Shamrock to Have New Housing Area

SHAMROCK — A long-range housing addition has been planned for Shamrock, and construction on 10 houses is expected to begin in about two weeks.

It was learned that the new developed area will be known as the Mont-Lew Addition, and is located just across Highway 83 from the American Legion Hall. One hundred forty-seven lots have been earmarked for development by partners A. J. Montgomery, Chevrolet agent here, and R. C. Lewis, local Continental Oil Co. distributor.

They will form their own construction company, to be headed by Bob Purcell as foreman. He is of Shamrock.

No date has been set for more of the moderately priced 2-and 3-bedroom dwelling units. But it was learned construction on the first 10 would begin soon. They will be of frame construction.

Near Freezing Temperatures Due Tonight

(By The Associated Press)

The season's first genuine northern headed for Texas today.

Temperatures were expected to drop near freezing in the Panhandle tonight.

The Lubbock Weather Bureau forecast possible snow flurries in that area tonight with winds increasing to 30 to 45 miles per hour as the cold front strikes.

By tomorrow morning the cold front is expected to cover Northern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and Central Oklahoma.

"It looks like at this time it won't cover the entire state but just the northern half of Texas," the Weather Bureau said this morning.

The official forecast called for considerable cloudiness and showers in the Panhandle, South Plains and from the Pecos Valley eastward today, tonight and tomorrow. Much colder in the Panhandle tonight with temperatures near freezing. Much colder in the Panhandle and South Plains and colder elsewhere in West Texas Thursday.

Considerable cloudiness and showers were forecast for East Texas Thursday. Colder in the northwest Thursday.

Low temperatures in the state this morning were generally in the 70's, mild for this time of the year. The Weather Bureau explained that this was caused by the low pressure area in front of the cold wave.

RUDE AWAKENING — Samuel Goldstein, leading his 7-year-old son, Allen, staggered from his apartment in Boston when a flash fire forced the building's 22 occupying families to flee. Damage in the blaze was estimated at $1,500.

Russia Is Lining Up New Strategy

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — Russia was reported lining up new strategy today in her furious last-ditch fight to prevent the election of Yugoslavia in the United Nations Security Council.

After Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky's angry blast at the Yugoslavs and their American supporters yesterday, Soviet sources said Vishinsky might try to carry the battle to the floor of the assembly before the balloting begins tomorrow.

Vishinsky revived the Kremlin's bitter feud with Marshal Tito's regime at a news conference in which he also flatly declared that the atomic bomb has been a "real weapon" for Russia since 1947.

Vishinsky said V. M. Molotov (then Soviet foreign minister) was "not bluffing" when he said in 1947 that the American monopoly on the A-bomb no longer exists. It was the most concrete official statement on the A-bomb since President Truman announced last month that an atomic explosion had taken place in Russia recently.

A hectic assembly session Thursday was presided over by Vishinsky, who carries his anti-Yugoslav fight to the floor during the election to fill Security Council vacancies.

Vishinsky threatened "painful consequences" for the United Nations if Yugoslavia is chosen by the council over Russian-backed Czechoslovakia.

U.S. Speeds Up A-Bomb Program

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States is going to speed up its atomic bomb program.

An accelerated expansion of facilities and operations at two key plants, Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Hanford, Wash., will cost in excess of $300,000,000, it has been learned from authoritative sources.

Two moves in the Senate late yesterday paved the way for the program.

One was the disclosure by Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) of the Senate House Atomic Committee that President Truman had authorized the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) to use some of its budgetary reserves "to get started on this proposition."

The reserves to be used amount to approximately $30,000,000, or about 10 percent of the overall program which is to be financed by a deficiency appropriations bill in the next session of Congress.

The second move was Senate approval of a measure by Senator McMahon to lift some of the spending curbs imposed on the AEC earlier in the session. This still is subject to House approval.

McMahon refused to answer when asked by newsmen whether the speedup action is the result of recent disclosures that Soviet Russia has had an atomic explosion.

McMahon, while saying that a "major expansion effort" is being undertaken, emphasized that it is "an acceleration of planned program." (See U.S., Page 2)

Local Pilots Group Will Meet Tonight

Bert Howell, president of the Pampa Pilots Association, said this morning that tonight's scheduled meeting at 77 of members at Chicken Diner on E. Brown is very important and urged all to be present.

Pres. Howell said the subject of discussion will be the Pampa airport location. Two sites, the present undeveloped one and the Air Force's auxiliary field northwest of Pampa, are under consideration.

He said the group would hear a report given association representatives by the Board of City Development and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Aviation Committee. The committee has favored the northwest site, while the pilots have sought the present site.

There are about 45 members in the association. They have been meeting once a week since organization a few weeks ago.

FOUR FLIGHTS DAILY BEING SCHEDULED

Central Airlines will establish a regular airline service through Pampa Nov. 10, Jack Lenox, special representative of the airlines, said yesterday.

Lenox, who has charge of traffic operations, told local Chamber of Commerce officials yesterday the service will be from Tulsa to Amarillo via Bartlesville, Ponca City, Enid, Woodward and Pampa.

Four flights will be scheduled daily—two for each direction. One morning and one afternoon flight each way will be started at that time, Lenox continued.

The flights will make connections with all major airlines at Enid, Tulsa and Amarillo. Passengers may make connections at Enid for Oklahoma City and other cities north to Wichita, Kans. Also, they may make connections at Tulsa for Dallas, Fort Worth, Tex. and other major points.

Single-engine Beechcraft Bonanzas will be used on the line until business justifies using DC-3's in the operation. Lenox said he believed it wouldn't take long until business will justify the larger planes.

Central Airlines has secured a mail contract with the government and will carry regular air mail. However, an express contract has not yet been secured. (See FOUR, Page 2)

CONGRESS DRIVES HARD FOR ADJOURNMENT

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congress drove hard for adjournment today.

The lawmakers expected to finish action on the farm bill and a few other matters, then adjourn until next January.

One of the unfinished items was the nomination of former Democratic Senator Mon Wallgren of Washington to the Federal Power Commission. Senator Cain (R-Wash.), an old opponent of Wallgren, hoped to delay action, but he didn't see much chance of success.

Wallgren, turned down earlier this year for the job of chairman of the National Security Resources Board, was expected to win approval this time. So was another of President Truman's nominees: former Democratic Senator James Mead of New York, named to the Federal Trade Commission.

Mr. Truman sent both appointments to the Senate just in time for action before adjournment. Both were approved by a Senate committee yesterday.

Another matter urgently supported by the President got a Congressional okay yesterday just under the wire: a bill raising the minimum wage from 40 cents to 75 cents an hour. Some 1,500,000 workers will get pay boosts from the measure, while an uncertain number will be dropped from coverage.

Minimum wage was an important part of the President's domestic program. Other items on that program approved this year include rent control extension, housing, rural telephone loans, government and military pay boosts, presidential reorganization power, and increased crop storage facilities for the Agriculture Department.

Numerous foreign measures—like arms aid, Atlantic Pact approval, continuation of the Marshall Plan and extension of the

Highland General Hospital Is Equipped With the Very Latest in Modern Devices

Highland General Hospital is a monument to the electrical and mechanical ingenuity of men most Pampans will never see.

The million-dollar-plus institution is rapidly nearing completion with only terrazo floor men and the arrival of sterilizing equipment holding up production in the operating and delivery rooms. It is scheduled to open Jan. 1, 1950.

Already the corridors with their soundproof walls and ceilings are taking on a quiet hospital atmosphere. Color schemes and combinations produce a quiet, restful, and reassuring feeling to the visitor.

From the glassless green of the outside walls the colors inside change to grays, blues, pinks, peach, and green pastel along the corridors, rooms, and convalescent solariums.

In the basement, is the auxiliary electrical plant which jumps to life automatically when the main line voltage drops. The hospital will never go dark in the midst of an emergency or delicate operation.

The boiler room, where everything is automatic, will shoot concentrated heat to the penthouse itself in a maze of wires, automatic, and master controls. A large automatic control board for the twenty-two elevators stands over the top of the shaft.

Even the elevators have pastel shades and can be operated by anyone. The patient was thought of first when the cars were constructed. Overhead are two fluorescent lights with shields to deflect glare from patients' eyes. Automatic push buttons stop the car evenly.

In the corridors of each floor are two large sterilizers which are capable of killing every germ or bug instantly.

The nursery, a long room built into three sections painted in delicate pink and blue, is one of the newest innovations in hospital craftsmanship. The two end rooms have large viewing glasses. In the center of the nursery is an incubator room set aside for premature babies.

Rooms for patients are painted in green and peach, each having either private or connecting bathrooms.

Lewis Fires At Green for Vetoing Plan

WASHINGTON — (AP) — John L. Lewis bitterly denounced AFL President William Green today for turning down a proposal to help finance a $2,500,000 weekly strike fund for Philip Murray's CIO Steelworkers.

The mine workers chief's caustic note to Green said:

"You cry loud for labor peace and labor security, but seldom do anything to achieve it."

Lewis had proposed that his own mine workers themselves on strike—put up $200,000 weekly to help Murray's steel strikers, and that nine AFL unions put up equal amounts.

Green replied that pooling labor's resources was "impossible and impracticable" so long as Lewis and Murray fail to bring their unions into the AFL.

Murray approved Lewis' idea but said the proposed $2,500,000 fund should help striking mine workers as well as striking steel workers.

The leaders of the three big divisions of organized U. S. labor once were closely associated but have split widely as the labor movement divided.

Murray and Lewis have big steel underways in the coal and steel industries. Government officials (See LEWIS, Page 2)

Vandenberg Says B-36 and Atom Bomb 'Can Do the Job'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg assured Congress today the B-36 bomber and atom bomb "can do the job."

He argued the Russians would be free to concentrate their productive resources and technical skills on developing offensive power.

Vandenberg, the Air Force chief of staff, was before the House Armed Services Committee, firing back fiercely against what he called the "glib" Navy attacks against the Air Force and its strategic bombing.

But he ran into some heavy weather. Rep. Short (R-Mo) told him once that what he was saying was "boah." And Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) said that what is shaking the armed services is that the Navy isn't accepted into "full partnership."

"Mr. Chairman," Vandenberg said coolly, "the statement emphasized the word statement. The Navy has not been taken into full partnership has (See VANDENBERG, Page 2)

CONTRACT LET FOR CITY'S ENLARGED DISPOSAL PLANT

The city's overworked sewage disposal and treatment plant is to be enlarged at a cost of $124,650, just $15,350 under the cost estimated by Roberts and Merriman, consulting engineers for the city on the project.

The contract for the project was let yesterday afternoon after tabulations on four bidders were made showing Brooks and Gardner of Abilene and Amarillo the low bidders.

Specifications on the project call for an addition to the treatment plant, a new station, a new lift station, cleaning old stone, installing new stone, and fencing around the enlarged plant.

The present plant was designed to serve a city of 10,000. The addition will boost the plant's adequacy to serve a city of 25,000 to 30,000 population.

Officials from the successful contracting company told the City Commission they would be able to start work ten days after being awarded the contract.

The Abilene-Amarillo firm's bid was $1,000 lower than their nearest competitors. Lippert Bros. of Oklahoma City, Lippert's bid called for a total cost of $138,450. D. C. Bass, Enid, Okla., was second highest with a bid of $145,533 and Parkowen Construction Co., Pampa, was high with a bid of $151,875.

Reading the bids, with their alternate specifications and the discussion over whether to award the contract to Brooks and Gardner or Lippert Bros., consumed

History of Guard to Be Dramatized

The history of the National Guard will be dramatized by radio and movie stars in a 10-week radio series, Capt. William J. Ragade, commander of the local Guard unit, said today.

The program will be carried over KPND beginning at 4:45 p. m. each Saturday for the next 10 weeks.

The unit began its technical phase of training Monday night with instruction in communications, transportation, and instrument detection of enemy artillery fire.

Major Frank V. Quilan, senior Air inspector from Amarillo, made his monthly inspection of the unit the same night and announced he was well pleased with "an acceleration of planned program." (See HISTORY, Page 2)

Princess Takes Over New Domain

AMARILLO — (AP) — A German princess surveyed her new domain today—a small apartment in a four-unit red brick building.

But before long, Clyde Harris, an interior decorator, plans to move his bride, Princess Cecilia, into a new home, and a half English type cottage.

Meanwhile, Cecilia is ready "to learn to like" the treeless plains of the Texas Panhandle.

The granddaughter of the late Kaiser Wilhelm and Harris were married in Germany last June 21. He came back to Amarillo alone while the princess waited for clearance papers.

Harris met the princess in the summer of 1945 when he was an Army captain. They knew each other a year before he returned to the States. They corresponded three years. He went to Germany last May to arrange the wedding.

He met her in New York when she arrived this month and they drove home in Harris' station wagon, arriving late yesterday.

The princess brought her dog, a red Cocker Spaniel named Schnapps. She had intended to leave him in Europe but decided at the last minute she couldn't stand the parting.

