'Life Saver' Says Police Chief:

COP FINED FOR SHOVING UMP

DALLAS — (AP) — Walter Morris, president of the Big State Baseball League, today fined the chief of police at Temple, Tex., $40 "for pushing an umpire last Saturday night."

At Temple, indignant Police Chief W. M. McDonnell hit the ceiling when he heard the news, crying: "I helped save that umpire from a mob of angry fans. He may not know it, but I gave him a push to save his life."

Morris said the umpire, Neil Pearson, was given a push Saturday night following a Big State League game at Temple between Temple and Austin. Austin won the game.

"The chief of police walked into the umpire's club room and pushed Pearson," the 200-pound Morris said.

But that wasn't the story the fuming McDonnell told: "Now here's what really happened," said he, "and if Walter Morris thinks he's going to get ten bucks out of me he's badly mistaken. He'll have to see my lawyer."

"Austin had beat Temple Friday night because of some raw umpire's decisions and the same thing happened Saturday night. I don't have any connection with Temple club at all — I just like baseball games — and blind as I am I could see how wrong those umpires were Saturday."

"The fans could see it, too. They were getting hotter and hotter. Sheriff Buck Ray sent (See COP, Page 10)

International Wheat Agreement Before Group

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee called up the International Wheat Agreement today. All signs pointed to quick approval.

A complete lack of organized opposition to the wheat-selling plan is expected to speed the agreement to the Senate for ratification. The committee meets at 11:30 p.m. (CST).

Under this plan, five producing nations agree to sell and 26 consuming nations agree to buy 450,000,000 bushels of wheat each crop year for the next four years. The top price would be $1.80 a bushel. The minimum would scale from $1.50 the first year to $1.20 in the fourth year.

Opposition to a similar plan last year came from the grain and milling trades. But their opposition has faded with a surplus wheat crop in sight.

All the large farm organizations are in favor of the agreement. Senator Jenner (R-Ind.) is a sharp critic of the agreement and has said he will oppose it.

Jenner says the plan will cost U. S. taxpayers millions of dollars each year because the wheat will sell below the price which the government guarantees to farmers. He said the taxpayers will have to make up the difference.

Habitual Runaway Gives Judge Tip
HOUSTON — (AP) — A 15-year-old boy up as an habitual runaway gave juvenile Judge Roy Campbell a tip.

He said a half dozen other boys at the county juvenile ward had a key and were planning to run away.

They had a key all right. But officers found them locked in a room. The key had broken off in the lock and the door couldn't be opened from either side.

TAXI IS HIS CASTLE
CARDIFF, Wales — (AP) — A Cardiff court dismissed a charge that a man had been drunk and disorderly in a public place—namely, a taxi cab—with this ruling: "When he has paid his fare, an Englishman's taxi is his castle."

Manager Assumes Big Part of Blame

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Carroll L. Wilson, the atomic Energy Commission's general manager, said today he kept two scientists on AEC payrolls despite his security officer's finding that they were bad risks.

Wilson told a Congressional committee he made his own decision in these cases and had not taken the matter up with the commission.

Wilson testified at the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee's hearings on charges by Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) that there has been "incredible mismanagement" of the commission's affairs under David E. Lilienthal.

The names of the two scientists were not brought out. Wilson's statement capped these earlier developments:

1. Hickenlooper demanded that the AEC turned over to him a vast volume of records and reports, including memoranda of Roosevelt-Churchill talks about atomic matters at the 1943 Quebec Conference. He also demanded FBI and security reports on an unnamed number of persons.

2. Hickenlooper, in long questioning of Lilienthal, developed that there had been many shifts in important offices in the commission's organization. He also produced figures he said showed an 87 percent turnover in atomic project personnel in 1947 and 1948.

Hickenlooper contended this personnel turnover was a sign of poor management. Hickenlooper asked the AEC records by 4 p.m. (EST).

Among other things, Hickenlooper asked the minutes of the commission's meetings and its records of overtime pay to personnel in the headquarters office.

Lilienthal sat impassively while the senator ticked off a 14-point list of material he wants. He gave immediate indication whether the commission would attempt to comply with the request.

Lilienthal has called Hickenlooper's charges an "un-American" effort to "smear" the commission. He also has declared that the atomic project was "bogged down" when the civilian commission took it over from the army in the headquarters office. Lilienthal said he would try by amendment to knock from the bill a committee-approved provision denying pensions to veterans who don't meet an unemployability standard.

Without that provision, the bill's cost has been estimated at almost $9,000,000,000 during the next 80 years.

It was the high estimated cost of pensions that resulted in defeat of the original veterans' pension measure. That measure's cost had been estimated at upwards of $100,000,000,000 during the next 80 years.

The unemployability provision says only veterans who, because of disability, can't do more than half a day's normal work or more than 100 miles deep in the Soviet Zone, any agreement might eventually also govern traffic between the entire East and West of Germany.

An American source said U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson proposed that the council sessions now go on a "restricted" basis. He was supported by Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

Robert Schuman said, but Soviet Foreign Minister A. Y. Vishinsky replied he would have to consult the Kremlin on the point.

Officials of the Western powers entered today's session with a moral advantage. It was their turn yesterday to say "no" to the Russians. They refused the request of Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky to invite a 22-man delegation from the Soviet-sponsored German People's Republic to present their case to the Foreign Ministers Council.

They also recalled that the current sessions were convened at Russia's request and concluded that Moscow must desire some sort of arrangement on trade to preclude any more blockades. (See BIG FOUR, Page 10)

New Veterans' Pension Bill Before House

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A new veterans' pension bill came before the House today, with its chances of passage looking bright.

It's an entirely different measure from one the House tossed aside by a one-vote margin on March 24.

Only two fights were in prospect on the new bill — one to eliminate World War II veterans from the benefits and the other to knock out an unemployability requirement.

Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) of the Veterans' Affairs Committee said he would try by amendment to knock from the bill a committee-approved provision denying pensions to veterans who don't meet an unemployability standard.

Without that provision, the bill's cost has been estimated at almost $9,000,000,000 during the next 80 years.

Chubby Ph. D. on Sitdown Strike for Retirement Pay

ATLANTA — (AP) — A chubby, bright-eyed doctor of philosophy sat stubbornly in the offices of the Georgia Teacher Retirement System today and promised: "I'm going to stay here until I get my money."

The 64-year-old woman, Dr. Willie Melmoth Bomar, a home economics teacher of Glenwood, Ga., began her sitdown strike Monday morning. She is trying to collect $65.78 deducted from her salary for the state's teacher retirement fund.

Dr. Bomar, who won her doctorate at Columbia University, wants the money to pay for treatment of a cancer.

"They took it out of my puny little salary without consulting me," said the dark-haired, determined teacher. "Now they want me to wait till I'm dead with old age to collect it."

"Well, I've got cancer, I need the money for treatment—and cancer won't wait!"

She spent her second night in the dark, deserted offices last night, using a couch in the women's room for a bed. She said she has lived on sandwiches since her strike started.

Dr. Bomar flashed a train ticket to Rochester, Minn., and said she was ready to make her fifth trip to the Mayo Clinic for a cancer checkup, and possibly for treatment.

"I want to pay," she continued, "instead of saying 'I'm too poor—' you see I've been teaching school in Georgia."

Director J. L. Yaden of the retirement system said he would make a statement on the matter later today.

Conference On Tidelands Issue Held

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Ownership of the wealthy tidelands was the issue today in a full-dress conference between the federal government and coastal states including Texas.

An "area of agreement" was the goal as representatives of Texas, Louisiana and California sat down (12 noon CST) with Attorney General Tom Clark, Secretary of the Interior Krug and Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.)

