Phone Project In Shamrock Area Started

A half-million-dollar telephone installation project is going into several communities surrounding Shamrock.

George Newberry, manager of the Pampa area, which includes the Shamrock area, said it will be about 20 days before the first phones go into use. At Shamrock, which has been without phone service since 1941 when an independent company quit after it ruined its lines.

About 414 phones will be installed at Dozier, Twitty, Lela and Kellon, in addition to Shamrock. A resident living 26 miles southwest of Shamrock will be able to talk to another 18 miles north of Shamrock without a toll charge.

The service extends 26 miles southwest of Shamrock, 18 miles north to the Oklahoma line on the east; and 12 miles to the west of Shamrock.

Newberry said the system will be the biggest one of its kind in the Panhandle. In some instances, wire will be strung 2 1/2 miles to pick up one subscriber. The project will cost about $1,000 per customer.

About 3,700 poles have already been set, with others yet to be set. Twenty-three miles of cable has been strung.

All phones will operate from the Shamrock exchange.

Nation-Wide Door-to-Door Count Starts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The big door-to-door quiz of 1950 was launched Saturday by 145,000 census takers.

They will find, too, that California has by far the biggest gain and is. They will learn that the nation's 1950 population totals some 4,000,000 more in the territories and possessions. They probably will have found that California has been the big gainer, and is therefore entitled to seven more seats in the House of Representatives.

They also will find the ingredients for valuable statistics on a wide range of subjects, including the number of farms equipped with machinery, and the number of kitchens equipped with sinks.

These questions are on the list being asked by the enumerators, along with others dealing with the marital status, race, sex, age and occupation of every American.

Fire Threatens Oil Batteries

Oil batteries were threatened at the Kingsmill Plant of Phillips Pipe Line Company, eight miles west of town, late Friday when a grass fire got out of control.

Pampa firemen spent nearly an hour battling the blaze, but got it out before it spread to the batteries. Fire Chief Ernest Winborn estimated that several hundred acres of grassland burned.

San Antonio Tops Store Sales Gain

DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Federal Reserve Bank's report of department store sales shows San Antonio with a 30 percent gain for the week ended March 25 compared with the week which ended March 26, 1949.

Dallas and Fort Worth showed gains of eight percent for the same period and Houston a loss of three percent. For the district as a whole the gain was nine percent.

NEW CHURCH SOON—Although the contract has not been let, the members of the Francis Avenue Church of Christ have the artist's scale model of what their new church will look like (above). J. P. Crenshaw, minister, said the new structure, which it is hoped will be finished this year, will be at the corner of Mary Ellen and Harvester, facing on Mary Ellen. At the back, and facing Christine, will be a minister's residence. Blueprints are being finished on the entire project, Crenshaw said. The church auditorium will seat 700 people and there will be a balcony. There will be 21 classrooms and the minister's study. The miniature structure above was built by Neil's Model and Hobby Shop. Chamber Drive Kick-Off Set Ninety men and six team captains will begin the seven-day 1950 Chamber of Commerce "hoop race" membership campaign at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow in the City Palm Room with a kick-off breakfast.

Under the direction of "Pinkey" Vineyard, president, Gene Fatheree and Floyd Inel, Executive Board members, the workers will begin at the membership starting line after they check out their "bridles, saddles, quirts" and other working tools for the "hoop race."

After urging Chamber of Commerce membership for all local merchants, industrialists, professional men, farmers, ranchers and property owners, the workers will be feted at a victory banquet the night of April 11.

The winning team will be served steaks and the losing team will munch on hay and corn according to reports. Other teams, depending upon the degree of work done on the drive, will receive roast beef, chili and beans, hamburgers and hot dogs.

The goal aimed at this year by the 25-year-old organization is $15,000.

Departments within the chamber serving members include agriculture, aviation, budget, fire prevention, goodwill and reception, highways, health and education, legislation, merchants' activities, manufacturing development, membership, natural gas potentialities, oil potentialities, public improvements, publicity, sports and recreation and wholesale trade.

The purposes of the chamber are to encourage business enterprise; to promote cooperation among commercial organizations, interests and individuals; to bring opinion and prompt action properly to bear on questions relating to economic and public welfare; to maintain Pampa's proper place in the state and nation.

Industrialists To Be Saluted

Local manufacturers will have the spotlight this week, which has been set aside as Texas Industrial Week by Gov. Allan Shivers and Pampa's Mayor C. A. Huff.

"The future economic welfare of Texas depends upon a continuation of this industrial growth and development. Gov. Shivers says in his proclamation.

Mayor Huff requested all local organizations, groups and individual Pampans to dedicate this week in recognition of the state's rapid manufacturing and commercial growth.

The Manufacture Development Committee of the chamber of Commerce has arranged special Texas Industrial Week programs for the men's civic club meetings this week. George S. "Pinkey" Vineyard, chamber president, will attend the meetings and deliver appropriate addresses.

Ben Guill Boomed As GOP Candidate

By HENRY S. GORDON
Pampa News Staff

Possibilities of a Republican election on the special congressional election the May 6 loomed high yesterday when an Amarillo GOP leader declared Ben Guill, Pampa, was a highly probable contender.

Guill last night refused to confirm the rumor, but admitted his being a candidate was "talked about" in Republican circles. He said he would have a definite statement to make Monday or Tuesday.

This was the latest development following Gov. Allan Shivers' call for the election and his setting the May 6 date to elect a temporary successor to Rep. Eugene Worley who leaves Congress Monday to put on a U. S. Court of Customs and Patent Appeals role.

The special election call put the campaigns of the six announced candidates into high gear.

Attorney Walter E. Rogers, local entrant in the race, returned last night from a day-long tour in Dalhart and Dumas where he said he was encouraged by voters.

Rogers reported the people in those towns told him they wanted a man who was "capable, mature, and thoroughly familiar and experienced with law and who was in a position to represent the entire district with a free hand." He added:

"They also told me it was because of those reasons they were in back of me."

Late last week Rogers made a similar trip into Memphis with this reporter. He was met there with the same reception he reported meeting in Dalhart and Dumas yesterday.

To date Rogers has been the only candidate to come out with a clear platform on where he stands on the more controversial issues such as Taft-Hartley, farm legislation, civil rights, and other methods of federal control.

LeRoy "Pete" LaMaster, Perryton hopeful, came out with a similar platform to Rogers' except stated he believed "control of farm production to be sound."

Meanwhile, Rep. J. Blake Timmons, Amarillo, who has won endorsement and highly probable vote of organized unions in his home bailiwick, has yet to come out with a definite platform. Timmons has said he would run modestly on his record in the Texas Legislature during the past four years. Timmons Intro. (See GULL, Page 2)

Commission Field Grows

The number of starters in the precinct 4 county commissioner race was officially raised to four Saturday when Leon G. Waldrop, 53, McLean, filed with the Democratic County Committee for a place on the July 22 Democratic primary ballot.

Waldrop, by public announcement, has been in the race for several weeks, but made it official Friday.

To date only three men are seeking the seat now held by County Commissioner Wilbur Earnest Beck, who is seeking reelection. They are Jesse Roberts, Clyde Brown and Waldrop.

The situation in McLean (Precinct 4) is in direct contrast to Precinct 3 (Hopkins) where the incumbent, Fred Vanderburg, has the field to himself.

The largest precinct, No. 2 (Pampa), has a corresponding number of candidates: incumbent J. W. "Bill" Graham and L. N. Atchison.

In Lefors, Precinct 1 Commissioner Joe K. Clarke is being faced by a former commissioner, Arlie Carpenter, and a new face in the political picture, R. A. Herling.

Usually the hot spot, the county judge's post, now held by Judge Bruce Parker, definitely in the running for reelection. Judge Parker has yet to file or announce publicly, but has definitely stated he would seek a second term.

At the same time, one of the county's highest and most sought after offices—that of sheriff—has only two seekers—incumbent Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle and M. G. "Shorty" Strickland, local real estate and car salesman.

In the state representative race only incumbent Grainger McElroy is in charge.

Services Due Today for Mrs. Jeffus

MOBETTIE (Special)—Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Frances Jeffus, 85, pioneer resident of Mobette, will be held Monday at 2:30.

Mrs. Jeffus died at her home Thursday at 7:45 p. m., and her body lies in state there. She was born in Gonzales County, Texas, August 25, 1864. She was married to William Jephtha Jeffus about 1888 and to this union were born seven children, one of whom died in infancy.

Mother Jeffus came to Mobette with her husband and children in 1907 and settled on Graham Creek, where she maintained her home until her death. She and her husband united with the Church of Christ about 1916 and she had been a devoted Christian and loyal to her church since that time. In the days when women didn't have the conveniences they have now, Mother Jeffus kept a lovely house, cooked delicious meals for her family, entertained a great deal, and always had time to visit with her neighbors and to help those who needed help. She was honored and loved by all who knew her.

Mrs. Jeffus was preceded in death by her husband, in 1932, and by two sons, Doyle and Tyson. She is survived by three sons, Aubrey Jeffus of South Gate, Calif., Preston Jeffus, Lordship New Mexico, and Paul Jeffus, a daughter, Mrs. N. J. Tyson of Mobette, 13 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren. Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home is in charge.

Letter Calls For Broad Cash Outlay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower pointed to Alaska as the weakest link in the nation's defense Saturday and called for increased military outlays there and elsewhere.

The wartime allied commander put Alaska at the top of a list calling for spending of from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000 more next year than the $14,000,000,000 plus asked of Congress.

Eisenhower's recommendations, made in a letter to Chairman Thomas (D-Okla.) of a Senate appropriations subcommittee, listed top priority items this way:

"A. Garrison in Alaska.
"B. Modernization of aircraft and Army equipment and reinforcement of our antisubmarine facilities.
"C. Intelligence.
"D. Industrial mobilization."

Calling for an annual outlay of $1,500,000,000 for airplane buying by the Air Force, Eisenhower warned that this should not be done by cutting funds for the Navy or Army.

Thomas said he would support the Eisenhower proposals.

Eisenhower, now president of Columbia University, was called here for testimony after senators noticed an Eisenhower dispatch indicated this country had dispersed along some lines beyond the point of safety.

The wartime leader said a surprise airborne attack could hit Alaska "five minutes" after being launched from Russian soil.

Eisenhower cautioned Congress against looking only at the top of his list.

"One peculiarity of a military establishment is that it is, in a crisis, only as strong as its weakest link," he warned.

"In spite of this observation, I still believe that some defense of Alaska is so important that it should be considered above the others, both in time and importance."

Eisenhower said each major airfield in Alaska should have "not less than a reinforced infantry battalion and an anti-aircraft artillery."

"The service staffs might recommend small garrisons at a few other stations, particularly in the establishing of a radar screen in Alaska, but the Fairbanks-Anchorage area is of clear importance," he said.

A radar screen is a chain of modern radio detecting devices able to warn of any aircraft.

Eisenhower said this work should be started at once and completed in three years or less.

Pioneer Cowboy Dies in Amarillo

PANHANDLE—Charles Wright, 88, died in the home of his son, James, at Amarillo at 3:30 a. m. yesterday following a two-year illness.

Mr. Wright came to the Panhandle in 1885 and worked as a cowboy most of his life around Panhandle ranches.

Surviving are two children, James W. Amarillo, and Mrs. Marie Willis, Portland, Ore.; three grandsons, five great-grandchildren and a sister, Lucy Toole, Waco.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Monday from the First Methodist Church at Panhandle with burial in the Panhandle Cemetery. The Poston Funeral Home, Panhandle, will be in charge of arrangements.

Activities of the chapter will continue to include home service for servicemen, veterans and their dependents; rehabilitation work at Amarillo Veterans Hospital; first aid and water safety instruction and home nursing.

Red Cross Chapter Will 'Carry On'

Pampa Chapter of American Red Cross will close its drive and will operate as completely as possible on a curtailed budget.

Robert "Pinkey" Sims, drive chairman, said more than $2,000 still is needed for the chapter's $10,337 goal, but the solicitation will be halted since other drives are starting.

"The office must have funds to operate adequately, and it is impossible to cut the budget any more," he said. During the past two years war reserves were made up what the drive lacked in meeting their goals. But the reserve has been depleted.

Pampa's budget was cut more than $1,000 this year when the office secretary was discharged to cut expenses. However, at the same time the national Red Cross budget was increased.

"We realize Pampans are getting tired of drive," Sims said, "but the Red Cross will be supported if the town is to have one."

Members of the Jaycee - Eltes telephoned many local people last week to remind them of the drive. Checks will still be accepted at the office despite the discontinuance of the solicitation, it was said.

Five-Year-Old 'Number Please's'

GLYNDA ON THE JOB

MOBETTIE (Special)—"You have the makings of a fine operator there" is just one of the many comments heard by Mrs. O. G. Beck concerning her five-year-old daughter, Glynda, who sometimes operates the Mobettie switchboard.

Glynda was barely four years old when her parents moved into the telephone building which houses the office and living quarters. She began learning her letters and numbers before she was five on May 1, 1949. In fact she learned her numbers from the numbers on the switchboard. In short order she could point out nearly any local number and tell to whom each number belonged.

"The rural lines were harder to master because of the line-rings. Today she knows just what to do when a subscriber rings in and asks for a number such as 914F14.

Sometimes she becomes amused at her father, who is exchange agent for Mobettie, because she is not permitted to operate without mother's watchful eye, and because Mrs. Beck insists that she learn all the rules for a good operator, with courtesy always in mind.

CROMMELIN RETURNS TO ALABAMA HOME

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — (AP) — Politics or the Navy?
Back on home soil the Navy's grounded airman — Capt. John G. Crommelin — was still up in the air about a choice.
Crommelin flew back to Alabama yesterday from the West Coast. He is on a disciplinary furlough at half-pay imposed by the Navy because of his criticism of Defense Department unification policies.
Before leaving for his home at nearby Harrigate Springs, Crommelin outlined some of his possible future steps to reporters.
He might run for Congress from the Fourth District.
He has received numerous television, newspaper and lecture offers, but is not considering them seriously.
"And he is still a Navy officer," Crommelin said he may request retirement and he may not. The Navy may retire him at will, or restore him to full pay and duty. "Nobody knows," said Crommelin.
The blunt-spoken Navy captain will talk to Alabama advisers and friends before making a final decision.
If he jumps into Alabama politics, Crommelin said he would campaign as an independent. It's already too late for him to qualify for the May Democratic primaries.

Mother Is Jailed After Giving Baby to Stranger

NORWALK, Calif. — (AP) — Sheriff's officers here related the story of a mother who gave her baby daughter away to a stranger in a saloon. It goes as follows:
The 10-month-old baby fell to the floor as her mother, Mrs. Carmen Geist, 39, was nursing her on a barstool. A bystander, Mrs. Ethel Gunder, 39, picked up the wailing child and told Mrs. Geist:
"I would love a baby like that."
"You can have her," Mrs. Geist responded. "I can't take care of her."
Mrs. Gunder wrote her address down, told the mother she could claim the tot whenever she wanted her, and then took the baby home.
This was the testimony given at a trial in which Mrs. Geist pleaded guilty to a charge of child neglect. She was jailed in lieu of $500 bail pending a probation hearing. Mrs. Geist and her husband, Fred, have three other children.

Bishop Byrne Of Galveston Dies at 82

GALVESTON — (AP) — The Most Rev. C. E. Byrne, bishop of the Galveston diocese and leader of more than 200,000 Catholics, died Saturday of a heart attack. He was 82.
Only Friday he dedicated the Moody Memorial Home here as Texas' first state cerebral palsy school for children.
Rites will be held at St. Mary's Cathedral. The body will lie in state from 1 p. m. Sunday until the time of the funeral. Final plans awaited the arrival of Bishop Wendelin J. Noid from Houston.
Bishop Noid automatically succeeds Bishop Byrne. Bishop Noid was appointed co-adjutor with right of succession by Pope Pius XII in 1947.
Rev. Byrne had been bishop here for 32 years. He was consecrated Nov. 30, 1918. He was born at Byrneville, Mo., of Irish-born parents.
Bishop Byrne often said he came to Texas to die. Doctors warned him a heart condition should limit his activities. But the husky priest was stubbornly active.
His diocese, covering 27,000 square miles, extends from east of the Sabine River through Central Texas toward Austin. It is the oldest Roman Catholic diocese in Texas.

84 McLean Residents Given Food Handler Certificates

Eighty-four McLean residents Friday were awarded certificates upon completion of the Gray County-State Health Department food handlers' five-day school. C. B. Breedlove, instructor, said 12 business owners and managers were awarded certificates both for themselves and for their establishments. Before an establishment is eligible for certification, it must have 80 percent of its personnel attend the school. There were 95 people enrolled in the school with 92 percent completing the course. In Pampa the previous week 101 persons were awarded certificates or 97 percent of those registering for the course. Types of businesses represented in the McLean school included restaurants, fountains, school cafeterias, candy stores, groceries, milk plants, high school and junior high school.

