

That's the majority opinion of the moguls who replied to an Associated Press questionnaire on the two subjects.

Both probably will be among the major topics discussed at a special meeting among the big league owners called by Commissioner A. B. Chandler for Nov. 16 in Cincinnati.

The bonus rule has been a headache to owners and players alike since its inception four years ago. An attempt to repeal it last year failed when only 32 of the 59 minor leagues backed the move. That fell 13 short of the required three-fourths vote needed.

The bonus rule now provides that players signed by major or high minor league teams for more than a $8,000 bonus can be farmed out for only a year and then must be recalled or become subject to a baseball draft.

Owl Grid Coach Optimistic of Team's Chances

HOUSTON — (AP) — Coach Jess Neely was down right optimistic today over the chances of his undefeated but 13-point underdog upsetting the high scoring Southern Methodist Mustangs.

The two perfect record teams open their Southwest Conference campaigns here tomorrow night before a capacity crowd of 70,000, largest in Houston football history.

Southern Methodist this week ranked number three in the nation. Rice stood in the fifteenth spot in the Associated Press poll.

"Our squad is in good shape physically," Neely said today. "Our running is above average. Our passing is good."

"I see no reason why we can't do well against S.M.U."

Every Rice player was in top physical condition, but, in Dallas, S.M.U. Coach H. N. (Rusty) Russell indicated two of his regulars will see no action.

They are Rusty Russell, Jr., quarterback, and Charley Chambers, a guard.

Pro Game Is Not Football Says Army's Coach Blaik

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK — (AP) — Jerry Groom, Notre Dame center and captain, has played all but ten minutes of the three games the Irish have had so far. . . Does that indicate a breakdown of the platoon system, or has Notre Dame's motto become "always a groom but never a bride"? . . . The John Jachym-Bobby Riggs all-star tennis tour, which is in danger of becoming a financial bust, suffered an additional indignity the other night when a game was called off because of fog. . . Branch McCracken, Indiana U. basketball coach, conditioned his squad with a month of cross-country running. . . Cost Cutri, "spot" halfback on the Southern California football team, is the fastest man at 50 yards in the USC student body — which is one way of saying there isn't another Mel Patton around.

Just before every game this season, Coach Rip Engle noticed that trained Chuck Medlar was missing for a few minutes. . . After the third time, Rip's curiosity was aroused, so he asked about it. . . The answer was that one of the cheer leaders has a weak ankle and Medlar would leave the athletes for a few minutes to tape up this important member of the cast. . . Now Rip is just hoping that nobody in the band develops a leaky tub.

Tab Southern California's Jeff Cravath and Boston College's Denny Myers as coaches who'll be wolf bait this season if their teams don't win a few soon. . . The Rangers couldn't do anything about getting Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Gordie Howe, rated the best pair of wings in hockey, so they signed a pair by the same names for their rover farm. Vic Howe is Gordie's young brother but Jack Lindsay isn't related to Ted. . . Fido Murphy, minor league baseball manager and big league football scout, figures he deserves some of the credit for the Giants' getting Jim Hearn. Fido was in town trying to sell the Rangers couldn't do anything in the Giants' office that Hearn was able and available. . . This corner's upset tip of the week is Alabama to beat Tennessee.

Where the Aggies of 1949 were content to play for a tie — as they did in the Southern Methodist game — the current edition wants only to win. . . The team has the line and the know-how this year to do just this. . . It apparently also has the spirit to keep plugging along. Last year the team that won only one game had this spirit. In fact when someone asked Smith if the Aggie team was discouraged because it trailed Southern Methodist by a couple of touchdowns at the half, he grinned and said, "Shucks, no, that was pretty good for us."

Wettest weeping job we've heard lately was West Virginia's Pappy Lewis explaining why his boys couldn't beat Fordham. . . If they had had, Pappy oughta use his freshmen. . . He has a pair of yearling tackles from Princeton, W. Va., Jerry Cooper and Ed Brookman, who weigh nearly 500 pounds. . . What's this story that some of the Missouri Valley Conference schools are feuding with Commissioner Artie Eilers? . . . A Louisiana State grid fan recently sent Coach Gus Tinsley a $100 bill (not confederate) to be autographed. . . When Gus signed and returned it, the fan sent a pumpkin pie as a regard and a note: "You should have kept the $100 — it was counterfeit."

Buffs Dominate Border Loop

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — West Texas State continues to dominate the grid teams of the Border Conference, both in standings and statistics. In winning five straight games it has gained 2,316 yards for an average of 463 yards. . . Hardin-Simmons won last weekend and moved into second place. It has gained 1,986 yards in five games for an average of 397. . . Wilford (Whizzer) White of Tempe continues to lead the rushers but dropped to third place in total offense and second in scoring. . . West Texas has gained 1,732 of 2,316 yard gain along the ground, making them the No. 1 rushing aggregation. Tempe is close behind. . . Hardin-Simmons has a wide edge in passing. With John (Model T) Ford doing most of the throwing, the H-S Cowboys have advanced 1,001 yards through the air. . . White has a net of 647 yards to his credit for an average of 7.9 per try. Bill Cross of West Texas has advanced 604 yards for a 12.9-yard average. . . Ford of Hardin-Simmons passes

The professional football game is a swell show — great entertainment. But it's not football. One of the best college coaches in the land says so in this week's Collier's.

