Twinkles
Don't call 'em OUR duststorms
—they cover half a dozen states.

You may as well be interested in good roads. You help pay for them every time you buy an automobile license or a gallon of gasoline. Gasoline is cheap; taxes are high.

Pampa's football prospects look good enough to enable us to enjoy baseball this summer.

You can't be strong for our "magnificent" distances and still like the duststorms which blot them out.

Clay pigeons and such suit the nimrods all right, but the stubborn fishermen try to feed imitation fish to the bigger fishes.

Musing of the moment: A Texas House bill would raise tuition fees in state institutions of higher learning from $50 to $150 a year. An Abilene man is behind the movement. . . . This is contrary to all the principles of public education. It is contrary to the federal policy of assisting needy students to obtain an education. . . . Such a tuition would have prevented our attending college. It would be bad news to every citizen who has a desire to send his boy or girl to college.

Brevitorials

THIS COLUMN is squarely behind the tennis court movement. We doubt that it is possible to build more courts than will be used fully. It is a game for both sexes, playing as singles or doubles, one sex or both sexes, daytime or at night if floodlights are available. An afternoon of tennis puts one in a mood for a restful night and a reasonable bedtime. But tennis needs no argument; it is played for its own sake and by all ages, by kings and peasants.

GOOD TENNIS courts are somewhat expensive, but not exorbitantly so. Well-kept clay courts are best, but for rough use concrete is often used, being indestructible although very hard and, in summer, very hot. Let us hope we are investigating the use of asphalt on caliche for tennis courts. Most asphalt is too soft and "gummy" on July days, but a special mix with less asphalt of the "rock" type, finished with coarse sand, will hold, should be usable. Letters have been written to the asphalt people concerning their recommendations. A surprising amount of asphalt is needed for a court—10 to 20 tons at about $6.70 per ton, laid down in Pampa. A larger order should result in a saving.

SMALLER GROUPS will find it possible to use a clay base, well-watered, slightly sanded, and frequently rolled. The Cabot company court in South Pampa is a good example. Old pipe can be secured reasonably and welded to support the netting wire back-stops. Schools, churches, individuals, and clubs should find it possible to build one or more courts. Pampa ought to be a tennis center as well as a golfing center. It ought to hold a big tennis tournament every year for the entire Panhandle. Right now there are not enough courts for even the high school tennis teams. Let's do something about it.

"ARE WE ALIENS in our own country?" is the title of a little pamphlet printed by the A. V. I. F.—American Vigilant Intelligence Federation. The booklet charges that alien radicals who have been coming to America since the world war are creating a reign of terror in industry. It says that there are 2,500,000 aliens who have not applied for naturalization papers and a million others that have applied but have not completed naturalization. Half a million others entered the country illegally in one manner or another and, at the last census, refused to state their nativity. Studies of the aliens show a large percentage of crimes, insanity, bankruptcy, and racketeering chargeable to them. Millions of foreign-born are on relief. Other millions have jobs while native-born Americans are jobless. "If we are to operate a democratic capitalism, we must limit immigration and preserve our standards and ideals."

THE ACCUMULATION of winter's debris represents a distinct menace to the health of adults and particularly to little children, according to Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer, who urges everyone to clean houses and yards at this time. It is only good housekeeping, but ordinary sanitary principles indicate the necessity of prompt removal of all waste matter in and around the neighborhood of yards of homes, but the definite lessening of the spread of diseases, especially those affecting infants, is vitally connected with this procedure. Files help spread typhoid fever, dysentery, diarrhea, tuberculosis, anthrax, and cholera. They breed, live, and feed in filth. To prevent

HITLER SPURNS PROTEST NOTES

TWO OIL BILLS ARE REPORTED UNFAVORABLY

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—Two bills to increase the production tax on oil were ordered printed by the Texas house today on a minority report, marking another rejection of the revenue and taxation committee's reports.

One of the bills, by Representative A. K. Daniel of Crockett, would levy a tax of six cents per barrel on daily per well production in excess of 25 barrels. Per well production between 10 and 25 barrels would be taxed four cents, but production less than 10 barrels would pay two cents per barrel, the existing levy.

The other bill, by Representative J. Doyle Settle of Abilene, would levy a three percent tax if the posted price of oil exceeded $1 per barrel and three cents per barrel if the price was less than $1.

The bills were reported unfavorably last night.

Daniel warned the house it was imperative to increase the natural resources tax or face a general sales tax at the next session of the legislature.

"I am interested in seeing these oil babies pay their just share of the tax burden," Daniel said. "The annual value of Texas oil production is $400,000,000 and the state collects a meager $7,000,000."

A special subcommittee appointed to study the bills reported the Texas oil industry is taxed more heavily than in any other state, except Louisiana, and recommended the bills be reported adversely. The committee recommended an investigation of the effect of an increased tax on Texas oil entering competitive markets.

The committee reported the total of existing taxes on each barrel of production at $3.45. This included the severance tax, the levy for support of the railroad commission, taxes on producing equipment and ad valorem taxes on the oil in place.

Then Daniel challenged figures presented by the subcommittee to support its recommendation. They were prepared by John T. Smith of Austin at request of the sub-group. Smith said his figures were gathered from several sources and that much of his data was furnished by major oil companies.

Daniel pounced on this as being a biased source of information. The subcommittee report listed oil taxes in California at 3.75 cents

Census-Taking Is Hindered by Work of Others

Mrs. Lillian A. Blythe, scholastic census enumerator, emphasized today that she is the only person in the Pampa independent school system who is authorized to take the school census.

For more than a week, residents have been saying to Mrs. Blythe when she knocked at their doors, "The census-taker has already been here," and the door would slam. Inquiry revealed that certain persons are taking another census just ahead of Mrs. Blythe who is employed by the school district, but that census has nothing to do with the work being done by the Pampa woman.

Residents are being left under the impression, she said, that the report made on their children was for the school and that none other is necessary. Texas statutes require that every child within the limits of the scholastic age be enumerated, and residents are being urged by Supt. R. B. Fisher and the school board to cooperate in reporting scholastics.

B. C. D. Fund Is Increased Today

Additional contributions were received today in the B. C. D. drive for a highways-factories fund.

Contributors were as follows: Dr. A. B. Goldstein, $10. Dille Bakeries, $10. Fox Rig & Lumber, $10. D. E. Cecil, $10. W. H. (Bert) Curry, $10. Levine's, $25. Woolworth's, $25.

I Saw . . .

Another good sign that the first day of spring has arrived: many persons with bad colds. Mrs. Eva P. Bartlett of the city hall was one of the victims.

These other more encouraging signs of spring: a mocking bird in a tree at A. H. Doucette's house. . . . two husky high school boys school-hopping on the sidewalk, imitating a "spring song" dancer they had seen perform.

MRS. HAMLIN HAD NO DATE WOMEN STATE

TALL, ROSY-CHEEKED MAN WITH BIG FEET, NAMED

AMARILLO, March 21. (AP)—Two women who attended a lodge meeting with the wife of George S. Hamlin the night she was slain testified today that no man was waiting for her at the lodge hall after the meeting.

Both witnesses answered negatively when asked if Mrs. Hamlin talked with a "tall, rosy cheeked man with big feet."

Recalled to the stand, Mrs. Jessie Short was cross-examined at length by Defense Attorney E. T. "Dusty" Miller. She testified she had attended several bridge parties at the Hamlin home but that at no time were men present.

"I never saw her speak to a man of her own accord," the witness said. "She always conducted herself as a perfect lady."

Prosecutors objected frequently to Miller's manner of questioning, and Judge E. C. Nelson cautioned the defense counsel concerning improper remarks.

State's objections to a question as to whether Mrs. Hamlin had a date the night of the slaying were sustained by Judge Nelson.

Miller prepared a bill of exceptions to special prosecutor E. A. Simpson's statement that the defense attorney's only object was to "insult the witness and prejudice the jury."

Mrs. Short testified the Hamlins always appeared agreeable. She said she had never seen either mistreat the other.

Hamlin appeared grieved and wiped tears from his eyes while his wife's body was being lowered into a grave, the witness testified.

The defendant, who is charged with beating his wife to death with a hammer shortly after her return home from the lodge meeting last January 1, continued to show little interest in the trial.

Mrs. M. W. Easum, an officer of the lodge circle, testified that Mrs. Hamlin took her home after the meeting.

"I never saw her talking to a man," she said. "She was always modest, refined and lady-like."

Miller questioned Mrs. Easum about an insurance policy taken out on Mrs. Hamlin's life, and about a burial fund paid to the slain woman's mother.

As voluntary contributions to the support of Boy Scouting continue to be received at the Adobe Walls council's headquarters office here, re-registering of boys and troops is going forward.

Troop No. 57 at the small Lipscomb county town of Booker is a good example. It had 13 boys in the troop. All have re-registered. Two 12-year-olds have been enrolled.

The troop is headed for another President's award. R. G. Brannon is scoutmaster and Irby McGlamery is chairman of the troop committee.

A stream of congratulatory messages.

So Hugh Johnson Is 'Capturer' of African Beasts!

LUFKIN, Mar. 21. (AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam is the manufacturer of the dyes that bear her name; Sarah T. Hughes is the richest bride in the United States; Gen. Hugh Johnson is the "capturer" of wild animals in Africa, and Marie Dionne is a French ruler.

"This is the way, at any rate, that 'Who's Who' in world headlines are identified by members of the Lufkin high school English and civics classes."

When 39 members of the graduating class took a "quiz" the Lufkin Daily News prepared at the request of teachers they were admittedly flabbergasted by the names of many world notables. With one exception all of the participating students correctly identified Franklin Delano Roosevelt as president of the United States.

U. S. READY TO SELL GOLD TO COUNTRIES

We've Got All Gold That We Can Possibly Use, Declares Morgenthau.

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today the government is prepared to sell gold to foreign countries that can offer an attractive proposition.

Recent sales to the Bank of Mexico and to Guatemala, he said, had cleared the way to similar negotiations with other countries. He emphasized that no other transactions were being considered at this time.

He said that no conditions had been attached to transaction already consummated. In the case of Mexico, he said virtually all her sales of silver had been made to this country.

"We've got all the gold we can possibly use," Morgenthau added, indicating that the government would make no further undue efforts to accumulate the metal.

The secretary parried a question as to whether any prospective purchaser of gold had been turned down.

A comparatively tiny amount of the gold held by the treasury—$1,200,000 worth—was sold to Mexico yesterday to build up the monetary reserves of the banks of Mexico.

Officials here described the transaction as a "swap." They said this country had been buying large quantities of silver from the bank of Mexico to carry out the terms of the silver purchase act. It provides that the monetary base of the United States shall consist ultimately of 25 per cent silver and 75 per cent gold. Latest calculations were said to have indicated that an extension of less than 10 per cent of the base, due partly to heavy imports of gold.

The amount of silver purchased from the bank of Mexico was not disclosed.

License Plates Must Be Bought In Next 10 Days

Motor vehicle licenses for 5,400 Gray county residents are in the vaults of Tax Collector F. E. Leech.

A total of 1,600 licenses have been issued.

The 5,400 are to be issued by March 31, but that will be physically impossible unless all hours of the day are used. Early morning hours are usually quiet at the collector's office.

There is absolutely no indication of an extension of the deadline. The state adopted the new deadline as a "plan to end plans" for extensions.

State Highway Patrolman R. H. Routh said his orders were to start making arrests immediately after the deadline of all persons driving without 1935 license plates. The fine will be at least $14, and in addition there will be a 20 per cent penalty added to the license plate.

Rangers Smash Alleged Houston Gambling House

HOUSTON, March 21. (AP)—Axes of Texas rangers were sharpened today for marble machines in Houston.

The axes last night flashed when seven rangers, continuing Governor James V. Allred's war on crime, swooped down on an alleged gambling house on Main street.

Officers said more than 100 players were present at the place.

The house recently obtained a temporary injunction forbidding officers from interfering with its operation. The order was dissolved a short time ago.

One man was taken into custody and the players were ejected when Private W. H. Kirby and six other rangers entered the place.

I Heard . . .

That many men left their homes during the dust storms—at least until the women folks felt better about the situation.

Mayor Bill Bratton telling about the local young lady who took a couple of friends out to the golf course and introduced them to Del Love, club professional, saying, "I want you to teach these friends of mine to play golf, I learned yesterday, you remember?"

'SPRIG KUBS' ON WINGS OF WINDS, RAIN

EL RENO, Okla., March 21. (AP)—Officers today continued their investigation of a shooting late yesterday which resulted in the death of W. L. Pennington, 45-year-old Beckham county farmer, and his estranged wife, Mrs. Lucille Pennington, 42, of El Reno.

