DRINK UP THAT MILK! — "We have to get rid of the milk," commented Red Newell (right), a dairy worker at Swihart's Dairy near Canonsburg, Pa. GOP Group Seeks Probe of Handling Of Amerasia Inquiry

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Twenty Republican senators today asked a congressional inquiry into the Justice Department's handling of the 1945 Amerasia secret documents case.

On behalf of himself and 19 others, Senator Capehart (R-Ind.) introduced a resolution for an investigation by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

A foreign relations subcommittee now is looking into the five-year-old case as part of its general inquiry into charges by Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) of communism in the government.

The GOP resolution would direct the judiciary committee to "conduct a full and complete study and investigation with respect to the conduct by the Department of Justice in the investigation and prosecution of the defendants in the so-called Amerasia case."

The case involved discovery by federal agents of hundreds of secret government documents in the New York headquarters of Amerasia, a now defunct magazine.

There have been charges in Congress of "cover up" and "white wash" in prosecution of the case five years ago.

The prosecution brought fines against two persons. One was Philip Jaffe, editor of Amerasia, who was fined $2,500 on a charge of conspiracy to get illegal possession of government documents.

The foreign relations subcommittee had Jaffe before it yesterday but he refused to answer most of the questions put to him. He declined, among other things, to say whether or not he has ever been a Communist. The committee is considering contempt proceedings against him.

Wheat Producers To Contribute Part Of Grain Receipts

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — State police, acting on orders from Governor James H. Duff, put reinforced patrols on the road today to protect milk truck movements in a seven-county dairy strike area.

The governor acted quickly yesterday after reports of dumping of truckloads of milk by armed picket bands in the five-day-old walkout.

The violence occurred between Vanderbilt and Flat Woods, Fayette County, and near Canonsburg, Washington County.

Truck Driver O. W. Rittenhouse reported he was hit by armed pickets at Vanderbilt.

Rittenhouse said the men forced his truck onto a side road and dumped its load of milk. Burlap bags covered license plates on the pickets' autos, he said.

Gov. Duff declared in a statement that these were acts of criminals. They were as criminal as the acts of bandits and will be treated as such.

Meanwhile, dairy representatives in Washington promised to come up with a proposal for ending the three-day-old milk strike in the nation's capital. Rep. McMillan (D-S.C.), chairman of the House District of Columbia Committee, arranged to confer with counsel for the district's corporation.

An 11-hour union-management meeting broke up last night with no action taken on a union compromise suggestion. No details were disclosed.

Czech Given Okay To Remain in U.S.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States today gave Vladimir Houdek, former Czech representative to the United Nations, permission to remain in this country.

The action was taken on grounds that Houdek might have to pay with his life if forced to return to Communist-run Czechoslovakia.

Houdek broke with the Czech government and resigned his UN post on May 16.

Houdek's case differed from that of other Soviet satellite diplomats given asylum in this country.

Although breaking with his government, Houdek himself has not openly renounced communism. U.S. immigration laws forbid admission of communists. There is a section of the immigration laws which says no official of a foreign government may be forced to leave this country unless the secretary of state consents.

Acting under it, Acheson withheld consent for Houdek's deportation and so gave him permission to stay here.

Red Cross Chapter Officers Selected

The Pampa Chapter of the American Red Cross met last night and elected new officers.

Designated chairman was Dr. Douglas Nelson and vice-chairman "Finky" Sims.

Treasurer is Joe Fischer, secretary, Mrs. W. R. Campbell. The new Red Cross chairman is Larry Fuller.

In addition to officers named to serve one year, three new board members were named to three-year terms. They are: Dr. Nelson, Dr. O. W. Carter and Mrs. Campbell.

Fight Pledged By McDonald

AUSTIN — (AP) — J. E. McDonald today planned to get a court order to write his name back on the July 22 Democratic primary ballot.

The state executive committee yesterday scratched McDonald on political disloyalty charges. They were based on the veteran agriculture commissioner's admitted support of the last three Republican candidates for president.

McDonald stormed into the committee meeting when he heard the action was cooking, to protest that he was not disloyal. He said he was a "lifelong Democrat" so far as supporting state ticket nominees was concerned. He said his vote in presidential elections was determined by the stand of the candidates on farm issues.

"If I can't let the people of Texas know what I believe, then I'll go back to the farm," McDonald told the committee. He has been elected commissioner of agriculture ten times on the Democratic ticket and is seeking an eleventh term.

The unanimously adopted resolution striking McDonald's name from the list of certified candidates said in part: "We find as a fact that he has over a long period of time violated his pledge to support the nominees of the Democratic Party, and by reason of his consistent infidelity to the party, we find that when he takes the pledge at this time that he does so not in good faith and therefore he does not come before this committee with clean hands."

The committee's charges included an allegation that McDonald actively supported McConaughy of Pampa, Republican who won the special congressional election in the 18th District May 6.

The committee in a daylong session yesterday also:

- Picked Mineral Wells over San Antonio as the site for the September convention. The vote was 28 to 24.
- Adopted 19 to 17, a resolution condemning Texas legislation for their firm stand against enactment of a compulsory fair employment practice act.
- Adopted unanimously a resolution commending the School Land Board for its "unflinching fight" to retain Texas title to the tidelands.

McDonald said he believed the state Supreme Court's interpretation of the loyalty obligation in the Love versus Wilcox contest in 1929 would uphold his position. The effect of that decision was that a candidate's past actions in supporting the nominee of another party should not control so much as his present intentions.

George Sergeant of Dallas, attorney for the committee, said he believed there was a difference between the McDonald case and (See FIGHT, Page 2)

Indictments Charge Theft and Forgery

Indictments charging theft and forgery were returned yesterday by the Gray County Grand Jury against Gerald E. Womack and J. B. Webb.

Womack was indicted in the theft of oil field equipment from the night of June 7 in a darkened hotel room at McLean. He was dishonorably discharged from the United States Army after serving time at Fort Leavenworth.

Webb was indicted in a $500 forgery on two counts — first, forging a check on P. M. Bruce with a First National Bank of Shamrock check; the second, for passing the forged check on Maurice Millanax.

Webb was given a two-year sentence Saturday by 31st Dist. Judge Lewis Goodrich in Wheeling for a similar offense. He was being held in the Wheeler county jail when Chief Deputy Sheriff Norvell Redwine and Constable Bill Lanley arrested him late yesterday afternoon and brought him to the Gray County jail.

Remington's Bail Is $5,000

NEW YORK — (AP) — William W. Remington, indicted yesterday for a perjury indictment charging him with lying when he denied to a federal grand jury that he ever was a Communist.

Federal Judge John W. Clancy set July 5 for naming of the bail date. Remington resigned from his Commerce Department post after being threatened with ouster proceedings.

Clancy set $5,000 bail for Remington and gave him two days to raise the bond.

Remington's lawyer, Bethuel Webster, told the judge professional bondsmen have refused to post bail for the defendant because "a loyalty question is involved."

He told reporters later 14 surety companies had been asked to put up bail for Remington and all had replied they would post bond "for prostitutes and murderers but never where loyalty is questioned."

Clancy set the $5,000 bail for Remington and gave him two days of grace after Webster said.

"The defendant has got to arrange for cash or collateral. He (See REMINGTON, Page 2)

Tideland Measure Action Is Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rebutted by recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions, advocates of state ownership of oil lands under the marginal seas took their fight back to Congress today.

They asked the House Rules Committee to set an early date for House consideration of a measure giving the states clear title to the so-called tidelands.

Approved already 16 to 10 by the House Judiciary Committee, the bill undoubtedly will be scheduled for House action this session.

A check of the 12-man rules committee indicated at least 8 favor state control and ownership. Two are known to be against the measure and two are undecided.

Chairman Sabath (D-Ill.) is one of the foes of state-ownership. The bill similar to one vetoed three years ago by President Truman, gives the states title to the off-shore lands for a distance of three miles. In the case of Texas the state ownership zone extends three leagues, roughly 10 1/2 miles, from the Gulf of Mexico and out 5 to 6 miles along the Pacific Coast.

At the edge of the continental shelf the seabottom drops off precipitously.

Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) suggested yesterday that off-shore oil production be continued on their present leases until the issue is settled. He said he saw no prospects for Senate action this session.

O'Mahoney said he intends to discuss the matter with Attorney General Tom C. Clark and may offer a resolution designed to carry out his idea.

Under such a resolution the Interior Department would be put in charge of oil and gas leasing and explorations in the off-shore areas. Income should go to the states and federal government on a ratio basis to be worked out after by the courts or Congress.

The Supreme Court ruled last week that the federal government has paramount rights and jurisdiction over the submerged lands off the coasts of Texas and Louisiana. A similar ruling was made in 1947 in the case of California.

The court did not define the exact boundaries of any of the three cases. And instead of using the term "ownership" or "title" the court referred to "paramount rights."

A special master appointed by the court still is working with federal and California state authorities in an effort to determine just where the federal government control begins.

Laborites Say Schuman Plan Unacceptable

LONDON — (AP) — The nation's governing Labor Party called today for Britain to keep out of further programs for European political and economic union until unity-minded continental nations turn socialist.

The strong policy statement, which rejected the Schuman plan for pooling European coal and steel, came as Prime Minister Attlee prepared to explain to the House of Commons later today why his government is staying out of the six-nation talks on the plan June 20.

Though not an official government declaration, the party statement was seen as an answer to critics' that Britain is impeding the progress of European recovery by a "go slow" attitude toward European unity proposals.

The statement, issued by the party's national executive committee, made plain that the socialist government's fear of a merger with Europe may jeopardize their welfare state program of full employment and mounting production through government planning.

It expressed the party's traditional distrust of capitalistic free enterprise.

It also emphasized that, to the Laborites, European unity is not an overriding end in itself. It is Britain's obligations to her globe-girdling commonwealth of dollar-supplying colonies and dominions must come first.

The Laborites made clear their belief that effective operation of joint international planning required socialism in the countries participating. Such planning, they said, "means nothing" unless all industries "fit their investment program into a European plan."

"Nothing less than public ownership can insure this fully," the party statement asserted.