Both the states and the federal government claim title to the lands — rich in oil and other minerals. And neither has yet publicly agreed to any plan for a compromise.

Late yesterday, Attorney General Price Daniel of Texas, Fred Howser of California, and Bolivar Kemp of Louisiana met in the Capitol.

But the preliminary session called by Speaker Rayburn of Texas, was fruitless, Rayburn said no agreement was reached.

Hall Hammond, Maryland attorney general, and Walter Johnson, former Nebraska attorney general, reported the three attorneys. Other advisors also were present.

The tidelands ownership dispute was sparked largely by a Supreme Court decision that the U. S. had "paramount rights" to California's off-shore lands. Congress has passed legislation giving clear title to the states, but it was vetoed by the President. Similar proposals are now pending.

The state ownership advocates discussed a "written piece of paper" outlining a legislative proposal to settle the controversy, Rayburn said. He declined to identify the person who mailed it to him.

The group did not discuss the idea of a compact among oil-producing states as suggested by some states, he said. Under that proposal the states would recognize the federal government's paramount rights over tidelands, but the states would control the property except in times of emergency (See CONFERENCE, Page 10)

Big Four Consider Secret Sessions

PARIS — (AP) — The three Western foreign ministers met again today to discuss their diplomatic campaign against Russia in the Foreign Ministers Council.

Advisers were said to be anxious for the ministers to pass on to the second subject on the agenda today — the question of Berlin, its currency and its future.

The three Western ministers conferred for about 75 minutes. It was understood that one of the questions discussed was whether the four-power council should go into "restricted" session.

This would mean that the deliberations would be secret and that news items would not be briefed at the conclusion of the meetings. There was no indication as to what decision was reached.

At present, newsmen are barred from the pink marble palace where the meetings are held. After the conclusion of the session, however, press officers are given some of the four delegations give resumes.

The issue of Berlin centers around the question of transportation between the city and Western Germany. Since Berlin is some 100 miles deep in the Soviet Zone, any agreement might eventually also govern traffic between the entire East and West of Germany.

An American source said U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson proposed that the council sessions now go on a "restricted" basis. He was supported by Britain's Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman.

MOCK DUEL RULED OUT BY CHIEFS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The mock duel in the sky between the Air Force's mighty B-36 and the Navy's best banisher jet fighters suggested by Congress has been turned down by the joint chiefs of staff for security reasons.

The recommendation to call off the air battle was first made known in a copyrighted story in the Washington Times-Herald. This was shortly after the House Armed Services Committee yesterday ordered a full investigation of why the B-36 came to be known as "the flying target" of the Air Force.

The possibility remained that such a bang-you're-dead test might be conducted later in deepest secrecy.

But the joint command, in a letter forwarded to Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the committee by Secretary of Defense Johnson, said such a battle would divulge vital information.

The letter also said such an event would serve no useful purpose.

The Air Force had said the B-36 operating at 40,000 feet and above could not be intercepted by any fighter plane now in existence.

The Navy planned to build a multi-million dollar aircraft carrier from which jet planes and bombers would operate. It said the jet planes can whip up to

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Four lonely women, selected through a matrimonial club, were finding many strange, unexplained things about the island. There are graves—those of workmen killed by accident, says Harding. But Bea Cosgrove, on a walk with Harding, found a plank by one of them—a plank she saw with Harding. Captain Oak, skipper of the ship that brought her to the island. And three are four dead fish, stacked on the beach by little crosses. Harding holds down the cross to suggest.

THE galvanized mouth of the water pipe gurgled. It gurgled. A stream of clear water spouted from its lips, ruffled the surface of the pool and tossed the floating bits of wood with its outcroiling ripples.

"Who?" Harding shouted. "Who?" He ripped the key ring from his pocket, sorted the keys. He found the one he hunted stared at it.

The water continued its gurgle. The ripples reached the fish. Their tails fanned gently.

Harding raced back up the trail toward the distant main house. Bea stood waiting until the flow of water stopped. The surface of the tiny pool settled into a sheeny surface untouched by the wind which passed above it. The fish were quiet now.

Bea Cosgrove started back up the trail. Windblown sand in the trail tugged at her ankles, tought her progress. She found herself struggling to move faster and faster. By the time she covered the part of the trail to the multi-colored cliff, she was spent, trembling.

She made herself sit down on a sun-warmed flat rock. Gradually her breathing became less painful. Far ahead on the side of the island's highest hill she could make out the vivid orange of Agnes Firth's dress. No, she corrected dering gasp of a distant leviathan in agony. "The wind does it," she said. She turned away. "The wind—or underground water." Her legs moved woodenly. She would not let herself look back as she hurried toward the house. It was better not to see.

BY nightfall all preparations possible had been made against the rising storm. The Spere Islanders sat together in the main room in a blaze of light. Below in the storerooms snarled from void stone the dynamo thudded unheard in the shriek of wind through the legs of the overcast water tower. As yet the mill to the north still protected the house, and as yet no rain had fallen.

Harding himself had suggested the use of the electric lights. He had gone farther, brought out a supply of whisky, and fixed drinks himself for the four women. Bea Cosgrove left her second drink half finished, walked to the front windows and stared out into blackness. From the table she heard the scrape of Harding's chair and the sudden dam in the flow of Lilly Warren's chatter.

"Still no rain?" he asked. "No. Just wind. More from the west now."

"Waiting! I hate it," Harding said. "It's useless, empty, unforming, unplaning." He swayed out on a hand to steady himself and scowled at this evidence of the drinks he had taken. "You want another drink?"

"No, thanks."

"Let's see. Maybe I have something to interest you. Trust you because you were with me when the water ran."

Bea followed him to the locked door of the tower room. She knew the three other women watched intently. He unlocked the door, flung it open and snapped on a light switch.

The room seemed smaller. The desk, the chair, the white iron cot were in place. There was a staircase leading up to a landing and another locked door which she had not seen before. Something was missing. She had it. The case of rifles was gone.

H. B. TAYLOR, JR. I wish you would just look at what the editor did to me last week. After all the hard work I have turned out trying to make people believe that my wife doesn't write this for me, what does he do? He comes out with Warren Haase's picture in my column. I am sure was upset about this. There is a saying though, "All bad things have their good points," or something like that. Well I found out there are a lot of people that read this column. That mistake brought them to light. They all sure poured it on me about my picture being so much better last week. I want it understood right now, though, neither Warren Haase nor my wife writes this for me. I do my own. That is all I am going to say about this now. Maybe the editor or Haase will get all over me the way it is.

Just pulled in from the rodeo over at Stinnett. They sure put on a good one this year. Dances Friday and Saturday night, barbeques and rodeo performances. A full weekend. It looked like everybody over there pitched in to make the celebration a real success. Saw a lot of people from Pampa over there. Some members of the Roping Club were entered in the rodeo. Glen Green, Tooter Henry, Rip Barrett, Bill Stockstill, Buddy Cockrell, El Gipper, Myrel Looper were some of them. A few other local cowboys entered were Gerald Walters, Pee Wee Benoit and Ike Keese. Myrel Looper and Tooter Henry were the only local cowboys to bring back any of the prize money. Myrel pulled up the first in the bareback bronc-riding and a second in the bull-riding. He really put a ride on that old 28 bull of Pat Wartmans.