The tragedy occurred in the law office of J. N. Robertson here. The attorney told officers that while Mrs. Pennington was conferring with him late yesterday about a divorce, Pennington strode in, shot his wife and then himself. Robertson said Pennington did not speak after entering the room.

The couple was married last November. Each had been married before.

Mrs. Pennington is survived by four children, two sons, Clois, 19, Reese, 12, who lived with her in El Reno; a son, James Herring of Pampa, Tex., and a daughter, Arlene, student at an Oklahoma City business college.

James Herring, guard on the 1935 Harvester basketball team, and a high school senior, and his father, Arlie J. Herring, employe at a local grocery store left yesterday for El Reno. Mrs. Pennington lived here before she moved back to Oklahoma. The Herrings have lived here several years.

A lawn mower whirred over the county courthouse lawn at Amarillo, kicking up dust and grass. The first lawn mowing of the year is spring at Amarillo.

San Angelo had not seen a trace of the dust storm and reported a light spring attire at Corpus Christi was reported. The sun rose over the bay in a semi-cloudy sky and trees were green. The temperature was around 80 degrees.

Austin awaited local rains while a temperature of 70 degrees prevailed. Corsicana 80 degree weather was accompanied by cloudy skies.

114 Cases Heard In Local Court

A total of 114 cases were considered in 31st district court during the term just closed.

These included 25 judgments, 21 other court orders, 31 divorces, 19 dismissals of criminal and civil cases, 9 convictions, 5 acquittals, 2 non-suits, and 2 adoptions.

An average of about two cases per working day of court was considered during the ten weeks. Indications are that the June term will be equally busy.

SEVEN MEN INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD U. S. IN TEXAS WATER PROJECT

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—Seven men, including two former public works administration engineers, were indicted today for conspiracy to defraud the government in a $4,855,000 Texas irrigation project.

The indictment, returned by a special district of Columbia grand jury, resulted from a three months' inquiry by PWA investigators under Louis Glavis, head of Secretary Ickes' detective force.

It charged that the seven conspired to force the use of redwood lumber pipe in the project and to obtain a $400,000 profit.

FRANCE, ITALY DEMAND GERMANY BE PUT ON TRIAL

By LOUIS P. LOCINER (Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

Adolf Hitler's reich, which Saturday startled Europe with an announcement of a reawakened conscript army, added fire to the turbulent situation today by firmly declining to entertain French and Italian protests against her action.

While the French and Italian ambassadors handed protests against violations of the military section of the Versailles treaty to a frigidly formal German foreign minister at Berlin, the Paris government simultaneously looked to Geneva and told the League of Nations the reich decision to rearm "threatened to disturb the peace."

League observers expressed the opinion the international peace body faces the gravest crisis in its history. Because France requested that an extraordinary session of the council be held, quick telephone calls were made by the secretary-general to consult members of the council on the setting of a date.

LONDON, March 21.—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary today told the House of Commons that if he only can have a successful personal conference with Reichsfuehrer Hitler, the major powers of Europe, including Germany, will be called into a conference to create a new European security system.

ROME, March 21. (AP)—Frederic Baistrocchi, under secretary of war, speaking in the presence of Premier Mussolini before a tense chamber of deputies, declared today Italy would keep its present military class under arms there would be no reduction in the Italian conscription terms, and Italy was ready for "a war of movement."

BERLIN, March 21.—Determined to override all opposition in its march toward full command, the German government today flatly declined to consider French and Italian protests against its

Husband Fears For Safety of Wife and Twins

Fears for the safety of Mrs. Bertha Carter who disappeared the last of February with her black-headed twin sons, Delton and Delbert, 13, were felt today by her husband, G. W. Carter, who has conducted an unremitting search for the missing trio. Local officers and Mr. Carter were hunting the truck in which Mrs. Carter, about 40 and brunette, and the boys left town.

Relatives at Lamesa, Oklahoma City and Stephenville, have informed Mr. Carter that the three have not appeared in any of those towns. Mr. Carter today renewed his plea to Pampa and LeFors citizens to assist him in locating the truck. The boys took a large police dog with them. Persons with any helpful information are asked to notify Sheriff Earl Talley immediately.

Radio Station At Pampa Asked

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—The federal communications commission received applications today for construction permits for new radio broadcasting stations from the following:

Vernon Taylor Anderson, manager, A. B. C. Broadcasting company, Big Spring, Tex., 100 watts power, daytime operation.

Pampa Daily News of Pampa, Tex., applied for a new station asking authority to operate on 1,200 kilocycles instead of 630 and only daytime instead of unlimited operation.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy to night and Friday; warmer in the Panhandle tonight.

Schools of City To Close Friday

Pampa schools and most of those in Gray county will be closed tomorrow while the teachers are attending the Northwest Texas Conference for Education at Canyon.

The conference has grown to be one of the most important meetings of the kind in the southwest.

Dr. W. Purviance is attending a medical convention in Dallas this week.

Judge Newton P. Willis was an Amarillo visitor yesterday.

MODERN CHILD FACES HANDICAPS

Boy Scout troop No. 22 is a somewhat unusual organization in that the parents from the beginning—the fathers in particular—took as much interest in the work as the boys. Farm fathers evidently have fewer competing meetings and can spend more time with their sons.

America has a falling birthrate. Smaller families mean that the children spend more time in the mental company of adults, less in the companionship of youngsters of their own age. The resulting early precocity is sometimes a boomerang as the parents lose control of their youngster during his adolescence. A writer in Better Times magazine thinks the result will be a race of spoiled, poorly disciplined children.

The professor figures it on a straight supply and demand basis. The supply of children will decrease—or, at any rate, will not increase at the old-time rate. The demand, in the sense of the love of parents for their children, will remain just as high as it ever was, and will perhaps even increase.

The result will be that the child will be appreciated more.

As the professor remarks: "It seems probable that the child will receive more attention. With some groups that will be good for the child, no doubt. In many cases this out-of-the-ordinary attention may make the child too self-centered."

You can carry it still farther. Every parent knows that one of the most powerful tools in the molding of a child's character is the bestowal of praise and blame for the child's acts. Where children are prized more highly, comparatively, it is logical to expect that the scales will be diminished, and the amounts of praise increased.

He points out that when the proportion of children in the population is smaller, the average child will naturally associate with his elders more than is now the case.

This will increase his precocity, but he will not get those subtle, toughening influences which come from constant association with youngsters of his own age.

Tomorrow's child, then, seems destined to approach manhood and womanhood under something of a handicap. And this rather gloomy forecast is just one more reminder that modern times seem constantly conspiring to place new responsibilities on the shoulders of parents.

There was a time when the parent's hardest problem was to find some way to feed, clothe, and educate a constantly growing brood. Shrinkage in the family's size is apparently going to replace that problem with a new one, equally difficult.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

"The president has vetoed the war bill!" Astonished militarists passed the word around. Surely the president did not realize what he had done! President Sam Houston maintained his stand against the war bill! Astonished militarists and whispered remarks against him. A special session of congress had been called on July 27, 1842, and at that time congress voted to appropriate ten millions of acres of land for the expense of another war and making an invasion into Mexico. Another war would have ruined Texas permanently. Houston thought, and rather than risk the lives of those who had been too young to fight in the first war, he promptly vetoed the bill. Everyone had expected him to give his signature to it, and preparations could be made at once for a war that would end Mexico's interference for all time.

More frequent grumblings were heard against Houston when, in September of that same year, General Adrian Woll invaded San Antonio. Efforts in defense ended with fifty-three Texans surrendering to Woll and the death of several Mexicans. District court was in session, and the judge, Hutchinson, was captured along with the others. Col. Matthew Caldwell of Gonzales had no trouble in getting volunteers to join him in his fight against Woll. Large groups of men also organized at La Grande and in Fayette county. Coming to the aid of Caldwell, they were captured, and after a struggle with their enemy, they were overpowered and literally cut to pieces. Caldwell made his attack on Woll at Salado, but did not succeed in getting the fifty-three men freed. Woll triumphantly remained at San Antonio from September 11 through the 20th, and finally retreated, with Caldwell's company close on his heels.

This time the militia was called out, and eager men gathered at San Antonio. Determined to put Mexico in her place, almost 750 men gathered, and under the command of General Alexander Somervell, started for Laredo. Laredo was taken December 8, and some Texans returned to their homes. Others stayed on until Somervell ordered his troops to retire to Gonzales December 19. Three hundred men quickly decided that they would continue on to Mier, down the Rio Grande and in Mexico. Col. W. S. Fisher was elected commander, and the march on Mier was begun.

Texas Centennial celebrations in 1936 will be in memory of Caldwell and his men, and the volunteers from Fayette and La Grande. Enough cannot be said of those who so unselfishly gave their lives that a republic might live.

CAPITOL CHATTER BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, March 20. (AP)—It fell to a native of Tennessee to guide thru the house of the Texas legislature a bill to appropriate state funds to aid in holding a celebration in honor of Texas heroes of the battle for independence.

He is Rep. Jeff D. Stinson of Dallas, who moved to Texas when eight years old and developed into a staunch admirer of the state's history, resources and prospects.

Stinson was ably aided in his fight by Rep. J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, who hails from South Carolina.

While two non-Texans were in the van of the battle for an observance commemorating 100 years of independence from Mexico three natives of the Lone Star state were most outspoken against the plan to use funds for the observance. They were Reps. Al Roark of Saratoga, position contended that a celebration of the scope planned by the Centennial commission at Dallas and other points was not necessary and hinted that it might be better to solve the state's pressing financial problems before allocating funds for a "birthday party."

While a few native born members discounted the estimates of the Centennial commission as to the number of persons that would be attracted to Texas by the Centennial, Stinson and Spears were confident thousands would visit the southwestern empire, attend the exposition at Dallas and move on to lesser observances at San Antonio and Houston and then tour the state from the lower Rio Grande valley to El Paso.

"These people won't stop at Dallas but will go on to Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, the valley and El Paso," Stinson thundered.

"Says you," retorted Roark.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—After Congress goes away from here, you'll be seeing some important changes in Roosevelt's official family.

The most probable cabinet resignation is that of Jim Farley as postmaster general.

Even Jim has finally got it through his head that he is something of a liability as long as he continues, under constant fire, to hold both the postoffice job and chairmanship of the national and New York Democratic committees.

He is convinced that he can be of greater value to Roosevelt as boss of the re-election campaign than as boss of the postal service, assuming he drops one role or the other. And of course one of his close associates can handle the department the same way Jim has been operating it.

The fight of Huey Long and the progressives against Farley is bound to continue and to become more embarrassing as the campaign nears.

It wouldn't look well for Jim to quit right now, lest Huey acquire the credit and gain too much prestige from the "victory." But you can look for the resignation some nice quiet day this summer.

During the last two or three weeks, Jim has been conferring with western Democratic politicians, trying to size up the popular strength of the progressives, and other political conditions. Some of them, at least, suggested that progressive protests against his dual job weren't to be laughed off.

Friends and associates of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins fear that she, too, may, be quitting within the next few months.

Madame Secretary has been inclined to brood over the frequent snubs her labor policies have received at the White House. Behind the scenes she has fought militantly for the interests of organized labor.

She has been ignored in the administration's planning for continuation of NRA—a large part of which she believes comes within her field. She hasn't observed much administration support for the Wagner labor disputes bill, the essentials of which she favors.

And if the Wagner bill should pass without placing the National Labor Relations Board under the supervision of her department, as she desires, that may prove the last straw.

Attorney General Cummings may still be expected to be switched sooner or later to another job, unless the Justice Department shows a burst of speed under leadership of its new solicitor general.

And lately Uncle Dan Roper of the Department of Commerce has been the subject of persistent resignation rumors, inspired by the fact that his administration of that department and other activities has pleased no one other than himself.

Passage of the work-relief bill will lead to some rejiggering, as Roosevelt assigns the four billion dollars for expenditure. Not even Harry Hopkins or Secretary Ickes knows yet just what responsibilities he'll have under the plan.

If the job gets too arduous, let's hope those New York board of education men investigating why boys play hockey get a chance now and then to knock off for a round of golf.

American women get $936,000,000 alimony annually. Cupid seems to be giving way to cupidity.

In London, now, speeding motorists are chased by policemen. And their chances of escaping are slim unless, of course, a strand of hair blows loose.

HARVESTER FOOTBALL SQUAD DIVIDED FOR GAME TO BE PLAYED MARCH 29

6 LETTERMEN IN LINEUP OF FIRST ELEVEN

J. R. GREEN, NOBLITT ARE LAID UP WITH INJURIES

Harvester coaches divided the football squad yesterday afternoon and started practice for the inter-squad game which will be played on the afternoon of March 29. The teams will not be the A and B teams but each coach will have a number of players of first string material.

