'Just Tell 'Em We're Safe,' Is Word From Chilton Man

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Tacoma, Wash. — (AP) — S/Sgt. Dick Thrasher, 29-year-old gunner of Chilton, Texas, didn't want to tell about how he parachuted from a blazing B-36 bomber off the coast of British Columbia early Tuesday morning.

"Just get word to our families that we're okay," he said wearily before giving a brief resumé of his experience.

"I landed in a big tree and had to cut my shroud lines with a knife," he recalled. "I was hanging next to the trunk. After I got the lines cut I slid down the trunk and slept until morning.

"When daylight came I climbed up the tree to try and get my chute," but no luck. While I was up there I decided to yell and in that way located Yell, Gerhart and Sgt. Ford. (He was referring to Lieut. Paul Gerhart, 26, radar observer, of Germantown, Pa., and S/Sgt. James Ford, 28, radio operator of Holdenville, Okla.)

"Shortly after contacting them, we met Col. McDonald (Lt. Col. Daniel V. McDonald, of Arlington, Va., the air-crew member aboard). We made a tent out of a parachute and spent the night there. We were about 2 1/2 miles from the coast. Gerhart had a pocket compass with which he directed us over the hill to the coast.

"There we picked up the tracks of Capt. Barry, the pilot, and Lieut. Whitfield, the observer. We had nothing to eat all the time we were there."

60 Meeting Is Set for May

The 1950 National U. S. Highway 60 Association convention will be held May 8 at the Jena Marlin Hotel at Ponca City, Okla.

A letter received at the Chamber of Commerce from Harry O. Glasser, president of the association, said the date was decided early so that all chambers of commerce will have time to plan attendance.

Meetings of the delegates for the business sessions will be held in the Municipal Auditorium. A noon luncheon will be planned for the group as well as an evening program.

L. S. Barnes, Ponca City, will serve as convention committee chairman. He should be advised by letter of the names and addresses of the delegates.

U. S. 60 National Highway Association administrative officers have been promoting the complete hard-surfacing of U. S. 60 during the past five years.

In January, 1949 representatives of the association sponsored a trip to California. A Pampa delegation took part in the trip.

Cabot Heads Meet Begins

Superintendents of the Cabot Companies began a series of meetings here today. They were here from the entire Southwestern area of Cabot, including the Ville Platte, La., area. There were about 35 of them to meet today, including department heads from the Pampa office, it was said.

Also meeting are about 18 committee members from the Southwestern area. They are holding their annual meeting to discuss various production problems.

The superintendents are in a quarterly meeting.

6 Men Are Still Being Sought in Frigid Pacific

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. — (AP) — Six crew members of an abandoned Air Force B-36 were reported still missing today along the rugged British Columbia coast. A Coast Guard report last night that all 17 of the men had been picked up or located was without substantiation this morning.

Search is continuing for the other six men, who were at first reported found and safe.

The rescued landed on two rugged, wooded islands in the Queen Charlotte group off the Northern British Columbia Coast about 500 miles northwest of here.

Ten of the men were brought to the McChord Base Hospital last night. The Air Force identified them as follows:

Lt. Col. Daniel V. McDonald, Arlington, Va.

Capt. Harold L. Barry, 30, Hillsboro, Ill.

1st Lieut. Raymond P. Whitfield, Jr., 25, San Antonio.

1st Lieut. Roy R. Darragh, 28, Martin's Ferry, Ohio.

1st Lieut. Paul Gerhart, 26, Germantown, Pa.

1st Lieut. Ernest O. Cox, 28, Pampa, Texas.

T/Sgt. Martin B. Stephens, 30, San Francisco.

S/Sgt. James R. Ford, 28, Holdenville, Okla.

S/Sgt. Dick Thrasher, 29, Chilton, Texas.

Cpl. Richard J. Schuler, 23, Miami, Fla.

S/Sgt. Vitale Trippodi of Brooklyn, N. Y., the eleventh man; was in the most serious condition.

His parachute landed him in a tree on a cliff, where he hung head-downward for 10 hours before Capt. Harold L. Barry, pilot of the ill-fated bomber, and 1st Lieut. Raymond P. Whitfield Jr., cut him down, brought him to a level spot and bedded him down.

Trippodi's foot was caught in a crevice of the cliff in his fall. Both his legs were reported gangrenous.

Maj. Joseph C. Smith, commanding officer of Flight C, Fourth Rescue Squadron, said early today he understood Trippodi had been removed to the Canadian destroyer Cayuga.

The party which arrived here last night had grouped onshore and was picked up by a Canadian fishing boat. A Coast Guard FBY flew them to Fort Hardy, on the northern shore of Vancouver Island, whence a C-82 picked them up.

In Canada, Captain Barry told of the sudden descent.

"It rained up at 15,000 feet. We tried to climb, but fire broke out in No. 1 engine and flames showed above it. Two minutes later No. 2 burst into flames, and we started to lose altitude. We were dropping at 300 feet a minute. Five in No. 5 started shortly after, and then No. 3 stopped with a plugged gas line."

So with three flaming motors and another disabled, Captain Barry gave the order to jump. The men were whisked out of the plane inside 10 or 15 seconds, he said. He was the last to hit the silk.

He called for an aroused public opinion against the postwar resurgence of underworld forces living on vice and greed.

A "Continuing Executive Committee" on law enforcement was created with Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver at its head.

A second committee, headed by Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore, was authorized to begin work at once on a series of recommendations for action by Congress.

The legislative group had been instructed to look into possible new federal laws which would:

1. Ban interstate transmission of horse racing information for gambling purposes.
2. Forbid interstate shipment of gambling devices into states where they are illegal.
3. Require fingerprinting of social security registrants and distribution of such prints to law enforcement agencies.
4. Throw open the non-confidential income tax returns of known criminals to law enforcement inspection.
5. Make uniform the fire arms registration and licensing laws.
6. Require identification of owners and users of gambling devices.
7. Strengthen the laws for revoking fraudulent citizenship.

Lawmen Plan 'Crack Down' On Rackets

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Law enforcement officials today began whipping into shape a "master plan for moving in on the rackets."

The decision to set in motion an organized crackdown on the country's multi-billion-dollar gambling machinery was taken yesterday by Attorney General McGrath's national conference on law enforcement.

The steps proposed in this direction ranged from "moral influence" to far-reaching new legislation by Congress, along with the closest possible cooperation among federal, state and local authorities.

Representative Truman, who briefly attended the conference yesterday, suggested a moral crusade against crime.

He called for an aroused public opinion against the postwar resurgence of underworld forces living on vice and greed.

A "Continuing Executive Committee" on law enforcement was created with Mayor Quigg Newton of Denver at its head.

A second committee, headed by Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro of Baltimore, was authorized to begin work at once on a series of recommendations for action by Congress.

The legislative group had been instructed to look into possible new federal laws which would:

1. Ban interstate transmission of horse racing information for gambling purposes.
2. Forbid interstate shipment of gambling devices into states where they are illegal.
3. Require fingerprinting of social security registrants and distribution of such prints to law enforcement agencies.
4. Throw open the non-confidential income tax returns of known criminals to law enforcement inspection.
5. Make uniform the fire arms registration and licensing laws.
6. Require identification of owners and users of gambling devices.
7. Strengthen the laws for revoking fraudulent citizenship.

Public Meet Slated Today

A public meeting has been called for 8 p.m. today at the County Court Room to discuss plans for expansion of Pampa Public School building space. The general public has been invited.

The meeting was called by a group of citizens, and Farris Oden is expected to preside.

The principal reason for the meeting is to discuss the asserted need for more class room space and teaching facilities. Oden stated that should an agreement be reached to that effect, a bond election will be held to provide funds for the desired improvements.

Pilot and Gunner Of F-82 Missing

AUSTIN — (AP) — The pilot and gunner of an Air Force F-82 which crashed in the Gulf yesterday are missing.

Bergstrom Air Force Base officials said the plane, attached to the 52nd Fighter Escort Squadron at the base here, was on a routine gunnery flight when it went down just off Matagorda Island.

Speaker's Apartment Gets New Face; And Coffee 'Nook' All Right, Too

By MARTHA COLE

AUSTIN — (AP) — It never quite came to hanging baby diapers outside the second floor windows of the sedate old State Capitol Building.

Where to dry the family wash was just one of the problems for a speaker's wife living in the speaker's apartment behind the House of Representatives in the West Wing of the Capitol.

Most of those problems have been solved with a remodeling job, and that job includes a nook fitted with an automatic washer and dryer.

It's now a six-room air-conditioned apartment. The contractor's job cost $19,285.55 and the air-conditioning $4,890 for a total cost of $24,175.55. That includes a new office for the speaker and fixing up a new cloak room and committee room. In addition, more furnishings and new drapes are being bought. Money for the remodeling job came from the regular appropriation for the Board of Control last year.

The apartment is a mecca for coffee drinkers.

Mrs. Manford, wife of Durwood Manford, present speaker of the House, buys 10 to 12 pounds of coffee a week.

In the remodeling, she had a shallow cupboard built just inside the screen door off the corridor behind the House of Representatives. In the cupboard she keeps coffee. "I said it was a coffee fiend can pick them up on his way in a little farther to the coffee pot, always kept full.

Legislators, state employees, members of the press and visiting dignitaries drift in.

"I guess I easily have 50 persons come in a day," Mrs. Manford said. "Now it's a place they can be proud of."

Truman Hints at Peace Overtures to Reds, But Rules Out His Leaving U.S. for Talk

Lewis May Ask Operators for More Money

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Hints that John L. Lewis is readying stiffer money demands on coal operators came today as strike effectors spread steadily in basic industries using coal for fuel.

David L. Cole, President Truman's personal observer in the court-directed coal dispute bargaining meetings, declined to tell reporters whether Lewis already has boosted his demands.

Lewis, barred from seeking four of his key contract terms, is reported determined to get instead a healthy wage and welfare fund boost, a shorter week and a seniority system.

Besides the union shop and union-controlled welfare fund set-up, Lewis now is restrained by Federal Court orders from insisting that miners work only when "able and willing" and that they may take long "memorial period holidays."

Previously Lewis has indicated he would settle for a $15 daily wage for miners, compared with the present $14.05 rate, and a 35-cent tonnage royalty for the welfare fund for miners' pensions and other benefits in place of the present 20-cent royalty.

Court-ordered bargaining between Lewis' United Mine Workers Union and the operators was to resume today in spite of the continuing strike.

A presidential adviser, John D. Clark, warned of "terrible" demoralization in industry if the strike continues two or three months, with "serious unemployment."

Clark is a member of the president's council of economic advisers.

Steel plants and railroads have suffered most so far. Most other plants depending upon electric energy were getting by.

Club Speaker Sees Positive U.S. Influence in Europe

In an address before members of the Knife and Fork Club last night, John Scott, Russian correspondent for Time Magazine during World War II, said "I believe our influence in Europe is positive and is growing."

Speaking on the subject "American Influence in Europe," Scott stated "I do not believe a shooting war is imminent," because neither the United States nor Russia is strong enough to win it.

The speaker, who spent five years in Siberia as a welder in the early 30s, suggested that American "foreign policy" should continue as it has been for the past four or five years and try to maintain its political and economic strength at home and abroad.

In seeking to explain the reasons for the present cold war between the Soviet Union and the United States, Scott said that in its attempts to keep the country together in the period between WWI and II, the Russian government created a "devil" who was blamed with all the bad things that happened in the Union. This "devil" was used until the beginning of World War II. At the end of the war, there was no "devil" left, and the people breathed a sigh of relief and settled down.

In order to get the people back under his thumb, Scott continued, Stalin created a new "devil"—the United States. Thus, when a Russian officer or some other bigwig refused to obey orders, with Hueyn Laycock, secretary, out of the U. S. To make the "devil" work even better, the U. S. S. R. had to maintain hostilities with the U. S., and thus a cold war was created.

Frank Smith, a member of the outgoing Board of Directors, introduced the speaker. Other outgoing directors of the club are Mrs. Bernice Berry and Joe Key. Charlie Taut, Clinton Evans, and Tom Rose were elected to the board for the next year, with Gene Patterson being elected to serve the unexpired term of Ed Weis, who resigned with one year yet to serve.

The new officers for the year include Jimmy Massa, president; Arthur Teed, vice president; and Hueyn Laycock, secretary. Outgoing officers are Roy Bourland, president; Massa, vice president, and J. B. Maguire, secretary.

'Non-Political' Tour Planned By Truman

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman disclosed today that he plans a non-political campaign tour this year to help Democratic candidates seeking seats in Congress.

Adopting the label he used during his pre-convention swing of 1948, the President told reporters he would take them on a non-political tour again this year.

The President made clear that he will wait until after the primaries before doing all he can to help Democrats win in any state.

White House callers disclosed yesterday that Mr. Truman planned to campaign for Democratic candidates, especially in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Mr. Truman refused to tell his news conference whether he will seek re-election in 1952.

George Luckey, California Democratic vice chairman, had indicated earlier this week a tie seeing the President that he thought Mr. Truman was receptive.

The President said Luckey drew that conclusion himself. He would construct all grading, structures correct. And he suggested that reporters wait and see what he does.

Tonight Mr. Truman is to deliver a major address at a gala $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner here. He was reported ready to raise a new call for his whole legislative program.

Rules Group Holds FEPC

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The House Rules Committee refused today by a 6 to 6 tie vote to clear an anti-job discrimination (FEPC) bill for House action.

Four Democrats and two Republicans voted to keep the bill in a committee pigeonhole where it has been since last summer. An equal number of Democrats and Republicans voted to give the House a chance to settle the issue.

Voting to approve the measure were Reps. Hester (R-Mass.), Brown (R-Ohio), Delaney (D-NY), Madden (D-Ind.), McSweney (D-Ohio) and Sabath (D-Ill.).

