Stalingrad In Path Of Nazi Spearheads

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, July 13 (AP)—The battle of the Don valley took a new turn today with the Germans pointing a menacing spearhead toward the Volga and the great industrial center of Stalingrad from bloody new positions a scant 200 miles away. After driving 170 miles eastward in a week the Nazis were in the vicinity of the town of Boguchar, their deepest penetration of Soviet soil thus far, and were throwing tanks and planes by the hundreds and men by the thousands into their thrust.

Hero Bond Buying Campaign Announced

NAZI DRIVE NEARS VOLGA

Rally Will Close Drive Friday Night

Gray County To Raise $164,000 In July Drive

Buy a bond for your hero. That is the theme of Gray county's march toward its $164,000 July quota for Victory bonds, to be held in conjunction with the observance of American Heroes day Friday.

You can pay a tribute to your own personal hero, have him recognized on the honor roll which will be published in this paper, as explained below.

Here's the way it works: You go to any retail store in Pampa or any other place in town that sells Victory bonds. When you purchase a $18.75 bond you will be asked to turn in the name of your son, sweetheart, or friend who is in the armed forces.

There will be a card available to list this information and certify to your purchase of a bond. Members of a committee will collect the cards and turn them in to The Pampa News so that your hero will receive recognition on the honor roll.

This is a part of the national campaign designed to encourage Americans to back up their patriotism with dollars, to supply the munitions needed by their own sons, sweethearts, friends, who are in the army, navy, marines, or air corps.

Sale Starts Today. Cancellation of the week will be Friday, American Heroes day, when three special events will be held.

Demobilizing their interest in Victory bonds, you can now have announced they would give bonds and stamps as awards to persons who are in the armed forces.

DES MOINES, July 13 (AP)—Italian born Joseph Celsy, a cigar store operator, doesn't believe in taking money from the government for a good cause like helping the war effort.

Everytime he buys bonds—he's bought $4,500 worth of them—he figures out what interest his bonds would earn in two and a half years. Then he sends a check for the amount to the Army-Navy Relief fund, the civilian defense program, or the treasury department. He believes the war will be over in two and a half years.

selling bonds in the period beginning today and extending to July 31. The prizes will be awarded by the Southwestern Public Service company, a $50 bond as first prize; Texas Gas & Power corporation, $25 bond, second; Security Federal Savings & Loan association, $10 in Victory stamps, third; and First National bank, $10 in Victory stamps, fourth.

There will likely be other Pampa firms that will also offer awards. The contest is open to every individual.

Friday's Program. First event on American Heroes day will be the Victory Bond Commemorative breakfast, to be held at 8 o'clock in Central park, sponsored by the Harvesters Mothers club.

Next will be a show and rally at 8:30 that night, honoring our heroes. Vinson was employed as a dishwasher in the cafe.

The attempted rape was the third in this community this month. Two other negroes had been picked up as suspects in yesterday's rape attempt and were placed in the Boston, Tex. jail. Watts declared they would probably be released as the woman said neither looked like the man who had molested her.

The woman, wife of a worker in an ordinance plant, was reported dragged from her trailer-camp bed early Sunday by a negro who clapped his hand across her mouth. She

Buy A Bond For Your Hero Now!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The space below is reserved for the name of YOUR HERO. When you buy at least an $18.75 bond for him, give the bond seller the name of your son, sweetheart, or friend who is in the service. His name will be turned in to the newspaper for publication in this honor list in connection with Pampa's American Heroes Day observance Friday.

Congratulations—Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Goodner of Pampa are the parents of an 8 1/2 pound son born Saturday in a local hospital. He has not been given a name.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Colum are the parents of a son born Thursday in a Shamrock hospital. He weighed seven pounds, nine ounces, and was named Cecil Ray. Mrs. Colum is the former Mildred Davis.

With both sides thus hastily gathering power for new tests, present activity in the desert was viewed by British military circles as probing for favorable ground for future operations.

The newly won British positions at Tel El Elsa, west of El Alamein, were believed so vital to Rommel's offensive plans that the British expected he would continue to attempt to recapture them before he begins a new bid for a complete Egyptian victory.

The British communique today said they had repulsed all German counterattacks on the positions so far.

Two enemy planes were reported harassing the enemy on the southern end of the front, just above the Qattara depression, while in the center Axis forces were kept on the defensive by continued shelling.

Heavy dust storms interfered with aerial operations yesterday, but Allied fighters made protective sweeps over the lines and fighter bombers strafed enemy positions, a communique said.

British Consolidate New Lines In Egypt

CAIRO, Egypt, July 13 (AP)—Britain's army of the Nile, once again bolstered by Australians, stood firm in its newly won positions ten miles west of El Alamein today after repulsing sharp German attacks but Marshal Rommel was reinforcing his forces by air and sea and preparing for a new thrust toward Alexandria.

Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck also was drawing new strength from his forces.

Profiteering Alleged In Rubber Drive

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Elmer E. Simpson, an independent rubber dealer who is counsel for a house subcommittee investigating the rubber situation, charges that "four large scrap rubber firms have reaped enormous profits from the country's scrap rubber drive."

Simpson, in a statement released yesterday, said:

"The rubber drive which has been appointed as the sole rubber reserve 'agents' are H. Meulstein and Company, Inc., A. Schulman, Inc., Nat. E. Berzen, Inc., and the Lowenthal company. All four have branches extending from coast to coast, and all four are due to obtain tremendous profits from this deal."

Simpson said the four companies he named "are being granted 'commissions' of $1.50 on every ton of scrap rubber which is collected for the rubber reserve, whether or not they were instrumental in collecting the scrap. On top of that, they are paid a considerable sum for sorting the scrap once it's in their warehouses. But the greatest bonanza of all will come after the scrap is sorted, after such items as crepe soles—worth $42 a ton—are separated from run-of-the-mill grades."

4 Spearheads Pushing Deep Into Russia

British Dig In To Consolidate Gains In Egypt

By JAMES E. LONG
Associated Press War Editor

The Russia army, giving ground but keeping its front unbroken, was hammered back today into the big bend of the Don river where the Germans' deepest drive into Soviet soil carried the swastika flag within 200 miles of the Volga in a sweep toward the Caspian sea that would cut off the Caucasus.

In Egypt, however, bayonet fighting Australian Infantry which bolstered the British eighth army was keeping the Germans on the defensive, pushed back 10 miles west of El Alamein, badly blunting Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's potential threat to the Caucasus from the south.

The gravest threat to the hard-strained Russian southern front developed at Boguchar, 50 miles beyond Rostov, 200 miles east of Kharkov, whence the German drive began, and barely 200 miles short of Stalingrad on the Volga river.

To the north the Russians reported still holding Voronezh though under intensive assault, but to the southwest they were forced to give up Lisichansk and drop back to the east bank of the Donets river against a third German spearhead being driven in south of Izum between Kharkov and Rostov, front door to the Caucasus.

"Intense fighting continues at the approaches to Voronezh, during which the enemy is suffering enormous losses," a Soviet communique declared.

Boguchar, where the Don veers sharply east to within 50 miles of the broad Volga, is 425 miles from Astrakhan where the Volga pours into the Caspian.

The Vichy radio broadcast a report that the Germans had occupied Pokrovsk, 40 miles northwest of Rostov, in a new and fourth spearhead of the southern drive.

The German high command said the Russians were "being pursued on a broad front in the southern sector" and that Russian defenses had been breached and 30,000 Russians captured in a big new encirclement southwest of Rzhev, 135 miles northwest of Moscow.

The Rzhev pocket is the closest foothold to the Soviet capital which the Germans were able to hold throughout the winter of Russian offensives.

A special announcement by Hitler's high command said several Russian infantry and cavalry divisions and a tank brigade had been trapped in violent fighting which started 11 days ago through a forest line of fortifications.

The regular communique from Berlin told of a strong diversion counter attack by Marshal Semenov Timoshenko's troops north and west of Voronezh, where the Russians have been pounding for a tender spot in the exposed flank of the German drive to the Don.

In Egypt a week's end of activity with the British doing the striking indicating that Gen. Sir Claude

Associates Of Eight Saboteurs Arrested

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The arrest of 14 alleged associates of the eight Nazis standing trial for their lives before a military commission was announced today by Attorney General Biddle. Biddle said that the group included six women and that the 14 persons were the "immediate contacts" of the German agents who landed on Long Island and Florida coasts from German submarines last month.

At the same time, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation said that the arrests had been made in Chicago and New York during the last three weeks and that the investigation of their activities, and of other possible contacts, still was underway.

Those announced as in custody were: Helmut Leiner, Astoria, Long Island, N. Y.; Anthony Cramer, New York; Miss Hedwig Engemann, New York; Hermann Heinrich Paje, Astoria, Long Island; Mrs. Maria Kerling, New York; Ernest Herman Kekhor, New York; Hans Max Haupt and Mrs. Haupt, Chicago; Harry Jaques and his wife, Emma, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Richard Weing, Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilhelm Froehling, Chicago.

"The individuals apprehended," Hoover said, "are known to have given shelter to the saboteurs after their arrival in New York and Chicago and to have furnished their assistance which would have aided the foreign agents in their sabotage activities in the United States. One of the individuals assisted by purchasing an automobile for the use of one of the (Nazi) agents in transporting explosives and other material recovered by FBI agents on the Atlantic shore on Long Island and Florida."

Hoover added that the suspects helped also by concealing part of the $176,000 recovered by the FBI which the saboteurs had brought to this country. Several of the persons changed bills of large denominations for the agents in order to divert suspicion, he declared.

"Although all 14 of these individuals were aware of the eight saboteurs from Germany on a secret mission," Hoover said, "none of them made any attempt to report the information to the FBI or any other authority."

One of the women, Maria Kerling, was identified as the wife of Edward John Kerling, on trial as the leader of the four Nazis who landed near Jacksonville June 17, Mr. and Mrs. Haupt were said to be the parents of another defendant in the military trial, Herbert Haupt, who was in Kerling's group.

Meanwhile the military trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs who landed from U-boats was resumed on schedule today for its fifth session with a member of the defense counsel reporting that he had no idea how long it would continue. Some persons close to the prosecution expressed the view that the secret hearing might be concluded in the next three or four days.

British Bombers Blast Danzig In Daylight Raids

LONDON, July 13 (AP)—The new potency of Britain's air campaign to drive the U-boat from the seas by smashing Germany's replacements before she can get them into the water is the story behind the RAF's sensational daylight raid on Danzig Saturday.

That neither daylight, distance nor four weather deterred squadrons of British bombers from sweeping low over Germany was shown by the raid in daylight showed that the Nazis are exposed now to mighty air assault anywhere and at any time.

