He Hits Car In Effort to Get to Home

Elmer B. Streetman, 66, of 633 N. Dwight, died at 6:15 p. m., Friday in Worley Hospital following a strange chain of events.

Mr. Streetman suffered second and third degree burns over 98 percent of his body from a fire of undetermined origin.

From police, ambulance drivers and other reliable sources, the dead man, a pumpjack on the Phillips-Haggard Lease, three miles southwest of town, had been working on the lease when he was suddenly enveloped in flames from an unknown source.

The fire, apparently a flash fire coming from gasoline and oil burned virtually all of his clothes from his body leaving his shirt cuffs dangling to his burnt wrists.

The flames extinguished — no one knows how — Mr. Streetman jumped into his pickup truck and drove, dying, into town.

What was in his mind as he sped east on Highway 60 passing cars and trucks on the right side, is conjecture. The theory is that he was shocked into delirium.

As he turned left at Hobart and Ripley he sideswiped a car driven by William Howard Heuston, 624 E. Craven, slightly damaging the car's left rear fender but not injuring Heuston.

As Mr. Streetman careened in a general northerly direction on Hobart, Heuston and Ralph Sidwell, in the latter's car, began chasing the pickup believing it to be driven by a drunken man.

They followed the pickup to the dying man's home where he jumped out, ran in his house and fell on a bed, semi-conscious.

His pursuers saw the man's critical condition and called a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance.

He was first taken to Pampa General Hospital, but had to be transferred to Worley because of crowded conditions at Pampa. At 6:15 p. m. he died.

A veteran of World War I, he served overseas from June, 1918, (See MAN, Page 2)

National Scout Leader to Teach Course in Panhandle

Bob Perrin, above, assistant to the director of Scouting Services of the Boy Scouts of America, will be in Pampa, Wednesday to bring Scouters of this area new ideas and skills in the outdoor adventures of scouting. He will instruct a two-hour session beginning at 7:30 p. m. in the City Palm Room. The course is open to Scoutmasters, troop committees and explorer advisors. Perrin will instruct similar courses this week at other points within the Adobe Walls Area Council. He will start at Borger Tuesday night, and also will appear at Shamrock Thursday and Guymon, Okla., Friday. During his early life, Perrin lived on a ranch in the mountains of Utah near Bryce Canyon. While attending high school, he worked as a wrangler at the Grand Canyon and Zion National Park, guiding dudes and visitors through the trails. After leaving the University of New Mexico, Perrin lived with the Mesquero Apache Indians and learned their ways in hunting and woodcraft. His work with the Indians later led him to work with the University of New Mexico, at the Indian ruins at Chaco Canyon and at Jemez Springs where the university has two archeological schools. Perrin spent the next few years in Arizona hunting deer, bear and mountain lions. "Many times during these years of adventure and excitement, I used the skills and knowledge I learned as a Boy Scout to make life easier and safer in the big outdoor country of the West," he said. Perrin achieved the rank of Eagle in Toquerville, Utah, and later entered professional scouting.

Connally Sees Amity With Reds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said last night the United States "at an appropriate time" may try to reach agreement with Russia on control of atomic weapons. This move probably would be made through the United Nations, he said, and not as a direct peace bid. The Texan said he understood the State Department is reviewing American foreign policy. Connally said he strongly supports the policy of confronting Russia with power which has been set forth by President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson. He insisted their decision to make no new offers to Russia on control of atomic weapons has not closed the door to agreement. Acheson said agreements as such mean nothing to the Russians; they adjust themselves only to strength, and that the United States' concern is to create strength.

Richardson Is Named to Manage Oilers in 1950

Edmondson Confirms Rumors That Popular Slugging First Baseman Will Fill Top Post

R. L. Edmondson, owner of the Pampa Oilers, late yesterday confirmed the numerous rumors concerning the manager of the Pampa Oilers for the 1950 season by announcing that Virgil Richardson, slugging first baseman, had been hired for the job.

Richardson, who will be starting his third season as a Pampa Oiler, will be given his first real opportunity as manager, though he has filled in that capacity several times when the team's regular manager was not present. Richardson has earned the job through fine team spirit, team leadership and loyalty whenever and wherever he has played.

Richardson is one of the most respected players in the league by owners, managers, umpires and fans. He is a fine sportsman and should make the Oilers a fine manager.

Edmondson, in making the announcement, stated that "I have the highest respect for Rich, as a player and as a gentleman. He has earned the chance as manager and I am sure that he can fill the job. I wish him the best of luck in his new role as player-manager."

Richardson, who spends his off-seasons working for a packing company in Fairbury, Neb., has been in professional baseball since 1939. He has been in the West Texas-New Mexico League four seasons, two with Pampa and two with Lubbock during which time he has set and still holds many league records.

Richardson was born in South Bend, Ind., on Christmas Day, 1919. He first played baseball with an American Legion team in Fairbury, which he now calls "home."

His last year in high school he played some amateur ball in the famed Ban Johnson League.

He broke into professional baseball in 1939 at Mitchell, South Dakota. At the end of the '39 season he was sold to Fort Worth of the Texas League, and was farmed out that season to Sioux City, Ia., where he played most of the season. He was sold to Oklahoma City, and joined the Indians immediately, finishing the season with them.

Topeka, Kans., acquired him in 1941 and he played there in '42, also. At the end of the '42 season the league disbanded due to the war and Rich received his free agency.

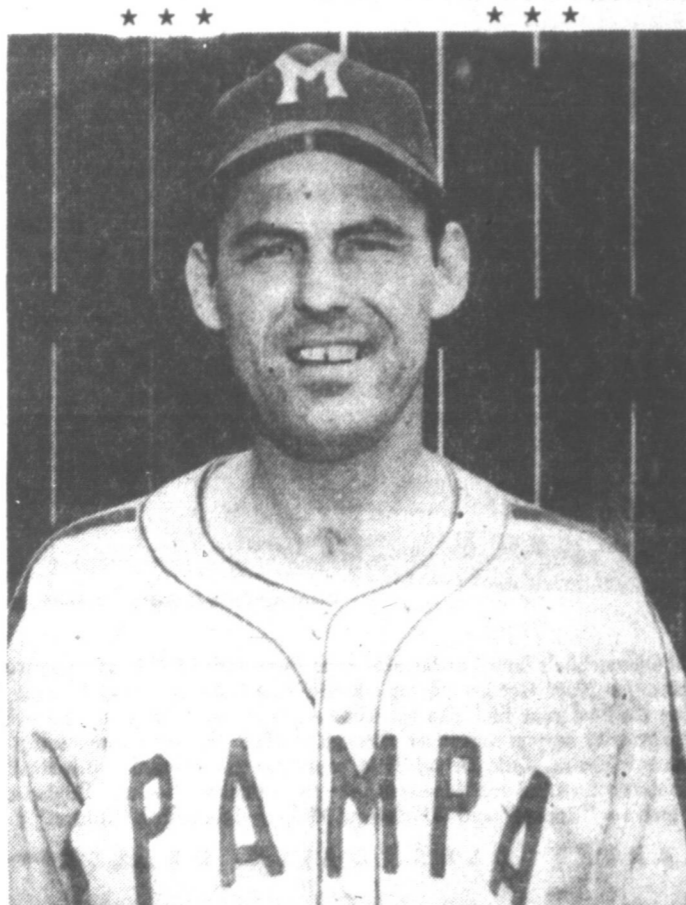

The next three years he spent in the U. S. Navy. Getting out in the early part of '46, he signed with the Oilers. And he proceeded to have one of the finest seasons turned in by any player ever to come into this league. In addition to a heavy batting mark and a big home run production, (26), Richardson played brilliantly at first base.

Records he set that year with the Oilers, who went on to win the Little Dixie Series, included the most assists in a game, for a first baseman, 4; the most putouts in a season, 1225; most total chances in a season, 1295; most total chances accepted, 1280; and the best fielding average, .988.

That winter he was drafted by Montgomery, Ala., and later sold to Dallas. Dallas optioned him to Lubbock, where he played in '47 and '48. He set some fielding records at Lubbock which still stand, too. They included the most putouts in a game, 18; the most total chances in a game, 18; and the most total chances accepted in a game, 18.

He was also a member of the sextet of Hubbers that set a league team home run record for one game when he hit 2 of the 8 hit by the Hubbers on July 25, 1947.

At the conclusion of the 1948 season he was returned to the Dallas Eagles, who sold his contract outright to the Oilers. Last season he started off in big fashion with the Oilers, but fell into a slump after being "beamed" in a game at Lamesa. He did not drop out of the line-up due to several other injuries.

VIRGIL RICHARDSON, above, one of the most popular baseball players to ever play in the West Texas-New Mexico League, has been named to manage the Pampa Oilers for the 1950 season. Richardson is shown above wearing his Pampa Oiler uniform and the cap of the Montgomery, Ala., team, the organization that drafted him from the Oilers at the end of the 1946 season. The picture was taken last year.

RICH SAYS: Bulldogs Top Poor Sandies

Upon the announcement of his accepting the management of the Pampa Oilers, Richardson had this to say: "I'm very happy about this chance and hope I can do it justice. Not only for myself, but for the confidence Mr. Edmondson has in me and for the swell baseball fans in Pampa.

"I hope that the fans approve and also that the club can give them many entertaining hours this season."

on the team and in order to keep the club from becoming more shorthanded he played continually despite the fact that he was being double mugged of the time. He finished the season as one of two Oiler regulars to hit over the .300 mark despite this trouble with his vision. He hit .305, clubbing out 19 home runs, drawing 118 bases on balls, third high in the league, and played in all but two of the Oilers' games.

His fielding again was superlative as he led the league's first basemen with a .991 mark, surpassing his previous league record set in '47. He committed but 12 errors while accepting 127 chances.