Voting against the bill were Reps. Allen (R-Ill.), Wadsworth (R-NY), Cox (D-Ga.), Howard Smith (D-Va.), Colmer (D-Miss.) and Lyle (D-Texas).

Chairman Sabath told newsmen proponents of the bill will try to pass it next Wednesday under procedure sharply limiting debate. He seemed pessimistic, however, about the chances.

Some backers of FEPC had hoped Allen might change his voting following the bill to go to the floor. Allen said in advance, however, that he had no such intentions and he voted against the bill.

The bill is scheduled to come up for a House decision Wednesday under restrictive procedure allowing only two hours for general debate.

and subcommittees etao shr EE "calendar Wednesday" rule and allows committees to obtain House votes regardless of rules committee opposition. But the bill brought up under this rule must be disposed of in one day unless a two-thirds vote decides to extend the time.

Southern Democrats and a few Northern Republicans fighting the FEPC bill hope to be able to filibuster long enough to block final action Wednesday. If their plans succeed, the "calendar Wednesday" rule would not help the FEPC bill for about four more months.

Laketon Highway Contract Given

An Amarillo construction company yesterday in Austin was awarded a $31,497 contract for construction of the Laketon-Roberts County Line road.

The firm, Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilven, Inc., of Amarillo, will construct all grading, structures, flexible base and shoot the road with one-course asphalt surface treatment for a stretch of 5.239 miles. Work will begin at Laketon and run north to the Roberts County line.

This is the road that has been causing the County Commissioners trouble because a small group of property owners object to the road's being paved along its present course. To gain their point they have instituted a series of civil suits, charged one small piece of property into several hands and appeared time and again before the Court.

Continuing Warm Weather Is Forecast

It was a chill night throughout Texas but temperatures climbed fast today under clear skies.

It won't be quite so cold to night, and tomorrow will be even warmer than today, the Weather Bureau said.

Not a cloud was in the Texas sky at mid-morning, and no rain had been recorded for the 24 hours ending at 6:30 a. m.

Temperatures during the night fell to freezing and below throughout the Panhandle, much of West Texas and in part of North Texas.

President Says He's Always Interested in Bomb Control

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman hinted today that he still has in mind a possible special peace mission to Russia at some future time.

At a news conference, he also said the American door is always open to international negotiations for control of atomic weapons.

He dashed cold water on the idea of a possible "big three" meeting abroad, newly raised by a campaign speech of Winston Churchill, former British prime minister.

The president repeated what he has said before—that he doesn't intend to go outside this country to meet with Premier Stalin or any other state head.

The matter of a possible special mission to Moscow was raised by reporters who asked Mr. Truman about a story Arthur Krock had in The New York Times yesterday.

Krock quoted Mr. Truman as saying in an interview that if a political campaign had not been in progress in 1948 the president would have sent Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson to Russia to try to "straighten out" Stalin and other Russian leaders as to American intentions.

Krock also quoted the president as saying maybe that would be the thing to do some time.

A reporter asked if Krock's story was correct.

The president told him to read Krock's article—that it would answer the questions.

In response to a question as to whether he thought the time has come to see Stalin, Mr. Truman replied that he does not.

At the same time, he said that he would be glad to see anyone who wants to come to Washington to consult with him.

As to Krock's interview, the president said it was authorized in the form that it was published.

Bevin Snubs Proposal for Big Three Talk

LONDON — (AP) — Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin last night cold shouldered Winston Churchill's proposal for a Big Three conference on atomic energy control.

Without mentioning the Conservative leader by name, Bevin in a political broadcast for the Labor Party said atomic control would not be attained by "stunt proposals."

"We must continue to work for agreement through the Atomic Committee of the United Nations," Bevin declared.

But after a review of international problems in general, the Laborite spokesman on foreign affairs continued:

"If Russia shows the slightest change of attitude and indicates her readiness to settle these relations and give the world complete peace, we shall be ready to enter into discussions with the object of abolishing any possibility of war and enabling all nations to cooperate with each other."

Churchill in a political speech Tuesday suggested that a meeting of Britain, American and Russia on the "highest level" be tried to get an agreement on atomic control and a truce in the East-West cold war.

The speech was interpreted by some observers as a conservative attempt to make the A-bomb a campaign issue. Churchill, if his party wins control of Parliament, would be prime minister and in a position to push for another meeting with President Truman and Generalissimo Stalin.

Blast Rocks Dow Chemical

MIDLAND, Mich. — (AP) — An explosion virtually blew apart a building at the huge Dow Chemical Co. today, reportedly killing several workers.

Michigan State Police said several men had been killed in the blast, but declined to estimate the number.

An official source in Midland estimated the deaths at five or six.

An undetermined number of Dow workers were injured in the shattering blast.

The explosion, occurring at 11:20 a.m., blasted the roof and one wall off the building. The building houses Dow's emulsion polymerization process in the manufacture of rubber base paint.

It was not immediately determined how many workers were in the plant at the time.

Every ambulance in this chemical city was called into action to take away the dead and injured.

Dow Chemical officials said they did not yet know the cause of the explosion.

HST Dinner Is Sellout

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman was reported ready today to raise a new call for his whole legislative program.

The occasion is a major address he will deliver tonight at a gala $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner.

The mammoth affair—described as the largest dinner ever held under one roof—will be staged at the National Guard Armory. It is a sellout. More than 5,200 persons from all over the country and the territories will attend.

Each has pledged a $100 contribution to the party war chest for the privilege of hearing the President and dining on broiled filet mignon. This means that the Washington dinner alone will raise around $530,000.

Other dinners for $50 on down have been and will continue to be held over the next few weeks here and there.

Recipe for a Long Life?—Why, It's Take Things as They Come

By MARGARET HERCULES
Tyler Courier-Times Staff

TYLER — (P) — Mrs. Devine was ninety and fine — on Valentine's Day.

Mrs. S. H. Devine of Tyler was 90 Tuesday, but her neighbors say she doesn't look or act a day over 65.

Born in Uhrichville, Ohio, Feb. 14, 1860, she was married there 69 years ago and moved to Texas in May, 1899.

"Oh, I'm a Texan now," she said. "When you've lived here 50 years, learned to enjoy turnip greens and black-eyed peas, and have become an active part of the community, you just couldn't be anything else."

The Tyler home in which Mrs. Devine has lived for 40 years sits back from the street. An iron fence encloses a fine, big yard. The house has a long-ago atmosphere. Many of the furnishings were purchased when Mrs. Devine began housekeeping, 69 years ago. And there are many evidences of her handiwork: bright embroidery, beautiful quilts, dainty cut-work.

She has been a widow 17 years. "Things have changed a lot since we moved here," Mrs. Devine stated. "Forty years ago there were no paved streets, no lights, and no water. No city bus passed our door, either."

In reminiscing on past days Mrs. Devine said: "The first Valentines I received were confections of hearts and paper lace. Each year, Valentines have become more showy and their popularity has spread. Years ago, gifts of jewelry, perfumes, candy and flowers, which today are attached to Valentines, were unheard of."

Her only recollection of Civil War days is that of an anticipated raid when neighborhood women gathered in her Ohio home and assisted her mother in molding bullets over the open fireplace.

The 90-year-old woman is an honorary and charter member of the Crepe Myrtle Garden Club, one of the oldest garden organizations in Tyler. She is an active member of the Presbyterian Church and never misses a service. Her recipe for a long, healthy life is: "Take things as they come and make the best of circumstances. Keep both the hands and mind occupied."

"I intend to keep on reading, doing fancy work, making my own clothes, and continuing to do all my housework and cooking for many years to come. Who knows — perhaps I'll live to be a hundred."

Wife Takes No Blame For Husband's Speech

She spoke Tuesday in suburban Hainsault near Woodford, where the Conservative leader is a candidate in the Feb. 23 parliamentary elections.

"I've been married to him for 41 years," Mrs. Churchill replied. "That statement was made a year before I got control of him."

THE STORY: Alice Pine, literary secretary to Muriel Halleck, a writer, is mystified at Brent by Muriel's husband, Brent, who is a painter. One night she hears Rick, the Halleck's small, adopted son, screaming and finds Brent standing over the child and trying to kick a whip under a door. Alice hears Brent described as going down-grade by Holly Tremayne who has known him since childhood. And the night after the episode in the hallway, Alice sees Brent on Muriel's arm—Brent left by Angela. One evening Alice is left alone and she decides on a night swim. As she is in the water Brent appears on the beach. Brent sees her and there is nothing for Alice to do but wade onto the beach.

XIV
BRENT HALLECK waited quietly on the bench as Alice Pine shook out her hair. For once his eyes, gleaming in the half-light, did not appear sardonic. Instead, they seemed troubled.

"Sensible place to be tonight," He indicated the water.

She picked up her towel. "I thought you were out somewhere."

He shrugged. "I did take a drive. But I hadn't any place to go. So I parked down at the end of the road and then—he peered at her suddenly—"was that you singing?"

"Afraid so." She gave an embarrassed laugh. "If you call it singing when I can't carry a note."

"I liked it," Brent said.

She glanced at him quickly. But behind his pipe, his face was serious.

A moment passed, with Brent puffing silently. Alice reached for her robe. "Well, I think I can sleep now."

He took the pipe from his mouth. "Don't go just yet, Alice."

"Why?" She was a little puzzled. His voice had been unusual. Almost—well, timid.

"Because I'd like to talk to you."

She hesitated, without understanding the hesitation. For days she had studiously avoided Brent.

"I don't know if I should stay," she said doubtfully. "Muriel may be back. She may want me for something."

He laughed. "You don't know the Garden Club. When those females get together, they're good for half the night. Besides, what if Muriel is back? We could still talk, I suppose."

"All right." She sat down, pulled on her sandals. "But not for long. What did you want to say to me?"

BRENT dropped down by her. "I want to tell you something," he said slowly. "Then I'm going to ask a favor. But I don't know just how to do either. I'm afraid it'll sound like doubletalk to you."

"Naturally, I don't understand. Why can't you just speak out?"

"This is one time when that's difficult. So I'll merely tell you, even if it sounds like, that the way a thing looks isn't necessarily the way it is."

"That is doubletalk," Alice said. "Well, I warned you. And that's about as clear as I can be."

"What's worrying you, Brent?" she asked, pointblank.

"In a way," he said surprisingly. "But if you're not worrying about anything, I'll skip it too."

She thought she understood. Brent was uncertain whether she knew the truth about what had happened in the hallway. And he was probing to find out.

Remembering, Alice felt a resurgence of her anger and disgust. For a moment she was on the point of accusing him; of pouring forth a torrent of blistering condemnatory words.

Unwittingly Brent forestalled a possible outburst by adding: "You won't understand this either. But I could use a little help about now, Alice."

Her eyes flashed in his. She was suspicious of Brent Halleck. But, tonight, he seemed different. She had never known him in this subdued mood. Unconsciously, she leaned closer to him.

"I'll be very glad to help you, Brent. Any way I can."

His fingers touched hers in the sand, but went away immediately. "Thanks. You can, maybe, for the rest of the time you're with Muriel."

"There's something you want me to do?"

"Yes." He sat up, hugging his knees. "You've been wonderful to young Rick. Alice, I can't tell you how much I appreciate it."

COMING from Brent, this should have sounded insincere. Somehow it didn't.

"But that's been a pleasure," Alice said. "I'm crazy about the child."

"Well, please go on being that way. I'm sorry I can't be more explicit. But sort of see to him, will you?"

"Certainly. But we all will, won't we?"

"No," said Brent. "I won't, most of the time. I've been dicker for a job, Alice, for some time. Now it's coming through. In Providence, that means I'll only be here week-ends from now on."

"But why a job?" She asked, in surprise. "Isn't your painting a full-time job?"

"Full-time, yes. But not fully compensated. Frankly, I haven't done so well since the war. And now—a determined note came into his voice—"I've got to make money."

"But what kind of a job, Brent?"

"In Perkins and Grant, an advertising agency up there," he told her. "I'm to be an art director. Never did that before, but I'm hoping to get away with it."

Author Wrote History of Men, Not of Pacific War

By SUMNER ARLBUM
NEW YORK (NEA)

George McMillan, a round-faced, serious-looking ex-Marine, is having a tough time getting separated from the war of the Pacific.

He figured he had finished this fall, five years and several months after the rest of his buddies in the First Marine Division. What he finished, actually, was a book, and even though it has been printed, bound and published with a guaranteed sale, it keeps hanging around his neck like an old set of dog tags.

AUTHOR George McMillan is having a tough time getting separated from the Pacific war that the Marines fought.

What McMillan wrote was a history of the First Marine Division from Guadalcanal to Okinawa. A lot of divisional histories have been written since war's end, and a few million words have been written by military commentators on the Pacific alone. Most of these are chronology and "The Old Breed," and some who have read it think it's a "Mr. Roberts" in combat uniform.

"I would like to be shut of for good," says McMillan, who spent two years in research and writing. But a popular magazine already has borrowed one chapter, and he's being urged to lift out the highlights to make a book for the general public, or perhaps a movie or a play.

Such things don't usually happen to an official military history. McMillan, however, is no ordinary military historian.

At 24, this erstwhile Tennesseean has been a newspaperman (he once worked next to Ernie Pyle), a bum in a New York park, a press agent for a Marine, he was a combat correspondent during some of the First Division's heaviest fighting.

The experience, plus a postwar study of all available official documents and about 400 personal and bull-sessions with other veterans of the First's campaigns, resulted in "The Old Breed."

Instead of a history of war, McMillan wrote a history of the men who fought it, men, for instance, like the sergeant taking a backward look at the jungles of Cape Gloucester when that battle was over and remarking:

"In the next war, I ain't even gonna plant a victory garden."

There is plenty about Guadalcanal (the name, says McMillan, "has passed into history bearing the magical qualities of Valley Forge, Gettysburg and Belleau Wood"), New Britain, Peleliu, and Okinawa.

