OIL IMPORTS BLAMED FOR INCOME DROP

HOUSTON — (AP) — The president of the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association today said income from many Texas oil properties has dropped as much as one-third in the past three or four months.

Guy Warren, Corpus Christi, placed the blame on the increase in imports of foreign oil.

Warren's statements were in a report before the opening session of the association's third annual convention.

Warren also traced developments on oil and gas legislation now pending before the state Legislature at Austin.

He endorsed a proposal to establish a uniform measurement of gas, described a natural gas tax proposal as discriminatory, and said the state's policy of fixing gas prices "is a one-way ticket to federal control."

The Texas oilman said crude oil production is being slashed at a time "importers are being allotted slots for pipelines and for tanker barges which will increase the import capacity by thousands of barrels per day."

The public is being blasted, he said, with propaganda that the United States is running out of oil even in the face of Texas having to reduce its daily output nearly 25 percent in the past three months.

Warren said the strength of (See IMPORTS, Page 4)

Churchill Urges Perseverance in 'War on Nerves'

BOSTON — (AP) — Doughty old Winston Churchill thrust out his bulldog jaw, and told the world that: "Europe would have been commiserated — like Czechoslovakia — and London under bombardment some time ago but for the deterrent of the atomic bomb in the hands of the United States."

Speaking of the "war of nerves" he advised the Massachusetts Institute of Technology mid-century convocation last night: "If we persevere steadfastly together, and allow no appeasement of tyranny and wrong-doing in any form, it may not be our nerve or the structure of our civilization which will break — something else will break, and peace may yet be preserved."

Reaction from abroad was slow, but the first British newspapers to comment called the speech a "recipe for peace" and "remarkable."

In a letter expressing his regret at being unable to fulfill his own engagement to speak tonight at the convocation, President Truman said: "Mr. Churchill, I'm sure, will give you something that will be historical for his period."

Harold E. Stassen replaces the President as tonight's speaker. Churchill rolled out in sonorous ones a blunt accusation that "thirteen men in the Kremlin..."

"We have certainly not an unlimited period of time before a settlement should be achieved," he added.

"The utmost vigilance should be practiced, but I do not think they deliberately acted for three long years so as to unite the free world against them?"

"It is because they fear the friendship of the West more than its hostility."

"The Russian people must not see what goes on outside, and the world must not see what goes on inside the Soviet domain."

Now, he said, the United Nations organization "remains a key of deliverance."

Critics Aim Bitter Attack at Briton

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congressional leaders agreed today with Winston Churchill that world peace now hangs on continued possession of the atomic bomb secret by this country.

Churchill's speech in Boston last night, praising the Marshall Plan, the North Atlantic Pact and unity among free peoples, produced the expected reaction in Congress.

In general, the lawmakers who support such foreign policy moves expressed their approval. But there also were critics — led by Senator Langer (R-ND), who carried on a bitter attack on the wartime British prime minister on the Senate floor.

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.), chairman of the joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said of the Boston speech: "Mr. Churchill correctly judges the part the atomic bomb plays in presently keeping the peace. However we shall not remain the exclusive possessor in the future and Mr. Churchill, unlike so many others, realizes it."

METHODIST WOMEN CLOSE CONFERENCE

The three-day sessions of the ninth annual Northwest Texas Conference of Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service ended here today with a morning program in the U. S. Capitol building with the closing communion by the Rev. W. E. Hamilton, district superintendent.

More than 300 women from the towns in the nine-district northwest Texas area have attended the morning and afternoon sessions which have featured noted workers in many fields of Methodist work.

In this morning's session, Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Hilliard, missionaries to Puerto Rico, now working for the Board of Missions in the U. S. spoke on "Methodism in Puerto Rico."

Miss Ruby Van Hooser, secretary of Children's work from the Woman's Division, New York City, addressed the group on "Communion Meditation."

Featured speaker at yesterday afternoon's session was Miss Sunshine (Byrd) Gagnier, of Berline, who presented a devotional (See METHODIST, Page 4)

J. D. Lard Rites Set For Sunday

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in Miami for J. D. "Dave" Lard, 85, who died at 5:45 p. m. yesterday in Hot Springs, N. M.

Services will be held in the First Baptist Church of Miami and burial, under the direction of the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home, will be in Miami Cemetery.

Lard had lived in Miami from 1904 to about 1935 and was one of the pioneer settlers of the northeast Panhandle.

He was born on a Kaw Indian reservation near Council Grove, Kans., in 1863, the second youngest son of William T. and Katherine Lard. He played with Indian children, and as a youth was well acquainted with the James boys and Cole Younger, notorious outlaws.

At the age of 14 he left home and began his career breaking horses on a ranch near Fort Sill, then still in the Indian Territory. He came to the Texas Panhandle in 1884 and worked as a cowboy on the Bar CC ranch at Wolf Creek in Ochiltree County. He later established his own ranch, which he still owned at his death, on Chicken Creek in Roberts County.

He married the former Blanche Watstad, member of a pioneer Panhandle family and built his first home near Parrall, then county seat of Hutchinson County, Roberts and Gray counties. The family moved to Miami in 1908 where better school facilities were available for the children. Since 1935 he has made his home at Hot Springs.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by three sons, Ed and Henry Lee, both of Hot Springs, and Dee of Taft, Tex.; by three daughters, Mrs. Joe Tolbert of Hot Springs, and Mrs. O. H. Crowe of Baytown; by one sister, Mrs. Eliza Billamy of Burbank, Calif.; and by 13 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

A brother, Bert of Pampa, died three years ago last December.

New York's Taxi Cab Drivers Strike

NEW YORK — (AP) — A ten-hour taxi cab strike started early today. As the morning rush hour began 701 cabs were reported cruising city streets under the protection of 3,000 extra police.

The city has more than 11,000 cabs. Police were uncertain how many normally operate during the morning hours but it was obvious that far fewer were rolling than usual.

There were no immediate reports of violence in the strike, called by the union in its bid for recognition as bargaining agent for the drivers.

Roberts County To Raise $242

MIAMI — (Special) — R. J. Bean, president of the First State Bank here, has been appointed Roberts County chairman for the American Cancer Society's annual drive for funds. He has named Mrs. Clyde Hodges to serve as county commander of the Women's Field Army.

The goal for the county has been set at $242.

19 Pampa Students to Enter Meet

Nineteen high school students from Pampa and 12 alternates are entered in the District I Class AA Interscholastic League Literary Events contests to be held tomorrow at West Texas State College, Canyon.

The Pampa students will be in competition with entrants from Amarillo, Borger, Childress, and Quanah, the other schools in the conference.

In the declamation contest, Beverly Brandt, with Mariola Duvall as alternate, will compete in the Senior girls division and Gene Garrison is entered in the Senior boys division.

Bill Loving and David Lamb are entrants in the boys division of the debate contests, and Patty Bolin and Nancy Campbell will compete in the girls division.

Miss Bolin, with Ralph Hutsell as alternate, is also entered in the ready writers' contest.

Pat Spelman, Mike Ellis, Floyd Bolin and Nancy Campbell will compete in the girls division.

Miss Bolin, with Ralph Hutsell as alternate, is also entered in the ready writers' contest.

Pat Spelman, Mike Ellis, Floyd Bolin and Nancy Campbell will compete for Pampa in the typewriting contest.

Pampa is also entered in the one-act play contest.

Damage Heavy As Cars Collide

Damage was heavy to both cars last night when a 1939 Chrysler sedan rammed into the left side of a 1948 Chevrolet sedan rolling at over into a barrow ditch at the Craven and Gillespie intersection.