The committee report also declared:

1. That Europe's people do not want a controlling international authority above their individual governments (as the Schuman plan would set up for coal and steel). "National policies must be progressively harmonized or coordinated by consent through cooperation between governments."
2. Formation of a "complete union, political or economic," in Europe is neither possible nor desirable. Sudden elimination of internal trade barriers would "in the short term cause serious dislocation, unemployment and loss of production."
3. The Organization for European Economic Cooperation (OEEC), the European planning group for Marshall aid, "has so far signally failed to..." (See LABORITES, Page 2)

Douglass Summons States Righters To Dallas Meeting

TEXAS STATES RIGHTS DEMOCRATS will meet in Dallas Thursday to map strategy for their group's fight to nullify Supreme Court segregation and tideland rulings.

Curtis Douglass, Pampa attorney and chairman of the splinter party's state executive committee, called the meeting for 10 a.m. Thursday in Dallas' Baker Hotel. Said Douglass:

"The purpose of the meeting is to take such action as may be determined at the meeting to give the rights of the people of Texas against the evils resulting from the recent decisions of the United States Supreme Court on the tidelands and segregation issues."

The chairman said he knew of no other Pampans who would attend the meeting but declared it would be an "open session" because, he added, "we don't hold closed door sessions as the present Democratic State Executive Committee does to listen to the people like India Edwards in a 'schooling' session to socialize the whole country. Our meetings are open so the people of Texas can know what we are doing. We have nothing to be ashamed of, or afraid of, in our deliberations against an increasing socialist state."

Douglass will leave early tomorrow for Dallas to prepare for the party.

The Democratic "schooling session" in Austin yesterday was a closed door meeting with the press invited on one condition: they would not write anything about what the speakers said.

Oil Lease Activity Spreads Northward From South Plains

Lease play, spreading throughout the South Plains area, moved this week into Randall County where some 10,000 acres have been taken up during the past few days, according to Randall County district court clerk.

The play, moving over from Deaf Smith, Oldham and Packer Counties is being dominated by Placid Oil Co. of Shreveport, La. The company has filed in excess of 20 leases and according to Lar, it is understood there are to be more.

There is no apparent concentration of leasing, the play being scattered throughout the county.

Landowners have reported some of the leasees are offering $1 an acre lease, plus 50 cents an acre in annual rental.

The play in the South Plains is being prompted, say some qualified sources, by the recent reef discovery in Hockley County by Honolulu Oil Co. Reef production has been found also in Kent County directly north of Seely. Hockley County is due west of Lubbock.

Oil operators are taking no chances, say these sources. The discoveries in Kent and Hockley have proved that reefs may cover a wide area.

Some operators, in addition to possible reef production, are taking into consideration the relatively low cost of leases in the area. One operator taking part in the Randall play jokingly said he was buying because "it was about the best place in Texas where leases could be bought for $1 an acre."

T. M. Hatfield Services Pending

T. M. Hatfield, a resident of Pampa since 1929, died last night in Hot Springs, New Mexico. He had gone there only a few days before on the advice of a local physician.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Molly E. Hatfield, a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Gates, and one son, Robbie Joe Hatfield, all of Pampa.

Mr. Hatfield was a member of the Harrah Methodist Church. Blackburn-Shaw-Sims was to return the body to Pampa sometime Tuesday.

Funeral arrangements are still pending.

Workman Injured In 30-Foot Fall

A C Parsley, 20, sustained face lacerations, an eye injury and a fracture to his back when he fell from a work platform shortly before 3 p.m. yesterday at the First Methodist church annex.

A witness said he fell about 30 feet.

His physician said that the injury to his eye probably did not harm his eye ball.

Parsley was removed to Wesley Hospital in a Duken-Carmichael ambulance.

45 Feared Lost in French Air Mishap

PARIS — (AP) — Air France said today it is feared that all 45 people on board a plane that crashed in the sea off the coast of the Persian Gulf last night.

Survivors include four men passengers, a radio operator and the chief pilot, Jean Fladek, who was seriously injured when the plane came down into the sea three miles off the runway at Bahrain Island after it had already been given landing instructions.

The bodies of four men and two women, all still unidentifiable, were recovered by fishing boats.

Still missing are 39 persons, including one infant.

Wheat Harvesting Expected Shortly

Harvesting of Gray County wheat is expected to begin about Thursday or Friday of this week, it has been reported.

The first cutting will probably be on farms east of the city.

Freeze Rules! Think, Think

JACOBY ON CANASTA

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

You don't want to take a really big loss. This doesn't mean that an early freeze is always unsound. It does mean that such a freeze is a dangerous two-edged weapon. Don't use it unless you're quite sure that you're not going to cut your losses.

For example, suppose both sides need 50 points for the initial bid. The player at your left is leading. You have 100 points. The reason for all this caution is that during the early stages of a hand you can lose a trick or two among several different lines of play. One way to lose a trick is to have a quick suit. Another way is to have a quick suit. Another way is to have a quick suit.

Once you freeze the pile you don't have to worry about it. In a very real sense, you can either have the pile of your possession — or you can't. It's getting desperately hard to get the pile away from you. If you haven't, the odds will probably be a major disaster for you.

That is why you should freeze before freezing. You can afford to take a small loss on any hand.

Water Problems in Texas Are Checked By Army Engineers

DALLAS — (AP) — The Fort Worth district Army Engineers office has been authorized to study most of Texas for possible water conservation developments.

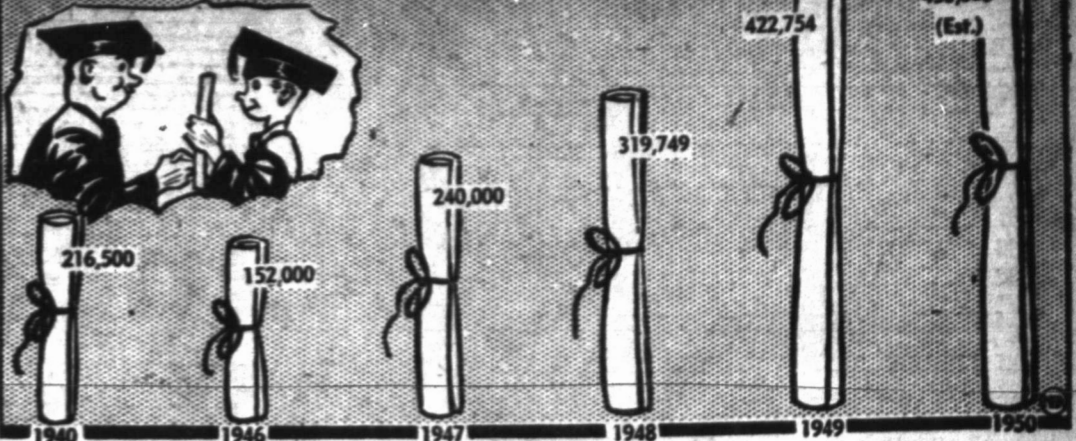

Lt. Col. Delbert B. Freeman, head of the Fort Worth office, made the announcement Tuesday night. He said the study will include the watersheds of these streams: Colorado, Sabine, Trinity, Buffalo Bayou, Neches, San Jacinto, Nueces, Guadalupe-San Antonio and Brazos.

Freeman said about half of the $350,000,000 in reservoir and local improvement authorized by Congress for the Fort Worth district has been started.

The first flood protection to the Fort Worth-Dallas area will begin with closure of Benbrook Dam this summer, he said. Before the contract-letting June 20, the first mile of Fort Worth floodway clearance will get underway.

Freeman said the engineers will let a contract June 27 to clear a 20-mile stretch of the Trinity and its treacherous West Dallas Bend.

COLLEGE GRAD CROP GROWS

Graduates are pouring out of the nation's colleges in ever increasing numbers, this year's crop being an estimated record 450,000. Today there are about 4,500,000 living college graduates; some scholars predict that 20 years from now there will be 10,000,000 to 15,000,000. One result is increased competition for jobs among graduates, with more and more beginning jobs requiring college degrees.

The court granted a preliminary injunction to the strikers against picketing workers in other counties from interfering with non-strikers in Westwoodland County.

Witnesses at the hearing on the injunction testified that the strikers were picketing through the county, stopping milk trucks, raising workers and even stopping trucks of a private highway leading to a dairy.

Union spokesmen said that the court order has been violated.

European economic recovery was based on international planning for full employment, social justice and stability. But international planning can only operate on the basis of national planning. And many European countries have not yet shown the will or the ability to plan their own economies.

In this latter respect, said the statement, the French proposal to plan the steel and coal resources of Western Europe as a whole presents a radical change which scientists will be the first to welcome.

The party committee that the national planning of iron and steel is the key to economic recovery, but asserted that such planning will be more successful if it is applied to the entire economy of the world, not just to the steel industry.

The party declaration dismissed the idea that Europe could form a neutral "third force" between the United States and Russia, an idea spurred in some European quarters by the Schuman plan. Neutrality, said the Laborites, was impossible so long as the Soviet Union recognized an alternative between "slave and enemy."

After a government, facing new tests of its shift majority, as Parliament reassembled after an 11-day vacation for seven weeks, a strike was expected to postpone debate on its stand toward the Schuman plan until after the Paris talks on the proposal.

Britain is staying out of those discussions, in which France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg will plan how to integrate their coal and steel production. Britain said she could not commit her industries to the pool until she knew details of how it would work.

The Love versus Wilcox case that would lead the courts to sustain the committee.

Former State Senator Tom Love of Dallas had supported Herbert Hoover over Al Smith in 1928. When he sought a place on the 1930 Democratic ticket for governor, he had his state Supreme Court ruled his name should be on the ballot.

Another unanimous resolution was offered to backstop the one barring McDonald's name from the ballot, in case the courts rule against the committee.

Its effect would be to ask the next legislature to tighten the loyalty status.

Governor Urges Precinct Interest

AUSTIN — (AP) — Lack of interest in political party action at the precinct level would make it "quite probable" an organized minority would gain control this year, Gov. Allan Shivers said last night.