'Manufacturers' Given Rewards

HONG KONG — (AP) — The Tam brothers, Kuen and Ching, yesterday were rewarded for their industry with prison sentences of seven and three years respectively. The Hong Kong supreme court sentenced them after finding the two Chinese guilty of manufacturing 638,960 counterfeit U. S. dollars.

State's Revenue Up Sharply After New Taxes Levied

AUSTIN — (AP) — With the tax on cigarettes increased 1 cent per pack and levies on liquor and wine 10 percent greater, state revenue from these sources increased materially in March. The tax increases became effective March 1, the additional revenue to be used for the benefit of state hospitals and special schools. Cigarette stamp sales produced $2,782,445, an increase of $880,985 over February income and $800,564 more than was collected in March 1949. Liquor stamps brought $842,291 compared with $702,408 in February and $707,435 in March of last year.

Maps Needed For Peace Bishop Claims

There are two ways for the peoples of the world to get along, Bishop William C. Martin told members and guests of the Kiwanis Club Friday. But, he said, one way will not last. Speaking in metaphor, Bishop Martin said that although the world, with exception of the frigid zones, has been charted, "there is still need for maps." They need maps on how to get along with people. He stated that one way for the world to get along temporarily is to have one nation or a group allied to dominate the world by sheer power. "It never worked before, and it would not work very long again," he observed. This is true, he explained, because men are born with an innate desire for freedom, and they will finally break their bonds. The second way to get along, he said, is for men to possess desire for "positive good will and intelligent cooperation." His "maps" for men to get along with each other he gave as 1 — "belief in mankind" and 2 — "belief in God, the Father Almighty."

The speaker, whose appearance was sponsored by the club's Committee on Churches, asserted there is a real need for men to learn to live together, for, he said, "whether we like it or not, we live in one world."

Since this is true, he explained, all questions lead ultimately to one: "How are we going to learn to get along together?"

Philippines Wants Gen. McArthur

TOKYO — (AP) — The Philippines are "jealous" of General MacArthur's long stay in Japan. At least that's the opinion of wartime leader of "Marking's Guerrillas" in the Philippines. He now is attached to the office of President Ejpidio Quirino. "We think the Philippines, not Japan, should have the benefit of General MacArthur's guidance toward rehabilitation," Marking told a gathering at a dinner given him by Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's intelligence officer.

Problem Puzzling To 13-Year-Old

BOSTON — (AP) — These Americans are the strangest, yet kindest, people in the eyes of a small 13-year-old boy. He walked into a police station

7 days, Monday, almost as a displaced person and presented cards bearing the seal of the U. S. Immigration Service. He told Capt. Robert A. Lynch he wanted to report that he and his mother were going to change their address. Said Capt. Lynch:

"Those days are all over for you, sonny. You don't have to register with police — not in this country. If he's a youngster, apparently puzzled, walked out still clutching the immigration cards."

Many of the different weevils can feed only on one species of plant, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. Some scales are so delicately balanced they register the weight of a human hair.

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1950)

Actually, there never has been an hour of substantial, valid recovery from the miscalculation of Hoover.

The war came from the capitalists of the United States, not the New Dealers. The New Deal had turned out to be a colossal, if not a disastrous, failure.

Roosevelt's motives were whatever they were. Did he prepare for war because he honestly believed Hitler and the Japs were coming after us?

The haste, the urgency, the clamorous propaganda for "conversion" and "tooling-up," so-called back dimly of memory.

After the fighting, American industry continued to grind. Now it is producing for the relief and rehabilitation of Europe, at American expense and without the slightest thought for the future.

How long had we been doing that, off and on, in various ways under successive "plans"? Ever since the twenties. God help America, if the Europeans ever got clothes on their shoes on them, and wheels under them.

When the war became inevitable in Europe we were in the dumps again. Although the capitalists of Europe are fiercely opposed to promoting wars to rise in the agony of the working class.

OUR BIGGEST PROBLEM

This period in world history may well be recorded as the era of the Great Hullahaloo for economic security.

Economic security simply can't be spooned out of a bottle like patent medicine. And it isn't a gift to be bestowed without strings attached.

There are two notable nations today in which the government is providing for the economic security of all the people.

Under the capable chairmanship of George Mahon of Texas, subcommittee chairman, answers Eisenhower with the statement that he helped to prepare the 1951 appropriation bill for the armed forces.

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER - General Ike Eisenhower's expressed concern over the state of the national defense establishment under Truman-Johnson economy policies focuses attention on the far-reaching investigation of American security and preparedness which the House Armed Services Committee will inaugurate early this month.

It is planned to be the most definitive survey of military needs since World War II under the capable chairmanship of Carl Vinson of Georgia.

The inquiry will probably result in assignments of the unification act designed to give Congress an equal voice and influence with the president and the secretary of national defense.

CHANCE - Democratic members of the House Appropriations subcommittee, charged with allocating money to the military, have been quick to challenge General Eisenhower.

DISCREPANCY - Representative Mahon of Texas, subcommittee chairman, answers Eisenhower with the statement that he helped to prepare the 1951 appropriation bill for the armed forces.

EXPLANATION - General Eisenhower's friends here and in New York have an explanation for whatever inconsistency there may seem to be between his statement to the Mahon subcommittee and his latest expression of worry over Truman-Johnson cutbacks of military strength.

WARNING - Moreover, the international situation has deteriorated since Eisenhower sat in on Pentagon planning. China has fallen to the Communists.

QUESTIONS - In the April investigation, Chairman Vinson and his associates will ask questions which may prove somewhat embarrassing to the Administration political and military advisers.

Kids And Cops

By GORDON MARTIN

There are some among our citizens who like to kid a top, and some others, when he does his job, must always blow their top.

Now a cop upon his friend can help to steer our children right, and the friendliness of kids he views as something to invite. He can keep 'em out of trouble if he has their parents' aid, and he knows how best to handle any youthful escapade.

The Nation's Press

A MAUSOLEUM FOR U. N. (Gospel Searchlight)

The United States has formally signed an agreement providing the United Nations with 65 million dollars to erect a skyscraper headquarters building in New York.

Warren R. Austin, the American spokesman in U. N., who signed over the money, was asked whether he considered "these bad days" for world relations.

Under what authority is a representative of the Marine Corps barred from membership on the Joint Chiefs of Staff? And why is this historic fighting force, which proved its unique worth in numerous amphibious operations, being dismantled save for a few token units?

Why has the Navy been so slow to recognize the importance of aircraft carriers and submarines in naval warfare, especially as Russia has shown that she means to create a fleet that will top our mothballed armada in certain respects?

These are only a few of the interrogations that will be made at the Vinson inquiry. But they are sufficient to suggest that the Truman-Johnson national defense program will be given a sharp scrutiny by congressional experts.

Lake Texoma Makes Up for Loss in Taxes

DALLAS - (AP) - Col. Louis W. Prentiss, Southwestern division Army Engineer, says the income to counties from Lake Texoma more than makes up for any losses in taxes due to the lake.

Prentiss, speaking to the Texas Geographic Society, said there had been criticism of flood control projects on the grounds that they take lands away from county tax rolls.

But at Lake Texoma, he said, the income to the counties from lease revenues and federally operated concessions amounted to more than $75,000 during the period 1939 to 1947, or more than 44 percent in excess of the $52,633 tax losses for the corresponding period.

He said that recreational benefits of a flood control project are difficult to evaluate but that spending around the lake has reached as much as $100,000 a day.

Prentiss said more families are using the lake, impounded by Denison Dam, for vacations, and more lakeside homes are being built. "Since July, 1949," he said, "four times as many residences have been built around the shore of the lake than in the total previous period."

Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER

I am often asked for "magic words" by people who have heard my "word magic" speech, that I've read some 5,000 times.

Today I am offering, at a special bargain price, nine magic words that will bring you success, fame and fortune. They are applicable to any job or any undertaking.

I lifted these nine magic words from H. C. Forbes. I don't believe he'll object to my sharing them with you. According to Mr. Forbes, here are the nine words you should ask yourself before going into any business transaction:

"What is there in it—for the other fellow?"

You ask yourself this not just because it is the moral or ethical thing to do but because it is also the sensible thing to do. We are just beginning to wake up to the fact that those old rules of conduct that we thought would only make us "good" are also the best rules to make us successful.

Success comes to us from other people. They must give you their dollars or their services or their cooperation. To get these things from people they must have a "reason of their own" for giving them to you.

Other people must have reasons. Other people must have incentives before they will do anything. In short, to be successful in life you must get others to do things. It is plain common sense that to do so you must consider "what is there in it for the other fellow."

According to latest government figures, "the average U. S. family saved only $75 in 1949."

Now, with economy and shrewd buying any family can do better than that. Say you've got ten children, for instance, and want caviar for their lunch. Buy a carload and you get a better price; then send back all except a few pounds and you save enough to pay for the caviar and some dried herring to eat with it.

You can buy clothes for almost nothing, too. Say you need a dress; charge one for $80. Then go back and exchange it for a $40 one. Now you owe the store $40 and it owes you $40, so you're even. You have a new dress and all it has cost you is the sales tax. See how easy it is to save?

When the British invaded Washington in the War of 1812, and set fire to buildings, Dolly Madison, before the President's wife, carried some of the great White House treasures, including Washington's picture and the original draft of the Declaration of Independence, to safety.

It's Taken Out On the Operators

THE way the recent coal hub-bub was handled by the federal administration proved one thing conclusively. It is this: If one of the top-flight unionists is talked to the point where some thing has to be done, the thing that gives will be the remaining freedom of free enterprise.

John L. Lewis, in his latest assault on freedom in America, showed up Mr. Truman and his crowd in a way that could make every free-living American shiver.

When the coal crisis had reached the breaking point—the point at which families were suffering for lack of fuel to keep them warm and industries were shutting down, railroads restricting service—did Mr. Truman say, "This attack on the nation will be stopped now by using the fair means available under the law. The thing to do was to come up with a threat of government seizure of the coal mines? He played directly into Lewis' hand.

And there wasn't even a bona fide coal strike on! There was a bunch of union horseplay going on in a corner, except John L. In the toughest corner were the coal mine operators. Something had to be done. The thing to do was to come up with a threat of government seizure of the coal mines? He played directly into Lewis' hand.

The president's threat of government seizure ended the ruckus for the time being, at least. This was a threat against the mine owners. It is one of the lowest threats the federal administration can make against private enterprise. All that was necessary for the threat to be carried out was a swift OK from a gutless Congress. It is because we have a chief executive who doesn't hesitate to issue such a threat as came from Mr. Truman and a Congress that can be pushed around by a bunch of union bogs that Lewis can make the kind of quote by the New York Times of last Feb. 21.

"We hold the vitals of our society right in our hands. I can squeeze, twist, and pull as I will, and get the inevitable victory. Whenever we strike, time is always on our side, for coal is basic to our economy."

BECAUSE Lewis squeezed and twisted and pulled, Mr. Truman announced another threat to deprive the coal mine owners of their property. This was a threat to "nationalize" the coal mines until the owners agreed to do exactly what Lewis wanted them to do.

The coal operator had no alternative in the struggle with Lewis. Lewis didn't lick them. But Mr. Truman did.

The power of the country's chief executive to seize the property of an individual or group has no place in America. It is a temporary national socialism and the step from temporary to permanent is a short one.

It is a denial of individual rights and a powerful support for labor union monopoly. If it weren't a means of blasting private enterprise into submission to the labor czars, does anyone suppose it would have been pushed forward by labor boss Sidney Hillman? In 1941 he told a special committee of the Senate that he opposed any legislation to control labor unions but would favor government seizure and operation of plants closed by strikes.

Mr. Truman has demonstrated again, by his coal dispute threat, that he is a chief executive who fears the labor bosses and that he can be counted on by those bosses to go after a government seizure order when those bosses have balked. This strengthens the labor monopoly and destroys the ability of management to run its own business.

The Public Affairs Institute experts say that this aid should be made available to all countries, regardless of their position in the cold war. The goal would be to raise the incomes of people in these underdeveloped countries at a rate of 2 percent a year.

The counter-objection to all such planning—forcing advanced civilization on people before they are ready for it—is that it is not realistic. Pittsburgh, Detroit and TVA's can't be built overnight, and it takes a generation or more to train people to run them.

There persists, too, among many students of population, a belief that trying to raise the standards of backward people too fast only cause their birth rate to rise faster than the land can support them. This is the theory of William Vogt, author of "The Road to Survival," and for many years an expert on Pan-American development.

TEACHING people naturally costs less than putting them on relief. The idea that part of the Point Four program will be administered through the United Nations has not helped it. World Health and Food and Agriculture organizations have done many good things. But from UNRRA on, the UN record of accomplishment has not been too good.

The UN itself has made many plans. Last year the UN secretary approved an $85,000,000 two-year technical assistance program. At a meeting this May, some 19 countries are expected to pledge about $20,000,000 for this work. The UN budget for it this year is only $4,300,000. It will take a healthy U. S. congressional appropriation before anything much happens.

Point IV publicity thus far has been too good. The State Department has prepared a pamphlet on it. There have been a number of one-shot magazine articles. But the Point IV idea has not been sold to the extent that public support that the Marshall Plan has had.

GROUPS BOOST POINT IV - A few private groups have recently begun mobilizing support behind Point IV and exerting pressure on Congress to act. The American Association for the United Nations has named a technical assistance committee under Dr. Raymond B. Fosdick. Public Affairs Institute of Washington, under Dewey Anderson and Stephen Raushenbush, is publishing a series of eight pamphlets which deal exhaustively with every phase of Point IV possibilities.

While supporting the general principles of Point IV, the Public Affairs Institute maintains that the Truman administration plan is too little and too short. What Anderson and Raushenbush propose is a 50-year plan. They estimate its total cost as an investment of $280,000,000,000. This is more than five times bigger than Sen. Brian McMahon's $50,000,000 five-year plan.

Video Comic's Wife Wins Divorce Again

NEW YORK - (AP) - Former showgirl Joyce Matthews has obtained a divorce for the second time—from television comedian Milton Berle.

Attorney Samuel I. Hartman said the divorce was granted in the Virgin Islands to Miss Matthews, who was given custody of the couple's daughter, Victoria, four.

The couple first was married in 1941, and divorced in 1947. Remarried last June, they separated a few months later.

Man Who Watched Sam Bass Die Wants Marker Returned

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff
A Texas man who saw Sam Bass, the celebrated outlaw, die in 1878 is offering a $25 reward for the arrest of the person who stole the monument from Sam's grave.

Samuel Edward Loving, 82, of Round Rock, was 10 years old the day he watched Bass die. Bass had come to Round Rock to rob the bank and a Texas Ranger shot him. Thirty years ago, Loving bought and placed a monument on Sam's grave. It was stolen several months ago and now Loving wants it returned.

Loving, a veteran of the Spanish-American war with white hair and white moustache, stood on the front porch of his old home and told us his story of Bass:

"man is, he ought to have a monument. I've been keeping weeds off Sam's grave many a year. Lots of my people are buried in that cemetery and I go out now and then. I know Sam was a bad man, but he looked like a brave man to me, dying on that cot. I was just a kid, but it's something I didn't forget."

The largest clock in the world was built for a Jersey City, N.J., factory in 1924 and measures 50 feet across the dial. The minute and hour hands alone weigh nearly four tons.

The ring watch, common today, is not new: George III of England had one.

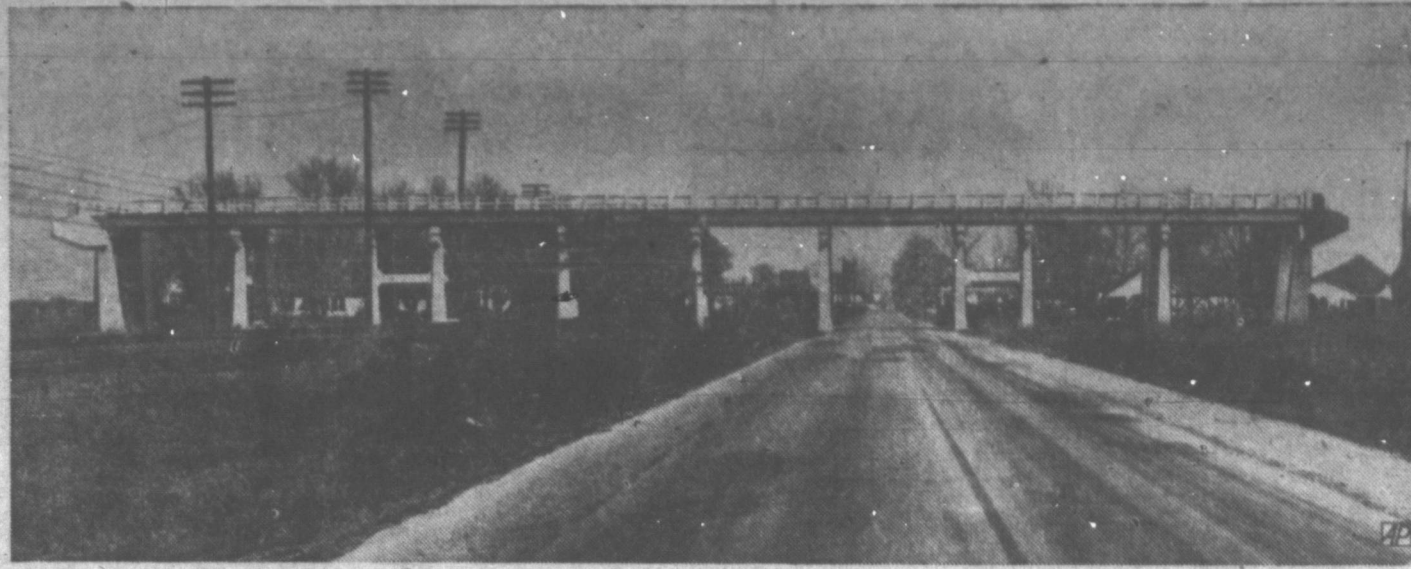

"Sam was a nice looking young man with black eyes and black moustache and weighed about 140 pounds. He was a bank robber and a train robber. Rangers got a tip that Sam and his gang would rob the Round Rock bank on July 20, 1878. And they were waiting for him to try it."

