

WHERE ATOMIC BLASTS HAVE BEEN—Pres. Truman's announcement of an atomic blast somewhere in Russia brings the total of such explosions throughout the world to nine. The first was set off near Los Alamos, N. M., on July 16, 1945. The next two leveled Hiroshima and Nagasaki on Aug. 6 and 9, 1945. Two test bombs were set off at Bikini Atoll on June 30 and July 25, 1946, and three more at Eniwetok in April and May of 1947. Exact date and location of the latest atomic blast are still undisclosed, but evidence signifies Russia's possession of vital A-bomb data. (NEA Telephone)

Quebec Jeweler Accused of Killing Wife, 22 Others in Plane Sabotage

QUEBEC — (AP) — A slim, wavy-haired Quebec jeweler, J. Albert Guay, was charged yesterday with murdering his wife, who died with 22 others in an explosion-torn Quebec Airways plane Sept. 9. He was arraigned less than 24 hours after police announced they had proof explosives had been placed aboard the plane to get rid of a woman. A key witness is Mrs. Arthur Pitre, 40, described as one of several women friends of Guay. She told police she delivered an express package to the aircraft here under the impression it contained "a statue." Police Inspector Rene Belec described the accused man as Mrs. Pitre's lover and implied a love triangle motive. The charge made no mention of what police believe caused the plane's destruction — a homemade dynamite bomb. It simply accused Guay of "killing Sept. 9 at Sault au Cochon hall and assassinating Rita Morel (Guay's) your wife." Sault au Cochon is the timbered mountainside northeast of Quebec where the bodies of the 19 passengers — including three top executives of the Kennecott Copper Corporation — and four crew members were found in the plane wreckage. Mrs. Guay was 28. Police said a $10,000 insurance policy on her life, payable to Guay, was taken out only a short time before she boarded the plane. Officers also have been questioning a pretty, 26-year-old waitress. They did not name her.

Strikes? Or Do We Work?

By The Associated Press
CRUCIAL decisions affecting America's postwar economy may be made this week. Strikes involving 1,000,000 steelworkers and 115,000 Ford Motor Company employees are set for this week. The nation will learn whether the strike of 480,000 coal miners can be settled quickly or will drag on with steadily spreading idleness. More than 600,000 workers already are idle in strikes involving a dozen industries. A steel strike would boost this number to above 1,600,000, the highest level in the postwar period. Negotiations between the CIO United Steelworkers Union and the steel industry were in recess over the weekend. They will be resumed Monday. Bargaining talks were opened Friday, but they were exploratory with neither side showing its hand. The three-postponed steel strike is now set for 12:01 a. m. Saturday, Oct. 1. The main issue is whether the companies should finance pensions and insurance or whether the workers should share the cost. The nationwide coal strike went through its first week with no sign of a break. But John L. Lewis is slated to resume contract talks with the operators Sept. 29. Some indication of what may happen to the coal strike may become known then. So far the coal strike has caused the layoff of 31,000 coal carrying railroad workers but hasn't hit industry generally. Stockpiles were generally ample when the miners quit work Monday. But if the strike stretches out into a long mine shutdown, industry will suffer a crippling blow. The miners quit work in protest against refusal of the Southern operators to continue royalty payments to the miners' welfare fund. The Southern operators said they refused to make the royalty payments until a new contract is signed. The walkout also was over failure of efforts to reach a new contract. The old one has expired.

EX-FOREIGN MINISTER CONVICTED OF TREASON
Slav Accuses Russians of Creating Plot

BUDAPEST — (AP) — Former Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk and two former Communist Party officials were sentenced yesterday to death on the gallows for a purported plot to overthrow Hungary's Communist government. They testified they worked with Americans and Yugoslavs to put Hungary under the influence of Yugoslav Premier Marshal Tito. Two other men were sentenced to life imprisonment and one to nine years in this second big Hungarian treason trial of 1949. Appeals were entered for all, though Rajk protested that "I consider the verdict justified." A technically delayed decision in the case of the other defendants, Lt. Gen. Gyorgy Palefy and Col. Bela Kgrondy. The five-judge people's court ruled it was not competent to deal with them and ordered them held for court martial, though they had admitted government charges as freely as the rest. The case attracted the most international attention to Hungary since the treason trial of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty last February. The Roman Catholic primate is serving a life term. It was charged in court that seldan Chapin, former U. S. minister to Havana who was named this week as ambassador to the Netherlands, Allen W. Dulles, wartime head of the Office of Strategic Services in Europe, and Lt. Col. George Kovach, former member of the U. S. military mission in Hungary, were aiding Americans in the case. (All three have denied it.)

Russians Say They Have Atomic Bomb
Local Woman Is Taken to Polio Center

WASHINGTON — (AP) — America's answer to Russia's new atomic weapon, administration officials made clear yesterday, will be to speed up and reinforce the total military, political and economic unity of the West. Responsible informants said the Truman administration is more concerned than ever. To rebuild this country's rickety atomic partnership with Britain and Canada, hold the four-year American edge over Russia in bombs and other atomic weapons and speed the creation of a unified defense strategy for America and Western Europe under the North Atlantic Treaty. Top officials worked on the strategy of getting ready for whatever the Russian development may involve. Secretary of State Acheson was in New York at the United Nations in contact with Foreign Secretaries Bevin of Britain and Schuman of France. President Truman and Acheson were believed to be in close touch. Here — and around the world — repercussions from President Truman's announcement continued. A single exception was Russia. Not a word was forthcoming. Democratic leaders in Congress expressed hope the House would go along with the Senate in approving a $1,600,000,000 jet-boosted arms aid program for European members of the Atlantic Pact. 'SATAN' REMOVED—Otto Prochazka, an electrician, holds the last of a litter of kittens lured from their home in the heating pipes of the Oak Park Christian Chapel at Detroit, Mich. All this week the congregation shivered at night because the kittens in the pipe prevented turning on the heat. Satan, so named by the congregation, refused all offers of sardines and milk to come out after the rest of the kittens had been removed by that method. Prochazka rattled a long wire inside the ducts and finally—out popped Satan. (AP Wirephoto)

12 Airports Are Visited In Air Tour

A survey by flight of Texas and New Mexico airports made by four Pampans Thursday and Friday ended Friday afternoon at the bustling little airfield at Plainview. The group flying in Cabot's Beechcraft Bonanza consisted of E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Hugh Burdette, general manager of Cabot Carbon, and chairman of the CC's Aviation Committee, Ralph Brock, pilot, and Henry S. Gordon of The News' editorial staff. The survey covered 12 airports in cities comparable to Pampa in Texas and New Mexico. Friday the group visited Vernon, Stamford, Breckenridge, Ranger, Cisco, Sweetwater and Big Spring. Friday they landed on the airfields at Odessa, Monahans, Hobbs, N.M., Levelland and Plainview. All of the 12 towns visited only Ranger, Cisco and Levelland have all-rod or dirt runways. Breckenridge is in the midst of tearing up its dirt runways for paving. All of the others had concrete or asphalt runways except Odessa and Plainview which had both paved and sod runways. Aviation interest was reported as "average and above" in all of the cities except Cisco. Among the smaller airfields Plainview showed the most activity. Big Spring had the largest field, with Hobbs running a close second. The survey by flight is being augmented by questionnaires being sent to other cities in Texas and surrounding states and will seek such other pertinent information as length of runways, number of private planes based there, number of airlines and their daily flight administration policies and repair and servicing facilities. Chamber officials say they do not expect to have all of the questionnaires returned before the end of this week or the middle of the following week.

Attlee and Party Facing New Test

Rites Pending for Mrs. Mima Gibson

LONDON — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee has called on Britain to stand firmly against inflation under the cheapened pound. He said Britain must meet "the challenge of the times" with new sacrifices, business and industry must hold the line on prices and the worker must produce more without demanding higher wages. If they weaken, Attlee warned, "defeat the whole object which we have in view" — to sell more to the dollar nations and put Britain on her feet in world trade. The Labor government chief admitted there would be some increase in the cost of living because of the cut in the pound from $1.03 to $2.80. He said "there is no occasion for a general price increase." The Prime Minister's speech at a political rally in Wales Saturday was the big gun signaling a week of decision for the party in power since 1945. Less than an hour after he spoke, Loris Woolton, a leading Conservative, appealed to the Liberal Party to join Winston Churchill and his Tories in a drive to oust Labor from power. The first show of strength will come in Parliament Tuesday on a debate on the government's economic policy. Attlee will demand a vote of confidence Thursday. With its top-heavy majority in Commons — 393 of 640 seats — the government would win. But if the vote shows a serious split in Labor ranks, it might drive the party to a new election. Oklahoma Will Vote on Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY — (AP) — A 40-year-old argument over whether Oklahoma shall remain dry or join 46 other states in legalizing liquor will come to a showdown Tuesday in a special state repeal election. Voters will approve or reject a constitutional amendment permitting the sale of intoxicants. Oklahoma has been dry since 1907. They will vote also on a $36,000,000 building bond issue. The bonds, if approved, would be repaid from bond rents of the present cigarette tax. If repeal wins, the Legislature will draft control laws, except where the proposed amendment specifically prohibits the sale of liquor to minors, on Sundays or in open saloons.

Resolution Looks Toward 'Federation of the World'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Before long Congress may take what some members consider the first hesitant step toward a world government.

Of course it will be a long time before nations band together in any sort of international United States. Maybe they never will.

But many congressmen, and many other people who want this world to be a peaceful one, think that eventually a single world government must be established, strong enough to settle any disputes that might cause wars.

To get the ball rolling at least, more than 100 House members and 19 senators have introduced or given their support to a resolution. And now the House Foreign Affairs Committee is planning some hearings on this resolution.

"That," says Rep. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), a member of the committee, "will be a step in the direction of a world government."

Should the Senate and House adopt the one-sentence resolution, it would put Congress on record as saying: "It should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

What does that mean? What would it lead to? Mansfield and Rep. Walter Judd (R-Minn), another member of the Foreign Affairs Committee, think it might result in an international conference to change the charter under which U. N. operates.

Russia and the countries that trail along with her might refuse to cooperate. But nations might join together in a sort of enlarged version of the North Atlantic Alliance that would be powerful enough to insist on peace among all countries including Russia.

Judd and Mansfield agree that there must be an international police force and international court.

They agree no nation should have veto power over steps designed to stop aggression and to maintain or restore peace.

DARROUZETT — (Special) — Darrouzett School children visited the Lipscomb County Fair today. They were dismissed from classes and attended the fair in a group. All five school buses were used to transport the students to and from Lipscomb.

Court Comes To Defendant

DETROIT — (AP) — Mrs. Louise Arndt, who is 80 years old, was unable to go to traffic court to answer charges of harboring unlicensed dogs. The neighbors complained her five dogs ran loose and nipped at people.

So Judge John D. Watts went to her home to hold court. Mrs. Arndt greeted him on the front porch as the dogs inside the house yapped loudly. One yapped louder than the others.

"That's the saucy one," Mrs. Arndt told the judge. She said he would have to hold court on the porch.

Hurriedly, the judge placed her on a year's probation, ordered her to get dog licenses and keep the pooches on leash.

"Okay, Sonny," Mrs. Arndt said as she waved the judge goodbye and retreated into the house.

Court was adjourned.

Authority for Investment Given

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Authority for the United Gas Corp. to make additional investments in Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., Brownsville, has been granted by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The agency said the Shreveport Holding Co. will invest an additional $833,454 to help finance construction by Carthage Hydrocol of a new manufacturing plant near Brownsville designed to produce gasoline from natural gas by a synthetic process.

SEC was told that additional investment was made necessary by changes in plans and increased costs which boosted the estimated construction bill from 14 million dollars to $38,168,000.

The commission said that private investors, including United Gas, have put up about $10,500,000. SEC added that the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has agreed to lend up to $18,500,000 to help complete the project.

IS THE BIBLE CATHOLIC?

Recently, our Catholic friends and neighbors have written several articles for the newspapers expressing their religious views. Such publicity is in accord with right of Americans because of freedom of the press. It is great to live in a land where friends may consider their differences with mutual respect. This article is published with the convictions that there are sincere and honest people in all churches, but just being honest and sincere is no guarantee against religious error, for it is the TRUTH that shall make men free (See John 8:32). We trust that each reader will, for himself, examine the scriptures to see whether these things are so, THE BIBLE IS RIGHT! Now, IS THE BIBLE CATHOLIC? The BIBLE teaches that—

- The New Testament is the complete and perfect guide in all spiritual matters (See II Tim. 3:16-17; II Pet. 1:21). We are told not to go beyond this perfect guide (See II John 9). The church and its leaders have never been given authority to make religious rules, articles of faith or creeds. Hence, there is no need for church councils, synods, conferences, or centralized church government.
- Christ is the ONLY head of the true church (See Eph. 1:22-23; Col. 1:18). Hence, there is no need for a pope.
- Peter is never described in the Bible as being the visible head of the church. The "keys of the kingdom" were given to him and the power of binding and loosing was given to him and to ALL the apostles. (See Matt. 16:18-19; Matt. 18:18). This power was never delegated to any so-called "successors" of the apostles. The foundation of the church is Christ and ALL of the apostles, not Peter alone (See I Cor. 3:11; Eph. 2:19-20).
- Peter could not have been a pope because—
 - He was a married man (See Matt. 8:14).
 - He would not allow others to bow down before him (See Acts 10:25-26).
 - He was not infallible and when found in error he was reproved by Paul before the whole assembly (See Gal. 2:11-16).
 - There is no Biblical evidence that he was ever in Rome.
- Leaders in the true church are called elders or bishops who are required to be MARRIED men with believing children (See Titus 1:5-9). These men had the oversight of only one congregation (See Phil. 1:1). Each church was independent. There is no mention in the New Testament of the church ever being governed by popes, cardinals, and priests; all unmarried men.
- Jesus said, "Call no man father." (See Matt. 23:9). He also forbade his disciples to be called Rabbi or Master (See Matt. 23:8-12). The use of religious titles is contrary to the plain teachings of the Bible. Even the apostle Paul was referred to as "brother Paul" (See II Peter 3:15).
- Christian worship is described in the New Testament as being simple and heart-felt (See Acts 2:42; Col. 3:16-17). We are warned not to depart from this simplicity (See II Cor. 11:3). We are warned against religious seasons and festivals (See Gal. 4:10-11). Such things as incense, robes, holy water, infant baptism, sprinkling, candles, instrumental music, prayer-heads, and bowing before images have not been authorized by God for Christian worship. These are men made practices. Thus, as acts of worship, they are vain (See Matt. 18:9).
- Jesus loved his mother Mary, but he taught plainly that every obedient disciple was as dear to him as his own mother (See Matt. 12:46-50; Mark 3:11-35; Luke 8:19-21). Mary was not set forth as one to be worshipped, nor are we taught by the Bible to pray to her or bow down before her or her image. We are to worship God. (See Matt. 4:10; John 4:23-24).
- Paul said he would rather speak five words that could be understood than to speak 10,000 words in a tongue that was not understood. Would he have conducted a service in Latin before a congregation that spoke English? (See I Cor. 14:19).
- The scriptures foretell that some shall "depart from the faith—forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstain from meats." (See I Tim. 4:1-3). Today we are seeing a fulfillment of this departure in churches that forbid their members to marry, and command the abstaining from meat on Friday.

