WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT NEA Staff Writer

Women talk a lot. But as a rule women aren't nearly as good conversationalists as men are.

It was in 1928. No, it must have been 1929 because I distinctly remember it was the winter the children had chicken pox.

Another fault is that women rush along and hurry their talk, trying to get in as many words as possible.

To Excavate for Basement or Not to Excavate Faces All Home Owners

One of the decisions facing every home planner today is whether or not to excavate for a basement beneath the new house. There are arguments both for and against a basement in present-day building, but one of the chief factors affecting the decision is the type of heating plant that is to be installed. The choice of a heating system probably will lie between hot air, and hot water or steam heating. For hot air systems, provision must be made in planning the basement for the additional space which will be required for the furnace, accessories and ductwork for air distribution. Gravity hot air heating jobs, heating experts say, usually require about 100 percent more basement floor space than a boiler of comparable size. When the filter, humidifier and other accessories are added provision usually must be made for about 300 percent more space than is required by a boiler.

Because the boiler, and small distribution pipes of a hot water or steam system require much less space, such systems normally are advisable in homes where it is planned to use the basement for other purposes than central heating. Recreation rooms are popular in new homes, especially in homes with growing children, and laundry, home workshops, hobby rooms and other facilities are desirable. Such rooms are usually located in the basement, and the more compact the heating systems, the more space will be available for such purposes. Current growing popularity of convector-radiators for new homes may provide an additional reason for choosing hot water heating, or steam. Convectors have raised heating standards both from the standpoint of comfort and because they blend so effectively with modern room decorations. Heating plants can be installed in utility rooms of basement houses, but such rooms of necessity, means sacrificing area which could otherwise be used for living quarters. A basement almost always is desirable if you want more room in your house, especially if your building lot is small.

Heating Structures Are Not Intricate

No complicated wall, floor or ceiling construction is required with convector heating. This makes possible a substantial saving in the planning of new homes and accounts, in part, for the growing use of convector radiators in new houses.

OLD HOMES SHOULD BE REPAIRED

Summertime is the best time for the quick modernization and repair of older homes. Material and equipment are now in plentiful supply to bring older homes up to date. Not only will such an investment add to the home's comfort and convenience, but it will help maintain the value of the house in today's active market for used homes.

Most in demand for older homes are modern bathrooms, efficient streamlined kitchens, complete insulation and economical heating systems. The latter are especially important if the house is being listed for sale. Installation of modern heating equipment and good insulation often will pay for itself many times over in the increased value they give to the house in the eyes of the prospective purchaser.

Often the replacement of old heating units of the heat distribution system will add substantially to values. Installation of modern convectors, in place of old radiators, for example, will not only add to comfort but give the house a being listed for sale, helping its years. For use either with steam or hot water systems, convectors are simple to install; and if the central system is fairly new, or still efficient by modern standards, new convectors often will provide the heating modernization desired.

In the same way, modern kitchens and bathrooms are a good investment. Even if the house is not to be sold, they will contribute a wealth of extra comfort and convenience to the home. On the other hand, if the house is listed, such improvements will more than pay for themselves.

Repair and modernization of older homes are at an all-time peak, building experts say.

A new soybean product is said to be a glue which becomes waterproof when heated.

Radiation Prices Brought Down

Simplification of design of modern convector-radiators, and improved production techniques, have brought the price of convector radiation below that of cast iron radiators in modern building design, the Convactor Manufacturers Association reports. Lower installation costs, and the avoidance of special building construction, also have contributed to the economy of using convectors, the association says.

Convectors are used with either steam or hot water heating — "wet heat," as they are termed in the heating trade. Advantages of "wet heat" are the long service life of steam and hot water systems, low operating and maintenance costs, year round supplies of domestic hot water without the necessity of buying a separate water heater, and greater personal safety for home occupants.

Convectors are made in sizes for either small or large homes, and are widely used in hospitals, schools, office buildings and institutions.

Unit Concealed for Safety in New Home

In contrast to older heating units, convector-radiators have no exposed hot metal to endanger occupants of rooms. The finished heating unit, through which steam or hot water passes, is completely enclosed within the convector's metal cabinet. The front panel of the convector becomes warm and emits a mild radiant heat, as a plus benefit to the steady circulation of convected heat, but the convector never becomes too hot to touch.

Farm Auction Sales Go Modern for Planes

GRAND FORKS, Minn. — (AP) — The advertisement of a nearby farm auction carries a new and modern note.

Instead of hitching posts and parking space, the handbill cites "airplane landing field just south of sale site."

Avoid Bargain Basement Buys In Selecting Heat System

Forget bargain basement standards in selecting the heating system for your new home. Few decisions are of more importance from the standpoint of lasting satisfaction and comfort, and skimping in this department of the planning may cost much more in the long run than any saving that might be made now.

This is the advice of leading builders and contractors, who term the heating system the "heart" of the successful new home. The life span of the heating system is the important consideration, rather than the original cost of the system, they say.

For instance a hot air system, to cite one example, is probably the lowest cost system that can be installed, but experience may prove that it costs more to own over the years. The life of a forced hot air system is from seven to twenty years as compared with a life span of from twenty-five years upward for a hot water system, using modern convector-radiators. If the hot air system costs $1,800 and the hot water plant costs $2,000, the cost per year to the home owner over the comparative lives of the two systems would be $100 per year for hot air as contrasted to $80 per year for hot water. Thus a saving is affected over the long haul, despite the lower original price of hot air.

Furthermore, heating contractors say, this is only one approach to the problem. Also important are repair and maintenance costs. Which system requires the most attention after it is installed? A saving of only $20 or $30 per year for maintenance will multiply into an appreciable figure over the life span of the system. Also, systems should be compared from the standpoint of the comfort they provide. Check each system, too, for cleanliness. Find out which system will ease house-keeping chores instead of adding to them. Consider the health angle in relation to the operation of each type of system, as a safeguard for the family, especially each of these systems, compare them and accept the helpful guidance of your heating contractor, and your chances of going wrong are minimized.

Convectors Fit Small Rooms Well

In furnishing small rooms, avoid the use of large, massive pieces of furniture which limit the available space for living and give the rooms a cramped, awkward appearance. Many of the newer pieces of furniture are designed especially for small rooms and should be selected with the size of the room in mind.

Permanent fixtures, such as heating units, also should be graceful and unobtrusive. In small homes heated with steam or hot water, convector radiators are effective. They are extremely compact, requiring little floor space, and they may be used either as free-standing units, flush against the walls, or as recessed units fitted snugly into the walls.

Walls of small rooms should be light in color, and plain. Dark colors tend to close in small rooms. By the same token, resist the temptation to use figured wallpapers. Mirrors help give an illusion of spaciousness to small rooms. Carpeting also helps, if it is plain and in light colors.

New Homes Use Convector System

Convactor radiators, popular for use in new or modernized homes, apartments or institutional buildings, are generally available in three types. These include the floor-standing cabinet, recessed cabinet, and wall-hung styles.

The floor model is designed for both free standing installation and for recessing in walls, usually beneath windows. When recessed in walls, either partially or completely, only the smooth front of the cabinet is visible. This installation saves valuable floor space and gives a streamlined, modern appearance to rooms.

Wall-hung types, with sloping top or vertical face grille, are suspended about two feet above the floor. They are usually for use in commercial or institutional buildings.

Easy to paint, convectors are attractive assets in almost any decorative setting.

Hot Water Bonus With System

Keep in mind the importance of domestic hot water supply when choosing a heating system for your new home. With a forced hot water heating system, domestic hot water is a year-round "bonus" without the need for additional equipment. Hot air systems require a water heater separate from the heating system, or a water-heater coil in the furnace. Chief disadvantage of the latter, builders say, is the lack of hot water during summer months when the furnace is not operating.

In appraising the installation costs of comparable systems, the cost of a separate water heater—approximately $150—should be added to the base price of hot air systems.

'Chimney Action' Is Convector Heat Aid

The modern convector-radiator consists of two parts in one compact unit—the actual heating unit through which steam or hot water flows, and the cabinet which encloses the unit. The cabinet provides "chimney action" for the healthful circulation of air and is a safeguard against contact with the heating unit. A removable front panel provides easy access to the interior for seasonal dusting, as required.

SAFE STORAGE
Fire prevention officials warn against storing flammable liquids in glass bottles. They break too easily, spilling liquids, which may be ignited by the smallest spark. The best way to store flammable liquids is in galvanized steel gasoline or oil cans, and to keep the cans away from excessive heat.

Dodgers Beat Cards in Final Behind Fireballer Newcombe

ST. LOUIS — A masterful pitching job by Don Newcombe, the huge Negro rookie, gave the Brooklyn Dodgers a 4-2 triumph over the league leading St. Louis Cardinals Sunday. Sportswoman's Park bulged with 32,965 fans, largest crowd of the year here. The Cards counted twice in the ninth in a last-ditch bid for a victory.

Thus the arch rivals of the National League played each other to a standstill in their three-game series, and the runner-up Dodgers remain one and a half games off the pace. They played to a 3-3 tie Friday night in a contest cut short by the league curfew, and the Cardinals took a temporary lead of two and a half games with a stirring 7-6 victory Saturday night.

