ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — (AP) — Hopeful, hard-working Miss America contestants face a busy time of it today in preparation for the second round of preliminary contests.

The 62 beauties culled from the cream of the nation's crop began their third day at 8:45 a. m., when they left their hotels for a breakfast conference with contest judges.

They must get the sleep out of their eyes and be on their toes — breakfast is when the judges form opinions of personal qualities of the gorgeous girls. Personality is one of the four considerations in selecting finalists for the Saturday night showdown.

At 11:30 a. m. the girls report to convention hall for an arduous rehearsal of tonight's second preliminary in the bathing suit, tailoring, and evening gown divisions.

After an hour or two of this, the chaperones — one for each contestant — pick up their charges at Convention Hall. Their afternoons are free for sightseeing, resting, or socializing. Contest rules don't allow it.

Next on the agenda comes dinner, and the tension begins to mount. Tonight may be the night, each of the beauties hopes, that will bring her the points to make her a finalist.

The rewards are great. Miss America of 1949 will get a $5,000 scholarship. The retiring Miss America, Bebe Shopp of Hopkins, Minn., reportedly picked up an additional $50,000 in personal appearances during the last year. (See MISS AMERICA, Page 6)

Two Psychiatrists Say Killer Obviously Insane

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Howard Unruh, the 28-year-old veteran who slaughtered 13 people with his pistol in Camden, N. J., has been sent to the state insane hospital.

Psychiatrists haven't reported yet whether they think he's insane or knew what he was doing. Two top Washington psychiatrists, with nothing more to go on than the newspaper accounts they've read, flatly say Unruh is insane. They base their opinion on two main points in the newspaper stories:

1. His excessive interest in the Bible. He was reported to have walked along the streets, reading it.
2. His own statement that he was sore at some of the people he killed because he felt they were against him.

The psychiatrists give this explanation: "Unruh is paranoid. Which means he has a serious mental illness. He had delusions of being persecuted. Example: he thought his neighbors were against him. Such delusions may arise from several causes. For example: 1. A deep sense of guilt. Instead of facing a reality and accepting in his own mind blame for some wrong thing he did—or something he felt was wrong—a man in time tries to shift the blame to someone else. 2. A deep sense of inferiority. In this case he begins to suspect that everything that happens happens to him or because of him. If it rains, the rain is meant especially to spoil his day. If the sun in hot, it's especially hot just to make him uncomfortable. So in other things—as perhaps a cross word with a neighbor—the idea of persecution begins to build up and the paranoid mag- (See KILLER, Page 6)

Constable Cleaning Up Houston

HOUSTON — (AP) — Crusading Constable Dale Richardson said early today the "gangster syndicate" operating one-ball marble machines in Houston has until noon today to get them out of circulation.

"I'm going to arrive at Fannin and Congress, across from the Court House, at noon," he promised.

"I'll have a great big cattle truck and plenty of help, and I'm going to pick up every one-ball marble table in Harris County."

"There are 22,000 square feet of warehouse space just waiting for those tables."

Dale, whose name has long had an unhappy sound to Houston betting gentry, said he would start south on Fannin, clear out a "nest" of tables near Capitol and Fannin, and work out south as far as the "joints" go.

Then he'll come back north on San Jacinto and go over to Travis.

"I'll work up to closing time today," he vowed, "and I won't stop until every one-ball is in storage."

"Then, when I'm all through, I'll start filing charges against the owners of the machines and the people who have them in their places of business."

Constable Richardson said he has more than 100 gambling cases against the machines, and expects to get convictions in court.

"Why, I even come into Houston and played some of those machines myself," he laughed. "Won, too."

Mason Death Being Probed

ALICE — (AP) — A special grand jury investigation into the slaying of W. H. (Bill) Mason, crusading radio commentator, continues here today.

Mason, 51, was shot to death July 29 as he sat in his automobile in the industrial outskirts of Alice. Deputy Sheriff Sam Smithwick, 60, has been charged with murder and is being held without bond. He pleaded innocent at an examining trial.

Judge Paul A. Martineau swore in the grand jury yesterday morning.

He charged the jurors to "investigate beer taverns operating in violation of the law and houses of prostitution."

Mason, in his last broadcast, accused Smithwick of owning property on which an Alice night club was situated.

Five witnesses were heard yesterday by the grand jury before it recessed until 10 a. m. today.

They were Avelino Saenz, who was riding with Mason at the time of the shooting; Benigno Garza, who owns a beer tavern near the shooting scene; Biterbo Flores and his wife, and Robert Smithwick, son of the defendant.

Richard Strauss, One of the Leading Contemporary Composers, Dies at 85

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany — (AP) — Richard Strauss, one of the world's greatest contemporary composers, died today. He was 85.

His genius ran the gamut of musical expression from simple songs and chamber music to symphonic poems, symphonies and operas. "Der Rosenkavalier" and his impressionistic opera "Salome" are among his most popular works.

He was a musical prodigy at the age of four and began composing when he was six. At 12 his Opus No. 11, a "Festmarsch" for orchestra was before the public.

Impressionistic expressions in tone form which Strauss composed in middle life were the subject of critical debate. He lived to see many of his innovations become almost common in place musical devices.

His tone poems, "Til Eulenspiegel," "Don Quixote," and "Don Juan" are popular with symphonic audiences throughout the world. He composed "Salome" in 1904 and produced the opera "Elektra" three years later. Both works were widely known in America.

"Tod und Verklarung," (death and transfiguration) a tone poem written in 1889 is regarded by many critics as one of his greatest works.

Strauss had suffered from chronic heart disease for several months. His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alice Strauss said: "He died quietly."

The composer first visited America in 1904. He made that trip for the world premier in New York of his "Sinfonia Domestica."

Germany's stormy history of this century touched Strauss' life. In 1933 he had agreed to be guest conductor for several American orchestras in the 1934-1935 season. The outbreak of World War I scotched that plan.

It was not until 1921 that he ventured to revisit the United States, and he came then only after he had been assured by an Associated Press correspondent that it would be safe for a German to travel in America. He was received with open arms in musical circles.

In November, 1933, Strauss was chosen by Nazi Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels as president of the Nazi "Musik Chamber."

Early in 1934 he presided over a convention of German composers who resolved that German musical accomplishment could be lifted to greater heights under the influence of Nazi discipline.

Special Committee Set Up to Study Request by Britain

More Freedom In Spending Dollars Asked

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The three-power conference on the British financial crisis today set up a special committee to go into Britain's request for more freedom in spending ECA dollars outside the United States.

It was learned that Britain has told the United States that unless changes are made in present Marshall Plan operations they will have to spend several hundred million more dollars of their dwindling reserves.

The decision of the American, British and Canadian Cabinet ministers to make a special study of the whole question of the use of ECA funds was one of four decisions made today.

Special groups were also assigned to work on the following three problems:

1. Commodities and stockpiling: Britain has told the United States that a speedup in the use of American funds for stockpiling strategic materials such as rubber and tin would assist the British government in increasing its dollar earnings. Those materials are produced in areas which do their (See MORE, Page 6)

Hurricane Edges Past Bermuda

(By The Associated Press)
A large and severe hurricane edged past Bermuda today while a Mexican hurricane brought storm warnings along the Southern California coast.

The center of the Atlantic hurricane passed east of the British-owned resort colony, 600 miles off the Carolina coast. The hurricane, fourth of the season, was first reported north of Puerto Rico last Sunday. It is not expected to threaten land areas unless it radically changes course.

The Mexican hurricane, with 100-mile-an-hour winds, was expected to be centered about 20 miles south of San Diego by midnight tonight. The Weather Bureau forecast heavy squalls high seas along the Southern California coast today. The hurricane, off Baja, California, was moving northwestward about 13 miles an hour from its center about 70 miles west of Cedros Island.

Record-breaking temperatures hit parts of California yesterday. Two heat deaths were reported. The mercury soared to 108 at Glendale, a suburb of Los Angeles, which had a high of 103. The Weather Bureau reported a high of 81 at San Francisco, the hottest Sept. 7 since 1922.

Warm weather also continued in the Southern states but it was cool over most of the northern part of the country from the Rocky Mountains eastward to the Atlantic seaboard.

City Commission Meeting Today

The City Commission was meeting this afternoon in the City Commission Room, City Hall.

The meeting was postponed from Tuesday due to the absence of Mayor C. A. Huff who was in New Mexico with other Texas Panhandle city officials conferring with Sen. Clinton Anderson on the proposed Canadian River Dam.

Mayor Huff returned yesterday and the meeting was definitely set for this afternoon.

Outside of approving the monthly bills little of importance is expected to come up at today's meeting, according to city officials.

Retail Merchants Meet Tomorrow

Sharp Upswing in Employment Seen

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A sharp upswing in employment is expected to be shown in the Census Bureau's August report on the labor force, due today.

Some government officials predicted that the number of jobs would, for the first time this year, reach a level close to 60,000,000.

They figured that unemployment, which was reported at 4,095,000 in July, probably will drop well before the 4,000,000 mark. A decrease would be in line with the usual seasonal trend.

This would turn back the climb in unemployment which started last November and has continued unbroken through July except for slight dips in March and April. The July total was the highest since 1942.

A further drop in unemployment is expected for September, on which census figures will not be available until next month.

The normal trend of both unemployment and employment is downward from August to September, as large numbers of younger workers and job seekers drop out of the labor force to return to school.

The August report was expected on Tuesday but was delayed from day to day. One Commerce Department official said it is "being checked and rechecked for the unusual care."

Recruiting Officer May Have Polio

M-Sgt. Davis A. Brown, U. S. Army recruiting officer here, left yesterday afternoon for the Army Hospital at El Paso with a suspicion of polio.

Details late this morning were meagre, but reports coming from the Recruiting Office here said the sergeant had been examined by a local physician who diagnosed his case as a possible light touch of the disease.

Sgt. Brown was driven to Amarillo yesterday afternoon by his wife where he took a train for El Paso.

He is expected to enter the Army hospital there sometime today for further examination and a probable spine taping.

To date Pampa and its surrounding area has counted a total of 18 cases of polio, none of them fatal.

Slay Loan Said Okayed

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Diplomatic officials said today they understood the Export-Import Bank has approved a multi-million dollar loan to Yugoslavia.

The amount was reported to be around 20 million dollars. The money would be used mainly to buy machines and equipment needed by Yugoslav mills.

The credit would be the first direct American loan to the Yugoslav government since Marshal Tito broke with Moscow about 18 months ago.

Yugoslavia has been pressing an application for a loan for about three weeks.

Secretary of State Acheson is known to have strongly supported the application. He argued it was a "calculated risk" necessary to bolster Yugoslavia's economy and strengthen Tito as a symbol of independence from Moscow's orders.

The Yugoslav government also has applied to the world bank for a loan. A bank mission has just completed an on-the-spot survey of economic conditions preliminary to making a recommendation to the bank's Board of Directors.

Victim Says He Asked for It

MANILA — (AP) — Nicholas Pelina, 20, nursed a deep knife wound in his stomach today but declined to press charges against his assailant, pretty Salud Villaluz, 18.

He said he figured he had it coming to him.

She dared.

16 Blocks Of Paving Remaining

With autumn about 15 days away, the city today was only 16 blocks away from completing the largest paving program in Pampa history.

Last night's rain held up work on most of the 16 and brought oiling operations on other streets to a halt.

One of the city's biggest eyesores, N. Ballard, has been barricaded for several days while workmen tore up old paving and construction men began running curb and gutter. Pouring operations there were completed along the east side before the rain came.

Other blocks the city hopes to complete before the topping season runs out are: three blocks on S. Gray; four blocks on E. Atchison; four on Kentucky; one on Williston and one on Starkweather.

Oiling operations will be resumed when the streets to be oiled are dry. Oil will not mix with wet or damp soil. City Manager Dick Pepin said.

Miami Lets Paving Contract

MIAMI — (Special) — A contract to pave three blocks on Mobeetie St., here, was let to the Stuckey Construction Co. of Canadian, yesterday, by Mayor R. J. Bean. The estimated cost of the project will be around $30,000.

W. E. Neill, consulting engineer of Borger, has been retained by the city to work with the construction company's engineers on the project.

While Miami's City Council is sponsoring the paving, individual property owners are paying for the actual work according to the space they own on the streets covered. This will be the first of 15 blocks which Mayor Bean says he hopes to see topped.

Actual work starts Friday and the projected area on Mobeetie is supposed to be finished by Oct. 11.

3 Railroads Threatened By Strikes

(By The Associated Press)
Three of the nation's railroads were threatened with strikes today, making possible the idling of more than 130,000 rail and steel workers.

Some 30,000 workers are set to quit their jobs on the Missouri Pacific Railroad at 2 p. m. (CST) tomorrow. Union officials, who rejected an arbitration proposal yesterday, went ahead with strike plans in the dispute over some 28 unsettled claims involving about five million dollars.