"On the 19th, Sam rode into town with two of his gang, a man named Jackson and a man named Barnes. They went into a grocery store and two deputy sheriffs tried to arrest them for carrying guns. They killed one deputy and wounded the other. Three Rangers were down the street playing billiards. They heard the shots. Bass, Barnes and Jackson ran out of the store and into an alley. Rangers and citizens began firing at them. I was down in the creek, a short piece from town, swimming. I heard the shots and got my clothes on and ran to town. When I got there I saw the body of Barnes in an alley. A Ranger pulled a fence board loose and pulled the body onto it. Bass had been shot through the back by a Ranger Dick Ware but he and Jackson got away on their horses."

"Jackson never was caught. But the next day, Bass, mortally wounded, was found, two miles from town, and brought in. They put him on a cot in a carpenter's shop. I got an old dry goods box and watched through a window. Next day, on the 21st, his 26th birthday, he died. I was watching through the window. Sam was restless and a Ranger told him: 'I know what's wrong with you, Sam. You're dying.' And Sam said: 'All right, then, let'er slide.' And then he died."

"They buried him the same afternoon at Round Rock. Twenty years later his sister came down from Indiana and put up a monument. Souvenir hunters got most of it. So 30 years later I put up one for him."

"Why did you do it?" we asked Loving.
"I just wanted to," he replied.
"I figure no matter how bad a

Oilers Meet Amarillo Gold Sox Today

Parker to Start on Mound; Second Baseman Acquired

The Pampa Oilers get their first test of the new season today when they meet the Amarillo Gold Sox in an exhibition contest at Gold Sox Park at the fairgrounds in Amarillo. Game time is 2:30.

It will be the first exhibition contest for the Oilers, and the starting pitcher selected by Manager Grover Seitz is Roy Parker, that able little southpaw. He will be followed in turn by Merlin Hubbard and Ray Cassidy, a pair of righthanders.

The team was bolstered yesterday by the addition of Bob Rose, a peppery little second baseman. Rose was purchased from the Berger Gassers, where the new Gasser manager, Mickey Burnett, will hold down the keystone sack. Last season Rose played with Midland.

The lineup for today's game will be as follows: Rose 2b, Velasquez ss, Matney cf, Richardson lb, Fortin rf, Ricketson 3b, Dunkovich c, Franks, Shore and Rodriguez pitching.

The Oilers squad was trimmed by one Friday night when rookie pitcher Ed Lisby returned to his home in Fort Worth. Nothing has been heard from Charles Bodine, lanky righthander, yet either.

For Amarillo the lineup will be as follows: Brown 2b, Callento cf, Howard lf, Carr 1b, Everett 3b, Christensen ss, LaFollette rf, Clawitter c, Franks, Shore and Rodriguez pitching.

The Oilers squad was trimmed by one Friday night when rookie pitcher Ed Lisby returned to his home in Fort Worth. Nothing has been heard from Charles Bodine, lanky righthander, yet either.

The team will be trimmed still one more tomorrow when catcher Jim Martin is scheduled to undergo a tonsillectomy, which will put him out of action for a short while. He has lost several pounds due to tonsillitis and rather than have them kick up later in the season is planning to have them pulled immediately.

Other games around the league tomorrow see Abilene playing San Angelo at San Angelo, Berger playing Midland at Berger, Albuquerque playing Sweetwater at Sweetwater, Lamesa playing Roswell at Roswell, and Lubbock playing Corpus Christi at Corpus Christi.

Tuesday night the Oilers are scheduled to play at Vernon, meeting the Dusters of the Longhorn League in a game that has been designated as "Homer Matney Night" in honor of the former Vernon athlete now playing with the Oilers. Pitching that night for Pampa will be George Payte, Bill Gavland and Joe Prucha. The first home game

Pampa Enters Club in Major Softball Loop

Pampa will be represented in the Panhandle Softball League recently formed, it was announced last week. The Pampa team will be sponsored by Tom Rose Ford Co., and will be managed by John Wilde.

The name of which hasn't been selected as yet, will compete in a fast softball league along with five other entrants, namely the Graham-Hoeme Plows of Amarillo, Bunavista, Berger Bar 66, Phillips Gasoline Co., and the Cactus plant at Dumas.

The league will be one of the best in Texas, approved by the Amateur Athletic Union. The top four clubs in the league at season's end will compete in a Shaughnessy Playoff with the winner to go to the state softball tournament. The league will have paid umpires.

A partial list of the talent that Wilde has accumulated for his team include Ralph Mangell, Bill Williams, Tom Price, Bill and Salty Garrett, Chris Walsh, who will be field captain, Otis Shelley, Maj Keyser Pat Patterson, Sid Larj and Truman Cooper.

The team will play all its home games at Lions' Park. A

PGA Threatened by Revolt of Top Stars

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Professional Golfers' Association of America Saturday was threatened by an unprecedented player revolt involving nearly all the nation's top title and money-winning tournament stars.

Unrest has been brewing for months, boiling since January, and finally popping into the open at Wilmington, N. C., where machinery for an entirely new tournament will be erected if enough fans attend the games and a concessions stand will be run.

Tom Crane, PGA executive secretary, said the PGA knew such a move was afoot but that news of the action Friday at Wilmington, where the Wilmington Open is in progress, "comes as a surprise."

So far the rebellious group has not publicly enumerated its objectives but Crane said the players "seek authority to handle the entire mechanics of tournament golf, controlling the funds and negotiating and signing their own agreements."

If secession is completed, the PGA probably would start again to build up a tournament program, a spokesman said. However, it has taken the 34-year-old organization 20 years to expand to sponsorship of some 40 meets a season with a million dollar purse distribution.

The tournament program built the golfers, they didn't build the tournament program, the spokesman said, adding that the PGA will continue no matter what, and there is a strong possibility it will continue to sponsor tournaments.

HELP! HELP!—The business manager side of Grover Seitz is seen here in the wee hours of the morning at his office in Oilers Park as he tries to run down some help for the Oilers. The candle took the place of electricity, which was turned off at the field. The sack contains some lunch to keep him going while he gets answers of "Sorry, Grover" in response to his various calls. Texas University Regains Texas Relays Championship

AUSTIN — (AP) — Five records fell as the University of Texas returned to domination of its own Texas relays Saturday but the University of Kansas — or rather its Pat Bowers — stole the show.

Kansas romped to three relay titles with Bowers the man of the moment in each. It earned for the stocky distance runner the accolade of "outstanding performer of the Relays."

Friday Bowers sparked the Kansas distance Medley relay team to victory with a 3:02.4 three-quarters mile and yesterday he ran a 4:16.9 mile in leading the Jayhawk quartet to first place in the four-mile relay and a 1:52.0, 880 in pacing the two-mile relay team to triumph.

Bowers beat out Charley Parker, the great University of Texas sprinter and a couple of high jumpers for the honor. Parker won the 100-yard dash in 9.6 and anchored two sprint relay teams to victory although suffering from a muscle injury in his leg. He ran with the leg bandaged.

Texas scored 25 points to win the University Division title. Oklahoma A&M and Kansas State tied for second with 18. Kansas wound up third with 18. North Texas State won the 400 and 800-yard relays and gained places in two individual events to take top honors in the College Class with 15 points. San Diego State was second with 10 1/2.

In the Junior College — College Freshman Division Oklahoma A&M romped home first with 18 points. Rice was second with 11. In the High School Class Galveston upset favored Corpus Christi with 16 points to 12.

Three of the records were in the University Class. One was on a prodigious high jump by Jack Fazzetto of San Diego State and Virgil Severns of Kansas State, each clearing the bar at six feet, 8 1/4 inches. It wiped out the record of six feet, 7 3/4 inches set by Don Boydston of Oklahoma A&M and Dub Walters of Baylor in 1941.

Razetto and Severns tied Parker for second place in the selection of outstanding performer of the meet.

The Kansas four-mile relay team set the other University Class records. The Kansas foursome of Cliff Abel, Herb Semper, Bowers and Bob Karnes did the four-mile in 17:10.9, bettering the oldest record in the Texas Relays book — the 17:40.1 set by Illinois in 1929.

The Rice mile relay team with Tom Cox doing a 45.5 anchor lap smashed the record set by Texas A&M in 1948 by almost three seconds. Cox came from second place at the last turn to overtake Jerry Meader of Oklahoma and win going away. The Rice time was 2:17.2.

Loyola of Chicago set a new record in the sprint medley relay of the College Class with 3:25.0. The old record of 3:27.9 was set in 1949 by East Texas State.

The other record also was in the College Class and was only because of a new event. North Texas State's time in the 440-yard relay was 42.0 and that will go into the books as record as this event was instituted only this year.

A crowd of 12,000 watched the big track and field carnival. The University of Texas 440- and 800-yard relay teams won first in the University Division. Members of that team are Floyd Rogers, Carl Mayes, Perry Samuels and Charley Parker.

Graziano and Janiro Bout Ends in Draw

NEW YORK — (AP) — Rocky Graziano still is the magic box-office name in boxing even though some of the dynamite may have gone out of golden boy's right hand bombs.

The former middleweight champion unlimbered his mighty right hand again at handsome Tony Janiro Friday night but not once could he bring down the game, comeback kid from Youngstown, Ohio.

At the end of ten rounds of brawling in Madison Square Garden, Rocky, a 8 to 12 favorite, had to settle for a draw with his 22-year old rival. Janiro took the first half of the fight and Rocky captured most of the rounds in the final half.

"I couldn't get off," said the crestfallen New Yorker. "The kid takes a good punch but I never nailed him right. What I need is a couple of more fights to loosen me up."

"I thought I beat him," said Janiro, the reformed playboy who is back in the money again. "I'd like to fight him again. I'll take him for sure then. I hurt my right hand in the third round and it pained me when I used it."

Rocky, making his first fighting appearance in the Garden in four years, pulled in the biggest boxing crowd (16,983 cash customers) and a richest gate ($81,049 at a $10 top) of the winter season here.

In the scoring, judge Arthur Aidala favored Graziano, 6-3-1. Judge Arthur Suskind voted for Janiro, 6-4-1, and referee George Walsh had it exactly even — five rounds and ten points for each. The Associated Press scorecard had Graziano ahead, 6-4-1.

Harvesters Top Cats in Opener

CHILDRESS — (Special) — The Pampa Harvester baseball team opened its season against the Childress Bobcats of District 2-A yesterday afternoon at Childress without the benefit of a single practice session together behind the excellent 2-hit pitcher and walked off with a 5-3 victory.

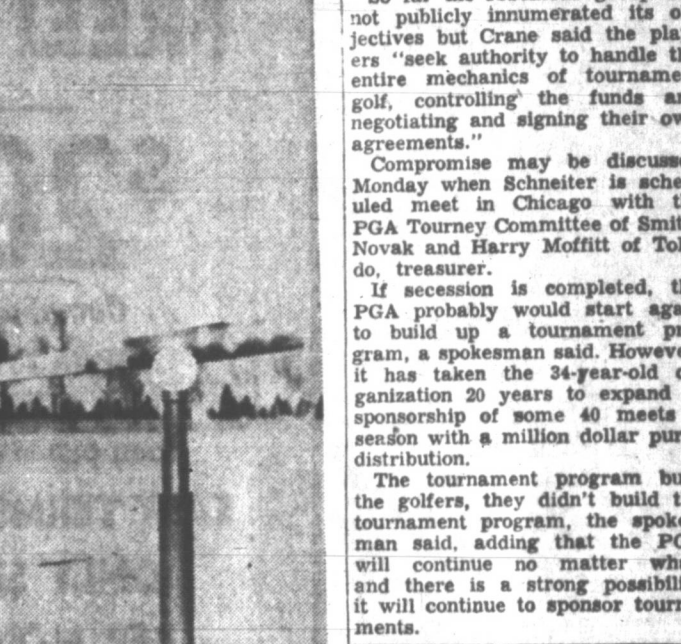

Howard Wells, Wells was in rare shape for the first game of the season, as he held the Bobcats scoreless through the first six innings before finally giving out in the last frame and allowing three runs.

Dick Cook and Jimmy Howard produced the batting punch for the Harvesters with two for four each, both of Howard's blows being for two bases.

Tomorrow afternoon the Harvesters will play Claude High School Mustangs at the baseball diamond which has been fixed up at Kiwanis Park near the High School. The game will start at 3:30. Coach of the Harvesters is Duane Lyon, Guerrilla football coach.

The Harvesters hadn't had an opportunity to work out together because of spring football, which has taken most of the baseball team. The first district 1-A-A game is at Plainview April 13.

WARREN'S Greens WARMUP WARMUP Gossip

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Who are the only two major leaguers to win the most valuable player award two years in a row?

TODAY Pampa fans get their first look at the prospects of the Pampa Oilers for 1950 in actual competition when local club travels to Amarillo to meet the Gold Sox 2:30. Manager Grover Seitz will get his first chance to try deciding who and what for the new year.

Looks as if Seitz did a good job of business yesterday when he purchased Bob Rose from the Pampa Oilers. Rose, built like a plug, and not much taller than one, should solve the Seitz's worries of Seitz. He is a type player, always hustling and hollering, and should be a good play combination with Velasquez.

Last season at Midland he hit .258 from the left side of the plate, drawing 119 walks and hitting 13 bases. He has a good eye for the ball and should make an excellent leadoff man. He will be playing that spot today when the Oilers meet Amarillo.

Rose was sold by the Oilers because they were well filled with second base with Manager Mickey Burnett playing that bag, and wanted him back but he (Burnett) knew that Rose was capable of playing Class C ball and he wanted him to have his chance.

A good hot rumor yesterday said that R. L. Edmondson is making a bid for the El Paso club of the Class C Arizona-Texas League, Edmondson, who has been out of baseball for one whole week now, apparently can't give up the game and is trying to find a franchise that is for sale.

Congratulations to the new owners of the Pampa Oilers for making the Oiler baseball games available to all the fans throughout the area, whether they are ill or able. The announcement by Doug Mills that all Oiler games, at home and on the road, will be broadcast this season was welcome news to all the fans. It is further proof of Mills' statement that the club belongs to the fans. They have wanted it that way for years, and now they are getting the broadcasts. It will be a valuable experiment to the league. For years the argument has raged as to whether or not broadcasting would hurt the attendance at games in the minor leagues. Mills is out to find out. He feels that by cooperating with the fans' wishes they will still back him up at the gate. The attendance figures at the end of this season will see who is right about the broadcasts. Mills is going all out to give the fans what they want, the top in baseball entertainment, whether the club is at home or

I saw 25 ladies playing in the first three-hole tournament ever held at the Country Club last Wednesday with Beth Heiskell, Marjorie Austin and Alice Howard shooting good enough golf to come in as winner, runner-up and consolation winner in the first flight. Second flight winners were Jo McMurtry, Jessie Smoot and Opal Samples. The prizes given the ladies were some of the best ever seen for a ladies day meet. Incidentally, I saw a couple of new players out there Wednesday. Faye Price and Maysia de Howell. They will bear watching, because the writer thinks they are going to make fine players in the near future.

Several of the gals journeyed to Phillips last Thursday for a little contest on the carbon black links and here I am with the same old report I had two weeks ago—I don't know how they finished up. Just a minute, here comes Floy Heath. I know she'll tell me. . . . The Pampa girls lost the match. The only local girl to win was Jessie Smoot. Well, I can see right now that our lady players are going to have to put in a few hours of practice, if the wind will come to a halt long enough for them to swing a club.

One of Pampa's attorneys took six puts on No. 8 green the other day and from what Dallas Bowsher told me I gathered that the 6-putt man was Curtis Douglas. Please correct me if I'm wrong, Curtis. . . . I can be found looking over your shoulder any time you play the local layout.

