

BOY SOUGHT IN DEATH OF TCU DEAN CAPTURED

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An 18-year-old youth who was befriended by the elderly dean of Texas Christian University's Graduate School was arrested here yesterday on a charge of murdering the educator.

Police Detective E. A. Romero said the young man, Arthur Clayton Hester, made a statement concerning the beating of 70-year-old Dr. John Lord, his guardian, but claimed he did not know Dr. Lord was dead when he fled.

"If he's dead I'm ready to face the music, but I guess I just wasn't in my right mind," Romero quoted Hester, who was arrested as he walked into the East Los Angeles home of his half-sister, Mrs. Anna Goldberry.

Dr. Lord's body was found last Thursday in his home near Cleburne, Tex. Hester, who lived with the educator, disappeared last Tuesday.

Police said Hester told them that he had frequent arguments with Dr. Lord and that last Tuesday he was refused permission to take his guardian's automobile and go to Fort Worth, 12 miles away from the Post Oak Community where the two lived.

"I told him I was going away," Romero quoted Hester.

Two Pampans Hospitalized After Mishap

Industrial mishaps Saturday morning sent two men to hospitals with leg and ankle injuries.

More seriously injured was Claude Wilson, 1045 Charles, who suffered a broken leg when a two by four cable support broke and hit him on the leg while he was helping to load a two bundle for a heat exchange at the Baash-Ross Tool Company.

The accident occurred at 10:45 a. m. Wilson was taken to Worley Hospital by a Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance where physicians learned his leg was broken between the ankle and knee.

Earlier Saturday morning Johnny Storms, 917 E. Gordon, was taken to Pampa Hospital by the Duenkel-Carmichael ambulance with an ankle injury he suffered when a pipe joint he was helping to unload from a freight car, on E. Tyng, on to a C. M. Jeffers truck rolled on him.

Storms was expected to leave the hospital last night or sometime today.

Local Men Are Held for Grand Jury

Cecil Jones, 24, of S. Somerville, charged along with his father, Brady Jones, with interception and passing of a government check, was taken to the Potter County Jail Friday by postal inspectors where he will be held pending action by a federal grand jury.

Brady Jones was taken into custody Friday by federal officers in Craig, Colo., and transferred to the federal jail at Denver.

The pair are charged with removing and endorsing a federal income tax refund check for $361.49 from the mails here. The check was made out to Albert and Margaret Faye Bismuke, Brady Jones' daughter and son-in-law.

First reports said that Cecil had counter-endorsed the check with his name and address, but a later report stated that Cecil had put Bismuke's Pampa address on the check which led officers in Berger to call the Sheriff's Department here.

Chief Deputy Rufe Jordan got the call from Berger shortly after 3 p. m. Wednesday. Later Jordan contacted Bismuke and through questioning learned he was related, through marriage, to Brady and Cecil Jones. Working on a hunch from there, in Jordan cracked the case less than seven hours after he spoke to Bismuke, victim of the fraud. Late Wednesday night Cecil confessed to officers, his part in the interception and passing—implicating his father in the process.

Jordan contacted Artesia, Colo., where Cecil said his father was officers who picked up Brady Jones early Thursday morning about 15 miles from the Utah line.

Formal charges were lodged against the two over the weekend by the U. S. District Attorney's Office at Fort Worth in the Amarillo District, nearest U. S. Commissioner's office to Pampa.

Pact Offers Solution to Base Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—High U. S. officials told Denmark's foreign minister yesterday that the Atlantic treaty would provide a "framework" to solve the long-pending problem of American air bases on Greenland.

The entire Atlantic area is known to believe that if American bases in Greenland, Iceland and the Azores—or use of them—can be arranged under the pact it will permanently strengthen defenses of the entire Atlantic area.

But Saturday's talk between State Department leaders and Foreign Minister Gustav Rasmussen provided the first definite information that American officials do in fact feel the treaty will greatly ease the base solution.

Rasmussen, Danish Ambassador Henrik de Kauffmann and other Danish diplomats went to the State Department for Rasmussen's second conference on the treaty. He seeks to ascertain the benefits and obligations for Denmark in joining.

Yesterday the Danes saw State Department Counselor Charles E. Bohlen, Assistant Secretary Ernest Gross, John D. Hickerson, chief of the department's European division, and other officials.

Girlstown, U. S. A., Will Open Its Doors Tomorrow

By MARTHA COLE

BUFFALO GAP, TEXAS (AP)—Girlstown, U. S. A., will open its doors tomorrow for the girl who needs a home.

Just as Boys Town, Nebraska, offered refuge for neglected boys, Girlstown, U. S. A., hopes to become a haven for the girls who are neglected, wayward or homeless.

The big two-story home stands in the middle of this little town of 200 population. It has 32 bedrooms, consultation and study rooms, an athletic field and stables.

Its founder is Miss Amelia Anthony, formerly of El Paso, who has been engaged in welfare work for 12 years.

Its backers are those who have come from the wide open spaces with open hearts and open pockets.

Girls town will provide a haven for girls of West Texas first, Miss Anthony said. "If we have space, then girls will be accepted from other sections of the state. We expect Girlstown to grow."

Miss Anthony continued: "Girlstown has been established because of the need for such a project. There are many provisions for homeless boys, but the girls who need homes have been neglected."

Boys towns, boys ranches and boys homes abound over the nation. Havens for girls are few and far between. Orange, Texas, opened a big home a year or so ago for neglected girls. Waco has a girls' club. The Catholic Church has three homes for girls in the state at Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. And the state maintains at Gainesville the State Training School for Girls convicted of delinquency.

Girlstown is one of the first of its kind in the nation. Miss Anthony said girls would be accepted from homes where problems have arisen which would

ARMY B-36 SETS NEW RECORD FOR NON-STOP NON-REFUELING FLIGHT

FORT WORTH (AP)—A crippled B-36 superbomber landed at Carswell Air Base here yesterday with a new distance record for the giant planes.

The great silver ship, with two of its six pusher-type engines dead, touched earth after a 9,600-mile non-stop non-refueling flight over the nation. For 5,000 of those 9,600 miles, the B-36 toted 10,000 pounds of bombs.

Two propellers were motionless as the superbomber came in for a gentle landing at 7:57 a. m. (CST). It had been airborne 43 hours and 37 minutes since roaring away from Carswell at 12:20 p. m. (CST) Thursday.

The sensational flight topped by 687 miles the former B-36 record distance flight last Dec. 6-7, a dramatic hop from Fort Worth to Honolulu and return which ended on Pearl Harbor Day.

But Saturday's flight was a dramatic hop from Fort Worth to Honolulu and return which ended on Pearl Harbor Day. The plane had two more hours of fuel left when it landed. Maj. John D. Bartlett, project officer for B-36 training for the 7th Bombardment Wing of the 8th Air Force, ordered the plane down because two engines had failed and weather was closing in on the field.

The route of the bomber took it northward over Minneapolis, westward to Great Falls, Mont., southward across the nation to Key West, Fla., where President Truman is vacationing.

The B-36, big as three five-room houses, dropped its tremendous load in the Gulf of Mexico at 1:15 p. m. (CST) Friday.

Then it headed northward, passing over Fort Worth two hours and five minutes later. It roared northwest, past Denver and at 10:36 p. m. (CST) Friday night it sighted Great Falls, Mont., for the second time. An hour and 22 minutes later it throbbed over Spokane and turned southeastward for the long, last lap home.

Over Wyoming the bomber bucked into terrific headwinds and Bartlett said it had not been for these headwinds and the engine trouble, the plane could have exceeded the 10,000 miles.

Both Bartlett and Lt. William Grabowski, Bergenfield, N. J., flight engineer, who were on the flight, also made the distance trip on Pearl Harbor Day.

The superbomber, with Capt. Roy R. Showalter of Mobile, Ala., as pilot and commander, and Lt. Clarence E. Horton of San Antonio as co-pilot, carried a crew of only 12 men instead of the usual 15.

Other crewmen were Capt. Earl N. Yaden, London, Ky., bombardier-navigator-radar man; Major Joseph P. Brown, Gillespie, Ill., responsible for dropping the bomb load; Master Sgt. John L. Corley, Fort Worth, and Master Sgt. Carl W. Arey, Susquehanna, Pa., flight engineers.

Technical Sgt. J. P. Fleming, Weston, Wyo., radio man, and Staff Sgts. Clarence E. Pawlett, San Antonio; P. C. Cothran, Jr., Tampa, Fla., and Albert L. Claggett, Fort Worth, gunners.

Rent Bill Is Reported Over Hump

WASHINGTON (AP)—Administration forces scurried around yesterday rallying House Democrats for a showdown on rent controls next Tuesday.

By last night it looked as if they might be able to ram a control bill through without any more major changes.

But there may be a couple more big fights — to turn over controls to local authorities and to extend controls for only 90 days.

Democratic leaders agreed with Republicans that the scraps will be hard and close.

Rent control is but one in the package of bills docketed for a House vote during the week. Others involve sales tax, the District of Columbia, rural telephone, military and appropriations legislation.

And while the House is passing them, the Senate may be debating what to do about settling the filibuster that has held up the progress of legislation for two weeks. Important bills await Senate action.

The rent bill the House is tussling with would extend controls for 15 months, until June 30, 1950, instead of the 22 months the administration asked.

The decision on the measure was put off over the weekend. Democratic chiefs didn't want to (See RENT BILL, Page 2)

Warning Issued On Shooting Guns In City Limits

The whine and ping of .22 bullets and BB shot followed, usually, by the tinkle of breaking glass has brought a stream of complaints to the Police Department, Chief of Police Louis Allen reported yesterday morning.

Young boys owning BB guns and .22 rifles have been shooting in various residential districts during the past week or ten days, shooting out windows and some street lights.

Allen warned that firing these guns inside the city limits is a violation of city ordinances on firearms. He added that police would confiscate the guns of boys caught firing them and the boys themselves turned over to juvenile authorities.

Outsiders who are promiscuous shooting the city has had a fairly tame week with little more than the usual run of drunks and petty brawls.

Chamber Directors Meet Tomorrow

A Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors meeting will be held at noon tomorrow in the banquet room of the Court House Cafe, Fred Thompson, president, said.

All board members have been urged to attend. The main portion of the meeting will be devoted to the reports of subcommittee chairmen.

City Commissioners Jim Reid and Claude Jones had previously announced for reelection.

Joseph J. Lindley is unopposed for reelection to the office of mayor.

The election will be held at the City Hall on April 5. Election officials slated to preside at the election are Roy L. Durham, judge, W. W. Lalleker and R. M. Hobby, clerks.

Students State Expectations From Parents

What do high school boys and girls expect from their parents?

Six students from Senior High gave some ideas in a paper discussion at the student Friday at the Kiwanis Club luncheon at the First Methodist Church.

