

NEW ROAD INTO CHINA

This is the route of the new road.

THESE pictures show how 150,000 Chinese—including women and children—are building a new highway across the Himalaya mountains, world's highest. The road will connect the Chinese end of the Burma road, unless since the Japanese capture of Rangoon, with supply points in India. Besides supplying fighting China, the road will carry much of the war traffic necessary if a planned offensive against the Japanese islands is to be launched from India. These roadbuilders are our allies. And they are heroes, every one of them.

Highway is being chipped out of granite. From footing like this 7000 workers have fallen to their death.

Yi tribesmen volunteer for work.

The road builders clean up before their evening meal.

Yi men still wear long hair.

Through the Himalayas the going is tough.

Men's Glee Club Sings For Rotary

CANADIAN. March 26—The Canadian Rotary club members were entertained at their Tuesday luncheon by the men's glee club under direction of L. E. Cooper, the group singing without an instrument.

Troy Newton, Bert Briggs, and Carl Tepe were the singers, the last two members of the high school chorus filling in for men unable to attend. This glee club furnished musical numbers at the inter-city meeting of the Rotarians at Shamrock Tuesday night. Mrs. Uel D. Crosby rendered several vocal numbers on the banquet program at Shamrock.

The United States increased manufacturing facilities during 1940 by the addition of $3.5 billions of new equipment and $3.6 billions of new plant, says the Department of Commerce.

Mustangs Beat TCU; Texas Tackles Ags

FORT WORTH, March 26 (AP)—Southern Methodist university's nine will try to make it two in a row today over Texas Christian university, while the University of Texas Longhorns tackle Texas A. & M. at College Station.

The Longhorns were scheduled to play Rice yesterday at Houston, but the game was postponed because of the weather.

The Mustangs went 10 innings yesterday to defeat the Horned Frogs, 13 to 9.

SMU, caught up in the ninth when Maurice Tinsley's line drive banged out another homer with one out and the Mustangs led, 9 to 7.

Shortage of gasoline is increasing the use of producer-gas plants in small water craft in the Netherlands, according to the Department of Commerce.

SPEED AND DRIVE are key-words of baseball today. Tony Bragizette of St. Francis barrels down floor as Ed Golub of St. John's prepares to do something about it. Jim Agoglia, left, of St. Francis likes it. St. Francis wins at Madison Square Garden, 49-34.

Joe Zillion To Nothing Over Abe Friday Night

By SID FEDER NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—The more or less exclusive Broadway betting shoppes were convinced today that wagering has been placed on the priorities list for Joe Louis' 21st defense of his heavyweight championship against Abe...

For, if all the bets on this army emergency relief raffle were placed today that wagering has been placed on the priorities list for Joe Louis' 21st defense of his heavyweight championship against Abe...

So the agile wagering gentlemen, who have never been known to let grass grow under their size 12-1/2 which is one reason there's none of it in their mid-town neighborhood—have even prepared a scale of prices on Simon's staying-around possibilities, once they turn Louis loose on him at 10 p. m. tomorrow.

The scale looks like the menu at your favorite eatery, except caviar is missing. It runs from the top item, which is even money that Abe is able enough to answer when the bell rings for the sixth round...

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 26 (AP)—The state of Iowa, regarded the hotbed of women's basketball bobs up tonight with two teams in the semi-finals of the National A.A.U. tournament—but they face the stiffest opposition the country has to offer.

Davenport A.I.C. meets the Nashville Business college at 8:15 p. m. (Central War Time), and the Arkansas Motor Coaches play Des Moines A.I.B. in the second game.

The Little Rock team, composed of five former Little Rock Flyers players, who won the championship the last two years by beating Nashville in the finals, had a hard time moving ahead last night against the Peppery Dallas Hornets. The game was the first in the tournament to enter overtime.

When the sorry race ended, out went Vilt, and Melillo with him. Vilt caught on in the minors, but Melillo, sickened a bit of baseball, made no great effort, they say, to get another coaching job. It is doubtful that he entertained the slightest hope of getting back in the game.

Probably it was only with fleeting interest the past winter that he saw how Cleveland had appointed the 24-year-old Boudreau its new manager. He doesn't say so now, but it must have come as quite a shock to Oscar when he was offered his old job back as first base coach.

Perhaps the story of Oscar's return from limbo could be taken to prove that honesty and complete devotion to one's calling will gain its just reward. It probably only proves, on the other hand, that Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's new "boy" manager, is a younger gifted with an exceptional imagination.