McMillan himself thinks his chapters on Peleliu really tell that bloody story for the first time. For after it was over, the Marines discovered it was an almost unknown battle back in the States. The British had "chuted into Arnhem the same day, and MacArthur had landed almost unopposed on Morotai.

"It was the First's luck again," says McMillan, "that it had fought and lost so much and gained so little esteem in the doing."

What it lost was 6338 casualties (1121 killed, 73 missing). One third of its fighting strength was destroyed in the first five days of battle against an enemy that tied infantry to its tanks and built a cave system in the coral ridges that "was never excelled,

Food, Drug Administration Cites Increase in Bad Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Food and Drug Administration expressed alarm over an increase in the number of dangerous drugs it has found on the market.

It also noted a rise in the careless use of the deadly rat poison 1080.

At the same time, however, the agency pointed out that "to the credit of the American food, drug and cosmetic industries as a whole," better supplies of these products are available than ever before.

In his annual report, Commissioner Paul B. Dunbar listed these as some of the difficulties he has run into in the past fiscal year:

1. The increase in coffee prices led to attempts to salvage coffee "to the last bean." The administration seized five large lots of sweepings — beans spilled from broken bags in ship holds and on docks — some of them containing

"half their weight in unspeakable filth."

2. DDT is still found in dairy barns. The agency reaffirmed its position of last fall that there will be "no tolerance for DDT in milk, because it is a poison that is not required in good dairy farm practice."

3. Shipment of short-weight products such as gift packages little more than half full, and honey-rum-brandy cakes with little honey and no rum and brandy.

4. Deodorants that proved irritating to laboratory animals, egg shampoos short on eggs, olive oil hair dressings consisting chiefly of mineral oil, and an explosion while the shipment was being seized — of quart jar samples of a "no-heat" mixture for cattle and sheep.

5. Various phony medical devices were found on sale — including such items as copper and

This was the Labor prime minister's comment to a British reporter's query at Lincoln concerning a call by Conservative leader Winston Churchill for a new high-level approach to Russia. Churchill advanced the idea in an election campaign speech at Edinburgh, Scotland.

Bureau Sees Demand Dip For Texas

AUSTIN — (AP) — Lowered demand for Texas crude in March has been forecast by the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

The estimate was placed at 70,000 barrels daily below the February figure. The Bureau of Mines estimate was announced by Railroad Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr., as a prelude to Friday's statewide oil prorotation hearing at San Antonio.

The Bureau of Mines forecast indicated March demand of 2,100,000 barrels daily.

The current average allowable production in Texas is 2,026,000 barrels daily.

Crude oil is a base for more than 1,200 useful products including medicines, dyes, cosmetics, preservatives, rayon, nylon, alcohol, rubber, plastics, paints, solvents, insecticides besides fuel, lubricants and paving material.

Texaco Proves Deep Wilcox in Newton County

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Texas Co. yesterday announced striking the deep Wilcox formation in the Newton Oil field, Newton County.

The company completed its Newton County Lumber Co. Derrough Unit No. 1 well as a producer. The well flowed 140 barrels of pipe line oil on a 12-64 inch choke on a 24-hour potential test. Total depth was 11,900 feet, with perforations from 10,965 to 11,004. Corrected gravity was 44.4 degrees, the gas-oil ratio 2400 to one.

Newton County Lumber Co. No. 1 discovery well was completed several months ago at 9600 feet. The field is eight miles southeast of Call and five miles northeast of the Sabine Tract field.

Head hunting is said to have been practiced in the British Isles up to the end of the Middle Ages.

PEPL Sees Top Income In History

NEW YORK — (AP) — Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. reported yesterday its net income of $8,773,174 for 1949, equal to $5.08 a common share, was the largest in company history. Net income for 1948 was $8,166,655, or $4.70 a share.

Total operating revenues of $36,419,062 last year also were the highest of record and compared with $34,146,731 in 1948.

Board Chairman William G. McGuire said in the annual report that Panhandle Eastern had arranged, subject to approval of the Federal Power Commission, for Trunkline Gas Supply Co. to build a pipeline from its sources of supply in Texas and Louisiana to a point on Panhandle Eastern's system near Tuscola, Ill.

According to the plan, Trunkline would deliver at that point 250,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day to Panhandle Eastern. As part of the arrangement, Panhandle Eastern has contracted to buy 60 percent of the outstanding shares of each class of stock of Trunkline.

In carrying out the program, McGuire said, Panhandle Eastern will spend about $14,750,000 in expanding its existing facilities to enable it to transport and sell the gas delivered by Trunkline.

Fiscal Stability of States Said at Stake in Tax Hearing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Legislators, an oilman and a Texas education leader expressed opposition to any reduction in the depletion allowance given oil operators in calculating income taxes at a hearing here Tuesday.

The testimony was heard before the House Ways and Means Committee considering ways to plug tax loopholes.

R. B. Anderson of Vernon, Texas, chairman of the State Board of Education, said a reduction in the 27 1/2 percent depletion allowance would upset the fiscal stability of states geared to the petroleum industry.

"I am firmly of the opinion it will take out of the oil business a great many small operators, a great many of the independent wildcaters who have nurtured the industry well. If it takes them out of business, it takes them also from the tax rolls," Anderson said.

The Texas also said that if the depletion allowance is reduced it will "be far more difficult to secure from private sources" capital which will be needed in the future for the development of oil shale deposits.

Glenn E. Nielson, president of the Husky Refining Co., Cody, Wyo., told the committee that the depletion allowance provided the incentive needed to encourage drilling and production in the Rocky Mountain area.

Numerous senators and representatives from oil-producing areas appeared personally before the committee or filed statements expressing their opposition to any reduction in the depletion figure.

These included Reps. Bentsen, Poage and Mahon, and Senator Lyndon B. Johnson, Texas Democrats; Rep. Rees (R-Kans.), Rep. Miles (D-N.M.), and Rep. Russell (R-Ill.).

Earlier in the day the committee heard F. L. Hurley, tax attorney of Longview, Texas, say reduction of the depletion allowance would cause bankruptcy among a great many independent operators. Similar views were expressed by B. B. Orr, Longview operator, and James E. Hudnall, Tyler, Texas, geologist.

Nielson, also president of the Rocky Mountain Oil and Gas Association, told the committee:

"We must have the incentives provided by the present depletion allowance and intangible cost deduction to make the reserves of the Rocky Mountains available. This region is the last frontier."

Those testifying in opposition to the president's proposal included Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.), F. L. Hurley, representing the Longview Chamber of Commerce, and Clinton Beard, manager of the Northwest Oklahoma Oil Producers, Inc.

Anderson told the committee "I do not know why, but the oil industry has come to be thought of as a highly lucrative business."

From 1923 to 1944, he said, an analysis of 400 industrial companies compared to 24 oil companies reflects "that in only two years of the period do the oil companies have a rate of return on invested capital equivalent to or greater than that of the other 400 industrial concerns."

He said the hope of additional revenue by cutting the allowance, "will be dissipated in the decline of the activities of a pioneering people and in the loss of earnings in the allied industries dependent upon the continuation of our search."

Louisiana Drops Allowables For March; Imports Blamed

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Louisiana's oil allowable for March will be cut about 40,000 barrels under the current figure, Commissioner of Conservation S. L. Digby said yesterday.

The cut corresponds to reductions in purchase plans announced by several oil companies at a hearing Tuesday in New Orleans.

Esso Standard Oil Co. had asked for an immediate 25,000 barrel a day cut, but Digby emphasized that the February allowable, 877,000 barrels a day, would stand, and that the reduction would take effect only in March.

At a hearing Tuesday on allowables for March and April, Digby told representatives of seven major oil companies that he was reluctant to reduce allowable "when the situation is largely contributed to by foreign oil." He added that he did not know that an excess of oil was being imported, "but I do know enough to say that it is affecting domestic production, not only in crude oil, but in oil products."

IRAA Opposes Changes in Tax Allowance

HOUSTON — (Special) — Rejoicing the proposed revision of a 27.5 percent depletion allowance, the Independent Refiners Association of America stated "For over 12 months the independent refiner has seen what poor economic health can mean, and the IRAA opposes any downward revision of the existing depletion allowance feeling that it would frustrate the efforts of the producing and exploration segments of the petroleum industry to the same extent."

The statement added, "It is axiomatic that the maintenance of an adequate supply of petroleum is essential to a healthy economy in this nation. The petroleum industry furnishes a sufficient supply for peacetime operations as well as developing a reserve capacity for national defense and has supplied the necessary quantity to fight the last two World Wars.

One of the contributing factors supporting this record was the depletion allowance agreed to by government and industry, and it would be a poor policy to tamper with a proved and successful system."

There are an estimated 435,000 oil wells in the United States.

ROCKET-SLED TESTS SIMULATE AIR CRASH—His muscles tense, an Air Force volunteer awaits the firing of rockets that will speed his sled along the test tracks at 100-miles-an-hour. The sled will be halted with a shock like that experienced in an airplane's crash landing. The rocket-sled, installed at Muroc, Cal., is designed to test the theory, among others, that air crash casualties would be greatly reduced if passengers were seated backwards. A camera is mounted on front of the carriage to record reactions of the test passenger.

Production, Bootlegging Irk Automen

NEW YORK (AP)—Twin uncertainties plague the auto industry today: One over production hazards, and the other over dealer practices.

The industry was producing in January at a clip that would mean seven million cars and trucks in a year, a record. Few expected that rate to last beyond the spring.

But the strike at Chrysler and the coal strike which threatens eventually to cut off steel supplies will put a curb on the production spurt.

This should mean high production later in the year, if and when labor and supply problems are licked. But production without sales is no good — and the sales problem is worrying some auto executives.

The dealer trouble — bootlegging of cars at discounts below list prices — came out in the open at the Atlantic City meeting of the National Automobile Dealers Association last week.

It involves the complicated problem of the relation of the authorized dealer to the car manufacturer — whose stand is that they have nothing to say legally about what happens to the sale of a car after it leaves the factory. They don't like the dealer either to raise or lower the list price, but they say they can't act either, of course, than through their powers over franchising authorized dealers.

But it also involves a question even more in the public domain: How long will the auto industry's bonanza last? Presumably some dealers wouldn't be bootlegging cars if the demand for them at list prices were high enough. Dealers who are placing new cars on used car lots to sell at a discount may be doing so because: 1. They want to make a fast buck, or, 2. The factory has got them to contract to sell more cars than the public wants to take at the price.

Science Is There to Help Man in Bleak North Woods

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Pity the modern city man roughing it, say, in the wilds of the North Woods.

He knows nothing about the whims or demands of nature. All his life has been spent in a comfortable apartment with every thing provided. Now, he's alone in the North Woods, this pale, unresourceful man with no talent for living outdoors.

Will he make it?

Well, just grant him one concession. Give him the latest gadgets which are provided by thoughtful outfitters for campers, hunters, explorers.

So, our modern city man, name of Herbert, is trudging along the trail, alone, nervous and laden with equipment. The wind comes up. He removes a compact pocket heater from his knapsack. It works with chemicals, gives off no flame. Our hero warms the inside of his gloves and then his ankles inside his boots.

But alas, our boy gets thirsty. Foolish Herbert, he didn't bring any water. He stumbles onto a stream. He is safe to drink? Can he tell? He can't. So he digs into a pocket for his small water filter attached to a long tube. He drops the filter into the water and drinks without worry about impurities.

Dusk falls. Our hero decides it's time to pitch camp. He unfolds and sets up his compact, six-pound, bug-proof, wind-proof, sun glare-proof tent.

It's going to be real cold tonight, Herbert decides. So he sets up a smaller, more compact tent inside the larger tent.

He cuts some wood with his little axe and carries it back in a compact, canvas wood carrier. Notice, he doesn't get kindling wood. He doesn't need it. Instead, he pulls out some small cubes of synthetic kindling, lights them with his wind-proof lighter and the flame leaps up. No odor, no smoke.

What he needs now is a bath.

First, a compact, four-pound cooker-heater quickly warms up the tent. Then a collapsible canvas waste bucket used to carry water from the stream to the tent where Herbert has set up his collapsible canvas bathtub.

Refreshed but hungry, Herbert then unfolds his compact, easy-to-carry, easy-to-cook dehydrated foods and with a few simple directions has himself a meal of broth, powdered scrambled eggs, diced potatoes, spinach and coffee.

He lights his pipe, reaches into his oil refrigerator for some ice cubes and mixes a high ball. He settles back in his light, compact folding chair. His eyelids grow heavy. He snips his robe.

He sets his small, pocket alarm clock.

Slowly, in complete peace, our hero closes his eyes. But he can't sleep. There's no noise. So he turns on his small, compact portable radio. Now he sleeps.

Herbert's at home in the woods.

Drive to Catch 'Wetbacks' Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A concentrated drive to rid the Rio Grande Valley of "wetbacks" will begin by Mar. 1, J. W. Holland, district immigration enforcement officer, revealed here.

He said federal charges would be brought against persons aiding aliens once they crossed to the United States side, as well as against professional smugglers.

Recently braceros have been brought across the Rio Grande in boats rowed by minors, who apparently, Holland said, have been hired by professional smugglers in the belief charges would not be filed against juveniles.

Arrangements have been made with Mexican authorities to send such minors to correctional institutions, Holland said.

He said last month 10 smugglers were seized along the border.

Backwaters From 6 Rivers Endangering 8,000 Persons

FERRIDAY, La. —(AP)—Backwaters from six flood-gorged rivers are covering a million acres in this area today and 8,000 persons faced the prospects of being homeless.

No loss of life had been reported. Residents and livestock were being evacuated from cotton and livestock country roughly by one and one-half times the land area of Rhode Island.

John Russell of Atlanta, Ga., directing Red Cross relief activities in Catahoula and Concordia Parishes said 1,000 families had been evacuated. He expected 1,000 more families to be brought to higher ground. Russell estimated that 8,000 persons were involved in the two parishes. Additional evacuations were in progress in the adjoining parish of Avoyelles.