He had a third in the calf-roping first day. Results for the Saturday show were: Calf-roping — 1st, Arthur Hoffman, Dalhart, 18.4; 2nd, P. P. Wells, Spearman, 19.6; 3rd, Tooter Henry, 20. Barbeque bronc-riding — 1st, C. M. Coffee, Miami; 2nd, Claude Turpin, Dalhart; 3rd, Dale Flemings, Logan, Okla. Saddle bronc-riding — 1st, Arthur Hoffman; 2nd, Shine Britte, Campo, Coler; 3rd, C. M. Coffee. Bull-riding—Ervin Lamb, Borger; 2nd, Myrel Looper; 3rd, Dale Flemings. Bull-doggin—1st, C. M. Coffee; 2nd, Doc Guynes, man, 13.5. Boys who pulled down a $50-30-20 prize money for the Sunday show were: Calf Roping — 1st, P. P. Wells, 18.9; 2nd, Richard Butts, Jr., Texhoma, 18.3; 3rd, R. J. Trainham, Stratford, 18.5. Bull-doggin — 1st, Shine Britte, 6.4; 2nd, Joe Bob James Kerrick, 7.7; 3rd, Spec Blackwell, Skellytown, 8.5. Bareback bronc-riding: 1st, Myrel Looper; 2nd, C. M. Coffee; 3rd, Ed White, Wellington. Saddle bronc-riding — 1st, C. M. Coffee; 2nd and 3rd split between Roy Mitchell, Stratford, and Shine Britte. Bull-riding — 1st, Ed White; 2nd, Claude Turpin; 3rd, Durwood Potts, Dumas.

C. M. Coffee almost carried off all the money. C. M. took home $200 for his efforts. Arthur Hoffman carried off $120. C. M. was judged best all-around cowboy and was awarded a pair of hand-made boots to go along with his cash winnings.

O. G. Hill, Jr., from over at Hereford was through Pampa a few days back and asked one of our club members for a rule book of the club. O. G. said that a group of men around Hereford were thinking of organizing a club over there and needed something to get started with. I just received word that the club is well along now. They have about 40 members already. J. D. Neill is president of the club. They call their club The Hereford Riders Club. Plans are being made for a roping arena and a club house. The club is taking both men and women members. The Pampa Roping Club is for men only. We may be missing something.

The businessmen of Hall County have banded together and revived the old Hall County Rodeo Association. This group disbanded during the war and haven't held their rodeo for about five years now. They have a good show rounded up for this year. The rodeo will be held June 2-4, with B. L. Pointer of Elgin, Okla., furnishing the stock. Prize money will total over $1800. Officers of the new association are: T. B. Rodgers, president; Clyde Milam vice president; and Homer Tucker, secretary.

Loyd Boxwell, wagon boss of Dumas Doggie Days tells me that they are really getting set for a big weekend. Their rodeo will be held June 8-9, with performances each afternoon at 2:30. There will be dances, parades and a big free barbeque each day. June 3 has been set as Old Settlers Day. Pat Wartman will furnish stock for the rodeo. I guess I will get enough of my work done to be able to go over to Dumas. If I don't get caught up I am going to have to stop rodeoing for a while.

I just can't get over that picture in this column last week. I guess I will get over it in time. Honest, though, I do write this myself.

If any of you fellows want to get your membership dues paid in time for the rodeo you had better get them in this week. You know your membership card is your pass for all three rodeo performances. That will save you three bucks. The club's regular monthly meeting will be held June 6, but I won't have time to mail your cards next week.

Just for watching the bucking stock of Pat Wartmans over at Stinnett last Saturday and Sunday I sure would hate to be a bull-rider at the Roping Club rodeo all over this end of the country. They will be the cream of the crop too. If you like to see good cowboys contest good stock don't miss at least one performance of the rodeo. Shows will be held Saturday, June 11, at 2 p.m., Saturday night at 8, and Sunday afternoon at 2:30. You can surely find one show that you can see. That "calf scramble" will be worth the price of admission. I will like to tell you what it will cost to get in for the rodeo but the editor says no. Did any of you adults ever have "buck fever"?

Well here's hoping to see a lot of you boys in Dumas Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Here's hoping also that I don't see Haase this week.

Condensed cream of mushroom soup makes a quick sauce for dried beef. A half can of the soup will be enough to sauce about a quarter pound of the beef. Serve over noodles, toast, or fluffy mashed potato, and sprinkle with a little finely minced parsley for an attractive garnish.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

NEW YORK—(AP)—The human race soon will be able to spend all its time playing gin rummy.

At present people still waste a lot of energy heating a living out of the world and fretting over other foolish problems.

Good old science is changing all that.

Take the problem of putting the baby to sleep at night. Now that should be a simple thing. But it has bothered every family since caveman days, and that is going back 40,000 years.

Well, after these 40,000 centuries, a fellow came along and invented an automatic rocker. It not only rocks Junior, it sings to him, too—in his mother's voice.

But the mechanical baby rocker, the automatic dish washer, the refrigerator and deep freeze unit, the vacuum cleaner, the television set that brings vaudeville into your parlor—these are as nothing to science's new wonder, the "electric brain."

Here is a real thingamajig. And if you expect to keep up with the Joneses in the future, you're going to have to have one handy around the house. And you might as well start saving up for the down payment now, as a pilot.

Zephyr is only slightly larger than a kitchen cabinet, and pre-model presently in production will cost about $200,000.

This "electric brain" is named "Zephyr," and he's going to be some boy. He's being built by Dr. Harry Huskey for the U. S. Bureau of Standards at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Zephyr will take up where Einstein left off. He will be able to translate three foreign languages, or perform 16,000 additions and 4,000 multiplications a second. With this faithful big-brain standing in the corner, no school child need ever again dread homework.

It is also promised that this electrical wizard will be able to compute salary payments—not that this bit of arithmetic has ever been any strain on the average man's intellect. But Zephyr in addition can predict the weather, even in California, and replace minor executives.

This last function is indeed a happy one as it promises to rid the world of a highly troublesome class—the straw bosses. These strange people—you find them in every office starting at a "think" on their motto, like to boast they work like machines. It will be restful to see them replaced by machines that work like people.

But Zephyr's real place will be in the home. With his mathematical ability he'll be able to balance your wife's bank book without stripping a gear. And he'll easily figure a way to cut your income tax in half, the true test of genius in our times.

Zephyr is only slightly larger than a kitchen cabinet, and pre-

Outsider Can Hardly Take Hand in Big Four Meeting

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON—(AP)—The bigger you are, the less chance there is for an outsider to tell you what to do.

What has just happened in Detroit and what's happening in Paris, are good examples.

The Ford Motor Company and the CIO Auto Workers' Union are pretty big. They had a disagreement and a strike.

They talked for days, couldn't reach an agreement, and finally decided to let an outsider, an arbitrator, settle the argument for them.

But when you move into the realm of nations, you're dealing with the biggest of them all.

And that's the case with the United States, Russia, Britain and France.

The foreign ministers of those four countries have been meeting in Paris for a week, talking of working out an agreement on Germany.

So far they've been miles apart, with Russia pitching for what she wants and the other three, standing together, wanting something else.

All four foreign ministers, including Russia's Vishinsky, who not long ago was screaming at the West, are being very polite.

But at the rate they're going they may keep on being polite for weeks and wind up nowhere.

If they break up, as they've broken up in the past, at the end of a dead-end street, they just pick up their briefs and go home.

And no outsider, like an arbitrator, can be called in to make a decision for them and tell them what each must do.

They're all too big to let an outsider do their thinking for them, and each has too much at stake.

It's too soon to pass judgment on what's happening in Paris because the meeting only started last week and because—

What's happened so far, at least on the part of the Russians, looks more like sparring than anything else.

So far the Russians haven't contributed a new idea about Germany at all. The suggestions they've made for running Germany were either tried in the past and failed or they're outdated.