Shivers urged in his weekly political broadcast that voters attend Democratic precinct conventions the same day as the first primary election, July 22.

He said persons who control precinct and county conventions hold the power at the state level. State conventions certify party nominees, write party platforms and select the state executive committee.

Shivers termed the state committee "the most important political body in Texas because it controls and directs all of the affairs of the Democratic party on the state level."

Salvation Army Reaches Out To Help Greater Number

The Salvation Army last year reached out to bring to more Texans in need its spiritual and welfare services.

Commenting on the state-wide activities of 1949 given in a report just issued, Lt. Col. John A. Morrison, Texas divisional commander, said: "Through the generosity of thousands of Texans who contribute annually to the Salvation Army we are able to serve more people than ever before in our history."

He chose three times from the Salvation Army report for highlighting:

1. The giving of 26,945 Christmas "Cheer" packages to 20,239 others.
2. The provision of aid to 91,189 homeless persons—172,180 nights lodging and 433,519 meals.
3. The growth of the Salvation Army's youth program. During the year 28,576 youth educational and character building meetings were conducted with an attendance of 637,981 — fifty percent above the attendance of last year.

In addition, the Salvation Army in Texas conducted more than 10,000 religious and evangelistic services, provided counsel and assistance to 1,073 ex-prisoners paroled to its care, and provided many other services to those needing a helping hand.

One of the outstanding single events of the year was the completion at San Antonio of a new $275,000 Home and Hospital for unmarried mothers who come to the Salvation Army for help from all parts of the state.

Bank Officials Plead Innocent

SHERMAN — (AP) — Four former Pampa bank officers have pleaded innocent to federal charges of embezzlement and false entries.

No trial date has been set.

The four are Alfred Kidd, Morris Flemming, William H. Snow and Ann Marshall.

They appeared before Judge Randolph Bryant yesterday.

A federal grand jury at Tyler indicted the four Feb. 20 on 33 counts charging embezzlement and misapplication of funds and false entries.

Previous indictments had been returned at Paris. Federal District Attorney Warren G. Moore of Paris said then that the government alleged about $70,000 was involved.

The executive committee made the selection yesterday. The committee will meet Aug. 7 to name temporary officers.

Henry Zurett of Fort Worth, committee chairman, predicted 95 percent of Texas' 284 counties would be represented.

"We'll nominate a full state ticket and some congressional and legislative candidates," he said.

is on the point of getting some money from his mother and he will need at least 36 hours."

Remington remained silent except to reply "not guilty" in a firm voice.

If convicted he would face five years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

The charges were brought after statements by Elizabeth T. Bentley, self-described former Soviet spy ring member, who said Remington gave her information to be passed on to the Russians.

Army, Civilians Disagree on Coast's Atomic Defense

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Civilian leaders and military experts are agreed the West Coast's defense against atomic warfare is inadequate.

But they disagree on who is to blame. The civilians say the federal government and military are at fault. The military blame the civilians.

That plus ominous warnings of the effects of atom bombing — was the tenor of a two-day conference opening here yesterday, with its mayors of Pacific Coast cities or their representatives in attendance.

The conference was called by Mayor Elmer Robinson of San Francisco, who has charged the government with failing to provide adequate information for civilian defense in case of an attack.

Robinson noted yesterday West Coast cities represented at the meeting have a total population of nearly 5,000,000 and "all are within approximately 10 hours flying time of the nearest Soviet air base."

But Lt. Col. W. M. Hanes, Sixth Army planning officer, declared many municipalities had fallen down on the civilian planning effort. He said:

"One of the large bay area cities has nothing but an organization chart, despite repeated efforts of the military."

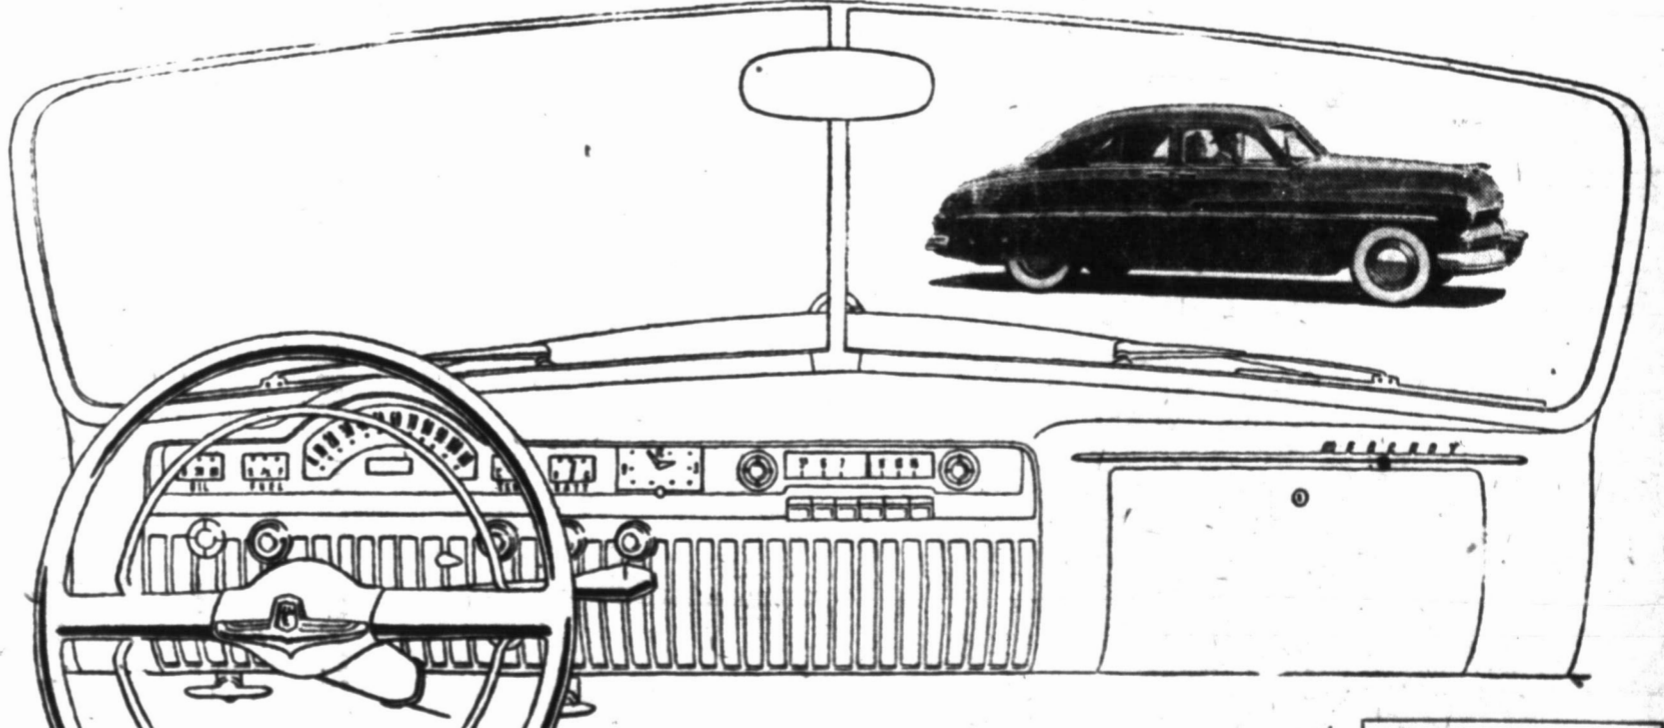

Added to this divergence of views was a gloomy picture by a medical expert who inspected the world's first atom-bombed cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Dr. Stafford Warren, dean of the medical school at the University of Los Angeles in California, said 10 atom bombs could wipe out any city along the Pacific Coast.

Speaking to mayors of cities from Seattle to San Diego, he noted the radius of ruin in the two Japanese cities was from a mile to a mile and a half and then said the new atomic bombs were reported twice as destructive.

Dr. Warren said evacuation would be the only answer in case of an atomic attack, as it is impossible to clean up a contaminated area.

Miss Nova Lee Beesinger and Ted Pardue Marry in Shamrock

McLEAN — (Special) — In an afternoon ceremony, Miss Nova Lee Beesinger of Shamrock became the bride of Ted Pardue in the First Methodist church in Shamrock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. Beesinger of Clovis, N.M., formerly of the Heald community, eight miles north-east of McLean, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westfall of McLean.

The double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. S. M. Dunnam, pastor of the Shamrock Methodist Church, before an altar of lighted tapers and baskets of white lilies.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ice blue lace over satin. The floor-length dress was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and bouffant skirt.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy McMillen celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burl Graham, Jr., 617 Doucette.

Among the many friends extending congratulations were the Rev. H. H. Tyler, Miss Leona Parker, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Stark, Mr. and Mrs. Phil Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. James Washington, Jr. and the host and hostess.

Chrysanthemums in pastel shades of lavender, pink and white graced the home and icing sweet-peas in the same colors decorated the cake. Ice cream, cake, tea and salted nuts were served.

Sparkplug Makes Youngster Lively, After Operation

NEWARK, N. J. — (AP) — Nine-year-old Lamont Huntley had a three-inch sparkplug sticking out of his forehead when they brought him to city hospital yesterday.

Doctors lifted the sparkplug out in an operation that took 1 3/4 hours. It had been embedded half an inch in Lamont's skull, over the right eye.

The boy said a school companion with whom he had refused to share a box of crackers threw the rusty sparkplug at him, and there it stuck.

Doctors reported his condition as fair and said his brain had not been injured.

One Injured Fatally During Shotgun Duel

GONZALES, Texas — (AP) — One man was killed, and another critically wounded in a shotgun battle last night.

Deputy Sheriff L. D. Buchanan said Walter Knabel, about 50, and I. W. (Dutch) Hutcheson, about 80, argued briefly, got shotguns and blazed away from about 30 feet.

Knabel died a short time later, Buchanan said Knabel apparently fired twice. Then, wounded in the right leg and the right side of his stomach, Hutcheson opened fire. His shotgun pellets riddled Knabel's left arm and the left side of his upper body.