In Pittsburgh, rail brotherhood officials have called strikes on two inter-plant connection carriers which serve scores of plants, principally in the steel industry. One walkout is set for Saturday and the second for Next Tuesday. The work stoppages on the lines would make idle some 100,000 steelworkers.

Wages are not involved in any of the rail disputes.

Canadian Enrollment Tops Record

CANADIAN — (Special)
All-time enrollment records for Canadian public schools were smashed Monday when a total of 793 students had been enrolled in all grades, Supt. A. H. Breazeale announced this week.

Enrollment is up over last year in all departments, but the biggest increase has been in the elementary grades, and classrooms at Baker and Isaacs schools are overflowing.

"Enrollment in the first six grades — jumped from 383 last year to 460 on opening day this year.

Junior High enrollment is up from 125 last year to 136 on opening day this year.

High School enrollment stood at 197 Monday — it was 178 on opening day last year — and Canadian High School appears certain to go over the 200-mark and back into a Texas Interscholastic League Class A district next year in — athletic competition.

All athletic competition for the remainder of the current school year, however, will be in the Class B league.

Biggest immediate problem facing local school officials is finding classroom space for this year's students.

"Conditions in the first eight grades are quite crowded," Supt. Breazeale commented mildly following Monday's enrollment.

No decision has been made by the local school board, but it is (See CANADIAN, Page 6)

Teacher Should Be Well Informed, Says President

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Sunday school teachers should be well informed because, in many cases, they are a greater force for good than the parents of the young people they teach.

That was the message Dr. W. R. White gave yesterday at the Texas Baptist Sunday School Convention opened here. The convention ends tomorrow.

"Until the home is reinforced," said the Baylor University president, "the Sunday school teacher stands in the most strategic place in the world outside of the pulpit. Only as children are made strong in the work of God will they give to the world better living."

Decision Pending On Reinstatement

ARANAS PASS — (AP) — Land Commissioner Bascom Giles has promised a decision within a few days on the reinstatement of Ray E. Kier's lease on Ransom Island for use as a public park.

At a public hearing here yesterday Giles said he felt the present case way to the island is "inadequate." Giles said that in case of reinstatement of the lease, it will be provided that a sizeable area of the island be left for free use of the public.

The lease to Ransom Island was originally held by the city of Aransas Pass. Approximately 971 acres were included in the original lease although the land area of the island is less than one-third that size.

Safety Is Discussed by Representatives

Safety from a legislative standpoint, was discussed briefly yesterday by Rep. Grainger McIlhenny, of the 122nd Legislative District, Wheeler, before the Pampa Rotary Club.

The youthful legislator was followed by Pampa's City Manager Dick Pepin who outlined the city's proposed concrete methods of improving local traffic problems.

McIlhenny told the club that traffic regulations are simply courtesy, common sense and a series of hand signals added together and turned into laws. "If all persons would stop to take a little more time and use some common sense in driving, they would be automatically obeying traffic regulations without being conscious of their existence as a law," the first-term lawmaker said.

He cited the lack of enforcement being one of the major problems and not a sufficient number of laws, and declared the state still did not have enough highway patrolmen, counties, too, were still short of law enforcement men and cities did not have enough police officers to enforce the laws. McIlhenny urged a more comprehensive education program on traffic controls and traffic rules for the general public.

McIlhenny told the club he had supported the Driver Responsibility Law (compulsory public liability and property damage insurance) adding that the bill died in the House after passing the Senate.

City Manager Pepin, in outlining the coming safety program, The News, took the opportunity to criticize the state's inconsistency in juvenile and drivers license laws.

Pepin reminded the club that the state authorizes the issuance of a driver's license to boys 14 to 16 years old; that holding a driver's license states, in effect, that the holder is mentally and physically capable of handling an automobile and responsible for its use. But, when the boy is caught violating traffic rules he is not considered responsible and cannot be tried in the Corporation Courts, or Justice of the Peace Courts, but instead must be taken before the county judge, sitting as a juvenile judge. The juvenile judge's powers over its kids is also limited.

Pepin opined that if a boy is considered responsible enough to hold a drivers license he should also be made responsible enough to obey the laws and be held into court the same as an adult.

Although a lot of local boys and their dotting fathers, many disagree many of the Rotarians and guests present wholeheartedly agreed with Pepin, according to remarks uttered afterwards.

Kilroy Learned How From New York Court Reporter

NEW YORK (NEA)—You think Kilroy gets around? He's a piker.

Scrawled on the Sphinx in Egypt are some short-handwritten glyphs. Translated, they read: Morris I. Klugman.

Deep in the dungeon of the Castle of Chillon in Switzerland are some scrawly marks. Like the Sphinx's copy, they mean Morris I. Klugman.

In a sweltering hotel on the island of Bali, the guest register is signed with the same short-hand signature: Morris I. Klugman.

Egyptians, Swiss and Balinese may wonder who is this Morris I. Klugman. Actually, the man who out Kilroy Kilroy is a crack New York court reporter, who's devoted his annual three-month vacation for the past 19 years to travel.

During that time he's trekked 1,000,000 miles across five continents and through more than 30 countries. Wherever he goes, he drops into local courts to see how the other half operates, and to leave his waxy John Hancock as a memento that Klugman was there.

At 30, Klugman is an official court reporter for the U.S. district court.

Court reporters in other countries lead a different life. In Bali, Klugman discovered his counterpart sits on the bench beside the judge and, after taking down the testimony, instructs the judge what sentence to pass.

A court reporter who can step up his speed as fast as 300 words a minute, as Klugman often does, must keep his hand flexible even while holidaying. So he takes along novels printed entirely in shorthand.

During one Mediterranean cruise, he was sprawled in a deck-chair reading a shorthand "Robinson Crusoe." The lady in the next chair, glancing over his shoulder, wondered aloud if that stuff there was Arabic.

She wouldn't believe his explanation that it was shorthand. To convince her, and the other spectators, Klugman got a copy of the English version of DeFoe's novel from the ship's library.

Then, with cocktails bet and a committee of three sitting in judgment, Klugman and the lady read the same passages of the novel aloud. Klugman from his copy, she from the regulation one.

Not only did Klugman convince the judges and the skeptical "Robinson Crusoe" in shorthand, but he read it faster than she.

REPORTER—Klugman leaves his shorthand notes all over the world.

read the English.

This feat was nothing to a man who has been through what Klugman has. Once dressed formally he reported a swank Park Avenue soiree but the spirits weren't in a dictating mood. In Sing Sing, he jotted down the testimony of a murderer awaiting the chair in death row.

He was stumped once by a witness. Testifying in an auto accident case, she was asked what the automobile tire sounded like when it blew out.

Sticking her tongue between her lips, she blew a mighty blast, creating a raucous sound taught by no shorthand school in the universe.

Solemnly, Klugman noted: "The witness answered with a Bronx cheer."

Life of Italy's White Collar Families One of Few Luxuries

By ROSETTA HARGROVE
ROME (NEA)—Guido Varriale, one of the few Italian little people who understand what the Marshall Plan is all about, learned by reading an American magazine translated into Italian. Unlike many of his fellows, he can tell ERP from UNRA CARE and the other U. S. relief organizations.

Guido, 41, works for the State Railways and gets the good average salary of $80 a month at current exchange. With his wife, Elisabetta, 39, and their sons, Renato, 13, and Bruno, six, he has an apartment in a building owned by the railways, for which he pays the "absurdly low rental" of $20 a year.

"If it weren't for that, we should starve," he says.

By the time the Varriales have paid rent, food, insurance, gas and electricity, they have $7 a month left for clothing and incidentals.

Food strains the budget hardest. It costs $2 a day for spaghetti, rice, eggs, vegetables, cheese and fruit. Once or twice a week Elisabetta buys a half pound of a cheap cut of meat, to dress up the spaghetti.

"With meat and butter costing about $1.20 a kilo (55 cents a pound), we cannot afford either, except at Easter, Christmas, and maybe for a birthday. Chicken at wholesale prices on instalments.

Guido is methodical. He has prepared a projection of his budget showing what the family can expect from now until 1952.

"Elisabetta hasn't had a new dress in four years," he said. "She has to get by with making over her own clothes as much as possible."

"The reason you see much laundry hanging around," added Elisabetta, "is because I do the family washing every second day. We don't have enough for anybody in the family to last through the week."

The Varriales are fond of music, but can't afford concerts or operas. They go to the movies four times a year. Their principal recreation is visiting museums on free days, entertaining friends occasionally for coffee.

Once in a while they get extravagant and each buys a pack of the cheapest native cigarettes.

Young Bruno goes to a free state school, but the Varriales scrimp enough to spend $5 a month to send Renato to a technical school where he is studying to become a mechanical engineer.

They are very proud of their three-room-and-bath apartment, which Elisabetta keeps scrupulously clean without any of those labor-saving gadgets even the poor American housewives take for granted.

They point out that their furniture, bought when they were married, now would cost more than a million lire, which is around $170.

"Today," she explained, "young people in our position, getting married, have to live with parents—partly because of the housing shortage but also because many could not raise enough money to furnish even a single room."

Guido would like to take on a second job to relieve the strain, but he can't get one because he lacks training in the things that are needed. There are, he says, too many office workers as it is.

The Varriales are typical of these Italians who are as tired of internal conflicts as they are of external wars. Their one desire is to work and live in peace, without fear of the fu-

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Two sisters and their brother are ill with polio here, unaware that their mother has died of the disease.

And their heartbroken father said: "How I dread the day I must tell them."

The father is Dixie Hickok, who recently moved to Waverly, Mo., from Omaha, Neb. The children, all at Mercy Hospital here, are Ray Thomas Hickok, six; George Ann Hickok, 13, and Nancy Lee Hickok, nine.

Mrs. Hickok died last Friday morning.

They voted for the Christian Democratic government because they fear Communism. But at heart, Guido admitted, sentimentally he is a "monarchist."

Counterfeiting Is on Increase

NEW YORK — Even though it's a business that doesn't pay, counterfeiters are more active now than at any time since the war, according to Business Week. "In the past year and a half," says the magazine, "both business and individuals have been getting stuck with more 'hot' money than at any time since 1940. In that year, a total of $145,000 in counterfeit bills was in circulation.

During the war, the amount stayed below the $100,000 mark." During the 1949 fiscal year, $331,021 was put into circulation as compared with $137,318 which was passed during the previous year. Compared to a genuine note, the defects of a phony bill usually show up sharply. This is especially true of the portrait which appears flat and lacks the fine detail of the genuine note. Counterfeiters are unable to get their bills up to U. S. standards because of cost and craftsmanship. Just one piece of equipment at the U. S. Bureau of Engraving &

Printing costs around $12,000. Furthermore, it would take a highly skilled craftsman weeks to engrave by hand some of the finer work on plates, and no counterfeiter could afford to pay such a craftsman.

Talk Not Cheap

NOT LONG ago the secretary, Mr. Trygve Lie, pointed out that nations must keep their diplomatic agents talking with one another if they are to find effective ways of keeping peace. Surely we can be thankful that U. S.-Russian relations aren't so badly off that we can't even keep the conferences going. A perfect illustration of Mr. Lie's point has to do with the lifting of the Berlin blockade. No one knows what the Berlin situation might be at present if Jacob Malik and Philip Jessup hadn't been able to meet in the lounge at United Nations headquarters and begin the series of discussions which led to the halting of the blockade. OUR AMERICAN democracy was forged because men were willing to listen to one another's point of view and bring some kind of a compromise into being. If nations ever get to the point where they can't listen to one another's point of view, they attempt a compromise that will result in a peaceful solution of problems, then they shall have to answer for the consequences. Man is only too apt to turn to another recourse—brute force.

Gracie Says

Oh, dear, we were in Paris for such a short time that I didn't have a chance to see hardly any of the new styles let alone buy them. By the time I changed my American money into francs, it was time to change the francs back into American money and come home. Of course, I didn't go to Paris just to think about clothes, like other women do. I just love the historical places there, like the little shop where Madame du Barry bought her shoes, or the dressmaker's where Josephine had a charge account in Napoleon's name, or the dear little millinery store where the Empress Eugenie got those funny little hats. I found our California designers are making themselves known even in Paris, and I have an idea that that famous French cooking is in for some competition, too. Would you believe it, those wonderful restaurants in Paris have never even heard of a hamburger, smothered in chili with curlicue onions and potato chips? WASHINGTON (NEA)—Complete revision of American and European foreign trade practices is under way, according to a report by the U. S. Commerce Department. It is expected that the new trade practices will be in effect by the end of the year. This is in brief the substance of a report which Assistant Economic Cooperation Administrator Wayne C. Taylor will soon make after a four-month study of European business conditions. Since early this year, Mr. Taylor has been devoting his full time to the problem of how European can sell more goods to the U. S. Europe's trade deficit with the United States is estimated at about $4,000,000,000 a year for the next five years. What this means is that Europe will have to sell in America goods worth that much more if it is to break even. By breaking even, Europe will earn enough dollars to pay for the machinery, food, cotton and other raw materials needed to keep going and raise the standard of living. Wayne Taylor is a former undersecretary of commerce and chairman of the U. S. Export-Import Bank. He took a seven-month mission of Marshall Plan and Commerce Department experts to Europe with him last May. They visited every Marshall Plan country except Greece, Germany and Iceland. They talked to U. S. ECA and consular officials, foreign trade associations, businessmen and bankers. The Taylor mission is now completing a huge report, with many statistical an-

NEW YORK Patriotic Americans can thank Paul Draper, the precious elf with twittering toes, and Larry Adler, who plays harmonica, for waging their $200,000 suit against Mrs. John T. McCullough, of Greenwich, Conn.

