

Axis Sally Is Convicted of Treason; Sentence Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars was convicted of treason yesterday but her punishment probably won't be known for a week or more.

A mixed jury found her guilty of broadcasting propaganda for the wartime German radio.

The maximum possible sentence is death in the electric chair; the minimum, five years in prison, a $10,000 fine and loss of her American citizenship.

Even in advance of sentencing, Miss Gillars' attorney served notice that he is not through fighting.

The first step, said James J. Laughlin, will be to file a motion asking Federal Judge Edward M. Curran to set aside the verdict and order a new trial. Laughlin has five days in which to take this action.

Miss Gillars, 48, who tearfully swore on the witness stand that she always loved this country and never intended to betray it, heard the verdict without visible emotion.

Attired in the same black dress she had worn almost every day of the long trial (it started Jan. 24), Miss Gillars stood grimly erect as the jury filed at 3:53 p.m. yesterday.

Her expression did not seem to change when the former M. A. B. H. member, said in a low voice that the jury had found her guilty, thus rejecting her story that she was forced to do propaganda work for the Nazis.

Then, at Laughlin's request, each juror was asked separately how he or she voted. In turn, the seven men and five women said "guilty."

The entire conviction proceeding, once it got underway, took only a few minutes. White-haired Judge Curran, like Miss Gillars a native of Maine, took the bench at 3:50 p.m. Marshals brought Miss Gillars in two minutes later, and the jury entered a minute after that.

When the polling of the jury had ended, a marshal pulled on Miss Gillars' chair as a signal to go. She took quick, soft steps, once turning sideways to look at her half-sister, Mrs. Edna Mae Herrick of Conneaut, Ohio.

Miss Gillars first was taken to a small lock-up in the Court-house basement. She paced nervously, smoking a cigarette down to a stub. A reporter made his way through the crowd to the cell block and asked her comment on the verdict.

"I wish those who judged me would be willing to risk their lives for America as I did," she replied.

Miss Gillars seemed willing—maybe anxious—to talk more, but a marshal ended that.

Youth Charged in Slaying Of Guardian, Dean at TCU

Boy Wanted For Murder Still Missing

CLEBURNE (AP)—Arthur Clayton Hester, 18, was charged with murder today in the mysterious slaying of his guardian, Dr. John Lord, 69, Texas Christian Graduate School dean.

The Canadian-born educator, missing two days, was found dead yesterday in his rambling country home near Burleson, 12 miles south of Fort Worth.

The body, fully dressed, was found on a bed in a back room of the secluded house by two TCU students who went to investigate Lord's absence from school.

Hester, who made his home with Lord, is missing. Lord obtained Hester's release from the State Orphan Home in Corsicana in 1945 and became his guardian.

Lord's body was badly beaten. His wallet was empty and the house bore evidence that a struggle preceded the dean's death.

Lord's gray four-door sedan was found Tuesday night at a garage in Coahoma, Tex., between Cleburne and El Paso.

J. B. Martin, owner of the garage, said it was brought there by two boys. The car's clutch was burned out. Martin said the boys abandoned the car, one taking a bus for Big Spring and the other for El Paso.

Another witness was expected to be Dr. Hector P. Garcia, president of the American GI Forum. He protested to state and national authorities what he called discrimination against the Longoria family.

Two witnesses called yesterday denied these charges. One was a resident of the American GI Forum. He protested to state and national authorities what he called discrimination against the Longoria family.

T. W. Kennedy, Jr., owner and operator of the Rice Funeral Home here testified yesterday that he discouraged use of his funeral chapel for the funeral of Mrs. Longoria.

Dr. Boze had practiced medicine at Carthage, Tenn., for over 50 years. He was also health officer of his county, a member of the Methodist Church, and a Mason. He had been in poor health about two years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Eva Boze of 1301 16th Ave., S. Nashville; by four daughters, Mrs. Hatcher, Mrs. Cecil Oston of Rock City, Tenn.; Miss Oda Boze and Mrs. Blanche Gore, both of Nashville; and by one son, Charles, also of Nashville.

Services will be held at the Methodist Church in Carthage Sunday afternoon and burial will be in the Carthage cemetery.

Rent Ceilings To Be Dropped In Small Cities

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a desperate bid to save rent controls for big cities and defense areas, the administration today promised to scrap rent ceilings in more than 100 rural and small city areas.

Rep. Patman (D-Tex.) announced the decontrol plan. At the same time he predicted "a wave of strikes" over the country, if Congress fails to continue rent controls for industrial areas where there are housing shortages.

The workers simply cannot stand rent increases from 50 to 500 percent," Patman said. "A vote to lift rent controls is a vote for strike."

The administration's move came as Republicans with the help of some Democrats threatened to take over the reins in the House and limit any rent control legislation to only 90 days. It confronted President Truman with his biggest test of power in the new Congress.

Leaders called the House into session at 9 a.m. (CST) two hours earlier than usual, to set up a showdown vote by nightfall.

There are now 600 rent control areas. The heaviest attack on continuing controls comes from House members representing large rural areas. By lifting controls in many rural communities administration forces hope to pick up some votes for their rent bill.

Tight Woods, rent administrator, agreed to the decontrol plan under a provision of the administration bill that would let him put these areas back under control if rents jump unreasonably.

Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.) predicted defeat for the Republican 90-day proposal and said he expected rent controls to be continued for 15 months. But barring an overnight change of mind among some Democrats, the issue remained in doubt.

Democrats claimed that rents would be controlled in the interim. They also claimed that the group is headed by E. J. Keith, according to reports, but he was not in town this morning for a statement.

The employees are geophysicists, and they brought with them field equipment.

The families are having difficulty in finding places to live, it was learned. Most of them stayed last night at the Hillson Hotel.

Senate Nears Critical Vote on Barkley Ruling to Halt Filibuster

FLOODS AND ICE ENDANGER RIVER CRAFT—The small barge at right, loaded with pilings for use in flood control, failed to reach its destination when it and the river boat pushing it were moved into a protective cut on the Missouri River near Atchison, Kans., to protect them from being swept away by the force of swirling flood waters and floating ice. Massed ice cakes surround them. (NEA Telephoto.)

WASHINGTON (AP)—A halt does not seem to be in the mind of power today as the Senate neared a critical vote on a ruling by Vice President Barkley opening the way to halt a 10-day Southern filibuster.

At the climax of eight hours of sometimes fiery argument, Barkley held valid last night a debate-limiting petition filed by Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, and 33 colleagues.

Senator Russell (D-Ga.), general of a Dixie band fighting a long range battle against President Truman's civil rights program, immediately appealed to the Senate to reverse the vice president's decision.

Russell's appeal was pending as senators began the 11th day of a word war over a proposed change in rules. This rule change would permit two-thirds of the senators voting to gag debate at any time.

Barkley held that the affirmative vote of two-thirds of those present is enough to clamp a limit on the debate that has been going on over Lucas' motion to bring up the rule change. His ruling did not go as far as the rules change proposal.

Barkley held in a 35-minute opinion that the Senate had never confronted the situation it now faces.

Always before, he said, debate limitation had been denied by a motion such as Lucas' to take up a bill because there was some other pending business before the Senate.

So, he said, he didn't feel that previous decisions were binding on him.

Whether Barkley will be upheld or reversed in this decision appeared to rest with half a dozen (See SENATE, Page 3)

Religious Liberty to Be Probed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A proposal for an unprecedented conference on religious liberty between top Protestant world leaders and the Vatican world before representatives of 35 million American Protestants today.

Consideration of the plan is expected near the close of a four-day conference on Christian influences in international affairs. Sponsoring the meeting is the Department of International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

The plan was conceived, a resolution said, because "recent actions of the Hungarian government leading to the conviction of Cardinal Mindszenty and (Lutheran) Bishop Ordass have shocked the conscience of freedom-loving men all over the world."

Action was postponed last night after lengthy debate.

Some delegates approached the question of conferring with the Vatican gingerly, they said, because they are dubious about reaching agreement on definitions of religious liberty.

The resolution said the conference was needed "in order that clear understanding be reached as to what each (Protestant and Catholic faith) means by religious liberty for all men, everywhere and under every form of government, and as to the methods whereby the full observance thereof should be sought."