Furthermore, Earl "Red" Blaik, the great Army coach who developed five undefeated Army teams in nine years, doesn't think a pro eleven would stand a chance if it undertook a schedule of eight or nine games against tough college teams. . . In the Collier's article, "The Pro Game Isn't Football," sports writer Stanwood Woodward quotes Blaik as saying: "I think a good pro team might get itself up to beat a good college team in a single game. . . But if the pro team were put into a league with good college teams — like Notre Dame, Michigan, Ohio State, Oklahoma, Southern California, Tennessee and Texas — it would have to learn to play football the way the colleges do or it wouldn't stand a chance. . . A fiery team like Tennessee would cripple a pro club."

Woodward says that Blaik doesn't think the pros work at team development like the colleges. . . "He doesn't think the players keep in stanoof condition," Woodward writes. "He thinks they lack spiritual life. He thinks they are turning the game into basketball by depending almost wholly on the forward pass. He misses the detailed execution of the college running attack."

Blaik does not think the pros have better man power. "Football is a Spartan game in which youth, spirit and condition count heavily," the Army coach says. "The colleges have the boys in their best years. Few of them enter play as well after they become professionals. . . As they grow older they acquire responsibilities and perspective, also caution. They lose the reckless abandon that marked their play in college. They get bigger and fatter. They may look imposing to the fans, but they are not the same football players."

As examples, Blaik referred to three all-time pro "greats." "Look at George Ratterman (New York Yankee star assigned to back). He's a top professional player but he never was better than second string at Notre Dame. . . Take Frankie Albert of the San Francisco 49ers. He's adept at carrying out the passes which he in one direction and passes in another. . . But he didn't learn that in pro football. He had it all when he played for Stanford. . . And since Purdue played a 26-34 game against Texas, and Texas was edged by Oklahoma 14-13, the collegiate editor says his Javelinas hold 12 points over the Longhorns and 11 points above the Sooners."

Texas A&I Could Beat Notre Dame With Statistics

KINGSVILLE — (AP) — Texas A&I, says Charles Holmes, sports editor of the College Weekly student newspaper, would have a good chance of beating Notre Dame, Oklahoma and Texas if statistical comparisons mean anything. . . Here's his reasoning: A&I beat McMurry by the same score that Tulsa did (20-13), putting A&I and Tulsa on a par. Tulsa whipped Villanova 27 - 7, therefore rating the Javelinas a 20-point favorite over Villanova. Villanova held Miami 12 - 18 (A&I 14 points over Miami); Miami won 20-14 over Purdue (A&I 20 over Purdue); and Purdue smashed mighty Notre Dame 28-14. Holmes figures that sets A&I up as a 34-point favorite over the Fighting Irish. . . And since Purdue played a 26-34 game against Texas, and Texas was edged by Oklahoma 14-13, the collegiate editor says his Javelinas hold 12 points over the Longhorns and 11 points above the Sooners.

White Deer Guns For Vega Steers

WHITE DEER — (Special) — After a week in which to recover from numerous injuries and from the jolt administered them the preceding week by the Claude Mustangs, the Bucks are working hard in preparation for their tussle with the Vega Longhorns here Friday night. Game time has been changed from 8 to 7:30 o'clock. . . The Longhorns are at the top of the district in conference play, having won two conference games and one non-conference tilt. They, however, were nosed out by Wheeler, 13-12, in a non-conference battle, while White Deer downed Wheeler, 18-7. . . In weight, the two teams are well-matched, the Longhorns hav-

Stiteler Said Aggies Would Be Tough in 50

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff
Harry Stiteler said last year — just after Texas A&M had tied Southern Methodist University, 27-27, in a stunning achievement — that this year the Aggies would be a better football team. . . The first four games of 1950 proved this a true statement. The Aggies won just two of these, but the loss — that 28-34 affair to Oklahoma — actually proved it more than the victories over Nevada and Texas Tech. . . Stiteler stood on the steps of his home and told a group of sports writers why he thought the Aggies would be better. First, he said, his sophomores of 1949 would be juniors in 1950. You could tell he thought the experience they would have would make the difference. . . It has made a difference. But just as big a difference is the quality of play Stiteler has been getting from his line. Even Aggie partisans will admit that the line has performed far above expectations.

In the clutches of THE LAW and he doesn't know why

Most of the teen-age youngsters who run afoul of the law do not know why!

They can hardly be expected to realize that a lack of proper moral and religious training has left them ill-equipped for honest, decent living.

In many cases, their parents did not give them the advantage of religious education in the Church. And so, all their lives they may have to pay the penalty of their parent's neglect.

Juvenile Delinquency is hard to cure, but it is easy to prevent. The Church, with the support and cooperation of faithful parents, can equip every child with the sure foundation of Christian truth.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

YOUNGER GENERATION — The youngest member of the McKnight hog family didn't like it much when Ernest McKnight and Ralph Thomas made them leave the cool shade of the house at right and come out into the hot October sun. The sow at right, near the shed, was the first place gilt at Fort Worth in 1949. These are the only two brood sows McKnight has at present, but he plans to get more soon. The pigs in this picture were farrowed in McKnight's quonset granary. (News Photo and Engraving)

HERD BOAR — Crowning Glory, son of the grand champion boar at the 1949 fair at Dallas, is McKnight's herd boar. The animal is two years old and weighs 500 pounds. McKnight keeps him in a large, well-kept and well-shaded pen away from the other hogs. (News Photo and Engraving)

FUTURE HERD BOAR — Ernest McKnight, hog breeder, proudly displays his future herd boar. Of his young boar, McKnight says, "It has some of the best breeding of any hog I have ever owned." In the background, Ralph Thomas, Gray County Agent, looks on, while a second boar wonders what's going on. (News Photo and Engraving)

David Bean Heads Miami FFA Group

MIAMI — (Special) — At the first meeting for the year of the district organization of the Future Farmers of America, which was held in the Miami high school, recently, David Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Bean, of Miami, was elected president of the organization. Bean is a sophomore of the local high school.

