New U.S. Note Says Russia Flouted Law

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States charged Russia today with flouting its international obligations in dealing with the Baltic plane incident. In a new note to Moscow, the State Department declared Russia had put forward an "erroneous account" of the shooting down of the American plane on April 8. The note said: "The government of the United States must warn the government of the Soviet Socialist Republics of the seriousness with which it regards the attitude of the government of the Union Soviet Socialist Republics in matters of such grave consequence. Rejecting for the second time the Soviet claim that the missing American plane violated Soviet-occupied Latvia, the U. S. declared that this government is forced to conclude that Russia 'has not only failed to meet but has no intention of meeting the obligations which international law and practice impose on members of the family of nations. It is clear that this disregard for law, custom and the opinion of mankind constitutes a further obstacle to the establishment of harmonious relations among nations and cannot be reconciled with the Soviet government's continued protestations of its devotion to the cause of peace.' The note was delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Allan G. Kirk and was made public here by the State Department. The note made it plain that the charges and counter-charges over the loss of the Navy Privateer plane in the Baltic area reached an impasse. The Russians were told that "it is clearly impossible to resolve this issue so long as the Soviet government refuses to base its position upon the facts of the case." The 400-word note was in reply to Russia's April 21 communication which rejected the original American protest and declared a B-29 Flying Fortress flew over Latvia on April 28 "to photograph Soviet defense installations." In response the U. S. declared again that the only American (See NEW, Page 6)

J. A. Poole, Pioneer Area Cowboy, Dies

J. A. Poole, 75, pioneer cowboy and rancher of the Panhandle, died at 8:45 a. m. today in Highland General Hospital. He suffered a heart attack Monday and entered the hospital Wednesday. Bandit Believed Oklahoma-Bound

MINERAL WELLS — (AP) — A hunt for the youthful robber who held up the City National Bank here yesterday has been extended to Oklahoma. A young man, 19 or 20 years old, entered the bank at noon yesterday and demanded money. He said he had a gun hidden in one of his gloves. Nervously he snatched up a bunch of bills handed out by a teller and ran out of the bank. Bank officials said he got less than $1,000. About an hour later, an automobile believed driven by the robber was sighted in Jacksboro, north of Mineral Wells. Later the car was reported sighted at Bowie. It was believed headed for Duncan, Okla.

Bank Burglars Get $1,034 in Texas Town

WINGATE, Texas — (AP) — Burglars cut their way into the vault of the Wingate Security Bank Wednesday night and took $1,034, plus an undetermined amount of bonds and checks, officers said yesterday. Rannels County Sheriff Don Atkins said the burglars were unable to open or remove the safe which was inside the vault. He said most of the loot taken was silver.

Truman Today Proposed that the long-independent Reconstruction Finance Corporation be put under the Commerce Department as part of a five-point program to aid small business.

In a special message to Congress, Mr. Truman said his program is designed to help small and independent businesses solve their problems "through their own efforts" but under federal supervision. The program would be administered by the secretary of commerce. And for that reason the president said the RFC should be transferred to the Commerce Department. He advised the legislators that he would send them later a government reorganization plan calling for the transfer. The president's five proposals are:

- 1. Legislation to provide for the insurance on a self-sustaining basis of bank loans up to $25,000 repayable within five years. The president said the great bulk of such loans would probably be under $5,000.
- 2. Authorizing the government to promote and charter national investment companies to provide equity capital and long-term loans for efficiently managed businesses unable to finance themselves on reasonable terms through the organized security markets.
- 3. Authorization to the RFC to relax its collateral requirements on loans to small businesses, if management abilities and potential earnings of the borrower afford reasonable expectation of repayment.
- 4. Authorize the secretary of commerce to establish a clearing house to collect, disseminate and exchange scientific, engineering, and managerial information. This was proposed to help smaller businesses to become more efficient.
- 5. Responsibility for all but one of the programs be placed in the secretary of commerce to assure the most effective and coordinated direction of the aid program. Point No. 2 would be under the Federal Reserve Board.

90,000 Meat Workers Strike in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — (AP) — Meat workers in American, British and most Argentine-owned packing plants which process meat for export went on strike today. Some 90,000 were idled by the strike order, raising to 260,000 the number of Argentine workers in all fields of work now on strike. The Meat Workers' Federal Union Council issued a communique declaring that the strike was not called for political reasons, but simply to support their demands that meat salesmen be included in New York contracts.

A murderous tornado last night hit the northern edge of Perryton fatally injuring a 32-year-old father of two children. His house collapsed on him as he attempted to rush his family to safety. Bill Kling, 32, died early this morning while his wife and two children, Bessie and Billie, are hospitalized in serious conditions. Dr. M. Lambert, 70, was also critically injured, suffering possible head injuries. Ten other Perryton residents suffered minor injuries in the tornado which cut a clean swath through the northeast Panhandle, leveled the Perryton High School stadium, ripped apart a trailer park, and almost laid waste a large county maintenance shop and knocked out telephone and light service, leaving only one long distance line into the "Wheatheart" City. Two large trailer trucks were picked up by the twister and flung across the highway. A newsman told the Associated Press that one white stucco house had its roof blown away but no sign of the high flying house cover could be found. "It just disappeared," he said. Peace officers, augmented by Boy Scouts, patrolled the storm-wrecked path all night helping victims find their scattered belongings. Perryton was the victim of churning winds that hit the Texas Panhandle and South Plains generally, causing all games in the West Texas-New Mexico loop to be cancelled because of high winds and dust. Others injured in the Perryton tornado were: Mrs. Charlie Alchison, E. M. Batson, Bus Maxwell and wife, Bill Parvin and his mother, Mrs. Emma Parvin, Mrs. Babe Boone and her brother, David Boone, and Forest Lacy, Jr.

The same squall front hit Wheeler and Shamrock about the same time causing wind and water damage. A little twister hedge-hopped around Wheeler, hitting several farms but injuring no one, according to early reports today. About 9 p. m. a twister, accompanied by some rain and hail, began its trip northeastward. It hit the W. E. Witt farm, five miles southwest of Wheeler, flattening outbuildings and a windmill. Then in succession it hit the Morris Burges farm, unroofing a barn; the Ernest Dyer farm, taking off a cellar roof; the Bill Hales farm, 12 miles southeast, damaging outbuildings; H. Herd farm, uprooting trees and unroofing barn; E. H. Herd place, overturning wagon; Roy Herd barn hit; and Lawrence Crowder farm, uprooting trees. In Shamrock, dust-laden winds blowing up to 50 mph, accompanied by 1/2 inch of rain and slight hail, buffeted the city. Damage was confined mostly to limbs broken from trees. A heavy hail storm was reported to have fallen north of Shamrock on the Wheeler highway.

The ceremony is scheduled for the Catholic Church of the Good Shepherd, a Gothic structure in Beverly Hills. Its pastor, the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Patrick J. Concannon, will officiate. Elizabeth, although suffering from a cold yesterday, went through a rehearsal for the ceremony. A reception is scheduled at the Bel-Air Country Club after the ceremony. The bridal couple after a secret honeymoon trip of about a week plan to pick up a new car in Detroit about May 15. They'll drive through New England, stay a few days in New York, and sail for Europe May 24 on the liner Queen Mary. The car will go with them. They'll drive through Cannes, the Riviera, Monte Carlo, and visit Paris for three or four weeks. After a European trip of about three months, they plan to take an apartment at the Bel-Air Hotel.