The 23-year-old Newcombe struck out six in the eighth and Cards to eight hits, three of them in the final inning. It was his ninth victory against three defeats and his first verdict over St. Louis.

The peppy Dodgers scored their runs in typical manner and gave catcher Joe Garagiola, the hero of the Cardinal triumph Saturday night a bad time. Gene Hermanski, Billy Cox and Jackie Robinson each stole a base. Newcombe drove in one run himself. The other counters were scored on a double play, an outfield fly, and a close play at home on a fly.

The three-game series drew a total of 95,119 paid spectators and the Cardinal management estimated at least 100,000 reservations were turned down.

NEW YORK — The Cardinals' ace pitcher, Bobo Newsome, was held to a 1-0 record in the first game of the series. He pitched for 4 1/2 innings, allowing four hits and one run. The Cardinals' offense was held to a total of three runs in the three games.

Screwy Doings From Last Week's Sports Pages Due to Weather

By WILL GRIMSLEY

An umpire got robbed in Ottawa. It was High Mac Donald of the Border League, who had $200 in clothing, etc., lifted. There were umpire troubles also at Waterbury, Conn. The blind tons of the city amateur league struck because of a pay cut and the boys had to leave early. The cause of the trouble was the loss of a game. Now the players tip their hats when they protest a decision and no profanity please. In New Orleans, the Southern Association honored the veteran Stambaugh Johnson, the ump who never wanted to go to the majors because he said, "I like to be cussed with the South, an accent."

Sam Zoldak, Cleveland relief pitcher, hit his first home run of his six years in the majors, only to have it not count when rain washed out the game after four innings in New York. Jersey Joe Walcott, in Sweden for a fight, stopped Stockholm traffic when besieged by auto-graph-seekers. And NBA heavyweight Champion Ezza Ray Charles stopped a television show in New York — with a base fiddle.

That's all, except the black snake that decided the Lawrence, Mass., suburban league baseball championship at Salem, N. H. When Salem shortstop Bruce Magson reached down to grab an important grounder he felt something in his glove. Out popped a foot-long black snake. Magson didn't catch the ball and St. Michaels won the game, 6-4. A Magson only caught air.

Indians Move to First Division

By The Associated Press

Oklahoma City is in the first division of the Texas League today — thanks to Dallas.

The Indians whipped Houston, 10-9, last night and moved into fourth when the Eagles stomped Shreveport, 11-2.

Tulsa edged closer to first place by whipping San Antonio, 2-1 and 7-6, while league-leading Fort Worth edged Beaumont, 8-7.

Dallas kicked Oklahoma City around at the beginning of the season, but last night really did the Indians a favor. The victory over Shreveport left the Eagles firmly in third place, gave them a clean sweep of the series and extended their current winning streak to four games.

Pete Lewis' two-run homer saved Shreveport from being blanked.

Eighteen hits, five by Herb Conyers, the league's top batter, gave Oklahoma City its victory.

Fort Worth scored three runs without a hit in the eighth inning to shade Beaumont. The vets did it on five walks and a hit batsman.

A pitcher Frank Smith got credit for both Tulsa victories. He allowed six hits in going the distance in the first game, then relieved John Bebbel in the eighth inning of the second tilt. Joe Adcock's game-winning single came after two were out in the ninth.

Waco Coach Doesn't Look for Repeater

BEAUMONT — Carl Price, whose Waco team swept undefeated in the Class AA Texas Schoolboy Football Championship last fall, says he won't be 50 percent as good this season.

Here attending the Texas coaching school, Price went in his head and then he talked about 1949 prospects.

"You have to score to win football games and I can't figure out how we can do it with what I have back," he declared and expressed gratitude that he was being permitted to be quoted. He wanted to get on the line and get off the spot.

"I had a Senior ball club last September, the boys came to me and told me not to worry — that they were going to win the championship. I didn't believe it; I never dreamed they would work into such a smooth team and that I would have the balance that I figured the Waco team last season."

Then he commented sadly: "None of the boys have told me not to worry this time. They haven't even said they'd win the championship. There's a good reason, too. I can't see how I'm to have much chance against that veteran Temple team that's coming up."

Price admitted he had 16 letters coming back, but said only two of them were regulars last season. They were Robert Knowles, a tackle, and Joe Mac Gresham, an end. He also pointed out that he would have only two from his 1948 second team — Roland King, a tackle, and Bob Sherman, an end. The latter played with the regulars considerably on offense last year.

Furthermore, he related, his 1948 team of 1948 won only two games and the only top prospect from that aggregation is a place kicker, a pretty good one.

Gassers Divide Pair With Leading Dukes

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. — The Albuquerque Dukes snapped their four-game losing streak last night to swamp the Borger Gassers 17-6 behind the effective pitching of southpaw Don Ferrarese.

The win gave the Dukes an even split in their doubleheader yesterday, as they lost an afternoon tilt 7-5. Borger won the Dukes' series, however, three games to one.

Ferrarese scattered ten hits but four errors by his teammates put him in hot water in one inning.

A three-run homer by Catcher Ziggy Sears in the top half of the seventh inning carried the Gassers to a 7-5 victory over the Dukes in the afternoon game. The win was Borger's third straight over the Dukes.

Back enable, Dukes pitcher who has been on the mound all year, won his fourth game in a relief role. He took over the pitching chores from Jim Batchelor in the fifth inning and gave up only two runs on three hits.

Hunters Ask Change In Duck Season

AMARILLO — The Texas Wildlife Federation yesterday asked the Department of Interior for a change in the duck hunting season.

The federation adopted a resolution requesting a season of 40 consecutive days, with a daily bag limit of five ducks.

Last Friday, Secretary of the Interior Krug announced the Texas duck and goose season would be Nov. 4-21 and Dec. 21-Jan. 7, with a daily bag of four ducks.

The Federation also asked that the morning dove season for the South sons of Texas be changed to coincide with the quail season. Members said, the change would reduce the number of dove and quail shot illegally.

Sports Practice

The Pampa Sports Independent Baseball Club will resume work tonight at Lion's Park early in the evening. The club has been idle for several weeks due to inability to schedule games. Two games have been scheduled for this weekend.

The Plains Chevrolet Company of Amarillo and the Miami baseball team have been contacted and will be here this week for games. One game will be played Friday night, the other next Sunday. Both games will be played at Oiler Park. Further details on the games will be announced soon, club manager Harold Gregory stated.

The NCAA gymnastics championship will be decided at the University of Oklahoma.

Oilers Take Final From Lobos, 10-4; To Play Apilene in Benefit Tonight

Roy Parker to Pitch Game To Aid Church Softballers

The Pampa Oilers unloosed a 13-hit attack against the two Lamesa hurlers yesterday afternoon to pound out a 10-4 victory. George Payte was the Pampa moundsman who received the benefit of the big Oiler batting spree that included three home runs, one of them by Payte himself.

Stan Grzywacz started on the mound for Lamesa, his second start of the series, having been battered from the box in the opener Friday night. Joel Locke succeeded him, and was cuffed around just as freely.

A new name has been added to the Oiler roster, that of Jim Martin, a catcher. Martin made his debut in the eighth inning of yesterday's game with a home run in his first trip to the plate. Martin comes from Malvern, Arkansas. He played last year when Everett asked to deep centerfield. Homer Hiney then played with Alexandria, Louisiana, where he hit .263. He is a limited service man who both throws and bats right handed.

He is unmarried.

Tonight the Oilers open a three-game series with the Abilene Blue Sox, currently the hottest team in the league. The game is a benefit for the Kiwanis Club softball program, the program that furnished the youth of the city with sports recreation. Tickets may be obtained from any Kiwanian. Roy Parker is slated to hurl for the Oilers tonight.

Lamesa jumped off to a one-run lead in the first inning Sunday on a single by Snovick, a double by Hanev and an infield out.

Pampa came back with two in their half to take the lead for keeps. Singles by Harper and Velasquez and an error by Melillo loaded the bags. Richardson hit into a double play, one of six completed during the afternoon, Mitchell to Calo to Mitchell, leaving two runners on second and third. Os Engel then dropped a Texas leaguer into right field to plate Velasquez and Harper.

A hit by Matney, an error and a hit by Harper added another for the Oilers in the second. The Oilers made it five in the fourth on a single by Matney and a home run by George Payte. Os Locke relieved Grzywacz to start the fifth and the Oilers greeted him with a four-run barrage.

Blue Sox Pound Out 30 Hits to Down Hubbs

LUBBOCK — Abilene closed out July as though it were the fourth, rather than the 31st, laying down a barrage of 30 hits that crushed the Lubbock Hubbs 19 to 5 here Sunday.

Alfredo Roca won a Texas game of the year behind that kind of hitting and had trouble only in one inning, the seventh, when the Hubbs came to life. Roca pitched the fourth and fifth innings, but he was not in the seventh, when the Hubbs came to life. Roca pitched the fourth and fifth innings, but he was not in the seventh, when the Hubbs came to life.

George Sturdivant, with six singles in seven trips, Greer, with five hits in seven appearances, and Ollie Moreno, with four hits in six trips, led the murderous Abilene assault. Bobby Fernandez slammed a home run in the seventh with one on; Moreno, Joe Wessing, Fred Cabrera, Fernandez and Will Calvo all hit doubles; and Danny Conception pitched in a triple.