Meanwhile a majority of the delegates were on record as approving a statement that the U. S. "must maintain sufficient strength to convince Soviet Russia that attempts to impose an ideology by force cannot succeed."

Also recommended yesterday for attention and action by 57 denominations and allied religious bodies participating in the conference were these ideas in the statement on Soviet-American tensions:

1. Unable to act on the Atlantic pact because they have not seen its text, delegates believe "no defensive alliance should be entered into which might validly appear as aggressive to Russia, as a Russian alliance with Latin American countries undoubtedly appear to us."

2. Regional pacts within the United Nations framework are desirable if based on "a natural community of interest." But "regional military alliances are no substitute" for relief of human needs.

3. "Hysteria" in regard to communism was detected. "Some of the methods" of the former Un-American Activities Committees (See RELIGIOUS, Page 3)

Automatic Meters Are Installed

A few of the city's new two-hour, automatic parking meters were put up yesterday around the City Hall.

The silver-colored Park-O-Meters are fully automatic; there are no handles to turn. All the motorist does is put his pennies or nickels in the slot; the meter does the rest.

These meters are set to handle any combination of pennies and nickels up to two hours' worth at the regular rate of 12 minutes for a penny, an hour for one nickel, two hours for two nickels.

No parking time will be registered for a dime, H. A. Doggett, meter man for the Police Department, warned motorists. The machines are not slotted for dimes and any dime put in the meter will be lost; no parking time will be registered for anything except pennies and nickels.

With the installation of the new meters around the City Hall, the city now has three kinds of meters in regular use.

The brilliant silver color of the new ones is unmistakable; they are two-hour, automatic meters that will take any combination of pennies and nickels up to two hours' worth.

The majority of the other meters, the familiar bluish-green Mik-O-Meter, are one-hour meters that will take from one to five pennies or one nickel for an hour's parking time.

But the meters on the one block of W. Foster between N. Frost and N. Somerville are two-hour annual meters.

The machines on this one block will take either one or two nickels for one or two hours' worth.

THREE RIVERS, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Longoria, widow of a Latin-American soldier whose reburial caused a widespread dispute, was to testify today before a legislative committee investigating the matter.

Geophysicists Arrive Here

A group of families of Continental Oil Co. employees arrived in Pampa yesterday, and a second group was to arrive within a day or two, it was learned unofficially today.

The employees are geophysicists, and they brought with them field equipment.

The families are having difficulty in finding places to live, it was learned. Most of them stayed last night at the Hillson Hotel.

Father and Son Charged With Intercepting, Passing Check

A father and son were behind bars in two different states today on charges of intercepting and passing a government check that was removed from the mails here on April 12, 1948.

Asst. U. S. District Attorney Cavett Binion in Fort Worth this morning said charges of interception and passing of a government check were authorized to be filed in Amarillo against Brady Jones and his son, Cecil Jones, 24, of Somerville. The father is being held in Carthage, Colo., awaiting transfer to Amarillo by the U. S. Marshal's Office in this district. Cecil Jones is being held here in the County Jail.

The case was first brought to Gray County officers' attention Wednesday when Deputy Sheriff Thomas Farby of Borger called Chief Deputy Rufus Jordan and told him he was holding a photostatic copy of a government check for $361.49 that was cashed at a Borger drug store on April 12, 1948. Farby told Jordan the name of Cecil Jones and his address were on the check as a counter-endorsement.

Jordan picked up Jones at his home on S. Somerville Wednesday afternoon, brought him to the sheriff's office and questioned him.

The chief deputy gave this account of the story: The check for $361.49 had been made out to Albert and Marguerite Faye Bismuke and represented a refund on the couple's income tax for 1947. Mrs. Bismuke is a sister to Cecil Jones and the daughter of Brady Jones.

A large red barn, stacks of corn, a scarecrow and individual stacks of meat covered a table and a ship with flag favors covered another.

Small milk bottles were the individual favors at another table which had a creamery and dairy truck as its centerpiece. Others were: a large sheep shed, cotton sheep and miniature figures of early day Texans; carbon black factory with tanks and samples of matches from U. S. Carbide Carbon Company; cattle branding scene with workmen beginning branding on cattle; individual brands as place cards; and small individual favors of Golden Leaf brand.

Senior Play Big Success

The SRO sign was out before curtain time last night at the first performance of the Senior Play, "Home Sweet Home," given in the High School Auditorium by a cast ably directed by Miss Thelma Henstle, High School dramatics instructor.

The play opens when April, Dinah and Archie Carstairs, played by Jewel Beckham, Patty Bolin and Dan Stallings, are discussing the fate of their poor mother, mystery story-writer mother (Nanette Campbell). They decide she must be found.

Patty Bolin hits upon the idea that Garrison would make an ideal husband for her mother and also a pretty good stepfather.

As the comedy-drama becomes more complicated, the Carstairs youngsters begin to wonder if (See SENIOR, Page 3)

History of Texas Revived in Decorations For Second Annual 7th Grade Banquet

More than 300 seventh graders crowded around 11 large tables in the Junior High School Cafeteria last night at the second annual seventh grade banquet-program to revive the history of Texas.

Miss Babs Eaton, art teacher, and her students had been planning table decorations for the big night for the past month.

Each seventh grade home room picked a theme with which to decorate one of the tables. Besides having a large centerpiece, each table also had individual favors.

Donny Webb served as toastmaster and presided over the program. John Carruth gave the invocation and the seventh graders then began their barbecued beef banquet.

Following the meal, Patsy Stovall played the piano while the whole group sang "Texas Ouf Texas." A girls quartet, composed of Judy Nance, Phoebe

BASIC SCIENCE BILL READY FOR FINAL HOUSE PASSAGE

AUSTIN (AP)—The explosive basic science bill awaits final passage.

Bitterly fought for two days on the House floor, the bill was passed on the 41st vote yesterday night 90 to 41. The vote indicated sure victory for supporters in final House action.

The bill has been repeatedly sponsored in numerous Legislatures by the Texas State Medical Association and just as regularly by the chiropractic profession. It would require a state examination in the basic sciences as a requirement for practicing any phase of the healing arts.

Whether it will have as good fortune in the Senate remains to be seen. Virtually the same bill was approved by the House two years ago but died in the upper chamber.

One amendment after another was offered as opponents sought to stall off the bill setting up a state board to examine and license practitioners of the healing arts. The amendments were steadily defeated, and the proposal was passed without major change.

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas blasted at the bill as "one of the worst in this Legislature. Speaking of class legislation, this is it." Proponents spent little time arguing the merits of the act, but Rep. Jack Ridgeway of San Antonio championed its cause.

"This is a step forward in the right direction to lift the healing arts and save or help some poor citizen from being treated by someone not qualified," he told the House.

The Senate adjourned early yesterday afternoon until Monday, and the House followed suit when the basic science struggle ended at 7:30 p.m.

Senators dropped in 52 new bills as the sixtieth day of the session today brought the deadline for introduction of proposed legislation. The House suspended rules to extend the filing period two weeks because so many members still had bills to enter.

Even after the deadline, legislators may offer new bills with permission of four-fifths of the members in either house, and the Governor may recommend emergency legislation at any time.

New Senate bills included two that would revise the system of preparing the state's budget for legislative consideration.

Senator A. M. Aikin, Jr., of Paris proposed that control of the budget be shifted to the state auditor instead of the board of control. The auditor would be required to submit to the Governor by Nov. 1 before each legislative session a budget showing state agencies' requests for funds and the auditor's recommendations. The Governor would be required to write his recommendation on each item by Dec. 15.

Senator Dorsey B. Hardeman of San Angelo suggested a state budget board consisting of the Legislative Audit Committee and a director of the budget to be appointed by the committee and confirmed by the Senate. A submission of a preliminary budget to the Governor would be required by Dec. 1 preceding a session. The Governor would not have to add his recommendations.

The Senate approved a House bill permitting counties on the Gulf Coast to create mosquito control districts, however, the bill was returned to the House with an amendment to require only 200 citizens to petition an election to dissolve such a district. The House version would require 2,000 signers.

Gov. Allan Shivers named Senator Rogers Kelley of Edinburg to head a newly created Senate Committee on Water Rights, Irrigation and Drainage.

