

Vaughan Answers Questions Fired by Solons

GEN. HARRY H. VAUGHAN is pictured as he received the Argentine decoration in February, 1949, which was criticized by certain newsmen and set the stage for Mr. Truman's "SOB" remark.

General Admits Some of Dealings

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan acknowledged today that he collected campaign money in 1946 from some of the business men he helped in dealings with the government.

He said he got $2,000 or $3,000 from race track owner William Helis, who sought Vaughan's aid in 1948 in getting a permit for scarce building materials for the Tanforan (Calif.) Race T. k.

And, Vaughan said, he "probably" got $2,000 from John Maragon, Washington man-about-town and one time employe of a Chicago perfume company.

Vaughan, the President's military aide, was in the witness chair of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Flatly and repeatedly, he denied that there was anything improper in anything he did for any business man — or that he ever received any fee, gift or favor in return for his aid.

Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) said at one point he felt that "Vaughan did not personally profit financially" from his assistance to persons who have figured in the inquiry.

But he demanded that Vaughan produce for the committee the names of all persons from whom he received money for campaign purposes, the exact amounts and the disposition of the money.

Vaughan had testified that he thought the Maragon and Helis contributions had gone to the Missouri Democratic campaign.

He was still being questioned about this when Chairman Hoey (D-N.C.) ordered a recess until Wednesday. Vaughan will return to the witness chair then.

The White House Army aide told Senate investigators that the things he did were done without the knowledge of President Truman.

He did not mention them to the President, he said, because "I didn't think it was necessary."

Vaughan came in for rugged questioning from members of the Senate subcommittee looking into the question of whether there has been improper influence in letting of government contracts.

Much of it revolved about his relations with Maragon, the mysterious man-about-Washington who refused to tell the committee last week about his financial affairs.

An accountant had testified that Maragon had $119,000 during a five-year period in which he had said his income was about $30,000.

Vaughan acknowledged he had been helpful to Maragon from time to time, but he swore he had never authorized Maragon to

Legionnaires Begin 12-Hour Gala Parade

Drums rolled, bugles blared strutting girls in pretty costumes twirled batons. Martial tunes filled the air. So did confetti and ticker tape and the cheering applause of a million Philadelphians and visitors.

The Quaker City surrendered happily to the invasion — the Legion's 31st annual convention parade.

Hours before the march crowds gathered along the five-mile route.

U. S. military and naval units led off the march directly behind the Legion's parade marshals. The crack 116-man Army Band moved like a precision machine up Broad Street to City Hall and the reviewing stand.

Paratroopers, Wacs, Marines, Sailors and National Guardsmen stepped in unison to the martial music.

The massed colors of the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Panama Canal Zone were carried by a battalion of military policemen.

Before the parade ends, about midnight, more than 30,000 people and some 160 drum and bugle corps will have filed past the reviewing stand.

Legionnaires boast there's no "represent, or speak, for me or the White House."

Under a fire of questions from McCarthy, Vaughan denied specifically that he ever told the State Department that President Truman was "personally interested" in a trip Maragon proposed to make to Europe in 1945 for a perfume company — the same company which gave Vaughan (See GENERAL, Page 10)

Young Latvian Refugee Believes in Miracles

By LORENE O. LOCKE
Pampa News Correspondent

MIAMI—(Special)—Andris Lambert, young Latvian refugee who occupied the pulpit at the morning and evening services at the First Baptist Church in Miami Sunday, still believes in miracles.

He considers it a miracle that he met Dr. J. W. Marshall, president of Wayland College, Plainview, on a streetcar in Copenhagen, Denmark, in 1947, and, as a result of that meeting, was able to come to America. Mrs. E. W. Moseley of Dallas, who was on the same streetcar, later sent him money to make the trip. She has been godmother to many such foreign students.

Dr. Marshall became interested in a halting three-sided conversation in German among Lambert, Dr. Harold C. Diggs, Bible teacher at Wayland, and a Texas girl on the streetcar.

Marshall told Lambert to write him if he really meant his intention to become an American-prepared missionary.

Since Lambert could speak no English he wrote his letters in Latvian and then laboriously translated them with the aid of a Latvian-English dictionary.

Then, with Mrs. Moseley's aid, he left Sweden April 9, 1948, for the United States.

"I, a grown man, cried like a baby when I saw the Statue of Liberty," he said.

Andris was born 27 years ago in the Ukraine. His parents had been arrested by the Soviets two weeks before his birth for preaching the Gospel.

"My baby was born during the hunger time in Russia," Mrs. Lambert said. "He never had proper food. Milk and food, such as babies should have, were impossible to get. Again and again we were arrested. Everything we had was taken. I thought my babies would starve." Andris has an older sister.

When Andris was two years old, they went back to Latvia, where the elder Lambert was pastor of a Baptist church in Riga.

In 1940 the Russians came again to Latvia, so they knew they must leave their home.

"We could take only what we could carry," Andris said. "I went into my room. I looked at my books. I looked at all the things that recalled happier days. Then I shut that door forever."

They escaped into Estonia, where, on a small island in the Baltic, they repaired an old submerged fishing boat and sailed for Sweden. Six Latvians and 21 Estonians crowded into the boat, built for eight.

"We expected to reach Sweden in 18 hours," the Lamberts said, "so we took no food, and very little water. Four hours out the motor stopped, and we had to depend on sails. We got almost in sight of Sweden when a great storm drove us back into the Baltic. Ten days we were, without food, without water, almost without hope."

They were picked up by a Swedish warship in the tenth day.

REFUGEE—Andris Lambert, young Latvian refugee, is shown reading a Scripture passage in his native language at Sunday morning's service at the First Baptist Church in Miami. A student at Wayland College, Plainview, he has only recently returned to the active ministry following an attack of tuberculosis brought on by hardships suffered in Communist-dominated Latvia.

MIAMI — Frances Marjorie Bruton, central figure in the trial of L. C. McMinn of Canadian, now going on at Miami, took the stand today to tell the story of the events of the night of April 5.

Under direct examination by Special Prosecutor Bill McConnell, she said that McMinn and Eugene Baker came into the Moody Cafe, part of the Moody Hotel, in Canadian where she was employed as a waitress.

McMinn and Baker came in about 5:30 p. m. April 5, and sat in a booth and drank coffee.

They all three had "shop talk" — talk about her job, she said, and "they asked me to go with them to Pampa, and I accepted."

After she quit work at 6 p. m. they got into Baker's car and then went to his house, where they each had "a couple drinks of whiskey."

Then they left for Pampa, but she made them stop along the road "because Baker was driving too fast." She took the wheel then and drove to about 15 miles from Pampa, when McMinn took over.

They went to the Killarney Drive Inn, 1503 Ripley, where they had "one beer apiece and danced a little." She said she danced with Baker because McMinn could not dance.

They next bought a fifth and a pint of whiskey and went to the Belvedere Club, 2200 W. Alcock, where they stayed about two hours, had two or three drinks apiece, and left for Canadian.

Shortly after they left Pampa, she said, she fell asleep and did not awaken until the car stopped at the roadside park she identified as the one about five miles east of Miami.

There, she said, the two men forced her into the back seat of the car. She said she was with McMinn and Baker, Baker, she said, removed her blouse, brassiere, and underpants and had sexual intercourse with her against her will.

Although she was struggling all the while, she said she could not prevent Baker lifting her up and penetrating her fundament.

Then McMinn entered the car and "started the same thing," she testified.

By then, she said, she was "virtually exhausted" and had little strength left with which to resist.

Baker, who was outside "making fun of the whole deal" then got behind the wheel and drove toward Canadian.

McMinn, she testified, then "steered my arm until I thought it would break"; forced her head down, and made her commit another unnatural sex act.

She broke away from them when they slowed near a service station in Canadian and she ran to the Moody Cafe a half-block away. She pounded on the closed door. (See CENTRAL, Page 10)

Senate Drive For Economy Bogs Down

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Senate economy drive which had a built up steam for months appeared bogged down at last today following final Senate action — long overdue — on billions of dollars in appropriations.

In the final voting yesterday on a $14,800,000,000 defense money bill, economy advocates actually showed a good-sized majority. Pushing an amendment which would have required President Truman to cut government expenses five to 10 percent, they summoned a total of 49 votes against only 28 for the opposition.

But that was not enough. It fell three votes short of the two-thirds margin which Vice President Barkley, the Senate's presiding officer, had ruled necessary.

That appeared to put the whole economy question over until the next Congressional campaign, in which it is expected to be a major issue.

The proposed rider would have required Mr. Truman to chop from two to four and a half billion dollars from the estimated $45,000,000,000 he asked Congress to authorize for government spending this fiscal year, which started July 1.