Police said the Chevrolet, a Peg's Cab taxi, driven by O. D. Diggs, 415 S. Gillespie, and passengerless at the time, was traveling south on Gillespie and crossing the intersection when the Chrysler, driven by Grant D. Mullins, 625 N. Wells, traveling on Craven slammed into the side of taxi and turned it over into the ditch. Damage to the cab was estimated at around $800 by Police and to the Mullins car, around $300.

There were no injuries or arrests according to the report.

Vocational School Open To Veterans

Gray County veterans who would like to enroll in the county veteran's vocational school should notify Huelyn Laycock, county superintendent of schools, or Jack Graham, county veterans service officer, Jesse O. Coleman, coordinator, said.

Coleman has charge of four classes meeting at McLean. At present two courses in agriculture, one in mechanics and one in business administration are being offered.

The county veteran's school provides an education for those who haven't time to go to college and yet want to receive institutional training to assist them in their occupation.

The first course to be offered in Pampa, providing enough veterans are interested, will be entitled, "Business Manager (Retail, Wholesale or Service Establishments)."

The course will be held 104 weeks, meeting 12 and one-half hours a week. Veterans with as much as 90 days service are eligible for the course, providing they have no college degree. Both tuition and textbooks will be furnished by the Veteran's Administration.

The business administration course will cover the following subjects: business English, store arithmetic, economics, business law, public speaking, store organization, salesmanship, store finance, merchandising, show card lettering, advertising and display, sales promotion, personnel management, credit and collection, inventory, merchandizing stock control, insurance, social security and traffic management.

Two classes in Bible will be conducted at the Salvation Army, 613 E. Albert, tomorrow. It was announced that Maj. Carl Cone of the divisional headquarters, and Capt. Wesley Gregory of Lubbock will conduct the two classes, the first of which will be at 2 p. m., and the second at 7.

Maj. Bernice Lyons, officer in charge here, said refreshments would be served between the two classes. Those who attend have been asked to bring a Bible, notebook and pencil.

Youth Revival Begins Tonight

MIAMI — (Special) — A Baptist Youth Revival will be held here this weekend, beginning tonight. It will be conducted by two young leaders, Dan Rainbolt and Ted Thompson, and Capt. Wesley Gregory of Lubbock, a graduate of Baylor University, but now resides at Tulsa. He served as a Baptist Student Union representative in the summer of 1947, working in Hawaii; and in the summer of 1948, working in South America.

Thompson, who will conduct the music, is a native of Oklahoma City, but has been prominent in youth revival work in the Midwest. He has been featured with his organ and accordion over both the "New York Word of Life" and the "Kansas City Youth for Christ" hours.

Firemen Extinguish Oil-Separator Fire

Firemen were called to the Shell Petroleum Company, 10 miles southeast of Pampa, at 10:45 p. m. yesterday to extinguish an oil-separator fire.

The fire was put out before any heavy damage had resulted. The separator, Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said.

Soviet Assails North Atlantic Pact As Offensive Directed Against Her

Rejection of Red Protest Expected

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Russia's protest against the Atlantic Pact stirred scarcely a ripple today in plans for the treaty signing, but did bring some conferences on the reply to be made.

Rejection of the protest is a foregone conclusion. The only question is what is the most effective means of rejecting it. Top State Department officials were reported to be considering that.

Foreign ministers were gathering to sign the historic treaty on Monday. One of the new arrivals, Belgium's Paul Henri Spaak, told reporters that Russia's new note will not stop him from signing the North Atlantic Alliance for his country.

The latest development on this front came when the State Department announced that Secretary of State Acheson would receive British Foreign Minister Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman jointly later in the day (1:30 p. m., CST).

Indications were that the foreign ministers would discuss the pact yesterday. Acheson discussed the German and Greek situations as well as other European questions (See ALLIANCE, Page 4)

'Woman' Turned Back at Border

SAN ANTONIO — (AP) — U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service today had deported a 17-year-old youth — the "woman" who wasn't a woman.

Also deported were his 11-year-old sister and mother. They were enroute to Dallas.

In a report to H. P. Brady, chief of the Allen Control Division, San Antonio area Immigration and Naturalization Service, inspectors said they stopped the three at Falfurrias.

They were puzzled by the deep voice of the youth — garishly dressed in a dress, cotton stockings and a hat with a provocative veil.

The examination and report of a matron were short. It said: "She isn't a woman."

Measles Put Boy In Hospital, Not Accident With Auto

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — A doctor decided six-year-old Gus Lester had better spend some time in a hospital after he was hit by an automobile.

Gus sustained hardly a scratch in the accident yesterday but was developing the measles.

Local School Board Election Is Tomorrow

Pampa voters tomorrow will cast their ballots for school trustees in the lobby of the Junior High School, Francis and Russell, from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

At stake are the two posts being vacated by Board President Ray Wilson and Trustee George Scott, neither seeking reelection to his expiring three-year term.

Although two slates of candidates are in the field there has been little campaigning in the open by either side. The whole race has been run on the quiet personal contact side and off-hand coffee cup plugging for favorite sons.

Backed by a group of citizens and businessmen, J. C. McWilliams, local automobile dealer, and Frank Smith, proprietor of (See ELECTION, Page 4)

Oasis Lake Is Opened For Benefit

HIGGINS — (Special) — Oasis Lake, that has been closed to public fishing for nearly 10 years, will be opened tomorrow and Sunday, owners of the McQuitty Ranch, 17 miles southwest of Higgins, announced.

Proceeds from the admission charge will go to the "Help Your School Club" of Higgins, an organization that works similar to Parent-Teacher Association.

Before the lake was closed about 10 years ago, it was a very popular fishing resort for residents of the northeast part of the Panhandle.

A road to the ranch leads off Highway 80 about midway between Glazier and Higgins.

Austin Man Suffers Heart Attack Here

Richard Robbins of Austin, father of Mrs. Johnnie Korta, 707 N. West was taken to Worley Hospital at 9:45 a. m. today by a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance. Robbins, who has been living with his daughter and son-in-law for the past three weeks, was reported suffering from a heart attack.

Big Swindle Is Revealed

Frank (Narcotics Ned) Wilson and J. L. (Opium) Ike Spencer were found to be ring leaders of the biggest swindle since the Brooklyn Bridge was sold for $70,000,000 to Knox Kinard, it was disclosed today in The Little Harvester, Pampa High School publication.

Members of The Harvester staff have spent many hours the past few weeks taking their brains for today's edition of the annual April Fool paper.

Throughout the four-page tabloid spectacular disclosures were uncovered. Some of the headlines read: "Pampa Choir to Tour States and Europe," "Kinard Gives PHS Donation for Stadium," "Pampa High Officials Send Freshmen Back to Understanding Grade Schools," "Coaches Reshuffled," "Students Rebelious against Tyrant Board of Directors" and "Yanks Baffled as Harvesters Win 5-0 in Yankee Stadium."

Each year Pampa High writers eagerly await the coming of April 1 so they may exert their imaginations.

Religion of Jesus Is Matter for Joy

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.
Some time ago, discussion arose among a group of ministers concerning the exact nature of the ministry and work of Jesus, and impliedly the demands of Christ upon ourselves.

A paper had been read in which the writer took exception to the common portrayal of Jesus as the gentle Christ, the Christ of the fields and flowers, the Christ of pleasant and leisurely journeying with His disciples, and the discussions and teachings by the way. He emphasized the sterner aspects of the gospel in the portrayal of the perils and dangers, the sufferings and sacrifice, and the climax of that sacrificial experience in the Crucifixion.

The strong impression was of the necessity of seeing Jesus in both these aspects. The shadow of the Cross was undoubtedly upon Him from the beginning; even as Simon had predicted. Like a sword that should pierce Mary's heart (Luke 2:35), but He was the gentle Christ, the lover of the out-of-doors, the fields and flowers, the blessing of little children, the visitor in homes, and the amiable companion.