The Vicksburg district of the corps of engineers estimated that 1,000,000 acres were flooded in the East Central Louisiana, on the east side of the Mississippi River. An additional 190,000 acres east of the river were inundated, but that section is a sparsely populated strip of Mississippi.

Li. Col. G. F. Dixon, Jr., of the Vicksburg engineers said that about one-half of Catahoula and Concordia parishes was under backwater. Levees on major streams were holding, but surplus waters, piled up by a confluence of streams, were creeping up minor tributaries and fanning out.

Hardest hit, said the engineer, appeared to be a relatively small triangular area bounded by the Red, Black and Mississippi rivers, south of Ferriday and Jonesville. The Ouachita, the Old and the Atchafalaya Rivers also were showing waters into a huge triangle cornered roughly by Natchez, Miss., Alexandria, La., and a point near Baton Rouge, La.

The National Guard, the Coast Guard and the Red Cross organized rescue and relief. Four hundred tents were issued at Jonesville, 225 at Ferriday, and 150 were sent to Marksville.

Thirty National Guardsmen were reconnoitering today in "ducks," amphibious vehicles used in wartime beach landings. Russell said some families were reluctant to leave their homes.

Man Falls to Death On Final Day at Work

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia. —(AP)—Godfrey Vokon, 83, went to work for the last time yesterday.

It was his final day on the job as custodian and elevator operator at the American Building here. Vokon was retiring.

Vokon's closing assignment was to instruct his successor, in duties of the job.

Vokon opened the first floor elevator door and stepped inside. The elevator wasn't there and Vokon fell 20 feet to the basement pit.

He died of his injuries an hour later.

Groups Aid Coal Miners

PITTSBURGH —(AP)—CIO and AFL labor groups came to the aid of striking soft coal miners today with donations of food and money in some sections of the country.

Idle diggers also obtained sacks of free government surplus potatoes, distributed by local government officials.

The miners' walkout, in defiance of stop strike orders of both John L. Lewis and a federal court, appeared sure to continue at least to the end of the week. The 372,000 idle miners vow they won't work without a contract. They say current contract talks in Washington do not change things at all.

The number of workers idled in coal using industries—mainly steel mills and railroads—climbed slowly past the 38,400 mark. Much greater layoffs due to coal shortages are in sight.

The state of Pennsylvania estimates that families of more than half the commonwealth's 100,000 strikers are lining up for free government potatoes. Some are receiving cash relief payments.

Striking miners in Monongalia County, W. Va., met to draft plans for obtaining more food and other aid. Most of them are getting some assistance from the Mountaineer Mining Mission, a church-sponsored group. Morgantown bakeries are supplying bread and the dig-

Better Lock the Doors Next Time

YORK, Pa. —(AP)—Holmes Gibson is charged with disorderly conduct because he turned off a radio program he didn't like.

State Police said they wouldn't have cared if the 32-year-old man had turned off the program in the usual way. But Gibson, they said, tried to take the entire radio station off the air.

It all happened, according to the police, last Sunday morning when Gibson walked five miles in the rain from his home to the transmitting station of WORK and asked Chief Engineer Merle Miller:

"Where are the switches to turn the station off?" Miller told police that Gibson, without waiting for an answer, began rushing from switch to switch, turning them off. Miller was right back of him, turning them on again.

The engineer finally gave up the chase, left and soon returned with a fellow station employe. The two stopped Gibson and got the station back on the air before the police arrived.

Asked to explain his actions—which resulted in six minutes of broadcast interruptions and another 10 minutes of complete silence—Gibson told police the program interfered with electrical appliances in his home.

He is free in $500 bail. GIBSON also is obtaining government potatoes.

Rain Stopped Work, But Helped Crops

AUSTIN —(AP)—Wet weather last week halted farm field work over much of Texas.

The United States Department of Agriculture reported Wednesday that sweet potato bedding and tomato hot bed planting were about the only work attempted in the north central, central, eastern and upper coastal areas.

Temperatures moderated in the northwest somewhat to permit limited preparation of land for spring planting. The High Plains remained in need of moisture.

Benefit for leafy and root crops in the lower Rio Grande Valley were expected to benefit from weekend rains.

Livestock continued to hold up well over the entire state, USDA said.

Great cotton plantations in the U. S. South did not dominate the area until after the invention of the cotton gin in 1792.

Crosby Boys Will Do as They Wish, But After College

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — It's still too early to determine whether Bing Crosby's sons will follow in their famed father's footsteps. That's the word of Papa Crosby himself.

The Groaner was noticeably proud of the singing debut of his oldest sprout, Gary. But he doesn't know whether Gary wants a career in show business.

"Right now he's more interested in football," said Bing of his husky first-born. I asked if Gary would be allowed to make records or accept any singing dates.

"No. He's got to finish college first," Bing answered. "That goes for all the boys."

Do the other three lads show talent? "Well, they sing around the house, just like Gary. But they seem more interested in playing right now. They're all good at baseball and football." He added that the boys will appear on his radio show once a year, but that will be the extent of their singing and acting careers until they become college graduates.

Much-traveling Crosby was in town briefly for a musical number with Groucho Marx in "Mr. Rhythm." I asked about reports he would be seeing Rome this year.

"I doubt it," he said. "I expect to go to Europe this summer, but I don't think I'll have time to get down there." The trip will be strictly pleasure and will center around Paris. As for the boys, "they'll be tilling the soil" at the family ranch in Elko, Nev.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slows down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Getting up nights or frequent passages may result from minor bladder irritations due to cold, dampness or dietary indiscretions.

If your discomforts are due to these causes, don't wait, try Doan's Pills, a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 70 years. While these symptoms may often otherwise occur, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief — help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Raft, Grey Wood Checked as Clues In Plane Crash

CORPUS CHRISTI — (AP) — Naval Air Station experts are studying a rubber lift raft and a piece of board from an airplane—possible clues to the fate of a flying boat and its nine-man crew. The raft and piece of grey wood were found Tuesday on Galveston's West Beach. Chief Warrant Boatswain J. T. Collins of the Coast Guard said in Galveston that Corpus Christi Naval officers had identified the raft as similar to one belonging to the PBM missing in the Gulf since last week. Collins said search planes were concentrating in the general area off Galveston Island. The Navy discounted the possibility that an aviator's cap found on a Galveston beach Monday came from the missing plane. They said it wasn't the type used by pilots from the Corpus Christi base. Some humming birds weigh under two grams.

Rats Raise Kittens in Colorful Maryland Marshes

By HAL BOYLE
CAMBRIDGE, Md. — (AP) — You never heard of rats that raise kittens? Or foxes chasing dogs? Or about the fellow who's been breaking bricks over his head for 30 years? Well, come to Maryland's eastern shore. They've got 'em all here — plus golden-fried chicken, beaten biscuits, oysters and whistling awans. It is one of the most colorful regions in America, where descendants of the men who beat the Pilgrims across still live close to the sea and soil and earn their bread from each. Emmett Andrews, a former high school principal, knows lore about wild life and gusty people you don't find in many books. He came out of the tidal marshes himself to get his college-learning, and he loves to go back to the marshes. How can rats raise kittens, Mr. Andrews? "Oh, they're muskrats, and their young are called kittens. They have several litters a year. The muskrat is a wonderful animal — so clean. It lives on roots in the marshes, and it washes every root before it eats." And about foxes chasing dogs, Mr. Andrews? "Well, the hound dogs had the foxes pretty well thinned out here. But as the farmers began keeping fewer hound dogs the foxes came back. "One time a few years back some foxes got tired of being annoyed by one particularly bothersome hound dog. So they just ganged up one day and turned on him and chased the hound clear back into the farmyard — so the farmer said." H-m-m-m-mmm. And about the fellow who breaks bricks over his head, Mr. Andrews? "Why? "Oh, you mean Charlie Willey? He started breaking bricks over his head 30 years ago as a stunt. He'd bet you a nickel he could do it — all in fun. "Once we told him as a joke. "Charlie, you used a soft brick that time." So he got a second brick and broke it over his head, and there wasn't much we could do except pay over the nickel." Hasn't this ever hurt him? "Oh, no, not as far as anyone could tell. He's 83 and a grand-father now. Works at a sawmill." "Too bad he isn't here himself to tell you about the time he challenged the ram." How's that, Mr. Andrews? "Well, Charlie was walking along a road when he saw this ram. He climbed over the fence and got down on his hands and knees, facing the ram. "So this ram saw Charlie, lowered his head and charged. And Charlie lowered his head, braced his hands and waited. "Well, everybody says the ram died of a broken neck. Anyway Charlie is still breaking bricks over his head."

Orange Jury to Probe Rumors

ORANGE — (AP) — The Orange County Grand Jury has begun an investigation of the treatment of prisoners by Orange County officers. District Judge F. W. Hustmyre instructed the Grand Jury to make the investigation, saying "a specific charge of mistreatment of a prisoner was leveled at one of the officers of Orange County and a number of rumors involving the same officer and, I think, one of his deputies, have been spread around the district by a person or persons." The judge instructed the Grand Jury to take "appropriate action" if they find any truth in the reports. "If there is no truth to this charge or to the rumors, then they are slanderous and should be stopped," the judge added.

2 More Join County Race

Precinct 1, Lefors and vicinity, yesterday afternoon passed Precinct 4, McLean and vicinity, in offering its voters a wider choice of candidates for the county commissioners' race.

Lefors now has three persons officially in the field—the incumbent, Joe K. Clarke, former County Commissioner Arlie Carpenter, and E. A. Herring. Herring and Carpenter filed with the Democratic Committee yesterday.

In Precinct 4, only two are officially in the Democratic primaries on July 22—Incumbent, William Earnest Beck and Clyde Brown. Two aspirants, Jess Roberts and Leon Waldrop, have only publicly announced as starters. They have yet to file with the Democratic Committee.

Precinct 2, Pampa and vicinity, and Precinct 3, Hopkins and vicinity, have only their incumbents, J. W. "Bill" Graham and Fred S. Vanderburg, in the race so far.

On the county-wide front, Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle signed his name to a petition seeking a place on the ballot for reelection.

Candidates for public office are having to do something new this year before they are assured of a place on the primary ballot. They must all sign loyalty pledges—a pledge of loyalty to the present representative form of government—to conform with an act passed by the State Legislature.

All in all the campaigns for the various offices are just warming up. The big play will be after June 17—last day for county and precinct candidates to file for a place on the ballot.

Bills Are Introduced To Use Beds

By TEX EASLEY
Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON (AP)—Similar bills introduced by Texas Reps. Lyle and Benton to authorize the Veterans Administration to use surplus beds at the Corpus Christi, Texas, Naval Hospital were described by them today as emergency measures.

The legislators previously had introduced bills to authorize the construction of a VA hospital somewhere in that part of South Texas, bounded roughly by the cities of Corpus Christi, Brownsville and Laredo.

Recalling that Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson recently announced the Corpus Christi Naval Hospital would reduce its active capacity from 400 down to 100 beds, necessitating the removal of 125 veteran patients elsewhere, the congressmen in a joint statement said:

"This is strictly an emergency move on our part. We are not abandoning our efforts to get a new VA hospital in our area."

There are approximately 280,000 veterans in South Texas eligible for hospitalization, and there are no facilities south of San Antonio or Houston.

"We have been told that this planned reduction at the Corpus Christi Naval Hospital, which was originally a 700-bed installation, is an economy move."

"It has been stated to us authoritatively that reason was a shortage of doctors, and, equally authoritatively, that the purpose was to release an excess of doctors."

Commenting separately on the situation, Lyle said he was "irritated by the conflicting explanations" from Defense Department officials, and added:

"The only thing I am sure of at this point, is that an utter disregard has been shown for the veterans of South Texas and that we do not propose to stand by and see this sort of discrimination practiced."

"Apparently everything has been considered by the Department of Defense except the sick and injured men who fought in the last two wars."

The Providence Reds of the American Hockey League registered 44 victories during the 1948-49 season, which is the record for the circuit.

Man in White Coat Stays Out of Sight

The Sheriff's Department was "up a tree" this morning in the burglary-car theft at McLean Tuesday morning.

Sheriff G. H. "Skinner" Kyle and Chief Deputy Rufe Jordan thought they would have the car and its white-coated driver but they have not shown up in any of the places contacted.

A tri-state alarm was sent out over Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Jordan said this morning the office was "up a tree now" on the robbery.

The man is being sought by local officers for questioning in the burglary Monday night, or early Tuesday morning, of the McLean Hardware store where two rifles, ammunition and $237.11 in cash were taken. A black Ford car, belonging to E. H. Kramer, four blocks from the burglarized store, was also taken. Both are believed to be the work of the white-coated stranger seen driving Kramer's car early Tuesday morning.

on sale and use of coal were being readied for application Friday. A voluntary control system was invoked in Washington. In some areas, brownouts, or curfews on using electricity made from coal, were in effect. Some schools were ordered closed for lack of heat.

Recess Called In Phase of Phone Strike

NEW YORK — (AP) — Negotiations in a vital phase of the nationwide telephone dispute have been recessed at least until the day before the Feb. 24 deadline set for a threatened strike.

The recess was announced by a spokesman for Division 10 of the CIO Communications Workers of America, which represents 21,000 long lines workers of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Division 10 President Robert Creasy said the recess was ordered by the union because it feels the company "has no desire to reach agreement with us" until all angles of the dispute can be settled at once.

Division 10's contract does not permit it to strike until Mar. 2, but other divisions of the union are free to carry out their strike threat on Feb. 24.

Creasy said "We expect to be observing picket lines beginning Feb. 24, but we will join these picket lines on Mar. 2."

Negotiations are being held here also between Divisions 6 and 18 and the Western Electric Company, manufacturing and installing subsidiary of A. T. and T.

The nationwide dispute between the A. T. and T. Bell System and various divisions of the union involves wages, hours, pensions, job progression and other issues.

