9-YEAR OLD BOY KILLS HIS MOTHER

Calm in Face of Gallows Death

Arms strapped for death on the gallows at Smithson, Ky., William De Boe, 22, of Paducah, Ky., stands here, his doom only moments away, after a spectacular scene lasting 45 minutes, in which he delivered an impassioned tirade, declaring his innocence of criminal assault, for which he was sentenced. De Boe was the first white man hanged in Kentucky for a generation. Scornfully answering the shouted claim of her attacker, William De Boe, as he stood on the gallows awaiting death, she had offered you $500 I wouldn't be here." Mrs. Marjorie Johnson, 32, right, replied in a firm voice, "Not for $1000," and then stood calmly in a crowd of 1,500 that watched the trap sprung. Mrs. Johnson is the wife of an Iuka, Ky., storekeeper.

CHILD SUBJECT TO WALKING IN SLEEP, REPORT

BOY ENGAGED IN GAME OF 'DESPERADO' YESTERDAY

GREENVILLE, April 22. (AP)—Mrs. S. P. Darden, 32-year-old mother of three children, was shot to death at her home in Caddo Mills, eight miles southwest of here, today, and her husband told officers he found their 9-year-old son, Jackie Glenn, standing over his mother's body with a smoking shotgun in his hands.

Jackie Glenn, his relatives told officers, had been subject to walking in his sleep and the father said the youth was apparently asleep when he found his wife shot in the head.

Darden said his wife and Jackie Glenn were sleeping together and he, his oldest son, 12, and an infant were in another bed in the same room.

He heard the gun discharge, Darden said, and rushed to his wife's bedside. The boy was standing over his mother's body, Darden said.

The boy, sobbing, said: "I don't remember what happened."

A coroner's jury was immediately summoned but withheld a verdict.

D. F. Meek, a blacksmith residing near the Dardens, said he was awakened when the 12-year-old Darden boy rushed to his home and asked him to summon medical aid for his mother.

Meek said he rushed to the home and that Jackie Glenn was unable to give a coherent account of what occurred.

Relatives of the boy said he had walked in his sleep on various occasions. Recently he left his home and walked several hundred yards to the home of his grandmother, where he crawled in bed.

Jackie Glenn had engaged in a game of "desperado" with several playmates yesterday afternoon, using sticks for guns, relatives said.

Darden, once a farmer at Clinton, near Caddo Mills, had planned to open a filling station today.

Japanese 'Quake' Kills Over 3,000

About 12,000 Injured In Formosa

(Copyright, 1935, by The Associated Press)

TAIHOKE, Formosa, April 22.—Fires broke out today in the ruins of several northwestern Formosa communities where violent earthquakes Sunday killed at least 2,793 persons and injured about 123,000.

Streams of injured continued to trickle into the emergency hospital centers, while army carrier companies brought reports hourly of further devastation in remote sections.

Two terrific earth shocks shook the populous sections of this Japanese island possession at dawn Sunday, sending hundreds of flimsy dwellings crumbling about their sleeping inhabitants. In many villages not a building was left standing. Entire families lost their lives.

Hundreds of persons, trapped in debris, cried for help. Frantic relief workers, their efforts handicapped by insufficient equipment, were able to reach only a small percentage of the injured.

An army battalion stationed at Taihu in the center of the ravaged area, sent out 50 relief parties to set up field dressing stations.

Governor General Kenji Nakagawa of Formosa announced 16,000,000 yen (about $3,500,000) in Japanese government funds was available to aid the victims of one of the worst catastrophes in modern oriental history.

It was understood that Emperor Hirohito also was to make a donation from the privy purse.

Recurring after-shocks combined with the outbreak of fires and the wailing of the injured and homeless converted the period following the two main quakes into a nightmare of terror.

Men, women and children wandered through the debris shouting the names of lost relatives. The correspondent of the Rengo (Japanese new agency) told of seeing long rows of injured persons lying on mats along a roadside screaming with pain.

Early official estimates placed the number of homeless at 250,000 and the number of dwellings destroyed at 16,493. At least 20,000 other structures were damaged.

Most of the victims were of Chinese racial origin, since Formosa was taken from China by Japan in the war of 1895.

The destruction centered in a district approximately 40 miles in diameter, including scores of populous villages in Taihu and Shinchiku provinces.

Especially stricken were the towns

25 OTHERS CHARGED IN FEDERAL COURT BY GOVERNMENT

LITTLEFIELD, April 22. (AP)—Five persons were arrested here this morning by United States deputy marshals. Indictments returned Saturday afternoon by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth.

Specific charges against the five were not immediately revealed.

The arresting officers, Arch Holmes of Dallas and L. N. McCelvey of Wichita Falls, were to take four of their prisoners to Lubbock. The fifth, Constable Sam Hudson, was released on his own recognizance.

Of the four still in custody, one was a woman, Mrs. Star Hall, wife of a barber, who also was arrested. Jack Page, a former school bus driver and mechanic, and Roy Campbell, a cafe employe, were the others held.

The true bills leading to the arrests here supposedly were related to indictments charging Sheriff Len Irvin and Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Walraven of Lamb county with dealing in untaxed liquor.

"I'm not worrying about it," Constable Hudson said, "but it did knock me over."

"They never had me before the grand jury. The people here will prove me innocent."

The constable said the liquor situation here embraced "impossibilities for a constable."

"I even asked the commissioner at Lubbock to send federal men here," Hudson added.

He had arrested many of the witnesses summoned before the federal grand jury, he said.

"I am not guilty of the charge and I believe the good citizens of Lamb county realize I am innocent," Sheriff Irvin said.

"I know no reason why Herman should implicate me in any illicit liquor transactions."

His son, Driscoll Irvin, also indicted, remarked: "I'm a farmer and if they will let me make bond and give me some rain, I'll be back on the job at the farm."

"There is no evidence to support these charges," Walraven declared. "All three of us will be able to prove our innocence."

Ickes Defends Free Press And Free Speech In Talk

Indirectly Hits at Townsend and Long

NEW YORK, April 22. (AP)—Fear of government interference with a free press was called "without substance" today by Secretary Harold I. Ickes of the interior department speaking at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press.

Frank B. Noyes, publisher of the Washington Star and president of the Associated Press, presided at the luncheon and paid tribute to charter members still living who joined in forming the present Associated Press in 1908. A number of charter members were present as guests of honor.

"Not all the compensation of newspaper making is in the financial success," he said. "There are ideals, an earnest effort toward what is also the nation's good, which will only secretly confess this. Yet without that being true, advancing years could not so happily record the success that comes to us."

"If each of you can read between the lines what I cannot express, you will understand why each of the charter members of the organization feels that for you of this and future years the institution which we call the Associated Press is a heritage to be cherished."

Introducing Secretary Ickes, Mr. Noyes recalled the days when he was editor of the Chicago Record-Herald and Ickes was a "bright young man" managing the campaign of a mayoral candidate supported by that newspaper. At that time, Ickes was hard pressed for campaign funds.

Today, Mr. Noyes said, he is dis-

SUPPORTERS OF CENTENNIAL WIN IN HOUSE VOTE

Horned Frog Amendment Rejected In Vote

AUSTIN, April 22. (AP)—A $1,000 monument to "Old Rip," famed Eastland county horned frog reported found alive after a quarter of a century's imprisonment in a cornerstone, was proposed in the house today as an amendment to the Centennial appropriation bill. The appropriation, suggested by the Eastland county representatives, was ruled out of order.

AUSTIN, April 22. (AP)—Supporters of a $3,000,000 appropriation for the Texas Centennial mustered additional strength in the house today as they turned back another move to require that a percentage of the gross receipts of the celebration be returned to the state.

A motion to instruct the new conference committee that the state must be repaid from six and one-half per cent of the gross receipts was tabled, 78 to 52. This was the most decisive victory yet registered on that question.

The house instructed the new conferees that definite sums must be allocated for observances at the Alamo and the San Jacinto battle-field. Houston and San Antonio representatives had joined opponents of the Centennial in defeating the report of the first conference committee because allotments were not made for those two historic spots.

Representative Jeff D. Sinson of Dallas, floor leader for the Centennial, reiterated that Dallas would be unable to sell its bonds for the central celebration and that expected federal aid would be endangered if the legislature tied the "gross receipts string" to the appropriation.

A proposed instruction that $300,000 be appropriated to San Jacinto and a like amount to the Alamo lost, 61 to 74. As a result, the new conferees were under instructions to make allocations to those shrines of Texas liberty, but the amounts were not specified.

DAUGHTER, SON SHOT TO DEATH BY MAD BANKER

Another Son Wounded as Father Goes Berserk

CHICAGO, April 22. (AP)—Apparently crazed by illness, William Gardner, a bank teller, grabbed a gun and went on a mad death spree in his suburban La Grange Park home early today, killing his daughter and one son and seriously wounding another son.

Gardner was captured, but not before Chief of Police Edward Jones of the suburban force summoned reinforcements to aid him in subduing the man.

The dead were Rita Jane Gardner, 20, and her brother, Gerard, 14. Kenneth Gardner, 17, was wounded.

Jones said the father fired ten shots. He first directed his fire at his daughter and Gerard, Kenneth, a waked by the shots, grappled with Gardner but fell back seriously wounded with a bullet in his abdomen.

Mrs. Gardner, who Jones said also had been ill, was asleep during the shooting and was uninjured.

The officer said Gardner had threatened his family on previous occasions.

Gardner was a teller at the First National bank of Chicago where he had been employed, according to Albert C. Keck, an official, for more than 25 years.

Keck said Gardner had a nervous breakdown some time ago, but apparently recovered only to suffer a recurrence of the ailment. Recently he was given a two months' leave of absence, Keck said.

The bank official said Gardner, as far as he knew, had no particular financial worries and that there had never been any difficulty with accounts handled by the man.

Reunion of Oil Workers To Be Talked Tuesday

The proposal to hold an oil workers' reunion and an oil exhibition here in connection with the Pioneers Roundup and Pre-Centennial June 6 and 7, will be discussed at a meeting to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Schneider hotel. All oil men interested in the project, including heads of local companies are invited.

A committee comprising Gilmore Nunn, John Osborne and others was appointed by President H. L. Polley of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to meet with the oil men.

The suggestion that the reunion and exhibition be held here was made by A. G. Post, Magnolia superintendent. The Jaycees adopted the suggestion.

Flames Destroy Seminole Block

SEMINOLE, April 22. (AP)—Fire early this morning destroyed nine business locations here and caused a damage that may exceed $300,000 to $350,000.

Starting in the Palace cafe building, the flames spread rapidly and soon swept the south half of the block on the west side of the courthouse square. The burned area is from the C. C. Cother and Son drug store south to the corner.

Without any fire fighting equipment, citizens battled to save contents of the buildings in the doomed area. Only a few items were saved.

The blaze was discovered about 1:30 o'clock Monday morning. In less than three hours the structures were a huge mass of blazing embers.

Plainview Lions Convention Opens

PLAINVIEW, April 22. (AP)—The district two-day convention opened here today following numerous lustrous and enthusiastic demonstrations from visiting delegations contending for the next convention.

Candidates for the district governorship were baccational in big demonstration. District Governor E. L. Pitts presided.