It was the worst beating of the year for the Lubbock club, which managed to drop its tenth game in 15 starts this year against Abilene. The Blue Sox swept what was to have been a crucial series.

WARREN'S WARMUP

By Warren Hassel—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: What year did Johnny Vander Meer pitch his two consecutive no-hitters?

TONIGHT THE Pampa Oilers open with the Abilene Blue Sox. The game is a benefit for the Kiwanis Softball Program, the organization that provides the summertime recreation for the youth of the city. The program is now in its fifth year of operation and is one of the finest things in the city for boys and girls.

R. L. Edmondson, owner of the Oilers, has generously donated the receipts from tonight's game to the Kiwanis. Tickets for the game are on sale from any Kiwanian. So be certain to attend tonight's game or not. It is a most worthwhile cause.

The money goes for the purchase of equipment that the kids use to play, as well as for the upkeep of the diamond. Four diamonds have been lighted since last season. And they are busy every night, with the exception of Wednesdays.

FOR ALL OF you kids who have been asked to attend Coach McNulty's coming back, a letter just received from him says that he will be back about the thirteenth of this month. He is going to the coaches' school at Eastman this week, along with Coach Lyons, and Noncaster. Coach Lyons may also attend.

Speaking of coaches, John Bond, who coached the Guerrilla grid and cage squads, will be attending school at Texas Christian to complete his studies interrupted by the war.

To replace Bond at the head of the Oilers, it is expected that Dwight Lyons, who headed the Junior High School Reapers grid and track teams for the past couple of years, will be moved up to the Senior High School. No replacement for his job in the Junior High has been selected as yet.

RANDY CLAY was home a week or so ago and while he was here he was golfing with him (he's an excellent golfer, too) the talk of course got around to football. Randy looks for a big year this season. The chances of the Longhorns to have a superb season are good. If they produce good, the Longhorns will be a force to be reckoned with.

Channel Swimmer Takes Over Top Spot in British Newspapers

LONDON (AP)—Shirley May France, arrived from America Friday to swim the English Channel.

The American high school miss and her retinue incorporated under the law—hit town with a big splash of publicity and Shirley May shyly told the press: "I just can't lose."

The pretty, 16-year-old will try in about 10 days to swim the 21-chilly miles from Cap Gris Nez, France, to Dover, England.

She'll be aided and abetted by a business manager and press agent, a coach, a trainer, a chaparrone and a friend down to London by train and into a platoon of waiting reporters and cameramen.

She was front page news in the afternoon papers. The London star noted: "I'm as glamorous as any film star's swept her white fur collar and she flashed a smile as brilliant as a toothpaste advertisement at the crowds."

"The men's record is 11 hours 55 minutes, set by Georges Michel of France five weeks after Gertrude.

Retreating to her luxury suite in the Grosvenor House hotel, she took a nap. The general staff went to work.

"We aim to add to our staff by getting some Dover expert to supply us pointers on the tides and currents," said Manager Ted Worrner.

Mrs. Willy C. Van Rijssel of Holland, who tried earlier this week to swim the channel, met Shirley May and gave her some tips.

"After 23 shampoos I still haven't all the grease out of my hair," said the Dutch housewife who plans to try again.

The women have one thing in common. They swim in the nude. Shirley May will coat her curvaceous 158 pounds in layers of protective grease.

Shirley May's ambition is to break the record of another American, Gertrude Ederle, the first woman to conquer the channel, of 14 hours 34 minutes. She did it 23 years ago.

The men's record is 11 hours 55 minutes, set by Georges Michel of France five weeks after Gertrude.

Hack Away Duffer! Erratic Play Costs Sam Snead And Bob Locke Big Tourneys

By FRANK ECK AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

NEW YORK — If your golf game was off over the weekend remember the fellow who shot a 19 on one hole or the chap who took an 18. Both happened in the National Open.

In the 1938 Open at Cherry Hills in Denver, Ray Ainsley required 19 strokes before he got down on the 16th hole during the second round of play. Going farther back, Willie Calhoun took an 18 on the short 17th in the 1919 Open at Brae Burn in West Newton, Mass.

Sammy Snead also looks to the Open when golfers talk about "poor holes." "They always say 'Snead took an 8 at Spring Mill,'" says a Slammur Sammy from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

It happened in the 1939 Open at the Philadelphia Country Club's Spring Mill course.

"I needed a 5 to win and a 6 to finish in a three-way tie with Byron Nelson, Craig Wood and Denny Shute," says Snead. "I shot an 8 on the par 5 final hole that year and finished fifth."

Snead also had an 8 on the par five 18th hole at Hillcrest during the Los Angeles Open. His 8th shot was fine but his second shot hit on the edge of the green and rolled down a slight hill about 40 yards from the pin.

His third shot rolled up the hill and back down. He took three more shots before he got the ball up and over. When he made the little embankment he overshot the green and was lying six. He finally chipped up and holed out for an 8.

Bobby Locke of South Africa, considered the top foreign golfer to play in America in the last decade, recalls his hole once played like a duffer.

"It was in last year's Tam O' Shanter," says Locke, he of the knickers, white shoes, white cap and rusty 25-year-old wooden shaft putter.

"My second shot hit a tree and came back into the water. I picked the ball out and was playing 4. I chipped up and two-putted for a 6."

The poor pros. They expect to play every shot perfectly. When they fail they often get as hurried up as the lowly duffer.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

The literature of sporting dogs holds no subject more fascinating than that of scent. No man is sure of himself on this topic.

I have just gotten a copy of "Youat on the Dog," published in 1852. Since this book is rare and perhaps few of you will have seen it, I think it's worth while to quote parts of the chapter on scent.

M. Majendie instituted some curious experiments on the sense of smelling, and he was led to believe that it depended more on the fifth pair of nerves than on the olfactory nerve.

The simple fact, however, is that there are two species of nerves here concerned—those of common and of peculiar sensation. The olfactory nerve is the nerve of smelling, the fifth pair that of common sensation.

"Mr. Daniel, in his work on the chase, very properly observes that the scent most favorable to the hound is when the effluvium constantly perspired for the game as it runs, is kept by the gravity of the air at the height of the hound is when the effluvium, there will seldom be much scent. The scent rarely lies with a north or east wind. A southerly wind without rain is the best. Sudden storms are sure to destroy the scent. A fine sunshiny day is not good; but a warm day without sun is always a good one.

In a hard rain, if the air is mild, the scent will sometimes be very good. A wet night often produces the best chase."

"But after all, we have much to learn concerning scent. An experienced sportsman will never presume to make sure of scent. Yet it is certain that hounds can distinguish not only the scent of the hare from that of the fox, but that of the hare or fox they are pursuing from that of half a dozen others that may be started during a chase."

Pointers and setters, of course, are not properly trailing dogs. They are supposed to seek for and "take" body scent of feathered game out of the air. One Englishman in 1831, explaining the theory of the mystery of scent, it is supported by no real proof.

Carl Furillo, Brooklyn Dodger outfielder, spends the off-season as a butcher in Stony Creek Mills, Pa.

Australian Netters Defeat Mexican Team

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—Australia's tired Davis Cup tennis stars won two more singles matches Sunday to close out the finals of the American Zone. An expected duel failed to develop when John Bromwich, the Aussie ambidextrous wizard, made quick work of the Mexican ace, Armando Vega, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

Billy Sidwell then substituted for Frank Sedgman in the final match and hatched "Mike" Varela, 16-year-old hopeful of the Mexican forces, 6-0, 6-1, 6-4.

Neither match produced any tennis to speak of. Cliff Sproule, captain of the Aussies, feeling that his athletes were on the point of exhaustion after playing in the intense heat here this weekend, withdrew them from singles play in the Eastern Grass Court Championships which start today at Orange, N. J. They will play in the doubles.

United States Wins Speedboat Regatta

DETROIT (AP)—The United States retained the historic Harnsworth Trophy Sunday when R. Stanley Dollar's Skip-A-Long took the second heat of the speedboat classic on the Detroit River.

The lone Canadian challenger, Miss Canada IV, again was unable to get top speed and finished fourth. Dollar set a new heat record in winning, with an average of 94.285 miles per hour. The old record was 93.017 miles an hour, made by Kaye Don in Miss England II in 1931.

Hard luck boat was Jack Schaefer's Such Crut I. Yesterday's heat winner, Such Crut led through from the second through the fifth laps only to break down half a mile from the finish.

Pro Basketball Nearing Harmony

ANDERSON, Ind. (AP)—The Duffey president of the National Basketball League, said last night his circuit was "closer to merging with the Basketball Association of America than at any time in the last four years."

"Sooner or later, the merger has got to come or both leagues will be ruined," the Anderson meat packer asserted.

"Of course, we have discussed merger before and nothing has come of it, but we're close to agreement this time that we're meeting in New York Wednesday to see if we can bring it about," Duffey added.

The NBA president said a "highly fair" proposal from the BAA was approved Saturday by most of the National League clubs. He declined to elaborate but other sources said the merger was approved by Trickets, Anderson, Indianapolis, Oshkosh, Syracuse and Denver, with Sheboygan and Waterloo to vote today. Hammond, in financial difficulties refrained from voting.

