PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The American Legion's new national commander — 40-year-old George N. Craig of Brazil, Ind. — stood pledged today to make that organization "an important voice in the nation's political and social life."

The Hoosier lawyer — the first World War II veteran ever named to head the Legion — was chosen yesterday in a nip-and-tuck race with three other candidates. The job pays $15,000 annually and carries with it a $25,000 expense allowance.

Philadelphia, its streets washed clean of Legion literature, resumed quiet normalcy today after four days of serious discussion, speechmaking, politicking and parading that marked the Legion's 31st National Convention. Craig rolled into office on thumping majorities given him by a half dozen of the Legion's biggest state departments—Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Indiana and New York.

"My generation has already carried the responsibility of national security in time of war," Craig said, "and now we join in unity of purpose, our older comrades . . . in promoting and safeguarding those principles necessary for our continued strength and prosperity as a nation."

An estimated 60,000 Legionnaires attended the mammoth conclave over which retiring National Commander Perry Brown, Beaumont, Texas, presided.

The Legion stands: 1. The U.S. should retain atomic energy under civilian control and not share the atom secrets with any nation, including our allies.

2. Aid to China Nationalists fighting communism.

3. Curtailment "as far as possible" of any further immigration at the present time.

4. Approval of universal military training and end of the present draft law.

5. Establishment of a national air academy.

6. Endorsement of a self-help plan to bring new jobs, industry and housing to the nation's cities and towns.

7. The Communist Party would be outlawed.

In each instance, the Legion called on its membership to support the Legion program and to fight for its adoption.

Convict Will Listen to His Own Cantata

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (AP) — An habitual criminal, sentenced to the Tennessee State Penitentiary for life, will go to Texas next month to hear a big choir sing his cantata.

Frank M. Grandstaff, convicted under Tennessee's seldom-used Habitual Criminal Act after a life-long career of petty crime, was thrown in solitary confinement one day for breaking a prison rule.

There he thought of the wide spaces, the immense rolling hills of a Texas he had once known. In his mind he heard a melody and as it grew, he scribbled the notes on his cell wall. That was the birth of his cantata.

He named it the Big Spring Cantata in honor of the Texas town that had inspired the song — it was a factory of the town written in music.

It was copied down on paper and later sung. Persons in Big Spring heard about it and wanted it for their centennial celebration Oct. 2.

James Greene, an official of the Chamber of Commerce at Big Spring, called on Gov. Gordon Browning here to ask Grandstaff's temporary release so that he might attend the centennial and hear his cantata for the first time.

Yesterday Browning gave his okay.

While many Pampans were looking forward to a long weekend, city officials were looking forward to a concerted and concrete program on tighter traffic controls including additional signal lights, stricter enforcement of speeding, reckless driving, and other moving traffic regulations.

The Police Department, in issuing its cautions for more careful driving in the city, and out added a new warning for motorists coming back a couple of days late from their long weekend.

Anderson to Bottle Up Dam

ALBUQUERQUE — (AP) — A proposed $85,000,000 Canadian River reclamation project for West Texas will stay bottled up in committee until New Mexico's rights are fully protected, Senator Clinton P. Anderson declared here Thursday.

The senator disclosed plans to confer within a few days with State Engineer John Bliss and Governor Mahony on the Canadian River project sponsored by the Texas Congressional delegation. Bliss previously had voiced opposition to the proposal.

Anderson said the Canadian River bill "now is bottled up in the Interior Affairs Committee of which I am a member and is going to stay there until the state of New Mexico is satisfied it can safely be released."

He declared "we have no disposition to cause trouble with Texas," but emphasized that "this state's rights must be protected."

Anderson expressed "complete confidence" in the state engineer and added his actions on the Canadian River project would be guided by the conference he plans to hold with Bliss.

"If he says it is hazardous to New Mexico's right, I will insist that the bill be revised," he said.

W. L. Stangel, dean of the Agricultural Department of Texas Tech at Lubbock, guest of honor yesterday, said later that it was the first time he'd ever been called upon to judge pies and cakes. "I've judged all kinds of livestock from goats to cattle," he said, "but this is my first time to judge pies and cakes."

Probers Pause To Take Stock Of Five Percenter Testimony

Staff Will Make Study Of Evidence

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government started squeezing closed the doors on five percenters today as probing senators paused to take stock in their month-long search for improper influence in federal contracting.

Chairman Hoey (D-NC) of the Senate Investigation Subcommittee recessed the inquiry yesterday for at least a month while the staff studies the evidence taken thus far.

The government's chief purchasing officer, Jess Larson, assured the senators before the hearings closed that the middlemen in government contracting is on the way out.

Larson, who heads the new Government Services Administration, testified that he, Secretary of Defense Johnson and Budget Director Frank Pace had worked out plan to make direct contracting easier for small businesses.

Unethical firms will be black-listed and federal employees warned about taking favors, he said, adding:

"It is my honest opinion that this procedure, together with the policy of decentralizing procurement and the maintaining of adequate, courteous and efficient information centers will cause the so-called five percenter to wane and die because there will be no need for his services."

The term five percenter has been used to describe those who seek out government contracts for others for a fee — usually five percent. That activity isn't illegal, but the Senate group has been searching for signs that it involved "influence peddling."

No sooner had the committee suspended hearings for the present (See PROBERS, Page 6)

Symphony to Be Heard Last Time Tonight

Tonight will round out the Piano Symphony concert at the Junior High School Auditorium. Last night's performance drew an appreciative crowd that applauded for certain calls and demanded "more" at the end of the concert.

Bob Curry, member of the Kiwanis Club, sponsor of the concert, expressed the belief that tonight would see a much larger crowd, as last night's audience was divided between the concert and the baseball game.

Mrs. May Foreman Carr, conductor of the symphony, directed the 51 pianists with a sure hand, giving a feeling of complete accord that was felt by the listeners.

John Branson, guest artist, completely captivated his audience with his rendition of two Ravel selections. The listeners felt the love of the musician for his instrument, and his relaxed and easy manner caused an appreciation of his music that can be felt only when the player is completely at home at the piano.

Mr. Branson, an instructor of music in Tulsa, Okla., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Branson of Pampa.

Louisiana Seeks Suit's Dismissal

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Louisiana asked the Supreme Court yesterday to dismiss the suit in which the United States seeks to establish "paramount rights" to the oil-bearing tidelands off the Louisiana coast.

Last May the court gave the government permission to file suits against Texas and Louisiana, but the matter rests at this point completely at home at the Louisiana coast.

Further, it says the state has not agreed to be sued by the federal government.

HERESY DISPUTE STILL UNSETTLED DESPITE VATICAN RULING UPHOLDING ARCHBISHOP

BOSTON — (AP) — A five months dispute between the Boston hierarchy and a Roman Catholic group over whether there is salvation outside the Catholic Church still appeared unsettled today despite a Vatican ruling upholding Archbishop Richard J. Cushing.

The decision was announced by Archbishop Cushing in "The Pilot," official publication of the Boston Catholic Archdiocese. The announcement said the ruling was made by the Supreme Sacred Congregation of the Holy Office, over which the Pope presides.

The controversial group, led by the Rev. Leonard J. Feeney, S.J., has persisted in the contention non-Catholics could not be saved.