It was a major setback for two Southern Democrats, Senators McClellan of Arkansas and Byrd of Virginia, and two top Republican leaders, Senators Wherry of Nebraska and Taft of Ohio.

With the economy amendment out of the way the Senate quickly defeated an anti-oleomargarine rider sponsored by Senator Wiley (R-Wis) and a last-minute amendment to cut the economy move by Senator Douglas (D-Ill.).

Then it sent the huge defense appropriation bill back to the House for action on Senate changes slashing nearly $1,400,000,000. (See SENATE, Page 10)

Rebel Planes Drop Shells In Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia—(AP)—Two rebel planes today dropped mortar shells on the La Paz Air Airport and a nearby military college.

The revolutionists used mortar shells because they have no bombs, a government spokesman said. The shells did no damage, he added.

The planes, DC-3 transports, flew over La Paz itself, but were driven off by anti-aircraft fire.

Meanwhile the government began a draft of all citizens in a fight of survival against the spreading rightist revolution.

Reservists, 20 to 24, were called to the colors in La Paz and orders for mobilization have been issued to all men 19 to 50.

They will be called upon to fight the revolt against the middle-of-the-road government which broke out in scattered sections Saturday and now controls all Bolivia's large cities except La Paz.

Greatest government efforts so far have been directed against Cochabamba, a city of 90,000 southeast of La Paz, where the rebels are strongly entrenched.

Air force planes bombed the town yesterday for the third time, but reports said they did little damage. The raids terrorized the town.

Owner Seeks Own 'Worthless' Dog

BELLEVILLE—(AP)—An American who lost his "Berliner" in a scented this plaintive ad in the occupation forces daily bulletin: "Lost — one dog, part boxer, part something else. Answers to the name of 'Lucky' or anything else. Sit up and begs for food whenever he sees it isn't worth anything but sure would like to get him back."

Need for Improving Highway Discussed at Meeting Here

Organization of a Highway 60 association to promote the needs and development of the national road in Texas was begun yesterday at a luncheon meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall.

More than 40 representatives from cities and counties along the highway from Amarillo eastward to Higgins met with local city, county, and Chamber of Commerce officials to lay the preliminary plans for a permanent organization.

All those present were agreed that the highway should be widened to allow for the increase in traffic that is due to come as soon as the unpaved stretches in Oklahoma are completed.

The second major need that the group will work on is widening of the Canadian River bridge at Canadian.

County Judge G. A. Jenkins of Lipscomb County told of receiving an application from an Indian land claimant that wanted permission to send eight heavy trucks every 24 hours over Highway 60 from Higgins southwestward.

The Lipscomb County Court had to recommend to the Railroad Commission that the petition be turned down because of the danger to traffic involved in crossing the Canadian River bridge.

Carl Broadley, publisher of the Higgins News, reported on the progress of paving Highway 60 in Oklahoma, and he quoted a published report by the Oklahoma Highway Commission that all of the highway would be completed in Oklahoma by next year.

A stretch of 67 miles from Higgins to Podunk, Okla., will be fully completed this week, Broadley said. Another stretch of 11 miles will be completed by Sept. 10. (See NEED, Page 10)

Mason Probe To Go Before New Judge

ALICE — (AP)—District Judge L. Broeter will not oversee a special investigation he ordered into the slaying of crusading radio commentator W. H. (Bill) Mason.

In an administrative assignment letter filed in the court minutes, the 7th District Court judge said he will not be able to preside at the special term he called for Sept. 2 because of illness.

The letter, disclosed yesterday, said Judge Paul A. Martineau of the 28th District Court of Nueces County has indicated he is willing to serve.

Mason was shot to death July 29 as he sat in his automobile in an industrial section of Alice. Former Deputy Sheriff S. M. Smithwick, 60, is charged with shooting Mason. He is held in jail without bond.

Judge Broeter had announced he would charge the grand jury for the special term of court to investigate all angles of the death of the broadcaster and former newspaperman.

Mason, in his last broadcast, said Smithwick owned an Alice night spot where prostitutes plied their trade. Smithwick was then a deputy sheriff.

District Attorney Sam Reams of Ft. Worth said today representatives of the American Newspaper Guild and Texas Independent Broadcasters Association had (See MASON, Page 10)

101 Street Markers Up

CANADIAN—(Special)—You can find your way around in Canadian now provided the folks you are looking for know, and tell you, the name of the street they live on.

One hundred and one street markers have been erected. They are post-type reinforced concrete markers, painted white with black lettering reading down the sides. The posts stand about four and one-half feet above ground with the lettering at a convenient height to be read from an automobile.

The Chamber of Commerce undertook to mark the streets over a year ago, with a committee composed of R. E. Carver, Jack Yorkley and Carl Zybach in charge of the project.

Over half the markers were erected last fall, the remainder being delayed on account of paving and sidewalk work that was underway at that time. The project was finished last week.

Some amusing incidents occur as the citizens begin to make use of street addresses. One man was asked to call at a certain address on Nelson St. and he said "Where the 'S' is Nelson St.?" It developed that he had been living on Nelson Street himself for several years and didn't know it until after the street markers were erected.

Block Razed In Winnsboro

Alf Morris, president of the First National Bank, estimated the loss would run around $200,000. The first alarm was turned in about 7:30 a. m. and the charred ruins were still smoldering at 7:30 a. m. Cause of the blaze hadn't been determined.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Old owned the main building. Other property was owned by the McBride estate. Housed in the business block were the White House Restaurant, Bevis and McLarty Grocery, Winnsboro Recreation Hall, the Masonic Lodge headquarters, Dr. Ralph Kull's office and the Miller and Miller Service Station. At least five automobiles were said to have been destroyed at the service station.

W. Hardy Bullock, fire marshal, said a main telephone cable was burned, causing a large number of telephones here to go out of commission. A telephone repair crew from Kilgus was on duty here. Electric service in part of the town also was disrupted by the fire.

Lady Sheriff Is Victor

CONROE, Texas—(AP)—Judge Ernest Coker of special ninth District Court gave Montgomery County's lady sheriff a victory in her war against marauding tables.

Yesterday he refused to grant a permanent injunction restraining Sheriff Fannie Pearl Surratt from seizing its pinball machines.

The judge also rejected a counter-petition of the sheriff for an injunction to bar the county from operating pinball machines in the county.

Judge Coker told the sheriff and her deputies that when they are certain that a machine is being operated illegally, that table could be picked up.

He warned that no machines may be destroyed until the matter is taken to a higher authority.

Attorneys for the Conroe Amusement Company said they would appeal Judge Coker's decision.

New Mexico to Oppose Dam on Canadian River

SANTA FE, N. M.—(AP)—New Mexico may oppose plans for a dam on the Canadian River in Texas.

State Engineer John Bliss said last night.

"We're going to have to oppose the Canadian River dam until we have a compact."

"We must have some assurance Texas' proposals are in accord with general plans for the Canadian, and there is a reasonable allocation of Canadian River water between the states."

Bliss said Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, and possibly Arkansas, would be interested in such a compact.

Bliss said that a Bureau of Reclamation survey of the Canadian recently forwarded to him had not been submitted to the secretary of interior, or submitted to the states for their approval or comments. He said it was normal procedure for states affected to be heard before such reports are finally accepted by the Department of Interior.

The state engineer said he had forwarded his recommendations and comments opposing the Canadian River project to Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM).

Registration at White Deer to Begin Tomorrow

Registration for the White Deer High School will begin tomorrow, Aug. 31, according to Fred Mullings, principal. White Deer seniors will begin registration at the high school at 9 a. m. with Juniors following with enrollment at 1:30 p. m. the same day.

Busses will run for the first time Friday, Sept. 2, to bring Freshmen and elementary pupils to their respective schools for enrollment. Regular classes will begin Monday, Sept. 5.

According to Mullings, 150 pupils are expected to enroll in White Deer High School, and about 600 are expected for the entire White Deer-Skellytown school system.

Flyer Begs to Try Out Souped-Up P-63 Fighter, Crashes Into Lake

DALLAS—(AP)—A flyer who begged to try out a souped-up P-63 fighter plane died when it crashed into Mountain Creek Lake.

Divers recovered the body of Francis J. Rassiga, 30, of Lubbock an hour after the plane plunged into nine feet of water late yesterday.

Rassiga had borrowed the plane, tuned up for the Thompson Trophy Race, from Jimmy de Santo, 23, who saw the crash. "I didn't know this boy very well," De Santo said. "He helped me work with the plane all afternoon. He was an Air Force Reserve officer. He begged me to let him try it out and I did."

De Santo said he had planned to fly the plane to Cleveland today for qualifying flights in the national air races. He said he had entered the Cleveland races three times and each time he was trophy race, from Jimmy de Santo, 23, who saw the crash. "I didn't know this boy very well," De Santo said. "He helped me work with the plane all afternoon. He was an Air Force Reserve officer. He begged me to let him try it out and I did."