Of course, they expect honesty. And they like companionship. The students said they expected dependability as well as dependence on when they would give the same in exchange.

The group said most boys and girls appreciate being called into family conference when there is a new wall paper to be selected, or when there is a new home in the planning stage. Being taken into parental confidence, it was said, makes for family harmony. The young people always feel they are contributing something to the home, as well as deriving certain confidence.

The forum, sponsored by the club's Vocational Guidance Committee, Clinton Evans, chairman, featured Gene Garrison, Patsy Bolin, Beverly Brandt, Roy Sullivan, Naneen Campbell, and Bobby Epps.

Barkley Holds Huddles With Two Factions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders on both sides said last night the Senate filibuster may be settled Monday.

The Senate immediately recessed at 7:51 p. m., after a Saturday session which lasted nearly eight hours.

Majority Leader Lucas of Illinois told the Senate he believes there is "an opportunity to bring about a settlement" over the weekend.

Senator Byrd (D-Va.), a leader among the filibustering Southerners, told a reporter he, too, was "pretty hopeful" of a compromise.

Earlier Lucas had threatened round-the-clock sessions beginning Monday in an effort to break the two-week talkathon.

Throughout the day, Lucas, Vice President Barkley and other administration figures had been trying to work out an acceptable formula for closing the long fight.

Meanwhile Senator Eastland (D-Miss.) kept the ball rolling for the Southerners who are out to smash an attempt to alter the rules against unlimited debate.

Senior Play Is Presented Third Night

Friday's final scheduled performance of the Senior Class play, "Home Sweet Home," nearly brought down the house, and a packed house at that. Consequently, a repeat performance was given last night.

People were crowded in every corner Friday night. They were stacked in the aisles, sitting on improvised seats, standing around the walls of the auditorium and still many with tickets had to be turned away. It was estimated that 1,200 people crowded into the 926-seat auditorium.

Last night's repeat performance was presented for the benefit of those who had purchased tickets and were unable to get into the auditorium.

"This is the first time to my knowledge that a Pampa High School play has ever had to be held a third night," Frank Wilson, principal, said yesterday.

The enthusiasm shown by members of the Senior Class partially explains the demand for a third showing of the play since they were out to sell a ticket to everyone in town.

Also, the demand performance was necessitated through the able direction of Miss Thelma Hensley, speech instructor, and the 22-member cast of "Home Sweet Home." The play, adapted from Craig Rice's novel of the same name, was superior to the average high school production.

CONSTRUCTION HAS BEGUN on the 25 by 100-foot dining hall at Camp Ki-O-Wah, near Lake Marlin. When completed this Boy Scout hall will accommodate 125 campers. Architectural work on the project was done by the Cantrell Company, Pampa, and the construction is being done by the L. O. Crocker Company, Berger.

Construction Underway on Dining Hall At Camp Ki-O-Wah for Area Boy Scouts

The long awaited dining hall at Camp Ki-O-Wah is becoming a reality for the Boy Scouts in the 15-county Adobe Walls Area Council. W. B. Weathered, chairman of the Camp Ki-O-Wah building campaign, said yesterday "Construction is underway and it is expected that the project will be completed in time for the 1949 summer camping period."

When the dining hall is completed at the camp, Ki-O-Wah will be the only fully developed Boy Scout camp in the Panhandle. The camp will serve counties of the 12 Texas Panhandle counties and three Oklahoma Panhandle counties. The total number of Boy Scouts in the council is 1,410.

During the past summer, four weeks of camping were held, accommodating 458 Scouts for a week. This year the camping season will be increased to six weeks and it is anticipated that at least 700 scouts will camp for a week.

A large kitchen will be attached to the dining hall and new benches, silverware and kitchen equipment will be added. The hall will be constructed almost entirely of red cedar and will have concrete floors. It will be situated overlooking Lake Marlin, which is to be built up by the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission.

Farris C. Oden served as the Gray County chairman of the drive for funds. He was assisted by vice chairmen, Frank Carter and M. K. Brown. The Camp Development Committee is headed by A. W. Paris, Phillips. Local men serving on the committee are John O. Pitts, George Thompson and W. B. Weathered.

PACT OFFERS

When Rasmussen left he said that the group talked about prospects for American military aid to Western Europe under the treaty. He said they "also discussed several aspects of the Greenland problem."

He said that he did not expect any immediate solution but was concerned with looking for the facts on which the solution might some day be based.

Actually it was learned that the American representatives emphasized three points:

- 1. The proposed Atlantic treaty would provide a "framework" for dealing with the base problem in the future.
2. The treaty will be primarily useful to prevent attack. It would array before hand powerful forces to strike back at any aggressor, so that the attack might never occur.
3. Under the treaty the member nations in North America and Western Europe will be able to take all the cooperative actions necessary.

Meanwhile, at Rome Communist-led crowds gathered through downtown Rome for a wild half hour last night, shouting protests against Italy's adherence to the Atlantic pact. Jeep-borne riot police quickly got the situation in hand and patrolled the area for hours afterward, alert for new outbreaks. Heavy police guards were thrown around the Chamber of Deputies and foreign ministry buildings.

RENT BILL

That was on a Republican maneuver for 90-day extension past the March 31 expiration date.

The GOP is going to try again on that one just before the vote on final passage. It is planning a move to return the bill to the Banking Committee under orders to limit it to 90 days. Key Democrats figure they can beat back the Republican drive.

Speaker Rayburn says that's the way he sizes things up. Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) of the Banking Committee and Rep. Priest (D-Tenn.), the party whip, both told reporters they're over the hump. But like Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.), another Banking Committee member, they said the scrap is a close one.

The control bill would give all the power he asked to combat what Rent Director Tighe Woods has called a growing black market in rents.

For one thing, there is no provision for fines and jail sentences for violators of rent ceilings.

The House put in Friday a section saying that as far as practicable, rent ceilings should be set high enough to assure landlords a reasonable return on the reasonable value of their property.

That was one change which both Republicans and Democrats agreed had undermined some of the opposition to the bill.

Pampan Dies Of Injuries From Wreck

Mrs. Carl Hammer, Columbian Carbon Black Camp, Pampa, died early Saturday morning from injuries she received in an automobile crash near Sallisaw, Okla., Wednesday night.

Mrs. Hammer suffered internal injuries and multiple fractures when the car she was riding in turned over on wet pavement, Highway Patrolman A. C. Rayburn of Oklahoma reported.

Four other Texans and one Oklahoma were in the crash. Listed as in critical condition at St. Edwards Hospital, Fort Smith, was Lester Hathaway, Mobeetie, with a possible skull fracture. Mr. Hammer suffered a back injury and fractures of the ribs. Minor injuries were suffered by Rev. John Freeman, Lubbock; Van Bonneau, Dodson; and Ernest Markwell, Shawnee, Okla.

Rayburn said he did not know who was driving the car when it overturned. Hathaway, who is still in critical condition, is the pastor of the Wells Street Church of Christ here.

The body of Mrs. Hammer was shipped Saturday and is enroute to the Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home where funeral arrangements are pending. Bruce Coplin of The News' advertising staff, and a nephew of Mrs. Hammer, left for Fort Smith yesterday to be at Mr. Hammer's bedside.

FILIBUSTER

(Continued From Page One) With a handful of senators in the chamber, he held the floor for five and a half hours talking against the proposed change in rules sponsored by the administration and some Republicans.

The proposed new rule would allow the Senate to cut off debate at any time by a two-thirds vote. Southerners see in it an attempt to put across President Truman's civil rights program.

On Lucas' motion, the Senate recessed until noon Monday. While he said he could not definitely promise a compromise could be reached over Sunday, he appeared very hopeful.

He gave no hint of the nature of the formula. However, Byrd said the Southerners were demanding two assurances:

First, that there continue to be unlimited debate upon a motion to take up any change in Senate rules. (That is what is going on now.)

Second, that no compromise can be used later to obtain a gag rule through a bare majority of the Senate as advocated by President Truman.

Frequent informal conferences between leaders of the Southern Democrats, regular Democratic leaders and Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska indicated that strenuous efforts were underway to compromise and avoid the wearing continuous sessions.

Turning his duties as presiding officer over to a member, Barkley held separate huddles in his office with Senator Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the filibustering Southerners, and Democratic Leader Lucas of Illinois, representing the administration.

The role of peacemaker was a familiar one to Barkley, who served nearly 22 years in the Senate before taking the oath as vice president last January.

The parliamentary situation was fully deadlocked, the administration soundly licked Friday night in trying to vote down the filibuster. Senators from both parties were urging a compromise so business could proceed. The session's biggest bills were piling up at the Senate's door.

Senator Saltonstall of Massachusetts, Assistant Republican leader, suggested that both sides hold an informal Sunday conference to try to work out a solution.

Lucas indicated later that such a meeting may be held. He told the Senate it will know by Monday, "if anything can be worked out."

Denver Uses Center for Emergencies

DENVER — (AP) — Did you ever have to call a doctor in the dead of night? And then not be able to reach him?

That frightening situation isn't worrying Denver residents any more. The town's medical society has established an emergency service to meet that problem and many others.

But if a person can't reach his own doctor and needs one immediately he can call the referral center. A registered nurse answers the telephone. If the sick person doesn't need skilled attention for another 30 minutes or so she summons a doctor in the caller's neighborhood. The doctor needs time to dress and drive his car within speed limits to the patient's home.

But if it's an emergency requiring immediate care, the nurse notifies the police surgeon who races at high speed in a siren-blowing ambulance to the scene. Less dramatic and perhaps more important is giving new residents information about physicians, hospitals, and convalescent homes.

Mrs. Lorene Davoren, director of the referral center, has complete information on 450 doctors out of the 825 active members of the Denver Medical Society. Those who are unlisted are mostly doctors who do not deal directly with the public.

The selection of the doctor's name is on a rotation basis. The center has complete information on what doctors will accept night calls and on what nights.

Legal Center Sought for SMU

DALLAS — (AP) — John W. Carpenter has been appointed chairman of a campaign to raise $1 million for a legal center at Southern Methodist University.

Carpenter is president of the Texas Power and Light Company. The school already has earmarked $1 million in property for use of the center.

R. G. Storey, law school dean and president of the Southwestern Legal Foundation, said the drive for building funds will be held from April 15 to May 15. Plans call for a law school building combined with a dormitory and other facilities. SMU has done a hall and five acres of land.

Storey said the legal center is an independent corporation and will provide a forum and workshop where business, labor, legal and government leaders "may work together for the improvement of the law."

Parolee Is Picked Up in Car Theft

Freedom on a conditional parole for Troy Edward Myers, 25, Fort Smith, Ark., didn't last long after he hit the Gray County line Friday in a car officers say he admitted taking in Fort Smith.

Myers, picked up Friday afternoon while he and a companion, Richard Ledbetter, 19, Tulsa, Okla., were sleeping in the car on U. S. Highway 66 about one mile west of McLean, signed a statement today to officers saying that he stole the 1936 Ford coach in Fort Smith several days ago.