Neither Coach Odus Mitchell or Assistant Coach Harry Phillips were ready to announce a probable starting lineup following yesterday afternoon's practice session. Each coach devoted the practice period to running plays and instructing the boys in formations and running interference.

The Mitchellmen will be handicapped in their workouts for the night by the absence of J. R. Green and Leon Noblitt, both lettermen from last year. Green has a sore knee and Noblitt has not recovered sufficiently from an automobile accident to get into uniform.

Mitchell will have the advantage in lettermen with six in his lineup. Phillips will have three lettermen but his inexperienced players have been showing the greatest ability in practice sessions.

The two teams will go through some long, hard practice in preparation for the game which will close the first half of the spring training period. The football prospects will be called out again after the track and field season. The final training period will end with the 1935 team playing the 1934 players ineligible for competition this year.

Lettermen on the Mitchell squad are Fanning, Drake, J. R. Green, Nix, Leon Noblitt and Rice. Other players are Boyce, Owens, Showers, Mullins, Enloe, McLean, Bullard, Jones, Hamlett, C. W. Smith, Garvin, Elkins, Morgan, Winget, Ivan Noblitt, and Spurling.

The lettermen on the Phillips team are Stewart, Brown, and Nolan. Other players are Woodridge, Eively, Reynolds, Kitchens, Nelson, Hartman, Stokes, Green, Goodwin, Glen Maxie, Hendrix, Ed Haner, Clements, Gillis, Jack Walstad, Fletcher, Brice Green and Strickland.

TULSA OILERS SHATTERED BY TRADES SALES

BUT FANS ARE CERTAIN MANAGER WILL DELIVER

By B. A. BRIDGEWATER, Sports Editor, Tulsa World.

(Written Exclusively for Associated Press) TULSA, Okla., March 21 (AP)—Confidence in the resourcefulness and managerial acumen of President-Manager Art Griggs is just about all that keeps the Tulsa league baseball hopes of Tulsa fans alive at this writing.

The team that fought for a berth in the Shaugnessy pennant play-offs up to the very last day of the 1934 campaign, only to be nosed out under the wire by the Dallas Steers, was utterly wrecked by sales, trades and recall during the winter.

Six top-ranking Tulsa league stars were parted with—Alex Hooks, first baseman, and Skeeter New, some brilliant shortstop, by sale to the Philadelphia Athletics; Mace Brown, ace of the Tulsa pitching staff, recalled by Kansas City and sold to Pittsburgh; Chuck Hostetter, fleet center fielder, by sale to Albany; Johnny Stoneham, rightfielder, by sale to Indianapolis; Paul Easterling, leftfielder and Tulsa league home run champion for 1934 with 29, by sale to Atlanta.

A seventh regular, Third Baseman Eddie Grimes, went to Fort Worth on a straight trade for the veteran pitcher, Dick Whitworth.

The places of the departing stars are not yet filled, with the opening of the championship season just three weeks off. Tulsa obtained in various deals a number of young players who may or may not be of Tulsa league caliber, but only in the case of Ernie Holman, who replaces Eddie Grimes at third base, has a position been apparently strengthened.

But Tulsa fans will not turn thumbs down on the Oilers until after they have failed to deliver in actual competition. A veteran of 30 years in baseball, considered by

Last Of College Teams In Denver Tourney Eliminated

Utah Aggies Beaten; Tulsa Oilers in Quarter-Finals

DENVER, March 21 (AP)—A courageous late rally sparked by sharpshooting Ben Seizer and climaxed by the last-minute goal of the veteran Carl Larson won the defending champion Tulsa Oilers a berth in the quarter-finals of the National A. A. U. basketball tournament tonight.

With Coach Bill Miller's 1933 and 1934 champions, six other seeded teams and the darkhorse Italian Athletic club of Seattle progressed through the third round yesterday.

Italian A. C. sprang the only major upset of the tournament by checking out the Utah Aggies, 34-28, and the 20 college teams to be eliminated. The Aggies were beaten 34-28.

The half-raising 31-30 Oiler victory over Jones Store of Kansas City had the 4,000 fans in a panic. Tonight the Tulsa Oilers, 1934 Denver A. C. team, which passed the third round by beating May company of Cleveland, O., 42-21.

The other hometown favorite, the Denver Pigs, advanced at the expense of the Wichita, Kas., Gridleys, 40-35, and will meet southern Kansas Stage Lines, Kansas City, tonight. The Liners beat the Nash team, Fort Collins, Colo., 38-23.

Italian A. C. after spoiling the chance of the Utah Aggies to win the title no schoolboys have taken since Washburn college won it in 1924, clash tonight with the Globe Refiners from McPherson, Kas., champions of the Missouri Valley A. A. U. league.

The Refiners with their "fire department" offense ousted Denver tonight after a slow start, 53-26. The other quarter-final game brings together Chuck Hyatt's Universal Pictures team from Hollywood and the Hutchinson, Kansas, Transits.

Neither was molested in the third round, Universal beating Club Star of Gary Ind., 45-25, and Hutchinson turning out Southern Oregon normals' young Hoopes, 51-29.

many close followers of the sport to be the smartest manager in the minor leagues. Art Griggs has an enviable habit of turning up with the needed when the test comes.

Despite the loss of Mace Brown and two or three lesser pitchers, the Oilers, now in training at Henderson, Texas, may start the season with generally stronger battery forces than they had last year.

Johnny Berger, the veteran who suffered a broken finger in August, is back as the No. 1 catcher. He will be assisted by a youngster, Conrad Fisher.

Bill Posedel heads the pitching staff, and shows signs of reaching good form early. Other pitching holdovers include Merritt Hubbell and Ed Selway. Art Jones and Al Shealey came from Albany in the Fosstetter deal. Art McDougall, a veteran southpaw purchased from Los Angeles, and Dick Whitworth, the bald brakeman from Austin, came from Fort Worth for Grimes, and Harry Matuzak, veteran right hander, was obtained on option from the Philadelphia Athletics. Several rookies, some of whom have shown promise, complete the hurling brigade.

The Oilers infield is a yes-and-no affair, more likely no, so far. Bruce Connatser who filled a utility role in 1934 is a natural missed. Art Shoap, one of the four players obtained on option from Los Angeles, is another first base candidate. He is a driving hitter and is giving Connatser an argument in training camp. Two Western Association second basemen, Ben Catchings from Muskogee and Ivan Crawford from Ponca City, are the foremost applicants for second base. Charles Sheerin, a youngster on option from Atlanta, leads the contest for the shortfield, and Holman is the undisputed third baseman.

Only three outfield candidates are in camp—Cliff Ograin, a promising youngster from Ponca City, and Hal Patchett and Hughie Holliday, both obtained from Beaumont. Johnny McKee, a hard hitting gardner purchased from Atlanta, has failed to report and says he will retire from baseball.

But the Oilers may look different by April 10. Anyway, the fans insist upon thinking so.

Prizes totaling $100 and two loving cups will be awarded to winners of drills and contests.

DODGER CLUB BETTER THAN LAST SEASON

BROOKLYN GOES WILD ABOUT CASEY STENDEL

(Note: This is the tenth of a series of stories analyzing major league baseball prospects for the coming season)

By ALAN GOULD Associated Press Sports Editor ORLANDO, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Gone but not forgotten are the days of the "Daffy Dodgers", the rollicking, happy-go-lucky crew that argued and fought, ran back the wrong way or took a fly ball on the head occasionally just to prove it could be done with impunity.

Gone, too, is the shepherd of the flatbush flock, grand old "Uncle Robbie." His memory also lingers on, but the fans on the other side of New York's East river have taken a new leader to their hearts, Casey Stengel, and a fresh interest in the reviving fortunes of the Brooklyn ball club.

With the exception of the magnetic Mickey Cochrane of the champion Detroit Tigers, no major league manager in recent years has so quickly captured his public as the job with complete success, from Brooklyn's standpoint, by administering the final crusher to the hated Giants and making Bill Terry wish he had never uttered the jesting words: "Are the Dodgers still in the National League?"

The Dodgers will not win any Pennants this season or next. They have some good but no great hitters. They have added a character player to the cast in Frenchy Bordagaray, who may be an outfield sensation, but otherwise it's the same club that finished 6th in 1934. They have the fastest fast-ball flinger in the league, Van Mungo, and the top-ranking backstop in Tampa Al Lopez.

The most striking development in the Brooklyn camp is the potential come-back of William Watson Clark, the veteran southpaw. Three years ago Clark was a 26-game winner for the Dodgers but he started to slip and was traded to the Giants with Lefty O'Doul in the deal for Sam Leslie. The slugging first baseman. His arms failed to do New York any good and the Dodgers took him back, surely as a gamble, late last season. Whether it's old surroundings, Stengel's influence or just plain luck, Clark's flipper seems sound and his confidence is restored.

Stengel meanwhile has his fingers crossed to make sure Clark is the answer to his prayer for a fifth starting pitcher. He is depending on the great Mungo for at least 20 victories. He's certain Emil Leonard will be the most improved young portender in the league. Johnny Babich, an expensive acquisition from San Francisco last year, and the veteran Ray Bengue complete the main line of pitching defense.

Robert Logan, right-hander who was a consistent winner with Indianapolis, has clinched a big league job.

Linus Frey is the key man of an infield consisting of other wise of Leslie, Tony Cuccinello at second and Joe Stripp at third. Len Koenecke, a 320 hitter and real ball-hawk, will be flanked in the outfield by Danny Taylor and Buzz Boyle or Bordagaray, the fastest man on the club.

GUS MORELAND WILL MOVE TO ILLINOIS SOON

WILL WORK FOR LABEL MANUFACTURING COMPANY

By BILL PARKER DALLAS, March 21 (AP)—Gus Turner Moreland, Texas' greatest and one of the country's outstanding golfers, has accepted a position with a label manufacturing company at Peoria, Ill., and probably is through playing in Texas tournaments.

Moreland, three times Texas amateur champion, twice trans-Mississippi king and former western amateur ruler, played his last Texas tournament in February when he defeated Johnny Dawson, crack Chicago amateur, in the finals of the Houston country club invitation. It was Moreland's fourth championship within five years in the Houston invitation.

Moreland is the house guest of Bill Danforth at Golden Beach, Hollywood, Fla., where he is getting his golf shots in order for competition in the Bobby Jones masters tournament next month at Augusta, Georgia. Francis Oulmet, captain of the United States Walker cup team and former national amateur champion, is with Moreland and playing daily rounds with him.

Moreland accepted the Peoria position in preference to one offered him by a sporting goods company. In his new position, Gus will be allowed to play as much tournament golf as he likes. He will play in the western amateur at Broadmoore, Colo., after the masters tournament.

Plenty of swimming and golf has put Moreland in the best condition of his life, and the idol of Texas golfers is playing the most consistent golf of his career. Seldom has he shot over 71 in his numerous rounds on various Florida courses. The national amateur championship of 1935 is Moreland's goal

BRIEFS FROM TRAINING CAMPS

By The Associated Press.

ORLANDO, Fla., March 21.—The Brooklyn Dodgers seem to have high hopes for Tom Baker, rookie pitcher. Zack Taylor, manager of the "farm" club at Reading, thought enough of the youngster to devote a full hour to correcting his lack of control yesterday. It seems Baker wasn't hanging onto the ball long enough.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 21.—The New York Giants' cripples are rounding into shape but Joe Moore's recovery didn't last long. Joe and Mel Ott returned to action against the Red Sox yesterday and after four innings Moore retired again to favor the charley horse which had been keeping him on the sidelines.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21.—The Babe appears to be the master magnate of all baseball, with Dizzy Dean a close second. The statistical-minded at the Braves' camp figure meetings of the two should fill Braves field to capacity during the coming season, and they add that it is probable that the two will face each other three times at the Tribal wigwam.

BRADENTON, Fla., March 21.—Having emerged victorious over Babe Ruth and the Braves, the Cardinals today were set to crack down on Bill Terry and the Giants. Manager Frank Frisch nominated recruits Ray Harrell and Dick Ward to pitch.

Both Dizzy Dean and the Cards showed a right-about-face in form yesterday in winning from the Braves, 5 to 4.

and he is looking forward to being on the 1936 Walker cup team. He played on the cup team in 1932 and 1934.

Moreland's moving to Peoria to make his permanent home takes from Texas the most colorful golfer ever developed in the state. He was offered the Peoria job soon after his return last year from St. Andrews and the Walker cup matches but delayed accepting it until today.

Annual Baseball Meet Will Start Here August 23

$1,000 Guaranteed; Many Teams to Enter

The second annual Pampa Junior chamber of commerce baseball tournament will be played at Road Runner park from August 23 to September 2 this year, it was decided at a meeting of directors and the baseball committee, headed by A. J. Johnson, last night in the city hall.