Rassiga was a Senior architecture student at Texas Tech College and a flight instructor at the Lubbock Municipal Airport. He had lived in Lubbock about four years. His home previously was in Canada.

"Everything I had was tied up in that plane," De Santo said as he told how Rassiga made a perfect take off from the Hensley Field runway and then heard the plane's motor quit.

"It was Rassiga banked, trying to get back to the runway. The plane slipped from the bank, turned on its back and hit the water. It sank immediately.

Johnny McBride of Arlington said he saw the plane go down. "It was about 70 yards out in the lake," McBride said. "I made a swim for it."

He said when he got within ten yards of the spot, a fisherman picked him up in a boat and took him to where the plane sank. McBride dove into the water.

"I went down and tugged, but he was strapped into the cockpit and I couldn't get him out," he said.

Army and Navy rescuers came in crash boats and took turns diving to work the safety belt loose.

"He was dead and there was no chance," one of the men said. Rassiga had a head injury.

Lubbock Youth Undergoes Rare Heart Operation

LUBBOCK—(AP)—A 12-year-old Lubbock youth underwent a five-hour operation for a rare heart ailment in Baylor Hospital at Dallas yesterday.

Dr. O. W. English of Lubbock said Robert Key, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Key, was suffering from contraction of the aorta. He said victims seldom live beyond the age of 30.

Dr. English said the condition consisted of a hardening of the largest artery in the body and consequent cutting off of the blood supply to lower parts of the body.

The youth's condition was first discovered this summer as he took a physical examination before attending a Boy Scout camp.

YORK, Me.—(AP)—The condition of Supreme Court Justice Wiley B. Rutledge, ill with a circulatory condition, was reported unchanged today at York Village Hospital.

Mausoleum Will Become Saloon

BRIGHTON, England—(AP)—A Brighton brewery announced it will make a saloon for commuters out of a mausoleum which once contained the bones of a baronet.

The square, glass-domed mausoleum was built by Sir Albert Sassoon, of the immensely wealthy British banking family, at a cost of $24,000.

His body rested there from 1896 until 1933, when it was reburied in London.

Since then the mausoleum has been used as a storehouse and a wartime air raid shelter.

S&A Generator Repair Starting Second Year in Pampa

Farmers Find Needed Parts, Equipment At Osborne and Graham Implement Co.

Osborne and Graham Implement Company, 200 E. Brown, is the first stop for many farmers in and around Pampa who want the best in the way of farm equipment. The company specializes in J. I. Case machinery — which includes everything that can be used on the farm. Besides 21 different styles and sizes of tractors, the Case Company manufactures combines, harvesting machines, drills and all other pieces of farm machinery.

The famous "LA" Case tractors, equipped with starters and lights, have been favorites of farmers for a long time. The tractors do twice as much as a two-plow tractor. In Case "LA" series tractors, full four-to five-plow capacity is combined with the compact design, nimble performance and easy handling usually found only in smaller tractors.

In an "LA" you will find the brute power and great capacity you have always wanted — without brute size or awkwardness.

D. F. Osborne and H. C. Graham opened the Osborne and Graham Implement Company Oct. 1, after realizing the need for a farm implement company here.

When the company was first started, five lots occupied the site that was later turned into the 60- by 60-foot implement company. The front half of the building is used for a display room and offices while the back half of the large building composes the shop in which Robert Redell work on equipment.

Frank Thomas, employe of the company, is a painter and paint salesman. The company handles Allied and Glidden paints, which are all-round favorites to both the farmer and the city folks.

Southwest Studios, 123 E. Kingsmill, Makes Portraits That Are Bound to Please Everyone

S. K. Kuykendall, Amarillo, is an old-hand at taking portrait pictures. He has operated the Southwest Studios at Amarillo and Borger for the past four years and now has Southwest Studios in Pampa.

Portraits are the specialties at the studios, though other services are offered. Wedding and other special occasion pictures may be made at the studios and Kodak developing and old photograph copying also are well taken care of there.

Many people get a picture they are completely satisfied with but are unable to find a frame that will set the picture off to its best advantages. Framing is expertly done at the Southwest Studios.

Kuykendall, married, has two children, S. K. Jr., 17 years old and Delores, 15 years old. He is now a member of the Amarillo

Barbecues Are Awaiting at Doyle's Pit

Yes Siree! Luscious barbecued beef and ham sandwiches are awaiting all Pampans at 115 1/2 W. Foster.

Doyle and Doc Clanton, barbecuers from way back, keep the luscious pit burning all hours of the day fixing up taste all hours for Pampans who want a real sandwich.

Store hours at the pit are from 11 a. m. until 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

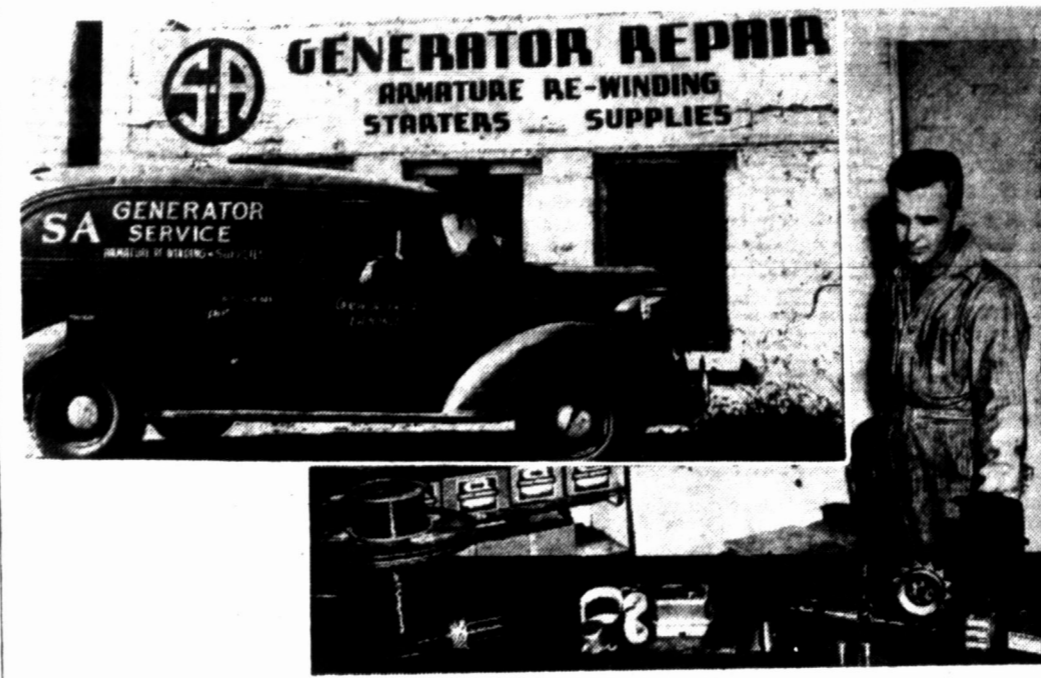

Doyle and Doyle usually sell about 500 sandwiches daily. When a Pampans or some other Texan stops in at the pit and tries one of the Doc or Doyle specialties, he almost always returns again and again.

Many people wonder why the barbecued sandwiches from the pit taste so much better than most barbecued sandwiches. The reason for this is that real hickory wood is used in barbecuing to obtain the hickory wood since none is available around here.

However, he managed to use about two cords of it every two or three months. He gets it a few miles east of Dallas.

The genuine barbecue flavor linked with the sandwiches is a selling point in itself. Consequently the sandwiches become a regular habit for many Pampans.

A. M. McConaghie Is Owner Of Shop at 800 S. Hobart

A. M. McCONAGHIE IS SHOWN AS HE APPEARS DAILY AT S & A Generator Repair, 800 S. Hobart. He has owned and operated the company since Jan. 13, 1948, and has built up a thriving business here. More generators are built and sold at the S & A Generator Repair than anywhere else in town. Also a complete line of parts is available there.

By JIM McCLUSKEY
Public Relations Editor

A. M. McConaghie, owner of the S & A Generator Repair, 800 S. Hobart, really is in the "know" when it comes to generators. He worked at the Swick Generator Service in Oklahoma City four years before he started into business for himself here last year.

His brother, Ralph, also was employed at the Swick Generator Service before he came to Pampa to work at S & A.

Services provided by S & A Generator Repair include rebuilding generators and starters, winding armatures, handling all automotive, truck and tractor and farm equipment and having a complete line of parts.

The company handles new 1942-49 factory-built generators. Further, A. M. and Ralph work on all models of generators and starters of all makes of cars. Besides carrying a complete line of all kinds of generators, the company specializes in the rebuilding of Ford generators and has a line of starter switches and cut-outs.