The attack on Danzig cost but three planes and unofficial indications that this was less than five per cent of the attacking force meant that at least 60 bombers made it.

Other members at the same time raided another U-boat base, Flensburg, on the German-Danish border 400 miles nearer England than Danzig.

Flying no further than to Danzig, RAF planes could reach almost any city in Germany, strike into Poland almost to Warsaw, into Italy almost to Rome and hit targets in Western Slovakia, Hungary or Yugoslavia.

By its stroke, the RAF expunged Danzig from Germany's list of "safe" cities. The Germans had been making the most of its U-boat building facilities but now neither it nor other remote industrial centers are beyond the RAF's long arm. Danzig had been hit only once before, on the night of Nov. 10, 1940.

Miss McCracken And A. L. Sykora Wed In Amarillo

The marriage of Miss Juanita McCracken, 1201 Harrison street, Amarillo, formerly of Pampa, and A. L. Sykora of Houston, was solemnized Saturday night at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist church parlor in Amarillo.

The Rev. E. T. Smith officiated at the single ring ceremony as the couple and their attendants stood before an altar banked with salmon pink gladioli and lacy California ferns. Tall white candles burning in candelabra cast a soft glow over the setting. Pink and blue bows were tied to the rows of chairs which formed an aisle to the altar.

The pre-nuptial solos were sung by Miss Elmor Atwood with Mrs. Robert Roseberry at the piano. Mrs. Roseberry played "The Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" for the professional.

Mrs. Earl Davis, the matron of honor, wore a blue crepe dress with white accessories and a white garden corsage. Her dress was made similar to the bride's dress.

Armand Duize of Shreveport served as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by F. R. Smith of Kingsmill, wore a pink satin dress fashioned along princess lines and with a sweetheart neckline. She wore a black lace straw picture hat and her accessories were black. She carried a bouquet of white American beauty roses. Her strand of pearls was a gift from her sister, Mrs. C. C. Fletcher of Dumas.

Misses Betty Jean Wilson and Beverly Ann Wilson were ushers. They wore white eyelet embroidered dresses and white carnation corsages.

After the ceremony, the couple left on a trip to Carlsbad Caverns and other points of interest in New Mexico. The bride traveled in a dark beige two-piece suit with white accessories.

The bride, who is employed as secretary in the city health department, attended Pampa public schools and a business college. She is a member of the Junior Business Women's club in Amarillo.

Mr. Sykora, a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sykora of Waco, attended Waco schools and is associated with the Freese-Nichols-McKenzie construction company at the Pan-Tex Ordnance plant.

Girls Filling Men's Jobs Ask For More Chivalry Now

A taxi company, fast losing its young men to the army, advertised for drivers saying that women would be considered for the job. That happened in cities and towns all over the country.

The result is that women are driving taxis. They are doing all kinds of jobs formerly not looked on as suitable jobs for women.

But this is war and women are needed, not just in the jobs that we have come to accept as suitable for women, but in any kind of job they can handle.

The women are getting into slacks and overalls and tackling the work that has to be done.

CHANGING MEN That puts a responsibility on men. They have to get over the old masculine notion that when a woman tackles a job that can't be classed as "lady-like" it is all right to make a pass at her.

There is no place in the present set-up for any such notion as that. Instead men owe it to women who are helping win this war by filling men's shoes to be more gentlemanly, and more courteous than usual.

They should treat the woman welder, the woman taxi driver, the woman mechanic with as much respect and deference as they would show to a woman school teacher, department store clerk, or receptionist.

Full Utilization Of Woman Power Wartime BPW Aim

DENVER, July 13 (AP)—Full utilization of American woman power, with opportunity to serve in the inner councils of war leadership, was advanced today as the chief wartime objective of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs.

In her annual report to the organization's board of directors, President Minnie L. Maffett of Dallas declared:

"In view of the fact that there are 65,600,000 women in the country—12,500,000 working women and 6,225,000 business and professional women—there is no reason why qualified women should not be included on all local, state, and national boards and commissions."

"It is recommended, therefore, that the National Federation work to insure that women are given full opportunity for service, be that service voluntary or compulsory."

The recommendation is made in the sincere belief that women have time, energy, and ability to contribute to the war effort, and that time, energy, and ability must be fully utilized if we are to win the war and the peace which will follow.

The federation president said publicity forces are being brought to bear on "18th century ideas regarding women," to counteract opposition to their participation in war jobs.

Officers recently installed are Mrs. Thelma Carver, worthy mother advisor; Betty Marvis, worthy adviser; Joan Studer, worthy associate advisor; Jane Stovall, recorder; Natalie Hutton, faith; Betty Hutton, hope; Carmen Campbell, charity; Marilyn Witt, field leader; and Elizabeth Crow, treasurer.

The Order of Rainbow Girls met to honor a member, Glenn Hutton and Mary Beth Stovall were initiated at the regular meeting this week.

Quarterly Reports Given At Methodist W. S. C. S. In Miami

MIAMI, July 13—Mrs. Lee Stanford was hostess to W.S.C.S. at the parsonage recently with 13 members and one guest, Mrs. Dale Low, present.

Mrs. Harry Hardin presided over the business session, at which time quarterly reports were given and roll calls answered by each one stating the number of calls made and dishes given since previous meeting.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Harry Craig the title being "Of Such is the Kingdom of Heaven," and the World Outlook program was given by Mrs. Hardin and Mrs. Carr, and was a reminder of women's work with children and youth. It was learned that Methodist women had endowed 10 homes for orphan children in the United States and island possessions, giving them spiritual, mental, and physical training.

Tough Problem? Yes, But It's A Tough World

There is probably no group of young men in America today faced with a tougher personal problem than young men who have wives and one or more small children to whom they feel an obligation but who because they are young and able-bodied also feel that they should be in this fight.

Many of them know that their wives could get good jobs if they went into the army—which would take care of the financial problem. But that would mean that the children would either have to be left all day with a hired girl or perhaps none too intelligent to be entrusted with children, to whom their care is almost sure to be something of a burden.

Also, there is the ever-present concern that if they go into the army they might not return or might come back unable to support a family, which would mean that their wives would be left to provide for the children.

HARD DECISION FACES FATHERS Yet, if they are thoughtful men, they are bound to know that if their children grow up in a democratic world where they will have a chance or whether they have to live menaced by injustice, hardship, and terror depends on the outcome of this war.

Realizing that it is hard for their fathers to know that they are doing nothing much to help win the war, spending their time as many of them are on jobs that look pretty unimportant and could either go undone for the duration or be taken over by a woman, an older man, or one not physically fit for military service.

No one can advise these men what to do. Each has to make his own decision. Neither decision, to stay at home or volunteer for service, will seem wholly right.

All that these men can do is choose the way that seems to them to be the better way. Even their wives can't help them, except by saying, "Whatever you decide is all right with me."

Mind Your Manners

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions, then checking against the authoritative answers below:

1. In carving a fowl at the table, should the host carve enough meat for everyone before beginning to serve the plates?

2. If lemon is used as a garnish for fish, should the host serve some with each serving?

3. Should the host serving at dinner indicate for whom the plate is intended?

4. After the host has finished serving should the silver be placed on the platter?

5. If you are a guest at a family meal where the others pick up their fried chicken in their fingers should you do so, too?

What would you do if—
When you have guests, you, the host, do not think very highly of one of the dishes served:
(a) Find fault with it?
(b) Keep quiet, leaving it to the hostess to apologize for the dish if she wishes?

Answers
1. It is the best plan.
2. Yes.
3. Yes.
4. Yes.
5. Yes. Otherwise you might seem to be disapproving.

Gubernatorial Campaigns "The Battle Of Silences"

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff

Texasans accustomed to high pressure gubernatorial campaigns are experiencing a different type of electioneering this summer in the six-man race which might be characterized as the battle of silences.

Only one of the two candidates conceded by political observers to have a chance at achieving the Democratic nomination in the July 25 primary is making the traditional statewide stump tour, and it is something of a novelty.

Hal Collins of Mineral Wells, speaking from the same platform with Senatorial Candidate W. Lee O'Daniel on their combined border-to-border sound-truck circuit for the avowed purpose of conserving rubber tires, has been making three to four speeches a day and will follow approximately the same routine during the important last two weeks of the campaign.

The incumbent Coke Stevenson, however, has confined his political speeches to a once-a-week statewide radio broadcast from Austin. He has shown his face frequently, however, at old settler's reunions, patriotic meetings, chamber of commerce luncheons and service club sessions in widely-separated portions of the state, for speeches classified as non-political. At the same time, his friends have taken up the cudgel for him frequently with statements answering accusations made by Collins, and these have been given wide publicity.

Collins' technique follows the O'Daniel pattern that has proved so successful in recent Texas politics, combining the radio appeal with the direct stump approach. Stevenson has always been noted as a quiet campaigner, maker of few speeches, who depended much on the local approach of friends in all parts of the state.

This is Collins' first fling at a state office, as compared to Stevenson's experience in campaigning. Observers are eager to see what score will result from their contrasting methods when the votes are counted July 25.

In recent gubernatorial campaigns, the race has been notable for the large number of candidates, their apparently well-financed organizations complete with battalions of publicity men and women and furious stump-speaking larded with radio appearances.

Hillbilly and cowboy bands, quartets and community singing—all attempts at showmanship that copied the O'Daniel formula—were especially prominent in the last two gubernatorial races. This year, Collins is the only contender with music.

The four other candidates in the race are not especially active in comparison with the doings of candidates in recent campaigns.

Hope Wheeler, Arlington editor, is mailing copies of his paper all over the state, and using the radio to a limited extent, as is Alex M. Ferguson, seed breeder who lives at Howe. Ferguson uses the mails in advertising his candidacy, just as he does to advertise his farm seed. Neither is making many speeches.

Cadet Martin Plans To Stick To Planes

PORT STOCKTON, July 13. (AP)—Aviation Cadet R. W. Martin, Sandusky, Ohio, soloed—West Texas style—with only two hours of instruction, but he had to make a forced landing.

Cadet Martin, who claimed prowess as a horseman, singled out a likely-looking mount and saddled up. The trouble was that he picked Bob Wilson's "Dynamite," notorious bucking horse.

The cadet climbed aboard and took off. As he tells it: "I stayed with him for two jumps."

Wartime Harvest Best In Decades

CHICAGO, July 13. (AP)—American farmers' wartime harvests this summer may be their most valuable in more than two decades, grain trade statistics indicated today, even topping those of 1929.

A combination of good prices, high compared with some seasons, and prospective bumper crops will make this monetary return possible. Grain prices generally are near the highest levels since 1937, except for a brief period earlier this year, while the harvest may be a record. The third largest wheat crop is in prospect while the rye crop may be the biggest since 1935; oats the largest since 1928 and barley the greatest on record.