But the ministry of Jesus in those last days reveal how conscious He was of that destiny in death and sacrifice, despite His earnest prayer and agony in Gethsemane. In that prayer, however, was the deep trust and confidence in the Father's will. "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Those who would truly be disciples of Jesus must be as their Master. "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me."

But the religion of Jesus, even in its sacrificial demands, is not a matter of gloom. Paul, who was a supreme disciple, sounds constantly the note of joy. That is the paradox of the Christian way — that the religion of the Cross should be the religion of joy, of gentleness and peace, of inward satisfaction, of rejoicing in all that God has given in and especially the very last days. It was here that the mission and ministry of Jesus began to be realized. How far the full realization of His destiny in the Cross came to be realized by Jesus Himself we cannot know. We do know that up to the last in the agony of the Garden He prayed that the cup might pass; and it was almost impossible for the disciples to believe that the glorious adventure on which they had entered was to have such an issue. Jesus expressed their feeling, when he said, "Be it far from Thee, Lord."

But many words of Jesus in those last days reveal how conscious He was of that destiny in death and sacrifice, despite His earnest prayer and agony in Gethsemane. In that prayer, however, was the deep trust and confidence in the Father's will. "Nevertheless, not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Those who would truly be disciples of Jesus must be as their Master. "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself and take up his cross and follow me."

But the religion of Jesus, even in its sacrificial demands, is not a matter of gloom. Paul, who was a supreme disciple, sounds constantly the note of joy. That is the paradox of the Christian way — that the religion of the Cross should be the religion of joy, of gentleness and peace, of inward satisfaction, of rejoicing in all that God has given in

Attendance Is 5,424

Twenty-five churches of Pampa reported a total attendance last Sunday of 5,424, it was announced today by Mrs. Russell West, who is compiling figures in the absence of Rev. West. He is chairman of the Kiwanis Club committee that is campaigning for increased church attendance in March and April.

Mrs. West said there were only five churches that did not report figures this week. Church officials of each church have been asked to write their church attendance on post cards that have been furnished them, or to call figures to the West residence. The go-to-church campaign will continue through this month.

Pre-Easter Services
The pre-Easter revival services of the Harrah Methodist Church will begin Friday, April 8. Prayer services will start at 7 p.m.; song services 7:40 p.m.; preaching services 8 p.m.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. H. Martin of McCullough Methodist Church will lead the song services, and will work with the children and young people. The Rev. E. C. Armstrong, pastor of Harrah Methodist church, will preach. Everyone is invited to attend.

Christian Science Sunday Services

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 3. The Golden Text is: "Thou hast dealt well with thy servant, O Lord, according unto thy word. Through thy precepts I get understanding; therefore I hate every false way" (Psalms 119:65,104).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "I have not spoken in secret, in a dark place of the earth; I said unto the seed of Jacob, Seek ye me in vain: I the Lord speak righteousness, I declare things that are right" (Isaiah 45:19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Temporal things are the thoughts of mortals and are the unreal, being the opposite of the real or the spiritual and eternal" (page 337).

Business Is 25 Years Old

Abel Udaehen, manager of Zale's here, said today the concern's Silver Anniversary Celebration will begin tomorrow.

The event will be celebrated in all Zale Jewelry Co. stores. It was announced. The store chain was said to have on hand the largest stock of jewelry pieces in history.

The company originated in Wichita Falls 25 years ago, and since that time has expanded into many cities. It maintains a permanent European office at Antwerp, Belgium, center of the diamond cutting industry. Diamonds are bought, custom cut and shipped to the concern's New York office where they receive individual mounting before going direct to the stores, it was said.

Special anniversary souvenirs will be handed each person who visits the store tomorrow, Udaehen said.

The official announcement is issued here stated: "The use of advertising was as revolutionary as other policies in the founding of the chain. Much of the success of the organization is credited to year-around newspaper space. At a time when jewelry advertising was generally run in small space for graduation and for Christmas, the first Zale store ran large advertisements several times each week throughout the year. Credit and low prices possible through high volume sales combined to make jewelry a commodity that rich and poor alike could enjoy."

Kids Keep Pop From Prison

SAN ANTONIO - (AP) - Juan Gonzalez, a little man with nervous hands, stood before the judge, twisting an old felt hat out of shape while his eyes grew bright with worry and fear. Juan was facing an 18-month prison term assessed by a jury following his conviction on an assault to murder indictment.

Judge W. W. McCrory, of Criminal District Court, cleared his throat and surveyed the little man, and then turned to the attorneys.

"Why do you think he deserves probation," the judge asked. "Assault to murder is a pretty serious offense, you know."

"It's this way, judge," one of the attorneys began, and then, as if realizing the futility of words, turned to the little man. "Get 'em in here, Juan," he directed.

Presently, through the courtroom door a parade came trooping. "Uno, Dos, Tres, Cuatro, Cinco, Seis, Siete," Juan intoned. He turned triumphantly to the judge. "Es todo," he exclaimed. Los hijos lined up in front of the judge, solemn and unblinking, like a row of oods.

"No familia," Juan said. The judge grunted. "Probation granted," he said. "Those are seven good reasons for probation."

Sawdust Diet Given Cows

MEMPHIS, Tenn. - (AP) - Science is getting along right well in its effort to convert hay-burning cows to a sawdust diet.

Dr. H. K. Benson, chemist, told the National Farm Chemurgic Council some cows in the West are the guinea pigs in this experiment.

They developed a liking for a molasses made from yeast and sugar, produced from sawdust. They appear to be thriving on it. The diet has to be tested a while longer before the scientists decide it could become big business, using a great proportion of sawdust and wood products that now are mostly waste.

Dr. Benson, retired head of the Department of Chemistry at the University of Washington, said the yeast contains vitamins and the sugar is a high energy food. He hopes it will cut the cost of producing beef.

A-BOMB

(Continued From Page 1) - Justice said the "atomic bomb is the keystone in our defense, of course, but we need other military arms to prevent world war II."

Senator Malone (R-Nev.), commenting that "personally I admire him and am very fond of him," declared that Churchill's speech was "totally inconsistent."

He said Britain and Russia have signed both a non-aggression pact and a trade agreement under which unlimited war materials and supplies are going to Russia and her satellites.

Malone's criticism was mild compared with that leveled by Langer.

The North Dakotan opened his attack Monday by saying that Churchill fought against the United States in the Spanish-American War. Churchill called that "entirely devoid of truth" in a telegram by Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, yesterday Langer delivered his reply.

He called the former prime minister "a man who speaks for war" and a "cold-blooded" and "venal" propagandist.

The source of his information about Churchill's Spanish-American War activity, he said, was a biographical sketch in the International Who's Who.

Connally retorted that Langer's charges "do not seem to me to be supported by any proof whatever."

ALLIANCE

(Continued From Page 1) - tions in a two-hour talk with British Foreign Secretary Bevin, then went immediately in with Dirk U. Stikker, The Netherlands, foreign minister, with whom he talked most about Indonesia. In connection with Indonesia, which has been a sore point in Netherlands-American relations - Achsoor urged Stikker to take quick steps to call a "peace" conference with the leaders of the Indonesian republic.

Meanwhile, Bevin scheduled a speech at the National Press Club here at which he was expected to talk about the Atlantic Treaty and many other aspects of British policy.

Diplomats viewed Winston Churchill's outspoken speech in Boston last night as sharply pointing up the peaceful aspect of the project.

Radio Operators Strike on Airline

NEW YORK - (AP) - Radio officers struck early today against Pan-American World Airways, and a union spokesman said the stoppage would tie up worldwide operations on the airline.

Crux of the dispute is a union demand that fully-trained radio officers be assigned to Pan-American's new Boeing stratos-cruiser planes.