The registration had reached 285 before noon with other delegations yet to arrive.

F. Alatorre, representative of Lions International of Mexico, was on the program today as the principal speaker.

Alatorre was accompanied here by Rafael De La Colina, consul general of the republic of Mexico.

Ralph E. Daniels of Panhandle and Jimmy Greene of Colorado, candidates for the office of district governor, brought large delegations from their cities.

SHAMROCK, TEXAS—While saying her prayers one night, Joan Riddle added the clause "And make daddy better"—we hope!

D. A. DAVIS in McLean News-Folks, this week my slogan is "Park-line," and I am plenty mad at you all for the way you are doing your parking. Just this Saturday evening I drove down town and there were at least twenty parking places that could not be used because some of you all just shut your eyes and "parked."

LYMAN E. ROBBINS in Memphis Democrat—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is in Dunedin, New Zealand, on his return from Little America, "down under the world," about the only place left for those who wish to "sail uncharted seas." Here is a character that the youth of America can look up to as a modern hero, one whose explorations they can follow as closely as those of Columbus and the others. They can envy the young Texan son of Dr. W. H. Hill, president of West Texas Teachers College, who was the youngest member of Byrd's expedition. What stories he will be able to tell! What thrills he had! Spending months at the edge of the South Pole almost before he had his first shave.

THE PLAINSMAN in Lubbock Journal—Two Lubbock friends met on the street yesterday.

"How's tricks, Billy?" asked one.

"Not so good," came the reply.

"My wife's been nursing a grouch all this week."

"Too bad," came the response. "I didn't know you'd be sick!"

THE APOSTLE in Donley County Leader—Man is the only animal who can be skinned more than once.

C. W. WARWICK in Canyon News—Not all the cranks are of the present generation, although we seem to have more than our share. They bob up, explode their theories, and then are forgotten. The world naturally absorbs the small part of their theories which are good and discards the balance. General Cozy was a "kingfish" of his day—which was—and so on down the line of radicals.

THE PLAINSMAN in Lubbock Journal—This really happened at a Lubbock school the other day:

"Teacher," asked a little fellow, "do you think a man should be punished for something he didn't do?"

"Why certainly not, Johnny," said the teacher.

"Gee," returned the kid, "I sure am relieved. You see, I forgot to do my home work!"

J. C. W. in Memphis Democrat—When a town the size of Memphis can have a city election, poll 196 votes and only two voters scratch the name of their alderman who is running for re-election, as was the case in Memphis Tuesday, it is worthy of mention, for it shows very plainly that the citizens endorse the good work that has been done by the councilmen during the "smallest boom" years in the city's history.

THE ABILENE REPORTER—Man's inhumanity to man is an incontrovertible fact, and always has been, but it is really true that the treatment of the prison population has been growing less severe as time goes on. Individual cases of brutality will always be cropping up, but we shall see no more of the old-time policy of calculated harshness. Public opinion would never again tolerate it.

HONEST BILL MILER in Spearman Reporter—Not to own a car almost amounts to an admission of strained circumstances, lack of faith in the deferred payment system or downright foolishness.

C. E. CLARK in Childress Index—If you're ever puzzled by Index articles, read the following example of Gertrude Stein's work and wrinkle your forehead: "The story of the quintets and the crossword puzzles were the only solid satisfaction in the metropolitan newspaper that made like a small town newspaper a real happening in today as today is as any one can say it in saying it as any one can know in knowing it."

SAM BRASWELL in Clarendon News—Newspapers and citizens who throw stumbling blocks in the way of law and order by loud criticisms of the Governor, and tirades against the destruction of gambling and liquor paraphernalia, are guilty of harboring criminals and extending their lawless hold on our state which is already burdened by the high cost of criminality, not to mention the greater drain upon the public morals.

I Heard...

That the Pre-Centennial float committee is desperately in need of pictures, sketches, etc., of Texas history scenes. Books containing such pictures would be appreciated. Also, all people in this community who are pretty good at making black and white sketches, pen and ink, pencil or charcoal drawings are asked to communicate immediately with Archer Fullington of the NEWS.

Don Conley, just back from Red River, N. M., where he took Mrs. Conley and son, to visit friends, making a bunch of drug store "hangers-on" shiver with his stories of ice and snow in the mountains.

Negro Is Held in Clarendon Death

CLARENDON, April 22. (AP)—"Red" Wells of Clarendon remained in a serious condition, and Albert "Marble Eye" Boyd, 35-year-old negro, was held in jail as result of a shooting here last night.

One bullet lodged in Wells' right side, Sheriff Guy Pierce said. Other shots went wild.

A charge of about 45,000 volts passing through the body of Carl R. Wyatt, 27, is believed to have caused instant death last night. The body was found in an insulator compartment of a collecting precipitator unit at the General Atlas Carbon company plant west of Pampa where he had been employed for the last two years.

The body was found by Melvin Lewis, plant operator, and Art Counselor, who started a search

Mr. Wyatt when he failed to return from an inspection of an oil well, which should have taken only a few minutes. Wyatt, a packer, was assisting in repairing an oil circulating pump when the accident happened.

Upon investigating the accident, Frank Perry, plant superintendent, made the following statement: "We discovered a lantern and an iron rod in the compartment and presume that Mr. Wyatt came in contact with the current while trying to fish out the lantern, which must have been dropped, with the iron rod. This seems most likely, since there is no occasion for a rod to be around the compartment."

Mr. Wyatt is survived by his wife and three daughters, Elouise, Elda June and Carola Joe. The body is at rest at the Pampa Mortuary. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mr. Wyatt had been a long time resident of this section. His former home was at Knox City where his mother now lives.

Abilenians Laugh At This Dust Yarn

ABILENE, April 22. (AP)—Abilenians chuckled last week over a series of dust lies carried by the newspapers but they were really floored by the one told, in all seriousness, by F. W. Bist, meteorologist of Memphis, Tenn.

An Abilene talker, arriving here, carried this Memphis dustline story: "Memphians awakened to a darkened city and a new experience today—a mild dust storm. Meteorologist F. W. Bist said the dust came from Abilene, Texas. There was no damage except a occasional headache."

How Mr. Bist identified it as Abilene sand after a flight of about 700 miles is little short of miraculous.

EDITORIAL

SCHOLARSHIP

Our word "scholar" as defined by Webster means: (1) one who attends school, one who studies under a teacher, or a student; (2) in English Universities an undergraduate belonging to a foundation of a college or one who receives support in part from its revenues, one who holds a scholarship; (3) a learned person, versed in any branch or in many branches of knowledge, a person of thorough literary or scientific attainments, a servant. The first two attempts at definition are general, loose meanings; the third is the one applied to our use of the word in this discussion. In other words, the scholar is a person who is versed in any branch or in many branches of knowledge, or a person of thorough literary and scientific attainments.

Now scholarship is defined as follows: (1) the character or qualities of a scholar, attainments in science or literature, learning; (2) education, instruction (obsolete); (3) maintenance for a scholar. The first definition, which says that scholarship refers to attainments in science or literature, is the one that we shall use in this discourse. This definition applies to our use of the word in the name of the society—The Scholarship Society—a society of students and teachers associated together to encourage and sponsor high attainment in all fields of learning.

Let us turn from definition to a consideration of some practical purposes of scholarship or of becoming a person of thorough literary or scientific attainments. A great Greek philosopher once gave this as the slogan of education: "Know thyself." How can we know our abilities unless we exert ourselves to the fullest extent? The athlete must do his utmost in order to discover his possible attainments of a physical nature. To do this he must have will power. Phases of his activity will be bore-some and extremely uninteresting, but he must have vision enough not to demand that each exercise be interesting and thrilling.

But after all, the main activity of a college is not physical or social, though both of these have a prominent place and should have. There is a pleasing modesty associated with the intellectual phase of college life—may I say a desirable dignity. The world still expects the core of the college to be made up of intellectual pursuits and takes it for granted that "studies" are still the larger part of college life, although the band and cheer leaders do not announce the fact.

My plea is that we be honest, that we strive for an excellence, a thoroughness, if you please, in the main project of a college intellectuality. This does not mean bookishness, for bookishness is never thorough knowledge. Knowledge is not a result of memory alone, but of reflected thought and experience. Let me not seem to disdain books. My love and respect for books will not permit me to run the chance of seeming to disregard their value. The invention of printing and the making of books has stupendously enlarged the mind of modern man. We think from what we see and experience, from what we hear, and from what we read. Man thinking, according to Emerson, is a scholar.

The scholar welcomes the challenge given by studies, not merely the interesting ones, but most of all the uninteresting. The reward of accepting such a challenge is, as a rule, that he discovers no subject is dull when the student is not. I abhor what I dare call the soft pedagogy of putting upon a teacher the whole responsibility of interest-students. "You may lead a mule to water but you can't make him drink!" You may lead a student to amusement but you can't make him think. If I were a dry goods merchant, I would fire a clerk who could not interest himself in selling each article I had for sale, unless I had special salesmen for each article. You are somewhat responsible for developing your interests, my friends; do not wait for teachers and studies to interest you. Let the teacher's energy be spent in helping you to learn, not in trying to get you interested enough to study.

You will never know yourself intellectually until you exert yourself to the utmost in the use of your mind. The intellectual situation is like the physical in that attainment result from exercise, from drill, sometimes dull drill. Do not take me to say that mind is similar to muscle. I beg you to consider intellectual activity with the same common sense that you use in regard to physical activity. Do not be a physical giant and an intellectual midget—the combination is repulsive; on the other hand, do not be an intellectual power and a physical scarecrow. The physical scarecrows among the scholars have done much harm to scholarship among the youth of America.

I conclude by saying in summary, emulate the worthwhile athlete's attitude toward physical attainment. In other words, exert yourself intellectually to the point where you enjoy "being good" even though you have had to pay for the attainment by much hard and uninteresting work. Welcome difficult studies as the athlete welcomes hard opponents. Find out what you can do with your mind. Be ashamed to strut around with a "T" while "D" is your average in intellectual attainment.

Finally, let us all, students and teachers, while we continue to have a wholesome interest in athletic and social activities, take a serious attitude toward the main project of a college—which is, I repeat, intellectual attainment.—B. F. Fronabarger in the Prairie.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Quite a few people have died painful deaths, in the year since the first administration food and drug bill was licked, because they used fake patent medicines or cosmetics such as the bill was designed to banish. Others have been blinded or otherwise maimed.

You'll find the record in publications of the American Medical Association.

Of course it is unfair to expect politicians to be influenced by a little thing like that. The fate of this year's Copeland food and drug bill depends on whether a consumer's lobby can make things hot enough for certain senators who have been willing to sabotage the measure.

Consumers really haven't any lobby as such, but the job of rescuing the Copeland bill has been taken over by what's known here as the "female bloc," legislative representatives of a dozen or more national women's organizations. This group has been rather dead at times past. Already, it has stirred up a large flow of squawk mail to senators.

But the lobbyists for food companies, patent medicine companies, and insecticide companies, which want less federal regulation of use of arsenic on apples in bug-killing processes—have the edge to date.

The bill was snatched off the Senate floor after Senators Benjamin Clark and Josiah Bailey and the lobbyists had loaded it with so many amendments that Copeland felt it was worse than no bill at all.