Richardson stands 6 feet tall, weighs 190 pounds, throws left and bats from either side of the plate. He can play either the infield or outfield. He is married and has two children, a boy and a girl. The boy was born during the last baseball season at a local hospital.

Rich said that he would get to Pampa about March 20, to get a line on things and step into the shoes vacated last week by Grover Setz.

Harvesters Defeat Dogs, Wolves; Borger Is Champ

The Pampa Harvesters last night closed their 1949-50 home basketball season with a rough 59-33 victory over the Dalhart Wolverines. It was the second victory of the year for the Harvesters over the Dalhart five.

High-point man for the Harvesters was Glen Tarpley, reserve center, who hit 11 points. Jimmy Howard contributed 10, James Gallemore 8, Marvin Bond 9, Tony Jones 8, Jack Sutton 5, James Claunch 6 and Elmer Wilson 2.

The Harvesters led all the way, though the first quarter of the game was close. But the Harvesters pulled away in the second quarter and never were headed.

In the preliminary game the Dalhart B squad defeated the Pampa Guerrillas, 40-34, in an overtime game. The Guerrillas lost an early lead in the final seconds of the regulation period of play, and were unable to score in the overtime period.

The Pampa Harvesters did their share to keep the District 1-AA basketball race alive Friday night, by defeating the Plainview Bulldogs here, 54-33. But the Amarillo Sandies again faltered in their duties and fell to the Borger Bulldogs, 30-25, at Borger, giving the District 1-AA crown to the Bulldogs. The championship is the first district title ever won by a Borger team.

The game here Friday night was played by numerous fouls. A total of 42 penalties were called, resulting in the shooting of 52 free throws. The Harvesters received 33, making 16 of them; Plainview got 19 and made 9.

Scoring honors for the game went to Jimmy Howard, who plunked in 21 points on 7 field goals and 7 free tosses. James Gallemore was right behind him with 17 points on 7 field goals and 3 gift throws. Gallemore's night's work put him over the 300-mark for the season and left Howard but 9 points away from that select circle. The high-scoring of these two boys also moved them in front in the district scoring race, with one more game to play.

The Borger led all the way, 5-4 at the end of the first period; 19-10 at halftime; and 22-15 as the final period started. The game was mainly defensive, both clubs wary of the scoring power of the other. The closest the Sandies got into the game in the later stages was a 27-23 deficit late in the final period.

The gymnasium was packed to overflowing with spectators standing around on the court, sometimes hindering the play as they interfered with the players.

In other fights, Ronnie James lost to Jerry Herring; Davis defeated Waymon McPherson; Eugene Parks defeated Tommy White; Friday Todd defeated Thomas Grantham; Bill Clements defeated Robert Mauldin; Earl Butler, who defeated John Young; and Ike Doom defeated Gene Bynum.

Several exhibition fights were staged, bringing the fight card for the night up to 15 bouts.

One of the closest fights of the night was the battle between Parks and White. The Clements-Mauldin fight also brought the crowd to its feet with the fast action.

Shires Receives Fine of $25 in Death of Erwin

DALLAS — (AP) — A jury Saturday found Art (The Great) Shires, former big league baseball star, guilty of simple assault and fined him $25.

Shires had been charged with aggravated assault on W. H. (Hi) Erwin, former baseball umpire. Erwin died nine weeks after a fight with Shires on Oct. 3, 1948.

Shires was charged with murder shortly after Erwin died. The grand jury reduced the charge to aggravated assault.

ANNUAL ALL-STAR GAME August 4th at Pampa.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Haas—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Who is the present national singles tennis champion?

TODAY'S ANNOUNCEMENT BY OWNER R. L. EDMONDSON of the Pampa Oilers that Virgil Richardson will be the new field manager of the Oilers next season should meet with the approval of all of the local baseball enthusiasts. Since Edmondson decided that Grover Seitz was not to return as Oiler manager, a more logical or better choice than Richardson could not have been made.

This corner, for one, is glad to see that Edmondson didn't go out of the organization to get a manager as long as Richardson was available. It has been my feeling that he would someday make somebody a good field general and now I will get a chance to see if I could pick 'em.

Richardson is well liked by all who know him. He is liked and admired by the players, he is a good friend of the fans, and the umpires will stand by him. He is a good fielder and a fine hitter. Richardson also has another quality that will make him an asset to the club. He can instruct the youngsters on the team in many phases of the game. His biggest help will probably come from his ability to instruct the hitters. He helped several of the youngsters last season, and they were quick to appreciate the value of his advice.

Richardson is also a percentage player. He will play for the one run, not the cluster. Bunting and base running will probably play an important part in his regime. Due to Seitz' frequent banishings and settings-down by the

Freddy Haas Retains 2-Stroke Lead in San Antonio Tournery

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Tall Fred Haas, Jr., the New Orleans thin man, clung to a two-stroke lead as the $10,000 Texas Open swung through its third round yesterday.

Coming in last, Haas led down a five-under-par 66 to make his total for 54 holes 199. Even a competitive course record by slamm'n' Sammy Sneed, the drawing West Virginian, wasn't enough to kick the dogged Haas off the top rung.

Coming from six strokes back, the Slammer turned in a round of 63—eight under par over Brackenridge Park's 6,400 yards that brought him a total of 202. But Sneed didn't make the runner-up spot; even with that outburst of sensational golf.

Moving into second place was smiling Jimmie Demaret of Ojai, Calif., who shot a 66 and brought his total to 201. A gallery of 6,000 followed the grim-faced Sneed as he plodded along with the music of the birdies in his ears failing even to wipe away the somber look. He hit a spectator on No. 16 and was able to get only a par there or he would have done away with the course record set in 1939 by Harold (Jug) McSpaden and tied in 1948 by Demaret and Dick Metz.

Texas League Star-Studded With Outstanding Bosses

DALLAS — (AP) — "The greatest array of managers in minor league baseball" is what Texas League President J. Alvin Gardner calls the eight men who'll boss clubs in the Class AA circuit this season.

Charley Grimm, Rogers Hornsby, Joe Vosmik, Saly Parker, Kemp Wicker, Al Vincent, Bobby Bragan, and Don Heafner are the eight.

Grimm and Hornsby are the biggest "names," but the other six have solid reputations, both as players and as managers.

Highest paid is Grimm, Dallas manager. He quit as a vice-president of the Chicago Cubs to sign a three-year contract at $30,000 per year.

The next highest paid probably is Hornsby, famed former slugger star. Beaumont, however, refused to say just what he'll make.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

The difference in a fisherman's luck is often only the difference between a well-designed hook and a poor one. The importance of using good hooks, efficiently shaped, and of keeping them needle-sharp cannot be overemphasized.

Unfortunately, most anglers judge hooks as they do women — by pretty curves. But commercial fishermen, who cannot afford to indulge in such aesthetic notions, know better. They use mainly hooks with the nearest thing to a plain round bend that the back of the point parallel to the shank.

According to Jason Lucas, whose book on bass is bible to many fishermen, this parallel point is undoubtedly the best for setlines; but for angling, where one must drive hooks the barb at just the right instant, he prefers a hook with a very slight out point. In penetrating tissue deeply, this is not so efficient as a parallel point — but it starts in faster instead of sliding from the fish's mouth without pricking him.

A hollow point will penetrate better than a spear point. In some hooks, an inward turn of the point or barb gives the illusion of a true hollow point. But it doesn't give as good results. Watch out for that.

When fishing, test your hooks frequently for sharpness by passing the ball of the thumb lightly down behind the barb — not across the top of it. If the point doesn't dig in easily, it is too dull.

For sharpening hooks at home use a small half-round file of "smooth" cut. When out fishing, carry one of the small whetstones made for the purpose.

For that first quick penetration, always sharpen from the inside and sides of the point only. Never touch the back except to remove a "wire edge."

However, some people like a very slight wired edge for the first quick start in. Keep the side of your stone or file almost parallel to the tip to make a long, thin point which will, naturally, penetrate much better than a stubbier point.

Forward Leon Evelina's 28 points against West Virginia University was the University of Arizona basketball team's single game high for 1948-49.

Thornton gave his account to the Palestine Herald: He was leading A&M's English bulldog mascot, Moses, when his arms were pinned to his sides by someone who approached him from the rear. Then, he said, another athlete began beating him in the face. He said one blow in the mouth cut his lip, and his body was bruised by kicks after he was knocked to the pavement.

Thornton said McClure and Davis were similarly bruised and

Marlene Defeats Older Sis, Alice, for Palm Beach Title

PALM BEACH — (AP) — Kid sister Marlene, 15, trounced big sister Alice, 22, of Midland, Texas, 5 and 4, in finals of the Palm Beach Women's Golf Championship Saturday.

The family finish brought out a gallery of 4,000, biggest the 40-year tournament ever had. They were treated to good golf. The eye-filling players made up for occasional rough going.

Both girls wore white shorts, Marlene wore a rose sweater, brown and white shoes and white socks. Both used berets to keep their hair under control.

Marlene sliced into the trees with her first shot. Alice took the hole with four strokes. But Alice overdrove the second green and Marlene was in with a birdie two.

On the third Marlene banged into a trap while Alice chipped on and required only a 4-foot putt to take the hole. Alice two-putted on the fourth, making them all even.

Alice developed trap trouble on the fifth. She was back in traps on the sixth, seventh and eighth holes. Marlene drove into a trap on the ninth, but the hole was halved.

The match ended on the 14th as Alice's putt rimmed the cup and Marlene sank a six footer.

Thursday afternoon the Reapers dropped a narrow 40-38 contest to the Horace Mann quintet in Amarillo.

The Texas A&M student newspaper, the Battalion, reported a battle after the game at SMU and said A&M was sending a protest.

That was before Dean Tate reported receipt of the letter Friday.