The church holds otherwise. The group has held to its position in face of a stern interdiction against their organization — St. Benedict's Center — and the "silencing" of Fr. Feeney.

Referring to the group's stand, the letter from the Sacred Congregation declared:

"It is clear that the doctrine presented by the group . . . as genuine Catholic teaching is far from being such, and can do nothing but grave harm to those who are in the church and to those outside it."

The communication from the Vatican also named Fr. Feeney and strongly criticized him for his part in the controversy.

G. E. Terrell, Driller, Dies

The body is expected to arrive in Pampa Sunday morning, and funeral services, to be conducted by the Duempel, Carmichael Funeral Home, will be announced later.

The insurance adjuster was taken to the hospital by a Duempel-Carmichael ambulance a few minutes after he tumbled 12 feet from the stands, attempting to catch the ball.

Suit Filed In Beating

BROWNSVILLE — (AP) — A $23,250 suit has been filed in federal court by an Indiana man who claims he was falsely arrested and beaten up by a Hidalgo County deputy sheriff.

The suit was filed yesterday by John F. Sholly, a car deliverer from South Bend, Ind., against Deputy Sheriff Howard Stansbury and Steven Galloway, Mercedes, Texas, car dealer.

The suit accused Stansbury of illegally pulling Sholly on a complaint of driving an automobile without the owner's permission. The suit said the complaint was brought by Galloway.

Sholly said he was arrested Oct. 10, 1947, while driving a new car to be delivered to Galloway, and that when he attempted to show papers proving he was legally in possession of the car, Stansbury twisted his arm, hit him in the face, pulled a pistol, and took him to jail.

DALLAS — (AP) — A tiny "peroxide blonde" who tried to hold up the Dallas National Bank failed out in Main Street's noonday crowd.

Special Term Opens to Hear Mason Slaying

ALICE — (AP) — A special term of the 79th District Court opens here today for the purpose of finding out everything possible about the pistol slaying of W. H. (Bill) Mason, crusading radio commentator.

The 51-year-old veteran newspaperman and radio spokesman was shot to death July 29 as he inspected city sewer and street conditions in the industrial section of Alice.

Defendant in the grand jury investigation is big Sam Smithwick, 29, who was a Jim Wells County deputy sheriff at the time of the shooting. In his last broadcast, Mr. Smithwick owned the land where an Alice night spot was located, Mason spoke of conditions at the tavern dance hall and said loose women pilled their trade there.

Smithwick has been held without bond since the shooting. Star witness for the state is Avelino Saenz, a 35-year-old vet (See SPECIAL, Page 6)

Plan to Aid Britain Is Developing

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A tentative six-point plan for helping Britain out of its financial crisis is expected today from final discussions of American, British and Canadian fact-finding officials.

Representatives of the three governments have been meeting twice daily for the past week to explore the problem. They hope to complete an agenda today that will permit their foreign ministers next week to discuss these points:

1. Reducing further British purchases from the United States and increasing buying in non-dollar areas wherever possible.

2. Streamlining American customs rules to encourage more British exports to the United States.

3. Easing provisions of the 1946 British Loan Agreement to permit Britain to slow up purchases of American goods in favor of those from non-dollar countries.

4. Boosting American purchases of British commonwealth tin and rubber. The United States has been buying limited quantities to stockpile for an emergency.

5. Increasing American economic help to Southeast Asian members of the British commonwealth to ease their demands on Britain's scarce dollar supply. The countries involved are reported to be India, Pakistan, and Malaya, and Burma, now outside the commonwealth.

6. Calling a new tariff cutting conference some time next year to reduce duties on British exports to the United States.

The steps are intended as stop-gap measures to ease the drain on Britain's dwindling reserves. But officials agree they will not (See PLAN, Page 6)

★ IN HOLLYWOOD ★

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Cathy Downs has red hair, a luscious smile and a sense of humor. She also has a story. I'm calling the story "Cathy in Hollywood."

It could happen to almost any New York model who takes a film test on Wednesday, wins a contract, and on Friday is rushed to Hollywood on the Super Chief.

It happened to Cathy five years ago. She was just 18.

The studio needing her in such a hurry was 20th Century-Fox. In three years she worked in only two pictures!

Then there was an economy wave and her contract wasn't renewed. Now she's free-lancing and doing very well. You'll see her next as the leading lady in "The Sundowners," with Bob Preston and John Barrymore, Jr.

But I'm ahead of Cathy's Hollywood story.

George Jessel was on the same train that brought Cathy and her mother to Hollywood. Cathy remembers:

"By the time we got to Chicago, Jessel said he thought he was in love with me.

"By the time we got to Hollywood he said he WAS in love with me. He asked me for a date. I said I'd be glad to go out with him if my mother went along.

"He looked startled but he was game. The three of us went to dinner. He was just separating from Lois Andrews. I guess he wanted me to feel sorry for him. I felt sorry for him but not sorry enough. We had a couple of more dates and now when we meet we greet each other with a polite hello."

CHARMING MAN
Cathy's first picture was "The Dark Corner." Maybe you remember. She played the wife of Clifton Webb. It was her first acting anywhere except in the studio of a dramatic coach.

"I was nervous but Clifton was very sweet to me. Later, when I went to see the picture, I realized why he was being so sweet to me. He was stealing scenes from me like taking candy away from a baby."

Then there was "My Darling Clementine." Cathy played the title role. But she's honest enough to explain that it was only a second lead. Linda Darnell was the star.

For a year Cathy didn't even see a movie camera. Then her contract wasn't renewed. It wasn't all like the agent from Hollywood said when he discovered Cathy with clothespins holding her together.

I know. An explanation quick. Every model knows the trick. When clothes are too big, they like taking the material at the back and snap on the clothespins. Cathy had just snapped on a couple of clothespins on a dress a size too large when the agent said:

"You should be in pictures."

"I was so startled," Cathy said. "The clothespins snapped off and the dress almost fell off. I was so embarrassed I couldn't even speak."

In two years of free-lancing, Cathy has had leads in five pictures. She's thankful for that sense of humor. "It can take care of any situation."

AROUND THE CIRCUIT
There are plenty of situations for a free-lance actress in Hollywood, going from studio to studio and office to office for interviews. It's the only thing she now finds confusing.

"At one studio I'm too young for a role. At another studio I'm too old. I lost a role because somebody said 'You're too pretty and you look too healthy.' Another studio didn't find me attractive at all. But I really don't care what they say about my looks as long as they are convinced I'm a good actress."

Occasionally—leave us face it—there's the movie executive who gives Cathy the old routine: "You'd be just too, too wonderful in this role. Would you have dinner with me?"

"So I go," Cathy said, "and I fight my way home. I look pretty bad in the morning anyway but I can still look at myself in the mirror."

Cathy has the most dramatic real life story in Hollywood.

U.N. Working on Deadly Asiatic Cattle Killer

UNHAPPY BUFFALO—This Siamese buffalo, stricken with the deadly rinderpest, gets a shot of UN vaccine under the watchful eyes of a Food and Agricultural Organization expert.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations has a plan to rid the world of rinderpest, the most deadly cattle disease known.

FAO experts believe that with $500,000, spent over a two-year period, they could make a big start toward eradicating this disease from the face of the earth.

Rinderpest kills more than two million head of cattle each year. It does its damage in Africa, Asia and the Far East. So far it hasn't struck the North American continent.