A Senate committee approved a proposed Constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $200 million in bonds to finance water conservation projects in Texas. The measure goes to the Senate calendar.

Public hearings scheduled before House committees last night were postponed until next week. Rep. Blake Timmons' bill reworking and modifying labor legislation of the past eight years will be heard at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Other bills introduced in the Senate yesterday would: Bring nursery and kindergarten schools under control of the State (See BASIC, Page 3)

Sutherland, executive secretary of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, said he thought the controversy was "largely a newspaper matter rather than something Three Rivers is greatly disturbed about." Sutherland said Garcia asked the state agency to take action in the dispute. Sutherland said he telephoned Kennedy and asked that the reburial services be held in the funeral home chapel. He testified that Kennedy finally said the services could be held in the chapel "if the family insists." Kennedy's first reply, Sutherland said, was, "the white people here would object to that and I couldn't start that sort of thing."

SENATE

(Continued from Page 1) senators—most of them Republicans—who won't tell how they are going to vote. The showdown will come when Lucas moves—probably today—to lay Russell's appeal on the table. Such a motion cuts off further debate and gives a majority of those voting a chance to decide the issue. Southerners remained confident that, with the help of some Republicans, they can overturn Barkley's ruling. That would mean that the administration—faced with a continued filibuster—would have to give up its attempt to change the rules and probably its effort to pass any civil rights legislation in this session. On the other hand, if Barkley is upheld by a majority of those voting, Russell's appeal will be tabled and the Senate will vote automatically at 12 noon (CST) tomorrow on applying a debate gag. Administration lieutenants said they now have a "good chance" of beating Russell's appeal. If Barkley is upheld, it will require "yes" votes by two-thirds of those balloting tomorrow to clamp a limitation on debate. If that happens, senators can talk only an hour apiece after that time.

At the time of the check's arrival, on April 12, at the Olsen home, Mrs. Bismuke was ill in a Haskell, Okla., hospital where she had undergone major surgery. Both her father and brother were aware of the fact at the time. Bismuke had previously asked his sister-in-law to forward the check immediately as they needed it for hospital expenses. Brady and Cecil Jones were at the Olsen home the day the check arrived and was forwarded to the Bismukes in Haskell. Later Brady and Cecil Jones went to the local Postoffice where the father told a postal clerk he had mailed a letter to the Bismukes and put the wrong address on it. He is alleged to have obtained the envelope, opened it, removed the check and then readdressed the empty envelope to himself in care of general delivery, Liberal, Kans. The two are said to have left the Postoffice here and gone to Berger where Cecil endorsed the check as "Faye Bismuke" and then counter-endorsed it with his name and address. The check was cashed at the Berger drug store. The pair then went to Liberal, where Brady Jones got the empty envelope he had addressed to himself, and destroyed it. Returning to Amarillo, they bought a 1935 Ford coach from some unknown Amarillo dealer. Brady Jones went from there to Artesia, Colo. Cecil Jones signed a statement for officers here admitting his part. Wednesday night Jordan contacted the Sheriff's Department in Artesia and Brady was picked up in less than 12 hours. U. S. postal inspectors were called into the case, and the complaint was filed late yesterday in the U. S. District Clerk's office in Amarillo while the U. S. marshal, in the meantime, was preparing to leave for Colorado to return Brady Jones to Amarillo. The son, at noon today still remained in the Gray County jail. Cecil Jones one question, however, to officers was: Where was the check all this time? The check all this time, officers said this morning, was lying in

(Continued From Page One) the other hitchhiker a ride out of Coahoma. A youth, fitting Hester's description, was detained early today at El Paso. He was arrested at the Army YMCA after a motorist reported he became suspicious of a hitchhiker that rode with him from Big Spring to El Paso. Detective Capt. W. C. Wolverton said the motorist, W. A. Pettinger of Dallas, later said that the man detained was not the hitchhiker. El Paso authorities immediately took up a new hunt for the hitchhiker. Lord's body was discovered by Bill Marshall and John Dekker, both 21. The two students climbed through a window after finding doors locked. Johnson County Sheriff Houston Walling filed the charge against Hester before Justice of the Peace R. L. Derryberry at Cleburne. It was signed by District Attorney John A. James, Jr. Cleburne is the county seat of Johnson County, home of Dr. Lord. Supt. Moyne L. Kelly of the state home at Corsicana said Hester met Lord after the youth ran off from there. "On Sept. 11, 1945," Kelly said, "the home got a letter from Dr. Lord asking that we release Hester to him. Lord wrote that he was greatly impressed with the boy. He said he was a good boy and needed help." The boy was released to Lord Sept. 19, on a 90-day trial basis. On Feb. 10, 1946, the release was made permanent. PREJUDICE (Continued From Page One) services, but not because of prejudice, Kennedy said he had heard there was "serious trouble" between Longoria's widow and his parents and that was his "sole reason" for discouraging use of the chapel. Guadalupe Longoria, 66, the soldier's father, denied there were any differences between the widow and the rest of the family. Mayor J. K. Montgomery, last witness called yesterday, testified, "Latin-Americans are not being discriminated against and there is no agitation here." Thomas S. Sutherland, executive secretary of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, said he thought the controversy was "largely a newspaper matter rather than something Three Rivers is greatly disturbed about." Sutherland said Garcia asked the state agency to take action in the dispute. Sutherland said he telephoned Kennedy and asked that the reburial services be held in the funeral home chapel. He testified that Kennedy finally said the services could be held in the chapel "if the family insists." Kennedy's first reply, Sutherland said, was, "the white people here would object to that and I couldn't start that sort of thing."

A mad of genuine penitence is therefore demanded of us—individual and nations alike." 5. "There should be no attempt by our government or any non-Communist government to destroy Communist institutions or to interfere with the right of any nation to choose freely its own form of political and economic organization." 7. An end of racial segregation and discrimination by "race, creed or color" was asked.

He can put in one penny for 12 minutes, a penny and a nickel for an hour and 12 minutes, or one or two nickels for one or two hours. The meters on this one block are the only ones that will not take more than one penny. The automatic meters will take from one to ten pennies and the one-hour manual meters will take from one to five pennies. All meters except the new silver automatic are manually operated. The motorist must turn the handle after depositing his coin for the time to register.

RENT

(Continued From Page One) would jump 50 to 600 percent if controls were lifted. Republicans retorted that such controls in peacetime are "socialism." All rent controls on 14 million dwelling places die March 31, unless renewed. Even if the administration is victorious in the House there is the threat that controls may expire before the Senate can act on them. The main issues in the House—besides the Republican 90-day plan—shaped up like this: 1. A proposed amendment by Rep. Paul Brown (D-Ga.) would assure landlords "a reasonable return" on their property. Although the administration said that would be hard to enforce, it had strong support from Democratic leaders who hoped it might take some of the steam out of the GOP drive. 2. Another Republican amendment would end federal controls entirely and turn the problem over to the states.

the Berger drug company safe where it came bouncing back last April marked "suspected forgery." The drug store first took up the case last year shortly after it bounced and then for some reason the matter was dropped until the management began going over books and came upon the check again. The check was taken to the Hutchinson County sheriff's office, the call put through, and the arrest made. The latest development came this morning when Blinton, told the News that charges were to be filed today on his authorization.

Five thousand fifty persons attended the churches of Pampa last Sunday, it was announced today by the Kiwanis Club Support of Churches Committee. The committee, which is conducting a drive for a record church attendance in Pampa during March and April, has set a goal of 10,001 persons in attendance this Sunday. The Rev. Russell G. Slides To Be Shown To Church Group

Kodachrome slides taken "south of the border" by Leonard Brummett will be shown when those interested in the First Christian Church School of Missions gather at the church from 6:30-7:30 p.m. Sunday. Brummett took the pictures during the summer of 1948 when he was sent to Camohmla, Mexico, to observe and work in a rural reconstruction center. He was sent by the United Christian Missionary Society. Brummett also wrote a script to go with the slides. Other slides of Christian mission work in Mexico will be shown. He is a living link in training from the church and plans to travel to China after finishing his preparatory work in Phillips University, Cornell, College of the Bible and Yale University.