Here's where Thrift and Glamor meet

Recognize this sprightly traveler? Yes, it's the Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedan that has caught the public fancy not only on its sleek lines, but on its easily-reachable price. But notice anything new on it? That's right — gleaming trim and the name plate "SPECIAL" brightening up the fenders. Brightwork around the windshield and windows, too. And when you swing the door open you'll see still other touches of added luxury—side armrests, front and rear, a robe rail, an extra ash tray.

It's all still mighty thrifty, because this strapping straight-eight sells for less than many sixes. Frugal in other ways too — gas mileage, for instance, is surprising so many people they are writing us in delight about it. But here we've added extra glamor. Stepped up, at small step-up in price, the luxury look and surroundings of cars that would normally be much higher.

Features like these mean BUICK'S THE BUY

- HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines, five hp ratings. (New F-263 engine in Super models.)
- NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with bumper-guard grilles, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights.
- WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back.
- TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius.
- EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles.
- SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing. Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steady torque-tube.

Stowaway Has Free Run of United States

DALLAS — (AP) — Heinz Fey, brown-eyed, 21-year old German, said he had had a free run in the United States since he came here as a stowaway aboard an American troop ship three years ago.

Until Dallas police arrested him Jan. 19 in a bus station, he said his stay had never been challenged, although he:

Registered for the draft; obtained a New York drivers licence and a federal social security card, and worked as a cook in cafes from coast to coast (including a restaurant in the Shamrock Hotel at Houston).

He said he fouled out by giving his true place of birth—Frankfurt, Germany—when he signed up for the draft.

Dallas police noticed the German birthplace on his draft card and called immigration officials. Fey is at present in Dallas County Jail awaiting deportation.

Students Hold 38-Hour College Prayer Meeting

WHEATON, Ill. — (AP) — A marathon prayer meeting at little Wheaton College ended Friday after 38 consecutive hours.

The revival, begun unexpectedly Wednesday night during one of the regular semi-annual week-long evangelistic services, had swept the campus. Some 1,500 students and 110 faculty members at the non-sectarian fundamentalist Protestant school joined in the prayer service.

More than 900 were present in the Pierce Memorial Chapel when Dr. V. Raymond Edman, president of the college, called the public testimonial to a close. Classes resumed at 11 a. m. Friday.

Dr. Edman halted the revival to avoid "sensationalism." He told the students that "outsiders might think the revival had become too showy." He permitted some 50 to continue their testimonials in a smaller room nearby. They ended before noon.

A college spokesman said the students were happy with the last month. Old age assistance received 5,108 applications; aid to dependent children, 2,163; and aid to needy blind, 162.

Applications For Aid Show Big Increase

AUSTIN — (AP) — The largest number of applications received in a single month since December, 1941, poured into the State Department of Public Welfare during January.

Although deaths removed 1,473 from the old age rolls and 434 were found ineligible, 2,722 persons were added to the list, making an increase of 815 persons.

A net increase of 342 families added to the dependent children rolls caused each family to get an average of $44.75, which was

Congress Asked to Adopt Wheat Plan

The growers would receive a certificate entitling them to the difference between the market price and the full parity price, but not to exceed 80 cents a bushel on that part of their crop used for domestic flour or other human food.

The remainder of the crop would move into export and feed and industrial markets at competitive prices.

The Magnetism Of A Real Man

THERE'S a little bookshop in Chicago that specializes in books and documents touching the life of Abraham Lincoln. Probably no finer or more complete collection exists anywhere outside our greatest libraries.

Gathered in this shop are not only all the leading biographies of Lincoln, but rare copies or originals of his papers, or that purport to contain all the works which were in Lincoln's own library, and other evidences of the life he led.

The place is a mecca for a strange band of men — the Lincoln followers. Fired by intense enthusiasm and devotion, they frequent the shop with amazing regularity. Doctors, businessmen, lawyers, professors, some of the best known historians of Lincoln, streetcar conductors, working-men, all are drawn there by the power of Lincoln's magic.

MANY of these men are ardent collectors of Lincolniana. A good number meet in the shop informally from time to time, making it a sort of market place for an exchange of stories and ideas about the great Civil War president. These same admirers assemble more formally in other surroundings to pursue the infinite detail of his life and work.

The ordinary folk who visit the store underline even more strikingly the dedication of countless modern-day Americans to Lincoln's memory. There's the case of the streetcar conductor who gave the shop $1 a week for long months, being home before the other fragments of the Lincoln story whenever his payments had accumulated sufficiently to meet the cost. A lot of instances of similar patient, plodding devotion have been recorded.

NONE of these people, either distinguished or ordinary, ever saw Lincoln alive. They know nothing of him but what they have read in books. What inspires this deep feeling for a man who has now been dead 85 years?

Millions of words have been set down in the effort to catch the secret of his magnetism. No one unversed in the fascinating richness of his life could dare attempt a definitive answer to this puzzle.

But two elements do stand out as likely keys to his enduring appeal among the mass of men. In him there was a wonderful balance of statesman and politician. His high-minded idealism blended with hard-headed political realism in remarkable combination.

But, rare as it is, that blend could not alone account for his continuing hold on the hearts of men. The other key is perhaps the big one. Lincoln was a man of compassion. He had an intense love of his fellow man. And he conveyed that feeling through his personal humbleness that marked even his greatest hours.

Somewhat, even in death he communicates that love for others, Lincoln was everybody's president. Ordinary men do not forget the example of such a life, nor the humility that moved side by side with his greatness. Nothing is more natural than that they should respond to that example — even though the man who set it lives only in memory.

He is rated as a scholar and philosopher, though his education is indefinite. He speaks French, English, Russian, Chinese and a number of the languages and dialects of Indo-China and Malaya. He was a Moscow-trained professional revolutionist who has operated all through Southeast Asia, from Siam to China. He has been jailed by the British and Chinese.

His courage is considerable. The French thought they had him surrounded in a four-block area in Hanoi a year or so ago. They threw a cordon around the area and thought he could not escape. He shaved off his chin whiskers, dressed as a coolie and pulled a ricksha bearing two fat women right through the French troops.

From the best intelligence reports available, Ho Chi Minh is not his real name. He was born as Nguyen Tai Thanh in a village near Vinh, French Indo-China, in 1892 or 1894. He was the son of a school teacher and a rebel against the French. His sister and brother were both jailed by the French colonial authorities.

SENT TO CHINA BY MOSCOW
In 1923 he was sent as a co-operated with colonial government in Moscow. Two years later, under the name of Song Mon Cho he was sent by Moscow to Canton, China, as interpreter for the Russian agents Gallen and Borodin. At this time the Kuomintang was in close alliance with Moscow.

He lived at the Soviet Embassy, sometimes using the name Ly Ly. He recruited Indo-Chinese for a nationalist society known as Thanh Nien, and saw that they were trained in military and revolutionary tactics at the Whampoa school. He sent a lieutenant, Le Hong Pheng, to Moscow for higher training as his successor.

Then in 1927 the Kuomintang broke with the Russians and Ho made his way back to Moscow. Next year he was sent to Siam, where he had considerable success in organizing the Annamese colony of some 30,000 for revolutionary activity. He went to Hong Kong and in 1930 organized the first openly avowed Indo-Chinese Communist Party. He got small subsidies from Moscow, believed to have been about 5000 francs a month. But it was enough to organize revolution. The French were able to put down the uprising with considerable bloodshed. But Ho's activities came to the attention of the British. In June, 1931, they put him in Hong Kong prison for a two-year stay.

DEDICATED TO UNREST
From his release in 1933 until 1940, he kept up his revolutionary organization, working from Hong Kong, Canton and Macao. For the first three years he directed a fight against French imperialism. Then, there was a popular front government in France, he changed tactics and co-operated with colonial government for reform.

In May, 1941, Ho changed his Communist party organization into the Viet Minh — the League for Independence of Viet Nam. At first the Chinese supported the fight against the Japanese. Ho, believing he was ready to grow suspicious and jailed him for 18 months. The Chinese proclaimed a new Republic of Viet Nam under Truong Boi Cong. But when Ho was released from prison he became a member of the cabinet.

Ho broke with this movement in 1944, however, and with 700 guerrilla followers returned to Northern Indo-China. He made several trips back to China and on one of them persuaded American Office of Strategic Service agents to drop arms to his forces. Instead of using these arms to fight the Japanese, Ho used them to fight the French. And when the Japanese finally left the country at the end of the war, Ho was able to get their arms, too. Some 10,000 Jap deserters also joined his forces, giving him a hard corps of fighters. He seized control of the radio, and so gained control of the country before the French forces could come back. So the French recognized him.

CHAPTER NINE

THE WAR OF THE SOUTH

The country has recently witnessed a struggle in the United States Senate around the proposal of the President to put federal force behind the guarantee of what is called civil rights.

Few of those who read of the filibuster conducted by the southern Democratic senators understood the real purpose behind this bill. Ostensibly it was to give to our Negro citizens equality of rights of various kinds with their white brethren. The real objective was little discussed and even less perceived by the casual newspaper reader.

Of course the problem of the Negro and the questions of the South and, for that matter in the North is a perpetual irritant. It is not easy to square the discriminations against the Negro with a number of the most naturally repeated phrases in accepted national philosophy. There are some aspects of the question that ought to be kept in mind. First of all, the kind of constant stories about lynchings and hatreds and suppressions and oppressions have been outrageously exaggerated. It is a fact that almost all of the public mind is the one against the Negroes in the South has originated in the propaganda agencies of the Communist trouble-makers.

Why is the Communist so deeply stirred about the Negro? Is he trying to correct injustices suffered by the Negro in order to improve his lot here and make him love America more? We know that the Communist has one supreme interest and that is to excite and stimulate the hatreds of every class in the country.

Sooner or later this country must face the problem of the Negro. It is simple enough in New York. It is not so simple in Mississippi, where the Negroes almost equal the white in number, or in Georgia where Negroes outnumber whites in probably half the counties of the state. White supremacy is a phase entrusted with unpleasant connotations in the North. But hundreds of southern counties where Negroes outnumber whites the people are sure that if the Negroes voted there would be no white supremacy but Negro supremacy.