Hiss Case Must Be Clarified

Next trial Alger Hiss will have a new trial. It is unfortunate for him and the public's sake that the jury which weighed the evidence in his first trial did not reach a verdict. But it is understandable. Any fair-minded person might have had trouble threading his way through the maze of contradictions, discrepancies and unexplained matters in the case.

Hiss was accused of perjury. A federal grand jury said he lied last year when he denied ever giving any secret State Department paper to Whittaker Chambers, former Communist courier.

Even though the jury which tried Hiss voted 8 to 4 for conviction, his innocence must be presumed until he is declared guilty by a unanimous vote of a new jury.

None of us, therefore, has any right to prejudice his case. But we can hope that in a second trial the prosecutors and defense lawyers will succeed in dispelling some of the confusion surrounding the basic issues involved.

One cardinal fact stands out. Chambers had in his possession copies of secret government papers. They came from the State Department office where Hiss worked.

Chambers named five men who supplied him with secret government data. One of these was Henry Julian Wadsworth, who worked in the State Department. Wadsworth has confessed stealing papers to turn over to Chambers, but said he did not take the documents at issue in the Hiss case.

At this point, however, another complexly arises. The government contends most of the documents in Chambers' possession were typed on an old Woodstock typewriter once owned by Hiss. Chambers testified Mrs. Hiss did the actual typing.

The Hisses denied ever typing any copies of secret papers. But a government document expert testified that comparison of the papers with letters admittedly written by Mrs. Hiss on the typewriter in question, showed that the documents were typed on the same machine.

No two typewriters behave exactly alike. So the product of a particular machine may often be identified in the same way that an individual's handwriting is traced. And an individual's typing errors may follow a pattern.

NEW YORK — As I have reported before, David Katz, alias Karr, formerly of the Communist Daily Worker in New York and a contributor to other papers on the Communist front, has been "leg" man for Drew Pearson in Washington for several years.

This was in January, 1947, five months after dictator Tito of Yugoslavia had shot down in flames and killed five young American Army aviators. Younas had secret intentions to make his way to Belgrade. In this he had the backing of the Yugoslav Embassy and of Louis Adamic, a naturalized Yugoslav who is cited 37 times in the reports of the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

She was a friend of Eleanor Roosevelt. She bade him to dinner at the White House in a parlor conspiracy to needle Winston Churchill and reduce his opposition to the plot which finally landed the Balkans in the hands of Russia and Eastern Germany to Soviet Russia.

The Greek Embassy and the Greek Orthodox Church in Washington asked President Truman to refuse Younas a passport. Involved in a war with an organized Communist army supported by Russia, Poland and Eastern Germany was hostile to the government. He claims he never was a Communist. He says his brother, John, is, or anyway, was, a soldier in the Communist guerrilla army. Younas is on friendly terms with the Yugoslav Embassy and the embassy was cordial to his plan to visit Tito.

The wife of David Karr, Madeline Karr, formerly Madeline Baboz, or Barutz, has had a peculiar career as a journalist of sorts in Washington. For about 18 months Madeline Karr worked at the White House under credentials issued to her as the correspondent of the National Herald, of New York, a Greek paper. This paper, which is 35 years old, never had an accredited correspondent at the White House before. It has had no respondent there since her assignment ended on July 30, 1947.

Madeline Karr also had access to the press facilities and privileges at the State Department. There she was known as Karr's wife and he was known as Pearson's "leg man." She had professional relations as a journalist with officials of the Russian Embassy. In 1945, she was listed by the State Department as a correspondent accredited to the organization conference of the United Nations at San Francisco.

He was in the New Jersey Assembly 1928-30. He is a conservative, and was for Taft at Philadelphia. But he is on good terms with Alfrey E. Driscoll, who is supporting him.

Another leader in the anti-Scott forces is Thomas E. Colman, former Wisconsin national committeeman, now finance committeeman, and state chairman. The Milwaukee Journal calls him "boss" of Wisconsin.

Harry Darby of Kansas City, Kan., a self-made man, now owner and head of a shipbuilding company and associated with a score of other enterprises in the Kansas-Missouri area. He has been GOP national committeeman since 1940. He is rated as Republican boss of Kansas, in a nice way. He was a hard worker. He doesn't care much for Taft, supported Dewey because he liked him. Darby could have had the chairmanship in 1948 but turned it down. He would probably do so again, because he's too busy with his own affairs.

LIBERTY

By F. A. HARPER

A Member of the Staff of Foundation for Economic Education

INSTALLMENT I

Opinions differ widely about liberty. They differ widely as to what comprises liberty, as to how much of it we now enjoy, as to the amount that has been lost in this country.

The extent of difference of opinion as to what comprises liberty is indicated by the widely differing ideologies whose advocates claim to be correct in their particular concept of liberty. This includes the Republicans, Democrats, Socialists and all other political organizations. It includes most civilian organizations of various sorts, such as the churches. It includes the United States, Britain and Russia. All claim to be championing the cause of liberty.

Many persons are unconcerned about liberty which is still an other attitude toward it. Many seem to consider liberty to be a thing of geography or of heredity. These persons loathe in unconcern because they feel assured that liberty is safe in this country to which they are so attached.

Liberty exists when a person is free to do whatever he desires, according to his wisdom and conscience. The definition of liberty may well prove shocking. There may be an immediate temptation to say: "Yes, but..." and to consider no further. But such a reaction may merely suggest how far we have strayed from an understanding of liberty, and from the intelligent defense of it.

Liberty is not a matter of day-by-day decisions that would assure liberty. If that be our plight, and if liberty is to prevail, there must be a willingness to open one's mind to a discussion of the subject that will head one into some previously accepted beliefs. Unfortunately, it is impossible to discuss every aspect of this complex problem first, in order to relieve the shock; some choice of sequence in treating parts of the problem is necessary.

A relationship between persons must be either voluntary or involuntary. Liberty remains inviolate in any voluntary relationship because, being voluntary, the act is the principle of cooperation. It is the principle of cooperation which is the building of their houses. The exchange is arranged because of the mutual advantage that is expected. One of them may be the better carpenter and the other the better electrician. Each builds their houses quicker and better by working at his specialty on both houses. This is the principle of "division of labor," by which civilization has been able to advance and the level of living to be raised.

Under her new arrangement with Argentina, Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Scandinavian countries, Britain will obtain wheat and meat from them. And now that she has increased production through Marshall Plan assistance, London plans to ship them the machinery and oil formerly obtained here in large quantities.

UNORTHODOX — The oil will come from her holdings in the Middle East and the South Pacific. She is sending her salesmen around the world to find customers for cotton and tobacco, wheat and meat from Canada, and will as soon as production has reached larger proportions, send her peanuts to her South African possessions.

Health Talks

Prepared by the State Medical Association of Texas

Does the heat have you down?

These dog days are hardly conducive to much stirring about, but even during the hottest days your body requires planned exercise, carried on in moderation.

Exercise alone cannot maintain good health, but it is a step forward in the whole process of good healthful living, along with proper food, sufficient rest and a normal outlook on life. A chief value of exercise is to stimulate the general chemistry and physical vigor of the body through its effect on circulation and on elimination.

Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the circulation of the blood within the body, since this process maintains to a high level the normal functions of the body.

Outdoor exercise, taken regularly instead of in spurts, can keep the machinery of the body functioning smoothly. In a man at rest about a gallon of blood is circulated every minute. According to one authority, approximately the entire blood supply of the body is renewed every minute under resting conditions.

In young persons, exercise serves to stimulate body growth generally. Suitable and mild exercise for persons in all age groups includes swimming, walking, golf, horseback riding, fishing and gardening. Certain exercise, if excessive, will cause severe muscle strain and exhaustion, leaving the body in a state of susceptibility to many conditions that will cause pain and discomfort.

Many occupations offer a fair amount of exercise, with the daily actions of the average housewife in bending and lifting coming under the heading of good exercise. Desk workers, however, usually require some form of activity that will stimulate the blood flow and good muscle action because sitting too long in one position restricts the action of muscles not in use.

Exercise taken simply and regularly tends to keep soft the arteries or canals that convey blood through the body, warding off arteriosclerosis or a condition that usually accompanies old age.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — A confidential breakdown of foreign aid costs reveals the surprising fact that the twelve states which finance 67.66 percent of the five-billion-dollar program derive the smallest benefit from it and will profit even less as a result of the British dollar crisis and the barter deals with South American and "iron curtain" countries.

Even more ironically, the states which pay out the least for Marshall Plan occupation aid development ventures abroad are the ones whose legislators demand that a certain percentage of these funds be set aside for purchase of farm products. A few of the twelve financing commonwealths have benefitted from Paul Hoffman's agricultural operations, but they will gradually lose this business.

MARKET — England, for instance, has been in the American market for cotton, tobacco, oil, lubricants, peanuts, wheat, meat and machinery. But whenever possible, she obtained her wheat and meat from Canadian firms, not from the twelve states whose taxpayers are putting up the largest slice of foreign-aid money.