Mrs. Paul Hawthorne will lead the kindergarten children; Mrs. Lester Mason and Dorothy Barritt, the primary; Mrs. Emory Noblitt, the Junior; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Enloe, the intermediate; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Harden, Seniors; and Miss Yauccelle Moore and Mrs. DeLea Vicars, adults. Children also will see a film on Mexico. The Junior Department is accepting a project to furnish some needed books for a Mexican institution. The School of Missions is furnishing Peter Solomon, native of India at Phillips University, Enid, Okla., with pencils, tablets, crayons, and money to take back to India to school students. Solomon said that whether a child has a pencil can be the determining factor of whether or not he can go to school. Pencils cost 60 cents there and half a pencil will last a child a year, he said.

POP Goes the QUEEN

THE STORY: John Henry and his Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, witness the death of Homer Anglin. He is a friend, he whispers to Johnny, "You already got it." Anglin previously had apparently mistaken the Conovers for someone else. Then the Conover quarters are occupied by Faye Jordan under a pretext of a reservation mixup. At a swimming pool Johnny meets a girl, Faye. She, slightly jealous, suddenly finds herself in company with Suzanne Robertson, an archeologist who calls her "Mrs. Jordan" as if in the secret. She was called by that name—once before by Mr. Robertson, the owner of the resort. "You're not to be called 'Mrs. Jordan' unless you have 'no interference.' Meanwhile Faye has offered to take Johnny to an interesting place."

THE road was bumpy even in her convertible Mercury. John Henry coned the girl's profile against the speeding desert. Almost classic, if you liked a nose that regally turned up a little. Then he reached the conclusion that her chin curved toward the delicate throat too soon. It didn't balance the forehead which arched up to her ebony braids. Faye ruined his analysis with a bou-doir smile. "We're almost there now, Johnny." "Good. Where?" She lowered her lashes enigmatically. John Henry couldn't get an answer for that particular question. Back at the pool, Faye had suddenly told him he would be interested in seeing a fascinating place—a secret place. Curious, but inwardly hesitant, he had allowed himself to be carried away from the Las Dunas, through Azure and out across the rolling plains to the south. A mile or so back, Faye had wheeled the Mercury off on a dirt road, still holding to a speed that made the conservative John Henry shudder. She had changed her bathing suit for a play dress, pink with faint horizontal white stripe, full skirt, low-backed and with a bare midriff. The exposed stomach bothered John Henry more; it always did in a street length dress. What bothered him more was the card. He could see the white edge of its stiff cardboard protruding from the pocket on her left thigh. Why did she carry it in everything she wore? The car lurched gaily around a hairpin curve. "Why don't you slow down a little," he suggested tentatively. "Don't you like going fast?" "What's the big hurry?" "What's life? What's death?" Faye asked rhetorically, her eyes immense. "THE Mercury leaped ahead faster than ever and Faye laughed exultingly. John Henry hunched down in the red-leather seat. Sin had been right. He should have taken her advice. It would be tough on her when she heard how he had been killed. "There it is," Faye announced happily and John Henry realized he had his eyes shut. He opened them now. The Mercury had topped a slight rise in the desert and was rolling headlong down the incline on the other side toward a barbed-wire fence which vaulted the road in the form of a log archway. The swinging sign spelled out Bar C Ranch in twigs. Beyond the fence, man's dissatisfied hand showed. The mesquite, sagebrush and greasewood had been banished. In their place sprouted feathery green tamarisk trees, rows of pink and white oleanders and, of course, the omnipresent palms. A hundred yards back from the archway rested the bulk of the large house. It was low and rambling, devoted more to length than to height. Wings spread forth haphazardly to the right and the left. The ranch house was evidently constructed of adobe, plastered with a beige stucco. It had been little as he realizes it. "My God shall supply all your need," says the Apostle. And first in man's need is "the Kingdom of God, and His righteousness." "Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday. The Golden Text is: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen" (Hebrews 11:1). Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not highminded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly in all things to enjoy" (I Timothy 6:17). The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Paul and John had a clear apprehension that, as mortal man achieves no worldly honors except by sacrifice, so he must gain heavenly riches by forsaking all worldlyness" (page 489).

World Needs the Ministry of Jesus

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. "The Son of Man," said Jesus, referring to Himself, "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28). What does it mean to minister? The dictionary says that it means to supply as something needed. The great outstanding fact concerning humanity is human need. Young and old, rich and poor, sick and well, of every time, race, and color, the one common denominator of the human family is need. There are needs that the greatest wealth cannot supply, and needs that the most robust health cannot furnish. Man needs food, warmth and rest. He needs health and peace of mind. Besides innumerable other needs of which he is aware, he needs a great deal of which he is not conscious. It is a part of man's progress to become aware of new and expanding needs. Jesus came to supply man's need, or to teach men the way to God's supply. He fed men's bodies, but He brought to them the bread of life. He healed man's diseases, but He was the physician to sin-sick souls. He offered men rest. He ministered to man's need of faith, hope and vision. There was no need of man to which Jesus did not minister. And we ought to write that in the present tense, for there is no need of man to which Jesus does not minister today. Even the basic physical needs of man for food, health, housing and welfare can be met in our modern complex world only as men learn to be mutually helpful, and minister to one another, in the spirit of Jesus. It is ministry that the world most needs. But the supreme ministry of Jesus was the ministry of salvation, the ministry in which He did indeed give His life a ransom for many. As a boy I was impressed by a picture in a boys' paper that came to our house. It was a shipwreck at sea, a vessel returning from the California gold fields, with miners laden down with their bags of gold across the deck with their "Take it, who will; we are all going down." The man who has spent life getting and grabbing, and even being very successful at it, is like those miners.

Movie Slump Ascribed to Dullness

by BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Everybody's got a reason for the movie slump and now Dan Dalley offers a new and original one—film stars are too dull. The song and dance man gave this wistful comment: "We actors advertise the fact that we lead a terribly simple life and limit our adventures to the small space directly in front of the camera. Except for an occasional actress falling in love with a prince, or some star carrying on a transcontinental courtship, most of us must sound pretty dull to movie audiences. They want their movie heroes dished up with a dash of excitement." Now Dalley doesn't advocate wholesale immorality among the film famous. The thing can be done without breaking moral or criminal laws. He cites the feuds of Pola Negri and Gloria Swanson, the gaudy attire that Western stars sport in public, Clark Gable's soupy cars, Greta Garbo's silence and Lana Turner's well-filled sweaters. Dalley, who is up for an Academy award for "When My Baby Smiles at Me," said that Hollywood publicity errs in picturing new stars as "just like the boy or girl next door." "A star is a star because he is different from the average," he declared. Dalley admitted that he contributed little to the glamor of Hollywood. "I probably lead a more ordinary life than most movie actors," he said sadly. Although scientists believe the energy of the world is constant and that no new energy can be created, scientists for centuries have been attempting unsuccessfully to create a perpetual motion machine which would run without fuel.

Zion Lutherans To Have Speaker

The Rev. H. F. Feiman, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Borger, will occupy the pulpit in Zion Lutheran Church for the second Midweek Lenten service Thursday. The hour of worship will begin at 7:30 p.m. The theme of pastor Feiman's address will be: "Peter, The Boaster, Cured." In the regular morning hour of worship this Sunday the local pastor will speak on the theme: "Love Not the World." The Sunday School lesson is the story of Jesus in Gethsemane. The Adult Bible Class will continue its study of the Apostles' Creed.

Bill Would Make College Separate

AUSTIN — (P) — A bill to separate North Texas State Teachers' College at Denton from the state teachers' college setup was introduced in the Senate by R. L. Proffer of Justin. It was referred to the Committee on State Affairs. The change would be effective Sept. 1, 1949. The Proffer bill would change the name of the institution to North Texas State College and create a separate governing board for it. The effect will be to make it a general institution of higher learning. The bill notes that the college's enrollment has "increased rapidly in the last several years to the point where said college is now one of the leading educational institutions in Texas and the great Southwest." Commenting on the need for the bill, Proffer said the school has grown "by leaps and bounds." "We are not fighting any other education institution, but just seeking to set it up as a separate college with a separate governing board," Proffer said. "It has long passed the point where it is merely a teacher training institution. It is a first-class college and is so recognized by accrediting agencies. It has many departments—such as music—that are tops in the field of state-supported colleges." Under Proffer's bill North Texas State would continue to be a coeducational institution. "The scope of work and activities of the newly created North Texas State College shall be the same as it now being carried on by the existing North Texas State Teachers' College, said work on activities to be increased or diminished, altered or changed in any manner deemed by the governing board to be conducive to the betterment of the services offered, or which may be offered, by the institution," the bill provides. It sets up machinery for transfer of properties, and provides that the Board of Regents shall be appointed by the Governor for six-year terms, subject to Senate confirmation. The teachers' colleges now are all under the management of one board of regents.