SILVER TEA—At 2:30 Thursday afternoon, in First Methodist Fellowship Hall, a silver tea will be given, to which the public has been invited. The offering will be used in furnishing the parlor in the new Educational Building. Following the tea Mrs. M. C. Cooper (above, left) will review the book, "Until the Daybreak," in the church sanctuary. Miss Betty Jane Boynton (above right) will sing several numbers, concluding with "The Holy City."

Groom Chapter Of Eastern Star Installs Officers

The new officers of the Groom Chapter 861, Order of the Eastern Star, were installed in a candle-light service in the Masonic Hall recently.

Picardy gladioli featured the decorations and throughout the hall were bouquets of roses.

Introducing the formal ceremony, Mrs. Virginia Jones and Mrs. Anita Brown lighted the candles.

Mrs. Cleo Nix, retiring worthy matron, called the meeting to order and stated the purpose of the assembly and introduced the installing officers.

Mrs. Nix was presented with a past matron pin by Mrs. Margie Emory. The pin was a gift from the chapter. At that time, Miss Darlene Nix also presented her mother with an orchid and as she started from the East, Darlene and Colvin Wade sang "Memories."

The marshal escorted her to the West, where she took her place as past matron of the Groom Chapter of OES.

Mr. Ernest Jones was retiring patron. The installing marshal, Mrs. Mamie Ritter, called the names of the officers-elect and they formed a semi-circle west of the altar for installation in the proper order.

Lela Jones, worthy matron; C. D. Kunkel, Sr., worthy patron; Annie Reeves, associate matron; Meredith Kendrick, associate patron; Margie Emory, secretary; Mamie Ritter, treasurer; Marion Kendrick, conductress; Lucille Holland, associate conductress; Beatrice Yarberry, chaplain; Rose Fields, marshal; Vernon Morrow, organist; Mamie McCasland, Ad; Emalea London, Ruth; Vera Kunkel, Esther; Maud Andis, Martha; Nettie Fields, Electa; Cleo Nix, warder; and Dr. John London, sentinel.

The worthy matron outlined her plans for the year, using as her motto, "Prayerful Thinking." She presented each of her installing officers with a gift, and appointed her baby grandson, Kerry Jones, as mascot for the chapter for the year. The worthy matron received an OES scrapbook from her installing officers.

The services were concluded by seven daughters of Eastern Stars forming a cross and kneeling while two daughters sang "Near the Cross."

Children Need More Than Love

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE AP Education Writer

Love is not enough for emotionally disturbed children, writes Bruno Bettelheim, in a book just out bearing that title. It is the story of the University of Chicago's Sonia Shankman Orthogenic School where life is made livable again for children who have turned away from a world that brought them too much misery.

According to Bettelheim, head of the school and Associate Professor of Educational Psychology, new methods have been developed for helping delinquent, schizophrenic, neurotic, and just plain unhappy children whose disturbances had failed to respond to all previous efforts at treatment.

"Modern living conditions," he says, "have made it much more difficult for parents to create a setting in which both their own legitimate needs and the needs of their children can be satisfied with relative ease. That is why love alone is not enough and must be supplemented by deliberate efforts on the part of the parent. Fortunately most parents love their children and conscientiously strive to be good parents. But more and more of them become weary of the struggle to arrange life sensibly for their children, while modern pressures create more and more insensible experiences which are added to the life of the child. More and more they are exposed to crowded living quarters, to overstimulating and incomprehensible experiences through radio and television, and have to face almost daily some new gadget they must learn to master or avoid."

Many a tired parent finds himself giving up his effort to put dangerous or breakable things out of a child's reach; to substitute no! no!, or a slap on the hands, for the simpler way of putting things out of reach. "The result is," says Bettelheim, "the frequent and often angry 'nos,' convince the child that finding out things for himself is dangerous and disapproved of by parents; that this is a world full of incomprehensible dangers where the safe thing to do is to do nothing, or only what parents explicitly permit. Often, too, the child is convinced in the end that to try to find out for oneself is something bad. Thus, while the frequent admonition to 'love one's child' is

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

Ex-Boxing Champ LaBarba Now Patrols Sports Beat

By BOB MYERS
 SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Fidel LaBarba is just as serious and conscientious about his new endeavor—sports writing—as he was when he ruled the world's flyweight boxers in the mid-twenties.

LaBarba recently joined the sports staff of the Santa Monica Evening Outlook, knocking out a column several times each week and otherwise patrolling the Southern California sports beat.

He is no stranger to a typewriter. Since quitting the ring he has been closely identified with literary efforts.

About 1924, far from discouraged by a training misfortune that blinded his left eye, ambitious LaBarba crashed the magazine field. A year later, and for about six years thereafter, he labored as a writer and story counselor for an admirer of his fisty triumphs, Darryl Zanuck, at 20th Century-Fox studios.

And a long time before he began serious boxing, he rose from the newsboy ranks to write high school sports for the Los Angeles Times.

LaBarba has never been too far from the fight game, however, and even today his name and the sport go hand-in-glove, to make a phrase.

"After all I owe everything I have to boxing," says Fidel. "If I had it all to do over again, I would do the same things, and I only hope I'd be able to do them as well or better."

Fidel, with pardonable pride, thinks the present crop of young boxers could take a few pages from his career and profit. Take the pages, that is, and add one very fortunate twist.

That would be the fortune of finding a such a teacher and manager as Fidel enjoyed—ring-wise, fatherly George Blake of Los Angeles. "In all our years together we never had a written contract. And we never had a quarrel. Mr. and Mrs. Blake practically raised me," says LaBarba.

The remainder of the LaBarba story consists of the shunned prerequisites—hard work, diligent training and fine schooling in the science of boxing.

As a kid of 14, Fidel boxed at smokers. Then Blake coached him through 100 bouts as a "legal amateur," and on to the Olympic flyweight championship.

in the 1924 games at Paris. Less than a year later, and with only 11 pro fights behind him—he never fought a pro preliminary—LaBarba astonished the fight racket and cleared up a muddled title picture by hammering out a 10-round decision over the leading claimant for the crown, Frankie Genaro. Fidel was 19 at the time.

He was recognized world champ and remained that until he retired, undefeated, in 1927 in a move that, as his life unfolded, was typical of the serious, thoughtful LaBarba.

Fidel wanted an education, so he quit fighting and spent two years at Stanford University.

He emerged from retirement and campaigned in the featherweight ranks until 1932 with success and—but for the eye accident—might have had another championship.

A sparring partner—Fidel doesn't even know his name—accidentally rammed an elbow into his eye. This was on a Monday. It swelled like a tennis ball but he went through with his title crack Friday night in Madison Square Garden against the great little Cuban, Kid Chocolate.

The battle went the 15-round distance. Many thought Fidel won, but the official decision was against him. He soon lost the injured eye entirely.

LaBarba returned to writing. He sold a magazine piece for several thousand dollars, regaling the loss of the eye.

In 1941 he left the studio, went into the Army and spent three years in the Italian theater. He came out a corporal, a husband and the father of a little girl, now four. She was born in Naples and was christened Victory.

Fidel is 44 years old and still dons the gloves to keep in physical trim. He's a barefisted guy mauling a typewriter, however.

Sorrells Wins Duel In Nightcap, 3 to 2 As Sox Sweep Bill

CHICAGO (AP)—Connie Mack, baseball's grand old man, will sit in a special Comiskey Park box, decked with ribbons, at the major league's 17th annual All-Star Game July 11.

Observing his Golden Anniversary in major league baseball, Mack will be an honorary manager and toss out the first ball at the game.

American League President Will Harridge has disclosed that the venerable, 87-year-old leader of the Philadelphia Athletics will be guest of honor at the classic.

Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees and Burt Shotton of the Brooklyn Dodgers will direct the American and National leagues. Each squad will be limited to 25 players. All but the pitchers will be selected in a nation-wide poll of fans which opened today. The respective managers choose their twirling staffs.

Qualifying Starts Wednesday; Ladies Set for Tourney

Qualifying rounds in the annual Pampa Ladies All-City golf tournament will begin tomorrow at the local Country Club, and all scores must be posted by 6 p.m. Wednesday afternoon.

The three-day tournament, which will hold its final rounds Sunday, follows the Greenbelt Tournament which was held last weekend at the Pampa club.

A West Texas Pro-Amateur Tournament is scheduled to be held at the Huber Country Club on Thursday, and P. O. Johnny Austin has announced that all Pampans who wish to enter the tournament should contact him by tomorrow evening.

DURABLE PLAYERS
 NEW YORK (AP)—A total of 28 players in the American League are 10-year men this season, and another 10 will achieve that status before the campaign is over. Like leading of the Chicago White Sox leads the list—he has been in the league since 1930. He is the only Chicago representative. Cleveland and Boston each have seven 10-year players, Detroit has four, Washington, Philadelphia and New York three each, and St. Louis Browns haven't any.

The SARAZLEN SWING

Golfer Has Tendency to Break Wrists From a Closed Stance

By WINE SARAZEN
 Attempting to break myself of the habit of cutting across the ball, I went to the other extreme—the closed stance.

I learned fast. It wasn't long before I owned a hook that had to be seen to be believed.

No professional could correct it. I had to allow for it on all my shots.

One day when I was practicing six-iron shots, I discovered the reason for my hook quite by accident. I hit some balls with the five and the four. My hook became quicker. Then the three. Even quicker. And the two and the one. Smothered!

I was breaking my wrists almost immediately upon starting my club back.

The longer the club, the flatter the swing, the more severe the hook.

There is a tendency to make this error, breaking the wrists, from the closed stance, because the hands are very close to the body when you address the ball.

Cloviss Salvages Final Night, Splits Two With Oilers

CLOVIS—The Clovis Pioneers managed to salvage the final game of their three-game series with the Pampa Oilers here last night by downing their slugging visitors 6-3 in the nightcap of a doubleheader, after losing the first game, 7-4.

Bill Garland, Oiler southpaw, was credited with the first game as he hooked up with another portlander, Joe Borgero, in a pitching duel for five innings. At that point the Oilers broke the loss and went on to win. Consecutive doubles by Fortin and Richardson, after Woldt had bunted safely down the first base line, brought in the last two runs for the Oilers.