Liz Taylor, Nick Hilton Rites Slated

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, generally considered the most beautiful girl in the movie world, will marry Conrad Nicholson (Nick) Hilton, Jr., an heir to one of the world's biggest hotel fortunes, tomorrow. It's Hollywood's wedding of the year. Her wedding gown, which probably will set the style for June brides the country over, is described by its designer as simple, with a high neckline, narrow waist, and billows below. The guest list numbers 600, but at least 10 times that many may tie up traffic outside. The brunette beauty with the heart-shaped face, flawless features, and violet-blue eyes is 18. It's the first marriage both for Elizabeth and for her 23-year-old, husky, dark-haired bridegroom. His father's 13 hotels, including the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City and the world's largest, the 3,000-room Stevens in Chicago, have been estimated to be worth $125,000,000.

Poet-Critic Benet Is Dead

NEW YORK — (AP) — William Rose Benet, 64, Pulitzer Prize-winning poet and noted critic and editor, collapsed on a street last night and died a few minutes later. Police said death was due to natural causes. A family member said Benet had been under treatment for a heart condition. He was a brother of the late Stephen Vincent Benet, also a Pulitzer Prize poet. He is survived by his fourth wife, the former Marjorie Flack, whom he married in 1941. For many years he was associated with the Saturday Review of Literature and other magazines as an editor and critic. He received the Pulitzer Prize in 1942 for an autobiographical verse narrative, "The Dust Which Is God."

Members of the White House staff gave him a party yesterday since he will be on the road Monday, on his cross-country speaking tour. Birthday cakes will be put aboard his train at several towns Monday, including a three-foot wide one at Ottumwa, Iowa.

Cavalcade Set In Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Raging, dust-laden winds followed by 1/2 inches of rain and slight hail spoiled the attempts of the students and faculty of Shamrock schools to stage the colorful Wheeler County Cavalcade at Denver Field last night, and sent 2500 people from the Panhandle and parts of Oklahoma scurrying for shelter. School officials announced this morning that a second attempt is scheduled for 8:00 tonight. Crews were on the scene early this morning re-setting the stage props and readying the field for tonight's show. Barring another turn of bad weather, an even larger crowd is expected to be on hand to view the historical pageant.

Senate Vote Due On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A $3,372,450,000 foreign aid bill, prime target for economy-minded lawmakers, reached the voting stage in the Senate today. From opposing sides came these cautious predictions: 1. It might be cut by a quarter or a half billion dollars. 2. It might not be cut at all — certainly by no more than a quarter billion. Chairman Connally (D-Texas), of the foreign relations subcommittee, who has guided the big bill through three weeks of dragging debate, said: "We have enough votes to prevent a cut — if they all show up. If there is any cut at all it will be the $250,000,000 voted by the House." The pending measure is an authorization bill; actual funds will have to be appropriated later.

Those merchants have been advertising the latest in straw hats in The Pampa Daily News. Many colors and types are available.

Read About Clark

Altavene Clark, who is a candidate for Congress in the May 6 special election, is shown here at her desk in the office of the House Committee on Agriculture in Washington. She is on leave WITHOUT PAY for that job. Read what a reputable Washington correspondent had to say about her before the congressional campaign started.

Panhandle's Altavene Clark Has Top Flight Political Job

By ELIZABETH CARPENTER

WASHINGTON—One of the handful of women holding top positions with Congress is Altavene Clark of Amarillo. Her job as executive officer for the House Agriculture Committee places her in one of the few top flight positions held by women on Capitol Hill. The new Truman trend toward greater recognition of women in government posts has focused even more attention on the attractive lady from the Panhandle.

It wasn't glamor that won her present position, although Mrs. Clark is not unglamorous. Five feet, seven inches tall, she has a trim, tailored appearance that is softened by an easy smile and the friendliest of dispositions.

It wasn't pull that won the job either, although she has worked with many front-page personalities in Washington who would be glad to use their influence for her.

"After it was seven years of hard work and experience gained in the offices of two Panhandle congressmen, Judge Marvin Jones and Rep. Eugene Worley, both of whom have served on the House Agriculture Committee.

Altavene Clark came to Washington in 1933 to work for the Agriculture Committee of which Marvin Jones, then a Congressman, was chairman. She saw Franklin Roosevelt inaugurated for his first term and during the next few years participated actively as the house Democratic farm legislation was drafted, sent through Committee hearings and finally passed.

She worked with Chairman Jones in drafting legislation setting up the Soil Conservation Service, Farm Credit Administration, Agricultural Adjustment Act, the Farm Tenant Act, and many others. What this legislation has meant is well-known to Panhandle farmers. In fact, only this fall 2,000 out of 5,000 farmers in Texas who made loans under the Farm Tenant Act were able to burn their mortgages in public ceremony thirty years before the due date.

In 1940, when Marvin Jones was appointed to the U. S. Court of Claims, his successor, Rep. Worley, asked Mrs. Clark to stay as his secretary. A year later, when Pearl Harbor came and Worley joined the Navy, he left his office under the management of Mrs. Clark. She carried on for him all Congressional duties including the governmental work necessary to bring war projects to the Panhandle.

Once it took some quick maneuvering and a 2,000-mile train trip to save one of the major projects for the 18th Congressional District. Construction stopped suddenly and for no explained reason on the burdens planned at Borger. Mrs. Clark was told the plant would be built in Louisiana instead of the Panhandle. Repeated conferences with the government officials were futile. Finally, she became convinced there was only one man who could change the sudden directive ordering the plant to be moved to Louisiana. That was Jesse Jones, then Secretary of Commerce and Federal Loan Administrator.

Mrs. Clark felt she didn't know Jesse Jones well enough to go to him personally but she did know someone who could reach him immediately. Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn who was at his ranch in Bonham. Collecting all the necessary data, she took the train to Texas and called on Rayburn, accompanied by Mrs. Eugene Worley, a favorite with the Speaker. She explained the situation and urged Rayburn to wire Jesse Jones in protest.

"Are you sure of your facts?" Rayburn asked her.

"Absolutely," she replied.

"Well, then, write a wire to Jesse Jones and sign my name to it," were her instructions.

She did and within sixteen hours, the directive was changed, work was resumed and the plant went up in Borger.

Altavene Clark is well known to people throughout West Texas who have dropped by their congressional office in Washington the past 16 years. Although they were glad to see her promoted to her job with the Agriculture Committee last January when Chairman Harold Cooley "dratted" her, they hated to see her leave the direct work with the district.

"My folks are firmly in the Panhandle," she says.

Perhaps they are even more firmly entrenched because she is a widow and her son, John Weller Clark, is now working in Hawaii. She feels that the Panhandle and the many people she knows there are her "family."

Her loyalty to the Lone Star State has prompted her to give a "touch of Texas" to the interior decoration of her office in Agriculture Committee rooms.

And her apartment in downtown Washington has a Texas atmosphere too. Many friendly, informal gatherings of Texans are held there. One of her hobbies is to give birthday parties for her friends including one each February for Judge Jones. So well-known is her love of birthday parties that friends have added to the motif with gifts of birthday reciting, a tablecloth embroidered "Happy Birthday," a musical cake plate and other extras appropriate for such festivities.

Mrs. Clark likes Washington. Her life there, working for the public, has been "gratifying," she says.

"The government has grown so big that the average citizen is really lost when he has to deal with it at the Washington level," Mrs. Clark explains. "It is very satisfying to feel that you are helping John Q. Citizen and Uncle Sam to get together for their mutual benefit."

NEWLYWEDS CONCLUDE MARRIAGE GOOD IDEA

RENO, Nev. — (AP) — Professor Earl W. Sheets, 62, of the University of Nevada, and Mrs. Melba Alice Siebold, 41, were married April 5.

As customary, a faculty reception was arranged for the newlyweds. Everything was set for Wednesday night. But on Tuesday, the Sheets were divorced by Reno's time-gulping courts. The professor was charged with extreme mental cruelty. Mrs. Siebold's name was restored.