METHODIST

Miss Berggreen told the group that the important thing to remember was to "make any vocation a Christian vocation." She told of the experience of a young underground worker in Norway, and of how his faith sustained him as he faced the Gestapo firing squad.

The daughter of a minister, Miss Berggreen came to the United States to study Social Work. She received a scholarship from the Methodist Church which enabled her to continue her studies. Miss Berggreen plans to go to North Africa and teach Christianity to the people there.

Attired in a black skirt, spotless white apron, white blouse and dark jerkin, and a bright red cap typical of her native Norway, Miss Berggreen won the hearts of the delegation with her sincerity and earnestness.

Wart Drug in New Use as Medical Aid

DETROIT - (AP) - With the help of a drug once used to cure warts, chemists have found a way to make synthetically the newest of the "wonder drugs" - chloromycetin.

The discovery was announced by Parke, Davis and Co. which also claimed that this is the first time any such "mold" drug, including penicillin, has been produced synthetically "on a practical scale."

As a result, the company said, the once-rare chloromycetin "will now be produced in sufficient quantities to meet all the needs of the medical profession."

Dr. Leonard A. Sweet, director of the company's Research Department, said the Army has already used the synthesized drug and found it "every bit as potent" as the drug produced by slow, natural methods. The Army tests were in Malaya.

Chloromycetin has been used to fight typhoid fever, scrub typhus, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, bacillary urinary infections and undulant fever. It is one of the antibiotic family which also includes penicillin and streptomycin.

Dr. Sweet reported that two teams of research chemist worked out the means of producing the drug synthetically.

In the process of their work, they found that the drug was a derivative of a chemical called dichloroacetic acid which had been used to remove warts.

Before the drug was produced synthetically, it was obtained only through the laborious process of extracting it from a soil mold. Thus its use was generally restricted to emergencies.

MAYOR

(Continued From Page 1) - ed. "While the city is in sound financial condition, it will be necessary to continue retiring present indebtedness before a bond issue can be floated for future improvements or paving. However," the mayor stated, "tax collections are steady. Ninety to 95 percent of all city taxes are being paid each year, and the administration has had excellent cooperation from taxpayers and homeowners."

For the future, Mayor Russell suggests strict economy be practiced in city affairs until financial liabilities are so reduced that needed improvements may be safely made. He is optimistic about Miami's future. New homes are going up all the time. Several new business ventures have lately been launched.

The outgoing city official is certain that by making the most of her assets and continuing the practice of paying her debts and spending her money wisely, the city can look to a brighter economic day ahead.

Germans of West Berlin Seized

BERLIN - (AP) - Hundreds of West Berlin Germans were seized by Russian military police and Soviet-controlled German police in sudden raids on Berlin suburban railroad stations and trains Wednesday night.

The roundups were conducted for the ostensible purpose of checking identification papers. But only residents of the blockaded Western sectors were grabbed.

ELECTIONS

(Continued From Page 1) - a local shoe store, are running together on one slate while the slate of J. C. Largent and E. L. Burch is being backed by another group of citizens and businessmen from Ward 4 and part of Ward 3.

Some observers have predicted the outcome of tomorrow's election will have a telling effect on the fate of the long sought elementary ward school in Ward 4.

Election judges are: DeLea Vicars and Jimmie Massa. Clerks are: Mesdames George Walstead, Clifford Braly, and W. M. Craven.

The poll will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m. School officials today urged every qualified voter to turn out to the polls and vote in tomorrow's trustee election. By absentee voting deadline Tuesday only two ballots had been cast.

IMPORTS

"This capacity can only be provided by the drilling of wells and the drilling of wells can only be accomplished when the price is adequate, the allowable sufficient, and steel available," he said.

On Texas legislation, the association president said it is ridiculous that Texas has no basis for measurement of gas.

"The major gas purchasing companies are crying to high heaven that these (uniform measurement) bills abridge the right of contract," he said. "They said it will cost municipalities more money for their gas and that it will be mechanically impossible to carry out provisions of the bills."

He said the bills specifically provide that any contracts that are made upon a different basis may be rewritten under provisions of the acts.

Great care has been taken and amendments have been provided so that mechanics of measurement can be carried out without additional expense, he continued.

"We believe the five to 20 percent hidden profit that gas purchasing companies make by virtue of purchasing gas upon one basis and selling it at another should and must be eliminated," he told the convention.

In commenting on the proposal to tax gas at the rate of one cent per 1000 cubic feet, Warren said:

"Many producers and gas royalty owners are selling their gas for as low as two cents per thousand. In such cases this would be a flat 50 percent tax. I cannot believe that our Legislature will allow the complete destruction of the property values of many citizens by passing this totally discriminatory tax bill."

Both teams reached the same contract and the ten of hearts was opened at both tables. Ables won the trick with the ace of hearts and returned a heart, which East won with the queen.

When the hand was played at the other table, the expert sitting in the North position won the first heart trick with the ace and returned a heart; but when East played the king of spades, North won with the ace.

He led another heart, East won, cashed the ace of diamonds, then cashed the queen of spades. When the jack fell, all East had to do was to cash the king of hearts, lead a small spade over to dummy's nine-spot and cash the bal-

Easter Glory Cake Is Simple

The Easter season motif is carried out in this white cake with a nest of coconut and colored eggs.

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Staff Writer For Easter, you may want a Glory Cake gleaming white with a green coconut nest filled with candy eggs. It is easily made with a simplified recipe and only two eggs.

Easter Glory Cake Preparations: Have shortening at room temperature. Line bottoms of 2 deep 8-inch layer cake pans with paper, grease. Start oven for moderate heat, 375 degrees F. Sift flour once before measuring. Lift by spoonful into the cup until piled high, then level off by drawing spatula or straight knife across top. Do not pack or shake down. Measure into sifter: 1 3/4 cups sifted cake flour, 2 1/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar.

TEEN TALK

AP Newsfeatures Teenagers over all the country have been bitten by the love bug. They are more interested in dates, marriage and domesticity than they are in being autograph hunters and jivers.

Boston's young people are doing something about solving the lonely hearts problem. Boston University's newspaper, The News now sponsors a date bureau. They aim, it is said, to knit the 30,000 students into a social as well as educational group.

The paper receives letters from lonely students — most of them written in serious vein, expressing a desire to meet a student of the opposite sex. Letters are kept confidential, the election board matches as closely as possible letters from a boy and girl applicant.

Then the board writes the girl informing her the boy will get in touch with her, and writes to the boy telling him to contact the girl. It advises both to "let us know if this date does not materialize."

So many requests from other universities arrived at B. U. that the bureau limited letters to their own students.

In New Orleans, high school seniors and college freshmen debated "whens and ifs" of dating, makeup, boyfriends and good-night kisses. The found that more 17 and 18-year-old girls neck than smoke or drink. Eighty-five percent of the girls agreed a boy should be kissed only after a fourth date, seventy-five percent didn't think high school girls should go steady except that it does make it easier to dig up a date for a big dance.

Only 10 percent of the girls had blind dates frequently, 60 percent had them seldom and 30 percent said they never had a blind date.

Seniors of Sunset High School, Dallas, Texas, have been learning about marriage in a unique course on "human relationships." In the boy-girl relations classes, kissing is discussed. It is this class that revealed that there were no such things as courtesy kisses, and "none of the long-lingering kind." Sweet, wholesome good-night kisses at the door are reserved for a "steady" or very special date.

A minister discusses the preparation and sacredness of marriage. Doctor and marriage experts discuss the responsibility of parenthood. The school nurse, who helped instigate the program and who has talked to many of these students, said that parents would be appalled at the frightening attitude young people have about marriage.

