WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hass—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What major university has graduates that are the head football coaches of 20 colleges and 3 professional teams?

THE MAJOR LEAGUE BASEBALL RACES ARE NOW HISTORY AND IT IS once again World Series time. Anyone who doesn't appreciate baseball, or that failed to hear yesterday's thrilling broadcast accounts of the New York-Boston and Brooklyn-Philadelphia games that were available to this area, certainly missed out on a carload of thrills despite the fact that the broadcasts were wire reports.

The fellow who picks up today's paper and reads the final scores and sees who's playing in the World Series has missed all the drama of the battles. In New York City the Red Sox-Yankee game definitely meant that the winner was going to enter the Series. Not only was it a brilliant mound duel between two of the leading pitchers in baseball, Ellis Kinder and Vic Raschi, but there were other scores to settle. Casey Stengel, Yankee manager, took over the reins of the Bombers during the winter. He was referred to as the clown of baseball, and all of his various laughing antics and sayings were recollected. He had been shoved all over the National League, never with a winner. He was out to prove his ability.

Guiding the Boston team was old Joe McCarthy, the winningest manager in the game who led the Yankees to their pennants in the '30's and early '40's. He retired from baseball, from the position job as manager of the Bronx Bombers, reportedly because of ill health, though it was pretty apparent that it was a strong dislike for a man in the front office of the New York club at that time that caused his "retirement." He came back to head the Red Sox and he wanted bitterly to down these Yankees, many of whom he had brought into their own when he was with the club.

Jolting Joe DiMaggio, "Mr. Big" of the Bombers, out most of the season with a sore heel and back in the lineup after a week's battle with a virus attack, wanted to help earn his $100,000 a year salary, which well he did through his ability to lead the Yankees when they needed the tonic the most. He also had a score to settle with Teddie Williams.

Williams will probably be run down by sports writers for his inability to do anything against the Yanks in this all-important series. But you can bet he was trying. Earlier in the season DiMaggio was reported to have said some uncomplimentary things about the Thumper. It was rumored that DiMaggio said that Williams choked up in the clutch and that he was a lazy ballplayer. Williams was out to disprove both remarks.

And the Yankee ballclub as a whole had to prove its ability to successfully fight, all season long, a series of injuries and ailments that attacked nearly every athlete on the club. Seventy-one different times various members of the team were sidelined because of some ailment, yet the club led the race or shared first place practically every day.

And the winning-blow of the game, the bases-full double by Jerry Coleman, was the climactic and decisive point. Coleman, a rookie, had taken the second basing chore away from a veteran and all-star key player, Snuffy Stirrweiss.

In the National League the situation was a bit different. The two contenders did not face each other on the final date. The Cardinals needed a victory and the Dodgers had to lose, and then all that would be gained was a tie. The Cards game started an hour later than the Bums affair, and their case appeared hopeless as they took the field against the Cubs and the scoreboard showed the Dodgers holding a 5-0 lead with their ace fireballer, Don Newcombe, hurling. But the Redbirds, led by Stan Musial, knocked the Cubs around with one eye on the scoreboard. They saw the Phils sneak up on the Dodgers.

Vols Topple Tulsa, 9-1

TULSA, Okla. — (AP) — Right-hander Ben Wade will shoulder the responsibility of trying to get the Nashville Vols even with the Tulsa Oilers in the Dixie Series tonight.

The Vols, pennant and playoff winners in the Southern Association, got back in the ball game yesterday with a 9-1 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Frank Marino.

The triumph brought new hope to the Vols after they were whacked soundly in the first two games. On the line to oppose Wade in tonight's fourth game is slim Jim Avrea, a righthander with a tantalizing sinker ball.

Tulsa now needs two straight verdicts to end the series without trekking back to Nashville. Nashville has a record of 103-93-5. Tulsa has a record of 90-101-1. Marino and Hensley; Cross, Smith, Beber, Fojovka and Williams.

Rhubarbs Show Need for Extra Exits for Umps

By DAN DANIEL
NEA Special Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — From the banks of the brawly Mississippi to the turgid Harlem, the final fortnight of the baseball season composed a thriller of furors unmatched in the major leagues since 1908.

That was the year of the Fred Merkle incident, and the loss of the National League pennant to the Giants to the Cubs, as well as the Tigers' half-game edge over the Indians in the American.

The carnival of hysterics and histrionics started in St. Louis, Sept. 21, in a struggle between the Dodgers, 1-0, Jackie Robinson took violent umbrage at a decision by Bill Stewart, and got the heave-ho.

After the game, the umpire encountered Robinson and Don Newcombe in the runway, Jackie made a significant gesture. The pitcher aspersed Bill's lineage.

There were repercussions from the Gowanus to Sportsman's Park.

There is a parallel between the St. Louis incident and what happened under the stands of Yankee Stadium, when Cliff Mapes of the Yankees shouted to Umpire Bill Grieve, "How much did you have on the game?"

The Grieve and Stewart incidents argue strongly against forcing umpires to leave the field by the game runaway as the players.

The present situation asks for trouble. Commissioner Chandler should advise club owners to effect a change.

Ralph Branca appeared to be disposing of the Phillies in elegant fashion in the eighth. Suddenly Ralph found himself on the outside looking in, and Jack Banta, the reliever, was bumped.

The Dodgers suffered a tragic setback.

After Tommy Byrne of the Yankees had been driven out in the first inning of the encounter with the Red Sox that determined the American League lead, Fred Sanford worked four and two-thirds effective innings.

With two on by virtue of walks, out and pitcher Jack Kramer at bat in the fifth, Casey Stengel did what Burt Shotton had done in the case of Spahn.