The Russians certainly want to win the good-will of the Germans but after a week in Paris they haven't offered one idea that would increase their popularity.

Harvest Time Drawing Near

GREAT BEND, Kans.—(AP)—Wheat harvest time is drawing near in Kansas.

Harvest headquarters will be opened here Wednesday by W. O. Stark, farm placement supervisor of the Kansas State Employment Service.

The office will coordinate the flow of combines and harvest labor into the state with the needs of wheat farmers ready to bring in their crops.

The harvest already is underway in Oklahoma and Texas and is expected to begin in the Southern tier of Kansas counties between June 10 and 20.

A statement issued by Stark's Topeka office said early varieties of wheat probably will be cut in Summer, Harper, Barber and other southern counties by June 10.

Stark said the employment service is figuring on a heavy crop in all sections of Kansas this year. The latest official estimate for the state, based on May 1 conditions, is 251,226,000 bushels. This would compare with last year's harvest of 231,368,000 bushels and 286,702,000 bushels in 1947 when the all-time high was set.

Gypsy Bride Is Reported Missing

SHREVEPORT, La.—(AP)—A 16-year-old Gypsy bride has been reported missing, two months after her marriage.

Johnny Adams, brother of Mrs. Katherine Adams Johnson, said his sister had disappeared from a trailer camp in Chattanooga, Tenn. She was staying there with her 21-year-old husband, Pete Johnson, and the husband's father, Louis Johnson.

The girl is reportedly of royal Gypsy blood. Her young husband is a member of one of the world's wealthiest Gypsy families.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's amazing. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unattractive fat from their own bodies. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and you'll lose weight quickly. It's so simple, you can go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of liquid Baracortin. Pour this into a 4-ounce bottle. Then take two tablespoons of this mixture, three times a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the results you want to lose bulky fat and help rapidly slough, more graceful curves; if you double the amount and take it three times a day, you'll lose it almost like magic from your neck, arms, back, abdomen, hips, buttocks and ankles. Just return the empty bottle for your money back.

Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back slender, curvy and graceful slenderness. No diet, no quick fixes, no starvation—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearance and set.

10 pounds lost in 10 days Mrs. M. C. Britton, 306 W. Wilwood, San Antonio, Texas, writes us as follows: "I am a faithful user of Baracortin. I had gained 10 pounds in 10 days and needed to lose 10 pounds, so I started using Baracortin and my weight was over for I lost the 10 pounds in 10 days. I now weigh 125 pounds. I eat most anything I want and hold my own weight."

Tenant Hip Deep in Rice

TOKYO—(AP)—Tenant Isao Kurokawa is almost hip deep in rice. That's a strange way to be in this rice short country.

It happened this way. Two years ago Isao's landlord started for the country.

"Take care of my rice ration," he said before leaving. Isao did, faithfully.

Rice poured into his little home at the rate of a pint and a half a day under occupation rationing. Soon the place was full of it. But the landlord didn't come back.

Worried, lest he be taken for a blackmarketeer, Isao went to police.

They were amazed. "What am I to do?" he asked, almost tearfully.

Police shrugged. The question had never come up before. They left Isao standing practically up to his hip-pockets in rice, perplexed as ever.

sumably he'll come in either a walnut or mahogany veneer. At a paltry $200,000 what home can afford to be without him?

What are You Going to Do Now School is Out?

THAT'S the $64 question almost every teen-age boy faces—but it's EASY to answer when he has a newspaper route. To an alert carrier-boy, summer school vacation presents no problem of how to use leisure hours or earn spending money—it's a welcome opportunity to create extra time and effort to his own thriving little business of serving the newspaper readers of his neighborhood.

This pleasant part-time work brings him the cash he needs for summer sports, savings and outings—because his profits are limited only by his ability to serve customers and sell non-subscribers. Also he has frequent chances to share in the fun, prizes, trips and other incentives which our carriers are offered throughout the year. No wonder he rates his newspaper route "TOPS" as a means of making money and learning business methods—and having a good time doing it!

"Come-in-Cotton Coffee" Is Given Recently in Mrs. Fisher's Garden

CANADIAN — (Special) — Mrs. A. Kessie, Sr., C. H. Hamilton, W. E. Lalicker, Charles Teas, F. D. Teas, A. R. King, Preston Hutton, Larry Sanders, Ben Jordan, Paul Bryant, Jack King, Bassett Bryant, R. H. Stone, William Karr, John Jones, Frank McMordie, Joe E. Boyd, G. F. Hoover, J. L. Cleveland, R. M. Hobby, Ben Tepe, Joe Reid, Dan Witt, E. H. Snyder, and Miss Helen Snyder.

Mrs. James E. Reid was co-hostess and assisting at the serving tables were Mrs. Bill Jackson and Mrs. Hershel Fielder.

Favors were small garden hat nut cups. Orange-fruit cups, hot rolls, apricot conserve, broiled sausages, nut cookies, mixed nuts, and coffee were served.

Those attending were: Mmes. J. W. Voyles, Johnnie Young, N. Abraham, Malouf Abraham, Tom Abraham, W. A. Kessie, Jr., W.

Veiling stuffed under the close-fitting crocheted calot is used to relieve cap's severe outline and to give head shapelier contours.

Veiling Works Contour Camouflage Under Head-Hugging Calot Styles

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Staff Writer

Those little beanie which are many girls' No. 1 choice of summer millinery can mercilessly expose a less-than-perfectly shaped head.

So, the smart thing to do, if you like to wear a beanie and your head isn't quite up to one is to use a little undercover work to create shapelier contours.

A generous length of veiling is all you need to use to stuff inside of a skull cap in order to improve head contours.

The veiling may be stuffed at the very top of a beanie, if you need to give your head the illusion of more oval length than it has. Folding your veiling and tucking it under your little hat at the back works just as well in building out contour there if your head looks flatter than you like it to look in a beanie.

The skull cap that needs a little "lift" around the face can be given that treatment quite nicely by stuffing veiling inside of the hat all around the edge. To keep veiling well concealed and securely lodged inside of your hat, pin the "prop" to your hairline after you stuff it under.

Mrs. Fred Frost Honored Recently With Bridal Fete

A bridal shower honoring Miss Paula Franklin who recently became the bride of Mr. Fred Frost was held in the home of Mrs. H. M. Cone with Mrs. Leo Braswell, Mrs. Emory Noblitt, and Mrs. Cecil Bryan as co-hostesses.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with spring flowers and clusters of silver wedding bells.

The bride-elect was presented a lovely yellow gladioli corsage by her mother, Mrs. E. N. Franklin. A pink gardenia corsage was presented Miss Franklin's grandmother, Mrs. Viola Maynard, by the hostesses.

Presiding at the bride's book was Mrs. Braswell. Individual cakes with "Paula and Fred" written on top were served. Favors were miniature rolling pins. A large rolling pin was photographed by the guests and presented to the honoree.

Those participating were: Mmes. Jesse Conner, Roy Tinsley, Robert Randolph, Eva Howard, Tressa Humphries, Irvin Patterson, Elmer Casey, Jess Clay, William Call, Robert Hollis, W. A. ### * WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT
 NEA Staff Writer

A Florida educator is proposing a 12-month school year for children, arguing that the standard three-month vacation "makes as much sense as the horse-drawn streetcar."

Maybe the long, lazy summer vacation is out of tune with our speeded up way of living. But youth of today love it just as much as their parents and grandparents did.

And maybe they need that summer vacation even more than children did in the old days. After all, they're rushed and pushed around an awful lot during the school year.