Grain statisticians estimated the prospective domestic yield of the five major cereals—wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley—would be worth, based on present Chicago futures prices, close to $4,500,000,000, compared with about $4,100,000,000 last year. In several years of the past decade the market value of these crops has fallen below $2,500,000,000.

Not all the grain produced is sold at market but disposal otherwise normally enhances its value, statisticians explained. For example, the government ever-normal granary program, to a large extent responsible for the present price level, was expected to keep much of the 1942 harvest off the market. By using this grain as collateral, farmers could obtain more for it than by marketing. Wheat loan rates range up to 15 cents a bushel in some cases above prices.

The bulk of the corn, oats, and barley crops never reach market but go into livestock feed, an operation which at present prices for hogs and other livestock, dairy products, and eggs, should yield a profit, statisticians estimated.

school operator made no speeches during the past week, but has two platform appearances, both in the North Texas city, for the coming week plus one statewide radio speech. He reported 200 "Somerville for Governor" clubs formed throughout the state.

Gene S. Porter of Belton, insurance man in the governor's race, campaigned last week at Houston, Beaumont and Galveston and plans to speak next week at Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth and Austin.

Seversky Urges Truth About U. S. Planes Be Told

NEW YORK, July 13.—(AP)—Alexander P. de Seversky, noted aviation expert, says that the American flyer is unsurpassed but he decries attempts to exaggerate the quality of some of the war-planes the United States has been using.

"What the American people should be told," Seversky said in a speech at a USO luncheon, "is this: that our airmen have again and again given a superb account of themselves despite the handicap of inferior equipment."

"Unfair To Pilots"
"It seems to me completely unfair to the pilots who fly our standard American pursuit air-planes to pretend that these are a match in performance to the Japanese Zeros in the Pacific arena. They're not—and it is much more to the credit of our men that they are frequently beating the Zeros notwithstanding the differential in the quality of the planes."

"We must face the fact that Pearl Harbor caught us with aviation generally inferior to the enemy's. Nowhere have Americans as yet had true mastery of the air, or any real superiority in the air—with the possible exception of the battle of Midway island."

Praise Chennault
Seversky cited as an example of Americans' flying ability the work of Gen. Clair Chennault of the "Flying Tigers," who with his men, "hooked hell out of the Japs despite distinctly inferior equipment."

Chennault himself warned his men never to tackle the Japs alone "because he said 'one P-40 against one Jap is outnumbered three to one.'"

"When Britishers asserted in parliament last week that certain American fighter planes in Libya were no match for the enemy's—they were telling a truth known to every airman in the world," Seversky continued. "It would have been better for the American people to know this."

"Distinctive Disservice"
"To exaggerate the military performance of our aviation is also a distinct disservice to the air-power idea. How is the average American to explain to himself defeats due to inadequate equipment if we continue to boast that it's the best equipment in the world?"

"Let's tell the full and candid truth about our shortcomings. That is a simple act of fairness and justice to the men who must use our equipment."

"Accent On Quality"
"There is one thought . . . and I shall put it in the form of a slogan. It is: accent on quality. Our country has no cause to worry about quantity . . . the danger we may overlook is quality."

"In the air particularly, the nation which has the best equipment has a terrific edge on the nation that has the most equipment. This law of air warfare has been demonstrated over and over again on all battlefields."

"Forget Precedents"
"Our job therefore is not merely to outthink the enemy but to outbuild him. We must dedicate ourselves to quality. We shall always remain behind the eightball if we are content to 'catch up' with the enemy."

"In a word, we shall always remain one big step behind the Axis until we forget precedents and begin to think more audaciously. We must intensify our aeronautical research and experiment, we must stop counting on a pleasantly speedy end to the war—and prepare immediately to win with the implements of tomorrow."

What does that mean? That there weren't half a million tons of scrap rubber lying around—or that the public didn't co-operate in its own war effort?

Perhaps some of both. But neither, fundamentally, the scrap rubber drive was doomed from the beginning.

Its inspiration came from the petroleum industry, which hoped by a good showing to avert or at least postpone nation-wide gasoline rationing.

It found the public bewildered, resentful, wanting to help but very uncertain about the whole affair.

From a typical midwestern farming trade center comes a bitter summary, written by the local editor-publisher, of why the people, patriotic and willing, have become apathetic.

The citizenry of that village "scampered around and gathered aluminum," and the metal lay around until a junk dealer consented to take it for virtually nothing.

Government agents junketed through the area telling of the urgent need for scrap metal. "We went to bat for that," and for two months, the concern which gave storage space has tried vainly to find somebody who would take the scrap to the steel mills—or somewhere.

Uncle Sam demanded that old paper be saved. The Boy Scouts collected tons and tons—and then received word from the government to please burn it, because it is a fire hazard and there is no market.

"I was sort of surprised, after all of that, to see how folks went to work to gather up old tires, and I am watching to see when, if ever, they are moved," writes this editor, and concludes with the observation—which might be of interest to Washington departments—

"I guess we have heard 'Wolf, wolf' long enough." That letter was written to explain why nation-wide gasoline rationing is going to provoke a storm in that area.

Certainly no group of men has ever earned better the privilege of coming home from a fighting front, to visit their families, than General Chennault's Flying Tigers.

Going as volunteers to a most unpleasant situation, with inadequate equipment, outnumbered, they did one of the outstanding aerial combat jobs in history. Now a few have joined our official air forces, while others have come home.

We do not believe that such men will long be content with the placid tenor of civilian life over here. We shall be amazed if most of them are not back shooting down Japs before long.

The Nation's Press THE LESSON OF LIBYA (Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald)

No use denying the fact. The British have taken another disastrous defeat in Libya. Today the German army is headed for the Suez canal. Capture of Suez will mean a vastly longer war than any of us have expected.

What was the cause of the defeat? The poorest kind of poor generalship and leadership of the British army. That has been the history of all British defeats in this and in the first World War.

In the first World War, Britain failed to produce a single outstanding leader, except Gen. Allenby who finally took Palestine after his predecessor in command had lost an army by surrender in the effort. Apparently, since that time Britain has not developed a single outstanding general. Nor has Britain's high command learned yet what this war is all about and how to meet the modern systems of attack.

What is the lesson of Libya and Tobruk? The lesson clearly is that when at last a second front is established on the European continent, as eventually one will be, the leadership must be American and not British.

British generals can't get out of their age long ruts. They have lost every conflict in which they have been engaged in this war just as they bungled on every front in the first World War.

If the confusion and loss occasioned by the bungling of sugar rationing provides a fair example, the American people may well ask themselves what is in store for them when government "planning" takes control of almost all major commodities.

It is not clear that sugar rationing, which was intended to give Mr. Henderson's organization an easy and manageable starting point for a much wider application of its powers, has not only been unnecessary but may eventually produce consequences as serious as some of the early experiments which the AAA would like to forget.

With 1942 supplies of 8,500,000 tons available, the country has almost 2,000,000

Common Ground

"I speak the pass-word primal. I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." WALT WHITMAN

CLAIMS OF LABOR UNIONS AND LIQUOR INTERESTS

Labor unions claim that they benefit mankind by raising the standard of living; that it is due to their interest in the working man that the lot of the working man has improved so much in the last thirty years.

The liquor interests also claim that they want high wages and low taxes for the working man. They contend that the taxes they pay lowers the taxes of the working man and, thus, makes it possible for the working man to live better.

And since the working man's lot has improved when the labor unions and the liquor interests have been making this claim, some people actually believe that the working man's condition has been improved by labor unions and intoxicating beverages.

But the fact of the matter is that hours have been shortened, real wages have been raised and men live better in spite of labor unions and the liquor interests.

So the next time you hear the socialists, the New Dealers, the liquor interests, the men with the bleeding hearts plead for the modern labor unions and liquor, because he says they help the working man, remember that they have done exactly the opposite; that the working man's lot has been improved in spite of the labor unions, in spite of the liquor interests, for the reason that there has been more and better tools and knowledge.

Let the working man and the voter learn to realize the real cause of man's lot being improved. Let him not be hoodwinked by thoughtless, selfish, labor organizers and a few labor leaders who by seniority have been, in the past, able to improve their lot by pushing down the lot of other workers.

WHAT BRAND OF FREEDOM? Every war, of course, is fought for what is called freedom.

Many people have a strange conception of freedom. They think it means right to exploit. Or they think it means freedom from want. These kinds of freedoms will lead only to chaos and wars.

The real and only kind of freedom that has any real possibility of being approached is equality of freedom; that is, the right to pursue happiness on the same terms.

There can be an agreement on this kind of freedom because it is impersonal. It shows no favorites. On the other hand, a freedom that means freedom from want has no possibility of accomplishment. In fact, it would be an undesirable freedom, if it could be accomplished, because then there would be nothing to look forward to and nothing to strive for. Our growth and our development would be at an end.

It is time that we in America get more nearly back to the freedom that our forefathers believed in rather than this impossible, undesirable freedom from want.

There is no such thing as guaranteed security. The more the government tries to guarantee security, the less security there will be and the less freedom there will be.

Paul Lukas, who starred for 15 months in the same show on Broadway and the road, read his lines as brightly as if he had first seen them only the night before.

Director Herman Shumlin, who produced and directed the New York play, wanted to rehearse for the movie method. Now he had persuaded the studio to let him stop work for skill practice. He had proved, with minor characters in the first scene, that his theory would work for pictures.

The first scene was six men at a poker table, and when production was ready to start he discovered that not one of the six really knew the game. He took two days off to teach them—and quite a few people took on Broadway will agree that Herman Shumlin is a good teacher.

Incidentally, the current rehearsal, scheduled for two days, is building toward the climactic murder. Two days to arrange a first-class murder. Shumlin maintains, is little enough. Lots of people get more time for mere manslaughter.

The aforementioned Lucille Watson is another Broadwayite, who resists adjustment to screen methods. Accustomed to making her voice heard in the top rows of second balcony, she talks too loudly for movie microphones. "Make your own corrections," she tells sound men. "Jigger the whistles or something just before I speak. That's the way I was taught to talk—loud. I can't change. I always forget."

MENTICULOUS MURDER To what extent are our institutions of learning trying to develop Americanism by requiring the study of American history? That question became so interesting to the New York Times that it made a survey to ascertain just what schools are requiring a study of the country's history. And what the Times survey discloses is more than interesting; it is positively startling.

Of 606 institutions covered by the survey only 171 require United States history for admission. Only 18 per cent of those institutions deem American history essential to undergraduate students.

Of the teachers colleges included in the survey 52 require a knowledge of history for graduation and 54 do not. Only 52 of them require a knowledge of American history for admission.