So in came Joe Page at what turned out to be a much too early stage for the southpaw relief specialist, and he suffered his third consecutive defeat, not without help from his associates.

In Brooklyn, the warblers of the phantom blister still rages. Shotton could not run for superintendent of the dog pound.

At the Yankee Stadium, Sanford's dismissal was treated as a matter of managerial prerogative. No blister was involved.

Oregon has been added in his place. All-America end Paul Cleary of Southern California was cut from the Red Strader-coached squad. Red had too many wing-men. A guard, a center and five backs also are with the Yanks, including Don Fanciel and Gil Johnson, the quarterbacks in the Yanks' T.

San Francisco, perennial runner-up to Cleveland, added line strength in its bid for the title. An end, three tackles, a guard, two centers and two backs make up the '49ers complement of rookies.

At Baltimore, the Colts have added an end, tackle and guard, two centers and four backs.

The Chicago Hornets, whose early season form was the league's chief surprise, has eight rookies, in addition to many of the Brooklyn players of last season. Two tackles, three guards and three backs are the Hornet newcomers. Also, Johnny Clement, former Pitt Steeler star, is aiding the club at tailback.

That's a total of 69 rookies, almost a third of the league's 224 players.

Golf Stars at Lubbock

LUBBOCK — (AP) — Two of golf's biggest names — National Champion Cary Middlecoff and amateur Frank Stranahan — will appear in an 18-hole exhibition here Oct. 7.

The appearance is sponsored by the American Business Club with the Lubbock Boys Club benefiting.

PASS DEFENSE—A ball passed to Buddy Young, facing the camera, of the New York Yankees slips through his hands as the Los Angeles Rams' Bob Hoffman makes a swipe at it. The dance occurred during the last quarter of a rain-soaked night game won by the home guards, 10-7, at Yankee Stadium.

Browns and Bears Pro Grid Powers

NEW YORK — (AP) — The mighty might — the Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears — have established themselves as early season favorites in the professional football rankings.

The Browns, three times All-America Conference champs, clung to their first place lead by crushing the Los Angeles Rams, 42-7, at Cleveland. The Browns, with a 4-0-1 record, led San Francisco, which has a 4-1-0 slate.

The Bears, meanwhile, smothered their National League rivals, the Chicago Cardinals, 17-7, to share the Western Division's top rung with the Los Angeles Rams, who smashed Green Bay, 48-7. Each is unbeaten in two starts.

Another AAC game saw the Baltimore Colts score their first victory, upsetting the Buffalo Bills, 35-28.

Automatic Otto Graham, Cleveland's "T" technician, combined with Marion Motley, to sink the Rams. Graham passed for two touchdowns while the huge Negro fullback bolted for two others.

A record Coniskey Park crowd — 52,867 — saw the Bears' mammoth line stymie the Cardinals' vaunted running game. Led by Johnny Lujack, the Bears punched out two touchdowns and a field goal in the first half for all their scoring.

Green Bay was completely helpless against Los Angeles. Six assorted Rams scored touchdowns and Bob Waterfield booted two field goals and five extra points.

T. A. Tittle's pass to Billy Stone, spinning 52 yards, gave Baltimore its victory over Buffalo with 24 seconds remaining.

Army-Michigan Game No. 1 Fracas This Coming Weekend

NEW YORK — (AP) — Army and Michigan, two of the nation's college football titans, clash in an old-time Donnybrook Saturday at Ann Arbor.

Although this probably will rate as the No. 1 fracas of the day, several other tilts are calculated to hoist the blood pressure. For instance:

Texas and Oklahoma, two old buddies who have been battling each other's ears off in a traditional rivalry since 1900. They meet at Dallas, with no holds barred.

Ohio State and Southern California, with the Trojans determined to boost Pacific Coast grid prestige, and the Buckeyes hoping this won't be the only trip west this season. They'd like to return New Year's Day as the Big 10's representative in the Rose Bowl.

And down in Annapolis a rejuvenated Navy eleven tackles Duke, a revitalized Blue Devil array that could be heading back to the football heights.

There are plenty of others on tap as the collegians swing into gear, but these are the big ones.

As for Army and Michigan, take your pick. West Point's new team, showing no signs of weakness through graduation, plastered Penn State last week, 42-7. On the other coast, meanwhile, Michigan carved out a 27-7 victory over Stanford.

Oklahoma pinned a 33-13 defeat on North Carolina's Southern Conference powerhouse, with a thrilling 21-14 verdict over Georgia, tackles softer opposition this week in South Carolina.

Space and Money Savers Suggested

Royal Barry, architect, and the Construction Research Bureau, have come out with suggestions that save money when building a home.

Space and dollar-savers follow: A space-saver as well as a money-saver is a broad hinged shelf in the kitchen that drops down against the wall when not in use for eating or kitchen work. A variation of this is the shelf that folds up flat against the wall after use.

Save money and space with built-in kitchen cupboards and dish shelves; built-in drawers in clothes closets; built-in desks and bookshelves. Built-ins cut down the need for furniture, save floor space and give the home individuality.

Eliminate the fussy fireplace mantle; frame the opening with wide stock molding. This gives a pleasing design for either traditional or modern houses.

Let interior wood paneling retain its natural finish to avoid frequent painting. A light coat of wax will bring out the natural beauty of the wood. Interior doors made of boards

TRUSCON DOUBLE-HUNG STEEL WINDOWS create distinctive beauty

The trim, slim lines of Truscon Double-Hung Steel Windows produce a clean cut modern beauty that adds distinction to any home. The slender frame and muntin bars provide a minimum of obstruction and permit more light. Moreover, their beauty is permanent, because these windows are made of STEEL. They can be installed in any style of home architecture and cost no more than ordinary windows. Call us today for delivery and prices.