It's only during the no-school season that kids get a chance to get out from under adult supervision long enough really to be kids.

HY DEPRIVE THEM?
 So why should we take that wonderful long summer vacation away from them?
 It would probably be easier on Mama to have the youngsters in school 12 months instead of nine. And the children could, of course, get their book education faster that way.

But where's the fun in such a plan? What will the boys and girls have to look back on when they're men and women? If we force them to go to school five days a week, 12 months a year until they are old enough to go to work?

Jack Scott Feted On First Birthday

Master Jack Michael Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Scott, was honored with a birthday party May 25. He was one year old.

The cake and entertaining rooms were in blue and white. Balloons were favors for the small guests.

Young guests present were: Daria Jean Snow, Benney Bennett, Marc Gregory, Paula Kay Cooper, Pamela Wilson, Vickie Sue and Carla Jo Tucker, Jamie Glenn and Carmen Eugene, Clay Cochran, John Lynn Hollis, Jimmy Belser, and the honoree.

Others present were: Mmes. Jack W. Wilkinson, W. J. Scott, Vernon Swain, T. D. Snow, Benney Bennett, Skeet Gregory, Paul Chambers, Bill Turner, Robert Wilson, Bryant Tucker, W. C. Scott, Bill Cochran, Tommie Hollis, and Messrs. and Mmes. C. B. Gregory, and F. N. Belser, and the honoree's mother.

Plan New Hobby In Middle Years

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Staff Writer

The attitude of many middle-aged women is expressed by these familiar words: "I've lived my life. I'll sit by and watch my children live theirs."

When a woman begins to feel no more interest than that in the rich years ahead, she should give her defeatist attitude a good going over.

When a woman's children are grown and her obligations toward them have been fulfilled is the time for her to begin a stimulating new life for herself. The moment one new interest grips her attention, her defeatist attitude expressed by "I'll sit by and watch," will be changed.

A plan to lead a fuller and more stimulating life, now that the mother of a brood is free to pursue new interests, will make her a more fascinating woman to her husband, friends and children. Her failure to "grow" and to enrich her personality is apt to put her in that category, which every woman wants to avoid, of being a dull mother and wife and a stick-in-the-mud friend.

Serve baked potatoes and a tossed green salad with barbecued spareribs; for dessert have a fruit compote of melon and citrus fruits.

Waysides Write French Families

The Wayside Home Demonstration Club wrote greetings to French families at their recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Homer Taylor.

Mrs. Harold Osborne, president, was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Ed Barnes gave a demonstration on textile painting. She used a kitchen design, stressing work from paper pattern to material using brisk strokes. The patterns are made of manila paper dipped in wax.

Mrs. A. Howard had slipcovers for her demonstration. She explained the ways to cut a pattern.

Those present were: Mmes. Ernest Edwards, J. L. Chaso, J. S. Fuqua, L. Osborne, Gus Caruth, H. B. Taylor, Jr., J. A. Reeves, Gus Greene, W. A. Greene, and Felix stalls. Two guests present were Mrs. Bill Forman and Mrs. Robert Hollis.

Washington . . . . . by Peter Edson

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala. (NEA) Here on a quick trip inaugurating TACA Airlines' new daily plane service from New Orleans, the U. S. visitor meets several surprises. It is impossible to spend only 48 hours in any country and pretend to know the answers. But giving this place the Gunther...

"While the red carpets, bottles and food bags of hospitality were all dragged out for the plane load of officials and newspapermen, giving them the usual Number One treatment of welcome, it did not take long to learn that there is considerable anti-American sentiment."

"It is centered largely in radical political refugees from Spain and American revolutions, in the universities, in labor union leadership and in left wing political element from which the present government of President Juan Jose Arvalo gets its support."

Fair Enough - Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER (Copyright, 1949) Every state in the union and Hawaii and Alaska have laws against rioting, tumult, unlawful assembly and other legal variations and degrees of the criminal...

"The CIO's criminal practice of 'wrecking' and overturning automobiles and throwing bricks through windshields is forbidden in all states, and damage to the dwelling of employers or non-striking or strikebreaking workers is thoroughly covered by law."

"However, these laws seldom are enforced in CIO riots. On the contrary, there is much sworn testimony that Michigan state policemen ignored criminal acts done in their presence..."

"The present federal laws forbid the importation of strikebreakers from another state in certain kinds of 'labor' disputes which often are Communist insurrections. They do not, however, forbid the interstate transportation of armies or battalions of organized and disciplined goons for the frank purpose of terrorizing communities by arson, assault, vandalism and other forms of anarchy."

"Deceived by CIO propaganda, thousands of Americans believe that they have a 'vested' right, a property right in their jobs, which protects those jobs from usurpation when they strike. In their belief, in time, capitalism among the workers of the industrial nations and the employing corporations themselves would acquire title to most of the jobs in the United States, and rent them out to workers for so much a day."

"The next year probably will bring the great showdown between government and mobs, states which have been chosen for a repetition of the 'off-anarchy of the so-called 'organizing' strikes of the thirties. If the CIO attempts the same terror in the South that swept Michigan, Ohio, Indiana and Pennsylvania, there will be loss of life. The citizens have a right to shoot to kill if they find themselves attacked and the police refuse to do their sworn duty."

"Our policy is always to advise our members to work for the government in the case of plant seizure. You can't strike against the government."

"I THOUGHT YOU SAID YOUR APARTMENT WAS A VIEW? IT HAS, I'M TELLING YOU!"

"The used car was found to be neither a gift nor a purchase from outside donation. A business man here said he had been told to look for a place to live elsewhere since they were not wanted here."

"While many spoke out against the Levisens, some were eager to contribute. One of the latter is Don Piper, former deputy sheriff and one of the few Greenfield citizens who have helped the Levisens financially."

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLES An Example of Tyranny Of Compulsory Education (Continued from Yesterday) In the last issue I was reproducing a news story from the Chicago Tribune telling the troubles of Lincoln Levisen of Greenfield, Ill. was having because he wanted to educate his own children and refused to send them to public schools. The towns people had called a public meeting. I continue to quote:

"Chambers, the retired farmer, emphasized that he had never 'seen a finer town than Greenfield,' that there was 'no religious persecution or intolerance here,' and the sentiment against the Levisens came from a 'small minority of radicals.'"

"A woman with a baby in her arms wandered in, glared at the Levisens, and spoke unexpectedly: 'They're lawbreakers, aren't they? We can't condone lawbreakers. We don't condone murderers do we?'"

"The reporter then asked Mayor Heber if the woman is considered a radical. A pin dropping hush came over the audience. The woman and Mrs. Houlette, wife of the Legion adjutant."

"The mayor was asked by a reporter if there is an organized campaign to get the Levisens out of town. Mayor Heber replied: 'No, but there soon will be if they keep up the way they're going.'"

"The town has been very good to the Levisens," Mayor Heber asserted. "The town took them in and extended credit. I myself gave the small channels of my gas station."

"The Tribune reporter reminded the city fathers it was not the Levisens who solicited the story, but Legion Commander White. One reason for the meeting was to demand retractions from the Tribune reporter for previous stories casting the town 'in an ugly role of bigotry.'"

"Editor Haven this morning said, 'The Levisens have received several hundred dollars in the last few weeks from sympathetic contributors and also have purchased a secondhand car. One reason for the meeting was to demand retractions from the Tribune reporter for previous stories casting the town 'in an ugly role of bigotry.'"

"The Levisens, some were eager to contribute. One of the latter is Don Piper, former deputy sheriff and one of the few Greenfield citizens who have helped the Levisens financially."