On their arrival, the Harrises found a roomful of gifts at the home of Misses Dorothy and Harriet Hubbell. Amarillo sisters, with whom Harris had made his home.

The Hubbell sisters are giving an informal reception at the Amarillo Country Club Thursday night so Mrs. Harris can meet her husband's friends.

Swift Action Is Called for On Farm Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congressional leaders called for swift action today on a newly put together farm bill giving the government broad power to support crop prices near present high levels indefinitely.

With the House due to vote first, passage of the bitterly won compromise measure seemed certain before the windup of this session of Congress, expected tonight.

The bill would permit reductions in price supports for all but a few major commodities next year. However, it gives the Agriculture Department a choice between such action and maintenance of present support standards. In some cases, the actual supports would be higher than they are now.

The new program, a compromise between widely differing House and Senate bills, was produced by a conference committee yesterday after many hours of haggling.

Most senators and House members expressed satisfaction at the result.

The measure apparently spells defeat or at least a long delay for Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's plan to give consumers the benefit of unsupported farm prices, with the government (See SWIFT, Page 2)

Constitutionality of New State Law Being Questioned

Mayor C. A. "Lefty" Huff or City Manager Dick Peplin—or both—are on the verge of making Texas history in Galveston next week by bringing the League of Texas municipal convention to Pampa.

It will be over the new premarriage and pre-natal blood tests required by laws passed by the Legislature.

Mayor Huff doubts the Constitutionality of the law making cities render services to outsiders where those services cost city taxpayers money.

According to the laws expectant mothers are required to have serological blood tests run and prospective brides and grooms, too, must have similar tests before they are granted a license to wed. The law stipulates the tests must be run by state approved laboratories, but the laboratories may make no charge for the tests.

Pampa, with a few innovations under way in the coal and city-operated laboratory approved. That would make three state-approved laboratories in the Panhandle. There are now only two—both in Amarillo.

The city would like to make the innovations in its own laboratory for the convenience of Pampans. And that is where the rub comes in.

Peplin estimated the laboratory

Buckler Receives Honor in Masons

C. P. Buckler, well-known Pampa, is among a group of Texans to receive the highest honor of the Masons — knight commander, court of honor.

This award was accorded him at an executive session of the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite of Masonry for the Southern Jurisdiction.

Other Texans receiving the award: O. M. Anderson, Amarillo; Simon M. Bunn and Frank Oldham, Waco; Earl A. Burch and El F. Morgan, Wichita Falls; Killeen M. Moore, Vernon; and Burke Thompson, Denison.

The 33rd Degree was accorded to 11 members of the Dallas Scottish Rite bodies.

Honorees will receive their investitures at Dallas on Nov. 7, opening date of the Scottish Rite fall reunion.

Greek War Nears End

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson said today that the Greek government's war with Communist-led guerrillas is practically over. Reduction of American aid to Greece would seem to be an indicated step, the secretary said.

Acheson told his news conference that there are only about 2,000 guerrillas left in Greece and they are widely scattered and mainly concerned with a search for food.

Before there is a decision on cutting American military assistance to the Greek government, Acheson said the U. S. will have to find out what the Athens regime proposes to do with its military establishment. American aid has been given for more than two years.

Reduction of the Greek armed forces — which number more than 200,000 — would seem to be an indicated step, the secretary said.

Sally Rand Is Back on Midway

DALLAS — (AP) — Fan Dancer Sally Rand was back on the State Fair midway today without a lawsuit to worry her.

Sally, in a blue suit and high heeled shoes, took time out from her dancing to appear in court for 30 minutes yesterday. Then attorneys announced they had decided she was an innocent party to a suit involving contracts for her appearance with her girl show at the fair.

The suit was brought by Robert Peck and James Hess of Chicago, who claimed they were entitled to 50 percent of Miss Rand's State Fair profits.

Her dismissal as a defendant still leaves the question of contractual obligations between Peck and Hess and Ray Marsh Brydon, president of Independent Midways Association.

Hawkins Will Be Tried in Illinois

DALHART — (AP) — Four Illinois officers were expected here late today to pick up Lenard (Lucky) Hawkins, 34, for a murder trial.

Hawkins waived extradition yesterday. He will go back to Jerseyville, Ill., to be tried in the fatal shooting of Alfred Clark, 23, of Boise City, Okla.

District Attorney Floyd H. Richards said Hawkins agreed to let Illinois try Hawkins on the murder charge. He will be returned to Texas on an armed robbery charge if he doesn't get a stiff sentence on the murder indictment, Richards said.

He surrendered peacefully Monday to eight officers who answered a frantic call from a mother at Middle Water, 20 miles west of here. Mrs. W. S. Smith telephoned while her 10-year-old son, John Williams, who had recognized the suspect, took matches to him.

Two Minor Fires Are Reported

Two minor fires brought the firemen out yesterday. The first was a car fire at 6:30 p. m. at 317 Rider. Firemen extinguished the blaze before much damage was done.

At 9 p. m. they were called to 421 S. Gillespie, the residence of Clyde C. Mead. An ironing board had caught fire, but no other damage resulted.

Sunday Won't Be Bright for Kids

McALLEN — (AP) — Sunday won't be as bright as usual for thousands of Texas kids.

The McAllen Monitor learned by wire yesterday that a freight train carrying colored comic newspapers caught fire 200 miles east of San Bernardino, Calif. The comics were destroyed.

A big San Bernardino color printing plant brings the funnies for the Monitor, Valley Morning Star at Harlingen, Brownsville Herald, and 13 other Texas dailies.

The Monitor said there wouldn't be time to reprint the comics from California and deliver them for Sunday's paper. But it said it was trying to get matrices so the funnies could appear in black and white.

County Officials To Fight State

CALVESTON (AP) - Texas County officials will set up a bureau in Austin to fight any attempt by the state to take over the work of county governments.

The Association of County Judges and Commissioners planned the banquet at its convention yesterday. The group also passed a resolution asking for a tax of not less than one cent per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas.

The judges and commissioners elected Falls County Judge Fred B. Glass of Marlin president. Also elected were San Patricio County Commissioner E. H. Jackson, vice president, and Hartley County Judge Lloyd M. West, secretary.

The officials passed several other resolutions. They asked: The Legislature to reify the state probate laws.

shaken confidence in the military establishment.

The Navy, in hearings last week, had argued that the Air Force should spend less time and money on strategic bombers and more on tactical air power to support ground operations.

Such a policy shift as this, Vandenberg said, would mean:

1. "We would give up the current value of the nation's atomic weapons and we would place ourselves in disagreement with all of those people who, on both sides of the ocean, believe that Soviet aggression is in fact now being deterred."

2. "We would inform the Russians that they need now take no defensive measures against a possible atomic attack on their heartland. B-36s, B-47s and B-50s by merely existing can and do force the Soviet Union to channel industrial power, technological skill, manpower and money into purely defensive measures and thus cut down resources which would otherwise be devoted to offensive purposes."

3. "If war is forced on us, this proposal deprives us of the opportunity of choking off enemy war-making power at its source."

Coming up behind Vandenberg to reply to Navy complaints were the chairman of the joint chiefs, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, and the Army representative, Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

The committee is trying to find out just what is wrong in the Defense Department, where a hot war has developed over the best way to win another shooting war.

The Navy says it is being submerged by too much emphasis on the Air Force and strategic bombing by the B-36 intercontinental bomber. The Air Force says that's an old story and a false one.

The Navy argues that the Army is on the side of the Air Force in the inter-service row.

Secretary of Defense Johnson is wheeling up more big guns to shoot back at the Navy. Vinson said the latest reinforcements for Johnson are:

Kill French proposals for an approach to worldwide arms reduction.

Jakov A. Malik of the Soviet Union opposed the French plans leading to disarmament because neither included the atomic bomb.

The Russians contended atomic weapons and conventional armaments should be lumped together. The West insists bomb control be handled by the U. N. Atomic Energy Commission.

The Soviet Union sent diplomatic notes to each member government terming the election of Czechoslovakia a necessity.

Vishinsky said the Eastern European countries had picked the Czechs as their choice for the seat to be vacated by the Ukraine Dec. 31.

He was particularly bitter over U. S. support of the Yugoslavs, saying it showed "the intention of moving further along the path of deepening the split and reducing even the minimum degree of agreement in the work of the United Nations."

LEWIS

Officials are showing new signs of worry about the ultimate effect of these strikes on the economy.

Failure of government mediators in every attempt thus far toward settlements led to speculation that President Truman may act, but there were suggestions that he may carry the situation to the people in a public appeal for steel and coal negotiators to get down to business.

There were these developments: 1. After purposely staying away from coal negotiations in West Virginia yesterday, Lewis drove over to take part in contract talks.

2. The government's top mediator, Cyrus S. Ching, went to New York for a personal chat with officials of the U. S. Steel Corporation. Ching frankly said he wanted to see if U. S. Steel has altered its stand.

The issue in the steel controversy is whether workers should pay part of pension costs. It was finally agreed the steel industry could pay up to 10 cents an hour for each worker toward pension-insurance costs. But steel wanted the workers to pay something more toward pension costs. And Murray's union said the companies should bear the entire cost.

In coal, Lewis is plugging for pay-pension improvements worth 35 cents on every ton of coal produced. The operators are opposing any boost in their costs.

Ching, changing his plan day by day, gave every indication of giving up on both the steel and coal statesmen soon if he fails to make any headway.

Expanded 'Phone Service Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) - A bill to expand telephone service in rural areas was past the final Congressional hurdle today.

The Senate sent the measure by Rep. Poage of Texas to the White House yesterday after approving changes which represented a compromise with the House.

The bill provides financing for new and expanding phone systems along the lines of the Rural Electrification Administration loans. The 30-year loans would not be limited in size, and would carry two and one-half percent interest. Preference would go to existing phone companies and cooperative groups.

Skull Studied For Identity

DAYTON (AP) - Officers are trying to learn the identity of a man whose bleached skull was found near here.

Two Baytown squirrel hunters, Charles Bowman and M. L. Matthews, found the skull 11 miles south of here yesterday.

With it were pieces of cowboy boots, part of a hat band, 85 cents in small change and a rusty .22 caliber automatic pistol.

Sheriff B. G. McNulty said the man, apparently less than 30 years old, probably had been dead 18 months to two years.

McNulty said the bones and other evidence would be taken today to the Public Safety Department Laboratories at Austin. Justice of the Peace C. R. Hatch said he wouldn't return an inquest verdict until the investigation is complete.

Crude Average Jumps for Week

TULSA — (AP) — The nation's crude oil averaged 4,999,425 barrels during the week ended Oct. 15, a jump of 25,925 barrels over the previous week's output, the Oil and Gas Journal reported yesterday.

Kansas accounted for 22,650 barrels of the net gain, boosting its production to 272,250 barrels.

Other major increases were reported for Mississippi, up 9,950 barrels to 101,100; Oklahoma, 2,600 barrels to 416,400; Indiana, 1,200 to 28,700; and Michigan, 1,200 to 44,250.

Arkansas increased its production 450 barrels to 72,650, and Louisiana gained 550 to 528,975.

The week's largest declines were in Illinois, which fell 8,200 barrels to 179,200, and in the Eastern Area, off 3,100 to 59,200.

Production was unchanged in Alabama, 1,300 barrels; Nebraska, 500; New Mexico, 126,900; and Texas 2,025,200.

Petroleum Research Said Not Finished

COLLEGE STATION — (Special) — The possibilities in the field of research in petroleum industry have not been exhausted, Dr. R. E. Wilson, chairman of the board, Standard Oil Company of Indiana, said Wednesday night in a talk before students and faculty members of Texas A&M College.

Dr. Wilson pointed out that the research field is wide open to students.

The developments of the petroleum industry has been brought about by free enterprise and the initiative of the personnel of the organizations, he said. The exchange of patents by and among the different oil companies has proved its worth, he pointed out.

Dr. Wilson was introduced by Dr. J. D. Lindsay, head of the Chemical Engineering Department, A&M.

Oil & Gas News

MORE THAN 903,000,000 barrels of crude oil were produced in Texas in 1948, the all-time peak year of Texas' oil industry operation as indicated in this chart showing the history of Texas production since 1915.

Oil Production Record Sets Pace for Economic Progress

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of five reports on various phases of the oil industry in Texas prepared by the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association. Topic for today is production.)

Texas is the source for more than one-fifth of all the energy utilized in the United States, and the Texas petroleum industry's production record has set the pattern of economic progress for the state.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports that petroleum production and refining account for more than $3,000,000,000 a year in income for the Texas economy.

A national shift to petroleum as the source for half of all the energy used in the country for powering vehicles, fueling generating plants and heating homes has given Texas a strong market for its abundant oil and natural gas.

As production has spread across the state, bringing new wealth to landowners, causing towns to spring up on once-barren plains, the progress of the industry and the state is written in the graph which shows the annual flow of oil to be 903 billion barrels for 1948.