The "female bloc" now seeks enough support to have the bill brought back to the floor with assurance that such amendments can be defeated, which means it must change eight or nine senatorial minds.

(While hearings were being held this year, a beauty parlor operator in Florida was giving her mother a treatment with an eyelash preparation. Nine days later the mother died from the effects. She was unlucky. Most victims only go blind. The preparation has been publicly denounced by the Food and Drug Administration, but there's no law against it. It can be bought here on Pennsylvania avenue.)

Well, it seemed the lobbyist for the food industries—Charles Wesley Dunn—had persuaded Copeland in effect to exempt proprietary foods from the bill's requirements for listing ingredients so people might know what they were eating—and paying for.

For six days the bill was debated in the Senate and Copeland was virtually the only senator who said anything about protecting consumers. The others who spoke sought to weaken the bill.

Bailey had the best success. His amendment would prevent the Food and Drug Administration from seizing more than a single sample of a dangerous food or drug product without a legal procedure which might require years to complete.

There'll be no new food and drug act unless Bailey's amendment is killed, as it would give the government even less power to protect consumers than it has now.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

The editor of the Texas Sentinel pushed aside his empty dish, and mentally congratulated himself on having advised his readers to try watermelon preserves as a delicacy for a king. Then he picked up the Clarksville Northern Standard and read with interest a contribution from a Texan who opposed annexation.

"The result of annexation," the writer of the article stated, "will be degradation, taxation, vexation, litigation, tribulation, and starvation." Giving three definite reasons against annexation, the writer made a noble appeal. He objected to the United States taking charge of the public edifices, fortifications, barracks, docks, magazines, arms, and such. Texas is poor, he said, and cannot be giving up such valuable possessions. Secondly, he contended that since the United States was to have power to adjudge the boundaries, what if the officials wanted to keep some of the territory rightfully belonging to Texas as their own? His third bitter denunciation was that every citizen should have the same right; there should be no dividing line between slave-holders and non-slave owners. Let there be no abolition line!

It was too late for any sort of arguments now, for Texas had been formally annexed to the Union. "Forget, forgive, and harmonize" was taken as the new motto. "If Texas in the Confederacy should assume a conservative or neutral position, she would become a mere cypher, or a puppet to be tossed like a shuttle-cock from side to side. The time has not arrived for our citizens to define their position, but they should be preparing for the new stage upon which they are to appear."

Texasans were urged to acquaint themselves with the affairs of the United States—though few needed any such suggestion—and to be able to enter at once into federal affairs. They must enter the staid world with all the intellectual and moral stamina they had, and show the entire world that they were a possession worth seeking and worth having. Then Texas lost independence as a republic, it gained a thousandfold in advantages as a state. It is in recognition of the succession of the state that the Centennial celebrations will be held in 1936.

Amelia's Hubby Doesn't Tire of Waiting for Her

MEXICO, D. F., April 22 (AP)—George Palmer Putnam said today he doesn't mind waiting for his famous aviator wife, Amelia Earhart, to complete her lone attempt to set new flying records.

Unlimited faith in her ability, combined with a belief that "it is worth while to wait" makes it fairly easy for him, he said, although there have been times when he has been considerably worried.

"Most men wait for their wives at some time or other," Putnam said. "Some wait for them to get home from bridge parties, others to get dressed for the theater or go out at night."

"As for me, I regard it as very much worthwhile to wait while Miss Earhart is accomplishing something which she really wants to do and which represents a real achievement."

Miss Earhart said last night that although her plans for the future were indefinite, she might attempt a non-stop flight to New York within the next few days.

Her decision would be partly determined, she said, by whether it appeared feasible to take off with a heavily laden plane in the ramified atmosphere of Mexico's high altitude.

Putnam was deeply concerned Saturday when word was received that Miss Earhart had made a forced landing at Nopala, Hidalgo, while en route here from Burbank, Calif.

Mitchell Will Take 5 Boys To Austin For Track Finals

To Compete Saturday At Canyon in Meet

Coach Odus Mitchell and five of his Harvester track and field men will go to Austin to compete in the state meet on May 10 and 11. The Harvester track team won the regional track and field event at Canyon last Saturday.

Before going to Austin, the Harvester track team will compete in the Great Plains Track and Field meet in Canyon Saturday. Coach Mitchell said this morning that he would take the five boys who are eligible to go to state and probably two or three others to the Canyon event.

The five Harvesters eligible for the state event are J. R. Green, weight man, and Bill Dunaway, Buster Hayes, Raymond Elkins and Bill Haner, relay team.

Dunaway won the javelin and tied for second place in the pole vault event besides running the third lap in the relay Saturday. Hayes took second place in the 440-yard dash and relay team. Green, besides winning the shot put event, setting a new record, placed fourth in the javelin.

The trackmen will work hard for the next two weeks. Green will stay with his field events and not go out for football again this spring. The spring football training session will end with a game with the ex-Harvesters on May 1.

COLTEXO WINS FROM BORGER TEAM 12 TO 5

GORDON NELL SMACKS HOMER WITH BASES LOADED

Gordon Nell, former Pampa star, led the Coltexo baseball team of LeFors to a 12 to 5 win over Huber Carbon of Borger yesterday afternoon at Shaw Park, LeFors. Nell hit a home run with the bases loaded in the fourth inning after two men were out.

Each team collected 10 hits and each made five errors. Hutton, formerly of Hollis, Okla., pitched part of the game and Ed Stegman, another former Pampa player, finished. Polvort was behind the bat. Conner started on the mound for Huber but was relieved by Blair. Brown was behind the bat.

J. Moore, Huber third baseman, also pulled a home run, a real feat at Shaw park.

Coltexo and the Pampa Road Runners will meet for the first time this season next Sunday afternoon on Shaw field.

Greeks Get 'Bird' And Bird to Get Death for Talk

ATHENS, April 22 (AP)—Guests at a popular Greek restaurant today thought another revolution had broken out when they heard a voice shout "cheers for Venizelos," down with his political opponents.

An investigation disclosed the cries came from a parrot—trained before former Premier Eleutherios Venizelos fell from grace as a result of his unsuccessful revolt.

The bird was condemned to be executed without a trial.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press.

Jim Bottomley, Reds: Started triple play and double play and made two hits in 12-inning triumph over Cubs.

Tony Cuccinello, Dodgers: Hit 3 singles and drove in three runs against Braves.

Jimmy Dykes, White Sox: Singled and scored winning run in tenth to beat Browns, 4-5.

Dizzy Dean, Cardinals: Limited Pirates to 5 hits.

Schoolboy Rowe, Tigers: Shut out Indians with 4 hits in 7 innings of relief pitching.

Mel Ott, Giants: Clouted homer and 3 singles in the game with the Phillies.

OLD TIMERS LOSE TO PAMPA TEAM 21-2 IN RAGGED GAME

Gray hair and old age meant nothing to the Pampa Road Runners yesterday afternoon when they blasted out a 21 to 2 victory over a team composed of old time major league ball players, and a few youngsters.

The Old Timers failed to field a full lineup as expected. Several of their players have been training at Topeka, Kan., and were to have joined the team here yesterday. They failed to arrive and as a result, the exhibition was ragged.

Manager Grover Seitz of the Road Runners announced after the game that in the future he would know the teams he is going to play before he brings them to Pampa. The House of David bearded beauties will be here May 8.

Only 15 hits were collected by the Road Runners, 10 Old Timer errors helping the scoring. The veterans nipped Dancy and Berry for 13 hits, well scattered. The tricky wind which swept across the diamond made judging of balls almost impossible.

Dancy pitched the first three innings of the game, allowing five hits and two runs. Berry then took up the mound work and although nipped for eight hits, kept the veterans from scoring. Harrison, a veritable giant, started the game for the Old Timers but it was his hitting that stood out. Harrison pitched six innings before being relieved by Cox, the catcher.

The battery, along with Mowbray, shortstop, were the hitters of the game. Cox connected four times, with Mowbray and Harrison getting three each.

A Summers, new shortstop, scored three times although getting only one hit, a home run over the left field fence. Seitz gathered a double

126000 FANS SEE 7 GAMES ON YESTERDAY

28,000 WATCH DIZZY WHIP PIRATES 6 TO 1

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer.

These warm afternoons a man's fancy seems naturally to turn to the exciting doings of the first few days of the season it turned yesterday for a total of approximately 126,000 fans at seven major league contests—a figure with compared to the 148,000 total for the season's eight opening games.

Pittsburgh hit the high mark when 28,000, the largest crowd since 1928, turned out to see the Pirates take a 6 to 1 licking from the St. Louis Cardinals and Dizzy Dean. The great Diz, slightly injured the opening day, came back to hurl a 5-hit game and lost a shutout when Arky Vaughan connected for a home run in the second inning.

Another banner crowd, more than 26,000, saw the Detroit Tigers win 18 innings to pull out a 3 to 2 decision over the Cleveland Indians. At New York 25,000 turned out for a pitching battle between Bill Dietrich and Johnny Allen in which the Yankees pulled a 4-3 triumph over the Athletics, and some 22,000 Boston fans cheered Babe Ruth's second National league home run, then watched Brooklyn go on to belt out an 8 to 1 victory over the Braves.

The other gatherings were 10,000 at Chicago where the Cincinnati Reds repelled a ninth-inning uprising by the Cubs and won out in the twelfth, 8 to 4; 9,000 at St. Louis where the White Sox defeated the Browns, 6 to 5 in 10 innings, and 6,000 at Philadelphia to see the Phillies and Giants battle to a 4-4 tie in a game ended in the tenth by the Sunday 6 o'clock law. The Red Sox and Washington were rained out and rescheduled their game for today.

Hoover Wins 4-3 Tilt From Tribe

Deb Weds

It took a young banker to sell Betty Schuster, above, popular New York society girl, on the merits of the bonds of matrimony. Famous because of her many broken engagements, she became the wife of Charles E. Marjels, scion of the wealthy banking family, after a whirlwind courtship.

28 Strikeouts and 10 Hits Feature Battle

Hoover's fast-stepping baseball team won a 4 to 3 victory over the Pampa Indians yesterday afternoon in the official season opening. The Indians got off to a bad start, evened the count, but lost in the last inning.

Marbaugh started on the mound for the Indians but the first three batters connected and Gregory took over the mound work. He pitched a great game, allowing the home team only six hits. Moore was behind the bat. Gregory had 11 strikeouts.

H. Green pitched masterful ball for Hoover, allowing only 4 hits and striking out 17 Indians. Barnes caught the game.

The teams went into the ninth inning tied. The Indians failed to count but Hoover pushed across the winning run in their half. P. Bond singled and stole second. He was driven across the plate when Massingale singled.

Nash, J. Bailey and Heard scored for the Indians. The Hoover runs were made by P. Bond, Massingale, Green, and D. Benton.

The lineup: Indians—Nash, 2b; K. Bailey, ss; Gregory, 3b and p; Marbaugh, p; Adair, lf and 3b; Feilner, rf; Moore, cf; Hassell, lf; Bailey, lb; Heard, c.

Hoover—P. Cole, 2b; P. Bond, cf; Massingale, ss; Green, p; Rawlins, lb; Foreman, 3b; Barnes, c; J. Benton, rf; S. Cole, lf; D. Benton, if.