Under her new arrangement with Argentina, Russia, Poland, Yugoslavia and Scandinavian countries, Britain will obtain wheat and meat from them. And now that she has increased production through Marshall Plan assistance, London plans to ship them the machinery and oil formerly obtained here in large quantities.

UNORTHODOX — The oil will come from her holdings in the Middle East and the South Pacific. She is sending her salesmen around the world to find customers for cotton and tobacco, wheat and meat from Canada, and will as soon as production has reached larger proportions, send her peanuts to her South African possessions.

Meanwhile, under the same sort of barter deals that enabled Hitler to enrich Germany before the war, she is shipping automobiles, textiles, typewriters, light and heavy machinery and other manufactured articles to the far ends of the earth.

In short, for a "sick" country, England shows surprising agility in readjusting and rehabilitating her foreign trade on the basis of unorthodox methods.

COSTS — It is estimated that foreign aid costs for the current fiscal year will total about five billion dollars, although that figure may be increased or decreased before Congress has acted on all the appropriate measures. Included in this total are the funds for the Marshall Plan, German-Japanese occupation costs, Greece and Turkey and President Truman's "bold, new program" for development of backward areas.

Here is the amount put up by the twelve states for their total expenditures, based on their tax contributions to the treasury: New York, $779,891,000; California, $418,348,000; Illinois, $398,258,000; Pennsylvania, $387,394,000; Ohio, $350,965,000; Michigan, $283,574,000; Texas, $210,138,000; Massachusetts, $178,175,000; New Jersey, $163,304,000; Missouri, $128,966,000; Indiana, $111,297,000; Wisconsin, $102,618,000.

SUPPORT — Although Southern states have sold large quantities of cotton, tobacco and peanuts through Administrator Hoffman, not a single Dixie commonwealth ranks among the twelve largest financiers unless Texas be so considered.

The Lone Star State has disposed of considerable cotton and oil, although Senate Relations Committee Chairman Tom Connally would like even more business for his bailiwick.

This economic analysis may explain why even Southern members opposing the administration on so many domestic questions are virtually unanimous in their support of the various forms of foreign aid. However, many have begun to indulge in cloakroom grumbles as a result of the threat to future exports from their states embodied in

The Nation's Press

WHEN PROFITS ARE EXHAUSTED

(The Daily Oklahoman)

If accompanied by the ability to pay, a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour would be an admirable thing for the worker and for the country generally. If accompanied by the ability to pay, a minimum wage of $10 an hour would be a positively glorious minimum wage.

But federal law guaranteeing a minimum wage of 75 cents an hour does not guarantee the ability of the employing business to pay that wage. Neither does it guarantee the continued solvency of the employing company. It gives no thought at all to the company that is thought to pay 40 cents an hour but is utterly unable to pay 75 cents.

It is a sign of those economic reformers to say that an employer who can't afford to pay the minimum wage should get out of business anyway that he has no right to employ men at a starvation wage. Even if that is conceded, it is no help to the worker who loses his job because of the close down. Regardless of the morals involved, the continued solvency of the business is essential.

Nothing but profits keeps a business in operation. When the profits are equalled by the wage bill, the business stagnates. When the wages exceed the profits, the business dies. And that will remain true no matter if Congress sets the minimum wage at 50 cents, 75 cents or $10.

Not until Congress can insure a minimum profit will it be possible to fix a minimum wage. Business law that does not force out of business a considerable number of marginal companies. Hence there is considerable force in the argument of the cautious senator who says that the enactment of the proposed 75 cents minimum wage law will increase unemployment.

U.S.A., 1960 (Chicago Journal of Commerce) An advance showing of the 1960 American family has been presented by H. N. Beville Jr., director of research for the National Broadcasting Company. Mr. Beville foresees the 1960 model family as better educated, more standardized in tastes and behavior, older, smaller in numbers, more concentrated in metropolitan areas, and tending toward the western part of the country.

There will be more working women, and the wealth will be more equally shared. The changes are interesting as far as they go, but they raise some pertinent questions. Will our "better educated" family be educated to think for themselves or to swallow the guff of federal education subsidies? Will standardization of tastes be a sign of the slow decay of individualism? Will the older, smaller family prestage a decay of America as a youthful, dynamic nation? Will the increase in the number of working women spell the ultimate downfall of the family unit in America? And will the more equal distribution of wealth result from greater competition on the part of the former low-income groups... or from the final flowering of the so-called "rich philosophy"? If you have the answers to those questions, you can foretell the future of America to an almost frightening extent.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — When the 106-member Republican National Committee meets in Washington's Shoreham Hotel on Aug. 4 to elect a new national chairman, there's no telling what will happen. There are a dozen men whose names are being mentioned as possibilities. There is no great enthusiasm for any of them. The list is distinguished principally by its lack of distinction. This indicates the hard-up GOP is for a real leader. Many of the possibilities are big wheels in their own state machines, but are practically unknown nationally.

O & Z Cafe, 306 N. Cuyler, Specializes in Home Cooking

The O & Z Cafe, 306 N. Cuyler, formerly known as Myrt's Cafe, now under the ownership and management of Mrs. Oma Shelton and Mrs. Zella Mae Prescott, specializes in home cooking.

Both Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Prescott have had lots of cooking experience and as a result turn out meals that suit all tastes.

Hours the cafe is open are from 6 a. m. until 8 p. m. daily except Wednesday. Wednesday hours are from 6 a. m. until 7 p. m.

The cafe has been under its new ownership since July 12.

Homemade pies, homemade rolls and homemade cakes are some of the specialties of the cafe that have made it a thrice daily stopping place for many Pampans.

Fried chicken and chicken fried pies are other specialties for which the cafe is noted. Mrs. Prescott resides at 509 Short with her husband, Elmer, who is employed by the county, and her daughters, Betty, 10 and Laboma June, 16. Both girls assist at the cafe during the summers.

Mrs. Shelton lives at 623 N. Russell with her daughter, Rubye, 14. Rubye also helps out at the cafe during the summers. Mrs. Shelton also has one son living here. He is John C. Shelton, 15 1/2 E. Francis.

Mrs. Prescott has worked both as cook and waitress in other cafes. Also, she drove a wholesale truck for 11 months. Her specialty is homemade pastries.

Mrs. Shelton has resided in Pampa since 1930. She has owned and operated various other local cafes during the past 19 years as well as having charge of a home laundry business.

The pastry delights provided at the cafe have helped build up a thriving business there. During breakfast, lunch and dinner hours daily, the cafe is crowded to capacity. When Pampans arrive at the cafe and see there are no extra tables or counter seats, they wait until there is— which is saying a lot for the reputation of the cafe.

Yes, the food provided at the O & Z is well worth waiting for. Whether it's a regular meal, short order, snack or drink you desire — the O & Z has it.

The large kitchen at the rear of the cafe is kept just as tidy as in the front end. At almost anytime during the day one can expect to find Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Prescott, Rubye, Laboma or Betty with a rag scrubbing the counters, woodwork or tables.

All flavors of cold drinks are obtainable at the cafe. During these hot summer days, many Pampans are finding that a piece of O & Z homemade pie with a cold soft drink hit the spot.

Real Western Barbecues Served at 115 1/2 W. Foster

Doyle and Doc Clanton will be ready for all Top of Texas Rodeo and Horse Show visitors who want to eat Western in addition to dressing, talking and acting Western this week. Doyle is shown above shortly before 10 a. m., the opening hour of the pit. The photo at the right shows how the barbecue pit looks late in the afternoon. Most of the tasty barbecued beef and ham has been sold, but Doc and Doyle keep the hickory smoke in the pit going all hours. Usually they sell between 400 and 500 sandwiches daily. However, during rodeo week they expect to set some new records on the number of sandwiches sold. They always sell more sandwiches in the winter than in the summer.

Doyle's Hickory Pit got its start here just in time. All rodeo guests have been extended a special invitation to visit the pit and taste some real Western food. Never before have Top of Texas Rodeo visitors been able to get real barbecued beef and ham sandwiches during rodeo week.

The little shop—between Goodyear Shoe Shop and Brown Derby on W. Foster—got its start here March 29 when Doyle Clanton opened the pit. Real hickory wood is used to barbecue the meat. Since hickory logs are unavailable around here, Doyle has to purchase about two cords of it every two or three months. He gets it about 80 miles east of Dallas.

The little Western food establishment measures eight-feet and five-inches across on the inside and 10-feet overall width. However, the room is lengthy enough to easily hold 18 armed-chairs, which have been put about for the benefit of customers.

As shown above, the eight-foot wide room has plenty of space to accommodate many customers. The speed with which Doc and Doyle put out the barbecues continues to amaze customers. Seven a minute is nothing for either of the two men.

Both men have had several years' experience in the barbecuing business. Doc formerly worked at Shewmakers, which is next to the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas. Also, he has worked in several other barbecue pits.

Custom barbecues put out at the pit are taste delights in anyone's language. Every picnic that is handled by Doyle and Doc is bound to be a success. The Clanton brothers plan and serve entire picnics, as well as furnishing all the food.

It takes only one of Doyle's barbecue sandwiches to sell the customers. Often-times Pampans go into the pit and order a sandwich and a cup of coffee, cold beverage or pie. When they have finished their sandwich they order another and sometimes still another.