Generator pulleys of both regular and small sizes may be obtained there.

The S & A Generator Repair has built quite a name for itself in service during its year of operation in Pampa. One of the main reasons for this is that McConaghie strives to sell customers just what they need and nothing more.

"Many people think they need new generators," McConaghie said, "when they really need only voltage generators."

Few people know much about generators and are pleased when they discover that McConaghie can fix up their old generator as good as new at a very reasonable price.

Regular customers take up most of McConaghie's time. He may be seen at almost any time of the day driving around Pampa in his new truck.

The company does both wholesale and retail business. Store hours are from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday. For those Pampans who have generator troubles on Sunday, McConaghie has arranged to take care of them too. He may be reached by telephoning 3468-J on Sunday. The phone number at the company is 3394.

Between 75 and 80 units are built by the McConaghies each week so it is evident that the McConaghie brothers are kept busy at the company most of the time.

Every job done at S & A Generator Repair carries the same guarantee as does a new generator, starter or other piece of equipment.

Other services provided at the company include the repacking of bearings, turning and undercutting armatures and just about anything else that can be done to pieces of equipment such as is handled there.

A full line of field cores, brushes and bearings also is found at S & A.

Remember the phone number 3394 when you have generator troubles. The job you will receive at S & A is tops simply because both McConaghies are in the "know" when it comes to generators.

A. M. resides at 500 N. Stark with his wife, Nadine, and children, Erma Carlene, 17 and Donald, 14.

More Goods Than Ever Before Found at Mack's Shoe Store

Mack's Shoe Store, recently purchased by Thomas Stewart, is now located at 308 S. Cuyler, and has a larger stock than ever before.

The store was moved to the building formerly occupied by the Borden Company because much more space was needed to carry out Stewart's new business venture.

The friendly boot which was above the door at the old location of the store may now be seen at the new site—so Pampans can tell by the boot just where they may continue to get the best in shoe repair work.

William Curtis, who has been employed at the store for the past two years, moved with the store and will continue to serve Pampans by remaining with the company and fixing the shoes as only Curtis can fix them.

Stewart bought the store from Earl Lewter about a month ago. Immediately after the acquisition of the company, Stewart began on enlarging and expansion of stock plans.

A complete line of dress shoes for men; women and children will soon be carried at the new Mack's Shoe Store. With the much needed extra space, many new lines will be stocked at the store.

However, Tony Lama handmade boots will continue to be the featured product sold at the company. The famous boot company has built up quite a name for making the best in cowboy boots.

A large supply of Mexican-made boots is kept on hand by Stewart. The boots, reasonably priced, are fancy in design and really wear well.

Further a larger and more varied stock of goods is kept on hand at Mack's Shoe Store. The shoe store was operated by Lewter for 16 years and has been a popular spot for Pampans for a long time.

Shoe repairing will continue to be the main business of the store, but there are many other sidelines. Some other things that may be purchased there include:

Sterling silver tie clasps, belt buckles, key chains, gloves, shoe polish, shoe strings, shoe brushes, socks, automatic pencils, leather belts.

Welder's boots, lewis, Western style shirts, Demander uniform shirts, halters, handtooled bags for ladies, spurs, bridles, bits, ropes, watch bands, pocket knives, bill-folds and many types of Western jewelry.

Complete Diabetic Line Found at Prescription Lab

The only complete diabetic line in town is found at the Prescription Laboratory, 119 W. Kingsmill.

The lab, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. Norman, has specially treated jellies, pears, apples, peaches, applesauce, puddings, jams, breads, loaves, cookies, candy and chewing gum for diabetics. Also, the store has 10 types of specially treated flours such as gluten, soya, wheat and soya, oak, rice, barley and nutting brown.

Also featured in the diabetic line are distilled and curic spring water, salad dressing, liquid sweetening, grape juice and "Holly-wood Cup," which is a substitute for coffee.

Several new lines of merchandise have been added at the company during Norman's six-month ownership. All doctor's prescriptions may be filled there. In fact, prescription filling is the main business of the company.

Wheel chairs, hospital beds, crutches and canes may be rented there.

Slacks and Apron Set Will Flatter

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer There's a good fashion trick going the rounds of households, back yards, gardens and city terraces—the apron that's tied on over slacks—which the woman who sews can make and wear with her man-styled trousers.

Movie starlet Joan Barton's patch-pocketed apron is designed to match her slacks and make a flattering work ensemble.

Besides making slacks look more flattering to her feminine figure, an apron with deep patch pockets is a big help-in-need to the woman who reaches in his apron pockets for the tools that he needs.

Love Your Man? Fine, But Liking Him Helps, Too

After 10 years of reading letters from women, I've come to the sad and somewhat disillusioning conviction that a great many women don't like their husbands.

How can you like someone you don't trust? And yet the wife who trusts her husband in a pretty rare these days.

Also, how can you like somebody who is eternally irritated by him? "George makes me so mad..." is the standard way of opening up a let's-discuss-our-husbands conversation.

WHY CRITICISM? Also, if you like somebody you want everybody else to like and admire him. Why then do wives go to such great lengths to run down their husbands?

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Haase—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Can you say when the playing of Sunday baseball games in staid Pennsylvania was first permitted?

NOW IS THE TIME OF the year when all of the colleges and universities throughout the state start sending out their football brochures, booklets, manuals and volumes extolling the prowess or bemoaning the chances of their grid machine that is in the making.

On the first page is the general information about the school and its grid staff. The coaches are the same as last season. J. Blair Cherry is head coach with three assistants, Ed Price, Bully Gilchrist and Eck Curtis. Jack Gray serves as chief scout and Harold Jungnichel as frosh coach.

The 1949 schedule for the Longhorns is as follows: Sept. 17, Texas at Tech at Austin; Sept. 24, Temple University at Philadelphia; Oct. 1, Idaho at Austin; Oct. 8, Oklahoma at Dallas; Oct. 15, Arkansas at Little Rock; Oct. 22, Rice at Austin; Oct. 29, Southern Methodist at Dallas; Nov. 6, Baylor at Austin; Nov. 12, Texas Christian at Austin and Nov. 24, Texas A&M at College Station.

On a page headed "Football Prospects—1949" the following is revealed:

"Not as much expected of the Longhorns this year because graduation took a heavy toll. However, a better won-and-lost record would not surprise because the schedule is not so tough. Four of last year's rivals earned bowl assignments.

There are 16 lettermen returning, only seven of whom have won five or more games. There will be a letterman available for every position except right end. There are two lettermen left ends, two tackles, three guards, two centers, two quarterbacks, two left halves, two right halves (one being Randy Clay) and one fullback.

"Most severe losses were George Petrovich and Ed Kelley, tackles, and Dick Harris, center. A total of 14 lettermen will be missing, 12 of them having won awards last year.

"Sophomores are counted on heavily for reserve strength. Eight of the eleven positions on the second string will be manned by Sophomores.

"The formation, with flanker and man-in-motion will be used for an offense. Ray Borneman, the No. 1 ball carrier in SWC play last year, is back at fullback, and good right half play is assured by the return of Randall Clay and Bubba Shands.

"Defense—the Longhorns have had the league's best defensive record for the past two years, and improvement may come this year.

"Passing—Paul Campbell finished well as a passer last year. Borneman and Lee probably will do most of the punting, and ANSWER: Sunday ball in Pennsylvania was not legalized until 1884.

DALLAS — (AP) — Bob Woodruff, coach of Baylor's Bears, certainly has changed since coming into the Southwest Conference three years ago.

Then, Bob was a very serious young man. He did little joking although quite friendly and genial.

That $12,500 a year and five-year contract may have had something to do with it. But anyway, some of the best wisecracks of any football season are emanating from Waco way these days.

Bob apparently eyes the pronouncements of one Madison Bell with suspicion. Mr. Bell is coach of Southern Methodist University where the conference championship and Cotton Bowl money have come to rest the past two years.

But it hasn't made Matty one iota of an optimist it seems. He is on record as predicting his team will lose four games this year. He said three last year and missed it by two.

Says the skeptical Woodruff from his Brazos bailiwick: "I can only add, after reading your article with reference to Matty Bell, if Matty can definitely see four losses this year, I don't know who the Bears (Baylor) will be able to lick. I also note you would like to see some scrimmage that's what I said in writing to the coaches I would visit their camps."

Since Harold Riley (Baylor star wingman) broke his leg playing touch football out in West Texas, I doubt if we will be able to scrimmage before the first game this year, because, if we lose one or two more boys of his caliber, it will be impossible for us to scrimmage and play also.

In the event we don't hold practice on Sept. 5 (the day we are to visit Baylor's football camp), we will serve ourselves a somewhat shady spot somewhere south of the campus."

Oh, come now, Mr. Woodruff. Mr. Bell will think you don't put any stock in what he has to say.