Just how can a citizen fight for Americanism and democracy intelligently when he never has been taught what they are?

POSSIBLE ALTERNATIVE

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD, July 13 — They were doing one of the most unusual things in Movietown. They sat in a semi-circle facing a quiet, mustached man who looked like an insurance executive. At least, he didn't look like a screen director. And the whole procedure looked like a parlor game.

Hollywood players always rehearse every scene on the set just before it is filmed, but never a connected sequence of scenes. Nobody knows why, exactly, and everyone agrees it would be a good idea to drill a cast on an entire script. It should make better pictures besides saving money, time and considerable war-important film.

Of course full rehearsals often are impossible because many a movie is put into production before even the writers know how it will end.

But conditions are different this time. The screen play was completed, and here was the whole cast on Broadway and the road, read his lines as brightly as if he had first seen them only the night before.

Director Herman Shumlin, who produced and directed the New York play, wanted to rehearse for the movie method. Now he had persuaded the studio to let him stop work for skill practice. He had proved, with minor characters in the first scene, that his theory would work for pictures.

The first scene was six men at a poker table, and when production was ready to start he discovered that not one of the six really knew the game. He took two days off to teach them—and quite a few people took on Broadway will agree that Herman Shumlin is a good teacher.

Incidentally, the current rehearsal, scheduled for two days, is building toward the climactic murder. Two days to arrange a first-class murder. Shumlin maintains, is little enough. Lots of people get more time for mere manslaughter.

MENTICULOUS MURDER To what extent are our institutions of learning trying to develop Americanism by requiring the study of American history? That question became so interesting to the New York Times that it made a survey to ascertain just what schools are requiring a study of the country's history. And what the Times survey discloses is more than interesting; it is positively startling.

Of 606 institutions covered by the survey only 171 require United States history for admission. Only 18 per cent of those institutions deem American history essential to undergraduate students.

Of the teachers colleges included in the survey 52 require a knowledge of history for graduation and 54 do not. Only 52 of them require a knowledge of American history for admission.

Just how can a citizen fight for Americanism and democracy intelligently when he never has been taught what they are?

3 American Bomber Crewmen Saved From New Guinea Jungles

MELBOURNE, Australia, July 13 (AP)—Three United States bomber crewmen have finally reached base from the New Guinea jungle after a futile attempt to fly out of encircling 8,000-foot high mountains in a 1914 model biplane which they patched up with bed sheets and stretcher canvass.

Forced down in the heart of New Guinea by lack of fuel, Capt. John D. Fellman, 29, Newport, R. I., First Lieut. Hugh Turk, 25, Piedmont, Ala., and Sergeant O. N. Ferguson of Los Angeles, worked a week to repair their plane without success.

Abandoning it, they slashed their way through the jungle for four days before coming to a deserted trading post where they found the 1914 plane with its propeller smashed and another 1917 model which had been almost burned out.

For a week they worked on the older plane, salvaging a propeller from the 1917 model, replacing with bamboo struts pieces that had been eaten away by bed ants, and covering with two bed sheets and a piece of stretcher canvass. They had no aviation fuel but they found a cache of automobile gasoline.

In this queer contraption, Peltham started to bring help to his comrades. He got to within 15 feet of the top of the 8,000-foot high mountains, but the plane would do no more. While his precious gasoline dwindled, he tried to find an outlet. Then a strong current dashed him to the ground like a leaf.

With his legs trapped, Peltham worked five hours to extricate himself before his comrades worked their way to his rescue. With his legs in bamboo splints, Peltham was carried down the mountainside.

Three days later all were rescued by an Australian plane which sighted them and landed in a small clearing.

So They Say

The miners' lanterns of Lidice have been blacked out by Hitler, but they have cast tongues of flame to light the whole world with tomorrow's freedom.

It would be a mistake to try to make another rigid blueprint as to boundaries. I would not even quite agree that the time has come to fix the western limits of Communism.

The cause to which our nations are dedicated is one on which we can wholeheartedly invoke God's blessing in the name of Christ. For freedom is our Lord's first principle.

Food is more valuable than that gold we have buried out in Kentucky.

America today is beginning to live under a war economy. A war economy provides no luxuries and very few comforts.

I wish British opinion could realize that the independence of India would change the character of the Allied cause and insure a speedier victory.

Nation's Greatest Tax Bill Ready To Be Debated By House

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—The house today and means committee decided today to surround its new $2,350,000,000 tax bill with enough safeguards to prevent any modification when presented to the house for debate and passage this week.

Despite the one-vote margins and even the votes by which many decisions were made, the committee agreed to ask the rules committee to approve procedure which would preclude all amendments except those drafted by the committee itself.

Thus, beginning Thursday, the greatest revenue bill in the nation's history could be discussed by the entire membership but not modified. This procedure has been followed in floor debate on revenue-measures for many years to avoid weeks or month of argument.

Bearing the approval of all but five of the 25 committeemen, the bill fell $2,450,000,000 short of Secretary Morgenthau's $3,700,000,000 tax goal. It would impose taxes of about $2,485,400,000 on corporations, and personal income taxes totaling $2,958,000,000.

It also would boost total federal revenues to about $24,000,000,000. The war production board reported Saturday that war spending in June alone was $4,125,000,000, or at a rate more than twice the anticipated total revenue under the new bill.

For individuals, the committee decided to increase the normal tax from 4 to 6 per cent and to raise the present 6 to 7 1/2 per cent graduated surtax rates to 13 to 82 per cent.

San Angelo, July 13 (AP)—Alfred E. Ireland, Jr., whose parents are prisoners of war, has made arrangements for personal settlement with the Japanese.

Alfred's father, a petroleum engineer, and Mrs. Ireland were captured in the fall of the Philippines. Alfred, 19, has passed examinations for the air corps.

Alfred said he was anxious to "get a crack at Tokyo."

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON These first of July mark a series of important anniversaries in the history of U. S. participation in the European war.

On July 4, 1941, the first cargo of American tanks, planes and military supplies unloaded at an Egyptian port. This was approximately three months after President Roosevelt's declaration that the Red sea was not a combat zone and that American ships could therefore enter it without violating neutrality.

A couple of weeks later, the army unloaded the first British troops in Iceland.

On July 10, 1941, it was first announced that some 400 American technical experts were being employed to build a base "for the British" in North Ireland.

All three of these events now seem like ancient history, but taken together their significance lies in the fact that for an entire year, the United States has been pumping men and materiel into Europe and the Near East. If it doesn't begin to produce results soon, you'll be entitled to ask why.

DUCK'S AFTERMATH This is a follow-up on that famous WPB cotton duck limitation order, in which a young lawyer inserted a paragraph about the love life of Donald Duck. It got by some 15 or more officials before it was caught.

Right after this event, which got a big laugh in Washington, somebody in the army wrote a memo to WPB saying there should be a limitation order on goose feathers. The WPB man who got the memo thought this was a good joke, but they weren't going to make a sap out of him on a gag like that Donald Duck thing. He put the memo in the waste basket.

A couple of weeks later, the army called up, screaming. Where was the goose feather limitation order? Market was bought out and army procurement officers had a terrible time finding enough goose feathers to stuff the pillows for soldiers to lay their weary heads on at night.

Shamefacedly, the WPB wheels began to grind out the order, restricting civilian purchases of down feathers under three inches long.

There's a tremendous surplus of nearly 25 million cases of evaporated milk on hand, and there's kind of a problem about what to do with it. How this stock came to accumulate is interesting. Originally, the British asked for a lot of dairy products for their civilians. Evaporated milk takes only half the cargo space of whole milk, so they ordered 22 million cases. Then shipping space got tight. To save still more space, the British changed their order to powdered, dry milk, which takes up only one-eighth the space of fresh milk. To make the shift, the dairy industry practically had to turn itself inside out, and couldn't do it fast enough to stop the production of this 25 million cases of evaporated milk. It isn't exactly a loss, but a lot of it will go into the school lunch program.

THE TAPES STILL RED "Navy curtails paper work to cut red tape," says a poster in the lobby of the navy building in Washington. In smaller type below there is the further explanation, "Secretary Knox called upon navy department civilian employes to take the lead in cutting out jobs and procedure not necessary to the war effort."

That's dandy, but when a businessman goes to the navy department to see someone, he goes through this procedure:

1. He goes to an outer receptionist who takes his name and address and who he wants to see and enters it on a ticket in duplicate to which he signs his name.

2. The outer receptionist calls the inner receptionist to see if it's all right.

3. The man then goes to a lobby telephone to call up the inner receptionist to the man he wants to see.

4. This inner receptionist says she will clear him right away.

5. The man goes back to the outer receptionist's desk.

6. The man waits.

7. The inner receptionist then calls up the outer receptionist when it's

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE Wide World War Analyst

Herr Hitler has continued to purchase mileage in Russian territory at a terrible cost in German lives over the week-end, thereby increasing the danger of severance of the central and southern Red armies and bringing him nearer to his dream of crashing the gateway to the Caucasus.

There is perhaps small satisfaction in the fact that this advance was to be expected because of the weight of the Nazi attack. In assaying the position, however, we must take into consideration a spite grave lack of equipment.

The Nazi fever has prepared to see a wholesale slaughter of his men in this all-out effort to hamstring the Russians and reach oil fields in the Caucasus.

The Nazi fever has prepared to see a wholesale slaughter of his men in this all-out effort to hamstring the Russians and reach oil fields in the Caucasus.

Some compensation for the Russian setbacks is to be found in the position of the battle for Egypt, where the British have further improved their position and were still retaining a very active initiative at latest reports. It would be a tragedy for the Allies if Nazi Field Marshal Rommel were to be a quick conquest of Egypt and then be able to throw his army against the Middle East while his master drove for it from the north.

Such a development might spell the difference between holding Hitler at the gateway to the Caucasus and being forced to let him through.

Cairo reports that the reappearance of Australian troops in action against Rommel has given the badly manhandled British eighth army a new lift. It is indeed good to see a "fighting" "fools" back in the Egyptian desert.

The Aussies are born with their boots on. They have the spirit of daredevil initiative bred in them, and because they fairly radiate this wherever they go, they are a mighty asset to any army.

Perhaps the answer to this lies in the fact that Australia is still in the pioneering stage from which America is just emerging. The Aussie is a man of the open ranges and is used to fighting his own battles from the time he is big enough to stand alone.

All right for the man to come in.

8. The inner receptionist must mark on the ticket the time the man reaches and leaves her desk. Otherwise, he can't get out.

Congressman John M. Tolson's committee investigating migration of war workers will have a report on mobilization of manpower within the next couple of weeks, and one of the points it will stress is a strong organization of local transportation co-ordinators, or cars, with more authority to regulate everything from the trolley system to share-your-car clubs.