He also told officers he was on conditional parole from the federal penitentiary at El Reno, Okla., since Feb. 1 of this year, and that he had also served time in the Arkansas State penitentiary for assault with intent to murder prior to being convicted on the Dyer Act.

Officers said Myers told them he had picked Ledbetter up in Tulsa while on his way to California.

The two had stopped the car along the highway Friday afternoon and went to sleep. A nearby resident noticed the car parked there for several hours. Suspicious, he called Deputy Sheriff Charlie Nicholson to investigate.

Nicholson asked Myers for his drivers license and car papers, but he had neither in his possession. Nicholson arrested both men and turned them over to Pampa late Friday.

Myers told officers that Ledbetter had nothing to do with the theft of the car and was merely riding with him. However, officers are holding Ledbetter for further investigation.

A wire, informing Fort Smith authorities of the capture and car, was sent by Chief Deputy Rufe Jordan Saturday afternoon. No reply had been received by the Sheriff's Department by press time last night.

Fair Enough... Westbrook Pegler

As I reported lately, courts in Iowa and Illinois have upheld the right of the law-abiding citizen to kill a goon when he, the citizen, has reasonable fear that he may be killed or injured or that his property, such as his automobile, will be damaged.

Of course, the citizen is deterred by the police. In those two cases which I cited, the police failed to protect the citizens, so they shot in self-defense. Each defendant got his first shot, right through the head.

Both were acquitted. Notwithstanding all the tangles of federal law woven by the New Deal, such cases are triable in the state courts. And where the goons are imported sluggers, and the defendant is a law-abiding local citizen, judge and jury are likely to see clear justification for the killing.

Do the police actually flinch and quail as Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan did in the riots of the United Auto Workers in 1936 and 1937? Yes, that is the terrible fact which every citizen now must face when the goons swagger into his home city. His cops are brave enough to beat him up and throw him in a cell over the weekend if he throws a salt-cellar through the back-bar mirror at the Little Gem Bar and Grill on pay-night. But when the cops are down town the cops lose their nerve.

What else do you make of the sworn testimony before the Congressional subcommittee which investigated the mob attacks on the Shakerspears Products Co. at Kalamazoo last December? There will ensue here some text from the report of Congressman Clare Hoffman after an official inquiry at which the saintly Philip Murray refused to give testimony. The union was Murray's own union, the United Steel Workers. And notwithstanding his belated and questionable opposition to Communists, the issue which caused the strike was the refusal of the officers of the local union to take the non-Communist oath.

The report said that when Policeman Argyle Growden arrived at the Shakespears plant, "he noticed that the milk truck on the parking lot, which was later burned, was being tipped over." Did Policeman Growden draw his gun and order the goons to "lie down" at least a few minutes of them? Upon defiance, did he shoot to kill? No. "He started for the entrance and was told by some of the goons that he would be 'picking my eye out of the gutter.' Part of the crowd started to run away and warned him not to try to break through the line into the parking lot. He did not make any effort to break through because he was outnumbered and he would have to start shooting. That he did not want to do."

fire hose you had better change your mind." Officer Allen gave the conciliating answer that this was the work of the firemen, not the cops. The man said "I am warning you if you have any idea of using that hose you had better not."

Officer Allen testified that he asked: "Is that a threat or are you telling us?" The man said: "I am just telling you," and walked away. Allen stated after him and the man stopped, turned and started after him. So Allen put his hand on his gun and this crowd, a group of about ten, immediately choked up and beat it away from there.

The Michigan sitdown strikes of 1937 were well-organized. Armed goon squads, some from as far east as New York and as far south as Georgia, took over the factories in seven counties. They defied police, and they arrested deputies. They disregarded court orders. They strike ran from the last day of December, 1936, to June 11, 1937, when those who had taken possession of private property were ousted with flags of victory flying. Early in the sitdowns, Governor Frank Murphy, now a member of the Supreme Court, announced the policy of, at all hazard, avoiding bloodshed. Some 3,700 state troops on duty were ordered to throw the goons out of the factories. There grew up a feeling that if a violation of law occurred by a union man on a picket line it should be excused.

The conduct of the Kalamazoo cops is typical of such situations everywhere except in Chicago. There, early in the anarchy which gave birth to the CIO, a brave policeman, Captain Mooney, faced a Communist mob attacking his men and killed eleven of them in a few minutes. This was called a "massacre" by the New Deal-Communist forces, but Mooney saved law and order in Chicago. Not one of the dead ever had been employed in the plant under attack.

Thus the fact becomes clear that until the force of law is restored the law-abiding citizen under attack has a right to shoot a goon as he would any other criminal in the act.

Employees still would have the advantage of the decline in living costs. However, according to a recent Associated Press dispatch, a GM local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run. This local of 2500 workers wants UAW headquarters to block the carrying of a local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run. This local of 2500 workers wants UAW headquarters to block the carrying of a local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run.

Suppose that General Motors should decide that prices of automobiles are to be raised. It has not done so, and will not be expected to do so. But if it did, it would be following the same line as the union that voted recommendations to break the cost-of-living contract now that a pay cut is in line. Yet, moral issues are involved when you talk about breaking contracts. As against a pay increase of two or three cents, a contract should have plenty of sacredness.

INTEGRITY AND CONTRACTS One of the qualities in human beings this our civilization today needs so desperately is integrity. What is integrity? The word comes from a Latin term which meant "untouched" or "whole." That's about the way it is today. A man who has integrity is so morally sound that he is not to be touched—in a way that will affect his honesty and uprightness. He is a "whole" man. Most of the problems of living are our world's problems away, each man would preserve his integrity.

Many labor-management disagreements would disappear, if we honestly would undertake to solve them with each side of the conference table keeping its integrity. If each party to an agreement keeps his word—that is integrity. It used to be said of a neighbor: I had "his word in his hand." That's the kind of neighbor this world needs. It will require integrity from each one of us, if this world is to become a better place.

Let me illustrate—with a labor-management example. Less than a year ago, the General Motors labor and management hailed the agreement with United Automobile Workers was acclaimed as a solution to the frequent wage battles that upset our industrial communities. Both the GM-UAW contract was called "realistic" and "practicable." Under terms of the contract GM can raise or lower wages according to government statistics. As living costs rise or fall in reports of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the company can adjust wages accordingly. This contract was a recognition that wages had reached a satisfactory level in the postwar period of high living costs stayed put. While the formula did not rule out wage increases for other reasons, it was an honest attempt to solve the cost-of-living problem.

Last year under the contract GM employees got a flat 6-cent hourly raise, plus a "cost-of-living" increase of 5 cents. What are the prospects this year? Employees are in line for an increase not related to living costs, but under the formula would receive a pay cut because of about the same amount because the Bureau of Labor Statistics index of living costs has gone down. The effect would be to hold wages at about the same level as last year.

Employees still would have the advantage of the decline in living costs. However, according to a recent Associated Press dispatch, a GM local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run. This local of 2500 workers wants UAW headquarters to block the carrying of a local in Cleveland wants to reopen the contract, which has more than a year to run.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON (Special) — High officials of the Treasury and Interior Departments have pleaded guilty to manipulation of federal funds and personnel for political purposes at secret hearings of House Appropriations Subcommittee engaged in pruning President Truman's 1950 budget of forty-two billion dollars.

The revelations have already meant the loss of W. R. Johnson's former job as Commissioner of Customs, although he was retained as a minor Treasury employee. They may result in the permanent ouster of Michael W. Strauss as Commissioner of Reclamation and of Richard L. Boker, Reclamation's regional director for California, with headquarters at Sacramento.

The pressure which these three men used to discredit the 80th Congress record on reclamation and employment of federal workers undoubtedly contributed to President Truman's election. The on-the-spot and absentee ballots of government personnel could easily have tipped the three key states of Ohio, Illinois and California for Mr. Truman. Governor Thomas E. Dewey would have been elected if he had won their electoral votes.

Moreover, the Democratic trend in most of the Western states, where such questions as reclamation, irrigation, public power and land preservation have such local appeal, may have been due to the Strauss-Boker disparagement of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

REPERCUSSIONS — Republican resentment against Commissioner Strauss and Regional Director Boker exploded just a year ago, when key members of the Appropriations Committee got copies of their supposedly off-the-record remarks before a Washington Bureau of Reclamation Bureau field agents.

Mr. Strauss told them to disregard Congressional requirements that they make their appropriations last through the 1948 fiscal year, ending last June 30. He warned that he would punish regional officials who would up the fiscal year with a surplus. He wanted the money poured out quickly, he said, so that he could ask for a deficiency appropriation. Moreover, he pointed out, failure to use or exceed the annual appropriation would incline Congress to be less generous in providing future funds.

His listeners obeyed him so well that money for numerous projects was exhausted in early or late spring of last year. As a result, work had to be halted on many reclamation jobs. The economic repercussions were serious and widespread.

Just What Is A Newspaper?

A recent article in the Saturday Review of literature brings back an age-old question: Just what is a newspaper? Dr. H. A. Overstreet, professor emeritus of philosophy at the City College of New York, says a number of praiseworthy writers, from a newspaperman's viewpoint, are downright editing.

However, he deprecates the fact that front-page headlines blare those segments of life that are unusual and often disastrous, tragic, cruel, and painful. Then he goes ahead to answer himself, not that he seems to realize it: "The newspapers do this because they have discovered that most people most of the time are interested in some form of catastrophe: a plane crash, a railroad wreck, a murder, a flood, a scandal, a fight of some sort. . . Planes that fly safely, trains that reach their destination, individuals who live together without murdering each other, rivers that stay within their banks, and men and nations that transact their affairs and resolve their differences without fighting are not news."

What is the argument about, Dr. Overstreet? News is that which is different. News is that which is off the beaten path. News is that which disrupts life and provokes the bystander (the reader) to take note, for fear it will upset his routine, everyday life. We grant that newspapers play up the contentious in life, the tragic, the pathetic, the down-trodden. But that is what it has been proven people want to read. Try printing a newspaper where all is "lavender blue," as the romantics would phrase it, and see how long you stay in business. (We forgot to say that a newspaper is a business proposition.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Berlin school children recently took up a collection to buy U. S. Gen. Lucius D. Clay a new Scotch terrier, to be named George. Berlin newspapers gave the story a good play. It was a touching tribute to the American Military Governor. What the Berlin papers did tell, but what is common gossip in Berlin, is that General Clay previously had another Scotch named George. He stayed with the general all day, usually sleeping under the general's desk in front of an electric heater. George the First sat in on all the important conferences in Clay's office. He never bothered anybody until one day when a Russian general came in to see Clay. George leaped out barking from his official kennel and bit the Russian on the leg. It wasn't serious, but it was embarrassing. Apologies were issued all around and another international incident and crisis was passed. But not long after, George the First took sick and died. He had been poisoned.