Congregations of Christians are referred to as "Churches of Christ" in Romans 16:16. They exist today; scriptural in name, organization, work and worship. If we can persuade others to forsake religious error and return to Bible ways, God will be pleased. In the language of Paul, "Am I therefore become your enemy, because I tell you the truth?" (Gal. 4:16). We stand ready to study and discuss the scriptures privately or publicly with anyone who requests it. Questions on Bible matters may be mailed to us.

Scout Leader Local Kiwanians List Is Low

Eighty-three local girls became members of the Pampa Girl Scout Association last week. Mrs. K. E. Thornton, executive, said that "consequently we need more leaders. Particularly we need more leaders for the Junior High age Scouts than any other age group."

Mrs. Thornton plans to instruct a leaders training course from 8:30 until 6 p.m., Oct. 3 and 5, at the Girl Scout House. All prospective leaders and all other women interested in Scouting have been invited to take the course.

Instruction in the course will include an explanation of the budget, discussion of troop problems and lessons in singing, dancing and dramatics.

Two new Brownie troops were added into the association's membership Friday. Mrs. T. K. Suggs, Mrs. C. J. Brock and Mrs. W. D. Burress will lead 11 third-grade girls from Horace Mann School. Mrs. Eugene McCurry, assisted by Misses V. Henry Pigg, H. S. Shouse and Robert L. Lee, will take over a newly formed third-grade troop from B. M. Baker. Eighteen girls have registered in the troop.

Benefit Ball Will Be Held

The ESA Sorority will hold a benefit ball at the Terrace Grill Tuesday at about 10 p.m. Proceeds from this ball will go towards the purchase of an audiometer, which will be used in Pampa public schools.

Bill Smith and the Mello-Aires will furnish the music for the benefit dance.

The sorority recently held a style show to help raise funds towards the purchase of the audiometer. It is a device used in testing the hearing of children. Queen contestants will be guests of ESA if they care to attend.

Divorces Are Put Through

Two short-lived marriages wound up in annulments Friday in 31st District Court before Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.

The court also handed down two divorce decrees, signed one divorce judgment in a case heard three weeks ago, granted one change of name, and two adoptions.

Marriages annulled were:
Patricia Jean Johnson from Joe Earl Johnson. They were married on August 8, 1949, and separated Aug. 15, 1949.

Janita Gregory from Raymond Gregory. They were married on Aug. 8, 1949, and separated on Aug. 15, 1949.

Weiss Club Main Speaker

Ed Weiss, local merchant, was principal speaker at the Friday luncheon meeting of the Pampa Kiwanis Club. He is a member of the club.

He spoke on the subject of "Happiness," laying emphasis on the fact that happiness is something one must find in his own community. His main thought was "Whenever man submerges himself in the unselfish service of others, then he finds happiness."

Homer D. Johnson, of the Ponca Wholesale Co., 309 W. Foster, was installed as a new member of the club.

Among guests of the club were members of the Amarillo Downtown Kiwanians on the golf course at the Country Club.

Initiation Being Held

About 40 men who live within the Adobe Walls area called a meeting today to complete their initiation into the Order of the A.F.W. campers honorary, at Camp Ki-O-Wah.

Initiation ceremonies began at 8 p.m. last night when the men were "put on silence." Each man who uttered more than a certain number of words during the day and one-half ceremony forfeited the chance to become a member of the organization.

Approximately 20 members of the organization are on hand at the camp to assist with the initiation.

Meanwhile, Paul Beisner, council executive, has called a meeting of all Pampa Den Mothers for 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Palm Room, City Hall.

All Den Mothers and prospective Den Mothers are invited to attend. The meeting will be in the form of a training session of Cubbing fundamentals and den operations.

Man Hospitalized From Bee Stings

KAUFMAN, Texas — (AP) — John Robinson was stung by so many bees he had to be taken to a hospital.

Driving to Kaufman from his home in Rosser, he encountered a vast swarm of bees that filled his car. He abandoned the auto and fell unconscious at the side of the road.

Passersby found him and took him to a hospital.

The bees had escaped from a number of hives which fell from a truck moving them from Rosser to Rosser.

What About Our State Deficit?

If you are conscious of the power of debt, you will be shocked to learn that it is estimated there will be a deficit of approximately 125 million dollars in the Texas government by the end of 1951.

Moreover, there was more than a billion dollars in revenue lost by the state during the past two years. This came to the Lone Star State through gasoline taxes, production taxes on crude oil and aid to highways, welfare, public education, oil and gas royalties and from a number of other sources.

High cost of the General Aid program and higher appropriations to eleemosynary institutions for capital improvements will constitute the biggest portion of the anticipated deficit.

The point we are getting at is this: What is wrong with our state government that we should roll up such huge deficits? Could a great portion of the present expenditure in our state government be credited to a cumbersome technique employed in administrative matters?

Perhaps the Governor should create such a commission patterned after the Hoover Commission to study and make recommendations for the reorganization of the executive branch of our state government.

This commission would have ample time to analyze thoroughly and make positive recommendations before the next regular session convenes in January of 1951.

My parents used to give me the idea that in reverse, they took it for granted that I was supposed to be polite all the time. The times when I wasn't, I would receive such little prizes as a good paddling enthusiastically donated by Papa Allen or Mommy.

I remember when the world thought it could improve the manners of a Dead End Kid like Marshall Tito by sending him $20,000,000. I'm afraid I will be lucky if the little tyke even remembers to say "thank you."

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949)
NEW YORK — Miss Vivian Kellems, who runs a small factory at Mystic, Conn. has been trying good, persuade or compel the Treasury of the United States to prosecute her on a criminal charge for intentional, defiant violation of the withholding tax law.

Ever since Feb. 20, 1948, she has refused to deduct the withholding tax from the wages of the people whom she employs to make a device called a cable-grip which is used principally by telephone and telegraph companies. There are about 50 of them. Their taxes have been paid all right. She has seen to it herself, at considerable trouble and expense, by informally coaching and reminding them.

She figures out their ownings to the penny, helps those who are against the quarterly tax day, and helps them buy money orders and bill out the tax forms. But she simply will not withhold or collect the tax herself and she is so firmly convinced that the law is unconstitutional that she has done everything she can think of to get herself indicted. The Treasury admits that these taxes have been paid except that there is disagreement over a small amount of the first quarter of 1948.

She says the taxes were paid to the penny, but the Treasury held otherwise and arbitrarily clipped her bank account for the amount which the collector leveled. Since then, she has been fined regularly, through a euphemistic device called a "penalty assessment," but there has been no further pygmy for taxes alleged to be due. In fact, the collector, John Fitzpatrick, of Hartford, admits that they have been paid by the individuals. Relations between Miss Kellems and Mr. Fitzpatrick have been very pleasant. He probably thinks she is a nut. The Treasury, however, she obviously thinks that Mr. Fitzpatrick and millions of other citizens are poor dumb fools who haven't the sense to realize that this withholding law does things to us which the Constitution doesn't allow.

To date, the government has clipped her bank account for a total of $7,818.80. Miss Kellems sits at back of course, and undoubtedly could have it back if she would abandon her little rebellion, which ultimately may knock the whole thing into the creek and win back for the citizen a degree of his freedom which has been inched away by the income tax amendment and the withholding law. But she will not quit.

Meanwhile, she deducted from her own 1948 income tax payment the amount which the government had seized up to them. They say she got it back. The government does not permit its subjects to balance accounts that way. The government may owe you more than you owe as income tax. And some bureau with thousands of employees and millions of dollars worth of modern office machinery may take five years to acknowledge and pay the debt. But nobody pays any penalty for this negligence or spiteful treatment of an individual. But George Spelvin, American, with his stubby pencil and his eighth grade arithmetic has to get his return in on time or pay a penalty. And if there is reason to believe he is delinquent on purpose, he can be fined, too. Anyway, Miss Kellems tried to withhold from her own tax payment the amount the Treasury had grabbed at her bank and that started more trouble.

Now what are the reasons for this obstinacy? Well, the withholding law makes the citizen perform labor for the government without pay. He has to do arithmetic, deduct the money, make a return to the government, and send a nately, have the biggest gaps. It is believed likely that the Russians grabbed more foreign office records than they did in the British. They may have concentrated on this on purpose, to be able to hide forever the details of the agreement between Hitler and Stalin at the start of the war. The U. S. has made public years ago this agreement several years ago. But the experts agree much of the information remains hidden.

Included in the batch of missing records are many of the details of the German attempts to get cooperation during the war with Latin American countries. Knowing how successful or unsuccessful such attempts were would be of extreme importance to the State Department and military experts for future defense planning.

As far as the German scientific records go, it is believed that America and England broke about even with the Russians. In this field the grab went beyond records to the technicians and scientists. The Russians probably got more information about the developments of German submarines, and more sub experts. But the Americans got more records and personnel in connection with German developments of guided missiles.

Now that the examination and use of the Nazi records is well underway and some phases almost finished, the Army has begun to worry about what to do with them for permanent keeping. To look into this problem, the Army sent one of the country's outstanding experts on re-check or money order. That is work in the government's service. He has to assume the financial responsibility for book-keeping errors. If he doesn't, he's liable. He is stuck for the difference. Too much is larceny.

In the case of a big business firm it is an expense incurred in the performance of a work which is properly the government's own task. The secretary of the treasury is paid, the collector in the district is paid, the men who grabbed the $7,818.80 out of Miss Kellems' bank account are paid. So why should the citizen serve as tax collector for nothing?

Furthermore, if the secretary of the treasury or the collector of those who grabbed the money fail to perform some duty the worst that can happen to any of them is that he gets fired. The citizen can be compelled to pay out of his own pocket the total amount of the taxes which he failed to collect and transmit, and fined an equal amount on top of that, just as a starter. That is the civil penalty. Then, if the Treasury is really in earnest, the victim can be fined $1,000 and sent to jail for a year as a lesson in citizenship. You can't give the secretary of the treasury a year in jail for refusing to sign his mail. Miss Kellems wants them to send her to jail.

"Go ahead, indict me," the girl says. She is gray-haired, gray-eyed, stylish and smart. "I wish you would haul me into court and give me a jury trial," she says. "I am a law-breaker. Officer, do your duty."

Why don't they get a year in jail for willful refusal to do this duty? The Treasury is afraid of her. This withholding tax is the first experience with the income tax of millions of citizens and they are sore about it as Congress has been. As the debates ran at the time, it was recognized that if the Treasury didn't clip those people weak by week before they ever got their hands on the money, the Treasury would never catch up with them. That was the figure hit upon at the time. About 30 out of a hundred would stay anchored and conscientiously make out returns and pay. The rest would change jobs, rattle around and elude the catchpols year after year and the burden on the few would increase proportionately.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, the collector, says the citizen has lots of other duties to the state which necessitate work. Such as what? Well, he has to shovel the snow off his walk. He has to do it. He has to get something there. Yes, something, but not enough. The citizen doesn't have an obligation to make his neighbor shovel the snow off his walk. He can report the neighbor to the cops but he doesn't even have to do that. The withholding tax makes the employer police a fellow citizen and compel that citizen to pay taxes which are none of the employer's business.

Before the Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

REWARD AND PUNISHMENT
When a child, I was taught that wisdom and virtue are rewarded, while error and wrong doing are punished. It's a pretty ancient doctrine, but I've always believed it, and I'm endeavoring to teach it to my children. Why not philosophy or life could omit this belief? What else could man live by—or for?

Yet—like so many other natural laws, which is now so dominant and all-inclusive that it covers the globe, and penetrates every private home, in this field, huge and terrible errors are made, both intellectual and moral, and intellectual. Those who make the errors either deny their guilt, or they scapgoats, and they find other ways to get away with it.

Not so in other fields. If a business man makes a bad error, he almost invariably pays for it in a year or so as a lesson in citizenship. Much whether he means it or not. The error is still an error, and it results in a penalty. If a man marries blindly, or invests his money foolishly, or bets on the wrong horse, a general pays for his mistake. A general who fails in a military field is demoted or removed from command. Most of us shun friends who deceive us, and refuse to buy products which do not live up to their promises, and somehow in politics, this whole doctrine seems to get reversed.