Again the Jaycees will guarantee the winner of the tournament $1,000 prize money. The club will make the guarantee and will not seek to have the amount underwritten.

Last year's tournament was declared the best ever held in this section. There was no juggling of the playing schedule and the Jaycees carried out every one of their promises. There is not a team of last year's event that would not enter again this year if it could field a strong club.

Clubs winning games, but not finishing in the money, will again be given cash game prizes, the amount to be decided later. The committee in charge of the event will begin sending out notices to all the strong teams in the southwest.

Date of this year's tournament will be after the Oklahoma Sandlot tournament at Oklahoma City, dates of which have been set for August 10 to 18. The tournament will also follow the Denver Post tournament which will be late in July or early in August, the dates not having been definitely set.

A number of strong Oklahoma baseball teams have already announced their intention of entering the Pampa tournament, providing the dates do not conflict with the Oklahoma Sandlot event. The "Big Five" of the Panhandle, Pampa Road Runners, Colteco of LeFors, Phillips of Borger, Huber of Borger, and Shamrock of Amarillo, will be strong contenders. The Pampa Road Runners will be defending champions. They won the 1934 title in a great finish with Phillips of Borger. Huber took third place and Colteco of LeFors, fourth. Charles Maisei was named chairman of the inter-community relations committee to succeed J. M. Hatfield whose resignation was accepted by the directors.

Club Learns of Farm Land Plan

SKELLYTOWN, March 21—If buying power for agricultural products can be restored by bringing in more non-agricultural goods from abroad, crop control may eventually be disposed of, is the belief of Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, whose pamphlet, "America Must Choose," was studied by the Sunshine club Tuesday.

Mrs. A. B. Corley was hostess. Members learned from the study that during the World war, America added to cultivation 40,000,000 acres to replace the 50,000,000 acres that Europe lost. When the war ended, Europe no longer needed these extra acres and they became surplus acreage, producing more than this nation can consume. Accordingly, 43,000,000 acres were taken out of cultivation in 1924. This is nearly one-eighth of all crop land now cultivated in the United States.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. B. L. Barnes, E. R. Hawkins, Dora Mae Crawford, J. C. Sims, L. Feigenspan, E. Hatchell, J. C. Kennedy, W. S. Boyd, and the hostess. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Crawford, with Miss Dalton Burleson, county home demonstration agent, in charge of a demonstration on jelly making.

The REBEL FLAGSHIP of GREECE

The warship of which Greece was so proud that she issued two stamps in its honor became the leader in the recent Venizelos naval revolt. The ship is the $450-ton cruiser Georgios Averoff, flagship of the Greek navy. Greece's largest ship and only cruiser, the Averoff led four destroyers in this rebellion.

Greece's three drachma deep violet and black stamp of 1927 shows the Averoff alone in all its splendor. The 50 drachma black and indigo of 1933 reveals a portrait of Admiral Kountouriotis with the Averoff in the background.

Flood Loses Prey as Mother, Babe Ride to Safety

With the yellow torrents of St. Francis river surging around their frail craft, two of the thousands of refugees fleeing devastating floods in midwest and south, Mrs. Bernice Cowell and her baby son, are shown here as they were taken to safety by a boatman after being trapped in their home near Senath, Mo. Immense damage has been caused by the deluge along the Mississippi and its tributaries.

2,300 MEN TAUGHT TO READ AND WRITE IN PEN IN LAST 4 YEARS

AUSTIN, March 21—The annual report of the Texas prison system discloses that 2,234 inmates enrolled in the prison schools during 1934. Of this total, 1,149 were white, 890, negroes and 195 Mexicans.

Officials reported growing interest among the prisoners as result of achievement tests, competitive contests, standardization of the course of study and addition of many new courses.

"An outstanding accomplishment for the year has been the teaching of 624 men to read and write," said J. M. Reynolds, school supervisor. "During the past four years there have been more than 2,300 men taught to read and write in the prison schools."

A summary of the tests showed that 27 per cent of new men received at the prison were enrolled in the first and second grade of the schools, more than 60 per cent in grades below the fourth and 17 per cent above the seventh grade.

From the 17 per cent the teachers, bookkeepers and men used in clerical work of the system were selected. There were 23 inmate head teachers and 257 inmate teachers.

"A course of study has been standardized during the past year for the 22 prison schools," Reynolds said. "Approximately 160 lessons were outlined and assigned for each grade, printed and supplied to each head teacher."

"As a result of this work we are able to promote men from one grade and section to another. We now have a record system working whereby the school record of each man may be kept and given him upon request."

"Our vocational program has improved due to the close cooperation of the heads of departments. Several new courses have been added to the vocational curriculum of 66 possible courses. We have this year strengthened our academic program and will stress vocational work more next year."

Warden W. W. Wald reported that "while all classes advanced with surprising rapidity the lower grades, which deal with the illiterates, have been particularly noticeable."

"All students seem to realize that education is the fundamental principle of rehabilitation and it is gratifying to know that almost one-half of the population of this unit attends our school," he said.

Oldest Land Owner

SEUR, March 21—J. J. Hickman of McAdoo, Dickens county, claims to be the oldest land owner in Dickens county, having owned a farm here for nearly 52 years. In 1883 Mr. Hickman bought the script for his farm under the original "four section law." He has had possession since. Mr. Hickman moved his family here from Indiana, 24 years ago.

VANDALS BLOW UP LEVEES IN FLOOD SECTOR

400 MEN BLAST DYKE AFTER CAPTURING GUARDS

GREENWOOD, Miss., March 21 (AP)—State troops shouldered guns on north Mississippi levees near here today as an aftermath of a wild night in which two dykes were blasted and private guards and vandals threatened to meet in open battle.

The nation's major flood threat shifted to Tallahatchie and LeFlore counties after several hundred men overpowered guards on a Tallahatchie river levee one mile west of Philipp, blasted it with dynamite and then blew another dyke near Mace in Tallahatchie county.

When officers heard the vandals were planning a wholesale dynamiting of levees, private guards were given machine and riot guns and told to "shoot to kill" in the event of an attack.

Authorities hurriedly appealed to Governor Sennett Comer for state troops. He immediately ordered out several detachments. The soldiers were patrolling a wide area today.

Four hundred men descended quickly on the Philipp levee, overpowered the guards, and blasted a 40-foot hole in the embankment late yesterday.

All onlooker, Bedford Jacks, 23, suffered a broken leg when a flying fragment struck him below the knee.

The water cascaded through the crevasse, overflowing several thousand acres of fertile land in Tallahatchie and LeFlore counties, inundating Philipp, a town of 200 population, and blocking highways.

The Coldwater and Tallahatchie rivers along the watershed of north Mississippi were falling rapidly, but conditions were unimproved in Tallahatchie county south of Clendon, where 40,000 to 50,000 acres of farm land are covered. A threat of flood stages on the Mississippi river lessened.

Nearly 20,000 persons were still homeless in Missouri and Arkansas, but the danger in that area was lessening as the crest of the St. Francis river moved southward.

WEATHER PROPHECY
FLOYDADA, March 21 (AP)—John A. Fower, Floyd county old-timer, was willing to bet marbles, chalk or what-have-you that it will rain March 19. Fower, who came to West Texas 45 years ago, declines positively to predict a rain "for social reasons," but says "that just before midnight when the moon 'tulle' look out for rain."

William B. Acree, 22, of Ringling, Okla., has been appointed assistant national bank examiner, one of the youngest men to hold such a position.

Dr. Harry Scott, above, of Rice Institute will be one of the speakers at the Northwest Texas Conference for Education at Canyon Friday and Saturday.

Revolta, Picard Leading Field In Golf Tourney

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 21 (AP)—Johnny Revolta, young Milwaukee golfer, and Henry Picard, leading money winner of the winter tour from Horry, Pa., began second round play today in the $3,000 Charleston open three strokes under par and one swing ahead of their nearest competitor.

Picard carded a pair of 34's to tie Revolta for the leadership of the first round with 68. The Wisconsin flash registered a 35 going out and then blazed homeward with a snappy 33.

Only three others, Wifly Cox of Bucklyn, Willie MacFarlane of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Harold (Jug) McSpaden of Kansas City, bettered the par 71 course of 6,420 yards length. The Brooklynite bettered it two strokes for a 69 while the other two had 70's.

Negro Organizer Of Tenant Farmers Reported 'Missing'

MARKED TREE, Ark., March 21 (AP)—A negro organizer of the Southern Tenant Farmers union was reported "missing" today by C. T. Carpenter, union attorney, who said the negro's house was fired upon last night by a mob.

Carpenter said A. B. Brookins, a negro preacher about 60 or 65 years of age, escaped through the back door of his home in the negro section when the firing started. He apparently was in hiding in another negro home today.

Brookins, Carpenter said, has been active in the organization of negro locals of the Sharecroppers' union.

INDUSTRIAL CLASS DIPLOMAS AND SCHOOL AWARDS GIVEN AT HOPKINS—GEORGE BRIGGS TALKS

Speaking to a capacity house last evening, George Briggs gave pointed messages to the teachers and members of the industrial classes at a program at the Community hall at Hopkins No. 2 school.

Mr. Briggs told of the necessity of progress and illustrated what he understood by "evolution." He commended highly the men who had taken upon themselves the work of practical education in their lives and in the course of his remarks spoke highly of the Hopkins schools for their undertaking in the line of adult education as well as their general progress.

At the end of this address, Mr. Briggs presented the teachers of the classes that have recently closed, who in turn presented certificates to the members of their classes. Teachers present for the program were Seth Horn, W. E. Reno, Horrett Sparks, Ray Coleman, and James Elbert. In the absence of H. F. Magrath, Mr. Baze presented certificates to his men. Two other meetings, together with towers and other duties prevented the attendance of many of the school.

The choral singers of the school, who were winners in the county contests recently, opened the program with Carrie Marie Townsend conducting. Elvira Stone gave a short reading, "When You Know a Fellow" by Edgar Guest, and at the request of the audience, Everett Sparks gave the selection, "Bill and Joe" by Holmes. Tavia Dunsworth, Carrie Marie Townsend, W. M. Parker, and Mr. Baze then presented the awards won by the contestants in the county. No ribbons having been received for pleasure memory winners, this feature was omitted. As soon as these awards can be received from the director general of the county, they will be presented to George Fowler, Leon Qualls, and Charlie McAnally. Among the awards presented were:

First place medals—Reba Jo Grewell for story telling, Dorothy Gene Gibson for declamation, George Cunningham and Marie Frazier for spelling, Walter Scott for broad jump and 100-yard dash. A loving cup was presented to the school for choral singing, as also one for story telling. A statuette was also given for all around county championship in ward schools. All the awards were permanent and will be placed in the trophy case at the school.

A detailed account of the winners of the Hopkins schools will be given upon receipt of a certified copy from the director general of the county, when the many honors of the No. 1 school will also be listed.

Second place ribbons were given to Everett Sparks for declamation, Edna Spivey and George Edwards for spelling, Bernice Bradford and Cecily Gene Gibson for music memory, Ruby McPherson and Dorothy Gene Gibson for arithmetic, Kenneth Keil for pull-up.

Romance and Joy are neighboring towns in Arkansas and nearby is the village of Rosebud.

Will Speak

Dr. E. U. Rugg of Colorado State Teachers college, Greeley, Colo., is one of the speakers for the Northwest Texas Conference for Education at Canyon, Teachers college Friday and Saturday.

Gypsies Sought For Slaying of Oklahoma Youth

DURANT, Okla., March 21 (AP)—An intensive search was launched in Northern Texas and Southern Oklahoma today for a band of 25 Gypsies wanted for questioning in the slaying of B. D. Wood, 27, at a Gypsy camp near Bennington, Okla., yesterday.

The Gypsies, traveling in a caravan of five motor cars, were reported seen near Denison, Texas, late yesterday. Their trace of them was lost.

Wood died of a skull fracture. A companion, Otto Pamplin, who told officers he accompanied Wood to the Gypsy camp, said the latter was beaten, he was overpowered and held captive by the band until it had broken camp and left Bennington.

Pamplin said he and Wood had gone to the camp to satisfy curiosity concerning the Gypsy mode of life and were set upon without warning.

The Gypsies hurriedly broke camp after the beating of Wood, Pamplin said, leaving in their motor caravan. The Bennington man died soon after the last car had pulled out, Pamplin said.

Officers from Durant investigated the death of Wood and requested all cities and towns in Northern Texas and Southern Oklahoma to watch for the caravan.

Pamplin said he knew of no motive for the attack upon Wood. After his release by the band he notified officers and summoned medical aid for Wood, but the latter died before help arrived.

The government purchased 2,013-972 cattle from 160,205 catlemen in 233 drought-stricken Texas counties during seven months of the emergency.