Light of our professed beliefs about the rights of man, however, it is not an easy matter for many of our people to face up to this problem. It is a fact that the Negro has made great progress. And it seems to me I see a glimmer of hope in the possibilities which lie in education for the Negro.

In all the welter of words in type about this problem I have seen very little about the number of the high school, college, and professional schools in the South. One day an educated Negro population, rather than the poor cornfield worker and the illiterate serving man, will confront the people of the country. Time, education on both sides of the color line, patience, understanding may lead us to a happier relationship. But one thing is certain. This is not the job of the trouble-maker, the revolutionist, the Communist bent on mischief, on division and disturbance.

The problem was thrown into the air by the Negroes. I have, I believe, made it clear that the President is completely the prisoner of the Socialist Planners among his supporters, who elected him and who could break him pathetically tomorrow if it suited their purpose. It was in obedience to their imperious demand that this question of the Indo-Chinese solution of the Negro problem in the South was hurled into the Senate. Now what was their purpose? Was it to love the Negro? Was it a wish to advance the Negro? No. It was to get the purpose was entirely a part of the effort of these Socialist Planners to solve the great crucial political problem which confronts them.

The Socialist Planners have succeeded in capturing the votes of the Negroes in the North. For years after the Civil War the Republican Party got votes of northern Negroes. But with the advent of the New Deal and the distress among the northern and southern Negroes and the great stream of relief money at the disposal of the Democratic politicians, the Negro was brought en masse into the Democratic fold. This, however, hardly describes the situation perfectly. The depression and the rise of the Communist and the New Deal Socialist wing in New York, with Harry Hopkins sitting at the cashier's window, made it possible for the Socialist wing of the Democratic-Red alliance to capture the Negro votes. Today the Socialist movements have that term in their bag. And they believe they can do the same thing with the Negroes of the South if they can get the vote for them.

Their program is simple. There is a two-fold: (1) To get the vote for the Negroes there, and (2) to round up the Negro voters under the Red banner of the Socialist Party. The Communist believe the second objective will be simple if they can attain the first. How they will use these Negro votes in the South if they can get them to the polls is yet to be determined. But the possibilities in this for our revolutionary philosophers is tantalizing. The part which Negroes might well play in Southern elections if they have the vote is readily seen from the following figures: Whites Negroes

State Whites Negroes
Mississippi 1,106,327 1,074,578
S. Carolina 1,084,308 1,141,654
Alabama 1,849,097 983,290
Louisiana 1,511,739 849,303
Georgia 2,038,278 1,084,927
Virginia 2,567,635 981,298
North Carolina 2,015,583 961,449
Florida 1,381,986 514,198
Arkansas 1,496,084 482,578
Tennessee 2,406,906 508,736
Texas 5,487,545 924,391
Kentucky 2,425,114,033
Oklahoma 2,104,228 168,849

Even in those states where the percentages are smallest the radicals believe that the Negro vote could be decisive, along with the poorer white sharecroppers and reformers from labor voters in the growing industrial centers. The Socialist Planners believe that the Negro, as the highly dramatic underdog, nursing his ancient grievances against the white population, filled with sense of wrong, would be easy pickings for the Red agitator. The political radical leaders would decide to marshal these votes within the Democratic Party or in a third party is one of the problems with which they are struggling. But first of all they must get for these vast hordes of Negroes the right to vote. They may do this. But if the Negro permits himself to be used by the Socialist Planners to attempt the destruction of our institutions, he will probably be the greatest sufferer in the process. All Americans will understand the stark truth if they will not look with complacency on any effort by the Negroes to destroy our institutions in the present.

One would be fatuous indeed were one to dismiss these ambitious plans as impossible. How many thoughtful observers would have believed that the drive to admit the southern Negro to the suffrage would be spearheaded by the Democratic Party and led by a President from a border state? How many would have believed that the Democratic Party in the North would be today so completely in the toils of a Socialist faction? The task these men have set themselves is indeed a difficult one. But it is by no means impossible. For among those who are masters of this revolutionary technique, which is literally a closed book to their southern Democratic opponents.

Before the Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

THAT FATAL "HUNCH"
Americans poured out their blood and treasure in the late war, completely to protect and promote "freedom" in the world from those who would destroy it. But a brief glance around the globe today, scarcely five years later, reveals that there is far less freedom in the world today than there was when we went to war. Nearly all of Eastern Europe has been trampled under the Soviet heel, and we Americans are spending billions of dollars to keep Western Europe from falling into the hands of the Russian camp, and the economically and politically weak nations of South Asia and the Pacific are also looking their precarious freedom and independence. As for ourselves, the solitary banker and bulwark of what remains of "the free world," the President frankly proposes that we should spend a billion dollars a year just to pay the interest on our accumulated debt, we have increased it by another five billion dollars this past year, and the President frankly proposes our deficit-spending for the year — or years ahead!

Just this brief survey of our current world is enough to refute the truth about the world which the United States is good. It's anything but good. In fact, it is positively alarming.

How could the world be in such a mess just five short years after we "won the war"? It's easy to blame a powerful and threatening Soviet Russia. But how did Soviet Russia get so powerful that she could threaten the entire world? She was in no such position before the war, while today, her power stretches from Berlin to the Pacific. The horrible and tragic answer is that we, the United States, blindly gave that power to Soviet Russia!

Why? In its simplest terms, it all boils down to the political immaturity and ignorance of our own war-time leaders. As Hanson Baldwin points out in the current Atlantic Monthly, if our leaders had been as wise as the average citizen, they would have been able to see that the Soviet Union was a temporary marriage of expediency. In other words, we would have helped Stalin against Hitler's attack, but we would have understood the stark truth if they will not look with complacency on any effort by the Negroes to destroy our institutions in the present.

U.S. Can Hold Rice Markets

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Agriculture said the United States probably can hold its Western Hemisphere rice markets in spite of keen competition.

The warning, however, that world production is climbing and growers in this country must continue to produce high quality rice.

The warning was in a report prepared for the department's research and marketing section by Dr. J. Norman Efferent, agricultural economist on leave from Louisiana State University.

Fair Enough - Pegler

Accumulated proof of her intentional withholding of material information from writings sold to the public as truthful historical background renders Eleanor Roosevelt inappropriate to represent the United States of America in any parliament of the world. She gave the clients short-weight in denying them the truth about the scene at Warm Springs when her husband collapsed in the presence of a woman who had been many years the third person in a triangle.

Hypocrites have invented a device to justify falsification of the historical record, but the truth is that the widow tried to cover up a mess which, by moral standards, was disgraceful and a damning blow to Roosevelt's actual character. Nobody has dared deny a word of the facts which have been revealed, notwithstanding the secrecy of the cabal. And any person who takes it on himself to suppress the truth on whatever pretext in a party to the fraud. It takes colossal courage to do this, and she is a coward.

A challenge to Eleanor Roosevelt on a direct issue of truth and honesty was implied in my disclosure that the other woman was at Warm Springs, and that her presence was officially confirmed by the Secret Service. I repeated the disclosure explicitly, daring her now to deny my statements, to explain why she didn't write this information and to square with honest principles the jubilant ballyhoo printed in the Atlantic Monthly, a magazine of which she is a member.

Another item in the day's news points up this never attitude by some business leaders. The American Brass Association, formed in 1880, has long been castigated by some of the granddaddy of the trusts of the last century. But the Bristol Brass Corp., formed in the same year and an early and wholehearted member of that now-defunct association, is celebrating its 100th birthday with the boast that, unlike most companies, it has kept its complete records intact over the century.

"Much of New England's industrial history has been lost," says a spokesman for Bristol, "because modern examination has revealed that the transactions which would not be tolerated today; Executives, fearful that such history might come to light, have ordered old books destroyed."

But what would be considered dubious methods at the present time were good business ethics in the latter half of the 19th Century. It is quite possible that a century hence some of our present day business procedures may be looked upon with disapproval.

February is short enough as it is, but after subtracting four Sundays and two holidays we'll have to squeeze a whole month's living into the 22 days. Of course, if you know how to save time, that will be easy. For instance: If you wear rubber gloves while washing your hands you don't waste time drying them. Avoid king-size cigarettes — it takes so much longer for the smoke to get to you. And, instead of boiling an egg 3 minutes, boil three eggs one minute.

Now, if you're still behind on time-saving, just set your clock back 24 hours each day. See how simple it is? And remember this — the more people there are in your family to follow these suggestions, the more time you'll save.

Old Age Takes Leader Of New York Parades

NEW YORK — (AP) — The old boy that has marched at the head of New York City's parades ever since the 1890s is dead.

"Steady" was the smartest horse that ever pranced up Broadway, said Police Inspector James P. Meehan after the horse died of old age Friday.

Its organizational meeting was held Friday and leaders were appointed. Mrs. K. R. Dodd was named leader, and Mrs. George Neef and Mrs. Russell Cartwright, assistant leaders.

Whitney Dam Cited as Example Of How Project Costs Vary

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Maj. Gen. Lewis Pick, chief of Army Engineers, cited the Brazos River Whitney Dam to the Senate Appropriations Committee to show how money required for a project varies greatly during the course of construction.

He was testifying in support of a bill providing almost 800 million dollars for flood control and navigation works over the country.

When asked whether reductions could not be made straight across the board, on all the projects, he went into his explanation. He mentioned Whitney Dam to prove his point that it would be uneconomical to trim appropriations.

Located about 30 miles upstream from Waco, the Whitney Dam when completed will cost an estimated 40 million dollars. The Budget Bureau has asked that 15 million dollars be provided for use in the year beginning July 1.

Work has been going on for about four years; the first year Congress provided only $500,000, the next year about a million. Only about 4 million dollars will be needed after this year's appropriation, and work should be finished during the 1953 fiscal year.