However, shortly before the faculty reception Wednesday night, the professor — wearing a tuxedo — appeared at the courthouse and got another marriage license. Then, he and the re-married bride went to the reception and helped cut the wedding cake.

"We have no comment," said Professor Sheets. "We are happily married."

He formerly was chief of animal husbandry for the U. S. Department of Agriculture and assistant master of the National Grange. She is formerly of Milwaukee, Wis.

Rare Disease Makes Child's Bones Break

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — If it weren't for the traction splints on his legs, little Dickie Dorwart might be any three-year-old lying in bed.

Dickie's mother says doctors have told her he is one of "five or six" children in the country suffering from osteogenesis imperfecta, an extremely rare bone disease about which little is known.

Mrs. Maurice Dorwart, wife of an apprentice linoleum layer, says the disease, more commonly known as "brittle bones," causes calcium which is normally supposed to go into the bone, to be deposited on the outside surfaces.

The Dorwarts, who live in a modest home at 3717 Council St., nance a trip to New York where been broken 16 times since he help the boy. Dickie's legs have a specialist has offered to try to was stricken at the age of seven months.

Rita-Aly Divorce Rumors Denied

PARIS — (AP) — Rumors of impending divorce proceedings between actress Rita Hayworth and Prince Aly Khan have been dismissed as ridiculous by both friends and legal advisors of the couple.

Aly's lawyer, Charles Denizot, just laughed when told about the report published in a Rome newspaper.

"There were such reports a year ago," he said, "just after they were married."

At Cannes, where the couple lives, Mrs. George Catroux, wife of General Georges Catroux, former French ambassador to Moscow, and an intimate friend of Rita and Aly, flatly denied the reports.

V. Whitney pair of Mr. Trouble and Dooly. Six horses were announced as entered yesterday in a premature entry mixup. However, when the racing secretary opened the box at 6 a. m. (CST), it was discovered that three others had been listed for the mile-and-a-quarter grind.

They were Clifford Moberg, Hawley and the King Ranch entry of Middleground and On the Mark. Apparently, their names were put in later yesterday but not announced.

Trainer Syl Veitch, who just missed the Derby roses in 1947 when Phalanx lost to Jet Pilot by a head, was in the secretary's office at 6:09 a. m. (CST) to make today's first entry.

Mr. Trouble, winner of the Blue Grass Stakes last week, is the star of the stable's three-year-old group. Dooly, out of the money in the Blue Grass, had been expected to start the Derby only if the track is muddy.

Among the six officially accepted yesterday, were two leading choices, Bill Goetz's California Challenger, Your Host, and the Virginia-bred Hill Prince, owned by Chris Chenery.

Also named yesterday were William Veene's Black George, Tom Gray's Ol' Captain, Hal Price Headley's L'White, and Abercrombie and Smith's Stranded.

Opinions were a dime a dozen among those who will win the tough mile-and-a-quarter gallop, as a star-studded field headed by Cali-

Bomber May Try Return

CHICAGO — (AP) — The specter of Joe Louis haunted the heavy-weight boxing scene today with NBA champion Ezzard Charles K.O.'d for at least 90 days by an ailing heart.

Louis, currently on an exhibition tour in Brazil, says Charles' possible retirement from the ring because of his health "is going to change my plans."

The Brown Bomber's partner in the International Boxing Club, Jim Norris, says he believes Louis "would like to be the first heavy-weight champion to win back the title."

The time appears ripe for the 35-year-old but still potent Louis to make a comeback — if he waits to be re-examined by the already complex heavyweight picture yesterday when Charles' physical examination by the Illinois Athletic Commission and was declared "not fit to fight at the present."

Charles was adjudged to have "a vascular condition of the heart."

"It is our suggestion that Charles be re-examined in three months to determine whether he is fit for fighting," the report of two commission physicians said.

The examination had been ordered by the National Boxing Association.

Rookie Southpaw Skunks Yanks in Own Back Yard, 15-0; Bum Pitchers Have Sore Flippers

(By The Associated Press)

So the Chicago White Sox "raised Cain" with the New York Yankees.

Bob Cain, a skinny lefthander making his first big league start, yesterday made the world champs look like the prize chumps in a 15-0 rout.

Nobody ever treated the Yankees' Your Host prepared for the three-year-old battle charge at 3:30 p. m. (CST) tomorrow.

Chris Chenery's strapping boy chaser Hill Prince is figured the one to beat Your Host, if anything can do the job. He's a slow starter, but when Eddie Arcaro steps on the throttle, Hill Prince can move 'em down.

The 12th to enter was Wilmore Farm's Trumpet King, who had been regarded as a doubtful starter.

Trumpet King, named after hand-leader Harry James, is owned by Jacob M. Mandelbaum of New York.

At 8:05 a. m. the Mandelbaum Stable pair of Sunlow and Greek Ship became the 13th and 14th candidates officially named.

Twenty minutes before the 9 a. m. closing time, Walter Fugate entered Hallelujah, boosting the list to 15 horses.

Word came from the barns a power to riddle Connie Mack's battered pitching staff. The Tigers collected 15 hits to trim Philadelphia, 8-5, on Art Houtteman's five-hitter. Vic Wertz and Hoot Evers drove in seven runs, enough to ruin the A's by themselves.

Joe Ostrowski of the St. Louis Browns backed up his fine April 29 job against Cleveland with a five-hitter against Washington to top his second straight, 5-1. Rookie Kent Wood led the Browns with two singles and a double.

Revenge was sweet for Dick Sisler, a former St. Louis card, who came home to haunt his old mates with five hits. Dick drove in five runs in the Phillies' 4-6 night game victory. One of Sisler's blows was his third homer off loser Gerry Staley in the second.

Brooklyn came up with another sore arm case — Dan Bankhead, — while smothering the Chicago Cubs, 10-2. Bankhead, riding easy on a 10-1 lead, complained about a pain in his right shoulder and left the game in the sixth. Later it was reported Dan tore a muscle in his shoulder and would be out indefinitely.

A few minutes before Bankhead's trouble, the Dodgers announced Don Newcombe, their other Negro pitcher, was being sent home to Columbia, N. J., to rest his sore arm.

Fee Wee Reese, Dodger captain, was ejected for the first time in his career for tossing a bat in the air to protest umpire Babe Pinelli's decision in the fifth. It was Reese's 1,000th major league game.

Soon they'll be calling the Boston Braves the new "murder-

Oilers End Home Stand Tonight

Parker or Payte To Face Abilene And Dick Tross

Winds of near-hurricane velocity blew out all four scheduled games in the West Texas-New Mexico League last night. Tonight the clubs will try again, with one doubleheader scheduled, that at Lubbock between the Hubbers and the Lamesa Lobos, an important series.

Here in Pampa the Oilers delayed their scheduled game with the Abilene Blue Sox for half an hour last night hoping that the winds would abate, but instead, the weather got windier and windier until the game was finally called after both teams were out on the field and warming up.

Tonight they will try to run off the final of the series, in which the Oilers will be shooting for their fourth straight win over Stubby Greer's Blue Sox. For the Oilers the pitching chore will be handled by either Roy Parker or George Payte. The Blue Sox are expected to counter with Dick Tross, a righthander.

Other games around the league that were postponed last night and that will try again tonight are Berger at Albuquerque, Amarillo at Clovis, the doubleheader at Lubbock.

At Clovis last night natives reported the worst dust storm they had ever seen. Albuquerque had gusts up to 77 miles an hour and visibility ranged in the vicinity of one-third of a mile.

Lubbock was pelted by winds in the vicinity of 55 and 60 miles an hour, and visibility was zero much of the time.

Again the night of inactivity brought action from the business office of the Oilers. Yesterday was cutting down time. The club had to be pared down to the legal limit of eight class men, six limited service and two rookies. The Oilers now have 15 men on the roster, lacking one rookie of being complete.