This is a celebrated case. They sued because she balked at the idea that any of her money should be paid them for membership in the Greenwich Community Association last winter. She said she was "pro-Communist."

She did not realize that by a thin legal line of legalistic reasoning introduced into some Communist and their friends, courts, protection was given to and she was liable to ruinous punishment for expressing patriotic sentiments when she was terrified to find herself a lone defendant with no patriotic society to turn to for legal or financial help. Draper and Adler immediately attached the McCullough home on "fornage" grounds, where you may send your contribution, if any, for this patriotic cause—and attached their modest bank account, too. It is not necessary to get judgment first, in Connecticut.

Communists and fellow-travelers can absolutely throttle the Americans. A patriot who opens his mouth in meeting runs the risk of ruin. He must stand his own costs, but the Communists have two bar associations and abundant money for mercenary counsel of innocent hue.

Now, MacDonald Dewitt, a great fighting lawyer, has rubbed the noses of Draper and Adler in their own record. By their own dumb mistake, they made it possible for all papers and all loyal citizens to publish openly the charges for which they were about to beat Mrs. McCullough into a corner.

Yes, she answered through Dewitt, she did make charges against this mincing twirl with his hands on hips and loss of the head defiance, and Adler with his dreary wheezing on the jail organ.

Dam right, she said it. And, "it is the fact," Mr. Dewitt allowed, that Draper and Adler are "pro-sympathy and opponents of a line of thinking" opposed to the principles of the United States government.

The names of some of the subversive and Communist front organizations so openly supported by these plaintiffs, listed as subversive and Communist by United States attorneys general and other public authorities are given as follows:

Joint AntiFascist Refugee Committee, National Council of American-Soviet Friendship, American Youth for Democracy, The Abraham Lincoln School, Independent Citizens' Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, Progressive Citizens of America, Theatre Artists' Committee, Artists' Front to Win the War, Committee for the First Amendment, Hollywood Democratic Committee, The Writers' Congress, Hollywood Branch, Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, and Democracy Reichstag Fire Trial Anniversary Committee, Committee for a Democratic Far Eastern Policy, People's Songs, Inc. Voice of Freedom Committee.

That makes seventeen outfits. Some are extinct Communist fronts, faded and some times reappear under new titles with old names carried over. This matter is of court record and Draper and Adler can't do a thing about it. Citizens approaching a night club or hotel floor show have a right to bear in mind the direct, robust answer of Hester McCullough.

"Education and the Crisis of Christian Culture"

I just read a very interesting pamphlet by Human Affairs Pamphleteers on the subject of "Education and the Crisis of Christian Culture," written by Christopher Dawson. I want to quote very briefly from this masterpiece:

"I do not think there is any need for me to insist on the fundamental thesis that the present crisis of Western civilization is due to the separation of our culture from its religious basis. I have been saying little else for the last fifteen years. But I think people are still not sufficiently aware of how great the responsibility of education has been in this disastrous process, and that the educationalists themselves have not really faced the disconcerting fact that the more education has advanced, at least quantitatively, the more our civilization has become secularized, so that the separation of our culture from its religious basis seems to be directly proportional to the spread of universal education."

"Nor was this due to people being unaware of the danger. It was recognized from the beginning not merely by exceptionally religious people but by politicians and men of affairs. The Duke of Wellington, with his usual horse sense, put the whole thing in a nutshell when he said 'Take care what we are about, for unless you base all this on religion you are only making so many clever devils.'"

"I do not think our civilization will be saved from this fate by the quantitative progress of education on the existing lines; that is to say, by more education given to more people for longer and longer periods. The only way to save our civilization is to attempt a single uniform educational system to mould the whole mind of the whole community by a single all-embracing educational system—only increases the mass-mindedness of modern society without raising its cultural standards or deepening its spiritual life."

"Taken in its widest sense, education is simply the progress by which the new members of a community are initiated into its way of life and thought from the simplest elements of behaviour or manners up to the highest tradition of spiritual wisdom. Christian education is therefore an initiation into the Christian way of life and thought, and for 1,200 years more or less, the people of Europe have been submitted to this influence. The process has been intensive at some points, superficial at others, but taking it as a whole it may be said to have been a living and growing process of manhood as we see such a mighty stream of intellectual and moral effort directed through so many channels to a single end."

However incomplete its success may have been, there is no doubt that it has changed the world, and no one has any right to talk of the history of Western civilization unless he has done his best to understand its doing and its methods."

"Civilization can be creative and life-giving only if it is spiritual, and the increase of power inevitably increases its power for evil—its destructiveness. Therefore it is only by the redemptive power of the Christian religion that the spiritual world can be restored to its original capacities that it is possible to save humanity from self-destruction. This is the immense task which Christian education has to undertake. It involves a great deal more than any Christian or any educationalist has yet realized."

"The greater is our knowledge of nature and man and history, the greater is the obligation to use these increased resources for God, not merely in the sense of moral action, but intellectually also, by the reinterpretation of the tradition of Christian culture in terms of the new knowledge and by relating the instruments of culture to their true spiritual end."

"The failure of the failure of Christian culture is to understand the depth of that tradition and the inexhaustible possibilities of new life it contains."

Other Thinkers Confirm The Above The same idea is pretty well expressed by many other people who have given education considerable thought. Quote a few:

"The schools became a scene of solemn farce, where ignorance in stilt, His Cap well lined with logic not his own. With parrot tongue perform'd the school's part."

Proceeding soon a graduated dunc. —Cowper. "The idea that going to college is one of the inherent rights of man seems to have obtained a baseless foothold in the minds of many of our people."

A Lawrence Lowell. "Public schools are the nurseries of all vice and immorality."—Fielding. "Children have more need of morals than of criticism."—Joubert. "A learned blockhead is a greater blockhead than an ignorant one."

Benjamin Franklin "Wherever is found what is called a paternal government, there is found state education. It has been discovered that the best way to insure implicit obedience is to commence tyranny in the nursery."—Benjamin Disraeli. "We are opposed to state interference with parental rights and rights of conscience in the education of children as an infringement of the fundamental Democratic doctrine that the largest individual liberty consistent with the rights of others insures the highest type of American citizenship and the best government."—Democratic National Platform, 1892. "A handful of good life is better than a bushel of learning."—George Herbert.

WASHINGTON — Private utility spokesmen do not regard Senate defeat of the proposal that their companies distribute government-generated hydroelectricity in certain regions as final rejection of this attempt to negotiate a permanent pact of peace with the federal authorities. It has been hailed as such by public power extremists who have missed the key issue of the conflict.

It is true that the Senate voted against the Appropriations Committee's plan to deny funds to the Federal Power Commission for construction of transmission lines, but the House retained the location of about $100 million for federal building of the highlines. On its face, it looked like a smashing setback for the "power trust," and there were choruses of glee in certain circles.

PEACE — But the private utilities now cite the Senate Committee's report and floor debate as showing it was the body's "intent" to go ahead with the original plan under which Uncle Sam will generate the power, while the existing companies haul it to consumers in accord with provisions of the famous "Texas contract."

This pact was negotiated between the utility firms and the Southwestern Power Administration, with Speaker Sam Rayburn as the principal negotiator. It has been praised by both parties, by Mr. Rayburn, by Secretary Krug and by the Federal Power Commission as having brought peace to the squabbling advocates of public versus private power.

Mr. Rayburn has publicly testified that large and small consumers in his state are highly satisfied with the supply and the power of law provided them under this arrangement.

REPRIEVE — In its official report, the Senate Appropriations Committee declares that all future agreements for exchange of power between federal agencies and private distributors in the affected areas shall be based on the Texas plan. Otherwise, the deal is off.

Although the utilities once opposed the plan, they now favor it as the best bargain they can get for their $2 billion industry. It is in the nature of a reprieve.

The utilities contend, and Senate debate seems to support their argument, that funds for government construction of transmission lines were put back into the bill only so that the money could be used as a "club" in future negotiations.

That is, if the private companies fail to agree on terms favorable to the government and its customers, Uncle Sam will be in a position to proceed with construction.

Should the utility firms reach a settlement satisfactory to both sides, there will be no need for the government to make the investment in highlines and distributing stations.

WRAPUP — Although several senatorial advocates of public power advocated extension of the "Texas contract" into new fields, showing their "intent," they voted against the Appropriations Committee's specific plan. But they did so only to keep public construction money available as a weapon in the closet.

"I am supporting the appropriation carried in the House bill," explained Senator Fulbright of Arkansas, "upon the assurance and with the understanding that the Interior Department will make a good-faith offer and enter into negotiations with the power companies in an effort to work out a contract based on the principles and pattern of the one adopted in Texas."

In my judgment, the course which is more likely to result in such a contract is to adopt the amounts carried in the House appropriation. I think the two sides in the Senate are not far apart in their objective.

Despite superficial interpretations of Senate-House action, it appears that the fierce feud between the government and the "power trust," which became high drama when Franklin D. Roosevelt and Wendell Willkie led the two factions, may become history.

WARNED — Speaker Rayburn now must decide whether it shall be peace or prolonged war between the utilities and Uncle

Going to the Fair

By GORDON MARTIN

When you see the pennants waving and you hear the brass bands, and the carpenters are busy putting up refreshment stands, then you know the big event has come—the highlight of the year, when the farmers and the merchants with their products reappear. Soon a bustling throng will gather and there's romance everywhere, as the folks come in from miles around to see another county fair.

There's lots of sights at fair-time which are dazzling to the eyes, like the polished fruit and tasty bread and luscious apple pies. And there's fancy needlework and quilts, and antique things quite rare, while across the way you hear the chant of some concessionaire. And the cattle and the horses sleek draw many to the barns, where competitors will meet to talk and spin their sally yarns.

You can hear the grandstand roaring when the horses hit the stretch, or watch with awe the artist while he does your portrait sketch. There's a crowd upon the midway where the people spend their dough, and some man look mighty sheepish as they leave the girle show. Why there's just no limit to the fun, and nothing will compare, with the wondrous sights you always see when going to the fair.

Virginia City Staging Comeback With Author

AUTHOR—Walter Van Tilberg Clark, author of such fiction hits as "The Ox-Bow Incident" and "Track of the Cat," at the front door of his Virginia City home. Once the office of a rich mine, it now houses this successful author.

VIRGINIA CITY, Nev. — (NEA) — The roaring millionaires of the Comstock Lode days might not like the idea, but Virginia City is staging a comeback through the medium of fine literature.

The famous streets and fabulous homes that once knew the silver mine kings now welcome four famous authors who form the nucleus of a new bonanza for the once-rich area.

The four are Roger Butterfield, author of the picture history, "The American Past"; Walter van Tilberg Clark, whose "Track of the Cat" is now on the best-seller lists; and the writing team of Lucius Beebe and Charles Clegg.

Virginia City's artistic colony is not the beard-and-beret set, however. Nevada's literary lights are more at home in dungarees and riding boots than in berets, and prefer dropping in to the Sawdust Trail Saloon to literary teas.

Butterfield and Clark are residents of Virginia City proper, while Beebe and Clegg live in their celebrated private railroad car, "The Gold Coast," a throw-back to the days when every self-respecting millionaire had his private palace car. "The Gold Coast" is now in the yards of the famed Virginia & Truckee Railroad at nearby Carson City, but Beebe and Clegg are fixing up a home in Virginia City, too.

What was once the offices of the Colar-Fotosi, one of the most celebrated of the great Virginia City mines of the 60s and '70s, is now home to Butterfield. Another former mine office houses Clark. He has acquired a stately mansion of red brick which used to house the business department of Best and Belcher, one of the great silver producers of the Comstock's heyday.

For writers interested in the glamorous past of the American West, Virginia City is a research paradise. They find many remnants of it still existing and can talk to old-timers who remember back to the good old days when there was gold—and silver—in them that hills.

Virginia City's bonanza days existed until about 1919, so the authors do not have to delve too far back for material. The famous mines, like the Mexican, Gould and Curry, Ophir and Consolidated Virginia, are dry, but their memory is fresh.