But fear that the rinderpest germ might be introduced to American cattle as an enemy method of sabotage during World War II is what led to the development of an effective vaccine against it. American scientists developed a method of manufacturing the vaccine in mass production by growing the germ cultures in eggs.

After the war, FAO experts took over the work. They set up a shop in China and started manufacturing the vaccine there.

Now, FAO's main effort against rinderpest is being concentrated in Siam. The first batch of vaccine was produced there this summer.

Cooperative action among countries is necessary in order to fight this disease successfully, and international meetings were begun last year.

Rinderpest is much more deadly and contagious than foot and mouth disease which is now ravaging herds in Mexico. Humans aren't directly affected by either disease.

Landlord Offers House to Children
PULASKI, Tenn., (AP) — The landlord who likes children rented his new house to a couple without children.

Dairyman Harold Henegar, who offered to cut the monthly rent $5 for each child, said he rented the place to Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Franklin when no families with children applied for it.

Henegar, who advertised the house at $75 to a couple, scaling it down to $50 for a family with five or more children, said he waited several days — then rented it to the Franklins. He said he let Franklin, a bookkeeper, have it for $50.

At the age of three, at her parents' Long Island, N. Y., home, she was attacked by a maddened German shepherd dog. It took two men with baseball bats to rescue her.

A doctor put 29 stitches on her face and predicted she would die. If she survived, through some miracle, he said she would be blind, deaf or mute or all three. The miracle happened but she was left neither blind nor deaf nor mute. But she didn't speak for two months and her eyes weren't normal until she was six.

Pat O'Brien, veteran banquet speaker, was asked if people looking at their watches distracted him. "Nope," he said, "I only begin to worry if they start shaking them."

Estimate on Education Costs Made

AUSTIN — (AP) — Education of Texas Public School children under the Gilmer-Aikin minimum foundation program will cost an estimated $181,593,637 this coming year.

That includes both state and local funds.

The estimate was released in a progress report of the Foundation School Program Division headed by L. P. Sturgeon.

Reporting to the Legislative Audit Committee which must finally approve the expenditures, Sturgeon said the total was based on a complete review of all preliminary applications for state aid filed with his division.

This includes salaries, operational costs and transportation.

State per capita, which gives every school a fixed amount per student; county per capita, and local funds will provide $114,931,444 of the cost. The foundation program fund, which gives extra state aid to schools unable to meet their budgets, will supply $66,662,193.

The $181 million dollar estimate is in line with the prediction of

There's a Place For Big Business

A VIRTUAL handful of giant corporations wield dominant economic power in the United States, declares the Federal Trade Commission.

At Buffalo, mobs of goons belonging to the United Auto Workers, crashed into the Bell...

In the midst of this anarchy, the sheriff cried for help and was correctly admonished by Dewey to quit whining.

Had he done this, particularly if he had, in the public interest, I might say, 20 members of Philip Murray's own Ku Klux, he certainly would have been criticized severely.

But we cannot afford to presume that either concentration of control or great factory size is evil as such.

Furthermore, it may be wrong to suppose that simply because a few concerns have the bulk of the business there is no competition of the sort that benefits consumers.

None of this is to defend monopoly or dangerous centralizing of power. Nor to deny the evident advantages of smallness in economic life.

the bottom of the trouble, but even Communists enjoy criminal privilege if they operate under union license.

There was no legitimate reason for the Governor to call for special action in Peekskill after he had calmly admonished the Buffalo sheriff to pull himself together and do his stuff.

Many attempts have been made to write into law a degree of special privilege for picket-line criminals. These stammering statutes address the subject with a false, illegal and immoral assumption that some "class" conflict, some inequality of the mob in relation to industry, capital and society, mitigates the badness of conduct otherwise intolerable.

At Buffalo, mobs of goons belonging to the United Auto Workers, crashed into the Bell...

When I was a little girl, a drugstore was a tiny little hole in the wall where I used to go to buy handkerchiefs for my father.

Freedom to indulge in constant criticism of the occupying powers is part and parcel of the democratic process and the Germans cannot be denied this privilege if they are to establish a truly democratic system.

What are we leaving our children today? For one thing, we are leaving them with a national debt the like of which no nation in the history of the world has ever known.

It is a direct reversal of the philosophy of individualism under which our nation has lived and prospered. When the people turn over to the government the responsibility for their welfare, they at the same time yield to the government the power to order their lives.

When General Pershing was visiting the front lines in France one night, he inadvertently lit a cigarette. A private nearby knocked the match from his hand, and made certain remarks concerning the intelligence of the General.

Senator McCarran has probably taken a worse beating this year for his opposition to general liberation of the displaced persons legislation of 1948 than for any other thing.

INHERITANCE

By THURMAN BENSING

Director of Research Southern States Industrial Council Nashville, Tenn.

The men who fought in the Revolutionary War, who signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, left their children a heritage that could not be measured in terms of material wealth.

As a matter of fact, these forebears left their children the most valuable heritage and the greatest security that government could give them.

It is true that in combination with the opportunity to do something for themselves, there is no greater security than freedom; and government can exercise no greater security than freedom.

The intervening 160 years bear out this opinion. During those years, a comparatively short period in the life of the world, the United States has grown from these few pioneers to become the most powerful nation on the face of the earth.

When I was a little girl, a drugstore was a tiny little hole in the wall where I used to go to buy handkerchiefs for my father.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The bluntness of the Republican-sponsored investigations of the Atomic Energy Commission and selection of the B-36 bomber as our principal striking weapon in the air has sent House GOP-ers home for their short recess in a mood of utter discouragement.

But Republicans lay down and rolled over when the committee's favorable report reached the Senate, where the GOP had its chance to develop and promote the issue of "Supreme Court politics." Here, they blundered badly.

REFUGEE — In a seemingly routine bill, the House Judiciary Committee has forged a rather effective weapon against Russia in the "cold war." It lies in with the program under which spies or underground operators for the U.S. in "iron curtain" countries may be given refuge in this country, with eventual citizenship.

REFORM — Opening the gates in this way marks a major reform of the American immigration system. It means that we can compete on better terms with Stalin for Europe's experts in the fields of military aviation, medicine, industry, agriculture, etc.

He has been dragging them off to service in Russia so as to discover the atomic secret, build better submarines, increase industrial and agricultural production, and so on.

It is not only the government that can ask entry for these specialists. They can be spoken for by any commercial, industrial, financial corporation, or by any educational or health institution. The basic test of their right to be admitted is that their work here must be "beneficial to the United States."

TAFT — It is also true that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio has been largely responsible for Republican victories on Capitol Hill. Had it not been for his leadership, several measures sponsored by the White House would not have been approved by the upper chamber, including the housing and education bills.

BANKRUPTCY — The utter collapse of the Hickenlooper attack on the Atomic Energy Commission and the Van Zandt denunciation of the B-36 order, were tragic setbacks for the Republicans. Had there been any merit to their charges, the political picture today might have been entirely different.

BLUNDERED — On the other hand, the Republicans in the Senate missed their best opportunity to make capital for their side when Tom Clark's name came before them as a nominee for the Supreme Court. He would have been bigger game, in a different way, than even Major General Harry Hawkins Vaughan.