"The first year we can't spend very much money," said General Pick. "We are just getting underway. Detailed plans and specifications are being drawn."

"The next year we need more. Land has to be bought and cleared. Highways, railroads, telephone and power lines have to be relocated."

"Then we are getting to the stage where we need big sums. The contractor is on the job. Earth is being moved. The main river has to be diverted. The dam is going up."

"At Whitney they are getting along splendidly, and are reaching the most crucial stage. That's when you make the closure. You have to work fast to complete it, and time the work when you expect the least flow down the river. A big flood at that time could wipe out months of work at great financial loss."

When the Whitney closure is made water will start backing up to create one of the largest lakes in the Southwest.

If Congress reduced funds drastically and cut down on construction schedules, he added, that might mean loss of money through deterioration of work and equipment and leave the government open for a damage suit from the contractor.

Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, who has been the leading congressional supporter of the Whitney project, says that declining construction costs have reduced the estimated Whitney outlay.

Little Interest Shown in Races

McLEAN — (Special) — Two elections — one for the city and one for the school — will be held early in April, but so far little interest in either has been manifested.

The city election will be held Tuesday, April 4, when three aldermen will be chosen. The terms of Ed Lander, O. G. Stokely, and Guy Hibler expire this year. No names for any of the three positions have yet been filed.

Other members of the city group are Mayor Harris King, and Aldermen Guy Beasley and W. L. Copeland, all three of whom were elected for two-year terms in 1949.

The election for the McLean Independent School District will be held Saturday, April 1. Two members to the board are to be elected. The two men whose terms expire are Clifford Allison and Perry (Peb) Everett.

THAT AUTOMATICALLY yours—with which I signed Palaver last week brought on words at our house. My well-meaning spouse said it indicated that women are becoming too automatically minded... dryers (for which I was hitting) washers, dish washers, ironers, etc., have made the modern woman think that "pushing a button" is hard work... we're getting soft, he sez. (7) Peg's peeved about that remark still, and I'm hoping that they start making automatic husbands along with all the other appliances... then when husbands have said ENOUGH we can just push in their noses and shut 'em off!

REVIEWING THE REVUE: We enjoyed the Kiwanis show this year... even after gulping down three and a half boxes of crackerjacks (no prize either). Anyway that crackerjack sale was fun... we literally "ate it up".... Harvey Waters, Malcolm Denison and A. J. Mitchell were good vendors... Noticed Mrs. Iris Ragsdale won a box of cigars... Irvin Cole got the lamp. I wanted and Bill Clements went home with a nice little radio... We had a wonderful evening along with the young R. L. Edmondsons, Irene and Del Beagle, the Joe Keys (Louise, I adored your hat) and the Folk Valliants. The underprivileged children will benefit from the show's proceeds.

THERE'S NUTHIN' more aggravating to the young fellers in our block than to have a mother call in their basketball center to practice his music lessons.

I SHO'DO like the Toggery Shop's bowling blouses... Mrs. Mary Crocker is cute as a button in her red shirt, and her tan slacks are the kind that "fit and flatter"... Mrs. L. M. McWright does okay by the black and white outfit she wears representing Behrman's... I'll never get over the fact that there's another person as pretty as she is... she has a twin sister.

BIG DOINGS for Scouts this week... I don't know who showed up at the various father and son banquets (I'm not a father) but I can say this for the Scouts... I don't believe they'll find a more loyal worker anywhere than Freddie Gallman. At the weekly civic luncheon Paul Beisenherz ran movies on last summer's Scout trip... Hope you've had a good week, young fellows, and congrats again on your 40th anniversary as an organization.

PEG "FLU" to main street one afternoon to see some news-worthy shoppers, but didn't see anyone... the store clerks say that (excepting dollar day) there's been very little business across the counter... Guess the doctors were the only busy ones... that flu epidemic has hit us hard... here's a get-well wish to you all... I really believe everybody's just getting sick so he can get a peek inside the new hospital... This afternoon we're going through Highland General... as eighteers... and I can hardly wait. I can't think of a nicer way to celebrate Lincoln's birthday.

By the by, Peg's packing up some good books to contribute to the library at the hospital. They need books for all ages and if you have any, it won't be much trouble to drop them off at the city library.

THE NEAREST THING to a white winter for us is the winter white in the fashion limelight... Peg's partial to Vena Riley's white coat for wearing after dark... Mrs. Bill Loving wears a smart white hat... so does Mrs. Frank Morris... and who was the attractive woman I saw in a white hat with a wide gold-studded band that sparkled like lights on a Christmas tree... Very fetching.

NOTE TO WARREN'S WARMUP: Dear Warmup: Don't be sorry for getting excited over these Harvesters of ours! What would we do without your enthusiasm, but take heed, the C. E. Kennedys, the E. L. Gallenores and the H. A. Yoders are running you a close race for Harvesters devotee of the year. Peg's pulling for the green and gold, too! At the Plainview game Friday night I spied Madge Rusk and Mary Winston and I believe that was Mrs. Homer Taylor across the way... Also saw O. W. Hampton and little son (who made me so hungry munching on that pistachio cream cone).

PANORAMICALLY: The Luther Piersons are proud of their eldest, Martha, who is such a talented pianist... she was here from Kansas last week... Peg presumed the Vincent Kersays were "double dating" with the Bill Wards last Sunday night... They made a handsome foursome... Mrs. C. L. Conrod is a charming mother... as as pretty as any of her three lovely daughters... Saw Janis Branson the other day... she's the G. F. Branson's daughter and so very poised... It's a boy for the junior Charlie Duenkels... the little one makes Jean and Charlie Duenkel grandparents for the first time... The Tom Bralys also have a new boy... "But any teenager in town would give his eye teeth for that 'hot rod' of Tom Rose's... I didn't understand the difference in a "hot rod" and an automobile, but then I saw Tom driving around... now I know... Mrs. Tom Scott is one of Peg's pets... she is always beautifully groomed... I especially like her jewelry... Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shelton are a lovely Grandma and Grandpa this week... Their daughter and her two-month-old son returned to New Mexico after visiting here... Peg's placing Frank Walker's name in a political race (I don't know what kind). I can just see him going around campaigning (He's always talking to someone when I see him). Invitations are out for the various Valentine Balls... Hear that was a nice dance Friday night... Young Mrs. Ewert Duncan is a friendly person... Jeff Bearden was really rushing to get into the post office the other afternoon... Don't know whether the Raymond Harrah's are moving or just redecorating... I saw much activity there Friday night... The John Bonds were visiting here the other day... They live in Shamrock now.

PEG PRIZES her secret identity and I'm really going to have people wondering whether I'm coming or going when I get one of these new blouses with back interest... To the rear, harch! Forward, harch! You see, they look the same in back as in front. With that I better stop "sounding off" in your Valentine.
PEG O' PAMPA.

Mrs. D. C. Ash Speaks at Meeting Of Beta Sigma Phi

Mrs. D. C. Ash was guest speaker at a meeting of Texas Upsilon Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the City Club Room Monday night.

Mrs. Ash demonstrated the proper way to set a table for formal entertaining, informal luncheons and breakfasts. She said that for formal dinners, damask cloth should be used, and that the centerpiece should be low enough to see over. She also said that no more than six pieces of silver should be on the table at any one time. Mrs. Ash pointed out that a hostess should never try to entertain formally without help.

Mrs. Ash said that a breakfast table should be gay and colorful, and added that low glasses should be used, and that pottery is a good choice for setting a breakfast table.

Other points brought out by the speaker were that when entertaining informally the hostess can use all of her silver, and that the only occasion on which a bread and butter plate and butter spreader are not used is at a formal dinner.

Mrs. Ash demonstrated the way to tell good crystal by the bell-like tone when the edge of the crystal is pinched. She said that good crystal has a lead base which creates the tone, while crystal with a lime base does not create a bell-like ring. Mrs. Ash stated that plain crystal or china should be used with very ornate silver.

"Sterling should be used every day, as it gives the silver a mellow look that enhances its beauty," Mrs. Ash told the group. She suggested that if the family is small the silver should be rotated to be sure that it is all used. Mrs. H. J. Johnson presented Mrs. Ash with a floral arrangement. Mrs. Bob Quick introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Juanita Cox presented the traveling prize, which was won by Mrs. William Ballard. The club members voted to cooperate with the Council of Clubs and help canvass the city for Red Cross donations. Mrs. Martin Steubbe was appointed to be in charge of the drive. Mrs. Roy McKee was appointed to represent the president, Mrs. Stanley Tilden, at future Council of Clubs meetings.

Mrs. Roy McKee announced that, at the next meeting, Mrs. Jack McCree would show slides and tell of her trip to England. Final plans were made for the Valentine dance to be held Friday, February 10, in the American Legion Hall. Music to be furnished by Bernie Howell. At this dance the chapter's Valentine girl, Mrs. Frank Fata, and her attendant, Mrs. J. W. Graham, will be presented. Refreshments were served by the hostesses carrying out the Valentineesses, Mrs. James Evans, Mrs. Jack Andrews, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, and Mrs. Herman Olson to the guests and members.

Guest night was observed at the meeting. Guests present were: Mrs. D. C. Ash, Mrs. E. L. Anderson, Mrs. E. L. Gallenore, Mrs. E. L. Kennedys, Mrs. E. L. Ragsdale, Mrs. E. L. Waters, Mrs. E. L. Yoders, Mrs. E. L. Zanders, Mrs. E. L. Branson, Mrs. E. L. Duenkels, Mrs. E. L. Fata, Mrs. E. L. Graham, Mrs. E. L. Harrah, Mrs. E. L. Jones, Mrs. E. L. McKee, Mrs. E. L. Patterson, Mrs. E. L. First Baptist Missionary Circles At Luncheon, Meeting

A program on the topic, "How Christian is America?" was presented by the Mae Deter Circle of the First Baptist Church at a meeting of Missionary Circles held Wednesday.