The Pampa High School Golf team played Borger High at the Huber Golf Club Friday and came away with a smile. That is, all but Tommy Cox and Darrel Godfrey, who ran across a couple of kids from the Carbon City that could really hit that ball where they were looking.

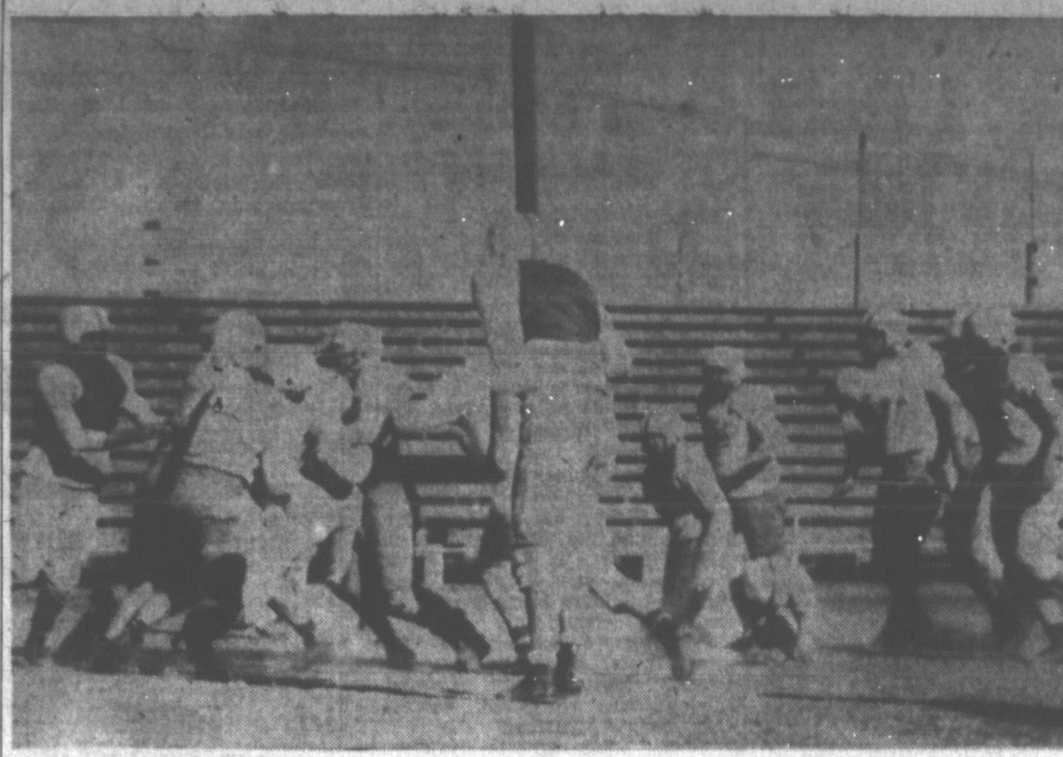

The Pampa boys won 37 points out of a possible 48 and I will say that is awfully good—wonder why they don't do as well against Amarillo? Personally, I think they can. Sixteen boys played in the match with Jimmy Howard, Richard Miller and Ronnie Samples shooting low scores for the day with the

The Harvester golfers will be entered in the district golf meet at the Amarillo Country Club on April 7, starting at 11 a.m. Eighteen holes of medal play will be held. Each school will enter two four-man teams and one individual player. Eliminations will be held for the local team on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week, to pick 9 players to enter the district tournament.

On the 15th of this month, five boys and an alternate will play in the Lubbock High School Western Invitational. A four-man team an individual golfer will play 36 holes in that tourney.

Some of the best news I have for the week is to report a hole-in-one by one of our fine young golfers. Jackie Cox scored an ace on the 145-yard fourth hole at the Huber Country Club course in Borger Friday. He has a 7 iron that "was never in doubt," according to Jackie. Jackie, a senior in High School, caddied for 6 to 7 years and according to Johnny Austin is making one of the finest prospects in 15 years at the Pampa CC. Jackie is a hard worker, in school and at golf. The blond-headed kid with the slight grin is a boy that Pampa can truly be proud of. I wish we had a lot more like him.

Johnny Austin was invited to participate in a golfing exhibition at Amarillo on April 13 at the Ross Rogers course which will feature Jimmy Nichols, greatest one-armed golfer in the world. Johnny will team with Nichols to

STOPPED STANDING—Charley Ely (wearing nose guard), sophomore Harvester backfielder, is stopped standing up by a host of white-shirted men in Friday afternoon's final hard scrimmage session at Harvester Park. The rough workout concluded the major part of the spring drills. Practice will end Tuesday with light workouts. (News Photo and Engraving)

Harvesters at End of Spring Football Drills

The Pampa Harvesters ran through a rugged practice session Friday afternoon at Harvester Park that found them butting heads and popping leather in mid-fall fashion. The scrimmage was in the words of Coach Tom Tipps, "to separate the men from the boys."

As Tipps told the athletes after the session was concluded, "if you enjoyed today's practice you want to play football; if you didn't. . . . And that is just the type of workout it was. The boys hit that line as if every time they carried the ball meant a touchdown against Amarillo. The tackles were brutal, as a Sandier runner was trying to make a yard. Noses were bloodied and bones ached. But still the boys liked it."

After the practice, the coaches were pretty slated over the prospects for next season. Many of the returnees from the 1949 champions showed improvement over last season. Especially impressive was halfback Jimmy Hayes, who ran harder and longer than last season and played better defensive ball than ever before.

Also outstanding was the heavy Harvester line. There are several boys in that forward wall who hit well over the 200-pound mark and they are showing a lot more charge and agility than several weeks ago.

The end posts appear to be pretty well settled. Tommy Martin is definitely set at one end with Roy Pool, Buzzy Terpley and Jimmy Cook leading candidates for the other wing.

The Harvesters will work for two more days, Monday and Tuesday, and they will have completed their allotted thirty days of spring work. The last two days will be just tapering off work Coach Tipps said, apparently satisfied with the work already accomplished this spring.

Texas' Wild and Wacky Baseball Season Set to Go

DALLAS —(AP)—Texas' wild and wacky baseball season is about to begin. That means six months of the funniest, weirdest and—probably—the best baseball you've seen outside the triple A minors or major leagues.

It's bound to be funny and weird—it has been for the past three years. It's bound to be good—for its multi-million dollar business. You can still see old-fashioned baseball, the three-two score and the two-hit game.

But you'll see it only occasionally. The accent in Texas is hit and run. And most teams do it with adding machine rapidity. "We expect to draw more than two million fans," says the president of the Texas League, J. Alvin Gardner.

There's no modesty about Texas baseball—it's big, lusty and loud. By April 19 most of the state's eight leagues will be in operation. By May 1 they'll all be going. From the Class AA Texas League to the Class D Longhorn League.

Colleges to Bar 'Try-Outs'

AUSTIN —(AP)—Representatives of nine college conferences in the South and Southwest, meeting with officials of the Texas Intercollegiate League, yesterday agreed on rules to prevent Texas Schoolboy athletes from visiting college campuses for "try outs."

It was an unofficial meeting, however, and each conference must adopt the rules before they can be enforced.

The League called the meeting, complaining that the colleges disturbed the boys in their school work, that it hurt high schools under the Gilmer-Aikin School Law in Texas which pays off on attendance and that the boys were in some instances making a "racket" of it by accepting transportation money, then hitchhiking to the colleges or getting alumni to pay their way.

The 30 representatives of the league and the college conferences agreed on the following: 1. Barring official visitation to college campuses by a prospective athlete, while the boys are participating in a sport and prior to his graduation. If the boy has finished his athletic eligibility—meaning he is not participating in any other sport—the visit to college campuses would be allowable on non-school days.

2. Allowing contacts with college coaches and scouts with athletic prospects at the home high school during non-school hours only, and only after clearance by school authorities. All contacts would be limited to that portion of the year following the close of football season.

One fight behind were the Lefors Pirates with 7, Wellington had 6 and Panhandle 2 victories. The meet got underway Thursday night; the finals slated for last night.

Tri-County Ball League Formed

SHAMROCK —(Special)—Representatives from seven towns met in Wheeler last night and organized the Tri-County Baseball League. Jack Dekle of Shamrock was elected president.

The league is composed of teams from Shamrock, Mobeetie, Canadian, Wheeler, Miami, Briscoe and Allison. Officials of the Sweetwater, Okla., team did not receive their invitation to the meet in time to attend, but they have been invited to place their club in the league.

President Dekle stated that the schedule will be drawn up as soon as it is known definitely whether Sweetwater will join the league. Games will be played each Sunday afternoon on a home-and-home basis, starting April 23.

Representing Shamrock at the organization meeting in Wheeler were Boots and J. D. Cook, John Rushing, Dale Hendrick and Dekle.

Tigers Whip Redskins

LAKELAND, Fla. —(AP)—The Detroit Tigers bunched four of their six hits in a big three-run third inning as they beat the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 yesterday.

Do you like runs? Last year the West Texas-New Mexico League had some pips. One club scored nine runs in one inning and still lost the ball game.

Isn't this rash of runs and hits—and errors—ridiculous to the baseball fan? Nope, it packs 'em in the ball parks. San Angelo, for instance, drew such a good crowd at the Longhorn League All-Star Game in 1949 that the league voted to hold it there again this season.

But do the clubs make money? Well, the Lubbock franchise, park, and players in the Class C West Texas-New Mexico League last year brought a sum in six figures.

Is there any future to Texas baseball? There's a new league this year, the Gulf Coast; the Rio Grande League upped its classification to Class C, and a veteran sports writer—Clarence Wiekel of the Dallas Morning News—closed up his typewriter to take a full-time job as an umpire in the Longhorn League.

McLean's New Municipal Building, A Credit To Civic Spirit, Site of Open House Today

McLEAN — The City Council will hold open house this afternoon from two until five in the new Municipal Building which has just been completed.

The program for the day includes a welcome address by Logan Cummins, superintendent of McLean schools, after which he will be presented with the keys to the building by Guy Beasley, supervising councilman of the new building. Formal dedication ceremonies will not be held until after the seats are installed, probably next fall, according to Beasley.

About a year ago, the citizens of McLean voted a $50,000 bond issue to provide for the construction of the building. Work began about the latter part of August. The interior of the new Municipal Building is painted in pastel green trimmed in white. The outside is stuccoed. It is 129 feet long and 96 feet wide.

Inside, there are four large dressing rooms, two each for boys and girls, complete with modern shower stalls and lockers.

In the center of the basketball court is a large Tiger head, representing the McLean Tigers. The head was painted by Mrs. Helen McWilliams, art teacher in McLean grade school.

There are two public rest rooms, and two ticket booths. Above the dressing rooms at the north end of the building is a large storage space for athletic equipment, and a space for heating units for the dressing rooms. The main part of the building is heated by four large blower-type heaters.

The building was built with a two-fold purpose in mind. It can be used as a gymnasium and an auditorium. It is equipped with a basketball goal at the north end of the building which may be removed to make way for a portable stage.

The building is located across the street north of the American Legion Hall, and just west of the high school building.

After the seats are installed, the structure will have a seating capacity of 1200 persons.

Lefors Class Gives Music Of America

LEFORS — (Special) — Mrs. L. H. Berryman's second grade class presented an assembly program in the high school auditorium Thursday.

The program was based on "American Music Through the Years." Joe Cawler was the station announcer following a radio theme. Next was a Colonial dance done to the tune, "Country Gardens." A lullaby brought over by the Irish immigrants, "Too-ra-loo-ra-loo-ra," was sung by the group, with Mary Bronner as soloist. Miss Laberty (Carolyn Nunley) was presented, as the choir sang "America."

Cowboy Glenn Tibbets and Cowgirl Charlotte Herring introduced the Wild West as they did a drill to "Home on the Range" sung by the chorus. Glenn and Charlotte then sang with the chorus "Tumbling Tumbleweeds." During this song, Jan Atkinson, as a tumble weed, performed a dance routine.

Negroes came out and sang "Old Black Joe," after which the chorus and Negroes sang "Jolly Pickaninies." "Chattanooga Show-Pickaninies," "Chattanooga Shoe-group, with Kay Hammond, as the shoeshine boy, doing a tap routine. "Patriotism," played by Barbara Archer, was introduced and Jerry Carpenter presented the American Flag. The choir and the audience stood and sang "The Star Spangled Banner" to conclude the program.

Officer-Plumber Is Determined

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. — Patrolmen Logan Stroud and S. E. Walston had quite a time getting evidence in a whisky raid here, but the pinch was made after one of the officers turned plumber.

A woman slammed a door in their faces, but the officers forced entry and made a dash for the kitchen, where they found the woman pouring "moonshine" into the sink.

The officers soaked a towel in the sink and put the "squeeze-in's" back into the jug. A man then dashed the jug against the stove.

Undaunted, Stroud unscrewed the U-shaped drain under the sink and recovered enough whisky to make an arrest on charges of possessing unstamped whisky.

The State Department notified Rep. Lloyd Benison of Texas that it is suspending an order which would have increased the fee from the present $2 to $10.

In Mexico City, negotiation of new fees was suspended for the weekend. An embassy spokesman said the maximum $10 fee will not be applied until an agreement is reached.

Bossy Mayor Releases Pay To Marshal

NEWBURYPORT, Mass. — (AP) Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis, hasn't got the heart to take advantage of a sick man.

That's why he ordered release of eight weeks pay he had held up on City Marshal James E. Sullivan. The marshal underwent an operation Friday.

"I can't take advantage of a sick man," said the mayor, who was known as "bad boy" during earlier terms.

Gillis held up the salary because the marshal refused to shake up the department. He even named a marshal to act while Sullivan was in the hospital.

But Sullivan trumped him by naming another man.

Gillis acquired the title "bossy" during a previous term by threatening to put cows on the high school lawn "to cut the grass."

Knife-Fork Club Ticket Deadline Set

Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club members have until noon tomorrow to pick up tickets for Tuesday's meeting, which will feature Major Paul Cyr, World War II American secret agent.

Dinner tickets are available at Cuyler's Pharmacy, 100 S. Cuyler. The dinner will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the High School Cafeteria.

Cyr, one of General "Wild Bill" Donovan's "Cloak and Dagger boys," was given only one chance in a hundred to come back alive. The fearless young major was the first American to be dropped behind enemy lines in France where he employed every trick to obtain information.

Experiences he will relate will include his hair-breadth escapes from the Gestapo during his six months of work with the French Maquis. Cyr's skillful and daring feats of assistance to General Patton make him one of the outstanding heroes of the war, according to information received here.

Cyr has been awarded the Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre and Distinguished Flying Service Cross.

Pioneer John Beverly Marks 93rd Birthday Cheerfully

John Beverly, pioneer of the Panhandle, hadn't had such a good time since he helped Rangers run the last Indians out of Bernard County in 1876, as he had Thursday on his 93rd birthday.

Hundreds of his Pampa and out-of-town friends dropped in on him with gifts, cards and flowers to make his birthday a happy one.

Recalling his early experiences yesterday, Beverly bragged he was the one who put the first brand on the famous Mill Iron cattle at Mill Iron Ranch in Parker County in June, 1880.

He has been a cattleman most of his life and has managed ranches in Texas and New Mexico. He and his wife were married Dec. 18, 1900, in Clarendon. Born in Weatherford, Texas, in 1857, Beverly is a staunch believer that the Panhandle is the place for him.

Occupying Force To Eat Jap Food

TOKYO — (AP) — Occupation forces got formal permission yesterday to do what they've been doing all along — eat Japanese food.

At the outset of the occupation, headquarters issued an order saying occupation personnel must not eat Japanese produced food. Too much danger of disease. The occupation provided its own food. Occupation people ate Japanese food anyway, either at home or at homes of Japanese friends. Saturday's order said Japanese food still couldn't be guaranteed, but their government was raising sanitary standards of food production.

Effects of Radiation Sickness More Severe For Nervous Persons, U.S. Scientist Says

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Do you get keyed up easily? If you do, a noted radiologist believes you would suffer more from radiation sickness if an atom bomb exploded nearby than a person with a more stolid temperament.

Dr. Russell H. Morgan, radiologist-in-chief of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, gave that report at a medical seminar on protection against atomic weapons.

There is a "tremendous psychological factor" which plays its part in after-effects of radiation, he said.

In case of an A-bomb attack, "results and outward signs (of radiation sickness) would be very much more severe than might be anticipated" because the people would be "keyed up," he said.

"I don't think that psychological reactions are going to affect the percentage of those who survive and those who die," Dr. Morgan added, "but it will make a great deal of difference" to those less seriously injured.

He gave this example: At Hopkins, he and his associates gave a certain group of patients diamine to counteract gastrointestinal symptoms of radiation sickness. Another group was given capsules that looked like diamine but contained nothing but glucose.

Patients in both groups reacted practically the same. A third group, however, who was told it would not receive treatment against the radiation sickness became a great deal worse than the actual effect of the sickness.

He attributed this to this group becoming keyed-up when they learned no preventative treatment was coming.

Dr. Morgan said man's knowledge of radiation sickness is "profoundly small, which is surprising, because radiation sickness is not a new problem."