POP Goes the QUEEN
By Bob Wade and Bill Miller

THE STORY: John Henry and his Conover, vacationing at a swank resort, witness the death of Homer Anglin. He is a friend, he whispers to Johnny, "You already got it." Anglin previously had apparently mistaken the Conovers for someone else. Then the Conover quarters are occupied by Faye Jordan under a pretext of a reservation mixup. At a swimming pool Johnny meets a girl, Faye. She, slightly jealous, suddenly finds herself in company with Suzanne Robertson, an archeologist who calls her "Mrs. Jordan" as if in the secret. She was called by that name—once before by Mr. Robertson, the owner of the resort. "You're not to be called 'Mrs. Jordan' unless you have 'no interference.' Meanwhile Faye has offered to take Johnny to an interesting place."

THE road was bumpy even in her convertible Mercury. John Henry coned the girl's profile against the speeding desert. Almost classic, if you liked a nose that regally turned up a little. Then he reached the conclusion that her chin curved toward the delicate throat too soon. It didn't balance the forehead which arched up to her ebony braids. Faye ruined his analysis with a bou-doir smile. "We're almost there now, Johnny." "Good. Where?" She lowered her lashes enigmatically. John Henry couldn't get an answer for that particular question. Back at the pool, Faye had suddenly told him he would be interested in seeing a fascinating place—a secret place. Curious, but inwardly hesitant, he had allowed himself to be carried away from the Las Dunas, through Azure and out across the rolling plains to the south. A mile or so back, Faye had wheeled the Mercury off on a dirt road, still holding to a speed that made the conservative John Henry shudder. She had changed her bathing suit for a play dress, pink with faint horizontal white stripe, full skirt, low-backed and with a bare midriff. The exposed stomach bothered John Henry more; it always did in a street length dress. What bothered him more was the card. He could see the white edge of its stiff cardboard protruding from the pocket on her left thigh. Why did she carry it in everything she wore? The car lurched gaily around a hairpin curve. "Why don't you slow down a little," he suggested tentatively. "Don't you like going fast?" "What's the big hurry?" "What's life? What's death?" Faye asked rhetorically, her eyes immense. "THE Mercury leaped ahead faster than ever and Faye laughed exultingly. John Henry hunched down in the red-leather seat. Sin had been right. He should have taken her advice. It would be tough on her when she heard how he had been killed. "There it is," Faye announced happily and John Henry realized he had his eyes shut. He opened them now. The Mercury had topped a slight rise in the desert and was rolling headlong down the incline on the other side toward a barbed-wire fence which vaulted the road in the form of a log archway. The swinging sign spelled out Bar C Ranch in twigs. Beyond the fence, man's dissatisfied hand showed. The mesquite, sagebrush and greasewood had been banished. In their place sprouted feathery green tamarisk trees, rows of pink and white oleanders and, of course, the omnipresent palms. A hundred yards back from the archway rested the bulk of the large house. It was low and rambling, devoted more to length than to height. Wings spread forth haphazardly to the right and the left. The ranch house was evidently constructed of adobe, plastered with a beige stucco. It had been

TEXAS LADY LOSES 47 POUNDS

The following remarkable story shows conclusively that Barcostrate DOES take off fat. It contains nothing harmful. In fact, it contains ingredients that make you feel better. No starvation diet—no weakness—no hunger. Barcostrate is a liquid grapefruit juice recipe, takes off fat quickly, safely and you can eat plenty.

Here is proof

Here is what Mrs. H. F. Bishop, Route 2, Stamford, Texas, wrote us:

"I am very glad to endorse Barcostrate, so please accept my sincere thanks and appreciation for the great benefit I derived from its use. I not only lost weight, but also looked a lot better in every way."

"I had to have a very serious operation and was told that I must lose a lot of weight before the operation could be performed. I went on a diet and tried very hard to reduce, but wasn't losing much weight until I heard of Barcostrate. I began taking it and could soon tell the difference in the way I felt and the weight I was losing. I weighed 160 pounds when I started and lost a total of 47 pounds and was able to undergo my operation. I can truthfully recommend it to others, since it did so much for me."

At all druggists

If you are overweight and want to take off extra fat, just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcostrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonsful twice a day. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, safe way to take off weight, return the empty bottle for your money back.

To soften and smooth her elbows, model uses tiny pumice pillow and wears pink satin elbow bands while cream soaks into skin.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
Written for NEA Service

Today's lesson hand came to me from Simon Rossant, one of the life masters of New York City.

He said he thought that various things that happened on the hand were unusually interesting. As a matter of fact, there are several lessons to be learned from it.

First we will take up the bidding. Many players would make the mistake of opening the bidding with three or four spades on the South hand. As long as South has spades, the highest ranking suit, and a sound opening bid, why pre-empt?

When North passed and East doubled, Rossant said he felt confident there was no chance for game, so he passed. West's bid of three diamonds showed at least a six card suit, and having the spade suit stopped, East took a chance and went to three no trump. Rossant passed, but to his surprise, his partner doubled.

Now, what should the opening lead be? With eight spades in Rossant's hand, declarer obviously must have the king-jack of spades doubleton, and possibly three spades. Rossant felt certain that his partner had no more than one spade. Therefore, a spade opening might produce the ninth trick for the declarer.

Having eliminated a spade lead, the next likely lead would be a club; but if he laid down the king of clubs, declarer might win it, come right back with another club and establish the ninth trick in that suit. The fact that West had bid three diamonds, indicating a long, solid diamond suit, eliminated a diamond lead. So the only lead left was the heart.

The lesson here is that the correct opening lead can sometimes be determined by a process of eliminating the lead of any other suit as wrong. Rossant's lead of the six of hearts was not made because he analyzed it as the correct lead. He simply eliminated the other three suits from the picture.

His partner won the six of hearts with the ace and led back a spade, so North and South cashed the first nine tricks.

In the United States in 1948, the Salvation Army conducted a total of 676,000 meetings and 100,000 open-air services.

Hands-Off Not Trend Just Now

Francis Adams Truslow, president of New York Curb Exchange, voices the suggestion that more people should risk money on investments for industrial expansion and progress...

In an article entitled "Speculation or Stagnation," Truslow points out the current scarcity of venture capital, and emphasizes that the nation has grown great through the willingness of investors to risk money on industrial projects and ideas.

To those who have been thinking about this matter for some time, it is not surprising that fewer people are risking their money in business to expand American business.

Extension of government controls over the machines and offices, farms and fields, and the stores and the shops has put a new fear in American entrepreneurs. The fountain of progress that has been America's own for so many years has dried up considerably...

Why should Americans not live in abandonment rather than "invest" in a business that will feel the anxious hand of the oppressor government? It is understandable, as Truslow says, that more than $25 billion dollars was spent by the American people on such transitory things as the beauty parlor, the shop and toilet, wine, liquor, beer, tobacco and recreation. In 1939, the bill for those things was only $10 billion.

We would see more investment in tools that make life easier and more comfortable, if the government would keep hands-off.

But that is not the trend in America at this time.

Gracie Says

I guess maybe the Russians won't agree with him, but he travel expert on a leading Swiss newspaper, just back from the United States, says we Americans are a wonderful lot of people.

The thing that impressed him most was that we are always very polite in traffic jams and collisions.

I must say I like the Swiss viewpoint on things. It is always thought that the people caught in a traffic jam yelled and honked their horns they were annoyed, but it seems that they are really making a loud noise out of sheer happiness and the joy of living.