Neil McQueen of Wheeler was made vice-president, and B. W. Duncan of McLean, treasurer. The reporter will come from Mobeetie, the secretary from Shamrock, the vice president will be elected from Canadian, the third vice president from Darrouzett, the historian from the Pampa chapter, and the sentinel from Perryton.

It was voted to hold a leadership contest in the Miami agricultural department in November for the district. Also, the local district will attend the district judging contest at Pampa, which will be held during the year and the area contest sponsored by Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Hemphill Landowners Plan Control Measures for Fires

CANADIAN — (Special) — More than a hundred ranchers and landowners from the Hemphill County area attended a meeting Tuesday night at the Canadian City Hall to lay plans for an organized defense against prairie fires in this county during the coming winter and spring.

Sheriff Clyde Risley was named by the group to serve as county fire chief. Risley was authorized to appoint a captain and lieutenant in each commissioner's precinct, and to select 10 to 15 men in each precinct to form a volunteer fire battalion.

County commissioners will serve on a general committee to direct the organization.

Permission will be sought from landowners to authorize officers of the volunteer brigades to direct the setting of backfires and other steps which may be considered necessary during a fire emergency.

F. N. Stuppi, division superintendent for the Santa Fe Railway, of Amarillo, was present at the meeting with a delegation of other Santa Fe officials.

Stuppi outlined Santa Fe plans for cooperating with landowners and fire fighters throughout this area in preventing and controlling prairie fires such as those which burned off some 275 sections of grassland in Hemphill, Roberts, and Lipscomb counties last winter and spring.

Plans were worked out for the installation, by the railroad, of a water tank at Glazier to provide an emergency water supply for fire fighters in that area.

Stuppi also pledged the cooperation of Santa Fe employees and section gangs in fighting prairie fires which may break out along the railroad right-of-way, and at his request, G. N. Sells, Santa Fe roadmaster, of Waynoka, Okla., was named on the general committee.

With Stuppi at the meeting were Selis, J. B. Raymond, division engineer, Amarillo; F. Myers, roadmaster, Amarillo; K. C. May, trainmaster, Waynoka; and Mr. Olson of the Santa Fe tax office in Amarillo.

The state highway department was represented by E. C. Payne; the local Civil Air Patrol by Commander Noble Trueblood; and the Canadian Fire Department by Fire Chief Carl Zybach.

Hampshire Breeder Started Herd With 1 Sow, 1 Boar

By ROBIN TIBBETS

Ernest McKnight is possibly the only Hampshire hog breeder in the country who has placed high in both state and national shows but has never won in the Pampa or Amarillo shows.

McKnight, who has a clean, well-kept farm nine miles southwest of Pampa, started in the Hampshire business back in 1933 as mostly a hobby. He started out with one sow and a boar and now keeps anywhere from five to nine sows and produces, on the average, a hundred pigs a year.

It was in 1936 that McKnight really began to go places; just three years after he bought his first hog. It was that year that he bred the Grand Champion Hampshire barrow in the Texas Centennial in Dallas and had the Reserve Champion over all breeds. That put him on the road to success as far as the hog business was concerned.

During the years between 1936 and 1949, McKnight won numerous seconds, thirds and fourths and sold his animals to buyers from all over the country.

Last year he had the first place gilt at the Fort Worth show and just last month four of six barrows entered in the Texas National Show, Austin, Minn., placed high.

McKnight said an Oklahoma buyer came to see him and wanted to buy several barrows to enter in the show. McKnight said it was a deal and began to fatten up the animals in preparation for the competition they would meet in a national show. When the buyer returned, he took six barrows and entered them. Four of the six placed. The heavies won second in the pen of three and the lights placed second and third in singles.

Over 2500 barrows were entered in the show, with a larger number of Hampshires entered than any other breed.

Now that he has placed high in both state and national shows, McKnight quipped "The height of my ambition is to have the Grand Champion barrow at Amarillo."

In these days when meat is so expensive, judges look for good deep ham and smoothness. The goal now is to get away from too much lard. They like them long and not so fat. "Hog judging practices change like women's fashions," McKnight remarked.

McKnight has cooperated in every way possible with the coun-

Educator Predicts Record Enrollments

JUNCTION, Texas — (AP) — A record enrollment was predicted for colleges in Texas in 1951 and the president of Texas A&M warned that these institutions must start preparing now to meet the demand.

Dr. M. T. Harrington said he based his prediction of record enrollments on the 1948 birth rate of 89,000 white babies and a proportionate number of females in the state.

Panhandle and he says, with conviction, that "I could sell a 100 or more barrows this fall, but I just don't have them."

After his pigs are farrowed, McKnight moves them to clean pasture where they can have plenty of room to run and feed. He does the larger part of fence construction by himself, making sure that each fence is constructed properly to hold his animals.

At present, he has two brood sows, and about 16 pigs, 13 gilts, an 800-pound herd boar and two young boars, one of which he plans to make his herd boar.