The group gathered in the church dining room at 3 o'clock for luncheon, which was followed by a royal service program. Mrs. T. B. Solomon gave the invocation. Mrs. D. A. Caldwell opened the meeting with prayer. Mrs. Jack Morris was program leader, and Mrs. E. Douglas Carver gave the devotional. Assisting on the program were Mrs. F. E. Leech and Mrs. Harold Cockburn.

Reports were given by chairmen during the business meeting, which was conducted by Mrs. R. L. Edmondson, and in closing a prayer was offered by Mrs. E. L. Anderson.

One visitor, Mrs. C. F. Hoggett, and 64 members were present.

WHAT'S COOKIN' IN GRAY COUNTY HD CLUB

MUMPS! Mumps! Mumps! We've had 'em at our house! How to keep a convalescent child contented during the time (he) must stay in bed may be a question for other mothers during this siege of mumps, chicken pox, flu, etc., etc. How about a special box of toys suited to diet, easy play and brought out only when the stay-in-bed rule is in order.

These choices worked at our house: jigsaw puzzles, (with large outlines) coarse weaving materials, sewing cards, with large holes, viewmaster with new reels, crossword puzzles, scrapbook and pictures to look at, including maps, books, and musical recordings.

Many children like to cut out pictures from old magazines or make paper dolls. Miniature furniture with lightweight doll house or even shoe boxes may provide inspiration for interior decoration ventures. The hills and valleys of "countertop land" offer a background for arranging small boxes for houses and buildings, miniature farm animals, dolls, and small automobiles or other lightweight vehicles.

A tray, portable blackboard or stiff piece of cardboard may be used as a table or level surface for play-in-bed toys. Playthings chosen should be easy to handle and not require too much concentration preventing tiring the child. If a child is so sick that he must remain very quiet, a balloon tied to the bed where an air current moves it slightly often holds his interest for long periods of time.

To save extra work in keeping the bedroom tidy, a bedside waste basket is suggested where the child can easily put paper scraps — another small container for crayons and pencils.

DISTRICT MEETING: The agent will attend a district meeting in Amarillo on the 13th and 14th (unless she, too, comes down with mumps).

DEMONSTRATION VISITS have been made with Mr. and Mrs. Vardeman Smith of the Merten lease and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Crawford of the Worthwhile Club. These food production demonstrators put bearings on the garden plot several months ago, and plowed it under. They have been irrigating regularly since there has been no rain or snow to aid the de-caying process which produces a humus soil so necessary to good gardening.

Maybe these demonstrators are setting the pace for other gardeners to follow. CONGRATULATIONS to Worthwhile Club members. This group was almost 100 percent in paying their poll tax. Hope the other clubs have done likewise.

LITERATURE ON CHILD FROM SIX TO TWELVE: Until recently there has been very little written about the child of early school age. The three sources which follow are excellent: "Your Child From 6 to 12," Children's Bureau Publication Number 324. This 141 page bulletin costs twenty cents when ordered in quantity from the Superintendent of Documents. However, you may be able to get a single copy free by writing directly to the Children's Bureau, Federal Security Agency, Washington, D.C. "Your Child From Five to Ten" was written by Dr. Arnold Gesell, the well known child specialist and director of the Clinic of Child Development at Yale University. (See H D Club, Page 12)

'Color Harmony in Home' Studied When Merten HD Club Members Meet

The Merten Home Demonstration Club met for an afternoon of study on "Color Harmony" in the home of Mrs. V. S. Day, Gulf-Merten Community. Roll call was answered by each member telling "What I do when I do as I please." Mrs. A. M. Nash gave the county council report to the club, and plans were made to assist the council in the food sale at Recreation Park during the Hereford breeders' sale Feb. 13 and 14.

Mrs. John Brandon gave a 10-minute talk on "A Color Scheme I Like." She stated that a soft green is a restful, basic color, neither too warm for sunny rooms, nor too cool for shaded rooms. With it she suggested rose as a suitable color, adding that grey and yellow also blend well with green. Mrs. Brandon was introduced by Mrs. D. A. Rife, program chairman.

Mrs. Mary Anne Duke, home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on "Harmony in Living Room Furnishings." The three design structures were studied naturalistic, conventional and abstract. Samples of each were shown in carpeting, wall paper, drapery and slip cover fabrics.

"The main thing to remember," said Mrs. Duke, "is never to mix the two extremes of design (naturalistic and abstract); avoid a natural looking rose superimposed on a cross bar design. Although sometimes a conventional design, such as a grotesque or stylized flower, may look pleasing with geometric lines, as used in abstract, or with the naturalistic flower. Thus, we get the second rule: conventional design may sometimes be used with naturalistic or abstract."

Mrs. Duke said that most people find conventional design more interesting and abstract more pleasing to the eye than naturalistic, and added that a monochromatic color scheme, with not more than one fourth of the total area in a contrast, is more pleasing to most people. She continued that an adjacent color scheme, such as green with lime and jade and a touch of contrast is also good.

End of a Chapter

By Edwin Rutt Copyright 1950 by NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Soon after taking the job of literary secretary to the popular writer, the Falgout, really Mrs. Muriel Halleck, Alice Tremayne, a woman whose husband Muriel and her husband Brent, who is described by village gossip as rather lazy and worthless. However, Alice tries not to get into their private lives. Brent infuriates her at first, then Alice tries him because he seems tragically defeated. One night during a thunder storm, Alice hears screams. Rushing from her room in wing of the house, Alice discovers Rick, the four-year-old adopted son of the Hallecks, dancing in fear and panic around Brent in the hallway. Brent makes an attempt to hide a small, ornate-looking whip, by kicking it under the next door into the room. Alice is almost stricken by the sight. The next day no mention is made of the incident and Alice is left alone as the Hallecks drive to town. About noon Alice wanders out to the terrace. A stranger is sitting there.

The sandy person grinned, and kept his seat. "You and Mr. Pim, eh? But I wish you wouldn't." He was suddenly inspired. "What about a drink?"

"She hesitated. "I might if—"

"If you knew who was inviting you? Oh, I'm only Chuck Wisner. Long-time, old friend of the family."

Alice explained herself, adding: "But I thought you were in Bermuda." She remembered Molly Tremayne's mention of him.

"Flew back yesterday. But you've heard of me? No good, I'll bet."

"No good whatever," she replied smiling. His crooked grin, half-cocky, half-rueful, encouraged small talk. "I gathered that you're a bad character. And this performance proves it."

"Now look," said Chuck insouciantly, "I came all the way over here to get Brent to help me paint my sailboat. Then I hear, from the cook, that he and Muriel are off gallivanting. So I'm letting Brent buy me a couple, to build up stamina for the return trip. By the way, who's taken my name in vain? The Hallecks?"

"Well, they've mentioned you. But first, it was a lady I met from Tolliver."

He squinted. "Uh-uh! Tolliver ladies think I'm poison, mostly."

HEAD on one side and grinning, Chuck Wisner looked about 11 years old and very non-poisonous. Alice said reprovingly: "This one certainly did."

"Let me guess who? Esther Crawford? Molly Tremayne? Rae Richards?"

"You're way off." But she wondered how he had hit it so quickly. "Of course, though, I wouldn't tell you even if you guessed."

He looked disappointed. "That isn't me, Alice. But I mentioned the leading ladies. Must have been some kiddycat of the lesser variety. Well, how about that drink?"

"What'll I drink out of? My shoe?"

He got up leisurely, went into the house and returned with another glass. Mixing the drink, he said lightly: "So the great writer got herself an amanuensis?"

"Don't you think she needs one?" Alice asked. "Anybody that successful?"

Chuck looked her up and down. "Mm. Maybe. And she sure picked a honey while she was at it."

"Why, Chuck! But I'll bet that's your routine for all—the Tolliver ladies?"

He handed her the drink. "Listen, Alice, you're a tyro here. Not if they see me first."

"Why? What are you, the village villain?"

"Nope. The village loafer. I don't work, you see. And if you don't do that on this stern and rockbound coast, you're strictly anathema."

Seven Escape From Crash

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Seven U.S. Air Force men escaped unhurt when a Texas-based C-47 transport crashed at night in a landing Friday night at Los Angeles International Airport.

The pilot, Capt. C. E. McIntyre, said he couldn't make out the runway lights through the rain and set the twin-engine plane down too soon. It ripped out 50 feet of wire fence, nosed over into the mud and burst into flames. All occupants leaped out. The plane was virtually consumed.

The transport, enroute home from Mather Field, Sacramento, Calif., was based at Carswell Air Force Base, Fort Worth. Also aboard were three other crewmen from Carswell — Capt. W. L. Evans, co-pilot; Capt. James B. Mahaffey, navigator; and Tech. Sgt. Delos Stoddard, flight engineer — and three passengers, Robert H. Lee and Staff Sgt. Joseph B. Wolfe, all of Bergstrom Air Force Base, Austin.

PARIS

The beaded dress turns up in the salons of Christian Dior, too. His interpretation is all-over embroidery in mother-of-pearl paillettes on white, with gold bead fringe, but for the most part he shies away from nostalgia.

Most prominent among the exceptions is Schiaparelli's "brave new world" keynote, which has no reminiscences at all.

Daytimers in this collection include brigand cloaks with full capes in back, falling free to reveal jacket-line fronts. Others have wired, elbow-long funnel sleeves. Suits are lithe, with high fastenings discarded for deep, waist-long collars sometimes filled in with scarves. One was filled in with double leis.

Jean Desses climbs on the Charleston straggled, too, engaging women to stop copying martyrs for fashion's sake and go in for complete freedom.

This collection offers shaded, bead-fringed chemise evening dresses. Bodices are soft and ample, deeply blousing in back, and daytime hems are 16 inches from the ground. The Desses waistline shows a marked tendency to creep upwards by use of fitted belts and sleeves integrated with bodices.

