That Picturesque Sag and Cactus Costs You Millions in Food Bill

By ROBERT E. FORD
DALLAS (AP)—You've heard those songs about bloom on the sage. The travel ad pictures of cactus are pretty, too, aren't they? Enjoy them. They're costing you dough, whether you live in the Bronx, Savannah, Chicago or Amarillo.

Cedar and mesquite alone are costing Texas ranchers $115 million a year. Add the sage and cactus, and the liveoak, Spanish oak, red oak, post oak, blue oak, creosote, tarbush, whitebrush, blackbrush, agave, vaupon, catclaw, hog plum, persimmon, huachuca, canebrake, Brazil bush, soapbush, false willow, Mesquity rose, blackjack oak, retama and prickly pear and the toll is terrific.

These plants are adding millions annually to the nation's food bill. Wherever they grow, they reduce the number of cattle that can be grazed. That means higher meat prices.

Some experts estimate these noxious plants are costing the ranchers as much as $300 million a year in Texas alone. Almost a third of Texas rangeland is infested with them.

The reason these plants are so costly is that where they grow, grass can't. When these plants destroy the grass, the soil washes away. Soon the topsoil is gone and the land is worthless.

A recent publication by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station says that if only cedar and mesquite were eradicated, Texas meat production would increase 400 million pounds annually.

The authors, Vernon A. Young, Frank R. Anderwald and Wayne G. McCully, estimated these two plants alone cost ranchers $115 million every year.

Members of the Department of Range and Forestry at A&M College, the authors point to these facts: Texas ranchers' cattle graze 93,500,000 acres of rangeland. Some 65 million acres are infested by noxious plants; 27 million acres are seriously affected.

In 1870 the U. S. Department of Agriculture Yearbook, speaking of range opportunities in the Southwest, said: "Farmers own land (in other areas) costing $20 to $200 an acre, in climate requiring four or five months of winter feeding cannot compete with stock ranchers operating under a sky that demands no shelter and upon a soil yielding perennial supplies of green food where land is so cheap that a single stock farm includes a whole county."

Mr. Truman, Sky-Scanner

The news camera caught President Truman in this unusual pose when he focused his binoculars on a plane overhead during a display of the Air Force's newest and fastest combat planes, at Andrews Air Force Base, Md.

"Unfortunately," says the A&M faculty members, these pictures no longer exist.

Before the white man came, millions of acres of Texas land were covered with knee high forage grass. The grass was so thick that the undesirable plants couldn't grow well.

Then severe droughts and cold weather damaged the grass. Great areas were burned off. The ranges were overstocked. Floods, windstorms, animals and birds spread the seed of malignant plants, which took hold in the damaged rangelands.

These rob grasses of water, soil and sunlight. It's a vicious cycle that finds grasses always the losers.

Some ranchers claim that in times of severe drought, a few cattle can survive on mesquite beans and cactus. Ranchers burn off the cactus spines and cattle eat the plants.

Bah, answer the A&M experts. If the mesquite and cactus weren't there, the grass would have the water these plants stole. And cattle would have two and a half times more forage than they could get from mesquite beans, cactus and what little grass these plants allow to grow.

The problem seems simple. Why not just cut down the trees, bushes and plants?

Do that and you're in for more trouble. The mesquite possesses a root bud which has eyes like a potato. Cut down a mesquite bush and you have 50 or more in its place — a new plant growing from each eye.

Cut down a cactus or prickly pear and chop it into pieces. Wherever a piece lands, a new plant will grow.

Burn the range and you may not kill the plants. But you certainly will kill the grass and will leave the land open to more infestation.

Texas range specialists are fighting back, but it's slow, rugged work. They've developed power machinery to dig out the root bud of the mesquite. These plows are fairly effective. There are about 55 million acres infested with mesquite. The equipment is expensive.

Chemistry is taking a hand. But methods developed so far generally require individual treatment for each plant, a tremendous task. Kerosene, various other fuel oils, ammonium sulfamate, sodium chlorate, several other chlorides and chlorates, and some arsenic compounds are effective but hard work to apply.

The newest hope is the chemical agents 2,4-D and 2,4,5-5. These compounds are hormone-type sprays which control growth. They don't kill the root bud of a mesquite. However, forestry and range experts believe they are the most fertile field for research in sight. If they can be developed in sight, they will prevent regrowth, then cheap, mass application will

Tuna Fishing Fleet Heads for South America

HOUSTON (AP)—A million dollar tuna fishing fleet with flying eyes will leave here Monday for its maiden trip to the tuna banks off the South American West Coast.

The fleet is the first tuna fishing outfit rigged in the Gulf of Mexico.

Four vessels, a mother ship and three fishing boats, make up the fleet.

The mother ship is equipped with two light planes which will circle above the fleet to spot tuna schools. Locations will be radioed to the fishermen.

A crew of 35 operates the mother ship, the Oceanic, which has a capacity of 1,750 tons of tuna.