For example, go back to the war days. Remember how our leaders berated those who questioned the war, and how they were called "reactionaries"? Well—who was right and who was wrong? And were the wrong-guessers penalized? On the contrary, most of them are still in Washington, only now they are singing another tune. They are now the "agrarian reformers," and they are being rewarded. They are being rewarded. They are being rewarded. They are being rewarded.

Remember how our leaders told us that the Chinese Communists were just "agrarian reformers," that Mao would be another Lenin, Yalta and Potsdam, in the total enslavement of all Eastern Europe, in the huge cost of the Berlin Airlift and current defense bills, and now in the collapse of China? National Whirligig news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON — Treasury Secretary John W. Snyder, President Truman's tight-lipped and conservative friend from Missouri and World War I days, still holds the key to any plan for financial aid to England through larger purchases from the sterling bloc and the dominions. He enjoys that power as top boss of customs procedure and personnel at American ports of entry.

Despite almost twenty years' political campaign talk of lowering tariffs through reciprocal trade agreements, the traditions of this on-the-spot service tend to nullify some of the effect of officially reduced duties. Regulations and classifications framed for the pre-Roosevelt Republican regimes are still on the books.

Free Trader Cordell Hull used to complain frequently about these offsetting pressures when he was secretary of state.

Moreover, perhaps a majority of the customs men who guard our gates are sincere, high-triff operators. Many were appointed as youngsters during Harding-Coolidge-Hoover days, and have worked up to key posts.

Naturally, they want to make a good record of collections for their unit. It may mean more generous appropriations and salary increases from Congress. Therefore, whenever possible, they place imports in the classification with the highest duty. This allocation serves to narrow the American market just as effectively as if the original Smoot-Hawley rates were operative.

It would take years to rewrite these extremely minute and complicated regulations, and it is doubtful if Mr. Snyder will attempt the task. He has said that any further assistance to Britain must be in the "general framework of our economic structure." His desire to protect American interests was the main reason why the Bevin-Cripps declaration preferred that Secretary Acheson supervise the dollar crisis negotiations.

The secretary of state, who holds the classic, book economist's views about exchange of goods, may try to use his influence for pro-British revision of customs regulations. But he faces a tough, realistic customer in Mr. Snyder.

DISPLACED — The plight of a distinguished Spanish gentleman who once taught law to the late William Howard Taft dramatizes the difficulties of a group of displaced persons that has been neglected utterly in the movement to make America a refuge for thousands of Europeans made homeless by World War II.

The victim of two wars' effects, Dr. Antonio M. Opiso, is indeed a man without a country in every sense. He was studying law at Georgetown University here when the United States freed his native Philippines from Spanish rule. The U. S. gave him and others in his circumstances the choice of becoming citizens of American possessions by renouncing their Spanish allegiance.

PAPERS — But a not too bright naturalization official here held that he could not renounce the flag then flying over the Philippines because it was the Stars and Stripes.

Where Democracy Begins

By GORDON MARTIN

If you want to see democracy when working at its best, seek the public school and playground where equality is best. You will find a fine cross-section of what makes this country tick, for there's kids from every kind of home throughout the bell-wick. There is just no room for snobbery and selfish arrogance, for at public school both rich and poor enjoy an equal chance.

That is true upon the playground, as it is in the classroom, and you never have to wait too long to see a bully beat. When his bristles get too big and he is proud of his renown, then another of his fellows rises up and smacks him down. It's the most effective way that discipline can be applied, and it's part of our democracy which kids themselves provide.

And it works the same in classrooms where the zest for learning calls, be the pupil child of wealth or one who's clad in overalls: They have equal opportunity to learn their lessons well, for report cards recognize all those who show that they excel. Our democracy will never have a better place to start than the public school where kids may learn to play their proper part.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

A whoop and a holler away is much too short a distance when the whoop marks the spot at which some child is suffering from whooping cough. As painful as the sound is, the appearance of the young 'un wracked with the paroxysms is sufficient to unnerve the observer.

With whooping cough, there is an incubation period of about two weeks with slight fever, sneezing, runny nose, and a dry cough. In a week or two the coughing spasms begin with the characteristic deep breathing in of air, followed by a series of quick short coughs until the air is expelled from the lungs. Then a long-drawn shrill, whooping breathing in of air again.

During the spasm the face becomes dark blue, the eyes red and veins distended. The cough frequently is followed or accompanied by vomiting and may lead to nosebleed or other hemorrhage. The number of spasms may vary from about 10 to 50 a day.

After three or four weeks the spasms grow less frequent and less violent until they stop altogether. The highest death rate from whooping cough occurs in rural rather than in urban populations, in children under the age of five. The disease kills more children during the first two years of life than diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles and polio combined. And yet it is such a simple thing to have the child immunized. This immunization does not guarantee complete protection, but does make the case milder in almost every instance than it would have probably been without immunization. The value of this whooping cough series of shots has been reported so frequently that it seems needless to remind parents again that it is available and thoroughly desirable.

These mild cases that sometimes result from lack of complete protection by immunization are harder to diagnose than the usual whooping cough cases. And every whoop is not due to whooping cough; in fact such diseases of the respiratory tract as allergic bronchitis among others is indistinguishable from whooping cough in many instances except by laboratory diagnosis.

Therefore whooping cough should never be diagnosed without professional affirmation. Doctors prefer the name of "pertussis" to that of whooping cough because every patient who whoops does not have whooping cough and whooping cough may exist without the whoop.

An interesting sidelight on this disease is the effect other childhood diseases have had on it. These are rare but instances, of course, but medical literature does present cases of where mumps has supposedly completely cured whooping cough and measles, too, has checked whooping cough. Chicken pox doesn't do so well on whooping cough, however; the rare case reported of this combination states that the whooping cough stopped during the eruptive stage of chicken pox but the spasms became severe again after the chicken pox disappeared.

IN HOLLYWOOD

ONLY ONE AT A TIME?
"Not right away," she said. "You see Homer's only got it so they can just send Robert Taylor out once at a time. So if the masses are going to get the most out of him, he'll have to be sent to theaters, where a lot of people can see him and even get his autograph. But Homer's working on an improved model now. Pretty soon he'll be able to send out thousands of Robert Taylors, by just duplicating the atoms in mass production."

"This," I said weakly, "is terrible."
"Let's see," she said, "is progress. And you haven't heard the half of it. Why have them send Robert Taylor to you, when you can just as easy send you to Robert Taylor?"

"Wait a minute," I said. "What kind of talk is that?"
"Listen, instead of going to a movie theater, you simply go down to the Telesubstantiation station and get telesubstantiated to Hollywood. Then you can see all the stars instead of just Robert Taylor. You're in Hollywood. You can even eat in the Brown Derby."

"But the railroads. What'll become of them. And the airplanes. And the hotels and the..."

THEM PROFITS COULD DOUBLE MY PAYCHECK
(The Chicago Journal of Commerce)

By Austin Kiplinger
"Man oh man," says the lath operator "What I couldn't do with the profits this company made last year."

"Yeh," says his companion behind the beer bottle. "I hear they sold $12,000,000 worth of stoves, and made a million and a quarter profit. Old fat-back up there in the front office really raked in the dough. And he has the nerve to walk around this town and say the company can't give us more than 10 cents an hour raise. Why he could double our pay out of them fits and never miss it."

It would take years to rewrite these extremely minute and complicated regulations, and it is doubtful if Mr. Snyder will attempt the task. He has said that any further assistance to Britain must be in the "general framework of our economic structure." His desire to protect American interests was the main reason why the Bevin-Cripps declaration preferred that Secretary Acheson supervise the dollar crisis negotiations.

The secretary of state, who holds the classic, book economist's views about exchange of goods, may try to use his influence for pro-British revision of customs regulations. But he faces a tough, realistic customer in Mr. Snyder.

DISPLACED — The plight of a distinguished Spanish gentleman who once taught law to the late William Howard Taft dramatizes the difficulties of a group of displaced persons that has been neglected utterly in the movement to make America a refuge for thousands of Europeans made homeless by World War II.

The victim of two wars' effects, Dr. Antonio M. Opiso, is indeed a man without a country in every sense. He was studying law at Georgetown University here when the United States freed his native Philippines from Spanish rule. The U. S. gave him and others in his circumstances the choice of becoming citizens of American possessions by renouncing their Spanish allegiance.

PAPERS — But a not too bright naturalization official here held that he could not renounce the flag then flying over the Philippines because it was the Stars and Stripes.

COUNTRYLESS — Dr. Opiso's second attempt in New York in 1919, but again he returned home to become a judge. He was absent for seven years, and a second time he was unable to complete the citizenship-making process. Meanwhile, however, he had come to regard himself as an American in every sense.

Besides destroying the professor in the University of American, where Mr. Taft took some courses while governor-general there. He also taught many other prominent Americans who served there after the conquest.

Unemployment seems to be a greater problem than government reports indicate. Many people are working only part-time and the long days of overtime pay seem to be over.

—Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R), Ohio.

ords and archives management. Dr. Ernst M. Posner, to Europe this summer.

KNOWS THE ROPES
Dr. Posner was well fitted for the job. He formerly taught archives administration in Berlin and now is with American University, teaching the subject in connection with U. S. and state governments. He found that the German historians are eager to get all of these records returned to them as soon as possible. There are many things that they would like to find out about what went on inside the Nazi Party itself.

Involved in the problem of course, is the question of how and when all of this material will be made public. The great bulk of it is still classified and confidential information. Most of it, however, has only historical interest.

It is expected that many of the original documents of interest to the Germans will be returned to them and microfilm records kept for U. S. purposes.

The German archivists with whom Dr. Posner discussed the problem were anxious to hear about the process of microfilming and the other advances which have been made in the handling of official records. Dr. Posner urged them to try to make the science of keeping archives more alive than has been their habit.

When he explained to them what the U. S. had done with the Freedom Train in the way of making vital historical records available to all of the people in the country, they were impressed. They got interested in some such project for Germany.

Writer Says U.S. Woman Is Over-Idolized

The most idolized woman in the world, America's Eve is by general consent the best looking and among the best dressed. She has a remarkably fine figure, is exceptionally intelligent, has more privileges, more legal rights and more property than women have held anywhere at any time.

Yet, declares Leland Stowe, in the Reader's Digest, the American woman (thanks largely to men) is the most spoiled and self-centered in the world, the most aggressive and the least happy. She is less feminine, less interested in husband, home and family than are women of other lands. She is more restless and bored, and is less spiritual and has less individuality than women anywhere else on earth.

These are the conclusions, Stowe says, of a "distinguished array of psychoanalysts and sociologists, of most foreigners who have spent much time in the United States, and of an increasing number of traveled Americans." They are Stowe's conclusions, too, based on observations abroad and at home during 20 years as a foreign correspondent.

Do you doubt that the American woman is the most spoiled and self-centered in the world? Watch how "presumptuously she waits for some male to light her cigarette," and note that "the obliging male frequently gets not even a nod for his pains."

If you think our women aren't aggressive, observe them at bargain counters, Stowe suggests. Watch how they capitalize on the "women first" tradition—in railroad stations, elevators, buses and ticket lines. "It is only in America that women have a special prerogative to be rude." Unhappiness of our women is shown, the author says, by scores of thousands of their letters as published in "advice to the lovelorn" columns. These are read by millions of other women—"presumably interested for similar reasons."

Contending that our women lack individuality, Stowe observes that "only the most strong-minded succeed in resisting the terrific pressures toward uniformity. The fashion magazines, the beauticians and Hollywood exert a disabling influence, leveling down women of all ages."

Amnesiac Identified

LAMESA, Texas —(AP)—City Judge Luther Sandifer said yesterday a woman amnesiac victim found here Sept. 10 had been identified.

He named her as Lorraine Patterson of Hitchcock, Texas, near Galveston. She is about 35.

She was found here wandering in the streets. She has been under treatment in Lamesa Hospital. Sandifer said she was given sodium pentothal. Under its influence she named her sister as Mrs. Ann Lot of Hitchcock. Sandifer said he talked with Mrs. Lot, who told him her sister disappeared from Hitchcock about eight weeks ago.

A physician here said the woman would be released from Lamesa hospital and transferred to some point near Hitchcock—possibly Galveston or Houston—for further treatment.

Sandifer said she apparently disappeared while on a routine errand.

'Spare the Gas, Save the Child'

AUSTIN — Texans were urged to "spare the gas and save the child" in a statewide campaign launched by the Texas Safety Association against traffic accidents to school-age children.

"No matter how much safety education a child has had drilled into him," said George Clarke, managing director, "the fact remains that it's largely up to the motorist whether the child lives or dies."

The association pointed out that home training and school safety lessons are extremely valuable in impressing youngsters with the dangers of playing in the street and crossing between intersections. On the other hand, the association warns, a child in the heat of play forgets quickly and easily the lessons that he has learned, so the bulk of the responsibility falls upon the driver.

Clarke told motorists they can save child life by following these rules:

1. Regard every child on the street as a flashing 'caution' sign.
2. In school zones, residential districts and near playgrounds, be especially watchful for children and expect the unexpected at all times.
3. Give bicycles a wide berth. Inexperience, a poor sense of balance, holes in the road, or just sheer childish absent-mindedness can place the rider directly in your path without warning.
4. In residential districts, particularly, be on the alert at driveways and intersections for tricycle riders, skaters, scooter riders.

The Texas Safety Association is sponsoring the school safety campaign as part of a continuing traffic safety program in cooperation with the Texas Congress of Parent-Teacher and other groups.