Refining of this oil provides the state with its largest industry from the standpoint of capital investment and value added to product through manufacture, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports.

Demand for Texas crude oil fell off early in 1949 as a result of mild northern winters where the fuel oil market has been a large factor in petroleum sales, but as the industry began to add to its stocks in anticipation of expected heavier demands, production in Texas was picking up in the last quarter of the year.

The Railroad Commission, which is directed by the state's wise conservation laws to hold production to the market's demand, made successive cuts in allowances from December, 1948's all time high, but part of the cuts have been restored with production from new wells added to proration schedules and through two increases in allowances.

As of Sept. 17, Texas wells were producing 1,983,350 barrels of crude oil per day. During December, 1948, Texas production averaged 2,552,800 barrels a day.

A recent survey by the Chicago Journal of Commerce reported that leading petroleum economists predicted that output of crude oil should move up during 1950, probably in excess of five million barrels daily for the nation, compared to the total U. S. rate of 4,845,300 as of Sept. 17, 1949.

During 1948, Texas crude oil production reached an all-time peak of 903,318,000 barrels, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This amounted to 44.8 percent of the nation's production.

Since 1906, the date first commercial production was reported in the state, Texas has produced a total of 12,147,981,000 barrels. (32.7 percent of U. S. total.)

1948 Texas production was 10.1 percent greater than 1947. 1948 production came from 179 of the state's 254 counties. There are 40 Texas counties which to date have produced more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil each. Six counties hit the 100,000,000 mark during 1948. They are Wood, Andrews, Jackson, Jim Wells, Hockley, and Young.

Wood County, in East Texas, has had a phenomenal growth; it first produced oil in the year 1941, but at the end of 1948 its cumulative total exceeded 121 million barrels.

Over 3,000 producing companies were involved in the state's 1948 crude production. Royalty owners probably number in the hundreds of thousands. To illustrate: one large purchasing company reports that each month it mails out over 60,000 checks to producers and royalty owners.

During 1948, Texas refineries processed 599,496,000 barrels of crude. This amounts to 66.4 percent of total Texas production.

There are 89 refineries in Texas with a capacity of 1,928,900 barrels of crude daily.

These refineries employ 45,000 Texas workers, who received $188 million in wages and salaries during 1948.

Texaco Plant Now Under Operation

Chalk Hill Gasoline plant located in Archer County, Texas, has been placed in operation, it was announced by E. R. Filley, general manager, Producing Department, The Texas Co.

Owners of the plant are The Texas Co., The Texas Natural Gasoline Corp., and W. A. Moncrief. The Texas Co. supervised construction of the plant and is the operator. O. L. Olsen was the contractor.

Chalk Hill plant is processing approximately 1,500,000 cubic feet of casinghead gas daily and is producing natural gasoline, propane and liquefied petroleum gas mixtures.

The plant is being operated under direction of C. B. Williams, Fort Worth, division manager, West Texas Division, Texaco Producing Department.

Rotary Operations Show Decline

Rotary rig operations in oil fields of the U. S. and Canada showed a net decline of 40 in number of active units in the week of Oct. 10, despite increased activity in West Texas and California.

The total for the week, according to reports received by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors was 1,906 compared to 2,036 for the previous week, 2,000 a month ago and 2,364 for a year ago.

By areas, active rigs for the week were as follows: Pacific Coast, 180 up 14; West Texas and New Mexico, 591, up 11; Gulf Coast, 483, down 37; Oklahoma-Kansas, 380, down nine; Rocky Mountains and Canada, 163, down eight; Illinois, 114, down seven; Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas, 155, down four.

Corporation Denied Use of 'Standard'

BATON ROUGE — (AP) — A Louisiana corporation is banned temporarily from using the name "Standard Oil Company of Louisiana."

The firm, based in Denham Springs, obtained a state charter in July to conduct a wholesale and retail petroleum business but has not yet begun operations.

The injunction was obtained in U. S. District Court here by Esso Standard Oil Co. Company attorneys claimed that in Louisiana the name "Standard Oil" was identified with their client exclusively.

The company was formerly the Louisiana division of the Standard Oil Co., New Jersey.

ing industry is estimated to exceed a billion dollars.

Preliminary figures indicate that Texas royalty owners were paid $354 million by oil and gas operators during 1948. Add another $80 million for lease rentals and bonuses, and the total paid to Texas landowners amounts to 434 million dollars.

Classes Pick Entrants For Queen Test

CANADIAN — (Special) — Candidates for the annual Carnival Queen contest, which will close the High School Carnival Oct. 27, were chosen in Canadian high and junior high schools Thursday.

Senior Class candidate is June Parker, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Parker. She has been a member of the annual staff for two years, is a member of the band and of the Sub-Deb Club.

The Junior candidate, Paisy McMeans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McMeans, is also a member of the band and choral club, a past member of the National Junior Honor Society, and was a candidate in the Wheatheart of the Nation contest held in Peryton in August.

The Sophomore Class chose Leslynn Webb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Webb, who likewise is a band member, a member of the Sub-Deb Club, and worthy advisor of the Canadian chapter of the Order of the Rainbow, with Grace Ann Reid, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reid, is the Freshman candidate.

Shirley Terrell was elected eighth grade candidate and Donald Abraham was chosen to represent the seventh grade.

West Texas State Slates Homecoming Oct. 21, 22

CANYON — (WTNS) — Celebration of the annual West Texas State Homecoming will begin Friday, October 21 and last through Saturday, October 22. This was revealed in an announcement from the Steering Committee headed by Dr. Lee Johnson, professor at the college.

Planned to be the greatest homecoming celebration in the history of the college, committees are well on the way to completion of work assigned them in rounding up details of the two-day festival.

Especially far in the completion stage is the mammoth parade which will move through downtown Canyon at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Clubs, college organizations and business houses of Canyon are working feverishly on floats and entries trying to cop prize money set up by the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

The parade is headed by Ted Reid of the Veterans Administration, Jack Washm, student association president, and Leroy Reeves, graduate assistant in History. Around 10 bands will participate in the parade.

Activities will start Friday night at 7 o'clock with the annual homecoming bonfire. At 8 o'clock Friday evening the West Texas State Speech Department will present a 3-act comedy, "The Tightwad."

Immediately after the parade Saturday morning, feeding of the barbed-wire students and friends of the college will begin at the tennis courts north of the English building.

Just prior to the homecoming football game between the Buffs and Trinity University of San Antonio, the football queen will be crowned at Buffalo Field.

Throughout the day clubs and organizations will hold coffees and smokers for exes.

At 8 o'clock Saturday night two big dances will start on the campus and last until final weary couples are ready to call it a day. A Western dance will be held in Burton Gym while at the same time, modern dancing will start in the beautiful College Cafeteria.

Singing Convention Is Scheduled Sunday

SHAMROCK — E. J. Cooper announced yesterday that the Wheeler County Singing Convention meeting will be held Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church here.

Cooper, who is vice president of the organization, said "we invite all singers to meet with us and take part in the singing."

Choir to Give School Concert

The High School A Cappella Choir will present a concert at Horace Mann School next Tuesday, the last in a series given at the ward schools, Choir Director K. W. Baumgardner said today.

Each of the concerts so far has featured the Senior girls' sextet and the boys' quartet, the director said, and each concert has been given enthusiastic reception.

The girls who comprise the sextet are: Helen Blocker, Nina Spearman, Norma Manatt, Betty Ann Green, Carmelita Dunaway, and Betty Boswell.

The boys' group is made up of John Noland, Ronald Beard, Bob Allford, and Bill Epps.

More Donations Made to Victims

More persons and firms are reported to have rendered help to the Fred Haiduks whose ranch 18 miles southwest of Pampa was hit by a storm 10 days ago.

The Scott Implement Co., Pampa, has donated $15. Personal assistance has been given by Mrs. R. F. Randolph and Mrs. O. H. Nickols, both of Pampa.

Mrs. Haiduk said there is still a lot of work to be done, but that cleaning up has gone forward rapidly.

Workers found a 2 x 4 driven so far into the ground that it had to be sawed off — thrust there by the hard winds.

Lions Club for Miami Discussed

Seven members of the Lions Club went to Miami last night to discuss the organization of a Lions Club there.

Scotty Scott of Lions International also attended the meeting. Members of the Miami Men's Service Club were extended an invitation to affiliate with Lions International under the sponsorship of the Pampa Lions Club.

Several of the members of the Miami men's club said they would attend Thursday's Lion luncheon meeting here in the basement of the First Methodist Church.

Lions who attended the meeting were O. E. McDowell, president, Dr. Roy Webb, Sherman White, Dr. Douglas Nelson, Jimmy McCune, H. P. Dosier and Phil Harvey.

and extra of 50 cents on common shares, both payable Dec. 15 to holders of record Nov. 15. Similar extras were paid six months and a year ago.

Girl Scouts Take Panhandle Tour

Fourteen Girl Scouts of Troop 19, their leaders and three guests covered the Panhandle Saturday when they took an extended trip and overnight outing.

They visited the new Presbyterian Children's Home in Amarillo. Each Scout took fruit juice to the home. After lunching in Canyon, the Scouts went through the museum.

The Scouts spent the night at Palo Duro Canyon. W. L. Kretzmeier and Burl Lewter took them on a tour to the bottom of the canyon.

Scouts attending were Jan Allston, Sally Bruce, Gayle Brady, Sue Dodda, Lynn Followell, Janice Frazier, Barbara Goodnight, Donna Hegwer, Geraldine Hill, Janice Kretzmeier, Carroll Lamb, Nickle Lewter, Norita Sasser and Margaret Scott.

Accompanying the Scouts were Mr. and Mrs. Burl Lewter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Kretzmeier and Ann Kretzmeier.

Permits in Texas Take Slight Dip

AUSTIN — Drilling permits for oil wells in Texas took a slight dip last week, the Railroad Commission's weekly summary showed.

The commission reported 264 regular and 19 special drilling permits granted last week. During the previous week 268 regular and 30 special permits were granted. In the same week of 1948, 296 regular and 71 special permits were issued by the commission.

Completions were also down last week from previous week and year-ago figures.

Miss Katherine Nix Becomes Bride Of Jimmy Petropoulas at Borger

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Miss Katherine Nix, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Argus Nix, became the bride of Jimmy Petropoulas, whose parents live in Borger, Thursday evening, October 6, in the parlors of the First Baptist Church of Borger. The pastor read the vows in the single ring service.

Mrs. Odell Wollard of Shamrock, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of pink crepe, and wore black accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses.

Tommy Petropoulas of Borger served his brother as best man. The bride chose for her wedding an ice blue satin dress styled with a fitted bodice buttoned down the front, bracelet-length sleeves, and a circular skirt, which was accented with brown accessories. She wore an orchid corsage. Carrying out the tradition of wearing something old, new, borrowed and blue, the bride carried a handmade handkerchief, which had been in the family for three generations. She borrowed her mother's bracelet, which she had worn when a girl.

Mrs. Nix, the bride's mother, wore a grey tailored suit with black accessories, and the mother of the bride wore a blue crepe dress with black accessories. Both wore gardenia corsages.

Following the ceremony, the wedding party motored to Amarillo where a dinner was served to the group at Jones Brothers Cafe.

The couple left for a wedding trip to California, after which they will continue their work at the Amarillo Business College where they are students.

Red Accessories Complete Tweed Ensemble for Fall

Red accessories with a "look of affinity" were planned to give town-and-country elegance to this red and gray tweed suit. A beret of red beaver felt sports a pheasant feather; red calfskin pumps the gillie-fashion, and a red alligator bag swings from the shoulder of the checkered tweed jacket.

By EPIE KINARD
 NEA Fashion Editor
 NEW YORK — (NEA) — The tweed suit, worn with a sweater or simple woolen shirt and other accessories with a "look of affinity" for tweed, is more than a new fall style.

"It's a new mode of dress for American women," says Brigrance, a designer who has helped to give tweed suits their new look of town-and-country elegance.

"A tweed suit worn with a sweater," says Brigrance, "dresses women warmly and tastefully, even without a coat. Like their English-lady cousins, whose suburban life is spent in and out of doors and who also mosh through all kinds of weather, American women are finding in tweeds a new way to cope with winter."

Whether the fabric for their new winter "dress" is as rough to the touch as hop-sacking or as smooth as silk, it's textured in the best tweed tradition. It has suppleness and warmth. It is woven in plaids, checks, stripes or monotonous for super subtleties or for color contrasts that are sharp and sure.

"There's an example of the 'sharp and sure' contrast between SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Members of the Northern Natural Sewing Club planned a picnic for their families and friends at a meeting Friday in the home of Elsie Wryick.

Members will take wieners, buns, and doughnuts. Pickles and soft drinks will be furnished by the club.

Present at the meeting were Leona Smith, Jan Geurin, Madeline Parsons, Margaret Hand, Aileen Moran, Betty Dahlgren, and Addie P. Lick.