Dior's main theme, is the vertical line, with skirts shorter than last season, creeping up or down according to the model or the hour. It's a lavish theme, too, with a bewildering procession of pure silks with minute pleating, Chinese embroidery, or baby ribbon worked in stripes.

The Chinese influence vies with an ecclesiastical mood celebrating Holy Year in the Dior col-

Probation Date Set for Actress

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Actress Jean Wallace applied for probation Friday on her conviction Wednesday of drunkenness and driving while intoxicated last Christmas Eve.

Municipal Judge R. Morgan Galbreath agreed and set Feb. 28 for a probation-sentence hearing. The judge then ordered Miss Wallace, 25, divorced wife of actor Franchot Tone, to surrender her driver's license, which she did.

Arresting officers testified that after her automobile whacked a parked car they discovered she was wearing fly lace panties and a coat. Miss Wallace claimed the policemen told her they wouldn't have arrested her if she had been "nice" to them. They denied her accusations.

Solons Argue Over Proper Bedroom Size

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate, where the talk often tends to be high and flighty, has come down to a subject dear to the heart of everyone who ever went house hunting.

For Thursday it debated this stirring question: How big does a cubicle have to be before it properly can be considered a bedroom?

Senator Tydings (D-Md.), chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, was arguing for a bill which would provide military housing — at $16,500 for a three-bedroom house.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill.) was arguing that this was too high. He figured that around $9,500 would be appropriate.

(Editor's Note: The Senate eventually voted that the houses should not cost more than an average of $13,000.) "How many bedrooms do these houses have?" asked Tydings. He gave his own answer: "The Army house has three." Well, said Douglas, how large are these Army bedrooms that Tydings was so proud of? The smallest, Tydings said, is 9 feet 3 inches by 8 feet 6 inches. "That's not a bedroom," shouted Douglas, "that's an alcove!"

Two Men After Thomas' Scalp, Seat in Senate

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A rip-roaring battle for a Democratic senatorial nomination is underway in Oklahoma, long-time halliwick of aging Senator Elmer Thomas.

At 73 Thomas is tied for third in continuous Senate service with nearly 23 years. Now two young fellows are out tomahawking for Thomas' scalp.

One is 47-year-old Mike Monroney, Fifth District congressman, who won a national magazine award a couple of years ago for outstanding work as a member of the House.

The other is 34-year-old Rev. Bill Alexander, red-haired pastor of the First Christian Church in Oklahoma City — a glamor-boy spell-binder.

Oklahoma primary is July 4. If none of the three gets a majority, there will be a runoff July 25.

In Oklahoma, getting the Democratic nomination for the Senate is almost the same thing as having the general election in the bag.

Involved will be Oklahoma's reaction to President Truman's fair deal proposals as well as the state's sentiments for the age-versus-youth question.

As chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, Thomas has promised hearings on the Branham plan for farm subsidy payments. But he hasn't always been cooperative with the administration on some of its other proposals.

Monroney has followed the administration line generally in the House, although he hasn't surrendered his independent attitude on a lot of questions. His vote to keep price controls on oil almost sank him for reelection in 1946.

Alexander, who flies his own plane around and divides his lecture fees with his church, is an almost unknown quantity in the race.

There are some signs that President Truman wouldn't mind too much if Oklahomans decided to exchange Thomas for another Democrat.

Democratic Gov. Roy Turner, who is very close to the president, isn't taking any outward part in the campaign, but the politicians are guessing that Turner would be pleased if Monroney wins.

Thomas is credited with being a tough man to beat on his home grounds. He always has been for high farm prices supports and he has gotten along well with labor. As an Elk, Mason and Shriner he has a big lodge pull.

In 22 years he has had a lot to say about the appointments of some 25,000 federal employes now working in Oklahoma. Thomas' friends think he may win the first primary. Monroney and Alexander supporters think that if one of them gets in the runoff Thomas' number will be up.

Oil Completions, New Locations Drop In Panhandle as Gas Potentials Soar

House Calls Second Hearing On Depletion for Tuesday

Senator Says Depletion Safe

DALLAS — (Special) — R. E. Anderson, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, left here Saturday for Washington where he and other petroleum industry witnesses Tuesday will counterattack the Treasury Department's effort to cut back percentage depletion allowances.

"According to our information from Washington, this question, now before the House Ways and Means Committee, is still in the balance, and reports are not optimistic," Anderson said.

"Texans should not allow themselves to be put off guard again on this issue," he added.

When hearings were first announced a week ago, this industry's protest to the changes had been limited to one day, last Wednesday, but the committee Friday wired Anderson that a second day's hearing will be held Tuesday, Feb. 14.

"The proposal now before the House Ways and Means Committee is a formula for the ruination of Texas oil-based business and governmental economy," Anderson said.

"The folly of endangering the national military security by hampering the exploration for petroleum in this country was pointed out very ably by Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson before the House committee Wednesday," Anderson said. "But all Texas there is an added significance to the dangerous proposal put forward by the Treasury Department."

"Since the petroleum industry in Texas is the number one industry, number one taxpayer, number one employer, largest source of income and basis for the present and future industrial development of Texas, this cut-back in the depletion allowance would have financial and employment repercussions spreading in many business activities," said Anderson.

"The very backbone of the oil and gas industry of Texas is the continued exploration and development of our resources. Unless the hazards of wildcatting can be partially offset by the percentage depletion allowance, large scale wildcatting will be restricted. Such restriction will be to the detriment of our state's industrialization."

Tideland Legislation Near Completion

AUSTIN — (AP) — State Attorney General Price Daniel said last week he hoped legislation providing full state ownership of tidelands would be completed during the present session of Congress.

Daniel said he was "very happy" about action of a House judiciary sub-committee approving a bill giving the states clear title.

"The majority of Congress always has been for the states in this controversy," he said.

Commission May Try New Method in Fixing State Petroleum Production Allowables

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — Texas may adopt a new crude oil production allowable formula this week. Cutbacks accompanying sharp market slumps the past year have forced the issue.

Operators in old areas have seen their production almost wiped out by the cutbacks based on a percentage of the maximum rate a well can operate without waste.

New flush fields, such as in booming Seury County, have allowables that dwarf daily output from such veterans as the East Texas field, now nearly 20 years old.

East Texas wells, on the average, are turning out less than 20 barrels daily and operating on only 13 days this month. Seury wells, however, are on a 15-day schedule with a daily allowable of 140 barrels.

Members of the State Railroad Commission have indicated they will look into the East Texas crisis next Friday at the March statewide prororation hearing in San Antonio.

Indications are any change approved would be similar to the old "arbitrary" method whereby allowables are determined by well depth, acreage and market demand. East Texas probably would be permitted to operate the same number of days each month as other fields.

Production could be expected to

Sinclair to Plug, Abandon Roberts County Deep Test

Oil completions and new locations in the Panhandle slumped last week and the seventh recent wildcat was plugged in the Anadarko Basin. New gas completions, however, hit a peak for the year.

Operators completed ten oil wells for increased potentials of 438 barrels and staked only 14 new locations.

Sinclair applied for permission to plug and abandon its No. 3-C Charles Lips in Roberts County at a total depth of 11,432 feet.

Increased gas potentials for the week totaled 64,497 MCF.

Tennessee Seeks Line Expansion

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Tennessee Gas Transmission Co., Houston, wants the Power Commission to approve plans to extend the company's pipeline system stretching from Texas to Northern states.

Tennessee wants to add 50,000,000 cubic feet daily capacity to the pipeline it proposes to build for gas service to Ohio, New York and New England. The additional cost of $24,663,000 would bring the cost of the total project to $118,644,000, the company said in its application.

The commission scheduled a hearing Mar. 7.

Senator Faces Trial For Oil Violation

SHREVEPORT — (AP) — State Senator H. Alva Brumfield of Baton Rouge goes on trial at Alexandria Mar. 13 on charges of conspiring to violate the Commodity Oil Act.

Brumfield pleaded innocent at Alexandria June 21, 1949, to charges of "corruptly endeavoring to influence, obstruct and impede the due and proper administration of the law by attempting to induce witnesses to testify falsely before the Federal Petroleum Board at a hearing in Lafayette, La."

Louisiana Reports 16 January Wildcats

BATON ROUGE — (AP) — Sixteen of 213 permits to drill oil wells in Louisiana last month were issued for "wildcats," the State Department of Conservation reported yesterday.

The department also reported 169 wells were completed in January. Of these, it said, 80 found oil, 21 produced gas and 59 were non-productive.

increase in East Texas, drop in Seury.

The commission also would be in position to continue to apply a formula that would be uniform throughout the state. In operating under the current formula, the commission consistently has refused, despite local market conditions, to cut production in one area while increasing output in another.

The current maximum efficiency rate formula is based on engineering data on how much a well can produce without injury or waste. Allowable cutbacks or increases are applied statewide on a percentage basis.

Commission Chairman William J. Murray, Jr., has proposed that, if a formula change is to be made, the maximum efficiency rates should be maintained and at no time exceeded by allowable rates.

Oilmen believe Congress is in no mood to accept President Truman's recommendations on increasing oil industry taxes.

Optimism spread rapidly after industry spokesmen had their say at a House Ways and Means Committee hearing on proposals to reduce depletion tax allowances.

Washington predictions were that even should the House squeeze through an administration victory the plan would be bottled up in the Senate.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder asked the House committee to cut 27 1/2 percent oil and gas depletion allowable to 15 percent of gross income.

The allowance was granted to permit oilmen to recover capital investments in exploration and development projects.

Snyder said the law results in a "double deduction."

Discussing oil industry 1946 and 1947 taxes, he said: "For every $3,000,000 allowed as percentage depletion another $2,000,000 was deducted as development costs."

Industry spokesmen told the committee a cut in tax allowances would imperil the nation's petroleum requirements in event of an emergency and would damage the economy of the 22 oil producing states.