Picard Leading Money-Winner

NEW YORK, April 22 (AP)—Tall and willowy Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., is the leading professional golf shot-maker and money-winner in the country.

Picard played 45 medal rounds during the winter barn-storming tour with an average of 71.6 strokes per round—good for aggregate winnings of $5,560 or $123.50 for each 18 holes.

His scoring average, aided considerably by successive rounds of 65, 67, and 69 in the Atlanta and Augusta tournaments enabled him to nose out Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., who compiled an average of 71.7 for 27 rounds. Runyan's earnings of $2,631 were slightly less than one-third of what he pulled in last year.

Although he did not play enough to qualify for the main ranking of the veteran Macdonald Smith of Nashville, Tenn., struck an average of 71.3 for 10 rounds. Tommy Armour of Chicago did 73.8 in 12 rounds.

France Rejects All Suggestions From Nazi Chief

PARIS, April 22 (AP)—France rejected all suggestions today of entering into direct negotiations with Reichsfuehrer Hitler to ease the strained European situation.

High authorities said the government was ignoring an obvious campaign to bring about separate German conversations with Great Britain, France and Italy. They indicated they considered the effort a German move to break up the united three-power front formed at Stresa and at Geneva.

"The three powers will continue to work together," one official source said.

The nationalist press strongly criticized the recent visit to Berlin of Georges Scapini, the blind deputy, who conferred with German veterans in an effort to bring the two countries together. The unfavorable comment said such negotiations hold grave danger for France and asserted the French veterans were being used as catspaws.

Officials denied published reports that Edouard Herriot, minister without portfolio, who is anxious for conclusion of the Franco-Russian accord went to Basel to confer with Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

Tulsa and Cats Win Twin Bills

Tulsa and Fort Worth gained two notches each in the Texas league race yesterday by making off with twin bills.

The Oilers whipped the Dallas Steers, winners of a single game in a dozen starts, 8 to 3 and 3 to 0. It was the Oilers' third straight victory over the Steers and their sixth win in a row.

The Oklahoma City Indians, holders of the top position in the league, dropped a couple to Fort Worth, 5 to 1 and 7 to 3. The loss of the games, however, did not drop the Indians from the top place. They have won 9 in 11 starts.

While Galveston was stopping Beaumont, 10 to 5, Nelson Potter was in the box at Houston hurting the Buifs to a 2 to 0 victory over San Antonio.

Qualifying In Houston Women's Tourney Starts

Houston, April 22 (AP)—The qualifying round started today over the River Oaks country club course here in the 19th annual women's Texas Golf association championship.

No entry was expected to equal par 36—71 over the difficult treacherous course, but several low scores promised to feature the medalist start because of the brilliance of the starting field.

Mrs. Dan Chandler, 1932 champion, and Miss Betty Johnson, 1934 champion, were among the players who left the first tee.

It is Babe Didrikson's first major tournament. She is representing the Beaumont Country club. Babe played yesterday with Mrs. R. E. Winger of Fort Worth.

The championship is wide-open. Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, 1933 and '34 champion, is not defending her title.

'Allies' Favor Germans in Plea To Lithuanians

LONDON, April 22 (AP)—A high authoritative source disclosed today that Great Britain, France and Italy have made a strong joint protest to Lithuania regarding the treatment of the German element in Memel.

The three powers as principal guarantors of the Memel statute, the source said, dispatched a note embodied in firm language Friday calling Lithuania's attention to the fact that administrative affairs in the territory are now in the hands of Lithuanians and urging that Germans be given their share of places on the statute directorate.

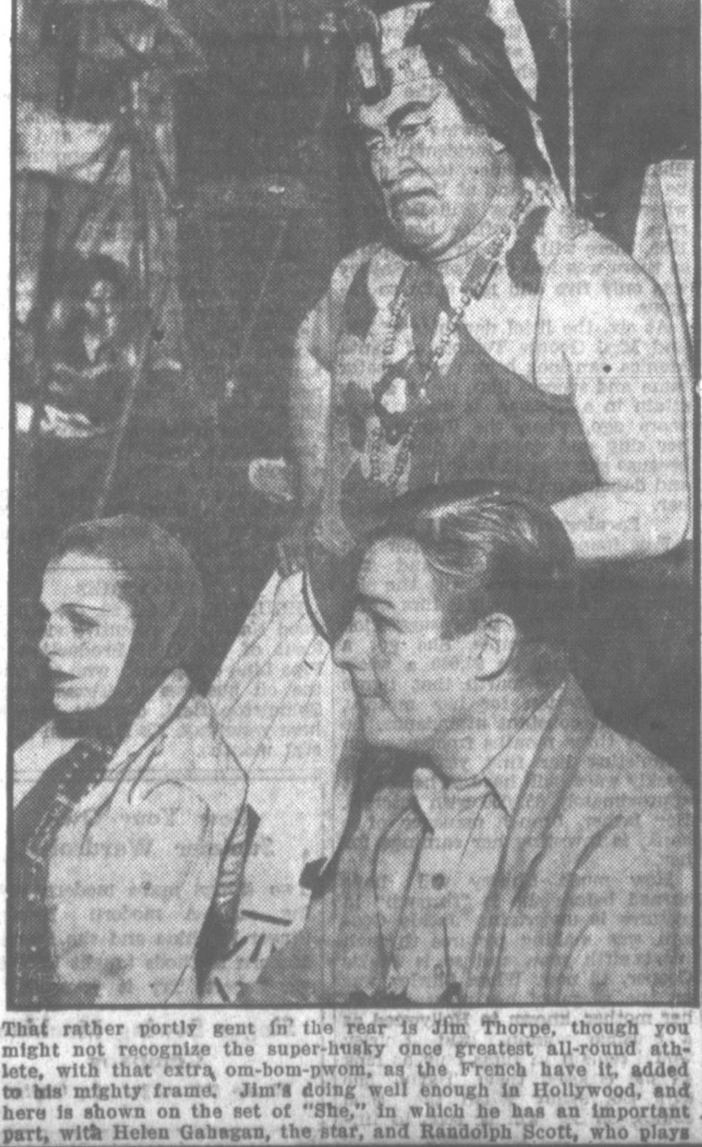

The powers, it was disclosed, referred to the fact that the Memel chamber has an overwhelming majority of German members.

The note was the third protest the guarantors of the Memel statute have forwarded to Lithuania in recent weeks.

No formal reply has yet been received from Lithuania but it was hinted she might stand by her previous replies in which she said her efforts to obtain German cooperation in administration of the statute have been unsuccessful in the past.

About six months ago several German leaders in Memel were invited to join the directorate but refused, reportedly on instruction from Berlin.

COYOTE AND TALL TALES FORM THEME OF FOLK-LORE MEETING

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—Tall tales of Texas and yarns of the south were included in the program prepared for the 21st annual session of the Texas Folk-Lore society at Dallas April 19-20.

Opening session of the meeting Friday night, shaped around the northern Mexico proverb "God is God, the coyote is the most astute animal on earth," included: "Mister Coyote in Folk-lore and Literature," J. Frank Doble, Austin; "Collecting Folk-lore on the Rio Grande," Joyita Gonzales, San Antonio, and "Animal Tales From Mexico," Dan Storm, Austin.

Saturday sessions included: "The Sho Nuff Luck," Aylett Royal, Dallas; "Legend of the Charco Quincena," H. B. Parks, San Antonio; "The Casey Jones Problem," Mrs. John Henry, Dallas; "Sand storm Yarns," Henry Barton, Wichita Falls; "Cowboy Figures of Speech," Ramon F. Adams, Dallas; "Tall Tales of West Texas," Sue Gates, O'Donnell; "Dog Spirits," J. Mason Brewer, Dallas; "The Exposure of Pecco Bill," "Remedies for the Home," Frost Woodhill, San Antonio; "The Adventures of Little Aubrey (called also Little Emma)," Cornelia Chambers, Dallas; "Singing with Lead Belly," Alan Lomax, Dallas.

Election of officers was held at a business session Saturday afternoon and a banquet that night with Thomas A. (Tom) Knight of Dallas as toastmaster, ended the meeting.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—The suggestion in the senate that the regular session of the 44th legislature recess May 7 until October has not been received favorably by a majority of the members of both houses.

One supporting argument is that all of the preliminary work of the regular session would not be wasted and the legislature could resume in the fall without losing innumerable bills.

Any emergency between recess and convening could be disposed of as in a special session. The recessed session also would enable the legislature to submit necessary constitutional amendments.

Senator States His Opposition To Process Tax

BY JESSE H. METCALF United States Senator from Rhode Island

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—By virtue of an unusual and unwise power given him by congress, the secretary of agriculture has imposed processing tax on cotton amounting to 4.2 cents per pound. This tax is more than 1-3 of the value of raw cotton and equals 40 per cent of the pay rolls of our cotton mills. In addition to this tax, the administration has established a loan value of 12 cents a pound for raw cotton and has increased the cost of cotton manufacture through the cotton textile codes.

Money obtained from the cotton processing tax is used by the department of agriculture for cotton benefits, largely to pay farmers to plow under part of their cotton fields.

This program is rapidly destroying both the domestic and foreign market for raw cotton. Since August of last year 71 mills, employing 30,625 persons, have closed their doors. A great many of the plants are being liquidated, their machinery dismantled, and some of the buildings razed to the ground. It is a situation that is rapidly becoming desperate and unless immediate reversal of the government's cotton policy takes place, the whole cotton and cotton manufacturing industry faces desolation.

Texas Poloists Beat Mexicans

DALLAS, April 22 (AP)—The first of four international matches between Texas and Mexico poloists was won by the Texans as the ponies from the southwest republic's high altitude lacked spirit on a soft field at Arlington yesterday.

Concentrating the attack in their captain, Cecil Childers of Arlington, and A. B. Wharton Jr. of Fort Worth, the El Rancho Polo club riders piled up eight goals to the Mexican Civilian team's one in the first six chukkers.

Julio Muller, 5-goal No. 3 of the invaders, and Jose Cobian, team captain, stood out for the Mexico team.

The next clash was slated for Wednesday, when the Mexican army team planned to meet the El Rancho quartet.

4-H CLUBS HEAR PIONEER WOMEN IN COUNTY HISTORY STUDY

CENTENNIAL IS GIRLS' TOPIC FOR THE YEAR

PICNIC GUESTS TALK OF LOCAL HISTORY AND FLOWERS

Centennial interest has inspired 4-H club girls of Gray county to study early history of this county during the year, and their study started Saturday at a picnic when two pioneer women spoke.

Girls from all parts of the county, and their club sponsors, met at the high school gymnasium for the program and picnic lunch. Mrs. W. R. Ewing, who came to the Panhandle in 1852, and Mrs. E. A. Shackleton, home demonstration club representative on the county Centennial committee, were the speakers.

Mrs. Ewing told of coming to Mobeetle when that town was the metropolis west of Fort Worth. She drove from Fort Worth in a hack, following dirt trails across the unfenced prairie. Large ranches were the rule then, each employing from 25 to 40 men, she said. When these cowboys congregated in Mobeetle, the town had a population of 700 to 1,000, and Mrs. Ewing added that it was "wild and woolly in those days."