You see, Melillo was the only one in Cleveland's official baseball family who stood shoulder-to-shoulder with Manager Oscar Vilt and fought the players through that nasty uprising of two seasons ago, while the Indians blew the American league pennant by a single game when they should have walked home in front.

Melillo, one of the game's great fielding second basemen only a few years ago, didn't necessarily take sides in the angry quarrel between Vilt and the Indians who tried to have him deposed in the heat of the campaign. He did, however, make it abundantly plain that he despised a ball player who didn't give the game everything he had while he was in uniform.

So Coach Oscar assailed the so-called "Rebels" day after day with invective that still is recalled with envy by a few who were privileged to hear him. They only marvel that he wasn't injured beyond repair, for some of the athletes Melillo worked on were about twice his size and their tempers were on razor-edge.

When the sorry race ended, out went Vilt, and Melillo with him. Vilt caught on in the minors, but Melillo, sickened a bit of baseball, made no great effort, they say, to get another coaching job. It is doubtful that he entertained the slightest hope of getting back in the game. Probably it was only with fleeting interest the past winter that he saw how Cleveland had appointed the 24-year-old Boudreau its new manager.

Six World Indoor Track Records Set

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—A hall manager's pique helped create six world indoor track records last night as a pair of head colds kept Leslie Mackintosh and Greg Rice from erasing marks in the mile and two-mile runs, respectively.

Tex O'Rourke, manager of the Coliseum, offered free use of his hall for a track meet after a coach, in an unguarded statement at the metropolitan games in January, said that the Bronx nine-lap, oil-splattered boards weren't as "fast" as the 11-lap track in Madison Square Garden.

Roy Cochran, formerly of Indiana university; John Borican of Asbury Park, N. J.; the Seton Hall college two-mile relay team; and the Georgetown university one-mile four-some gave plenty of proof that O'Rourke's ire was justified.

Cochran, now representing the Great Lakes Naval Training station, opened the six-event program staged for the benefit of the Navy Relief society by tearing through 446 yards in :42.2 to shave one and four-tenths seconds from the mark Thomas Halpin of Boston set in 1913.

Enroute, Cochran was clocked at the 400 meter post in :47.9 to rub out Halpin's mark of :49.8 there. Borican also ran only one race but smashed two marks. He eliminated Lloyd Hahn's mark of 1:51.4 for the half-mile with a 1:50.5 recording.

Seton Hall college, putting on display one freshman and three over-performers, ran the fastest two-mile relay race on record. The Jersey four snapped the twine in 7:33.9 to wipe out their own mark of 7:39.8 and exceeded the outdoor record of 7:34.5 set by a University of California team last summer.

Georgetown got so far out in front in the one-mile relay that its runners weren't troubled by the jostling and shoving of the three rivals and carried the baton across the finish in 3:17.2, clipping six-tenths of a second from the University of Pennsylvania's 11-year-old record.

Here's Victory Haircut HOLLYWOOD, March 26 (AP)—Now it's the victory haircut. Lana Turner's displaying it, and appraising it. She finds these advantages: No hairpins are necessary, except to set it; it needs to be reset only every two or three weeks; one quick combing and brushing puts it in shape for the day; it's becoming.

threat at India, Sir Stafford Cripps, special envoy, sped a series of conferences with Indian leaders in an attempt to iron out India's long-simmering internal friction and weld the dominion's vast manpower into a united fighting force for the Allies.

Sir Stafford's efforts bore fruit when Maulana Abul Kalam Azad, president of the congress party, summoned the party's executive committee to consider the British government's plan for self-rule in India. Observers said this was a sign of definite progress.

In addition, Mohandas K. Gandhi, powerful champion of India's campaign for independence, was scheduled to confer with Sir Stafford tomorrow.

Countering British pledges of greater freedom, Japan entered the struggle for control of India's millions with the announcement of an Axis-sponsored movement for Indian independence.

The Berlin radio broadcast a Tokyo dispatch saying representatives of the "Indian independence party" from Hongkong, Malaya, Thailand and Shanghai—all under Japan's thumb—would convene in Tokyo on March 28.

"Definite measures will be undertaken in aid of the Indian independence movement," the broadcast said.

Other major developments: Philippines—A war department bulletin reported that 54 Japanese heavy bombers battered at American-defended island forts at the entrance to Manila bay in a six-hour assault.