Speaking of Baylor, one of the better Bear halfbacks, Lyle Blackwood, is going to become known as the "best best man in the Southwest Conference."

Blackwood recently was best man at the wedding of Lyle Moeckel, Jr., for Baylor publicity man. That makes Blackwood's string four.

He was best man last December for Jerry Mangum, a Baylor footballer, and this summer did the honors for the boys who won in track and field to the National AAU Junior Track and Field Meet in Cleveland, with all expenses paid.

It would have been a fine thing but it did go against the league's amateur rule. There was nothing the league heads could do but give their opinion that any high school boy who made such a trip would be receiving valuable consideration for his athletic ability.

The recent Junior Olympics in Houston caused more discussions of the amateur rule. It was the intention of heads of the Junior Olympic Council that the boys who won in track and field to the National AAU Junior Track and Field Meet in Cleveland, with all expenses paid.

There have been many attempts to change the rule, or at least give more leeway. But the League has stood firm against it. A boy either is an amateur or a professional. There is a strict dividing line.

Jansen Wins No. 15 As Giants Top Reds NEW YORK — (AP) — Larry Jansen posted his 15th triumph of the season last night as he pitched the New York Giants to a 3-2 triumph over Ken Raffensberger and the Cincinnati Reds.

Box score for New York vs Cincinnati game.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Don't say it out loud, but a bunch of Texans coached by Texas will carry the grid load for the University of New Mexico against five Texas teams this fall.

The roster is liberally sprinkled with men from the Lone Star state.

The schedule calls for games against Rice at Houston, Hardin Simmons at Odessa, Texas Western at El Paso and Texas Tech at West Texas State, both at Albuquerque. Five other games are on tap.

Coach Berl Huffman commented recently on the prospects: "We play a 10-game schedule. We will field 11 men for each game."

He declined any further speculation. Huffman came to New Mexico in 1947 from Texas Tech. He's a native of Grapevine and went to Trinity University at Waco, Texas. He coached high school teams at White Deer and Lubbock before going to Texas Tech.

He's assisted by Walker Nichols, one-time Texas high school star from San Angelo, who later captained the 1935 Texas Tech grid team as a guard. He also coached at Lubbock High School and Texas Tech.

Bill Speer of Pampa and Gene Polk of Amarillo, both returning lettermen, are expected to pull down first string assignments at end. Bill Gentry of Tahoka and Kenny Pharr of Lubbock, also returning lettermen, will be in the running for guard positions.

Veteran tackles are Fred Reynolds and John Lookingbill, Amarillo, both of Amarillo, contenders for center; L. B. Petty, Hamlin, a 195-pound tackle prospect; Carliss Thornton and Ray Hayes, both of Amarillo, guards.

Indians Take Doubleheader From Bosox, 5-2, 5-4

CLEVELAND — (AP) — The Indians swept a doubleheader from the pennant-anxious Boston Red Sox yesterday, 5 to 2 and 5 to 4. They won the second game in the 10th inning when catcher Mike Tresh knocked in his first run of the year.

That gave the three-game series to the Indians and plunged the Red Sox to four games behind the league-leading New York Yankees. Cleveland pulled within 1 1/2 games of Boston.

The 33,159 paid fans and 7,002 non-paying children had a little hope that the Tribe would finish off the second contest in front. Ted Williams put the Red Sox ahead, 4 to 2, in the seventh inning with his 35th home run that scored Dom DiMaggio ahead of him.

But the Indians tied it up in the ninth. And in the 10th, Bob Kennedy shot a looping double in short right, sending Lou Bourdreau, who walked to third. Then Tresh, a weak hitter, came through with his single to score Bourdreau and win the game.

Pitcher Bob Feller won the first game, allowing the Red Sox nine hits, and Earl Johnson was the loser. Al Benton, who came in on relief in the ninth inning was credited with the second game. Joe Dobson got the defeat.

The Stanford Indians have 20 letters returning from the 1948 football squad which won four, lost six.

Asks Hunters Aid in Conservation of Doves

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — Don't shoot single mourning doves, Texas sportsmen were asked by the Texas Wildlife Federation.

Dr. Frederick H. Weston, federation president, said the Sept. 1 opening of the mourning dove season in the North Zone will find doves still nesting.

He asked in the interest of bird conservation that hunters shoot only at a flight of birds in the early days of the season. He said a single bird will no doubt be a nesting bird.

"We do not feel the mourning dove is on the way to extinction," Weston said, "but we can not be unmindful of what man did to the carrier pigeon and the white-winged dove by interfering with their nesting activities. Certainly, the present system of early season is interfering with the nesting activity of the mourning dove."

Sports - the Safety Valve

These are the days of baseball jitters for a lot of people between the two oceans. The man or woman who might conceivably forget to go to work some morning would properly be forgiven at least once.

Whether you are an Oiler's fan hoping to see the home team moving into the top division, or a Cardinals fan hoping to see them play in first place, Dodgers, Browns, and Yankees, it doesn't really make a lot of difference. You are having fun just the same.

It is the kind of entertainment found no other place on earth. He that strange as it certainly seems. It brings people to such enthusiasm in the country to cause a rather staid citizen of Brooklyn last year to "flow it" to be banned from the country. And that's the home of Dem Bums you know.

Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN LONDON - I do hope Errol Flynn went to the moon, but the biggest thrill they've had here in England for some time is news of the romance of our vice president, Alben Barkley.

Personally, I think every female is a walking affront to the feminine sex, and I am returning to America immediately to lend a hand in throwing the net over Mr. Barkley before he gets another Democratic administration. Believe me, if all we women cooperated, and helped one another to land our man, we'd soon make the matches hot more exact as the buffalo.

Conn. on Mr. Barkley, now you have to look forward to all you living around the country, telling funny jokes, going to parties and meeting glamorous people, and coming home next time in the morning you feel like: "What kind of life is that for a man? It's time you stopped enjoying yourself and got married."

WASHINGTON - (NEA) - Dropping of Argentine Foreign Minister Juan Atilio Bramuglia has recalled in Washington a story of how he first fell into President Peron's disfavor.

It was at the Rio de Janeiro Inter-American Conference in 1947. The conference met just when Argentine President First Lady Eva Peron was returning home after her grand triumphal tour through Europe.

Peron was instructed to arrange for her to appear before the conference and make a speech.

This was a suggestion which was arranged. Evita came into the hall and she cheered. Just as she was preparing to begin her speech the presiding officer said she felt all the delegates would want to adjourn to the next room where they could meet the First Lady of the Argentine.

So the doors were opened and the delegates streamed out to toss one up for Evita. They never did go back. Evita never got to make her speech. Bramuglia, one of the Argentine delegation, got blamed

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1949) NEW YORK Johnny Maragon's trouble over a quantity of rose oil which he brought in from Paris has raised a question which I welcome with gusto. It appears that Johnny's shipment was impounded and that the owner, a perfumier, had to pay punitive duties to get it out of quod. Johnny denies that he said this judge was champagne for the White House. I think he lies because if he hadn't been guilty the owner would not have paid a penalty in money and punishment.

But the question has been asked in loud type, why the Department of Justice didn't prosecute Maragon. That I want to know too. If it had been some jockey or jester of Republican hue and of equal status in the politico-personal household of Tom Dewey or Robert Taft, Tom Clark would have had at him and we all would have known the sort of details in a wild bewilderment of public outrage.

So I venture the suspicion that there has been another routine case of selective and discriminatory law-enforcement by the department of government whose title of "justice" has become a vulgar jest.

Increasingly ever since the inauguration of second Louisiana purchase when the department retained in criminal cases affecting Huey Long's men, justice has been a gruesome farce and lenity for sale to a common criminal.

There have been other cases. Sam Carp, of Bridgeport, Conn., is a brother-in-law of Vyacheslav M. Molotov, late foreign minister of the Soviet government. He went to Russia to visit and to make a dollar. He returned with a commission from Molotov to spend either 100 or 200 million dollars, at a commission of five or two percent. His memory was uncertain although he wields a sharp pencil in his ordinary commerce. The facts that he did enter dealings with naval constructors and architects looking toward the building of a battleship, and graced with Russian money a number of Democratic lobbyists and lawyers are admitted on oath by Carp and others.

He did not register as an agent of a foreign principal. He simply said he was not an agent and therefore had no obligation to register. Nevertheless he was an agent of the Soviet government and he violated a federal law which the Roosevelt regime assented several political non-conformists who were put to ruinous expense and great distress. This law was invoked against an associate of Eugene Garay, an anti-Roosevelt Democrat, to force Garay to give an inquiry which was turning up sedition and treason in the Federal Communications Commission. This was blackmail. To spare his friend from destruction, Garay quit, claiming as rotten as before.