Alaska-Norway Non-Stop Made

OSLO, Norway —(AP)—Col. Bert Balchen, pioneer Arctic airman, landed a U. S. Air Force transport plane at Oslo Sunday after a 3,700-mile non-stop flight from Anchorage, Alaska, in 22.5 hours.

Brig. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, commander of the U. S. Air Force in Alaska, accompanied Balchen. Balchen had planned to fly over the North Pole but weather forecasts were bad, so he set his course over North Greenland.

Balchen, Armstrong and three other Air Force officers took turns piloting the Skymaster during the record run.

Others on the flight included Col. Eugene Strouse, Maj. Gene Douglas, Capt. K. Lennart, Capt. R. Shearer and Lt. N. M. Gud-zepthe.

Soldier Disguise Is Now Real

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz. —(AP)—An escapee from a Nazi labor battalion who disguised himself as an American soldier to get to the United States, is now a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force. The young man is Borivoj Kubelka, late of Czechoslovakia.

He received his gold bars and silver wings as a jet fighter pilot. When the Germans invaded Czechoslovakia they permitted Kubelka to continue his medical studies at the University of Prague until 1942. Then he was sent to a munitions factory near Berlin. Three years later he escaped and made his way to Paris. He tried to enlist in the United States Army but was turned down. He went to Le Havre, embarked on a U.S. troop transport. Kubelka cleared himself with the U.S. Immigration and Army authorities by reporting to Ellis Island. A short time later he was released and on Dec. 18, 1945, was sworn in as a private in the U.S. Air Force. A year later he received his U. S. citizenship papers. At the Morrison Air Force Base in Florida he was promoted to sergeant. His application for pilot training was accepted.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hesse—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What two college football teams have played each other the greatest number of times?

THE ALL-CIVIC CLUB GOLF tournament this afternoon looks like a good thing. Not only will it afford the boys some exercise to trim down that waistline, but it will help to promote friendly relations between the four organizations as well as get the boys acquainted with each other. Let's hope that the affair will be such a success that it will be made an annual affair.

THE HARVESTERS looked good in all phases Friday night except tackling and pass defense. The tackling, after two weeks of good play, looked bad. Time after time the line had the El Paso passer hemmed in and all but tackled. But the tacklers tried to make those neck tie tackles, and let him get away. If they had hit him around the knees, and dropped him, as Allison did one time, they might have caused him to fumble more often. Allison broke Irvin in two with a fine tackle, caused him to fumble, Pampa recovered and went on to score.

The other weakness was, of course, in pass defense. The Harvesters worked for two weeks on passes and pass defense. But the way they looked Friday night a spectator would have thought that they never saw a pass thrown at them before. Up until Friday's game they hadn't had one completed against them. They had the best pass defense record in the state. Now it has probably fallen to the worst, with 21 completed out of 27 attempted Friday.

The leading backfield man of the Tigers, Bobby Keller, was sidelined with an ankle injury, and saw no action whatsoever. But Clifford Irvin who replaced him did a beautiful job. He and Lama consistently found the right receiver with their aerials.

Next week it is Vernon. It will be the first out-of-town game for the Green and Gold and again it will be a rough challenge to their clean slate. Fortunately, Vernon scouts were in absence at Friday's game. They had witnessed the Harvesters first two encounters, when the pass defense was good, and consequently may try to stick to a ground attack. But you can bet your last dollar ball and crashed across center to tally. Galusha added the point.

The line play was again outstanding. After three weeks of the kind of play that the green forward wall has turned in, for one, am ready to admit that the forward wall is great, and that now, let's prepare for Vernon.

ANSWER: Yale and Princeton from the Ivy League, have met 72 times on a football field, more than any other two colleges.

USC Sinks Navy Behind Wave of TDs

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Southern California's Trojans, looking mid-season sharp, opened their 1949 football season with a 42 to 20 triumph over Navy Saturday. Before the contest ended for the edification of 42,787 fans, USC, a team many think may wind up in the Rose Bowl, had hit the scoreboard for six touchdowns and as many extra points. The Middles scored twice in the second quarter, never stopped trying and finally cashed in again with 16 seconds remaining in the game.

Blackhawks Roll Past McLean 47-0

McLEAN — (Special) — The Phillips Blackhawks continued their marauding ways here Friday night as they rolled over the McLean Tigers 47-0. It was the third straight lopsided victory for Chesty Walker's powerhouse. Marvin Eldridge was the center of the Phillips' attack. By half-time Phillips had rolled up a 27-0 lead on Eldridge's running and passing. He hit Cantrell with a 30-yard aerial for one touchdown. Cantrell had the longest touchdown run of the game, going forty yards to score, his third touchdown of the game. Other Blackhawks touchdowns were scored by Eldridge, Moore and Wells.

Lefors Pirates Stop Canadian Cats, 12-0

CANADIAN — (Special) — After playing an even game during the entire first half, the Lefors Pirates exploded with a pair of touchdowns early in the third period of Friday night's game against the District 1-B Canadian state spotlight game here Friday night.

Friday Todd, fleet Pirate full-back, accounted for both touchdowns. Todd exploded through the right side of the Wildcat line on a quick-opening play two minutes after the start of the second half, and raced 85 yards un-touched to pay tribute to the conversion failed.

The second Pirate score came two minutes later, when Wildcat quarterback Bobby Hernandez, attempting to punt from his own ten yard line, was smothered by the center of the Pirate line and the kick blocked. On a fourth-down try from the five, Friday Todd smashed through center for the score. Doorn's attempted conversion failed again.

The Pirates were held down, through most of the game, by a stubborn Wildcat eleven which gave ground grudgingly, and after the second half opened, they were hurt badly late in the second period when their hard-driving fullback, Roger Reagan, left the game with a broken leg. . . probably lost to the squad for the season.

White Deer Slaughters Stinnett, 68 to 0

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The White Deer Bucks, using for the most part a group of reserves made up of promising Freshmen and Sophomores, handed an outstanding 68-0 defeat to Stinnett here Friday night. The White Deer regulars, led by co-captains Smith and Harvey, racked up three quick touchdowns in the early minutes of the first quarter. All three extra points were added to give the Bucks a 21-0 lead.

Harvey made the first touchdown; Harvey passed to Imel for the second; and the Ethan Noble raced 51 yards in his only appearance in the game for the third first-period score. With four minutes remaining in the first period the reserves took over. Freeman made the score 28-0 at half time with the Bucks' fourth touchdown. The Bucks' first team took the field again the first seven minutes of the second half and scored three more fast touchdowns. Talley, Buchanan and Jordan going over.

Newhouseer Tops Tribe For 18th Win, 8 to 5

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Hal Newhouseer spotted the Cleveland Indians five runs in the first inning Saturday but the Detroit Tigers came back to win, 8-5, for Hal's 18th victory. Pat Mullin and Aaron Robinson hit homers for the winners. It was Cleveland's sixth consecutive defeat.

Pirates Win, 6 to 5; Kiner Goes Homerless

CINCINNATI — (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates beat Cincinnati Saturday, 6 to 5. Ralph Kiner failed to make any progress toward a new National League home run record. Kiner barely missed in the third with a triple that hit high on the wall in center field.

Spanh Reaches 20th Victory of Season

A vast aerial armada, enough to put the Air Force's D-Day fleet to shame, is moving in over Sun Valley.

The quackers are pulling stakes from their Canadian summering grounds and are beginning to head south on the 2000-mile flight down the Snake River fly-way to Old Mexico for a winter siesta in the sun.

More than half a million mallards, widegons, pintails, red-heads and canvasbacks annually stretch their wings down the Snake river flyway, one of the four in the nation leading from border to border, and a tidy percent of these waterfowl make the stop at Silver creek. This is all to the Sun Valley duck hunter's advantage for the resort has nearly 2600 acres of private hunting grounds from which the prize feathered packages can be taken.

And speaking of ducks, how many of you fellows think that you are good duck callers? Here's a chance for you to prove it. I left a bunch of entry blanks for the International Duck Callers Contest with Warmup yesterday. The contest is to be held at the International Rice Festival at Crowley, Louisiana.

Miami Warriors Trim Morse High 26 to 20

MIAMI — (Special) — The Warriors Friday afternoon picked up a game, as they defeated the Morse squad on their own gridiron, 26-20.

After an initial setback at the hands of the Gruber Greyhounds a week ago, the local aggregate invaded the host team successfully almost from the beginning. Morse scored first and in the first period, with a touchback, giving the team 2 points.

Miami's Gill then threw a 25-yard pass to Watson, who delivered it. In the second quarter Gill ran the ball to paydirt, and the score at the half was 12 to 2. Conversions were no good.

In the third quarter Gill took another across, and Parker accounted for the extra. Morse also scored in the third, with a long run. But the big play of the evening was wrapped up when Gill carried the ball for 70 yards to the goal.

In the fourth Morse scored again. Dale Berry scored all points for the host team. Next Friday Miami plays Booker here.

will be hitting from the back tees. You will be able to see golf played as good as anywhere in the U. S. I hope to see a group of Pampans in Amarillo next weekend.

Michigan Gets Scare From State

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (AP) — Michigan, the nation's mythical football champion, kept alive a three-season victory string Saturday by defeating a stubborn Michigan State squad, 7-3.

It was the closest squeak since the string was started midway during the 1946 season. Michigan State College then became Michigan's 24th consecutive victim.

The whole story was told in the first 18 minutes. Michigan State took a 3-0 lead on a field goal by George Smith. Michigan retaliated with an 11-yard touchdown pass, from its second-string signal-caller, Bill Putich, to veteran end Irv Wisniewski.

Army Starts Easy Schedule With Win

WEST POINT, N. Y. — (AP) — The Army football team, last year's Eastern champion, opened its 1949 season Saturday by hammering out a 47 to 7 victory over Davidson.

Despite ragged play in spots, Army had too many and too big men for the Southern Conference school. Still Coach Earl Blaik had to use his first string offensive and defensive units a large part of the time.

Choo Choo Justice Leads Tarheel Victory

CHAPL HILL, N. C. — (AP) — Crapping loose for three last period touchdowns, North Carolina whipped North Carolina State, 26-6 Saturday to turn a bruising football game into a runaway.

On top all the way after taking a 7-0 first quarter lead, the Tar Heels had a tough battle on their hands through the third period which ended with North Carolina still on top, 7-6. Then the winners poured over three scores in a hurry to win going away.

All-Army tailback Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice engineered the Southern Conference victory with the help of a Sophomore-studded lineup.

Terry Young Scores Upset Over Bolanos

NEW YORK — (AP) — Terry Young, a rough and tumble batter from New York's East Side, upset the favored Enrique Bolanos, a Mexican from Los Angeles, Friday night in a bloody 10-round battle that left the Madison Square Garden ring splattered with blood.

The decision was unanimous with referee Eddie Joseph calling it 7-3, judge Joe Agnello, 6-4 and judge Art Adala 5-4 with 1 even. The AP card had it all square 4-4 with two even.

By the TIMBER TIPPER Did you miss us last week? We were forced to take a quick leave of Pampa and go up into the bare-foot country. When we thought about this noisy little column we were so far in the backwoods it was impossible to send it out.

This afternoon at 2:30 the Tom Rose Traveling team is host to the Herring Hotel five on the local alleys. The Pampa Bowmen's team will also meet the Amarillo girls at the same time. These should be very good matches. The Tom Rose team is in first place. Come out and see the match if you can.

Thanks a million, Mr. Payne, for the nice prize you are offering each week for the high score in open bowling. The bowlers certainly do appreciate it.

A wonderful crowd was on hand to hear Mr. Milton Ramsey on Wednesday night. John Hutchens is going to do all that he can to make some entertainment for the boys and girls of Junior High and High School. Several people have offered their services to supervise and sponsor these leagues already.

Doyle Clanton is going to be a nice bowler. Someone should grab him. Also Nancy Sullivan and Isabelle Priest are really improving.

John has ordered some small bowling balls for junior boys and girls. They will be kept at the desk so that some of the small sons and daughters can try their luck.

Thanks a lot to Billie Stevens in the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company for her efforts in organizing a league. The girls over there will start bowling this week afternoons.

Every Wednesday night will be devoted to rolling doubles. Prizes will be given each night. Watch for the starting date.

Don (By Yimminy) Ormsom gave a lesson to the boys on how to roll high scores in bowling Friday night. Buck Donnell gave the lessons Thursday night. Saw several of the boys rack their bowling balls up for good after those two lessons.

Here is a good shot. The 7 and 10 pin split can be made every

U.N. Faces Problem Over Ex-Colony

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the ticklish problems with which the United Nations will have to deal in the immediate future is whether to continue the limited self-rule which has been tentatively established by the British in the former Italian Mediterranean colony of Cyrenaica.

This new government was inaugurated Sept. 16 by Britain as military occupation authority — apparently pursuing a course somewhat similar to that of the Western powers in the matter of the German government at Bonn. The Cyrenaica regime is headed by Emir Sayid Mohammed Idris el Senussi, the princely personage who long has been both religious and temporal leader of his people. The Grand Senussi, as he generally is called, has been in direction of internal affairs, while Britain retains full control of defense and all external matters.

There is a disposition in some U. N. quarters to criticize Britain for making such a positive move in advance of Assembly consideration. The decision about Cyrenaica and the other Italian colonies, by the way, is the only legislative action which the assembly thus far has been authorized to make. Power to decide this important issue was conferred by the Italian peace treaty.

Of course, despite any argument over the timing of the event, it long has been expected that Cyrenaica (Mussolini's prize colonial development) would be turned over to the Senussi, who are a Moslem sect of Arabs. Britain promised them during the war that they never again would be returned to Italian rule. Moreover, it was generally believed that the Grand Senussi would be ruler.