Russia to Give French Support In League Tilt

MOSCOW, March 21 (AP)—Foreign quarters in Moscow said today they believed the full support of the Soviets would be given the French in the raising of the German armaments question in the League of Nations.

The decision of the French cabinet to appeal to Geneva was received in Moscow with great satisfaction and fitting with the Soviet contention that a united front is necessary to deal with the situation resulting from Reichsfuehrer Hitler's creation of a conscript army.

The Soviet government has been officially advised that Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, is coming to Moscow and has extended its invitation to him although the date for his visit has not yet been fixed.

He, like Captain Anthony Eden, lord privy seal of Great Britain, said diplomatic circles, probably will be received by Joseph Stalin.

Captain Eden will arrive here March 26 and it was stated officially that it will remain until March 31. During that time he will confer separately with Stalin, Vyacheslav Molotov, president of the council of commissars, and Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov.

Auxiliary Plans To Install New Officers Soon

Mrs. W. M. Craven had charge of the program. Mrs. Bruce Pratt reviewed a book on missions in Japan that was started at a previous meeting.

Mrs. Jim White and Mrs. Pratt were hostesses for the afternoon, and served refreshments after the program.

Twelve women students are enrolled in the Washington university law school, the largest number ever enrolled there at a single time.

Last year we spent almost a million dollars to find better methods of giving you telephone service. A. T. & T. helps us give you good service at fair cost

We paid it to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, parent company of the Bell System. For it we received, as one of the 24 associated companies of that System, the services of A. T. & T.'s great staff of telephone experts, engineers and specialists in business management. Most striking testimony of the importance of A. T. & T. staff services is this: Two telephone operating companies in which A. T. & T. owns only a minority interest, voluntarily pay to share in its benefits.

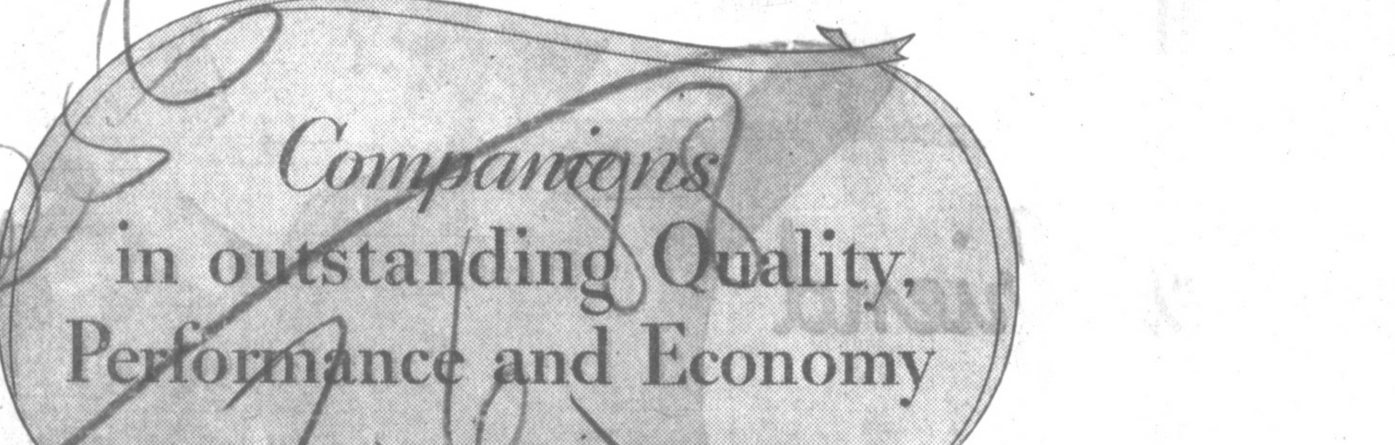

They know it helps them do a better job. And they know they could not duplicate it for many times the license fee. The benefits of this work are reflected in the quality of your telephone service. The savings it effects have over many years made it possible to hold the cost of good telephone service low.

We have passed on to the telephone user in the Southwest the benefits of these economies in the belief that in an undertaking planned for the long run, like the telephone service, such a policy in the end will bring us the sounder, more enduring success.

Blanton Opposes Application for Abilene Station

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—Representative Blanton (D-Tex.) vigorously opposed today the application of E. B. Gish for a 100 watt radio station at Abilene, Tex.

"I desire on behalf of my people to say that on my own knowledge Mr. Gish, as an outsider, could not give good service," Blanton said. "He does not know the people and the people do not know him. He admitted to me he is now trying to sell his Amarillo plant to the Amarillo Globe but he does not know whether he will sell."

"From my own knowledge, I firmly believe his sole purpose in trying to get this station is to sell it if he gets it. We have an unfortunate experience with outsiders trying to get radio stations in Abilene."

Blanton added that he did not object to the applicant personally but only believed that Gish could not "fill the bill."

Gish, who operates station KORS in Amarillo, said if the application were granted, he planned to use equipment formerly used at Amarillo. He pointed out that the mission that Abilene was an "educational and commercial center without broadcasting facilities available." Large stations at Fort Worth and Dallas give very good service, he said, but not local service.

engineer for the Hammon and Little River Redwood company.

Fihely described the alleged conspiracy as an "attempt to defraud the United States of its right to have the national industrial recovery act administered in a fair and effective manner, of its right to have contracts let by competitive bidding, of its right to freely and fully contract in all matters concerning its property and money and of the honest, faithful and conscientious services of the defendant, Charles R. Olberg."

Olberg, who was discharged recently from his $8,000 a year job as engineer-examiner in charge of irrigation work for the PWA administration in Washington, had been in the government employ for many years and helped design the Boulder and Coolidge dams, Fihely said.

The indictment alleged that Olberg had been offered a $10,000 a year job with the Willacy district in return for his service in the scheme.

Welly formerly was an engineer-examiner with the PWA state office at Fort Worth, Texas. He was said to have quit this $3,000 a year job to take a $7,500 position with the Willacy district.

The indictment said the Willacy district first applied for a PWA loan and grant for a gravity and open canal irrigation project. Olberg passed on the plans, and the allotment was made by Secretary Ickes.

The plans then were returned to the Fort Worth PWA office for minor changes.

"It is at this point that the alleged conspiracy apparently begins," Fihely said. The indictment charged that Welly substituted for the gravity system plans calling for 250 miles of a high and low pressure pipe system.

The government contended that after recommending the substitute system to his superiors, Welly quit his government job and went to work for the irrigation district, where, it was charged, he entered the alleged conspiracy with the other defendants to have only redwood pipe used.

The government charged that Barry and Welly wrote the specifications in such a way that they would be "burdensome and onerous" to concrete, metal or other wooden pipes.

Olberg was accused in the indictment of conspiring to approve the new plans and specifications in return for the $10,000 a year job which was said to have been promised him when the alleged conspiracy was initiated.

At a meeting of seven redwood companies, the government charged that Hammon company was designated to set the price for the redwood to be used. McElwath, it contended, was selected by the alleged conspirators to be the contractor to handle the construction of the irrigation system.

'Toughest Guy' Dies in Chair

CHICAGO, March 21. (AP)—The "toughest guy that ever got the hot seat"—Chester Novak, 30 years old, went to his death in the electric chair at the county jail today but not until five charges of electricity were sent coursing through his body.

Novak, who boasted of his toughness, and who said he "could take it," apparently was still alive after three charges of the current had been given him and two more were applied before he was pronounced dead.

Sheriff Toman said it was his opinion that Novak, executed for the murder of Henry Mendelbaum, who was shot to death during a robbery, probably resisted the current because the continuous drinking of coffee had stimulated his heart action.

His companion in crime, George Moss, was sentenced to ninety-nine years in prison.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 21. (AP)—Futures dropped from $1 to $1.50 a bale during the middle of the morning in sympathy with a similar decline at New York.

It was reported that houses representing Japanese interests were selling cotton in New York and as the market declined it ran into stop-loss orders which speeded up the drop.

The local market reacted on this report and May sold off to 10.45, July to 10.47, Oct. to 10.10, and Dec. to 10.29, or losses of 25 to 30 points.

A rebound from the lows set in and as mid-day approached prices were holding from 17 to 22 points below the previous close.

The committee recommended an increase in the natural gas production tax, now paying one-half of one per cent of its value. Production of less than 250,000,000 cubic feet a quarter would be taxed at two and one-half per cent with a maximum of ten per cent on quarterly production in excess of one billion cubic feet.

An adverse report was voted a bill to levy a retail sales tax on luxuries and non-essentials.

While the house of representatives worked on a hedge-podge of business, the Texas senate began consideration of the important judicial appropriation bill.

Salary increases for a number of appellate court judges were approved after sharp debate, despite the fact the house previously had advocated some reductions.

Senator John E. Redditt of Lufkin by resolution proposed creation of a legislative committee to work with the state board of education in devising better protection for investments of the public school fund.

The resolution said the laws were insufficient in protecting investments of the school fund and the public school lands which aggregate between 5,000,000 and 7,000,000 acres.

HOPKINS ANSWERS ALLRED

AUSTIN, March 21. (AP)—Governor James V. Allred today announced receipt of a commission from Harry L. Hopkins, federal relief administrator, advising a representative of the federal government would visit Texas to inquire into rural school needs.

Governor Allred has asked the government for teacher relief in rural schools. Hopkins advised the governor aid was being granted certain states on a work relief basis but warned that in practically every instance the states were cooperating.

Catholic Priest Slain by Farmer

YORKTON, Sask., March 21. (AP)—A farmer went wild with a revolver in the Roman Catholic mission here today, killing one priest, seriously wounding another, and then, facing capture by police, shot and wounded himself.

The priest killed was the Rev. Father DeLorge. The Rev. Father Bala was wounded. The farmer, who may not live, is Steve Elash.

According to the police story, Elash entered the Rutherford mission at 9:45 a. m. and asked for a priest. Father DeLorge was instantly killed by a shot in the back of the head.

Father Bala was the next to be shot. Police were called and, as they approached the mission, Elash ran out and fired at Chief of Police H. L. Fenson and Constable Match.

The farmer jumped behind a bush and shot himself.

sages upon the occasion of the 25th Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America has been pouring in to that organization since the anniversary was formally opened on February 8th.

The observance continues throughout the year. Vice-President Garner said he regarded the Scout Movement as a great beneficent force in the life of the nation, and added:

"I have great admiration for the fundaments of the Scout movement because I believe that development of character and training in citizenship are most essential to real manhood."

From Secretary of State Cordell Hull came this expression:

"I am glad to hear that you have chosen Washington as the city for the jamboree in August and feel sure that such a gathering of American and foreign boys will be an important factor in fostering international good will."

"The Boy Scouts," read the message from Secretary of War Dern, "have demonstrated that there is still a great field in America for clean adventure, for healthful outdoor activity and opportunities for the American boy to render enthusiastic and patriotic service for his fellow countrymen. Your organization captures and develops rather than suppresses the natural exuberance of youth. I regard it as one of the greatest character building agencies in the world today."

"In these days when the fight against crime is assuming the proportions of a major problem in this country, we are given a very striking illustration of the practical value of the Scout movement. . . . You are teaching these fine boys and young men invaluable lessons in good citizenship and patriotism," wrote Secretary Roper, from the department of commerce.

HITLER

unilateral abrogation of the Versailles treaty military clauses. After paying separate visits to the Reich foreign office to deliver the communications of their governments, the French and Italian ambassadors, to their great astonishment, were informed in effect by Baron Konstantin von Neurath, the foreign minister, that Reichsfuehrer Hitler would pay no attention to them.

This action was interpreted in official circles as a further warning that Germany already feels so strongly confident of her military power that paper protests of her violation of part five of the treaty of Versailles, the section dealing with military restrictions, are useless.

Intimates of both ambassadors, Andre Francois-Poncet of France and Vittorio Cerrutti of Italy, said the envoys left Wilhelmstrasse feeling they had carried "another piece of paper to the waste basket."

Both embassies immediately sent long reports home to their governments.

Baron Konstantin von Neurath, Reich foreign minister, took the official French protest from the hand of ambassador Andre Francois-Poncet and then frigidly remarked:

"The arguments adduced in the French note do not take the actual situation into account, whereas the German government must decline to entertain the protest."

The Italian ambassador, Vittorio Cerrutti, received the same curt reply when he delivered Premier Mussolini's protest to the foreign office two hours later.

PARIS, March 21.—France today bluntly accused Germany of violating treaty obligations in a note which the Reich refused to consider and, at the same time, asked the League of Nations to put Germany on trial.

The French government requested "an extraordinary session of the league council for the examination."

The note to Germany said the German action was clearly contrary to treaties and agreements and raised "the most formal protest."

The French communication was similar to one of the Italians deposited in the Wilhelmstrasse by the ambassadors of both France and Italy, but the Berlin foreign office announced officially that neither note would be considered.