The next meeting will be held October 27 with Jan Geurin as hostess.

Clean Pot Gives Tastier Coffee

Coffee making is an art practiced by many and mastered by few, according to leading home economists. Too few people succeed in brewing full-bodied coffee simply because they fail to clean their coffee makers thoroughly after each use, it is pointed out.

Soap and water is suggested for routine cleanings and coffee stains are said to be removable by rubbing them with a damp cloth sprinkled with ordinary baking soda.

Accurate measurements of coffee and water are equally important. Suggested proportions are two level measuring tablespoons of coffee to three-quarters of a standard measuring cup of water. If this combination results in a brew which is a bit too strong, the amount of coffee may be reduced.

It is surprising how much we have in common with the fellow sitting next to us at the card table. If we just take the trouble to find it out, I was chatting the other night with Eddie Dunn, who is emcee on the Du Mont television show "Spin the Picture" on Saturday nights.

We found we both had had some funny experiences at school, but I do not think you could equal this one. Eddie was taking Spanish and his teacher spoke nothing but Spanish. At the beginning of a new term his father sent a check

Non-Conference Tilts Feature Schoolboy Games Friday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
A battle between Wichita Falls and Highland Park of Dallas highlights a schedule bulging with important games in Texas schoolboy football this week.

Wichita Falls, long rated one of the top teams of the state, and Highland Park, just edging into the upper strata, get together at Wichita Falls Friday night.

This game, matching sectional leaders, overshadows even the 30 conference games.

Other teams with unsullied records also face trouble. Lamesa could run into a hornet's nest against the Pampa Harvesters and Lubbock may find Amarillo too much to handle. Galena Park might topple before Galveston. Only two games are inter-conference affairs—John Reagan (Houston) going to Brownsville and Amherst (San Antonio) playing at Kerrville. Regan is one of two teams in the state undefeated but tied. Baytown is the other.

Undeclared, untied teams include the tests this week: Yalata vs. Borger, Grand Prairie vs. Mineral Wells, Henderson vs. Tyler and Marshall vs. South Park (Beaumont). Port Arthur and Corsicana have open dates. The week's schedule by districts (conference games except where indicated otherwise):

CITY CONFERENCE
1 (Dallas) — Thursday: Sunset vs. North Dallas; Friday: Woodrow Wilson vs. Forest; Saturday: Adamson vs. Crozier Tech.

2 (Fort Worth) — Thursday: Amon Carter-Riverside vs. North Side; Friday: Arlington Heights vs. Poly.

3 (Houston) — Thursday: Jeff Davis vs. Stephen F. Austin; Friday: Sam Jacinto vs. Milby; Saturday: Sam Houston vs. Lamar.

4 (San Antonio) — Thursday: Lanier vs. San Antonio Tech; Friday: Alamo Heights vs. Brackenridge; Saturday: Jefferson vs. Pleasanton.

CLASS AA
1 — Friday: Lubbock at Amarillo (nonconference), Lamesa at Pampa (nonconference).

2 — Friday: Highland Park (Dallas) at Wichita Falls (nonconference), Ft. Worth at Ft. Worth, Okla., at Quahok (nonconference).

3 — Friday: Brownfield at Levelland (nonconference).

4 — Friday: Plainview at Bowie (El Paso) (nonconference), Borger at Yalata (nonconference), El Paso High at Phoenix, Ariz. (nonconference); Saturday: Roswell, N.M., at Austin (El Paso) (nonconference).

5 — Friday: Breckenridge at Brownwood (nonconference).

6 — Grand Prairie at Mineral Wells (nonconference), Cisco at Stephenville.

7 — Friday: Bonham at Denison, Sherman at Gainesville, McKinney at Greenville (nonconference).

8 — Friday: Denton at Sulphur Springs.

9 — Friday: Texarkana at Gladewater, Kilgore at Longview, South Park (Beaumont) at Marshall (nonconference).

10 — Friday: Conroe at Lufkin, Jacksonville at Nacogoches, Palestine at Bryan (nonconference).

11 — Friday: Orange at Port Neches, San Benito at Beaumont (nonconference).

12 — Friday: Pasadena at Freeport, Galveston at Galena Park, Baytown at Texas City.

13 — Friday: Hillsboro at Cleburne, Waco at Ennis, Weatherford at Waxahachie, Austin at Temple (nonconference).

14 — Friday: El Paso at Kerrville, Victoria at Corpus Christi.

15 — Friday: Laredo at Kingsville.

16 — Friday: McAllen at Harlingen, Robstown at Sanburg, John R. at San Antonio, Brownsville (nonconference).

Man Eating One Too Few Oysters Drives Hoop to Soundproof Room

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

EGAD! My head is bowed! My banner is trailing in the dust! My morale is at ebb tide—harrumph!

(Editor's Note: Why don't he go see Dr. Zlobotny, and have him feel the bumps on his head?)

The occasion for my lamentation, gentle readers, is a letter from a little boy in Indiana who has lost faith in me. This youngster writes: "You picked the score of the Notre Dame-Purdue game as 34 to 12, in favor of the Irish. The actual score was 35 to 12. Because you missed on that score by one point I lost a dime's worth of bubble-gum to Stinky Brayson, a neighborhood chum. Why don't you wise up?"

This pathetic missive from a fifth-grade shaver fairly overcomes me, folks! And I am breaking an old rule to explain the error occurred.

Originally I had this game forecast to end 35 to 12 in favor of Notre Dame, exactly as it turned out. As I was writing it on a typewriter, I was listening to a conversation at the next desk, where a fellow was bragging he had eaten 34 oysters the night before. Hearing the 34, I inadvertently put it down. Sorry, little man!

But read the forecast for games of Oct. 22. It's perfect.

It was drafted in a soundproof room under a soundproof cover. I had this game forecast to end 35 to 12 in favor of Notre Dame, exactly as it turned out. As I was writing it on a typewriter, I was listening to a conversation at the next desk, where a fellow was bragging he had eaten 34 oysters the night before. Hearing the 34, I inadvertently put it down. Sorry, little man!

The old boy himself.

Pirates After Sixth Straight Friday Night

LEFORS (Special)—The Lefors Pirates will try to add number six to their winning list Friday night, Oct. 21, in Lefors. The opposition will be the Tulsa Hornets.

The game will be the last non-conference game of the season for the Pirates. So far in inter-district play, the Pirates have downed the White Deer Bucks, the Canadian Wildcats, and the Dumas Demons.

Friday Todd and Joel Combs may not see action this weekend against Hornets who have won two games and lost four, so far this season. They downed the Matador Matadors 28 to 0 last Friday night.

Bitter Battle In Abilene on Saturday Night

(By The Associated Press)
A couple of cross-town rivals who had rather beat each other than eat—McMurry and Abilene Christian College—clash Saturday night at Abilene in the feature game of the Texas Conference.

The conference leadership will be at stake.

Each has taken its only conference game—AAC downing Southwestern 13 to 10 two weeks ago and McMurry knocking Texas A&I out of its tie with ACC for first by blasting the Javelinas 39 to 14 last Saturday night.

Howard Payne and Southwestern University tangle at Brownwood in the only other conference game.

Although independent Daniel Baker is getting tougher, Texas A&I should draw an easier assignment in meeting the Hill Billies this Saturday night in Kingsville.

Austin College, showing some scoring punch finally, has company from out of state—Southwest Missouri Teachers.

Yale and Princeton have met 72 times on the gridiron, more than any other two colleges.

Hey Joe! Hurry and Buy Yourself a Witchy-Twitchy

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—There's a strange tribe of men, and I'm one of them, who fish with plugs and have a language of their own.

A plug is an artificial bait—made of wood, metal or plastic and decorated with feathers, hair or even glass beads for catching black bass, that wonderful, fighting, fresh-water game fish found all over America.

The plugs are all shapes and sizes. Some run under the water, some on the surface, some chug along like a minnow with a broken back.

You go into a fishing tackle store and say "I want a yellow dingedbat."

The man behind the counter says "I don't have a dingedbat."

"What about a pollywog?"

"No," the man says. "No pollywogs. But I have midget dingedbats, river runts and punkineeds."

If a Frenchman who had just learned English heard the conversation he'd think you were crazy or talking something not English.

One of the men in the fishing tackle stores around here said: "Fresh-water fishermen are worse with plugs than a woman with hair. Joe Smith rows up to the wharf with a big bass."

"Joe Jones' eyes bug out and says 'whatcha catch him on?'"

"Oh, I got him on a witchy-twitchy."

"On the way home Jones runs into a couple of his pals and tells them 'I just seen a guy that's been knocking the bass dead. He uses a witchy-twitchy.'"

"The pals go home and call up a couple of pals and tell them 'some guy got a string full of bass today on a witchy-twitchy.'"

"The next morning a dozen guys come into the store looking for a witchy-twitchy. They spread the word. In the course of a summer I may sell 100 witchy-twitchies."

This all goes for me double. I have a tackle box full of plugs I've been buying for years, and some of them I never got around to using.

If all this doesn't make sense to you, it doesn't make sense to me, either. I've been fishing since I was seven years old. And I've just come back from a vacation fishing on Chickahominy Lake in Virginia near Richmond.

I can't tell you why I like fishing so much. But then I never have met a man who gave me a good reason why he liked it so much either, enough to get up at four in the morning, sit out in a rowboat in heat, rain or cold all day, trying to outwit a fish, and then go stumbling home at sundown, tired out.

Tennessee football teams have won 61 and lost 19 Southeastern Conference games in 15 years—top mark in the loop.

Meyer Denies Retirement

FORT WORTH (AP)—The Fort Worth Star Telegram said today Coach Dutch Meyer of Texas Christian University told it he will neither resign or retire.

Dallas News columnist Charles Burton published a report that all plans have been made for Meyer to retire voluntarily.

"I'm not going to resign and I am not going to retire," the Star Telegram quoted Meyer as saying. "I am still a young man and I'm going to stay in there and battle 'em." The coach is 48.

There is some basis for the report that Meyer thought of taking a leave after his wife died in the spring. After he got back into the preparations for the 1949 season that possibility faded.

"The reports that I still intend to quit are entirely false," says Meyer. "I don't know, but would sure like to know, where the rumor spreaders are getting their information."

Dan D. Rogers, chairman of the TCU board's Athletic Committee, joined Meyer in denying reports of any impending change.

"There is absolutely nothing to the report that plans have been made for Dutch's retirement," the Dallas baker told the Star Telegram by telephone Wednesday.

"The matter hasn't even been discussed," Burton said in his column, "the inside story."

"Othol (Abe) Martin, a successful high school mentor before joining Meyer's staff, is due to become TCU's new head coach."

"Meyer was persuaded with considerable difficulty to coach the Horned Frogs this season. He himself has given so many broad hints that this is his last season that it is commonly accepted in inner circles of the Southwest Conference that Meyer won't be at TCU next autumn. He won't say yes or no on the question when asked directly."

"There has long been a hope among some Horned Frog supporters that when the Dutch decided to quit, the great Sam Baugh would return to his alma mater as its coach. But it looks as if old Sam will go on forever with the Washington Redskins."

Mr. Partridge Needs a Break

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—This is a plea for Mr. Partridge. Let's give the guy a break. He hasn't had a good grouse year for quite a while, but now we're likely to have several in a row, so let's polish up the etiquette.

A 30-day season is underway on the sporty guy we'll ever know in the northern Wisconsin counties. The rest of the state opens soon.

Mr. Partridge is the ruffed grouse, sometimes spelled rough grouse and aptly pronounced ruffled grouse in some quarters. He's one of the woods' hand-somest dandies and probably the closest thing to an explosion in feathers that nature ever invented.

Also, he's one of the tastiest two pound roasters you ever saw, and that's where his trouble comes in. You know and I know how most grouse are shot—while they're sitting on the ground wondering what the heck you're doing there.

Ground swatting, that's called, and it shouldn't happen to any bird to say nothing of Mr. Partridge. If you have a good pointer, and a 20 gauge open choke loaded with No. 10s (or as small as you can get), or even a sawed-off 12, you have a good chance at Mr. P., but he's still getting a fair shake. For all his power, he dies easily with one or two birdshot, but getting that to him is one of upland shooting's nicest tricks when he roars along his corkscrew path through the popple.

The rise in the grouse cycle has a couple of interesting angles. Grouse began to decline all over their range in 1943. Minnesota closed its season from 1944 to 1947, and Wisconsin between 1945 and 1947. But Michigan permitted hunting through the decline.

Last year Wisconsin killed 250,000, Minnesota 354,000 and Michigan—which according to the closed-season nuts, should have been nearly grouseless—killed

Harris Back As Nat Boss

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bucky Harris returned today to manage the Washington Senators baseball team for three years at a reported $25,000-a-year salary.

It is his first time in major league history that a manager has handled the same club on three separate occasions.