As attorney general, Mr. Clark has no attempt to execute the mandate of the Supreme Court by which vests ownership of tideland oil properties in the federal government. On the contrary, he has schemed to circumvent this decision for political reasons.

Health Talks Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Mad dogs and Englishmen go out in the middle sun, according to a famous humorous song written by Noel Coward, but what he failed to add is that they don't go together in England.

Heat cramps are usually associated with a sudden change from cool to extremely hot weather and are more prevalent among laborers and workmen.

Heat exhaustion is recognized by headache, loss of appetite, drowsiness, extreme weakness, visual disturbances, vomiting, giddiness, and inability to walk.

Recovery from heat exhaustion is usually rapid, revival from collapse normally following rest, loosening of tight clothing, removal to a cool room, and salt added to water given the patient.

Hot dry skin, very high body temperature, rapidity of the pulse and deep hungry breathing are characteristic of heat stroke.

Ice baths should be started immediately with an urgent call for medical help.

Here is an infallible rule for distinguishing real "big shots" from would-be big shots. The real ones have a general respect for themselves and self-respect. But they seem to have outgrown small egos somewhere along the way.

Saucy Hair Styles Go With Square Dances

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Because it's so easy to swing, this summer's "square dance" hair-styles will continue to bounce through grange halls and school gyms this fall.

If you haven't yet looped up your braids, made "wings" of your hair, or folded under the ends of your long bob, square-dance style, it's not too late to swing one of these tricks.

What you need, however, to put a shining new hair-do across is silky hair. If shen has been bedimmed by too much sunlight, salt water or both, shine up hair before you re-style it. More brush strokes each day will help. So will fingertip massage, if a little pressure is used as you move your hands over your scalp. The use of liquid shampoo that helps to recondition hair when it's washed will help to bring up gleam.

As for the "square dance" styles here are three from which you can take your pick:

Want to make "wings" of your hair? Re-trim it to an even two-inch length all over. The front hair forms a bang, the side-hair swings, if hair is brushed up and away from the ears. For a soft, curled-shingle effect part hair down the center in back of the head. Then, on with the dance.

A simple page-boy is still the right style for medium long hair. If the hair-ends are tapered, a page boy will shape naturally. Shampoo your hair, then brush while still damp, cupping the hair-ends under until they form a page boy roll.

Long hair will look less unruly for school if you wear braids. Part the hair diagonally from the right of the forehead to the left of the nape. Plait light braids close to the back part. Each braid gets doubled and secured with a rubber band. A ribbon bow tied to hide the rubber band will also add softness to your face.

Farewell Coffee Is Compliment to Mrs. Kasishke

Mrs. J. P. Wehrung was hostess at a coffee in her home, 908 North Somerville, recently honoring Mrs. Paul Kasishke, who, with her family, is moving to Amarillo to live. They will live at 1203 Travis.

As a surprise, a set of green pottery was presented as a farewell gift from 50 friends. The pottery, which is ranch type, was displayed on a table laid with a ranch style cloth, and centered with an arrangement of marigolds and yellow snapdragons.

The guest of honor was also presented a rose corsage.

Mrs. Roy M. Sullivan and Wanda Leigh Wehrung furnished piano music during the calling hours, which were from nine to eleven a.m.

Broiling Lobster Requires Skill

By GAYNOR MADOX
NEA Staff Writer

There are three questions every American wants to know about a broiled live lobster. Is it fresh? How should one cook it? And how should it be eaten for greatest enjoyment?

Lester Sermay, one of the best experts on lobster cooking in the country, says a lobster that has an odor of any kind is not fresh. Sermay, whose restaurant at Long Beach, New York, is a mecca for lobster fans, adds two more tests for freshness:

If, after cooking, there is the slightest separation between shell and flesh, even the width of a fingernail, the lobster is not fresh enough. Nor is it fresh if the lobster tail meat does not come out in one piece.

Fresh live lobsters are traveling all over the country now, either on trains or by plane. If they start out fresh, and are properly packed to keep moist, they will stay in good condition five to seven days, according to Sermay.

Now for broiling instructions. Remove the claws of the live lobster with a napkin around them. Do this the way you disjoint a chicken. Next place lobster on its back on a table. Insert strong steel knife in center of stomach (it is underneath the eyes) and slit down to end of tail. Then remove the stomach (a round yellowish sack). Season with salt and paprika and brush with melted butter.

Have your broiler preheated to between 375 degrees and 400 degrees F. Broil one-pound lobster from 14 to 18 minutes, basting once with butter. Be sure the claws are well cracked to enable heat to penetrate the heavy shell. Serve with melted butter or lemon butter (butter, lemon juice and parsley). Use a wooden plank instead of a platter. Lobster won't slip.

To boil a live lobster plunge head first in boiling water with celery and caraway seeds. A one-pound lobster should boil from 12 to 14 minutes.

Sermay says people like boiled lobster served with mayonnaise or Russian dressing and cole slaw. He also serves it stuffed with fresh crabmeat and with Russian dressing, hard cooked eggs and a red relish.

Chemical Spray Will Save Nylons

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Sheer misery as you watch a snag slowly ladder up the knee of your sheer nylons — may be a thing of the past.

A new bottled liquid product promises to make even the finest of dress hose as highly resistant to snags and runs as any girl can want. The stuff, a colorless chemical, goes on in a fine spray with your own atomizer, or in an even coating over seams and toes, with a soft felt applicator.

The chemical settles in a tough, but completely invisible film over each fine nylon thread and can't be washed or worn out. It lasts the life of the stocking without affecting the color or sheerness of the hose.

But even chemically bathed stockings need fine care: No harsh scrubbing, wringing or scorching water for their nightly rinsing. Stocking should be dried over a smooth-silk drying rack with seams and toes pulled to shape. All garters should be fastened in the reinforced stocking top, and even "roll" garters should not come below that double line.

third heart. East argued that his partner should have laid down the ace of spades first. However, I think that was a weak argument. The jack of hearts looks like the natural opening and it was unfortunate that East held the ace of diamonds instead of the ace of hearts.

I wanted to find out how the ten leading tunes are selected, and I learned that it takes a staff of mathematicians to tabulate the songs played on juke boxes, the sheet music and records sold. This tabulation service also keeps track of all the songs played on the radio stations throughout the country.

Mark says it takes a lot of different forms of relaxation to keep his crew of 40 musicians happy. Of course, cards play an important part. He claims he is

"Winged" effects at the sides and brushed down bangs are easy to swing if hair is short like the girl's shown (upper right). ## 'Play Hookey From Home Occasionally' Expert Advises

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Playing hookey from home once in a while is recommended if the stolen time is used by the lady of the house to make herself more solid with her children and her husband.

Nothing drastic is urged in order to take time out! One day floors may be left unswep and silver unpollished as mother and junior head for high adventure in the park. One young mother we know took horseback riding lessons with her son one day a week, another took sewing lessons with her teen-age daughter. Time taken out to paint or draw will interest even the very young child and may help mother to find an unsuspected talent.

Some women with college-age children have rediscovered their interest in school subjects and have gone back to class rooms. Some have gone back to a better-late-than-never degree, others to learn music, art or a new language or merely increase their knowledge in a field which has always tantalized their interest.

Modern housewives are expected to keep up with the world beyond the kitchen. In self-defense, it is necessary to find time to read the daily papers and to settle down occasionally during the day, with a non-fiction best-seller.