Texas Publishers Discuss Problems

TEXARKANA — (AP) — The Texas Daily Newspaper Association today opened its annual meeting at which publishers discuss their common problems and trends in business and news.

President D. A. Greenwell, vice president and treasurer of The Dallas Times-Herald, called the first session to order at 9:30 a. m.

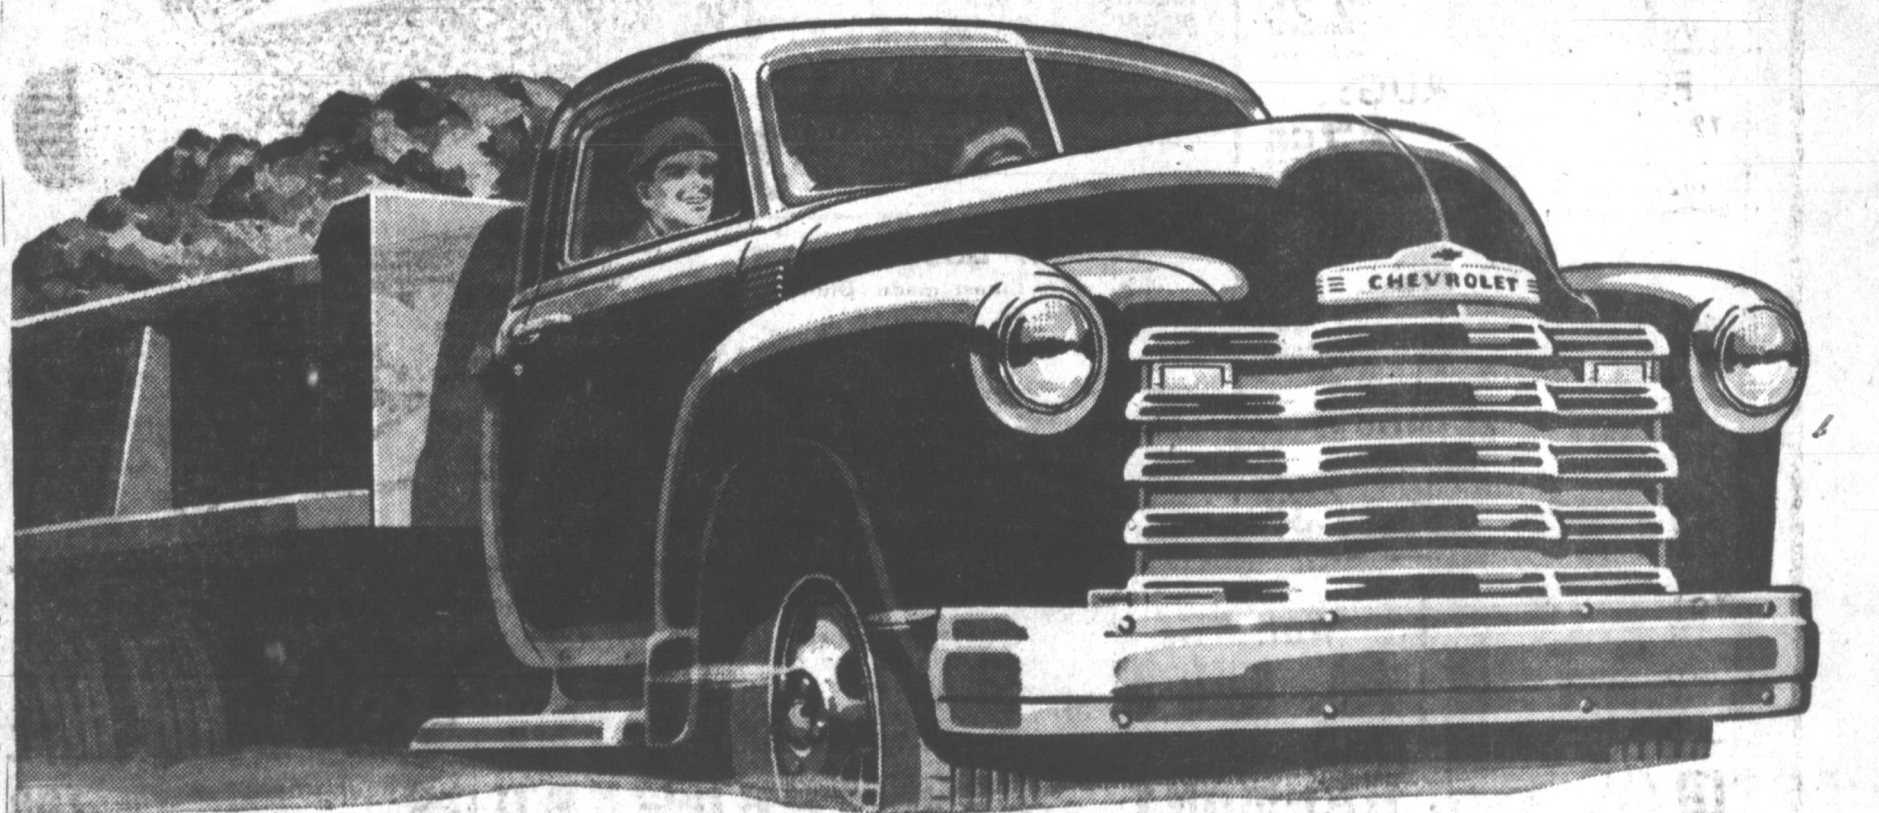

He said that "right the mechanical, economic, informational and public relations problems confronting newspaper publishers are countless. 'We wish the public could sit in on our conventions so that they would know the scope of the problems attendant to publishing a daily newspaper," he said.

The two and one-half day program will include discussions of the intern program adopted last year by Texas papers to give journalism students on-the-job training, the new wage and hour law and other legislation, economic trends and their effects on newspapers, labor problems, and the value of The Associated Press Managing Editors Association to newspapers.

Marshall Pioneer Looks Forward to 100th Birthday

By BOB BURNS

MARSHALL, Texas—(AP)—John Harter of Marshall celebrated his 99th birthday last month and is looking forward to the next one.

"I've had better health the last four or five years than I've had before, and I'm liable to be here next year," he said. "There's no telling."

Harter likes to listen to radio news programs, but he will have none of soap operas.

He doesn't remember why he came to Texas, but he rode into Dallas in 1874 on the Texas and Pacific Railroad and came to Marshall to work as a switchman and later as a baggage man for that railroad. Earlier he had driven an ox team for a Dallas brick yard.

Born in Steinfort, Luxembourg, Harter came to the United States as a child. The voyage from Paris to New York took 60 days in a wooden sailing vessel. His family moved to Mineral Point, Wis., where Harter remembers being called "Jefferson Davis" because of his Southern sympathy. He led the "Rebels" against the "Yankees" in the town's snow fights.

When Harter came to Marshall, it took 14 hours for a freight train to go from Marshall to Dallas.

"We never ran on schedule," he said. "When you got there, you were there, and that's all there was to it. We never ran much over 10 miles an hour."

He discontinued his railroad career to become a truck farmer and florist. He still gardens and will soon start getting his seed beds ready for tomatoes, turnips and carrots. He also raises chickens.

In 1903 he opened the City Laundry, which is now operated by his son, John E. Harter.

Duke of Windsor Scotches Rumors

MEXICO CITY—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor emphatically has quieted London rumors that the Duchess and he plan to make their home in England.

"There is no truth in that report," he said at a news conference.

Turning to the Duchess beside him, he added "we have no plans for that."

"We go to England every year of course," he concluded.

The Duchess, in dark blue with white quarter-length gloves and three rows of large pearls tight around her neck and pearl-cluster earrings, stood with the Duke for many pictures and sat with him during the 20-minute interview.

Mostly, the Duke spoke of their "wonderful reception" and said the simple, country people everywhere "were very, very kind."

Port Arthur City Manager Resigns

PORT ARTHUR — (AP) — Austin P. Hancock, city manager here since last August, has resigned to become city manager of Abilene.

He is to receive $12,000 yearly, the same he was getting here. Hancock came here from Amarillo where he also had been city manager.

Townsend Still Thinks Own Pension Plan Beats Labor's

By DOYLE SMEE

CLEVELAND — (NEA) — The picture in the newspaper showed jubilation. Bethlehem steel workers cheering over news that their strike had won them $100-a-month pensions.

A lean, white-haired old doctor looked at the newspaper and shook his head sadly. "These labor people don't realize what they're after," he said firmly. "What they want is security and I maintain they won't get it that way."

This ancient crusader — Dr. Francis E. Townsend — thinks he knows a better way. He has thought so since 1933 when, after watching three old women scrounge food from a garbage can, he wrote a letter to a Long Beach, Calif., newspaper. The letter suggested that the government retire everybody (except criminals) at age 60 on a $200-a-month pension. To the everlasting surprise of its author, the letter launched the Townsend Plan for Old-Age Pensions. It boomed, but he never was able to put it over. Now he has a new plan, submitted to the 81st Congress, which he confidently expects will be debated on the House floor during the upcoming session.

The other day Dr. Townsend was visiting his only son, Robert, in Cleveland and attending a round of celebrations of the Townsend Plan's 16th birthday. Robert is the national treasurer of what is now the "Townsend Plan for National Insurance."

A midwestern country doctor who turned political economist, the elder Townsend still bangs out pieces for the plan's weekly newspaper with the energy of a cub reporter, although he is 82.

He continually repeats his amazement at the way the plan caught on — as it did among the aged, at any rate.

Three months after his initial letter to the editor, Townsend, "the new prophet of plenty," had 70,000 signatures on a petition which would make his plan the law of the land.

Within three years, "Townsend Clubs" were located all over the country, and the movement touched off a congressional investigation. Dr. Townsend stalked out of the hearings and was on the verge of jail for contempt when President Roosevelt pardoned him.

In 1939, a Townsend Plan bill was defeated 302 to 97 in the House of Representatives. Political observers, however, credited the "Townsend appeal" with setting the stage for liberalizing the Social Security Act, although Dr. Townsend always has criticized Social Security.

During the war the movement waned, but now there is a drive underway to "triple the membership" by January, 1950. Estimates of present membership run vaguely to 5,000,000 but Treasurer Bob Townsend claims "infinitely more followers."

The great hope of the Townsends today is a new bill (HR-2135) burned in the House Ways and Means Committee. Unlike the old Townsend Plan, it does not call for payment of a "fixed" pension. Instead it would divide among the aged and infirm all the proceeds from a three percent gross income tax.

PENSIONER — Dr. Francis Townsend, who is still amazed at the speed with which his pension idea caught on, now has a new plan that he has presented to Congress.

Townsend followers will make a big push to get HR 2135 out of committee during the next Congress. Already they claim 179 of the 218 signatures needed.

The kicker in the new plan, as in older ones, is the requirement that a pensioner must spend all the money he gets within 30 days. "We want to make good marketers out of the 12 or 13 million old folks," Dr. Townsend said. "If they had money to spend there would be no depressions."

The doctor thought he had some pointers for labor in his percentage tax on all incomes. "Why don't they get wise enough to demand that wages be tied to the monthly volume of business done?" he wanted to know.

The fault of strike-bought pensions, Dr. Townsend explained, is that even though workers get the high wages and pensions they want, they still can't control the price system.

The only possible bug Dr. Townsend sees in his old-age insurance plan — opponents say they see plenty of them — is the chance of overproduction. But he's sure we can always find a way to dispose of surplus products.

And as for hoarding that monthly allotment, he said, "why should people hoard if they know they've got a guaranteed income for life?"

Transporting Liquor Conviction Upheld

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals has affirmed conviction of E. D. Cowser on a charge of transporting liquor on a public highway through Precinct No. 1, Tom Green County.

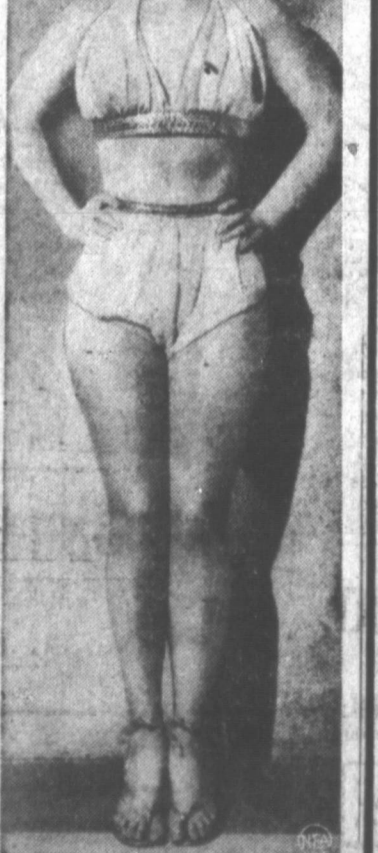

Cowser had contended that the state failed to prove the dry status of Precinct No. 1.

The appeal court noted that court records showed a deputy county clerk to have read to the jury the results of a liquor option election in the precinct with the majority vote cast against legalized liquor.

"We think this sufficiently complies with the legal requirements and motion was properly overruled," the appeal court's written opinion said.

Cowser was fined $500 and sentenced to six months in jail.

Airline Claims Operating Costs Are Declining

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Henry E. Erdmann, vice president of Trans-Texas Airways, said Tuesday his line has reduced operating costs steadily since 1947.

Erdmann appeared before the Civil Aeronautics Board at a hearing on the airline's applications for a five-year extension of its certificates.

He said increased business and increased efficiency had lowered operating costs from 25 cents down to 11 cents per passenger mile.

He added that if the CAB renews Trans-Texas' present operating permit, which expires May 15, the carrier will make changes in its planes which should increase their speed and further lower flying costs.

By cutting some off the wing tips, making the rear landing wheel retractable, and otherwise modifying the planes, he said the line hopes to boost their speed 25 miles an hour, to around 200 miles an hour cruising speed.

Earlier in the day the president of the company, R. Earl McLaughlin, discussed operations of the line over its 2,065-route miles across Texas.