BUILDING NEWS

Pampa's Building Passes Three Million Dollars

More than three million dollars have been invested in building projects in Pampa. Building permits issued from the city engineer's office show Pampa's building activity has never before. The month of April nearly passed the 1948 total. April's building permits totaled $2,013,432 as compared with last year's total of $2,380,280.

Many of the building permits have been issued for residences. Last week J. O. McCoy got a permit for a $15,000 six-room frame house. It will be constructed in the Fraser Addition at 1616 Christie.

Another recent building permit was granted to L. S. Sone. A Texasaco service station, costing $18,000, will be constructed in the Sone and McCoy Addition at 1019 Alcock.

Eugene Marak plans to construct an $8,000 four-room frame residence in the Fraser Addition. It will be located at 1819 Hamilton and will have an attached garage.

Crawford Atkinson last month received a building permit to construct a six-room brick veneer house in the Fraser Addition. Also, J. W. Guyden will have a $22,000 home constructed in the Williston Heights Addition at 1346 Russell.

There are handsome double or single dresser bases in traditional or modern designs which are both decorative and functional in the one-room apartment, and later on with the addition of a mirror are equally attractive in the bedroom, or as a buffet in the dining room.

Brand new, too, are the combination interlocking cabinet bases which are about as slick as anything we've seen in many a day. Beautifully styled in 18th Century design of mahogany, these bases come in three different sizes — a large center chest, a smaller one, and an end section about the size of a commode. These chests may be used singly, in pairs, or in various combinations to suit your individual space and needs. All are equipped with concealed locks so that if they are used together to form one section, they are held securely together. Designed to be used as a night table or as a night-table. And, when space permits, they may all be used together to form a large buffet in the dining room. Another advantage of these pieces is that they are an open stock group which means that you can start with one and add the others whenever you wish to complete this group.

Then, of course, there are all the wonderful convertible-type tables that may be folded up into console size while quarters are cramped and opened out to become a full-size dining table with two upper drawers and cupboard space below, they are equally smart in the living room, dining room, bedroom, or entrance hall. The small end sections are perfect to use as lamp tables or in the bedroom as a night-table. And, when space permits, they may all be used together to form a large buffet in the dining room. Flexible Furniture Good Buy

Not so very long ago, we wouldn't have dreamed of using the same pieces of furniture in the living room or dining room that we used in the bedroom—the dresser with its large attached mirror was definitely a dresser and belonged only in the bedroom—and obviously one couldn't fill the center of the living room with a dining table large enough to seat a big family.

However, in recent years with improvement of furniture design and the development of dual-purpose or flexible basic pieces, there are chests, dresser bases, commodes, desk-chests, and dining tables, that are completely "at home" in any room you want to place them.

And, these are the designs which are made-to-order for the average young couple who is starting out in a one or two-room apartment—who want good furniture—and who undoubtedly plan to eventually move to a larger apartment or build their own home.

There are handsome double or single dresser bases in traditional or modern designs which are both decorative and functional in the one-room apartment, and later on with the addition of a mirror are equally attractive in the bedroom, or as a buffet in the dining room.

when the larger house has become a reality. All of these pieces are exceptionally wise investments because they are long-lived and not one of them will have to be discarded when the small apartment has become a thing of the past.

Prepare for Winter—Save on Your Fuel Bill

Steps taken now to winterize before cold weather arrives, and the home will pay off substantially when cold weather comes, in greater comfort, better health and actual money savings, it was stated today by the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

The heating plant should be inspected and adjusted by a good heating contractor. Coal stokers require lubrication and adjustment; oil and gas burners require careful cleaning, especially the openings through which fuel passes; all automatic systems require inspection of thermostats and electrical connections after a summer of idleness. Fire pots or combustion chambers should be free of soot and scale.

The boiler for a steam or hot-water plant should be flushed and filled with clean water to the proper level; radiator valves and connections should be inspected. Warm-air heating should be checked for obstructions in the warm and cold air ducts, humidity pans cleaned and refilled and air filters replaced if filled with dirt.

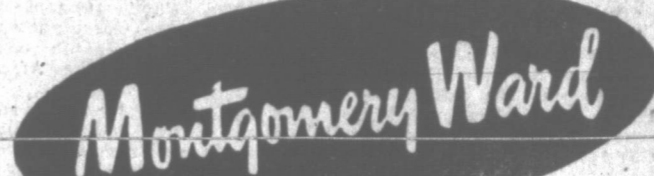

If the home is not insulated, at least one-third of the fuel bill can be saved by having the walls blown full of mineral wool the area between roof and living quarters also insulated with this non-combustible material. If the attic is unfinished, full-thick batts or blankets of mineral wool can be placed between ceiling joists or roof rafters; inaccessible spaces are filled by blowing loose, nodulated mineral wool into them. The average house can be insulated in less than two days without mist or inconvenience and fuel savings will pay for the insulation within three years. In addition to fuel savings, a properly insulated house reduces the danger of colds caused by drafts.

Weatherstripping of windows and doors, installation of storm windows and caulking all cracks in the exterior siding will add greatly to winter comfort and save approximately one-eighth of the fuel.

Chimneys should be examined for cracks and loose mortar and immediately repaired, both to improve heating plant efficiency and to eliminate a serious fire hazard.

John Adams enjoyed the greatest longevity of any American president. He lived to be 90.