Another reason for the influx of writers—as well as successful persons in other fields—to Nevada is the absence of state income or inheritance taxes in the state. Nevada knows its new bonanza of books won't produce the wealth that the mines once did. But it hopes that it may prove more lasting.

Blarney Stone Owner Doesn't Fall for Blarney

BLARNEY CASTLE, COUNTY CORK, Ireland. — (AP) — The owner of the Blarney Stone says no, thanks, he doesn't want to sell it—even for dollars.

Sir George O. Colthurst told newsmen he has had a flock of offers since the war. Some Americaners he said even wanted to rent it for an exhibition tour of the United States. He didn't say how much he was bid—or by whom.

Klasing the Blarney Stone is supposed to give you the gift of gab. To get at it you climb a 120-foot tower and hang head downwards while a friend holds your legs.

The legendary slab has been worn smooth by the smooches of millions.

Dallas Girl Dies Aboard Ocean Liner

BOSTON — (AP) — A socially prominent Dallas, Texas, girl died and a male passenger was injured in a mystery accident at sea aboard the liner Excalibur returning from Europe, a shipline company spokesman said today.

An official of the American Export Lines identified the girl as Adriane Atwell, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. Webster Atwell, and granddaughter of Federal Judge William H. Atwell.

Injured was Robert Willard, also of Dallas, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said the line was informed that the Atwell girl had fallen and examination showed probable skull fracture.

"That was later confirmed and then we were informed that the girl passed away."

The only report on Willard, he added, was that "he, too, cracked his head but is showing improvement."

The Excalibur was reported off Nova Scotia and due to dock in Boston at 1 p. m., tomorrow.

The Coast Guard said an Army transport met the Excalibur at sea and the transport's doctor and chief nurse went aboard the liner.

Australia May Seek Dollar Loan

CANBERRA, Australia. — (AP) — Prime Minister J. B. Chifley told the House of Representatives Australia is examining the possibility of raising a dollar loan.

The Prime Minister said that because of its outstanding commitments, the government would not be able to achieve a full 25 percent cut in dollar imports this year, as proposed at the London Commonwealth conference.

Bob Hope Works Amid Confusion

HOLLYWOOD. — (AP) — Fun in Hollywood, or a three-ring circus without rings. That's a Bob Hope set.

Where Hope reigns anything goes, and anything gets a laugh. The comic was up to his ears in people. He posed for pictures with a couple of visiting baseball players, said howdy to an out-of-town fan and signed an autograph book. A top Paramount executive, buried deep in the admiring crowd, patiently awaited his turn to get in a few words.

Hope kept up a running patter with everybody. Agents, writers, electricians, sound men, visitors—a score at least—gawked and milled around.

Hope set is open to all. He says he tried being alone once, and didn't like it.

The "Fancy Pants" crew was working under pressure. Hope had to catch a 6:30 p. m. plane for Detroit. Half a dozen scenes had to be shot in the next two hours. Otherwise Paramount would have to keep the cast on salary until Hope returned—an extra week.

"Let's make the ham," shouted an assistant director. That's how they call Hope to the camera.

"A straight man would make a million bucks on this set," quipped Bob. "Everyone wants to be the percent cut in dollar imports this year, as proposed at the London Commonwealth conference."

back there," Bob said. He hears everything, sees everything, picks up everything.

But he looked tired. I asked him why he didn't cancel the trip, to Michigan's state fair and to Grand Rapids for two appearances.

"The trip? It's nothing. No strain at all. I get a kick out of it."

He conceded he's slowing down, though. He's been fishing in the Pacific weekends. After "Fancy Pants" he plans a vacation of fishing, off Guaymas, Mexico.

Came 6 o'clock and the scenes were washed up. No extra week's expense.

I suggested that the bedlam on the set must bother him sometimes.

"Did you ever see a happier set?" he asked in turn. "I love it."

Apparently there's no limit to the attention he can take.

Outside the sound stage he hopped on his bicycle to pedal to his dressing room. A sign on the bike read:

"Bob Hope, available for parties, banquets, weddings, etc., and didn't like it."

LOS ANGELES. — (AP) — Song Writer Harry Barris has asked $50,000 damages in a federal court copyright infringement suit against Band Leader Horace Heidt and Leo Feist, Inc., music publisher.

Barris contends Heidt's theme song, "I'll Love You in My Dreams," was taken from Barris' unpublished but copyrighted song, "Lies," written in 1931.

Bear Taken Without Shot

ASHTON, Idaho. — (AP) — This is the vacation season's best bear story.

It's true, too, because Loyale Babbitt, Idaho Falls, Idaho, has the pet to prove it.

Let Babbitt tell it:

He was fishing near Riverside Camp on the North Fork of Snake River. A two-year-old, 175-pound black bear swam across the stream and headed toward him. Babbitt threw a rock about the size of a baseball and struck Bruin between the eyes. Bruin staggered, but pressed on. Two more rocks went wild, but the next struck the bear in the head and he went down. Babbitt picked up a piece of a dead tree and clubbed the bear on the head until it was dead.

New West German Government Meets

A federal president will be elected Sept. 12 by a convention of 402 Bundestag deputies and 400 special delegates from the state legislatures.

Man Facing Charge Offers $100 Reward

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A former rookie policeman charged with murder is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the conviction of anyone who attacked a prosecution witness in his case.

"I'm as anxious as anyone to know about this attempted intimidation," Harvey Harold Kerns, 23, said.

Alvin Smith, 33, charged when Kerns' case was called for trial in criminal district court that three men threatened and abused him in an attempt to keep him from testifying as a state's witness.

"This business has put me in a bad light," said Kerns, who has been ill at his home since a spinal tap last Saturday. "If anybody's being intimidated, it's me. The way it sounds, someone is trying to make it appear that I bothered this man."

Kerns charged with the fatal shooting of Robert Gene Flory, 22, said he did not know Smith nor that Smith was to be a witness.

Kerns' case was passed until Oct. 3 after his attorney presented a physician's statement that the defendant suffered from "nausea, vomiting and periodic headaches."

Barkley Party Has Troubles

ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Vice President Barkley and his attractive friend, Mrs. Carlton S. Hadley, danced Tuesday night—but not until photographers were twice escorted from a hotel ballroom.

The news photographers were ordered out of the Hotel Chase ballroom after objections were raised over picture taking.

"I have asked that there be no pictures taken while we dance," Barkley said after photographers were escorted out for the second time.

About 10 newsmen were on hand when the Barkley party arrived at the ballroom. A short time later Harold Koplar, a son of the hotel owner, ordered the newsmen out.

"Unless you leave, the Barkley party threatens to leave," he said.

Barkley denied that.

"I never asked to have the press leave and they had no right to say I did," the vice president said.

Then the newsmen got in again.

But when Mrs. Hadley and Barkley started to dance, a photographer's flash bulb went off and the dancing stopped. Newsmen were escorted out for the second time. Later they agreed to take no more pictures and were allowed to sit in the ball room.

Barkley came to St. Louis Sunday. He was greeted at the airport by Mrs. Hadley. Rumors of a romance between Barkley, 47-year-old widower, and Mrs. Hadley, 37-year-old widow, have persisted. Friends say they definitely have not discussed marriage plans.

Kemp Hotel Is Sold at Wichita

WICHITA FALLS—(AP)—The nine-story, 200-room Kemp Hotel, the city's largest, has been bought by H. S. and H. Steve Ford, father and son, of Wichita Falls.

They are president and secretary-treasurer of Southern Hotels, Inc., which operates the Ambassador in Dallas, the Westover in San Antonio and hotels in four other Texas towns.

The purchase price was not announced. The hotel was built in 1919 at a cost of $1,100,000.

Truman Receives 48 Snappy Ties

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman, known for his snappy ties, received 48 of them as a gift Wednesday.

They were presented by the men's foundation as a kickoff for National Tie Week, beginning Sunday, to collect 3,000,000 old ties for relief organizations.

One of the cravats showed the President sitting at a piano with a donkey and an elephant leading a bear by a leash.

One Injured in Perryton Fire

PERRYTON—(AP)—One man was injured when a spectacular fire destroyed the Gulf Oil Co. bulk station here yesterday afternoon.

Perry Durham, 45, of Berger, driver of a gasoline truck, received burns about his face, right leg and right arm.

Harry Nail, owner of the bulk plant, estimated losses at about $10,000.

Wheat in the 150,000 bushel Ellis Grain Co. elevator nearby may have been damaged. The elevator caught fire briefly when a south wind carried flames in that direction. The flames were quickly extinguished.

Durham said he had just finished filling three large storage tanks with 18,000 gallons of gasoline and had turned a switch to shut off the pump when the fire broke out.

mified it out of all reality in his own mind as something specially meant to hurt him.

Not always, but sometimes, a paranoid like that winds up trying to kill people.

Both psychiatrists say one of the tragedies in Unruh's case was this: his mental illness should have been spotted before he ever took loose with his gun.

They say the evidence of his mental illness already was clear. His insanity, they say, didn't suddenly come on him in a day or a week but had been building up.

How could such insanity have been recognized? This was the explanation for that.

When a person goes to excess in anything whether it's eating, drinking, or even something like reading the Bible he's open to question about his mental condition.

But, when in Unruh this excess was coupled with statements to his family that he had a grudge against his neighbors—and that he thought they were against him—the signs of his illness were pretty clear.

trading in the British pound sterling.

2. Customs procedure: Both Britain and Canada have repeatedly complained to the American government that its customs procedures are so cumbersome and old-fashioned that foreign exporters are discouraged from trying to get goods into this country for sale here, and that American buyers are discouraged from seeking foreign goods. A solution to this problem, from the British viewpoint, would have the same effect as a solution to the stockpiling problem—that is, it would fit into the request of Sir Stafford Cripps that the United States open greater markets to British goods.

3. Overseas investments: British and Canadian conferees are reported to have taken the position that the United States must find new ways to put dollars to work by encouraging heavy American investments in foreign countries.

The announcement of the work at today's session was made by Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, the chief American delegate, in a news conference.

Snyder said that Paul Hoffman, ECA administrator, and Averell Harriman, ECA ambassador in Western Europe, considerably broadened the subject of Britain's dollar earnings at this morning's session to include the problem of dollar earnings of all the ECA countries.

Cripps has not specified how the United States might go about enlarging its markets for British goods.

He made the same appeal to Canada. Canadian Finance Minister Douglas Abbott, speaking up Cripps' request for readjustments in basic American economic policy, declared that Canada stands ready to do what it can in the present world situation.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, the American spokesman, promised "sympathetic consideration" to suggestions made by Cripps and Abbott for arresting the drain on Britain's dollar reserves and seeking to balance Britain's world trade.

At the same time Snyder renewed his emphasis on the American position that Marshall Plan aid must end in 1952 and that Britain's major need is to become self-sufficient by that time.

Cripps, Abbott, and Snyder set forth the basic positions of their governments at the second session of the three-power British reserves talks which opened here yesterday. All deal in fairly general terms. None mentioned the question, much discussed publicly, whether the British pound sterling should or would be devalued.

At 3:00 p. m. (CST), Cripps and British Foreign Minister Bevin were scheduled to meet with President Truman at Blair House. Such calls on the President are customary for visiting cabinet members of foreign governments. But the meeting obviously afforded the Britishers an opportunity briefly to discuss the dollar crisis with the Chief Executive.

No Corrective Action Needed

No additional information is necessary for veterans who have incorrectly filled out applications for National Service Life Insurance special dividend, providing they have correctly submitted their names and addresses, it was reported from the regional office of Veterans Administration.

Veterans have inquired what corrective action they should take if they incorrectly completed items such as county, service, serial number, branch of service, date of birth, insurance numbers or claim number.

James H. Ashby, insurance officer at the regional office at Lubbock, said no corrective action need be taken for these errors. Only if the name or address is missing on both the application and acknowledgment, or if the signature is missing, should the veteran complete and submit another application, he said.

All required missing or incomplete information will be supplied from records in the VA Central Office.

Female 'Five Percenter' Collects From 'Lobby'

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A smart capital socialite has capitalized on the Troubles of Washington's five percenters and now is reaping a fat five percent profit for herself.

The society lady with a shrewd eye for business is Mrs. Douglas L. Hatch, wife of a prominent Washington attorney. Her product is a new game called "Lobby." And since the influence sellers have been in the headlines, her game has been sweeping the country faster than the "monopoly" craze of the '30s.

It's similar to parchesi. Any number of persons can play. Each contestant thinks up some bill he would like to have passed by Congress. He throws dice to proceed along the various places on the board, which represent the various steps a bill must take going through Congress and the White House.

All the pitfalls which a real bill faces are on the board. A contestant's measure can get lost in a committee, pressure groups can oppose it, parliamentary maneuvering can tie it up and the President can veto it.