The genuine barbecue flavor linked with the sandwiches is a selling point in itself and the sandwiches become a regular habit as a result. Doyle puts out his sandwiches at reasonable prices and keeps all of the "extras" on hand too. Stacked around the shop are chopped onions, mustard, hot sauces and relishes.

Other merchandise sold at the pit are "best" coffee, cold drinks of all flavors, potato chips, Fritos, and fried pies. Also, cigarettes, candy and chewing gum are obtainable at the hickory pit.

Many Pampans already make it a weekly or bi-weekly practice to phone 3764 and order a pound or more of the barbecued beef or ham. It turns any home cooked meal into an overwhelming success regardless what the other part of the meal consists of. Because of its convenient location and tasty merchandise, the pit is kept busy during all the time it is open — 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

The space the pit now occupies was formerly waste space—a coming theater attraction billboard. It won't take Doyle long to turn it into one of the most popular spots in town. Already the pit is becoming more popular with Pampans.

To add to the "Western" appearance of the barbecue pit, Doyle has put in treated sawdust about on the floor. The sawdust comes from a chemical company where it is treated in such a way that it cannot ignite. Doyle formerly was of Amarillo and Doc of Dallas. During the past month and one-half, Doc has been on hand to help out at the pit.

Extra! Extra! Pampa Glass Has Glidden's Satin Spread

The latest in paints has now reached Pampa. The Pampa Glass and Paint Company, 117 N. Frost, has just received a large shipment of Glidden Satin Spread.

Glidden Satin Spread, obtainable only at Pampa Glass here, has the same vehicle that is used in rubber cement—emulsified rubber base. The finished job may be washed with soap and water just like Wall-Tex.

As advertised in such national magazines as the Good Housekeeping, House Beautiful and Better Homes and Gardens, Glidden's Satin Spread may be obtainable in fourteen different colors.

The scrubable flat wall Glidden Satin Spread paints may be obtained in white, Pacific Blue, blossom, spray blue, blue azure, light apricot, pinefrost green, smoke rose, confetti yellow, tropic tan, pale ivory, moon mist, white and bone white.

Every room in the house may be painted with Glidden's paint and then washed with soap and water. It puts "old fashioned" paint ways in the background.

Multi-Tint paints, also obtainable at Pampa Glass, are ideal for woodwork. Glidden Satin Spread throughout the rooms of the house and Multi-Tint interior glass finish on the woodwork are the ideal combinations.

Time tested Glidden paints are put out by the Glidden Company at Cleveland, Ohio. The paints will go over every surface, and require no thinning. Pampa Glass and Paint Company is one of the sponsors of the Jeepster, which will be given away in September.

The board is one of the latest additions to the shop. For those Pampans who have linoleum with edges always catching a foot, the Pampa Glass and Paint Company is the place to go to remedy the situation. Another extra this week at the paint company is a gift of ceiling wallpaper with the purchase of sidewall paper. Many Unified wallpaper patterns may be purchased at the company.

The Pampa Glass and Paint Company was opened during the first part of this year by M. B. Warden, D. B. Harrison and E. E. Harrison.

Selditts Multi-Tent and Glidden Satin Spread paints are jointly featured since both paints have places where they are best suited in homes. Multi-Tint paints come as white bases to the company, but 36 colors are stocked there to be mixed with the bases.

Also a floor sander is kept at the company to be rented by the hour or by the day, as the customers prefer. All USG products may be found there. Included are "Perf-a-tape" cement, "Perf-a-tape" joint system, "T-x-tone," "Cementico" white and "Textolite" washable water paint.

The little shop—between Goodyear Shoe Shop and Brown Derby on W. Foster—got its start here March 29 when Doyle Clanton opened the pit. Real hickory wood is used to barbecue the meat. Since hickory logs are unavailable around here, Doyle has to purchase about two cords of it every two or three months. He gets it about 80 miles east of Dallas.

The little Western food establishment measures eight-feet and five-inches across on the inside and 10-feet overall width. However, the room is lengthy enough to easily hold 18 armed-chairs, which have been put about for the benefit of customers.

As shown above, the eight-foot wide room has plenty of space to accommodate many customers. The speed with which Doc and Doyle put out the barbecues continues to amaze customers. Seven a minute is nothing for either of the two men.

Both men have had several years' experience in the barbecuing business. Doc formerly worked at Shewmakers, which is next to the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas. Also, he has worked in several other barbecue pits.

Custom barbecues put out at the pit are taste delights in anyone's language. Every picnic that is handled by Doyle and Doc is bound to be a success. The Clanton brothers plan and serve entire picnics, as well as furnishing all the food.

It takes only one of Doyle's barbecue sandwiches to sell the customers. Often-times Pampans go into the pit and order a sandwich and a cup of coffee, cold beverage or pie. When they have finished their sandwich they order another and sometimes still another.

The genuine barbecue flavor linked with the sandwiches is a selling point in itself and the sandwiches become a regular habit as a result. Doyle puts out his sandwiches at reasonable prices and keeps all of the "extras" on hand too. Stacked around the shop are chopped onions, mustard, hot sauces and relishes.

Other merchandise sold at the pit are "best" coffee, cold drinks of all flavors, potato chips, Fritos, and fried pies. Also, cigarettes, candy and chewing gum are obtainable at the hickory pit.

Many Pampans already make it a weekly or bi-weekly practice to phone 3764 and order a pound or more of the barbecued beef or ham. It turns any home cooked meal into an overwhelming success regardless what the other part of the meal consists of. Because of its convenient location and tasty merchandise, the pit is kept busy during all the time it is open — 10 a. m. until 9 p. m. Monday through Saturday.

The space the pit now occupies was formerly waste space—a coming theater attraction billboard. It won't take Doyle long to turn it into one of the most popular spots in town. Already the pit is becoming more popular with Pampans.

To add to the "Western" appearance of the barbecue pit, Doyle has put in treated sawdust about on the floor. The sawdust comes from a chemical company where it is treated in such a way that it cannot ignite. Doyle formerly was of Amarillo and Doc of Dallas. During the past month and one-half, Doc has been on hand to help out at the pit.

Regular customers take up the majority of A. M.'s time. He may be seen almost any day of the week driving around in his red S & A Generator truck. The company does both retail and wholesale business. 8 to 9 hours are from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday. In case Pampans ever need McConeghies services after hours or on Sunday, they may reach him by telephoning 3468-J. The phone number of the shop is 3468-J.

Both Conogahies are kept busy most of the time the company is open for business. They build between 75 and 80 units per week. Every job done at S & A Generator Repair carries the same guarantee as does a new generator, starter or other equipment. Other services provided by the company include the repacking of bearings, turning and undercutting armatures and just about anything else that can be done of tree in existence. Its form has not changed in a million years, as shown by fossils widely scattered over Europe and the Orient. In China, it is considered a sacred tree and is planted near temples. The flesh and kernel of the fruit have an unpleasant odor but are used as food by the Chinese. Tyler's historical tree has reached a height of approximately 70 feet and its deeply furrowed trunk measures two feet in diameter. Its branches form a wide spreading crown. Fully 84 percent of the weight of an average passenger automobile is steel.

Commonly known as the maiden tree and the Japanese fan tree, the ginkgo is readily identified by its peculiar branches which emerge upward from a tapering trunk at an approximate 45-degree angle, and by its leathery, fan-shaped green leaves. The leaves turn a vivid yellow in the fall and drop to the ground in a single night. The ginkgo, native to the Orient and a member of the Yew family, is the oldest species to pieces of equipment such as a full line of field cores, brushes and bearings also is found at S & A.

First Annual Baby Portrait Contest Sponsored by Southwest Studios

The only eligibility requirement to enter the Southwest Studios' first annual baby contest is a baby between the ages of one month and four years.

Yes, the Southwest Studios, which have been operating here since Aug. 21, 1948, are proving there is something new under the sun.

S. K. Kuykendall of Amarillo is the owner of the studios. He is staging the fourth annual baby contest at his Southwest Studios in Amarillo and Borger.

Located at 123 E. Kingsmill, the studios have big prizes in the offering for the baby contest winners. A $2.50 entry fee entitles each participant in the contest to an 8-by-10-inch portrait of the baby. These portraits, valued at $5 each, may be either finished in copperstone or black and white, as the entrant prefers. A disinterested party will judge the pictures.

Two age groups may participate in the contest—those between one month and one year old and those between one year and four years old. First place winners in both groups will receive an 18-by-24-inch, $75 oil painting in a gold leaf frame.

Runners up in each group will be awarded a 16-by-20-inch oil painting, valued at $50. They also will be in a gold leaf frame. A third prize will be awarded in each group. The awards will be 11-by-14-inch portraits, done in oil, valued at $25 and also within a gold leaf frame.

Southwest studios specialize in portraits. However, other services are offered. Included are: wedding pictures by special appointment, any other special occasion pictures, developing Kodak work, copying old photographs and framing pictures. Kuykendall, married, has two children, S. K. Jr., 19 years old, and Delores, 18. He is a member of the Amarillo Lions Club. He formerly operated a road crew in Texas, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas and New Mexico towns that were too small to have the services of a local studio. Dave Redus is now manager of the local studio. Two months ago he got out of the Southwest Photo Arts School in Dallas.