The heaviest blows fell upon Corregidor fortress, the communique said, adding that anti-aircraft batteries shot down four of the raiders. Damage was slight and casualties few.

In Bataan, there were sharp skirmishes between patrols along the entire front," the bulletin said.

Australia—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied supreme commander in the southwest Pacific, paid his first visit to Australia's capital and immediately conferred with Prime Minister John Curtin on plans for defense on the "down under" continent and for an ultimate offensive against Japan.

Members of the United Nations war council attended the meeting, paving the way for important military sessions next week.

In Washington, it was announced that President Roosevelt had ordered the nation's highest award for valor, a congressional medal of honor, sent to Gen. MacArthur for "his utter disregard for personal danger under heavy fire, his calm judgment in each crisis."

Burma—British headquarters reported mounting Japanese pressure against Allied lines from the south and east, with enemy parachute troops seeking to foment native revolt.

In addition to active operations in the region of Chinese-held Tounghoo, 150 miles north of the Japanese-occupied capital, a British communique told of invasion concentrations at two points on the Bangoo-Frome road in the Irrawaddy river valley to the west, in the Mhla-Tharawaddy area and north of Kwangin.

The latter party was officially described as a large mixed force heading toward Prome, 40 miles away, and Burmese oil fields.

While transport difficulties of the United Nations were tremendous, Japan was reported to be facing a shipping problem in any further extension of her program of conquest.

"Free Europe." Allied review of international affairs which is published in London, estimated bombs, shells and torpedoes of Australian-British-Dutch United States forces had knocked out of action about 1,000,000 of the 4,000,000 tons of shipping the Japanese originally were said to have had available for troop movements.

TOPEKA, Kans., March 25 (AP)—Mrs. Wade Reed keeps that gun loaded now. While entertaining, she thought she heard a noise. Reed investigated, but found nothing. It gave Mrs. Reed an idea, though. She seized her gun to show the guests what she had learned in a pistol-shooting defense class. She stalked into the bedroom, and showed the pistol out through a window—right into the face of a strange man coming in. Both stared for a while, then she pulled the trigger. The gun was empty. The visitor screamed and ran. Mrs. Reed just screamed.

Balkans Balk At Giving Hitler Fodder For Russia

By DREW MIDDLETON
LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Nazi machinations to get at least 750,000 men from the Axis' Balkan junior partners to help fight Hitler's wars were charged by British diplomats sources who gleefully predicted they might prove a boomerang.

Instead of getting men, said these informants with close continental connections, Hitler may have to increase his own garrisons in southeast Europe to squelch an unsought war situation aroused by distrust and re-awakened old enemies stirred by his recruiting efforts.

"Frankly," said one observer, "we are delighted with the situation. Furthermore, they declared Nazi plans to overtake Turkey with tales of German army masses on her European frontier and actual Bulgarian troop concentrations there have 'not had the slightest effect on the Turks'; in fact, British-Turkish relations recently have been cemented despite Hitler's efforts to weaken them.

Bulgaria and Hungary are under severe German pressure to provide troops for an Axis spring offensive against Soviet Russia, according to this analysis.

State Court Changes Hodges Case Ruling

The court of criminal appeals at Austin reversed and remanded one of its own decisions in proceedings in the court yesterday.

In the case of Jim Hodges, from Gray, the court granted Hodges motion for a rehearing, set aside its previous judgment of affirmance. This meant that the court rejected its previous approval of the judgment of the district court.

Field At Dallas To Be Expanded

DALLAS, March 26 (P)—Hensley Field will become one of the largest naval primary flight training centers in the nation by virtue of expansion in student strength, training course and facilities announced yesterday by Commander A. Laverents, commanding officer.

The new plan for the center, said Laverents, includes: A construction program of $1,500,000 in addition to the $1,000,000 program announced Feb. 6.

UNCLE EF

Seems as though the war—and it's ours now—is almost being operated as a private Washington enterprise. How about some parades? How about letting the folks all over the country see some tanks and some of the new mechanized equipment? They know about it only by hearsay and pictures. And why should the boys in the draft continue to be sneaked away instead of letting them know their community is proud of them? Maybe this isn't military but it doesn't hurt to ask.

Crooked boundary lines are the rule in Europe, but in the United States, especially west of the Mississippi river, straight lines are common.