"It has been with us for 50 years, since the Roentgen ray was first used therapeutically and since a year or so later, when radium was first used."

Consequently, he said, he could offer only "the meagerest of leads as to treatment in cases of radiation sickness."

He also explained that "there is a great variability in the tissue reactions in various people. A person receiving 200 roentgens might die beside one who would not succumb to a very much larger dose."

A roentgen is a measure of radiation intensity. The blood, he added, was the system "most affected by radiation, and the changes in this system are large."

Dr. Morgan gave this description of the clinical manifestations of radiation sickness:

Gastrointestinal complaints — nausea, vomiting and diarrhea — plus complaints related to the nervous system — fatigue, anxiety and restlessness — for about a week.

Then the second stage sets in, during which time the patient is extremely uncomfortable. During this period, multiple hemorrhages take place, particularly in the mucous membranes. This phase leads to a reappearance of the first stage to some degree.

A mild reaction of radiation sickness usually results from an exposure of from 25 to 50 Roentgens, but it is "hard to put down figures," he said.

Landlady Stuck For Rent, but Revenge Sticks

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — What does an 82-year-old landlady do when her tenant doesn't pay the rent on time? Well, if she's Mrs. Edith Joyce, she punctures his tires with an ice pick.

In municipal court, Robert Lyke, 28-year-old mechanic, produced two photographs of Mrs. Joyce bending over a right front tire of his car with an ice pick in her hand.

Lyke testified he concealed himself in the rear seat of the car at night to make the pictures. Found guilty, she was sentenced to 10 days in jail, then the term was suspended because of her age. She was placed on six months probation.

Lyke and restlessness — for about a week.

Husband-Stories Getting Police In Deep Trouble

OMAHA — (AP) — The fake alibis given by errant husbands to explain things to the wife are causing Omaha cops a real headache.

Inspector Harry Green says that in recent months he frequently has had to take two or more detectives off regular investigations to double-check stories husbands gave as excuses for late hours or gambling losses.

"Invariably they claim they were stuck up or rolled," he lamented. "The wife calls us or makes sure the husband reports it. Actually it takes more work and time to check those stories than it does a bona fide case."

Inspector Green's remarks were prompted by the latest "hubby" case which tied up Detectives Andy Simpson and N. F. Nielsen for two days. The husband finally admitted he reported a fake robbery to square himself with his wife for being out until 3:30 a. m.

RINGING REMINDER—The new church bell at the Church of the Brethren, above, will ring at 9:30 a. m. today for the first time. One of the few church bells in the city, the bell has just been installed, in the words of Rev. Russell G. West, pastor, to "remind the people of the community of Sunday School and worship. It will also ring at 10:30 a. m. each Sunday, and again for the evening services. (News Photo and Engraving)

Charge Filed In Death of Cattle Dealer

MASON Texas — (AP) — A well driller is charged with murder in the running gun death of an unarmed cattle dealer.

Sheriff L. E. Campbell filed the murder charge against H. C. Harris, about 45, shortly after Ray Burnett, 42, died on the floor of Dooley's Store Friday.

Burnett had fled from a downtown street of this Hill County town into the store.

Campbell said several persons outside the store saw Harris shoot Burnett several times with a Luger automatic.

Burnett, a husky 225-pound man, ran inside the store and fell. Campbell said at least one clerk then saw Harris shoot Burnett in the head with a .38 caliber revolver.

The sheriff said Harris refused to make a statement about the shooting. Campbell said he did not know what caused it.

District Attorney Glenn Capps named John Cole and Albert Keith as witnesses who saw the shooting outside Dooley's, a variety store. He said Mrs. Coralea Buster, manager of the store, saw the shooting inside from a hiding place behind the counter.

Burnett grew up in Mason County. Harris has lived here about 20 years.

Burnett is survived by his wife and two brothers, Howard and Arch, both of Mason. Harris is married and has two small children.

Douglas Fairbanks Associate Succumbs

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Clarence Erickson, 65, an associate and partner of the Douglas Fairbanks family for 30 years, died Friday at his home.

Erickson helped found United Artists in 1919 and was a partner in the Fairbanks Co. when it was associated with Universal-International Studios.

San Angelo Citizens Honor Victim of Discrimination

SAN ANGELO — (AP) — Dr. made mutual expressions of friendship.

Jose Benutto, a citizen of Mexico, says: "For me the expression 'discrimination' is just a word in boots."

Dr. Benutto, now a Littlefield, Texas, physician, was turned away from a restaurant "because of his color."

Friday night 25 business and professional leaders attended a San Angelo banquet in his honor.

Representatives of every civic and service organization were present. And Dr. Benutto sat side-by-side with Jack Kelly, proprietor of the cafe which had refused him service in February.

It was explained that the refusal of service had been made by a newly hired curb-service girl, on the job her first night.

As the dinner ended, Kelly and Benutto embraced warmly and was caused by an unthinking and untrained employe."

Gov. Allan Shivers sent a telegram to Harte which said: "This dinner is an apt expression of the sentiments not only of San Angelo citizens but of the mature and thoughtful citizens of all Texas. We are meeting our mutual problems with mutual respect, confidence and understanding, although we are reminded from time to time there is much work still to be done by men of good will in this state."

Benutto, a stocky, 35-year-old man, smilingly told the group: "I wish I knew English well enough to make a beautiful expression about this fine dinner. I want you to know I have no mad toward anybody. I am the friend of everyone. My best friends come from the United States. For me the expression 'discrimination' is just a word in boots. The discrimination against me was just a confusion."

Loyalty Oath Causes Firing

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Two city school teachers who refused to sign a mandatory loyalty oath have been fired. The school board voted unanimously to dismiss them.

The teachers, Mrs. Helen E. Baker and Miss Vera Shank, said they declined to sign the oath on principle.

The loyalty oath is a provision of the state's Ober Act, a measure designed to oust subversives and the like from public positions. The law requires all public employees, including teachers, to sign the oath or get out.

Three other dismissals — all Quakers working in the public library and the city health department — were made under the law about two weeks ago. Those three also gave principle as the reason for not signing.

The law, passed by the 1949 General Assembly, was declared unconstitutional by a Baltimore judge. Last month, however, the court of appeals ordered the law reinstated without ruling on its constitutionality, saying its legal merits had not been properly put before the courts.

MANUFACTURING

of Annual
$38,974,000 Payroll

Take manufacturing out of our community and you take out the community's heart. Goods made with men's hands are real guideposts of economic and social progress. Wages from manufacturing, profits from manufacturing — those are stabilizers of economy in the Pampa area.

Pampa's Obligation to Its Industry

Manufacturing needs positive encouragement if we are to continue the economic expansion of Texas. Jobs and opportunities depend directly upon the extent to which investments can be encouraged in our state. The stability of the tax structure and the state governmental policy toward business have been two of the main reasons why we have had such a tremendous industrial expansion in recent years.

A national trend of spending and taxation has placed Texas at the economic crossroads. The state can turn one way—the way of fair and reasonable taxation—and continue its march of progress down the road of continued jobs, opportunities, and prosperity. Or it can turn the other way—the way of crippling taxation—and halt our economic development by discouraging new enterprises, thereby promoting unemployment and diminishing business activity.

Pampa's obligation to its present industry and to industries we hope to secure in the future lies with every citizen of this county. Pampa's obligation should be reflected on the statewide level.

Other Manufacturers in U.S.A. can avail themselves of many outstanding Pampa ADVANTAGES

Pampa offers more to new industry than most other cities in the United States.

Industry in choosing a location is influenced by the following factors (not necessarily listed in the order of their importance): 1.) Raw materials 2.) Water 3.) Labor 4.) Power and fuel 5.) Market 6.) Transportation 7.) Taxes.

In every one of the above respects, Pampa is at, or near, the top of the list of growing cities, as we shall see when we examine the several factors in greater detail.

1.) RAW MATERIALS. Pampa's area has virtually unlimited supplies of carbon black, oil, natural gas, synthetic rubber, ceramic clays, gypsum rock, wheat, sorghum grains, and cattle.

2.) WATER. The recent drilling of additional water wells by the City of Pampa insures adequate supplies of water for industry at reasonable rates. Plans for additional future needs are now underway in the Canadian River Dam Project.

3.) LABOR. Adequate supply of intelligent, cooperative, skilled and semi-skilled male and female labor available in Pampa's area.

4.) POWER and FUEL. Pampa's location in the heart of the greatest natural gas field in the country assures an abundance of cheapest fuel and power in the U.S.A.

5.) MARKETS. Pampa's strategic location at the gateway of Great Southwest development area insures mass markets within overnight freight haul.

6.) TRANSPORTATION. The main transcontinental freight line of the Santa Fe and the direct Fort Worth and Denver line to tidewater, in the Gulf, prove the adequacy of Pampa's rail transportation. A network of coordinated improved highways radiating from the city provide efficient motor freight services.
 7.) TAXES. Fair and reasonable taxes in Pampa and Gray County commensurate with moderate and efficient services needed and rendered put Pampa in a class of its own in this respect.

PAMPA CHAMBER of COMMERCE AND BOARD OF CITY DEVELOPMENT

Texas Dogwood Trails Gain World-Wide Recognition

By LESTER HAMILTON
 Dogwood Trails, are sitting on one. After twelve years of it they still aren't sure what it may lead to.
 People here, who sponsor Texas The phenomenon is a wild flower show that started out as a trial promotion of the Chamber of Commerce and grew into what may be the most heavily attended flower trail in the South.

 On one recent Sunday between 35,000 and 38,000 people from all parts of Texas and nearly every other state drove bumper-to-bumper through Davey Dogwood Parks, where the trails are routed. Almost as many others were caught in a huge traffic jam and turned away without ever reaching the Dogwood they drove long distances to see.
 The traffic jam blocked highways for miles, and several times during the day automobiles, two lanes wide, were stopped for five or six miles on both sides of the park.
 The trails originated in 1928. That year out-of-town people were invited to Palestine to drive over Anderson County roads to see Dogwood in bloom. The Chamber of Commerce put up a little money to pay for cardboard signs. Volunteers nailed them to fence posts.
 About 20,000 people came that year, driving dusty roads and sometimes bogging down in sand and mud. Many said they would come back — and they did.
 Forty thousand-plus came the next year. In 1940, the third year, there were more than 60,000.
 Year-by-year growth of the crowds called for increased preparations, and the trails became a major civic job, involving more than 100 people each year, who acted as hosts to the visitors, aided in traffic control, and made arrangements for new routings.
 It was realized by the second year that the show would have to be taken off of county roads. And that same year trails workers "discovered" what state foresters say is the greatest concentration of dogwood in the United States.
 The concentration was in a 900-acre forest owned by heirs of the E. W. and H. R. Link estates. It was just north of Palestine, bordering on the city limits, an untouched forest of big timber undergrown with thousands of dogwood trees. It had never been cleared because the rugged iron ore hills, without a track over which trucks or wagons could move, discouraged timber buyers.
 Trails workers set up a non-profit corporation known as Texas Dogwood Trails, Inc., to stage the trails. Then they asked owners of the land for easements for roads across their lands. The easements were granted, but there was no money to build the roads.
 So volunteers plowed through underbrush with their automobiles to break out tracks, then followed along with axes and hoes to build a make-shift one-way road. Gullies were filled with dirt shovelled out by hand and hauled on borrowed trucks. And Texas Dogwood Trails in 1941 was routed through the woods.

 It was rough and rugged going for the 75,000 visitors who plied the road that year, but the visitors saw a spectacle of spring in bloom that thousands never forgot. During World War II, when the trails were closed, many came back parked at the edge of the forest, and walked the route.
 But it was during the war years that the trails got their first big windfall. The late M. A. Davey, Palestine oil man, bought one of the tracts over which the trails were routed and gave it to Anderson County for the permanent use of the trails. When trails volunteers returned from the armed services they had a concrete task ahead of them.
 Ownership of the land by the county made it possible for county road crews to work in it, and the one way track was replaced by a graded, scenic road. The corporation, until then financed by the Chamber of Commerce, set up the Texas Dogwood Trails Association, with memberships at $2.50 per year; and local people financed the expenses of the trails through the dues they paid. Concrete picnic tables were built. Large parking areas were created in a meadow in the center of the property. And the trails workers moved on to other plans.
 Work is underway on miles of more road through neighboring lands where road rights-of-way have been obtained; and the trails eventually will be connected with Palestine's Community Forest, a 900-acre forest dotted with five lakes.

U.S. Traffic Toll Passes '49 Rate

CHICAGO — There were 4,350 persons killed in automobile accidents in the first two months of 1950, an increase of six percent over the same period last year.
 The toll included 2,190 in February, a jump of 9 percent over February, 1949. The National Safety Council said mild weather permitted more travel this year and resulted in more accidents.
 First use of the coiled spring in watches is credited to Robert Hooke, about 1660.

Palaver de Pampa

IT'S A NEW MONTH and how goes the saying... April showers bring May flowers... I just hope April does her part. A new month is always started with "dollar day" here and you know, my husband always laughs long and loud when he runs across a cartoon or quip on haggard feminine bargain hunters. I'm laughing now because I've learned that two-thirds of the men are avid "readers" of labels and price tags... and every last one of them has an eye for a bargain. So-o we'll see you "guys" over the bargain counter in the morning, too!

H. A. Doggett is a nice fellow and he has a host of friends who corroborate this. Honestly, it's got to where at our house we constantly hear, "Well, Mr. Doggett says..." He directs traffic down at Sam Houston most of the time and he's a pal to all the grade schoolers.

ALL I CAN SAY is, "It couldn't have happened to a nicer person." Congratulations, Mrs. Art Teed—Pampa's woman of the year.

SOUNDS OUT of this world and I'd love to be along when R. F. McDonald makes that trip to Scotland this summer. He couldn't resist the call of the bagpipers any longer!

WONDER IF Leona McClendon is still window designer at Eric's Florists? Our youngest went wild over the "bunny rabbit" display last week. Leona is very talented and I can hardly wait for the seasons to change because I know there will be something new and different in the window.

PANORAMICALLY: We enjoyed the concert at the high school... bet Lester Herr is one proud papa... his son participated... Leon and Sarcie Gilbert are around town again... Just back from "Cowtown"... Jeanne Williamson looked cute at lunch the other day... she was wearing a wine jacket... And who was that in Ideal No. 1 Tuesday afternoon in a pretty wine suit... The Bill Braleys looked like they were enjoying the movies Sunday afternoon... believe they were just across and down the aisle from us... Saw Mrs. James McNamee driving along the other afternoon observing a 15-mile speed limit... Wasn't that the Red Cross drive that got off to a good start the other morning... Envoy the Ray Duncans who spent last week in the Rockies... umm, nice... I saw some pretty powder blue shoes going up the stairs in the City Hall the other morning... R. D. and Nona Mills, new owners of the Pampa Oilers, have other interests, too... saw them enjoying Harvester "scrimmage" the other afternoon... their youngest son is an up-and-coming quarterback... Spied the cutest little girl "ooing and aahing" over the little pink, blue and yellow chickens in McLellan's Saturday morning.

EVERYBODY goes to church on Easter (shame our attendance can't be compared to this every Sunday of the year). Anyway, it looks like the First Christian Church is expecting a rise in attendance because they're marking off lots of parking spots all along Kingsmill and Starkweather. Work is really coming along on the Methodist building and at behind the Presbyterian Church there's a new frame structure going up. Also understanding that the Francis Avenue Church of Christ is planning a new building across from the high school. (See picture on Page 1—Editor)

LATEST from the nursery is a lullaby lamp that grows dimmer 'n' dimmer as it lulls the baby to sleep (?) Wish they'd had such contraptions on the market when our nursery was "in operation." LeMond Hall is gonna have to get one of these lamps—may save him some floor walking—they have a spanking new son, you know.

ONE OF THE CUTEST houses I've seen is located at 832 E. Craven... wish I could find out who lives there. The house is yellow with green roof top, has a picture window and three little windows where I suspect the kitchen is. You know, I'm dying to change the color of our house, but... My conservative spouse thought he was being real bold when he painted the shutters a bright color. On color... doesn't the Pampa Ice plant look nice behind its new coat of white paint?

THE BUILDING BUG has us. Have you noticed that the Samuel Irwin home is being "done over"? I think they still live on that Browning Street corner. Just across the street there's been a lot of activity lately. Result: new windows, additional room and blue, real blue, trim! Very nice effect.

OVER ON KINGSMILL... there lives a man... who always has the will... to keep us "clean" if he can. He adds a real spark to my day... even if he just delivers a "hello" I've heard lots of folks say... his home is a friendly place to go!