Charged with his first loss of the year, Ramon Salgado was sent to the showers by the big Pioneer bats in the fourth when he was lifted for a pinch hitter. He had been in almost constant trouble since the beginning. Mack Hyde came in as reliever, and foundered as he tried to allow two hits and two runs in the two innings he worked. Another Clovis southpaw, Tommy Gallagher won his second game of the year, as compared with the same number of losses, in limiting the Oilers to three hits. He had a no-hitter going until the sixth.

The Oilers play host to the Albuquerque Dukes tonight in Old Park in the first of a three game series and an eight day home stand. Roy Parker is slated to hurl for the Pampans.

WANTS IT BACK
 CHICAGO (AP)—Floyd Baker, fancy-fielding but light-hitting third baseman for the Chicago White Sox, would like to see club officials re-instate the fence they set up in the outfield at Comiskey Park in 1949 to encourage home runs. Baker collected a homer over the shortened barrier just a few days before it was removed. It was his only round-tripper in seven seasons in the American League.

Red Sox Seen To Replace Yankees in AL

BOSTON (AP)—If Boston's Red Sox didn't win any other title this season they probably will succeed the New York Yankees as champions of the American League.

The only regular who has not missed a game so far is Walt Drobot, the big first baseman who got his chance to play for the Sox only because of an injury to another player.

Big Walt has played in all 40 games since his emergency recall from Louisville because of an injury to Billy Goodman. Wait is third top batter of the majors because of pulled muscles in home runs with 14 and third in home runs batted in with 56.

Goodman replaced Drobot last season after the big guy had trouble with American League pitching.

Since his recovery Billy has played every other infield position because of pulled muscles suffered by second baseman Bobby Doerr, shortstop Vern Stephens and third baseman Johnny Pesky.

Clyde Vollmer was obtained from the Washington Senators in a trade for outfielder Tommy O'Brien and pitcher Frank Quinn. Almost immediately Vollmer was pressed into service when Dom DiMaggio aggravated a muscle pulled in spring training.

Al Zarilla, Sox regular right-fielder and left fielder Ted Williams, the majors' top home run hitter, also had to sit out a few contests and were replaced by O'Brien before his departure. Vollmer after the trade and reserve outfielder Tom Wright.

Zarilla wrenched his neck when he turned quickly to make a throw after making a running away catch of a long fly.

Williams suffered a cold in spring training and recently has been playing with a bruised side and a slightly strained wrist, suffered on the last western trip when he banged into a wall while trying for a catch.

Segura New Champ With Kovac Victory In Pro Net Tourney

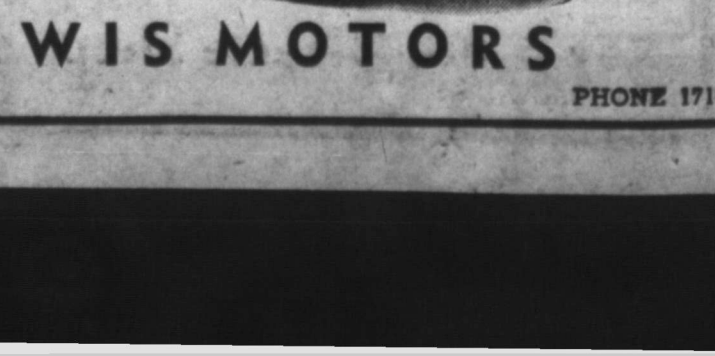

CLEVELAND (AP)—Francisco Segura—a little fellow who wore out and whipped the two best big men in the game, is the new national professional tennis champion.

Five-foot-six, 140-pound Pancho, who will be 29 a week from today, is the first South American to win the pro net crown. He won it by defeating Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., last night in the finals of the 23rd National Professional Tennis Tournament.

Kovacs' six-foot-two, 200-pound physique couldn't stand the pace set by the mighty mite from Ecuador, and the h and o m e Californian suffered leg cramps and called it quits in the fourth set. The first three sets went 6-4, 1-6, 8-6 for Segura.

that this writer has no grievance with Coach Tipps, a fine gentleman and most excellent coach. We are not questioning his motives in the dropping of track.

Garrison refers to our statement that whereas Pampa said it dropped track because weather conditions at Pampa were not conducive to it, that Amarillo had track and its weather was the same as Pampa.

Looking over the records of some of the so-called "football schools," we are just about convinced that they meant what they said and that spring football can be conducted for the general betterment. We are thinking primarily of Odessa.

Odessa last week won its second state spring sports championship of the year when it captured the baseball title. It previously had taken the track diadem.

Amarillo and Abilene are other outstanding examples. Amarillo had strong track and baseball teams and Abilene had a baseball team in the state finals.

None of those schools are allowing spring football to take away from the general school sports program.

If spring football can be conducted without detriment to the other sports then it is well to have it.

But spring football should not make inroads on baseball, track, tennis and golf. When it does so it may mean another referendum in the Texas Interscholastic League to abolish it.

Pampa High School dropped track this year. It substituted baseball.

It was an inopportune time for Pampa to drop track regardless of how sound the reasons were for so doing. It was the year spring training returned with the promises of the coaches that spring training would not interfere with spring sports.

We mentioned the fact that Pampa dropped track. Stan Lambert, publicity director of the Texas High School Coaches Association, fearing repercussions, looked into the matter. He wrote an article for a sports magazine in which he set forth the reasons Pampa gave for dropping track.

That's where we saw the reasons. But Gabby Garrison, writing in the Pampa News, thinks the matter is that of collusion between myself and Putt Powell of Amarillo News to take unjustified raps at Coach Tom Tipps of Pampa High School.

Putt saw the same article in the magazine that we did because he reprinted it in his column.

At the outset, let it be known the average elevation of Colorado is 6,800 feet.

Let's Talk Things Over With Gabby Garrison

Well, it looks like I sorta put my foot in it this time. In looking at the "Texas Shots," by Harold V. Ratliff, the Associated Press sports editor takes me, and my column of June 6, across scorching hot coals and leaves the impression that he either mis-read, or mis-interpreted my writing.

If there is one thing I desire less than getting in a verbal feud with Mr. Ratliff, I don't know what it is. I did not, by any means, attempt to imply that the fellow didn't know what he was talking about. All I meant to say, that he, I thought, had unduly criticized Coach Tom Tipps.

Mr. Ratliff says that I thought the matter was that of a collusion between him and Putt Powell of Amarillo. I did not say that. I merely stated that it would be easy for one to think so, since Powell and Ratliff had been the principle writers in the campaign. Powell, as I realize, likes to write about Pampa, and especially something like this.

Actually, he's probably afraid that since Pampa did drop track, the Texas Interscholastic League will drop spring football from the regular part of high school athletics. But, I doubt if they do. And if they do, I hardly think it will be because one school of scarcely 1,000 students didn't see fit to sponsor a cinder squad.

Mr. Ratliff refers to my statement that Amarillo had "more manpower to have both baseball and track teams." Then he says "Doesn't Amarillo also have more manpower in football and basketball?" Well, Mr. Ratliff, the answer is yes, of course. But, football and basketball come in two different seasons, whereas the Jerry Witte, who was shunted by Dallas after he hit 50 homers last year, showed he still had that potent bat as he slugged his first circuiter since returning to the league with Houston. It came with two men on and highlighted an eighth-inning spurge that netted seven tallies and gave Houston a 10-0 victory over Oklahoma City. Joe Presko allowed the Indians only two hits.

Dallas scored two runs in the ninth to beat Shreveport 7-6. It put Dallas into a tie for sixth place with the Sports. A single by Heinz Becker got one tally and another was scored on an outfield fly. Dallas rapped 12 hits, Shreveport 11 in a parade of pitchers.

The clubs have the same stands tonight with Dallas at Shreveport, Oklahoma City at Houston, Fort Worth at Beaumont and Tulsa at San Antonio.

Last night the Cats were beaten 6-5 by Beaumont. They got 11 hits to Beaumont's seven, but also excelled in committing errors, pitching in with four. It just wasn't the proper combination.

Tulsa licked San Antonio 8-7. It was the Missions' tenth defeat in 13 games. Egan, who Roy McMillan, Walter Post and Jarrett Baumer highlighted a Tulsa 11-hit attack. The crowd got a kick out of a freak play whereby

Suffocation Rare in Death of Children, Physician Testifies

NEW YORK (AP)—Babies rarely suffocate in their cribs, although their deaths often are blamed on smothering, two New York physicians report. Drs. Jacob Werne and Irene Garrow of the Medical Examiners' Office told the New York County Medical Society of their study.

Autopsies show that 25 percent of the infants listed as smothering victims really died from congenital heart disease, bronchopneumonia, meningitis, or mastoiditis, they said. The other 75 percent can be traced to other causes also, they reported.

Dr. Werne said it is virtually impossible for a healthy baby to die of accidental mechanical suffocation. The position of the baby's body at death means very little unless the baby has strangled itself between the slats of the crib, he added.

Can the Point Four Program Bring Health to the World?

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman's Point Four Program hasn't really started yet and no one can say how far it will go, how well it will work, or where it will end.

It's been talked about for 17 months, ever since January, 1949, when Mr. Truman made his inaugural address. At that time he mentioned a number of things he thought this country should do in a world becoming half-Communist.

One of them, which he called Point Four, had this aim: Helping backward countries to a better life and more progress, faster. How? In several ways: With brains, skill and money. We could send in American experts to show them how to grow better crops, wipe out diseases, modernize education, use water power for electricity.

Then American business men could invest money in those countries. For profit, of course. But they'd be creating jobs and helping the people there. Until recently this was all something which was talked about in Congress and the newspapers, but not acted upon. But now Congress has approved the idea.

As approved, the plan calls for this country to spend $35,000,000 the first year. But the approval of the idea is only just that. Congress still hasn't voted the money for carrying it out.

It's expected to do that, too, although we'll have to wait to see whether Congress votes the $35,000,000 or less. Then, a year from now, the whole business will have to come up in Congress again.