Harris managed the team in 1924 and 1925 and from 1935 to 1942. Under the one-time "boy wonder," the Senators captured two American League pennants and a World Series championship.

Harris was brought back to succeed Joe Kuhel, who was released on Oct. 3 at the end of his second season as manager. The club wound up in the league basement this year, 47 games behind the American League pennant-winning New York Yankees.

The signing of Harris was announced by Clark Griffith, president of the Senators.

Harris, who will be 63 years old next month, managed San Diego of the West Coast League this season.

KICKING AROUND
DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Duke University's soccer team is engaged in a seven game schedule that will extend to Nov. 23. Opponents are North Carolina State (twice), Virginia, North Carolina College, Washington and Lee and Maryland, in the closing contest.

The Texas decade scored first on Oklahoma; Oklahoma won the game 20-14. Arkansas scored first on Baylor but got licked 35-13.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice, who can speak from immediate experience, looks at it like this: "You don't get ahead and try to hold them. Who ever heard of passing on the second down, two to go, for a first down, a few years back? Rice scored a touchdown in that situation against Southern Methodist."

JUST FOR THE EXERCISE—Joe Louis, left, and Jack Dempsey demonstrate equipment designed by Manie Seamon to encourage youngsters to learn how to defend themselves. The "boxer" spars with the wearer of "foils" without being struck back. The "foils" resemble a first baseman's mitt. Seamon trained Louis.

Scoring First Is Kiss of Death in Southwest Games

DALLAS (AP)—Back in the days when defense was part of football, the team that scored first could reasonably expect to emerge the winner.

Now it's almost the kiss of death to get a touchdown or two before the opposition starts moving.

The Southwest Conference has played 25 games this season to date. In eight of them the team that racked up points on the scoreboard first got licked.

Last Saturday was a good example. The conference had four games. In two of them the team that made 14 points before the other could score was defeated.

Southern Methodist jumped out to 14 points against Rice. But the Owls won the game 41-27 going away.

Arkansas scored 14 points before Texas hardly realized a football game was going on. Texas roared back to win 27-16.

Other examples: Wake Forest scored first on Southern Methodist; SMU won 13-7. Texas Christian was 19 points behind Oklahoma A&M; Texas Christian finally came a 33-13 tie. Missouri scored a first on Southern Methodist; SMU won 28-27. Rice got a touchdown so quick it made Louisiana State's head swim; the swimming sensation didn't last long, however—Louisiana State won 14-7.

Texas scored first on Oklahoma; Oklahoma won the game 20-14. Arkansas scored first on Baylor but got licked 35-13.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice, who can speak from immediate experience, looks at it like this: "You don't get ahead and try to hold them. Who ever heard of passing on the second down, two to go, for a first down, a few years back? Rice scored a touchdown in that situation against Southern Methodist."

Harvesters Hold Short Drill And Then See Lubbock Movies

The Harvesters went through a short workout yesterday afternoon as they prepared for their Friday night encounter with the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes. Undeclared so far this season, the Lamesans could be knocked from the glory ranks by the Green and Gold, who will be the stiffest test for the Whirlwinds to date.

Yesterday's workout was spent primarily in running plays and getting the all-important T-formation timing down on a new play. Sophomore quarterback Dewey Cudney has been shifted over to right halfback as a replacement for Jimmy "Beaver" Hayes.

The other two regular right halfbacks are sidelined. Charley Smith is still hobbling around with the bad ankle and Dale Richardson is in bed with an infection in his leg.

Lamesa has outscored four opponents to date. They downed Seminole 20-0; trampled Plainview 28-2; rolled over Big Spring 20-7; and stopped Levelland 7-0. Leading Coach Bob Harrell's crew is a neat quarterback and good passer, Bobby Hawkins. Speed in the Lamesa backfield is produced by Dick Echols and Delbert Dickenson, a couple of shifty halfbacks. Fullback Larry Lattimore rounds out the starting quartet. Echols holds on touch-down run of 65 yards this fall already, going that distance against Plainview. It could be these explosive runs again that will beat the Pampans.

After the boys went in early yesterday, they returned to the school last night for a look at the movielet Lubbock Western game of last weekend and saw a few of their mistakes made against that speedy aggregation.

The Guerillas, prepping for their Thursday night game at Harvesters Park against the Plainview Bulldogs, went through a lengthy workout. They met their first defeat of the season last Saturday night at Amarillo in the hands of Price College. In doing so, they also suffered a couple of bad injuries.

Charley Smith, Lubbock's best player, broke a bone in his leg and will be out the rest of the season. Jimmy Cook, rough end, tore some ligaments in his shoulder and will be handicapped for some time.

The Reapers, still looking for their first conference win of the season against two losses and two wins, will travel to Amarillo Thursday afternoon to play Elizabeth Nixon. They played to a 6-6 tie the last time they met.

Coaches Differ On Reason for High Scoring

NEW YORK (AP)—College football is on a point-a-minute binge, but leading coaches disagreed today on what is responsible for the astronomical scoring trend.

"It's the platoon system," chorused one group of mentors, including Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin, Matty Bell of SMU, Jess Neely of Rice and J. V. Sikes of Kansas.

"The platoon system has nothing to do with it," argued others, such as Earl Blaik of Army, Henry Frank of Tulane and Biggie Munn of Michigan State.

Most of them agreed in an Associated Press survey that the sport has become definitely "offense minded," that coaches make no special effort to roll up impressive tallies and that the liberal substitution rule plays a big part in keeping the scoreboard busy.

They traced the assembly line point-making also to "eager beaver" substitutes who, thrown into a game to open the gates of mercy, close the gates instead with a hungry effort to make good.

"We're getting ten or twelve more plays a game now," said Sikes, whose Kansas team was mauling by Oklahoma Saturday.

"I think the two platoon system is a contributing factor."

Oklahoma's Bud Wilkinson attributed the scoring rise to intricate offensive maneuvers and added: "A defense cannot adequately cope with all formations."

Coach Matty Bell, whose SMU boys were upset by Rice 41-27, also figures the liberal substitution rule is a major factor in the wild point parade.

"It rests offensive players and when they go in they are very sharp," he said. "Coaches are taking advantage of the two-platoon system. I don't think more coaches than usual are trying to run up scores. It is a condition they cannot help."

Jess Neely agreed the platoon system helps hike scores but said he didn't think there are better reserves than usual. "More than anything else it's the wide open type of play, spread formations, and so forth," he added.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: How many times since 1900 has a player hit 400 and failed to win the batting championship of his league?

SPORTS SIDELIGHTS: Stanford is the latest university to decide it can get along without further football contacts with Army... The Palo Alto, California, unit is scheduled to play at Army next season, but that will be the last meeting between the two schools in the foreseeable future.

Cornell, likewise, has had enough of Army, and there's a chance that a series will be arranged between Cornell and Stanford, beginning in two or three years... Army, in rolling up impressive records by playing only one or two top-notch opponents, is losing more gridiron friends by far than Navy, which has been faring none too well in the won and lost columns, but isn't afraid to play the big boys.

CONNIE MACK, we told you a couple of weeks ago, has a brilliant memory for details and happenings... But he held a month long correspondence with Arthur Patterson, New York Yankee's publicity director, to prepare for "Connie Mack Day" held at Yankee Stadium this summer... Patterson was also with him all day before the ceremonies... Then, at the conclusion of his speech during the ceremonies, Mack said: "I certainly appreciate everything done for me today by the Yankees, and I most certainly want to express my thanks to you, Mr. SMITH!"... In case you wonder what Ralph Kiner does when he isn't swatting home runs, he relaxes by listening to his record collection... He has almost 150 albums... Les Richter, 220-pound sophomore line-backer at the U. of California, is called "Grabble" by his teammates, who claim his game are the best in West Coast football.

BILLY JURGES, former New York Giant and Chicago Cub shortstop, is slated for a managerial post in the major leagues next season... Jordan Oliver, Loyola of Los Angeles football coach, shudders when he thinks of the darkest moment in his career... It was his first year of coaching, at Villanova, and an Army eleven led by Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis trounced the Villanovans 83 to 0, though the final period was cut short... "Of course," reflects Oliver, "I always consider it a moral victory... We started with 32 men and came home with 32. No one was slaughtered..." The demand for tickets for the Notre Dame-Southern Methodist game at Dallas next December is the greatest ever had in the Southwest.

HARD LUCK HARVESTER, THAT'S JIMMY PARKER

HARD LUCK HARVESTER! That is the suitable title for Jimmy Parker, senior end on the Pampa Harvester football team. School has been hard for this fine young fellow. Not from a scholastic standpoint, because his studies don't bother him. But physically, he has had a tough fight to get through to graduation.

JIMMY PARKER

Jimmy's troubles started during the summer of 1948. Up until that time things had rolled smoothly. He had moved to Pampa when he was twelve and immediately started participating in athletics. When he got into Junior High School he played two seasons with the Reaper football and basketball squads and quickly drew the eye of the Harvester coaches with his size—big, husky—and fairly fast.

His sophomore season in school Jimmy played Harvester football on the strong Green and Gold team of 1947, having as teammates fellows like Red Mayer, Charley Laffoon, Jim Wilson and others now graduated. He also played on the Guerilla basketball five and participated in track and baseball.

All of the coaches drooled as they looked forward to having this lad back for the 1948-49 Inter-scholastic League season. But then it struck!

During the summer of 1948 Jimmy contracted polio. He remained in the hospital for three and a half months. Nine days of that time were spent in an oxygen tent as the handsome, black-haired youth fought for his life. The paralysis set in his right shoulder and left him without the use of his right arm for a long time. Jimmy has fought his way back to almost complete recovery, though the left side of his neck is still paralyzed.

When he finally did get back into school for the 1948-49 term he had missed the first 12 weeks of the semester. Inter-scholastic rules forced him to remain ineligible for Harvester ball the rest of that school year. But Jimmy worked hard getting into shape and regaining his coordination which was affected by his illness. He worked days on end in the gymnasium during the winter getting his legs and shoulders strong again; during the spring he played baseball and track and worked hard outdoors in the sunshine. Everything pointed for a good football season for him in 1949, his senior year.

Last summer Jimmy worked with a construction crew. He wanted any kind of labor that would help him to develop the muscles and affected parts of his body. In addition to his manual labor, Jimmy tried to protect other who might be attacked by polio. He sold polio insurance, a living example of how important the insurance might be to anyone.

Then, Aug. 15, the call came for Harvester football practice to get underway. Jimmy was happy. What he had worked for all these days and months, what he strained and sweated for was finally becoming a reality. Parker earned himself a starting assignment at an end post. Standing over 6 feet, and weighing 170 pounds, he was the ruggedest end on the squad. He was also one of the hardest working and best liked fellows on the team.

Jimmy tried his hand at punting and quickly earned that assignment with his long, spiraling boots. He played hard ball, brilliant ball through the North Dal-as game, the Graham game, the El Paso battle and halfway through the Vernon tilt. Then the hard luck struck again. This time it hit when Jimmy was playing the game he had worked so long and hard to play. He was playing left end for the Harvesters in the third period, getting set to make a tackle when a Vernon player threw a block into him, right at the knees. Jimmy buckled, and immediately crumpled in pain. His leg hurt terrifically. He was carried off the field and laid on the sidelines, suffering severe shock from the leg. The doctor wanted him to go to the hospital for x-rays, but he insisted on staying until the end of the game, which the Harvesters won, 8-7.

As soon as the game was over an ambulance took him to the Vernon Hospital where it was found that his right knee, his ligaments in his right knee, his kicking leg. He remained in Vernon that night and the following day was brought home in an ambulance. He remained in bed a couple of days and then put a strong brace on his knee and went back to school.

How long he will be out of action is unknown. Knees heal slowly. But a week after the accident Jimmy was back in uniform, minus his blocking pads, and out with the team with football shoes on. He jogged around to loosen the leg up; he tried punting left-footed; he learned his assignments on new plays given the team. Monday afternoon, 18 days after the knee was injured, he was back out with full equipment on, rarin' to go. But he was kept out of hard scrimmages, though he did do some light contact work.

This kid WANTS to play ball; he hopes to be ready for the Army game Nov. 5. And you can bet your boots he will get into it, too. Jimmy is a Senior, just turned 18 on August 24. He is an Arkansas by birth, but a Texan since he was six years old. He is a fine student, a great competitor, and a good fellow. His teammates, coaches and fans will be greatly pleased to see him back in there.

SCORES ON HEAD STAND—Ken Roof, Oklahoma A&M fullback, stood on his head to score a touchdown against Drake in the second quarter of a Missouri Valley Conference game played at Stillwater, Okla. Brother Ed Roof (85), a halfback, led the way on the play. Drake players include Frank Lorenzo (81), Joe Makarewicz (82) and Floyd Miller (83), shouldering Roof into the air. The Aggies won 28-0. In Mexico slaughtering our waterfowl? To find out, Albert M. Day, head of the Fish and Wildlife Service, late last year visited the region around Mexico City where gunning is heaviest. He reports: "We found hunting pressure that would be absolutely inconceivable to the average American duck hunter—because it is so light."