IT'S ALMOST TIME for "strapless" and "off-shoulder" dresses and summer fashions will specialize in "exposure" this year. So in a few weeks watch closely and you'll see me in a sun dress exposed as

Girl Scout Worker Lends Cheery Note to Local Scouting Office

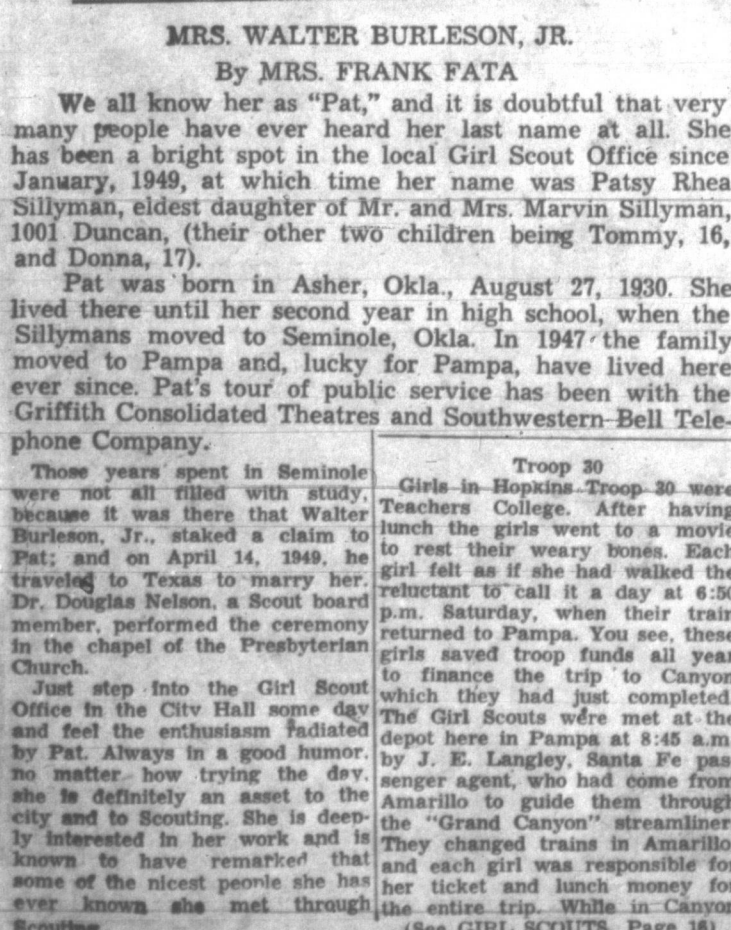

MRS. WALTER BURLESON, JR. By MRS. FRANK FATA

We all know her as "Pat," and it is doubtful that very many people have ever heard her last name at all. She has been a bright spot in the local Girl Scout Office since January, 1949, at which time her name was Patsy Rhea Silliman, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Silliman, 1001 Duncan, (their other two children being Tommy, 16, and Donna, 17).

Pat was born in Asher, Okla., August 27, 1930. She lived there until her second year in high school, when the Sillimans moved to Seminole, Okla. In 1947 the family moved to Pampa and, lucky for Pampa, have lived here ever since. Pat's tour of public service has been with the Griffith Consolidated Theatres and Southwestern-Bell Telephone Company.

Those years spent in Seminole were not all filled with study because it was there that Walter Burleson, Jr., staked a claim to Pat; and on April 14, 1949, he traveled to Texas to marry her. Dr. Douglas Nelson, a Scout board member, performed the ceremony in the chapel of the Presbyterian Church.

Just step into the Girl Scout Office in the City Hall some day and feel the enthusiasm radiated by Pat. Always in a good humor no matter how trying the day she is definitely an asset to the city and to Scouting. She is deeply interested in her work and is known to have remarked that some of the nicest people she has ever known she met through Scouting.

What's Cookin' In Gray County HD Club Work

By MARY ANNE DUKE

Community Club Houses: The Wayside Home Demonstration Club is revamping the "little red school house" in their community into a community club house. Mrs. J. S. Fugas, President of the Wayside Club, said the first Friday night in each month had been selected for the community to get together for fun and for programs at the Community Center.

For several years the Bell Home Demonstration Club has been sponsoring a monthly community night in the Bell Community. Mrs. Emmett Osborne is President of the Bell Home Demonstration Club. These clubs could sponsor no more worthwhile projects!

Storage Units: Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brickey of the Hopkins Community have completed three interesting storage units in their home. Mr. Brickey, whose hobby is working with his tools, took about 8 inches off one end of the closet on the utility porch and converted this space into a closet to store the portable ironing board. He took about 12 inches off a long bedroom closet to make a hall closet in which to store linens. Each of these closets have doors. The latter one also has three pull drawers. The third new storage unit is a cleaning closet. This too is located on the utility porch. Cleaning equipment is not "stuffed" in this closet. There is a space for each piece of cleaning equipment. Proper storage adds years to the life of good cleaning equipment.

Books read: In the last month Home Demonstration Club members have read more than 50 books from an approved list of reading material.

National HD Week will be celebrated from April 30 to May 5. Gray County clubs are preparing special programs for this event.

Radio Program: Grandview Club will be in charge of the Extension service radio program at 11:30 Saturday, April 2. Topic: "Weed and Insect Control in Gardens."

"Family Fare": A nutrition-wise cookbook for modern homemakers is a new 96-page U. S. Department of Agriculture publication entitled, "Family Fare—Food Management and Recipes." Prepared by specialists in the Department's Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics, "Family Fare" succeeds a famous bulletin, "Aunt Sammie's Radio Recipes," issued more than 20 years ago, and long a government best-seller.

Its successor, "Family Fare," is a match broader field. The 200 recipes include main dishes, vegetables, soups, sauces, breads, desserts, and dishes from left-overs. Some are familiar stand-bys and other special dishes. There are also sections on up-to-date nutrition, a food plan for the home, and suggestions on smart buying and wise storing.

Considerable material not previously published by the department, and some information not always at hand in home kitchen libraries, are included. For example: ways to substitute one ingredient for another, servings per pound of different foods, guidance on nutritive values of foods.

Recipes for "Family Fare" were developed or adapted in the bureau's laboratory kitchens, following strict experimental procedure, says Mrs. Mary T. Swickard, food specialist, who directed recipe research for the new bulletin.

Before releasing a recipe, experimental work may call for trying different proportions of ingredients, ways of combining ingredients, times and temperatures of cooking, and other variations to make a more satisfactory dish. Samples are served to judges, who rate flavor, color, texture, and any other points that give a particular food taste-appeal and eye-appeal. The food judges are staff members who take brief time out for this duty.

Home economists, says Mrs. Swickard, are often asked what makes a good meal, and what foods go well together. Practiced meal planners try to get into a variety of flavors, textures, and colors, as well as to provide for a family's nutritional needs. Recipes for main dishes in the new booklet are accompanied by suggestions for rounding out a good meal.

"Family Fare—Food Management and Recipes" may be bought for 25 cents a copy (coin, not stamps) from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington 25, D. C.

Salute Your Partner

Ponce, who lives at Houston in the winter and Creede, Colo., in the summer, arrived in Pampa last week to work out plans for the Girl Scout square dance school, which will start April 10 at Holy Souls Parish Hall.

He is currently conducting classes at the Junior High School Gymnasium for students between the ages of 10 and 18.

Ponce has taught square dancing in Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and South and West Texas. He says each locale has its own technique for minor points in square dancing. He shows his classes the various techniques used in each area and lets them decide which method they wish to be taught.

"A stickler for grace, precision and accuracy, Ponce believes dancers should do square dances right if they are to do them at all."

His classes will be broken into two sections on April 10. The first group will meet that night and the second group the following night. Since he will instruct at five sessions, and the classes will meet every other night, he will not finish as soon as was originally expected. However, the city-wide square dance jamboree will be held Saturday, April 22, at the Junior High School Gymnasium. Both participants and spectators have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Ponce assists her husband when he presents demonstrational dances.

Ushers lighted the candles, and Mrs. John Morris of El Campo, organist, played "Wild Rose" solemnly during the ceremony. She also accompanied Freeman Beotcher of Houston, as he sang "I Love Thee," by Greig, and "The Lord's Prayer."

The deep V-neckline was set off by a wide collar and the short sleeves were accented by deep cuffs and covered button trim. She also wore tulle mitts which formed points over the wrists.

The full skirt, with irregular neckline, formed a point in front just below the knees and draped to the floor in the back. The under-skirt was made with a deep net flounce that formed a picture hemline. Her waist-length veil of blue silk illusion fell from a seed pearl beaded tiara. She wore white satin slippers and a single strand of pearls, which was a gift from the bridegroom, and carried out the tradition of something old, borrowed and blue. Her arm bouquet was of pink roses with satin drops.

The bride's attendants were dressed identically in ballerina-length dresses of Nile green tulle, fashioned with fitted bodices and cap sleeves, full-circle skirts and sweetheart necklines. They wore Nile green tulle poke bonnets edged in net and tulle mitts that formed points at the hands. They carried garlands of English ivy tied with iridescent green ribbon.

Mrs. Osborne wore a navy sheer dress with pleated skirt and navy accessories. Her corsage was of deep pink rosebuds. Mrs. Allenson, mother of the bridegroom, wore a tulle colored lace dress over a navy dress. Her corsage was of white and pink roses. The bride's corsage was of white and pink roses.

The bride, who was born in Pampa and grew up here, is a graduate of the Pampa High School and later attended Southwestern University at Georgetown. She is also a graduate of the Gradwalk Laboratory and X-Ray Technician School in St. Louis and is now employed as a laboratory technician at the Memorial Hospital in Houston.

Mr. Allenson, a medical technologist, is a graduate of the University of Texas.

For the wedding trip to Austin and other parts of Central Texas the bride wore a forest green suit with natural tan and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborne hosted a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Allenson. The linen covered table was set with crystal service, and was lighted by tapers in silver candelabra. The bride's bouquet formed the centerpiece, and the three-tier wedding cake, which was topped by a miniature bride and groom, was served by Mrs. John Boatman. Miss Billie Mae Osborne presided at the guest book. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Osborne, Lyman and Billie Mae Pampa, and Mrs. Leroy Boyd of Anson.

B&PW Club Has 'Barrel of Fun'

To recordings of circus music and the cry of a barker with his "Hurry, hurry, hurry! Step right up and buy your tickets here," members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and their guests entered the City Club Room Tuesday evening to be entertained at a circus party.

Seats were arranged in a circle and performers were introduced by the ringmaster, Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius. Dance students of Mrs. Helen Madeira presented the formal entertainment, and four-year old Annice Watts gave an acrobatic performance. "Bareback Riders" were Nancy Weaver, Sarah Weaver and Nora Wells. Hobo tap dancers were Roy Lee Bogus and Howard Youngblood, trapeze artists, trained seals, a tight rope walker and "strong women" were all portrayed. Mrs. Bertha Chisum gave a comedy reading.

Refreshments were served from a "concession stand" centered with a monkey holding brightly colored balloons. Pink lemonade, popcorn, candy and bubble gum were served.

Mrs. Norma Fulps was chairman of the party committee, and was assisted by Mrs. Cornelius, Mrs. York, Minnie Barnes and Miss Jean Ousey.

Next on the program, the "Oklahoma Leopard" performed and secured forfeits from the guests to be redeemed by circus acts. Elephants, a dancing horse, trapeze artists, trained seals, a tight rope walker and "strong women" were all portrayed. Mrs. Bertha Chisum gave a comedy reading.

Fred Vanderburgs Are Honored on 11th Anniversary

In honor of their eleventh wedding anniversary recently, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vanderburg were surprised with a canasta party in the home of Miss Myrtle Capps, south of Pampa.

After spending the evening playing canasta the couple was led into the dining room where a wedding reception was re-enacted. Carrying out a St. Patrick's Day motif, decorations of green and white were used throughout the house. The table was covered with a green cloth and had a centerpiece of two balloons dressed as an Irish couple.

The three-tiered wedding cake had 11 green candles around the edge of the middle layer, and the top layer was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Coffee and cake were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. John Mackie, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mastin, Mr. and Mrs. William Burgess and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Stone. Also Mrs. Jim Hopkins, Mrs. Robert Orr, Miss Evelyn Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderburg and Miss Capps.

'Socialized Medicine' Tonic Of Study Club

Mrs. Arthur Teed entertained members of the Twentieth Century Forum Study Club Tuesday afternoon at the Country Club.

Mrs. Walter Rogers read a paper on "Socialized Medicine" that had been prepared by Mrs. Thomas E. Manning. She stated that 67 years ago Prince Otto von Bismarck's Germany set up the first national "sickness insurance" plan and that since that time more than 40 nations have adopted some form of public health insurance, which has been commonly referred to as "socialized medicine."

Mrs. Rogers said "since Russia is the only country that has had socialized medicine long enough to iron out the details of a workable system it is impossible to know the results as to whether the health of those 40 nations has improved." She added "Just whether or not the United States government will also establish a national health insurance program is one of the most important and controversial issues confronting the American people today."

Mrs. John Ketter read a paper on "The Problem of Cerebral Palsy." It is estimated that there are 178,000 cerebral palsied persons under the age of 21 in the United States. Surveys have shown that there are seven new cases per 100,000 population each year. There are as many, if not more children who are crippled by cerebral palsy than who are crippled by infantile paralysis. There are still far too few doctors and therapists who are qualified to supervise the rehabilitation of these children. Until the general public will accept the fact that most of these children have alert minds but are handicapped only because of lack of normal muscle control, it is going to be difficult to secure the aid for them that they need. If given the advantage of early training in the treatment centers and proper opportunities for adequate academic education, 60,000 young people in the United States today can look forward to becoming happy, useful, self-supporting citizens. Without this help there is little for them to look forward to. Refreshments were served to 17 members.

Diamond Ring Awaits Owner at Police Station

Proof that honesty still exists came up Friday in police headquarters when a local woman left a small inconspicuous package with Assistant Chief of Police J. O. Dumas.

The woman, Mrs. J. L. Shaw, 704 N. Christy, was shopping and noticed the little package lying on a counter at Woolworth's Store. She decided to inspect it. When she finally got the wrapping unwound, out tumbled a diamond ring.

Mrs. Shaw made the police station her next stop and turned the ring over for safe keeping and return to its rightful owner. Chief of Police John Wilkinson said the owner could redeem it upon proper identification.

Lefors Seniors Hold 'Kid Day'

LEFORS (Special) — Friday was annual Kid Day for Lefors High School seniors.

The 33 seniors dressed as "small fry" and tried to bring back memories of early school days.

They presented an assembly program at 9:30 a.m. in the high school auditorium for the entire student body.

Barbara Jeffreys read the seniors' reminiscences of their primary, junior high, and past high school days. Wanda Rickman then read the class prophecy, which was followed by the class will, read by Wanda Roberts.

To close the program of nonsense, Joel Combs led the class in singing "School Days."

After the program, the seniors and their sponsors, Mr. Lawson Shaw and Mrs. Helen Lette, traveled by bus to Palo Duro Canyon for a picnic.

Divorce Is Granted By Judge Goodrich

District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich Friday afternoon granted a divorce to Mary Ellen Sherrord from M. F. Sherrord on charges of cruelty. They were married in May, 1934, and separated in August, 1949.

Mrs. Sherrord was awarded custody of their two children and granted support of $50 per month from her former husband.

Poll Tax Reaches Little Too Far

WINTHROP, Mass. — (AP) — Thomas J. Plakias can't see eye-to-eye with the town tax collector.

Three-year-old Tommy received a poll tax demand for $2 yesterday. Under state law, Tommy shouldn't have to pay a tax until he's 21.

Tommy's parents didn't know what to make of it. Neither did the tax collector.

"Guess we'll have to wait 18 years," said the collector.

Change Sought In Grading of Retail Beef

DENVER — (AP) — Changes in the grading of beef sold to consumers have been recommended to the federal government by representatives of various branches of the beef-producing industry.

F. E. Mollin, Denver, secretary of the American National Livestock Association, said he is confident the suggested changes will be put into effect.

At present beef for sales purposes is graded prime, choice, good, commercial, utility and canner and cutter.

"Under the present grading system," Mollin said, "prime beef is so scarce the average consumer never sees it. It is bought by the fancy hotels, night clubs and the like. It is practically all show beef."

"Beef now graded 'good' is excellent meat and is worthy of being grade 'choice' in sales over the counter."

Mollin disclosed that the decision to seek the grading revisions was reached at a meeting in Chicago March 21 of the association's cattle and beef industry committee. This is made up of four packers, four feeders, four producers and four retailers.

'Pet Peeves' Listed by Film Writer

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Everybody has two businesses — their own and the movie business.

This is an old Hollywood saying. It expresses the common belief that everyone likes to kibitz on Hollywood. Since my business is to observe the film industry, maybe I can point out where it has erred.

Here are 10 points which I feel have put the movie industry in its present predicament:

1. Theater prices are too high.
2. Re-releases of old pictures, not advertised as such, have soured many theatergoers.
3. To see the best picture of a double feature, you generally have to be in the theater at 7 p.m. or 10:30. The secondary film goes on when most people arrive.
4. Double features should be arranged for a well-rounded entertainment. Instead, we see such bills as "The Heiress" with "All The King's Men," two long and heavy films.
5. Theaters make little effort to get customers in at the beginning of a picture.
6. Producers too often imitate what has been successful.
7. Producers have too often placed star values above story values.
8. Misbehaving personalities have often been rewarded with stardom and contracts, with the resulting bad publicity.
9. Hollywood has always been more concerned with selling stars and pictures rather than itself.
10. Producers have too often underestimated their audience.