Saturday Last Day To File For City Offices

If Pampa is to hold a city election on April 7, friends of candidates who are to file petitions had better hurry, for the deadline is Saturday, and to date not a single petition has been filed with W. C. deCordova, city secretary.

Officially, therefore, there are no candidates for the city election now 12 days off.

Texas Out Crop Hard Hit By Bugs

AUSTIN, March 26—An estimated 70 per cent of the Texas oat crop has been destroyed by green bugs, and the state is facing perhaps one of the worst grasshopper infestations in history, Commissioner of Agriculture J. E. McDonald announced today after a personal survey of the state.

"The greenbug attack has left Texas with possibly the shortest oat crop in history," the commissioner said, "and it is hoped that the greenbug does not attack the wheat crop as it has the oats."

Battleships Of Axis Bow To Cruisers

By PRESTON GROVER
ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, March 26 (AP)—With a valor matched not even in the most romantic fiction, a light squadron of British cruisers and destroyers sailed head-on into an overwhelmingly powerful Italian fleet in the central Mediterranean, three times drove it away from a British convoy, and ultimately delivered the supplies to the beleaguered little island of Malta.

It was a battle which will go down in naval annals. For not in the recollection of any officer present had such a prolonged fight been won by so small a force against such great odds.

I saw the battle. With another American correspondent, Richard Mower of The Chicago Daily News, I was aboard one of the cruisers, which charged straight into the guns of the enemy, cuffed him off, rained shells upon and around him, and finally pulled the convoy to safety.

It did so right out of what had appeared certain destruction not only for the freighters but for the bulk of our thin-walled fighting vessels as well.

The battle occurred last Sunday, beginning in the early afternoon and ending only after dark, when the Italian fleet—puzzled, whipped and wounded—finally withdrew.

In the Italian fleet were one bat-

Army Creates 3 Divisions

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The army brought three additional divisions into being today, the vanguard of the American war machine being put together for the "victory year" of 1943.

Streamlined successors to outfits which made history in 1918 in France, the units were the first of 32 infantry divisions to be added this year as a part of the army's initial stage of expansion to 3,000,000 men.

At camps in the South where the commanders, officers and picked non-commissioned officers already were on hand to start intensive training expected to last a year, the ranks started filling with men only a few days out of civil life. They were taken directly from reception centers to speed the process of multiplying the nation's armed strength.

The 77th division, known as the "metropolitan division" in the first World War because its members came from New York City and its environs, is being assembled and trained at Fort Jackson, E. C., under Major General Robert E. Eichelberger, former commandant of the military academy.

The 82nd, forming at Camp Claiborne, La., is commanded by Major General Omar N. Bradley. The "All-American division" of 1918 gave to history Sergeant Alvin C. York, who won the congressional medal of honor as the captor of 132 German prisoners.

The 90th, known as the "Alamo division" because its ranks were filled in 1918 by Texans and Oklahomans, is being set up at Camp Barkeley, Texas, under command of Major General Henry Terrell, Jr.

Each has continued a paper existence as a member of the army's organized reservists since demobilization two decades ago. The three were ordered "activated" by Presdent Roosevelt on February 6 and orders since have gone out to re-create an additional three such divisions by June 15.

The remainder of the 32 additional infantry divisions, along with new armored divisions and various other units, are to be added at a quickened pace beginning in early summer.

Under the war department program, each of the additional infantry divisions will be so-called triangular divisions of some 15,000 men, of whom approximately 13,000 will be obtained from the draft. Most of the units will be fully motorized.

Amarilloans Give Residence To WTSC

Special To The NEWS
CANYON, March 26—Mr. and Mrs. Allen Early of Amarillo, long-time residents, have given their large residence at 2101 Harrison to West Texas State college to be used for educational purposes. The structure cost more than $100,000 when it was erected in 1927.

In accepting the gift, President J. A. Hill of West Texas State, said a detailed statement of the activities to be started in the Early building next fall would be made later. These probably will include extension classes, adult education, exhibits, lectures, and certain social activities.

Dr. Hill said "the faculty, students, ex-graduates, and friends of West Texas State rejoice in the very substantial and useful gift which Mr. and Mrs. Early have made to this institution."

The Early building is exceptionally suited to the purposes for which it has been given. It has a full basement which has been in use as a gymnasium and recreation room. Large dining rooms and a large kitchen are on the first floor

Henry Ford Offers Lindbergh A Job

DETROIT, March 26 (AP)—Henry Ford, it was learned today, has offered Charles A. Lindbergh a position in the rapidly growing Willow Run bomber plant and Lindbergh is considering the offer.