At various stages the player has to make speeches defending his bill, appear before committees and answer questions about it and he has to debate his measure on a mythical floor of Congress. First person to make a bill law wins.

If you know something about the federal law-making process, you can rig up your own board. That's what Mrs. Hatch did first. She devised the game in an attempt to teach her son, Doug, Jr., enough parliamentary procedure to qualify him as a Capitol page. She put it on an improvised par-chest board.

After the boy made the grade the game continued as a favorite pastime in the Hatch household and from there it spread to Washington's society folk. For the past six months it has been this city's drawing room rage. Senators and lobbyists seem to find it relaxing to play at trying to lick the tortuous legislative process.

Unofficial local champ is Sen. Karl Mundt from South Dakota, a prominent member of the committee investigating the five percenters. He is reported to have licked some of the town's top lobbyists at their own game.

When the five percent probe hit the papers, Mrs. Hatch figured it might be a good idea to try to market her game, with public interest focused on Washington's influence wielders and peddlers.

A New England novelty company agreed with her that it was a good idea and offered to give her five percent of the take. As a result, Mrs. Hatch is now one "five percenter" with an entirely satisfied customer.

HOW TO PLAY CANASTA: 5

Wrong Play Brings Penalty

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

CERTAIN irregularities in Canasta call for point penalties. These penalties, which are given below, are deducted from your score towards game at the end of the hand. For example, if your score is 1550 points, and you commit an irregularity that calls for a 100-point penalty, it does not mean that your score is immediately reduced to 1450 points for the purpose of determining your initial minimum meld requirement.

POINT PENALTIES:
Irregular draw, 50 points;
drawing out of turn, 100 points;
adding an irregular draw to your hand, an additional 100 points;
failure to go out after receiving permission from partner, 100 points; melding out of turn, 100 points; attempting to take discard pile out of turn, 100 points.

IRREGULARITIES: The generally accepted rules of bridge and other card games regulate the irregularities in deals.

When a player draws too many cards, this error is rectified by discarding, without drawing at each turn until his hand is correct.

If a player discards without drawing, he cannot pick up his discard, but he can be required to take the top card of the stock pile.

WHEN a player exposes one of more cards from his hand, except to make a legal meld, all of the exposed cards must be left face up on the table and discarded one at a time in successive turns. However, the player may use any of these exposed cards to form melds or to take the pack.

If, for the initial meld for his side, a player shows less than the required count, he must validate his meld if possible with additional cards. If he cannot do so or does not do so before discarding, all the cards he has exposed from his hand are treated as exposed cards.

If he has incorrectly taken the discard, he must restore it to the pile before making his own discard from his exposed cards.

IF a player makes a meld including more than three wild cards, or attempts to add a wild card to a meld already containing three wild cards (other than a completed Canasta), he must, if possible, rectify the error. He does this by putting the exposed wild card with another meld. If he is unable to rectify the error, the surplus wild card (or cards) improperly played is treated as an exposed card.

If a player is dealt or draws a red trey and fails to declare it before the play of the deal ends (provided he has at least one turn to play), his side is penalized 500 points. If he has not had at least one turn to play and the other side goes out, the red treys in his hand are scored as a minus

Student Draws Trophy Case Plan

LUBBOCK — A new trophy case, donated to Texas Technological College by the Alumni and Ex-Students' association, is on display in the rotunda of the administration building on the campus.

The plans for the wood and glass case, which stands approximately eight feet high, were drawn by a Tech architect student, John McLaughlin. His plans were chosen from those submitted by members of an advanced architecture class.

Building of the case was financed by money made on the Homecoming dance last October. It will contain trophies won in sports and literary events by the college.

value of 100 points. The 500-point penalty does not apply.

Violinist to Honor Contract

LONDON — (AP) — Violinist Yehudi Menuhin has arranged to honor a concert contract without dishonoring Yom Kippur.

The 33-year-old American will play in Manchester on the afternoon of Oct. 2 instead of the evening, taking a cut in his fee.

Menuhin and his London agent Harold Holt, signed the concert contract with the Motor and Cycle Trades Benevolent Fund last March. Neither realized at the time, Holt told reporters, that Yom Kippur—the sacred Jewish Day of Atonement—starts at sundown Oct. 2.

UNIQUE FLOATING SPAN, ONCE STORM CENTER, NOW PAID FOR

FLOATING BRIDGE—Connecting Seattle with the eastern shore of Puget Sound is the unique floating Lake Washington bridge. This view is looking from Seattle toward Mercer Island, the other terminus of the floating structure.

By FRED ZAVATERO

SEATTLE — (NEA) — After 20 years of arguing, a year and a half of building, and nine years of toll collecting, the only floating bridge in the United States was paid for this summer—19 years ahead of schedule.

Seattle has one of the world's four civilian pontoon bridges because an irate young man missed a ferry in 1919. As he watched the ferry paddle across Lake Washington toward Mercer Island, little more than a mile away, Homer M. Hadley, a young structural engineer, decided he had missed the boat for the last time. He would build a bridge.

He found he had chosen the world's worst bridge site. A lake depth of 150 to 200 feet underlaid with 100 feet of mud made the cost of a fixed bridge enormous. But Hadley continued to study the lake and, a few months later, he had the bridge built—on paper.

The initial reaction to his floating-bridge plan was definitely not favorable. People said it would hamper ship traffic and mar the city's beauty.

Hadley continued to show his plans to various civic organizations. Impressed by the logic and economy of his suggestions, they launched a "Build-a-Bridge" campaign that eventually had the entire state in an uproar.

To settle the dispute, a State Toll Bridge Authority was created to study all methods of bridging the lake. After months of research, the board presented a solution incorporating virtually all of Hadley's ideas, and, in 1939, construction of the unique structure began.

As work on the 7800-foot floating section progressed, opponents to the bridge at first were not convinced that the 4458-ton concrete pontoon wouldn't sink. But the unbroken four-lane express highway across the lake, held in place by 60 65-ton anchors, has safely ridden out the most severe storms.

Although the water level of Lake Washington controlled by government locks, possible water level fluctuations were not ignored. Relying on a system of hydraulic rockers, the bridge can tolerate a variation of three feet without harm.

Lake shipping has never been hindered by the bridge. It literally comes apart to form a passageway for large, ocean-going vessels. By drawing the channel pontoon into a specially-designed "bay" in a divided pontoon, a 200-foot opening is made in the bridge.

On June 30, 1940, 18 months after work began on the $8,450,000 project, the first automobile "floated" across Lake Washington. The bridge eliminates more than 14 miles of travel through congested residential areas to reach the expanding east shore. It provides a direct route from Seattle to the transcontinental highway through the Cascade Mountains.

New community developments have furnished Seattle workers with suburban homesites within easy reach of their jobs. Grateful employers have almost forgotten the often abused alibi, "Boss, the ferry was late this morning."

Truman's Aid Sought

PEEKSKILL, N. Y. — (AP) — Paul Robeson supporters, protesting the violence that swept the countryside after his concert near here Sunday, have called on President Truman to help "restore law and order in New York state."

But Westchester County District Attorney George M. Fanelli, who had overall command of a force of 900 law enforcement officers, says they did a "magnificent job."

The left-wing Negro singer's sympathizers also have demanded the impeachment of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and Westchester County officials for not preventing the five-hour rioting.

More than 100 persons were injured as anti-leftist demonstrators hurled rocks and other missiles at autos and buses carrying the concert crowd home.

Windows of hundreds of vehicles were smashed in scattered attacks spread over many miles of roads in the suburbs 40 miles north of New York City. At least eight autos and an empty bus were overturned.

Robeson charged Monday that many of the 10,000 concert-goers were "attacked by arms of the state and local government." He called the concert crowd "peacefully assembled American citizens."

FARM NEWS

Foundation Advises Quarantining Show Livestock for Period

AUSTIN — (Special) — With hundreds of fairs now under way in the United States, farmers have been advised to make sure that animals do not bring disease hazards home with their blue ribbons.

"No matter what stringent sanitary measures have been taken at fairs, any animal shown where large groups of other animals have been assembled should be handled as if it has been exposed to infection," warns a bulletin from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

A minimum quarantine period of 30 days was recommended for all animals after fair exhibition, before letting them join the home herds. The foundation pointed out that while an animal may appear perfectly healthy, it can be harboring deadly disease germs contracted from an equally healthy-looking animal at a fair, a show, or livestock sale.

Also recommended was a check-up by a veterinarian of all livestock returning from fairs. Such a procedure, the foundation said, has a two-fold purpose if the animal is infected. First, special precautions can be taken to see that the disease does not spread to other animals in the herd. Second, treatment to save the animal's value can be instituted promptly.

"Such vigilance," the foundation said, "insures that a win in the show ring will not be followed by a loss on the farm."

Housewives Get Special Offer

LONDON — (AP) — Busy housewives can get their weekly wash and their hair done at the same time.

A hairdresser here has offered to launder nine pounds of clothing and linen in his electric washer while customers relax for three hours to have a permanent wave.

M. P. Jacovides, the proprietor, said he found housewives didn't have the time to spare for a hair-do between cooking, washing and queuing at the shops.

GENGHIS KHAN MOVED SHANGHAI — (AP) — The Communist Central News Agency said the remains of Genghis Khan, 13th Century Mongolian conqueror of China, have been removed from their Yuchung tomb in North Shensi Province, by retreating Nationalist troops.

Rat Killer Is Developed

A new rat killer, Compound 42, has been developed by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. Tests by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service prove it highly effective, according to the September issue of Country Gentleman.

The new poison kills by causing rats to bleed to death or to strangle if the bleeding occurs in the lungs. In dosages used, the new killer is harmless to humans and other warm-blooded animals. Forty-six grams of Compound 42 well mixed in 100 pounds of feed are sufficient to produce a near 100 percent kill of both Norway, or brown, rats and black, or roof, rats. The rodents must eat the mixture at least four or five times, but intervals between feedings may be as long as four or five days. The rats do not become suspicious of the treated feed, since death does not follow immediately and since treated feed does not differ from normal in odor or taste.

Sheep Production Is Threatened

A strange economic situation threatens to curtail sheep production in the United States. Despite increasing profits, production continues to decline as a recent nationwide study shows.

During the past six years the number of sheep in flocks has diminished 40 percent for the country as a whole and as much as 60 percent in some areas.

Discussing this problem and its effect on our national economy, an article in the September issue of Country Gentleman offers this explanation for the decline:

"Labor has been scarce and high. Predatory animals have been a problem. But the main cause has been the competition of other more extensive enterprises for the producer's attention.

Wheat growing and the production of grain sorghums, for instance, offer nearly as much profit for less work. Where sheep raising is a 12 months-a-year job wheat and sorghum can be handled in a few months. But with the bloom going off the cash-crop boom of high yields and high prices, and wheat and grain sorghum become less profitable, the spring-lamb industry may attract renewed interest to the profit of many a farmer, the magazine notes.

Child Found Floating in Well

ADA, Okla. — (AP) — Two-year-old Bud West went exploring, and fell down a water well Monday. His father, Louis West, heard the child's cries and scrambled down the well to the rescue.

Bud suffered no injuries.

Detention Dams Planned on Trinity

DALLAS — (AP) — Construction of ten small "detention" dams on Trinity River tributaries will begin this year.

CONSUMER INSTALLMENT CREDIT

CREDIT — Consumer installment credit outstanding reached $9,100,000,000 in July, 1949, for an all-time record. Release of government curbs on installment buying helped send the figure up. The largest part of recent expansion stems from the boom in automobile sales. Automobile credit has been increasing at the rate of $150,000,000 a month.

PRICES

PRICES — Little change in prices occurred in July, after slight declines in June. Basic commodities rose one per cent, and at the end of July were 19 per cent lower than in January. Wholesale commodities declined one per cent to a point five per cent below the January level. Average consumers' prices showed slight change.

As schools reopen this fall for America's 6,000,000 children a vast army of safety patrol boys, 350,000 strong, will help law enforcement agencies protect them from the traffic dangers at street crossings. This typical picture shows patrol boy permitting children to cross on their way to school while traffic has stopped.

Q and A

Q—What was the first steamship to cross the Atlantic Ocean?

A—It was the Savannah—a vessel of about 280 tons' burden, measuring 100 feet in length. She was finally wrecked off the south coast of Long Island.

Q—Who was successful in the quest for the Holy Grail?

A—Many knights errant spent their lives searching for it, and finally Sir Galahad did the trick. According to legend, it was brought down from heaven by angels and given to knights who guarded it in a castle on the summit of an inaccessible mountain.

Q—Why did King Herod order the slaughter of all the children two years old and under in Bethlehem?

A—This crime was committed by Herod for the purpose of destroying the infant Jesus, who he feared, would reign as King of the Jews in his stead.

Q—How was the term "filibuster" first used?