Veterans are Richardson, Parker, Payte, Fortin, Prucha, Garland, Matney, and Jeandron. Limited service men are Rose, Martin, Hassey, Doud, Hubbard and Ricketson. The rookie is catcher Jerry Squires.

Yesterday the Oilers released outfielder Eddie Skrabacs and placed pitcher Walt Peluso on the ineligible list in order to get down to the legal limit.

The condition of third baseman Don Ricketson was worse yesterday. He was reported having a high fever of 101 degrees and it is very unlikely that he will be able to get back into the lineup very soon. Perhaps he may miss the three-game road trip to New Mexico which the Oilers take over the weekend. Until Ricketson is back ready to go Homer Matney will fill in at the hot corner.

The Oilers leave after tonight's game for a three-game series with the Clovis Pioneers on Saturday, Sunday and Monday and then return home next Tuesday night to open a seven-game home stand that sees the Oilers, the Berger Gasers and the Amarillo Gold Sox come in to town in that order.

Don't Let Youngsters Start "Forgetting" Golf Strokes

By DAVE BAUER

Father and teacher of the famous Sisters.

As a child progresses in golf or any other game, he sees the importance of good sportsmanship and manners.

A lad who does not benefit from this training will not go very far in golf, or any other sport.

Most beginners, young and old, desirous of a good score, are inclined to "forget" strokes. This is common practice.

Training a youngster to keep score correctly and conduct himself properly builds character in every walk of life. Golf is a fine test of character.

The young golfer must be disciplined, taught etiquette. He must learn not to blow up and break clubs. You don't want him to alibi, or make a nuisance of himself interfering with other players.

"Even though we love golf above everything else," I have always preached to my offspring, "if it should spoil your character in any way, you will quit the game."

Surprising as it may seem to some parents, I have taught several youngsters of four and five years of age, whom I could be certain would give me the correct score after a round of golf.

Such a child will make real progress.

My daughters are examples of this.

Pete Trabucco First Star of WT-NM Season

Peter "Pete" Trabucco, roaming the center pasture for those high-flying Clovis Pioneers, was voted the "PLAYER OF THE WEEK" in the WT-NM circuit by the gentlemen of the press and radio for the period ending Saturday April 29. Top honors went to Trabucco in the first week of the league's star contest which period actually included the fractional second of the 1950 campaign.

Pete's performance at Lubbock was certainly as conclusive as his support in the balloting. He lost no time convincing the critics on foreign fields, as well as at home. On the basis of his performance at Albuquerque against the Oilers, he scored a point and then went right ahead to prove to the Amarillo Gold Soxers that he could repeat for the Texas fans, when his playing got the nod twice in the three-game set.

In the game at Amarillo April 26 Trabucco made five hits in 25 times at bat, one a round-tripper. And he knocked in three runs and scored twice himself. He bounced back on April 28 in the same park and placed two homers in support of BOB MONTZ, 3rd base, — also of the Clovis Pioneers; MARSHALL EPERSON of Lubbock; JODIE BEEBEER of Lamesa; DON MOORE of Lubbock; and JOHN FETZER of Lamesa. But the sparkling play of the Clovis third sacker against the Oilers in the opening series of 1950 won for him the top spot among the "runners-up" to the Star of the Week.

Panhandle Golf Meeting Sunday At Phillips CC

The Panhandle Men's Golf Association will hold its first meeting of the year Sunday afternoon at the Phillips Country Club.

Phillips is the defending champion of the association, having copped the crown last season, the first for the organization.

The tournament is an all-handicap affair. For the men who played last year the handicaps are set. For the newcomers, the handicaps will be established before they play. Tee off time Sunday is between 10 a. m. and 2 p. m.

All Pampa golfers who can make the tournament are asked to contact Johnny Austin at the Country Club before 10 a. m. Sunday.

Other member clubs of the association include Ross Rogers of Amarillo and Huber at Berger.

Scotch Foursome Set for Saturday

The Pampa Women's Golf Association held its regular weekly meeting yesterday morning and afternoon at the Pampa Country Club, with President Floy Heath presiding. Seventeen members were present.

A driving contest was held with the ladies divided into two flights. Beth Heiskell won first place in the first flight and Jessie Smoot captured honors in the second flight. The winners received golf balls and a pin to wear until next week's tournament.

A luncheon, with Hazel Sullivan in charge, was served.

Next Saturday afternoon the ladies decided to hold another Scotch foursome. It will get underway at 4 o'clock with the ladies again selecting their partners. The ladies must phone in their choices to the pro-shop by Saturday noon.

Ben Hogan Leads Greenbrier Meet With Sub-Par 64

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. —(AP) — Sam Snead, on record as afraid of "lightning," Ben Hogan and a downhill putt, had at least Hogan to worry about again today.

Bentley Ben, with the best scoring round — a 64 — of his comeback effort behind him, had a two-stroke lead over Snead and Henry Ransom of St. Andrew's, Ill., as the $10,000 Greenbrier Open Golf Tournament entered its second 18 holes.

The little Hershey, Pa., belter cut six strokes off par over the 6,368-yard old White Course yesterday as his iron game worked with all its old-time effectiveness.

Snead, the host pro, and Ransom came up with 66's.

Chick Harbert of Detroit was close behind with a 67 as 15 of the field of 27 cracked par in the blizing sun.

The 72-hole medal play will be concluded Sunday.

WARREN'S WARMUP

QUESTION: What player holds the record for having drawn a base on balls in 37 consecutive games?

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS: The home runs must be paying off for the Oilers... Joe Fortin is sporting a new automobile... The Jolter captured a lot of opening day prizes for clouting the first home run of the season at Oiler Park... Homer Matney was fortunate in taking over the third baseduties for the Oilers Wednesday night... Only one shot was fired his way and that went by like a bullet for a base hit... It was the type nobody could have gotten...

TOM TIPPS, Harvester football coach, was to be released from the Highland General Hospital yesterday and returned to his home at 1124 Terrace... He is recovering rapidly from his emergency appendectomy... The Albuquerque Dukes apparently have lost their string of help that usually comes from the Oakland Oaks of the Pacific Coast League... Manager Hersh Martin of the defending champions is hurting for material... He has finally started dealing within the league to obtain that help... He got Charley Bodine from the Oilers, though the veteran right-hander hasn't reported as yet... And now he has taken Al Carr, veteran first baseman, from the Amarillo Gold Sox on loan... Byron Nelson, one of the all-time golf greats, will make an exhibition visit to Lubbock next Tuesday... He will play at the Lubbock Country Club...

STAN MUSIAL, great St. Louis Cardinal slugger, is off to another good season with the stick... He is hitting .448 to lead the senior loop... He is trailed by Alvin Dark, former Boston shortstop swapped to the Giants last winter... Dark is hitting .423... Dr. Eddie Anderson, former Iowa University grid coach and now head man at Holy Cross, will lead the College All-Stars in this year's All-Star Football Game at Soldier's Field, Chicago, Aug. 10... The Stars will face the Philadelphia Eagles, champions of the National Football League... Last season Bud Wilkinson was the coach of the college team that went down to a 38-0 defeat... Dale Mitchell, former Oklahoma City star, is the present batting leader in the American League... He is hitting at a .406 clip... Runner up is Johnny Groth, sophomore outfielder with the Detroit Tigers, who is pounding along at .389... Professional football is going all out for television... Present plans include telecasting of home games by most teams plus a network "game of AUSTIN — (AP) — Eight champions were to be determined today as the 40th annual Inter-scholastic League track meet got underway.

The field, 542 strong from 246 Texas high schools, will battle through Saturday for individual and team championships in three classes, AA, A and B.

Preliminaries were to be run in all track events this morning, starting with the 120-yard high hurdles at 8:45.