What to Tell the Home Folks

BY ERSKINE JOHNSON NEA Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Boy meets girl since the first ham carried the first spear across a stage, a new 'boy-meets-girl' gimmick has been welcomed with ear-splitting hurrahs.

"A boy and a girl can't just meet like ordinary people in the dream-ah. It's gotta have a twist. Hollywood has twisted itself all out of shape dreaming up new twists. Remember that old MGM picture, 'Lucky Night'? There was a twist to boy meets girl. Myrna Loy and Bob Taylor met in an employment agency where they both were looking for jobs. They tried to hunt some animal together but neither has one. Later the same day they meet by accident on a park bench and both make a dive for a cigarette that has been thrown away."

"Taylor gets there first, breaks the cigarette in two and gives Myrna half. Naturally it's love. For more than a year now Kay Kyser has been asking married people how they met. It's a gimmick on his radio show."

"These informal interviews have brought out more unusual boy-meets-girl angles than you can shake six dozen film writers at. Here are some of the best: AIR PRESSURE There's an airline pilot who flies from Los Angeles to New York three times a week. One fine morning he passes through the plane to look over his passengers. He noticed one passenger on the aisle who was lovely. He went back to his cabin and for three hours wrote her notes in poetry, demanding a date. By the time the plane arrived in New York the girl was convinced. They had a date that night and were married two weeks later."

"There was a young girl who escaped from a DP camp in Germany. She sneaked into the American occupied zone and was stealing potatoes when she was arrested by a handsome GI. Driving to headquarters in a jeep they decided it was love. She's in America now, an American citizen, married to the GI who captured her."

"Two sets of parents who were strangers took their infant son and daughter to a wedding. The grandmother of the bride suggested that the two babies be put to bed while their parents remained for the reception. The babies were only six months old at the time, but they're married now."

"Another couple met when she was a patient waiting to undergo an operation. He was the heart specialist called in to test her heart to see whether she could stand the shock. He listened to her heart and lost his own. There was the couple who met every Friday night for three years in the New York morgue. She was a crime reporter and he was a medical student working his way by taking care of the morgue. Now she's his wife and nurse. The came to California for their honeymoon. While in California, they attended the wedding of her husband's best friend. Several years later she came back to California a widow. She met her late husband's best friend, who was by this time a widower. Now they're married. LOVE IN A PINCH A lady pinched a man's nose thought was her boy friend in a crowded Chicago bus. The man screamed. Three weeks later they were married. A pert young thing was waiting for a plane and asked a boy standing at the information board what time it would leave. She was surprised at his courteous answers to all her questions about the flight. When he invited her to have some coffee, she thought it was still part of the airline service. Only after they were married did he tell her the truth—he was waiting for a plane, too. There was the little lady whose dress started to shrink in the rain while she was waiting for a bus. She hid her embarrassment, she covered her face with the newspaper. But her legs did it. He stepped on the brakes opened the door and took her home. Six months later they were in their own home. And let's not forget the lady taxi driver who had an emergency call to take a fellow to a hospital. She was sympathetic and visited him several times while he was recovering from the operation. Sure, they were married. And if any of those twists wind up in the movies, the principals have my permission to sue. Hollywood is still talking about Jimmy Stewart's surprise announcement that he'll marry Gloria Hatrick McLean in August. Even his press agent was caught with his publicity release down. Jimmy, just turned 41, will be making up for lost time. He'll also become the father of Gloria's two young children by her first marriage. news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER WASHINGTON — Postmaster Jesse Donaldson, an old mail carrier himself, has been bawled with protests from P.O. customers and his postmasters over the nuisance burden which increased parcel post shipments have imposed upon them as a result of increases in Railway Express rates."

"Uncle Sam has been forced into the business of transporting and delivering heavy freight in a way that was never intended by the Congress or by the founding fathers. Besides costing the government about $60,000,000 a year, it slows up the handling and distribution of ordinary mail. It will require renovation of post office facilities — loading platforms, distribution centers and delivery methods — at a cost of many millions of dollars."

"WAIT — The effort of manufacturers, distributors and retailers to avoid the high Railway Express rates, which are at least 20 percent above those of parcel post schedules, is responsible for this new problem. Shippers now break their cargoes down to the maximum allowed for parcel post handling—seven pounds—and clutter up the mail channels with their heavy freight. People seeking to buy stamps, register a letter or purchase a money order at post offices throughout the country frequently must wait for hours while a broken cargo of heavy commodities is handled at a single post office window. Uncle Sam's delivery system was never intended or built or planned for this kind of business."

"INCREASE — The Railway Express company's five rate increases, which were granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, are responsible for this state of affairs. Instead of shipping parcels by parcel post, shippers are almost compelled by economic considerations to use the cheaper government system. This extra burden has swamped the post office system. The increase in the number of pieces shipped by parcel post in 1948 over 1947 was approximately 1,300,000,000. The increased volume totaled 1,300,000,000 pounds. The shippers saved millions of dollars at the expense of the taxpayers."

"POSTCARDS — Mr. Donaldson has suggested an increase in parcel post rates to narrow the difference between government and private carriers. J. M. (Skinny) Goebel, owner of the mail business operated when he first moved back here last year, said, 'I'd take him back tomorrow if he wanted to come. He's the best lawyer that ever worked around here.' Laurence Green, owner of the house the Levisens are buying, described them as perfect tenants. The Levisens owe $400 on their purchase contract, have agreed to be out of the house by May 15, and the greenfield man is letting them stay this long. But while some have come to the Levisens' aid, many harsh tongues continued to wag. Mrs. Levisen, whose parents are native Chicagoans and who now are missionaries in Jamaica, is regarded as the 'city girl' that Link brought home as his wife, and is openly resented by other women in town as 'too visionary' and for 'thinking she's too good for Greenfield.' To be liberal, one does not have to be a wastrel. We must, in fact, be thrifty if we are to be really humans. We are not helping the slum dwellers, the undereducated and sick by supporting an excessive number of stenographers and clerks. —Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D) of Illinois, advocating cutbacks in government spending. No whitcomb has blotted or will blot our record of equal justice to all. We are as determined to protect the innocent as we are to prosecute the guilty. —Attorney General Tom Clark. Success Secrets

By ELMER WHEELER A. F. Davis, Vice-President of The Lincoln Electric Company, and editor of that company's fine house organ, 'The Stabilizer,' has just sent me a copy of that magazine containing a success story that I want to pass along to you in condensed form. It is the story of Mike Snyder, the son of a coal miner, who learned that if you dig long enough and hard enough in this land of the free you can strike the vein of good fortune, especially if you have the sharp edge of a good idea to cut away the obstacles."

"Mike Snyder went to work at the age of 18. When he was a press helper in a tank shop in Youngstown, Ohio, he decided he would learn welding. It took a lot of digging—but he learned it during his lunch hour and after hours. Mike studied every angle of the welding profession. A few years later, when he was a welder for a firm in Buffalo he decided to launch out for himself. In 1938 he opened a small shop with one helper. 'Recognizing that a weak spot in tractor-trailer equipment would be the fuel tank, Mike got the idea of a bigger and better tank. He developed a large capacity tank shaped like a saddle which would straddle the tractor frame without the cab. Its applied for patents and literally went to town in this saddle.'"

"Mike got other ideas—and made other new and useful products. He bought a plant in Birmingham, Alabama, and now flies his plane back and forth from Buffalo to Birmingham. His interest in flying caused him to start a flight school, and he is now the distributor in 31 counties for the Cessna planes. Mike now owns three businesses, which bring in more than a million and a half dollars a year. He employs 125 people. All of which proves—as A. F. Davis says—that there is a rich life in America awaiting those who are not afraid to dig for it."