Ernest O. Thompson, senior of the Texas Railroad Commission, warned that increased taxes would reduce development of production from new oil reserves.

Russell Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, attacked President Truman's terming the industry's tax allowances "loopholes" in the nation's tax structure.

"This is entirely incorrect and misleading," he said. "The tax provisions are the result of congressional action, understood and approved by successive Congresses for more than 23 years."

FPC Investigates Phillips Operations

JESS LARSON, who heads the General Services Administration, first Hoover Commission-sponsored agency, will be featured speaker at the fourth annual meeting of Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association to be held in Dallas March 8 and 9.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Power Commission has scheduled a hearing Mar. 20 on the operations of the Phillips Petroleum Co., which supplies Texas natural gas for the Michigan and Wisconsin areas.

The commission said Friday the hearing will be held to determine the relevant facts about the company's natural gas operations in order to enable the commission to decide:

1. Whether Phillips is a natural gas company within the meaning of the Natural Gas Act.
2. Whether any of its rates, charges or classifications are unjust, unreasonable, unduly discriminatory or preferential in connection with any transportation or sale of natural gas subject to commission jurisdiction including sales to Michigan - Wisconsin Pipe Line Co.
3. Whether the Wisconsin recently completed building a pipeline from Hansford County, Texas, to areas in Wisconsin and Michigan.

Natural gas transported through the line is sold for resale for ultimate public consumption in Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan.

The commission said it recently received complaints from the Public Service Commission of Wisconsin and the Corporation of Detroit in connection with Phillips' sales to Michigan-Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin commission said that "the sole supplier of natural gas to Michigan-Wisconsin Pipe Line Co. has been and is Phillips Petroleum Co., and no satisfactory basis has been established for the frequent and large increases in price."

The Wisconsin commission added that a restoration of the initial contract price would permit a reduction in the resale rate from five to seven cents per thousand cubic feet.

The commission order said that in 1948 Phillips sold 149,173,922,000 cubic feet of gas to natural gas pipeline companies for interstate transportation and resale.

The commission noted that Phillips is selling large volumes of gas to several natural gas companies at various prices substantially lower than the base prices specified in its contracts with Michigan-Wisconsin.

Phillips produces and transports gas in the southwest and sells to numerous companies for interstate transportation and resale.

Shell, Tidewater Final Wells In Beckham; Wildcat Staked

Shell completed its much-watched outpost to the Elk City field last week. No. 1 Ada Smith, C NE SW of 7-10n-21w, flowed 648 barrels 49-gravity crude and 1,469 MCF gas from perforations at 10,185 to 10,208 feet for a GOR of 2,260. Hole was plugged back from 10,702 to 10,432 feet.

Tidewater added production on the eastern side of the field. The company finished its No. 1 Cleo

Walter, C SW NW of 19-10n-20w, which flowed 219 barrels of condensate per day from perforations at 8,354 to 8,869 feet. 2,000 MCF gas was gauged for a GOR of 10,046. Total depth was 9,410 feet plugged back from 10,250 feet.

Tests were run during the week on Shell State-D, C NE SE of 9, and the No. 3 Yelton, C NE SE of 15.

State-D tested from 9,550 to 9,675 feet for 45 minutes. A leaking valve prevented gauging but recovery was 3,170 feet of condensate and gas-cut mud.

No. 3 Yelton showed 25.6 barrels of 41.5-gravity crude and 14 MCF gas on drillstem test from 9,700 to 9,797 feet. Tool was open for 23 minutes and GOR was 544.

Dezem Drilling Co. staked a 10,000-foot wildcat two mile south of the Elk City field last week. Location for the well, No. 1 W. F. Hill Estate, is in the SE SW 11-9n-21w. The lease is a farm-out from United Carbon with Shell Carter and Magnolia supporting the test.

Activity in the remainder of the field is as follows:

Shell No. 1 Walter-C in C NE NE of 23, at 10,032 running 5 1/2 inch casing while same No. 2 Walter-C in C SE NE of 23 was drilling below 7,418 feet.

United No. 2 Cleo Walter in C NE NE of 24 was shut down for repair at 9,260 feet and same farm-out from United Carbon with Shell Carter and Magnolia supporting the test.

Shell No. 1 Kelly-B in C SW SE of 5 drilled at 3,628 feet. The No. 2 Walter in C SW SW of 14 was making hole at 4,917 feet while the No. 2 Kelly in C NW SE of 23 was drilling below 3,219 feet.

Esso Requests Allowable Cut In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — A request by Esso Standard Oil Co. for an immediate reduction in Louisiana oil allowables is to be considered at a hearing by the Conservation Department in New Orleans Tuesday.

Commissioner S. L. Digby said he refused to grant the reduction pending the hearing.

Digby said he received the request in a letter from Esso Vice President Cecil Morgan of Baton Rouge. He said the letter told of Esso's plan to reduce its crude oil purchases by 25,000 barrels per day because of "alarmingly high" storage in the state.

Morgan said unseasonably warm weather on the Eastern seaboard has reduced fuel oil consumption.

Louisiana's present allowable — the maximum amount of crude oil allowed to be produced from wells — is 577,600 barrels daily.

Drop Shown In Oklahoma Exploration

TULSA — (AP) — A spiraling completion report this week in Oklahoma oil fields by declining exploration.

There were 112 finals, including 69 others, five gas wells and 33 dusters, according to the Tulsa News, compared to 97 last week.

FLOWING WINE—One workman was killed and a million and a half gallons of wine flowed down the street of Cucamong, Calif., when a winery storage building and vats, several of which are shown here, were completely destroyed by fire. Wine flows down the street in the foreground of this picture of the blaze. During the fire a brandy vat exploded with a force that shook the town. No estimate of the damage was obtainable. No Defense Against Bombs After They Reach Targets, Scientist Says

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Dr. Vannevar Bush, atomic scientist, said the only defense against atomic or hydrogen bombs is to keep them from reaching their target or to strike the place where they are made.

"There is no defense against a bomb, as such," Bush told reporters.

He said he had given that opinion to the Senate Armed Services Committee during a two-hour secret discussion of modern weapons and defenses.

Bush was one of the key scientists who advised military leaders on weapons during the last war. He was director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development and also advisor to the joint chiefs of staff. "The way to defend against an atomic bomb," he said, "is to stop the airplane or other carrier before it gets to the target, to bomb the place that is manufacturing."

Bush said the same would apply to the projected hydrogen bomb on which this country is working.

There is "no trick way" to do it, he emphasized.

He added, however, that defense against new weapons develops so quickly it is dangerous to forecast effectiveness.

But he said he knows of no way to set off an enemy's atomic bomb or any other kind of a bomb on its way to a target.

Senator Tydings (D-Md) who had left the committee session earlier had quoted Dr. Bush as saying "there is not any complete defense" against atomic or hydrogen bombs.

Uncle Sam Knows What Stays On Must List if Income Drops

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — (AP) — You may be a little uncertain yourself about what things you'll be slow in buying if your income drops, but your government isn't. It knows what products will make you — the average American, not the individual — open or shut your pocketbook as times get better or worse.

People's buying habits change and one-time luxuries become necessities. But the Department of Commerce has surveyed buying habits since 1929, in bad and good times.

It finds that the sensitivity of expenditures for cemetery lots, hockey tickets and foot doctors is less than the average for all goods and services — that is, you go on spending just about as much as ever on these things, whether your income goes up or down. But when times get tough, you really retrench on such expenses as the opera, eating out or buying yachts.

The spending for food is more sensitive than the average for all goods and services, the department finds, and the total spent on food changes in exact ratio to the amount of money on hand. That is, if the nation's disposable personal income goes down 10 percent, the amount spent on food goes down 10 percent, too.

Part of this is due to the change in food prices. Part is due to the public's eating less caviar and steak, more spaghetti and stew.

Most sports and entertainments have average sensitivity to income. But there is some variation. Hockey games and movies are least affected by changing national income. About average are golf, baseball, dancing, shooting, skating and swimming. But the public gets more careful about billiards and bowling, flying private planes, and photography. And it really cuts back on legitimate theater and opera tickets.

Professional services vary widely as income totals shift. Spending on legal advice varies least. Next come foot doctors, barbers, physicians, beauty parlor operators and veterinarians. The public retrenches at an average rate for dentists, osteopaths, masseurs and chiropractors, but it spends much less on practical nurses and midwives.

Shoe and eye-glass purchases respond to income changes at about an average rate of sensitivity. Clothing retrenchment is above average. And jewelry, watches and luggage feel the change most.

The buying of china, glassware, tableware and utensils are least affected among household purchases. Refrigerator and washing machine sales keep step with changes in national income. A more than average slowdown is noted in the sale of carpets, furniture and stoves, as income falls, and a much greater one in the sale of pianos, radios, phonographs and records.

Judge Revokes Sentence Change

FORT WORTH — (AP) — It will be 1983 before O. D. Stevens is eligible for clemency. He is now in Leavenworth Prison serving a sentence for the $71,000 mail robbery at the T&P terminal here in 1933.

Federal Judge James C. Wilson revoked the nunc pro tunc order issued Jan. 30, which changed two sentences he passed on Stevens April 7, 1934, to concurrent in sales of tires, tools and autos, with tops in sensitivity going to boats and pleasure aircraft.

Ranging from very little change to slightly below average sensitivity are expenditures for water, gas, electricity, telephones, fuel, newspapers, gasoline, oil, tobacco, drugs and toilet articles.

instead of separate sentences. The revocation order said in part "subsequent investigation of the facts reveals that the representations made to the court concerning the incorrectness of the sentence were not based upon fact . . . that the true facts are that it was provided and ordered at the time of sentence that said sentences are not to run concurrently with any other sentences."

Stevens was sentenced to 25 years and to two years on two counts upon his conviction of conspiracy and robbery of the U. S. mails.