The offer was made as Ford, Lindbergh and a group of others inspected the bomber plant and airport yesterday. Lindbergh returned to Washington following an all-day visit with Ford.

The exact nature of the position to be offered Lindbergh was not disclosed beyond the intimation that Ford was eager to obtain his services in the bomber plant engineering department.

Allies Must Win In 1942, Says Maisky

LONDON, March 26 (AP)—Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador to Britain, said in a speech today that 1942 is the "decisive moment" for the United Nations and urged them to take the offensive immediately "if they really desire to achieve victory."

"The decisive place," he added, "is the front of the USSR."

If the Allies are to win "they must throw into the battle everything they have," Maisky continued. "How, when and in what form this can be done is a matter for the Allied general staffs."

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Wide World War Analyst

Captain Hideo Hiraide, Japanese naval spokesman, has put before his people a noteworthy summary of Nippon's position in the battle of the Pacific, and one suspects he was impelled in part by the MacArthur spirit of initiative and such blood-stirring American naval adventures as the bombing raids on Wake and Marcus islands, which took the Yanks almost into the Mikado's backyard.

Hiraide lays down three fundamental points, to this effect:

1. Japan must seize Australia and dominate the Indian ocean in order to provide security for future operations.

2. The belief held by some Japanese that Nippon has become invincible because she has her hands on the vast resources of Indonesia is wholly wrong, because only when she is able to make practical use of these resources will she become self-sufficient.

3. Since the occupation of Java there has been a let-down in Japan's offensive and she is now on the defensive. She must keep on the offensive if she is to win.

Now that's calling your shot, as the billiardists say. And lest some charge me with naivete in accepting the word of a Jap, it may be said that the captain describes the military position quite accurately and it's interesting to see the thing through his eyes.

Japan's gains will profit her nothing if she cannot consolidate them, and she can't do that until she has knocked out Australia as a base. That means beating MacArthur's combined American and Australian forces on a battleground covering a million square miles and guarded by some of nature's strongest bulwarks.

Hiraide's purpose in putting his cards on the table, well, some of 'em) is to prevent his public from becoming over-confident and slackening in the war effort. His idea is sound, but if he's as smart as he talks, he will know that the defeat of Australia is going to mean one of the greatest military operations man could conceive. It will make the rest of Japan's conquests look silly.

A glance at your map tells the tale well enough. Japan's present plan appears to be to strike from New Guinea and Indonesia against northern Australia. Note the vastness of this continent, the size of our own America. See the great barrier reef which guards some two-fifths of its coast along the northern section. Look at those huge deserts swung across much of the northern half—a mighty barrier against wholesale invasion in themselves.

It's a giant's job, and it is hard to believe the Nipponese have the stature to carry it through.

MacArthur isn't ready yet to stage a major offensive, but so long as the steadily growing American-Australian base exists, the Allied air and land intensity upon the long Japanese communications between the homeland and the conquered territories. Unless those communications can be maintained, the new possessions will become white elephants on Japan's hands.

Control of the Indian ocean also is necessary to protect Indonesia from the west and to further Japan's ambitions in Burma and India. The Jap occupation of the Andaman islands, as announced yesterday, represents another step towards fulfillment of their ambition to dominate that great water. It's a pity the Allies had to lose these islands, for it is a nasty blow.

As Hiraide says, future conquests depend on possession of Australia. However, when Japan sees herself stymied in this project, and thereby placed in a dangerous position, the result might be an attack on Russia. The Japanese idea would be to try to save themselves by bolstering Hitler's fight.

Here's Why Every Pensioner Doesn't Get $30 A Month

Why doesn't every one of the persons on old age assistance rolls in Gray county get $30 a month?

That's a question that a lot of persons may be asking. There are 370 persons in Gray county receiving old age pension checks, the total monthly payment being $7,672, or an average of $20.73.

The state department of public welfare has the answer to the question on why the amount isn't more. Says the department in a news release this week:

In the first place, there is the practical program of financing such a program. The 1940 census reveals that Texas has 345,120 aged persons over 65. If each of these were paid $30 per month, without any allowance for administrative costs, it would require $10,353,600 each month, or $124,243,200 per year.