It will be handled on a year-by-year basis so Congress can review what's been accomplished and decide whether it will let the plan die and cut off the money or keep it going and vote more money.

About 60 nations are in line for this kind of Point Four help. That is, there are that many which could benefit from such help. But the State Department HAS LIMITATIONS

Driver's License Easily Renewable

The new Texas vehicle operators license, handily printed on the back of a post card, is amazingly simple to get, a state license examiner said here today.

Thirty days before expiration of old license, said W. L. Roberts of the State Department of Public Safety, the driver should mail in the top section of his old license. The correct mailing address is on the back.

Along with the portion of the old license the operator should enclose a money order for the necessary amount of his license, Roberts explained. For the regular vehicle operator, the fee is 7 cents; commercial, $1.00, and chauffeur's license $3.00.

"It will take roughly thirty days to get the new license," the official said. In the meantime, he said, the driver can use the remainder of his old license and the money order stub as a valid driver's license.

Boyle's 'Vacation Room' Solves Madness Problem

NEW YORK — (AP) — Why vacate your home to take a vacation?

Why fight traffic for hundreds of miles to catch poison ivy in the mountains or gather a third-degree sunburn on the beach?

You can have all the discomforts and inconveniences of any ordinary vacation and more — right in your own house.

All you need is the new patented — applied — for Boyle "Vacation Room." It is based on the theory that people go on holiday jaunts because they are bored with having things run right in their own homes. They don't really want rest or comfort. They want hardship and suffering.

Simply call our representative, and turn over one of the rooms in your house to him.

This is how our man will fix up the room:

Two walls will be lined with bunks containing mattresses stuffed with dry cement. Another wall will hold a picture of Waikiki Beach and beneath it will be strewn sand, orange peelings and empty beer cans.

The wall across the room is plastered with a splendid view of the Alps. The floor below is littered with pine cones and spotted poison oak and poison ivy plants.

The center of the room is gray with boulders and scattered nettles. This, of course, is the picnic site.

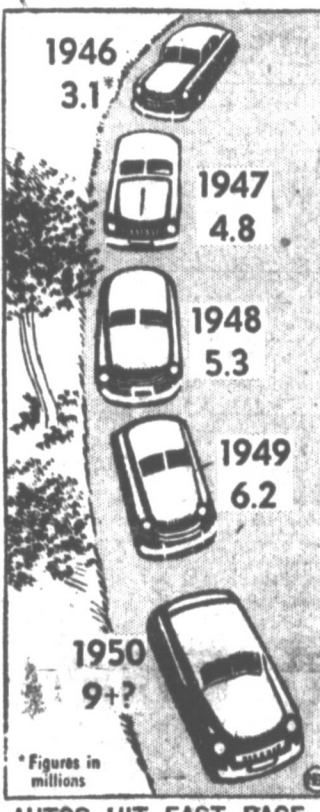

You, your wife, and your children take off your shoes and walk in. Our man quickly opens a series of boxes. Out zoom a million angry mosquitoes and 45 bumblebees. Out slither four snakes. Out crawls a vast colony of ants, a dozen or so spiders and twice that number of beetles.

Our man backs out, locks the door, and begins to turn dials controlling gadgets. A sunlamp begins to burn, the ceiling pipes rain steadily, and a wind machine sets up a tornadoic blast.

At the end of three days — when he can no longer hear the yelps for help inside — our man opens the door. Members of the family are carried out and put into their own beds.

Who is there to attend their aches, pains and ills? Why their own good old cheerful family doctor. In four days he has them all back on their feet, and they can go around bragging to friends:

"You think you had a rough vacation? Let me tell you what happened to us."

Army Chief Says World Peace Is At Nearest Point

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr., said in an interview here yesterday that the opportunity for world peace is greater now than at any time since the end of the last war.

The 37-year-old secretary said "the best thinking is that there is no immediate prospect of war." He added, however, that "there always is the possibility of something happening at any time to throw us into war."

Pace was the commencement speaker at the University of Louisville and was presented an honorary doctor-of-laws degree. He told the record class of 458 graduating seniors that democratic principles were being endangered by the people's lack of interest in government.

Crash Survivor Hopes to Be Pilot

HAIFA, Israel — (AP) — Hishak (Isaac) Allal, 13, the lone survivor of a big air crash in eastern Norway last Nov. 20, wants to be a flier. The lad spends his idle moments making models of planes, automobiles and motorcycles.

The boy, son of immigrants from French Morocco, was one of 28 children and six adults aboard a big airliner carrying Jewish children to holiday camps in Norway last November.

Isaac is the son of Fortuna and Rachamin Allal. They have two other children. The father is a tailor. The family presently is housed at the Sha'ar Ha'Aliya camp near Haifa. Later, the family is to get a house near Bat Yam, south of Tel Aviv.

Pro-Commie Talks By German Minister Church to Query

BERLIN — (AP) — Evangelical Church authorities are investigating recent speeches of the Rev. Martin Niemöller to determine if he is defending communism. Niemöller was a German submarine captain in World War I and was imprisoned by the Nazis in a concentration camp during the last war.

He is now president of the Evangelical Church in the state of Hesse, in the American occupation zone.

Communist and non-Communist Berlin newspapers quoted him making these statements in speeches at Mannheim Friday and at Düsseldorf Sunday: "Whoever condemns the Communists because of their ideology is anti-Christ." "Communists are called to be children of God." "Christ might say today 'the Communists and the harlots may go to Heaven before you do.'"

The press officer for Bishop Otto Dibelius, president of the Council of Evangelical Churches for all Germany and Niemöller's prime minister, said that remarks by Niemöller in the past had put the church in an awkward position.

"If it develops that reports of the recent speeches are accurate, the church council must regard them as a serious matter," he said.

The Protestant Evangelical Church of East Germany is now fighting what it calls Com-

The Needs of Small Business

What small business needs to be protected against the big business and the government, says the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, published in its "Guaranty Trust Co. Survey" of June 1. There is competition between big business and small business. The government serves the purpose of free enterprise. It is a necessary market place. Those who enter the public with a maximum of efficiency are favored over the others. But small business is being squeezed out by big business and the government. The government is not protecting small business. The government is not protecting small business. The government is not protecting small business.

FROM WASHINGTON, D.C. ... BEN GULL Reports to the PEOPLE

The decision of the Supreme Court on the Texas tidelands case made the people back home as happy as if they had won the lottery. They are glad because they have been able to get the land back from the federal government. The decision is a victory for the people. It is a victory for the people. It is a victory for the people.

I have been quoting for several days Ludwig von Mises' article in the Commercial and Financial Chronicle under the heading "The Disastrous Middle of the Road Policy." Since this is practically what the speakers at the Federal Council of Churches of Christ of America's meeting at Detroit advocated, those who believe in it should read what Dr. von Mises says as to how it will destroy our way of life.

Under the sub-heading of "The Second Type of Socialism" Dr. Ludwig von Mises says: "The foremost vehicle for the realization of the second type of socialism is in industrial countries like Germany and Great Britain, foreign exchange control. These countries cannot feed and clothe their people out of domestic resources. They must import large quantities of food and raw materials in order to pay for these badly needed imports. They must export manufactures, most of them produced out of imported raw material. In such countries almost every business transaction is indirectly a condition either for exporting or importing, or by both exporting and importing. Hence the government's monopoly of buying and selling foreign exchange makes every kind of business activity depend on the discretion of the agency entrusted with foreign exchange control. In this country matters are different. The volume of foreign trade is rather small when compared with the total volume of the nation's trade. Foreign exchange control would only slightly affect the control of prices, wages and interest rates, and the control of investment and the limitation of profits and incomes. Evolution of Tax Rates.

WASHINGTON — The Truman Administration's trust-busting policy, which is an inheritance from Franklin D. Roosevelt's colleague "brain-trust," recently suffered such a severe and non-political setback that it has shocked the Fair Deal's radical economic advisers and their cap-and-gown colleagues in the Department of Justice.

Now you take that Rusty Ward and all of his little rain-making friends.

Everytime the president of the Jaycees calls upon his club to throw a carnival in town, it rains. They tried it two years ago and managed to end a long, long period of drought. That time they brought rain insurance, to say the least, by a fraction of an inch to get enough rain to collect.

Two weeks ago they tried again to throw the carnival and made money despite the rain and mud all three days. So last weekend they decided to give it another whirl. And it was a wet weekend, wasn't it?
New York City, are you listening? These boys may be available.

Bid For A Smile

Wife—What did you think of my last chapter?
Action—Too many chapters in it. War, three people die in the first chapter. Widow weeps, it's a sad story, but only pays 50 cents for every chapter.
Action—My dear fellow, why didn't you let the words come to an end at the last chapter?

A lady crossing from France to England was asked by the Customs officer if she had anything dutiable. She assured him that she had nothing but wearing apparel in her trunk, but at the bottom of the trunk she found to her dismay a small tin of tooth powder. She was found twelve bottles of brandy, Officer—Madame, do you call these wearing apparel?
Lady (sweating)—Certainly, these are my husband's nightgowns.

According to police in a California city, "during a recent checkup, more than 90 percent of the traffic violations were by drivers with either red or blonde hair."
I say that if a policeman can't tell whether a person's hair is red or blonde, he shouldn't be on duty — he should be having glasses fitted — or be at home soaking up!

British Writer Gets MacArthur Setback

TOKYO — UP — Frank Hawley, Tokyo correspondent for the London Times, said today he has been advised he is considered a personae grata by General MacArthur's headquarters. The ranking British diplomat here was notified by MacArthur's headquarters that there was no move to request for him to leave Japan.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of the pro-Communist papers in America put a headline "Reverse the tide of the American Legion" in the May 10 issue of the American Legion. The headline is a distortion of the May Day Reports of the Legion. It will be very interesting to see what would happen if the Communist Party, in preparation for the election of 1950, were to take a look at a brand new traffic control gimmick being tried out in Delo. It is a hand car regulated by pedestrians. When it was first installed for a test vehicular traffic was brought to a standstill. Walkers kept punching the buttons for a vote.