Death of Child Closes Schools

HILLSBORO, Texas — (AP) — Whitney schools were closed Wednesday after the death of a second-grade student was attributed to a communicable type of meningitis.

Glenda Freeman, 7, went to school Monday, became ill Monday night and died Tuesday morning. Wednesday a report of a Waco pathologist said she died of a transference type of meningitis.

Dr. Silas Grant, health officer in the Hill County town, ordered all 468 students in the Whitney schools sent home at noon

Wednesday. The schools will remain closed the rest of the week.

Penicillin treatments were being given the child's fellow students.

Glenda was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Freeman of Whitney.

Naval Officer Is Elected to Office

HAVERTHILL, Mass. — (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. William H. Bates has won his father's old congressional seat after a strange campaign that saw him sitting on the sidelines — silenced by Naval regulations against engaging in politics.

But the Republicans quickly hailed his sweeping victory as an indication the GOP had found a winning formula — "new faces and a 1950 outlook." The Democrats had no immediate comment.

The 32-year-old Naval officer was drafted by GOP leaders to run after his father, U.S. Rep. George J. Bates, was killed in an airliner crash over Washington four months ago.

And he came through by piling up 43,947 votes Tuesday in his first bid for political office against only 15,422 for Richard M. Russell, 58, veteran Democratic campaigner.

HOW TO MAKE FRIENDS AMONG YOUNGER SET

Dear Grace Friend: We recently moved here from another city and already we have run into difficulty. Our little boy, he is eight, doesn't seem to be making friends among the children of the neighborhood. He seems quite lonely and has made a few efforts to be included in their play but nothing has come of it. They still treat him like an outsider. Is there anything I might do to help get him started towards making friends with the neighborhood children?

Mrs. W.:

Recently I heard of a case similar to yours which was solved by the mother of the little boy. She invited the little boys of her son's age to their home for an early supper after getting their mother's permission and served all of the things youngsters like to eat.

When they left for home she told them to drop in any time for a cookie when they were out playing.

The old saying about the way to a man's heart was certainly true in her case.

She told me later that she couldn't keep the youngsters away and now her son is just one of the gang.

WOMAN OWES NO EXPLANATION TO EX-HUSBAND

Dear Grace Friend: I have raised several children and was married 20 years before I was divorced a few years ago. I moved away for quite some time but finally returned here. I own some property near here which is managed by my ex-husband.

Every time he comes to town he comes to my home as we are on friendly terms, however it's getting more and more on my nerves. I have asked him to stay away as it doesn't seem right for him to come here when we divorced.

I am corresponding with a Christian man who is quite fond of me. When he comes to see me what am I going to tell my ex-husband? Faint Heart.

Dear Faint Heart: I don't know why you need offer any explanation concerning your actions to your ex-husband. Your divorce ended any claims he might have had upon you.

I suppose that you have to see him occasionally for business reasons. Tell him that you do not want him in your home and that if he needs to consult you about your property he can make an appointment to meet in some public place like a hotel lobby or restaurant.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK—Judging from the sounds, the guys in the fight mob must be pretty certain Joe Louis is going to stay retired. . . . Jake Mintz, Ezzard Charles' manager, has been hollering that Joe owes it to boxing, to the public, and to Ezzard to give the NRA champ a chance to show how good he is. . . . Now Joey Maxim is back from England with the light heavyweight title and (he says) a burning desire to fight Louis rather than carefully, they may get Joe road enough to go into serious training and beat their ears off.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE
 George Sauer, new Baylor football coach: "As soon as the spring practice is over, I'm going to have a picture of myself made and give it to my wife. Then I'm going to take off for 40 days and meet all the alumni I can find."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

After listening to a certain number of wails about "Homer" officiating, National Basketball Association statisticians checked up. Records of games show the home teams foul more in most of the games. In most of the cities, the home clubs averaged more fouls than the visitors. . . . That loud cheer from Texas Tuesday night was raised by McMurry College basketball fans when their team finally won after losing 20 straight games.

2-A Tournament Resumes Friday

The District 2-A basketball tournament will resume action tomorrow afternoon at Shamrock. The third round of play will get started at 2 o'clock when Clarendon faces the Lefors Pirates. . . . At 3 p. m. McLean meets Wellington. At 7:30 Lefors plays Wellington and at 8:30 tomorrow night Memphis tackles Shamrock in what may be the deciding game of the tournament. Both clubs are undefeated so far in three games.

Claude Mustangs Defeat McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — The Claude Mustangs defeated the McLean Tigers Tuesday night, 49-38, in a fast game in which the winners never trailed. L. M. Watson led the losers scoring for 27. . . . high-point man for both sides. Smith added 7 for McLean. Sanders led Claude's scoring with 16 followed by Blackney with 8. . . . In a B team game the McLean team won, 41-27. Duncan hit for 14 for the winners and Hood had 16 for the losers.

Druggist and Garagers Win

The four Pampa independent basketball clubs warmed up last night for the Top of Texas Tournament next week. In the first game the Richards Drug quintet defeated the Cuberson Chevrolet, 33-26. Goson led the winners with 14. Bill Garrett was leader of the losers with 8. . . . The Cities Service-Schneider Garage five downed the J. C. Daniels Mercury in the second game, 45-38. Bill Brewer led the winners with 14, followed by Burson with 13. Leon Crum scored 14 for the losers and Tom Tapps had 7.

Field of 156 Swings Into First Round of $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open Tourney

State Golden Gloves Meet Opens With Seven KOs

FORT WORTH — (AP) — Seven Golden Glovers scored knockouts last night in the first round of the 1950 State Tournament. . . . John O. Glee of Dallas, defending lightweight champion, put Quinton Milhollin of Bryan away in 1:30 of the first round. John McCord of Fort Worth, a middleweight, knocked out Jack Fulton of Brownwood in fifty seconds of the first round. . . . Ferrell Snider of Fort Worth got a TKO over Jim Jarrett of Houston in the flyweight division. Glenn Erwin of Fort Worth kayoed Walter Rains of Tyler in the second round of the only bantamweight fight. Lightweight Eddie Garza of San Antonio led Alfred Rogers of Harlingen in the second round. Welter Kenty Rogers of Wichita Falls kayoed John Tinsella of Houston in the first and welter Johnny Pannell of Corpus Christi scored a second-round TKO over Bobby Smith of Tyler. . . . Fort Worth leads in team standings with four points. Four teams are tied for second with two HARLINGEN — (AP) — The third annual $10,000 Rio Grande Valley Open, minus — this far — a controversy to vie with golf for the headlines as did its predecessors, swung into its first 18-hole round today. . . . A field of 156 players, all professionals except 14, appeared destined to do terrifying things to par 71 on the short course with its powder dry fairways and fast greens. . . . Already the 6,000-yard lay-out has been assaulted in alarming fashion in tune-up rounds and a big pro-amateur yesterday. . . . Carefree Jimmie Demaret, of Ojai, Calif., minstrel man, and dark, fall and handsome Cary Middlecoff, the ex-dentist from Memphis now getting his mail at Ormond Beach, Fla., were picked as the men to beat in the run for the $2,000 first money. . . . Sam Sneed, the West Virginia picture-slinger who is the top golfer of the year in money earned and other departments, is missing, leaving the field wide open. On this course, say the pros, anybody can win. The man with the hot putter will be the fair-haired boy. . . . This tournament caused some of the biggest controversies of golf: In 1948, Norman Von Nida, the Australian, and Henry Ransom, an American, exchanged blows after an argument over rules during a match. The entire tournament field was torn by bickering over the use of winter rules. At one stage it appeared the tournament would blow up in the PGA's face. But the pros salvaged it by naming George Schmitter czar of the works and letting him set down all the rules. . . . The next year things were going along smoothly until a newspaper column criticizing players and sponsors of tournaments made the tournament see the Dick Metz, veteran professional, was named as the man who furnished the information in the column and Schmitter threatened suspension. But Metz denied it. Later things were patched up and Metz again is on the tour. . . . Schmitter says there's absolutely nothing new for anybody to argue about. . . . Two players tied the course record in rounds yesterday. One was Tom Bolt of Houston, who shot a nine-under-par 69 in the pro-amateur where he won $182.25 for his trouble. The other was big Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., who did it in a practice round. The record was set in 1936 by Tony Butler, present club professional. Bolt paired with amateur Al Jones of Harlingen for a best ball of 61 to tie Max Evans of Detroit, whose partner was amateur C. R. Huff of Raymondville, Texas, for first place in the pro-amateur. The two pros split first and second money.

Austrian Nears Wide Acclaim

ASPEN, Colo. — (AP) — Dagmar Rom, the graceful blonde Austrian, is just one hurdle away from recognition as one of the greatest woman skiers in history. . . . The final test for the gay, 21-year old university student will come tomorrow on Aspen Mountain's treacherous downhill course. A victory would give her a clean sweep of the women's alpine events in the world meet sponsored by the Federation Internationale De Ski. . . . Miss Rom, a natural athlete who maneuvers with almost effortless ease, added the world slalom crown yesterday to the giant slalom championship she had captured two days earlier. . . . If she takes the downhill title also, she will succeed the famous Christa Cranz of Germany as the all-around queen of the slaloms. Cristl dominated international competition in the late

Cut and Shoot Boy Ousted

FORT WORTH — (AP) — There's only one of the fighting Harriers who still has a chance to take a state Golden Gloves title back to their log cabin in East Texas' Big Thicket. . . . Tobe, 17, met his match last night in a West Texas boxer. He lost a unanimous decision to lightweight Rudolph Velades of San Angelo in the first round of the tournament. . . . Roy, 16, who learned with Tobe to fight bare-knuckle in a home-made ring at their cabin in Cut and Shoot, Texas, fights for the first time tonight. He meets welterweight Kenneth Lyday of Paris. . . . Tobe's father, Henry Harris, wearing his conk and blue overalls, was in his boy's corner last night. Cheering from the balcony were uncle Bob, Henry's brother; Roy, and cousin Armadillo Moorehead. . . . Henry wasn't too downcast after the bout. . . . "I'll bring him back again and in about three years I'll show you a real fighter," he said.

Four Georgia Football Players Being Fired Would Indicate They Were Hired

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The story out of Athens was that Wally Butts had fired Bill Hegarty, Bob Lovely, Bob Olsham and Jack McHugh from the Georgia football squad. . . . The four juniors failed to show up for spring practice. . . . They had best be more careful with their terminology down yonder. Saying these college football players were fired most certainly would indicate that they were hired, and we wouldn't want a yarn like that to get around. . . . It could also be presumed that Coach Butts also does the hiring at Georgia, which might be no aspect of the solid support given to the NCAA so-called Sanity Code violator by the Southeastern Conference. . . . It will be interesting to see where Hegarty, Lovely, Olsham and McHugh light next. . . . One of those Sanity Code violators might just as well pick them up. They might just as well have the game with the name. . . . Last reports had the quartet heading north, which is not unusual at all, for it is in the direction of home. . . . If Hegarty ever gets to play college football, he'll make people forget a lot of tackles. Georgia has reason to be real mad at him. . . . The school spent a lot of time and money righting a bad knee upon his discharge from the Navy in 1946, but the Massachusetts' Association would not waive the high school age limit of 19. . . . Hegarty, who would put more Irish back in Notre Dame, took his six feet four inches, 220-pounds and speed to Aquinas High of Rochester, N. Y., noted for its swift teamsters. . . . Lovely, another tackle, is out of neighboring Haverhill, Mass. Olsham, who registers from Wilkes-Barre, was one of three Pennsylvania quarterbacks who called plays for the Bulldogs last fall. Jack McHugh, a left-half-back, is a Chicago lad. . . . Georgia's northern ties do not end with the departure of Hegarty, Lovely, Olsham and McHugh. The 1949 roster listed eight Ohio and an equal number of Pennsylvania students. Massachusetts and Illinois each had four representatives, Indiana, Minnesota, Iowa and New Jersey one apiece. . . . The 28 southern gentlemen from the north on a roster of 67 were no doubt possessed with the distance traveled. The four Youngstown, O., products were no doubt influenced by the fine record compiled at Georgia by fellow townsman Frank Sinkwich and the disabled war hero end, George Poschner, who contributed so much to the Bulldogs' cause in 1941-42. . . . Wally Butts and Georgia have been frequent New Year's Day

Harvesters Set to Close Season at Amarillo Friday

Tomorrow night the Pampa Harvesters receive a chance to turn their 1949-50 basketball campaign into pretty much of a success despite the fact that they didn't win the District 2-A basketball crown. They get their second shot at the Amarillo Sandies in the Sports Arena at Amarillo. The first shot was a dead one, the Harvesters taking a 47-35 victory on their home court.

Second place in the district hinges on the outcome of this game. The two clubs are currently tied for that position with three wins and two losses each. Pampa's two defeats came from Berger and Amarillo. . . . The Sandies have a season's record of 20 wins in 28 starts. They have been victimized by the Harvesters, Berger, Tucuman, Cart, Lubbock and Classen of Oklahoma City. Pampa has hung up 18 wins and 5 losses. . . . Four of the five defeats came at the hands of district champs, 2 by Berger and one each from Vernon of 2-AA and Lubbock, 3-AA. The other loss was administered by Poltechnic of Fort Worth in the Brownwood Tourney. . . . The game will also produce some individual scoring honors. At the present time Jimmy Howard is four points ahead of teammate James Gallemore for the district lead, and 10 points ahead of Gib Ford, Amarillo forward. . . . Unless either of these other two boys can overcome Howard's slim lead, he will be district scoring champion. . . . And as if this isn't enough, hanging on this game it also presents Pampa a chance to hand the Sandies their third straight defeat by a Pampa High School basketball squad and the fourth consecutive loss in a major sports event, counting the football victory last fall. . . . In the first game this season James Gallemore paced the way for the Harvesters' victory with 22 points. His scoring twin, Howard, was right behind him with 16. They scored all but 9 of the Pampa total, Marvin Bond and James Claunch adding the rest. Gib Ford was the big gun in Amarillo's attack with 13, followed by Bobby Garner and Red Irwin with 10 each. . . . The Harvesters, in that game, overcame a halftime deficit of 25-22 with a last half spurt. But it was mainly the zone defense which cooled the Amarillo scoring machine with its surprise effect. . . . The Harvesters may resort to this defense again on the wider sports arena floor, or they may switch back into their usual man-to-man. Which McNeely will decide to base his chances on remains to be seen. That is probably a question that Coach T. G. Hull last night. Cheering from the balcony were uncle Bob, Henry's brother; Roy, and cousin Armadillo Moorehead. . . . Henry wasn't too downcast after the bout. . . . "I'll bring him back again and in about three years I'll show you a real fighter," he said.