Dean Acheson, at present the secretary of state and formerly the leader of that shady clique described as the "pro-Russian group," sent a specific request to the Committee on Un-American Activities to stop embarrassing Sam Carp.

There is at present on record sworn, uncontradicted information that Raisa Browder, the wife of Earl, obtained for fraud the visa which permitted her to enter the United States in 1943 and obtain citizenship. The untested testimony has it that this fraud was ordered by some person in the State Department whose name has not been revealed. If the Department of Justice can not prove who directed that crime, it is a useless luxury and ought to be cleaned out or wiped out.

There is abundant evidence that this woman was a Communist and therefore ineligible for immigration to say nothing of naturalization. She admitted this illegal entry to the consul at Montreal in September, 1944, when she got her visa for re-entry. Julian Laranje Pinkerton, a consul, swore that he was given an illegal order to approve her application for a visa and recommended the visa in violation of his own judgment which, by law,

JOHNSON - TODAY'S TARGET Defense Secretary Louis Johnson is getting considerable blame "blame" for current disclosures on the activities of Washington "five percenters." Last May, Johnson made a speech to the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, saying that he would drive the sellers of influence out of the military establishment.

The fact that the first case happened to hit President Truman's senior military aide merely emphasized that the armed services have not liked the way Malvern Harry Vaughan has been interfering in Pentagon affairs. So now the whippers have been started again, accusing Secretary Johnson of having ambitions for the presidency in 1952. The man being willing to assist Truman's official family so as to discredit the President as a possible rival.

HOUSING PROBLEM British Embassy had quite a housing problem on its hands in arranging for the coming Washington visit of Foreign Minister Ernest Bevin and Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps. It simply would not do to put one up at the Embassy and another at some hotel. So both had to be crowded into the Embassy with their personal staffs. When Bevin was here earlier this year, there were many midnight conferences and much scurrying about. It upset the usual calm routine of the Embassy and it disturbed the schedule of the young children of Ambassador Sir Oliver and Lady Franks. This time it will be worse.

GETTING THINGS STRAIGHT Philippine President Elpidio Quirino got quite a talking to when he visited Washington, U. S. loan of $75,000,000 plus $400,000,000 war damage claim payments and $100,000,000 rehabilitation payments have helped carry the Islands since their liberation. Some of this dough has been used to buy stuff from the States to such an extent that the Philippines now have an unfavorable trade balance running at the rate of $300,000,000 a year. These figures were shown to President Quirino. He was advised that he'd better do something to cut down luxury imports. U. S. war benefit payments and U. S. dollars are on their own. When President Quirino protested that U. S. business firms would complain if he cut off their exports, he was told that would make no difference, and that he had better effect a realistic hold on his financial situation.

Common Ground

"The Easy-Money Panacea" Students of money and banking realize that the administration is acting exactly as could be expected when the government interferes with free banking. It doesn't make a particle of difference whether it is a so-called Republic or a dictator form of government. The only remedy for unemployment and the declining standard of living that government officials attempt to use is to issue more and more credit used as money.

The present administration is doing exactly as the Republican administration did in the middle late twenties. At that time students of money talked to Ogden L. Mills, who was later Secretary of the Treasury. They warned him of the dangers of expanding credit. Mills told those who were pointing out the dangers of expanding credit that they knew they were heading for a collapse but the politicians would not permit them to contract credit. Now the administration is doing exactly the same thing.

This is what the American Institute of Economic Research in Washington highlights the fact that one-time leading "liberals" of the New Deal-Fair Deal administration are even now peddling the prestige and information they obtained largely as a result of their years on the public payroll and their friendship with the great.

While many of these individuals are earning rich fees legitimately as lawyers, industrial advisers, public relations counselors, etc., it is highly doubtful if most of them would have attained their present position and wealth if it had not been for their previous expropriations.

ABILITY - Ironically, the number includes the same men who as presidential executives and members of Congress, frequently denounced the profit system and private enterprise as conducted in the United States during their term of office.

For almost every one of these ex-officials now earn their living by working for some of the nation's greatest corporations - railroad, radio, mail order, manufacturing, oil, etc.

It is true they showed unquestioned ability while in public service. It is presumed they now render service commensurate with the tremendous amounts of money they are paid. They simply waited to peddle their talents and government training until after they signed the payroll for the last time.

RETURN - On the other hand, they have a distinct advantage over competitors by reason of their past and prospective influence. Some of them are responsible for the appointment of key officials in such departments as Interior, Agriculture, Treasury, State, Commerce, etc.

Naturally, they can obtain important favors and material assistance denied to other men. There is always the possibility that, as has happened with several of them, they might be recalled to public life, and again in the seats of the mighty. Therefore, the officials they deal with now must be cooperative for their future's sake.

As for former members of Senate and House, there is the chance that they might return to Congressional office, where they would again have a voice in such matters as departmental appropriations, promotions, salary increases, etc.

BAR - Allowing for the difference in the kinds of service performed, and for the fact that these men waited until after their temporary end of their official careers, it can be said that the money they received for the inside job by Major General Harry Hawkins Vaughan, John Maragon and James V. Hunt for their friends and clients, respectively, did not amount to five percent of the sums these ex-New Dealers and Fair Dealers earn in a month.

As a consequence of the Vaughan - Maragon - Hunt exposure, Senator Clyde Hoey of North Carolina proposes a law checking various varieties of "men's influence."

He would bar public officials, including Army-Navy-Air officers, from appearing before or trafficking with a government agency until a certain number of years - two, three or five - after they have terminated their service. Such a delay, he believes, would tend to minimize their official and unofficial weight as Washington.

It is doubtful if Congress will ever enact such a measure and it has pigeon-holed such proposals in the past. No member knows when a defeat at the polls will force him to earn his keep in the same way.

LIST - Here is only a partial list of former crusaders for the bigger, better and more abundant life now making those bright dreams come true - for themselves, at least - as servants of big business and industry: Ex-Trust Buster Thurman Arnold, former Price Administrator Paul Porter, Abe Fortas, Harold L. Ickes, one time legal adviser; Tommie Corcoran, an original Brain Truster; Gerard P. Reilly, former NLRB member; Robert R. Nathan, top War

That Education-Aid Argument

By GORDON MARTIN

When September's in the offing and the August lawns are brown, and the final blast of summer heat is scorching up the town, you can find a lot of youngsters who are playing very hard, for they view the last of summer with a mighty fond regard. Then they always linger longer in the cooling swimming pool, for that fatal day is nearing when they're going back to school.

Now it's been a grand vacation and they hate to give it up, for instead of sums and spelling, kids prefer a frisky pup. Or the fun of playing Indian and of fishin' in the lake, and the soon-forgotten pangs of some big picnic stomach-ache. But the time has come for barefoot squirts to have September blues, and their feet must be accustomed once again to wearing shoes.

If the boys and girls are sad because their schools will open soon, weary parents may be thankful it's September 'stead of June. For it means some regulation in the lives of smaller fry, who've been underfoot for days and often hard to satisfy. And when back to class the youngsters go, their mothers will give thanks that there's such a thing as public schools where kids can't play their pranks.

KING'S COMMENTS

By Dr. WILLIAM L. KING

SABOTAGING OUR DEFENSE PROGRAM Our Constitution defines two kinds of treason:

1. Levying war against the United States.

2. Adhering to its enemies; giving them aid and comfort.

The first is an admirably clear and unambiguous procedure, for it has been a long time since we have had many traitors falling into the category of the Republic, Class 2 treason seems to entail far less risk. Therefore, it is not surprising to find recent investigations revealing the fact that the popular method of attempting to undermine the Nation's security is to bore from within. The Communists appear to have perfected this technique to a high degree.

After the easy victory won by a handful of revolutionists in Russia in 1917, many Communists here naturally jumped to the conclusion that their major job was to train shock troops to barricade streets, seize public utilities, control arsenals. But 32 long years have passed, and the United States has offered them no opportunity to utilize such training. Hence, today, the "Red" High Command seems to have adopted a different philosophy.

Doubleless, Stalin and his minions realize fully that our victory in World War II was largely due to our superior industrial efficiency. Therefore, they apparently have concluded that, if America is to be destroyed, an essential prerequisite is to reduce radically that efficiency.

Russia has been waiting most impatiently for the advent of depression in the United States. But our industrial potential is so huge that she does not feel it safe to rely upon depression alone to give her the desired superiority. Clearly, it is imperative to devise measures which will cut down drastically the output of our industries - most especially those turning out such "staples of war" as guns, trucks, tanks, planes, and the marvelously intricate electrical apparatus used for their operation. What means for hampering such production would seem most likely to be effective?