Odessa, Amarillo, Ball High of Galveston, Beaumont and last year's champion Corpus Christi were favored to wage a hot battle for the team title in Conference AA.

Amarillo was runner-up to Corpus Christi last year... Falturrias edged Phillips by four points for the Conference A crown last year, but neither is considered a threat this year.

Brady, which trailed Falturrias by four and a half points last year, is considered the team to beat this year.

White Oak, which took 72 points to Rising Star's 28 for the Conference B title last year, is not figured to offer a serious threat to repeat.

Rising Star and White Deer are this year's favorites. Both will be challenged in several events by Iraan and Marfa, two Region 3 rivals.

WELL-WORN DIAMOND CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Illinois is in its 70th baseball campaign on Illinois Field, dating to 1880.

University football great from Odessa, recently dropped out of school reportedly to help an ailing father on... Now comes a report out of the Southwest that a certain much publicized footballer has so completely ignored his books and tutors that the athletic department finally coaxed him to "drop out" of school so he could be eligible on re-entering next fall... Two plus two equals four, I think... Clark Griffith, president and owner of the Washington Senators, figures it will cost him $30,000 to have the Washington infield rebuilt to provide a regulation 15-inch mound... So he is campaigning to have the regulation rescinded... He got a special ruling to retain the old height this season... Griffith figures a lot of fingers will get hurt falling off that mound... "Personally," says the Old Fox, "I liked to pitch off level ground. Maybe that's why I thought I had a poor season when I walked as many as 30 or 35 batters..." The easiest way to reach the ranks of the professional coaches is to play with the Chicago Bears... Ed Kolman, who recently signed with the Giants, is the 15th former Bear on the list of pro coaches this season... In addition, eight Bears are head coaches of college teams and as many more assistants... The colleges and pro clubs like the way George Halas, the Papa Bear, teaches that T formation... A hilarious sidelight to the lightning episode at Abilene last week was provided by righthander George Payte, who was in the Oiler dugout with the other members of the club who weren't playing on the field. Just after the first bolt struck, knocking out the lighting system, someone in the dugout started exclaiming to our Savior.

Halfway through his exclamation Payte stopped him with: "Quiet! Or he'll strike us again!"

Texas Faces SMU Today in SWC Play

(By The Associated Press) The University of Texas turns its powerful bats against Southern Methodist today as all Southwest Conference baseball teams see action.

The Texas-Southern Methodist tilt is slated for Dallas, while at College Station Texas A&M is host to Rice and at Fort Worth Texas Christian entertains Baylor.

Texas took a long step toward another title Wednesday when it swamped Baylor, 22-1.

Fort Worth Strengthens Texas Lead

(By The Associated Press) A shift in sides tonight starts northern teams of the Texas League on the final series of their 11-day invasion into the southern end of the Class AA circuit.

As of last night, three of the teams from north hold 10 wins spots in the first division. The other — Dallas — holds down the cellar.

Fort Worth bolstered its first place lead with a 9-2 decision over Shreveport; Beaumont nudged Dallas again, 6-5; Houston beat Tulsa, 9-7, and Oklahoma City beat San Antonio, 9-4.

Tonight, Dallas is at Shreveport; Fort Worth at Beaumont; Tulsa at San Antonio, and Oklahoma City at Houston.

Charley Kress, first baseman recently purchased by Houston from the Chicago White Sox, helped the Buffs beat Tulsa. He got four hits and a walk, drove in four runs and scored three himself.

Fort Worth ran its winning streak to six straight, Shreveport its string of losses to nine. Ray Moore pitched the Cats to the victory and helped his own cause with a home run.

Remington Faces New Accusers

WASHINGTON — (AP) — William W. Remington, the much investigated government economist who is steadfastly denying new testimony that he was once a Communist, may be in for still another checkover.

Following testimony by two witnesses before the House Un-American Activities Committee that they knew Remington as a Communist in his youth, Remington's boss, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, said in a statement last night:

"If new evidence of the character indicated has been discovered I will direct the department loyalty board to re-examine the case."

Two men who said they used to be Communists themselves — Kenneth McConnell and Howard Allen Bridgman, said Remington was a party member in Knoxville, Tenn., in the 30's when he worked as a messenger for the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Guill has spoken at length against the administration, the president's veto of the Kerr Bill, increasing "socialistic tendencies" in Washington and his Navy service.

All of the candidates are confident of victory but not all has filed for places on the Democratic primary ballot. Only Rogers, Timmons, Clark, Burk and LaMaster have filed. Guill cannot file as a Republican.

Tomorrow the race will be over, but will come to life again in a few days for those candidates who are encouraged enough by Saturday's results to hang on in the belief they can collar some of the votes July 22 given to those who drop out.

A total of 79,962 is eligible to vote in the district. Observers are predicting 35,000 to 50,000 will turn out to vote.

County Clerk Charlie Thut reported this week absentee voting in this special election has been the heaviest by absentees for any special election ever held and considered it tantamount to a heavy vote Saturday.

Kindly Doctor's Plea to All Who Owe Him Is Met Coldly

ATLANTA — (AP) — An elderly country doctor who wants to pay his own doctor bill promptly has asked his patients to pay him the doctor bills that they have left unpaid.

But the patients still aren't settling their accounts with balding Dr. R. H. Bramlett, Sr.

The 63-year-old physician published his appeal in the Forsyth County News before he came here for an operation.

"I am up against a serious problem," Dr. Bramlett's printed appeal said. "Have been in the hospital for three weeks and must undergo a serious operation which I may not survive. I am now asking your aid like you asked mine thousands of times."

"Do you remember how good you felt when maybe snow covered the ground or in all other kinds of bad weather, when you heard my voice say, 'I will come?'"

"Now, my friends, I am asking you to come and pay me the small fees charged you for my services."

"You might do better to settle with me than with my administrator. Please don't disappoint me, my friends, for I love every one of you."

But Dr. Bramlett's avowal of love for his fellow man brought little more than the shrug of a cold shoulder.

The appeal so far had accomplished very little, said the doctor's son, Dr. R. H. Bramlett, Jr., who also practices near Cumming, in rural Forsyth County where about 15,000 persons live.

The father has been practicing medicine in Forsyth County, in North Georgia, since 1911, young Dr. Bramlett said, and his patients still owe him about $25,000.

"Why, he's delivered more than 4,000 babies," the son said proudly.

The elder doctor was reported doing as well "as could be expected after a major operation," the son said.

Acclaimed Heroine

OAKLAND, Calif. — (AP) — A former Army nurse is credited with saving the life of an eight-year-old boy by using her head scarf for a tourniquet.

The boy, Arne Jensen, was run over by a railway flatcar. His leg was crushed.

Edna Black, 31, of nearby San Leandro heard his screams while waiting for a bus. She ran to him and quickly stopped the flow of blood with her scarf.

Physicians at Merritt Hospital said they may be able to save the youngster's leg.

Land Waste Threat Serious,
Texans Warned by Brannan

INS 2-24 LAND WASTE
TERRELL, Texas — (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Brannan declared today land waste threatens the future ability of the United States to feed itself.

Stressing need for greater efforts to conserve soil, water and timber, the cabinet officer said the country has drawn heavily and wastefully upon its land resources.

Declining farm prices and income, he said, weakens ability of farmers to take proper care of the land.

"If the farmer is expected, in the nation's interest, to do an adequate job of soil conservation, he needs the economic opportunities that will permit it," Brannan warned of soil waste in a speech prepared for the second annual Kaufman County, Texas, vetch festival. He praised farmers for a conservation program built around the growing of vetch, a soil-building legume and grazing crop.

"It is not exaggerating to say that continued waste of land, water, and timber could eventually deplete our 'bank' balance of wealth in the soil so drastically as to make us no longer able to feed, clothe and house ourselves adequately," he said.