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Leon Campbell was resting comfortably today after an operation to correct the Baltimore Colt's hernia condition. . . . Yesterday's operation was the second within ten days for the Arkansas star who is one of the football club's top fullback prospects. He underwent surgery week before last for a knee ailment.

Boudreau Head Of Illini Man

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — (NEA) — Lou Boudreau, '39, was elected president of the "I" Men's Association at the annual dinner of University of Illinois lettermen at the Urbana Golf and Country Club. . . . Boudreau succeeds Robert W. Riegel, '37. Other officers chosen unanimously are William C. O'Brien, '26, vice-president, and Earl Britton, '26, of Detroit, secretary-treasurer. . . . Boudreau, who still resides at Harvey, Ill., from where he matriculated, is the shortstop manager of the Cleveland Indians. Britton gained football fame as the blocker for Red Grange, the Galloping Ghost. . . . COACHING ARTIST BOULDER, Colo. — Ski coach Steve Bradley, a painter noted for mountain and skiing scenes, is working toward a Master's degree in fine arts at Colorado.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hass—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: How old is Connie Mack, veteran owner-manager of the Philadelphia Athletics?

IF YOU HAVE EVER ATTENDED A COLLEGE or high school football or basketball rally, you probably have heard coaches and players exhort the student body for support from the sidelines. Athletic leaders insist that cheers from the stands are important contributions to the success of a team on the field. Through all of the flowery speeches these men make before the fans, what they essentially mean is, "Follow us, we need pep on the sidelines."

One of the best examples of the value of that pep from the fans came last fall from a starting lineman on the 1949 Tulane University football team. Tulane, you well recall, went to South Bend, Ind., in mid-October to meet one of the strongest teams in the history of the Southeastern Conference. Its meeting with Notre Dame drew a sellout crowd of 35,000 rabid fans. Reporters were there from all over the country. The game was broadcast and televised over networks. Hundreds of fans came from New Orleans to see the Fighting Irish knocked into submission.

Everyone expected a lightning-fast, slam-bang game that would be decided by a point or perhaps a touchdown. However, Notre Dame scored three touchdowns in the first few minutes and carried on to an amazing 46 to 7 victory. This is that Tulane lineman's explanation of his personal reaction when he lined up for the kickoff and it may well reflect the attitude of his mates:

"I had played several important football games in my day. I never had known the meaning of the word fear. I never had been afraid of anyone. We arrived at Notre Dame just in time to dress and work out. After the limbering up drill we returned to the dressing room for final instructions. Nobody, including the coaches, had much to say. Spirit was high. We were confident we would win. About three minutes before the kickoff we came back to the field for the playing of 'The Star Spangled Banner.' There was no weakening in our confidence that we could whip the Irish.

"Then came those green-shirted men of Frank Leahy. The band struck up 'Cheer, Cheer for Old Notre Dame.' I never heard such cheering in all my life. Suddenly I began to realize I was in a game against Notre Dame, the team that hadn't been beaten since 1945. I frankly admit I became scared stiff. I seemed frozen to the ground as the two teams stood there at attention listening to the strains of our Nation Anthem. Maybe that was the spirit of the Tulane team, because several players laid hands on Larry Coure on his 76-yard dash for Notre Dame's first touchdown, but nobody could hold him."

"If there's a moral to the incident, it may be summarized like this: 'They serve, too, who sit in the stands and cheer.' Which all leads up to the fact that tomorrow night the Pampa Harvesters go to Amarillo to play the Golden Sandies in a game that has no particular bearing on the outcome of the District 1-A basketball campaign, but it does mean a lot to the boys, their coach, the school, and the town.

Several of the lads will be making their final start for the school on the hill. It will mean a lot to them especially, as they have played a major part in defeating this Sandie aggregation several times in the past. And they want to bow out of the scene by 'getting a Sandie.' Many citizens of Pampa are ex-

Harvesters and they talk about how they either defeated or were beaten by Amarillo. Tomorrow night they get a chance to help serve their Alma Mater in a way other than being on the floor in uniform. Let's do it!

Since the announcement that Grover Selitz would not be back in the league next year several of the West Texas-New Mexico League newspapers have carried tales about his various escapades. One recently related by Joe Kelly, sports editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal goes like this: "Two years ago Selitz was named to manage the South All-Stars in Abilene. It was the only time players had ever seen him affected. He didn't think that the honor should have been given to him. The players from Abilene, Lubbock, Lamesa and Pampa gathered around him for the customary talk before the game.

"Grover looked at them. 'Hell, you all know why you're here. I don't have anything to say. When you get on the bases you're on your own. No, I'll take that back. We'll use Pampa signals — you all know them anyway.' The last was said with a grin that broke up the meeting.

ANSWER: Connie Mack, senior manager of the American League, celebrated his 87th birthday last December.

Baylor Bears Trim Rice

HOUSTON — (AP) — Baylor University was tied for third place in the Southwest Conference basketball race today by virtue of a 60-59 decision over Rice.

The Bears blew a 12-point lead in the second half, then hung on to beat the last place Owls last night. The victory brought Baylor even with Texas A&M. Forty six fouls were called. Baylor had a 52-40 lead with 12 minutes to go, but with 55 seconds left Rice had cut it down to 59-56.

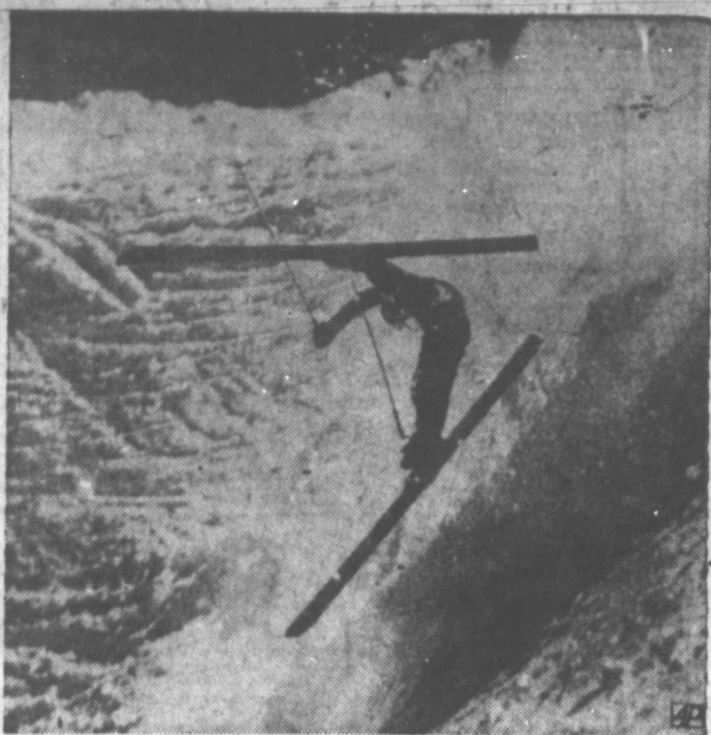

Howard Hovde added another Baylor point before Charlie Tyghe and Joe McDermott scored three points for Rice in the last 15 seconds.

J. D. White of Rice led the scoring with 18 points. Ode'll Preston of Baylor was one point behind.

Kramer Defeats Pancho Gonzales

AMARILLO — (AP) — Jack Kramer beat Pancho Gonzales, 15-11, 7-5, in a pro tennis match last night.

Francisco (Pancho) Segura defeated Frank Parker, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5. Bobby Riggs and Kramer beat Parker and Gonzales, 6-2, in a doubles set.

FAILS TO FINISH—Margaret Owen, 22, of Vancouver, B. C., takes a bad spill at Aspen, Colo., during the Women's Giant Slalom ski race. A Canadian entrant, she was unable to continue and was the only one of 28 starters who failed to register time. (AP Wirephoto)

National Senior League in Name Only; AL Has Vets

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The American League generally is regarded as a bit faster than the National.

Because of its sustained success in World Series and All-Star Games, the Will Harridge wheel richly deserves this reputation.

But it isn't because the National League isn't trying. And the Ford Frick organization easily could be catching up.

Certainly it has the younger faces, a direct result of the Branch Rickey youth movement in Brooklyn. As I have remarked previously, winning ways spell trends in baseball style.

A comparison of the number of 10-year men in the majors is somewhat astonishing. It definitely brings out the fact that the National is now the senior circuit in length of operation and name only.

Going over the list of veterans, you begin to fear that the American is beginning to fall apart like a tired race horse.

Never since a record of such service was first compiled was the number of 10-year men in the National so small — 17, or less than six percent.

The American, on the other hand, houses no fewer than 46, or nearly three times as many, athletes who have been on big time for a decade or longer. This does not include Satchel Paige of the Indians, who pre-dates Iron Man Joe McGinnity and his underhand delivery, and Ellis Kinder of the Red Sox, who is 36.

The number of old folks in the junior leagues easily could be an all-time high.

The Indians are baseball's old pappy guys with 11 who have served a decade or longer. This rate next in seniority with eight. The leaders in age are followed by the Yankees and Tigers with six each and the Senators with five. The White Sox possess only two, which is indicative of the building job, and the Browns only one. The Browns sell 'em when they become of age.

Any trained baseball man will tell you that more than three or four 10-year men on a club is a risk.

It is a sign that clubs are not

Fetching Bauer Sisters Capture Golf Galleries and Titles

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — The shiniest stars on the women's golfing horizon today are a pair of North Dakota-born sisters with pale blue eyes, unorthodox swings and the determination to capture every honor the sport has to offer.

Petite Marlene Bauer, just turned 16, and her pretty 22-year-old sister, Alice, are fast becoming household pets as their feats on the golf course are emblazoned in block type across the nation's sport pages.

Honor and achievement already are theirs. But they want — and probably will get — a lot more.

Marlene was named the woman athlete of 1949 in the annual Associated Press poll of sports writers. She was voted the woman golfer of the year by the Women's Association of the PGA and holds the women's world scoring record for 54 holes of golf.

She and her sister have dominated Southern California's women's tournaments for the past five years.

By nearly as remarkable as their accomplishments on the links is their ability to captivate the gallery. If they don't win the tournament, they at least win the hearts of spectators. A bad shot by either causes a real anguish among the gallery.

What gets the crowd is their complete candor — not naive, but unsophisticated and natural.

Marlene is a little girl and looks it. She generally wears a big bow in her hair and very little makeup. Alice has more poise and is a little less shy for it. Marlene has light brown wavy hair. Alice is neither a brunette nor a blonde — just between.

Father Dave Bauer is their tutor and severest critic. A professional golfer himself, it was Bauer who taught them all they know of golf. He insists they practice until they become champions.

It's not unusual to see Papa Bauer give one of his daughters a sizzling tongue-lashing during a tournament.

Alice is the one Father Bauer wanted to become a champion golfer. But it took Marlene to interest Alice. The elder sister lovingly cups won on a golf course, so Marlene was used for bait.

Father Bauer, cut the handles off a driver and putter when Marlene was three and a half years old, and Marlene began divoting the front lawn on the Bauer home at Eureka, N. D., where both girls were born.

Cincinnati Pitcher Ken Rafensberger made six starts against the Chicago Cubs in 1949, won all six and pitched six complete games.

FETCHING BEAUTIES of the golfing trail are two sisters who now call Midland, Texas, their home. They are Marlene Bauer, 16 today (center) and her sister, Alice, 22. Marlene is shown above accepting a trophy from W. B. Langford after beating her sister for the Palm Beach Women's Golf crown. (AP Wirephoto)

Within two months Alice, then 10, had swallowed the bait and begged for a set of golf clubs. The family moved to Aberdeen, N. D., where Papa was pro at the Hyde Park Golf Course.

By the time Alice was 14 she had won the North Dakota state women's crown and had been runner-up the previous year. Marlene, then 8, had qualified in the championship flight but was defeated in the first round.

They moved to California; five years at Long Beach, one in Los Angeles. They came, they played and they conquered.

The Bauer sisters won the Long Beach city women's title five consecutive years. Alice won it four times, Marlene once.

Marlene won the Los Angeles women's crown in 1947 with Alice runner-up. Alice won it in 1948 with Marlene runner-up and Marlene recaptured the crown in 1949.

Marlene broke the world record for 54 holes of women's golf at the Indo Invitational tournament near Palm Springs two years ago with a remarkable 69, 70 and 71 for an aggregate of 210.

Marlene won the Palm Springs championship in 1947. Alice won it in 1948 and Marlene re-possessed the crown in 1949.

Alice won the San Catalina tourney in 1947 and 1948. In the final year she set a new women's record for the tournament with rounds of 70 and 68.

Father Bauer scoffs when people say his daughters use an unorthodox swing. He contends it differs from the conventional swing only that timing and rhythm are stressed more than power. The looping backswing and bend of the knees look different, he says, but the result is the same — only better.

The girls follow the winter circuit and return to their new home in Midland, Texas, in the spring. Then school for Marlene and more golf. Then the circuit again.

It's a long road to travel, but they already have arrived.

Quarter Horse Making Good Comeback in Florida Racing

PALATKA, Fla. — (AP) — The American quarter horse, which few people realize had part of its origin in Florida, has come back into its own here.