Oceanic Foods Company, owned by Charles Edwards of Houston and William Hella, Jr., of New Orleans, owns the fleet. It plans to build a tuna factory here eventually, but first catches will be sent to the Pacific Coast fisheries.

Ground Storage For Grain Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—It looks like wheat may be stored on the ground again in the Southwest when wheat harvest comes around this year. That is, unless grain now in storage is moved out.

This prediction came from Arthur H. Gass, chairman of the car service division of the Association of American Railroads. He made his estimate at a meeting of congressmen, Commodity Credit Corp. and railroad officials.

The way Gass explains it, grain under government loan probably will be moving out of storage about the time the wheat harvest begins.

Cities Service Men's Group Holds Dinner

The Dorothy Men's Fraternity, an organization of Cities Service employees, held a turkey dinner at the DMP club rooms about two miles west of town Friday night.

Dr. Douglas Nelson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, was the principal speaker.

Jim Campbell, in the Cities Service Production Department, provided the turkeys, and R. E. Carlton, chairman of the Refreshment Committee, had charge of the arrangements.

About 280 members and guests attended.

Group to Map Sale of Bonds

WACO (AP)—Representatives of 18 state colleges and universities will map the sale of $60 million in state bonds for building construction.

Formation of the Sale Plan Committee was ordered at a meeting of representatives from the six boards which govern the state institutions.

One delegate from each of the boards will be on the Plan Committee.

Duley K. Woodward, Jr., chairman of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas, said the major duties of the Advisory Committee will be to map plans and financial arrangements for sale, distribution, payment and distribution of any surplus funds derived from sale of the bonds.

The University of Texas is to receive $10 million of the fund, Texas A&M is to receive $5 million and the remainder is to be divided on an enrollment basis among the other 14 state-supported colleges and universities.

Hearing Set in Theft Cases

SHERMAN — Four Sherman men will face hearings Monday in two grain theft cases. The cases will be heard in 50th District Court at McKinney. M. A. Hudson and C. K. Denison are charged with theft and swindling in the first case. Charged with similar offenses in the second case are Ben and Dub Milner. The four are among 18 Grayson County men indicted in Col. H. County in connection with transactions at a mill in McKinney during the fall of 1947.

At the last luncheon meeting, the board decided to have a resolution drawn denouncing rent control. A copy of the resolution will be mailed to each rent control board in this vicinity. Hereafter, the Real Estate Board will meet the first and third Monday of each month at the Court House Cafe. Attending the last meeting of the group were Clarence Arnold, treasurer, H. T. Hampton, Percy Williams, John Ketter, C. H. Mundy, Mrs. M. H. Weston, Mrs. Jessye Stroup and Bradley. Charlie Ward, GI appraiser, also attended the meeting as a guest.

Commission Asking for Investigation

AUSTIN — Texas' Good Neighbor Commission said it welcomed the House-approved investigation of the Felix Longoria incident. The investigation was ordered in a resolution submitted by Rep. J. F. Gray of Three Rivers, where an incident involving the burial of Longoria, a Latin American soldier, took place. "Mr. Gray has called certain statements by commission members untruthful," said R. E. Smith of Houston, commission chairman. "I want to make him a proposition. If this investigation improves we are liars I will resign immediately. If it shows Mr. Gray was wrong I want him to make a public apology." Gray said before the House Thursday that the commission's statement that diplomatic talks on a labor contract with Mexico were stopped had been proved untruthful. "I made that statement," Tom Sutherland, executive secretary of the commission, said, "and based it on high authority in Washington which I'm not at liberty to reveal."

F. M. Culbertson's four-place Fairchild plane was returned to Pampa yesterday from a wheatfield near Shamrock where it was damaged in a landing a week ago Saturday. Culbertson and R. G. (Dick) Hughes, returning from Wichita Falls, were "fogged in" in the vicinity of Shamrock and had attempted to land in the open field rather than attempt a landing at the Shamrock airport because it was known high-tension lines ran nearby. The plane was pretty badly damaged, but neither occupant was hurt when the craft nosed over.

HOUSE BILL
the close of the Legislature's busiest week so far this session. Aside from Senate debate on the school bill, the emphasis in the sixth week was still on committee work, and more important hearings have been scheduled for the coming week. These were some of the other developments during the sixth week: The big-money bills providing funds for major state operations during the next two years were introduced in the House and a subcommittee hearing started on the higher education measure in both House and Senate. The WCTU announced it would sponsor seven proposals to tighten the liquor control laws in answer to a sale-by-the-drink measure. No bills calling for such additional controls have yet appeared. The Senate Public Health Committee recommended passage of the school sanitation bill, a measure fought by chiropractors and backed by medical doctors, sending it to the calendar for a sure-fire fight. A companion House bill has been set for public hearing Thursday at 2:30 p.m. A House committee approved establishment of a commission to study and revise the election laws, along with a measure curbing the practice of state officials in running for other offices before their terms run out. Gov. Jester asked the Legislature to appropriate $20 million for rural roads and take its choice of two suggested plans for financing. A House bill to define lynching and provide penalties was sent to a subcommittee for further study. A bill giving the state a new plan of cutting down on and correcting juvenile delinquency was introduced in the Senate. It was the product of 18 months of study by the Juvenile Code Commission authorized by the last Legislature. The House ordered an investigation of the controversy over reburial of a Texas Latin American GI. The Senate committee hearings delayed by the school bill filibuster were re-set. One on the Veterans Land Board in the Senate will be heard at 2 p.m. Tuesday, and the oil pooling bill was re-set for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. Oil and Gas Committee. Other important measures will be given public airings. They include: Monday, 7:30 p.m. House appropriations, bill to establish a medical school at San Antonio. Tuesday, 7:30 p.m. House game and fish, bill to broaden regulatory powers of the Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. Wednesday, 2 p.m. Senate finance, bill to establish a state reserve fund of $50 million; 7 p.m. Senate public health bill to establish a state board of chiropractic examiners.