Washington Sen. Harry Cain's objections to confirmation of Ex-Gov. Mon C. Wallgren as National Security Resources Board chairman overlooked just one thing. Cain claimed that Wallgren's past experiences did not qualify him for this important job to which his old Senate colleague Harry Truman had appointed him. Wallgren was an optometrist and jeweler for many years before he got elected to Congress. The point not taken into consideration here is that Wallgren would be working for an ex-husband who seems to have done all right for himself, but to good many people don't consider the clothing business a very good apprenticeship for the presidency.

So They Say

The youth of today want too much and they are adopting the "laissez-faire" philosophy of life. They should have a good objective in order to get a real sense of responsibility. —Dr. William H. Coleman, dean of Bucknell University.

When we talk about planning the things we want to do economically we are charged with being Communists and fellow-travelers. I think that the difficulty is that the people who find fault with us are thinking about controlled economy, not planned economy. —President Truman.

Gracie Says

I see a tooth-brush company is advertising a tooth brush with a two-note whistle built into the handle, on the theory this will make children brush their teeth. Our bathroom goes to a bristly musical instrument that's bent in the middle — my husband, who likes to sing in the shower. I suppose this music-minded tooth brush is part of the modern trend of making things pleasant for not doing them. I'm all for it. I've an idea for making schoolbooks out of candy, so the children can absorb them both mentally and physically as they go along.

That musical idea might help with adults' chores, too — a jukebox, a coffee pot that plays "Hearts and Flowers" after dinner, the time I usually hit George for money for a new hat.

Success Secrets

Walter Cobb of Memphis, Tennessee found a million dollar idea in a sawdust pile. Cobb says he became interested in sawdust when he discovered that 70% of all timber cut is not used, but wasted. So he set up a laboratory in his home and set to work to see what he could do about sawdust. After several years of experiments, he discovered a process for making a plaster board, croquet balls, and various other things. The Arkansas Resources and Development Commission heard about Cobb's new process and looked into it.

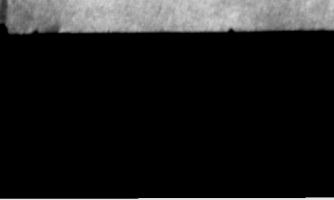

The upshot of the whole thing was that the Commission became enthusiastic about the new process. Cobb's success story was heralded it as the greatest thing that had happened in years for timber states, and a group of Arkansas businessmen put up $250,000 for a plant at Hope, Arkansas to produce the new products. All of which goes to prove what I have said many times before: opportunity lies all around you. Put on your "Success" goggles, and you can even see success in a pile of sawdust!

We will be less likely to misinterpret the facts on heart disease if we keep sight of the fact that the human body is not made to last forever and that the greater the chances of living to old age, the greater the chances are that death will occur from heart disease. —Dr. Louis I. Dublin, statistician, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

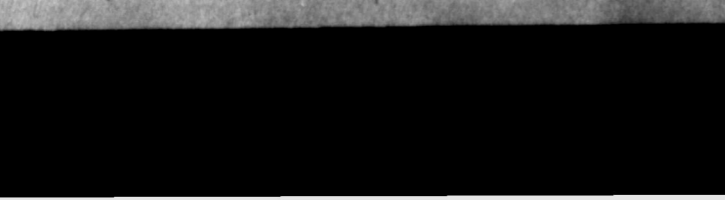

Ex-Officer Plans Suit Against Army

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — On his last day in the Air Force, Lt. Col. Walter G. Rishel, in an interview with the San Antonio Light, declared his intentions to sue high-ranking Army officers on charges growing out of his recent court-martial in Germany. Rishel was separated from the service at Randolph Air Force base here Thursday. He arrived in San Antonio Monday to be reunited with his wife and two small sons. The 38-year-old former first attaché in Hungary is bitter about the secret court-martial which resulted in his acquittal on 22 charges, the newspaper said. Rishel said he would sue for libel, defamation of character and false imprisonment. Rishel said he still could not reveal the 22 charges leveled against him. While the immediate outlook gives confidence, there are weak spots in our economy that are more significant than they were a year ago. If something isn't done to correct these, we will have another depression. —Leon Keyserling, member of President Truman's Council of Economic Advisors.

Three Boxers in Finals; Fight Here Tuesday Night

Many Records Fall in Border Olympics Afternoon Session

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
LAREDO — (AP) — Brownsville won the Junior College championship and Corpus Christi triumphed in the High School Class of the Border Olympics Saturday. Four records were smashed and two tied.

These divisions ran off their finals during the afternoon with the university and college finals being run Saturday night.

Brownsville, paced by a Japanese-American boy, Carl Otsuki, beat out San Antonio Tech, 42-23 points to 38-56. Laredo was third with 22; Schreiner fourth with 20 1-2 and Kilgore fifth with 17.

Corpus Christi, with Bobby Dean in the starring role, swept to the high school title with 30 points. Kerrville was second with 24 1-2. Brackenridge of San Antonio was next with 18 and Alice and Austin tied for fourth with 12 each.

Otsuki won the 100-yard dash and tied the record of 10.1 set by Ross Youngs of San Antonio in Friday's preliminaries. Youngs finished second Saturday. Otsuki also captured the 220-yard dash, ran on the victorious sprint relay team and was fourth in the broad jump.

Dean took the 100-yard dash in 10.1 and tied the record in winning the 220-yard low hurdles in 22.9. Billy Bless of Thomas Jefferson hung up the mark in 1946.

Two records fell in the Junior College Division. Bobby Cross of Kilgore, who Friday broke the shot put mark with 38 feet, 8 3/4 inches in the preliminaries, could not better his distance Saturday but it still was the best and remained the record. The Brownsville 440-yard relay team sped the distance in 44.7 to better the record of 44.9 set by Schreiner in 1948. Making up the Brownsville team were Otsuki, Dalton Klaus, Bob Sloan and Charles Womack.

The discus throw and mile relay records fell in the High School Division. Bobby Wright of Alice smashed the discus mark of 150 feet, 1 inch, set last year by Bryon Townsend of Odessa, by hurling the platter 153 feet, 2 inches. Corpus Christi's mile relay team of Billy Don Thomas, Lawrence Webber, Joe Fischer and Howard Grunwald wiped out the record of 3:24.1 set by Lascabel of Fort Worth in 1947 by turning in a time of 3:33.0.

Oiler Moundsmen Report for Work At Shreveport

R. L. Edmondson, owner of the Pampa Oilers, field manager Grover Seitz, and lefty Roy Parker are leaving for Shreveport tomorrow morning for the opening of the spring training season. The purpose of the trip is to get the pitchers in a climate that is warm enough so that they can work out the stiffness in their arms and be ready to go when the entire team assembles here, on March 28, the opening day of home drills.

Pitchers who will join them at Shreveport include Bodine, Lockwood, Hubbard and a few new rookie pitchers who are being given a spring trial.

McLean Enters Baseball League

McLEAN — (Special) — The McLean baseball team will be a member of the Caprock League this summer. Floyd Guthrie, business manager of the team announced last week.

Other teams in the league are Hedley, Clarendon, Claude, Panchard, Conway and Groom. The local team was a member of the West Texas-Oklahoma League in 1948.

Play will probably start in April, Guthrie said. Regular season games will be played on Sunday afternoon, with practice sessions scheduled during the week.

Pampa Sportsmen to Meet Tuesday Night

The Pampa Outdoor Sportsmen's Club will hold a meeting next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the County Court Room of the Courthouse.

Purpose of the meeting will be to aid in the establishment of a local skeet club. Already 80 sportsmen have shown interest in such an organization, so the local Sportsmen's Club is going to try and aid in the founding of it, separate from their own club.

Total of 633 High School Teams In Interscholastic League Ball

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas Interscholastic League baseball will have 633 competing schools this spring. Conference B, the loop for small schools, leads the way with 364 teams.

The four-conference total is slightly greater than last year's, when 599 schools were entered, reported Rhea Williams, league athletic director.

Conference A boasts 175 schools; AA 75; City, 19.

The City Conference is made up of schools from Dallas, Fort Worth and Houston.

Williams reminded AA, A and B schools that May 14 is the deadline for certifying district baseball champions. Conference AA bi-district champions must be certified by May 28, and the state championship playoff will be held June 6, 7 and 8 in Austin.

City Conference district champions must be certified by May 28, and the state playoff for that class will be held June 10-11 in Dallas.

Teams playing in Class AA are the following:

District:

Defenders Battle Way to Finals of Four-Ball Meet

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Ship Alexander, Southern Pines, N. C., and Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla., battled their way into the finals of the $10,000 Miami International Four-Ball Golf Tournament Saturday with defending champions Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., and Jim Ferrier, San Francisco.

Alexander and Cooper staged a spectacular stretch drive to beat Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., and Herman Keiser, St. Andrews, Ill., one up.

Middlecoff and Ferrier eliminated Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa., two and one.

WT-NM Umpire Gets Promotion

DALLAS — (AP) — Only one new face will be in the umpiring staff of the Texas League when the season opens April 13.

President J. Alvin Gardner Saturday announced the 12 men who will work the 154-game schedule.

Frank Secory, former major and Texas League umpire in the West Texas-New Mexico League last season, is the addition to the staff. Two of last year's members—Al Atkins and Ernie Gigliello — are going to other leagues. Since an extra umpire was carried last year anyway, only one addition was needed for the 1949 season.

Hold Slight Lead in Team Point Battle

Three Pampa Roundup Club boxers advanced to the finals of the Plainview Boxing Tournament Friday night. Victors were Jimmie Bennett, James Claunch and Leon Kelley.

The victories put the Roundup Club into a fairly secure spot in the battle for the team championship trophy. The standings going into the final night of fighting showed the Roundup Club with 12 points, Plainview 10 and Blackburn Brothers, of Amarillo, in third place with 8.

First Pampa fighters to win his way into the finals was Jimmie Bennett in the 112-pound class. He defeated Ronnie Brown, of Lubbock, to earn his fourth victory in the tournament. This was a furious battle, with both boys slugging it out, toe to toe, from the first bell until the last bell of the third round. The close decision went to the Roundup Club boxer.

James Claunch, fighting at 118-pounds, also kept up a torrid pace through three rounds, to earn a decision over Bill Chandler, Amarillo. Chandler had the edge on experience, having fought in the Golden Gloves at Amarillo, but Claunch's windmill attack was too much for him. This was the third victory in as many nights for the Pampa youth.

Leon Kelley, fighting in the heavyweight division, scored a first round knockout over Bob Phillips, Wellington. The fight ended after 52 seconds. Phillips is the boy who won the regional high school heavyweight title in the Amarillo Golden Gloves. Kelley hit him with a hard right that ended the fight in a hurry. This was the first fight in the tournament for Leon, who is favored to win the heavyweight title.