A—It was a name originally given to those freebooters that plundered the coast of America during the 16th and 17th centuries. It was later applied to certain lawless adventurers, not from Congress, but from the United States, who attempted to seize upon various countries of Spanish America.

Q—Who said, "A guard dies but never surrenders"?

A—The saying has been attributed to General Cambronne, at the end of the battle of Waterloo, when summoned to surrender.

Q—Which country has the longest stretch of straight railway?

A—It belongs to the Transcontinental Railway, Australia, which is dead straight for 328 miles across the Nullarbor Plain. The longest stretch of line without a curve in the U. S. is the 79 miles on the Seaboard Air-line Railway between Wilmington and Hamlet, N. C.

Q—Have any quintuplets been born since the Dionnes?

A—Yes. Two boys and three girls were born to the diligent family on July 15, 1943, in Buenos Aires, Argentina. The mother was attended by only a midwife.

Q—How did the term "Grog" originate?

A—The popular British naval officer, Admiral Vernon, introduced the use of rum and water among the ship's company. The new beverage proved so palatable that it became as popular as the brave admiral himself. Thus it was called "Grog" from the nickname of the rough program cook that he wore in bad weather.

Q—Where is Mound City?

A—Better known as St. Louis, Mound City is located in Missouri. The name was given on account of the artificial mounds in its vicinity, said to have been the work of the ancient Mound Builders.

Q—Who sold the U. S. Army Air Force its first military plane?

Horse Has Easier Time, Boyle Says

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK — (AP) — It is much easier today to win the Kentucky Derby than it is to become Miss America.

All a horse has to do to cinch the Derby is to run faster. And it can use all four legs.

But it doesn't have to prove it can ride a human being, sing, talk, walk, paint a picture, look well in bathing suit and evening gown, do a tap dance or give Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

The average racehorse isn't even sure Lincoln ever had an address in Gettysburg.

But to win the Atlantic City beauty contest now a girl not only has to show Derby form—she has to demonstrate personality, talent and intelligence. And she goes through a more rigorous training routine than the average Derby entrant. She may even have to eat oats (oatmeal) to slim her figure.

Many of the lassies competing this week for the nation's $5,000 beauty crown at the Barizon School sort spent a week or two in Manhattan getting a final curly-combing. They hire specialists to teach them how to walk gracefully and use make-up artfully.

"I've tramped miles up and down my hotel room learning all over again how to walk," said brown-haired, 18-year-old Miss Arkansas—Barbara Brothers, bust 34, waist 23, hips 34. She would like to have a rubber face.

"Mine is all worn out from smiling," she said.

Another candidate, "Miss Wyoming"—Eather MacLeod, 22, bust 34, waist 25, hips 34, spent the last few days before the contest studying at the Barizon School of Modeling. Sponsored by the University of Wyoming, she is a mezzo soprano and wants to continue her study of music.

Miss Arkansas will be one of the entrants with a claque—three University of Arkansas students who decided to go to Atlantic City and root for her.

One is Bob Kiley, an almost sightless war veteran who also is a member of the Arkansas Legislature.

"Bob is real fun," said Mrs. Tom Allen, chaperon for Miss Arkansas. "Once, during a night out, he lost his glass eye. So he put an ad in the university paper saying:

"Lost — One glass eye — probably bloodshot."

Business Said in Good Shape

NEW YORK — The recent upturn in business, whether it be really or a real recovery, has gained so much momentum that it should carry us through the remaining months of this year, according to Business Week.

The magazine notes that the year end is the danger point. At that time the economy will have some new tests to weather. Auto sales — a strong prop so far this year — will probably slacken in the fall. Exports are expected to drop. Business spending for new plant and equipment will almost surely be down by a least five percent.

On the other side of the ledger will be the payment of dividends to holders of Veterans Administration life insurance (starting in January) that will pump money into consumers' pockets at a rate equivalent to five billion dollars a year. Increased military spending will be another offset.

"But the real question is not answered by any balancing of positive and negative factors," says the magazine. "It's whether enough momentum has been generated by the high level of postwar industrial activity to override individual shifts in demand."

The article notes that it looks as if the moderate inventory recession of this year may have accomplished most of the postwar shakeout that it took the severe depression of 1929-33 to effect after World War I.

"Even if that's the case," the magazine observes, "there's an important readjustment still to come. That's the scaling down of business' very high postwar level of capital investment. If the drop is severe, it could cause trouble by the turn of the year."

Nevada Bids for Air Force Center

NEW YORK — The leading contender for location of a billion dollar Air Force air engineering development center in Southern Nevada near Las Vegas, Aviation Week reports.

Other top contenders for the center are an area in Eastern Washington and the Tennessee Valley region. USAF now is evaluating engineers' reports on the three areas.

Legislation authorizing 150 million dollars to initiate construction of the center has been approved by the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Low Blocking on Way Out Says Leahy

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. — (AP) — The practice of hitting 'em low is on its way out as far as football blocking is concerned, believes Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy.

"The defensive linemen are coming in higher than they used to," he told students at a coaching clinic here. "Consequently, the blocker has to aim higher."

"Another advantage of blocking high in the T formation is that the blocker's face is in the defensive man's face. If his vision is so blocked, the defensive man can't see what the quarterback is doing with the ball."

Mural Painter Dies Of Heart Attack

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Jose Clemente Orozco, Mexico's great mural painter, died at home Wednesday. He was 65.

A heart attack came at 7:30 a. m. and he died quickly. He is survived by his widow, Margarita Valladares de Orozco, and three children, Lucrecia, 21, Alfredo, 2 and Clemente, 25.

Earliest New England houses were built of thick planks instead of logs as is generally believed.

By RALPH K. SKINNER
PANAMA CITY, Panama (NEA) — The new administration building at the new $8,000,000 Tocumen National Airport is half finished. The top half, that is, the bottom two floors of the four-story structure are still skeletal, waiting for some manana when the Republic of Panama has a little more money.

Panama wanted to have the airport in operation by Sept. 1, the date when American airlines were to switch from Canal Zone fields to Panamanian ones. Before the Civil Aeronautics Administration would approve the transfer, Tocumen had to install certain safety devices.

Those devices were blueprinted in the tower (fourth floor) and the third floor of the administration building. So Panama authorities shrugged their shoulders, rolled up their plans for the first two floors and proceeded to build the top two.

The waiting room on the ground floor and the nice offices on the second floor can wait until—well, until manana.

Tocumen airport has been operating for foreign airlines since 1947, but regularly scheduled American lines—like Pan-American, Panagra and Braniff—have had to land at Canal Zone fields, where approved safety devices are in operation.

The Republic of Panama has long felt that commercial aviation rightfully belonged there, rather than in the Canal Zone. The zone, said the Republic, was not open to commercial and private enterprise but was restricted to the operation and maintenance of the canal.

So, in June, 1947, when they opened Tocumen, they sat back and waited for American planes to land. The other nations' planes did, but not American ships. In effect, the CAA had said they would—manana.

Uncle Sam decided to help Panama out. American money and materials went to give Tocumen the needed air traffic control, point-to-point and air-ground communications, and a regional meteorological system.

U. S. airlines are reportedly not too happy about the switch to Panama. They supposedly feel that there will be a lack of know-how in the new operation. To support their contention, they point out that Tocumen has been open for two years, yet still doesn't have a proper administration building nor adequate hangar space.

But, whether they like it or not, the airlines are all scheduled to move to Tocumen. And Panama promises that it will finish the last (bottom) two floors of the administration building and build more hangars.

Date of completion for the two projects is definitely scheduled for manana.

Youths Blamed For Concert Riot

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — The Westchester County district attorney blamed teen-agers for most of the violence that followed the Paul Robeson concert near Peekskill Sunday.

At the same time the prosecutor, George N. Fanelli, in a preliminary report to Governor Dewey, inferentially denied the contention of Negro baritone Robeson that state and Westchester County police had attacked concert-goers.

Fanelli complimented all the law enforcement officials assigned to the concert area. He said "they accomplished an insuperable job of preventing fatalities."

Fanelli told the Governor his investigation indicated that "most of the damage and trouble came from teen-agers who had no connection with veteran groups" that paraded near the concert area in protest against what Dewey himself had termed a "pro-Communist" meeting.

Solons Seek to Hold On to Lemon Tariff

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senators Hayden and McFarland, Arizona Democrats, have asked President Truman to prohibit any cut in the tariff on lemons.

They told reporters that American lemon growers are now producing more than the nation is consuming. They added that if the import duty is lowered as a result of the trade conference now going on in Anney, France, the present lemon marketing agreement would be "knocked in the head."

Texas Beats Drum for Its Annual Fair

A bigger, brighter, gay, more fantastic and original spectacle is the promise which the world's largest state fair holds to the two million visitors expected for the gigantic 16-day exposition starting Oct. 8 in Dallas, W. H. Hitzelberger, vice president and general manager of the State Fair of Texas, has announced.

"The 1949 Fair will be the best-balanced show in the history of the exposition," Hitzelberger said. "This year we will see to it that sprawled over the 287 acres of fair grounds will be more of everything which fairgoers like, and that all phases of the giant show will be at least two cuts above anything ever before seen at the Fair." Commercial exhibits such as foods, agriculture, automotive, home show, and farm implements, will feature more interesting displays than at any time since the war. This is attributable, Hitzelberger said, to new market conditions and increased competition for public interest.

Two new foreign exhibitors—the British and Belgian governments—will present the best of their export articles in a serious bid for Southwestern favor.

More money for livestock premiums has resulted in a heavier flow of entries than for any previous fair. Headlining the livestock exhibits will be the National Aberdeen Angus show, Oct. 7-14. Other breeds in the beef cattle show include Herefords, Shorthorns, and Brahmins.

Other major shows of the livestock division will be swine, sheep, Angora goats, quarter and Palomino horses, and an outstanding junior livestock show. Premiums total $65,235.

Three major football tilts—Texas vs. Oklahoma, SMU vs. Rice, and SMU vs. Kentucky—top an impressive nine-game gridiron schedule in the Cotton Bowl which is being increased in capacity from 67,431 to 75,847 by addition of a second deck on the east side. The Fair's parking lot is also being enlarged at a cost of $25,000 to accommodate 1,000 additional cars under all weather conditions.

TALL PALMS
Palm trees in the tropics, under ideal conditions, often attain a height of nearly 100 feet. This is an exceptional size, as even a tree 100 feet tall is regarded as extreme.

System Still Sub-Standard

HUNTSVILLE — (AP) — The Texas prison system has shown great improvement during the past 18 months, but by modern measuring rods is still sub-standard.

That's what General Manager O. B. Ellis told Prison Board members and farm wardens in a resume of accomplishments through the system since January, 1948.

showing a fine spirit and are making progress.
"Though we have come a long way, we still have a long way to go. We really have just started."
Board Chairman W. C. Windsor, Tyler, who was reelected as chairman, told the group: "We're moving in the right direction. Each of you farm wardens is doing a better job this year than last. We've got to do even better from here on."

Other board officers reelected at the meeting are Bronson Morgan, Jasper, as vice chairman, and T. R. Havins, Brownwood, secretary.

Wholesale Food Price Index Shows Rise
NEW YORK — (AP) — The Dun and Bradstreet wholesale food price index this week advanced to $5.82 from $5.78 a week ago, but was 15.2 percent lower than the year-ago level of $6.86.
The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Either is produced by distillation of alcohol with sulphuric acid.

Have a Country Kitchen for $50

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The kitchenette in my apartment is drab, tiny and too limited in storage space to take an average can of soup. I would love to have a cheerful, functional, country-style kitchen. But what can I do with only $50 to spend?

This question was put by Leora Dana, a young actress making her Broadway debut in "The Madwoman of Chaillot," to Hugh Evans, New York interior decorator, who came through with the answer. With his advice and help in making every penny count, the Dana kitchen underwent the transformation shown before and after.

Using this project as your guide, you can do as much as small an expense to make an inadequate kitchen more attractive and functional, and to enlarge its storage space. Here's how:

If your kitchen, like Miss Dana's, is an oversized cupboard that opens into a living room or dining room, use wallpaper as she did to turn its doors into sprightly murals. Doors paneled with wallpaper patterns with colored roosters of lime and red reveal open, as shown above, to reveal a cheerful, country-styled kitchen. It gleams with white enameled woodwork, lime-colored curtains and spiky red accessories. More shelves for storage, more work-counter space, and plastic curtains that wash, fulfill Miss Dana's dream of a functional and adequate kitchen.

Wallpaper panels came from marked-down remnants. Pasted-in plastic surfaces of doors that close off the kitchenette, panels are framed with striped wallpaper borders and coated with clear plastic for easy washability.