Just what this travel expert could have come to Los Angeles and seen what real traffic politeness is. Especially all those chivalrous truck drivers who, when they see me coming in my little blue car, always drive quickly up on the sidewalk, just to give me a nice, clear road.

We are in the process of getting ourselves a peacetime adjustment. The thing that is really depressing us is that we haven't been waiting for. We feel it is long overdue.

A. D. H. Kaplan, Brookings Institution economist.

Q's and A's

... by Peter Edson

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Chad Calhoun, vice president in charge of the Washington office for Kaiser Co. interests, has circulated among capital newsmen a dozen highly embarrassing questions. Unfortunately, there is no space to give them all here.

The general purport is to raise suspicions that there is a great split in President Truman's official family of advisers on economic policy.

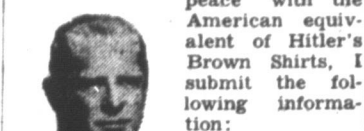

There is a fairly obvious reason why these questions are raised at this time. Kaiser-Frazier automobile company has been one of the most active leaders for the idea that the Federal Reserve Board should relax its Regulation W restrictions on consumer credit.

The purpose is naturally to enable more prospective Kaiser-Frazier customers to buy cars for less than one-third down and the balance in more than the former limit of 18 months or the new limit of 21 months.

This company and many others in the same boat make the argument that if they can't sell more cars on easier terms, more auto workers will have to be laid off. It is further maintained that increased unemployment will naturally add to the business decline, thereby offsetting the beneficial results of curbing inflation, which is what Regulation W was intended to do.

Fair Enough... Westbrook Pegler

Least law-abiding citizens, particularly Catholics, be deceived concerning the character of Philip Murray, the president of the CIO, and seduced into a soft peace with the American equivalent of Hitler's Brown Shirts.

Murray wears a pious face. Certainly he will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart on the same terms.

In the convention of the CIO last autumn, Murray at long last discovered that the Communists were inimical to the United States, and received undesired acclaim as a defender of all religion against the atheistic force of the Kremlin.

Mr. Hoffman reported to Congress that three of Philip Murray's direct subordinates in the steel workers, men designated "international representatives," appeared to have formulated the "methods to be used by the pickets." They vanished when subpoenas were issued for the Congressional hearings.

The uncooperating company with important strikebreakers was testimony was given to that effect and Mr. Hoffman reported that the real reason for the lynching by Philip Murray's union was that 535 out of 778 employees were back at their old jobs the day before the riot.

It may be inferred, he reported, that the riot was planned by the local and carried out with the assistance of the union whose representatives drove into the city that morning.

The testimony was to the effect that the goons acted with military precision. About one-third of them were Negroes. On each occasion, where a beating took place, three or more taking part in the slapping and beating of the woman. At least five took part in beating one of the shop workers.

One witness said: "Josephine Drucker who had been assaulted and was bleeding came out the door and hollered: 'I am going to faint.' Her head was cut open. I had to grab her to keep her head from hitting the cement floor."

Edwin Starrett, Jr., assistant foreman, testified that he heard girls' screams and saw two girls running toward him, and right behind them three men.

The girls turned off and the three men, two white goons and a Negro, got him down and threw him into a car. Starrett broke away and was cornered by 15 more goons and knocked down and kicked in the head.

Philip Murray refused to obey a subpoena to testify. Mr. Hoffman officially noted the absence of any expression of disapproval of this lynching by the saintly leader of the CIO.

Our theme is the revival of the greatness of Britain and the British empire. We are told we must not use the word empire. It is naughty. I know of no reason why any of us—liberal, conservative or socialist—should be ashamed of the word after the parts we all played in the late war.

A composer's work must be like a baby to him. Giving it to a singer must be like leaving it with a sitter.

It is not only the fate of China that quivers in suspense; the future of all Asia hangs on the outcome of the Communist drive for China's conquest and utter subjugation.

Before the Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT Valentine's Day can now just drop off the calendar, so far as I am concerned! Maybe I'm just getting "old and crochety," but after this year the date has definitely lost its allure for me.

Two things stand out in my mind, and both of them dealt a severe blow to my parental peace of mind. The children sort of "let me down," as it were, and what should have been a day of sweetness and affection, only left a sour taste in my mouth and a cloud of doubt in my mind.

To begin with, this is the first year that the youngsters have not made their own valentines—with mother's enthusiastic help and guidance. Up to 1948, the approach of February has produced a flurry of excitement, a shopping tour for red paper, lace doilies, fancy cutters, and what-nots, followed by cutting, pasting and designing.

The making of valentines was a labor of love and joy, with each one made especially for "somebody." We even made the envelopes too, and decorated them lavishly with tiny red hearts.

But this year, all was different. The children have succumbed to "commercialism." They have been converted to the "mass-mind" of the war, he believes that individualism. "Mummy," they all declared in unison, "Please may we buy our valentines like everybody else does?"

My eight-year-old son said: "You're great! And you're only to strengthen his bargaining power at a time of year when coal supplies above ground will be plentiful. When summer consumption is at a low point."

As Mr. Lewis was the first to win a welfare-and-pension plan for his 400,000 miners at the expense of the operators and consumers, so he hopes to succeed in establishing the 30-hour week in the domestic economy.

With the almost miraculous expansion of the nation's productive facilities and talent during a decade since the war, he believes that purchasing power and demand can be maintained only by lowering working hours without any reduction in pay.

He points out that the system has worked in his own industry. Despite a cut in the work week to 35 hours, together with a drop in the number of miners, they are producing the same amount of coal each year—800,000,000 tons—that they did many years ago.

Mr. Lewis is also thinking in terms of labor union policy. The AF of L and CIO leaders who are now attacking with him in demanding welfare and pension payments for their members. He won those benefits several years ago. Now he needs a new victory to keep him ahead of the parade, and the 30-hour week will be his next strategic move.

Boastful—John Thomas Taylor, the veteran Washington legislative agent for the American Legion's national headquarters, shocked a breakfast group of congressmen and guests with his amazingly brash and boastful admission that he was the ablest "lobbyist" on Capitol Hill.

"They call me a lobbyist," said the ruddy-faced, roly-poly legion representative, "and I admit it. I am proud to be known as a lobbyist. In fact, I wrote the general pensions bill which the Rules Committee will report favorably sooner or later. And, despite the administration's opposition, it is going to be passed by an overwhelming vote. The veterans want it, and they are all behind it except for a few left-wing elements."

What happened next, I'm not sure. I reached home somewhat late and I can remember Terry, with tears streaming down her face, saying over and over: "But Mummy, I was just trying to be generous! So you see, St. Valentine's Day was a complete wash-out for me. I may not be as wise as a result, but I'm a lot sadder."

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—It's unfair, I think, that a Hollywood extra has never been given an Oscar.

They're like crowds at parades. Without them, it wouldn't be a parade. With them, it wouldn't be a parade. It wouldn't be Hollywood.

Ever heard about a movie extra's typical day? It's rough. It really begins the day before, between 4 and 5 p.m. Telephone Center Casting gets the busy signal. Half a dozen calls get you through maybe.

"This is... Any calls for tomorrow?" "Many times there are none. Call again tomorrow," the voice says. But let's say that Central Casting did give you a call on the seventh dialing.

The voice says: "Yes, M-G-M studio. Street scene clothes. Be on the set at 8 o'clock." You've got a day's work. You go home to your two-room apartment and whip up some ham and eggs for dinner. If you're a doll, you take, with a couple of other would-be extras, a bath, and spend the evening washing and putting up your hair. Your roommates have a date but you pass up a chance to join them.

GOTTA LOOK GOOD You think "Gotta look good. The director might notice me and give me a couple of lines to speak."

So bachelor or doll you go to bed early and set the alarm for 6 a.m. You live in Hollywood and M-G-M is 10 miles away in Culver City. You don't have a car. You have to catch a street car, transfer to a bus and then transfer to another bus.

You know in advance that your feet will be killing you before you even step on the set. The alarm clock rings at 6 a.m. and you take a bow. You're dreaming and you think you've just been introduced to a mob of extras at a Hollywood premiere. The alarm clock keeps ringing and you realize you're only an extra.