Students love the course. One said "before we took this course about 80 percent of our information came the wrong way." At Decatur Girls High School in Atlanta, girls learn about home planning in their Family Relations classrooms. They build pasteboard dream houses, learn that a pretty green paint might look bilious when it gets on four walls, that young people will have to build very modest houses, indeed. Each of the girls expresses her

St. Patrick's Day Theme of Girls' Party

LEFORS — The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out at a party given by the Intermediate Girls of the First Baptist Church of Lefors, Thursday night, March 24, in the basement of the church.

The basement was decorated in green and white with balloons of every color placed at the ceiling in the center of the room. A Shamrock was pinned on each person as he entered.

Games were played, and refreshments were served to: Jerry Berryman, Marlene Swafford, Ray Horn, Barbara Chastain, Eva Jo Tillman, Mary Beth Hammond, Geraldine Dunn, Johnny Morris, Jean Rowe, Wanda Roberts, Joy Browning, J. E. Jennings, Melba Joyce Hill, Paekel Crutcher, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Browning. Mrs. Browning is the girls' teacher.

Geneva Wilson WMU Circle Holds Social

The Geneva Wilson WMU circle of the First Baptist Church met Wednesday at the church to quilt, and hold its regular 5th Wednesday social.

At noon the group ate their paper sack lunch. Mrs. T. V. Lane asked the blessing. After lunch identity of the "secret pal" was revealed. Each person received a gift from her pal.

Two visitors attended: Mrs. Louis Tarpley, WMU president, and Mrs. J. E. Giles. Members present were Mesdames O. A. Davis, W. W. Estes, W. H. Lewis, T. V. Lane, L. L. Kester, L. S. S. John Schoolfield, C. E. Humphries, Allen Vandover, and J. H. Tucker.

Rebekah Degree Is Conferred at Meet

Mrs. Ruth Foster was accepted as a new member and the degree of Rebekah conferred upon her Thursday at a meeting of the Rebekah Lodge in the IOOF Hall.

Delegates were elected to represent the lodge at the district association to be held in Amarillo April 24, 25, and 26. Elected were: Mesdames Lillie Patterson, Bobby Brummett, Treas Hall, Lola Nicholson, Frances Braswell, Elsie Cone, Ella Noland, Dorothy Voyles and Hazel Franklin.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served to 42 club members.

Souvenirs of White House May Be Had

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want a piece of the White House for a souvenir? The executive mansion is being remodeled and there will be tons of old nails, slivers of wood, partly charred timber, antique hardware, bricks.

Disposal of this historically valuable six-member commission President Truman says should be named to supervise the White House remodeling.

If you want, say, a nail that tore Abraham Lincoln's pants, you'll have to take it up with this commission.

"She looks like her daughter's sister." Then she ought to be spending more on her daughter's looks and less on her own.

"She means well." What good does that do anybody? "She hasn't changed a bit." Shouldn't the years improve us? The person who hasn't changed a bit has only been marking time.

"She certainly knows how to manager her husband." Another way of saying a man is henpecked.

Fair Enough - Pegler

Mr. Truman overspoke himself in his misrepresentation of the case against rent control. In a speech to the Conference of Mayors, he said the landlords of the nation would be willing to break up thousands of homes and that the "real estate lobby," an imaginary organization which has a right to exist, but doesn't exist, had become the enemy of the American home.

There has been no enemy of the American home comparable in evil power to divorce and no other influential group in American history has set a worse example for the matter of divorce than the political regime of which he is now the titular head. It is not lack of adequate, even luxurious, living quarters which broke up those prominent homes and set a bad example, but lack of character.

And when the fact is considered that divorces rose to more than one-third of the current marriages in the immediate post-war period and have steadily increased since, it becomes plain that Mr. Truman is not at all concerned with the disruption of homes. If he had been concerned, he would have attacked unnecessary divorce and the courts which arbitrarily divide the property of a man and the impairment of their morals.

There is no evidence that any considerable number of homes have been broken up by the greed of landlords. Of those cases which Truman and his socialist advisers might arbitrarily attribute to being problems it is reasonable to argue that a large proportion were divorce cases primarily involving people who would not have got along together in the best of homes.

This is not intended to be a discussion of the subject of divorce, but any man who professes to be stirred by the breaking of homes must speak of the first cause first or impugn his own honesty.

The campaign against the fictitious "real estate lobby" will remind us all that landlords have the same right to petition Congress that unions have and that the lobby which has been most active in this situation is the corrupt and greedy group which has more money to spend on politics than any other force in the history of popular government. Truman's administration has fought to maintain that corrupt power in the hands of ruthless and ignorant men because this lobby is an adjunct of his party and his administration. It was the union lobby which set up the straw-man of the "landlords' lobby." The principal purpose was to conceal the fact that unions themselves have been more responsible for the housing shortage than any other factor except rent control. Union mock-work, fake-work and featherbed rules including partial-to-total extortion and overtime frauds, first authorized by Roosevelt, have driven up the cost of building labor by at least 50 percent. Truman had the effrontery to complain that the removal of rent controls would increase by 10 to 20 percent the living costs of the parasites who are in the first place responsible for the shortage of rental properties.

"Lobbying" is an innocent term of similar origin. In its first place it meant the activities of bribe-givers who put through various grabs for public utilities, including rights of war for railroads and city transportation, gas and electric lines and franchises. These lobbyists hung around the lobbies of the legislature and were depicted in speckled hats, smoking chair-leg cigars.

There is no doubt that through their employers, the southern corporations of Wall and a Salt Street, stole many a birthright of the people. Incidentally, Franklin D. Roosevelt often boasted, and lately that he had been counsel for the New York Stock

I am continuing today quoting from "Arguments for a Free Gold Market" by Joseph Stagg Lawrence, vice-president of the Empire Trust Company, New York City.

"The Greenback Experience"

"Another lesson with a similar meaning but a happier result is provided by the Greenback period of 1862. Like many other governments before and since, Congress confronted by the mounting costs of war, was unable to collect the revenue or borrow the money with which to pay the urgent bills of war fighting for its life. It authorized the issue of an irredeemable paper currency and promptly abandoned the gold standard.

"This immediately developed in New York an open market in gold. The discount of the greenbacks and the rising premium on gold proved disconcerting to our legislators. Speaking of the value of gold while the fact was rather that the government's notes had fallen in common esteem."

"When Congress reluctantly considered a bill to close the gold market, Senator Colamer remarked: 'Gold does not fluctuate in price because they gamble in it; they gamble in it because it fluctuates.' But the fluctuation is not in the gold; the fluctuation is in the currency, and it is a fluctuation utterly beyond the control of individual speculators. It should be noted in appraising the prediction of monetary calamity if a free gold market should be authorized, i.e., 'Chaos in prices, profits and foreign exchange rates would be the natural results.'

"With much misgiving Congress passed a bill to close the Gold Exchange market on June 21, 1864. Mitchell refers to the passage of this bill as 'the gold bill blunder.' The closing of the gold market paralyzed trade and created an immediate demand for the repeal of the bill. Rather than admit the consequences of his blunder, Mitchell refers to the bill as 'passed on July 1 without debate and the gold room was reopened for business on July 5.'

"Gold trading had been suspended for a week, but on the next day in commenting on the repeal Senator Johnson said: 'The gold bill is doing nothing but mischief.... it has had its trial and has failed to produce any but mischief.'

"Quite a different impression of this episode is left in the argument by Dr. Walter E. Sparb against a free gold market appearing in the Chamberlain's (Jan. 2, 1949) 'Chronicle' (Jan. 2, 1949). 'Should Congress authorize the free gold market recommended by the gold bill, it is reasonable to suppose that in a relatively short period of time, the price of gold would be attempting to curb the gyrations in prices for gold and other things along the manner of the world's Congress of 1863 and 1864 when it attempted to control the price of premiums on gold and when it repealed (1864) the law authorizing a free gold market.'