The truly American quarter horse was developed in Virginia and Kentucky many years ago by crossing Spanish ponies from Florida with Arabian stallions from England.

They moved from their birthplace to the west and southwest where they became so popular that everyone thought the west had developed them. However, a few years ago the animals — which proved to be the fastest in the world for short runs up to a quarter of a mile — came back to the home of their Spanish mother.

Since they have gained in popularity until today some of the better quarter horses in the nation are products of Florida.

"Florida has many of the best," V. A. Smelker, secretary of the American Quarter Horse Association, said recently while conducting speed trials here for 70-odd Florida products for participation in races at Sunshine Park near Tampa.

"These Florida animals have lacked public recognition and a chance to compete," he said.

Smelker, whose home is Tucson, Ariz., says the value of the quarter has long been recognized in the west, of course, and now Floridians are realizing that it is opening a new racing and stock field.

Soundless Sound Washes With Cold Water, No Soap

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A noise you can't hear may soon be doing the family wash without soap or detergents.

The same "soundless sound" also will be homogenizing milk (the kind you drink) and blending cold cream (the kind women put on their faces).

That is the prediction, in audible tones, of Stanley F. Reed, director of the Reed Research Laboratories in Washington, who says that "practical, every-day use of 'soundless sound' has kept simply a matter of adapting to commercial mass production the results we are getting in the laboratory."

By "soundless sound," he means the sound frequencies too high for the human ear to hear. Sound can readily be turned into power, and in the ultrasonic or soundless range it's equal to several thousand times the force of gravity.

Up to now, the high cost of the electric power it takes to make "soundless sound" has kept its possibilities in the dream stage, but Reed researchers claim they've found a method that's seven and a half times cheaper than any other.

The trick, Reed believes, is to make the fluid used in a specific operation (such as the water in the washing machine) take the place of most of the electric power ordinarily used.

This is accomplished by what he calls a "vortex system." It shoots the fluid, jet fashion, against a reed or diaphragm and generates enormous amounts of sound energy. The energy of this noiseless sound does the work.

In the Reed laboratories right now, they're doing laundry with a washing machine that operates with ordinary cold tap water and nothing else. No soap, no wringer, no drier, and no heater.

In industry, Reed expects to produce solutions of oil and water that won't separate, blend beauty preparations, cut the cost of homogenizing milk by 75 percent, lower the cost of making paper, and do all kinds of industrial cleaning jobs.

Reed's interest in ultra high things also has prompted him to invent a cafeteria tray that will keep the sizzle in steaks and the steam in coffee for at least 20 minutes after you finish arguing with the cashier and start hunting for a table.

It works with ultra high frequencies just below those used in radar. When the compartmented tray is slid down the counter to the cashier's desk, it contacts an electronic heater which fires up the hot food sections of the tray.

Like the noise-you-can't-hear that washes clothes, this is heat-you-can't-feel unless you stick your thumb in the soup. The bottom and sides of the tray remain at room temperature, and your ice cream won't melt unless you get it in the wrong compartment.

Step Taken To Protect Texas Fruit

AUSTIN — (AP) — A further step to prevent the black fly from infestation of Texas citrus groves was taken yesterday when the State Commissioner of Agriculture ordered a permanent quarantine on shipment of Mexican citrus fruit into Texas.

The black fly is known to be on citrus trees in Mexico.

The permanent quarantine, dated Feb. 14, 1950, replaces a temporary one ordered Jan. 12.

The quarantine, ordered after a recent hearing at Harlingen allows shipment of Mexican fruit to other states through Texas only in railway refrigerator cars sealed at the Texas port of entry.

It also allows shipments intended for export from the port of Brownsville. The sealed refrigerator cars must be opened and treated against the black fly at Brownsville.

The ban applies to oranges, grapefruit, tangerines, and other citrus fruit, or manila mangoes.

Retrial Set For Trucker

AUSTIN — (AP) — The Third Court of Civil Appeals has reversed a Tom Green County Court judgment against a driver whose truck was in collision with an automobile.

The case was sent back for a new trial.

H. L. Evans, the truck driver, had been found guilty of negligence leading to an accident in which Bennie C. Jacobs and his wife were injured. The collision occurred at a highway and street intersection in San Angelo.

Associate Justice Raymond Gray, author of the Appeals Court opinion, agreed with Evans' attorney that the trial court erred in requiring Evans to answer a question as to whether he held a permit under the Railroad Commission.

Evans had dropped his permit. Jacobs' attorney said he wanted "to show that if this man violated one law in not having a permit, then he would be likely to violate another law in not stopping when he made the turn, and if he is engaged in black-market trucking, then he would have no regard for the law of the road."

Judge Gray held that "... prejudice probably resulted to appellant (Evans)" and added that the "overruling of his exceptions and admitting the evidence was the denial to appellant of a substantial right."

Peanut Banished From Coast Park

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The lowly peanut, almost as much a part of baseball as the ball and bat, has been banished from the home grounds of the San Francisco Seals. It costs too much to clean up the shells.

Paul I. Fagan, president and main stockholder of the Pacific Coast League team, announced yesterday:

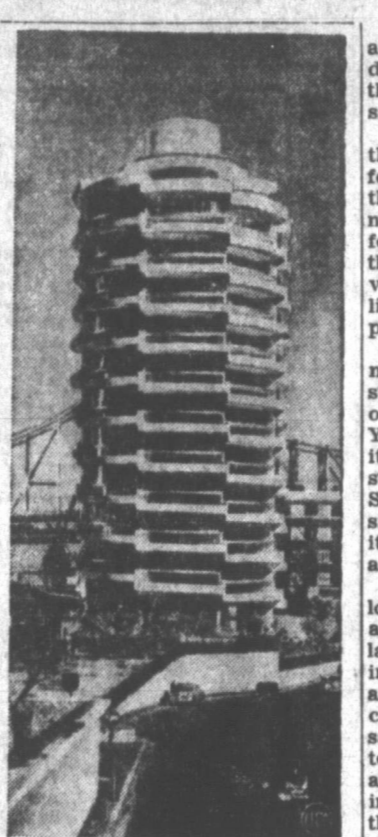

"They cost us too much money. They sell for 10 cents per bag, we get 2 1/2 cents from the concessionaires for each bag sold. I estimate it costs us five cents for giving every man, woman and child who buys a bag the privilege of throwing them on our clean floors."

He said it costs $20,000 a year in janitors' labor to clean up the shells.

Rush Is on to Protect Small Investors And Still Make Investing 'Attractive'

ROUND HOUSE — A revolutionary new spiral apartment house is pictured above as it would look if built in New York. With the aid of movable wall panels, tenants can change the size of their rooms at will. Large private terraces make every apartment, in effect, a penthouse. All utilities, pipes and elevators are located in a centralized mechanical core.

NEW YORK — (AP) — There's almost as much of a rush these days to protect the investor as there is to get him to put his savings in corporate securities.

Both spring from the discovery that while once upon a time a few big investors had the money that industry needed to tap, nowadays several million little fellows have that money amongst them. The problem: To make investment attractive to the millions but to protect the inexperienced.

Congress is debating ways and means. Officials in a number of states are keeping a sharp eye on security offerings. The New York Stock Exchange is raising its standards for admission of stocks to its trading list. The Securities and Exchange Commission is plugging for extension of its police powers over the fiscal affairs of still more companies.

This drive to make securities look safer, and therefore more alluring, is all a part of the larger competition for your savings currently gaining steam among the banks, life insurance companies, investment trusts, savings associations, brokers, not to overlook the U.S. Treasury's announcement today of a savings bonds drive to be launched this spring. Last year the treasury sold $7.1 billion worth, redeemed $5.8 billion.

The Investment Bankers Association of America, and both the New York Stock and Curb Exchanges are supporting the Frazier Bill, now before the Senate Banking and Currency Committee, to some 1,500 more companies under the wing of the Securities Exchange Act. It would apply to all companies, whether listed or not on an exchange, having $3 million or more in assets, and having 300 or more stockholders. That would let the SEC reach far out and down into the business structure.

The brokers and investment men favoring the bill say: First, ownership of stock should be as

'Mo' to Serve as Training Vessel

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The U.S.S. Missouri will be kept in service in a reduced status for training midshipmen and members of the Naval Reserve.

That decision was announced Wednesday by Secretary of Defense Johnson.

There had been some speculation that the giant battleship, which ran aground off Norfolk, Va., a few weeks ago, would be taken out of active service. Critical congressmen have pointed out that it costs around $8,000,000 a year to operate the Missouri.

Johnson said that the decision was made by the chief of Naval operations, and that the joint chiefs of staff had agreed with it.

The announcement also said that an additional carrier, currently in commission, would stay in service.

This is possible, the announcement said, "by savings of funds in other areas of Naval expenditures."

Bauer Girls Still Winners

PALM BEACH, Fla. — (AP) — Marlene Bauer, sensational girl golfer from Midland, Texas, celebrates her 16th birthday today by playing in the semifinals of the 18th annual Everglades Club Mixed Foursomes Tournament.

Miss Bauer, who won the Women's Golf Championship of Palm Beach last Saturday, teamed with Reginald Boardman, Jr., Palm Beach, to carve a 3 and 2 decision over the Miami team of Mrs. James D. Platt, Jr., and Art Severson yesterday.

The Bauer - Boardman duo, which copped medalist honors with a one under par 69, closed out the match on the 16th hole with two over par golf.

In the other bracket, Alice, Marlene's 22-year old sister, and Clark Hardwick of Bel-Air, Calif., had to go to the final green for a two-up decision over Mrs. Catherine Fox Park of Glen Ridge, N. J., and Buddy Godwin of Miami.

Pat Devany of Grosse Ile, Mich., and Lynn Creason, former Pennsylvania amateur champion from Harrisburg, played one over par golf to oust Jean Hopkins of Cleveland, Ohio, and Bob Keller, University of Miami, 3 and 2.

Most decisive match of the afternoon was the 6 and 5 victory by Mrs. Betty Bush of Hammond, Ind., and Robert Sweeney, former British Amateur champion from London, over Bett Rawls of Austin, Texas, and Tom Sullivan of Miami.

U.N. Discussed at Rotary Club Meet

A discussion on the setup of the United Nations with its various subordinate commissions and councils was given yesterday by Quentin Williams before the Pampa Rotary Club.

Williams, a member of the club, reminded the group that Rotary had worked hand-in-hand with countries the world over in getting "something done" toward starting the United Nations.

Prior to the main portion of the program Dr. L. M. Hicks and Coy Palmer reported on their respective work groups' "fireside" meetings.

Houston Turney in Second Round Today

HOUSTON — (AP) — The Houston Country Club Invitational Golf Tournament went into its second round today with both medalists cast aside.

Horace Henry of the University of Texas took over as the leading contender, after tying the competitive course record yesterday with a four-under-par 66 that eliminated Dave Mitchell, Clayton, Mo., 2 and 1.

Tommy Burke, Houston, defeated Don Cherry, Odessa-Dallas, 4 and 2.

Expensive Parking; She Uses Goldpiece

ORANGE, N. J. — (AP) — A woman driver dropped a coin into a parking meter yesterday, then yelled for police.

Two policemen obligingly opened the meter's coinbox and returned her coin.

She had told them that instead of a penny she put a $2.50 goldpiece in the meter.

Billy Mann Found Guilty

CANYON — (AP) — Billy Mann, 23, was found guilty yesterday of murder in the shooting of his brother, Donald, 32. The jury recommended a 35-year prison sentence.

Donald was shot to death last Nov. 17 at the home of the brothers' parents in south Amarillo.

Both Billy and Donald were ex-convicts. Bill had served time in the Federal Reformatory at El Reno, Okla., on a white slavery conviction. The defense in his murder trial centered around self defense and insanity.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Mann, testified yesterday their dead son had made the family miserable. The father said Donald had beaten him. Mrs. Mann said he had ordered Donald from the house.

A record-breaking total of 1,949 brother teams entered the 27th annual Peoria Star's Brothers Tournament this year.

Distinction Between Classes In England Becoming More Lax

(By The Associated Press)

Britain's experiment in Socialist government represents not only an economic leveling off process but it involves a social readjustment aiming at the ultimate elimination of class distinctions.

Socialist Prime Minister Attlee made a brief and tempered reference to "class society" in a speech preparing for the coming general election. He said Britain's Conservative Party still believes in "labor" to power in England, it was the function of the aristocracy to govern.

This prerogative was based partly on a subconscious theory of "divine right" but more practically on the circumstance that the aristocracy was the only educated class and by that same token of education the aristocracy was the only class which had the franchise. It was the widening of the franchise, of course, which was responsible for the birth and growth of the Labor, or Socialist, party.

There has been a great change in the social structure of England during the last generation. Curiously enough this change has been due largely to the Conservative Party which, by the unavoidable imposition of heavy income and death taxes, turned many of the aristocracy into wage earners.

However, the term "gentleman" still has a very distinctive meaning to a large percentage of the aristocracy of Britain. A gentleman is born and not made.

A tradesman's son, who may have acquired the same education as the aristocrat, is not and never can be a "gentleman." Obviously this is a matter of terminology but it can be a very sticky one.

The change has been broadened by the entrance of the heavily taxed aristocracy into business of one sort or another. The Eton graduate and the council school chap are a lot closer than they used to be.

Still, it is the aim of socialism to remove the last barrier between the classes, not only economical but socially. That will take some doing, and it won't be accomplished in our time.

Thurmond Hits Truman Program

COLUMBIA, S. C. — (AP) — Gov. Strom Thurmond, 1948 State's Rights Party presidential nominee, described President Truman's program as "un-American, communistic and anti-Southern."

Thurmond declined to confirm or deny reports that he would oppose Senator Olin D. Johnston in the Democratic primary this summer for nomination to the Senate. But he gave a broad hint he would. He made his comments at a news conference after a Washington radio commentator (Drew Pearson) asserted that Thurmond was "considering withdrawing from the Senate race."