His present herd boar is the son of the Grand Champion boar at the Dallas 1949 show. He is the two-year-old Crowning Glory and stands about half as high as McKnight himself.

In the past, McKnight has cooperated with the 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America in furnishing pigs for their feeding and breeding.

McKnight is one of the foremost Hampshire breeders in the HOUSTON — (AP) — Vivian Kellems, mad at Texas for taking "away" Connecticut industries, says "you've got to stop it."

Why, said the peppery little manufacturer Texas actually has "campaigns to take our industries away from New England."

The Gangs Close In On Taft

The union kings and their allies, the New Dealers, have declared a war of their own...

It is the principal target, John L. Lewis, the man who has just about ruined the coal industry...

They're out to get him because they're afraid that if he's elected to the Senate again he might be a candidate for the presidency...

Neither does Mr. Truman. Neither do Mr. Truman's bureau chiefs. They hate Sen. Taft. They're trying to make all the union members in the country eligible to vote in Congress...

When Mr. Truman's Averell Harriman made his recent jackass statement that Taft was aiding the Communists...

He showed that he is hand-in-glove with the mineowners to get Sen. Taft. Getting him out of Congress would mean another step in the direction of a Labor Boss government in America...

Under such a setup the nation's workers would have no choice but to work for the State, here wouldn't be any employer-employee bargaining as to pay and hours or anything else...

That is the condition the union czars are trying to bring about, and if Mr. Truman isn't with them all the way why did he promise to wipe out the Taft-Hartley law? Why has he thrown to...

Cure For Livestock, Too

By DAVID BAXTER

Resuming our quotation of a letter written by Mr. Willard Dow, head of the Dow Chemical company, concerning Dr. Koch, we read:

"I think we all have an opportunity to see something new in Dr. Koch's work and it pleases me a great deal to hear about your enthusiasm. This type of treatment has been used with outstanding success in the case of cattle and other animals, but as luck would have it, I have a cow myself which is infected with mastitis, and although the record of being better than 90 per cent, we have had a great deal of difficulty in getting her cured...

John T. Flynn, another author and historian who was blacked out through a conspiracy among pro-Roosevelt book publishers and dealers and "literary editors," has a pertinent article in the new anti-Communist magazine "The Freeman." Published by Alfred Kohbert, a New York dealer in Chinese textiles, this magazine is the successor of Plain Talk, which courageously pioneered the anti-Communist field and hammered away at the Amerasia case and the Hiss case...

Isaac Don Levine, a noted reporter in the field of anti-Communist inquiry, carries over from Plain Talk into The Freeman. Mr. Kohlberg and Mr. Levine are the same, but their work never-theless has been smeared by the Communists as "anti-semitism."

In his Freeman article, Mr. Flynn takes up the current attempt of a congressional committee to send to prison Dr. Edward A. Rumely for refusing to disclose the names of persons who bought through his society copies of a book written by Mr. Flynn analyzing and denouncing the British approach to communism under the Labor government...

It is one of the best political papers of the time. It is not a note of racial or religious argument in the entire book, but nevertheless Dr. Rumely's society, the Committee for Constitutional Government, has been sneered on the air and by the media as a "hate-mongering" organization. Frank Gannett, the Republican chain-newsletter publisher, is a large backer of the committee, which circulates Flynn's book for patriotic educational motives, at a reduced price.

The pretext for threatening Rumely with jail was a resolution calling for the punishment of lobbying. Lobbying is defined as attempts to influence legislation. "Now," Flynn writes, "Congress has got around to broadening its powers to the point where a man might be convicted of unlawful lobbying because he is offering a book for sale without revealing the names of its buyers. It is a brazen attempt to muzzle the individual who sells a book to add another road-block in the way of circulating ideas inimical to the party in power. The Readers' Digest printed a condensed version of the same book. It also offered reprints of the condensed and sold over four million copies. Is not the digest then guilty of lobbying? Hundreds of other similar committees, leagues, councils, largely engaged in radical propaganda do the same thing. Why have they not been haled before the committee?"

"Why does this committee want the names of the book's buyers?" Mr. Flynn then gives the true reason. "With the names in hand, the invincible government of Washington can proceed to work on its campaign of intimidation. Where the government's powers are being used to break down legal or common sense opposition to their power over the working people and American industry generally?"

When the union bosses said they wanted the Taft-Hartley law killed, he said he'd kill it, didn't he? When the bosses of the railroad workers said they wanted the railroads seized by government, didn't he seize the roads, didn't he?

The President belittled for controls over industry, but when the labor kings said they didn't want controls over wages, Mr. Truman had the nerve to approach the Congress gave him power to control wages he said Congress gave him more than he'd asked for. To slam all-out controls on private enterprise management without warning something about the matter would have smelted so rotten that the mercy of a coalition State composed of union kings and their political henchmen.

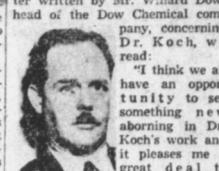

Under such a setup the nation's workers would have no choice but to work for the State, here wouldn't be any employer-employee bargaining as to pay and hours or anything else. The labor bosses would decide everything without even a pretense of protecting the workers' interests and their political henchmen would initiate whatever force was necessary to see that they did as they were told.