Saturday night's schedule for the Roundup Club, in the finals, placed Jimmie Bennett against Ed Seitz, experienced L. K. Keiser, who was a Golden Gloves champion at the 112-pound weight. At 118-pounds, James Claunch met Joe Landrum, Shamrock slugger, who won the district Golden Gloves title here.

The Longhorn contest, Leon Kelley battled Raymond Reynolds of Amarillo.

Can You Name State Boxing Title-Holders?

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff

Who's the Texas flyweight boxing champion? No, you're wrong. There isn't any.

Chances are not one person in 20 can tell you who rules the roost in the various divisions of professional boxing in Texas.

It's a different story in amateur boxing. People at Abilene would think you pretty simple if you didn't know that Tom Adams, Hardin-Simmons University student, won the State Golden Gloves Light Heavyweight title this year for the third straight time.

Most of the amateurs who slug it out in district and regional tournaments in the Golden Gloves do it for glory. Very few have any idea of making money out of their fists.

There have been a few Golden Glove champions turn pro, but not many.

"They don't go into it for that," said one veteran trainer at the recent Golden Gloves tournament in Fort Worth.

There are champions in seven of the eight weights in professional boxing in Texas. Alton Erickson, state boxing and wrestling supervisor, is the authority for this. He even named them: Heavyweight: Adolfo Quijano, El Paso.

Light-heavyweight: Adolfo Quijano, El Paso.

Middleweight: Jimmy Curl, San Antonio.

Featherweight: Lauro Salas, El Paso.

Bantamweight: Hector Marquez, El Paso.

Flyweight: Vacant.

Pablo Zamora of El Paso was the flyweight champion, but did not defend his title for more than a year.

Champions are really supposed to defend their crowns every 90 days. Some of them, though, haven't been doing it, says Erickson.

Roundup Boxers Fight Here Tuesday

The boxing team from the Roundup Boy's Club will hold a team match boxing show next Tuesday night at the Sportatorium. The opposing team will be Lakeview, one of the strongest teams in Texas.

Boistering the Lakeview team is Elmo Sams, who fights at Tuesday night at the Sportatorium. The opposing team will be either 112- or 118-pounds. He is a powerful slugger, but was out-punched by Donnie Ray in the finals of the Amarillo Golden Gloves Tournament last February. After losing there, he fought in the open division of the Lubbock tournament, winning the championship. He won the 112-pound title at Amarillo in 1947, fighting at that time for Memphis. Whether he fights at 112 pounds or at 118, he will have plenty of opposition. The Roundup Club has Jimmie Bennett at the 118-pound weight and James Claunch at 118 pounds.

Another battle sure to be a good one will be between Leon Kelley and Bob Phillips, Wellington. Kelley knocked Phillips out in the first round of their fight at Plainview, Friday night.

Phillips, regional Golden Glove champion, wanted another crack at Kelley, so he is coming over Tuesday night to try and even the score.

Lakeview will bring boys of all weights from 60-pounds through heavyweight, so there will be plenty of action for Pampa fight fans.

Tickets for the fights are on sale at the Pampa News Stand, Wilson Drug and Harvester Drug. Fight time is set for 8 o'clock.

Approximately 3,200 passengers ride each week on an average elevator, a total one-fourth greater than the passengers carried each trip by the Queen Elizabeth, world's largest steamship.

Longhorn Trackman To Chicago Relays

AUSTIN — (AP) — Jerry Thompson, ex-University of Texas distance star, has accepted a bid to the Chicago Relays Invitational Mile, March 19.

The race will be the first indoor appearance in several years for Thompson, who represented the United States in the Olympics NCAA 5,000 meters.

Also entered in the Chicago race is Don Gehrmann of Wisconsin, who is ranked as the nation's best indoor mile runner of 1949.

The 120-pound Thompson, who is finishing up an industrial management course at Texas, is also slated for a special mile at the Texas Relays here April 2.

Swim Records Certain to Fall
AUSTIN — (AP) — Four new records seem assured and all of the existing marks will be in sharp jeopardy when the Southern relays hold its swimming meet here this weekend.

The meet begins Thursday night with the 1,500-meter free style, one of the four new events that have been added. Preliminaries and the finals in six events will be held Friday with the remainder Saturday.

On the basis of dual meet competition, the Texas Longhorns will be favorites to win their 16th clear title in 18 years. The Longhorns lost to A&M in 1945 and tied the Aggies in 1944.

Distances have been lengthened in three events, thus assuring new records. These events are the 200-yard individual medley, the 200-yard breast stroke and the 150-yard back stroke.

The presence of Danny Green of Texas A&M and Eddie Gilbert and Jim McCann of Texas put all of the free style records in danger.

Green is the record holder in the 50-yard and 100-yard races with times of 23.6 and 53.1 seconds, which he established in 1946.

Gilbert could conceivably break any one of the four free style records, but he will probably concentrate on the 220 and 440-yard races. McCann has swum close to the 440 yard but stands little chance against the phenomenal Gilbert.

The 220 and 440 records of 2:19.4 and 5:10.4, respectively, were set by Bob Taylor of A&M in 1941.

The Texas 300-yard medley relay team has bettered the conference record of 3:10, set by A&M in 1947, on numerous occasions this year while both Texas and A&M have beaten the 400-yard free style relay record.

The 400-yard relay record is 3:30, set by Texas in 1939.

Finals will be held Friday in the 50-yard free style, 150-yard backstroke, 220-yard free style, 200-yard breast stroke, 3-meter diving and 400-yard relay.

The 100 and 440 free style and team and individual medley finals are set for Saturday night.

The Rangers beat Indiana State of Terre Haute, 48-45, in the first double overtime game in the history of the week-long meet last night.

Hamline of St. Paul whipped Beloit (Wis.) College 52-45, in the first game of the semi-finals.

Six-Man Tag Match Is Real Thriller-Diller for Crowd

Just about everything possible took place in the Sportatorium ring Friday night, much to the pleasure, and at times, displeasure, of the several hundred wrestling fans in attendance. The six-man tag team match was just as fast and furious as anticipated, if not more so.

After the full hour of battling in the ring, neither team had gained an advantage, the bout ending in a draw when time ran out. The fight probably would have stopped right there anyway, as it was out of the hands of the lone referee, Glen Detton, who did a wonderful job trying to keep some semblance of order.

When the bout ended, Billy Sandow, sitting in the stands, was trying to recover after being thrown out of the ring by Dory Funk, rugged Indiana boy. Funk was doing all in his power to keep Sandow out of the ring, and Sandow's partners, Estes and Weaver, from joining Dory's partners, Boynton and Kasaboski, to the floor.

After the bell, Boynton picked up referee Detton and threw him to the mat with a body slam. Glen retaliated with a body kick that floored aival O. L. n. Meanwhile, Sandow had climbed back into the ring and was beating Funk to the ground, with the aid of his partners.

Billy Sandow, the likable, cheery, deeply-tanned newcomer, received the worst punishment of the evening. He was nearly choked to death in the first round by Boynton and Funk. Neither the efforts of his partners, the referee, nor several fans could break the hold until Billy was blue in the face and out on his back. Then Kasaboski applied a Boston crab which won the first fall in 22 minutes.

Sandow's partners, and the referee, worked on Billy, trying to get him on his feet, when Funk walked over to help them. They picked Billy up and started to drag him to his corner, when the villainous Funk slugged Billy again. Estes and Weaver, aided by referee Detton, chased Funk to the corner and started working him over. But the wily Funk pulled Boynton between himself and the attackers, so Boynton took the beating.

The second fall pleased the crowd no end. First the Estes team dragged Funk in the corner and worked him over, finally wrapping his neck through the ropes. Then they got Boynton in the corner and worked him over good. Then it was Kasaboski's turn, and they worked him over in the corner. All six men finally got into the ring and went to it, choosing partners. Estes got a head lock on Funk, while Sandow got the same hold on Boynton.

Then they ran them across the ring, butting their heads together. This procedure they applied twice, and then Estes pinned Boynton after 11 minutes. While all of this was going on, Weaver was working Kasaboski over in the corner.

Sandow came back in the third fall ready to kill. He worked over all three of his opponents until none of them wanted to get into the ring with him, all standing outside, pushing the other in. The same thing happened at the outset of the first fall when Estes body slammed all three of the Funk team until none would enter the ring.

Near the end of the fight, the Estes team got Boynton in their corner, where they wrapped a towel around his throat to choke him. His two partners came rushing to his aid, and the Estes team tied all three in the corner with the rope used in the tag match.

In the preliminary event, Buck Weaver won after 16 minutes when Boynton was disqualified by the referee for choking and refusing to break when ordered. When he wouldn't break, Detton applied a headlock to awful Olan and body slammed him, applied a knee lock to quiet him, and then awarded the bout to Weaver. Next week's card may bring back several of the participants in Friday night's tag match. Plenty of hatred was created, and a match between any of the contestants would be a good card. Promoter Vic Burnett also stated that he hopes to present another six-man tag match in the near future for the wrestling fans of the area.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Mason—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: In what sporting event is the Thomas Cup the coveted award?

BASEBALL: The Pampa High School Harvester baseball team held its first inter-squad game of the season Friday afternoon at Oiler Park. Though the team looked bad, it showed some promise of being better than anticipated at the start of the season.

The mound staff, which is the backbone of any team, has been handled by Roy Parker, Oiler left-hander. He has improved it considerably, finding several fine prospects among the many candidates. Only one veteran hurler has returned, and he will most likely be the arm of the pitching staff. He is Howard Wells, chunky right-hander, who saw considerable action last season with his slow, tantalizing curve ball. Other boys showing promise on the mound are Billy Epps, Dale Shackelford, Jimmy Howard and Roy King.

The backstopping department is in the capable hands of John Nolan, who has developed a fine, shotgun throw to any base. He is a hustler, backing up throws to first, and a good hitter. He is First base is a battle between Jim Parker and Jim Gallemore, with the edge to Parker on his past experience at the initial sack. Second base was held down by little Elmer Wilson, a fast boy with a good arm. He is hard to pitch to at the plate because of his size. Shortstop goes to Jimmy Howard, when he isn't pitching. He has moved in from the outfield. He has a fine arm and is steady on his fielding. Third base may develop into a battle between Freshman Jim Cook and Jack Sutton, Junior. Both boys are good fielders with fine arms. The edge may go to Sutton on hitting.

Around the outfield are two regulars from last season, Dool Thut and Jim Hyatt, and a rookie, Joe Hawkins. This will make a fine fielding outfield, and also include some power hitters. Plenty of reserves are available, led by Tolle Hutchens, who can go behind the bat or play in the infield. Others battling for spots on the team are Rice, Garcia, Valesquez, Coley, Musgrave, Yoder and several more boys, all underclassmen.