You pull on your clothes and yawn over three cups of black coffee and a cinnamon roll. You walk three blocks and wait eight minutes for a street car. It's jammed. You hang on. You pass by a bus. It's jammed. You hang on. You switch to another bus. It's jammed. You hang on. You walk on the set at M-G-M street car.

"Now this is easy," director Mervyn LeRoy is saying. "Clark Gable drives down the street, parks his car outside of a building, talks to Lewis Stone for a moment and then goes inside. You kids are passersby. Now let's go. And make it lively!"

You pass by. You pass by. You pass by for long shots and close shots and medium shots and six shots and take of every shot. You almost pass out. You walk and walk until you could scream.

Six o'clock. You collect a check for $15.56. "No, no call back for tomorrow," the assistant director says. Too late to call Central Casting. No work tomorrow.

You walk across the lot to the street and your bus. It's jammed. You hang on. You switch to another bus. It's jammed. You hang on. You switch to the street car.

You switch to the street car. It's jammed. You hang on. You walk three blocks to your apartment. You take off your shoes and just sit there. You're a movie extra in glam-orous Hollywood.

No billing. No swimming pool; mink coat or limousine. No fame. No fortune.

NEW YORK—What would you say of a girl who was crazy about opera, who dearly loved to roller skate—and never had been to a movie in her life?

Especially a girl who has her own sponsored radio network show, who frequently has been seen on television, and lives right here in New York.

Betty Clark is a slender brunette who lives in the world of great voices and dreams of her self singing like Lily Pons at the Met.

She has gone every day for six years to the studio of Julio Rios, a temperamental Spaniard whose principal business is in the butterflies out of producing using voices.

"Singing good today, or I'll be you up into little pieces," tells her sometimes.

When the P. J. Ritter Company called to inform Betty that she had been chosen for their program on the ABC network she was very excited.

First she telephoned Julio Rios to give the good news. Her mother was very happy. Then her father, who had a heart attack. It was Christmas Eve, and a week later he was dead.

The other afternoon I saw her for a while in her sixth story apartment and listened to her story.

"I never thought much about singing—for the studio, the is-—until the baritone Francesco Valentino auditioned a lot of people at the Waldorf, and papa and I should go in it. There were many people there. But in the end he said, 'You have a phenomenal voice,' and awarded the first prize, which was a $50 scholarship."

"After that I went on K. Kysner's show, and was a good 'We the People.'"

"I went along like that—though never forgetting my opera lessons for a single minute—until it was Christmas. That was when I offered me a program of my own. Betty said her fan mail was screaming because some of the proposed marriage and other wanted her to send them a television set."

"Then they are the fresh thing," she giggled.

Then it was time for me to hear how her voice recorded. I switched on the radio. She selected a record and dropped it neatly into place.

When she heard her sing I heart out, and talk about open until she was breathless, it was time to go.

She followed me to the door. She placed her small hand on mine, saying, "Who knows if I may really be at the Met, as time you hear me."

Betty Clark is twelve. She totally blind.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Mason—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: Name two sports besides swimming which depend upon a form of water.

SOAP BOX DERBY: With the arrival of spring comes the annual Soap Box Derby, which once again will be sponsored locally by The Pampa News, Culberson's Chevrolet and the Lions Club. And to the winner will go an expensive paid trip to Akron, Ohio, for the national Soap Box Derby.

One major change has been made in the rules for building these midget, gravity powered racers this year. The change is that no power tools can be used in building the car, everything must be done with hand tools. This is a rule established by the Soap Box Derby officials at their meeting in Akron, Ohio, last year as an attempt to give the race back to the youngsters, taking the racer-building job away from parents.

Plans will soon be made available to all future racers that they can follow in building their car. It would be advisable for all boys to obtain a copy of these plans before going ahead with building as an important change has been incorporated in the braking mechanism as a safety precaution.

The race again this year, as in the past, will be held on the old Miami highway. This will probably be the last year at this location due to highway changes.

So, all of you boys who are figuring on entering the derby this year had better start looking around the house and making certain that Dad has all the necessary tools on hand. If he hasn't get them, tell him what you are going to need and ask him to please get them for you.

ANSWER: Just to name two, skating and hockey, as both snow and ice are forms of water.

DOTS AND DASHES: Bill Evans, who won 26 and lost 7 for the Amarillo Gold Sox in 1946, is at the spring camp of the Chicago White Sox at Pasadena, California. Last year he hurled for Muskegon, where he had the fine earned run average of 2.05. Even the Harvesterite volleyball team has trouble with Amarillo. The Sunday girls volleyballers drubbed them at Amarillo last Tuesday. Lee May has gone up to Illinois and Michigan to bowl in a couple of tournaments. He is still holding down top spot at the Dallas tournament in the class B singles.

The Oklahoma Aggie wrestlers now have a win streak extending through 46 matches, spread over twelve years of intercollegiate competition. This year they have amassed a total of 246 points to their opponents' 10-point total. Had a lot of inquiries about that Indian-Giant contest at Lubbock on April 5. Glad that so many Pampa baseball fans are going. We're sure to see some good baseball. Jim Wilson, and his educated toad, has been home from Sul Ross this week. He's been trying to show his art of kicking. "Sonny" Wilson, the art of kicking extra point conversions. Roy Parker should be in good shape for the opening of the ball season after working out with the Harvesterites last two weeks. R. L. Edmondson is going to accompany his pitchers and catchers to Shreveport Sunday. Bob Crues is dicker for the managerial job at Roswell this summer. He'll be back with the Gold Sox before the season is over. The Roundup Club is making a fine showing for themselves at the Plainview tourney. They will fight a strong Lakeview bunch here next Tuesday. The Harvesterite track team goes to Fort Worth next weekend for the track meet at the stock show. Weather has surely been against their working out this week. The Pampa Women's Golf Association held their meeting this week. No tournament dates were selected, but they did vote to invite the Harvesterites to hold their tournament here in September.

BETTER BOWLING

By Billy Sixty
PATTERNERD START: An interesting thing about watching the top-drawer bowlers in action is the constant and almost amazing precision with which they take the ball to the pins. They move into the stance exactly the same way each time (within a fraction of an inch, anyway). It's that important to them, too. Or to any bowler, because timing the first step with the answer to timing. There isn't a perfect coordination. And to do that, the first step must be of identical length each time.

To get such perfect footwork, you must be very careful about the stance or starting position. In order that the distance covered in the stride be the same, you must naturally start in the same place each time. Then you are set for the next move—the initial step, the answer to timing. There isn't a cold rule for the length of the first step, because what may be right for one may be awkward for the next. Size pretty well determines it. Small people use long steps to get there, and tall people use short ones.

Watching the push-away of the ball is the simplest method I've ever discovered to regulate the first step. Make the push-away the same each time, and the step will naturally conform to the pattern. If the push-away is long, the first step should be long, and the second and third steps take care of themselves, as you can see in the illustration.

Training Camp Baseball Briefs

By The Associated Press
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Manager Barney Shotton led his Brooklyn Dodgers on a safari to Miami today where they will play the Boston Braves in a weekend exhibition set.

However, the members of the squad still were buzzing about the words which passed between Jackie Robinson and Chris Van Cuyk, a young pitcher assigned to Port Worth of the Texas League.

Van Cuyk dusted off Robbie a couple of times in an intra-squad game yesterday, and the first baseman warned him against repetition of the close throwing.

After the game, though, Robinson, apparently cooled off, said he wanted to forget the incident if Van Cuyk would do the same.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Gil Coan and Al Evans hit home runs yesterday as the Washington Senators A team beat the B squad 13-4 in the first training game of the season.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—Larry Jansen will take the mound tomorrow when the New York Giants open their exhibition schedule against the Cleveland Indians, says Manager Leo Durocher.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—The New York Yankees open their exhibition schedule against the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow.

PASADENA, Calif.—Manager Jack Onslow was selecting a first string squad of Chicago White Sox players today to make the trip to Hollywood for a baseball game with the St. Louis Browns tomorrow.

Onslow also looked over a batch of players to go to Glendale to meet the Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League tomorrow.

LOS ANGELES.—Jim Gallagher, general manager of the Chicago Cubs, was slated to take his first look at the 1949 Chicago Cubs tomorrow when they open their 36-game exhibition tour with the Pittsburgh Pirates in San Bernardino.