middle of next week." Franks would not elaborate on this terse statement. Other informants suggested that the way the treaty draft will be worked out, beginning with Friday's session, probably will be in the following manner: Acheson got from the Senate foreign relations leaders a fairly clear idea of the kind of treaty which the Senate may be reasonably expected to approve by the two-thirds vote required. In his talk with the ambassadors yesterday the informants communicated his ideas of what may be accomplished and they debated how best to go about it. Next week he will meet in a formal drafting session with the envoys and their staffs of advisors. Subsequently he will hold another meeting with the Senate committee and then a second meeting with the ambassadors. Officials hope that about the time the treaty draft will be completed and have so much acceptance among the foreign representatives, the Senate and the State Department that it can be made public. At the moment, there is a much greater feeling of optimism about the treaty among its proponents and supporters. They feel that as a result of the Acheson-Senate meeting, prospects for a strong and effective European-American security system have been greatly brightened. Moreover, officials emphasized that while any automatic commitment of this country to join some future war is out of the question, there is no reason why legally at least "military action" should not be stated as one of the means of meeting an aggression. Senator Vandenberg and various others are understood to find this personally agreeable.

New Fields Opened for Geographers

AUSTIN — Increasing governmental and industrial demand for trained geographers in recent years has opened new and remunerative fields for the man who knows maps. A University of Texas professor says.

Dr. Donald Brand, chairman of the recently organized University Geography Department, says the war brought the government to the realization of the value of good geographers, and during and since the war geographic positions have been expanded or introduced in State, Commerce and Interior Departments, National Resources Commission, the Tennessee Valley Authority, and War and Navy Departments.

Other governmental agencies employing geographers include the National Archives, charts of the maps and legislative reference service. Libraries of Congress, the Smithsonian Institution, U. S. Tariff Commission, U. S. Office of Education, and the Hoover Commission, and a part of the same pay Executive Branch of the Federal Government. Professional geographers earn salaries up to nearly $12,000 a year. United Nations also employ a number of geographers in its various departments. Dr. Brand says.

He predicts greater opportunities for the geographer in all sides and points out that many universities are planning to meet the demand for geographers in their departments of geography and in the one now being formed at the University of Texas.

THE DRILLER'S LOG

By Ken Bennett

This last has been a week of fast rumors regarding the Sinclair-Pepper well in Roberts County. If one had an ear to the ground you could hear almost any report. The opinion is, however, that although the well is still a tight well, there is no doubt that the Sinclair Company has hit the real thing in this field. The depth of the pay has been estimated at anywhere from 200 feet to 700 feet. The latter of which is probably a gross exaggeration. Reliable sources at last report say the company is setting a 5-1/2 inch pipe supposedly at the contract depth of 9,500 feet. Canadian has been a hotbed of lease buyers and sellers, and the Sinclair well is being held in high esteem by the Sinclair Company. The Phillips-Kathryn in Sherman County is drilling in limestone and dolomite at 7,500 feet. The Humble-Nanny in Swisher County is down to around 7,500 feet and the Texas Company's Belle-Wisdom in Hutchinson County is waiting to test at 3,162 feet.

fact, it is generally agreed that if these things were all available right now, Pampa would double its size within five years. Canadian, Berger, Miami, and all the other towns in this area will also benefit by the new field, and you can be sure each town will be out to attract any new business it can. The bridge across the Canadian is remote right now, for it would take at least two years to build it; but since the Army proved that temporary bridges can be built in a period of days that will stand almost any weight, would it be logical to urge such a temporary structure in case the road too could be finished to each bank? Pampa and the surrounding area certainly need this road now, and the bridge. In fact, having it or not having it may mean the growth or slump of a mighty fine city.

Here are the other deep tests and wildcat reports: In Col. Hains-Farmer is shut down in dolomite at 2,110 feet. The Gulf-Collard in Hansford County is fishing for drill pipe at 3,591 feet. The Gulf-Porter, Lipscomb County is drilling ahead at 11,170 feet. The Phillips-Kathryn in Sherman County is drilling in limestone and dolomite at 7,500 feet. The Humble-Nanny in Swisher County is down to around 7,500 feet and the Texas Company's Belle-Wisdom in Hutchinson County is waiting to test at 3,162 feet.