S & A Generator Repair Is Beginning Second Year of Operations in Pampa

Since Jan. 13, 1948, the S & A Generator Repair, 800 S. Hobart, has been owned and operated by A. M. McConeghie.

The company has built up a thriving business here and builds and sells about the most generators of any shop in town.

A. M. really has the "know how" when it comes to generators. He worked at the Swick Generator Service in Oklahoma City for four years before he started out into business for himself.

His brother, Ralph, works for him. He, too, was employed at the Swick Generator Service for several years. A. M. resides at 500 N. Starkweather with his wife, Nadine, and children, Erma Carleene, 17, and Donald, 14.

Services provided by S & A Generator Repair include rebuilding generators and starters, winding armatures, handling all automotive, truck and tractor and farm equipment and having a complete line of parts. The company handles new 1942-48 and 1949 factory-built generators. Further, A. M. and Ralph work on all models of generators and starters of all makes of cars.

Also the company rebuilds Ford generators. The company has a complete line of all kinds of generators — line of starter switches and cut-outs. Generator pulleys of both the standard and small sizes may be obtained at S & A.

"We strive to sell people just what they need and nothing more," McConeghie said. "Many people need only voltage generators and think they need regular generators." Regular customers take up the majority of A. M.'s time. He may be seen almost any day of the week driving around in his red S & A Generator truck.

The company does both retail and wholesale business. 8 to 9 hours are from 8 a. m. until 5:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday. In case Pampans ever need McConeghies services after hours or on Sunday, they may reach him by telephoning 3468-J. The phone number of the shop is 3468-J.

MARAGON'S

(Continued From Page One) whether he ever received any money from anyone for any work he ever did in connection with the government, excluding a small amount he was paid as an observer on a mission to Greece for the State Department. He said he had not.

He testified that he once went to the War Assets Administration (WAA) office in New York with two men who wanted to buy surplus machinery for use abroad. Maragon swore he never received a cent in pay for his part in the picture.

Maragon told the subcommittee that a newspaper columnist (Drew Pearson) wrote that he (Maragon) was paid $50,000 for aiding the two men.

He reported his income for 1945 was $7,745, $1,740 of it from the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, for which he worked as a commercial representative, and $6,000 from the Albert Verley Co., a perfume oil firm.

Maragon testified that in 1946 he earned $6,000 from the Verley Co. and $1,800 from the State Department in connection with the mission to Greece. He listed his 1947 income as $4,200 from the Charles M. Ingersoll Co., not further identified, and $660 interest on Baltimore & Ohio bonds.

In 1948, Maragon testified he was paid $1,400 by J. Buncher Co., also not further identified, and $1,250 from the Verley Co.

Time after time he was asked whether he had any other income. Each time he said no.

(Continued From Page One) successful pilot plant tryouts of two new processes that will cut costs. And in the field of medicine and biology involving atomic energy materials and their effects these were some of the highlights reported:

1. Development of a still-on-trial treatment for the relief of pain and distress in two types of heart disease — angina pectoris and congestive heart failure.

2. First human trials of radioactive cobalt — which shows promise of being an inexpensive substitute for radium in the treatment of cancer.

3. Research at the University of Michigan, seeking to work out a blood test, similar to a test for syphilis, to diagnose radiation injuries quickly.

4. The possibility of using hornets to detect radiation "leaks" in atomic energy devices — because these insects readily absorb one of the by-products of atomic fission.

5. The possibility of using bacteria to help remove dangerous radioactive materials for atomic energy waste products — just like ordinary sewage is treated.

6. Successful use of radioactive materials to diagnose male sex hormone deficiencies in victims of the "march of death" on Bataan during the war. Some of these men, said the AEC, had developed breasts like women as a result of malnutrition and tests showed that starvation had reduced their production of normal male hormones.

7. Development of elaborate safeguards for the protection of atomic workers — including an emergency evacuation plan in case an atomic plant should be affected by an earthquake.

RADIO

In an interview, Saenz said Smithwick ordered Mason to stop and then walked up to Mason's car and shot him.

Smithwick placed himself in jail following the shooting. An examining trial for Smithwick will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the court of Brown Fuller, justice of the peace.

Smithwick has been a peace officer in Jim Wells County and Duval County more than 25 years. He has farm and ranch interests near Alice. He has continued to refuse to make any statement.

In the funeral service for Mason the Rev. Andrew Byers, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, said: "Bill Mason had his good points and his faults, as do we all. I speak as a man who respected his abilities and courage, and did not like his weaknesses.

"We know the things of his life that he set out to do and did — and the failures. There remains little to be said in the way of an obituary.

"This should be a period of the calmest, quietest, most reflective thinking we have ever done. Tragedy has stalked our town for many a day. The light of the world is centered upon us.

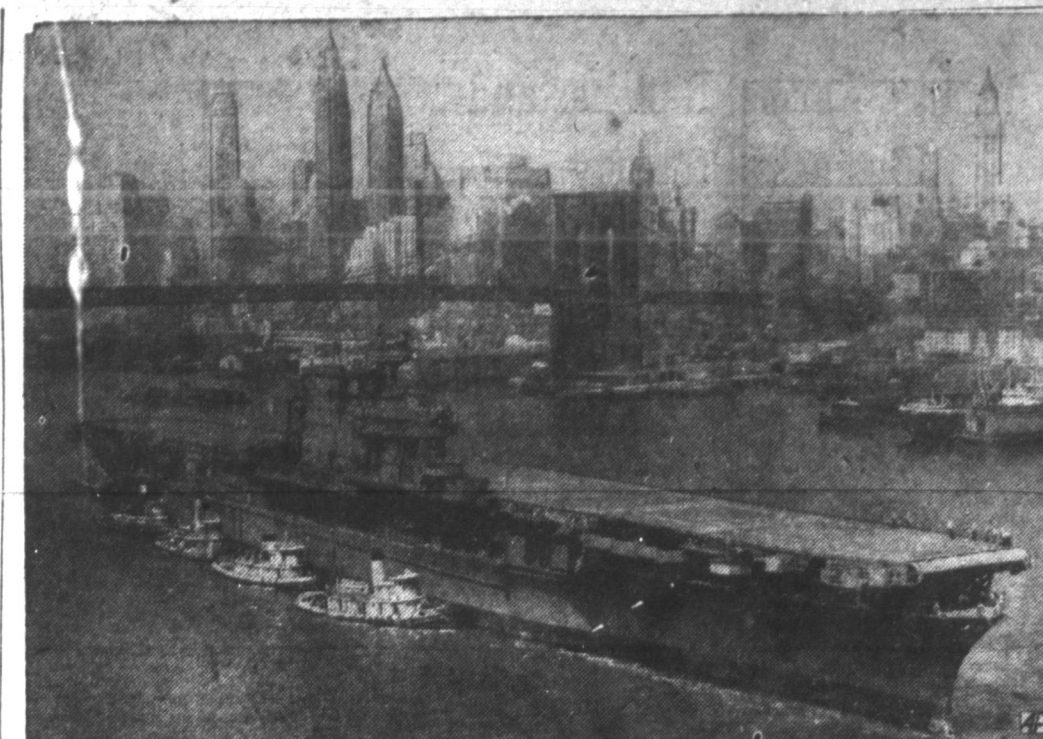

"It is my plea to all of you that at this moment we shall face the world as Christian people.

"Let us resolve that the way of the Lord shall be our way. God grant that in this hour our attitude, though strong, should be Christlike and Godlike."

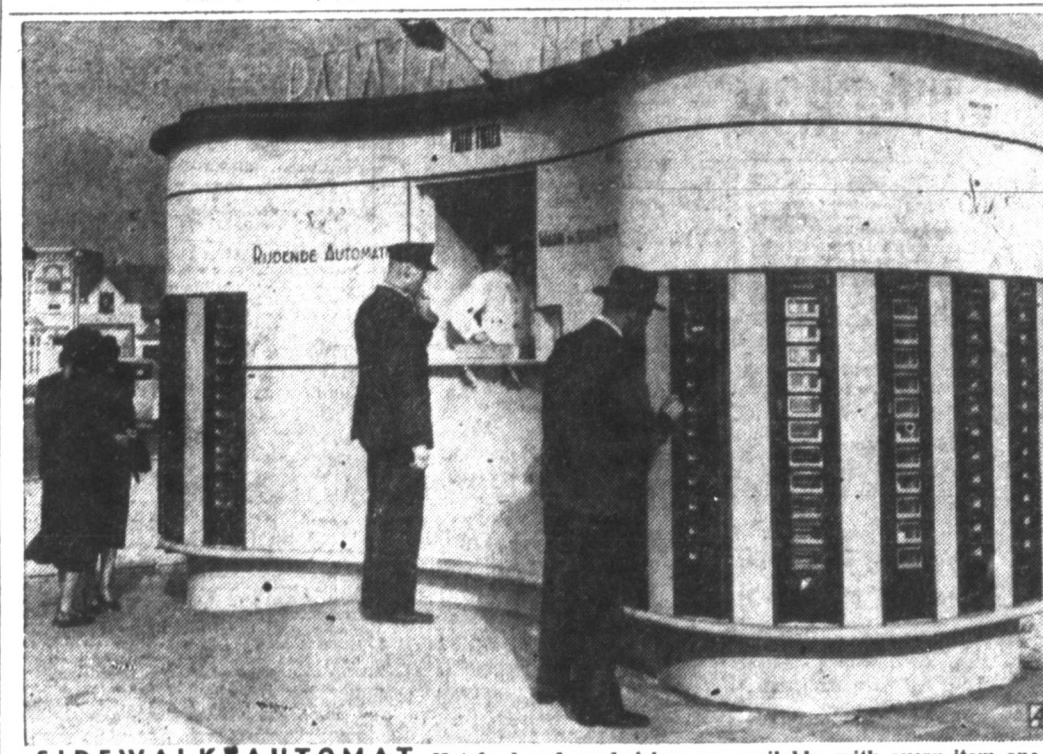

Burial was in the free section of the Alice Fraternal Cemetery. The sun burned down, the temperatures was 97 degrees, and for the hundreds of mourners there was no shade.