Ready-Built, Custom-Built Both Take Plenty of Money

Erecting one's own home or buying a ready-built each has advantages and disadvantages, says the Construction Research Bureau, New York clearing house for building information.

In the custom-built home, a wider choice of location is permitted. A vacant plot can be utilized in a well-established neighborhood with fine trees and good transportation and convenience to schools, churches and shopping. In many ready-built new developments, these amenities may be years in the future.

Greater satisfaction comes from planning a home to fit one's family needs, hobbies and special interests, and it permits self-expression since the owner-planned home can be entirely distinctive without the made-in-a-mold appearance. Rooms can be arranged as the family wants, and there is always the assurance that material and equipment in the custom-built house is exactly as specified. Wall space and floor areas can be planned to fit specific furniture.

The cost of a mass-produced dwelling is 15 percent to 30 percent less than custom-building of an identical house. The buyer knows what he is getting before closing the deal, as he can inspect the finished product. In custom-building, a layman often finds the house is entirely different on completion than he expected, due to his unfamiliarity with sketches and blueprints. A ready-built home usually is a complete package, including landscaping, utility connections and mechanical equipment. Anxiety over the countless details that must be worked out by owner, architect and contractor is avoided. Then there is always the possibility that the home will go beyond one's means due to what seem to be minor changes during construction.

Consultation with one's banker and a good architect before deciding whether to buy or build is usually the best procedure.

BUILDING NEWS

THE CARTER is a compact five-room house with three bedrooms, kitchen, dining space and eight closets. All of the bedrooms have closets; there is a coat closet in the living room; a linen cabinet and general closet in the hall and a kitchen broom closet.

The center bedroom can be converted into a workroom or play-room by adding a door from the kitchen. All the rooms open into the central hall, insuring free circulation.

The fireplace in front of The Carter forms on side of the entrance recess. The wide-leave overhang protects both the entrance door and the corner windows. Between the fireplace and the corner a handy cabinet for magazines or other items is built-in to window sill height.

The Carter's plans call for brick or stone veneer on the front, up to and including the chimney. The balance of the house is planned for frame with siding finish. Because of its straight wall lines, this plan is adaptable to concrete block construction.

The Carter is 23 feet by 33 feet with an area of 1,089 square feet and a volume of 11,231 cubic feet.

For further information about THE CARTER, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Feminine Fluff, Ruggedness Suggested for Young Ladies

For the millions of American girls between 12 and 15, almost grown up, who demand young-lady rooms like their older teenage sisters, interior designers suggest combining feminine fluff with practical ruggedness.

For girly femininity, a canopied and skirted dressing-table, matching dust-ruffle on the bed-spread and swagged window curtains can come first. Practicality and additional color is introduced with asphalt tile flooring in an individually-created design to harmonize with the room.

Glass tops on dressing-table, desk, bookcases and hobby cabinets make cleaning easy. Washable walls and woodwork are also practical features. An over-all plan of white florence with red fringe and matching red accessories, gray and red asphalt tile floor, white woodwork and pastel blue walls will make a beautiful room. Let the growing girl plan her own room and color scheme. Her suggestions will reflect her own personality and, if given a guiding hand here and there, will hold down future redecoration costs.

Junior Should Have Room

Now that very few houses or apartments are large enough to permit a separate playroom, and the living room often doubles as the dining room, it's more important than ever to plan a child's bedroom so that it will provide him with a place to play, and to keep his toys and books.

Even though the room may be small, the wall under the window or even an empty corner may easily be utilized with low sectional bookshelves that will keep toys, crayons, comic books and other playtime paraphernalia within easy reach of the youngsters. Add a table and chair set for juvenile activities—a child's radio or phonograph, and you've created a playcorner that your child can call his very own. And, according to psychologists, having a place for his possessions often encourages a child to keep his room in order.

Another advantage to the combination play-bedroom is that it cuts down the noise, confusion, and clutter in the living room which is bound to occur when a child has no other place to play.

Texas Building Program Zooms

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas' building boom continues unabated.

The Bureau of Business Research of Texas reported permits issued in August rose 32 percent over July and 31 percent over August a year ago.

Houston with $9,432,691 had the greatest August total, permits amounted to $5,575,402 in Dallas; $3,620,219 in Corpus Christi; $3,484,030 in Fort Worth; and $3,233,998 in San Antonio. Big Springs had the largest July-to-August increase in building permits—408 percent. Other sizeable increases over July were recorded by Tyler, 349 percent; Bryan, 373 percent; Waco, 365 percent; Corpus Christi, 211 percent; and Beaumont, 118 percent.

Declines from July to August ranged from 16 percent in Amarillo to 83 percent in Edinburg. Compared with August 1948, Corpus Christi, with a 340-percent gain, recorded the largest increase in building permits.

Bryan, Waco, Big Spring, Temple and El Paso also registered large gains compared with August a year ago.

Declines were recorded by Edinburg, 78 percent; Cleburne, 61 percent; Borger, 51 percent; Denton, 37 percent; Childress, 12 percent; and Austin, 5 percent.

SAVE COST AT START

Studies made at the University of Minnesota indicate that between 23 and 30 percent of the cost of a heating system can be saved if a home is insulated full-thick with mineral wool in walls and ceilings at the time of construction.

The population of Australia is approximately 20,000,000.

Houston Has Housing Plan

The Winner

Mr. W. E. "Boots" Fleming — 631 S. Ballard won the $50.00 prize for guessing the closest number of nails in the jar at our booth at the Top o' Texas Fair. There were 981 nails in the jar and Mr. Fleming guessed 980. There were a number of other close guesses but none as close as 980 to the right number.