Declining farm prices often make it necessary, the secretary said, for farmers to overwork their land in an effort to secure an adequate income.

Brannan said that without existing farm price support programs, agricultural conditions would be far worse than they are.

Reds Supply
North Korea
Air Power

SEOUL — (AP) — Communist North Korea has an air force of 195 planes, possible all Russian built, President Syngman Rhee of the South Korean Republic said today.

The president renewed his plea for more American military aid at a news conference, saying "if we could have planes we would feel safer."

"May and June may be a crucial period in the life of our nation," he said without elaboration. "We lack adequate defense."

Rhee said he felt somewhat reassured by Secretary of State Acheson's statement earlier this week reiterating his belief in South Korea's importance among the democracies.

Present at the news conference were acting Prime Minister Shin Sung Mo, who also is defense minister, and the air force and army chiefs of staff.

The officials displayed a chart on which were described seven types of airplanes supposedly in the North Korean air force. They said the north had three fighter groups and one pursuit group on active duty.

South Korea's air force consists of about 20 light reconnaissance planes and 10 advance trainers. Earlier Rhee reviewed 10,000 members of the Korean home guard, or Youth Defense Corps, in front of the capitol. Rhee told newsmen the home guard was created at the members own expense.

Wife to Seek Housekeeping
Remuneration

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — After 21 years of supposed marriage, Betty and Fred Norcom obtained an annulment and she promptly sued him for $75,700 for her housekeeping and other services.

They were married in Yuma, Ariz., in 1929 after, she said, Norcom had told her it was not necessary to wait until her California divorce from a previous husband became final. They have a 19-year-old daughter.

The annulment was granted on Norcom's cross complaint. The long-time "wife" then itemized her damage request: $57,200 for housekeeping over the years, $2,000 interest in their Long Beach home, and $17,500 which she says she invested in his poker establishment.

Iranian-Soviet Break Feared

TEHRAN, Iran — (AP) — Diplomatic circles here say that the threatened Soviet snub of the late Shah's state funeral may make Iran an out-and-out cold war ally of the West.

Though advised by a 71-man U. S. military mission and using American surplus war equipment, Iran and her Premier Ali Mansur have remained officially neutral in the conflict between neighboring circles, say the press-borging Russia and the West.

But local circles say the press-borging Russia and the West.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi, who largely determines Iranian policy, may be alienated by recent Soviet announcements that Russian diplomats would not attend the state funeral planned next week for the Shah's father, the late Shah Reza Pahlavi.

Announcements in the Soviet press of the Russian boycott were accompanied by attacks on the late Shah, who died in exile in 1944 after being deposed in 1941 because of pro-Nazi activities.

Some diplomats here believe the Russian action may cause the present Shah eventually to replace Premier Mansur with a pro-western government head.

He was appointed over U. S. opposition to demonstrate his country's official neutrality in the East-West conflict.

Special delegations from all major nations outside the Soviet bloc already are crowding Tehran hotels for the funeral. Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, head of the American military mission in Greece, will represent President Truman.

Washington by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Social Security Act amendments passed by the House last October comprise a 200-page document which can be understood by few people interested only in what it costs them and what they're going to get out of it. One of the main revisions in this field, however, concerns changes with respect to public assistance.

The federal grants in aid to the states to help them care for people who can't support themselves. Since old age and survivors' insurance benefits are now low, and since many people like farm and domestic workers are excluded from even that protection, some assistance should operate like a poor man's pension system.

Farm states have a particular problem here. Farm workers are exempted from social security coverage. When farm hands are no longer able to work, they must fall back on public assistance. The burden of caring for these people is much heavier than in the industrial states, where a larger percentage of the workers are covered by social security.

In Louisiana, eight out of 10 old people get public assistance of $50 a month, while the other two draw old age insurance of only $25 a month. That being the case, why should anyone contribute 1-1/2 percent of his wages over a long period of years, in order to draw only half as much as he can get for free, if he's destitute? CERTAIN GROUPS FAVORED

The federal government now makes contributions to the states for public assistance to the blind, to people over 65 and under 18. These are the so-called "aristocrats of poverty." Others who may be just as needy don't get any assistance because the states naturally tend to put their own money where the can get matching federal funds.

The federal government now pays up to $30 against the state's $20 for care of the aged. This means that an elderly couple can get $100 a month. For a first dependent child the federal grant is up to $16.50 against the state's $10.50, and up to $12 against the state's $6 for the second dependent child. This means $27 and $15 a month, respectively.

Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama has an amendment which would provide special money for medical care for the aged. At the present time, payments are made in cash. The House-passed bill would provide "medical care in kind" providing payments stayed within the $50 a month total now allowed for federal-state combined public assistance.

What this would do is put health in competition with welfare for a share of the public assistance money. It might pay doctor bills, but could it also provide enough to "eat"? American Medical Association, American Public Welfare Association and other organizations have endorsed the idea of providing separate funds for health care of the needy. This seems to be one of the few phases of social security revision on which there is agreement.

Public assistance grants now cost the federal government over $1,000,000,000 a year. There is naturally serious question as to where the money should go. As a matter of logic, it might be said that a larger share of the money should go to low-income states. Senator Taft has indicated he favors this. But it is politically difficult to get Congress to approve federal grants on any per capita income basis. Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas has attempted to do this by a new formula in the House-passed version of the new social security bill. It would require a new dividend of the $30 which the fed-

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES Answering a Minister's Attempted Defense of A Welfare State

I have a little pamphlet issued by the First Congregational church at Madison, Wisconsin, reproducing a sermon made by Rev. Alfred W. Swan under the heading of "How Social is Christianity?" Since I believe this is a typical sermon made by many preachers in the churches that belong to the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, I want to point out the things that this minister and those who believe in the welfare state do not see.

As evidence that this minister does not see the end of results of the welfare state and thus believes in the welfare state, I want to quote a paragraph from the sermon he has quoted Lincoln as saying: "The legitimate object of government is to do for the people what needs to be done but which they cannot, by individual effort do at all, or do as well, for themselves." Then Rev. Swan says: "This certainly points in the direction of what we now call the welfare state. Well, what if it is a welfare state we are building?"

The host of bejeweled Indian princes who less than two years ago ruled their humble subjects with the power of life and death, are rapidly moving towards the oblivion which destiny has decreed. When the Indian peninsula was divided into the two independent nations of India and Pakistan, there were more than 600 of these wealthy Arabian-Nights potentates. Their states have been absorbed, in whole or in part, by Pakistan and India (largely the latter), and the princes have been given fixed incomes in place of the taxes they used to exact.

A few of the biggest states continue to exist as constitutional principalities, but their rulers are answerable either to the Indian or Pakistan government. There are no longer any absolute princes. One of the constitutional principalities is the great state of Hyderabad, which is presided over by that amazing personality, the Nizam. His exalted highness, who now speaks with the tongue of the New Delhi government, is reputed to be the world's richest man. The value of his jewelry alone has been estimated unofficially at $1,500,000,000, and his hoard of money and other valuables longer has been the envy of a favorite guessing game in India.

An AP dipatch reports that the Nizam himself has been checking his cash on hand and its equivalent in jewels. One Bombay jeweler got dizzy at the sight of the jewels, and another offered the equivalent of $5,250 for a chance just to look at the gems. The Nizam is a frugal sort in many ways. He has been free in giving money for charitable purposes and for the British war efforts, but he watches his pennies. He allows himself $1.05 per day for his normal personal expenses, and spends some of his money on an excursion by train as a special treat. Report had that 11 of the girls gave birth to babies during this holiday. Now I don't know whether that tale is true, but I reckon it could be true. However, to get back to our ruminations, as the Englishman says: The Nizam has been the most powerful ruler among the princes, and a peculiar circumstance is that he is a Moslem while about four-fifths of his 17,000,000 subjects are Hindus.