Sometimes a wife's little extra-curricular shopping will put a fresh bloom on even a many-anniversaried marriage. Golf balls, a favorite record, a tricky bottle opener, a better screwdriver, or any much-talked-of purchase, never made, brought home as a gift, might fit into a plan to intrigue a husband.

This long-range problem will be handed to the foreign and finance ministers of the three governments meeting here Sept. 7 to study the dollar-pound crisis.

Polio Still Uncommon Disease

NEW YORK — Polio remains a relatively uncommon disease, and despite the increased number of cases reported in the past decade the death rate has followed a downward trend over the years, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company.
Even the epidemic years show comparatively limited areas seriously affected, it is pointed out, and the outbreaks in any specific area usually occur a number of years apart. In New York City, for example, the disease has been reported only four times in the past 20 years — in 1931, 1935, 1944, and 1949. In the largest of these outbreaks, in 1931, when 4,128 cases were reported, the case rate was only 2.2 per 1,000 of the population at ages under 15. The statisticians consider it extremely unlikely that this high level will be reached in 1949.

The death rates from polio in recent epidemic years among children have been well below those recorded in earlier decades. In 1948, when the number of cases reported was greater than in any year since 1916, the death rate of 2.4 per 100,000 among the insured children was only one-fifth of the 1916 rate and less than one half the 1931 rate.

At least some of the increase in reported cases in recent years is more apparent than real, and reflects in considerable measure an improvement in the diagnosis and reporting of the disease, according to the statisticians.

Some increase in polio incidence might be expected because of the growth of our child population, among whom the disease is concentrated, the statisticians point out. "Since 1940 the population under age 15 has increased by more than 20 percent."

Another traffic regulation will hit those who are determined to double park along the business section and those pedestrians who insist on jaywalking.

Larsen Knocks Aussie Star From Tournament
FOREST HILLS, N.Y. — (AP) — "This is a wide open tournament," said top-seeded Art Schroeder as he awaited the call today for his third round match in the National Tennis Championships.

As an example, Schroeder pointed to the way young Art Larsen, lean left-hander from San Leandro, Calif., came from behind to dump John Bromwich, Australian Davis Cup captain, 3-6, 7-9, 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, in a terrific match yesterday.

Schroeder, from La Crescenta, Calif., was to make his bid for a quarterfinal berth today against Sam Patch of Los Angeles.

Right on top they get a laugh. It's a gag map showing Texas occupying two-thirds of the nation. Then they get the State Highway Department's latest official road map and guide, which has things on a more realistic scale.

One of the sheets is very useful to statistically-minded tourists who want to know how many feet high the building is, how long, how wide, how many windows. It's all there in black and white ready to be pasted in a scrapbook: 311 feet high, 528 feet long including the porticos, 290

The same thing goes for the hill, not 25 or 30 — but 20."

City officials this morning strongly hinted that the days of $3 and $5 fines are over beginning that fines of $15, $20 and $25 or more, most of them in accordance with the speed charged, will be a common thing.

The city, so far this year, has had two pedestrian fatalities and is determined to exert every possible effort to make the coming school term a deathless one, City Manager Dick Pepin quoted Mayor C. A. Huff as saying this week.

Another traffic light program are scheduled three additional signal lights for Cuyler; at the Atchison, Tyng and Browning intersections; four along Ballard from Foster to Browning; one at Hobart and Alcock with a traffic island; Frederic and Barnes; and Wilks and Hobart. The old overhead lights will be used at other intersections mostly residential where they are needed most.

The lights along Ballard and Cuyler will be controlled by a master control and synchronized in such a manner as to keep traffic flowing evenly. The lights on Cuyler and Atchison and Cuyler and Tyng will be set so that they can be turned off separately in the winter time when Cuyler is covered with ice at the underpass.

After the first of September, she will have a uniformed guide as well as an assistant, to show the folks around the building. The services of the guide are provided for in the general appropriation bill adopted by the last session of the Legislature.

ABOUT 3RD OF AUSTIN VISITORS CLIMB DOME

By DAVE CHEAVENS Associated Press Staff
AUSTIN — (AP) — Those glassy-eyed people staggering out of the Capitol elevators these days haven't been on a binge—they've climbed to the top of the dome.

About a third of the record-breaking 1,000 visitors a day want to make the steep, winding, 407-step climb to the dome. After they've gone up and crept down, many of them wish they hadn't because on summer days the big metal ball is furiously hot.

Chief advisor to the dome visitors and other tourists at the Capitol is Mrs. J. W. E. H. Beck, state receptionist who has to know all the answers about Texas, including, "where is the ice water?"

Tourist traffic through the Capitol has been on a steady rise since the end of the war, and it hit its peak in mid-August, averaging around a thousand a day and more on Sunday. It's an easy record.

July Business Conditions in Texas Mixed

DALLAS — (AP) — Business conditions were mixed in this Federal Reserve district during July, the Dallas Federal Reserve Bank's monthly report shows.

Consumer buying was about 10 percent less than in July, 1948. It was also about the same amount under June — but that is consistent with the usual seasonal decline.

However, cotton production prospects are bright, the report said. The Texas crop may reach as much as 1,300,000 bales more than last year.

Livestock prospects are good, and oil drilling activities continued at a high level.

The demand for gasoline continued strong in the face of a crude oil production decline in July.

But demand deposits of member banks were almost 110 million dollars less than a year ago. In retail business, the Federal Reserve survey covered Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Corpus Christi and Shreveport, La.

It showed department store sales down six percent for the first seven months of the year compared to the same period in 1948. For the past month, sales were down 10 percent compared with July, 1948.

Christmas in Scandinavian countries begins on December 13 and ends January 11.

REDS WORRY IN WEST, HAVE IT EASY IN EAST—Map of Europe, left, spots symptoms of apparent worry in the Kremlin. But while Stalin's hope of easy Communist victories in western Europe has faded and his one-time Balkan bloc may be loosening at the seams, Communists roll relentlessly over eastern China, as shown on map at right.