Britain's chief interest in Cyrenaica and it is shared by America is that this ex-colony is an important military base, dominating the main shipping route through the Mediterranean.

The harbor of Tobruk, of evil war memories and the big land of Crete to the north, form a saddle right across the Mediterranean life-line from the Strait of Gibraltar to the Suez Canal. Back in 1942, when Montgomery had just driven Marshal Rommel out of Cyrenaica, I spent some time in that area and later was given the opportunity of meeting the Grand Senussi in Cairo.

The 61-year-old prince is all that the most romantic souls wish an Arab sheik to be. He is tall, slim and handsome. He has a customary beard and mustache. He reputedly is rich. Moreover he is a fine horseman, a fiercer fighter and an inspiring leader. But, he is far more than that, for he is a highly cultured man whose life has been devoted to his people.

No Postal Rate Hike Likely Now

WASHINGTON — (AP) Senator Olin Johnston (D-SC) indicated that the Senate will wait until next session before acting on a committee-approved bill to raise postal rates by 100 million dollars a year.

Johnston, chairman of the Post Office Committee which approved the bill Thursday, said he doesn't plan to "press" for action on the legislation now, while lawmakers are adjournment-minded.

The House Post Office Committee has held hearings on the legislation but has taken no action. The bill is intended to increase postal revenues about 33 million dollars annually by raising the one-cent rate on post cards used for business purposes to 1 1/2 cents.

Additional receipts of some 10 million dollars would be realized from proposed rate boosts on second class mail, largely newspapers and magazines.

The committee said second class rates would be 33 1/3 percent higher under the bill for publications which are published for profit and carry advertising.

The rate on reading matter would go up to 2 cents a pound from 1 1/2 cents. The rate on advertising content, which now varies between postal zones from 1 1/2 cents to 7 cents, would be increased to a scale of 2 to 5 cents.

Exempted from the increases would be weekly newspapers with a circulation of less than 5,000 and daily newspapers with a circulation of less than 10,000.

Mexico Has No Blacklist

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Mexican officials denied Friday that there was a "blacklist" of Texas counties but did say that some requests for Mexican harvest workers had been held up because of reports of discrimination in the areas to which the men were to be sent.

An agreement was reached between the United States and Mexico which provides that no braceros (harvest workers) may be enlisted for work in discrimination areas.

The denial of the blacklist came after the Texas Employment Commission in Austin reported ten counties were on such a list. Live Oak, Bowie, Dawson, Pecos, San Patricio, Matagorda, Williamson, Johnson, McLennan and Victoria, all big cotton producing counties, were cited.

Harry Bengt Crozier, chairman of the TEC, said the trouble resulted largely from a misunderstanding and blamed language difficulties for most of the trouble. One Mexican official said delayed requests for workers might involve as many as ten counties.

But he said there were no flat orders not to send men to these counties. Some requests have been delayed for investigation and when this showed no discrimination, or county authorities promised there would be none, the requests were approved. Other requests are still under investigation.

Man Held on Car Deal Makes Bond

LAREDO — (AP) — William (Billy) Bales, 28-year-old Lampasas man charged with foreign transportation of a stolen car, made $5,000 bond Thursday and was released.

The bond was provided by his father, A. W. Bales, and a friend, W. J. Skaggs, both of Lampasas. It is returnable at San Angelo where the federal court term opens Oct. 17.

Bales was arraigned Wednesday. He was arrested Saturday after the present owner of a 1948 Cadillac was stopped for questioning by a policeman who noticed the car bore out-dated license plates.

When arrested Bales was free on $2,500 bond on a charge of interstate transportation of stolen cattle and a $5,000 bond on a charge of intimidating a witness.

Sabotage Appears Increasing in Poland

WROCLAW, Poland — (AP) — Economic sabotage, most of it apparently centering in industries operated in former Eastern German lands, seem to be on the increase in Poland.

Arrests and trials of those accused of sabotage are frequent. A casual check of arrests reported by Polish newspapers since Jan. 1 showed 160 persons had landed in jail. Many of these included directors or vice directors of industrial plants.

Earth's Innards To Be Examined

AUSTIN — Did you ever wonder what the inside of the earth is like? A University of Texas physicist is trying to find out!

Hal Jones of Houston is twirling the dials on an intricate apparatus in a project to determine the elasticity of rocks as part of work for his Doctor of Philosophy Degree in geophysics.

Though we know that very high pressures and temperatures exist deep in the earth, we cannot go down and study them first hand," Jones explains.

Instead he simulates those conditions with his apparatus, studying the propagation of ultrasonic pulses in cylindrical pieces of igneous and sedimentary rocks to which he applies temperature and pressure equivalent to that within the earth.

He can record the rock's reaction to the extreme temperature and pressure, and maybe someday the information he gains will be a help in adding knowledge about the earth's interior and such allied problems as the cause of earthquakes and location of oil deposits.

The work is part of a naval project in geophysics and is under the supervision of Prof. D. S. Hughes.

AUSTIN — What makes a slow reader? "In the great majority of cases, it is just lack of interest in reading and practice of the art," says Dr. Royal B. Embree Jr., assistant director of the University of Texas Testing and Guidance Bureau.

"A rancher or oil man may spend most of his time out of doors looking after his interests. He doesn't read much because his duties just don't give him time for it and his natural interest doesn't lie in that direction. Yet he reads well enough to make thousands of dollars—maybe millions—and he's very happy," Dr. Embree explains.

"Slow reading trouble" becomes important, however, when students with little reading practice in high school become University Freshmen and are overwhelmed by the amount of reading necessary, he said.

That is why the bureau is helping about 75 students this fall in a reading improvement program. The group, who asked for aid, was divided into classes of approximately 15, so that Dr. Embree and his assistant, Charles Roberts, might give them individual instruction. The one-hour classes meet three days weekly. The first sessions will be spent checking each student for individual faults, such as incorrect eye movement. Then efforts will be made to increase the reading speed and comprehension of the group.

"As speed increases, so will comprehension up to a certain point. Our aim is to increase the reader's speed and check his comprehension. Then, when the latter variable drops, we can decrease his speed until the most desirable proportion of the two factors is attained," Dr. Embree explained.

The average speed increase for classes last spring was 65 percent. The minimum was 60 percent. The maximum was 130. The slowest readers, in most cases, showed the greatest improvement.

The best thing a person can do to improve his reading, Dr. Embree emphasized, is just to read more about subjects he enjoys. The other factors will take care of themselves.

Economist Says American People Have Power to Avert Depression

We are not in a depression today and need not fear one if we use the means available to prevent it, declares W. Walter Williams, chairman of the Committee for Economic Development.

We are in a dip, Williams concedes, and though the dip is economically a "wholesome adjustment from boom to normal," there is nothing "wholesome" in the personal situations of our 8,778,000 unemployed—a total a million and a half greater than a year ago.

"I have a recipe," Williams states, "to change this dip into a depression that will lay you flat on your back. Let everyone insist on unnecessarily high profit margins. Let labor insist on unreasonable wage boosts. Let government regard business profits as a happy hunting ground for the tax collector. Finally, let the consumer meaning everybody—bury his surplus money in the cyclone cellar and call an all-out buyers' strike."

But before the American people do these things, Williams urges, they should regard the "amazing strength" in the economic picture of today, as compared with 1929. The first is the fact that we have had no speculative frenzy in real estate, commodity or stocks. In 1929, brokers' loans to help the public buy stocks on credit, had risen to $8½ billion; today such loans are less than half or one billion dollars. Almost all bank accounts, up to $5,000, are insured, a fact to prevent mass withdrawals and closed banks. Our private debt today is only 85 percent of our national income, but in 1929 it was 185 percent.

Attributing the dip to businessmen's curtailment of purchases of supplies and consumers' postponement of buying, the author says expenditures have been limited not by inability to buy but by unwillingness to buy. Businessmen and consumers alike should overcome their unwillingness to buy and employ immediately their ability to buy.

Labor, too, "should act its age," Williams adds. If in this emergency a million workers obtain a lifting of prices to many or all Americans, including those who got wage boosts.

If the people do not avert a depression themselves, they will be renewed pressure on the government to do so, he warns. How far government economic enterprise can go is indicated by a bill recently introduced in Congress providing for public works costing $30 billion. Being a danger that government may eventually become "more important than the people," Williams urges fighting the current recession with "every private weapon at our command."

The objective is more than a national one, he concludes. "The Russian Communists and many left-wing supporters of planned economies in Western Europe are watching us intently, sure that our present slump is our first slide toward complete economic downfall. Now is our time to prove that really free men and women do not need the state to deliver them from recessions."

Guess who's losing sleep over this one?

FOR years, folks have talked about the "low-priced three" in the car business. For a generation these have been the same three cars, unchallenged for position simply because they were lowest priced.

But take a look at the beauty pictured here and ask yourself:

How would you like to sell against it, with its wealth of Buick features?

How would you like to compete with it when it wears a price tag any new-car buyer can reach, gives you straight-eight performance for less than many sixes?

Truth is, this one sets a lot of standards that are going to be hard to match.

This styling is certainly something to start other designers tossing in their sleep.

This handy size—a dream in traffic, yet generous in interior room—is a "must" for cars yet to come.

The lift of high-pressure Fireball power—the level-going comfort of the Buick ride—the luxury of Dynaflow Drive, here op-

Someone to Love

IRENE LONNIE ERNHART

THE STORY: Jenny Peterson meets Ted Conover on his return from a hospital where he was treated for a foot ailment. She breaks the news that his fiancée, Liz Conover, has died. Jenny is a classmate of Liz's. She is not one of Liz's best friends, but she is a close friend of Liz's mother. Liz's mother had died of a heart attack. Jenny had always been a bit of a loner, but she had been told that she was not.

THE least he could do was buy Jenny a drink. Ted said, so they stepped at a small bar near the station. It was dimly lit and almost empty. The usual juke box played softly and monotonously from a corner.

While Jenny toyed with a cocktail, sipping it slowly and making it last, Ted downed three drinks in quick succession.

She had to keep explaining it over and over to him, just what Liz had said on the phone. He couldn't quite believe it. But after the drinks, he quit talking about Liz all at once, and seemed to notice her for the first time.

"You look cute, Jenny. I like that little hat with the whata-macallit tied under your chin." He grinned at her amiably, signalled the waitress for another drink, and continued to talk. His words blurred ever so slightly now.

"We used to have some pretty good times together before I ever met Liz, didn't we, Jenny?" Jenny nodded. She knew he was tight, but nonetheless it pleased her that he recalled how things used to be between them.

"Remember when you and I and your Pop used to go out Sundays to the shack and fish all day, and go swimming?"

She nodded. Quick tears sprang into her eyes for no reason at all. "Remember the time, Jenny, we treated a boat and went down river fishing and I forgot to tie the boat?"

"And the current took it off, and we had to walk all the way back," Jenny put in laughing. "And we thought we were going to have to pay for the boat?"

"Yeah, but they found it later, so we didn't have to pay for all. He moved his glass in circles on the table, reflectively. And then he looked up and said, "How is Pop, anyhow?"

Jenny swallowed and looked down in silence for a moment, and then she said, "Pop's dead, Ted. It's just you know."

"Oh, Sorry."

THE waitress brought his drink, and he got out his billfold, paid her, and when she was gone he said, "I do remember now reading about it in the paper. He was a good scout, Jenny. I bet you miss him."

Jenny nodded, and finished her cocktail in one gulp.

"Let's go out to the shack again sometime, when the weather gets nice, Jenny," he said eagerly. "I'd like to, wouldn't you? We could take a lunch and some beer, and go swimming. It's been a long time since I've done anything like that. It would seem like old times."

"Let's do," Jenny answered. She felt wildly and unreasonably happy now. Ted wanted to see her again.

They went out of the bar into the fresh air. It had stopped snowing now, but the wind was blowing sharp and cold. Ted put her into the cab, which was still waiting. He paid the driver and then said, "I'll see you again soon, Jenny. We'll go fishing 'too, won't we?"

Jenny nodded her head, smiling at him, as the cab took off from the curb. She told the driver to take her to the shop instead of home because it wasn't yet.

Nina took one look at her sparkling eyes as she came into the shop and exclaimed, "Oh, so everything went off all right! Maybe he wasn't so much in love with that high-hat Liz Conover after all, Jenny. You can't tell!"

The girls all crowded around, asking what he had said and all about

"We need to have some pretty good times together before I ever met Liz, didn't we, Jenny?" Ted asked.

and continued, "Sometimes I think it would be better to have only married girls in the shop, except we married ones have their ups and downs these days. They're always getting babies or divorces or worrying about finding a place to live!"

JENNY didn't answer. Already she was wondering whether she'd buy those new checked slacks that had just come in or some plain brown ones she'd been admiring for some time. But it was silly to think of what she'd wear out to the shack, since it wouldn't be warm enough to go out there for another month at least. A new dressy suit would be more important, that coming little chatreuse wool number with the matching satin blouse. The color flattered her.

"Ted loved my hat," she told Nina, as she unhooked the blue ribbons from under her chin.

"Do you honestly think he'll call me tomorrow, Nina?" She stared wistfully at her reflection in the long mirror in the back room of the shop. The cocktail was beginning to wear off now, and with it some of the elation she had felt when she left Ted.

"But her confidence was misplaced, for Ted didn't phone the next day. Weeks went by and she didn't hear from him. Every time the phone rang in the shop, or at home in the shabby little house on Catalpa Street, Jenny's heart plunged. But no call came from Ted.