A two-sectioned storage unit contained with inexpensive lime-colored plastic fabric encloses the sink, hides unsightly pipes, provides shelf space under the sink for dishwashing and cleaning equipment and small garbage pail. The unit was made with the help of a carpenter friend from lumber salvaged from an old cabinet plus a few feet of new shelving. Under-sink shelves were grooved to fit around pipes and made removable for possible pipe repairs.

Leftover pieces of wood were used to box in the pipes beside the sink and to give a back to the unit. To protect the work surface top, white plastic tiles were cemented over the wood.

The sink "cabinet" and exterior woodwork of overhead china and glass cupboards were enameled white. Cupboard interiors were painted lime to match the curtains. The refrigerator was sanded, primed and freshened up with white metal paint.

To cover old wooden flooring, a short strip of green linoleum was used.

Today's hand was given to me by Ambrose Casner, one of the life masters of New York. Casner has a heart of gold and is one of the first to help support every children's charity drive.

The musical world knows him for his association with music since the early days of radio. His sentiments also are well expressed on the Christmas cards he manufactures and sells.

Now that Casner has become a life master, you generally find him playing in a tournament with some friend, not necessarily an expert. But he plays to win. He is very strong in expressing to his partners the necessity of watching every little thing, during the bidding and the play of the hand.

Today's hand does not have the necessary two and one-half tricks for an opening bid. Under the point-count system it has only a count of 12, 13 being required. But it is a two major suit hand and, therefore, should be opened. West's first thought is, is South on a psychic? A double by West might prove unprofitable.

Casner's recommendation is that West should jump to three no trump. He practically has nine tricks in his own hand. When South bids four hearts, West knows that South is bidding a two-suit hand. It is now a close question whether West should double or bid four no trump. Casner bid four no trump.

The opening lead of the queen of hearts was won with the ace. The six diamond tricks were cashed. South had to bare down to the king-queen of a pad, a trick-queen of hearts and the king-eight of hearts and the king-six of clubs. The ace of spades was cashed and South was thrown in with a spade. He was end-played for the opponents' needed 10th trick.

Sitting Pretty

Legs crossed over the knees will look graceful if they are swung off-center and held almost parallel to each other.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Ever notice the graceful way an actress uses her legs when she sits down and crosses them? One of the reasons why is because she is trained in the art of crossing her legs. If she crosses them above the knees, the graceful slant legs take comes from a trick of swinging them a little off center and holding legs together in a line that is almost parallel.

There are other tricks of sitting pretty which an actress is taught. She reaches for her skirt from the back of her hips and pulls the fullness to the front before she sits. This is graceful as well as practical. Her skirt doesn't crush when she sits.

An actress is also taught to back up to a chair and "feel" for it with her legs before she settles down. When a woman does that—whether the woman is Mrs. John Jones seeking a chair for a game of bridge or an actress displaying her grace to an audience—she takes no chances of missing her aim when she sits.

Mrs. J. T. Rogers Is Hostess to Wayside HD Club

A meeting of the Wayside Home Demonstration Club was held Friday in the home of Mrs. J. T. Rogers.

The president, Mrs. Harold Osborne, was in the chair, with Mrs. Lowell Osborne giving the council report. Mrs. Jim Chase spoke on "Training the Preschool Child," stressing the importance of providing the small child with a happy home and childhood. She pointed out that a child's happiness depends upon three things — his parents' love, security and freedom. The object in dealing with a child, Mrs. Chase said, should not be to suppress, but to educate. She continued "No amount of teaching will influence young children so much as the daily behavior and conversation of the older members of the family."

Refreshments were served to eight members and the hostess.

Miss Taylor registered the guests on a rolling pin which was presented to the honoree.

Doctors Say Memory Is Electrical

temples. They emerge through your skull.
The discovery of this electrical force in memory was reported to the American Psychological Association by Doctors John L. Kennedy and Robert M. Gottlander of Tufts College, Medford, Mass.
This discovery fits exactly with findings of brain surgeons that memory is electrical. The surgeons, during operations that exposed the brain, caused patients to remember things long forgotten. This they did by touching the grey matter with a slight electrical current.

The Tufts psychologists find that the electrical spurts that come out through your skull, rise from the very same brain sections where the surgeons found the seat of memory. This seat is the temporal lobes, two sections of grey matter, one on each side of the head.

The electrical memory tabs reported by Dr. Kennedy are a new type of brain waves. Such waves are slight electrical surges which are picked up by pasting metal discs, or electrodes on the scalp, and amplifying the electrical current they pick up.
To get the memory waves the electrodes are fastened in front of the top corner of each ear. These new waves are traced by a pen on moving paper, where they form little spindles, lying in a horizontal position. There are eight to twelve of them a second.
They don't appear all the time. With your mind a blank none show, unless a stray thought, probably some memory, crosses your brain. Then there is a brief electrical wiggle.

Engineer Admits He Gave Data

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Navy aeronautical engineer said Tuesday he unknowingly supplied some of the data for a once-mysterious memo that touched off the Congressional B-36 bomber investigation.

Hugh L. Hanson, now of Glendale, Calif., testified that he gave the information to Cedric R. Worth, suspended Navy official.
It was to the effect that the late James V. Forrestal, then secretary of defense, had indicated President Truman wanted to fire W. Stuart Symington as secretary of air.

Hanson said he told Worth that Forrestal, with some difficulty, talked the President out of doing so because Forrestal "didn't want to make Symington a martyr."
Worth wrote the memo which was chiefly responsible for a spectacular inquiry last month by the House Armed Services Committee. The memo hinted at irregularities and frauds in the B-36 program.
But the hearing blew up with a bang when Worth backed down on all his charges and the committee exonerated everybody he had mentioned.

The Navy then set up its own court of inquiry to find out whether anyone else in the department had had a hand in preparation of the memo. Hanson and Chief Yeoman Charles, of Easton, Pa., were the first witnesses Tuesday.
Miss Charles, who had been Worth's secretary, testified almost QUESTION: In what World Series was every game a shutout victory?

OUR QUICK PREVIEW OF COLLEGE GRID prospects takes us to Lubbock and the Texas Tech Red Raiders coached by Dell Morgan. The Raiders this year will have an eleven game schedule with the first game of the season scheduled for this weekend at Lubbock.

The complete Tech schedule for this season is: Sept. 10, Abilene Christian at Lubbock; Sept. 17, Texas at Austin; Sept. 24, Texas A&M at Lubbock; Oct. 1, West Texas State at Lubbock; Oct. 8, Tulsa University at Lubbock; Oct. 15, Baylor at Lubbock; Oct. 22, Arizona at Lubbock; Oct. 29, Rice at Houston; Nov. 5, Texas Western at Fort Worth; Nov. 12, Open date; Nov. 19, New Mexico at Albuquerque; Nov. 26, Hardin-Simmons at Abilene.

The word from Lubbock says, "Tech lost nine of its 1948 lettermen and coaches expect some difficulty molding a staunch, rounded team. As practice starts, the mentors see weaknesses in both the line and backfield and will be forced to make several shifts of personnel to fill gaps. Success or failure may rest with transfers from other colleges and with 20 energetic Sophomores. At end, Dick and Hugh Jackson, brothers from Phillips are expected to see a lot of action. Dick attended the University of Oklahoma and Hugh is a former student of New Mexico University.

"Sophomores counted on most heavily in the backfield are among others, Eural Ramsey of Shamrock and J. O. McClellan of Phillips.

"Coach Morgan could start any of three men at fullback and not go wrong. Back for the third year are lettermen Bud Conley, Quantz, J. W. Thompson of Odessa and Earl Jackson of Phillips. Jackson showed himself as a fast and powerful runner last fall, after seeing Conley start most game. Jackson is a deceptive runner past the line of scrimmage, and he tears through the line. He is expected to be a starter this fall.

"Tech football fans may expect more forward passing from Red Raider quarterbacks this fall. Back for a fifth season is Ernest Hawkins of Lamesa, one of eight athletes in the college's history to letter in three sports in a single school year. His first year year did not count against his eligibility.

"Bobby Layne, all-American three years with the Texas Longhorns, coached the passers last spring and two new men, especially, showed improvement. John Moughon, Weatherford, star of the 1948 Tech Freshmen, apparently picked up the most pointers and is hitting his mark consistently. Albert Salem, El Paso transfer, exhibited surprising ability in the spring scrimmage to end the drills. Eural Ramsey of Shamrock also is a candidate for quarterback. He starred with the Irish in 1947.

The opening meeting with Abilene Christian this weekend will be the eighth formal meeting between the two teams. AAC has won three and Tech four so far in the series. Both schools can be expected to use all available players in this game to test out.

Last year's results with teams on this year's schedule were Tech 20, Texas A&M 14; Tech 19, West Texas State 0; Tech 41, Tulsa 20; Tech 0, Baylor 13; Tech 31, Arizona 0; Tech 7, Rice 14; Tech 46, Texas Western 6; Tech 14, Hardin-Simmons 21.

An overall summary of the Raider's prospects this season would appear to be good for the charges of Dell Morgan.

ANSWER: Every one of the games in the 1905 World Series ended in a shutout.

Oklahoma is the only state whose capital, Oklahoma City, bears the state name.

'PIGSKIN PARADE' Tulane, Vandy Tops in Dixie

By STERLING SLAPPEY
ALANA — (AP) — Southeastern Conference football coaches think Tulane and Vanderbilt will be the best this season, but few will say if the "Dixie Dozen" as a whole will be stronger or weaker.

However, from past experience you can judge coaches' ratings and name yourself a list. Chances are you can do just as well as the experts.

This time last year Georgia Tech was the glory grabber but Tulane and Vanderbilt were the main contenders. Mississippi climbed from a sub-treacheran cave in the coaches' estimation into second place. In fact about the only team coaches tabbed correctly was Auburn. The pigskins were picked for last place and they ended there. Also last year coaches thought the league would be at a peak. But, frankly it wasn't. The southeastern was a good shade or two lighter and slower than usual.

In numbers the league will be stronger this time. Squads total 713 men as against about 600 last September. In that battalion size bunch of best are 97 players who were pretty good performers on occasions in 1948.

Tulane and Vanderbilt — both of whom once ruled Dixie but suffered relapses — have the most returning stars. Vandy's coach, Bill Edwards, a former All-American last year — and Paul Lea, all-Southeastern tackle.

Price very probably will be the top star in Dixie in 1949. Vandy except experience in everything else, Edwards switched the Commodores from the single wing after Red Sanders resigned to take the UCLA job.

Such backfield men as Dead Davidson, Joe Hicks, Herb Rich, Bobby Berry, Jamie Wade and Lee Nally, and Linemen Charley Speir, Russ Faulkner, Carl Copp and Bucky Curtis, should keep Vandy blowers fairly happy.

Knoxville, Tenn., is well accustomed to the rest of the south and a good sized listening public up east and out west jabbering about what easy schedules the Tennessee Vols play.

No one can say that this season. The Vols play the usual ten games and among opponents are North Carolina, Duke, Georgia Tech, Vanderbilt, Alabama and Mississippi.

Third string All-American tackle Norman Messerli is back along with Hal Littlefield and W. C. Cooper in the backfield.

For two years the Mississippi rebels made monkeys out of the guessers when they climbed far higher than anyone thought they could. To play the safe SEC coaches have them in fourth place and here's a couple of reasons why — a comparatively weak SEC schedule and nine returning stars.

The defending champion Georgia Bulldogs should defend well if their schedule again can help them. Wally Butts and his southern-the-winner Yankee players meet only one high ranking conference team — Georgia Tech.

Sixth ranking Tech plays one of the meanest schedules in Dixie — four out of the six top teams. Besides those the Yellow Jackets meet Duke, if Bobby Dodd can win seven, or ten he'll be smiling.

Burying down among the lowest six teams are some fine names in national, southern and bowl football — Alabama, LSU and Auburn.

However, the experts say this isn't the year for the SEC. But watch out. SEC coaches may record their coaching, but their record for picking winners would never win a bowl bid.

Next: Big Nine

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING
Here's what we think are fine, easy-to-follow instructions for refinishing your gunstock. And you don't have to be a handyman to do a first-rate job, claims hunter George F. Strahl.

First, remove the stock from the action. Then with a single-edged razor blade remove the old finish by careful scraping. Be very careful in scraping the parts of the stock which butt the action, because any variations in these surfaces might cause it to fit the action improperly.

Don't worry about the varnish that remains in the pores of the wood, since these must be filled anyway. After the old finish is removed, sand the stock with varying degrees of garnet paper. Sand paper will do, but it does not hold up as well.

Next, saturate the grain by wetting the stock with a cloth and holding it over a gas stove burner, or any even flame, until dry. During the drying turn the stock constantly so it doesn't become hot.

Now take a sheet of the finest sand paper you have and whisk off the fuzz.

Repeat this process — wetting, heating and defuzzing — until no fuzz is apparent when the stock is wet. Four or five treatments will usually be enough.