The 47th legislature appropriated $1,750,000 per month. With federal matching funds, this makes possible a maximum expenditure of $3,500,000 for old age assistance. This month $3,265,000 was distributed to 168,262 recipients and the rolls are now gaining, above all losses due to death and ineligibility, slightly in excess of 2,000 recipients per month.

In the second place, if the state should pass a law to pay every aged person $30 per month, Texas would lose federal grants-in-aid by which it is now paying one-half of this expense. A fundamental requirement of the federal government is that all grants shall vary according to the individual needs of an applicant.

SERIAL STORY

MEXICAN MASQUERADE

BY CECIL CARNES

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Now it can be told—the tale of Allan Steele's strange experience in Mexico's Lower California Peninsula. Allan is close to his destination, Inn of One Thousand Delights, when he sees a Mexican soldier dismount from his horse to examine something by the roadside, only to be struck by three horsemen. "A boldness" cries Allan.

Allan followed the officer's gaze and grunted in surprise. For the first time he observed that the "bundle of rags" contained a human being.

CHAPTER II PROMPTLY Allan went into action. He headed the car down the hill and stepped on the gas. The sedan plunged onward in a series of leaps and bounds. It took all of his strength to keep it on the road.

The officer was holding his own. His blade was longer than the others, and his swordsmanship was superb. He parried slash after slash, and when opportunities came, he thrust wickedly at the foe. It was pretty fencing, Allan had time to think how much the spectacle resembled a scene from "The Three Musketeers," and almost regretted that he and the sedan were about to introduce the modernistic panzer touch to a picture so romantic.

He had time, too, for a fleeting memory of the chief's farewell admonition the morning they parted in San Diego.

"Watch your step, my boy! You'll be on your own down there, you know, and you can't count on much help from us if you get in a spot. So—don't stick your neck out!"

Well—to blaze with all that now! thought Allan. One man attacked by three, and the one was in the uniform of a soldier and the three were a bunch of sloppy, bearded bravos—bandits, if he didn't miss his guess. Far from his line of ancestors was a red-headed Irishman; the Iberian strain was not normally apparent in Allan's behavior, but in a crisis such as this it was apt to take full charge.

He was within yards of it by now. He was not sure what might happen if he went smashing headlong into the whirling knot of men on horses. The sedan might upset—it might even be hopelessly wrecked! He could not risk that. He didn't know how badly he might need the car, and there was a limit to the extent he could forget the claims of duty. Exasperating—but there it was!

A smooth stretch in the road gave him a chance to free one hand from the wheel and bring it down on the button of his horn. The raucous blare ripped out its warning.

EVEN through the heat of battle the hideous sound carried to the fighters' ears. They sensed their peril, turning their heads to get a flashing vision of the metal juggernaut rushing upon them. It was a sight to shatter the stoutest morale. Instinctively, they acted to save themselves. They drove home their spurs, and their plunging horses carried them off the road to safety as Allan went by in a haze of speed and dust.

He stopped his engine, stepped on the foot brake, jerked the emergency as soon as he dared. Even at that the sedan slowed in a half-circle and came to a screeching stop pointed in the direction of San Saba.

Allan leaped open the door beside him, flung to the road and ran back toward the scene of the fight.

There was no light left. The three bravos were already on the point of vanishing around the clump of cactus. Just before he disappeared, the rear-most of the trio pulled his steed back on its haunches. He brandished his machete at the officer.

"We'll get you yet!" he shouted ferozely. Then he spat one final word that startled Allan by its implications. "Traitor!"

He gave his horse its head and vanished. Allan lowered the revolver he had whipped from his pocket as he ran. A quiet voice spoke beside him. "Let them go, senior, let them go." At close quarters the officer turned out to be a handsome young fellow with a small neat mustache as black as his eyes. He was twisting the mustache now and there was a glint of good-humored resignation in the eyes. He sighed. "I could have killed them quite easily myself if I had chosen. But—well, after all, they are friends of mine."

"Oh," said Allan blankly. "Afraid I didn't understand." The corners of his mouth twitched. "If those were friends of yours, senior, your enemies must be something to see!"

The Mexican flashed a responsive smile that revealed a set of white teeth, small and regular as any in Hollywood. But when he answered his tone was serious.

"You are naturally puzzled, yet the fact is as I stated it. They are my friends, and it would have been excessively painful if I had been obliged to kill them to save my own life. Your timely arrival and assistance spared me that. You have rendered me a very great service, senior, which I will gladly repay if I should have the chance. Now you can render me another by not asking me to explain why friends should have seemed so—so unfriendly."