March slid into April. The new suit hung in the closet unworn, and regretted now as a pure extravagance. Nina suggested she bring it back to the shop. "Max'll let you have it back. He's a good guy about things like that."

Max owned the shop. Even he noticed Jenny's nervous preoccupation and scolded her about it. "What's the matter, Jenny," he asked. "You go around the shop looking like the crack of doom? I like my models to look happy. It's better business."

"I'm sorry Max, if I've been looking phony."

"It's some man, I suppose."

Max's shrewd black eyes didn't miss a thing. He saw the faint flush that brushed Jenny's cheeks,

Airport Purchase Law Ruled Out
AUSTIN — (AP) — A law intended to authorize purchase of an airport by Winkler County was ruled unconstitutional by the attorney general.

Bruce Allen, assistant attorney general, said in an opinion requested by William E. Pool, Winkler County attorney at Kermit, that SB 463 passed by the 51st Legislature was invalid as a local and special law.

The bill was applicable only to counties with a population between 6,141 and 6,150.

"The classification contained in the bill is not based on a real distinction, but is an arbitrary classification and is in substance a local or special law," the opinion said, noting that such laws are barred by Section 56, Article Three of the Constitution.

British Pound Dropped in Free Market Last Spring

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a two-part series on Britain's financial troubles and her eventual decision to devalue the pound.)

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The British pound became really unpopular in world trade circles last spring.

Anybody who got hold of dollars couldn't change them into pounds without losing some of his buying power. He naturally insisted on getting more pounds for his money.

On the "free markets," the pound began to depreciate. In Switzerland it got down close to the $2.80 rate Britain decided finally to adopt.

New questions arise: why couldn't one buy free-market, or "cheap," pounds and spend them in England? Wouldn't that insure your getting your money's worth? Isn't a pound a pound, no matter what you paid for it?

The over-simplified answer is, a pound was not a pound. The British got up rules.

A traveler who entered England could bring with him only pocket money in pounds. If you, an American, got pounds by selling shares of English stock, you could spend them only for other shares of stock—not for goods. England wanted dollars for her goods.

And if you were, say, a South American who sold coffee to England, you really didn't get pounds in your hands. You got a credit entry in a bank in London. You could spend it in England, if England had anything you wanted to buy, but you couldn't get hold of a sheaf of pound notes and go trade them for dollars.

When—despite all the rules and all the Marshall Plan help and all the dollar loans and all the crisis talks—appeared that Britain faced a foreign trade collapse, something had to be done.

Britain must trade. She cannot survive without imports. It is a plain matter of food and clothing for Englishmen without regard for recovering Britain's once-proud place in world commerce.

So the decision was ready-made. The pound had to be fixed at a real value. In recent weeks and months, the urgency has heightened. Foreigners felt devaluation coming. Instead of buying from Britain they would wait until it came. Then British goods would be cheaper. Foreign orders became smaller and scarcer.

Finally, last Sunday, Sir Stafford Cripps made his announcement of devaluation from the rate of $4.03 a pound to $2.80. Other over-valued currencies around the world fell like a row of dominoes.

Speedy Action Sought On Wheat Agreement
WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Senate agriculture subcommittee will seek fast action on a bill to put the international wheat agreement into force. The agreement was ratified by the Senate last June.

Farm organization spokesmen testified Thursday, as administration witnesses had done earlier, that wheat and flour exports are lagging because of failure to enact legislation to give effect to the agreement.

The agreement guarantees the United States an export market for 168 million bushels of wheat annually for four years at fixed prices.

Spouse Loses Probation Plea
SACRAMENTO, Calif. — (AP) — Sandra Peterson's husband has a new plea for probation of his own jail sentence so he could "be at her side."

Sandra, who claims she is 17, faces a murder charge in Brady.

Her husband, Mauritz Peterson, is serving a six-month sentence for a hit-run auto accident. He is scheduled to be released Oct. 31.

There was nothing Peterson could do for Sandra if he did go to her county probation authorities ruled, denying his plea.

She is charged with the murder of Texas real estate man Lewis Patterson after he picked her up in his car outside Brady.

Motorists Take Advantage of Helper
DALLAS — (AP) — A S. Bradley of Dallas stopped his car to help two men in an automobile stalled by a dead battery.

His own car went dead as he tried to push the other. He walked two blocks to his home to get help.

Bradley returned to find the men in the stalled car had stolen the battery out of his car, put it in theirs, and had driven merrily off.

AUSTIN — (AP) — Continued sharp drops in traffic deaths were reported by the state police.

Plague Returns After 42 Years
CALCUTTA — (AP) — Plague has rejoined the ranks of the many endemic diseases of Calcutta after an absence of 42 years.

Last year there were 254 cases and 14 deaths during the 17 weeks ending July 31. But this year it started early in January and already it has killed 20 out of 326 cases.

Except for stray imported cases, Calcutta was free from plague since 1906. In 1899, about 60,000 were reported to have died of plague in Calcutta alone.

LONGFELLOW WAS RIGHT when he penned the words—"Time is fleeting." If you want a Cadillac, and feel that you are entitled to one, you ought to make arrangements at once to have one delivered into your possession. Each day you forego it, you will lose a goodly measure of happiness and satisfaction—for a Cadillac is a joy to possess, and a joy to utilize. Many say that it adds to the zest of their whole day's activities. Certain it is that a Cadillac brings with it the utmost in performance, in comfort, and in safety—and that it contributes immeasurably to its owner's peace of mind. Few, indeed, can be happy without a Cadillac—once they have learned how greatly it enriches their lives. If you are among the many who have the impulse to own a Cadillac, come in and see us soon. Each day you delay means a loss in satisfaction which no other material possession can hope to supply.

Angry Father Deplores a World Unfit for Children

"My husband overate—he was the judge of the cake contest at the county fair!"

"The ideal number of child en, if you want to get along with your neighbors, is none. I've found that people don't like kids," states John Bedford in the Reader's Digest. Bedford is the father of two boys and is deeply angry at the modern world's attitude toward children, as he sees it. His article is condensed from Maclean's.

"My wife and I have been refused lodging because we have children," Bedford says. "People glare at them in movies because they've asked a couple of questions. They've been reported for running across lawns, for standing on running boards of parked cars, for making chalk marks on the sidewalk—until I'd like to slip them a few rocks and turn them loose."

With two "normal, decent boys"—Pete, nine, who goes in for frogs, worms, dead birds and jet propulsion—Bedford and his wife are convinced that "today our cities and towns, our streets and houses, our very way of life seem designed to discourage children." Normal expenditure of Pete's and John's energy invariably draws a complaint from some neighbor. "Every time one of them lets out a whoop, half a dozen people look up from their petunias and scowl. Every time they get carried away with their games and forget that their feet are on someone's lawn people look at one another and shake their heads."

"Aren't people supposed to have children any more?" the author wonders. Deploping the fact that natural playgrounds, the open fields and woods, are no available to most children today, Bedford says the public playground is no substitute. It's a place "for getting rid of your children with municipal help... from 9 to 5, on Plot No. 13-A."

The general idea appears to be that the less you see of children the more progressive you are, Bedford observes. "Parents just go through the parental motions like an alderman laying the first brick of the city hall. After that some paid worker takes over."

The author "wouldn't be a kid again for a new 1950 maroon convertible with a 'ran-jet' egg e." He can see the day coming, he says, "when children will be conceived by artificial insemination, born in cellophane, raised in a pressure cooker, sent to a nursery school at two, then to a placement bureau for an aptitude test and brushed off for good."

Air Lord Visits U.S.

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Lord Tedder, England's air marshal, goes to Offutt Air Force Base in Nebraska today leaving behind the admonition that "if we hang together we may not have to fight the world."

Britain's top airman made the statement in a talk to Randolph Air Force Base cadets here yesterday.

Lord and Lady Tedder came to Randolph from Carswell Air Force Base at Fort Worth. Immediately after being received by an honor guard, Lord Tedder reviewed the cadet corps. Tedder, prior to the review, told reporters that jet fighters and bombers were part of the planning of the British air fleet.

However, Tedder smilingly said, "that's secret," when asked whether the air force was being planned around the atom bomb.

Pension Hike Approved

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has approved a bill which would boost payments to disabled war veterans and to widows and children of veterans.

The increases, already approved by the House, are estimated to cost 112 million dollars a year. Major changes made in the present benefits would:

- (1) Give World War I veterans 100 percent disability payments for disability presumed to be connected with their war time service. The present payment is 75 percent.
- (2) Increase payments to veterans suffering from tuberculosis. At present, the law provides 100 percent disability payments to veterans for six months after the tuberculosis is arrested. A 90 percent rating is provided for the next four and one-half years and 30 percent for the next five years.
- (3) Give war widows with one child increased compensation from $100 to $105 a month plus $25 for each additional child. The present payment for each child is $18.

Towns Oppose Cutting Service

RUSK, Texas — (AP) — Abandonment of passenger and express service on the Lufkin-Tyler branch of the Cotton Belt Railroad is being opposed by a stream of witnesses from towns of the area.

They were heard yesterday at a hearing on the application before C. F. Pettett of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The witnesses said abandonment would work a hardship but the railroad declared service is being given at a heavy loss which is mounting from year to year.

The testimony will be sent to the commission for study. Final decision probably will not be made for about 30 days.

The price was not announced but it was reported El Capitan Livestock Company received more than a million dollars in the deal.

The ranch lies north of the Capitan Mountains. It was started by the Verner interests of England and Scotland.

Guide on Borrowing Money Is Released

AUSTIN — Cities like a lot of people these days, have to borrow money when they embark on large-scale projects, and a new University of Texas publication will serve as a guide to city officials who must handle such transactions.
 A Bureau of Municipal Research publication by Research Associate Lynn F. Anderson indicates a trip to the bank with references isn't quite enough when a city decides to borrow enough money to build something like a new utility plant.
 The borrowing is handled through municipal bonds and the city official often finds himself entering a field of unfamiliar terminology, procedures, legal provisions and marketing practices.
 Anderson's publication is designed to help officials bewildered by bond procedure. It is planned to be a general guide applicable to all incorporated municipalities in Texas, but it does not offer specific plans of action for any particular debt situation, he explains.
 Included in the publication are definitions of the type bonds available, general legal requirements, factors affecting marketability, market procedures, refunding bonds, and other information pertinent to the technical handling of bonds.
 Anderson was assisted in preparation of the manual by C. Rodman Foster of Fort Worth, former research assistant in the bureau.

 The House voted only $80,496,000.
 Senators Bridges (R-NH) predicted a new drive to build up the U.S. Air Force.
 The Evening News of London said U.S. atomic bombs soon may be stored in England, under American control. This was not confirmed. The paper also forecast a greater sharing of atomic secrets between the United States, Britain and Canada partners in the original atomic fission project.
 A rash of reports said Russia had staged more than one atomic explosion.
 But officially, the only word on this point was that given Friday by President Truman: there is evidence that in recent weeks an atomic explosion occurred in Russia.
 Highly placed informants said yesterday the explosion which the President reported was the only atomic explosion which has occurred in Russia to date so far as the United States government knows.
 The time and the place of the incident has been kept secret by the White House, State Department and defense establishment for what officials describe as security reasons.
 The Vatican's semi-official newspaper, Osservatore Romano, declared news of Russia's accomplishment proves the need for all nations to disarm completely. Diplomatic sources in Manila said the development stresses the need for a Southeastern Asia non-Communist union.
 Top U.S. authorities gave full weight to the possibility the Russians may be approaching a new position of military power and political force by their conquest of the atom.
 The basic U.S. policy appeared to be unchanged: to meet the Russian challenge with the combined strength and total economic and political power of the non-Communist Western world.
 Diplomats generally discounted speculation over a possible meeting between President Truman and Russia's Premier Stalin. They reasoned the United States would weaken its relations with Britain, France and other cold war allies if it showed willingness to join in a two-handed game of power politics with Russia.
 One possible diplomatic move might be a direct message from Mr. Truman to Stalin urging a renewed effort, through the United Nations and in conjunction with other countries, to solve dangerous world problems and work out international atomic control.

FORT WORTH — (P) — Their wildest dreams 32 years ago wouldn't have given an inkling to the sight they saw yesterday.
 Not for the first campers — the men who reported to Texas' first officer candidate school at

 Today they saw close up — on the factory assembly line and in flight — the mammoth B-36 bomber.
 It was one of the climactic events of their "33rd roll call," headquartered two days in Fort

Dauntless Dale Will Try Again

HOUSTON — (P) — Dauntless Dale Richardson, fired with new ammunition, plans to try again to get the Harris County Grand Jury to investigate marble table gambling.
 The La Porte constable swept across Houston's North Side Friday night and picked up 11 more one-ball tables to add to the 70 he had seized in raids Sept. 1-3.
 He said the 11 tables had been secretly marked by a 17-year-old La Porte boy and three other players who won money on them.

Road to Apply for Curtailing Service

MATADOR, Texas — (P) — Quinn Baker, vice president and general manager of the Quanah, Arme and Pacific Railway, said today his company would apply for discontinuance of passenger, mail and express service between Quanah and Floydada.
 Baker said the application would be filed with the Texas Railroad Commission within the next week.
 The railroad official added that the line had hauled only 1.2 passengers per train during the past year, had lost $3,000 during August and that the loss for the past 12 months was $29,500.

Hurricane Losses Delay Citrus Market

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — (P) — Prospects of higher prices because of hurricane losses and higher maturity standards in the new state law are given as reasons for the delay in marketing Florida grapefruit.
 Chief State Inspector George E. Copeland said that less than 5,000 boxes of grapefruit are in Florida packing houses.
 Nathan Mayo, state commissioner of agriculture, commented that in view of the situation in Texas and loss of a good percentage of the Florida crop in the August hurricane, it goes without saying no one should be in a hurry to start shipping the new crop.