Thus far, Office of Defense Transportation has tried to handle this problem on a voluntary, co-operation basis, in so far as passenger transportation is concerned. In April, ODT Director Eastman sent out letters to all governors and to some 1,000 mayors in cities of over 10,000 population, asking them to set up local transportation boards to work under the State Traffic Advisory committees created at the request of the secretary of war to facilitate troop movements. Over 500 cities complied with this request, but performance has been spotty.

Only real control which ODT has is indirect, through gasoline and tire rationing. The Tolson committee probably will recommend tougher local control.

Eleven and one-half inches of rain fell in one hour and 20 minutes in San Diego county, Calif., on Aug. 12, 1891.

Chinese Retake Futou Island In Fukien Province

CHUNGKING, July 13 (AP)—The Chinese said today their forces had recaptured Futou Island near Fochow, a port in Fukien province.

The Japanese seized the island Thursday and the Chinese took it back Saturday, a high command communique said.

Fighting still is in progress northwest of Wenchow, in Chekiang province to the north, one of the few ports which has been in Chinese hands, the communique said.

(The Japanese yesterday claimed that they had occupied Wenchow.)

In Kiangsi province, northwest of Fukien, the communique said the Japanese were pushing air forces to rescue 30,000 troops trapped between the Kan and Fu rivers. This force had attempted a southward push toward Fukien province.

Japanese based at Lichwan in Kiangsi attempted to retreat westward but were hurled back, the Chinese said.

Until the Chinese recapture of Futou island, twin Japanese offensives were imperiling the two principal ports remaining in Chinese hands.

was sleeping beside her 19-month-old son. Her husband was at work.

The sheriff said the woman began screaming when her assailant tried to drag her to a wooded section. She wrenched free. Neighbors ran out and the negro fled. They chased him down the street into a cafe, the sheriff related, where a fight followed. Vinson, the sheriff said, picked up a butcher knife and one of the negro's hands was cut in the stomach.

"The negro," he added, "was taken to a hospital. Today a little after midnight some fellows came into the hospital. I don't know how many were in the party or how many cars they had, but only three went into the hospital. The men weren't masked or armed."

Nurses notified officers. Sheriff Watts said he went to the cotton gin and cut the body down. "It looked like it had been dragged behind an automobile for a little while, but it hadn't been shot or burned," he said.

The sheriff said he took the woman to the hospital yesterday to look at the negro and quoted her as saying that "he looked like the man."

Backfiring Car Causes "Riot" In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, July 13 (AP)—A backfiring auto, according to police, was responsible for this:

The excited occupants suffering cuts and bruises when they jumped from it.

Knocking down a utility pole.

Laying down mesquite brush for 300 feet.

Crashing into a home.

Calling out firemen.

Ruining two rear tires.

Officers said Mrs. Mary Shelton, 39, the driver, became excited when the car backfired.

tral sector carry to Boguchar and the Don and beyond, it was obvious that the Red army could also be faced with the task of stopping a two-directional drive upon Stalingrad itself.

In some quarters here, it was held that such a strategic situation already existed.

In still a third drive, north of Voronezh, the Germans were battering at unyielding Soviet defenders of that communication center's approaches. In this sector the German's were reported battling to expand their positions on the east bank of the Don.

The Germans were achieving their successes at a tremendous cost in men and equipment in this all-out smash at the Caucasus, front-line accounts said.

Thousands of German troops fell under the guns of stubborn Russian defenders, yesterday and 78 tanks and scores of airplanes were destroyed, official Soviet reports said. Front line dispatches painted an almost incredible picture of exploding tanks, struggling masses of men, bitter hand-to-hand fighting and constant bursting of shells and bombs along the 200-mile line of death.

Despite the bitter resistance, the army newspaper Red Star warned the Russian people that "in some places the situation is critical."

The Moscow News reiterated the Russian appeal for a second front and expressed bewilderment that such a front had not been established in the time since the British-Russian mutual assistance treaty was signed May 26.

"Hitler's back is his weakest spot," he should be struck there with all the might at our disposal," the paper said.

Maj. Gen. Mikhail Gromov, who flew from Moscow to California five years ago, said in an interview "we will be happy to learn of the start of major offensive operations in the air that our American and British friends are conducting."

MIAMI—Mrs. D. W. Stribling returned last week from San Diego, Calif., where she visited her son Clinton, employed in a government defense plant.

Special meeting of the city commission, called for 10 o'clock this forenoon, has been postponed to this afternoon. Bids are to be received on the drilling of three water wells for the air force installation east of Pampa.

SPEARMAN—Hansford county producers are harvesting the best wheat crop in 10 years. Almost 200,000 acres of wheat are being harvested this year, and yields run from 30 to 40 bushels. Hansford county wheat has gained a national reputation for quality; over 95 per cent of the present crop is of high quality variety, chiefly Temar, turkey red, and blackball.

Regular meeting of the Civic Improvement league, of which D. V. Burton is president, will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at B. M. Baker

Dead Jap Pilot Credited With Bagging Bomber

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, July 13 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Grauer of Miami, Fla., told today how the only American plane lost in a raid July 4 on Lae, New Guinea, was knocked out of the sky by a Japanese zero fighter whose pilot apparently was already dead.

"Our tall gunner, Private Pat Norton of Hartford, Ill., had poured about 100 rounds into the zero's left wing and cockpit," said Grauer, navigator aboard a medium bomber which participated in the raid.

The zero seemed to jerk downward and the pilot jerk upward. Then the pilot slumped down at the controls. The zero careened crazily and would have hit us if our pilot, Walker Krell, of Berkeley, Calif., hadn't banked sharply.

"The zero swerved upward, hung there a moment and then came down in a steep dive. We yelled a warning over the radio to the rest of the formation but I guess the last plane either didn't see the zero or didn't have time to get out of the way."

"The zero dived straight into the fuselage and cut clean through the tail.

"The zero itself was smashed to pieces. The bomber kept on its course for a few seconds and then, after a wobble, went into a spin and plunged into the sea."

Pastor Asks FDR To Seize Race Track

COLLINGSWOOD, N. J., July 13 (AP)—A minister who once prayed for "divine intervention" to prevent completion of the new $2,000,000 Camden, N. J., race track asked President Roosevelt last night to seize the track and keep it from opening.

The Rev. Carl McIntire, in a letter to the chief executive, asserted that WPA laborers fabricated and installed nine outbuildings for the park several days after the war production board's June 6 deadline on amusement center construction.

The clergyman, pastor of Collingswood Bible Presbyterian church, asked Mr. Roosevelt to turn the park over to the army or navy as a training base.

"Taxpayers' money helped build this abominable track," he wrote.

The track is scheduled to open a 48-day meeting Saturday with some of the nation's top-flight horses entered.

Auchinleck may have gotten his eighth army back to offensive power first in his race with Rommel for reinforcements and supplies.

British headquarters announced today that all of Rommel's attempts to win back the positions he lost in the ridge country 10 miles west of Alamein failed.

While Australian infantry held the gains they made there at bayonet point, British shock troops were reported stabbing at the enemy on the southern flank, near the Qattara depression, where British artillery kept the Axis on the defensive by continued shelling.

The Germans and Italians acknowledged that the British had the offensive, but said the renewed British attacks were being repelled.

Dust storms interfered with aerial operations, but British and United States planes stuck doggedly to their battering of Rommel's supply line.

Bad weather brought an overnight lull in the air war across the English channel after a week-end in which big Lancaster bombers carried out the longest and riskiest daylight flight the RAF yet has undertaken—a 1,750-mile round trip raid Saturday on the U-boat plants at Danzig.

The British lost only one of 60 or more planes which dared distance, foul weather and Nazi defenses.

A British communique said German planes were over England's east and southeast coasts last night but no bombs were dropped.

The Germans reported sinking a patrol vessel in a Sunday daylight attack on the harbor of Brixham and dive-bombing a large merchantman.

From Europe's lands of slavery under the Nazi heel came new accounts of outbreaks and penalties.

In Pas De Calais department of Occupied France, gendarmes and German police fought a pitched battle with a group of Frenchmen who barricaded themselves in a house and hurled hand grenades.

In Paris German authorities announced that "all near male relatives... as well as brothers-in-law and cousins" of fugitives from German military justice accused of terrorism or sabotage would be shot.

Wichita Falls Banker Dies

WICHITA FALLS, July 13 (AP)—Jack Jeffus, 36, vice-president of the City National bank of Wichita Falls, died of a heart attack at his home yesterday.

According to the best records, the first farm terrace in Texas was constructed by a Newton county farmer, Duke Howell, in 1882.

55,000 Attend Lidice Ceremony

LIDICE, Ill., July 13 (AP)—This new village of 100 homes, lying in the hills north of Joliet and near Chicago, stands today as a living symbol of its razed Czechoslovakian namesake as well as the "Lidices" of the other Nazi terror-ridden countries of Europe.

An estimated 55,000 persons were here yesterday at ceremonies in which the community was given the name of Lidice, Ill., in memory of the European city razed by the Nazis in reprisal for the slaying of Hitler's hangman, Reinhard Heydrich.

They heard leaders of the United States and Czechoslovakia hail the village as a symbol of the United Nations' courage, determination and love of freedom.

President Roosevelt, in a message read to the crowd, said the reborn city was "an everlasting reminder to us that the Nazi force could not destroy the love of human freedom or the courage to maintain it."

Wendell Willkie in his address urged the gathering to "highly resolve that the memory of this little village of Bohemia, now resurrected by the people of a little village in Illinois, will fire us, now and until the battle is over, with the iron resolution that the madness of tyrants must perish from the earth."

Turkeys 'Drafted' For War On 'Hoppers'

WAWAWAI, Wash., July 13 (AP)—Sixteen hundred turkeys were turned loose in this fruit-growing section as ranchers attempted to stem a grasshopper invasion.

The insects, driven by the heat from the highlands to the greener Snake River valley, swarmed across peach and apricot orchards, leaving ruined fruit and stripped fields in their wake.

Rancher I. E. Wilson said the turkeys were threatening to founder on the insects, and added that the number of hungry birds would be raised to 9,000 if they and poison did not halt the attack.

Mr. Walker, the Pampa postmaster, is to make the arrangements for speaking; Mr. McMillen, music; Mr. West, stunts.

After the rally there will be a dance at the Junior High school gymnasium with a 25-cent victory stamp as the price of admission.

Arrangements for the dance are in charge of the committee composed of W. C. deCordova, chairman, L. R. Franks, Mrs. Bell Wells, and Mrs. Roy Shwers.