We appreciate the interest that was shown in this contest, as we had nearly 2500 people try to guess the number of nails in the jar.

Public Needs To Know Signs Of Cancer

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The great majority of potential cancer victims may be missing their chance for early diagnosis and treatment because they don't recognize the danger signals of malignancy, Mefford R. Runyon, executive vice president of the American Cancer Society asserted.

Another handicap, he added, is that the medical profession is not adequately assuming a substantial part of the responsibility for early detection of the disease.

In a prepared address to a divisional meeting of the cancer society, Runyon said:

"We still have a long way to go before every American is acquainted with cancer's seven danger signals, and before every doctor is competent in deciding whether suspicion (of cancer) is well founded."

Because of the lag in doctors' offices, he said, the cancer society is going to "greatly expand" its efforts to educate physicians, dentists and nurses on how to recognize early cancer symptoms and act quickly.

The society during the coming year will spend twice as much in educating doctors, dentists and nurses as it will in educating the general public. This means in excess of $700,000 for educating the profession and about half that much for educating the public, Runyon said.

Shivers' Hope Is Slim One—No New Taxes

By DAVE CHEAVENS Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN — (AP) — Gov. Allen Shivers' hope that the January session of the Legislature can get by without passing a new tax bill is admittedly a slim one.

Shivers told a Houston audience recently he had such hope. Later, through Weldon Hart, his press secretary, he added it was just a hope and he didn't think it would be realized.

The Governor had based his statement on indications that state revenues were coming in a little faster than had been anticipated. There has been an increase, all right, but the increase is still behind the estimates of Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, who necessarily must be conservative.

Increased production of crude oil would help. There have been two slight jumps in allowable production, which will boost crude oil tax revenues, but neither will make much dent in the deficit.

What the Legislature must do first is provide operating money for state hospitals and special schools. When the 51st Legislature overspent by 17 and a half million dollars, the late Gov. Beauford H. Jester vetoed second year appropriations for eleemosynary institutions to balance the budget.

If the insane and orphan and other wards of the state are going to have something to eat and to wear, and if the doctors and other attendants are going to be paid after Sept. 1, 1950, the Legislature has to provide funds amounting to something in the vicinity of 17 million dollars.

If there are going to be any substantial improvements in how Texas treats its insane, it will take more money than that.

Most legislators can't see how they can avoid a new tax if income continues at or around the present level, and even if present low standards of maintenance for wards of the state are maintained. And that doesn't take into account building needs, which have been estimated at anywhere from 21 to 25 million dollars. So all plans are cooking to raise at least $10 million more in 1950 tax. Also, Shivers has asked a new state hospital board to take another careful look at its budget to see if it can't trim some items of operating expense.

Even with some trimming, that 17 million dollar deficit would be hard to rub out.

Comptroller Calvert has demonstrated he is a close estimator of income.

He missed it less than 3 percent in the fiscal year 1949. If his guess for 1950 is as good, that 3 percent would still be far short of the 17 million needed for the general revenue fund.

Calvert had estimated income at $102,934,871. The state actually took in $106,815,860. The variation in all those millions of dollars was exactly 2.9 percent.

Few People Are Interested in Such as the Sun

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — The nice thing about the sun is that it only comes up once a day.

Here along Broadway, where people grind their dreams underfoot on the street of failure, few folk are interested in the color of the sun unless it has been tentatively approved by the Federal Communications Commission.

The dawn may come up out of Jamaica like China across the bay — but it has to have a commercial appeal, a sort of sponsored madness.

Actually the day erupts in a blue and gold surprise. It is like a reluctant flower with a burst of kindness in its petals. It comes so soon it bowls you off your feet, because you aren't prepared.

I am talking about morning in a place called Manhattan, where the wise and the weak folk of a confused world mingle — and are mangled.

The famous folk by this hour have amused the mass, had their herring or bacon and eggs, traded the rich gossip of the inner fraternity of entertainment, and gulped sleep — or the sleeping pill that leads to sleep.

Broadway and its side streets belong to the stranger and the garbage man, banging into ringing cans the unclean steak fragments that fatten New Jersey hogs.

The people themselves — all workmen and jaded playboys who keep a city alive between dawn and dusk — wonder sometimes what they have done to justify belonging to the human race.

Billie Burke Ageless Girl

NEW YORK — (AP) — Mary William Ethelbert Appleton Burke is an ageless girl.

She started back in 1907 with the late John Drew, played Ophelia to John Barrymore's Hamlet, spent 18 glittering years as the wife of Flo Ziegfeld, and has acted in more than 100 motion pictures.

Yet last week this busy lass of 64 years spent four minutes smooching with 37-year-old Mill Berlinger.

M. W. E. A. B. is better known, of course, as Billie Burke, and Berlinger is recognizable to many video viewers as Milton Berle.

Miss Burke is a living link between the great theater of the past and today's television camera. Her memories go way back but no one gets a bigger kick out of living in the present.

I went over the other day to interview her at Sardi's restaurant, and it was like talking to a restless greyhound. She was all over the place.

On the screen Billie is famous for playing the role of a silly, flutzy woman. But in real life she doesn't flutter—she vibrates.

She burrowed for a moment in a huge lettuce salad. She said she'd just finished "And Baby Makes Three" for Columbia, and now was looking for a Broadway play.

Then she saw Producer John Golden and whipped over to his table, had a few bites there, and whipped back.

"I can't find the right kind of play," she said. "I don't want to play a crude, low woman, but seems like only plays about thwarted, frustrated people are popular now. Failure isn't part of my philosophy."

A press agent came over to ask if she'd pose for pictures.

"No," she said definitely, "that's not for me."