TUCSON, Ariz.—Rapid Robert Feller got his first 1949 exhibition game unlimbering yesterday at Lubbock on April 5. He will get the first start tomorrow when the Cleveland Indians' second intrasquad game.

TAMPA, Fla.—Two rookies, second sacker Johnny Lane and centerfielder Lloyd Merriman, will get their first look tomorrow when the Cincinnati Reds take on the Boston Red Sox in the first exhibition game at Sarasota.

Tonight the roughest and fastest event in wrestling will be presented to Pampa grunts and groan fans at the Sportatorium. A six-man Australian tag match will be the feature attraction on the three-hour card.

Arizona Falls To Arkansas

DALLAS (AP)—Arkansas whipped Arizona, 66-44, for the right to represent District Six in the Western NCAA Regional Basketball Tournament in Kansas City next week.

The big, gangling Razorbacks ran over the Wildcats last night with ease. Alan Kearns and Cliff Horton sparked Arkansas past Arizona in the finals of a four-team elimination tournament.

Arkansas ousted Baylor, and Arkansas dumped Rice Wednesday night.

Arkansas got the jump at the game's outset on a free throw by Johnny Campbell. Leon Blevins, Arizona's ace, tied the score on a charity toss, but Johnny Campbell's field goal sent the Razorbacks into a lead they never gave up.

At the half it was Arkansas 29, Arizona 14.

Kearns accounted for 20 points for Arkansas and Horton tallied 19.

Blevins, who scored 25 points against Baylor, was held to 13 by tight Arkansas guarding. He was high point man for Arizona.

The four-team playoff was a financial flop.

James H. Stewart, chairman of the District Six Selection Committee, said not enough money was made to pay the expenses of the teams coming here to compete.

A crowd of 3,700 saw the first round of play, but only about 1,000 turned out last night.

White Deer Host To Volleyballers

WHITE DEER (Special)—Twelve schools have entered teams in the volleyball tournament to be held in White Deer tomorrow under the auspices of the Doc Club, the girls' sports club.

Beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday morning, the "A" squads will play in the high school gymnasium, and the "B" squads, in the grade school gymnasium.

Schedule for the "A" teams is: 9 a.m.—Panhandle vs Lefors 10 a.m.—Canyon vs West Texas High School 11 a.m.—Canadian vs Briscoe 12 a.m.—Groom vs Phillips

Four teams draw byes and will play in the second round. Hedley will play the winner of the Panhandle-Lefors game at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon; White Deer, the winner of the Canyon-W. T. game at 2 o'clock; and Amarillo and Pampa, at 4 o'clock.

The semi-finals will begin at 5; finals at 8 o'clock.

For the "B" squads the schedule of play is: 9 a.m.—Canadian vs. W. T. High 10 a.m.—Amarillo vs. Pampa 11 a.m.—Phillips vs. the winner of the Canadian-W. T. game Noon—Briscoe vs. Lefors 1 p.m.—White Deer vs. Panhandle 2 p.m.—Canyon vs. the winner of the Amarillo-Pampa game.

The semi-finals will begin at 3 and the finals in this division, at 7 o'clock.

Roundup Club Fighters Score Three More Wins at Plainview

The Roundup Club boxing team scored three more first round knockouts last night as two boys advanced to the semi-final round of the Plainview Boxing Tournament. The victories gave Pampa the lead in team points over Amarillo, 6-5.

Five Pampa boys saw action in the 27 fights held last night. Three of them were beaten. First for nearly two hours between fighters, but still scored his victory. Tonight, all of the remaining fighters will see action. Boys still in the tournament are Jimmie Bennett, James Claunch and Leon Kelley.

Next Tuesday night the Roundup Club will fight a strong Lakeview team at the Sportatorium. Lakeview is the home of Elmo Sams, who Donnie Ray, of Shamrock, defeated for the championship at the regional meet at Amarillo. These fights will start at 8.

Western Guaranty LOAN COMPANY
Room 4, Duncan Bldg.

Tickets for the boxing matches next Tuesday night with Lakeview are now on sale at the Wilson Drug, Harvester Drug and the Pampa News Stand, 114 N. Russell.

Members of the first team are Dory Funk, Alex Kasaboski and Olan Boynton. On the second squad are Buck Weaver, Balk Estes and Billy Sandow. This is similar to a four-man tag match, only there are supposed to be two men in each corner while the third member of the team is in the ring. The man in the ring can tag either of the men in the corner, and either of them can go into the ring. It won't have to be the tagged man that enters. But more likely than not, all six men will be in the ring most of the time.

To keep the match at its widest possible pitch, promoter Vic Burnett will probably only use one referee.

In a semi-windup bout, of 30-minute time duration, Buck Weaver will battle awful Olan Boynton, who was given a going over last week by Balk Estes and referee Glen Detton.

In the preliminary event of the night Dory Funk is slated to tackle Balk Estes, the Elk City boy, in a fifteen minute bout.

Having Funk and Boynton on the same team in the tag match should be mighty rough on the other team. Boynton is well noted for his uncouth methods, while Dory Funk, the Hammond Hoosier, is a very rough boy when the going gets tough. He knows how to use his fists in the ring, as Monte LaDue well knows.

Sandow was seen here last week for the first time after a long absence while he was working in Florida and absorbing some of the golden rays of the sun at Miami Beach. He proved himself to be a very versatile workman in his bout with George Overhals last week.

The first event of the evening will get started at 8:15, the doors opening at 7.

McLean Girls Are 38-25 Victims

HILLSBORO (AP)—Three of four teams in the semifinals of the state Girls' Basketball Tournament barely made it.

Only Seagoville had more than a two-point margin of victory in quarter-final play last night. East Chambers, Forreston, and Dalhart were one and two point victors.

Tonight, Seagoville takes on Dalhart and East Chambers plays Forreston.

Seagoville brushed off McLean, 38-25; advanced, East Chambers, in the 1947 state champion, squeezed past New Home, 33-31; Forreston edged Rogers, 35-34, and Dalhart nosed out Teneha, 43-42.

Consolation victors yesterday were: Cranfills Gap over Millsp, 38-26; Roosevelt over Hockaday, 46-23; Kildare over Lawn, 33-29, and Post over West Columbia, 48-28.

Roundup Club Fighters Score Three More Wins at Plainview

The Roundup Club boxing team scored three more first round knockouts last night as two boys advanced to the semi-final round of the Plainview Boxing Tournament. The victories gave Pampa the lead in team points over Amarillo, 6-5.

Five Pampa boys saw action in the 27 fights held last night. Three of them were beaten. First

Tickets for the boxing matches next Tuesday night with Lakewood are now on sale at the Wilson Drug, Harvester Drug and the Pampa News Stand, 114 N. Russell.

Fighter of the night was Jimmie Bennett, who scored a first round knockout over Ronnie Brown of Lubbock in 26 seconds. Brown didn't even land one blow before the fight had ended.

James Claunch, at 118-pounds, performed a similar feat on Glen Looney, Plainview, in 52 seconds of the first. This gave Claunch a record of two consecutive first round knockouts in the tournament.

First Pampa boy to lose last night was Barton Lockhart, in the 126-pound class, who lost a three round decision to Richard York of Wichita Falls. Experience paid off for York in this close fight.

In another 126-pound match, Jim Bill Windsor lost a close decision to Berry Howard of Wichita Falls. Jim Bill's first round KO technique evaded him last night.

This Pampa boy to lose was Paul Tolison, in the 135-pound class. He was TKO'd in the first round by Ken Hamilton, experienced Amarillo boxer, fighting under the Blackburn Sporting Goods banner. Once again, inexperience was the thing that defeated the local boxer.

In his second fight of the night, the 20th on the card, Jimmie Bennett again ended his fight in the first round, for the third time in the two nights of fighting held so far. His victim this time was Jerry Jones, Sudan, who went down before the 112-pound slugger in 66 seconds. Bennett deserves much credit for his fine work thus far. He fought his two fights last night under the handicap of cooling off.

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — W. A. "Gus" Miller, athletic director of West Texas State Teachers College at Canyon, Texas, is the new president of the National Association of Intercollegiate Basketball.