MAN MUST GOVERN HIMSELF

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. The Psalmist in the familiar and beautiful Twenty-third Psalm rejoices that the Lord, who is his Shepherd, leads him in the paths of righteousness. This theme of righteousness runs everywhere through the Psalms, which express the dominant emphasis throughout the books of the prophets, and the whole religion of the Hebrews. It was this superior morality of Judaism that led many Gentiles, proselytes, to become converts to Judaism. Many of these proselytes, as we can see in the pages of the New Testament, became Christian disciples. The psalmist and prophets put the first emphasis where it rightly belonged—on righteousness in personal life. The godly man was not the professor of a certain faith, but the man who was upright in heart. His sacrifices, burnt offerings, and acts of religion meant nothing unless they were the expressions of a heart sincere and true, subject to God's guidance and God's will. The religion of Israel was a mass religion, always emphasizing God's choice and call to the nation as a whole, but this emphasis did not in any way minimize the importance of the individual, and the soundness of his character and conduct. This, it seems to me, has a distinct bearing upon our modern democracy, which in a way is a mass affair. We think of democracy often, perhaps too often, as consisting in popular suffrage and the rule of the majority. But the vote of a majority never in itself made anything right. The true essence of democracy is self-rule. It is rule from within. When the rule of kings is discarded, it is the individual who becomes king, and if he abdicates, democracy may become a very sorry affair. Is not our greatest weakness today at this very point—the fact that so many citizens fail to exercise their prerogatives and privileges, to say nothing of their plain duty? The Old Testament Scriptures dealt with this to the point of extreme severity. It was not only the Psalms and Prophecies, but the historic books and early history made plain one's place and duty as a member of society. There was the terrible example of Achan, who, in an hour of victory, stole a Babylonian garment, and bars of silver for himself. He met a tragic fate, but profiting Achan in their country's hour of danger have not been lacking in later history, nor in our own time. National righteousness, to the psalmist, meant justice. Conceptions of right and judgment were at the heart of all relationships. As the individual was responsible for his personal integrity, those who ruled, that is society, were responsible for rights, liberties, and fair dealing. It is the sense of right and judgment that we most need today. It is in the moral foundations that modern societies are weakest. Too many issues are settled, not upon the basis of what is right and fair, but upon the power of individuals, or groups, to enforce their will. But no question is ever settled until it is settled right. SHAMROCK SCHOOL Budget Increased SHAMROCK—(Special)—The tentative budget of the Shamrock Public School District for the 1949-50 term has been set at $185,000, an increase of $34,000 over last year's figure. The increase in the budget was made necessary because of the increase in the number of teachers, higher salaries and greater operation and maintenance expenses, a spokesman for the school board pointed out. "With an estimated 1,000 enrolled this year, the cost per capita will be about $165 as compared with $120 last year," Supt. Elmer J. Moore said. ZION LUTHERAN CHURCH During the vacancy of the pastorate, the Rev. H. F. 'Man' Is Subject Of Service at Christ, Scientist

"Man" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Sept. 4. The Golden Text is: "There is a spirit in man; and the inspiration of the Almighty giveth them understanding" (Job 32:8). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God" (Romans 8:14). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spiritual living and blessedness are the only evidences, by which we can recognize truth. Existence and feel the unspeakable peace which comes from an all-absorbing spiritual love" (page 362).

Parking Space for 'Rent' by Month

ELECTRA—(AP)—You can "rent" parking space in Electra for an hour—or the month. Two hundred meters have been installed. But many business men complained at a stormy session of the City Commission that they needed free space in front of their establishments. The Electra Steam Laundry wanted two free spaces—one for unloading trucks and the other for customers. Bob Webb, grocer, threatened to quit buying power from the City Electric Company and switch to a competing company if he didn't get a free space in front of his store. The council stood pat—but made a concession. The meters will stay put—but merchants may rent metered space, if they please, for $7 per month.

Air Force Open to Single Men Only

Beginning Oct. 1, the Air Force will accept only single men for its aviation cadet program, and the applicants must agree to remain single until their training is completed. M. Sgt. Davis A. Brown, local recruiting officer, said today. All those whose applications are pending will have until Oct. 1 to be called, he said. The order will not affect married men whose applications are pending, but Brown strongly advised against any single applicant getting married now because it might jeopardize his training. President McKinley was the first to toss out the ball at the beginning of baseball season. The fox trot was named after a New York dancing instructor.

Undertow Can Be Discounted In Ocean Surf

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE AP Science Editor NEW YORK—(AP)—When you swim in surf, don't worry about the undertow. Undertow, blamed for countless drownings, probably doesn't even exist, says Dr. Francis P. Shepard, professor of submarine geology at the University of California's Scripps Institution of Oceanography. The thing to watch for is rip currents, that come in puffs or pulses. They can carry you out through the breakers, and probably cause many drownings. Dr. Shepard says you usually can tell where they are, and offers advice on how to avoid them or to escape from them. Contrary to popular belief, "there may be no such thing as undertow," he writes in Physics Today, magazine of the American Institute of Physics. Undertow is supposed to be a strong current under the surface that sweeps bathers off their feet and drags them out to sea. It's supposed to come from water thrown shoreward by the breakers. At the edge of a beach, you do feel returning water undermining the sand at your feet. The idea has been that this water continues as a strong subsurface current out through the breakers.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hass—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What player is the only remaining member of the 1941 championship Brooklyn Dodger team still with the Rums?

THE TEXAS AGGIES FROM COLLEGE STATION send out a regular catalogue for the use of sports writers and announcers concerning their 1949 football team. In fact, there are 58 pages of information about the team, the school, past teams, etc. And here is a short resume of what is said inside the volume.

On the outside cover is the 1949 Aggie schedule, which runs like this:
Sept. 17, Villanova College at College Station; Sept. 24, Texas Tech at San Antonio; Oct. 1, Oklahoma University at Norman; Oct. 8, Louisiana State at Baton Rouge; Oct. 15, Texas Christian at Fort Worth; Oct. 22, Baylor at College Station; Oct. 29, University of Arkansas at Fayetteville; Nov. 5, Southern Methodist at College Station; Nov. 12, Rice at Houston; Nov. 24, University of Texas at College Station.

The coaching staff is headed by Harry Stiteler, who is assisted by Bill Dubose, J. T. King and Dick Todd.
"AGGIE OUTLOOK FOR 1949"
"By no stretch of the imagination can the Texas Aggies be considered a contender for the 1949 SWC championship. Biggest reasons for this statement: (1) The team will be too inexperienced with at least two-thirds of the travelling squad being composed of 18- and 19-year-old Sophomores. (2) The team is loaded with question marks, some of which may not be solved until the season is nearly over. (3) There are no soft spots (easy non-conference games) on the schedule. (4) On the more optimistic side, the team will have more speed, more length and probably better passing this season. Holdover Jim Cashew is a Senior; and Sophomores Dick Gardemal and Derrell Sikes, negligible last season, will do most of the throwing in addition to leading Aggie ball-carriers from the quarterback spot.

"Gone are such standouts as Bob Goode, Charles Wright, Odell Stautzenberger, Jim Winkler, Hub Ellis, Marion Settagast, Ralph Daniel, Preston Smith, Herb Turley and Calvin Dupree.
"Finding a punter is the big problem.
"Last season, the Aggies didn't have a back that could outrun a group of fat women. Honest, it was almost that bad. An Eastern writer called the Cadet backs the "slowest he'd seen in 20 years of watching college football." With Gary Anderson, Glenn Lippman, Bob Schaefer, Bob Smith, Charlie Royalty and Dick Gardemal around, things will be a bit different in the speed department. Some of the above named backs are capable of breaking up a close ball game on one gallop.

"The Aggies will run from the straight "T" again."
And that is how the Aggies publicity man speaks about this year's corps of cadets.
The lifetime records of the College Station eleven against each of their opponents for this season is as follows, with the Aggie wins, losses and ties in that order.
Villanova, 1-1-0; Texas Tech, 7-2-0; Oklahoma U., 4-5-0; Louisiana State 9-9-2; Texas Christian, 24-16-4; Baylor, 29-10-6; Arkansas, 10-10-2; Southern Methodist, 16-12-3; Rice, 20-10-3; Texas, 18-35-5.

The Aggies have had three undefeated, untied seasons, in 1917, 1919 and 1939. In 464 games played by the school, the Aggies have won 289, lost 143 and tied 32. They have outscored their opponents 8,258 to 3,280. The Aggies lead the SWC in championships won, seven, and one tie for first with SMU in 1940. Their last winning year came in 1941.