An obvious answer is featherbedding. Striking unions to introduce more and more restrictive measures. Their habitual devotion to such practices as requiring the railroads to employ unnecessarily large train crews, forbidding painters to use spray guns, setting maximum quotas for bricklayers, and forcing the hiring of superfluous musicians and electricians, make them ideal catspaws to rake the Communist chestnuts of the fire. John J. Lewis' three-day-a-week limit on coal production also fits perfectly into the Communist scheme for reducing American output.

But the traitors bent on the destruction of our Republic have no thought of staking the success of their undertaking solely upon the more or less fortuitous aid furnished by the labor monopolies. They believe it feasible to use the Congress of the United States as a tool to encompass its own destruction. Does this plan seem too chimerical to be worth trying? The "Reds" do not see it that way. If you doubt this statement, read Section 630 of House Bill 1144, the Armed Services Appropriation Bill - now pending in Congress. It begins: No

I haven't said anything wrong, and I haven't been in any shops. I have never touched a drop of liquor and I have acted exactly as I would in the States when I was with my own mother.

I agree explicitly with Mr. Hoover that the country is moving to the left. I think the issue that the Republican Party should stand on is opposing the welfare state.

Dog and Five Cats Get Inheritance

SANTA ROSA, Calif. - (AP) - A dog and five cats have inherited two houses, furniture and an income for the rest of their lives.

The will of Mrs. Catherine O'Leary, prominent Petaluma, Calif., newspaper woman who died earlier this month at 74, was filed Friday. It left these for her pets:

Her home and its furniture as long as they live, the revenue from another house, benefits from her social security and a savings account.

The will specified for the pets a diet twice daily of "boiled meat fixed in a stew with carrots flavored with onions and garlic."

part of the appropriations made in this Act shall be available for contracts with any person, firm, or corporation to make or cause to be made with a stop watch or other time-measuring device a time study of any job of any employees.

Shades of Frederick W. Taylor, Harrington Emerson, and Frank Gilbreth!

Time and motion studies are foundation stones upon which our vaunted superior efficiency rests. Can one imagine a more ingenious and diabolical way of sabotaging our military potential than by abolishing time and motion studies?

But be assured that the supporters of this measure will contend that it is nothing more than an innocent provision inserted to prevent the exploitation of helpless workmen by ruthless employers.

Doubleless, if the traitors in our midst succeed in getting this statutory provision adopted they will follow it up with a series of other equally pernicious proposals. But now that the plan has been exposed, it scarcely seems possible that patriotic Congressmen will allow it to remain in the Armed Services Bill. If it cannot block such obvious sabotage of our defense program, the outlook for our Nation's future is certainly dark.

FARM FACTS WORTH KNOWING

1. How fast do rats reproduce?
Rats begin to breed at two to three months of age, and the period of gestation is about 21 days. The average litter is probably ten, and one female may have from three to four litters a year. That is why it is so important to guard against this rodent and why rat control requires constant attention.

2. How often should the litter in my broiler house be changed?
It should be changed when it becomes damp or when a contagious disease breaks out. Usually additional litter should be added every few days to a shallow covering placed over the floor before the chicks arrive. After each brood of chicks, of course, the broiler house should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and new litter should be provided.

3. Why should dairy cows receive a special grain ration during the dry period?
High producing cows are unable to consume enough food nutrients to nourish the unborn calf, produce a heavy flow of milk, and keep up their bodies. Therefore, they need a special grain ration, high in minerals and vitamins, during the dry period. Data from the Research Farm of the Ralston Purina Company indicate that each pound of condition put on dry Holstein cows means about 25 pounds extra milk next lactation period.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word
When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulky person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Never take any treatment for a gland condition without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which claim to get down on the food intake and give you vitamins for the sugar. But as mentioned above, you should keep this up very

Supersound Plays Part In Agriculture, Industry

Texas Ranks Third in Meat Output
With an estimated meat output of more than one billion, 347 million pounds on its farm—and ranches last year, Texas ranked third among all states in the production of this food product, according to a statement just issued by the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

The importance of Texas as a meat-producing state also was shown by the fact that the cash sales of cattle, hogs, and sheep exceeded $84 million dollars, or an average of 1.6 million dollars per day.

Texas cattle ranked first among meat animals in the state's farm revenue, total cattle sales being $473,412,000. The sale of cattle in 1948 accounted for about 81 cents of every Texas meat animal dollar.

The nation's production of meat last year totaled 21 billion, 541 million pounds, according to the board. The average American ate 146.1 pounds of meat in 1948, including 63.4 pounds of beef, 9.4 pounds of veal, 86.3 pounds of pork and 5 pounds of lamb.

About 20 pounds more meat was consumed per person in 1948 than in the average year of the prewar period, 1935-39.

Farmers Can Spike Feed
TOPEKA, Kan.—Have you heard about APF? It's short for animal protein factor. The September issue of Capper's Farmer reports that this discovery may offer a new way for farmers to spike feed of hogs and poultry.

Nobody knows exactly what APF is, the story points out. Scientists believe vitamin B12 is a part of APF. They think APF may be made up of B12 and one or more unknown vitamins. These substances have been in feeds and foods since time began. But scientists only recently discovered them, and are busy learning how to make them synthetically and how to use them.

APF is in milk, meat, fish and other animal source protein foods and feeds. It is the stuff which makes tankage, meat scraps, fish meal, dried milk and other processing by-products good supplements for hog and poultry gains. It supplies the extra kick which makes better gains than such plant proteins as soybean, cottonseed, linseed and other plant source meals.

Experimenters like C. C. Culbertson of State College, want to see if APF will make proteins of vegetable origin do the work of animal source proteins. He points out that if $70 soybean meal can be made to do the job of $110 hankage, the supplement should save a lot of money. There never have been enough animal proteins for everybody to balance rations, so APF may increase the supply of grain balancers for hogs and poultry.

In Iowa and Missouri trials, pigs that got synthetic B12 in rations required less feed to make 100 pounds of gain than those fed an all-plant ration and the same diet supplemented by fish soluble distillers' solubles. Chickens that got APF concentrate grew faster than birds on a ration without animal protein.

Practical tests on farms have been set up to test rations fortified by the new synthetic supplements. The magazine points out that the best ration that can be mixed won't do the trick without good management. So don't expect a miracle from a little extra supplement.

Boy Gets $5, Neighbor Pot Of Chicken Stew
HOUSTON—(AP)—When 11-year-old William Seth Brown found his pet rooster was gone he marched straight to the police station.

He made a complaint. Police went to the home of a neighbor got the man out of bed, took a pot of chicken stew off the stove, and brought both to headquarters.

"The rooster's name was Biff. I fed him every day," said Bill, in tears. "I paid for the feed myself with money I made shinning shoes."

Nothing could bring back Biff, Detective H. B. Hooten told Billy. Then the officer had a talk with the neighbor.

Billy got $5. He said he could buy another rooster; maybe even name him Biff.

The neighbor took his $5 pot of chicken stew and went home.

Nation Is Urged to Stop Wasting Water

The past few years have been dry ones throughout irrigated areas of Texas, the Progressive Farmer reports. There was little rain for the city reservoirs or the parched crops in the fields, the story "Let's Stop Wasting Water" continued.

Red Bluff Reservoir in West Texas has been almost dry for the past two years. The Lower Rio Grande Valley has had water shortages recently with shut-downs and irrigation holidays put into effect.

These conditions make it important that the most efficient method is used in getting water from the resources.

During the High Plains irrigation season any motorist can see water wasting into road ditches and shallow lakes, the story said.

Field tests by the soil conservation service on farms irrigated with improved irrigation systems show that nine to ten inches of excess ten inches applied to the land is stored in the soil for crop use.

On the other hand, as little as four or five inches is stored in the soil where farmers are not using improved systems. The remaining 65 to 75 percent is being lost by evaporation, seepage, deep percolation and run-off or waste from the fields.

Conservation irrigation means land and water suitable for irrigation, applying a practical system to fit the needs of the land, controlling erosion and conserving water, applying the water without waste and according to the needs of the land and crop and maintaining the productivity of the soil.

Roberts Farmers Construct Terraces
Clark Mathers is planting a cover crop of hairy vetch, it was announced from the Roberts County Conservation District.

Hairy vetch is a nitrogen fixing crop which builds up the soil fertility. It is being fertilized with 20 percent super-phosphate on the Mathers farm.

Bruce Maddox is constructing terraces on his farm northwest of Miami. The terraces will empty into a pasture strip so the water disposal problem will be remedied.

Meanwhile, Walt Ehmann is constructing a diversion to protect some of his farm land.

Tomatoes on Fence Yield Best for Small Garden
Careful tests have shown that on a given ground area more tomatoes can be grown on plants pruned to a single stem and tied to a stake or fence, than in any other way. They ripen earlier, too, and in many ways this method is best for the amateur who is growing a small garden.