It was a tough blow for the Nizam to bow to the new order, and he didn't give in until Indian troops invaded his domains. Then he agreed to turn his huge state over to the New Delhi government in exchange for a big annual income. The reason the Indian and Pakistan governments have permitted many of modified dynasties states to carry on is that some of the subject-people have a strong sentiment for their rulers. Presumably some of these princely dynasties will be permitted to run along for a considerable time in a heavily restricted form. But in the end, naturally, they will disappear and their peoples will have been absorbed into the new life of India and Pakistan.

And of course the difference between keeper and helper is the difference between the welfare state where the government uses force to control its planned economy and takes from one to give to another, and voluntary socialism where each man knows that he is his brother's helper or his brother's keeper. There is all the difference in the world between these two concepts—one is Christian and the other is state socialism and a welfare state and heathen and barbaric and leads to poverty and misery and the lack of Christian virtues.

WASHINGTON — James P. Byrnes has crossed the political Rubicon in his personal crusade against the Pempelas at Washington, despite admitted policy hopes of the Truman faction that the eminent South Carolinian would not make good on his promise to fight centralization and regimentation from Washington. The former secretary of state, supreme court justice, war coordinator and veteran legislator has deposited the $500 fee required of candidates for the gubernatorial nomination in his state. Byrnes will take the stump to renew his charges that the administration's present policies, unless checked, will eventually make "economic galley slaves" of us all.

ALONE — Mr. Byrnes is making no deals with the opposing candidates for the U. S. Senate nomination, although each have courted his support. In this race Governor Strom Thurmond, now in 1948, opposes the incumbent, Senator Olin D. Johnston. Although it is tradition in the Palmetto State that candidates for federal office wage separate campaigns, making no alliances, Mr. Byrnes has special reasons for going it alone. Mr. Thurmond now seeks to return to the party, but he did head the 1948 revolt that broke with the organization. Mr. Byrnes prefers to raise his voice against national tendencies within the Regular, Democratic group.

MOMENTS — Although Senator Johnston once disrupted a Jeff Brannon by boycotting the affair after he had bought a tabulett of tickets and forced the managers to keep the table vacant in the presidential presence — a spectacular protest against the Civil Rights program, he has been voted on many occasions for measures which Mr. Byrnes regards as dangerous and destructive. That is, Mr. Johnston has his "fair deal" moments. South Carolina politicians report that Mr. Truman's erstwhile pal and Cabinet member will not easily. As the state's executive, he may become the president's special "hairshirt," especially when the Missourian seeks a re-nomination in 1952. Some think that Mr. Byrnes is an "Eisenhower man," although he isn't saying.

RACE — Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman has finally chased ahead of the Cabinet rival, Nicholas Brannon, in their personal and persistent race for White House favor. With each striving for the vice presidential nomination in 1952, the struggle of the two Denver boys for position has been a sort of Ben Hur circus. Before leaving the Capital, Mr. Truman's 1948 election. For a while the secretary of agriculture held the lead because of his sponsorship of the CIO-written, two-price farm plan designed to please both farmers and consumers by concealing the costs through "painless taxation." Mr. Truman grabbed the scheme in the belief that it would insure the agricultural states for him two years hence, as well as in next November's election. But the Brannon plan has not taken anywhere except with the union that inspired it and their farm allies. It is opposed by the major farm organizations, and by Democratic leaders on Capitol Hill. It has been shelved for the session.

AGENCY — Mr. Chapman, however, did such a successful job in rounding up Western votes in that he has been picked for the same work again. He has a quit his Washington assignment temporarily to serve as advance political agent for the president's forthcoming "non-political" trip through the Middle East. Before leaving the Capital, where he made sure that he would receive his pay check despite his absence from office, Mr. Chapman staged a maneuver designed to quiet the restlessness of numerous voting blocs over the administration's failure to force enactment of FEPC legislation. He ordained that six swimming pools in the District of Columbia must be operated on a non-segregated basis. Although operation of only two pools in that manner precipitated serious riots last summer, requiring police and parental intervention, his order still stands. So far District of Columbia commissioners have refused to assume responsibility for this policy. However, Mr. Chapman plans to install his system, if he has to manage the pools himself during the hot months. MALADJUSTED — Administration spokesmen have built a new and curious defense against the revelation that there were 91 homosexuals in the State Department. A few high politics begin to fear that this situation may cause more ballot-box damage than allegations of Communist infiltration of federal agencies, especially in the so-called "Bible belt." The latest explanation — or apology — is that this number of perverts is not unusual or surprising. They insist that the same or a larger percentage would be found in any group of 19,000 people, which is the total employed by the State Department. Whether it be a factory, a community of that size or any other organization, they contend, there would be about the same number of "maladjusted people."

In fact, the Kinsey report on sexual customs in the United States may become a campaign document. For congressional delegates in recent days indicate that the opposition, belatedly, recognizes the political value of this issue. In the Home Manufacturing Case (83-N.L.R.B.—1177) a striker threw a hammer through the window of a car driven by a non-striker going to work. The company refused to re-employ the striker. The Board ordered his reinstatement, holding that "We find the striker's conduct, although objectionable, was not so extreme as to render him unfit for further service and to justify his exclusion from the reinstatement order." In the Kelco Company Case (79-N.L.R.B.—759) the United States Circuit Court for the 4th Circuit refused to enforce a Board order to reinstate five strikers who had engaged in violence. The Board admitted that the strikers had engaged in "brutal violence and intimidation of a serious character, ganging up on a non-striking employee and chasing him home in one case, knocking down an employee and beating him publicly in another." Here is a case, where the local court had issued an injunction in order to restore order and peace through the machinery of local government, which is the responsible center of enforcement of law and order. Yet, the National Labor Relations Board, sitting in

INSIDE YOUR CONGRESS

By RALPH W. GWINN* Distinguished Member of Congress, Lecturer and Author

SHALL THE PRESIDENT IGNORE THE PEOPLE'S CONGRESS? Under the Wagner Act the National Labor Relations Board itself investigated the complaints of Labor against management (labor itself was entirely free under the Wagner Act from investigation or prosecution). The same board tried the case and rendered judgment. It was, therefore, investigator, prosecutor, and court. It is just as if the Supreme Court of the United States investigated and prosecuted according to the evidence it chose to present itself. This is the Russian system where courts carry out the will of the one-party system in power. What was happening in our industrial strife? Strikes and violence became rampant. Law and order set aside. Labor monopoly took the law in its own hands. It ignored the local police and law enforcement. It became the prosecutor and the court to carry out its own will.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act (1947) the National Relations Board was to be truly a court of impartial men, to be selected by the President and confirmed by the Senate, to adjudicate disputes between employers and employees. This court was no longer permitted to investigate and prosecute. Those functions and powers were specifically lodged in a General Counsel. His relation to the board was somewhat like that of the U. S. Attorney General to the United States Courts.

Under this procedure, law and order have been more nearly restored; strikes and violence have been greatly reduced in spite of the President's deliberate attempts to sabotage the law. He first tried to prevent it. He vetoed it. Then he promised to repeal it. Defeated in all this by the Congress, he still threatens to "rip the Taft-Hartley Act out of the Statute Books."

That is just what his Plan No. 12 will do unless 218 Members of the House vote against it—within 60 days from its date, or unless the Senate acts in the meantime. In such a political climate the National Labor Relations Board is blithely assuming that the Taft-Hartley Act will be repealed and the Wagner Act reinstated. Their one-sided, arbitrary alliance with lawless forces of violence, strikes picketing and boycotting in the class war has already been resumed.