Early History Traced.

Doan's store on Red river, which is still a landmark near the present city of Vernon, flourished then, she said, and there was a post office at Clarendon. Amarillo was still to be founded.

She mentioned Mar's ranch as possibly the oldest in Gray county. This county was formed about 1876, but was joined to Wheeler county for administrative purposes, and had a population of only 12. Later, when the population had increased to 40, it became a part of Roberts county, then was organized as a separate county in 1902. The first railroad was built through here in 1887.

Mrs. Shackleton, who has lived here 46 years, told of the organization of Gray county on May 27, 1902, when LeFors was chosen as the county seat. O. H. Saunders was elected judge at a yearly salary of $500; Siler Faulkner was named county clerk, and Henry Thut also held an office. The same year residents voted $2,800 to build a court house.

Indian Story Told.

Pampa had three residences and a one-room school when she came here, Mrs. Shackleton said. She told of an early school, when two women and six children saved a small group of Indians approaching. The children were hurriedly hidden under tubs and clothes hampers and the women fearfully opened the door to the Indians. The visitors only wanted sugar and tobacco, however, and these were quickly given them by the frightened women who felt that they had escaped a scalp.

Mrs. C. A. Tignor, who taught here in 1909, told of the early school, a three-room building with another room in a small building on the grounds.

Miss Ruby M. Adams, county home demonstration agent, spoke briefly of the Centennial, and told of the Battle of San Jacinto, which occurred 99 years ago yesterday. She described the battlefield as it looks at present, telling of her visit there last winter.

To Collect Flowers.

Another enjoyable part of the program was a study of Texas wild flowers, also a club project for the year. Dr. John M. Hooper displayed his collection of 65 varieties of wild flowers native to the Panhandle, and also some bluebonnets from Central Texas.

The girls inquired about his method of mounting flowers, and planned to make their own collections.

Sponsors present were Meses. E. R. Rigdon, C. M. Eudey, Walter Smith, Tignor, C. P. Couis.

Girls who registered were Evonne Floyd, Peggy Marie Greer, Geneva Blinn, Thelma Jean Dishman, Velma Mann, Adeline Riddle, Greenwood Koen, Marie Eudey, Doris Rigdon, Evelyn Morehead, Viola Murphy, Helen Morehead, Mildred Morehead, Sara Leigh Fleming, Margaret Tignor, Beryl Tignor, Gwendolyn Couis.

EASTER CROWD IS LARGEST IN CHURCH RECORD

Members Welcomed By Presbyterian Church

All available space in First Presbyterian church was filled yesterday morning, and some were unable to find seats for the Easter service, attended by the largest number ever present there. The crowd totaled at least 100 more than the church has enrolled members.

A goal of 200 had been set for the Sunday school, and attendance lacked 10 of reaching it. Members agreed to make up this lack by Mothers' day, May 12.

Fifteen members were welcomed into the church at the morning service, and three babies were baptized. Stanley Buster, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Studer, was one of these. He was the first to be baptized from a baptismal bowl presented by his parents in memory of his sister, Barbara Studer. The silver bowl is engraved with the name and dates of the birth and death of the little girl, who died February 4.

Easter music was heard at both morning and evening services, and sermons were by the Rev. L. Burney Shell, pastor.

Announcement was made that the Men's Brotherhood will have its monthly meeting Tuesday at 7 p. m., with a meal served by women of the church.

Miss Smart and Mr. McWright Are Married Friday

Miss Lillian Smart and L. W. McWright were married in a simple ceremony Friday evening by the Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, at his home. They left Saturday evening for Oklahoma, to spend a few days before returning to make their home here.

Miss Smart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Smart, has lived here a number of years, and is employed at Mitchell's. Mr. McWright attended Pampa schools and later the university of Alabama, and now owns a dry cleaning shop here.

Burnham Briggs of Borger spent yesterday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Briggs.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

BY ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD.—Shirley Temple fans now get one inch and seven pounds more of their little favorite each time they see a Temple film than they did when first the curly-headed baby star made the world stand up and cheer.

For Shirley is "growing up." On April 23, which incidentally is Shakespeare's birthday, too, she will be years old and at Fox Studio, where she is giving Will Rogers a race for top office honors in 1935, there will be a birthday party as there was last year when Shirley was only five and not quite so famous.

At six, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Temple of Santa Monica can look back upon greater fame and success than many actors attain in a lifetime. It began three years ago, when the Temples let her sing and dance in short films because she seemed to enjoy singing and dancing and the movies wanted her.

Earnings: $53,000 And up

Fox found a spot for her in "Stan Up an Cheer" and she danced and sang away with the picture. Very soon the whole film world was following the titles' suggestion—for Shirley Temple. She got a raise from $150 to $1,000 a week, with about one-fourth that figure as compensation for her mother, who is in constant attendance. So Shirley three months from now, on completing her first year at this weekly wage, will have to her credit approximately $2,000 with interest. Her father, branch manager of a bank, is investing her earnings for her.

How much Shirley will have earned before she is "through" in pictures is uncertain. Jackie Coogan was making pictures through his, twelfth year, and so is Jackie Cooper, 12 now. When Shirley was on the verge of her present fame her mother, known in Hollywood as a sensible woman, said Shirley would remain in films only as long as she enjoyed them. Today she says the same. When the time comes, Shirley will be sent to film-

M E CHURCHES SET RECORD IN EASTER CROWD

REVIVAL CONTINUES; PASTOR BACK AT ONE CHURCH

Record Sunday school attendance of 130 in McCullough church and 100 at Harrah Chapel was reported for Easter day at these Methodist churches. A revival conducted by the Rev. Lance Webb, minister, will continue at McCullough church this week.

He spoke yesterday morning to a crowd that overflowed the church, on the subject, Sunset and Sunrise. "The sundown of faith and ideals, as reflected in men's minds today," he said, "but as Easter morning revealed the risen Christ, so faith can bring a new sunrise to troubled minds."

The evening sermon subject was "Victims or Victors, from the text, 'Faith is the victory that overcomes.' "Many victims of fate, through faith, discover that they can win a victory over themselves and the world," the minister stressed.

Revival services through last week resulted in 25 additions to the church, it was reported today. Meetings continue each evening at 7:45. The subject this evening is, The Glory of the Sunrise.

First Methodist Church.

A crowd that packed the First Methodist church auditorium, balcony and all available rooms around the auditorium with an estimate of 200 people turned away from the report of the Easter crowd at this church yesterday.

Fifty people united with the church, 16 babies were christened, 83 attended Sunday school and a large crowd heard the choir cantata, "The Seven Last Words" last night.

At the morning service the crowd welcomed their pastor, Rev. Gaston Foote, back into the services after being absent several Sundays due to an automobile wreck. Rev. Mr. Foote was in charge of the service. He was assisted by the director of religious education, H. D. Tucker, who delivered the Easter message from the subject, "The World's Brightest Hope."

A substantial sum was raised on the church debt and the balance will be raised this week and the church will be dedicated free of debt May 19.

Young people of the church met for a sunrise breakfast. A large crowd attended and a beautiful Easter service was conducted.

R. M. Klinger spent the week-end visiting in Wichita, Kans.

SERMONS GIVEN EASTER SUNDAY BY EVANGELIST

Christian Church Is Grieved for the Services

Capacity crowds attended both church services and there were 614 present in Sunday school at First Christian church, Easter. Evangelist Holmes preached on "The Living Among the Dead" at the morning church service. A local cast presented a beautiful and impressive drama on the Resurrection theme at the Sunday night service. Mr. Walker sang "The Resurrection."

The theme discussed by Evangelist Holmes was a continuation of the theme he preached on Friday night—"Conditions of Membership in the New Testament Church." Declaring that repentance is "not merely godly," he further asserted, "Repentance must go far beyond sorrow for sin or one's end will be the same as Judas Iscariot. Repentance implies not only reformation of life but restitution in so far as is humanly possible. If a man has stolen, when he becomes a Christian he should not only quit stealing but should do everything possible to return the stolen property."

"God's plan of salvation is reasonable. If the New Testament had never mentioned faith the mind of man would have demanded it, if men were to follow a Person. If repentance had not been mentioned it would still have been necessary for if a man is going to do right he must quit his sinful ways and if he is giving his allegiance to Christ he must break all other allegiances. If confession of faith had not been mentioned it would still be demanded by men for an open stand for a great cause helps one to be steadfast. Baptism is just as reasonable and I plan on Monday night to preach on "The Spiritual Side of Baptism and the Holy Spirit and Baptism."

The services start each night at 7:45 with a congregational hymn singing. Twenty additions to membership have been made the past week.

Prayer meetings were announced for Tuesday morning at 9:30 in the following homes: Mrs. Roy West, 412 N. Sloan; Mrs. A. C. Jones, 440 N. Starkweather; Mrs. Joe Minnich, 414 N. Crest; Mrs. Cora Rhoades, 608 E. Kingsmill; Mrs. Tracy Gary, 425 N. Russell; Mrs. L. A. Brown, 700 E. Frederick; Mrs. D. S. Buckner, 201 E. Albert; Mrs. D. L. Higgins, 402 W. Foster, room 24; Mrs. A. L. Burge, 304 N. West; Mrs. Mills, Cabot Camp near Kingsmill; Mrs. C. H. Mundy, 418 S. Cuyler; Mrs. H. B. Lovett, 121 N. Houston.

CHURCH BEGINS REVIVAL WHEN ANOTHER ENDS

CENTRAL WILL FOLLOW FIRST BAPTIST MEETINGS

A revival started at Central Baptist church yesterday, as one closed at First Baptist church. The Rev. John O. Scott of Happy is preaching in the new series of services, which will continue daily.

Meetings will begin at 10 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. each day. The local minister, Rev. E. H. McCaha, and congregation invite the public to hear the young evangelist, who is being assisted by Mrs. Scott in the revival.

Large crowds attended the church yesterday. Rev. Scott preached his first sermon in the evening, after the pastor had opened the revival.

The Rev. C. E. Lancaster, First Baptist minister, closed two weeks of services at that church yesterday. The Rev. C. R. Whatley, who has been preaching daily, left for his home in Haskell Saturday.

Eight additions to church membership were reported yesterday. The auditorium and balcony were filled for the morning service, when Easter music was heard, and Sunday school was attended by 962.

Youthful Swagger Coat Ensemble

Of Crepe Silk—Softly Shirred Feminine Blouse

BY ELLEN WORTH

Featured today is a double duty costume. It serves equally well for town or for afternoon bridge or tea.

Grey crepe silk, a summer favorite, made the skirt and coat. The flared back gives the fingertip length coat a decidedly youthful air. Dainty shirring distinguishes the aqua blue blouse.

Carried out in sheer crepe silk print with plain crepe contrast, it's also stunning.

Style No. 621 is designed for sizes 16, 18 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42-inches bust. Size 36 requires 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for jacket and skirt with 4 1/4 yards of 39-inch material for long sleeve blouse, jacket collar and lining.