Committee In Charge

Hollis Keys is chairman of the Victory bond campaign committee. The other members are Ed B. Tracey, commander-elect of Kerley-Crossman Post 334 of the American Legion; C. H. Walker, postmaster; C. A. (Lefty) Huff, president of the Rotary club; Walter E. Rogers, county Victory bond chairman.

Joe Gordon, Kiwanis club president; Crawford Atkinson, president of the Board of City Development; Bob Miller, president of the junior chamber of commerce; J. G. Sturgeon, a past commander of Pampa Post 1657 Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States; Mrs. Bell Wells and Mrs. Roy Shwers, of the Harvester Mothers club; Roy McMillen, Lions club president.

Purchase of a Victory bond in the local campaign will be a four-way benefit, as it will provide you with a way to prove your patriotism, supply your hero with the gun, shell, or other equipment that may save his life, provide the nation with needed money to buy this material, and the purchaser with a worthwhile investment.

Four Camel Caravans... complete road shows for men in uniform

750 performances to 1,000,000 and more soldiers, sailors, marines, and coast guardsmen as this goes to press

JULY 31, 1941! That's when the Camel Caravans hit the road. And they've been at it ever since: four performances a day in some camps to audiences of 15,000 to 20,000.

Yes, it seems you can't find a military scene anywhere without Camels in the picture...cigarette or show. Or both. And both seem to have won top rating with the men in all the services. According to applause and letters from morale officers, the shows are a "smash hit!" And according to sales records, the cigarette is a "smash hit," too. The top-ranking favorite in P.X.'s and Canteens.

STEADY NERVES...that's the order of the hour. Whether you man a gun or a machine...whether you sit a jouncing jeep or knit a sweater...you'll appreciate Camels more than ever these days. They have the mildness that counts!

ARMY CAMPS write: "...Express to you thanks for splendid entertainment by the Camel Caravan... production was excellent" "...Very happy experience to find a 'soldier' show that did not 'play down' to its audience."

Thank you, Gentlemen, it was a pleasure and a privilege!

SURE, free cigarettes, as well as a free show, are part of the fun when one of those 4 big Camel Caravans rolls into camp. Camel's famous full, rich flavor, coolness, and extra mildness also "take a bow."

Important to Steady Smokers:
THE SMOKE OF SLOW-BURNING CAMELS
 contains LESS NICOTINE

than that of the 4 other largest-selling brands tested—less than any of them—according to independent scientific tests of the smoke itself!

AUTOMOBILE TRAILER, CAMP OR PARK, ORDNANCE NO. 226

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF PAMPA, TEXAS, DEFINING AUTOMOBILES, TRAILER HOUSE, CAMP OR PARK; DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND ITS JURISDICTION; DEFINING A UNIT AND SIZE THEREOF; REQUIRING TOILETS, URINALS, WASH BASINS, SLOP BASINS, GARBAGE PAILS, SHOWERS OR BATHS, WATER FAUCETS AND LAUNDRY FACILITIES; REQUIRING CERTAIN MATERIALS TO BE USED IN CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDINGS, ARRANGEMENTS AND OPERATION; INSTALLATION OF PLUMBING AND PREVENTION OF CROSS CONNECTIONS WITH SAFE AND POTABLE WATER SUPPLY; REQUIRING PROPER AND ADEQUATE SEWAGE FACILITIES; REQUIRING SANITATION OF PREMISES AND EQUIPMENT AND REPORTING CONTAGIOUS DISEASES; PROVIDING FOR REGULATION OF THE DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH; PROVIDING FOR THE ENFORCEMENT OF THIS ORDINANCE AND THE FIXING OF PENALTIES; PROVIDING A SAVING CLAUSE AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY OF PAMPA: SECTION I Definitions-The following definitions shall apply to the interpretation and the enforcement of this ordinance:

(a) An automobile trailer or house car shall be defined as any vehicle used as sleeping or living quarters mounted on wheels and propelled either by its own power or other power driven vehicle to which it may be attached.

(b) An automobile tourist park or camp is defined to be any plot of ground where accommodation is provided for two or more automobile tourists under conditions of occupancy as living or sleeping quarters.

(c) Department of Public Health shall mean such department created or established by authority of the City and entrusted with the regulation, control and supervision of all matters for the general health of the citizens and the community.

(d) Unit is hereby defined to be any section or plot of ground for the accommodation of each automobile trailer or house car.

SECTION II It shall be the duty of any person, persons, or firm or corporation to establish, maintain, or operate within the limits of the City of Pampa, Texas, or its sanitary district, any automobile tourist camp or any other location or plot of ground for the use of automobiles or other vehicles; and to prescribe rules and regulations for the management of the camp or park; and to have such records available for inspection by the Department of Public Health.

SECTION III Each unit or site reserved for the accommodation of any automobile trailer or house car shall include a rectangular area not less than 25 feet by 33 feet, and shall be clearly defined by proper markers at each corner. The unit shall be of sufficient size to accommodate the number and description of their automobiles or other vehicles; and to prescribe rules and regulations for the management of the camp or park; and to have such records available for inspection by the Department of Public Health.

SECTION IV Each automobile trailer or house car shall provide at locations hereinafter defined, toilets, urinals, wash basins, slop basins, showers or baths, and water faucets in accordance with the following:

(a) One toilet for each sex for every 10 units or fraction thereof.

(b) Each toilet room provided for men shall have in addition one urinal.

(c) Each toilet room shall be provided with one or more wash basins.

comply with the City of Pampa Plumbing Code and laws of the State of Texas.

(d) Each automobile trailer camp or park shall be under the direct management of the owner or licensee or his agent or representative, for whose acts he or she shall be wholly responsible.

(e) An adequate supply of safe, potable water under pressure shall be available for every unit in the entire trailer camp, in all parts of every trailer camp. At least one water supply outlet shall be provided for every 10 trailer units and such water supply outlet shall be within 150 feet of the house trailer.

(f) In the installation of plumbing fixtures and the laying out of water supply outlets, care must be taken that there be no possibility of cross-connection wherein unsafe water may be siphoned into a safe water supply by vacuum or allowed to flow by gravity into a safe water supply.

(g) All sewage and other water carried wastes shall be disposed of into a municipal sewer if within 150 feet. In camps where a municipal sewer system is not available, disposal shall be into a private system which shall include a sanitary means of disposal, the operation of which creates neither a nuisance nor a menace to health.

(h) This system shall receive the approval of the Department of Public Health or other property authorities previous to its use.

SECTION V There shall be a fly-tight garbage can at each trailer unit.

SECTION VI Any automobile trailer or house car located on any lot or plot of ground within the corporate limits of the City of Pampa or its sanitary district, and outside of an approved automobile tourist park or camp site, shall be provided with adequate supply and sewage disposal, approved by the Health Department, within 150 feet of the house trailer.

SECTION VII All electrical outlets installed in any trailer camp, located within the city limits of Pampa, shall be installed in compliance with the Pampa Electrical Code of the City of Pampa.

SECTION VIII It shall be the duty of all house trailer camp managers to report immediately to the local health officer all known or suspected cases of communicable diseases.

SECTION IX In addition to the requirements set forth in these regulations all house trailer camps and facilities shall be established and constructed in compliance with all existing State and local statutes, ordinances, codes, and regulations.

SECTION X It shall be the duty of the owner, his agent, or manager to keep a register of all persons accommodated on the camp or park, said register to include the names of all persons, their home addresses, the number and description of their automobiles or other vehicles; and to prescribe rules and regulations for the management of the camp or park; and to have such records available for inspection by the Department of Public Health.

SECTION XI Each application for a permit to conduct an automobile trailer camp or park shall be filed in writing upon a form provided by the Department of Public Health.

SECTION XII Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine in any sum not exceeding Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00), and each day operates as a separate offense.

SECTION XIII The Department of Public Health may revoke or suspend any permit, after a hearing, on charges of failure to comply with this ordinance.

SECTION XIV Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine in any sum not exceeding Two Hundred Dollars ($200.00), and each day operates as a separate offense.

SECTION XV The provisions of this ordinance shall not be construed to apply to any supervised park or public camp ground or picnic grounds owned, operated or maintained by the Federal Government, the State of Texas, or any agency or municipality. It is the intention to provide by and through this ordinance uniform rules and regulations for the use, operation, occupation, and maintenance of automobile house trailers and house cars in trailer camps as defined in this ordinance and all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION XVI It shall be the duty of the Department of Public Health and the Police Department of the City of Pampa, Texas, to enforce the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION XVII If any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, void or invalid, the validity of the remaining portions of the ordinance shall not be affected thereby, it being the intent of the City Commission in adopting, and of the Mayor in approving, this ordinance that no part thereof shall be inoperative or fail by reason of any unconstitutionality of any section, subsection, sentence, clause, phrase, portion, provision, or regulation of this ordinance.

SECTION XVIII The fact that the present rules and regulations of the City of Pampa governing the use, operation, occupation, and maintenance of automobile house trailers and house cars in trailer camps are inadequate, and that no conditions are existing which endanger the life and safety of the inhabitants of the City of Pampa, creates an urgency and an emergency for the immediate preservation of public health and safety therefore, this ordinance shall take effect from and after its passage, approval and publication, as in the Charter in such cases made and approved.

SECTION XIX INTRODUCED This 26th Day of May, A. D. 1942, and unanimously passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Pampa, Texas, on the 26th Day of May, A. D. 1942.

Coke Predicts He'll Receive 'Biggest Vote'

AUSTIN, July 13. (AP)—Predicting he would receive "the biggest endorsement on July 25 which has ever been given a candidate for governor of Texas," Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today asked the vote of all Texans who "approve the methods which I have been using the past 11 months in the conduct of the governor's office."

In a statewide radio campaign address, the chief executive asserted years of training are required to make a good public official and expressed the hope that citizens of the state "will vote for public officials who understand government as a mechanic understands the machine which he operates."

Declaring "experience is a valuable asset," Stevenson said "human endeavor," Stevenson said "these methods which I have used in the conduct of the governor's office are well known to most of you and are based upon the experience which I have acquired in government."

"Enumerating the functions of his office, the governor explained that he did not receive taxes or disburse state funds since these duties are performed by other state departments in accordance with laws passed by the legislature."

"The governor does not operate the old age assistance department," he stated. "I have not had the privilege of appointing any one of the three members of the governing board of the public welfare department."

"When Coke Stevenson became governor, there were 150,000 persons on the old age assistance rolls and today there are more than 175,000. The total amount paid out now is greater than ever before and the average grant to the individual is less than ever before."

"In addition there are over 36,000 children who receive more than a third of a million dollars a month out of the aid provided for dependent and neglected children. This is a splendid record of your social security program."