Single stem plants may be spaced a foot apart; plants pruned to double stems may stand 21 inches apart, while plants that spray on the ground require from 2 1/2 to 10 square feet, depending on variety.

Varieties of normal vine growth are the only kind that should be staked and pruned. So-called determinate varieties, of which the stem stop growing after they reach a certain length, while the plant devotes all its energies to ripening the fruit which has set, should never be pruned, and get no benefit from staking, but they may be planted 18 inches apart, and allowed to spread on the ground. They bear a good early crop, but over a shorter season than the normal varieties.

Keeping tomato plants pruned and tied needs constant attention. At the joint where each leaf grows on the main stem, a branch will develop, and this must be cut or pinched off before it is four inches long, otherwise its removal may weaken the plant.

To grow a two-stem plant, select one branch coming from the main stem 10 inches above the surface, and allow both main stem and branch to grow. Single stem plants can be twisted about a supporting cord. Two-stem plants may be tied with material that will not cut arranged in a loose loop around the stem, to avoid constriction.

Tomatoes require full sun, heavy feedings and regular watering. When the soil is allowed to dry out, with fruit set, a black decay spot known as "blossom-end rot" may develop on the fruit. Watering during dry spells will prevent this.

A heavy mulch of dry lawn clippings, several inches deep, covering the soil will help keep the water supply even. Before setting out tomato plants, spade a complete plant food into the soil, using at least 4 pounds for each 100 square feet. When fruit begins to set, plant food should be applied to the soil surface in a circle several inches from the stem, but do not stir the soil deeply, as the roots spread widely near the surface and should not be disturbed.

SOME 6,000 PAMPANS USE PUBLIC LIBRARY
Pampa Public Library has around 6,000 patrons, it was found in a card count taken last week.

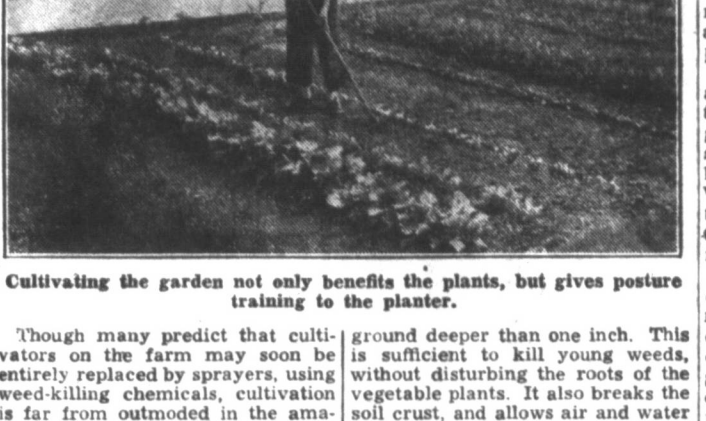

"And you know," said Mrs. Lillian Snow, librarian, "good literature is coming back. People are reading 'Little Women' and 'Gone With the Wind' again."

Mrs. Snow added the library has five copies of 'Little Women' and all are out. It's the same with the three copies of 'Gone With the Wind.'

The library has several new books on its shelves this week. Great Ghost Stories of the World: This is a collection of 27 world-famous stories written by such writers as Edgar A. Poe, Guy de Maupassant, R. L. Stevenson and Alexander Woolcott and includes stories like 'The Screaming Skull,' 'The Beast With Five Fingers,' and 'The Ghost Ship.'

The American Guide: This much-talked-of book is said to be the only complete travel guide to the U. S. It is a mile by mile description of the country and tells how to go, what to see and how to get there. The nation is divided into eight sections and a brief description given of each, then hundreds of tours in these sections gives the armchair tourist the culture, history and economic and social life of the people and their country. Edited by Henry G. Alsberg, the book has 46 pages of maps.

Right Touch and Timing Reduce Home Garden Toil

Cultivating the garden not only benefits the plants, but gives pasture training to the planter.

Though many predict that cultivators on the farm may soon be entirely replaced by sprayers, using weed-killing chemicals, cultivation is far from outmoded in the amateur garden. There is no practical substitute for the cultivating tool in killing weeds and breaking the soil crust, to insure aeration of the soil.

But with the right touch and timing, this once wearisome garden task can now be done as easily as sweeping the floor. The research scientists, in fact, say that the secret of correct cultivation is to take it easy. Cultivation should begin as soon as the young plants begin to grow.

At this stage, if the soil between plants is stirred, it will be found to be full of tiny white sprouts, which are weeds, beginning to develop. One easy stroke of a sharp hoe or cultivating tool will destroy scores of them before they have begun to compete with the vegetable plants for available plant food and water.

As long as weeds are killed in infancy, cultivation will be easy, but once they are allowed to begin substantial growth, not only do crops suffer but work will increase, and the care of the garden may become a chore.

It is seldom necessary to stir the ground deeper than one inch. This is sufficient to kill young weeds, without disturbing the roots of the vegetable plants. It also breaks the soil crust, and allows air and water to penetrate readily.

Deep cultivation will dry out the soil, and may disturb the surface roots of your vegetable plants, which may do more harm than the cultivation does good.

Besides destroying weeds in the space between rows, those which grow in the row itself must be pulled when tiny. This requires hand work, and is always tedious, but if attended to promptly it takes little time, and once the vegetables have become well established, hand weeding will be unnecessary.

Free air circulation in the soil has been proved to be a vital factor in the growth of plants. In properly porous soil there is a complete change of air to a depth of eight inches every hour. When the soil becomes compacted and crusted on the surface, this exchange is seriously hampered. Crust formation can be checked by various methods, including the application of a mulch, or by growing a living mulch of fescue grasses. But lacking a mulch, frequent shallow cultivation is necessary, especially after every rain.

Some Minerals Are Musts for Healthy Animals

Just a half pound of your 250-pound pig is phosphorus, according to an article in the Nation's Agriculture.

The farm magazine said without phosphorus, the pig will die. Other just as badly needed minerals to livestock are calcium and sodium. Trace elements which are needed by livestock in very small amounts include cobalt, iron, copper and manganese.

Some of these trace elements are "musts" for healthy animals, the article continued. Grass and grains in Dade County, Fla., are short in copper and iron, studies have indicated. Callam County, Wash., needs iodine to check goiter. While in San Diego County, Calif., studies have shown there isn't enough phosphorus.

Farmers may wonder how they can spot animals that suffer from mineral shortages. Some of the early symptoms include bone chewing, loss of appetite, slow gains, rough and scrubby coats or just general unthrifty conditions.

The common mineral deficiencies may be counter-balanced by feeding livestock mineral rations or building up the mineral content of the soil.

HORSE POWER
Two-thirds of American farms still depend either wholly or partially on horses and mules for motive power.

Wood Is Cash Crop; Adds Share in Income
No longer is the farm wood lot a forgotten forty where the owner cuts winter stove wood and occasionally shoots a squirrel. Wood is a cash crop that adds an imposing share to farm income.

Signs of this new business hang by entrance gates of selected farms in 23 states, says Capper's Farmer. The words tree farm are lettered in white on a green background. The message displays this sign is working an organized plan of conserving timber.

One of these tree farms belongs to Warren H. Bowman in Stark County, Ohio. Through the years his attractive 92-acre wood lot has produced much of the farm's own timber needs. But recently the wood lot has taken on new importance. Over $6,500 of wood products have been sold in the last two years. Christmas trees, cordwood and sawlogs have been the principal harvest from natural growth timber and hand planted forest of white and red pine, black walnut and tulip trees.

Bowman's 92 acres is part of 38 million acres of timberland certified in Tree Farms in 8 years, the story says. There is good reason for this interest in small farm timber tracts. Farmers own 30 percent of our tree land.

The average farm woodlot contains 43 acres. Three-fourths of the pulpwood used in paper-

Man Confesses Killing Three
FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Franklin Clark, 30, who has signed a confession he killed three women, was a pallbearer at the funeral of one of them.

Sam Kuzeff, whose daughter, Anna, was slain and left in a wheat field five years ago, told reporters Saturday that the body farm worker helped carry the body at the funeral.

Meanwhile, Sheriff Harold Zeick said at least one part of Clark's confession checked exactly with details from police records.

Clark told at length of being chased by police as he fled in a stolen car after disposing of the body of Phyllis Conroy, 17-year-old high school student. The sheriff said a police report at the time gave identical details of the chase.

Clark's statements added confusion to an already baffling situation involving four sex slayings: Ralph Lobaugh, Kokomo factory worker, is under death sentence for one slaying.

He confessed, and then denied, that slaying and two others.

Robert V. Christen, former Fort Wayne druggist, is under life sentence for the same killing for which Lobaugh, whose execution is under stay, was sentenced.

Two of the killings confessed by Clark are the other two confessed by Lobaugh.