A moment later she hailed a waiter and pointed at her salad.

"Take it away—it's getting in my face."

Suddenly she remembered she had to go to a studio to pose with Milton Berle for some theater magazine photos.

She said that "Mr. Ziegfeld" was the nicest man she'd met in her life—and Mark Twain was next.

"I know people so far back," she complained. "I liked Mark because he was fond of red-haired people. The biggest regret of my life is that I never had a red-haired son."

"M" represents one thousand in Roman numerals.

Kerr Has Praise for Oklahoma

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) congratulated Oklahoma on voting last Wednesday to remain dry.

"I congratulate Oklahoma on its courageous, far-reaching action of retaining its 42-year-old Constitutional prohibition," he said in a statement.

Kerr sent a transcribed speech urging Oklahomans to vote dry to several Oklahoma radio stations during the campaign leading up to the state-wide vote.

He declined comment on a statement issued Thursday by the Justice Department saying it and the Internal Revenue Bureau plan test cases to obtain a court decision as to whether the Federal Liquor Enforcement Act is again applicable to shipments of liquor into Oklahoma under present state laws.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D-Okla.) also had no comment on the department's statement.

This is not a desert picture... It is an expert adaptation of Will James' famed novel of the same name. Set against the backdrop of Colorado's rugged but scenic country, it outdoes "Smoky," which was made by the same producers from another James novel. MR. SMALE AND THE "JEEP SWEEP"—Stanley Smale, an enterprising truck driver with a special magnet-equipped Jeep, has enjoyed sweeping success in a new business in his home town, Toledo, O. For a fee, Mr. Smale drives his unusual Jeep back and forth over parking lots, truck terminals and other places where autos and trucks are parked. The magnet picks up nails, pieces of wire and other metal objects. Once it gathered 1200 pounds of jagged metal nails from a single truck terminal. Smale calls his business the "Jeep Sweep," and his services are much in demand.

Gates Open To Refugees

COBH, Ireland — (AP) — The Jimmy TOTE of this secret city opened its gates to 66 refugees making a desperate flight from communism in an old British landing craft.

The boat is the 580-ton Victory, built to carry 50 persons under wartime conditions.

It reached here Friday after a harrowing four-day crossing of the North Sea from Göteborg, Sweden. Authorities there had refused to give it a license of seaworthiness.

The vessel's goal is Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Among those aboard are 50 children.

One of the passengers told newsmen the refugees are of 11 nationalities, but that the bulk are Latvians, Estonians, Poles and Hungarians.

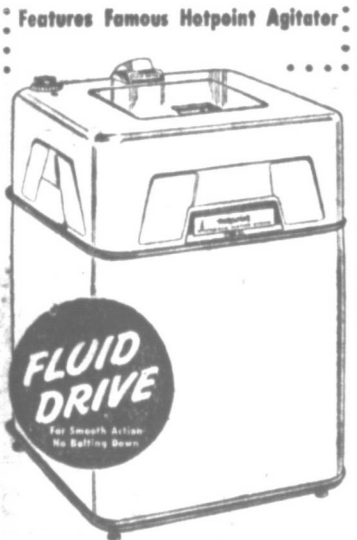

He said one thing they have in common is a burning desire "to get as far as possible from Russia."

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Jenny is trying to convince herself that Ted Duncan is not really her old boyfriend since she has married him. She has one to live with her mother, father Joe and sister Harriet. He lives in a rooming house. He is a Jeany chum, about with an old friend, Vinn 'ushman. While out, Jenny sees Ted. Ted is sitting at a table where Lis sits.

Jenny tried to collect herself as the cab slipped through the streets. Everything seemed to be spinning and craning about. She had thought that except the fact that they were living in the Duncan, she and Ted were reasonably happy together. At least she had a chance to "ain." Nina urged. The cab ped in front of Nina's apartment and she handed the driver a as she got out. The rain had.

"You're coming in, aren't you any? You'll feel differently, when you've had a cup of good congo coffee, and I'll whip up some tuna fish salad."

Jenny shook her head. "I'm going home first, but I'll be back in a little while."

The Duncan were home when she got there, except Ted of course. Ma came to the bedroom door and watched Jenny pack her things. "Well," she exclaimed finally, "what do you think you're doin'?"

"I'm going over to stay with Nina," Jenny said quietly.

"You takin all your things?" Ma said incredulously.

"Leavin' for good, huh?" There was a ring of triumph in this words.

Harriet appeared, magazine in hand to peer over her mother's shoulder.

Jenny turned to face them. Her eyes brimmed with tears. "I'm leaving for good. I hope you'll be satisfied. You never wanted me here, or tried to make it easy for

Pensions for Workers Lead In Labor Unions' Thinking

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The problem of pensions for workers now has moved into the front row of labor unions' thinking. You can be sure it will stay there.

John L. Lewis gave the problem a big push through the pension plan he got for coal miners from the mine owners over the past three years. It called for a pension of $100 a month.

This became a goal for other labor leaders who, if they wanted to retain leadership, could hardly seek less for their people than Lewis won for his.

Now Walter Reuther, head of the CIO Auto Workers, has obtained a $100-a-month pension for his members from the Ford Motor Company. The CIO Steel workers are trying to get the same from the steel firms.

So the Lewis and Reuther pension plans have set a goal and a challenge for other labor leaders. Therefore, it's logical to expect a continued drive for pensions in the years ahead.

Then, once the pension door is wide open, will come the drive for better pensions. This will explain why.

Under the Reuther plan Ford will hand out a $100 monthly pension to his retired workers. He'll give them only the difference between $100 and whatever Social Security pension they get from the government.