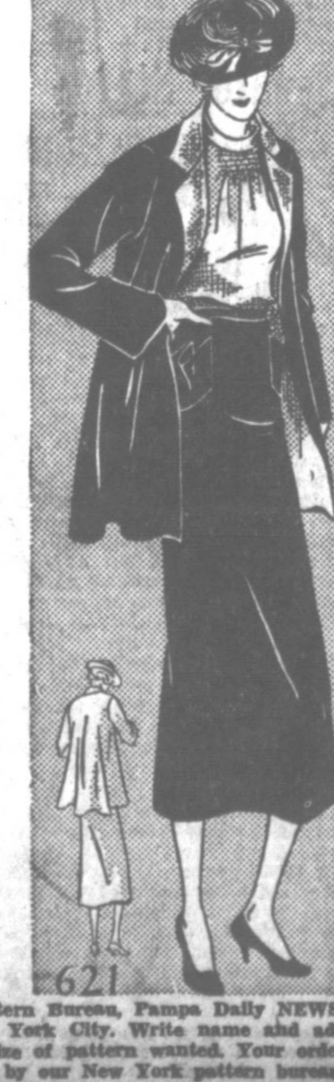

Our Spring Fashion Book is beautifully illustrated in color.

Price of BOOK 10 cents.

Price of PATTERN 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin is preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

Pattern Mail Address: N. Y. Pattern Bureau (your newspaper name) 23rd Street at Fifth Avenue, New York City.

To order, address New York Pattern Bureau, Pampa Daily News, Fifth Avenue at 23rd Street, New York City. Write name and address plainly, giving number and size of pattern wanted. Your order will be filled the day it is received by our New York pattern bureau.

Easter Crowds Fill Colored Churches Here

Colored churches of Pampa carried out Easter services with crowded houses which, stressed further the need of adequate buildings to accommodate growing attendance, pastors reported today.

The Eastern Baptist church under direction of Mrs. Hattie Lou Durham had J. J. Johnson was interesting to a large audience.

Colored Methodist church presented a pageant entitled "The Miracle of Christ," which was witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd.

All services throughout the day had record breaking attendance.

Dickson, former city editor of the Denison Herald and now an Associated Press staff writer at Washington, will be married this afternoon to Miss Daugherty Collins, daughter of a retired Denison business man, Walter Chamblin, of Washington, a former Associated Press colleague of Dickson's accompanied him here and will be best man.

LEWIS CLAIMS HEAD OF GOP TO BE OUSTED

FLETCHER ATTACK ON FDR ANSWERED BY SENATOR

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A charge by Henry P. Fletcher that the new deal has been sowing the seeds of socialism and an answering prediction by Senator Lewis (D., Ill.) that Fletcher will be ousted from leadership of the G. O. P. stirred interest today in a capital that is looking forward to 1936.

Fletcher said last night that "We must stop the definite movement toward state socialism." Lewis replied today that Fletcher's reign as chairman of the national republican committee will be ended by western delegates at the party's next convention.

"The liberals of the west saw their party beaten all over the United States last year on the same platform and accusations now being advanced by Chairman Fletcher," declared Lewis, who was chairman of the democratic senatorial campaign committee in the 1934 election.

"They are lining up against the eastern wing that wishes to turn the party back to the financial control which dominated the Hoover government."

Fletcher's four-pronged thrust at the Roosevelt administration, made in an article written for the Associated Collegiate Press, was one of the sharpest since the president took office.

The republican chairman sketched this platform:

"1. We must return to a stable currency.

"2. We must bring our federal expenditures down to within a reasonable distance of our federal income; and the people, through their legislative bodies, must keep control of the public purse strings.

"3. We must stop using federal funds to set the government up in business in competition with private enterprise.

"4. We must stop the definite movement toward state socialism which has for its purpose, if not the ownership, at least the rigid governmental control and operation of agriculture, finance, business and industry."

Texas Families Ask To Be Taken Off Relief Rolls

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—Efforts of state relief officials toward a lower relief load in Texas struck a responsive chord in Lamar county last week as 79 rural families of the Glory community asked to be removed from the relief roll.

These clients told County Administrator Nat Warner they had arranged seed loans in the crop production loan office and further financial assistance from their bankers or landlords, and that they no longer desired to remain as charges of the state and federal governments.

Responsibility for closing these cases was credited by Warner to Miss Winnie Cross, case worker in the Glory community, who personally contacted the individual landlords on whose farms these clients were tenants.

"Miss Cross explained that these relief people actually are the responsibility of the landlords and that this latter group must give the tenants another chance to find their independence and become permanently self-supporting," Mr. Warner said.

"With this kind of a start in Lamar county, we hope to make a material reduction in the caseload of the state by employing this same method in other counties," said Adam R. Johnson, state relief director.

Day of Gag Rule Is on Ware, Says Speaker of House

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—The day of the "gag rule," said Speaker Byrns today, is on the wane. "And it's a healthy sign—a sign that conditions in general are improving and we're getting back to normal," he added.

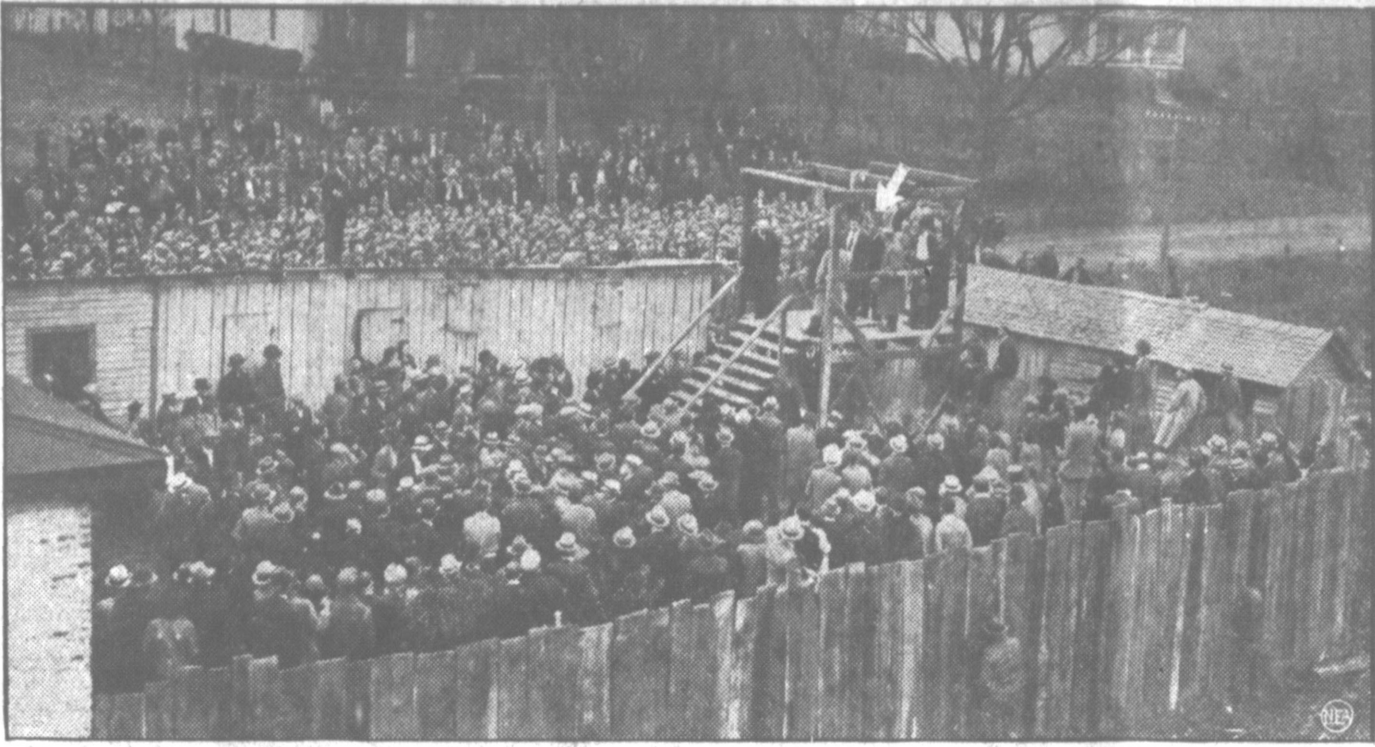

This is his analysis of the situation: "When the last congress met just after President Roosevelt took office, we are confronted by emergency conditions demanding swift action.

"To our regret, there was no time for committees to give deliberate consideration to the remedies suggested. The legislation got a lot of study packed into a little time, and there was talk about congress being a 'rubber stamp' and yielding its power to the executive branch of the government.

"But now things are different. The remedies that were passed in such a hurry are getting in their work. The general business tone is better; the government's financial position, as reflected in income tax returns and lower charges on the debt, is improved, so now congress can take its time.

"Like most everybody else, I believe congress should finish its job and go home as soon as possible. But we're studying things now and deciding they're sound before we pass them so that nobody'll be disturbed."

THRONG OF 1,500 WITNESSED INTENSE DRAMA OF HANGING

This was the scene, unprecedented in public hangings, as 1,500 spectators massed about a scaffold in Smithland, Ky., while the doomed man, William De Boe, indicated by the arrow, sentenced for criminal assault, harangued the throng, and argued his innocence with his victim. For 46 minutes De Boe flayed Kentucky justice, singling out members of the crowd shown here, then stood calmly while Sheriff G. H. Hetter nervously adjusted the hood and sprung the trap; sixteen minutes later, De Boe was pronounced dead.

GREAT RICHES

by Maude Howe Farnham

SYNOPSIS: Much to everybody's satisfaction in New Concord, Kas., possibly excepting his own and Leslie Harris, James Stimson, III, finds himself engaged to Jane Northrup. Jane's wealthy father insists on buying them a house and letting Jane decorate it, although James prefers to live in the stately Stimson mansion on the edge of town. Jane takes him to look through the house when she has finished it, and James thinks it so awful he laughs.

Chapter 23
RED CARPET

James kissed Jane and told her she was discussing furniture and color schemes, he even essayed a few tentative suggestions about his preferences.

"I'd like my den papered in red," he said. "And a rich red carpet would look like a million dollars on the stairs."

Jane laughed. "This is woman's work," she countered airily. "Don't go bothering your blessed old head worrying about something of which you know nothing."

A day or two later at an evening party in their honor, James overheard Jane laughing contemptuously over his "alleged taste."

"Would you believe it," Jane went on. "James wants the entire downstairs, ceilings, walls, floors, papered and painted and carpeted in bright Turkey red? And bolts and bars on all the doors. He thinks the only use for a door is to slam it and bolt it."

"You might feed him red meat through the bars," Sam Fletcher suggested.

"Yes, doubtless it will go with his aura," Jane laughed. Everyone laughed except Leslie Harris, who was seated on a cushion on the floor.

"The loveliest house I've ever been in is the Haskell's in Fort Leavenworth," Leslie said quickly. "You know Mrs. Haskell was one of the Whitneys from New York. She made the house over inside and she has a crimson carpet on the stairway. The walls are white and there is an iron balustrade. I thought it was beautiful. And it must be as it's been pictured in 'Eouse and Garden.' Mrs. Haskell says crimson is the richest color there is."

"Mrs. Haskell is red headed herself; that may account for it. Well, everyone to his taste. And taste is never arguable, is it?" Jane asked frigidly.