Pacer Only Easing Pain

ELIZABETH, N.J. — (AP) — A troubled resident here asked police to investigate the strange actions of a man up the street from his apartment house.

The man was pacing back and forth in the middle of the narrow street — 10 paces this way, then 10 paces back. The apartment-dweller wanted to know what he was up to.

The officers approached the pacer and asked him, "I'm breaking in a new pair of shoes," was the answer.

Before weight and length standards were developed, men weighed gold and silver against grains of wheat "taken from the middle of the ear," and measured by the length of the first joint of the finger or the length of the human foot.

Barkley to Speak At Austin Dinner

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Vice President Alben W. Barkley has accepted an invitation to speak at a Texas Democratic dinner in Austin on May 27.

Aides of the vice-president said that Mrs. Barkley usually does not accompany her husband on such political speaking engagements, although it is possible she may visit the Texas capital with him.

Gas Mileage Improvement Tremendous

By DAVID J. WILKIE
DETROIT — (AP) — If you worry about gasoline car mileage think what your problem might be with 1950 fuels and engines.

The petroleum and automotive industries have made tremendous advances in the last 20 years in improving efficiency of fuel consumption. Two decades ago regular gasoline was of about 65 octane number quality. Today it averages 85 with higher quality available in the so-called premium gasoline.

In the same period the auto manufacturers have increased compression ratios, developed smaller engines and improved transmissions and axle ratios. These advances, along with better combustion chambers, have helped squeeze greater mileage out of automotive gasoline.

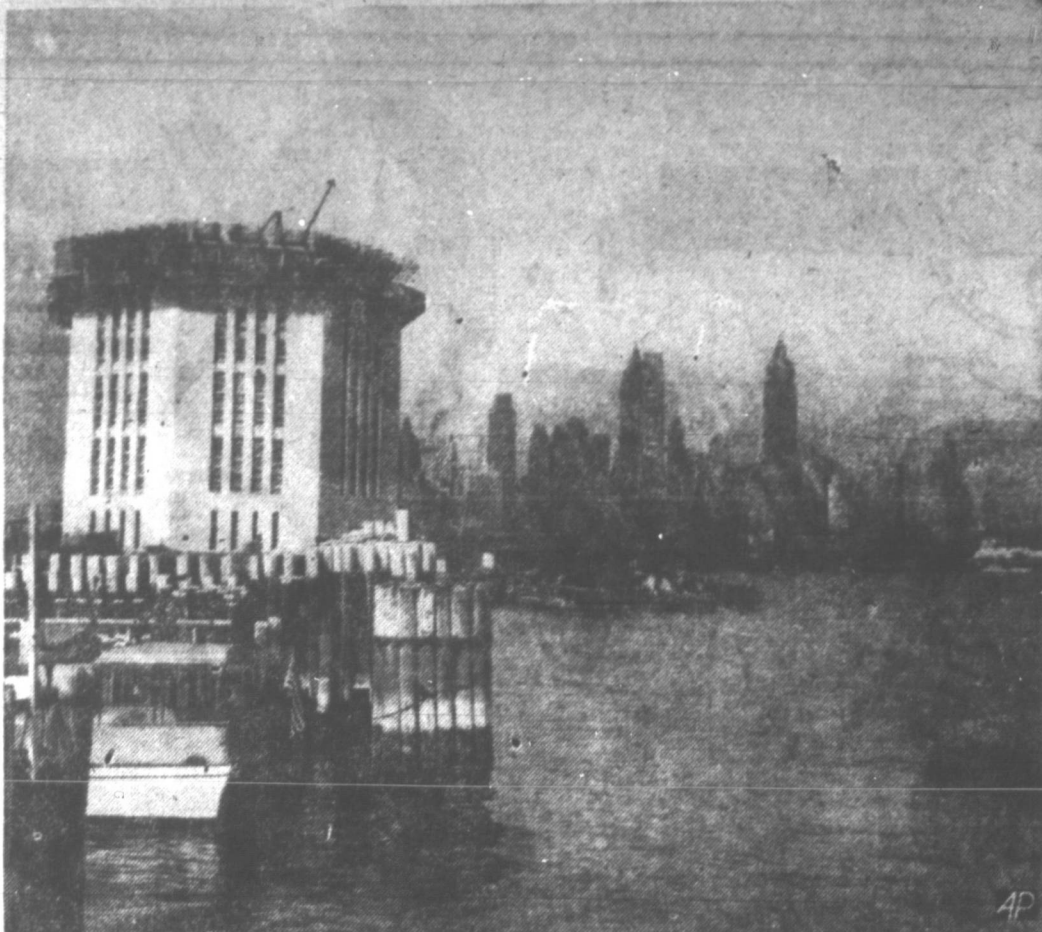

Engine compression ratios in 1950 were 5-to-1. Today they are 7-to-1 and better. They may go higher over the next few years. If still higher quality fuel becomes commonly available.

Higher quality fuel probably will cost more per gallon. Whether the increased mileage will offset the higher fuel cost cannot be determined by any simple form of mathematics. It will take many millions of miles of driving under varying conditions.

You may hear of motorists who claim to get anywhere from 18 to 25 miles from a gallon of gasoline, depending on the size of the car they drive. But few motorists know the actual number of miles they get from their fuel. There probably is nothing in every-day motoring as varying as the number of stars and stripes that have to be made in traffic.

It is certain, however, that in highway driving today's motorist gets far better mileage from his fuel than he did 20 years ago. Some engineering authorities say efficiency of fuel utilization has improved about 40 percent in the last two decades.

Many among the industry's engineers believe another 40 percent advance may be expected within the next three to five years. That's about the time they believe will be required for another substantial advance in engine compression ratios.

BARUCH URGES FULL MOBILIZATION PLAN

NEWPORT, R. I. — (AP) — Bernard Baruch called yesterday for a "ready to go" mobilization plan to place the nation on an all-out war footing the instant another war is declared.

The noted financier said the "time gap" needed to convert production from peace to war constitutes the "greatest source of peril" to the United States.

Speaking before staff members and students of the Naval War College, Baruch said: "We can be sure that the Soviet leaders have not forgotten that plan to place the nation on an all-out war footing the instant another war is declared."

Speaking before staff members and students of the Naval War College, Baruch said: "We can be sure that the Soviet leaders have not forgotten that plan to place the nation on an all-out war footing the instant another war is declared."

He said that "no nation in the world will attack a mobilized America."

"The only strategy any enemy can have is to attempt to overwhelm us during that 'too little, too late' period while our military power is still 'on order.'"

His mobilization plan would include a call to arms, ceiling prices to prevent inflation, much higher taxes, and a general staff for peace.

The former presidential adviser said U. S. possession of the atomic bomb has not "solely" prevented "overt Soviet aggression... these past years."

Foundation to Support Study Of Character Development

TEXARKANA — (AP) — A world-wide effort to make a practical application of the principle that character development begins in the cradle is about to get underway.

The General Federation of Women's Clubs, which has more than three million members in 63 countries, is backing the movement. The Palmer Foundation, philanthropic enterprise established by C. E. Palmer, Texarkana publisher, and Mrs. Palmer, is footing the bill.

The instrument to be used is a study entitled "Parents' Responsibility in Character Development." It was prepared last summer at Washington State College, Pullman, Wash.

Designed to meet the needs of children of pre-school age, the program will begin in study groups of clubs affiliated with the General Federation. Later, it is anticipated that principles laid in the study can be made a part of the thinking of parents, school teachers, and other persons engaged in work with children.

The theory back of the movement follows generally findings of psychologists and psychiatrists. These are that embarrassments, disappointments and frustrations of childhood often produce emotional scars which may remain in the subconscious mind and later cause trouble.

Reduced to writing, the study is an ultra-simplification of principles that if a child learns at an early age to express himself without fear; to develop the impression he is being loved and accepted; to undergo discipline as a learning process; to make his own decisions and to take consequences of those decisions, he will be on the way to enrichment of character as he grows.

Decreased Income Reported by Katy

Gross revenue for the railroad was $75,130,317 last year, compared with $83,292,919 the previous year.

The railroad's annual report termed results for the year satisfactory, despite the lower volume of traffic handled.

Rio Grande Flood Control Survey Plan Is Proposed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A flood control survey on the Lower Rio Grande has been added to the omnibus rivers and harbors and flood control bill.

The Senate took up the bill briefly Friday, then put it aside again after approving the survey and two other committee amendments.

Most of the committee amendments to the House passed bill were agreed upon before Congress adjourned last year.

Senator Chavez (D-NM), chairman of the public works committee, said the bill may be brought up for action again near the end of next week.

State May Tax Interstate Carrier Earning Money Within Boundaries

NEW YORK — (AP) — In a decision awaited by some 30 states, a U. S. appeals court has declared valid a Connecticut law taxing an interstate carrier that earns money within its boundaries.

The question centered on the problem, which arose in colonial days, concerning the right of individual states to collect duties on interstate commerce. The U. S. Constitution banned such taxes.

However, the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals held in a 2-1 decision that the Connecticut law does not "discriminate against interstate commerce" and does not violate the Constitution.

The opinion noted that 30 or more states have adopted similar tax statutes and awaited the outcome of the Connecticut case which "has not been swiftly forthcoming."

The case has been in state and federal courts since 1942 when

Army Selects Engineers' Office Head

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Lt. Col. Delbert B. Freeman has been named to head the new Fort Worth district office of the Corps of Engineers.

The appointment was announced by Col. Louis W. Prentiss, southwestern division engineer with headquarters at Dallas.

Col. Prentiss made no direct reference to attempts by a Galveston civic group to prevent a reduction of functions of the Galveston district office. Flood control functions of the Galveston office are being assigned to the new Fort Worth office. The Galveston district will retain river and harbor and major drainage functions.

The new district engineer is expected to arrive here in about a week to complete preliminary arrangements for the new office which will open about the middle of April.

Although the principal part of his statement stressed the soil and water conservation program now underway in the Trinity River, Col. Prentiss did say in regard to the new Fort Worth district office:

"Texas is now served by four engineer districts; one each at Galveston, Albuquerque, Tulsa and New Orleans. There has been no district office in the center of the state where it could best serve the flood control interests of a majority of the people."

"The Fort Worth district will have active responsibility for the eight dams in Texas which are now under construction, as well as for the continued investigation of the waterways of Texas on which Congress has ordered the Corps of Engineers to submit survey reports."

U. S. Strengthens Bomb Secrecy Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission has taken a new step to assure highest secrecy about its hydrogen bomb program.

The AEC disclosed yesterday that it has asked its employees and contractor personnel to say nothing in public about technical matters referring to a superbomb — even though the information might be non-secret.

Marshall Plan to Observe Second Anniversary Monday

(Editors Note: Two years ago next Monday — on April 3, 1948 — President Truman signed into law the Marshall Plan to help rebuild war-ravaged Europe. This story deals with the four-year European Recovery Program as it reaches the half-way mark.)

By BILL ROSS
WASHINGTON — Just across Lafayette Park from the White House is a building that is the nerve-center of America's mightiest offensive in the "cold war" with Russia.
 From this headquarters is directed the Marshall Plan which on Monday passes its second birthday.
 The building houses the Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA), the agency established by Congress to run a program due to cost American taxpayers about $13,000,000,000 by the time it ends on June 30, 1952.
 To mark the second anniversary and half-way point of the multi-billion dollar project, soldier-statesman George C. Marshall, who, as secretary of state, first devised the plan — will make what ECA officials call a "major speech."
 Marshall's idea in the beginning was this All Europe-including Russia — should get together in a cooperative effort which would restore production and trade. The United States would provide the countries with necessary aid.

ST. PETER'S IN SUGAR—Passersby view a sugar Basilica of St. Peter's built in half a chocolate Easter egg shown in a Roman candy shop. The egg took a month to build.

 Russia, taking the satellite countries of Eastern Europe along, turned its back on the Marshall Plan.
 The Marshall Plan has become this country's foreign policy "big stick" to stop the westward thrust of communism.
 The program so far has cost the United States nearly $9,000,000,000. Has it been worth the money and natural resources? Here's what the record shows:
 France, Italy and Greece seemed on the verge of having Communist-controlled governments two years ago. Now the power of communism in those countries has waned.
 Industrial production across Western Europe, as a whole, is 15 to 20 percent above prewar levels. After the first world war it took the countries that make up the Marshall Plan bloc seven years to regain a peacetime output; this time it took only three years.
 Western Europe now has an adequate diet. Europeans still aren't well-fed by American standards but the threat of starvation is no more.
 Trade between Western European nations is nearly back to prewar levels.
 Marshall Plan nations have boosted exports to North America by nearly a third in the past two years. They largely have whipped the problems of inflation. With the exception of Berlin and Italy, there virtually is no unemployment in Europe.
 Those in this country who are critical of the program point out that the Marshall Plan countries, in accepting the billions of aid dollars, promised an all-out effort at mutual self-help. The critics argue that Western Europe has fallen down on this promise; that the countries, in effect, are merely getting what they can from Uncle Sam and doing little or nothing to help themselves; that Europe still faces a heavy threat from communism when the Marshall Plan ends in 1952.
 And there still is the pressing matter of the "dollar gap" and other complex factors of international economy and finance.

Insurance Code Meeting Slated

AUSTIN — (AP) — The next meeting of the Legislative Insurance Code Committee has been set for April 13 in the Senate chamber.

Chairman George B. Butler said it is hoped that the outline for the entire revision of the state's insurance laws can be presented at that time. The committee's report will go to the next Legislature.

Policymakers and members of the industry were invited to attend.

The first successful platform scales, to weigh heavy, massive objects, were produced in 1830 at St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Funds to Finish Pan-American Highway Sought

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A bill to authorize funds for completion of the Pan American Highway from Mexico to south through Panama has been introduced by Rep. Bentsen (D-Texas).
 He proposes U. S. aid to Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua and Panama.
 "We are siphoning millions of dollars into Europe to combat communism," he said in a statement. "We're promoting travel abroad. We are putting out every effort to secure peace for the world, yet, we are neglecting in a great measure our own highways."
 Bentsen's bill authorizes appropriation of $8,000,000 annually for eight years.

Gasoline, Crude Oil Prices, Gas Competition Vex Experts

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — Petroleum economists are puzzled over three particular problems these days — gasoline and crude oil prices and competition from natural gas.

Rig Activity Fails to Show Usual Gains

DALLAS — (Special) — For the first time in several weeks, drilling operations in the United States and Canada failed to register a gain in active rotary rigs which numbered 2,000 for the week of March 20, it was reported to the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Co.

Because of a general decline in active rigs in all areas except the Rocky Mountains and Canada, this week's total is 29 units below that of 2038 a week ago; 48 higher than 1951 a month ago; and 118 below the total of 2128 for the comparable week in 1949.

Rig operations by areas were as follows: Rocky Mountain and Canada 143, up 9; West Texas and New Mexico 686, down 12; Gulf Coast 483, down 5; Oklahoma-Kansas 371, down 3; Pacific Coast 121, down 5; Illinois 76, down 5; Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas 128, down 3.

Shamrock Installs New Plant Unit

The Shamrock Oil and Gas Corp. will install a hydrofining catalytic cracking unit at its McKee Plant near Sunray, J. H. Dunn, president of Shamrock, and Brig. Gen. D. N. Hausman, president of Houdry Process Corp., have announced.

The new unit will be of the most modern design and will have a design fresh charge capacity of 8,000 bbl. with additional capacity to permit recycling for increased gasoline production.

Construction of the new unit will be handled by the Catalytic Construction Co. of Philadelphia. Work will proceed immediately, and completion is expected by early 1951.

Cities Service Shows Increase

New and improved facilities completed and placed in operation during 1949, have put Cities Service companies in stronger position today than ever before to meet growing competition in both the petroleum and natural gas industries.

W. Alton Jones, president of Cities Service Co. informed stockholders last week in the company's fortieth annual report that the consolidated financial position of Cities Service and subsidiaries was substantially improved during the year.

Cash and government securities were increased by $15,800,000 to a total of $160,189,903. Net current assets exceeded $180,000,000 in funded and other long term debt, which included retirement of all outstanding 5 percent debentures in the aggregate sum of $51,069,700.

Consolidated net income for 1949 was $55,057,822, the equivalent of $14.87 per share of common stock. This compares with consolidated net earnings of $66,777,039, or $17.77 per share, in 1948. Corporate net income was $28,346,412 in 1949 compared with $25,791,242 in 1948.

Panhandle Field Totals Sag as Operators Drop New Locations to 16, Complete Ten

Totals from the Panhandle field sagged last week when compared to those reported the preceding week.

Operators in the area staked only 16 locations compared to 22 new wells staked the week before. New oil completions dropped from the 23 reported the week ended March 28 to 10 finished last week.