"Old age assistance, teacher retirement, aid to the blind, and aid to dependent and neglected children, Stevenson said, "are evidences of expansion of wholesome democracy to bring its benefits to those who deserve it."

"These benefits must still be administered by men of character and ability."

SERIAL STORY MURDER IN FERRY COMMAND BY A. W. O'BRIEN

THE STORY: Aboard a boat from Newfoundland to Canada, Clyde Dawson, Canadian Intelligence Department, finds a box containing the body of Lemoy Statter, a spy who has been hanged in Newfoundland for murder. Tracing the crew of the passenger list, Dawson captures Paul Dextel, a confederate of the hanged man in spy operations against the R. A. F. Dextel reveals the identity of Statter's cryptic note about a broken "reunion date" and a girl who looks like a famous actress.

THE GIRL IN THE CASE CHAPTER V

AT LaGuardia airport in New York, a cable caught up with Clyde Dawson just as he was boarding an evening plane for Chicago. It was from the chief of police at St. John's and read: "Body of man executed here December six found by cemetery caretaker to have been mutilated in vault STOP Right hand missing STOP Frankly am up well known tree but chasing down every lead STOP Have you any ideas?" Dawson smiled to himself as he took a telegraph blank from the waiting messenger. It must have hurt the chief—a graduate of Scotland Yard's famed Criminal Investigation Department—to receive such a frustrated confession. "Think nothing of it Chief STOP The missing hand is temporarily in cold storage at North Sydney while the playful lad who did the chopping is being detained by the Dominion Intelligence Department in Halifax STOP Will explain fully later STOP Will be at Edgington Hotel in Chicago for few days if you wish contact with me Regards"

THE dean of State University received Dawson the next afternoon and got to the point immediately. "Now here's the story about Darwin Lemoy . . ."

"Darwin Lemoy, the man whose picture was sent to me by your department at Ottawa . . . So that was it, mused Dawson. Lemoy Statter's real name was Darwin Lemoy. "Well, Lemoy was one of the university's all-time, all-around athletic stars. He was particularly able in hockey . . ."

"Oh yes, baseball too. He captained a championship diamond team, but it was in hockey that he won his brightest spurs. I even understand that at one time the Boston Bruins and Chicago Hawks made him offers, but he said he wasn't interested in professional sport. But he apparently changed his mind later on because, after graduating from law school in 1929 and practicing for a few years, we heard that he had gone abroad to play hockey for a Czechoslovakian team in 1935. Two years later, however, he attended a reunion here and starred in an 'Old Boys' game. We have the reunions every five years and . . ."

"That makes one due this year—what month, dean?" asked Dawson.

"This month," in two weeks' time. But we had no report from Darwin Lemoy. The publicity committee tried to locate him, but all letters came back stamped with 'No Such Person at This Address.' Perhaps you can give me some idea about what happened. . . . "I'm sorry," replied Dawson quietly. "I cannot divulge any information except that he will not be available for this reunion." The dean dismissed the matter with a wave of his hand. "The only other information I can give you is that I heard from a number of sources—mostly fellow alumni—that they had grown rather irked with Lemoy. Apparently his ideas had undergone some queer twists in recent years. . . ."

"In what way?" "Well, he seemed to defend the Nazi system whenever occasion arose, and appeared to have a plentiful and impressive array of figures to back up opinions at all times. . . ."

The dean showed the investigator a number of photographs. Lemoy Statter was undoubtedly Darwin Lemoy. Numerous clippings accompanied the photos—mostly from a sport column by one Fergie O'Meara. . . . DAWSON took a taxi to the Chicago Star office. Fergie O'Meara, a kindly-mannered Irishman, wheeled around from his typewriter. "I'm in an awful rush, but I always have time for a friend of Darwin Lemoy's," he boomed at Dawson's single sentence of introduction. "Maybe you can tell me where the son of a gun is—he's wanted for the 'Old Boys' game at State . . ."

"Just a minute, Mr. O'Meara," laughed Dawson. "I can't tell you where he is—I'm trying to find that out, too. Being an old friend of the family in town on business I thought you, as his most loyal historian, might be able to give some lead."

"No can do. As a matter of fact, I'm a little hurt that he didn't drop me a note. We used to see a lot of one another at college games, and his friends were my friends. . . ."

"Then maybe this will prove the lead," cut in Dawson, taking the girl's picture from his pocket. "Did you, by any chance, ever come across this girl in company with him?"

O'Meara took one glance at the picture and his eyes lit up: "Well, well. . . this picture is very familiar to me. Last time I saw Lemoy—it was a year ago or so—the Star was running a Movie Double contest and he entered this picture. She was some girl he knew from Homewood—that's a suburb—and I remember he got a big kick out of it when she won the weekly cash award. . . . Dawson concealed his eagerness. "If she won a cash award that means your cashier will likely have a record of her name and address. . . ."

O'Meara was already on the phone. "I'll have it in a jiffy—if you get any news, give me a call, huh?"

Ten minutes later Dawson was in a taxi bound for Homewood, his pulse quickening. Outside a conservative limestone house, Dawson paid the driver and slowly mounted the steps, studying every external detail from force of habit. A tall dark woman in housekeeper's garb answered the doorbell. "Is Miss Carole Fiske in?" he asked, fairly holding his breath for the answer. The dark woman glared at him before speaking. "Miss Fiske isn't here."

"Just wait in the parlor." "Thanking her, Dawson entered. Abruptly Dawson tensed as he saw a framed photograph on the fireplace ledge. It was that of an American soldier—a sharp-faced man of about 28. There was no mistaking him—remembering faces was Dawson's forte. The picture was that of the American soldier whose body had been found beside that of the Royal Air Force Ferry Command captain in the speakeasy in St. John's, Newfoundland. . . . one of the two murders for which Lemoy Statter, alias Darwin Lemoy, had been hanged!

11 Seek Office Of Railroad Commission

(By The Associated Press) AUSTIN, July 13.—This season's biggest crop of candidates is hunched in the race for the unexpired railroad commission term.

While the U. S. senate race holds the spotlight in the Democratic primary campaign the 11 commission candidates are vigorously beating the bushes for votes, mostly by the personal contact-hand-shaking method, although some are delivering radio addresses. Some are seasoned campaigners and some are novices in statewide campaigning but none is inactive. The ballot will list these names for the position: Beauford Jester of Corsicana, State Senator Karl Lovelady of Meridian, T. Leo Moore of Electra, Bryan Patterson of San Antonio; C. E. McCombs of Cameron county, Will D. Pace of Tyler, State Senator Clem Pain of Livingston, P. M. Armstrong of San Antonio, James E. Kilday of Austin, Richard B. Humphrey of Dallas and Pierce Brooks of Dallas.

The race is separate from the contest for the regular six year term in which incumbent Ernest O. Thompson's re-nomination bid is opposed by State Rep. Lester Boone of Fort Worth and Baker Sausbury of Amarillo. Platforms of aspirants to the unexpired term—ending Dec. 31, 1944—varied but most are keyed to a pledge for expedition of the war effort through commission activities.

Laval Offers Nazi Unoccupied France

MOSCOW, July 13 (AP)—The Moscow radio Saturday night broadcast a dispatch by the official Soviet news agency TASS from Bern, Switzerland, reporting "competent French sources" had declared that the Vichy government had agreed to give Germany control of all important war installations, railways and ports in unoccupied France. The dispatch said the Germans in return had agreed to a request of Chief-Government Pierre Laval to transfer French government offices from Vichy to Paris.

These sources were represented as saying the removal of the demarcation line between the occupied and unoccupied zone was a part of the bargain. TASS said Laval also was reported to have granted the Germans permission to establish a naval commission at Toulon, French Mediterranean base, with extensive powers, including the right to maintain 4,000 soldiers in a special zone near Toulon. Laval also was said to have promised to military 130,000 members of French youth associations, which would be armed and trained by the Germans into "mobile defense" units to be stationed along the coast.

Veteran Katy Worker Dies In Texas Week

AUSTIN, July 13 (AP)—A collision involving cabooses on two M-K-T freight trains near Fayetteville Saturday killed T. R. Whitworth, 52, conductor, and James Walker, 23, Whitworth's companion in one caboose. The two were in the last car of a southbound freight, which, backing off a siding, was in collision with the caboose of a northbound freight which had stopped to take on water. Whitworth, a Smithville resident, was a veteran M-K-T employee. Walker, formerly of Smithville, was returning to his home in Houston to join the army following a visit to Smithville.

Fifteen Federal Granaries In Use In Roberts County

MIAMI, July 13.—According to County Agent Marvin Simms, 15 government granaries are in use and five more have been ordered for this county. These granaries come put up in 4- and 6-foot sections. They are made of wood and will hold from 1,500 to 1,800 bushels of wheat. Others will be available if there is a demand for them. It is estimated that four men can erect one in 10 hours. Barns have been converted into storage space in Miami and three or four large empty store buildings on Main street have been converted into granaries and are now being filled.

MACK AND PAUL-DIAMOND SHOP FEUD TO BE SETTLED TONIGHT

Knights And Boosters In Second Game

The softball game fans and members of other teams have been waiting for will be played at 6:30 o'clock this evening at Magnolia park at the east end of Foster street. The big battle will see the league-leading Mack and Paul Barbers battling the second place Diamond Shop. A second game will see the Knights of Pythias meeting Cities Service Boosters.

A win for the Diamond Shop tonight will put them even with the Barbers in the league race while a loss will send them two full games behind the leaders.

On the hill for the Barbers will be Doc Zachry, with Revis behind the plate. Grover Heiskell will be on the hill for the jewelers with Mangell receiving. Both Zachry and Heiskell are undefeated this season.

The Heiskells will be prominent in tonight's game, Grover on the mound for the jewelers with his two brothers, Claude and Orville, playing for the barbers, Claude at second and Orville in the outfield.

Following the game the sponsors of the barbers will give their players a chicken dinner at the H. H. Heiskell home.

In the second game the fast climbing Knights of Pythias will try to keep the Cities Service boys in the league cellar.

In the only game played yesterday afternoon the surprising Jaycees, who have won their last three games after dropping six in a row, downed the Woodmen of the World 16 to 6. Ideal failed to meet McCarty's in the other scheduled game, McCarty's winning by default.

Crane was on the mound for the Jaycees with Altmann behind the plate. Stone worked for the Woodmen with Cornett receiving.

Dillman and Crane bagged home runs for the Jaycees while Bynum hit for the circuit for the Woodmen. Hits were numerous in the high wind, the Jaycees getting 17 bingles and the Woodmen an even dozen.