Inquest Verdict In Shooting Held

FORT WORTH — Justice of the Peace Whit Boyd is holding his inquest verdict in the pistol shot death of Mrs. Grace Dent, 30.

Police Detectives O. R. Brown and D. S. Harris believe the shot was fired accidentally.

Mrs. Dent, wife of an encyclopedia salesman, died shortly before noon yesterday.

Dent, 30, told officers the shooting occurred near the Trinity River in a wooded section between Fort Worth and Jacksboro.

Police quoted Dent as saying the gun discharged when she broke open the chamber and snapped it shut. Dent, who was not arrested, drove his wife to a hospital.

Skelton Reviews Texas Oil Needs

By Max B. Skelton

HOUSTON — There are sharp differences among oilmen as to the effect of foreign imports on domestic crude oil production.

But regardless of the argument, domestic production is taking a nosedive from a peak that approximated 5,600,000 barrels daily in mid-December to about 5,330,000 in mid-February.

That February figure is some 17,000 barrels daily less than production a year ago.

It isn't that there is less oil available. Companies and governmental conservation agencies are having trouble locating the market demand.

Charged with regulating production to market demand, the Texas Railroad Commission, for January, February and March, has ordered production cuts of 250,985, 46,188 and 200,083 barrels daily, respectively.

Oklahoma has cut its output by 44,000 barrels daily. Similar, but smaller, cutbacks have been made in Kansas, Mississippi and New Mexico.

Many oilmen, particularly the independent producers, blame the situation on foreign imports. Companies handling most of the imports say the independents are wrong.

Russell B. Brown, general counsel for the Independent Petroleum Association of America, gives these figures:

1. Domestic production last year averaged 5,888,000 barrels daily, including crude oil and natural gas liquids, while market demands totaled 5,743,000 barrels daily.
2. Imports jumped from an October daily average of 498,000 barrels to 629,000 in December.

Domestic production, Brown says, is being cut while imports zoom.

Before the war, the industry

Eugene Holman, president of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) denies that imports are responsible for the drop in oil needed for the industry to become alarmed.

Governor Beauford Jester wrote Holman and the heads of five other major oil companies and said oil imports are bringing about a crisis in Texas.

Holman, in his reply to Jester, said:

Domestic oil stocks, which underwent severe strain immediately after World War II, have been rebuilt. That foreign crude production nears levels of foreign consumption. The mild winter in the East has reduced anticipated oil demands.

He estimated imports at 509,000 barrels daily.

Early in February Holman's company announced plans for a 50 percent cut in crude imports from the Middle East. Creole Petroleum Corporation, a standard subsidiary, also announced cutbacks of Venezuelan crude imports totaling 115,000.

Holman advised Jester his company had contracted to buy considerable amounts of Middle East oil while the United States faced oil supply problems.

There has been indications other importers will follow Standard's import reduction move.

But the independent operators are not convinced the problem will adjust itself automatically. They are organizing to carry their demands to Congress.

Several solutions have been offered by the independents but they center around demands for higher tariffs or establishment of a quota system for all oil imports.

There is fear, however, a higher tariff would not offset the low costs of producing foreign oil.

A quota system would be based on a percentage of domestic production.

Area Reports Completions

A break in the weather through the past week brought in a report of several completions, reported to the local Oil and Gas Office of the State Railroad Commission, and made public by that office yesterday. Thirteen wells were reported as completed. Nine wells were reported plugged.

Hutchinson County dominated the completions, reporting eight new wells. Carson County reported three new wells, and Gray County two.

Dry Circulate Election Petitions

ORANGE — Petitions are being circulated in Orange County for a county-wide local option prohibition election. Sponsors of the petitions hope to dry up three remaining wet precincts in the county.

County Clerk Joe Runnels said he delivered 13 petitions to a group of church lay leaders who applied for them several days ago. Runnels said if the group wishes to compel an election it must obtain signatures of at least 775 qualified voters of the county and present the petitions to the Commissioners Court within 120 days.

Rio Grande Valley Canal Primary Southwest Project

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Officials of two agencies charged with harnessing flood waters of the Rio Grande outlined progress on work along the Texas-Mexican boundary.

Commissioner Lawrence M. Lawson, American representative on the United States-Mexico Boundary Commission, told in an interview of work being done under the 1948 U. S.-Mexican water treaty.

Lawson, with headquarters in El Paso, Tex., is here to testify before a House appropriations subcommittee on funds for the year starting July 1. With him are two other IBC officials, Frank Clayton, counsel; and Charles Curran, budget officer.

Dealing with other phases of Rio Grande development and here for conferences at the Interior Department is Howard Robbins, director of the Reclamation Bureau regional headquarters at Amarillo.

The Rio Grande Valley gravity canal project, estimated to cost approximately $130 million, is the primary southwestern project Robbins is here to discuss.