SWAMPED!—Wisconsin's varsity crew found the going rough right from the start of its scheduled two-mile race with Washington on Lake Washington. Nearing the mile, the Badger blades, right, were kicking up spray from choppy waves while the shell, loaned them by the home forces, was filling with water. At the mile, with the Seattle boat five lengths in front, Coach Norm Sonju, from a launch, signaled his oarsmen to cease rowing. The Purple and Gold also stopped on orders from Coach Al Ulbricksen, then resumed sweep rowing, and crossed the finish line in 12 minutes and 36 seconds.

Legislation to Cut Cost of Veterans' Insurance Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Legislation to cut the cost of the veterans' insurance program may soon be introduced in Congress. A House Expenditures subcommittee has ended hearings on National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) and hopes before Congress adjourns to come up with specific recommendations for ironing out wrinkles in the program.

Rep. Porter Hardy (D-Va.), subcommittee chairman, made it clear however that the insurance protection of veterans and servicemen who now hold policies cannot be affected. "NSLI policies," he said, "are definite, irrevocable contracts between the government and the insured." But Rep. Hardy may recommend changes in the types of policies to be issued from now on. What they will be he isn't saying until he can study the evidence further.

One likely recommendation might be to reduce slightly on present policies. During the hearings the subcommittee questioned whether the three percent interest paid by the government on invested NSLI fund was not too liberal a subsidy. The Secretary of the Treasury, not Congress, could bring this interest rate into line with the current market rate of 2.2 percent. The subcommittee said the government in this way could have saved $210,000,000 up to October 1949 and still kept the NSLI fund intact.

It also said the high administrative cost of NSLI — which the government pays — could be reduced only by the Veterans Administration (VA). It is estimated that handling each NSLI policy costs $14 a year compared to $5.49 for policies in the five largest commercial companies. It questioned whether the VA

Claude Jarman of 'Yearling' Fame Given 'Adult' Role

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The most famous student of Montgomery Bell Academy, Nashville, Tenn., is back in Hollywood for his first grown-up role.

He is Claude Jarman, Jr., who once played the wistful deer lover in "The Yearling." The reason he is playing a grown-up role is obvious: he is now a towering six feet, two inches.

The blond Southerner is still on the sunny side of 16 years, but in John Ford's "Rio Bravo" he'll play a young man of 18.

"This is the best role Claude has had since 'The Yearling,'" his father remarked at lunch.

"Except 'Intruder in the Dust,'" corrected young Claude. He was obviously enthusiastic about the role.

"Gee, I get an arrow in my shoulder, get horse-whipped and everything," he said with glee. Everything, that is, except romantic interest. He is still too young to make that convincing. The Romance Dept. will feature John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara.

The Jarman's now make Nashville their permanent home and will come to California whenever Claude is wanted for a film role. He recently cut himself adrift from the home lot, MGM, and is free-lancing.

UNDECORATION DAY—Movie Actor Audie Murphy, most decorated American hero of World War II, has given away his 21 medals to kids all over the country. His Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's most prized military award, went to his nephew, Weldon Burns, 8, of Dallas, Tex. He doesn't remember who got most of the others. "There are too many guys who should have gotten medals and never did," said Murphy.

Business Boom Subject of Debate on Its Foundation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — How firm a foundation supports the business boom and the year-old bull market in industrial stocks is a matter of debate.

But today we find a number of leaders going on the record as to the prospects for their specific industries. Most are optimistic.

Oil production in Texas should jump 100,000 barrels a day next month — this is the estimate of the industry's needs by Ernest O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad Commission. Thompson has been looking at the rush of cars off the Detroit assembly lines, at the new diesels, at the smoke of eastern factories powered by heavy oil.

Auto producers say this week will show a new record in the output of cars and trucks. Charles E. Wilson, General Motors president, says the year's output for the industry will go well over seven million units and he thinks "the shortage of cars now is worse than it was last year or the year before."

And even a laggard joins the parade. The women's apparel and accessory trade, unhappy most of the year because retail sales have been slow, now reports merchants doing better in some parts of the nation and store buyers writing orders at the fall market openings of apparel and allied lines.

The business boom has lifted advertising volume and some publishers are worrying about the danger of a newspaper shortage again. But a spokesman for the Newspaper Association of Canada says his mills can keep up with the demand due to increased capacity.

WAITING FOR A GREEN LIGHT—The Rev. Meyer Imperiale of Melrose, Mass., is an ordained minister waiting for a call that will give him a permanent pastorate. In the meantime, he's supporting himself and family by working as a signalman for the Boston and Maine Railroad. Imperiale is seen tending his crossing.

Auditor Urges State School Observe Laws

AUSTIN — (AP) — State Auditor C. H. Cavness said yesterday North Texas College should improve its accounting and purchasing practices.

Purchase of postage stamps for approved department use is not being done in compliance with procedure outlined by state law. Cavness reported in an audit of the school for the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, 1949.

Physical inventories list "evidenced carelessness, both in counting and pricing," descriptions of property often were inadequate, and transfers of equipment and gifts were not recorded, the report said.

"Only occasionally has the college been making purchases through the State Board of Control as required by law," the auditor reported. He noted some improvement since June 1949.

"We do not believe the responsibility for dormitory billings and collections should be left so wholly with the dormitory supervisors — there is now no real internal accounting control between income earned and income collected," the report continued, adding:

"From the above it is not difficult to see that in our opinion steps should be taken to improve the accounting and purchasing practices of the college."

The auditor also reported that the college paid $15,180 in insurance premiums on state property the past fiscal year in violation of repeated rulings by the attorney general that it is against state policy to pay such insurance.

Columbus Not in Spain, Say Genoese

ROME — (AP) — As far as his home town of Genoa is concerned, Christopher Columbus is buried in Santo Domingo and not in Spain. Recent reports from Seville, Spain, said that a burial found there was now believed to be the remains of the Genoese navigator. The burial was in a grave in the crypt of the Church of Santa Maria de las Cuevas.

The Genoese Center for Columbian Studies which specializes in such matters says Columbus was once buried in Seville, but the present finding must be inaccurate. The body was moved. According to the Genoese center, the "admiral of all the oceans" died at Valladolid, Spain, May 20, 1506.

He was buried there. Then his son, Diego, had the body moved to the Church of Santa Maria de las Cuevas in Seville in 1509. But in 1844, or earlier, the body was taken from Seville to the Cathedral of Santo Domingo, in the present capital of the Dominican Republic.

Chinese Guerilla Seeks More Battles

SINGAPORE — (AP) — A 72-year-old Chinese woman, who led 1,000 volunteer soldiers in a last battle against the Japanese on Singapore in 1942 and won three war medals, wants to return to her native China to organize an underground movement against Mao Tse-Tung's Communists.

Tall, lean and bespectacled Madame Cheong Seong Hoe, at that time 64, shouldered a rifle and headed the force which included her three sons and husband. Her sons fell in the battle.

Before Singapore surrendered she escaped across the mile-wide Johore Strait into Johore state, on the Malayan mainland. She joined the Daiforce guerillas and at the risk of her life went round collecting money, food and medical supplies for the underground fighters. The Japanese put out dragnets and finally caught her husband whom they killed.

Puerto Rico Pushes New Dairy Program

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico — (AP) — Puerto Rico has set out to double the island's milk supply through a dairy cattle breeding program. High-grade mainland dairy cattle are being bred with both the native and Asiatic Brahmas cow, producing a cow resistant to tropical pests which gives large quantities of milk.

The average milk yield per cow on the island now is less than half the mainland average, said Commissioner of Agriculture Ramon Colon-Torres. But he expects the average yield to be doubled in the next 10 years, with an increase also in the number of producing cows.

Consumer Income Increases in April

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The nation's unemployment and consumer income pictures showed bright in recent weeks.

The Commerce Department announced that consumer incomes in April hit a $212,800,000,000-a-year rate — $200,000,000 better than the annual rate reached in March.

At the same time, the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security reported a moderate April-to-May drop in joblessness among workers covered by state unemployment insurance laws.

Johnston Says
British Tough
HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Eric
Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, believes that an agreement will be reached for renewal of the British-American film pact which expires tomorrow.
Johnston, just back from London, said yesterday a settlement may be reached during a one-month carryover period from the old agreement, which permits American producers to take a percentage of their profits out of the country.
"I've negotiated with every country, even Soviet Russia," he remarked, "but the British,
with their centuries of experience in the international negotiating business, are the toughest of all."

The LONESOME BRIDE
By Grace Nies Fletcher Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: In order to get evidence to clear her jailed husband in two murders, Gloria Brown has agreed to bring a pie in which a stolen necklace has been hidden to Mrs. Benson, her former next door neighbor, believed to be a police informer. But Gloria expects resistance on the part of the Bensons and someone has a gun to force them to talk at their meeting. Someone has followed Gloria and has just justified her, splitting the contents of her purse on the sidewalk.

XVIII
THE person who had pushed Gloria Brown, and who had presumably opened the clam per purse, was after the necklace, that much Gloria knew. But who?
The Benson? Lofty Gordon?
"Which way did he go?" Sammy the newsboy demanded, doubling up his fists, his own face tortured at the fear on hers.
"It's nothing," Gloria gulped.
"The clam just came undone."
After this, in broad daylight, she had to have a gun for tonight.
"Come on, Sammy, let's go."
As they started toward the Park, she kept glancing right and left, looking for a familiar face, yet half-afraid she'd see one. It would be a comfort to know Hansen was near, but he mustn't hear her talking to Sammy about the gun.
"Keep walking," Sammy advised as they came inside the Park entrance.
They made a strange-looking couple, the girl in her stylish jade-green suit that spelled exclusive shop, sunnier along in her hand's high-heeled sandals. And the newsboy with his shape-less slacks flapping about his skinny legs.
"I need a knight, Sammy," she told him. "Did you ever read about the Knights of the Round Table? Well, I do not need a knight in armor like Sir Launcelot, but I need an armor."
"Come again, I don't get you,"
said Sammy, puzzled.
"I need a gun!"
Sammy whistled, but he did not ask her why she wanted one, she whose husband as he must know from the paper was already wanted for murder; nor did he ask why she couldn't get one herself; none of the obvious questions. He merely accepted the fact that his lady was in distress and needed his help.