Day is convinced that much of the criticism that we in the United States level at the Mexicans is due to a difference in fundamental philosophy about waterfowl hunting. Here duck hunting is a cherished sport. Every waterfowl hunter in the United States contributes annually toward the management of this resource through purchase of the federal duck stamp. The duck hunters of this country have long been seasoned to regulation by the government. They have felt restraints and restrictions for more than 30 years.

In Mexico the situation is entirely different. Hunting is in the same status there as it was here 50 years ago. Game management as we know it is practically nonexistent. The native population takes waterfowl for food pretty much wherever and whenever it can, the same as farm boys in many of our states consider it proper to take rabbits. Yet their methods are so crude and inefficient, and the wintering concentrations of birds are so widely scattered that the total take of birds is small. By the very nature of waterfowl habits combined with the use of ancient

BOWLING Camerer Takes Football Apart

Former Dartmouth Tackler NEW YORK —(NEA)— Just as a thinning herd of Texas longhorns circle the rodeo arena to a funeral backdrop of "Headin' for the last Roundup," the single wing, as a football weapon, seems headed for the Great Divide.

Ten years back you could count on two hands big-time college teams that ran from the T. Now it's the opposite.

Why the wholesale switch to the T? What ingredients does it contain that causes coaches to drool, "That's for me!" Three gradations, the Chicago Bears, Clark Shaughnessy's Stanford Cinderella team of 1940 and Notre Dame started the T wagon rolling. All broke scoring plays from any place including their own five-yard line. Scoring touchdowns in clusters, coaches and fans liked the way the T, in the hands of such clubs, exploded instead of generated. If these made it look so ridiculously easy, why couldn't Split Rock Tech do the same? The herd reasoning was as basic as that.

We have no arguments with the quality of football that the Bears, Stanford, Notre Dame and Army played, continue to play from the T. But those who maintain that today's T football, as played in the rank and file of college and pro ballfields, is better than a shoddy counterfeit of the single wing game of a decade ago can get an argument from this corner.

The T is only partly to blame. Handmaidens, of course, are what amounts to unlimited substitution and platoon football, legislated by college coaches who wanted lawful control of the game—and to neck with the players.

Equally important is the quarterback. He needs a Phi Beta Kappa grid mind, a pitching arm that would look good on Joe Page and the sleight of hand wizardry of Merlin.

As football players stand out T fullbacks and quarterbacks are strictly white orchids. And just any coach who thinks he has an

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949)
Hon. Justice William O. Douglas,
United States Supreme Court
Yakima, Wash.

Dear Judge:
I am sorry your horse rolled on you and broke 14 of your ribs. That is working majority of any man's ribs and, as one who broke three slats would say, I can't understand how you can hurt that much, and live.

Liquor caused my accident. It was winter up in the beautiful Berkshires, 1000 hills of the creditor state of Connecticut where a Communist can ruin a patriot by filing a law-suit alleging that the patriot called him Communist.

I had been out tramping the hills and thickets and when, at evening I came in, our vitamin-monger had delivered a case of nutritious, character - building Old Stepfather which stood on the back-stair landing. I ripped the lid off and tucked six under my arms and about my person and took them up to the closet and I was coming down for the rest when the ice on my heels caught a slick on the stairs and I landed on my side on that stepfather crate. Hurt! I was going to tell you how hurt but I guess I don't know the half of it. I just know three-fourths of it, but if I never learn any more about the hurt of broken ribs I will still consider myself over-educated.

That was during the war. It happened I was hearing some hint of a rumor that some fellow had expressed subversive sentiments about our Civil War. I was adequately characterized C-in-C whose passing aroused in me feelings of depth and nature which need not define to you. I had heard of these subversive expressions and so one afternoon there came to call at my humble flop in the Waldorf two members of the U.S. Secret Service. They found me emerging from my bath like one of those cheese-cake chipmunks of mythology, which is to say I don't wear a swimming suit to tub and was dewy as a Spaniel coming out of a Florida 8 and 9. They wanted to know what this character had said about Moosejaw.

Before we went into that I explained my stove-in condition and pointed to a big roll of flannel about 18 inches wide like the cerements of Tut-Ank-Amen or the belly-band the polis wore in the first of our Holy Crusades. This winding cloth is what you will have to wear when the doctors let you get out of bed. It holds you together. It is about ten yards long and it starts up under your arms and winds down to about here. Though your mother was proud when you learned to button up your union suit and lace your shoes, no mother ever saw the day when her boy could get into this article single-handed.

Judge, this is a project. One of the Secret Service men had one and against the ribs on my good side and the other one started walking around and around me. Pretty soon he began to skip and then we all began to chirp. "Here we go gathering nuts in May, nuts in May, nuts in May" to the tune of that old nursery song that goes "This is the way we wash our clothes." So there was the fearless, infallible Secret Service doing a jig around a nutcase in the Waldorf, to guard the life of the President. I will bet Henry Morgenthau would have given something for the movie rights to that, with sound.

I got well in time, but fun isn't what I would call three broken ribs, and fourteen is even more than I would wish our mutual friend a few seats down from yours. By the way, Judge, note that Sunburst Murphy, the Surprise, is gone. It looks as though you will have to do your hating single-handed, but, if you want a pretty fair sandlot heater to help out until you feel fit to carry double, let me know. May be when you get well you can use this item to adorn your rib routine when you are arching your neck at the national convention of the CIO for the nod in 1952.

Back to the happy days one of my best friends in the fight racket was Chuck Wiggins, of Indianapolis, the only guy except Tunney who could fight Harry Greb free style and hold him even on the ropes. He was light heavy with a nose like an Idaho potato and a heart of gold and when I say he was good to his mother I mean he was good to his mother.

One night Chuck fought a friend in Shreveport and got some ribs stove in and three nights later he was in with Gibbons in New Orleans. So Chuck went to Gibbons and said after all, it wouldn't mean much to Tommy to knock him out, but it would hurt his earnings to get knocked out. So, confidentially, he had some busted ribs and if Tommy would be so kind as to gentle him on that side he would ever praise his name and do as much for him some time.

Tommy said, "Sure, what side are they on?" and Chuck said to me long afterward, "I saw that honest, God-fearing, clean-living look in his eye and I said to myself, 'Chuckler, that type is not to be trusted.' So I said 'The left side' and he promised to act nice. The first two rounds he dropped a few pokes into the left side and I would wince and screw up my face, but not quick enough. So, in the third he got me in a clinch and said 'You have told me a falsehood and if there is anything I can't stand it is deceitfulness.' And with that he hit me one hell of a belt on the right side and let out a yell and died. Never trust a man with that honest, God-fearing, home-loving look."

Want any books, Judge? I just got Ray Moley's compendium of picturesque political characters ranging from him whose name I never hear with out strange emotional arousal down to little old wry-neck Hatton Summers, of Dallas, the only man in the U.S.A. with the courage to tip no more than ten percent and to send you that. Know any new swear words? Sincerely, Peg.

Billions Spent to Meet Oil Demands
This week (Oct. 16-22) one of the biggest industries in this country is observing its progress. Oil Progress Week is a good time to look over some very interesting figures. For instance, since the war, the industry has been engaged in the greatest expansion and betterment program in its history. From 1945 through 1949, expenditures for property, plant and equipment in the United States will total more than 11 billion dollars.

Right here in the Panhandle, a gasoline plant built this year by one company (Cities Service) cost about $1,800,000. One can only guess what expenditures in the whole Panhandle have come to this year. They are certainly high. Why is it necessary to spend these vast sums? The head of a major oil company recently answered that question in a statement made before a government committee. First, as population grows and living standards rise, consumer demand increases. Today we use 86 percent more petroleum products than we did in 1928. Second, equipment and machinery wear out, and must be replaced. Third, an adequate supply of raw materials must be assured. As oil from one field is used up, new fields must be found. The cost is heavy.

Fourth, oil is an intensely competitive enterprise. When one company puts a new and worthwhile idea into practice, the other companies, to meet the competition, must often make heavy investments. No company can stand still and remain in competition.

Finally, the industry is always looking for ways to produce and provide new products and services. Large sums must be spent for this essential purpose.

The billions the industry is spending on its betterment program are, literally, billions for progress. Everyone in the country eventually benefits from them.

The Nation's Press
HOW DO WE JUDGE THEM?
(Chicago Daily Tribune)

Majority Leader Lucas in the senate contended that "nothing good" could come from an examination of the record made by Mr. Justice Minton as a senator.

"You can't judge a man by what he does in the senate," said so far as his judicial character is concerned," Lucas asserted.

"The Truman political machine is using every possible pressure on the senate to get it to reject the commerce committee, which recommended, 10 to 2, that Leland Olds' appointment to a third term on the federal power commission be rejected. The committee turned down Olds after reading some of his voluminous writings in communist and other left wing publications, in which he disclosed himself to be an implacable enemy of the industry of which he is supposed to be an impartial policeman. Olds' defense before the subcommittee which examined him was that he should be judged by what he had done."

Mr. Gen. Vaughan spent a most unpleasant time before a senate committee investigating the 5 per cent grafters. He said that he shouldn't be judged by what he had done for John Maragon and other flaglappers, because whatever he did came out of his loving disposition and the pureness of his heart.

Every time the committee on un-American activities turns over another rock and brings to light another New Dealer in the possession of security information who has a record as long as your arm of association with Communists and activity in communist front organizations, the committee is subjected to a torrent of billingsgate from a New Deal clique usually led by Eleanor Roosevelt. The committee, they allege, is trying to establish guilt by association.

Scott Lucas says that you shouldn't judge his friends by the way they talk and vote in the senate. Leland Olds says you shouldn't judge people by what they write. Harry Vaughan says you shouldn't judge people by what they do, or by how much graft their friends get through their efforts. Eleanor and the rest of the Histories say that you shouldn't judge people by the company they keep or the causes they support.

Close - Ups by Upton Close
PENSION PLAN FOR SYNDICALISM
The big development in our march toward socialism inside the United States is the union move to get pensions as part of wages. The two most important angles of this move, adopted by Reuther, Murray and others from John L. Lewis, have been overlooked. They are: 1. The desire of labor leaders to hide from view the syndicalization of U. S. industry. 2. The frightful mistrust of "social security" in a welfare state.

Let industrialists and consumers take note that the scheme for pension funds maintained solely by the employer will be the most costly and insidious move against the economy and enterprise yet introduced. For each industry to take care of its own manpower would well; in reality this actually syndicalizes each industry which adopts it. Some corporate entities must be responsible, and so held by the state, for care of the widens of every employer in an industry.

Be he success or failure, producing at high cost or low—the he bankrupt—the going concerns will have to be earner for those which go bankrupt. The labor union or the government will have to collect and disburse this additional obligation. Whoever does assume it will be long literally control the operation of the industry. Therefore, fixing costs and prices, any pretense at competition must disappear. This would be the end of free enterprise.

And mark this: Tackling security benefits on to price of the commodity for the consumer to pay, the employer to collect, and the labor union to disburse, is the way of hiding completely from the worker that he himself is paying. So long as he had to face larger and larger deductions from his pay envelope, so cialism was taking itself to a step in this country, for the workman is approaching the point of rebellion against deductions. Now we have introduced the reality clever scheme of persuading him that he can get something for nothing. If industry lets him be shipped over to the more fool industry!—private enterprise is signing its death warrant. Any straight pay increase would be cheaper.

"Something for nothing is usually nothing for something in the end." This is true definition of socialism. I might close with the observation that: Self-respecting minds ought to be getting sick of the "liberal" shibboleth that "free enterprise is a trial everywhere in the world." Actually, socialism is on trial everywhere in the world—and proving itself a blood-sucking parasite on what remains of healthy free-enterprise anatomy.

A Text Book on Peace

I have been quoting from a great new book "Human Action". I believe it is the soundest text book on promoting peace throughout the world that has been written for centuries. It tells why men fight. Unless we can find out why men fight and show them that it is not to their interest to fight, we will continue to have wars after another. Listen to this:

"Men are fighting one another because they are convinced that the extermination and liquidation of adversaries is the only means of promoting their own well-being. The Social Implications of Darwinism

"The theory of evolution as expounded by Darwin, says a school of social Darwinism, has clearly demonstrated that in nature there are no such things as peace and respect for the lives of others. In nature there is always struggle and merciless annihilation of the weak who do not succeed in defending themselves. Liberalism's plan for eternal peace—both domestic and in foreign relations—are the out- come of an illusory rationalism contrary to the natural order.