That is the condition the union czars are trying to bring about, and if Mr. Truman isn't with them all the way why did he promise to wipe out the Taft-Hartley law? Why has he thrown to...

news behind the news

By ROGER WARREN (Ray Tucker returns from vacation tomorrow.)

WASHINGTON — While the American Medical Association is spending $1,000,000 in its campaign to combat compulsory medical insurance on the grounds that it is part of a plot by Federal Security Administrator Oscar R. Ewing to foist "socialized medicine" on the country, the FSA is proceeding with what appears to be "socialized medical research." It's done with the authority of Congress.

And while President Truman has asked the executive branch of the government to reduce spending not essential to rearmament, the FSA is spending money for such things as "the isolation of specific granules from the cytoplasm of gland cells," "the development of insect cuticle," and "studies of the conjugated steroids."

GRANTS — The FSA spends money for these and other research projects through the University of Michigan. Research projects are first scanned by the National Health Advisory Council, and those approved are submitted to Surgeon General Leonard A. Scheele for an okay. After his okay, grants are made by the FSA.

Last month, Mr. Ewing announced grants totaling $4,708,768 for 155 research projects. The grants went to 144 medical schools, colleges and other institutions in 39 states, the District of Columbia and four foreign countries.

SAMPLING — For the study of granules from the cytoplasm of gland cells, Yale was given $7,500 for researches planned by Sanford L. Paley; the study of insect cuticle got $5,076 for the University of Minnesota. The researches projected by A. Glenn Richards, and the stuff on conjugated steroids also brought Minnesota $8,385 for work to be done by Saul L. Cohen.

A sampling of other grants includes $15,444 for "age alterations affecting death rate," and a grant of $15,000 for maintaining a colony of monkeys in Puerto Rico for research purposes.

KIDNEY — One of the more dramatic projects is involved in a grant of $6,588 to Georgetown University. This will finance the work of George J. Theodoropoulos, Theodore Koppányi, of Georgetown Hospital, to determine the value of an artificial kidney in preventing death from overdoses of sleeping pills.

Another grant of $28,500 will finance Dr. Alfred H. Washington of the Child Research Council of Denver, in continuing studies of a selected group of 166 persons "from the prenatal period to death."

SIGNIFICANCE — Many, if not all, of these projects are worthy. Conceivably, these grants can lead to discoveries that will enable all of us to live longer, disease-free lives.

The complicated, Latinized terminology used in describing these ventures should not confuse them with bondflogging. It may seem funny that the government is spending the money it takes...

GIVE THE AIR FORCE BACK TO THE ARMY

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

The war in Korea has mocked the pretensions of the air force. The airmen succeeded in persuading congress that their weapons were so different from those of the army that airmen should be under separate command. This argument won for the air corps a position in the department of defense equal to that of the army and the navy.

The result was achieved after a campaign of propaganda in which extravagant claims were made regarding the ability of the air force to win wars with little help from the other services. This was what congressmen wanted to hear because it offered a cheap method of defending the country, with no great increase in appropriations, marked reductions in the costs of maintaining the army and navy, and the promise of quick victory and short casualty lists.

If the theory had been proved sound, it surely should have proved itself in Korea. The enemy there started the war with a few planes but for many weeks, now our flyers have rounded the sides without challenge from an enemy air force. Our air force was free to destroy bridges and did so to the best of its ability. It attacked troops, tanks, and trucks when it could find them. It destroyed cities and villages. Nevertheless, the war went on, day by day, improving the airman's propaganda.

That was bad enough, but what was worse was the lack of coordination between the air force and the land force. We have seen nothing to suggest a lack of willingness on the part of the airman to do their best in support of the ground troops but a great deal of testimony to the effect that the airman have not been thoroughly trained to cooperate with their brothers of the army.

In the test of battle, the Marine corps' organization has been found superior. The Marine commander has direct, personal control over his flyers as he does over his infantry, his artillery, and his tanks. They all are trained to work as a team. Great stress has been placed upon communications and the close coordination of effort, and the result of training along these lines has left no doubt of the superiority of the method.

Even now, the Marine flyers are working under Marine command only by sufferance, for the air commander has the authority to assign them to other duties. That he has not done so amounts to an acknowledgement of the wisdom of reuniting the fighter pilots of the air force with the army, and training airmen to work in closest cooperation with the men on the ground.

Whether a separate air command should be retained over the big, strategic bombers is another question. The war in Korea has provided no answer to this one, tho it has shown that in a war of the present type, there isn't much for the big bombers to do.

As long as fighters are needed to protect the big bombers as well as to cooperate with the troops on the ground, the whole air corps might just as well be given back to the army whose commander (who ought to be trained in air as well as land fighting) might then be left to decide where his fighter planes can do the most damage to the enemy.

The Low Down from Hickory Grove

You know folks, 17 years is no short spell — and especially to be standing on your own foot. We been doing same here in this land of the free and easy. We been our own worst enemy.

I am on this subject on account of Korea. In spite of the way we have allowed Govt. to elbow in on business — make it tough for some, big and little, to carry on — we are still the world's best when it comes to type of Govt., also to when it comes to having the means for turning our fighting machinery.

Now, today, with Korea on our hands, where would we have gotten off if we had no big factories for turning out big shootin' tools. I am for encouraging little business but I am also against discouraging big business. But above all, I am against Govt. in business — little or big. After our 17 years of Govt. wandering — interfering here, and tinkering there, with business, it is a marvel that we are today what we are — full of pep and vinegar.