Former Jockey Top Rodeo Hand

LIVINGSTON, Mont., July 13 (AP)—The kid idly scuffed the corral dust with a narrow-toed boot and scratched his jaw reflectively. It was looking backward a bit, all right. Ten years—

That was when a skinny apprentice rider, wearing the Wheatley stable silks, began boosting 'em home for Trainer Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons. He was 15 years old and beginning to rate right up there with Johnny Gilbert, Jackie Westrope, Georgia Wolf, Nick Wall, the Garners, and the rest of them.

The program said he was H. Mills; the scale said he was 98 pounds; the railbirds said he was 98.

Then like a descending rocket he dropped from sight. Hialeah, Pimlico, and Belmont didn't know him any more. Gone or going were horses like Dark Secret, Equipoise, Blenheim, Gane, too, was H. Mills and his 98 pounds.

Now, in 1942, the horses bear saity tags of Widomaker, Hell-to-set, Headlight, Skyhigh, and Yellow Fever. And here is Hank Mills at the Livingston roundup, a 25-year-old unpolished by 25 pounds and rapidly making a new name for himself along the rodeo circuit. He has learned how to like spinach, and those big, thick steaks don't bother his conscience or his riding ability any longer. The schedule takes him to Pendleton, to Cheyenne, to Livingston, to Fort Worth, and Madison Square Garden. Attractive Mrs. and a son and a daughter make some of the hops.

"It was on the tracks from '29 to the start of '33 when I began gettin' big and had to quit," Hank recounted. "So I naturally followed the shows where size counts for me, not againt."

Mills is a specialist who confines his bronc riding to the bareback event.

SPORTS IN WARTIME

By RICHARD WEST
Associated Press Staff

The nation's biggest sport—from the standpoint of attendance—will take a terrific beating during wartime.

More than 90,000,000 persons saw basketball games last year. That's tops. But here's the payoff—

Roughly 70 per cent of the attendance was in rural areas and small towns. The big sporting event in a typical rural county is the basketball championship between Lick-skillet and Bugtussle.

Many a Bugtussle—particularly in the Midwest where basketball is strong—is not planning to have a team for the duration. The players cannot be transported.

On top of that—well, basketball bladders are made of rubber. And baskets are made of iron.

The sport—at least for another year—will not be visibly affected in big cities, a Dallas sporting goods house says.

Irony: Likeable Jimmy Stewart, Southern Methodist's athletic director who rigs up the Mustangs' tough football schedules with such teams as Auburn, Temple, and Fordham, will now have to roast in the fire that he kindled. Moanin' Matty Bell used to groan when Jimmy announced the football schedule. But Bell, the Ponies' head football coach, enlisted in the navy. Now we'll see what he can do with the trouble he cooked up for somebody else.

The real McCoy: You've often heard of the "barfoid boy of baseball," a term usually used to describe a country kid that made good in the majors. Well, the Dallas Rebels have a real McCoy. Catcher Bobby Devis in 1930 caught barfoid in Albany, Ga.

Blessing: Five Dallas high school coaches have found at least one "bright ray" emerging from the sack cloud of war. Sunset high's winning football coaching combination has been broken up. "Foots" Strickland, the old Baylor star who has been coaching Sunset's line, is in the navy. He and Herman Crowley, head coach, won the Dallas championship in 1938, 1940, and 1941, took their team to the state semifinals last season.

Ho-hum: It's open season on fishing stories. A Dallas man, fishing off the coast of Florida, became disgusted when sharks started taking bait off his hooks. He got some worn-out spark plugs out of his car, used them for bait, caught the sharks. . . . Hal Sayles, writing in The Abilene Reporter-News, tells of a Rising Star fisherman pulling up a crappie out of Lake Brownwood in 15 minutes and quotes a game warden as saying another group in the same lake used 26 minnows and came back with 25 crappie.

Fast-walker: Out at the anti-aircraft training center in El Paso Sgt. Bertram Beagle has some reputation as a fast walker. In an exhibition at a baseball game he walked 70 yards while Ed Smith, College of Mines sprinter, was running 100. Smith just did beat him to the tape in the last 10 yards. In 1926 Beagle set a record for walking the 120-yard distance between bases on a diamond, stepping it off in 21 and 2/5 seconds. The other day he tried again, did it in 21 and 2/5 seconds. More remarkable—Beagle is now 50 years old.

Cal Castoffs Burning Up Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

The Fort Worth Cats—that amazing bunch of castoffs who were figured no better than also-rans in the 1942 Texas league race—are as hot as a four-bit pistol.

A 3-2 victory over Houston Sunday advanced the Panthers to three games behind the youthful Beaumont Exporters—a month ago rated the invincible team of the minors.

Beaumont lost a double-header to Tulsa Sunday, 3-1 and 3-2. A few weeks ago the head of the rest of the circuit, the Exporter pitchers developed some arms. A team slump ensued. Now the pitchers are doing all right, but the hitters are in a slump.

Meanwhile, Fort Worth's "old men"—veterans who've been days, some say, are recorded in their scrap books—have torn through league opposition and become one of the hot favorites to win the 1942 title.

A month ago the Cats were in fifth place, 12 games from the top. But excellent pitching by Hank Oana, the converted outfielder, Earl Caldwell, Claude Horton and Marc Beddingfield—plus a broiling Texas sun which has ironed the kinks out of the veterans' muscles—have put the Panthers in the challenger's position.

Oana probably can be elected mayor of Cowntown.

Not only has the former outfielder become the ace of the Cats' hurling corps—he is still potent with the willow. Yesterday he knocked a home run in the sixth inning against Houston, sparking his club to a three-run rally that meant victory.

Four thousand Exporter fans saw Beaumont take the double-header from Tulsa. Hank Wyse outpitched Earl Cook and Charlie Puchs in the opener and Lefty Chambers and Joe Berry combined to win the nightcap. Frank Overmire, ace pitcher for the Exporters, retired in the first inning of the last game when he was spiked.

The lowly Dallas Rebels, firmly entrenched in the cellar, continued their heavy hitting Sunday against the San Antonio Missions, sweeping a double bill 5-4 and 8-0.

Paul Gillespie, Oklahoma City Indian catcher, homered in the tenth and pitched a shutout for a 7-5 win over Shreveport in the latter's home park.

Lopat and Singleton, Oklahoma City pitchers, held Shreveport to six hits, while lusty hitting by Fisher and Barker, Indian outfielders, aided the Soccer City's cause.

Catchers Most Underpaid And Underpublicized Players—Sewell

By HARRY SPAYSON

NEW YORK, July 13—How do you account for such power hitters as Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller going into and being totally incapable of getting out of long batting slumps?

"I dunno," says James Luther Sewell. "I was in a batting slump for 17 years. Never did know why or how to get out of it."

"And I'll tell you another thing. If I did know what was wrong with DiMaggio and Keller, I wouldn't tell anybody. It is a comparative pleasure to play the Yankees with those two blokes in the doldrums. They did sufficient damage. Let 'em rest for a while."

CATCHERS OUT, SEWELL RETURNS TO HARNESS
Luke Sewell, 41, finished out a double-header behind the plate for the Browns in Chicago the other afternoon. Rick Ferrell had gone home with lumbago, the St. Louis catcher, and Charlie Puchs in Manager Sewell didn't want to run the risk of having his only other catcher, Frank Hayes, injured in a lost cause.

Sewell previously had placed himself on the active list when Ferrell suffered the first evidence of a lame back and Hayes hurt his thumb. He caught a full nine innings of an exhibition game at Gloversville, N. Y., the other day.

"Wasn't difficult at all," explains Sewell, who was one of the great catchers of the game. "Wasn't stiff and sore. But I have lost all my coordination at bat. Hit the ball all right, but nothing happened. Pop! Right up in the air. Need batting practice."

Speaking from experience, Sewell calls catchers the most underpaid and underpublicized ball players.

He traces the dearth of them to the fact that young men are brighter these days and duck a job which is as thankless as it is tough and dangerous.

YOUNG PLAYERS AVOID TOOLS OF IGNORANCE
"Bill Dickey is a fine example," stressed Sewell. "He has been the real key man of the Yankees down through the years but he never got the money paid DiMaggio or Lou Gehrig or a sum that approached the coin drawn by Babe Ruth."

"Perhaps the danger of injury to which a catcher is exposed has something to do with this seeming unfairness. An owner doesn't want to guarantee a fellow a lot of money when he is so likely to be out of the game in stretches."

"Young fellows about to fashion baseball careers emulate the men of whom they read—the Pellers, DiMaggios, Williams, Gordons, Relsers, Medwicks, Doers, and Coopers. They want to get their names in the papers and make money."

"Therefore, they steer clear of what Merv Shea, the old catcher and Detroit coach, calls 'the tools of ignorance.'"

YOUNG PLAYERS AVOID TOOLS OF IGNORANCE
"Bill Dickey is a fine example," stressed Sewell. "He has been the real key man of the Yankees down through the years but he never got the money paid DiMaggio or Lou Gehrig or a sum that approached the coin drawn by Babe Ruth."

"Perhaps the danger of injury to which a catcher is exposed has something to do with this seeming unfairness. An owner doesn't want to guarantee a fellow a lot of money when he is so likely to be out of the game in stretches."

"Young fellows about to fashion baseball careers emulate the men of whom they read—the Pellers, DiMaggios, Williams, Gordons, Relsers, Medwicks, Doers, and Coopers. They want to get their names in the papers and make money."

"Therefore, they steer clear of what Merv Shea, the old catcher and Detroit coach, calls 'the tools of ignorance.'"

Joe Wins At Golf, Loses At Casino

KANSAS CITY, July 13 (AP)—Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis Barrow, on his first leave from Fort Riley, Kas., tried out his golf game, and played cards with other soldiers at the negro service men's club.

He was just a shade over par figures in a 27-hole golf game, but was a consistent loser at casino.

Boats Being Made On Assembly Lines

TACOMA, Wash., July 13. (AP)

Shipbuilding on the assembly-line principle took another forward step today when the navy announced the big Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding corporation was constructing in quantity one tanker and three-fourths of a second tanker on the same launching way at the same time.

The ingenious building method also calls for the tankers, of a new secret type, to be launched bow first as compared with the usual method of having the ship slide down the ways stern first. The new unorthodox system was inaugurated to take advantage of all available space and to meet a hurry-up call for the needed ships.

The other one-fourth of the second tanker, including the bow, is pre-fabricated; sections are assembled in other parts of the shipyard and then set in place on the ways for final assembly after the first tanker is launched.

As fast as one tanker is launched, the partly-completed sister tanker slides down the ways a little farther and its pre-fabricated bow is welded on, while in the space it vacated, work is started on three-fourths of a third tanker.

day decided that no more state-wide meetings would be held, unless absolutely necessary, because of transportation difficulties.