"However, the notion of the struggle for existence as Darwin borrowed it from Malthus and applied it in his theory is to be understood in a metaphorical sense. Its meaning is that a living being actively resists the forces detrimental to its own life. This resistance, if it is to succeed, must be appropriate to the environmental conditions in which the being concerned has to hold its own. It need not always be a war of extermination such as in the relation of the predator to the prey. It may be a struggle for space, for food, for mates, for man, the most adequate means of improving his condition is social cooperation and labor. They are man's foremost means of survival. But they can work only where there is peace. Wars, civil wars, and revolutions are detrimental to man's success in the struggle for existence because they disintegrate the apparatus of social cooperation.

The Doctor Says

The arteries which carry blood from the heart to all parts of the body gradually become less elastic with increasing years. Although this process starts early in life, it is unusual when hardening of any symptoms from this cause until the later years of life.

The increased hardness of the arteries, or arteriosclerosis, which lessens the flow of blood is likely to be so gradual that there is no way of detecting it until it has become quite advanced. The arteries do not become hardened at the same rate of speed in one part of the body that they do in another. For example, the walls of the arteries in the legs may become thick, hard, and inelastic while those supplying the kidneys or the arms are still normal and soft.

Deposits of calcium in the walls of the blood vessels is the principal thing responsible for the hardening of the arteries. Why calcium should be deposited in the arteries, why it should be deposited faster in some arteries than in others, and why it should come earlier in some people than in others, no one yet knows.

BLOOD SUPPLY DECREASED
The symptoms from arteriosclerosis depend on what arteries are affected and to what degree they are injured by the thickening and the deposit of calcium. When the amount of blood flowing through a hardened artery is greatly decreased, there will not be enough blood to supply the needs of some parts of the body.

The treatment of hardening of the arteries depends on which blood vessels are involved and how seriously they are affected. There is no diet which will prevent hardening of the arteries or any which will dissolve out the calcium deposits already formed. The proper amount of rest and whatever local measures are indicated by the arteries involved is about all that can be done.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

Question: Will beer cause people to become fat?

Answer: Beer contains a good many calories which are turned into fat by the human body. Therefore, the drinking of beer added to the ordinary diet will produce fatness.

WASHINGTON—William Green has frequently been taunted as the "weak old man" of the American labor movement. Enemies and even some of his own subordinates have wished that the 76-year-old president of the American Federation of Labor would match the zeal and aggressiveness of John L. Lewis or Phillip Murray.

His failure to reinforce or ally himself with his two rivals in their current strike for bigger and better pensions in coal and steel was attributed to his non-aggressive leadership, as well as to his resentment toward their more spectacular achievements.

Only a few days ago there was talk of unseating him at the AFL's recent convention in St. Paul.

But it was an extraordinarily mild and smooth-running meeting. Only a few days ago there was talk of unseating him at the AFL's recent convention in St. Paul.

HAPPY — It seems that, while their followers are losing work-pay in the fight for assurance of security in their old age, Mr. Green's unions have been winning sizeable raises in almost every new contract negotiated during 1949.

RENOMINATION — President Truman highlighted agricultural troubles and issues last year, winning many GOP strongholds. Indeed, it is believed that he could not have defeated Governor Thomas E. Dewey without this support.

MIFFED — Leaders of these three vast union organizations, highly skeptical of the President Truman because he has shown more concern in preserving farm income through new legislation than in bettering the workers' conditions. They think he should have bettered himself more actively on behalf of Capitol Hill issues affecting their welfare.

He failed to obtain repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act. His proposals for lowering retail prices, thus increasing the purchasing power of their take-home pay, did not get through. They derive hardly any benefit from the boost of minimum hourly pay to 75 cents, because most union members receive a far higher rate.

gram. They insist upon the expediency of their plans and upon their utility. It is obvious that they do not differ from one another in their aims, but only in the means. They all pretend to aim at the highest material welfare for the majority of citizens.

"The nationalists stress the point that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the interests of various nations, but that, on the other hand, the rightly understood interests of all the citizens within the nation are harmonious. A nation can prosper only at the expense of other nations; the individual citizen can fare only if his national flourishes. The liberals have a different opinion. They believe that the interests of various nations harmonize no less than those of individuals within a nation. They believe that peaceful international cooperation is a more appropriate means than conflict for attainment of the end which they and the nationalists are both aiming at: their own nation's welfare. They do not, as the nationalists charge, advocate peace and free trade in order to betray their own nation's interests to those of foreigners. On the contrary, they consider peace and free trade the best means to make their own nation wealthy. What separates the free traders from the nationalists is not ends, but the means recommended for attainment of the ends common to both."

It's very difficult to talk now. The situation is very delicate, but the day will come when we will talk.

Backyard Cookin'

By GORDON MARTIN

There was once a time when picnics called for trips to places far, and we packed a bulging hamper which we loaded in the car. Or sometimes we hiked to shaded woods to eat our picnic food, and commined with Mother Nature in her rural quietude. But no longer need we picnic at some far-off rendezvous, for we've made a institution of the backyard barbecue.

Now the backyard cookin' custom has produced a breed of cooks, who absorb a lot of knowledge from their barbecuin' books. And it's strange the way a man who never cooks a thing indoors is the gent who loves a barbecue and its attendant chores. For he dresses up in apron long, and dons a chef's white cap, and for thoughts of other would-be cooks he doesn't care a snap.

He has rigid rules on how to build the proper charcoal fire, and your meat is cooked his way, no matter what you might desire. And although you think his cookin' job is anything but grand, he's insulted should you fail to say he's tops in all the land. Though we've made an institution of the backyard barbecue, we have paid the price because we've got the barbecue too.

CCDP Seeks Passage of Senate Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Citizens Committee on Displaced Persons wants the Senate to pass next January the now-shelved DP bill "as it stands."

The legislation to bring in additional thousands of homeless Europeans to America, said this private group, should not be "mutilated and emasculated beyond recognition as the apparent attitude of Senator McCarran would portend."

The committee statement was distributed from New York by Earl G. Harrison, chairman. Harrison urged Senate passage of the House-approved bill "as the one measure that can liberalize the discriminatory DP Act of 1948."

The Senate voted Saturday night 88 to 20, to send the measure back to its Judiciary Committee. It recommended return of the bill next January 25.

Chairman McCarran (D-NeV) of the Judiciary Committee, now traveling in Europe, had urged that the Senate take no action this year. He said the objectives of the bill, written by Rep. Celler (D-NY) is to destroy immigration barriers and flood the country with aliens.

President Truman backed the bill. He charged that existing DP legislation is "anti-Catholic and anti-Semitic."

'Flying Saucer' Part of Furnace WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. — (AP) — An Army officer said a doughnut-shaped disc found near here that revolved "flying saucer" reports was the top of a hot air furnace.

"It was somebody's joke," said Maj. George Stephens of the nearby Susquehanna Army sub-depot after examining the device.

"It is the top of a hot air furnace which somebody cut off with an acetylene torch," Major Stephens told a reporter. He made it plain that he was voicing a personal opinion.

Witnesses said the disc fell flaming from the sky last Aug. 5 and burned a swath in the grass.

COUPLE STARTS BUSINESS CINCINNATI — (AP) — Blind since birth, the married team of Jane and Avery Dotsen has started a furniture repair business as a home industry. Avery does the manual work, Jane gets the orders.

There is one possible explanation for both the slowness of the repatriation and the missing 305,000 men. The first shipments, in 1946, included the sick, lame, lazy and aged. The 1947 group began to show signs of Communist teachings.

In 1948, the number of "converted" prisoners increased sharply with the last six ships returning to Japan that year, completely controlled by Communists. The majority of the first shipment to land at Mairuru this year shouted Communist songs and many openly pledged to work toward a Communist regime in Japan.

As the Takasago Maru steamed into the Japan Sea harbor, the repatriates lined the rails and about three-fourth chanted Communist songs. When questioned later, the former Nipponese soldiers said the songs were "songs of democracy" and "songs for international peace."

Many of this year's repatriates, after being schooled for nearly four years in communism, said they had been working for Stalin's five-year-plan "for the masses" and they intended to help build a Communist government in Japan to "prevent another war."

They wore Russian boots and clothing. They signed a letter of thanks to Stalin for their good treatment in Russian hands. They continually referred to the friendliness and kindness of the Soviet people.

Many observers believe that, as Mairuru's Mayor Shuji Yanagida says, the missing 305,000 are the indoctrinated "the Soviets are afraid to send back."

City Jail Takes On 'New Smell' Chief of Police J. O. Dumas got kind of a tired of hearing the "New Look," "New Sound," and "Next Look."

So he started something else—the New Smell. It seems the City Jail needed a good airing, scrubbing and fall house cleaning in general. He would have liked to paint up a little under the program but the Sheriff's Department stole his best painter.

Dumas assembled his small collection of drunks, who were unable to pay their fines, and started the job. Monday afternoon the odor of fresh disinfectant permeated City Hall offices and corridors. But Monday morning one of the city's repeating visitors—in excellent condition when sober—was lifted by Chief Deputy Rufe Jordan to finish laying out a fine he owed the county.

So the jail won't be painted after all.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

FREE STORY: Jenny's marriage to Tod Dumas has not been happy. Tod is unable to forget Liz Cosevich, who fitted him before his marriage. He shows no attention to his infant twin sons. They live in an equal basement apartment. The only bright spot for Jenny is Tod's old friend Rick Slattery. She suspects Rick is in love with Jenny. Jenny also has quarreled with her friend Miss Cushman because she doesn't like Tod. Unhappy over everything, Jenny cries herself to sleep after looking over the little velvet bonnet she had worn the day she broke the news to Tod of Liz Cosevich's existence.

Jenny, meanwhile, was hurrying to the grocery because Mrs. Slattery could only watch the twins half an hour. It was a misty, rainy day.

Rick came around a corner and almost ran into her. "Jenny!" he exclaimed.

Rick took her elbows and gave her a little shake, looking down grinning with little wrinkles fanning out from his eyes. "I've missed you like the very dickens. I was on my way to see you—parked my car around the corner so I could surprise you. But this is even better—just like that other day. Remember?"

"When we were living in the trailer!" Jenny remembered that golden October day when she had hardly known Rick, but what fun they had.

"You're on your way to the grocery I'll bet."

"How can you tell?" Jenny's laughter bubbled up.

"That old shopping bag, I'm sure it's the same one you were carrying that other day I went to the grocery with you."

Rick took her arm. "You were wearing a bright red beret and a short red coat with some kind of fancy striped scarf and you looked cute as a button."

"Why Rick, you do have a memory!" Jenny cried. "It's incredible. That was a long time ago."

She was uncomfortably aware all at once of her old black shoes.

a bit run down at the heels, the too short skirt.

Rick noticed her quietness. "The babies okay?" She nodded.

"Tod?" She nodded again. He grinned and gave her arm a squeeze. "Remember that other time all the crazy things we bought, and when Tod got home I was wearing one of your aprons cooking up some crazy thing?" He opened the door and they went into the market.

Rick got a cart and began pushing it.

It was so good to laugh with Rick. Now if Tod would only get an early bus home, the three of them could have a wonderful evening together.

Rick was delighted with the twins, tottering about now on unsteady legs, and making delightful though bubbly efforts at conversation. He was glad to take over from Mrs. Slattery.

A hilarious time ensued, with Rick crawling about on all fours from behind chairs and the twins making the room echo with laughter.

"I'll never get them to go to sleep," Jenny cried happily. It wasn't often they had such a romp. But Rick helped her get them into their sleepers, and he washed their faces while Jenny got their milk ready.

It was now 6 o'clock and no sign of Tod. Rick's gawdy did not diminish. He insisted on going out to the kitchen to help prepare dinner. Jenny kept running to the front windows of the living room every time a bus was due.

At seven still no Tod. The potatoes, delightfully fluffy half hour ago were stiff now. The gravy, made by Rick's own recipe, with sherry wine had congealed a trifle.

Jenny filled two plates, while Rick poured the chilled wine. He held Jenny's chair for her. "Don't worry so, Jenny. Nothing's happened," he said, smiling down at her.

They had just unfolded their napkins when the door opened and Tod saluted them from the doorway. He came unsteadily into the room.

Council Slates Annual Meeting

The annual association meeting of the Adobe Walls Area Council will be held the first part of December. Huey Laycock, Annual Meeting Committee chairman, said today.

The meeting will be held in Pampa this year. Last year the annual meeting was held at the Frank Phillips Junior College, Borger, with Chief Scout Elbert K. Fretwell as principal speaker.

The speaker for the 1949 meeting is yet to be appointed.

The Rev. Warren W. Fry, Clarendon, Lewis Fischer, Hooker, Okla., H. H. Beavers, Borger, and Walter LaMasters, Perrytown, met with Laycock last night to formulate plans for the meeting.

Japan Fearful for 305,000 'Missing' Prisoners of War

COMMUNISTS among the returning Japanese prisoners from Russia repatriated this year were in the majority. When the radio announcer (right) who met the returning shipload asked one of the group to say a few words, this former prisoner stepped up and made a Red-flavored speech.