With him is John Thompson, in immediate charge of the project with headquarters at McAllen.

The Rio Grande dams and the gravity canal project are related, although they have a different official status.

In addition to laying their problems before agency officials and committees of Congress, the Rio Grande men also have been discussing the situation with Rep. Lloyd Bentsen (D-Texas).

Before World War II, Congress authorized the construction of a gravity canal system at an estimated cost of $59 million. It would take water from the Rio Grande near Zapata, and supply irrigated citrus and vegetable farms in the lower valley.

The war prevented any work and the 1945 U. S.-Mexican water treaty, which proposes construction of three dams across the international boundary between Texas and Mexico, materially changed the situation.

Construction of only one dam is contemplated soon.

It is Falcon Dam, near Zapata. The U. S. would put up $39 million, about 60 percent of estimated cost. Mexico would pay the balance.

Congress has appropriated more than $10 million for Falcon Dam, but construction has not started.

Lawson said he will ask $1 million to be added to the unexpended balance of $7 million expected by the IBC to be on hand July 1.

About $2 million of this would be used to purchase lands to be created behind Falcon Dam, said Lawson. The remainder would be used for engineering work and to get construction started.

The fact that every problem must be checked and approved by Mexican authorities make it impractical to estimate when building can begin, although bids should be called soon on the first construction, he added.

The valley gravity canal project would be paid for eventually through water payments by growers.

With the Falcon Dam now in prospect, engineering plans for it had to be so altered that Congress will probably have to authorize an amendment to the original authorization act, said Robbins.

He said he is submitting three plans for the proposed canal system to the Reclamation Bureau, the costs running up and down from the $130 million figure.

While he would not disclose which of the three plans he personally recommends, he said the main points of difference center around the place from which to divert the water into the canal.

One plan would tap the river 30 miles down stream from the site of the proposed Falcon Dam; one would take the water directly from the Falcon Dam lake, and the third would take the water at a point near Mission, Tex., where a storage reservoir would be constructed.

Robbins said he hopes to finish his conferences by the end of the week, and that details of the report then may be made public.

On the other hand, he added, it may be several weeks before Secretary of the Interior Krug gives his stamp of approval and details are released.

Army Plan Is Presented

"God bless the bonnet. And the girls that don it..."

Those are lines from a little sing-skit presented Friday before the Kiwanis Club by two Corps Cadets of the Salvation Army here.

The two girls, Jewel Dean Stone and Wilma Jean Southard, appeared on a Salvation Army program with Maj. Bernice Lyons and Mrs. Curtis Wylie, the former Lt. Betty Williams, who worked with Maj. Lyons at the local post.

Maj. Lyons and Mrs. Wylie discussed informally with the membership some of the charitable services rendered through the post.

The program was arranged through the Underprivileged Children Committee of the club. Dr. Julian Key introduced the speakers.

Various problems facing the Salvation Army were discussed, among them that of deciding when a person needs help, and to what extent.

Maj. Lyons said that from Jan. 1 through Feb. 17, a total of 37 transients have been cared for at

BUYING A HOME

Some people sign a contract to buy a home and then take the contract and abstract to the lawyer for a title examination. Frequently, the contract does not reflect the true intention of the buyer nor does it embody the entire agreement and as a result difficulties, expenses and disappointments follow.

Buying a home is one of the most important steps which the average citizen takes. BEFORE signing a contract to buy a home consult Your Lawyer and give him all the facts. Have Your Lawyer prepare the contract of purchase, examine the abstract of title and protect your rights in the entire transaction.

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Wigman Hanson—Sports Editor

FINIS: The basketball season came to an abrupt and sudden end for Pampa fans yesterday afternoon when around 1500 of them saw their favorite team go down to defeat at the hands of a very fine Lubbock High School team. No excuses need be made by anyone on behalf of the Harvesters.

Both teams played the brand of ball that would normally win any basketball game. Either team is of championship caliber, and could have gone a long way in the state tournament. Now the District 1-AA honors are in the hands of Coach Roy Morris and his team, and Warmup, for one, is sure they will give anyone a tough battle.

Morris changed his defense to a man-to-man, as anticipated, and for a while at the start of the game it looked like it would be disastrous as the Harvesters broke away from their men for easy and I wish them and their coach the best of luck in championship play.

The Westerners should have little trouble in suppressing the Childress Bobcats this week. The Harvesters thumped them soundly twice this season, and with the fine zone defense the Westerners possess, they should be in Austin the first week of March. Good luck to them.