'Dirt Farmers' Change Name

AUSTIN—(AP)—A mail ballot poll of the 70 directors of the Texas Dirt Farmers Congress resulted in a new name for the organization—The Texas Agriculture Federation. Evans Reese, Waco, president, said that the name was changed because some livestock men and producers objected to the 'dirt farmer' title. The directors also named Charles G. Gracie Says

By GRACIE ALLEN As an old student of foreign news, I have been richly rewarded for my time spent on the Rita Hayworth-Al Khan wedding by the information that the French civil wedding ceremony stated flatly that the husband is the head of the family. Aren't the French cute? The romantic atmosphere of the Rita-Al nuptials reminded me in some ways of my own wedding to George back in Union Hill, N.J. Of course, instead of a perfumed swimming pool, we had the tank used by the performing artist on our vaudeville bill. And, just like Rita and Al, after our theatre appearance that night, we had a police escort and cheering thousands who followed us out of town. That is, I thought at the time they were cheering. Later, it turned out they were yelling for their money back. # Peg Cummins Escaped Fate Of 'Amber'

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA)—Hollywood first saw baby-faced Peggy Cummins as the trooper with the wallop in the film version of "Forever Amber." But after six weeks they sent in a pinch-hitter, Linda Darnell.

Miss Cummins has congratulated herself many times since, I am sure, for escaping that fate worse than death. "Amber" laid only a great big $4,000,000 technical egg.

Since then Peggy has coasted along in such films as "Green Grass of Wyoming" and "Moss Rose."

But now she has what she says is the best role of her career—a ruthless gun moll with John Dall in "Gun Crazy," the MackKinlay Kantor story which the King Brothers are producing.

Dall plays a fellow with a born passion for guns. He meets Peggy, a circus marksman who has a passion for money. It's only a matter of time before they are holding up banks and killing law officers.

One of the bank holdups was staged at a real bank in Montrose, Calif. An interested spectator was Al Jennings, the 35-year-old reformed bank robber.

After watching Peggy and John for some time, Jennings went to Director Joseph Lewis and said: "You're doing this all wrong."

"What's wrong?" asked Lewis.

"Well," said Jennings, "the first thing to do is get rid of the blonde."

FEMININE FAILING

Mr. Jennings is a realist. Donald O'Connor's description of a beautiful but talkative young actress: "She's not only photogenic, she's yakogenic." . . . After five years as a rough-tough film detective, Dick Powell figures it's safe to sing again. He'll warble "Rose of Tralee" to Evelyn Keyes in "Mrs. Mike." . . . Sam Goldwyn is after the film rights to the new Broadway hit, "Detective Story."

Spike Jones grossed $1,112,000 on a four-month tour of one nighters. And they say show business is bad.

Martha Vickers' Nevada divorce from A. C. Lyles will be final next week, after which she'll wed Mikey Rooney. Then they'll release her latest film, ironically titled, "Alimony." . . . There's irony for Bob Walker, too, in his next film, "Please Believe Me." He hopes Hollywood will believe he's going to be a good boy from now on.

That economy again: UT has changed the title of "Abbott and Costello Meet the Killers" to "Abbott and Costello Meet the Killer."

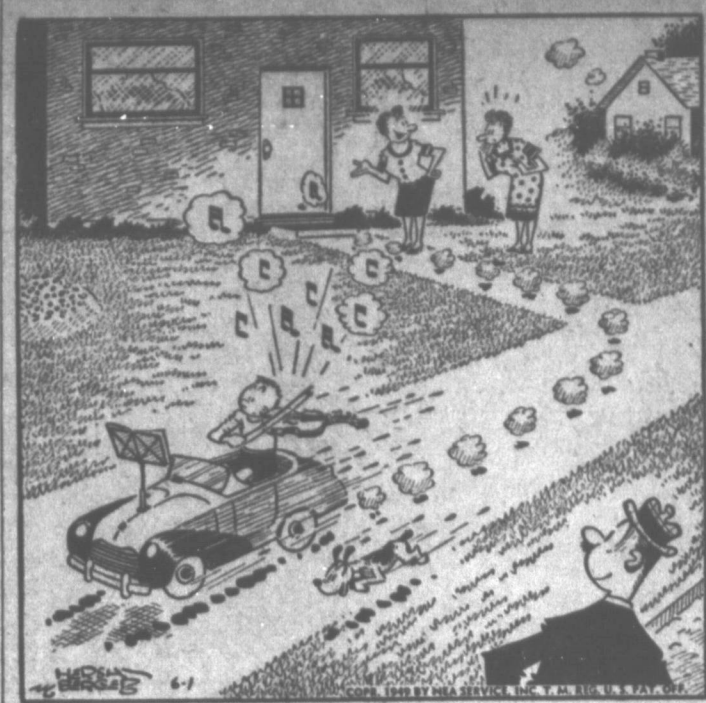

Harvey Firestone's daughter Elizabeth, is writing the musical score for Bob Montgomery's film, "Come Be My Love." Wags are wondering if it'll wind up in four flats. Bob himself hired her after hearing her play some of her own compositions at a Hollywood party.

LOST FOR WORDS

Another film producer story making the rounds: Seems a producer died and at his funeral the minister asked if his widow would like to say a few kind words about him. There was only silence. The minister asked if his children or any relatives would like to say something. Again there was only silence. "Well," said the flustered minister

1,500 Poppies Sold in Canadian

CANADIAN — (Special) — According to Mrs. Robert S. Herring, chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary's Poppy Committee, the people here bought poppies Saturday at a rate that would mean about one poppy for each adult of the town.

The local unit disposed of 1,500 poppies.

"In case there is anyone who doesn't know," Mrs. Herring explained, "the poppies are made by disabled veterans still in Texas hospitals, and the proceeds derived from their sale go to these veterans and needy children throughout the state."

Other members of the auxiliary who assisted Mrs. Herring were: Mrs. Jim Poindexter, Mrs. H. E. Collins, Mrs. O. E. Kelley, Mrs. Nina Robinson, Mrs. E. F. Porter, Mrs. James Porter, Mrs. Chas. Ortega, and the auxiliary's "youngest" member, 72-year-old Mrs. Sarah Herring.

WHEN YOU SHOULD STOP ADVERTISING

Just a few suggestions to the man who feels his business and his name are so well-known he needs no sales help! WHEN --- man becomes a creature of habit so thoroly he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year... WHEN --- younger fresher and spunkier concerns in your line cease starting up and taking "your customers" away thru advertising... WHEN --- population ceases to increase and no new folks want to live and work in your town... WHEN --- you have thoroly convinced everyone who ever has or ever will be in your store that they will now and forever get better buys from you... WHEN --- business principles reverse themselves and the non-advertiser does more business than the successful advertising merchant... WHEN --- men stop making tremendous strides in business thru well-planned newspaper advertising... WHEN --- you can forget the words of wise merchants the world-over who attribute their success to wise use of newspaper advertising... WHEN --- you would rather have your own way, even if you fail, than follow advice of making money... WHEN --- you want to be rid of the troubles of waiting on customers and are tired of making money...

earn more than half the normal pay for the work they are doing, shall receive the pensions.

The pensions in most cases would be $72 a month at age 65. The bill incorporates into proposed law existing benefits now being paid under Veterans' Administration regulations.

These regulations pay $72 a month to veterans who, at age 65, have a 10 percent disability rating. They pay $60 a month to veterans under 60 who are considered totally disabled.

The original Rankin bill would have paid $90 a month to all veterans at age 65, regardless of need.