"This account fails to note that since 1864 the free gold market continued until December, 1878, that provided a sure guide for John Sherman in resuming specie payments on Jan. 1, 1879. Congress authorized an agreement on January, 1875. As the day for redemption approached, the premium on gold declined until on Dec. 17, 1873, it disappeared entirely and the gold market was closed its doors. On Jan. 1, 1879, the Treasury offered to redeem its legal tender notes, but none were presented for that purpose. This was the last time that gold stood until March 9, 1933.

"How serious were the gyrations of gold during this greenback period? The accompanying chart shows the premium on gold and an index of 30 best commodities. The price of gold faithfully mirrors all the majors and most of the minor fluctuations in prices with identical timing.

"A free market for gold is a form of free trade. It gives the voter, the trader, the speculator a chance to pass judgment on the fiscal conduct of his government. If Henry Wallace were our Secretary of Treasury instead of John Snyder, with adequate political support, it is likely that a budget of $74 billion, such a market would render an unmistakable opinion in the form of a higher premium for gold. It would in effect be a vote of 'no confidence' in the government. White and his noisy Congress and the Administration, it is hardly a valid indictment of a free gold market.

"In view of all that has happened since 1934 a free gold market is the necessary prelude to an honest gold standard. It is the only practical way to restore such a standard without running the risk of a grave and costly depression. England committed in 1925, those who through a blind economic fundamentalism resist this procedure are effectively barring the return of gold.

"The experience of England in the period of 1919-25 and this country during 1862-78 proves conclusively that the presence of a free gold market does not lead to a depreciation of the value of the monetary unit. The fear that such a market will set the stage for a succession of devaluations is without foundation.

"This country has had one experience in devaluation. It occurred immediately after the advent of the Roosevelt administration and was conscious in purpose and deliberate in procedure. The gold content of the dollar was reduced from 23.8 grains of gold 2/30 fine

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — James M. Thomson, former New Orleans publisher and a well-known figure in Democratic circles, has advanced what he regards as a simple and surefire scheme for effecting a coalition between Southern Democrats and Republicans that will block the reelection of President Truman or of any New Deal nominee.

Colonel Thomson is a frequent visitor on Capitol Hill, and he has proposed his plan to numerous members of the House and Senate. He is a former owner of the New Orleans Item, but he has been living in Virginia since his retirement.

He is the son-in-law of former Senator Champ Clark, who barely missed the Democratic presidential nomination at Baltimore in 1912, and the brother-in-law of former Senator Bennett Clark, now a federal judge at Washington.

Colonel Thomson proposes that each Southern state set up a group of electors pledged to vote for a distinguished "favorite son" such as Senator Harry F. Byrd in Virginia, Senator Walter F. George in Georgia, Senator Allen J. Ellender in Louisiana, etc. Running on a States Rights Democratic ticket, they would easily win a majority in their respective commonwealths, he believes.

Then, if the Democrats named a man of the Roosevelt or Truman type and framed a platform inimical to the South, these electors could throw the contest into the House, or team up with the GOP, if the latter party puts up a satisfactory man.

OPPOSITION — Colonel Thomson relies on his own experience in Virginia for his belief that this strategy would succeed, despite its revolutionary nature. He was a "Dixiecrat" elector, and, although the Byrd machine did not elect Mr. Truman publicly, the Thurmond-White ticket polled 43,393 votes. The GOP got 172,070, and the combined total of the opposition topped the Truman figure by almost 15,000.

Colonel Thomson has another reason for his faith in his plan. He has publicly urged that the Democratic bolters rally behind Senator Byrd, the latter received so many letters supporting the idea that he asked Thomson to abandon his one-man promotion.

DIED — President Truman's "bold new program" for American development of backward countries has died aborning. The government itself may seek to give it life by shipping teams of technical experts to foreign lands, but private industry exhibits an understandable reluctance to regard to foreign investment on a large scale.

In their talks with Assistant Secretary of State Willard Thorp, who heads the program, they find that unstable conditions in South America, the Far East and elsewhere are a barrier to foreign investment on a large scale.

to 5 1/2 grains of similar fineness. This devaluation had no relation whatsoever to a free gold market. In fact, throughout this period an open market in gold was prohibited under severe penalties, a situation which has prevailed ever since.

"Devaluation on this occasion, as has been pointed out in other Letters, was the result of a theory that prices could be controlled by varying the gold content of the dollar. The country in 1933 was in a state of economic depression and the new Administration felt that drastic, even orthodox remedies must be given a trial. It was the absence of a free market in gold which facilitated the consummation of monetary heresy.

"Devaluations are not caused by free markets in anything, let alone gold. They are in almost every instance the result of a recognition of an irrevocable currency depreciation which is due to obvious, logical causes. Currency declines in value because there is too much of it. It is a law of value which applies to everything. The same forces which cause wheat to decline operate on currency. Monetary students have long recognized this fact. Only when diverted by special obsessions or partisan contentions do they think of some extraneous factor such as a free market for gold."

POP Goes the QUEEN

By Bob Wade and Bill Miller

THE STORY: John Henry and Sin Conover, in an attempt to win the Queen of the Year contest, are vacationing, waylay Mr. Trim, assuming that he is the winner. After Trim is knocked out, they find a badge in his wallet which is inscribed "Federal Bureau of Investigation."

XXXIV

TRIM sat on the edge of the car seat and stared down at him. After a while of consideration, he went on. "I'll tell you what I can, but you two have to be frank right back at me. In answer to your question: only incidentally. There's some tie-up there with Sagmon Robotom and—"

"What's he done?" cried Sin.

"Nothing yet—that we can prove. He just keeps popping up in key positions. A professional organization one place—a crackpot discussion group somewhere else. The L. A. office—that's Robotom's home town—thinks there's something off-key about him."

"Off-key?"

"Subversive. Undercover."

"Gosh," said Sin, awed. "If I'd known that, I'd have really been scared this morning."

Trim pursed his lips irritably at the interruption. "Nothing had come of my work when I ran across this lost treasure business. Okay—that's not by jurisdiction—finders-keepers and so forth. The two murders aren't my jurisdiction, either. Just a minute! He held up a small hand to cut off the Conovers' questions. "I do come into it sideways. If Barce- lott finds the Queen, the money's his. But the government is interested if he's going to back Robotom in some subversive activity with that money."

John Henry began to pace back and forth, plucking thoughtfully at his lower lip. "Then Robotom could be Jones?"

"Oh, he could be," admitted Trim. "But the two dead bodies belong to Lieutenant Lay—not me."

'Luxury' Tax Discriminates

Housewives and businessmen are hoping for a show-down debate on whether good-grooming is a luxury when the new Congress considers bills to repeal the 20 percent tax on toilet preparations this spring.

Members of influential women's organizations have been urged to write letters to their legislators charging that the tax on such items as cleansing cream, face powder and baby oil are excessive, discriminatory and unfair. In general, the letters will insist that certain cosmetics are not luxuries at all but just as essential to a woman's everyday good grooming as a man's untaxed shaving cream and razor blades.

Sometime during late April or early May, Congress will be asked to consider at least four separate bills, each of them urging repeal of the retail tax enacted in 1941 as a "luxury tax." Despite the President's proclamation announcing the end of hostilities, Congress reauthorized the levy in January, 1947. Eleven earlier bills calling for repeal of the levy produced no action by the last Congress.

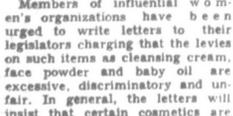

To support their objection to the classification of cosmetics as "luxuries," women point to the Department of Labor's estimated "Government Girl Budget" for 1946. The budget allocated $06 of a total take-home pay of $1,610 to an item described as "personal care," which included beauty parlor services. According to a survey, a working woman in New York whose weekly salary range is from $25 to $35 a week, spends an average of $3 per month for toilet preparations alone.