DOTS AND DASHES: A sign in the dressing room of the Pampa team well described the type of play witnessed in the two day playoffs. It read: "Win like a gentleman, Lose like a man." The officials were both unanimous in their praise of the boys of all three competing teams for their wonderful sportsmanship. Again yesterday the stands were filled and the floor surrounded by rabid fans. The doors were opened at 2:08 and at 2:15 the Pampa side of the floor was filled to overflowing. And some were sitting on the Lubbock side. Some ticket scalping was being done. Even the fifty-cent student tickets were sold for seventy-five by the speculators. Coach T. G. Hull and his Amarillo cagers were present to witness the game. The squad was vociferously pulling for the Westerners — three radios and at least five newspapers were on and to cover the game. Among the noisemakers on the Pampa side of the floor were cowbells and five brasses. Pampa won the coin toss and had their choice of baskets. They were also the home team. Even Pampa was unhappy over the Pampa loss. Beat him out of a trip to Austin, TOO. Fourth person into the gymnasium when the doors finally were opened was Mrs. McNeely, followed closely by Mrs. Tipps. Five school buses carried the Pampa High School contingent of students.

Golden Glovers Off to Chicago

FORT WORTH—Eleven members of the Texas Golden Glovers team departed for Chicago Saturday to make their bids at the Tournament of Champions. The team included seven state titlists and four alternates. James Hoff, the heavy-weight champion, is a student at R. O. and was unable to make the trip. His place is taken by Raul Flores, El Paso, who lost to Hoff in the semifinals.

Champions who will compete at Chicago are Fred Morales, 112, Allen Academy; Edward (Bunky) Stephens, 118, Fort Arthur; Valentino Luna, 126, Austin; John O'Glee, 135, North Texas State; Pete Gil, 147, Austin; Robert Walke, 160, Corpus Christi; and Tom Adams, 175, Hardin-Simmons. Alternates in addition to Flores are Tony Malroana, San Antonio; bantam - feather; Billy Burkhardt, Hardin-Simmons, welter-middleweight; and Michael Woolsey, Fort Worth light-heavy-weight heavyweight. The boxers are scheduled for action on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights.

Fusari Defeats Rocky Castellani

NEW YORK—Rocoy Castellani, the pride of the Pennsylvania coal towns, is the latest victim of the rookie-of-the-year jinx. Recently feted as the outstanding boxing newcomer of 1948, Castellani was beaten by Charlie Fusari Friday night in a close 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden. It was Rocky's first main bout on the big time.

Just like Lavern Roach of Plainview, Texas, the 1947 prize rookie, Castellani lost his first big test. However, Roach was completely eliminated in his knockout loss of Marcel Cerdan last March while Rocky can charge this one off to experience. He needs plenty before he starts to think about Cerdan. Outpointed by Fusari, 23-year-old blond slugger from Irvington, N. J., Castellani was not disgraced. The verdict for the 8 to 5 underdog was unanimous but close. Referee Ruby Goldstein had it 5-3-2. Judge Harold Barnes 6-3-1 and Judge Jack Gordon 5-4-1. The Associated Press card scored it 5-5 with Fusari the winner on points.

GET IT IN 2 DAYS TAKE 12 MONTHS TO PAY

HERE'S a new Fireball engine, to put that "wild blue yonder" feeling back in your trusty Buick — and you can have it without waiting! Takes less than two days to install — fits any Buick from 1937 on. Almost overnight you'll have new-car pep again, new-car economy too. And from the standpoint of expense, that's only part of the good news! Total cost is low; runs about the same as a heavy overhaul job with parts. You can pay as you drive, just a few dollars a month. You'll dodge a lot of "old age" repair bills — and think how this flashing new Fireball power will enhance the resale or trade-in value of your car! Better see the Buick man soon, for an estimate — don't you agree?

Fair Enough - by Westbrook Pegler

Some will say that any unfavorable discussion of Eleanor Roosevelt as an influential political personality is an American conduct. Indeed, one publication of ostensibly religious flavor recently asked impatiently how long the public would put up with such evil journalism. I anticipate more of the same on the pretext that Mrs. Roosevelt is a sacred personage but actually for the purpose of suppressing political information addressed to the people of the United States.

I believe Mrs. Roosevelt has been a bad influence and in searching for explanations have found clues in her own autobiography. "This is My Story" the daughter of a dissolute drunkard, raised in the presence of two drunken uncles and an aunt who was given to "love letters" and "beet by an extraordinary desire for 'attention and admiration.'" She was parked with an old Frenchwoman who was a revolutionist and an atheist by these dissipated kin who lacked the decency to squander or understand a nervous little girl and give her a normal girlhood and religious training. As she revealed them to us in her own story, Mrs. Roosevelt apparently never realized how close the resemblance between these two extravagant, sodden, materialistic relatives who molded her character and the caricatures which debased humanity for years in "Tobacco Road." They were not an accustomed to fine living, but the squor of their lives is apparent nevertheless to any observing reader. The little girl seems to have had no spiritual but only selfish emotions, mainly envy and vanity.

My comrade-in-arms was Rabbi Julius Leibert of the Temple Bethel, a scholar and a gentleman, a patriot with a record of wide service during the war, and not to be ignored when he takes a putter in his hand. Our opponents were Arnold Mitchell, himself of Atlanta, a Baptist with deacon possibilities, and Father George Royer of the Roman Catholic faith, although I had not met the Rabbi before, but I have known Father Royer for more than 18 years; and our warm friendship has survived Mrs. Ron Taylor's visits to the Vatican, occasional warnings that the Catholics are going to take over the world, and even the ding-dong matches we have had out under blue skies and along friendly fairways.