College Station has turned out four all-Americans. They were guard Joe Routh, fullback John Kimbrough, tackle Joe Boyd and guard Marshall Robnett. Of those four, only Kimbrough is still playing football. Routh was killed in action in the last war. Boyd is a Baptist minister in Dallas, and Robnett is employed in Dallas.
Football was introduced at the school in 1892, but no records are available as to whether any games were played that year. In 1894 they defeated Galveston H. S. 14 to 6 and lost to the University of Texas 38 to 0, the first of a long series between the schools. The Aggies hold an edge on all opponents which have been met a number of times with the exception of Centenary, University of Oklahoma and the University of Texas.

ANSWER: Pee Wee Reese is the only remaining member of the 1941 championship Brooklyn team still playing in a Dodger uniform.
Landrum Named TL's Pitcher of the Year

Landrum leads the league both in victories and innings pitched in a season. He has won 17 and figured most prominently in keeping the Cats on top of the league most of the season. Landrum has worked 254 2-3 innings pitching in 38 games, 119 of which were complete. His earned run average is 2.67.

Aim for Fancy Rifle Puts Painter Into New Business
By GARETH MUCHMORE
Special Correspondent
PONCA CITY, Okla. — (NEA) — A yen for beauty in a hunting rifle has started George Hamlin of Ponca City on a hobby that threatens to become big business.
Hamlin had an old military 30-40 Krag with the usual heavy stock. He decided he could improve on the stock, at the same time streamlining and beautifying the rifle, and making it fit his grip better.
Without a gun again, Hamlin, guided by guess and by pictures of sleek sporting rifles.
Several months and several coats of varnish later, he had a rifle so handsome a friend talked him out of it.
Without a gun again, Hamlin started in on a German Mauser, another military rifle. That was a breeze. Then he tackled a 30-06 Enfield, of the type American Rifle Association members may buy from the government.
On the Enfield, Hamlin didn't stop with streamlining, but in-laid it with patterned cabinet makers' strips, and wound up by inserting a compass in the stock under the bearing the government knew, shooters from all around were banging on his door, wanting their rifles prettied up, fitted to their grips, and polished.
Hamlin, a painter by trade, used painter's tricks in putting the finishing touch on his gunstocks.
"I know that a finish that would resist constant scuffing from shoes ought to stand up under the beating the average hunting rifle gets."
Now, after a dozen guns and three years of hobbying, Hamlin has gone beyond suggestions of the professionals. He adds pistol grips whose none were, creates his own inlay patterns, adds a cheek rest and laminated butt plates.
"I'm just doing things the professionals can't take the time to do," Hamlin explains.

Yankees Sneak Past Browns on Seventh Inning 2-Run Home Run

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The New York Yankees pulled out another of their now famous "sneakers" yesterday, edging out the St. Louis Browns, 4-3, to strengthen their hold on first place.
With the help of the Detroit Tigers, who walked Boston, 7-0, the Yankees picked up a full game on the runner-up Red Sox and now lead by three lengths.
A seventh inning home run by Hank Bauer with Gerry Coleman on base provided the Yankees with their winning margin. Bauer's clout off wild Bill Kennedy, snapped a 2-2 deadlock, and provided enough cushion to offset a one-run attack in the ninth.
Once again it was Joe Page, the Yankees candidate for the most valuable player award, who saved the game.

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — (AP) — Bill Campbell, the par-busting 14-w macker from Huntington, W. Va., had to lose his golf clubs to become a real threat in the U. S. Amateur Championship.
"It happened in Chicago a year ago," the strapping former Princeton University athlete said in explaining why he's in the semifinals today at Oak Hill.
"I had a set of specially built clubs, long ones to fit my size. They were swiped from under my locker right after I'd won the Tam O'Shanter amateur championship.
"I went down and bought a set off the racks. They're regular size, a bit small for me. But I find I'm closer to the ball. I don't get as much distance but I'm far more accurate, and my game has improved."
Campbell, 26-year-old conservative Democratic member of the West Virginia legislature, met Charlie Coe, the Walker Cup star from Oklahoma City in one semifinal match today.
Willie Turnesa, the 35-year-old titleholder from Elmford, N. Y., plays Rufus King, Wichita Falls, Texas, cattle man and tournament "dark horse" in the other 36-hole duel.

Hunters Find Big Brothers Prep New Grid Season Doves Scarce

By The Associated Press
The dove hunting season opened Thursday in North Texas with lots of hunters but not so many birds in most sections.
However, hunters reported good luck in the Valley Mills-China Springs area of Central Texas and near Bremond in Robertson County. Reports from these areas indicated that hunters were getting bag limits of ten birds per person.
The supply of doves in the Temple area was about normal but hunters found birds smaller than usual. Best hunting was in the North and West parts of the area. A few good hunting spots were located in the Southern portion.
Game wardens in the Fort Worth area reported an abundance of hunters and a scarcity of game. In Parker County and the western part of Tarrant County the rains Wednesday scattered doves. One game warden reported that he did not find a single hunter with the limit.
Game wardens in South Fort Worth and in Johnson County said doves were extremely scarce in comparison with other years. Hunting north of Dallas was better than in the section south of the city, game wardens reported.
District game warden supervisor A. W. Lewis said that the biggest group of hunters in years was out in North Central Texas. Some fared well, having their limit shortly after sunrise, he said, but the majority apparently had hard hunting.
Two hunters in Boxer County were arrested for shooting illegally from the highways.

Faulkner Replaces Schepps with Hubbers
LUBBOCK — (AP) — Harry Faulkner, who has spent almost all of his life in baseball, last night was named general manager of the Lubbock Hubbers of the West Texas-New Mexico League for the 1950 season.
Faulkner, who for the past three years has been owner of the Tyler franchise in the East Texas League, agreed to terms with M. L. Wilkinson, Lubbock Baseball Club owner, last night. He will begin his new duties immediately.
Faulkner is no stranger to Lubbock baseball fans. He was sent here in 1938 by the Chicago White Sox to serve as general manager when the Lubbock Club had a working agreement with the Sox. He remained here two years and then went to Texas A&M college as backfield coach under Homer Norton. There he worked with kickers and passers, playing a large part in developing the nation's top team of 1939.
Faulkner said last night that no definite plans for 1950 have been made yet, but that the Lubbock club may have a working agreement with the Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

THE stop at customs was brief. The entry permits were surrendered for Fritz hadn't told his this time—and soon they were on their way again.

"Such a contrast with last time," Fritz said with a sigh. "You are wonderful as a passport." "Why can't you call me something nice?" Gaynel asked. "First I'm your maiden aunt, and next I'm your passport. I deserve better treatment."

English Channel, Breeder of Seasickness, Is Annual Target of World's Best Swimmers

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Analyst

The annual parade of aspiring English Channel swimmers is underway, demonstrating again that mankind's spirit of conquest—especially against the forces of nature—never dies.

The difficulties of this channel feat are staggering. One can understand Leander's desire to swim the Hellespont. I've sailed those relatively placid waters on a starlight night, and they were entrancing. They would have been double romantic to Leander, with a lovely girl awaiting him on the far shore.