Women's groups cite the following instances among tax facts which they describe as "incongruous": The woman who means can buy a $1,000 evening gown without paying a cent of excise tax, but mothers must pay 20 percent on baby oil and talcum; one woman pays no tax on a $1.50 cake of perfumed soap, while the working girl pays 20 cents tax on a one-dollar jar of cold cream.

Not only the women but also the husbands who generally pay the family bills anyway will be watching Capitol Hill for a good explanation—if not outright repeal—of these "taxes on women's grooming and babies' comfort."

WAKE UP! YOU DROPPED COUNTING IN THE MIDDLE OF A NUMBER AND I WANT YOU TO SLEEP WITH THAT SHIP AIR!

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Gradually the Republicans in the House of Representatives seem to be getting organized as an effective minority.

This happy change has come about principally through the creation of a new type of Republican Policy Committee and a new House Committee on Public Information.

This latter group is now talking about hiring a top-notch public relations man to direct a $200,000, 000,000-a-year campaign to tell the country just what Republican policy is on every issue that comes up, and sell the voters on it. These developments amount to almost a revolution in the conduct of Republican affairs in Washington.

When the 171 Republican congressman elected last November came back to Washington at the turn of the year, they were a pretty dispirited bunch. They had lost 76 of the 246 seats they held in the Congress. About 80 of those seats had been held by congressmen who thought they didn't run the slightest risk of being re-elected. Their chagrin at defeat was terrible.

Those who came back realized fully that something was wrong and that something had to be done. In the Senate, a small group of self-styled liberal Republicans tried to stage a protest against the old guard by nominating Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to run against Robert A. Taft for the minority leadership. That proved to be a futile gesture. Also, it split the party. House Republican leaders decided the job

Washington.....by Peter Edson

had to be done some other way. COMMITTEE SUGGESTED

First Republican caucuses on the House side floundered around, but they produced a constructive suggestion to abolish the old Steering Committee and set up a new Policy Committee.

Previously the Steering Committee had been selected more or less by seniority. Nobody ever knew exactly who was on it, and it met in a room where a policy-making group. Usually the various committee chairmen made their own policy in their respective fields.

In setting up the new GOP Policy Committee, it was decided to junk this antiquated machinery. The new committee was based on geographical distribution. Excluding the Democratic solid South, the U. S. was divided into eight regions.

Republican congressmen from each of these districts were told to meet and elect a specified number of members for the Policy Committee. The average was one for every 12 GOP congressmen. Three more members were elected by the Republican Committee on Committees. Then five party leaders were made members ex-officio to complete the roster of 22.

This Policy Committee has been in existence only a month and so far has taken definite action on only one thing. It has recommended a decrease in excise taxes on transportation and a few luxury items. But the plan is to have this committee shape and state GOP policy on every issue that comes up. There is no intention, however, of making the Policy Committee decisions binding on all Republicans in Congress. Every congressman will have absolute freedom to vote as he sees fit. When the Policy Committee reached an agreement on any issue after full discussion in minority caucus, the next job will be to make this policy clearly understood by the country at large.

POSITION NOT CLEAR

Republican congressmen now believe that one reason the GOP made such a poor showing in the Dewey race was that the voters did not understand the party's position. Presidential candidate Dewey's campaign vagueness may have been partly responsible.

This uncertainty has carried over into the present Congress. For instance, on the one major issue thus far decided in the House, extension of reciprocal trade agreements the Republicans voted almost solidly against it. But they never did make clear to the country why they voted as they did or what the party policy is.

To carry out this assignment on future issues that arise, the Republican Committee on Public Information has been appointed. On it are Republican leader Martin, Auchincloss of New Jersey, Boggs of Delaware, Brown of Ohio, Case of South Dakota, Ellsworth of Oregon, Hall of New York, Halleck of Indiana, Jensen of Iowa.

Thus far the committee has been concentrating on trying to find the right man to run the public relations program.

But the naming of this new-type Policy Committee and the Public Information Committee to publicize policy decisions are probably the best political news in Washington, where the need for a strong and vocal opposition to a majority has long been felt. The experience of England in the period of 1919-25 and this country during 1862-78 proves conclusively that the presence of a free gold market does not lead to a depreciation of the value of the monetary unit. The fear that such a market will set the stage for a succession of devaluations is without foundation.

This country has had one experience in devaluation. It occurred immediately after the advent of the Roosevelt administration and was conscious in purpose and deliberate in procedure. The gold content of the dollar was reduced from 23.8 grains of gold 2/30 fine to 5 1/2 grains of similar fineness. This devaluation had no relation whatsoever to a free gold market. In fact, throughout this period an open market in gold was prohibited under severe penalties, a situation which has prevailed ever since.

"Devaluation on this occasion, as has been pointed out in other Letters, was the result of a theory that prices could be controlled by varying the gold content of the dollar. The country in 1933 was in a state of economic depression and the new Administration felt that drastic, even orthodox remedies must be given a trial. It was the absence of a free market in gold which facilitated the consummation of monetary heresy.

"Devaluations are not caused by free markets in anything, let alone gold. They are in almost every instance the result of a recognition of an irrevocable currency depreciation which is due to obvious, logical causes. Currency declines in value because there is too much of it. It is a law of value which applies to everything. The same forces which cause wheat to decline operate on currency. Monetary students have long recognized this fact. Only when diverted by special obsessions or partisan contentions do they think of some extraneous factor such as a free market for gold."

Wellington Takes Lead in District 3-A Boxing Meet

LEFORS — The annual District 3-A boxing tournament opened at Shamrock last night with 34 fighters seeing action, representing six schools. The schools were Shamrock, Lefors, Clarendon, McLean, Wellington and Quail.

At the end of the first night's fighting the team score stood: Wellington 7, Quail 4, Shamrock 2, Clarendon 2, Lefors 2, and McLean 0.

Canadian Nine Downs Higgins

CANADIAN — (Special) — The Canadian Wildcats defeated the Higgins nine by a score of 20-19 in the first baseball game of the season for both teams. The game was played at the Canadian Road Grounds, and with a strong, cold wind blowing, hitters had a field day because the strong wind carried the hit ball great distances.

Higgins started off hot, scoring four runs in the initial inning. Troy Carmichael, Higgins third baseman, led off with a triple and scored the first run, being knocked in by Crouch. The Canadian nine failed to score in the first inning, although W. H. Bryant knocked a solid triple. He died on third. Higgins failed to score in the second inning, with Koch dying on second. Canadian again failed to score in the second inning. In the third inning Gill scored for Higgins to make the score 6-0 in favor of Higgins.

Matched Races To Run Sunday

The matched horse races that were scheduled for the Lufkin Holmes track two weeks ago, but were rained out, will be run this coming Sunday afternoon, starting at 2 o'clock.

One race was run that Sunday before the deluge came. In that race, over 220 yards, Saltzman's Brown Mare outran Puncher, owned by H. M. Stone of Pampa. Saltzman's horse sped the eighth of a mile in 1:25 over a muddy track. These two horses are re-matched for Sunday.

In another 220-yard sprint, Muscles, owned by Jack Hines, Pampa, will meet Yellow Chief, owned by Luther Holmes. One of these horses has run against some of the outstanding quarter horses.

In a 440-race Tommy C., owned by Enid Shepherd of Canadian, will meet Speed the Sparrow, owned by Bill Patton of Pampa. Speed the Sparrow edged Tommy C. by a head in a matched race a year ago.

Girl Pal, owned by Enid Shepherd, will race Easter Sea, owned by Os Cree, Pampa, over 5 furlongs.

In the longest race of the day, 6 1-2 furlongs, Park L., owned by George Burrows, Texola, Okla., will race against Clyde G., owned by Leon Holmes, Pampa.

