Known as the "Champion," the low-cost house—designed for families making $35 to $40 a week—is being turned out by Gunnison Homes, Inc., at New Albany, Ind. Before long, it will be available in all sections of the country. The house is built largely of plywood. Features include forced air heating system, complete insulation and streamlined kitchen. Varied exterior designs will avoid "sameness" when the houses are built in groups. Prices will vary according to location, but the "Champion" is designed to sell for a down payment of as little as $350, and monthly pay-

THE ALLEN is basementless, with the floor slab, easily adaptable to linoleum or other composition flooring, laid directly on a gravel fill. The heating plant and laundry equipment are in a utility room which replaces a basement.

Plumbing, for the bathroom, and laundry, equipment is in the same wall. Location of the direplace makes the same chimney available for the heating unit.

Storage space is liberally allowed for in The Allen. Wardrobes are provided for in each of the three bedrooms, and closets are planned for the front entrance and utility room. A general closet and linen cabinet are in the bedroom hall.

The exterior walls are shown to be of frame with wide siding. But, concrete blocks can be used as a substitute. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles.

The kitchen of The Allen is modern with cabinets and equipment arranged in a U-shape. The sink is under the window and the refrigerator and range are completely built into the cabinets.

Dimensions of The Allen are 38 feet by 27 feet with an area of 1,110 square feet and a volume of 13,320 cubic feet.

QUESTION: Between 1927 and 1939 the New York Yankees played in seven World Series. How many games did they lose in those seven series?

THE FIRST ANNUAL ALL-CIVIC club golf tournament is now history, but the memory promises to linger on. As soon as the final results were tabulated, giving the Rotary Club the championship, challenges were flying. First to challenge was the Lions Club. They challenged the champions to a match next Sunday with an equal number of golfers from each club.

Guard It Well, Brother!

By GORDON MARTIN There's a worn and prized possession in the life of every man, that above all else he treasures, though it's far from spic and span. It may be a hunting jacket, or an old and beat-up hat, or a moth-beridden coat that's tsrictly proletariat. To protect these dear possessions, men must keep their wits about, for at least a dozen times a year their wives will throw them out.

Take that battered old fedora that you bought long years ago, as its strange and ancient lines of style are more than quick to show. Why, you wouldn't lose that longtime friend for all the dough on earth, for it's followed you through fun and strife and long has proved its worth. It has carried all your trout flies, saved your eyes from sunlight's flash, and it's nothing stark tragedy to find it in the trash.

Yes, it's hard for tidy wives to understand the love of males for that worn and battered headpiece and the comfort it entails, in the knowledge, when you wear it, that you've got a friend with you that is really just a history of life's long avenue. But you have to guard its safety-maybe lock it in your trunk, or it's just as sure as sh that you'll find it in the junk.

Someone to Love

THE STORY: Jenny Peleska has broken the news to Tod Duncan that his dancee, Lis Conover, eloped with another sann. Tod is crushed, but the meeting with Jenny restores their old friendship which had lapsed while Tod was a big football star at State University as a was running around with Lis. Tod had promised to call Jenny, but when days mass and he decenit, Jenny calls . . . 111

IT was April now, one of those warm sunny days, incredibly fragrant and sweet, the air as soft as silk, the grass a tender new green. Jenny always cut across Cleveland park on her way to catch the bus and that was where she met Tod. He was sitting on a bench along the walk that circled the fountain with its statue of

A Business Without Advertising Is A

Perfect SET-UP...For Trouble

In times of easy-spending perhaps a business is able to get by without advertising . . . although it is not a sound policy. As the public becomes more price-conscious the intelligent merchant steers clear of the rocks of bankruptcy by systematic advertising. It is not necessary for the small merchant to run large ads, in fact that extreme may end as disastrously as a nonadvertising policy; but, bear this in mind if you wish the customers to keep returning to your store, it is a good policy to keep your store name consistently before them — in the form of daily paper advertising.