Prime Minister III Since Saturday

LONDON —(AP)— Prime Minister Attlee has fallen ill, becoming the third of Britain's "Big Four" leaders to go on the sick list in time of a national crisis. He has a chill.

'BIG E' COMES BACK—Decommissioned in January, 1947, the carrier USS Enterprise passes up the East River to the New York Naval Shipyard for an eight-months overhauling.

SIDEWALK AUTOMAT—Hot food and sandwiches are available, with every item one kwarke (ten cents) in this outdoor automaton on the beach at Zandvoort, near Amsterdam, Holland.

NEVER TOO YOUNG—Although Israel is little more than a year old, the new nation is already deviled by a dock workers' strike in Tel Aviv. Here, longshoremen cool off during a demonstration and enjoy ice cream cones. The strike was called by the left-wing Mapam and Communist Parties to protest the government's strict austerity plan.

Madden said the stoop turned in an amazing performance, covering 140 miles through varying currents and shifting sandbars and sharp turns in an effort to get past the Woosung forts before dawn.

The British were jubilant over the new turn in the "Amethyst affair," which started last April 20 with a confused battle in the Yangtze between the Amethyst and three other British warships and the Communists ashore.

The Admiralty in London announced King George VI had radioed an order for an extra ration of rum to all hands in celebration.

He ate all the cake the station boys had and then started pushing out window screens. The sergeant called the humane shelter.

Pete rode triumphantly to the shelter, where his owner, C. R. McDonald, bailed him out.

While McDonald was chaiting him up again, Pete picked his pocket of $1.50 and stuffed it behind a baseboard.

Americans Put 16 Billions 'On Cuff'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— More Americans are saying "charge it" instead of putting out cold cash for purchases.

The Federal Reserve Board said that consumer credit — for the purchase of everything from cars on installments to shoes on the family charge account—topped 16 billion dollars in June, for the highest figure in history.

SYDNEY, Australia —(AP)— Blaming Australia's Communists for the coal strike that has crippled her industry, the Labor government has pledged to wipe out communism in the Commonwealth.

As the countrywide strike of 24,000 miners entered its sixth week, the government prepared to smash the walkout by using troops to work open pits.

STAMPS INVALID

PRAGUE —(AP)— The Prague press announced Saturday that effective in November all postage stamps bearing portraits of former Presidents T. G. Masaryk and Edward Benes will become invalid. They were Czechoslovakia's two pre-Communist presidents.

Monkeyshines Fun for Pete

MEMPHIS, Tenn. —(AP)— Life is a gay, mad whirl for Pete the ringtailed monkey.

He got loose from his chain in a Memphis restaurant Friday and set off on a lark.

Pete's first stop was the middle of a busy street. A car screeched to a halt and a motorist peered out in confusion. Pete jumped in.

He looked the situation over, grabbed the ignition key, and beat it to the top of the rear seat. The motorist protested, and Pete lost his temper and chased him out of the car.

The motorist called the cops. Pete liked one of them, and rode on his shoulder to the station.

He ate all the cake the station boys had and then started pushing out window screens. The sergeant called the humane shelter.

Pete rode triumphantly to the shelter, where his owner, C. R. McDonald, bailed him out.

A WEEKEND CHAMPIONS REMEMBER

Local Soap Box Derby champions from the four corners of America are anticipating the trip of their lives when they go to Akron, O., for the four-day weekend culminating in the national championship race Aug. 14.

The 150 champs, each a winner in his home town, will compete on the famous race track at Derby Downs, Akron, for the title which will bring one of them national fame and a $5,000 college scholarship. The top five place winners all will win trophies and prizes, including a Chevrolet sedan for second place.

And every boy will leave Akron with a prize and the realization that he still is a champion.

While in Akron, the champs all will be guests of the Chevrolet Motor Division, national co-sponsor of the race, under the supervision of W. E. Fish, general sales manager. The extended weekend is planned to give just the right amount of time for recreation, trying out and working on the racing cars, wholesome meals and rest.

All of the champs must be in Akron no later than noon Thursday, Aug. 11. They will be met at airport, railroad station or on the highway, and conducted behind a police escort, with sirens shrieking, to downtown headquarters. Here, as bands play, they will be registered at the official office of the All-American Soap Box Derby in the Mayflower Hotel. Then they will go in cars or busses to Camp Derbytown, a YMCA boys' camp turned over exclusively to the champs for the four-day stay.

The boys will sleep in cabins, will be served the kind of food boys like and will participate in all sorts of recreational activities, all under the supervision of trained camp counselors. The camp is beside a cool lake in a shady grove about 12 miles from Akron. Some of the sports in which they may participate are swimming, boating, fishing, baseball, horseback riding and volleyball. There is an indoor recreation hall for amateur theatricals and a big bonfire get-together every evening.

Friday, Aug. 12, will be devoted largely to a trip to Derby Downs where the boys can make last-minute checkups on their cars, and where each boy makes a that run down the track. Late that afternoon, parents of the boys and representatives of sponsoring newspapers will be given an opportunity to visit the boys at camp. In the evening they will be taken to an entertainment by bantamweight football teams in Akron's Rubber Bowl, adjacent to Derby Downs.

Saturday (Aug. 13) is "Akron Day" for the boys. They will be entertained at a special breakfast provided by the Shell Oil Co., with Jimmy Doolittle, famed wartime flier and now an executive of the oil company, swapping stories with the boys. The Akron Chamber of Commerce takes over for the balance of the day, providing a special lunch at camp, with rubber company and Chevrolet executives acting as hosts for the occasion. Speedboat rides are included in the afternoon's entertainment.

At the same time there will be a special party for visiting members of the press who come to Akron as representatives of the co-sponsoring newspapers, and another party for mothers of champions and other women guests.

Saturday evening the champs go to bed at 10 p. m., to insure adequate rest for the big day ahead. Church services for all faiths are conducted at the Camp Derbytown Sunday morning and, after lunch, the boys go to Derby Downs. They march in the big pre-race parade, which starts at 1:15 p. m., with Jimmy Stewart, movie star, acting as grand marshal. Stewart plans to arrive a day ahead of the race, to spend time with the champions at Camp Derbytown.

After the parade the boys are returned to the top of the hill for the race. The first heat of which starts promptly at 2 p. m. The heats start regularly every 90 seconds, and the entire race is accurately timed so that the final heat will be run between 4:30 and 4:45 p. m.

For the first time this year the final half-hour of the race will be televised "live" over ABC stations from 2:15 to 2:45 p. m. CST. The final 15 minutes of the race, from 2:30 to 2:45 p. m., will be broadcast over the TBS station, coast to coast radio network of the Columbia Broadcasting System.

In addition to Stewart and Doolittle, some of the other celebrities who will attend or participate in the Derby functions include Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio; Wilbur Swann, president of the Indianapolis Speedway who is the official Derby referee; top officials of the Chevrolet Motor Division, and the General Motors Corp.

After the race, the Derby ceremonies terminate at the Champions' Banquet in the Goodyear Ball, where the boys are honored with seats at the largest speakers' table in the world. Top acts entertain the boys and 1400 guests during the dinner, while the event is topped off by the award of prizes and trophies to the place winners, and to all the champions.

Police (Continued From Page One) had a scared face. But she said she would know him if she saw him again.

Lindsay was shot through the right eye. His body was found several hours later.

The chief said he did not believe officers would have much trouble finding Ochoa.

"He's a fellow that knows this country pretty well," Gallagher said. "He's quite a marksman. I have a hunch he crossed that river (the Rio Grande). He's probably hiding out somewhere in the breaks on one side or the other."

Gallagher said Ochoa is a fair-haired man, about five feet, eight inches tall and weighing about 190 pounds.

Whittenberg, member of a prominent McAllen family, moved to this Mexican border city about a year ago to take over the Farmer's Gin Co. His body was returned to McAllen.

Gallagher said Lindsay was from Huntsville, Tenn., and members of the corporal's family were expected here today.

The chief said Lindsay was discharged from the Air Force recently, reenlisted and came here on furlough. He said Lindsay had known Ochoa when he was stationed here at one time.