Whereupon, the French government disregarded an arrangement with Berlin and published the note which covered three typewritten pages.

It warned Germany that the decision to reestablish its army was "clearly contrary to the contractual engagements written in the treaties that Germany signed" and declared it France's "duty to raise the most formal protest against these measures with regard to which it now had formulated every reservation."

Notes ignored Ambassador Francois-Poncet left the note at the German foreign office which "accepted" the document but told the ambassador that the Strike Within a Strike Features Sitting Marathon

DALLAS, March 21. (AP)—Relief work strikers have finally received a hard jolt—one that extracted lots of the enjoyment out of their lives as they while away the time in the city hall auditorium.

Negroes in their ranks have refused to pour out the spiritual hymns that once were on top of the night's program of entertainment.

That was a real blow to the several hundred unemployed who marched into the city hall auditorium several days ago and let it be known that they would remain there until recently reduced relief grants were increased.

The count-relief threats threatened to cut them off from any sort of help, and it was reported that a negro broke a smallpox quarantine to take part in the passive protest.

Those things didn't cause much excitement. There was but little comment. But the strikers showed signs of gloom last night when they rolled up in blankets and old clothing to sit down for the night. There were no songs—the kind they wanted.

Otherwise, the strikers were "sitting pretty."

Delegates from Pampa Units Among Women at Canyon Session.

CANYON, March 21.—The annual conference of the eighth district Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers opened here at noon yesterday when the district board of managers and state officers were guests at Randall hall, a dormitory of the West Texas State Teachers college. Mrs. Irbey Carruth is local general conference chairman.

Immediately after the luncheon the business session was called to order by Mrs. J. E. Griggs, district president. Following the usual committee reports Superintendent W. A. McIninch, Amarillo, president of the Panhandle-Plain superintendents association, made the principal address of the afternoon outlining for the delegates from 21 counties the services which parent-teacher organizations can render schools and communities.

A panel discussion, led by Mrs. H. K. Godeke, had for its subject "Home Services." Mrs. B. C. Shulkey, Borger; Mrs. J. C. Neudigke, Amarillo; and Mrs. J. A. Blackwell, Friona, took part in the discussion. Ten years ago Canyon was hostess city for the Parent-Teachers association and yesterday's meeting was marked by many friendly greetings between those who had met here a decade ago.

Dr. Harris M. Cook of West Texas State Teachers college, Superintendent K. E. Oberholzer of Lubbock, and Mrs. H. K. Godeke were principal speakers of last night's sessions.

Among state officers present were Mrs. M. A. Taylor, Bonham; Mrs. J. M. Crain, Claude; Mrs. H. K. Godeke, Lubbock; Mrs. C. T. Hunkapillar, Pampa; and Mrs. J. D. Odum, Tahoka.

The meeting will continue through Friday. Each of the seven Parent-Teacher associations of Pampa, and also the city Council of Parents and Teachers, sent representatives to the district meeting at Canyon. Pampa units sent publicity scrapbooks for the annual district exhibit.

Club Loan Fund Is New Project For Pampa BPW

A commercial and educational loan fund was established in September by the Business & Professional Women's club as one of its projects for 1935. This fund is available to students as well as others who wish to take advantage of this opportunity.

A committee composed of the vocational and educational committee and the treasurer has charge of investigating all applications for loans. No individual loan will exceed $50.00 with a 5 per cent rate of interest from date of loan.

Loyse Whitfield is vocational and educational chairman and Ola Nellis is treasurer. Applications may be made to them at any time.

BPW Membership Increases 6,000

Six thousand more women joined the National Federation of Business and Professional Women during 1934 than in the preceding year, according to Miss Marian Parkhurst, director of organization. She thinks the progressive program adopted by the federation accounts for the increased total of members enlisted from 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii and the District of Columbia. "National business women's week gives everyone a chance to check on what we are doing in our 1400 clubs," said Miss Parkhurst. "The business or professional woman who is a non-member finds that our program stands for economic security for all men and women. Through the various discussions, dinners and luncheons of business women's week, she is learning that this, translated, means that we stand for unemployment insurance; an effort to maintain the American standard of education; and such economic reports as will help to bring about social justice.

"American business women know there can be no economic security for any group without security for all and knowing this, they approve the fact that the federation is asking for women employment, appointment, salaries and promotion on equal terms with men.

"When you consider this straight thinking, courageous program, it is not difficult to figure out for yourself why 72 clubs have been added since last July, or why our total membership has jumped 6,000 in the last twelve months."

Vice-President

Gladys Robinson, above, is serving this year as vice president of the Business and Professional Women's club. She is one of the older members of the Pampa club, and has efficiently filled various posts.

Active in Club

As legislative and international relations chairman, Grace Pool, pictured above, is very active in the affairs of the Business and Professional Women's club. She is a charter member and was the first president of the organization. Assisting Mrs. Pool are the members of her committee, Mary Runyon and Thelma Jackson.

Aid to Girls' and Boys' Movements Is New Goal

Reference to the minutes of the Pampa Business and Professional Women's club shows that the club is six years old this year. Organized in the late spring of 1929, it has shown a steady growth in its membership and the scope of its activities. A check of the charter members who launched the Pampa club six years ago reveals that many of them are still active workers in the club today. Further investigation shows that there are but few of those charter members still living in the city of Pampa who are not active members.

During the past six years the club has established and maintains a loan fund of $50 for the use of students. It has cooperated with the welfare board in its local work. It has established the charter members of an annual public relations dinner, to bring together the leading citizens of our community with the purpose of fostering interest in a spirit of cooperation among all. It has established the annual style show, from which the merchants of the city benefit. During the past year it has voted to assist both the Boy Scout and the Girl Scout movements and is at present sponsoring a magazine subscription sale, the proceeds to be turned over to the Boy Scout organization, and upon the closing of annual business women's week will turn its attention to assisting the Girl Scouts with the furnishing of their new home.

It sponsors the Bo-Knot club, an organization of young girls who are planning on entering the business world upon the completion of their school work, with the intention of smoothing the road a little toward their future success.

During its meetings, subjects of national, state, and local interest are discussed. Very often the approval or disapproval of the club members is requested in swaying the governmental policies of our present day.

Officers of the Pampa club this year are Lillian Jordan, president; Gladys Robinson, vice president; Marie Bastin, recording secretary; Mildred Overall, corresponding secretary; Ola Nellis, treasurer; and Neva Burgen, parliamentarian. Board members are composed of the following committee chairmen: Hazel Hartman, Lillie Dalton, Louise Whitfield, Mabel Gee, Katie Beverley, Dee Polson, Grace Pool, Irene Wooley, Frances Sturgeon, Clara Lee Shewmaker, Mildred Overall, and Irene Irvine.

Business Women Over The World

Less than seventy years ago, a man could give away his wife's children, even an unborn child; a married woman had no legal right to any money she earned, could own nothing, could not collect damages to her person or reputation; only one obscure college admitted women; in the entire world no woman could vote or hold office.

Honoring "the woman who changed the mind of a nation" about the place of its women, a portrait monument of Susan B. Anthony stands in the capital at Washington, D. C. beside statues of Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Lucretia Mott. This year, because it is now a quarter of a century since her death, she becomes eligible for further recognition through inclusion in the hall of fame of New York City.

"Equal rights," according to Mrs. Roberta West Nicholson, Indiana's 31-year-old state representative, do not include the right to sue for what is popularly known as "heart balm." Accordingly she has introduced into the Indiana general assembly a measure to prohibit suits for alienation of affections, seduction, breach of promise to marry, and publication of names of co-respondents in divorce proceedings. "I am firmly convinced that most of the actions for breach of promise and seduction have extortion as their chief motive," says Mrs. Nicholson. "Laws permitting such law suits are contradictory to our present-day theories of the equality of women and on that account should be repealed."

In one-fourth of the NRA codes approved up to last September 1, lower minimum rates were set for women than for men. The percentage by which the rate for women falls below that for men ranges from 30 in one code to 63 in three codes. In candy factories, nearly 40,000 women were given rates 5 cents an hour lower than those received by men, regardless of the type of work.

Significant in feminine eyes, turned skyward seeking vocations, was the record "first" set up January 1 by 25-year-old Helen Richey. Without fanfare, she took off from Washington airport to "fly the mail" to Detroit, the first woman in the country to be named a co-pilot on a regular mail and passenger airline. Miss Richey, who has many hours of flying to her credit, is co-holder of the woman's endurance record.

Plans Parties

Lavena Wooley, social chairman, has arranged for a theater party this evening at La Nora theater for the Business and Professional Women's club members. Assisting Mrs. Wooley are Gladys Robinson and Dee Polson, members of the social committee. In addition to being chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Wooley is the club's delegate to the council of clubs.

Inform Public

Katie Beverly, magazine chairman of the Business and Professional Women's club, is pictured above. Placing the state and national magazines before the public is a part of the magazine committee's duty. Current issues of the "Texas Woman" and the "Independent Woman" can be found in the public library at all times. As a contribution to business women's week, Mrs. Beverly has arranged a display in Murfee's show window, showing the membership cup which district one was awarded in 1934 for the largest increase in number of clubs.

Made Program

Mildred Overall, above, is program chairman of the B. & P. W. club. By coordinating the work of all the committees she has obtained a well balanced program for the year. Printed year books, featuring all club activities, was the outstanding accomplishment of the program committee. Serving on this committee with Miss Overall are Anna Mae West and Jean Bagdadie. Miss Overall is also corresponding secretary of the club.

JUDGE GRANTS INJUNCTION IN NARCOTIC CASE

RESTRAINS POST JURY FROM INVESTIGATING SHOOTING

FORT WORTH, March 21. (AP)—Federal and state officials today opposed each other in the investigation of the slaying of narcotic agent Spencer Stafford at Post, Texas, Feb. 7.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson granted a writ of injunction restraining a Garza county grand jury investigation and trial in the 106th district court of Sheriff W. F. Cato, who said he shot Stafford in self-defense.

While the federal grand jury was investigating the case, the district court grand jury at Post likewise was looking into the matter, and notice of the injunction brought a bitter word of resentment from District Attorney G. H. Nelson of the 106th district court.

The injunction named eight persons who allegedly were attempting to impair and delay jurisdiction of the federal court by obtaining a speedy state court trial and short term conviction or acquittal.

Those named were G. H. Nelson, Tahoka district attorney, Walter B. Scott and W. P. McLean, Fort Worth attorney, William Eisdose, Charles Crenshaw and George Dupree, Lubbock attorneys, Sheriff Cato and H. C. Smith, Garza county attorney.

Served with the notice of the writ last night, Nelson said he had offered his assistance in the case and that he was not fighting the federal government nor "trying to obstruct justice."

Nelson said the grand jury had started an investigation of the case at Post because a murder complaint had been filed. He added that two of Sheriff Cato's grand jurors were grand jurors at the Post investigation.

Cato's trial on the murder count has been set for May 20 in United States district court at Lubbock. The grand jury here planned to continue its investigation.

By BYRON PRICE

They will not acknowledge it openly, but various administration advisers are making plans on the assumption that a bonus bill for world war veterans will be passed over a presidential veto.

Until quite recently, the Roosevelt men had been confident they had the proposal beaten. They banked chiefly on the senate, however, and the situation there has been changing steadily.

The republicans generally have agreed that this is one of the issues on which they can afford to stand against the democratic administration. The left-wing democrats are out of control. A third group which will vote for the bill is composed of democrats who ordinarily would be with Mr. Roosevelt, but who feel that in this one instance they must be with the organized veterans.

The combination of these three senate elements has been too much for some, at least, of the administration stalwarts. They are ready to give up.

It is still the conviction, or at least the strong hope, of these leaders that no mandatory inflation provisions will be attached to the bill when it emerges in final form.

A forced issue of some $2,000,000,000 in new currency would, they say, seriously derange the whole administration plan for treasury management. The step would be so far-reaching that those who oppose it think its advocates can either be reasoned or frightened off.

The tentative plans now being discussed—and apparently none has been adopted—are based on the belief that the final bill will leave the financing up to the president. Several alternatives are possible.

Mr. Roosevelt could ask congress for new taxes to provide the $2,000,000,000 needed to pay off the bonus certificates. No one sees any likelihood, however, that congress

Birthday Ball Leaders Credit Nation's Newspapers With Success of Campaign to Aid Paralysis Victims

New York.—To America's editors and publishers goes the lion's share of credit for the success of the 1935 Birthday Ball for the President.

While a small army of accountants continued at the herculean task of compiling returns from the parties this year, Col. Henry L. Doherty, chairman of the national committee, paid tribute to the nation's newspaper editors, publishers and national advertisers for their role in the campaign which ended on Jan. 31 with more than 7,500 celebrations throughout the country.