Lefors Gun Shoot Starts Tomorrow

LEFORS — The Lefors Gun Club will hold a shoot all day Saturday and Sunday at the Champlin Lease, three miles west of town. Prizes to be awarded include hams, bacon and fishing equipment.

The first shooting will start about 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Everyone has been invited by Joe Clark of Lefors.

Most birds are voracious eaters. Young crows are accustomed to consume at least half their own weight a day and have been known to eat their full weight. A young robin, shortly after leaving its nest, is known to have eaten 14 feet of earthworms in one day.

Pampa News, Friday, April 1, 1949 PAGE 7

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Mason—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Who prepared the first standard baseball contract?

ANSWER: Judge Orrick C. Bishop of St. Louis drew up the first standard contract for players. He also drafted the constitution for the National League, which regulated baseball for nearly four decades.

ROUNDUP: The Pampa Roundup Club for Boys received their registration cards from the printers the other day, and Wednesday night the boys who came down to the club filled out their cards. A total of 46 boys signed the first night and 12 more last night. That is just a portion of the boys who will soon be signed members of the club.

Billy Sandow to Meet Kasaboski

Tonight's wrestling card at the Sportatorium will bring together Billy Sandow and Alex Kasaboski, in a 90-minute feature bout of the night. Sandow is noted for his clean ring tactics, while Kasaboski is famous for just the opposite type of fighting.

Tonight the crowd will all be in Billy's corner. Last week he fought with Alex on a six-man tag team, but yet fought against him when Kasaboski tried to use his gang-fighting methods, which Sandow didn't approve of. Billy waged battle with Alex the night before, but he was out of the ring when Kasaboski tried to use his gang-fighting methods, which Sandow didn't approve of. Billy waged battle with Alex the night before, but he was out of the ring when Kasaboski tried to use his gang-fighting methods, which Sandow didn't approve of.

Golfers to Lubbock

The Pampa Harvester golf team shot its qualifying rounds yesterday to determine who will compose the four-man team that will play in the Lubbock High School Invitational Meet tomorrow.

The four-man team will be composed of Jimmy Howard, Dick Oden, Rich Miller, and Mickey McCray.

In the individual entries, representing Pampa will be Malcolm Douglass.

DOTS AND DASHES: Probably the ballplayer on the Oilier team with the most "polish" is Mitchel Chetkovich. You'll never see him when his shoes aren't looking like two mirrors. And that goes for his baseball shoes, too. If you see a cigar walking down the street, followed by a chunky, smiling young man, you are probably looking at Mike Faduniak, portly catcher with the Oiliers. Roy Parker claims that Mike is the only ballplayer in captivity who considers a big cigar part of his normal catching equipment. Speaking of Mike, he tells of one of the brighter spots in the back of the plate. It seems that the team he was playing with was playing back up in the hills of Alabama in a little town known as Alexandria City. An umpire was needed for the job behind the plate and as no official arbiter was present, a fan was pulled out of the stands to do the job. Everything was going along fairly smooth until the umpire failed to make a sound after one of the pitches. Mike spat through his mask, turned to the umpire, and asked: "What do you call that?" The grandstand umpire spat right back, took off his mask, looked at Mike and said: "That's all, 'tain't a strike, 'tain't nothin'." It was so close to the edge of the plate it were half of each, so it ain't nothin'.

BETTER BOWLING

By BILLY SIXTY

SPEED AND ACCURACY: As soon as you learn to bowl, you can understand easily the value of picking up those spares. The 10 points for a spare make it necessary to familiarize yourself with proper angles for single pin or cluster spare leaves.

"Concentrate on spares; the strikes take care of themselves."

That's the advice of outstanding instructors like Bill Shaul, Andy Varipapa, Ned Day and Hank Marino. Making or missing spares along the line makes the difference between run-of-the-mill and stardom.

It's probably best to shift no more than necessary at first, so I suggest starting spare practice on the No. 2 pin alone, in the very center of the alley. Then spot the Nos. 5-8, shooting from the same spot or angle. Follow that by spotting the No. 4, to the left of the No. 5, and shift the stance slightly to the right. Then try the No. 4-7 spare, from the same spot.

Move well toward the right hand gutter and face the pin to play the No. 7 alone. TURN THE FEET AND SHOULDERS TOWARD the object pin in making spares. Stride naturally, swing freely, and always use a long swing-through. This gives you speed, and with speed — shoot at the pin! A big hook break may have more eye appeal, but it doesn't pay off. So don't be fancy; play it easy.

Do not make the mistake of shifting to the center or even to the left-of-center for left-hand spins. You'll just get into unnecessary trouble. Follow the chart, shown in the illustration, for the proper starting positions in picking up the various spares from the No. 5 to the No. 7.

Williams Goes Tonight

NEW YORK — (AP) — Trained to perfection and raring to go, lightweight Champion Ike Williams, 138, and Kid Gavilan, 146, the sleek fighting machine from Cuba, will clash tonight in a ten-round non-title "rubber" bout in Madison Square Garden.

Dead-panned Ike is the favorite.

At birth a black bear cub weighs from 9 to 12 ounces which is about 1,200 to 1,500 of its mother's weight. It is about 8 inches long, blind, and covered with a dark hair so thin that it is practically naked.

Roundup Club Boxers Fight Unbeaten Lockney Tonight

Oilers Still Resent Bad Weather

It was still a bunch of unhappy Oilier ball players that crawled into their monkey suits yesterday morning to prepare for the day's workout. The weather was still cold, the wind still strong, and the field very muddy. They all were hoping for a good hot day so they could really loosen up and get in shape. That opening game against Amarillo next Sunday is drawing close, and as yet the team hasn't been able to hold a fast infield drill.

What the lineup will be next Sunday probably won't be known by anyone, including Manager Grover Seitz, until ten minutes before the game starts. He does not have a full infield on hand, and lacks a full outfield. In fact, only one regular outfielder is on hand, Dave Tayema, and he has been working out at the vacant third base post.

Yesterday's drill consisted of an hour and a half of batting, with the hitters looking into a strong wind. As a result of the wind, no balls were lost.

Pitchers who threw the batting drill were John Tackie, Al Perillard and L. H. Hall. The first two are rookies who have never played professional ball before. Perillard is also a southpaw. The rest of the pitchers did a lot of running, shagging fly balls and just running to get their legs in shape.

A short infield drill was held, with Richardson on first, Ridge-way at second, Velasquez at short and Tayema on third. The boys looked pretty good despite the cold weather and the muddy infield.

The front office of the Oilers is still in the market for another catcher to relieve Mike Faduniak, and some outfielders to cover the wide spaces. A third baseman is still anticipated from one of three sources.

First home game for the Oilers will be one week from tomorrow, April 9, when Weatherford College comes to Pampa to play an afternoon game.

Kaiser-Frazer invades new price field!

Kaiser... new price $1995

now world's lowest-priced big car

Our policy on prices

"It has always been our goal to put a bigger, better automobile within reach of more people. To that end, we have bought the huge factory at Willow Run, and have a great engine plant in Detroit. In Cleveland, we have acquired the world's largest blast furnace for the making of steel. Our engineering-production team and our vast dealer organization have worked overtime to reduce manufacturing and distribution costs. In line with the settled policy of our Corporation, we are giving substantial savings to the public in the form of greatly reduced prices... even sooner than we expected. Now, almost any American family can own a really big, fine car!"

Kaiser-Frazer Corporation
HENRY J. KAISER Chairman JOSEPH W. FRAZER Vice-Chairman

Happy days are here again! Today you can get a big, big '949 Kaiser Special for only $1,995... a saving to you of over $333.00!

Prices of all Kaiser and Frazer models have been materially lowered. These are by far the most sweeping price revisions the automobile industry has seen.