"Yes," said Leslie flatly. "I think a good many of us might argue whether . . . certain things are in good taste."

"And who's to decide?"

"One's own fine instincts . . . if one has them," Leslie jumped to his feet and made for the piano. "I'll play. Let everyone dance." She broke into that new success. "I'm the Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo."

James went out to the front porch and smoked a cigar. He had left Jane sitting flushed and discomfited. James' heart was warmed with a sneaking glow of which he knew he ought to be ashamed. Still Leslie was right. It wasn't in the best of taste. He supposed he'd catch it going home. . . .

But the incident was never mentioned by either James or Jane. James noted that at subsequent parties given in his and Jane's honor Leslie Harris was conspicuous by her absence.

In the meantime the preparations for the wedding went furiously on. A wedding between a Stimson and a Northrup naturally was no ordinary event. For weeks and months Jane and her mother had devoted themselves to making it the most brilliant wedding ever held in

ETCC To Have 21 Floats in Parade Today

HENDERSON, April 22 (AP)—Henderson took a holiday atmosphere today as delegates to the annual convention of the East Texas chamber of commerce swarmed the streets.

A parade in the afternoon—21 floats, depicting significant eras and events in Texas history—was planned as the big event of the day.

Queen Elex, Miss Frances Connolly of Tyler, and her court of princesses from 16 counties were given charge of social activities, planned to reach a climax tonight with the queen's ball.

Delegates and visitors began pouring into the city yesterday and more were arriving hourly today.

In keeping with a custom developed during the nine years of the chamber's existence, a golf tournament, which attracted more than 150 players, was held in the afternoon.

Dr. M. E. Dodd, pastor of the First Baptist church of Shreveport, La., was the principal speaker at a civic mass meeting in the evening, which was the opening session of the convention.

MISSING

OAKLAND, Calif.—Inspector J. E. Montgomery of the police department jumped off a train near Bakersfield to report that his prisoner, Miss Geraldine Watt, 19, was missing. She is accused of stealing her roommate's clothing. Sometime later Miss Watt reported to the conductor of the train that her guard was missing. Oakland police ordered her held at Fresno until Montgomery could catch up with her.

PANHANDLE GAS BILLS WILL BE VOTED ON SOON

Senate Adjourns for San Jacinto Day Observance

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—Only one branch of the legislature was in session today before the senate adjourned on Tuesday to observe the ninety-ninth anniversary of the Battle of San Jacinto.

Governor James V. Alfred was back from Washington, where he outlined his views against federal control and favored state ownership of the gas business. He took a train for Pampa and grant to build natural gas pipelines from the Panhandle to St. Louis and Detroit.

The legislature had not yet sanctioned creation of a state agency to own and operate the lines and opinion on the question was sharply divided. Indications were that the bill to establish such an agency would reach a decisive test on the house floor within a few days. Supporters were hopeful they could muster the two-thirds vote necessary to bring it up out of its regular order. If the house passes it this week, chances of final action in the senate before the session's end are good.

Another bill affecting gas, that to halt the tremendous wastage in the Panhandle field, was set for special order in the senate tomorrow. Senator Clint Small of Amarillo had prepared a substitute for the house bill but the general opinion was that the two branches would be able to compose their differences before final adjournment. A law to stop the gas wastage was regarded as a necessary step to prevent federal control.

More debate on instructions to conferees on the proposed $3,000,000 appropriation for the Texas Centennial was in progress in the house.

The educational appropriations bill also was docketed for early action in the house. As soon as that is completed, all four major money bills will be in conference committee.

PRIVATE LAND OWNERS HOPE FOR U. S. HOOK-UP IN RELIEF DRIVE

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—A suggestion that private land owners and the federal government might chip in fifty-fifty to carry out certain projects in connection with the $4,800,000,000 work and relief drive was being studied today by high officials.

The suggestion, which did not originate within the government, it was said, but from outside sources, was that there are many projects associated with "public interest" which might thus be carried out.

What the decision of the authorities would be was not disclosed.

The idea, as outlined in authoritative sources, is that the government make the same offer to private landowners as it does to states in regard to road building—half payment by each party of the cost of developments to be used by the public.

Under the plan private individuals would be asked to submit projects such as disease, pest, and weed eradication, semi-private roads and trails, wildlife sanctuaries open to the public, parks for partial public use, and lakes and streams open to public fishing.

Meanwhile, the capital looked for further developments in the controversy between the federal government and Senator Long (D., La.) over works money. Long was coming here with the declared intention of "nailing back the ears" of PWA Administrator Ickes on the senate floor today.

Concerning Ickes' threat to withhold funds from Louisiana, Long said at Atlanta yesterday: "If the government starts cutting us off and keeps assessing taxes, Mr. Roosevelt will find that someone else can stage a Boston tea party."

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Pampa Daily News, a newspaper published in Gray County, Texas, my hand, this 6th day of April, 1935.

LEGAL NOTICE
GRAY COUNTY, TEXAS.
By BUFORD REED, Deputy. (April 8-15-22)

CITATION BY PUBLICATION
THE STATE OF TEXAS
To the Sheriff or any Constable of Gray County—Greeting: You are hereby commanded to summon Shirley Taylor, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Gray County to be held at the court house thereof, in Pampa, Texas, on the first Monday in June, A. D. 1935, to answer a petition filed in said court on the 22d day of March, A. D. 1935, in a suit, numbered in the docket of said court No. 3997, wherein Dyke Cullum is plaintiff, and Shirley Taylor, E. G. Lyon and P. A. Smith are defendants, and the brief statement of plaintiff's cause of action, being as follows:

That plaintiff, Dyke Cullum, is a resident and citizen of Tarrant county, Texas; that defendant, E. G. Lyon, resides in Gray county, Oklahoma; that defendant, P. A. Smith, resides in Tulsa county, Oklahoma; that the residence of defendant, Shirley Taylor, is unknown. Plaintiff alleges that on or about the 24 day of October, 1927, he was still the owner in fee simple of an undivided one-hundredth twenty-eighth (1-128th) of all the oil and gas minerals and oil and gas mineral rights in and under the following described land, situated in Gray county, Texas, to-wit: The northwest one-quarter (1-4) of section fifty (50), block A-9, SEC. 18 R. R. survey, Gray County, Texas, containing one-hundred sixty (160) acres, more or less.

That on or about the 17th day of November, 1928, the defendant, E. G. Lyon, the owner of an undivided 1-128th interest in and to all of the oil and gas and oil rights in and under the lands hereinabove described, by his assignment, which was duly acknowledged, did grant, sell and assign and convey unto the defendant, Shirley Taylor, a full undivided 1-128th interest in and to the oil and gas and oil rights in and under the lands hereinabove described, and which instrument was provided to him by the defendant, E. G. Lyon by virtue of the instrument above set forth.

That on or about the 20th day of September, 1929, the defendant, Shirley Taylor, by her conveyance of writing of said date, did grant, sell, assign and convey to the plaintiff, a full undivided 1-128th interest in and to the oil and gas and oil rights in and under the lands hereinabove described, and which instrument was provided to him by the defendant, E. G. Lyon by virtue of the instrument above set forth.

That by virtue of the foregoing assignments, conveyances and deeds hereinabove mentioned, the plaintiff became the owner of an undivided 1-128th interest in and to the oil and gas and oil rights in and under the lands specifically described above, and that plaintiff is still the owner thereof, free and clear of and right, title or interest in and to said defendants.

That said defendants and each of them are claiming and asserting an interest in and to said oil and gas

Couzens Demands An Open Inquiry On Banking Chief

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Senator Couzens (R., Mich.) said today he would propose an investigation of unpublished complaints filed with Chairman Glass (D., Va.) of a senate banking sub-committee against Marriner S. Eccles, former Utah banker whose nomination as governor of the federal reserve board is pending before the sub-committee.

Couzens, a member of the sub-committee which also is holding hearings on the omnibus banking bill, said he would move the inquiry, probably today, at an executive session.

Glass, an opponent of Eccles and of oil and gas rights above mentioned and so conveyed to the plaintiff as above set forth, and that such claim of right, title and interest constitutes a cloud upon the title of plaintiff in and to said oil and gas and oil and gas rights.

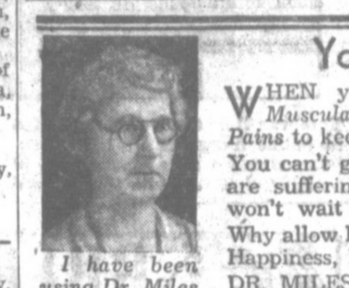

And in this connection plaintiff prays that defendants and each of them be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that on final hearing that the rights and interests and titles claimed by said defendants and each of them be cancelled and held for naught, and that plaintiff be decreed, as against said defendants and each of them, to be the owner of a full undivided 1-128th interest in and to all of the oil and gas and oil and gas rights in and under the lands hereinabove described, for costs of suit and such other and further relief, special and general, at law or in equity, to which he may show himself entitled.

that section of the bill which would give the reserve board increased powers over the monetary and credit structure, believes the inquiry should be made.

Eccles was examined for two hours by the sub-committee last week, but the unpublished complaints were not brought up. Couzens said that on the record to date he feels Eccles is eligible for confirmation to his post. But he contended it should be on the basis of evidence in the record and not a "whispering campaign."

The nature of the complaints have never been disclosed by Glass, nor has their authorship been made public. They are understood, however, to involve Eccles' business activities before entering the government.

2 OTHER GIRLS, SAYS MAE WEST OF 'MARRIAGE' OF MILWAUKEE? MAE IS RATHER HURT

Wed in 1911 in Milwaukee? Mae Is Rather Hurt

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., April 22 (AP)—Mae West, a hooper, married Frank Wallace, another hooper, in Milwaukee, in 1911. Mae West, screen actress, says it must have been another Mae West, because she, herself, is a spinster.

"Why, I never heard of the guy," the blond charmer of the flickers answered when informed a marriage license bearing her name had been located in the files of Milwaukee register of deeds.

"Well, the certificate seems to have considerable similitude with the known facts of your life," Miss West was told. "The names of the bride's father and mother were given as Jack West and Matilda Dilker. These were the names of your parents, were they not?"

"Yes, but in this case, it must have been two other girls," Mae shot back, jokingly. "As a matter of fact, there were two other Mae Wests on the stage before I came along."

The Milwaukee certificate gave Miss West's age as 18. That was in 1911. Her birthplace was listed as Brooklyn, N. Y.

There is where Mae West, of "cumpp'n' me" fame was born. "But I never was in Milwaukee until four years ago," Mae came back. "And besides, in 1911, I hadn't reached the marrying age. How old do you think I am, anyway?"

No guess was ventured. Mental note was reserved that if Mae West was 18 in 1911, she would be 42 today.

At this point, Mae concluded the interview with the remark she had received several Easter gifts—colored eggs, flowers and chocolate rabbits, "but this is the first time I ever got a husband for Easter."

Mae's business manager, James Timony, added his denial that she had ever married. Timony has known Mae for many years. Hollywood has heard at various times reports that Mae and Timony were married. They are seen frequently together—always at prize fights. Both are avid fight fans.

But Miss West has denied Timony is her husband. "He isn't even my sweetheart," she said.