Ceramic Engineering Degree Is Offered

AUSTIN — Use of ceramics in high temperature reactions in atomic research is one of the main reasons the University of Texas fall for the first time, is offering a Master of Science Degree in ceramic engineering, K. K. Pence, Ceramic Engineering Department chairman, announced.
 Two new graduate courses will be taught this year in the expanded curriculum: one on high temperature and measurement, the other a study of ceramic coatings.
 There has been a great increase in interest in ceramic engineering, Pence said, because metals will not stand up under the terrifically-high temperatures necessary in some atom experiments. Some non-metallic minerals are able to withstand the great heat necessary. That is where ceramic study comes into the picture, he explained. Ceramic coatings are replacing metals in some of the research.
 Addition of the two graduate studies brings to 20 the number of courses offered in the Ceramic Engineering Department.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. A. C. Holcombe of Dallas, and the maid of honor was Miss Wanda Giles of Amarillo. They wore identical dresses of teal blue taffeta, ballerina length, with brown accessories and lace gloves and hats. Each carried a bouquet of a large chrysanthemum surrounded by smaller yellow mums and mallee. Mr. Schloeman, Sr., served his son at best man. Groomsman was J. D. Schloeman of Austin. Ushers were Ben F. Johnson, Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Austin, and A. C. Holcombe, brother-in-law of the bride, of Dallas.

In a double-ring ceremony read by candlelight, in the Calvary Baptist Church in Borger, Sept. 16, Miss Eva Celestia McGee became the bride of Twiford Fred Schloeman. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Stull, 940 South Hobart, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Schloeman of Gatesville.

The wedding rites were read at 7:30 in the evening by the Rev. Jeff Moore. Miss Angela Duncan of Pampa furnished piano music. She played "Liebestraum," "Clair de Lune," "I Love You Truly," and the traditional wedding marches. Neely Joe Ellis sang "The Pledge," and "The Lord's Prayer."

An archway for the exchange of vows was formed by greenery and white gladioli, and was flanked by baskets of white gladioli and candelabra. Aisles were also lighted by burning tapers.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, wore a dress of white satin, fashioned in ballerina length, with long sleeves and high neck edged with Chantilly lace. The waist, styled with a yoke, was fastened down the back with tiny self-covered buttons. A Chantilly lace headress caught her shoulder length veil, and she wore white satin shoes. Her only jewelry was a diamond necklace, a gift from the bridegroom. For something old, she carried a lace handkerchief made by the bridegroom's grandmother, and her "something borrowed" was a white Bible, borrowed from Mrs. Henry Gruben. On it the bride carried her bouquet of a white orchid and stephanotis streamers. She also wore "something new and something blue."

Mrs. Stull, mother of the bride, wore a brown crepe street-length dress with brown accessories, and a corsage of white gardenias. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in teal blue crepe-satin with gray and bronze accessories. She, too, wore white gardenias.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Frederick C. Hurst, 1302 Potter St., Borger. The table was laid with white organdy over satin. Mrs. Ben Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, served punch and Miss Giles served the three-tier wedding cake. Gladioli and candelabra graced the reception table.

Palaver de Pampa

Other Occupations ANOTHER strange group of people was the class known as Politicians. Politicians got up on platforms and waved their arms and shouted, promising Great Things, and because they shouted so loud the rest of the People voted to let them run their Government and spend their money for them. The rest of the People were too lazy to want to figure out how to spend their money, but the Politicians were happy to do it, sometimes lining their own pockets at the same time. Then there were Scientists. They men worked hard and diligently to find Cures for the Ills of Mankind. But all the time they were working, Someone Else was figuring out how to make the Air-planes, Trains and Automobiles go faster. So the Population didn't increase too rapidly. When a Person was cured of a Disease one day, he would just be knocked down by an Automobile the next, so it evened out. Next week, The Decline and Fall—final chapter of "Saga of the Olden Time."

WE HEAR the setting for the queen-princess contests at the Junior High School Auditorium is going to be something that Pampa doesn't see very often. It will have been designed and built by Roscoe Willis, with capable help from some other artists of the city. We think we can say without qualification that this event will be outstanding, and you'll make a mistake if you miss it. In fact, this is a big week: the Top o' Texas Fair Assn. has something for entertainment every night... band concerts, exhibits, horse races, horse shows, and prize contests... It's nice, nice.

I SPIED—Faye Price designing the queen's crown for the coronation Tuesday night... a popular group ready to leave for the horse races in Albuquerque starting today... Ruth Wooley shopping for new carpeting for her home... Jean Dukenel driving one of those "off-white" new Cadillacs... Mrs. Irvin Cole brightly attired in a kelly green corduroy suit with gold accessories—looked so "fallish"... M. K. Brown showing some extra good colored snapshots of his birthplace in Olde England... they were recently sent to him... Joe Gayden looking over the foundation and basement of his huge new home in the "Paseo" Addition.

PANORAMA—I'm going to a breakfast at the Country Club Tuesday... Can't wait to see what all the girls will be wearing... I'll pass it on to you next week... also planning a big time Tuesday night at the Junior High... If you want a colorful picture of Louisiana, just talk to Theda Heckman... She's a native of New Orleans, and she can tell you anything you want to know about that Southern city... Theda has a lot of descriptive ability; and when she's started on her favorite subject, she'll hold you spell-bound... I saw two of Pampa's horticulturists, Mmes. L. E. Sloan and Frank Mitchum, taking time out from their yard work to relax and visit a bit... Clad in jeans, long-sleeved shirts, straw hats and garden gloves, they looked like two little boys as they reclined in the shade... I even thought one of them was lazily chewing a straw, which made the picture more complete... These two nice people take great pride in their yards... "Mom," as Mrs. Mitchum is affectionately known by her friends, is quite an authority on plants... and a stroll through her backyard will confirm it... she can tell you a story about every plant... Charles McCray, young son of Hal and Elina McCray, was getting a hang out of falling into the fall style of the high school boys... he meandered into a local beauty shop and ordered a white streak in his dark hair... seems that this is a prerequisite to joining a popular boys club... who has more fun than boys and girls?? Wonder what Richard Gates, Tom and Clifford Braly were talking about over their coffee the other morning... must have been interesting and I'd liked to have listened in to get the "lowdown."

YOU KNOW, Katie Key reminds me of a little music box... her gay and cheerful manner plays a merry tune on people's dispositions... her health seems to need no physician, but she has one for a husband, and a busy man too... Shirley Morgan's composure and serenity are the envy of many of her admirers... If I had her command of the English language I'd write a book... Have you been fortunate enough to talk with Mrs. George Briggs? Her knowledge of the Bible is something that few people possess... Saw Abe Udeshen and Harry Solnick gazing longingly into a haberdashery window... women aren't the only ones who window-vish... Don and Sylvia Conley are burning the midnight oil these days... they're planning an addition to their house on Christine... and architecture and design are the topics of conversation... by the way, Sylvia has quite a flair for interior decorating... I'm eager to see the outcome of this project... who is more fetching than Jo McMurry in that pert, red leather hat.

To the fair, to the fair, to the Gray County fair! Everyone you know is gonna be there—Come on, come all and see the wares! You don't want to miss this great big affair of the fair, so come on, come on, come on. PEG O' PAMPA.

Canadian Artist Exhibits Works At Club Meeting

HIGGINS — (Special) — The Fine Arts program of the Higgins Litera Club, one of the most interesting scheduled for the year, was given Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Earl L. Wilbur, with guest artist Maurice Bernson of Canadian, Texas, exhibiting a number of his canvases. Mrs. Joe Williams, president, presided over the business session.

The program was turned over then to Mrs. Wilbur, who introduced Mr. Bernson. Bernson is a native of Canadian, and his childhood has shown a marked ability as an artist. He first studied under Miss Isabel Robinson at West Texas State College, Canyon, also taking some work at the Palo Duro School of Art.

Last winter the artist studied under Jerry Farnsworth at the School of Art in Saratoga. In discussing his work under Farnsworth, Mr. Bernson stated that Farnsworth insisted the student express his own individuality, as art is an expression of the individual. He said he was eager to return to the fall classes in Saratoga.

The group of paintings exhibited dwelt largely with landscape and still life in oil and water color, brush and knife work. The entire group of paintings was from the realistic school. His main objectives are portraiture and religious murals. Two years ago the artist held his first exhibit in Canadian. He remarked today that he would like nothing better than to spend the next 30 years of his life devoted to his art.

The canvases are all framed by the artist and are hand-carved and hand-painted, with some color of the painting used in the frame.

Guests asked to see the exhibit were Mrs. H. S. Wilbur, Canadian; Mrs. E. C. Wickland, Santa Monica, California; and Mrs. C. H. Hyde. Members of the club are Mesdames J. A. Barton, Jesse Bussard, Wesley Collins, Elby Crites, Carl Goetsche, Eoyne Jones, Perry Landers, Lee Malberger, Franklin Peugh, Paul Trenfield, Boone Tyson, Roland Wheat, Joe Williams, K. H. Yingling and the hostess.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur asked a group of friends in to meet Mr. Bernson and see his exhibit.

Buildings Approved for A&M System

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — The Texas A&M College Board of Directors adopted a nine million dollar building program for various colleges under its jurisdiction and approved a 12 percent budget increase for the 1949-1950 fiscal year amounting to $28,526,610. Last year's budget was $25,182,111.95.

The board also authorized the system's architect to prepare plans for the various construction projects as a step toward calling for bids.

In the largest building program in the college's history, improvements will be made at four institutions — Texas A&M College Station, $5,643,851.80; Arlington State College, Arlington, $1,070,000; Tarleton State College, $907,200; and Prairie View State College, $925,000.

Spray Ignites, Wrecks Home

DENISON, Texas — (AP) — An eight-room house was wrecked by a blast touched off while the structure was being fogged with a DDT kerosene base spray. No one was hurt.

The house, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mills, was emptied for fumigation.

Damage was estimated at $15,000. Fire Marshall Bob Sherburne said he believed the blast was caused when fumes from the spray were ignited by a pilot light in a floor furnace in the home.

Walls and ceilings were torn loose in the two-story frame house. The concrete foundation was cracked and an overstuffed living room chair was blown out the front door. Other furniture was scattered in heaps.

A fogging machine, recently bought by the Denison Boosters Club, was spraying the outside of the house when the blast occurred.

Canadian Lions To Send Youth To Boy's Ranch

CANADIAN — (Special) — The Canadian Lions Club will make it possible for an 11-year-old boy to make his home at Boys Ranch.

The members voted, at their luncheon meeting Friday, to sponsor the boy by guaranteeing the required monthly fee for his residence there.

The boy had gotten himself into rather serious trouble by entering a local garage by breaking in a back window and rifling the cash register sometime last Saturday night.

Officers pieced together evidence and picked up the boy last Monday. He seems quite willing to go to live at Boys Ranch, and it is thought to be a good solution for his case.

Several members of the Lions Club plan to make the trip to Tascosa when the boy is taken to Boys Ranch, probably next Tuesday.

Madame Sun Carries Great Weight With Most Chinese

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the most sensational political developments of the whole Chinese civil war is the appearance of Madame Sun Yat-sen as an honored figure in the creation of the Communist "People's Republic of China" in the old capital of Peking.

Madame Sun is widow of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, father of the republic. She also is sister-in-law of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek who is leading the Nationalist forces in the life and death struggle against the Communists.

General Mao Tse-tung, chief of the Red revolution, obviously has achieved a grand coup, for in the minds of millions of Chinese the spirit of the revered Dr. Sun speaks through Madame Sun. The influence of her example is likely to be vast.

One of the strangest aspects of this situation is that both the Communists and the Nationalists claim to be building their governments on the principles of Dr. Sun. What a dish that is for the Chinese man in the street to digest!

To complete the cycle, there is speculation that the new Red republic will appeal for United Nations membership after the anniversary of the Sun Yat-sen revolution, Oct. 10. And only Thursday Nationalist China's chief delegate to the U. N., Dr. T. F. Tsiang, called on the peace organization to act quickly to prevent Communists from engulfing China and the entire Far East. He declared in a sensational blunt speech Russia is directing the Chinese Communists.

Madame Sun probably got her introduction to communism about 1921 when her husband, in his search for ideas on which to build a new China, invited Moscow to send him some advisers. This was done, and of course they promptly started a drive to establish a Communist Party.

At that time General Chiang

China's First Lady Still Has Faith

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Madame Chiang Kai-shek still has faith in Nationalist China's ability to cope with the life and death crisis created by the southward sweep of the victorious Communist war machine.

The First Lady of China made this statement to me in the course of a long conversation I had with her in New York.

Madame Chiang has no doubt that the Nationalist forces will defeat the Communist armies in the southern theatre and ultimately will reclaim the territories lost in the north.

She feels certain that the people of China as a whole do not believe in communism or trust it, though many are submissive to it now because of circumstances over which they have no control.

She envisages a new China which will come through moral and spiritual rehabilitation.

She is returning home to resume her place beside her husband in the attempt to make these things come true.

She has absolute faith in Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. She is furious over aspersions cast on him recently in this country.

My meeting with Madame Chiang was at the home of her brother-in-law, H. H. Kung, the Chinese statesman and international banker. She has been in America for some months on a mission which, I think, may be described as the unofficial interpreter at this tragic moment in her country's history.

Madame Chiang's return to China will be soon, perhaps the middle of next month. I asked her if she intended to resume her former active part in the Nationalist defense, having in mind that she not only was a most important figure in the councils of war but actually created the air force and was its secretary general. She replied that was her plan.