The proceeds go to the nationwide war on infantile paralysis. With the editors and newspapers forming the backbone of what has been called the greatest mass promotion campaign since the World War and with business leaders contributing liberally of their newspaper advertising space, their time on the air, and even their merchandise, the 1935 Birthday Ball, Col. Doherty said, has broken all records for peace-time concentration of America's resources on a single objective.

In 4,000 cities and towns, editors of daily and weekly papers alike kept the pot boiling merrily. The two great telegraph companies conducted a unique campaign in which they collected quarters from persons wishing to send birthday messages to President Roosevelt and turned the entire proceeds, expected to total $50,000, over to the Birthday Ball treasury. An automobile manufacturer contributed a President model to the Birthday Ball for the President and saw it auctioned off to Laurance Mayer, Manhattan business man, for $1,600, the sum going to the Birthday Ball Commission for Infantile Paralysis Research. Grover Whalen, nationally known New York business leader, organized a Committee of American Business, members of which staged a $1,000-a-plate birthday dinner in New York for the fund.

The photos show (upper left) copydesk of the New York World-Telegram, one of the thousands of papers which actively backed the campaign. (Upper right) Elise Ford, who posed for the Howard Chandler Christy Birthday Ball poster and took a leading part in a national radio hook-up contributed to publicize the celebrations. the money market. Administration critics have been saying the government's credit cannot be strained much further. This Mr. Roosevelt's partisans dispute, yet they manifestly have no relish for piling on another $2,000,000,000 now.

Altogether, it is a prospect of serious potentialities. No hint of the final outcome is expected for some weeks. Doubtless the administration will make good use of the threat of increased taxes, but with congress manifestly unwilling to take that way out, some other must be found eventually.

And the economic side of the case is only one of several aspects. The political side, with its difficulties and its potentialities, may turn out to be even more interesting.

would pass a tax bill of such proportions.

Or he could, unless some technical barrier were raised, use $2,000,000,000 of the $4,880,000,000 which the administration still expects to get—in spite of the present controversy—for work relief. That course also would have its obvious drawbacks.

May Use Tax Threat Finally, he might propose to borrow the money, adding another $2,000,000,000 to the public debt. Already the treasury is heavily in

DUST CAUSES PNEUMONIA IN KANSAS DEATH

FLOATING DIRT MOVES TOWARD ATLANTIC SEABOARD

KANSAS CITY, March 21. (AP)—Stifling dust storms shrouded the advent of spring from Eastern New Mexico east today.

Powdered soil—white, yellow, red, and black—whipped up from the drought-scoured prairies by equinoctial winds, hampered traffic, closed schools, hid the sun with a veil three miles thick and spilled across the Mississippi eastward bound.

Nauseating to many, it beat relentlessly upon the senses of taste, touch, sight, and smell as if in acceptance of a challenge in the grim jest of an Oklahoma old-timer: "Let 'er blow—it takes grit to live out here."

Physicians said inhaling of dust caused the pneumonia to which 2-year-old Joseph Bernard Meier succumbed at Hays, Kansas.

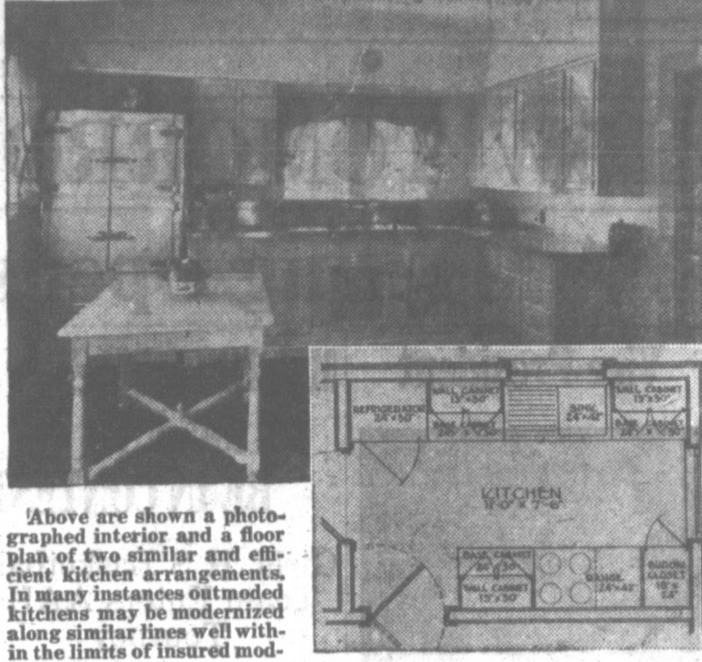

A dozen other deaths, due to suffocations, dust-induced pneumonia, and traffic accidents, were charged against disturbances over affected states in the past week.

A fringe of the dust storm reached Chicago last midnight, sweeping into Illinois behind rain and hail which killed chickens and smashed windows at Jackson and injured a field worker near Greenfield.

The weather bureau at Washington reported dust clouds were hanging over the Atlantic seaboard. Schools closed in several communities of western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

Freight trains rolled to sidings at the height of the storm and passenger trains traveled through semidarkness under slow orders. Low visibility grounded planes at many points. Motorists drove with headlights on—the bulbs shedding a feeble blue glow in the haze.

Wheat prices jumped from 2 to 3 1/2 cents a bushel as winds cut into dry southwestern fields. Gov. Alf M. Landon, of Kansas, appealed to President Roosevelt for federal aid and the AAA, in a move Secretary Wallace described as intended to protect consumers, lifted restrictions on the planting of spring wheat.

Livestock suffered in the storm. Dust drifts covered fences in southeastern Wyoming. Kansas City observers found dust at an altitude of 16,000 feet.

Statistically minded victims had a lot of fun in jotting down assorted facts on paper flimed with dust. Mrs. John A. Turnbull, Maple Hill, Kas., got a broom and blanket when the storm got to going, swept off a space of 25 square feet on her front porch, weighed the collection and found she had a quarter of a pound of red dirt.

Amarillo Helium Plant's Future Is Big Question Mark

AMARILLO, March 21. (AP)—The recent loss of the giant dirigible Macon has formed a big question mark over the government's helium-producing plant here.

If the United States discontinues constructing lighter-than-air craft will the plant be closed? Will the United States, the only nation known to have sufficient resources of helium, decide to sell the non-inflammable and non-explosive gas to foreign countries? The helium plant, operated by the bureau of mines, department of the interior, represents an original outlay of about $2,000,000 for buildings, equipment and gas leases. Since it began operation in 1929, it has supplied army and navy airships with buoyant helium and now has a peak capacity of 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas annually.

After the Macon disaster President Roosevelt told newsmen at Washington that the government received many requests for helium for other than airship use. The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 includes an estimated appropriation for the plant.

Rep. Marvin Jones of Texas recently proposed that if the government builds no more dirigibles the helium in the vast Texas Panhandle field be sold for commercial purposes or to other nations.

PLANS PUSHED TO BUILD UP ARMED FORCES

NO COMMUNICATION IS SENT TO REICH, OFFICIALS SAY

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—While the Roosevelt administration weighed the question whether to protest Germany's arming in violation of her peace treaty with America, the house military and naval committees laid plans today to push forward measures to increase the nation's armed strength at sea, on land and in the air.

On the question of the reich's action, some administration officials appeared to be torn between two ideas. Privately, officials conceded that it was safe to assume this government was provoked by Germany's action; diplomatic advisers were known to feel that grounds for representations to Germany existed.

On the other hand, there was said to be a strong desire in the administration to avoid anything that might entangle the United States in European trouble. On capital hill there is known to be strong sentiment that this country should keep out of any crisis abroad.

It was stated definitely that this government had dispatched no communication to the reich.

Meanwhile Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) said the naval committee would attempt to bring before the house, immediately after it acts on the bonus bill, to amend the act to strengthen its Pacific bases, obtain enough officers for a treaty strength navy, and train sufficient flyers to man an expanding air force.

Chairman Rogers (D., N. H.) of the military sub-committee on aviation, called hearings for Friday on a bill to set up powerful army aviation bases at strategic points in the United States, Alaska, and the Panama canal area.

Other sub-committees were planning to advance their hearings on a $405,000,000 army modernization program.

Vinson quickly denied that attempts to speed the naval program might be influenced by Germany's act. Privately, however, several house members let it be known they considered it a good idea to put the rest of the world on notice this country was ready to take steps "against any eventuality."

Governor Issued No Full Pardons Since Term Began

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP)—Names of 100 violators of furloughs were made public today Governor James V. Allred in an effort to have local officers pick them up.

The list included 61 persons who had been furloughed from the penitentiary and never returned, 15 who had been furloughed after conviction but never received at the penitentiary, and 24 who received furloughs while in jail before being committed to the penitentiary.

Fourteen of the violators had been convicted of murder. Other offenses included robbery with firearms, assault to murder, burglary, forgery and swindling.

Simultaneously, the secretary of state's office disclosed that during the first 62 days of his administration, from January 16 to March 19, Governor Allred issued the following clemencies: Furloughs, 11; general paroles, 25; conditional pardons, 4; full pardons none.

For the corresponding first 62 days in her second administration as governor, Miriam A. Ferguson, the secretary of state's office said, granted 136 furloughs, 42 general paroles, 112 conditional pardons and 32 full pardons.

During the same comparative periods, Governor Allred revoked 30 and Governor Ferguson 4 conditional pardons and paroles.

WHAT IS HOME WITHOUT A GARDEN?

FOR VARIETY, SOW ANNUALS
If variety is the spice of life, surely annuals must occupy the same place in our gardens. We have our trees, lawns, perennials, and shrubs always with us, but the annuals, different in shape, size, color and fragrance, lend an atmosphere of diversity, which is but a few short steps to diversion.

Annuals, then, give that perpetual newness to gardens which is the basis of all recreation. Like a lady's hats, they change with the season, and provoke as much interest and conversation. With the hundreds of species and varieties to choose from, no garden need be without a continuous yearly change of color, appearance and fragrance.

They may be used for almost any purpose. Annuals for bedding, edging, border or rockery are in perfect taste. They are particularly useful in out of the way places where spring bulbs have withered away, to fill gaps in the perennial border, to complete a color arrangement which has gone awry. There are annuals for shady spots, dry spots, wet spots, for early spring, mid-summer, fall, and late-fall.

The ordinary run of annuals need little special care. For the most part, they will grow abundantly if planted in good soil and given sufficient moisture. The one precaution is to sow them sparingly, and thin out when the seedlings are still small.

Many gardeners find that specializing in one or two annuals gives them much pleasure. In this way they really get acquainted with a certain family and when new varieties are developed are avidly interested in giving them a try, thus bringing into the garden the variety of contacts which is so important where continued interest is desired.

START FLOWER SEEDS EARLY
The earlier the seeds of annuals which are to furnish the main summer display can be started, the earlier they will begin to bloom and the longer will be their season of beauty. Get seed boxes ready by easy stages, picking them up in convenient depths and sizes as they can be found and then when planting time comes along in March which slides along almost before you know it, everything will be ready for the spring seed sowing bee.

Get in clods of frozen earth from the garden to thaw and dry out to fill the seed boxes. After the soil has thawed and dried, bake it in a hot oven to kill weed seeds and insects that may be lurking in the soil. Stow it away and mix with a little pulverized sheep manure and have it ready to sift into the seed boxes when the time comes.

These are details usually left until the last minute, but their preparation early in the season will go a long way towards making the raising of plants from seeds a success and will do away with the usual delays. If the soil is prepared and sifted and set away, it is a short job to get the seeds planted.

Be on the lookout for panes of glass to cover the seed boxes and pick up a bundle of pot labels to mark the rows when you think of it. Some of the finest small gardeners are made each year from annuals started indoors in seed boxes in a sunny window.

PREPAREDNESS LAWS PASSED BY AUSTRIANS

VEHICLES AND CIVILIAN SKILL WILL BE CONSCRIPTED

BY WADE WERNER
(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press.)

VIENNA, March 21.—Austria took another step toward military preparedness today by tightening and strengthening laws governing the commandeering of private vehicles and civilian skill for military purposes in peace time.

The text of the revised laws published in the official gazette provides for what amounts to universal commandeering of male skilled workers insofar as their services may be needed to further transport of men and materials for army purposes.

The new laws authorize military commanders to requisition automobiles, airplanes, motorcycles, horse-drawn vehicles and steamboats as well as the services of civilians who may be operating or servicing them.

The historically famous Arabian steeds belonging to Vienna's celebrated Spanish riding academy are exempted from such forced services, as are persons who can prove their services are required elsewhere for the public good.

The commandeering of new vehicles in show rooms is not authorized except when the scarcity of other available vehicles is "great."