I see in Korea a lesson — one to take home and mull over. We gotta do more to stop the Smart Boys in Govt. from further tinkering with the carburetor — we been halfway lucky up to now. Yours with the low down, JO SERRA

The man took the ticket the agent gave him and walked away. A few minutes later the traveler was back at the ticket window.

Traveler—You gave me the wrong change just now. Agent—Sorry with a shrug of the shoulders cannot be rectified now. You should have called my attention to it at the time you bought your ticket.

Traveler—Well, that's all right then. You gave me $5 too much. Hubby—At last I've got a week's vacation. Willy—That's fine, Jack. Now you can see the ceiling, how the lawn, clean out the cellar, fix the roof, paint the kitchen and do those other little jobs I have mentioned so often.

Toxaphane Spray Used Near McLean Saved Cotton Field

Proof that "it pays to spray" is to be found in the southern outskirts of our neighboring Gray County, town of McLean, 35 miles to the southeast on U. S. Highway 66.

Across the road from the home of Carl Woods, about a half mile south of the railroad tracks, is a cotton field. Normally there is nothing unusual about a cotton patch being located in that spot, but this particular cotton field isn't exactly normal.

The field is about 14 acres in size and is divided in the center by a 25-foot turnrow, but no fence. The north side is owned by J. W. Hornsby and the south side is owned by another local farmer.

During August of this year, the cotton leaf worms crawled in from Old Mexico and began gorging themselves on the leaves in this particular field as well as others in the area.

Cotton leaf worms, when they mature, become little white millers. The millers are practically harmless, but the worms from which they develop can strip the leaves from a cotton plant in a short time. They (the worms) roll themselves up in a leaf, spin a cocoon around their nest and begin the development that turns them into insects that resemble pale yellow butterflies. During the process, the worms feed on the leaves. Usually, there is at least one worm in each leaf, and sometimes as many as three.

When Hornsby saw what was happening to his cotton, he talked to Ralph Thomas, Gray County Agent, about the situation, and was told that he must spray with toxaphane as soon as possible, or lose his entire crop. The agent's advice was followed and the results are plain to see.

The farmer just across the turnrow who didn't spray his cotton, is expecting to make about a bale or maybe less from his whole field. Hornsby, on the other hand, will probably make as much as a half bale to the acre and possibly more.

The difference? Hornsby's field looks like any other cotton field. He sprayed it the last week in August, freezing the cotton leaf worms in stride. They discontinued their operations immediately because of death in the genus.

The farmer across the turnrow did not spray and his worms continued to gorge themselves on his cotton leaves. Now, his cotton looks a great deal like a field that has already been harvested and gone over the second time.

There are few leaves on it, and those that are to be found, a look inside will reveal a cotton leaf worm still going about his business of becoming a miller. The stalks are about a foot high, as compared to waist-high stalks a little more than 25 feet away. The bolls are small and only a few blooms are to be seen.

In a couple of places where the wind blew spray from Hornsby's place, the cotton is tall, green and blooming. But those places are widely scattered and will increase the yield very little.

The lesson is: "do to your cotton as you do to your cotton and yours will be a bountiful yield."

Stalk Disposal First Step for '51 Cotton Crop

Panhandle cotton farmers are urged to destroy their cotton stalks as early as possible after the fall crop is harvested. Stalk disposal is the first step in producing the 1951 crop. The earlier the stalks are disposed of, the earlier start the farmer will have on his 1951 crop.

There are three advantages of early stalk destruction: it will reduce the number of insects carried over to next year's crop; it will enable better plowing and harvesting of next year's crop; the decayed stalks will build up the soil. Early disposal of stalks also clears the way for a winter cover crop.

The ideal stalk cutter to use is one that will cut the stalks into pieces about two to three inches long. Present day power driven cutters will do the job. Longer pieces of stems and stalks will hang on the sweeps and pull up a lot of cotton or corn plants during early cultivation.

Another scientist says mice are tougher to wipe out than rats. Walter W. Dykstra of the federal wildlife service said that's because mice are more finicky about what they eat.

A mouse, he said, "eats a little bit a lot of times a day—as often as 15 times a day."

So you need a poison which won't arouse the population through its peculiar taste and smell.

Dykstra suggested Warfarin as the best mouse-killer. A chemical compound developed at the University of Wisconsin, it's tasteless and odorless.

Dykstra said, though Warfarin takes four to 10 days of frequent dining to kill a rodent, it causes no "bait refusal or bait shyness" even among rats or mice suffering a slow death from it.

India Has Its Own Schooling Problem

MADRAS, India — (AP) — Barring anyone from colleges on grounds of community, caste or religion violates India's constitution, a full bench of the local high court recently ruled.

The case arose out of a Madras government order fixing the ratio for admission of major religious communities into government colleges. The government said this was necessary to prevent highly intellectual minority communities from standing in the way of the progress of the backward majority.

The Brahmin community which forms only three percent of Madras state's 55,500,000 people was able, because of superior intelligence, to capture most of the admissions into the colleges. The government, therefore, fixed two seats for the Brahmins out of every 14 vacancies. The Madras government is appealing to the Supreme Court of India against the decision.

She was on her way home from her job as a waitress one night when a man tried to grab her. She took a firm grip on her blackjack and struck him a half dozen blows. The man beat a staggering retreat.

Upset Home Life, Starvation Diets Can Rout Rodents

BALTIMORE — (AP) — If you want to get rid of rats, break up your home life and starve them out. A Johns Hopkins specialist says this works better than trying to poison them.