It was a fine match! A great way to settle long disputed questions with words instead of fists. Of course, the main question was, "Can the Jews and the Methodists take those Catholics and Baptists?" Aside from my own skill, the Rabbi and I counted on the traditional unwillingness of the Baptists and Catholics to pull together. But "Mitch" and the Father (George, we called him) set a new high in brotherly cooperation.

"Mitch," being a Baptist, was naturally in every way hazy on the course, but his Catholic comrade always pulled him out and through with an extra fine shot. In spite of their gallant efforts, the Jews and the Methodists left the course with Baptist and Catholic scalps hanging at their belts.

After the game we had friendly fellowship, with Father Royer taking the prize with his story about the lady who, upon hearing that he and all his brothers were priests in the Catholic church, asked, in innocence, "Was your father a priest too?" We Methodists and Jews are pretty good, but don't count those Baptists and Catholics out especially since they've got together.

Occupational accidents in the United States killed 16,500 persons and injured 2,050,000 others during 1946.

Jews, Methodists Win the Fight

(Editor's note: The following editorial appeared Nov. 24, 1948, in the Atlanta Journal-Constitution. People think the gay, lighthearted approach to intergroup problems is often more effective than the serious and the solemn. This article, in that respect, has something to contribute here on the first day of Brotherhood Week, Feb. 20-27.)

By Pierce Harris, Pastor 1st Methodist Church Atlanta, Ga.

I have always had a sneaking idea that the Jews and Methodists, if they would stick together, could lick the Catholics and the Baptists.

Instead of sabers and swords as in olden times, or with vindictive and vituperative language as is sometimes employed in these times, we chose golf and 14 clubs to the bag-and-let-the-best-team-win.

My comrade-in-arms was Rabbi Julius Leibert of the Temple Bethel, a scholar and a gentleman, a patriot with a record of wide service during the war, and not to be ignored when he takes a putter in his hand. Our opponents were Arnold Mitchell, himself of Atlanta, a Baptist with deacon possibilities, and Father George Royer of the Roman Catholic faith, although I had not met the Rabbi before, but I have known Father Royer for more than 18 years; and our warm friendship has survived Mrs. Ron Taylor's visits to the Vatican, occasional warnings that the Catholics are going to take over the world, and even the ding-dong matches we have had out under blue skies and along friendly fairways.

NEW YORK — The opinion grows around here that Tom Dewey is a terribly confused man.

In his Lincoln Day speech in Washington he named the things which a practical politician should possess in any average American electoral district — to see what happens to him. Tom Dewey favored all those things in the past elections and got swamped!

Well, my cute new almost-Easter hat is off to Harry J. Fawcett of Kansas City, who served up amateurish, roasted and sizzling hot, at the convention of the Club Managers' Association of America at Detroit.

I think almost any wife would prefer a husband who winked at strange girls on the street to the one who imagines himself a great amateurish and messes up every utensil in the kitchen soft-boiling an egg. I'll bet that fewer marriages have ended in the divorce courts because of men who thought they were Oscars of the Waldorf.

QUICKIES

By Ken Reynolds

It is a basic error to believe that communism can be beaten by bullets alone. Neither can the battle in Western Europe be won solely by operations on the economic front. Ours must be a three-front operation, and that means military preparedness as well as political and economic stability.

LOOKING AHEAD GEORGE S. BENSON

IT'S YOUR BUSINESS! Who owns America's industry? It's easy to say who owns the hot-dog stand down the street or the candy store on the corner.

Sometimes you'll find a fellow who is afraid of that word corporation. Mostly that is because he does not understand what it means. The modern corporation is built around this idea: many people working together can sometimes do things in a better way than one can do them alone.

RISK AND VENTURE The corporation makes it possible for you and me to have a share in the enterprise of business. Actually, that is because we have no money to do it ourselves.

A modern industrial corporation that employs a group of people who own the business is called a corporation. There are perhaps 500,000 corporations in America. Others are equipped and financed by thousands of investors.

Success Secrets

By HARRY WHELAN

"You're never too young nor too old to succeed in life — provided you can think up creative ideas and are willing to sweat a little to put them into operation."

Very early, Stanley Hillier showed signs of the success which he has achieved later. At the age of seven he built a miniature railroad in his back yard — and it ran.

Shortly afterward he began to build model planes and automobile racers as a hobby. The neighborhood kids began to beg him to make racers for them. So he set up shop in his back yard. At the age of 14 he was owner of a business doing $100,000 per year!

While he was in college at the University of California he got into the helicopter business. One of the biggest problems at that time was the fact that the "torgue" of the revolving blades had a tendency to pull the copter to one side.

Hillier did not discourage easily. He went to Washington and finally interested Grover Loening, aeronautical advisor of the War Production Board. Loening got the Navy interested and Hillier got his priorities. A year later he had a complete model ready.