Now is the time to darken the stock if you wish. Apply linseed oil in thin coats; let it dry after each application. The more oil you use, the darker it will stain the wood. Then, when the stock is completely dry, apply a coat of varnish, preferably the quick-drying kind, and allow this to dry. Then scrape the varnish off with your razor blade, getting down to bare wood again.

Repeat this step and then, holding the stock to the light, inspect the pores to see if they are filled to the surface with varnish. A magnifying glass will help. If the pores seem to be filled, use a piece of 320 grit Wetordry paper dipped in linseed oil to rub down the stock. Use plenty of oil.

Then take a few drops of oil in your palm and rub the stock until it becomes hot from the friction of your hand. The more hand rubbing you do, the more burnished and beautiful will be the patina which you give the stock. If you have an emery wheel or polishing head, mount a soft, clean muslin wheel on it and move the stock slowly against it.

If you apply a final coat of varnish, put a thin coat on the inside of the stock, where it meets the action — that's where it takes punishment from moisture.

In boxing, the rabbit punch is delivered at the base of the skull.

The Yankees are famous for hitting in the clutch. After this season, they'll be equally renowned for hitting on the crutches.

Caesy Stengel's men are so used to hospitals that they come to the plate with a splint instead of a bat.

They don't call newcomers to the team rookies, either. They speak of the Johnny-Come-Latelys as internees.

Life with the Yanks is full of woe. They hurt their backs, arms, heel and toe. They ache in their legs and pain in the neck. But there's no anesthesia like a World Series check.

HORNET GETS A FACIAL—Allyn Beals (88), San Francisco '49ers' end, throws a stiff straight-arm into the face of the Chicago Hornets' Bob Swelger after taking a short pass in the All-America Conference clash at San Francisco. The '49ers smothered the Chicago eleven, 42 to 7.

Unwanted 4th Season Could Be AAC's Best

NEW YORK —(NEA)— When the Baltimore Colts refused to fill the hara-kari role scheduled for them in professional football for fall, the rebellion was almost as much of a surprise to their All-America Conference buddies as it was to the National League.

But the Colts insisted on living and the All-America had to break off the deal with the National, and go back in business again. The Conference didn't like it at the time, but it could be the Colts did the boys a favor. It could be that competitively the AA will make its best showing in this once unwanted fourth season.

In 1948 Cleveland and San Francisco drew far ahead of the pack. On the other hand there were two desperate tail-enders, Brooklyn and Chicago. Between were a group of mediocre clubs, none better than .500.

That picture could be changed materially this season, and not alone through the combining of Brooklyn with the New York outfit. The hope, at least, is that the Yankees and Los Angeles Dons will come up close to the top two, and that there will not be an orphan boy at the foot of the standings.

There is a good chance that set will work out. Jimmy Phelan has passed through the first rough year in a large number of fast, talented needed speed.

The Yankees may have trouble at the start with Red Strader's new T, but once the quarterbacking is settled, probably by Don Panciera, the league must respect New York-Brooklyn speed and depth.

Ray Flaherty has the kind of squad he can make go with the Chicago Hornets.

Ray had the pick of the Brooklyn club, and both Dodger and Rocket draft lists. His will be a typical Flaherty team, hard-grinding perhaps on offense, but very hard to beat.

Cecil Isbell at Baltimore is a respected coach, and may have the new line power and backfield depth he needed to go far with Y. A. Tittle.

Buffalo collected outstanding line rookies to aid its strong runners, but may miss George Ratterman's sleight-of-hand an awful lot.

Waco Wins in Big State Opener

By the Associated Press
An unearned run in the seventh inning enabled Waco to blank Wichita Falls, 1-0, last night and take the opening game of this Big State League Shaughnessy Playoff series.

Austin and Texarkana's first game was postponed because of rain. They'll try to open again tonight at Texarkana.

Bill Piero, Waco's league strikeout leader, fanned eight, gave up only four hits and was a contributing factor in producing the game's only tally.

Johnny McKeown beat out a bunt in the seventh and Ray Ferraco did the same. With two away and two men on, Piero came to bat.

He slammed the second pitch of Spudder hurler Ed Cole's foot. The ball bounced over second. Second baseman Pat McNair picked it up, but his throw to force Ferraco was bad and McKeown scored from second.

The two teams play in Wichita Falls again tonight.

Kiner's Boss Says He Will Top Homer Mark

PITTSBURGH — Ralph Kiner's boss says Ralph will beat his best previous record of 31 homers before the National League season ends.

Billy Meyer, skipper of the hapless Pittsburgh Pirates, also believes there's an outside chance his left fielder will crack the all-time major league home run record of 60 hits by Babe Ruth in 1927.

Kiner agrees with the Pirate pedagogue on his first prediction. But he won't hazard a guess about beating Ruth's mark, the all-time major league home run record of 60 hits by Babe Ruth in 1927.

Kiner is batting at a .307 clip. His homer against Cincinnati last night brought his season's total to 42, keeping him way ahead of all sluggers in the majors.

Fort Wayne Retains Semi-Pro Crown

WICHITA, Kans. —(AP)— The Fort Wayne General Electric retained their National Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament crown last night.

The Indiana club beat the Golden, Colo., Cougars, 4-4, to become the first team to win three consecutive national semi-pro titles.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK —(AP)— For two seasons Joe McCarthy's Boston Red Sox probably have been the best team in baseball. They didn't lose the 1948 pennant until the day after the season ended.

Because of their miserable start last spring, it may be just as close this year. The current series with the Yankees is important, of course, but the teams meet again in Boston Sept. 24-25, and the Sox wind up the season with two games here.

IT'S NO DOAK
When Wake Forest's football team meets Southern Methodist at Dallas Sept. 24, Peahead Walker, the Deacons' coach, who is noted for producing upsets, will encounter SMU's Doak Walker, who is noted for doing almost everything on a football field. No matter who wins, obviously it will be a Walker-why.

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS
Two of the best 1948 schoolboy footballers in Texas, Dick Seiber and James Garner of Amarillo, are deserting the sagebrush for the Naval Academy and Yale, respectively. . . . And when William Bull of the U. of New Hampshire failed to appear for a tennis match on one of New England's hottest days, he explained he had been skiing on artificial flaked ice at Gifford Mountain. . . . Heck of a way to waste cracked ice, we say.

Things you don't hear about Detroit—harry words about Manager Red Rolfe of the Detroit Tigers. It's amazing how every-one including the ball players, the sportswriters and the fans are unenthusiastic in saying kind words about the so-patient Rolfe.

the boys have discovered that too often the team that gets the big boost in September is a big bust in November.

Chandler Harper was a little erratic during the 1948 qualifying round for the PGA championship—he scored 41-29-70.

However, the experts say this isn't the year for the SEC. But watch out. SEC coaches may record their coaching, but their record for picking winners would never win a bowl bid.

Farm Couple Plays Host To Guests on the Fly

IN THE AIR—A social afternoon at the Culbertson farm means a skyful of airplanes zooming in for a visit. There are 14 planes visible. The Culbertson's ship is in the hangar with their name on it. After the pilot took this picture, he landed, too, making 50 guests.

By MARY C. FLYNN
STERLING, Kans. (NEA)—When this farmer's wife gives a luncheon it's "on the fly."

In addition to the pleasure of flying, the couple greatly enjoys "meeting a lot of fine people through Flying Farmers."

The farmer-flier said he had no difficulty in persuading his wife to fly with him.

"But I might have had a hard time buying my own plane—despite her interest in flying—if I hadn't bought it before telling her of my intentions," he commented with a grin.

Despite washed-out roads and high water, her latest party was attended by 50 persons who arrived in 16 planes. She takes the breath-taking flurry in stride.

Mrs. Culbertson, 44, is the first woman to hold an office in the Kansas Flying Farmers, serving as a vice president of the group.

The Culbertson place is easily spotted from the air. Their name is painted in large letters on the roof of the private hangar on their 450-acre wheat farm near here. The runway is a boon to fliers low on gas and convenient for flying visitors.

Culbertson, who is 47, speeded up his pilot's training a year ago, obtaining his license in time to fly with a group of Flying Farmers to Mexico on a sight-seeing trip.

The Culbertsons' son, Byron, 19, a student at Ottawa (Kansas) University, is learning to fly.

A younger son, Bill, who is sightless (and a sophomore at the Kansas State School for the Blind), is an enthusiastic plane passenger.

Culbertson heads the local Civil Air Patrol squadron. He was awarded a trophy for winning an efficiency race sponsored by the Kansas Flying Farmers.

Sonoma sings its own birthday song Tuesday night, ribbing neighboring Ennis in a friendly fashion for causing it to become a city.

A musical comedy telling of the battle that gave birth to Texas' newest town played to an audience of between 400 and 500. That's more people than live in Sonoma.

"Sonoma—Valley of the Moon" was the title of the musical. It drew guffaws and applause—but not howls. Even the people who came over from Ennis laughed—loudly.

Sonoma has about 200 families and is on the outskirts of Ennis, a rail and cotton center of 10,000. One of the principal reasons for incorporation of Sonoma was the Ennis City Commission's plan to build a sewage disposal plant in the area.

Proceeds from the show went to the Ennis public library.

Socialist Showdown Seems Near

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
England's experiment with Socialist government is headed for a stormy showdown in the next general election, which will determine whether the country wishes to continue the regime or return to the old system of free enterprise on which the greatness of the empire was built.

The Labor (Socialist) government which came to power in July, 1945, would have a normal life of five years—that is, until next summer. However, England's economic crisis has reached such a grave pass that it's anybody's guess whether it will get better or worse. This confronts the Socialist leaders with the problem of whether to hang on until the end of their term in hope of improvement—or to force an early election on the chance that things are better now than they will be later.

As things stand, that decision must hinge largely on crystal gazing. Much will depend, it strikes me, on the outcome of the British-Canadian-American conference opening in Washington today to seek a solution of John Bull's predicament. If relief can be devised, the Socialist political chances might be improved.

England's Socialist leaders are under no delusions about the political dangers ahead. Both Sir William Lawther, president of the great British Trades Union Congress, and James Griffiths, chairman of the Labor Party, warned the annual conference of the TUC Monday that socialism is facing a tough fight.

This blunt warning was aimed at wildcat strikes which have been complicating the economic crisis. Both leaders declared Labor might lose the next general election if it didn't stay on the job. Sir William asserted that some work stoppages have been instigated by Communists.

So Britain's Socialist leaders are worried—and for good reason. Things haven't worked out as they anticipated when they took office. Economic difficulties, which they inherited as the result of the war, have gone from bad to worse.

Inevitably there has arisen the searching question of whether the situation has worsened because of Socialist policies or whether the same misfortune would have dogged the Conservatives if they had been continued in power.

STUDY NEARS END
BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—The work of an international bank commission studying Yugoslavia's request for a 280 million dollar loan is nearly completed, it was reported this week.

Yugoslavia has sought the loan to offset the economic boycott which Russia and other anti-Yugoslav nations have imposed on her.

Karl Marx was a German by birth, a Jew by extraction, and a Protestant by faith.

Improvement In Russian Planes Shown

NEW YORK—Russia is pushing flight tests and development work on jet aircraft and turbojet powerplants, but its main reliance continues to be piston-engine fighters, according to a survey Week from reports reaching this country.

"Development and production of transport planes has shown progress in the past year that is reflected in a growing number of production models in the service," says the publication.

The article overviews that from reports received here it appears that the wartime Yak 9 fighter has been continually improved until the latest version, the model 211, has a top speed of 450 mph, considerably better than the Republic F-47 Thunderbolt now on duty in Germany.

"This speed gap is available only at low altitude, however, and the Yak 9T performance falls well below that of the Thunderbolt above 20,000 ft." the magazine continues.

The Lavochkin fighter series also has been continued, with the La 9 the postwar version now in service. The La 9 also is in the 450 mph class and uses all-metal construction, in contrast to the moulded plywood shell construction of the wartime Lagg fighters, from which it is descended.

"The well-known Ilyushin IL-12 continues in full production for Aeroflot with deliveries also scheduled for Czechoslovakia AKR lines," says the article.

"The huge IL-18 is now un-

Ad Explains Odd City Name

MAHWAH, N. J. (AP)—"Did you say Mahwah?"

That question, usually repeated in an incredulous tone of voice by hotel clerks and the like, greets residents of this community of 5,000 wherever they go.

So Mahwah's businessmen decided to do something about it. A large advertisement appeared Wednesday morning in the New York Times, explaining, among other things, there really was such a place as Mahwah.

The ad said the name came from an Indian expression meaning "meeting place." It described the rich—and varied history of Mahwah, located in Bergen County in the path of Revolutionary War campaigns.

"And finally," the ad concluded, "Mahwah has all modern improvements, including gas, electricity, telephone, and sidewalks in some parts of town (which aren't taken in at night)."