But deliver us from the English Channel! It isn't merely a question of swimming the approximately 18 bee-line miles between France's Cap Graiz Nez and Britain's Dover. The cold and inhospitable waters of the channel are filled with wicked cross-currents and tides which tear at the unhappy swimmer until he or she is compelled to cover not 18 but some 40 miles. Often the summer battles these evil forces for hours in almost the same spot, without making appreciable progress.

But that isn't all. Frequently seasickness settles over the wretched contestant, who already is not only weary but chilled to the bone despite the heavy coating of grease used to keep out the cold. That seasickness is nature's last dirty trick to defeat the swimmer, and often in works. The channel is world-famous as a breeder of seasickness. I've crossed it so many times I can't even guess at the number, and more often than not have encountered mal de mer. One of the last times I was sitting in anguish on a sea-chest in the men's room of the steamer when an old friend came staggering in, so sick he was green in the face. He threw himself down on the other end of my sea-chest with a groan. And with one accord we turned our backs on each other without a word of greeting. It wasn't until after the ship had docked and we were ashore that we spoke and shook hands.

Curator Seeks Museum Ideas

LUBBOCK—Ideas for arrangements and displays for the new Texas Technological College Museum will be collected by Curator W. C. Holden on his tour through the North and East to visit museums in North Carolina, Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, Kansas, Illinois and Michigan, in conjunction with his trip to the International Congress of Americanists, Sept. 5-12, in New York.

Holden is a member of four national organizations, the American Ethnological Society, the American Historical Association, the Society of American Archaeology and the Society of Applied Anthropology, which are cooperating with seven other similar organizations to sponsor the congress which meets for the twenty-ninth time this year. Ruling on Divorce Gives Judge a Fit

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Because he ruled that a woman's rash is no ground for divorce, Superior Judge Ray P. Brockman is getting more fan mail than a movie queen.

A month ago, the judge denied Mrs. Joyce C. Holdridge, 27, a divorce on her plea.

"I would break out in a rash from head to toe every time I was near him."

The judge's ruling has been haunting him ever since. He said he had received hundreds of letters, most of them from women who claim they are allergic to their husbands. They urge the judge to reconsider. Some of the missives are about as friendly as a dentist's drill.

But Judge Brockman had at least one person on his side. The letter writer described himself as a "mere man" and offered the following advice:

"Take each of your women plaintiffs for divorce and suggest a 60-day cooling off period, during which time she is to do a better job of homemaking, such as some good old fashioned housecleaning, cook bigger and better meals, try her own hand at the laundry, don't send, but take the kids to Sunday school and church, get up early, work all day and stay out of the local saloons."

"Say, judge," the mere man continued, "if you were to do this you know what would happen? These women would break out in a rash right in court. It isn't their husbands they are allergic to; it's what he expects them to do to earn their keep."

The husband in the "allergy divorce case" complicated matters. He is Nolan H. Holdridge, 26, a San Francisco watchmaker. In a cross complaint for divorce he charged Mrs. Holdridge with being a wife in name only.

Judge Brockman will hear the case later.

Peach Pickle Syrup Not Good as Vinegar

MCLEAN — (AP) — Mrs. J. W. Story's freshly shampooed hair stood up as if she had just seen a mouse.

She rewashed it with more rain water, more shampoo and another vinegar rinse.

Another arched coiffure? Mrs. Story reread the shampoo directions. She had followed them.

Then she tested the water — okay; the shampoo — okay; the vinegar — it turned out to be peach pickle syrup.

Mrs. Story headed for the nearest beauty parlor.

A&M Develops Color Determiner

COLLEGE STATION — (Special) — The American Oil Chemists' Society has approved a national standard an improved oil color determining method which is basically that used at Texas A&M College.

The Oil Color Committee of the society worked out and recommended to the National Cottonseed Products Association and the National Soyabean Products Association for incorporation into their trading rules a method which determines the color of the oil by reading the optical density at a certain wave length of light.

The Cottonseed Products Research Laboratory which is maintained at A&M College through the cooperation of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers' Association, the Cotton Research Committee of Texas and the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, through its manager, A. Cecil Wamble, was one of the collaborators who worked on the method during the year.

"Color determining equipment is used by both the shipper and the buyer," Wamble says. "Wherever vegetable oil is traded, color determines its price. If shipper and buyer disagree, a disinterested party such as a commercial laboratory determines the correct color rating."

"Color determining equipment is also used at the plant where oil is produced and where it is processed," Wamble points out. Commercial and analytical laboratories also regularly use oil color determining equipment, he says.

Two Cases Settled In County Court

A $200 fine and costs was handed Gerald Glen Noel, White Deer, yesterday by County Judge Bruce Parker for driving while intoxicated.

Noel was picked up late Wednesday night by City Police in the 300 block W. Foster as he was pulling away from the curb.

He entered a plea of guilty before Judge Parker and the sentence imposed. The mandatory six-month suspension of drivers' license went along with the fine.

Earlier this week Judge Parker slapped a 30-day jail sentence plus a $10 fine and costs on Bill "Junior" Smith on a hot check charge.

Smith, now under a three-year suspended penitentiary sentence for strong armed robbery, was sent to the County Jail for passing a worthless check on Berry's Pharmacy in July.

Writer Talks Of Dogs, Cat Owners Object

By ED CREAGH

NEW YORK — (AP) — Some day, I do not guarantee when, this reporter is going to learn to keep his big yap shut.

About dogs, anyway. A few days ago I committed a piece for the papers to the effect that dogs are not what they used to be. I said they were somewhat on the assy side nowadays, that they weren't getting in the headlines much, that the cats seemed to be taking over.

It seems some dog-doters on in Jackman Station, Me., Chula Vista, Calif., and points between disagree.

Also, they write letters. Nice letters. Suggesting in a friendly sort of way that when I wrote my piece I was probably drunk, under ether, or in the pay of the International Association of Dog-catchers.

There is, for instance, the case of Jetty, a black mongrel, who was mentioned by Dick Johnson of Tampa, Fla.

Jetty is a Texan. (Why a man from Florida should be boosting a dog from Texas puzzles me, too.)

Anyway, Jetty, a black mongrel, is one leap beyond a seeing eye dog. She's a hearing ear dog. She telephone-listens for Mrs. J. D. Ingram of Dallas, who is hard of hearing.

When Mrs. Ingram's phone rings, Jetty cocks her head to the right. When it rings a second time, Jetty cocks her head to the left. The third time, Jetty decides Mrs. Ingram hasn't heard it and starts barking like crazy.

Mrs. Ingram can hear Jetty barking and she can hear on the phone. What she can't hear is the telephone bell. Jetty knows that. How? The man from Tampa doesn't say.

Then there is Pat, a collie. Pat came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Douthitt of Darlington, Pa., as a pup. Fine pup, too. His favorite job was waking Douthitt each morning and he snuffled if his master got up unassisted.

Well, one day Pat was missing. Seven years later a dog turned up in the Douthitt neighborhood, all pooped out. Dog tired, in fact. "Why, he looks like Pat," the Douthitts said. Experimentally, they took him home. He ran all around the place, sniffing as if he weren't quite sure he belonged there. The Douthitts weren't sure, either, but: "The next morning," Mrs. D. writes, "I said to him, 'Pat, go upstairs and get Dick up.' "He went charging up the stairs, barking his head off. "He jumped right into the middle of the bed, in his excitement. "We have never doubted for a minute after that that he is our pup, Pat."