The team has been working out at Oiler Park the past week. But as soon as the Oilers are ready for spring practice the Harvesters will have to move back to their own field, full of sandburrs and holes, near the high school. They are sadly in need of a smooth practice field near the High School. The playing area is available, but it needs to be leveled in order to make it playable.

ANSWER: The Thomas Cup is the treasured award in the world of badminton, just as the Davis Cup is in tennis.

DOTS AND DASHES: Jim Wilson was helping umpire the intersquad baseball game Friday. . . Charlie Laffoon was swinging a bat trying to get his batting eye in shape. . . He has been bothered with a badly in-

Texas Sportsmen's Competition Offers Rifle and Pistol Awards

AUSTIN — Everybody will have a chance at a prize in the rifle and pistol meet at the Texas Sportsmen's Competition in Brownwood April 7-10, under the sponsorship of the Texas Wildlife Federation.

All entries will be divided into three classes according to their scores, and awards will be made to the first, second and third place winners in each class. For separation into classes, all shooters in a match will be placed in numerical order according to scores. They will then be divided into three equal parts with the odd shooters falling in Class 1.

The schedule for the competition announced today by Conrad Fath, general chairman, calls for 18 pistol matches, 16 small bore rifle matches and 16 big bore rifle matches. Thursday is set aside for registration, but matches in all events will run continuously from 8 in the morning until evening on each of the other three days, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

The entire program will be conducted under National Rifle Association rules, according to the specifications drawn up by the Brown County Rifle and Pistol Club. Personnel in charge will be Buster Spencer, Waco, statistics; Wayne Weems and A. L. Lindsey, big bore rifle; Cullen Johnson and J. T. Hughes, pistol; Dr. J. L. Morris, Grady Guyer and L. N. Franklin, small bore rifle.

Each day's pistol matches will consist of four individual matches, one team match and an aggregate of the day's matches. On Sunday, the aggregate will consist of seven matches running through odd shooters falling in Class 1. Small bore rifle competition will include matches from prone, offhand and sitting positions from both 80 yards and 100 yards. In some matches, sighting shots are allowed, while in others, no sighting shots will be permitted. Medals will be awarded first, second and third place winners in each match with merchandise prizes for first, second and third in each day's aggregate match and in the grand aggregate of eight days.

THE STORY: John Henry and Sid Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, witness the death of Homer Anglin. Later the Conover quarters are occupied by Faye Jordan, under the pretext of a reservation mix-up. At a swimming pool Sid is coerced by Napoleon Robertson, a swimmer, who calls her "Mrs. Jones"—the second time she was called by that name. Sid is warned not to interfere, but she isn't told what she and Johnny are interfering with. Johnny, who tries to get a clue to the angle from Faye, is taken for a drive in Faye's limo. The trip ends at a ranch house. The door opens to a woman. Faye's knock on a man with a battered face opens the door.

FAYE stepped blithely forward and John Henry followed. He squinted in the reception hall, his eyes accustomed themselves to the murkiness. The man who had opened the door teetered on squeaky patent leather shoes. He was dressed in a black double-breasted suit with a black bow tie. There was a lot of him.

"Are we late?" Faye asked.

The man bowed his square head and said, "Never." John Henry realized he was either butler, bouncer or guard. Possibly all three. "Your card, madame?"

Faye flipped her fingers and the husky man caught the card deftly. John Henry had his chance to see it—and he was disappointed. The drop of his stomach let him know his self-appointed investigation grounds had been based on pretty flimsy grounds.

For the card bore no queen symbol. Whorls and lines of patterned engraving followed the edge like those on a bond or a bank note. In the center was simply a straight black line followed by a large C. "Certainly," the butler said rustily. "You will forgive these precautions—his pin-point eyes catch the pair—but they have been found to be necessary. My name is Sidney, madame."

"I'm Miss Jordan, Sidney. And this is Mr. Conover."

Sidney bowed again and waved them farther into the dimness. He walked silently behind them down the long hall. It got darker and darker.

AT the end of the lengthy corridor, there was nothing but a heavy door. Conover stopped short and the butler stepped ahead of him. "If you please," said Sidney.

He pulled the material aside and beneath it was a large curved doorway. John Henry rubbed his ear. The music had sneaked up on him. Beyond the door that Sidney was opening, a band was playing furiously, brassy.

The butler brushed by him again and John Henry had the impression that quick hands had patted over his coat. Faye squealed.

The stark fluorescent light that poured down from the ceiling of the room beyond blinded him at first. Faye's impetus sent him through the doorway and John Henry blinked around.

After the lonely gloomy entry the place was a shock. It was a big square room, low-ceilinged and almost completely functional. The complete absence of windows made the walls seem blind and faceless.

"Uh-huh," grunted John Henry as he began to catch on. Near the door through which they had entered stood a bank of slot machines—stubby iron pillars from whose heads dials of lithographed fruit pictures peered. Opposite them were a series of chuck-a-luck tables with hour-glass cages of dice. Packed close down the center of the casino were fare and poker tables and at the far end was the long green board and dark disk of the roulette wheel.

"Isn't this fun?" Faye bubbled at his side.

Though it was barely 11 o'clock,

Investigation In Death of Texan Ends

ATHENS — (AP) — The police at Salonika announced they have completed their investigation of the murder of George Polk, Columbia Broadcast System correspondent who was shot last May.

A 600-page file, including the deposition of one of those accused of the murder, has been submitted to the courts for their action, the announcement said. The deposition was signed by Gregory Staktopoulos, Greek Communist journalist. The government says Staktopoulos has confessed he was implicated in the crime.

Polk, a war veteran from Fort Worth, Tex., was bound hand and foot, blindfolded and shot, apparently while attempting to interview the former Greek Communist leader, Markos Vafiades. His body was found in Salonika Bay May 16, eight days after he was slain.

The government announced last Oct. 8 it had established that Adam Mousenides, a Greek Communist, was the trigger man, aided by Staktopoulos and others.

February Weather Good for Citrus

WASHINGTON — (AP) — February weather was favorable to citrus crops in Texas and Arizona, but damage from a January freeze was heavier than estimated on Feb. 1, the Agriculture Department reported.

Orange production for the 1945-49 season was estimated at 99,000,000 boxes.

Millionaire's Dream Hotel Becomes Reality on March 17

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON — (AP) — Glen McCarthy's greatest dream — a $20 million hotel — becomes a reality St. Patrick's Day.

The 41-year-old Houston oil millionaire formally unlocks the huge glass doors of his 18-story Shamrock, a 1,100-room apartment-transient hotel, March 17. The Shamrock, in all its modern beauty, is only a small part of the empire which McCarthy has carved since 1932, when, as a man of only modest means, he turned to the oil industry at the age of 25.

He brought in his first producing oil well in 1932. Since then there have been nearly two score field discoveries. As the empire grew, McCarthy placed his money in a wide variety of activities.

He is a rancher, banker, newspaper publisher, exporter, importer, motion picture producer, and owner of a radio station, steel mill, gasoline plant and chemical plant.

Reports on the various activities are funneled into McCarthy's office in a 22-story downtown Houston building, one of his real estate properties.

Every piece of turniture in the Shamrock, located approximately four miles south of downtown Houston, was designed and built on special order. There'll be television in every room.

The hotel faces northeast at the curved base of a triangular plot of 15 acres. It is flanked by a five-story garage-ambition building and a 165-foot swimming pool.

The first three floors of the hotel contain public rooms, offices, dining rooms, kitchens and a $100,000 medical clinic for employees and visitors.

Floors four through eight hold single, double and twin bedrooms, ten through fifteen have double-ettes — efficiency apartments — and suits. Apartments on sixteen through eighteen are for permanent guests.

McCarthy will be the first guest to register St. Patrick's Day but he will be accompanied by many special guests.

The oilman is arranging a special streamlined train to carry 175 Hollywood actors and writers here for the opening and for the world premiere of his movie production, "The Green Promise."

The premiere will be held at two downtown theaters.

Special plane flights from the East and Midwest will bring 150 other newspaper writers, government and business figures.

On opening night McCarthy will honor his guests at two dinners. Reservations are being sold at $42 and $33 per person.

Fool-Proof Defense Needed Against Future U-Boat Menace

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Among the major security tasks of the Western Allies is that of providing a fool-proof defense against any such submarine menace as that with which the Germans all but defeated them in the two world wars.

One of England's foremost newspapers, the Manchester Guardian, calls attention to this in connection with the current debate on British naval estimates in the House of Commons. The Guardian points to two vital defense problems:

1. To see that all reasonable steps are taken to ensure that the sea links between America and Western Europe, and between America and the Near East, can't be cut.

2. To make sure that the Royal Navy and the U. S. Navy are working hand in glove, and that neither will find itself engaged in major sea warfare without the other at its side.

The value of any partnership between America and European nations of course hinges heavily on their control of the sea. The proposed North Atlantic alliance would be an empty gesture if an enemy controlled the ocean lanes between the two hemispheres.

Not only were the Atlantic lanes being cut, but those in many other parts of the world. I went from India to London by sea in February, 1917, and thirteen vessels were sent to the bottom by submarines near my ship in the Mediterranean. No shipping was safe anywhere.

Things got so bad that Britain's Admiral Jellicoe took the unusual step of writing direct to the Prime Minister, warning that loss of shipping alone might soon force the Allies to make peace. Various proposals for dealing with the submarines were put into effect, and then America came into the war. By the end of 1917 the menace was got in hand by intensive convoying of cargo vessels.

Again in World War II Hitler for a time was able to duplicate the Kaiser's success.

Early in 1942 the Axis powers shifted their submarine warfare to the Western Atlantic and in ten months the loss of over 800 ships was reported. More than 7 million tons of Allied shipping was lost.

However, the fates were kind to the Allies. The U-boat menace was curbed by a combination of expedients. These included improved methods of detecting the submarines, and the use of special boats and aircraft to track down the subs and destroy them with depth bombs.

Estimated Vehicle Production 108,733

DETROIT — (AP) — Car and truck production in the United States this week will total 108,733 units, Ward's Automotive Reports estimated. It figured 84,340 cars and 24,393 trucks in the week.

This compares with last week's 87,707 cars and 25,560 trucks. In the same week a year ago 78,826 cars and 29,913 trucks were built.

An estimated two to three million Americans are ski enthusiasts.

FOR YOUNG MEN AND MEN WHO STAY YOUNG

"THOUGHTS About a Baby"—The following lines from aforementioned title definitely do not immediately identify the remarks of some of our proud new fathers. Some said "He looks just like me!" It says:

His small demanding presence fills
My heart with wonder and with song;
He is so soft and warm and sweet,
So fair and rosy-limbed and strong!

His eyes are blue delphiniums;
His tiny mouth a rosebud red.
Such silky hair! It almost curls
Around his lovely little head!

"Isn't he handsome!" I cried,
In fond maternal ecstasy.
"Oh, I don't know," his dad replied,
"All babies look alike to me."