By RICHARD G. FERGUSON TOKYO — (NEA) — Four years have passed since the Japanese surrendered to the Allies, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur thinks the surrender terms and deserve a peace treaty. But before Japan can sign articles with Russia, there is a little matter still to be cleared up. There are some 400,000 Japanese prisoners still in Russian hands, by MacArthur's staff estimates. The Soviet, on the other Arthur's Allied Council for Japan demanding action.

The Council has done all it could. It has made repeated offers to Russia, volunteering boats and harbor facilities for repatriate transportation.

When Russia said bad weather conditions were responsible for the slow transfer of prisoners, MacArthur offered an ice-breaker to keep sea-lanes open.

Russia declined and clamped on a six-month winter suspension of transfers. Last winter was mild, leading Japan to hope the transfer would be resumed earlier than it had been the preceding year. But this year's first shipment did not land until June 27, two months later than in 1948.

Russia's claim of bad iceing at the shove-off port of Nahodka, near Vladivostok, was refuted by a Japanese repatriate class of '48, who wrote to the Tokyo newspaper Asahi. "I, who spent all winter on the shores of Nahodka can affirm (that) there was not even a day that Soviet vessels were unable to come into port."

Even the Japanese Communist Party, in a polite but firm note to Communist headquarters in Moscow, has protested the delay.

There is one possible explanation for both the slowness of the repatriation and the missing 305,000 men. The first shipments, in 1946, included the sick, lame, lazy and aged. The 1947 group began to show signs of Communist teachings.

YORE SNORIN' SPOOKED TH' PACK MULE! I GOT IN LATE AN' JUST STARTED TO UNLOAD TH' SUPPLIES AN' WHO SNORT-SNORES!

EGAD, BOYS! INSTEAD OF THE USUAL GOAL-LINE SCRIMMAGE TO REACH THE TUB, SUPPOSE WE DRAW HIGH CARD!—THEN WE CAN PROCEED TO THE BATH IN AN ORDERLY, DIGNIFIED MANNER!

I'LL STILL DEPEND ON MY ELBONS—YOU'VE EITHER SUGARED THE DECK OR YOU'RE CUFFING AN ACE!

I'M LEADOFF-TONIGHT! LAST TIME I FOLLOWED YOU IN THE WATER, WAS JUST RIGHT FOR COOLING BEER?

ANY PENALTY FOR CLIPPING?

Blondie

WHY ARE YOU AND HERE PASSING NOTES TO EACH OTHER?

WE'RE NOT ON SPEAKING TERMS.

Wash Tubbs

ON HIS WAY TO THE REPORT EASY CALL ON CAROL TUBBS.

EACH DAY I'VE THOUGHT SURELY WE'D HEAR SOMETHING OF WASH—BUT I'M BEGINNING TO LOSE HOPE, EASY...

THERE WAS NO HINT OF TROUBLE WITH ANYONE IN WASH'S LETTERS FROM SAN MORINGO. THEN TWO WEEKS AGO THEY STOPPED!

IT'S ODD YOUR FATHER'S INQUIRIES FAILED TO TURN UP A SINGLE CLUE.

SOMETHING DREADFUL MAY HAVE HAPPENED TO HIM! OH, EASY... I'M SO GLAD YOU ARE GOING DOWN TO INVESTIGATE!

I'LL DO MY BEST, CAROL. WE'VE BEEN PALS FOR A LONG TIME... I'VE GOT TO FIND HIM!

Red Ryder

SO YOU DIDN'T FIND SUSIE-JO! POOR LITTLE KID!

STORM TOO BAD LAST NIGHT TO FOLLOW 'ER TRAIL! NOW, RED RYDER GET-UM DOG!

YAK—I'VE GOT SOME TRACKIN' T'DO! I NEED YOU AND YOUR HOUND-DOG!

I KAIN'T, RED! MY RHOANOCES AIN'T IN KEEPIN' WITH A LION CHASE!

YOU DON'T SAUVY! SUSIE-JO IS LOST IN THE WOODS!

JUMPIN' BULL-TOAD SURE I'LL GO!

Boots

NO KADDIN', DALE—WHY DO YOU LIKE ME?

YOU REMIND ME OF MY MOTHER!

LIKE YOU? THAT'S EASY.

Tex Austin

OH, WHAT EVER WILL BECOME OF ME! (SOB!)

PSST—FRANKIE! I'LL GO FETCH HER HUSBAND!—TSK-TSK!

GOSH—I'M SORRY... I SHOULD A MINDED MY OWN BUSINESS!—BUT WHEN I SEEN YOUR HUSBAND SMACK YA—I—I...

HUSBAND! THAT DRIP! HE'S MY VAUDEVILLE PARTNER!—AND I HATE HIM!—OH... I'M SO MISERABLE!... SO BROKE... SO HUNGRY!

... SO ALONE!!

Bo

QUICK, BO, COME AND SEE WHAT'S IN OUR YARD... A MANSY-LOOKING MUTT—AND I MEAN MANSY.

HOW THE DICKENS DID HE GET IN HERE? BOTH GATES ARE SHUT...

HOW TO GET HIM OUT IS MORE TO THE POINT.

HEY, MOM... LOOK OUT IN THE YARD... WE'VE GOT ANOTHER VISITOR...

EXCUSE ME, STRANGER, CAN YOU DIRECT ME TO THE ADDRESS IN THIS AD?

WHY, SURE, IT'S THE THIRD HOUSE IN THE NEXT BLOCK. I JUST LEFT THERE.

Mickey Finn

YOU MEAN YOUR NEIGHBORS ARE ON THE SMOOTH SIDE, DAN?

EXACTLY! AND I'M A REGULAR GUY, PHIL—LIKE YOU AND CLANCY! I LIKE TO HAVE FUN!

DON'T THEY HAVE ANY FUN?

HAW! ALL THEY DO IS PLAY BRIDGE AND BRAG ABOUT THE COLLEGES THEY WENT TO! I'VE BEEN FED UP FOR MONTHS!

WELL, I'M CERTAINLY SURPRISED TO HEAR ALL THIS, DAN! I THOUGHT YOU WERE VERY HAPPY AND CONTENTED!

HUMPH! I STOPPED BEIN' HAPPY AND CONTENTED WHEN I MOVED AWAY FROM THIS NEIGHBORHOOD—AND ALL MY OLD FRIENDS!

BUT I'M MOVIN' BACK HERE AS SOON AS I CAN—AND THEN I'LL START TO ENJOY LIVIN' AGAIN!

Penny

PENNY, WHY ARE YOU EATING WITH YOUR FINGERS? WHERE ARE YOUR MANNERS?

FINGERS WERE MADE BEFORE FORKS, MOTHER.

YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY RIGHT, DEAR—AND FORKS WERE MADE BEFORE MOVIES!

DICTIONAR! SHE'S NOTHING BUT A DIC-TATOR!

Traveler to Win Free Vacation

BROWNSVILLE — (AP) — Some traveler will win a $2,000 free vacation in the Rio Grande Valley. The Brownsville Junior Chamber of Commerce announced it is again sponsoring the annual competition for "Typical Tourist of 1949." The competition runs from Nov. 1 to Nov. 20. Last year's winner, Fay H. Houlton of Hawarden, Iowa, will be on hand to help fete this year's title holder. After the round of festivities in 1948 Houlton promptly bought a house and settled in the valley.

TIRE STILL BOUNCES AT 75 BELOW—The tire resting in the deep freeze above is made from a new synthetic rubber compound that bounces instead of shattering at 75 degrees below zero. Physicist G. L. Hall at the Firestone Company laboratory in Akron, O., checks data on the Arctic rubber tire which may enable engineers to solve many problems of machinery operation in sub-zero climates. The best rubber tires freeze hard as rock at 60 below, develop permanent flat spots when parked, and lose their treads through chipping. The new tire is expected to remain serviceable at 75 degrees below zero.

Dancing Offered as Way to Chase Away That Shy Feeling

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — Many people get rid of a feeling of inferiority today by living down on a psychiatrist's couch. And for $15 an hour — more or less — they talk away their troubles.
Long ago Arthur Murray used his head to figure a cheaper way to cure shyness — through the balls of the feet.
He began as a youthful $5 a week instructor in a dime-a-dance hall. Today, rich and bunion-free at 54, he operates a $22,000,000 annual dance business. In the last 37 years he has managed to cure practically everybody's shyness except his own.
"I figure in that time we have taught about 6,000,000 people to dance," he said the other day, sipping rather dolefully from a can of apricot juice. "We've enrolled about 2,000,000 in our studios, 3,000,000 by mail, and about 1,000,000 by radio."
It has been some years since Murray had to wear out his own dancing pumps steering satchel-footed pupils around the floor. The Murray system now has about 194 affiliated studios of the dance across the nation. They employ some 5,000 teachers.
The cathedral of this rumba and waltz empire is a huge studio on Madison Avenue in mid-Manhattan that grosses $1,200,000 annually.
Murray, who says he was gawky and shy himself as a boy, still appears mildly uncomfortable whenever he is asked a question. "But Mrs. Murray, a dark slim little woman of tremendous energy, has the personality of the pair."
"Arthur still dances every single day when he doesn't have a cold — from 5 minutes to an hour," she said. "He is best at the rumba. He does a beautiful rumba. He used to do the jitterbug, but it's passe now. Only the older people do it."
"You know, as soon as the older people take up a dance, the kids drop it."
"Most of the adults who want to learn to dance are between 40 and 60," explained Mrs. Murray. "And 65 percent of our pupils are men. The reason? Men study things — women don't. We're lazy."
The latest Murray gimmick is a lifetime course. Anyone who takes this $5,000 course of 1,000 hours can then return and dance free two hours a month for as long as his arches last. One Long Island schoolteacher is buying two — she just loves to dance.
"Our course is different from the lifetime fountain pen offer," smiled Mrs. Murray. "We don't put them under water."

Man Hunted Since 1945 Is Captured

VERNON — (AP) — Antonio Gonzales, 38, hunted since 1945 on a charge of murder in the death of his sweetheart in Brownfield, was captured on a farm 11 miles west of Vernon late Sunday.
Vernon Police Chief Walter Suttle saw the farm laborer in the city. The chief checked his files and found a picture and description of Gonzales in a March, 1948, copy of a detective magazine.
Gonzales was indicted by a Perry County grand jury in Brownfield in 1945. He was charged in the murder of Miss Daisy Lee Goosby on Feb. 17. In June, 1948, the FBI entered the case and filed a complaint at Lubbock charging Gonzales fled the state to avoid prosecution.
Miss Goosby was shot in her home in Brownfield. Before she died from the bullet wound she told police Gonzales shot her after she told him she would have nothing more to do with him.
Gonzales was captured by officers headed by Texas Ranger Jim Geer. Officers said he had a long bladed knife but offered no resistance.

Director Seeks Fair Deal for Movies in School

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — A fair deal for movies in the seats of higher learning is advocated by top Director William Wyler, just back from an encounter in the ivy league.
Last weekend Wyler addressed drama students at Yale and showed them his latest film, "The Heiress." He reports that he was neither heckled, booed or stoned, as a Hollywoodian might expect on invading the upper cultural reaches.
"On the contrary," he said in his studio office, "there was no heckling. The boys were courteous, and their questions were quite intelligent. I'll admit I was much relieved; I was prepared for anything."
Wyler emphasized that more universities should take up the study of the motion picture, as a few are now doing.
"The colleges have schools of drama. Even though they're called that, they include the study of comedy. But not of the motion picture. I think the course should be renamed 'schools of dramatic art' and include all mediums."
"Colleges prepare students for working on the stage alone. But there is much more opportunity for work in other fields, such as radio and motion pictures."
When Wyler mentioned this, a son of Eli inquired: "Does this mean we can all get jobs if we go out to Hollywood?"
"The director quickly backtracked: 'There is always room for talent in the creative end of motion pictures — if you have talent.'"
Wyler's last two pictures — "Mrs. Miniver" and "Best Years of Our Lives" — have won something like 16 academy awards, including two for himself. "There is always room for might well be headed by students of the cinema."

Mobilization of Economic Resources Termed Most Important Security Item

DALLAS — (AP) — Mobilization of economic resources for emergency is the most important single item relating to national security, Rear Adm. L. S. Sabine of Washington, said.
Sabine spoke at opening ceremonies at the 10-day economic mobilization course for reserve officers and civilians of the Dallas area.
Speaking of the necessity for immediate thinking and planning during peacetime for economic and industrial mobilization and the importance of civilian-military coordination, Sabine, who is deputy commander of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, said:
"There is no place you can store time for use in the future. The time to think about the problems of economic mobilization is now. The time to do something about those problems is now."
"No plan affecting the mobilization of the civilian economy is going to succeed unless it has civilian backing, and it won't have civilian backing unless it has civilian participation," Sabine said.
"This problem must be solved by a completely unified civilian-military team playing under rules which everybody understands."
"No aggressor will hesitate to push the button of war because he fears the physical courage of our people. What he does fear is the power of the economic might of this nation which is behind that courage."