Ignoring Warning Nets Only Cigar

CUCAMONGA, Calif. — (AP) — The routine goes like this: The hunter levels his sights on the shoulder of a big six-point buck. He fires, and the rifle's crack is echoed with a pining "boing."

He goes up to investigate, finds he's shot a stuffed deer, with a gong in the shoulder. A cigar hangs from an antler as his reward.

Two ranchers, John Ingalls and Cliff Thomas, think it's a swell gag. They claim no less than 60 nimrods have fallen victim thus far. But they point out that all of them have ignored "no hunting" and "no trespassing" signs to get in position for a shot.

Mexico is named after "Mextli," the national war god of the Aztecs.

U.S. Air Base At Pole Seen

OSLO, Norway — (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is going to establish a base on the ice at the North Pole next spring.

Col. Bert Balchen, here after a flight over the Arctic, disclosed the plans yesterday to newsmen. He said the air rescue base would give American fliers experience in the Polar regions.

Bill Would Put Teenagers in Service

WELLINGTON, N. Z. — (AP) — A bill making 18-year-old youths liable to service in New Zealand's armed forces was introduced in Parliament yesterday.

The bill provides that youths on becoming 18 would have 14 weeks in training the first year and 60 days annually for the ensuing two years.

Confidence Man Arrested at Laredo

LAREDO, Texas — (AP) — Charles Jean Drossner, described by the U.S. Attorney's office at New Orleans as an international confidence man, is under arrest here.

Drossner, about 35, was captured Tuesday night as he attempted to cross the international bridge from Mexico on foot.

He is wanted in New Orleans on bad check charges and charges of violating the National Stolen Property Act.

Oil & Gas News

STAR OILMAN—Radio and motion picture star Don Ameche, right, signs an application for membership in the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association at Midland, Texas. At center is H. E. Chiles, Jr., vice president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association for West Texas, and at left is Harry H. Lawson, manager of the Seaboard Oil Co., of Texas. Ameche, who recently entered the oil business in West Texas, is making his headquarters in Midland. (NEA Service)

Come Oct. 16, and the oil industry in the U. S. will go all out celebrating Oil Progress Week. This is the week set aside by the Petroleum Industry Information Service for oilmen to throw open their plants for public inspection—that is, the ones that didn't suffer too greatly from the fire. Philco is making arrangements for entertaining about 1200 people.

Phillips Petroleum Co. is planning a big open house in Borger during that week, and plan to throw open their plants for public inspection—that is, the ones that didn't suffer too greatly from the fire. Philco is making arrangements for entertaining about 1200 people.

Activity at the Shell production office out on Faulkner has just about slowed down to a standstill and a long face. Shell had a veteran crew here in the Panhandle and many of these had more than ten years here in Pampa.

So, when a tradeout went through with Phillips, that meant transfer for everybody. What a transfer to hurt most is the fact that Pampa has been home for a long time.

Then, other than the friends they have scattered around this area, many have children in school and this is a particularly bad time for moving as far as school children are concerned.

Speaking of the Shellmen being veterans, the youngest of the bunch has been with Shell eight years. Nearly all have 10 years or more and about half have more than 15 years. Several have 20 and 30 years.

Pampa is going to miss the Shell bunch. October is "meeting month" for the oil industry. Almost every phase of the industry is covered by some meeting or another. One particular feature of the meeting as a whole is that nearly all are being held in Texas.

Independents are getting together for their annual convention in Fort Worth, Oct. 24. The American Society of Mechanical Engineers, petroleum division, will travel to Oklahoma City for their 1949 conference in the Biltmore Hotel, Oct. 25.

San Antonio is set as meeting place for the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, Petroleum branch, Oct. 27. One of the main points of discussion could be concerning the Bureau of Mines oil-shale project in Colorado.

Texas A&M is holding a symposium on instrumentation for the petroleum process industries Oct. 12-14. This is the fourth annual session and is conducted by the School of Engineering.

Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association get-together is scheduled for the Rice Hotel in Houston, Oct. 15-14. Then Oil Progress Week is set for Oct. 15-22.

Lips No. 4 In Drilling Spotlight

Drilling activity in the Panhandle was somewhat slower last week as compared to the week ended Sept. 17. Operators, last week, staked locations on 24 new wells and filed completion on ten. One well was plugged.

Spotlight in new locations was a new Roberts County deep test staked by Sinclair O&G Co. It is their Lips No. 4. Sinclair also completed a wildcat, Lips No. 2, in that county for an initial gas potential of 41 million cubic feet.

Total increased potential for the week was 684 barrels as Hutchinson County reported seven completed wells; Gray, two and Carson one.

Canada's Reserves Greatest in World

OTTAWA — (AP) — A. L. Smith told the Canadian House of Commons Friday an oil field greater than any in the world may be opened in Western Canada's prairies.

The M. P. from Calgary — center of Alberta's oil belt — quoted geologists as saying the neighboring province of Saskatchewan contains an area of promising prospects larger even than the one in Alberta, which produces some 65,000 barrels daily.

Together these oil areas are greater than any in the United States or elsewhere, he said.

Senate Defeat of Thomas Bill Limiting Imports Fails to Deter Oil Independents

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — Independent oil men have not given up on their fight for cutbacks in foreign crude imports.

The one-vote Senate defeat of a plan to limit imports to 5 percent of domestic production was a sharp set back. Late this week, however, the foreign crude opponents were reorganizing.

Most still are at a loss as to just what the next move should be. Two other developments also have confused the issue.

Widespread devaluation of foreign currencies has been accompanied by fears Britain has gained a price advantage in selling oil.

There also is a growing belief among the independents there will be further increases in imports the remainder of the year.

The Senate vote, they believe, leaves the way open for continuation of the upward trend.

The next move in the anti-imports campaign may be developed October 3-4 at the annual meeting of the Independent Petroleum Association of America at Fort Worth.

IPAA was organized in conjunction with a campaign against imports. Its membership long has led the Washington fight for curtailment.

Immediately after the 40-41 Senate vote on the imports quota amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, Russell Brown, IPAA general counsel, called upon the Fort Worth convention to chart a new course.

A Texas independent this week suggested the solution may be included in the Anglo-American oil treaty, pigeon-holed long ago by the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Jake L. Hamon, Dallas, member of the National Petroleum Council's imports investigation committee, recommended the treaty be given new consideration.

The document, already ratified by the British, originally drew bitter opposition from independent domestic operators.

Without urging them to change their position, Hamon reminded the independents:

"The original idea behind this treaty was formation of an international body which would attempt to regulate world production to demand."

He then added: "If we are to keep healthy we will have to solve this import problem."

Another Texan predicted currency devaluation eventually may force United States firms with foreign holdings to join domestic producers in seeking a restriction on imports.

E. I. Thompson, executive vice president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, said devaluation definitely gives the British a price advantage on things they want to sell here.

"Abroad, it will give the British a 30 percent edge in building up an industry with ECA dollars," he said.

"There now is even more urgent need for a law restricting crude imports."

WORLD CRUDE
Domestic and foreign crude production averaged 8,890,800 barrels daily in July, the Oil and Gas Journal reported last week.

The figure is a 2 percent decline from the June estimate.

Bureau of Mines officials initiated a world production survey report. They estimated January's world output of crude at 9,387,000 barrels daily. February was placed at 9,410,000.

Domestic production slumped again last week after a brief rally as Texas increased its allowances.

American Petroleum Institute said production averaged 4,645,300 barrels daily, a decline of 5250 from the previous week. Production a year earlier was 5,294,350 barrels daily.

INVESTIGATION
Another Congressional investigation of the oil industry is to begin soon in Washington.

Senator Maybank, (D-SC), has announced his Senate Banking Committee wants to find out why recent price increases were made for heating and fuel oils.

Refinery Damage Set at $100,000
FORT WORTH — (AP) — Damage of $100,000 resulted from an explosion and fire at the Magnolia Refinery No. 1 at Hodge Station.

The explosion occurred Tuesday. John W. Newton of Beaumont, vice president and general manager of the refining division, said that within 10 days the plant would be operating at 60 percent of normal. The entire damaged units will be repaired within three or four weeks.

Thanks to the convenience of 250,000 service stations, Americans can drive anywhere in the United States in their 37 millions of gasoline-powered automobiles.

Case Being Reopened on 18-Year-Old Oil Suit

DALLAS — (AP) — One phase of an 18-year-old oil suit involving more than $1,000,000 in property and cash was being held in district court Friday.

Case records and evidence filed two steamer trunks in Judge Dick Dixon's courtroom.

The case is that of H. C. Mauldin versus American Liberty Pipeline Co., and some 25 other defendants. The litigation stems from the storied East Texas oil fields and involves four producing wells in Gregg County.

Judge Dixon gave this brief review of the case: It was first filed in 1931 and through court order profits of the operation involved were impounded pending a decision.

In 1936 a final judgment was rendered but three years later a bill of review was filed which sought to set aside the action of 1936.

This status held until 1945 when the bill of review was dismissed. The litigant who had initiated the bill of review then successfully appealed the dismissal. It was reversed and ordered rehearing.

It is the bill of review which is now before Judge Dixon's court. Petition for the bill of review is that 10th amended petition to the initial action to be filed by Mauldin. It is 119 pages in length.

"And," explained Judge Dixon, "the answering petition by the defendants is almost as lengthy."

Judge Dixon added that since the original petition in 1931 all profits of the operation had been impounded and during the 18 years had increased until they now represented a value of over $1,000,000.

"The four oil wells have been producing all of that time," the judge said. At stake in the litigation is ownership of the four oil wells and the impounded assets which have since accrued.

Finish Date Set On Gasoline Plant
PONCA CITY, Okla. — Completion date has been set for Nov. 1 for the natural gasoline plant being constructed cooperatively by 23 operators in the Deep Todd pool in Crockett County, in West Texas. It was announced today by Continental Oil Co.

Continental was selected as the plant operator by the other 22 participants when work on the cooperative project began a year ago this month.

The completed gas recovery plant will have a daily capacity of 60,000 gallons and will handle all of the gas produced in the pool, which was discovered in April of 1940. On completion, the plant will require an operating crew of 25 men.

Oilwell Men Elect Heads; Hear Shivers
DALLAS — (AP) — The American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors installed officers Wednesday, winding up its 1949 convention.

The new president is Warren S. Churchill, Dallas. He replaces Joseph S. Morris of San Antonio.

New vice presidents are Joseph V. Dunbar, Salem, Ill., at large; J. F. Postello, Odessa, West Texas and New Mexico; J. A. Fox, Washington, Pa., cable tools; Roger J. Wolfe, Houston, Gulf Coast; Ralph W. Marshall, Los Angeles, Calif., California; Ira Van Tuyl, Evansville, Ind., Illinois; Michigan, Indiana and Kentucky; and J. J. Harrigan, Oklahoma City, well servicing.

The association's other officers were re-elected.

DALLAS — (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers said excessive oil imports are a "bad thing for Texas."

Speaking at the closing banquet of the American Association of Oil Well Drilling Contractors here, the Governor declared: "The over-all success of any industry depends on the success of the little men in it. The small businessmen must be operating soundly and successfully if the industry as a whole is to be sound."

"That is true of the oil business in Texas. That is why an excess of foreign oil imports is a bad thing for Texas because it means a reduced market for Texas oil and a cut in Texas oil allowances."

Texas Cotton Not Affected By Britain

AUSTIN — Cotton growers in Texas need not fear devaluation of the British pound says Dr. A. B. Cox, University of Texas marketing specialist.

Professor of cotton marketing noted that all nations are short of cotton. The market outlook now is good and indications are it will remain above average. Dr. Cox explained that pound devaluation means Britain will be able to sell more cotton, along with other goods, on the world market because the price, in pounds, will be cheaper than cotton sold for U. S. dollars, he says. The U. S. market outlet, however, will remain strong because of ECA commitments and world market needs.

The federal government still buys U. S. growers' cotton at a pegged 29 cents per pound for export to Marshall Plan countries, Britain, which gets most of her U. S. cotton through ECA, cannot supply her world market demand with her own output, Dr. Cox said. She will probably sell cheaper cotton to other countries who have shorted their currency values along with her. This is expected to increase her U. S. dollar fund. In addition, she can import ECA cotton and use it to fill export orders.

If Britain does not get enough cotton for export from her own resources and ECA, she can buy some for that purpose at a cheaper rate than before from other devalued money nations, the university market analyst said.

Card of Thanks

CANNON
We wish to acknowledge with grateful appreciation the comforting expressions of sympathy of our friends and neighbors at the time of our sorrow in the death of Mr. J. W. McCray.

Mrs. Alvera McCray and Bob. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Simmons. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bunker. Mr. and Mrs. Fay Bunker.

In My Father's House are many Mansions. If it were not so I would have told you I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto Myself—John 14:2-3.

You are gone but not forgotten. The one we love so well. The loneliness that has been ours. No tongue can ever tell.

Come winter time, come summer time, Come springtime and the Autumn Both sun and moon shall wane.

Come seed time and the flowering And the harvesting of grain. The earth will cease and time grow old. But we shall meet again.

Now you will sleep a little while. And dream in peace, please God. Then one day we shall follow you And sleep, too, beneath the sod.

To rise with you and walk again. With a vague sense of remembering That we had loved in other lives. Before this new ascending.

We take this means to express our sincere appreciation to all our friends and neighbors for their thoughtful and floral offerings at the time of our great loss, and the help and sympathy which so many friends have shown to our family.

Surviving Mrs. Wilson Cannon are her husband, Wilson Cannon, two daughters, Barbara Payne and Peggy Louise. From her mother, Mrs. J. J.