THREE of the new papas are Ken Baumgardner (boy), D. C. Collier (girl) and Bob Brown (boy). Any one will talk about his baby just as long as you will listen... Admirers may pick up cigars from either of said papas... or, probably, from the proud grandpapa of the new Brown baby, who is C. M. Carlock, down at the First National... You know, it was for about three days that one had trouble seeing Mr. Carlock. He was walking the floor too.

PAT ON BACK—The home-owners along Mary Ellen certainly deserve a pat on the back. In case you have missed this street in the past week or so, make it a point to drive from the park to the High School, especially at night... Luminous house numbers have been installed—down both sides of the street... not only are they attractive, they are, oh, so helpful, if you are looking for a more or less strange house... I'm for making this practice city-wide.

EVERYTHING'S moving too fast... With my eye on these new car models, I just can't keep up with everyone... Why, the Dave Finkelsteins appear to be driving a Lincoln—a beautiful blue and the Herman Fosters prefer a cloud-blue Hudson... the Tom Galys make their appearance in a flashy red Lincoln, while Guy Andis drives a super Buick... the Willie Palmers are seen in a streamlined cream Chevrolet... (Wish my name could rate this paragraph, but I'll just put it at the end of the column!)

LOOKING AROUND DEPARTMENT—John Pitts' opening of the Schneider Hotel Dining Room from all indications was successful... familiar faces were there... I, along with others, came away with a beautiful sensation... Back in town for packing and farewells (off to Lubbock), the Steve Matthews last Sunday sipped with the Doug Carvers... Smiley Henderson is up and around after his recent operation at Dallas—and looking very chipper... Speaking of Smiley reminds me of the item I saw in "Kiwanis Klatter," the weekly club bulletin... the writer says a new type of fever has hit the Farnham... called "Ollitis"... one of the most evident symptoms of the sight of members of homo sapiens milling about like early frontier longhorn steers—each waving a green-looking paper which bears some kind of promise to pay by the U. S. Treasury... they say this is contagious, but hear-tell you gotta have some of that promise-to-pay stuff to wave.

ADD ACTIVITY—The Howard Buckinham, Luke McClellans, Jim Nations, et al., enjoyed the dinner-dance last Sunday eve, given by Mmes. Albert Reynolds and Skeet Roberts... the music was furnished by Bernie Howell and his organ... understand everyone had a wonderful—if not wonderfoller—time... It's my night tonic! When papa, the Indians and I will attend Family Night and indulge in a game of bingo... a professional air was added to the coming Lions Minstrel when Ralph Bayless of Borger attended rehearsals and gave his rendition of "Ol' Man River"... members of the cast said you could even see that muddy rivah... strictly personal, now, a person I like to see is Mrs. A. S. R.

PAMPA PANORAMA—Sorry J. B. Weavers are leaving town. He is of Cabot Companies... Dr. and Mrs. C. Overton for Mayo's... the Fred Glassers entertained this past week of relatives from New Mexico... Ann Hobgood and L. Wright, among the town's best looking if I may say so, he the short-bob set... I went to P-TA Thursday, and were dressed up... but they had to be to match that fine speaker Ed Weiss... He's fast becoming the town's Number One... the whole thing looked like a fashion show. Mrs. Fre will be the new president, and Mrs. H. H. Hahn will be (I didn't get an office)... out of the corner of my eye... Mrs. J. F. Wehrung had on a very chic hat... of mentionables: Mrs. Eben B. Warner, Mrs. Dan Cam's Tripplehorn, Mrs. Gene Fathere, Mrs. Gene Green son and Mrs. Hahn, I hear, are soon to attend a convention, at Shamrock... we understand that the meeting on sex at one of the school auditoriums is for adults only.

I'VE GOT to quit now. I'm spending a lot about how many Easter eggs I'm going to color waste of good eggs, because the kids strew them... but it's fun, and that's why we do it.
Yours for now,
PEG O'

Speech Defects Being Studied

AUSTIN — Speech students at the University of Texas are gaining practical experience in the treatment of speech defects in cerebral palsy patients through a cooperative agreement with the Austin Cerebral Palsy center.

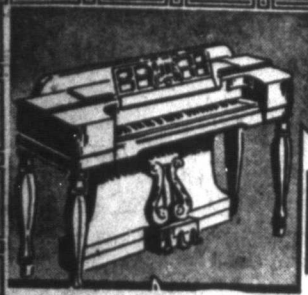

Jesse J. Villarreal, university speech clinic director, is consulting on speech problems to the Austin center where students visit to observe therapy practices. The Austin center is planning a new building to include a speech wing with three rooms—a large room for private and group work in speech and two adjoining sound-proofed rooms for testing hearing, ear-training, and recording. Acoustical engineer on the sound-proof rooms is Dr. C. P. Boner, University Defense Research Laboratory director.

Dr. Villarreal's work as consultant and Dr. Boner's assistance are part of the university's public service program. Speech therapy is important, Dr. Villarreal explains, because speech defects in most cases accompany cerebral palsy ailments.

Teague Given Unscheduled Scare During Navy War Games

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Rep. Olin E. Teague of Bryan got a brief but concentrated look into naval operations when he witnessed the recent mock war in the Caribbean Sea.

An unscheduled thriller was the explosion of a depth bomb close to the submarine in which he was an observer far below the surface.

Hailing from an inland central Texas district, with a background of Army service in World War II, the six-times wounded combat veteran was invited by Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee to view the Caribbean maneuvers.

"As a member of Congress who must pass on legislation affecting every arm of service," he said, "I believe it a duty to know something of the working of all branches of our fighting forces."

"The Congress wants to provide adequate national defense, but I share the opinion of many members who are carefully checking large requests to see that we get a dollar's worth of defense for every dollar spent. The defense budget for 1949 is over $14 billion, the largest single item in the money bills to finance our government."

Teague flew from here to

Key West, Fla., where a full day was devoted to intensive briefing on the latest methods of offensive and defensive sea warfare. Then they headed out to sea aboard one of the latest German-type snorkel submarines.

"It's as long as a football field," said Teague.

"It is equipped to stay under the surface for days at a time."

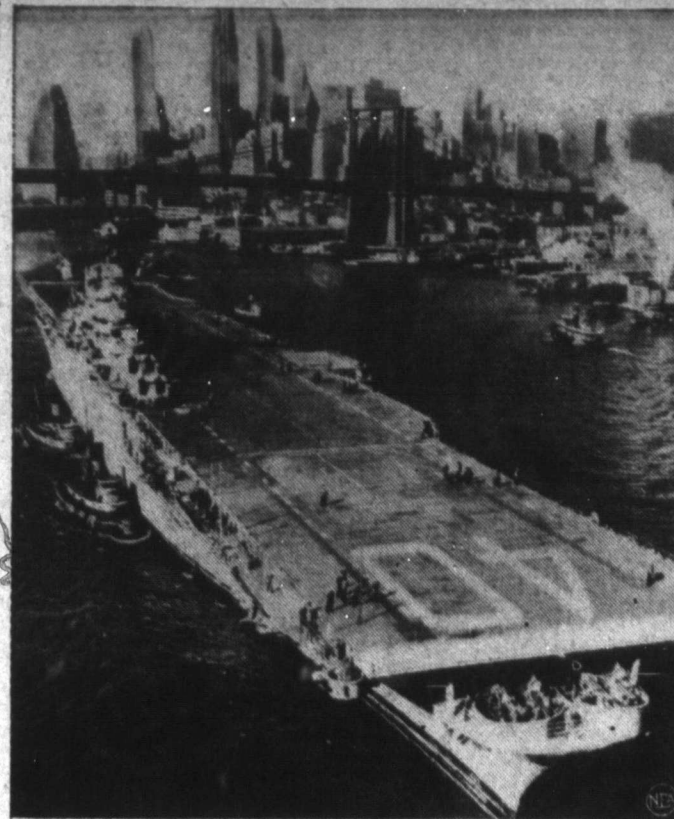

At one stage in the war games a destroyer was hard on the chase of the submarine on which he was aboard. They were making a down when they heard the distant whoomp of an exploding depth charge.

"Then there were more, which I knew were closer than had been figured on," continued Teague. "Everyone was getting a little jittery, when one went off so close the whole submarine shuddered. Some lights went out and dishes broke."

"We were sweating there for a few minutes. We got an unnecessary scare once when a youngster operating one of the detector devices called out over the public address system that a destroyer was passing directly over us. It turned out to be a mistake."

Teague said he was distressed to encounter considerable evidence of hostile feelings among branches of the armed forces, notwithstanding the moves toward unification.

Shift in Leaders Would Not Change Russian Aims

By DEWITT MASKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

A Florida reader of this column asks whether a change in the supreme leadership of Soviet Russia might improve the chances of world peace. My correspondent presumably has in mind a substitute for Marshal Stalin as head of the Communist regime.

The answer, from my viewpoint, is definitely "no."

Of course there will have to be a change of leadership in due course on the basis that Stalin isn't immortal. Recognition of this is seen in the current speculation about the possibility that Vyacheslav Molotov is even now being groomed to take over some or all of the marshal's duties.

However, no new leadership is going to better the chances of peace. As a matter of fact peace likely is safer in Stalin's hands than it would be in any others.

Why? Well, because Moscow obviously wants to avoid another world war right away and Stalin, as the most powerful figure in Russia, is most capable of keeping the lid clamped on. At least he is the most capable so long as his health and age permit.

My viewpoint is based on this fact: The Red goal is defined and immutable. Communism has declared itself for world revolution to overthrow all other forms of government.

Communist leaders may come and they may go, but the Red creed will not change so long as the iam lives.

Secretary of the Army Royall summed up the situation in his annual report for the department. He called Russia's blockade of Berlin a "day to day threat to the peace of the world." He said that "from the beginning of the blockade and up to the present time the situation in Berlin has been tense."

"It has been apparent," Royall said at another point, "that the Soviet authorities have had no intention of respecting past agreements or of composing the growing differences. On the contrary, it has been their manifest purpose to cause all possible confusion and conflict short of war, in an effort to drive us from Berlin and diminish American influence in Europe and in the world. The future of the Berlin situation — just as the future of other situations involving the Soviet Union — is hard to prophesy."

"We cannot and will not surrender our rights and principles. We will continue to do everything possible to avoid war."

Man-Carrying Rocket Proposed

CHICAGO — (AP) — Zoom! and straight up some rocket man will ride in a proposed rocket-powered winged missile.

The rocket, says a Chicago researcher, will reach its peak almost at the limit of the earth's atmosphere. Then, he said, it will glide safely back to earth. It will be called the first "space" ship.

The man-carrying rocket is being developed by Eugene A. Maynor, veteran rocketeer and chemical and mechanical engineer. Plans for development and launching of the winged rocket were disclosed by Maynor to a war veterans group.

