Sir Stafford Cripps was telling the people they must submit to a program of austerities. But it was not austerity the people had been promised and they resented it. Clifton Daniel, American news correspondent, reported: "There is not a single Labor Party leader in Britain who will look you in the eve and say that the average man in Britain is better off today than he has ever been." And he added that these leaders know it is the persisting high prices of goods which are eating away Britain's export market - the market that is as essential to her as the gasoline in the fuel tank is to the activity of a motor car. United Press correspondent Halliman reported that Britain is heading into an industrial crisis and that Cripps had summoned the newsmen to a secret conference and

The best treatment for burns, of course, is to prevent them. burn is merely an injury to the surface of the skin or the tissues just below the skin caused by contact with heat. If the heat is moist, rather than dry, it is called a scald. Burns are usually classified into three varie ties, depending on the depth of the burn. In first-degree burns there is reddening of the skin only, such as is seen in mild sunburn. In second - degree burns, besides reddening, there is actual blistering of the skin. Finally, in third-degree burns, not only the skin itself but the tissues lying beneath it are burned and charred For minor burns there are several excellent ointments, some .4 them containing substances which reduce the pain. These, however, should not be used frequently or on large surfaces, as they may produce undesirable effects,

In severe burns, which include second-degree burns covering a considerable skin area, and all third-degree burns, the advice of a physician is always needed. Until the physician comes, cer-tain things should be done if the burn is to have proper treatment. Clothing should be removed by cutting it away. If it sticks to the burned flesh it should be cut around and the pieces which are stuck should be left as they are. A warm compress, using clean cloths soaked in tannic acid solution or strong tea, can be applied to the burned area,

Cross Fences Aid Pasture Growth Program

Operators of the Christy and Pipps ranch north of Miami are building a cross fence to divide a LUBBOCK — (P) — Uncle Sam's to get better utilization of their crop sharply, the Cotton Research pastures through proper stocking Committee of Texas was told and through prevention of patchy yesterday.

Fencing pastures into nearly equal sizes enables a rancher to carry out a rotational or deferred grazing system, officials of the Roberts County Wind Erosion District said. Resting a pasture during the growing season and being able to let the seed mature is one of the most important factors of good range management, they said.

Mark Arrington is another Miami rancher who is planning as a scheduled for the next biennium.

EWSPAPER ADVERTISING

1. Make your advertising copy easy to read, friendly and informative. People read newspapers for the news. Give them facts and news about your merchandise and services.

2. Advertise regularly. Do what successful salesmen do-call on customers and prospects consistently.

3. Protect your advertising investment by insisting on audited circulation reports that tell you just what circulation you get for your money. Guesswork is wasteful.*

*In order that you may know just what you get for your money when you advertise in this newspaper, we are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations. This is a national, cooperative association of more than 3300 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, the purpose of the Bureau is to establish and maintain definite standards of circulation, audit the circulation records of the publisher members and report this verified information to advertisers.

At regular intervals, one of the Bureau's trained auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation. The verified facts and figures thus obtained are issued in an official A.B.C. report.

Our A.B.C. report tells how much circulation we have, where the circulation goes, how it was obtained, how much people pay for it and many other facts that you should know when you buy newspaper advertising. Thus when you advertise in this newspaper your investment is in known and verified values.