"My old man's a night watchman," he told her slowly, "but I dunno. . . He keeps his gun in a drawer in his dresser in his bedroom so the kids won't get it.
I dunno if he's asleep yet. But tomorrow . . ."

THE hand Gloria laid upon his skinny, little boy arm was shaking in spite of all she could do. "If I don't get a gun tonight, my picture may be in your paper tomorrow," she told him grimly.
"Very dead."
He was off like a shot, calling back as he ran, "I'll bring it to your apartment!"
"No, Sammy, wait." She ran after him breathlessly, stopped him to plan. "It wouldn't be safe.
Too many policemen. I'll be in your corner at a quarter of 9 tonight. Okay? It's a matter of life and death, Sammy," she warned.
Sammy turned an anguished white under his freckles. "Okay," he managed to say. He looked very small as she watched him go through the great gates of the Park, running for fear his old man would be gone with his gun. A very small person upon whom to pin her hopes for safety and maybe Miltiades' hopes for freedom, but Gloria had no one else.
At 8:15 o'clock that night, Gloria had finished gressing for her deperate adventure. She wore a dark blue suit, with a dark blue scarf tied over her bright hair. She also wore dark blue sneakers.
"The Shadow," she smiled, looking at her own small figure in the mirror. "Except for occasional curves here and there, she might well be a pal of Sammy the newsboy.
She added a blue suede bag in which to carry the gun and a pasteboard box in which reposed the precious pie.
Gloria cautiously opened her living room window and let her self out onto the fire escape. She flattened herself against the dark wall of the building.
The court, on which the lights shone down from the apartment house windows was a weird checkered pattern of black and white and it looked very far below. But she could see no one there.
She shifted the box and bag to her left arm so her right hand would be free to clutch the railing if the fire escape. The bag, slung over her shoulder, bumped against her legs and the stairway seemed to have developed vast empty spaces through which it might be easy to fall at a misstep.
She clutched the pie closer, hoping that no one would look from his window and yell, "Peeping Tom!" This pie already had branded death to two people and it might well bring the end to her if the wrong persons were waiting at the foot of the fire escape. Lofty Gordon, for instance.
"Oh foolish!" she grunted as the last section of the fire escape started moving. It was sort of a ladder which let down when a person's weight was on it. Like most such gadgets, it stuck and then as she fumbled awkwardly, it came down with a ruddy "clang!"
She waited for a full minute, waiting if it would be with a jerk of discovery to leave the pie on the fire escape or to hurl it through the nearest window and run. But all she could hear was the usual bedlam of blaring radios and an announcer's voice inquiring loudly:
"Do you have that awful pain in your kidneys? Take . . ."
She crept on down the ladder and ran as fast as she could on her silent sneakered feet across the court and into the alley behind and then stood very still, scarcely daring to breathe, for on the sidewalk at the end of the alley were two dark figures, waiting. Policemen? Hansen?

Holding the baby is her mother, Mrs. Robert Oliver. Friends and patients held a giant farewell party honoring the doctor on his retirement.

Type of Sweets
Can Affect Decay MINNEAPOLIS — (P) — The kind of sweets you eat may make a difference in the amount of tooth decay you have. Drs. H. W.
Haggard and Leon A. Greenberg of the Yale University Laboratory of Applied Physiology report sweets that cling seem to be the most dangerous ones, they write in Dental Surgery. The damage is probably slight if the sweets don't stay long in the mouth.
Testing various foods and beverages, they found that peak concentrations of sugar in saliva were reached with caramel candy, orange juice and grapefruit juice. Then came mixed meal, soft drinks, chewing gum, ice cream and crackers.
These were tests of the initial concentration of sugar. How long the high level of sugar lasts also is important, they said. There were quick drops in sugar concentration 10 minutes after the taking of soft drinks, juices, and chewing gum. Crackers, ice cream, mixed meal, and caramel showed much slower drops, in that order. Brushing teeth five minutes after eating caramel candy dropped the sugar concentration to a negligible amount.

Court Scorns Secret Potion

CHICAGO — (P) — A shoe-maker who claimed an "unbelievable" method of predetermining the sex of children was told by a city judge yesterday to stick to his last.

Anastas Calendar, 64, was before Municipal Judge Eugene J. Holland on a charge of distributing commercial advertising in Lincoln Park. The cards he passed out read: "Do you want a girl? My unbelievable method will guarantee your wish. No money accepted until proof. Consult me personally."

The Russian born shoemaker said the "method" was a secret Greek potion given him by a Russian midwife who had predetermined the sex of a son for Czar Nicholas II of Russia.

Judge Holland cut short Calendar's explanation of his method, fined him and ordered his 200 cards destroyed.

Calendar, out of court, told newsmen that if the wife drinks the brew before conception, she will have a daughter; if the husband drinks it, the baby will be a boy.

He appeared hurt when a reporter asked what happened if both wife and husband drank the potion. "You're making fun of me," he said and didn't answer.

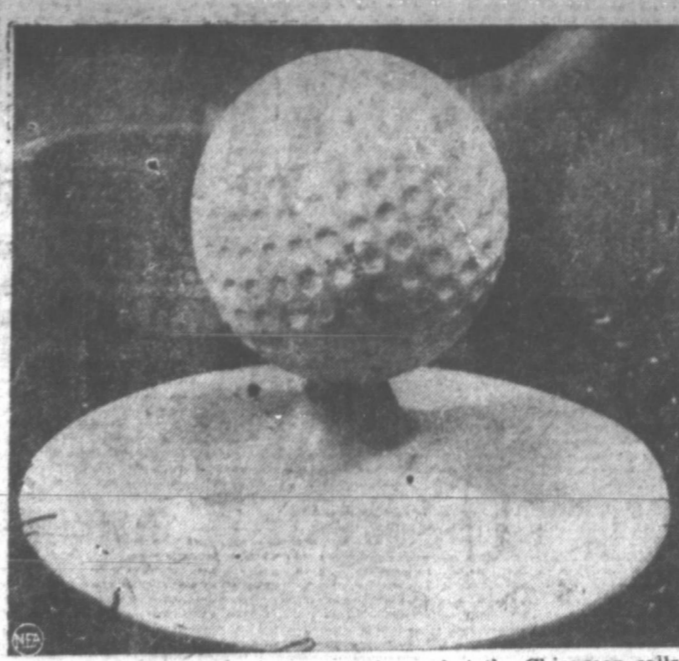

Commie Youths Break Up Meeting in Duesseldorf

DUESSELDORF, Germany — (P) — Communist Blue-shirt youths, swinging chairs, rushed an election rally platform here last night and broke up a meeting of the right-wing Free Democratic Party.

They prevented a speech by a former German tank general, Hasso-Eccard von Manteuffel, who wants West Germany to be included in Western Europe's defense system, and German sovereignty recognized.

The meeting was a rally for next Sunday's provincial elections in the Ruhr state of North Rhine-Westphalia.

One policeman was injured when the 20 Communist youths started the melee. Von Manteuffel walked out. Police ordered him not to speak, to prevent further incidents.

LOSS PROOF—Charles Mosel designs what the Chicagoans call the first really new golf tee in 20 years. Made of rubber in three bright colors, the large, flat tee is said to make the ball easier to hit. Its size makes it virtually loss proof.

Sander Files Petition for Reinstatement

CONCORD, N.H. — (P) — Dr. Hermann N. Sander may know within two or three weeks whether he will be allowed to practice medicine again in New Hampshire.

His application for reinstatement was filed yesterday with the New Hampshire medical board. It was presented seven days prior to the earliest date the board has said it would entertain a petition.

Dr. J. Paul Dye, board president, confirmed receipt of the application but said no action is contemplated for two or three weeks.

The five-man board stripped the 42-year-old physician of his right to practice on April 19, six days after a Hillsboro County jury acquitted him of murder in the air injection death of Anna Borroto, 69, an incurable cancer patient.

The board held that Dr. Sander "failed to meet the requirements of morality imposed upon him by his profession."

Ralph E. Langell, counsel for Dr. Sander, said the reinstatement application was filed early to hasten consideration by the board.

Dr. Dye said he would not predict officially what action the board would take. He added, however, that it looked favorable as the board had left the door open by permitting Dr. Sander to apply for reinstatement within two months.

Three Manchester hospitals dropped Dr. Sander after the board's action. One was the Hillsboro County Hospital where Mrs. Borroto died last Dec. 4.

The others, Sacred Heart and Notre Dame, Catholic hospitals, dropped him for life. He had courtesy privileges at those institutions.

For a Friday luncheon cream tuna fish and serve it over split baked potatoes; accompany this main-dish with cole slaw (made of green cabbage) and tomato slices.

New Flight Record Is Set by Salesman

SAN PEDRO, Calif. — (P) — Charles W. Soderstrom is back selling automobiles today after establishing a coast-to-coast non-stop flight record for light planes.

The 37-year-old airman landed at Los Angeles International Airport last night. He made the return trip from La Guardia Field, New York, in 19 hours, 23 minutes, 56 seconds.

Last week he flew from here to New York in 16 hours, 10 minutes. There is no official record for his type of plane over the routes. His mother was on hand to greet him at both terminals, having flown ahead each time by commercial plane.

Soderstrom's wife and a baby daughter also were at the field last night.

STICK WORK—A touch of lip stick and Polly Riley was ready for the celebration after winning the Trans-Mississippi Women's Golf Tournament medal for the third time. The Fort Worth miss shot a one-above-par 74 over Dallas' Lakewood Country Club course.

Jonah Had Nothing On Jap Fishermen

YOKOSUKA, Japan — (P) — Japanese fishermen pulled a 400-pound whale; their net brought up a whale.

The angry mammal twisted and churned a sea of foam. Its lashing tail spilled one boat, dumping eight men and killing one.

The whale got away.

Add whole kernel corn (drained) to pancake batter, bake on griddle as usual and serve with maple or maple-flavored syrup and lots of hot coffee.