CENTENNIAL NEWS ITEMS

Official Plaques Adopted by the Texas Centennial Commission: "I will think—talk—write . . . Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be."

PRESIDIO, April 22. (Sp.)—Citizens of Presidio and this vicinity, in preparing to participate in the celebration of the Centennial of Texas' independence in 1936, can look back upon over two and half centuries of known history in the Big Bend. Next December, it will have been 263 years since a patriotic Jumano Indian from La Junta, where Presidio now stands, by sending aid of Spanish forces at the present locality of Juarez to help his nation defend itself against Apaches, brought about the Mendoza expedition, which is credited with inaugurating the establishment of the famous Big Bend Trails.

The appearance of other Europeans in this region, however, antedated Mendoza's by over 100 years as Cabeza de Vaca was in this vicinity in 1536, Fray Rodriguez in 1591 and Espino in 1582.

Capt. Dominguez de Mendoza and his party left Paso del Norte, Dec. 15, 1683, and followed the Rio Grande to its junction with the Conchos River, arriving there Dec. 29. They then proceeded down the river, arriving New Year's Day, 1684, at the mouth of Alamito Creek and the next day camped at a spring, which they named Nuestra Padre San Francisco, now the Norman and Morgan ranch. In 1813, they were at a place they called San Nicholas (San Esteban) and the next day at Nuestra Padre San Antonio, now Antelope Springs, Tom Mitchell's pasture. Thence they proceeded to a place they called San Lorenzo and on the site of Fort Stockton and then on to the Pecos, always seeking the fabled Seven Cities of Cibola.

It was not until 1839, however, that the Chihuahua trail, extending from San Antonio to the city of that name and following through the Big Bend the old Salt trail of the Indians, was opened, and this was not in general use until 1849. In 1849, John W. Spencer, Ben Leaton and John D. Burgess made arrangements with the Mexican officials to go into business at Presidio del Norte, but by the time they arrived there the territory had been transferred to the United States by the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, ending the Mexican War. They decided to establish headquarters on the American side of the Rio Grande and, by 1851, there existed the first settlement in Presidio county, located in the Rio Grande valley at Presidio.

The second settlement was in the Davis mountains in the northern edge of the Highland country and owed its origin to the fact that a tremendous amount of mail followed the rush of gold-seekers to California in 1849. On account of the stage line, a few Mexicans settled on Limpia Creek, near a stage-stand, called La Limpia, in Limpia Canyon. Owing to the depredations by Indians, who molested both settlers and stage travelers, an army order was issued, Oct. 23, 1854, establishing Fort Davis, an army post. This was carried out by Lieut. Col. Washington Seawell with six companies of the Eighth U. S. Infantry.

Thus two settlements were made in Presidio county by 1854—one in the northern part of the Highland country at Fort Davis and the other in the Rio Grande valley at Presidio.

It perhaps is noteworthy that when the initial "run" of a Concord coach, drawn by six wild mules, was made in 1850 across Presidio county in opening the San Antonio-El Paso link of the overland mail, it was guarded by a party of eighteen well-armed mounted men under the command of the famous Indian fighter, "Big Foot," Wallace, who figured notably in Texas history.

Major Emory of the First United States Cavalry surveyed the first roads west of the Pecos and, in 1852, laid out a road from Presidio to the Leon Springs, which shortened the distance materially from San Antonio to Chihuahua. The road followed a trail made by Indians probably centuries before Mendoza passed this way.

It was into Presidio, Jan. 10, 1914, that the Huertista Generals, Mercedo, Castro, Orozco, Salar and Rojas with 3,000 men fled to claim protection by a small force of American soldiers, wading the Rio Grande to escape the troops of Pancho Villa, attacking across the river at Ojinaga.

RIO GRANDE CITY, April 22. (Sp.)—Starr county history is being emphasized during the coming year in the schools, women's clubs and other organizations in an effort to make a vital contribution to the program for the Texas Centennial celebrations in 1936 as well as to collect and preserve valuable relics of the early days in this section.

Starr county is one of the oldest of the Texas border counties, having been created in 1848, after the signing of the Treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, at the conclusion of the Mexican War.

Rio Grande City, the county seat, located on the Rio Grande, half way between Laredo and Brownsville, has been for many years an important valley town. At Roma, there is an international bridge from which point the Mexican town of Mier, across the river, is accessible easily.

Mier is a historic town, closely allied with Texas' annals, making it a shrine of interest not only to South Texas citizens, but also an attraction for visitors during the Centennial year. It was there that William S. Fisher, soldier of fortune and once Secretary of War of Texas, and his men, failing to effect the city's capture in their bold attempt, surrendered to Mexican troops Dec. 26, 1842. Later seventeen of these men, for having attempted escape, were executed, having drawn "jack beans in the historical "death lottery" of the Hacienda del Salado in Mier. Their bones today rest were taken during the Mexican War. Fort Ringgold, a United States army post, established in 1848, is located adjacent to Rio Grande City and still is occupied by United States troops. Many famed army in garrison there during the post's eighty-seven years of existence. Among these was Robert E. Lee and a small frame house, which he occupied in 1860 when, as a United States army officer and be-

"Well, and who are you, now?" asks Marie with wide eyes as she confronts the Chocolate Easter Bunny, who doesn't wink an eye or wiggle an ear at the meeting. "Huh!" sniffs Marie. "I guess if you're not afraid, I'm not!"

Of course little Yvonne couldn't be expected to know that it's a cross of Easter lilies before her, but she's plainly much interested.

Isn't Annette the prim little somebody as she pries into the mysteries of her Easter basket? And what a neat new Easter frock!

U. S. SURVEYS EROSION-RUINED LAND IN TEXAS

10 Million Acres of Land Unfit for Cultivation

WASHINGTON, April 22 (AP)—Ten million acres of Texas land has been ruined for practical cultivation by wind and water erosion, it was revealed in information released today by the soil erosion service, United States department of agriculture. A recent survey covering every county showed that soil erosion is active in various stages on 111,000,000 acres, or 65 per cent of the state's total area, H. H. Bennett, chief of the service said.

He explained, however, that as the study was made on a reconnaissance basis, the results are to be considered only as approximation of conditions in each locality.

A break-down on the basis of 169,326,468 acres as the total area affected that 92,430,413 acres are affected by sheet erosion; 78,175,311 acres had lost one to three-fourths top soil and some subsoil; 1,263,736 acres had been destroyed by wind erosion and 1,083,703 acres destroyed by gullies.

Regional conditions in Texas as disclosed by the state survey are summarized as follows by Glenn L. Fuller, chief erosion specialist, who directed the survey: "In the high plains of the western Panhandle section wind erosion is quite general. The annual rainfall is less than 20 inches and the loose friable soils blow about easily if the vegetative cover is destroyed. In the northern part of the high plains section large acreages have been planted to wheat, which leaves the soil exposed and subject to wind erosion in winter. The southern part is an extensive grazing and farming section, with severe wind erosion on the farm lands and on over-grazed pastures. Sheet erosion by the action of water is also common over much of this area."

"The Edwards plateau section which lies east of the mountains and basins is subject to considerable severe sheet erosion and gullying. Much of the land has been over-grazed and trampled, resulting in severe erosion. At the Spur experiment station in this region there are large losses of soil from land having as little as 1 per cent slope. The extensive growing of cotton without contour cultivation, strip cropping or adequate terracing has resulted in serious sheet erosion. Over-grazing and burning have destroyed the cover on large areas of grass land. Serious losses of soil and water have followed. The Vernon rough broken lands of the rolling plains have been subject to such severe erosion that much of the land is no longer fit for cultivation."

"The west cross timbers section, which lies east of the rolling plains, is seriously eroded generally and has occasional gullies. The soils, generally loose fine sandy loams, were covered originally with a growth of scrub oak. Destructive farming methods—including the plowing of steep slopes—have induced much severe erosion. Much of the pasture land which comprises nearly 60 per cent of this area, is gullied."

"The eastern and grand prairie section, which includes the black waxy soil, is suffering from severe erosion. The annual rainfall is about 36 inches and the black, heavy soils, which absorb slowly, are very erosive even on a gentle slope. More than 60 per cent of the land is in cultivation, with cotton as the predominant crop. Rows have been run in straight lines, regardless of soil or slope, which leads to the development of small gullies between rows."

Most of this land has been under cultivation for 40 to 60 years and in many fields a large part of the rich black topsoil has been washed away. Frequently the subsoil has been removed also, leaving raw chink or marl exposed and the fields almost completely impoverished.

"The East Texas timbered section, which occupies the northeastern corner of the state, is characterized by undulating and rolling timbered areas with friable soils. The annual rainfall is 45 to 60 inches. Both sheet and gully erosion are active, and in many places fields have been completely destroyed. In many localities great gullies have formed which are increasing rapidly in length and depth.

"The broad Rio Grande plain and the coastal prairie section as well as the large river bottoms and alluvial areas, have no serious soil erosion."

The soil erosion service has in Texas three demonstration projects for control of erosion: one of 207,000 acres on the Elm creek watershed near Temple; one of 25,000 acres on the Duck creek watershed at Lindale; and a third, a wind erosion control project involving 48,000 acres in the Panhandle area near Dalhart.

CAPITOL CHATTER

BY CHARLES E. SIMONS

AUSTIN, April 22 (AP)—The planning board which Texas wisely established to develop projects for construction from the huge federal public works fund is expected to provide a quick start toward taking thousands of men off relief rolls and placing them in gainful occupations.

The board had been established and its personnel appointed when congress passed the $4,880,000,000 work-relief appropriation. It will take over the work begun by the voluntary organization formed during the administration of former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, which did effective work but was handicapped by lack of financing and technical advice.

Tasks of the new board have been definitely outlined. It is expected to have the determining of meritorious Texas projects and getting the applications before the PWA concisely and speedily. Texas' share of the huge appropriation is estimated at approximately $200,000,000.

One of the first jobs of the board will be to breathe the new life into the $60,000,000 project advanced by the Brazos river conservation and reclamation district which appears to have been halted in high quarters. Reports from Washington indicate Secretary Ickes, PWA chief, opposes the plan.

The Texas highway commission, foreseeing passage of the federal appropriation, has plans ready to begin highway construction as soon as funds are available. It is estimated projects that would require $70,000,000 for completion have been tentatively outlined.

Plans involving several million dollars are ready for submission to the federal bureau of public roads for approval before bids are called. The commission expects to receive about $46,000,000 for highway construction. Coming when approximately one cent of each dollar of the department's receipts is required for maintenance and one cent to retire county road bonds with another cent allocated to the available school fund, the federal aid will prove a god-send to the commission and Texas road contractors. It will enable the commission to satisfy some of the demands of counties for construction and to carry out its announced program of improving cardinal highways for the Texas Centennial.

Spring Comes to Bulb in a Garret

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 22 (AP)—Four months ago Mrs. B. B. Boerhaave put away until spring a red amaryllis bulb in her seventh floor apartment. Then she forgot where she put it.

Today she discovered a delicate pink blossom peeping through a wooden lattice door of a cabinet where photograph records were stored. Still wrapped in wax paper inside a sack, the bulb had sent out an 18-inch sprout to reach sunlight before flowering. Next to the bulb was an orchestra record of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March."