Dr. David E. Davis, associate professor in rodent ecology at the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, has just finished a five-year study of how rats live.

With a good poison you can quickly kill off up to 90 percent of the rats in a given area, said Davis. But if you don't destroy their shelter and cut off their food supply, the surviving 10 percent will breed fast enough to bring the population back to its original point within a year.

Another scientist says mice are tougher to wipe out than rats. Walter W. Dykstra of the federal wildlife service said that's because mice are more finicky about what they eat.

India Has Its Own Schooling Problem

MADRAS, India — (AP) — Barring anyone from colleges on grounds of community, caste or religion violates India's constitution, a full bench of the local high court recently ruled.

The case arose out of a Madras government order fixing the ratio for admission of major religious communities into government colleges. The government said this was necessary to prevent highly intellectual minority communities from standing in the way of the progress of the backward majority.

The Brahmin community which forms only three percent of Madras state's 55,500,000 people was able, because of superior intelligence, to capture most of the admissions into the colleges. The government, therefore, fixed two seats for the Brahmins out of every 14 vacancies. The Madras government is appealing to the Supreme Court of India against the decision.

Woman Is Believer In Self Protection

CHICAGO — (AP) — Mrs. Mary Dickson thinks individuals, as well as nations, should be armed against aggressors. She was on her way home from her job as a waitress one night when a man tried to grab her. She took a firm grip on her blackjack and struck him a half dozen blows. The man beat a staggering retreat.

McLean Farmer Shows Good Cotton Land Can Be Better

Homer Abbott, a well-known McLean farmer, can, and will, take a visitor out into his cotton field and prove that fertilizer helps to make better cotton land out of good cotton land.

On a patch on top of the hill directly east of his house, which is southeast of McLean about two miles, Abbott applied 50 pounds of 16-20-0 fertilizer to the acre. However, he ran out of fertilizer at the top of the hill and didn't get to finish the last two rows on the south end of the field. The results tell a story of their own.

It isn't a bit hard to see that the two unfertilized rows are stunted in growth as compared to the remainder of the field. Besides being small, the plants are fewer in number, with large gaps where the cotton failed to come through the ground.

Abbott says that if all his cotton were like those two rows, he wouldn't make much this year. As it is, he expects to make pretty good cotton.

In a conversation with Elmer Kirby, McLean farm products dealer, Abbott said that he had always been in favor of fertilizer, but not until after he ran out of it that day, did he fully realize the value of properly applied fertilizer.

Popcorn Packages Better Than Paper Says N.Y. Shipper

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Popcorn is a pretty good substitute for excelsior — saving as much as 75 percent in packing expense and 30 percent in mailing cost — says a New York shipper.

The idea of using popcorn packages has won an award to Harold Frick at the Society of Industrial Packaging and Materials Handling Engineers exposition.

Frick is a 33-year-old shipper with Winthrop Stearns, Inc., Rent salar, N.Y., pharmaceutical firm. Spokesmen for the exposition said the popcorn idea is a 11-works. A package wrapped with shredded paper that weighs nine pounds would tip the scales only six if packed with popcorn.

The fact is, they said, the "one pound of popcorn can do the work of five pounds of shredded paper."

In addition, the spokesman said there is less chance of breakage. Frick's wife reported when he husband was overseas, she shipped him a package of popcorn-bound cookies—and not one cookie was broken when received.

'Grit' G. I. Loan Making Dairy Paying Proposition

By MRS. J. M. PAYNE
News Correspondent

McLEAN — (Special) — The Herron Dairy, located two miles northwest of McLean on a half section of land that has been in the same family for three generations, is an outstanding example of what can be accomplished by grit and determination coupled with benefits to veterans of Uncle Sam's Army.

The farm was purchased by Gene Herron on the GI Bill of Rights through an FHA loan. It originally belonged to his maternal grandfather, the late S. W. Rice, and was still maintained as an estate at the time negotiations for the purchase were started.

Few changes or improvements had been made on the place in many years, and Herron, who was reared on a farm, knew the advantages of modern dairy methods of soil conservation. His knowledge and "know how" had been increased through courses he had studied in the veteran's vocational agriculture school, so he set about at once to improve and modernize his farm.

For the benefit of the land itself he built terraces and check the portions of the land less suited for cultivation. And to make the place more livable, the big, old-fashioned family residence was torn down and a modern, three-bedroom cottage erected in its place.

Herron was not willing to depend wholly on dirt farming for a living and to make sure of an income in case of crop failures, he hit upon the idea of a home dairy. So a few hundred yards from the house another building arose. This is a 28x32 foot dairy barn, complete with the most modern equipment, arranged in such a manner that it can accommodate an indefinite number of cows.

The herd at present consists of 9 Jersey cows, yielding 120 quarts of milk daily. Milking, cooling and bottling are all done in the same building and requires the remarkably short time of 1 1/2 hours, due to perfectly co-ordinated teamwork between man and wife.

The business is only about four months old and already it has proved to be a successful venture. At present it supplies milk to two grocery stores, one drug store, one cafe and 50 retail customers.

The Herrons came to McLean in 1945 from Lone Wolf, Okla. They have three children, Lona Maye, age 10, Billie Gene, 7, and Tommy Dewey, 5.