Total increased potentials fell to 900 barrels from the previous period's 1,394, almost a 500-barrel drop.

One well was reported plugged in Carson County. No new gas completions were reported during the week.

Magnolia Opens Midland Field

DALLAS — (AP) — Magnolia Petroleum Co. Friday had reports of a new oil field in Midland County.

The firm's No. 2 Roy Parks, Sec. 10, M. C. Daugherty Survey, topped the Pennsylvania zone at 10,980, topped pay at 16,400 and drilled to 10,468 feet.

The well is located nearly 12 miles southwest of Midland. On a drill-stem test it flowed oil in an hour and seven minutes, at 10,388-468 Oil was 44.6 gravity, with gas volume 485,520 feet daily and gas oil ratio 1,738 to 1.

The rapid postwar natural gas boom in the East and Midwest has captured some oil markets and taken others that might have been diverted to petroleum.

Gas pipe line expansion programs have not reached their peak as yet. Hundreds of miles of line under construction now and many hundreds more still are in the drafting board stage.

Continental Oil Co. last week cut its Oklahoma wholesale gasoline prices so as to be in a more favorable competitive position should a price crisis arrive.

The company abandoned a system based on average freight rates and began basing wholesale prices on local economic and competitive factors.

The price cut varied over the state and ranged up to one-cent a gallon. Some areas were not affected.

Some economists for weeks have feared a crude oil price slump will develop this spring. Oilmen are hopeful an anticipated market demand increase over the next few weeks will remove most, if not all, the danger.

Oklahoma last week followed Texas and Louisiana in boosting its April crude production allowables.

Texas purchasers said April demand will be heavier. They received a 130,000 barrel daily increase. Oklahoma's purchasers forecast a 15 percent increase.

The state's Conservation Department authorized a 40,355 barrel daily production hike.

Time will have to tell whether the purchaser's optimism is premature. Such was the case last August and September when production climbed a bit after a series of cutbacks.

Anticipated heavier demand from the winter heating fuel market failed to materialize and production began to drop again.

Gasoline stocks zoomed to another all-time high of 135,408,000 barrels week before last after registering a minor decline. A year earlier the total was 128,500,000.

There was one encouraging factor — anticipated spring-summer gasoline demand.

Raymond Tollett, president of Couden Petroleum, Big Spring, told the Western Petroleum Refiners Assn. convention last week automobile travel in 1950 will be 8 percent higher than last year.

The American Petroleum Institute last Monday reported 1949's gasoline consumption was 5.9 percent above the previous year.

Depletion Is Topic Of Thompson Talk

The need of the percentage depletion allowance to the oil industry is the subject of an address by Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson when he visits Pampa April 18.

The API advisory committee set the program for 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 18. Expecting a large number of oil and businessmen in the area to attend, committee members advised that the address will be made in the auditorium of the Junior High School.

According to Thompson, the future of the petroleum industry in Texas depends upon continuation of the policy adopted by Congress in 1924 whereby oil operators are allowed to deduct from their income tax, 27 1/2 percent of their gross profits for the year.

This deduction was to provide for the depletion of underground oil and gas reserves. A recent attack by the Treasury Department, supported by President Truman's budget message to Congress, is attempting to reduce the allowance to 15 percent, or approximately half the present allowance.

Oilmen in the Panhandle say should this attempt by the Treasury Department be successful, oil fields such as the Panhandle, would stand a strong chance of being prematurely abandoned because returns of investments would be too small to continue operation of the field.

They also say secondary recovery projects such as the West Pampa repressuring project and the Watkins program would suffer since relative costs of the projects have already dropped returns in investment lower than that from the regular field wells.

At present the depletion issue is resting in the House Ways and Means Committee pending decision by committee members.

API Elects Two Area Men To Key Posts

Fred Neelage, West Pampa Repressuring Association, and Ralph O'Neill, Phillips Petroleum Co., were elected to key posts in the Mid-Continent production district of the American Petroleum Institute.

The Mid-Continent API held its annual convention Wednesday through Friday last week in Oklahoma City.

Neelage was named secretary-treasurer for the district while O'Neill was elected vice-chairman of the district. The Mid-Continent district includes Kansas, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Glenn M. Stearns, Tulsa, was named chairman for the district. Dense drilling of oil pools was attacked by Dr. H. H. Kaveler, Phillips Petroleum Co., in the closing session Friday.

According to Dr. Kaveler, "more wells and more oil" does not always hold the densely-drilled fields which will recover the greatest amount of oil.

"Reservoir pressure maintenance is the only means for increasing ultimate recovery," he said, "and dense drilling or an increase in the number of wells is no manner an effective substitute for pressure maintenance."

One paper presented at the session contended present sucker rod equipment is capable of pumping 100 barrels of oil a day from depths of over 15,000 feet, while beam units and subsurface hydraulic pumps are limited to 12,500 feet.

Other papers discussed the use of plastic pipe in salt water disposal operations and results of gun-perforating methods in various parts of the country.

A preliminary report on oil recovery by high-pressure gas injection was also given.

Area Drilling Drops Sharply For March

A sharp decline was noted in Panhandle field activity during March compared to February reports. March totals dropped in every department.

Operators during the month staked but 61 new locations compared February's 113. Of the 61 locations staked, three were wildcat locations. Phillips Petroleum Co. staked its No. 1 Bivins "Q" in Sherman County. Sinclair drilled the No. 1 Harbaugh on a lease in Ochitree County.

Number of completions registered almost a hundred percent drop from February's totals. Operators reported but 57 completions for the past month compared to 104 reported the previous period.

Of the March totals, 46 were new oil wells, eight were gasers and three were dry holes. This is compared to 75 oilers, 16 gasers and 13 dry holes reported in February.

Total increased potentials in oil fell from 1,832 barrels reported in February to 3,260 barrels reported the past month. Gas potentials fell heavily from 145,211 to 25,415 MCF.

In many respects the past month's activity was similar to that during the same period in 1949.

There were 62 new locations compared to 1950's 61; 41 oil completions, 46 in 1950; 17 gas completions, eight this year; nine plugged wells compared to 3 last month.

Total production for March 1949 was 3,391 barrels compared to last month's 3,260 barrels.

Hopes for Higher Earnings Stymied by Oil Legislation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The oil industry's hopes of increased earnings are tempered by concern over outcome of several issues now before Congress and the Supreme Court.

The House Ways and Means Committee is still debating the depletion allowance question. Arguments were heard by the Supreme Court last week in the suit of the government against Louisiana and Texas for possession of oil-bearing tidelands. It may be weeks before a decision is handed down.

Imports of crude oil continue heavy. Numerous legislators from oil states keep trying to retard the flow.

A bill exempting independent gas producers from regulation by the Federal Power commission was passed last week by the Senate and the House accepted the Senate bill.

The big question now on the natural gas legislation is whether President Truman will sign it. Some staunch administration supporters oppose it.

Lawyers and lobbyists for many oil companies have been pacing like expectant fathers. They await action by the House Ways and Means committee on the administration's proposal for reducing the present 27 1/2 percent depletion allowance for income tax purposes to 15 percent.

The vote in the committee apparently will be close. Several bills designed to halt or reduce oil imports are pending. The administration is opposing any action which would be counter to its policy of encouraging international trade.

A delegation of Venezuelan businessmen, here last week, urged that no steps be taken to curb their oil flow to the U.S.

The Supreme Court spent two days hearing arguments in the Louisiana-Texas tidelands suit. Seldom does it devote so much time to oral arguments.

Legislation to give the states clear title to the disputed submerged lands, and providing for a division of revenues between the federal government and the states on oil produced beyond the 3-mile limit (Texas limit, 10 1/2 miles, because of conditions under which that state entered the Union), is expected to reach the House floor this session.

But there appears little chance that any kind of tidelands bill will get to the president this year. Actually, oil companies could expect lease and drill tidelands under federal ownership just as they have been doing under state ownership. However, many industry leaders would prefer to continue to do business with the states.

Neelage was named secretary-treasurer for the district while O'Neill was elected vice-chairman of the district. The Mid-Continent district includes Kansas, Oklahoma and the Texas Panhandle.

Glenn M. Stearns, Tulsa, was named chairman for the district. Dense drilling of oil pools was attacked by Dr. H. H. Kaveler, Phillips Petroleum Co., in the closing session Friday.

According to Dr. Kaveler, "more wells and more oil" does not always hold the densely-drilled fields which will recover the greatest amount of oil.

"Reservoir pressure maintenance is the only means for increasing ultimate recovery," he said, "and dense drilling or an increase in the number of wells is no manner an effective substitute for pressure maintenance."

One paper presented at the session contended present sucker rod equipment is capable of pumping 100 barrels of oil a day from depths of over 15,000 feet, while beam units and subsurface hydraulic pumps are limited to 12,500 feet.

Other papers discussed the use of plastic pipe in salt water disposal operations and results of gun-perforating methods in various parts of the country.

A preliminary report on oil recovery by high-pressure gas injection was also given.

McKenney On Bridge

Counting your tricks is as important in defense as it is for the declarer. Another and more difficult point in defense is to learn to read the declarer's holding from what he does or does not do. Careful observation and clever defense defeated declarer's apparently good contract on today's hand.

West's king of clubs was allowed to win the first trick, and he continued with the four of clubs, which South ruffed with the deuce of hearts. Declarer then led a small diamond to dummy's queen and returned a heart, playing the jack from his own hand.

West won the trick with the ace of hearts, and decided that his best play was to lead a small heart back. Declarer won this with the nine-spot and cashed the ace and king of diamonds, discarding two of dummy's spades.

Now declarer attempted to make a clever safety play. He led the deuce of spades. The rule, of course, is "second hand low"—but West was a good defensive player and he started to analyze declarer's holding from what he had done and had not done.

He remembered that when declarer was in the dummy with the queen of diamonds, he had not attempted to take the spade finesse; therefore he did not hold the ace and queen of spades. West also knew that South held no more diamonds; otherwise he would have attempted to ruff his losing diamond with dummy's last heart.

Therefore, if South held six hearts originally, he must still hold in his hand at this point the ace and one spade. South would leave East with the singleton queen. If West played low of the deuce of spades, East would win the trick with the queen. He would have nothing but a club or a diamond to return.

West therefore played the king of spades on the deuce and returned a trump. South had to concede a spade trick for the loss of his contract.

Amarillo Rejects Housing Request

AMARILLO (AP)—The Amarillo city commission has refused to approve a resolution of the Amarillo Housing Authority requesting 600 units of federal low-rent housing.

The commission said through City Manager N. V. Moss it believed the best interests of the people would not be served by the project.

Mayor Gene Klein said "private enterprise can reach anyone except the lowest income group, and public housing can't reach them."

An ancient measurement was a "cubit," meaning the length between the elbow to the tip of the middle finger.

FINGERPRINTS

Don't Lie

THE STORY: At the behest of Anita Palmer, a young girl, Martin Queripel is trying to clear her name. Paul Moody of the charge murdering her father, Wendell Palmer. Fingerprints found on the telephone used to blindfold Palmer are Moody's, police say. Queripel goes to the police and asks to see the prints. He discovered the prints and photographed them. Queripel asks to see the telephone from which the prints were taken. As the private detective studies the telephone, he wrapped a paper through a magnifying glass and discovered that he has seen something that will be important to the solution of the case.

XII
MARTIN QUERIPHEL picked up the tapes carrying the eight fingerprints labeled "telephone base." He studied these prints of Paul Moody's hands, then held them close to the cellophane telephone and examined them with intensity.

Finally he looked up at Stivers and said:

"Could you have these two tapes blown up for me?"

"As a matter of fact, I've already done just that," said Stivers. "I had the job done to show in court."

With a crafty smile, Queripel asked:

"Could you let me put my eight fingers on the bottom of that telephone and take the prints of them and lift them?"

Stivers laughed: "You know I can't."

"Not even if I said 'Please!'" Queripel wheedled.

"Not even if you said 'Pretty please!'" Nobody rubs that telephone bill. It reaches court."

Queripel looked like a child denied something terribly desired. Suddenly he moved to Stivers' desk, lifted his telephone and studied the base. It was covered with pel said: "Let's get on with the reconstruction of the crime. You're the dead man."

"Thanks."
"I'm the murderer."
"That's better. Nice of you to confess."
"You're Wendell Palmer. You grab the handset of the telephone base. I seize the base. You twist it out of my hand by turning your body—so. Now you dial 'O' for the operator. You are going to yell 'Police' and give your address when she answers. I find myself back of you with no weapon handy. I either have no gun or no time or perhaps no desire to draw my gun and fire. I see the telephone base. I pick it up, lift it high in air with both hands and bring it down with all my might on your head before you can contact the operator. You fall on the floor and die."
"Can't we leave that to the imagination?" Stivers pleaded.
"Yes, but it leaves me, the murderer, with the telephone base like this. I put it down and quickly replace the handset while the operator's voice calls in vain. I am too excited to think of the fingerprints I've left on the base of the phone and my thumbs make no prints you see because only their sides touch the curve of the top of the base. See?"
"I see. I guess that was just about the way it was. You're some playwright and a real actor."
"Now," said Queripel, "I'll ask you to lift the eight fingerprints I've left on this telephone."

THIS was a matter of only a few minutes, then Queripel studied the convoluted dust sticking to the tape. He compared it with the blown-up prints of Paul Moody's eight fingers.
"Not much alike, eh?" Stivers asked.
"Not much," said Queripel. "Now could I have another look at those Moody prints you took in his studio?"
Stivers fetched them out.
"They seem to tell the story, don't they?"
Martin Queripel nodded his head and smiled.

ANYBODY NEED A BOAT?

Bert Howell must of come up on my blind side when he sold me this—I've got about as much use for a boat in this dry country as a Eskimo has with city plumbing—I want to trade it for a good 2 wheel trailer to pull behind my car—it's a good boat practically new, and you haul it on top of your car—in fact I've got a 25 dollar rack that does the job—all you have to do is fasten it to the rack, and one man can heist it on the car—it weighs about a hundred pounds—anyway I want to trade or sell it as I've got to have a trailer by June—if I can make enough sales between now and then I'm thinking about taking a little vacation—it'll be my first.

I've been giving this congress race a lot of thought lately—in fact I've conducted that pole on it—taking everything into consideration, and I've took everything—I've decided with my health like it is that I want run—starting early tomorrow I guess I'm running for Sheriff—if Mr. Strickland can run for Sheriff I can too—Mr. Strickland electioned me the other day but I never did get to tell him I was a candidate—Mr. Kilo, our present Sheriff will probably feel awfully bad about me entering the primary at this time—I'll probably run as a democrat and cheerfully force him into the republican column—Mr.
Strickland better hurry and tell who he's for—somebody else may announce.

In getting some listings on some pretty good farms now—here's one that I just got that I think is worth the money—the 66 acres with a new five room house—has a good barn and windmill—86 acres are broken out, and that's in wheat this located good, about 20 miles NE of Pampa—take $5.00 per acre and give 1/2 mineral—this leased for oil.

—Here's another one worth the money—840 acres well improved with large 7 room house—all the wheat goes if they make any—take $80 an acre for this one, and give 1/2 the mineral—this farm located NE of Pampa, too.

—Is supply and demand catching up with the rent houses here in Pampa—it took 4 days to rent a good 3 bedroom out on Hobart for 60.00 per month, and I had to give the man a years lease—was in Boulder, Colo., over the weekend and they still have rent control up there—you cant even rent nothing—what you can rent is sky high.

—do you want to buy a brand new 2 bed room home for $800.00—I dont mean the kind they are building now and selling for 7500—this one's got everything—every room is air cond.—every room has forced air heat control—the living room carpeted from wall to wall—there's a big picture window—the kitchen is lovely—if you want to buy a nice home would like to show you this—it will carry FHA.

—how about a kitchen sink—a good pre-war heavy cast iron porce-lainized used one—this sink has been well taken care of, and will serve your purpose as good as a new one—first offer will probably buy it.

—I've got a good deal for someone wanting to get in the implement business—its strictly a franchise deal—what I mean by this is, that you have a big territory to operate in—its one of the best—you dont have to buy a lot of good will either—I can say this about this business—we sell more tractors and attachments than any other two dealers of other makes—come in and talk this over if you really want a good paying high class business—deals like this dont come up every day.

Since I've announced that I want to be a candidate for congress people are running over themselves wanting to no who im going to support—im not going to support anybody—I dont think Mr. Cook much competition now—as for Aitevee, I dont think she will even pay the fee that it takes to register—im her running, it would be like running for governor in the state of New Hampshire—I dont live in the state of New Hampshire and I sure no she dont live in New Hampshire—she cant run for man Barke.
I think has a fine man—but who wants to elect a man to represent us, who has already made his money and retired—when I get old enough to retire I sure dont want to be bothered with no congress job —as for the others, I dont think they have a chance—they're just not strong enough anywhere to cut much ice with the voters outside of their own districts—anyway this is my own opinion.