(The average Social Security pension being paid a tired worker in this country today is around $25 a month. The maximum anyone can get is $44.80. A retired worker's wife, when she reaches 65, gets a pension of her own, half as much as her husband's.)

(So the wife of a man who got the maximum of $44.80 would get $22.40, giving the couple a combined pension of $67.20. But Ford pays a pension

All Live to Tell Story

GENEVA, N.Y. — (AP) — While a freight train bore down on them, Mrs. Fenton Stevens of Stanley, N.Y., and her four young children huddled in their automobile Friday night.

Stevens tried in vain to push the stalled car off the grade crossing.

The locomotive struck the car overturned and slid onto another track.

All lived to tell about it. Mrs. Stevens, who is expecting another child, said she kept the children in the car because she feared the train would run over them if they jumped out. The children range in age from one to five.

The 25-year-old mother and the children were taken to a hospital. Attendants said no injuries were apparent.

Stevens was not hurt.

TEEN-TALK

If you really want to be a good friend, advises pretty Barbara Whiting, then concentrate on only one friend.

Blue-eyed Barbara, 18, who has been a Hollywood starlet for several years, finds the trouble with most young people is that they try to make too many friends. You've got to be more sincere about it. Says she:

"Pick your friend carefully. Try to discover everything about your pal's moods. Sympathize with her. Then she will have someone to turn to in emergencies, and so will you."

Barbara, who plays Judy Graves in the "Junior Miss" radio show (she played Fluffy Adams in the movie version), says she doesn't see any reason why girls can't have lots of acquaintances, but it certainly is a mistake to have more than one bosom pal. Her personal chum is Betty Sullivan, who she is now visiting on her first trip to New York, and anything Betty does is all right with her—that's the way pals ought to feel, she says.

She thinks boys are fun when they don't try to pin you down to dates for sports events. She enjoys music and would rather have a date with a boy who likes music. She says:

"It's disgraceful the way some boys drag their dates to football or baseball games, and just let them sit there beating feet. If girls like sports, fine. But it shouldn't be forced on them."

The trouble with most dates, today, as Barbara sees it, is that boys aren't as mature as girls their own age. You have to go out with boys much older than you—at least five years—to enjoy conversation. Younger boys do not even show proper respect towards girls, much less treat them like ladies, she says. And they never are good listeners.

Barbara says she doesn't particularly care, though, because she doesn't have much time for dates anyhow, with rehearsals, singing lessons and occasional recreation such as bicycling and swimming, which she loves.

She thinks radio is the ideal career although she'd give it up to be a writer, her first love. She insists any girl who has a hankering for radio or the stage should give herself a fair trial at it. Says she:

"How are you going to get started doing something you like, if you just go to school because your parents want you to? The trouble is too many people send their kids to school to get them off the street, whereas if they'd let them do something they are genuinely interested in, perhaps they'd amount to something."

Barbara had lots of support in her desire for a theatrical career. Her father, the late Richard Writing, penned "Sleepytime Gal" and other popular tunes. Her sister is a vocalist.

If you like radio, Barbara's advice is to get acquainted with a small radio station in your town, help plan a program if possible, join a theatre group and do as much public speaking as possible to get stage presence.

McKinney on Bridge

Today's hand involves one of the finer points in the play of the hand. The bidding is normal.

When East leads the queen of hearts, North must hold up the ace until the third round. Now the question is, should North give up a club trick? If he does he is automatically down, losing three hearts, the ace of spades and a club trick.

North's first play, after winning the third heart with the ace, should be a small spade to the king, hoping to find East with the ace. East will play low and North will win the trick with the king.

Now play for a three-three break in diamonds. Cash the four diamond tricks. On the fourth diamond East is squeezed. He cannot discard a club, or declarer's entire club suit will set up. If he discards a heart he will not have a long heart to cash, when he gets in. Therefore, the only play he can make is to discard the nine of spades.

North has already marked East with the ace of spades, so when East discards a small spade, North should play a small spade from dummy toward the queen. West will put on the ten spot. North must play low and East is forced to take the trick with the ace.

Playing the hand this way, declarer will make two spade tricks, four diamonds, one heart and two club tricks, thus making his contract.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLES

The fight between the labor unions and the steel companies as to whether or not they are to have pensions is based on a false premise advocated with the consent of the President's economic advisers.

There seems to be a big argument as to whether or not the employer should pay all the pensions or what is called "social security" or unemployment insurance. It does not make a particle of difference who pays it—whether the employer pays it or whether it is taken out of the worker's pay.

Texas City Governments Unhappy With Legislature

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN — (AP) — City governments of Texas are very unhappy about the state government, and especially in the Legislature.

The feeling that was somewhat anti-peddled during the 81st regular session — while the cities were begging a little financial relief — flared out in black type in the last issue of "Texas Municipalities," official publication of the League of Texas Municipalities.

In an article headed "Cities Suffered at This Term of Legislature," Mayor George D. Barber of Mineral Wells, let fly with this opening statement:

"The rights of home rule cities were encroached upon still further by the recent session of the Legislature. Especially noteworthy was the encroachment by the firemen's and policemen's minimum wage bill passed by both houses and signed by the Governor.

"If this type of legislation continues, it is the opinion of many of us that eventually the state will take over the jurisdictional rights of municipalities and one of these days city officials will only be rubber stamps for the centralized government in Austin."

Texas city officials, through their organization, came before the last Legislature with several propositions aimed at increasing their revenues. The Legislature listened politely, but that's all. Barber, vice president of the league, had this tart comment:

"But will the members of the Legislature, in their wild scramble to tell municipalities what they can and can not do, provide the necessary revenue to meet requirements of some of these unnecessary, unjust and discriminatory enactments? The answer is no. The boys who supported the firemen's and policemen's minimum wage bill do not care where the money comes from."