This is Oil Progress Week

In order to supply the increasing oil needs of the country, the U. S. oil industry looks far ahead, keeps itself more than ready to supply current needs. It must be, and is, able quickly to meet increased demands. Since World War II, oil companies have plowed back about $3 billion to find more oil, to increase oil production, to extend pipe lines and build tankers, to increase and improve refining capacity.

Shamrock School System Conducts Guidance Plan

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Plans for a student guidance program have been completed for the high school here, reports Elmer J. Moore, superintendent of schools.

Organization of the program began this week with election of officers for each of the first-hour rooms. Meetings will be held every second week, one hour per session.

The guidance program will be conducted largely with student participation. Committees for conduct of the various meetings throughout the year have been appointed by the respective classroom presidents. They will plot student participation in the guidance program.

"We believe that instilling knowledge is not enough for the schools in this time of trial for freedom and democracy," Moore asserts. "We intend to create thoroughly informed boys and girls who will know and value the American way of life, who will understand the requirements for the various professions and vocations and who will have a high sense of obligation and responsibility."

Programs will be devoted to each of the following: safety, health, behaviour in school and in public places, understanding of the advantages of democracy over communism and other totalitarian forms of government, personal relations with other people.

The program attempts to give boys and girls the integration between book learning and the practical aspects of life. Together, these form a team.

"It is the most ambitious guidance program we have attempted in the Shamrock schools," Supt. Moore concludes.

THE STORY: A wave of dog poisoning causes high feeling in the small town where Doc Fortson, who tells the story, runs the leading pharmacy. Evidence points to Roger Blesner, a postman who is afraid of dogs. The climax comes when Greta, a neighbor's dog of Tom Carson, blind insurance salesman, seizes Roger's dog and who didn't know what people were saying about him. Roger says he was nearly killed by a dog when he was a child and can't get over his fear of them.

afterwards the retriever moped and wouldn't eat. One day he disappeared. When Betsy and Roger found him, he was dead, his grizzled old chin on his paws lying across the Captain's grave at the cemetery.

ALL the time I rearranged the prescription slips and bottled the routine medications my mind worried over the poisonings like a hound with a ham bone. Which reminded me that I hadn't had any breakfast myself. My pharmacy serves breakfasts, good ones with special home-made strawberry jam, but I was nervous and decided I needed a change. So I left the joint in the soda boy's hands again and went to the cafe down the street to tie into some bacon and eggs.

As I stepped off the curb, a big sedan swooped around the corner. I leaped back out of the way, slamming against a lamp post and felt my slacks rip on a rough corner of the service plate.

I caught a flash of Grace Muchmore, her face working and wet with tears holding Ching in one arm like a baby, as she drove with the other.

I watched the car turn into the veterinary hospital drive and I was pretty sure that the Pekinese was the latest victim of the dog poisoner.

I didn't feel like any breakfast after that and besides I had to go home for another pair of trousers to replace those I'd torn. On Elm Street I saw Roger coming in from delivering his mail route. He walked like an old man, his head hunched between his shoulders and his steps dragging and heavy. Although he didn't know it yet, he was in a worse plight than before.

He must have stopped at Mrs. Muchmore's because I remembered the smallest package addressed to her that I'd put back into his leather bag after Tom had pushed him down and spilled the mail—that was opportunity. Ching had bitten Roger the day before—that was motive. And if that grouchy little Pekinese died, Grace Muchmore was influential enough to have the book at Roger—that was certain.

Just then I heard a commotion from Miss Myra's house.

EVERYONE'S had one of those super nightmares where he is caught between the devil and high water with a weight tied to each leg. What I saw gave me the same feeling. It was just like a bad dream. I knew what was going to happen but I couldn't get there fast enough to do anything about it.

Jimmy Joe was coming out of his home next door and there was a movement beside Miss Myra's porch. It was that great big seeing eye dog—who should have been dead. Greta, the dog, was staggering to her feet, lunging and yelping.

I started to run, sure that the dog would tear Jimmy Joe to pieces. It was plain to me that Greta had had enough poison to lay her out cold, but because she's such a big dog, the dose hadn't been fatal. Right now she looked like the Hound of the Baskervilles snapping and frothing and running in crazy circles.

Jimmy Joe stood, wide-eyed and frightened. "Oh, the poor thing! She's sick!" he exclaimed and started toward Greta.

Roger must have seen the boy and the dog about the same time I did because he was already running toward Miss Myra's place.

As afraid as he was of a dog, and probably thinking that Greta had risen from the dead with a case of infernal hydrophobia, he yelled:

"Stay away from her, Jimmy Joe! Get on the porch! Run into the house!"

But Jimmy Joe wasn't taking any advice from that "ole mailman."

By the time he realized that something was wrong, Greta whirled toward him and it was too late. Boy and dog went down together.

The election followed an address by association president R. E. Clements in which delegates were told "world peace depends on American industrialists."

A Tribute To... our Chamber of Commerce!

The sincere men who aggressively promote the industrial advantages and potential profit possibilities of our city, comprise our most important, single group of citizens. They are the hard-working members of our Chamber of Commerce. On their shoulders falls the responsibility of attracting new factories and industries to our community, in order that more and more payrolls, families and homes will augment our already prosperous area. Indeed, we might say that the CHAMBER OF COMMERCE is the very life-blood of our daily lives, for their activities penetrate each business, large and small—bringing to all, the kind of help that benefits, directly or indirectly, every man, woman and child in our proud community. We salute the incomparable work of our Chamber of Commerce!