Under the new bill single veterans whose income is more than $1,200 a year, and married vets with income over $2,500 would not be eligible.

An amendment to remove World War II veterans from the list of pension eligibles was expected to have the House backing of some of these veterans themselves. They say it is too soon after the war to vote pensions for such men.

Texas Land Commissioner Bascom Giles has been quoted as considering the plan. Gov. Beauford H. Jester is said to be familiar with it. However, Attorney General Price Daniel has said the matter has not been discussed with him.

He has repeatedly stated Texas must stand on its agreement when it entered the union in which it retained title to lands ten and one-half miles out in the Gulf of Mexico.

Others taking part in yesterday's conference included Robert Lee Bobbit, San Antonio and Laredo, representing the Texas State Bar's Tidelands Committee, Everett Mattoon, deputy attorney general of California, and Leander Perez, a Louisiana political leader.

Man Given Credit for Days in Jail

George B. Harris, Pampa, was given credit yesterday by County Judge Bruce Parker for the 113 days he had spent in jail when he pleaded guilty to charges of theft and was released.

Harris was being held for action by the Grand Jury in connection with the theft of a .38 calibre pistol and also the theft of $42.50 from Betty Wilson, Pampa, on January 5, 1949.

He was sentenced yesterday to the 113 days he spent in the County Jail for the $42.50 theft charge. On Feb. 21, he was picked up in connection with the theft of the .38 Smith and Wesson pistol and a felony charge filed against him.

Later a doubt as to the actual value of the pistol was held by District Attorney Tom Braly and the case was sent back to the lower court yesterday where he was sentenced only on the monetary theft and released.

Secretary Johnson finally ordered yesterday was not directed work on the Air Force's defense plans. Contracts for some other types of planes were cancelled in order to boost the purchase of more B-36s.

But arguments continued. That's when the Armed Services Committee stepped in with its suggestion for a test flight.

The Navy promptly jumped at the suggestion, offering a list of four planes as candidates for the job of puncturing the B-36s reputation.

The bomber investigation ordered yesterday was not directed work on the Air Force's defense plans. Contracts for some other types of planes were cancelled in order to boost the purchase of more B-36s.

Morris said he received his report from Pearson who stated that McDonnell and Peel walked into the umpire's club room.

"I'm fixing Peel $5 just for being in that room," Morris added.

Morris said: "I guess this is the first time in the history of organized baseball that a league president ever fined a chief of police."

"What is your authority to fine a chief of police?" Morris was asked in an interview. "Does he have any connection with baseball?"

"Down there he does," Morris chuckled, "and he'll pay the fine."

Other fines levied by Morris included: Joe Kratcher, manager of the Kilgore Club (East Texas League) $25; Ronald Murphy, Kilgore outfielder, $10; and Joe Winfield, pitcher for the Tyler club of the East Texas League $5.

"All these," said Morris, "were on account of umpire trouble."

The 81st Congress is still to be tried. Its slowness is not to be criticized too much, but I do think we are drifting in a rather uncertain way.

COP

me word that I and my men would be needed to help keep order after the game. I had seven policemen with me. The sheriff had some deputies with him and there were also some State Highway Patrolmen to help out. We officers stationed ourselves around the field just before the end of the game and it was a good thing, too. For the minute the game was over, those fans swarmed out on the field, mat as hornets, ready to get those umpires.

"One of the umpires was Pearson and the other was a fellow named Turner. One of my men and I went right to them to give them protection and Homer Peel, manager of the Temple club was with me.

"The umpires headed for the shower room with me, one policeman and Peel following them, and right behind us came all those fans with blood in their eyes. Most anything could have happened.

"Well, just at the door of the shower room, Pearson and Peel have a discussion. There wasn't any obscene language — it was all very polite like. Peel was just telling Pearson in a nice way that he thought the Temple club got a raw deal.

"Those fans were all around us — blood in their eye, you know, and I wanted the umpires to get out of sight. Turner, the other umpire, went into the shower room, but Pearson just stood there arguing. So finally — just to save him from the fans — I gave him a little push to get him through the door.

"That's all there was to it — just a small push to save a man from a mob, and now I get fined. Well, I'm not paying any fine for that."

Morris who is also president of the East Texas League, said if the police chief doesn't pay the fine, the Temple club will have to pay it. "Temple is supposed to furnish umpires with adequate protection," said he.

He added: "McDonnell wasn't in uniform and Pearson didn't even know at first that he was a policeman. It was a $10 shove and someone is going to pay that fine."

Morris said he received his report from Pearson who stated that McDonnell and Peel walked into the umpire's club room.

"I'm fixing Peel $5 just for being in that room," Morris added.

Morris said: "I guess this is the first time in the history of organized baseball that a league president ever fined a chief of police."

MANAGER

Army in 1946 and now is "really rolling."

At the outset of the hearings, Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) said the aim would be to get at the truth—that there would be "no persecution" and "no whitewash."

Despite the sweeping nature of the material he demanded, Hickenlooper emphasized in his statement that his charges "go solely and entirely to the question of the administrative competency of Lillenthal as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission."

"I will resist the attempt of anyone to divert this inquiry by belauding the issues or introducing extraneous matters," he said.

Hickenlooper had a sealed envelope he said contained the names of the persons he wants to get security data about. He did not say how many names there were.

With Lillenthal and Carroll L. Wilson, AEC general manager, facing him over a committee table, Hickenlooper began by saying that Lillenthal is "inadequate" to fill the job he holds.

The Iowa senator then demanded the information on 14 different matters, and started to hand to Lillenthal the sealed envelope.

Hickenlooper said he wanted this material to use in future questioning of Lillenthal.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) asked to see the envelope.

McMahon opened it, read the list, and handed it to Lillenthal.

Besides this, Hickenlooper asked that the commission deliver to him by 4 p.m., EST, today, the following:

1. All correspondence regarding the custody of atomic weapons.

2. Reports of the commission's Advisory Committee.

3. Records of all overtime paid to headquarters personnel in Washington.

4. The minutes of the commission's General Advisory Board.

5. The minutes of its Military Liaison Committee.

6. The commission's minutes.

7. Records of the Quebec Conference pertaining to a topic matter. (The conference was a 1943 meeting of the late President Roosevelt and then British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and their advisers.)

8. A Hyde Park memoir on atomic matters.

9. Records of the Potsdam Conference regarding atomic affairs.

10. A statement of the position of the United States and the United Kingdom on a topic matter in January, 1948.

11. An inventory of the Manhattan District when it was turned over to the civilian commission.

12. Correspondence with the Federal Bureau of Investigation on lost or misplaced atomic source material.

13. Engineering plans for reactor sites.

14. Records of all of the investigations for applicants for fellowships.

McMahon had opened the session with an assertion that there would be "no persecution and no whitewash" in the investigation of the charges Hickenlooper has made against Lillenthal.

The scene of the hearing is the big marble-columned caucus room in the Senate Office Building. It was well filled with spectators.

Jester Approves Rent Decontrol

The rent decontrol resolution passed two weeks ago by the City Commission was approved yesterday by Governor Beauford H. Jester and forwarded on to Housing Expediter Figue Woods in Washington for final approval.

Woods' approval will be the last step in throwing off all rent controls in this city.

The towns of Midland and Liberty were also on the Governor's decontrol approval list yesterday.

The Russians, it was reported, are eager for manufactured goods from Western Germany. The Russian Zone was hurt by the Allied counter-blockade.

The Western powers were reported ready to propose the establishment of specialized four-power committees to regulate commerce, currency, communications and transit between Berlin and the Western zones — a pattern for extension between all East and West Germany.