Barber said much of the blame rests with the cities themselves.

"Far too many municipal officials assumed the 'let George do it' attitude and failed to register opposition with their representatives in the Legislature, and with the Governor. . . . It is high time municipal officials throughout Texas combine their efforts (through the league) to make their influence felt in Austin. If not, the appellation of home rule cities will be a misnomer and a joke.

The league's executive committee has sent a questionnaire to each city government to find out what they want to talk about at the convention. With local de-

Suggestion Made To Change Name Of Lubbock Base

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A suggestion that the Lubbock Air Force Base be named the Ellis Air Force Base, in honor of a young Texan who gave his life to help win World War Two, has come to Senator Connally (D-Tex) from W. H. Cooke, Jr., of Clarendon.

In a letter Cooke wrote that Lieut. Lewis Calvin Ellis, Jr., formerly a student at Texas Tech at Lubbock, was shot down over Germany in 1942 when his son was only 6 weeks old.

"The Ellis family is one of the real pioneer families of West Texas," said Cooke.

"They have been well known out here for many years and have been among our leading citizens. They are prominent in banking circles . . .

"I have known this young man's family for 25 years and there are no finer people, so I think it would be altogether fitting if the Lubbock Air Force base were named in his honor."

Reluctant Thief Takes Right Amount

DAYTON — (AP) — Somewhere in Dayton there is a reluctant thief who knew just how much money he needed and took it.

When Julian Tangeman returned to his home, he found $139 missing from a small metal box in which he keeps valuables. A note left in the box read:

"Will pay you back as soon as possible."

Tangeman said an additional $68 in the box was untouched.

Flapper of Terrible Twenties Due for Comeback in Fifties

By DOROTHY KOE
AP Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — (AP) — The flapper of the terrible twenties is due for a comeback in the fabulous fifties.

Newest indication is the return of the short evening dress, a favorite of the jazz age, now gaining general acceptance in the bebop era. Along with the shingle bob, the shorter skirt and the "bunny hug" coat, it is a sign of the times.

Although the short evening dress has appeared in fashion collections for the last four or five years, it has established itself as a major-fashion in all price ranges and age groups just this season. Fashion authorities agree that we'll be seeing it this winter on main street as well as Park Avenue.

This nostalgic garment is shown in various phases, most extreme of which is the street-length chiffon sheath, embroidered in rhinestones, just as the John Held girls used to wear them back in 1925. The waistline, however, has not dropped to the hips, and the bustline is still allowed its natural curves.

An indication of the wide acceptance of the trend comes from Ruth Jacobs, fashion editor of "Women's Wear," who says:

"There's no question about it — short evening dresses are at their peak of acceptance right now. Although they've been around for several years, we have noted that each year has seen a more general acceptance throughout the country. At first this was a limited big-city fashion. Now short evening dresses are selling at all price levels, and to all age groups. They've even included now in the pattern books. You might call it a 'sweeping' acceptance."

Mainbocher, designer to the upper crust, confirms the opinion:

"I have been showing short evening dresses ever since L-85

1901 Model Sells at $420

LAVERNHAN, England — (AP) — Alec Hodadon advertised his 1901 steam-driven motor car for sale. His price: 150 pounds sterling ($420).

Within a few hours, a buyer telephoned: "It's sold. I'd like to send you a check right away."

But Hodadon hesitated.

He wanted to see the buyer first to make sure he really respected and understood antiques, and besides there was a little explaining to do.

"It has eight major knobs to push or pull, and five assorted water and pressure pumps, once you light her up with a match," he said.

"It's fair to say that driving it is a whole-time job. The time is never passed in boredom or preoccupation with scenery."

"Another snag is that when you light the engine, flames about a foot high, blue and intensely hot, leap from a kind of huge circular brazier. In a few minutes the heat is so great that it scorches you."

"Once lighted, there can be no hanging about. You have decided to go for a spin and you are committed to it."

"Finally, when you drive a vehicle of this kind people are apt to regard it as peculiar."

Several games in southeastern minor leagues were postponed because of the hurricane.

Wayland Has Large Program

PLAINVIEW — Wayland College began the fall semester with a large number of new teachers, new courses, and new students.

The Freshmen, who had a full program of orientation for the first week, and the new transfer students number approximately 200. The full enrollment for the semester is about 475, according to Mrs. Theo Royer, registrar.

There are 95 veterans enrolled, compared to the 135 who attended Wayland last year.

Mrs. Lois Marshall directed the Freshman orientation program which included numerous socials in the college-recreation center, at the churches, and the president's formal reception. Lectures were also given to help students learn rules, traditions, and places to receive help on the campus.

"How to Study" was the theme of a continued program during the first week. Mrs. Lake Pyland, head of the Christian Recreation Department of the school, directed most of the social activities.

IT'S JUST DUCKY, DEAR

Barnyard fashion expert Mary Lou Prontice of Chicago adjusts the bonnet she designed for her delighted duck friend. Ducks will display the millinery - cut from a printed poultry feed bag - in a forthcoming fowl fashion parade. Such fashion shows are being held throughout the country the next few weeks to select the "best-dressed fowl in the nation."

WOT A BLINKIN' MIDGET!

Young Tan Cooks - motoring around Taunton, Eng., in his Austin "Pathfinder" - gets street directions from the amused driver of a double-decker bus. Tan's roadster, though dwarfed by the big bus, is a real auto made in a South Wales factory.