HE concluded the formal speech with a slight inclination of his body. Allan Steele didn't risk a bow, but he tried to make his not polite.

"Oh, sure. Your affair, not mine. I shan't dream of asking questions out of turn."

"You speak Spanish very well, senior. Amazingly well for a North American." The black eyes were suddenly dark and cold. "Since that is so, you doubtless understood what that last fellow said to me."

"He called you a traitor," said Allan bluntly.

and he went on to assert that he would "prove" that there is a feeling on the part of both labor and industry that "What do we care about cost; the government will foot the bill!"

Rep. Gore (D-Tenn.) told the committee that "I certainly think the government is being fleeced and robbed."

"I warn both the labor lords and industrial barons," he said, "that the patience of the American people is worn threadbare."

Cossacks Now Pack Anti-Tank Guns On Horses

By EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, March 26 (AP)—The storied Cossacks still stick to their horses but they've added anti-tank guns to their traditional armament to meet the challenge of mechanized warfare.

I watched a regiment of Cossacks as it prepared for the spring fighting against the Germans. Formed in the Urals last September, it was made up of Kuban and Orenburg Cossacks, with a sprinkling of Dons. These soldiers were the toughest, most hardened I've seen in Russia. They are heavily equipped. Besides the vicious sabres, each Cossack carried an automatic rifle and a pistol.

The regiment also is otherwise well-equipped—even to modern radio communications.

While I watched, the strange strains of Kuban Cossack music came across the snow. Major Kuzma Keresky pointed to the long line of black-cloaked horsemen and cried:

HOT FLASHES FOR HERRITLER—Deadly power of a British Hurricane fighter's 1,600-bullet-a-minute machine guns is strikingly portrayed by bursts of tracer bullet fire, stabbing through the darkness of a snow-covered airfield in England.

"The charge!" Suddenly the day was filled with a wild shout. The horses, tough Siberians, thundered up through the snow.

The Cossacks, riding with the grace peculiarly their own, pounded down upon an acre of twigs on posts. Whirling their sabres above their heads, the Cossacks began slashing.

Twig after twig flew into the air. It is quite a feat of marksmanship to split a twig with a broad sabre while riding at 30 miles an hour.

"So it will be soon with the Germans," grinned Col. Pyotr Karpachev, an Orenburg Cossack. "These men leave for the front soon."

Asked why the Russians did not abandon their cavalry as many other armies did when the German mechanized units smashed the French front, Col. Mikhail Surjikov, who has been wounded three times and who now is a division commander, gave this view.

"The French had cavalry units on the Belgian front," he said, "but they were not equipped as ours are. We knew this. We also knew that Russia is particularly adapted to horse fighting. Everything has proved we are right."

The commander was asked the best time of the year for Cossack horse fighting.

"Spring," he beamed.

Cancer Second Highest Cause Of Death In U. S.

Most common of the complicated diseases is cancer, which is today the second highest cause of death in the United States.

To combat the disease, the Gray county division of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, will join with other branches over the nation in the national all-April campaign. The local objective is $275.

Cancer's toll in the United States last year was more than 150,000. Almost three-fourths of these victims could have been saved through surgery, x-rays and radium if they had known the key to cure is early diagnosis.

Cancer was identified early in history. A description of it appears in a papyrus dated 1550 B. C. As early as 180 B. C. it is recorded that Leonidas, the Greek physician, treated cancer of the breast with knife and cautery.

The most notable organization concerned with education of the public about the facts of cancer—in addition to the federal and state departments of health—is the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer. Composed of more than 250,000 volunteers, they carry the message of cancer control into almost every county in the United States through newspapers, radio, magazines, public speaking, motion pictures, exhibits and all the media known to modern education and publicity. They have the whole-hearted support and guidance of the medical profession, both individually and through county and state medical societies.

Their message, reiterated again and again, and through which many lives have been saved, is that cancer usually can be cured if it is diagnosed in time. The life saving facts, they say, are that you should go to your doctor immediately for examination if—man or woman—you have the following symptoms:

1. Any persistent lump or thickening, especially in the breast.
2. Any irregular bleeding or discharge from any of the body openings.
3. Any sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.
4. Persistent indigestion, especially when accompanied by distaste for meat.
5. Sudden changes in the form or growth of a mole or wart.