My Uncle Kenny always heard bells and he also kept a woodpecker in his hat. Between answering the phone, when he heard bells, and going to the door, when the woodpecker tapped on his skull, poor Uncle Kenny found radio very confusing. As he'd hurry to the door, Abbott would be asking Costello, "Who's on first base?" — and when he got back to his radio, Lam would be answering Abbott: "That was no lady, it was my wife." Then he'd hear the phone again!

DETROIT — (AP) — Mothers should be sure their small children don't take to sniffing the gasoline fumes from the family car fuel tank. The youngsters can become gasoline fume addicts. One such case was described to the American Psychiatric Association by Dr. Reynold A. Jensen, Minneapolis, and Robert L. Fetuccet, Rochester, Minn. This involved an 11-year-old boy, thin and pale for no apparent reason. It took sodium amylal sleep to learn what had happened. At age five he accidentally got a gasoline jag from breathing the family gasoline fumes. He saw merry little gnomes, and they pleased him because his father was severe. He kept on. His hallucinations were no longer pleasant but he couldn't resist temptation. The doctors said a few weeks without the fumes and explanations which he could understand cured him. They mentioned that in industry workmen sometimes get naphtha jags from gasoline fumes.

Art Show Nudes Cause Dissension

DETROIT — (AP) — Suburban Wyandotte's Acanthus Art Club is divided over the question of nudes at its church exhibition. The First Presbyterian Church has said "No, no" about the nude at the club's annual show May 26-27. Mrs. Maude Eberst, 67, had a "some lovely charcoal nudes" to show. She said she had no desire to quarrel with the church "but I don't like to be stymied or frustrated." On the other hand E. C. Bryan, 82, vice president of the club, tends to side with the church. "That kind of stuff isn't good" should be exhibited in church houses he said. "Nudes are not in pictures before mixed audiences." Besides, he said, the charcoal nudes are "crude" and "leave nothing to the imagination."

BEN GUILL

TOMORROW

BEN GUILL is for

- Lower income taxes and greater economy in government.
- An intelligent farm program which will embody the ideas of the Panhandle farmers themselves. Ben Guill thinks it is high time the farmer starts telling Washington what to do instead of vice versa.
- A firm and consistent policy in international affairs.
- A tighter labor-management law which will prevent such individuals as John L. Lewis from ever again successfully defying the United States Government.
- A two-party system in the Panhandle.
- GOOD SOLID AMERICANISM.

Ben H. Guill

About BEN GUILL

The son of a farmer, Ben Guill was born 40 years ago in Tennessee. He has lived in the Panhandle since he was nine years old. Worked his way through West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon and taught in the public schools of the Panhandle. Served with distinction in the Navy during the war—has seven amphibious landings to his credit as well as the Purple Heart and the Bronze Star. Member of the Protestant Episcopal Church—a director of the Rotary Club—a Mason—member of American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

BEN GUILL is against

- Socialized medicine and socialism in every form.
- The present Administration, which cold-bloodedly stabbed the ordinary citizens of the Panhandle in the back through the Presidential veto of the Kerr natural gas bill.
- Excessive governmental interference with and dictation to the farmer and the businessman.
- The coddling of Communists at home and the courting of Communists abroad.
- The Administration's treacherous seizure of the Texas tidelands.

Ben Guill is not a political aspirant. He is running for office because he has the sincere belief that something must be done about the way things are being run in Washington. He is alarmed, as most people are, at the weird goings-on in Washington, at the Socialist-Democratic alignment, which has brought us to this sad state of affairs. Ben is running as the Republican candidate because he feels that the Republican Party offers the soundest program to the American people.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

A Poor Hand Seldom Wins

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"Everybody talks about good hands," complains Mrs. J. R. S., of Pittsburgh, "but nobody has a word to say about the miserable assortments that seem to come my way whenever I play. For example, take this hand:

K J 10 8-8-8 7-7 6-6 5-4

"Last night I held these twelve cards, after drawing a card, at a time when both sides needed 120 for the first meld. Don't experts never get a hand like this? If so, is there a magic way of playing such a hand?"

Well, Mrs. S., I was hoping we could avoid this sort of talk. After all, lots of people read this column while they're eating, and just looking at that sort of hand is enough to give them the colly-wobbles.

As long as the subject is out in the open, however, the answer is that experts get miserable hands too. I could tell you about hands that would make you burst right into tears! What's more, every expert could tell you the same story.

For another thing, experts are not magicians. They just do the best they can. That's usually enough to prevent disaster, but not always. In a game against position to add to his partner's skillful opponents you must expect to lose points on your bad hands, no matter how well you play them. Add once in a while you must expect to take a really bad beating. That goes for experts as well as for the newest beginners.

I must point out that the expert doesn't jump out the window when he holds a bad hand. For example, with the hand just described, the expert doesn't make a serious effort to scrape together a meld of his own. He would change his mind if he picked up a few wild cards, particularly a joker or two, but he would not count on such extraordinary luck.

Instead, the expert plays the hand in the expectation and hope that his partner will eventually be able to meld. When that happens the expert wants to be in position to add to his partner's melds. The idea is to make a canasta in a hurry and then meld out as quickly as possible.

When you are in this sort of spot, you watch your partner's discards very closely. Your object is to save the same cards that he saves. The simplest way to do that is to make the same discards that he makes. After a few such discards, your hands should begin to match pretty well.

Q — We had a canasta in sixes and some other melds. I had a six and a joker, after drawing. I didn't want to meld out. Could I meld the six or the joker and then refuse to

Montana Man Proud to Have Had Nose Broken by Ketchel

By HAL BOYLE

BUTTE, Mont. — (AP) — You can go a long way through life and never meet a man whose nose was broken for the first time by Stanley Ketchel.

Naturally, as you bustle along through our world you bump into all kinds of people who have had their noses busted for the second or third time by Ketchel.

And it gets to the point where you aren't sure whether people really had their noses busted by Ketchel or whether they just rammed their schnozzles into a brick wall and claimed that Stan did it to them. There are a lot of broken noses snobs in this world, you know, and a fellow can't believe every bruise he sees.

But the man who really, honest to the swearing look, says he is the only human being he is sure of that had his nose broken for the first time by Ketchel is George Ziegler. "I am 67 years old and I have out-lived them all," said George. As a lightweight in his day he fought all the guys around the country that were pushing a punch for a dollar.

"I lose more than I win," said George, and let it go at that. He has a feeling that in his time he did well with his muscles and he still has a ripe old age in which to explore the distant worlds that live between folk's ears.

But he is still awful proud of having had his nose broken by Ketchel, and he doesn't mind telling how it happened. "I really ain't sure now just how many times my nose has been broken," said George.

"But this first time I was cleaning bricks with young Stanley Ketchel and another friend. We got less than a penny a brick on this job, a schoolhouse had blown down, and we were putting the ricks back together.

"The other fellow and I did a little drinking and when I got back, Ketchel had taken away my bricks. He was cheating me out of about 80 cents. When I asked him about my bricks he hauled off and rick me nose. Later he felt sorry or something and gave me ricks back."

Little George was a lightweight when fame showered him with Ketchel's fists in his face.

"But you know to this day I never been hit as hard as Stan hit me. He's the greatest man in the world."

"There'll never be a better fight-

$150 Fine Assessed On Driving Charges

Clyde M. Smith, Pampa, entered a plea of guilty yesterday to a charge of driving while intoxicated and was fined $150 and costs by Bruce Parker, Gray County judge. His driver's license was suspended for a period of one year.

Smith was arrested by city police about 11 a. m. yesterday in front of a S. Cuyler cafe. Arresting officers reported Smith passed them on S. Cuyler, and something about the way he was driving caused them to follow him for about three blocks. They said when he parked his car in front of the cafe and got out, his walk was unsteady and his speech thick.

Smith is a carpenter.