Rehearsals for the peacetime commandeering may be carried out on a limited scale tomorrow when the industrial district of Wiener Neustadt, south of here, is the scene of air defense maneuvers.

"Enemy" planes will attempt to "bomb" factories, munitions plants and the aqueduct furnishing Vienna's water supply.

Civilians have been ordered to take refuge inside buildings while anti-aircraft batteries, fire departments, Red Cross and anti-gas squads go into action in scores of communities.

ALASKA TO BE FEATURED AT BUSINESS BIENNIAL

Following the northwest biennial convention of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, to be held in Seattle, Washington, July 14 to 20, there will be an eleven day sponsored cruise to Alaska for federation members and their friends. In each of the participating states, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Oregon and Washington, as well as in the other states in the Union, a "Miss Alaska" will encourage interest in the Alaskan trip. Miss Lou Fairbanks of Seattle is the director of the cruise.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Pledge Adopted by the Texas Centennial Committee. "I will think—talk—write—Texas Centennial in 1936. This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

HEARNE, March 21.—With the approach of the Texas Centennial celebrations of 1936, the citizens of Robertson county are preparing for their participation by searching out their historical spots, by beautifying their roads and towns and by preparing to pay honor to the memory of those men of vision who made this part of the state a progressive component of Texas.

Robertson county citizens take pride in the fact that the name of their county is that of Sterling C. Robertson, who is claimed next to Stephen F. Austin, introduced the largest number of families into Texas in the days of the empressors. His body today rests at old Nashville, in Miami county, four miles west of Hearne and just across the Robertson river, the dividing line between the two counties. There is a movement on foot to preserve his memory by the creation of a state park at old Nashville, once a flourishing community, which came very near to being the state capital. Old Nashville, also once was the home of George C. Childress, who wrote the Texas declaration of independence.

On the south, Robertson county is outlined for about 20 miles by the old San Antonio road, over which once Sam Houston traveled to leave the great state capital. Old Nashville, still standing at Wheelock and owned by Mrs. Goode of Houston, who was Miss Florence Cavitt. This old-time mansion is a beautiful place and possesses a wonderful history. Wheelock is capital of the old San Antonio road and there still reside many descendants of the "first families of Texas."

Many Robertson county citizens have enrolled in the Texas Million Centennial club and each community is organized for the Centennial observance and in planning a program of beautification. The county newspapers are being supplied by the historical committee of the county Centennial advisory board with a series of articles concerning pioneers of the county and its historical spots. The schools have been interested in the Centennial movement and various clubs have urged the country's representatives in the legislature to support an adequate appropriation for the Centennial celebrations.

TACTFUL CHINESE

NEW YORK—Out of the Harlem rioting came the story of a Chinese laundryman who shared the fears of other shop owners that hoodlums would smash their show windows. Then the Oriental noticed that negro shopkeepers were painting on their windows with huge, white letters the word, "colored." Up went a sign on the laundry: "Me colored, too." The window was smashed.

LEAGUE FACES GRAVEST CRISIS IN ITS HISTORY

Session Likely Will Be Held Early in April

BY JOSEPH E. STARKEY, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

GENEVA, March 21.—France today officially pronounced Germany's decision to rearm as a potential threat to international peace, asking the League of Nations council to make an immediate examination of the German situation.

The French government appealed to the League of Nations asking it to take action under article eleven of the league covenant which gives members the right to raise questions "affecting international relations which threatened to disturb the peace."

France's appeal, which was signed by Pierre Laval, foreign minister, declared Germany has "deliberately repudiated" the treaties it signed.

The French said that "owing to the gravity of the question" they requested an extraordinary meeting of the council.

International circles described the French note as "solemn" and as broadly raising the issue before the world as to whether multi-lateral treaties can be violated by unilateral action.

GENEVA, March 21.—The League of Nations faces the gravest crisis in its history today, in the opinion of many observers, as a result of France's appeal against Germany's rearmament declaration.

As the French communication asked that an extraordinary session of the council be convened, J. A. C. Avenol, secretary-general of the league, immediately consulted members of the council by telephone concerning the date on which the body should meet.

Generally it was believed the session would not be held until early April.

Some interested powers said they would prefer to have it take place after the tri-power meeting which representatives of Great Britain, France and Italy are expected to attend after Captain Anthony Eden, British lord privy seal, returns from his Moscow visit.

That a grave view is taken here of the recent European developments was indicated by the fact that M. Rosenberg, Russian assistant to the secretary general was summoned suddenly from Moscow last week for consultation.

Geneva feared additional complications may eventuate should German troops enter the demilitarized Rhineland zone. This would immediately bring into play the Locarno treaty of which Italy and England are guarantors.

France's appeal was brought under article 11 of the covenant of the league.

The section describes "any war or threat of war" a matter of concern to the entire league, which when appealed to is empowered to "take any action that may be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

Diplomatic circles saw a broad hint that Germany may demand "rectification" of her frontiers in an article in the semi-official German organ "Volkebund" published here.

Volkebund, which is the organ of the German Association for League Questions, called the Versailles treaty "a product of hatred and war psychosis."

It contended President Wilson desired to leave open the possibility of territorial revision by peaceful discussion and agreement among the states concerned.

A successful German campaign for revision of the map of Europe would strike a blow at almost the last remaining important provision of the post-war settlement.

Peaceful revision of existing frontiers has a frank supporter in Hungary.

Montana Dies Again

A RAPID-FIRE ROMANCE BY EVAN EVANS

Chapter 42 BAGS OF GOLD Estrada put out his hand flat on the table, the palm turned up, in the attitude of one who is about to shake a great offer.

He said: "We should have met before, El Keed and Estrada have things to talk about. And, to be quick and short, Rubriz was carrying away from a place we know about, one-half of a thing which we both had seen."

As he said this, he put his other hand, in an unconscious gesture, over his heart.

"Now, then," said the general, "what Rubriz was taking was restored—to a man who better knew how to use it. What I want to talk to you about is the second half. You can tell me here it is!"

"Not yet!" exclaimed Juan-Silva. "Not a word more to him, my son. I've named my phorce and I expect my money."

He began his cackling, husky laughter. "Twenty thousand—twenty thousand, and every penny of it back unless he talks. Twenty thousand is a fortune, Juan-Silva."

"Thirty thousand," insisted Juan-Silva. "Thirty thousand, and not a peso less. Thirty is what I need and what I must have. It rounds out, it completes everything—it makes me a free man!"

The general glared at him, his mustaches spreading and closing like the whiskers of a walrus.

Still with his glance of hate fixed on the old man, Estrada said: "You have the money, Alvarez; and you have another part, Lascar. Put it on the table."

Each of them picked up from the floor very heavy bags. When they were dropped on the table the heavy wood was shaken by the impact.

"It is here—it is true!" said Juan Silva. "It need not be counted. I trust you, gentlemen. I trust you perfectly. Maria—old fool—wrench—tie up the bags again. Thirty thousand pesos! Thirty thousand—"

"And every cent of it back," said the general, "unless El Keed talks to us!"

"Ah, but he'll talk," said Juan-Silva. "El Keed has seen my little ways in the valley. He knows that I could persuade him to talk!"

"Do you think so?" said Montana, deliberately. He pointed at the other three. "You think, Juan-Silva, that I'll talk to them and tell them what I know about the other half of the emerald crown? Juan-Silva, you think that I'll talk and let them take me away, afterwards, to make sure that what I've told them is the truth?"

The old man held out his two hands. "You," he said, "are children. Perhaps there is no other person in the world who understands how to move the minds of men—and their tongues—as I do. But—we try the soft way first. Shall I talk with him?"

"Alone," said the Kid. "I could make an agreement with you—but alone, Juan-Silva."

"Be careful of him," broke in the general. "This sort of a gringo devil, if he's cornered, would have the pleasure of killing you before he was killed himself."

"But the old man held up his hand and smiled at them.

"Go into the other room. Show them the way, Maria. Give them drinks. My friend, El Keed, will talk with me alone. Perhaps we shall persuade one another to something worth while."

The general, nervous, glancing over his shoulder, left the room, shaking his head as he went. Maria passed it with them and closed the door, her tray of drinks shivering with a musical tinkling.

"Now?" said Juan-Silva, waiting. "If I go with them," said Montana. "I go to my death. I want a price for that, just as you want a price for my talking."

"What price do you ask?" inquired the old man.

"Rubriz and Brother Pascual," Juan-Silva smiled. "El Keed is a good friend. If he is set free, if the men set free if they are sent out of the Valley of the Dead—that will men say of me?"

"You are leaving, yourself," answered Montana. "You have the money there that rounds out your fortune."

"True," said the old man. "But the valley remains as the source and the back log of my fortune. It must always be cared for tenderly—by me while I'm here, and by my lieutenants after me. But if Rubriz and the friar are set free—then you talk."

"After that I can say a few more words to you—and perhaps then I can talk with Estrada. I can tell him exactly where to find the thing he wants."

"Good," murmured Juan-Silva. Maria had come into the room. "Call Emilio," and Juan-Silva. She brought a guard instantly to the farther door.

"Get Rubriz and the friar," commanded Juan-Silva. "Knock off their chains and their steel collars, and bring them here."

The guard opened his eyes, backed through the doorway, and was gone. After that, for a long moment, Juan-Silva fingered the fat sides of the bags of gold. In his bright eyes there was more life than ever.

After this long pause there was a tapping at a door and a guard appeared to announce: "They are put in the next room, señor. Both of them are there."

The Kid stood up from the table. "I've heard that they're in the next room. Let me see them first, to make sure. Then I'll tell you the rest, Juan-Silva—"

He had turned his back while he was still speaking, when he heard behind him a rushing and a flopping noise, like the beating of wings, and a little rattling like the sound of dice in a box.

He whirled to see Maria with her hands fastened in the throat of old Juan-Silva. He was vainly beating at her face, tearing at her wrists with his claws, while as she shook him the teeth rattled together in his gaping mouth.

The Kid ran for the struggling pair, but before he reached the spot, Maria had jumped back and run from the room, leaving the old man with his head fallen on his neck and a bloody froth on his lips.

He crumpled, small as the body of a child, his head resting across his arms on the table.

The Kid was certain that this was death, but as he leaned over the body he heard a last faint whisper: "And the damned shepherds freeze their feet in the frost outside—"

The last thought of Juan-Silva was, in his grim way, a happy one. He began to slip sideways in his chair, and when the Kid straightened the body again, the head fell loosely and dead, dim eyes looked up at Montana with an abstracted amusement.

And then the Kid thought of two things—the carriage which waited in the patio with the four steaming white horses, and that singular gesture of Estrada towards his heart when he spoke of the lost emeralds of Our Lady of Guadalupe.

He was instantly at the door in the corner, and wrenching it open, he looked in on Brother Pascual and Mateo Rubriz. They leaped up at the sight of him.

"I knew!" cried the friar. "I told Mateo that it was your work. I knew—"

"Peace, peace, Pascual!" exclaimed Rubriz, and he raised his hand to command the silence, and waited for the words of the Kid.

"Juan-Silva sits dead in the next room—a woman was the finish of him," said the friar. "In the room beyond that sits Estrada, and Lascar and Major Alvarez beside him."

William Boyd, Actor, Is Dead

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., March 21. (AP)—William Boyd, stage and motion picture actor died last night at Hollywood hospital.

The actor, often confused with the blonde William "Bill" Boyd of the screen, died from gastric hemorrhages developing from an intestinal ailment.

Boyd came to Hollywood to act in motion pictures after gaining fame on the New York stage.

His death came unexpectedly, the actor having entered the hospital last Wednesday for treatment. His condition was not considered dangerous until last night, when the hemorrhages brought his death.

His greatest success on the legitimate stage was in "What Price Glory." He had played numerous "villain" parts on the screen.

He was born in New York and was 45 years old.

Miss Lena Madson Phillips, president of the International Federation of Business and Professional Women will broadcast through station WEAF of the National Broadcasting company on March

WATCH KIDNEYS SAME AS BOWELS

Wash Out Your 75,200 Feet of Kidney Tubes

Your bowels contain only 27 feet of intestines, yet the kidneys contain nearly 19 million tiny tubes or filters which would measure 75,200 feet if laid end to end. Therefore, it is just as important to watch the kidneys as the bowels. Kidneys are working all the time and are one of Nature's subtle ways of taking the acids and poisonous waste out of the blood.

Healthy persons pass thru the bladder 3 pints a day and get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter. If you pass less than this, your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes may be clogged with poisonous waste. This is a danger signal and may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swollen feet and ankles, rheumatic pains and dizziness.

Kidneys should be watched closely and need clearing out the same as bowels. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS, an old prescription, which has been used by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help to wash out your 75,200 feet of kidney tubes. Get Doan's Pills at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-Milburn Co.