O'Daniel Lambasts His Colleagues

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—Because legislation to prevent labor disputes and excess profits is controversial, "we sink in our chamber and hide behind our desks and shirk our duty," Senator W. Lee O'Daniel told his colleagues yesterday.

Urging the senate "not to desert" their duty under "the pretense of observing the resurrection," he said an Easter recess for congress would constitute "an apparent insult to General MacArthur."

He commented that "deplorable conditions" in war production had aroused "righteous indignation" in Texas and elsewhere.

Messages, Not Duns

CAMP BLANDING, Fla., March 26 (AP)—Private Louis Vallancourt's buddies were puzzled. He received envelopes which contained nothing but restaurant checks. He examined them eagerly; then stuffed them into a pocket.

"Why?" a curious friend inquired, "don't you pay the bill and put an end to this thing?"

"They're not duns," Private Vallancourt explained. "They're messages from my girl. She's a waitress and writes to me between orders."

One Blade A Week Allowed To Each Shaver By WPB

WASHINGTON, March 26 (AP)—The War Production Board ordered production of safety razors, straight razors, and razor blades curtailed today, under a limitation program which WPB said would allow an average of one blade a week to each shaver.

Electric razors were not included under the restrictions, but WPB officials cautioned that "they will be taken care of in another order to be issued soon."

During the next 90 days, the board directed, manufacturers may produce 70 per cent of their average 1940 monthly output of safety razors.

Production of straight razors and razor blades is limited to the monthly average in 1940.

Despite the one-a-week average on blades—hitting hard at the man with a tough beard—WPB officials predicted the order would make "ample" supplies of blades as well as razors available.

Commemoration Of Army Day Ordered

The governor asked that all citizens and the Texas Defense Guard take an active part in commemorating the day.

800 Japs Arrive At Owens Valley

MANZANAR, Calif., March 26 (AP)—Eight hundred Japanese evictees arrived at this Owens valley reception center at dusk and bedded down for the night on straw-filled mattresses.

Enroute they had come through miles of desolate mesquite and brush; a few dying trees which had helped make this picturesque valley a profitable orchard section 20 years ago.

"You wait, we'll make a little heaven out of it," a Japanese voice proclaimed from the darkness.

Many of the 10,000 Orientals to be brought here from Los Angeles within six weeks will be vegetable farmers.

The 800 comprised the first large scale evacuation of Japanese from critical areas around Los Angeles. Five hundred came by special train.

Three hundred drove their own cars, loaded with a few possessions, in a two mile long motorcade conveyed by 50 army cars. Because of hourly rest stops, the 200 mile trip, part of it through the Mojave desert, required 12 hours.

The evacuees found a boom town camp of 38 completed and 76 partially built crude wooden barrack buildings, thrown up in five days by 300 workmen under supervision of the wartime civilian control administration. When completed, the center will comprise 490 buildings, including a 150 bed hospital, administration building, mess halls and laundries.

Doughnuts Out For Army, Say Experts

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
AUSTIN, March 26 (AP)—Doughnuts, time-honored sea delicacy, have been floated by peanut cookies and sweet potato muffins in vitamin tests.

If an army travels on its stomach, then don't. University of Texas nutritionists plead, fill the army's collective stomach with doughnuts. Sinkers pack about 200 calories apiece but when it comes to vitamin, mineral and protein content they're not in the running.

What's wrong with peanut flour cookies or vita-yam muffins as a substitute for the doughnut, the home economist asked.

The answer was strictly negative. The idea may sound revolutionary but these unglamorous goodies taste fine, they require little sugar and they're loaded with vitamins.

Muffins made of vita-yam (sweet potato flour containing vitamin A) and peanut flour is packed with B vitamins.

Both are derived from important southern grown crops.

230,000 Cigarets Given O'Hare By Aircraft Workers

NEW YORK, March 26 (AP)—Somewhere in the western Pacific Naval Lieut. Edward H. O'Hare is busily bringing down Japanese planes in his Grumman "Wild Cat."

If he needs a cigarette after these dogfights, he might be having to "grub" one now from his fellow fighters, but one of these days he won't.

When word reached workers at the Grumman Aircraft corporation on Long Island that Lieut. O'Hare had bagged six out of 19 Jap planes that had attacked a United Nations convoy, they took up a collection to buy him a gift.

They amassed $583 and sent him exactly 230,000 cigarettes.