He said his rocket ship would reach a speed of 1,400 miles an hour on its upward flight, under impetus of 80 seconds of power. It should continue upward for another 60 seconds at 700 mph, indicating a possible maximum altitude of between 30 and 36 miles.

After the fuel is exhausted and its speed slower, Maynor said, the rocket will become a fully controllable glider. The pilot could disengage the rocket motors and glide down to a landing at a speed of 46 miles an hour.

Flying Farmers Plan King Ranch Tour

KINGSVILLE — (AP) — About 180 members of the Texas Flying Farmers will fly to Kingsville for a meeting March 17-19.

The program includes a banquet, tour of the King Ranch, tour of the Texas A&I College experimental farms and a trip, by planes, to Fort Isabel, Tex., for a fish luncheon.

AUSTIN — Purchases of $34,000 worth of furnishings has been authorized for the University of Texas Eugene C. Barker Texas History Center by the Board of Regents.

Purchase bids will be called for in the near future and the campus center for Texas history will be another step nearer completion.

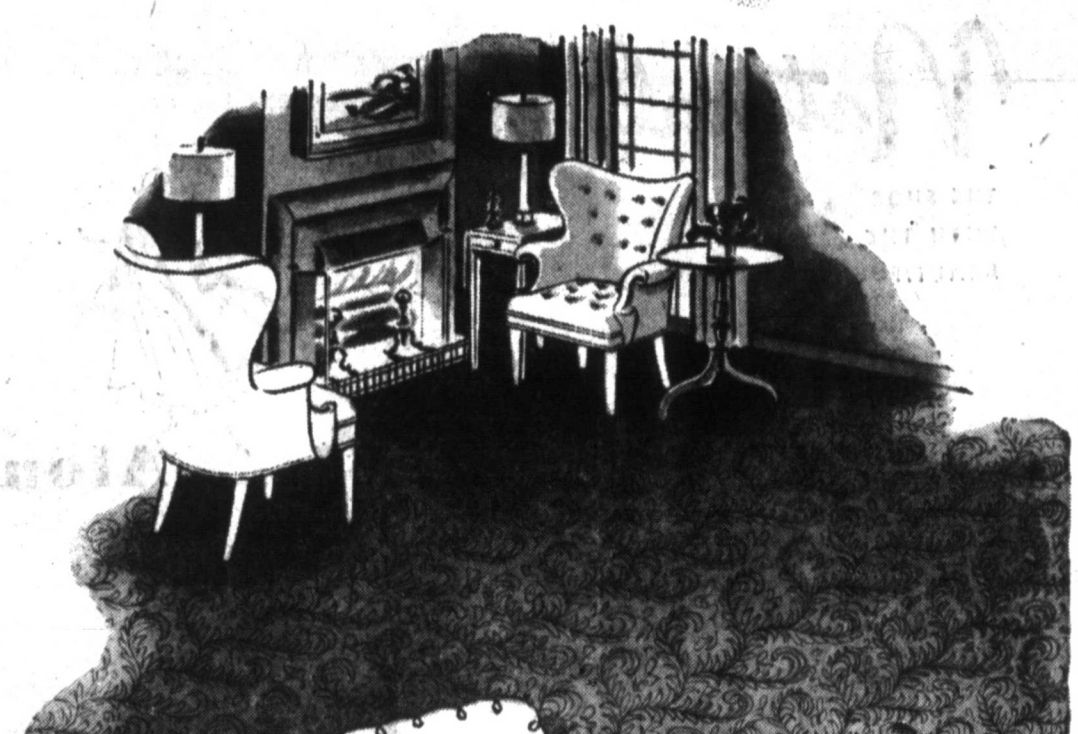

The center was proposed in the early 1930's, and in 1948 the University's Old Library Building was designated for that purpose with provisions for reconconditioning the building.

Workmen have been busy since fall, installing a new marble staircase, refinishing woodwork, partitioning off rooms and revising lighting systems.

 WASHINGTON — (AP) — No other expenditure of public funds nets so great a return for each dollar invested as that put into improving fire fighting operations, Texas congressmen told a House appropriations subcommittee. Communism Can Be Fought Only Through Education

By JAMES MARLOW
 WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman says it's through education alone that Western people can fight communism. "We must have leaders inspired from their earliest years with the ideals of democracy," he said in a talk at Rollins College, Fla. "It would have helped if he had been a little more specific on how the inspiring is done, or the form such education should take. You can drill a boy in the ideals of democracy, or communism, and he will believe either without thinking if he's the kind that accepts slogans without examining them. That's hardly sound training for future leadership in a democracy. As an example: The Declaration of Independence has shining phrases about all men created equal and the inalienable right to liberty. But liberty was only an ideal, not a fact, for many for almost 100 years after the words were written. There were slaves here when they were written and slaves here until the Civil War. And even now, for a lot of Americans who shout about democracy, the idea that all men are created equal is not a fact at all. But I wonder how many boys,

Radio-Active Carbon May Date Relics

BALTIMORE — (AP) — Archaeologists hope that a new method will soon enable them to put a date tag on every ancient bone and basket. It all started when scientists found considerable carbon-isotope 14 in Baltimore sewage.

Carbon-isotope 14, like ordinary carbon, is apparently found in all living matter. But it has some peculiarities which may make it an accurate recorder of time. If the theory works, it may be possible to tell the age of an Egyptian mummy—within limits of a very few years — by measuring the amount of isotope 14 in its bones.

Some archaeologists say the technique could be used as a check on the authenticity of religious relics—such as the fragments of the True Cross in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre at Jerusalem. A measurement of isotope 14 might show whether a relic is old enough to be genuine.

Dr. William Libby of the Institute of Nuclear Research, University of Chicago, is trying to determine just how far isotope 14 can be trusted as a time-clock. If his experiments are successful, Prof. William E. Albright of Johns Hopkins University (Baltimore) hopes to try out the new technique in Egypt and the Bible lands. The key to the theory is radioactivity.

Carbon-isotope 14 is a heavy, radioactive form of carbon that gradually turns into nitrogen as it gives off beta rays. It has an atomic weight of 14, while ordinary carbon has an atomic weight of 12.

The carbon 14 in living matter keeps on giving off beta rays and turning into nitrogen, just as it does in the air. However, living organisms keep getting more of it along with ordinary carbon, so that they have about the same percentage of it that the air has. (It is formed originally from the nitrogen in the air, by the energy of cosmic rays).

When a plant or animal dies, it stops getting new carbon. But the carbon 14 keeps giving off beta rays, and eventually disappears by turning into nitrogen.

Thus Professor Albright hopes it may be possible to tell, from the amount of carbon 14 still remaining in a mummy's bones, just when the mummy was buried. The age of a wooden basket in an Egyptian pharaoh's tomb may be calculated in the same way. Just how accurate the method will be depends on the outcome of Dr. Libby's experiments at Chicago.

Fresh methane gas from city sewers provide enough for the scientists to work with. Dr. Libby has no particular reason for using Baltimore sewage rather than the sewage of other cities, except that officials of the large disposal plant happened to be co-operative and had supplied industrial scientists before. As far as can be told at this stage, carbon 14 probably takes 6,000 years to disappear so completely that it cannot be measured. Accurate dating methods for ancient Egypt go back only 4,000 years—and only about 2,000 years or less for ancient American civilizations.

New 'Mostest' Claims to Be Made Soon for the Already Super B-36

By JAMES J. STREIB WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force's B-36 bomber, already known as the world's largest and longest flying warplane, will be recognized soon as the world's highest flying, hardest to shoot down and fastest propeller driven bomber.

The $2,720,000 B-36, product of the Consolidated Vultee Plant at Fort Worth, Texas, is the largest warplane by virtue of its over 300,000-pound gross weight. It is the longest flying because of its demonstrated range of over 8,000 miles. It is the only bomber able to carry any type bomb without modification.

Officials say privately new claims to be made for it will place its top speed under emergency conditions at more than 400 miles an hour and its operating altitude at 45,000 feet. Its combination of speed, altitude and defensive armament make it a nearly impossible target for jet fighters.

The Air Force soon will confirm reports that the B-36 will have four jet engines in twin power pods hung under its wing. These will give it emergency power of more than 20,000 pounds of thrust in addition to the 14,000 horsepower in its six conventional engines.

The belief that the huge B-36 can be operated only from a few bases has been wiped out. Men familiar with the work say 166 bases scattered over the world are suitable for sustained B-36 operations under combat conditions. Of these, 41 are in the United States, 16 elsewhere on this continent and 109 widely distributed overseas.

In addition, 285 military and civil airports throughout the world are rated satisfactory for occasionally setting down the big bomber at its normal landing weight of 200,000 pounds.

The B-36 is said to have the first completely new armament system installed since V-J Day. This includes 16 20 - millimeter cannons in eight turrets.

In defensive power the B-36 is as far beyond the B-29 as that air-borne battleship was ahead of early World War II bombers.

Interception tests have been made with jet fighters, and indications are that the B-36 has been intercepted successfully no better than once in a hundred tries.

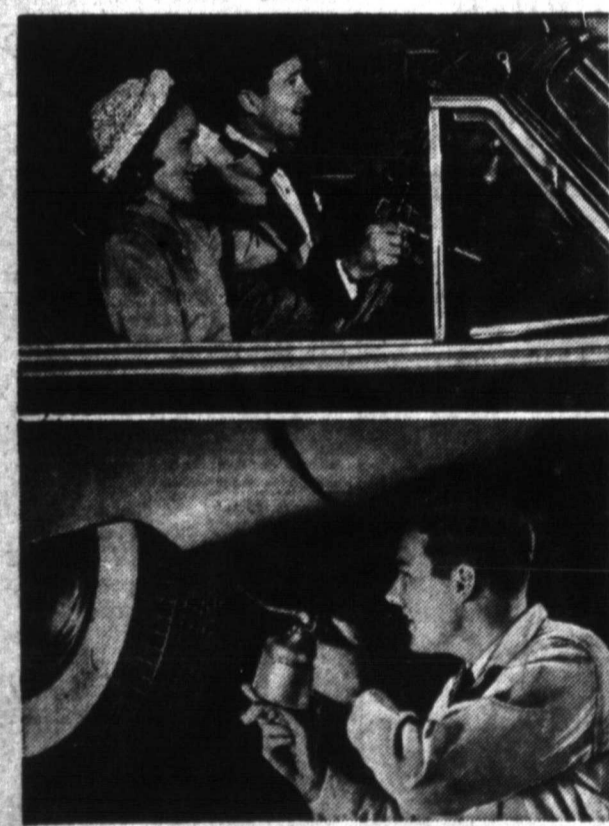

The Air Force has no interceptor yet flying to intercept a bomber operating at 45,000 feet. The first designed for such a job, the republic P-91 has not yet flown. Its four rocket motors and exceptionally powerful turbo-engine are expected to push it up to B-36 altitude in one-tenth the time required for con-