WASHINGTON Labor lobbyists' browbeating of members of the House and Senate since the election has reached unprecedented proportions.

The AFL-CIO belief that they elected Truman and a Democratic Congress against all Democratic odds has given him the idea that they have the run of Capitol Hill.

Senator Hoffman has sent a letter to key members criticizing the loyalty plan requirements. According to his protest, many business and economic experts would like to employ were connected with so-called Communist front organizations.

PAU G. HOFFMAN, ECA administrator, has obtained his objective: he had been very politically discreet. It is a fact that many members and contributors to these so-called "front" groups had no sympathy with communistic aims.

He learned to fly a plane before he was 10 years old. Shortly afterward he began to build model planes and automobile racers as a hobby.

News Clearing House

It is for each to utter that which he finds right, to be true and add his unit of influence to all other units of influence, and let the results work themselves out.

Open Letter to: Officials of the Junior Livestock show, the Kiwanis Club, the Home Demonstration Club women, the Chamber of Commerce, the Roping Club, the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders, and especially to the men and the organizations which bought the 4-H and FFA calves and pigs.

It was a grand show. We thank you sincerely for your generosity to the boys, your work and your hospitality, and especially for the uniformly good prices which Pampa and White Deer have shown for the calves and pigs paid for the livestock.

Another bouquet: the trophies for the championship calf and pig. That is one of the nicest things any show could do.

It was a wonderful show and the calves and pigs were amazingly well finished, as a whole. There are some things that could improve the show and since our boy has hung up his halberd, he will be in college next year and unable to feed — we feel that the time has come when a calf can make out for a better show without seeming prejudiced.

First of all, there needs to be a bigger place to show. This year, due to the number of calves, and to the fact that the show arena was not so big as to keep the spectators away from the calves, many calves could not be shown to advantage.

Next, we think the showmanship awards should be made by person only. That may have been the way it was done, we would not know.

Only the judge knows whether the boys has his calf "ready" every time. The judge knows whether the boy has coaching from the sidelines; only the judge knows whether the boy is able to control his animal, to lead him and place his feet and back to the judge.

Whether this is sour grapes, our boy won a large trophy in showmanship and his calf placed second in the lightweight division; he didn't win that showmanship award just because he was at the top. He has been working on showmanship for nearly seven years, and he really did deserve a showmanship award — but we wonder if he'd have got it had his calf been down about fifteenth or twentieth.

In case you are wondering whether this is sour grapes, our boy won a large trophy in showmanship and his calf placed second in the lightweight division; he didn't win that showmanship award just because he was at the top.

To a judge it would be no added chore, and if the judge is one who does not rate showmanship, then one other man should be inside the arena going up and down the line with the judge, in order to see just who is doing the best job of showing boys.

There also ought to be some rules set up for the calf show in particular. A calf should rate so much for looks, so much for "feel" (for, as few folks know, age of 25).

It doesn't take a genius to think that a calf should be shown creatively. If you have the gumption to put your ideas — put them into operation — and make them work!

Lefors

LEFORS (Special) — Rev. R. H. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist Church, has gone to Winters to get Mrs. Campbell.

The Men's Fellowship supper, which is a monthly affair of the Methodist Church, was attended by twenty-nine men Tuesday night. A chicken and dressing supper.

Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Whitfield and daughter, Sandra, of Borge visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leggett.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Lamb and daughters, LaVerne and Phyllis, visited in Sahmrock on Sunday.

Ray Jordan, Bill Gehring and W. T. Cole were home last weekend from Texas Tech.

Members of the Lottis Moon Circle of the Baptist Church held their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jim Halley.

Mrs. D. D. Lewis had charge of the circle program. Mrs. Halley gave the devotional and others taking part on program were Mesdames Charles Earhart, Alvin Cates, Judd Atchley and Miss Elizabeth Brewer.

Mrs. Tom Clabby and Mrs. F. Fannin brought quilt blocks for members to make for the Mexican Orphans Home in San Antonio.

Mrs. Cates closed the meeting with a prayer. Refreshments were served to those already mentioned and to Mesdames Jerry Lockard, W. W. Andrews, Lonnie Abies and Claude Lamb.

A calf is as fat as he feels and no fat as he feels so much for quality, so much for conformation, so much for percentage of high priced steak cuts, and so much for lack of waste in the middle.

These also should be some understanding as to what will be expected of a calf in breeding. We must admit that an Angus can scarcely be expected to win in a Hereford show. Then why let them enter? We don't mean to be unfair, but we're Hereford people up here and a Hereford still looks the best to us.

A superior calf which might win in some big show, just doesn't have so much chance with us because we can "see" any other breed of cattle.

And showman-ain of calf or pig should be written into the rules. If showman-ain does not count at all, it should be so stated. If it is to count, there should be some understanding as to how much it will count. It takes a boy at least twice as long to train a calf to "show" as it does to do the little chores of mucking every day or so. It is the hardest job a boy does, teaching his calf how to stand with his back up, how to place his feet, how to walk "like a winner" as Dean Staerel says.

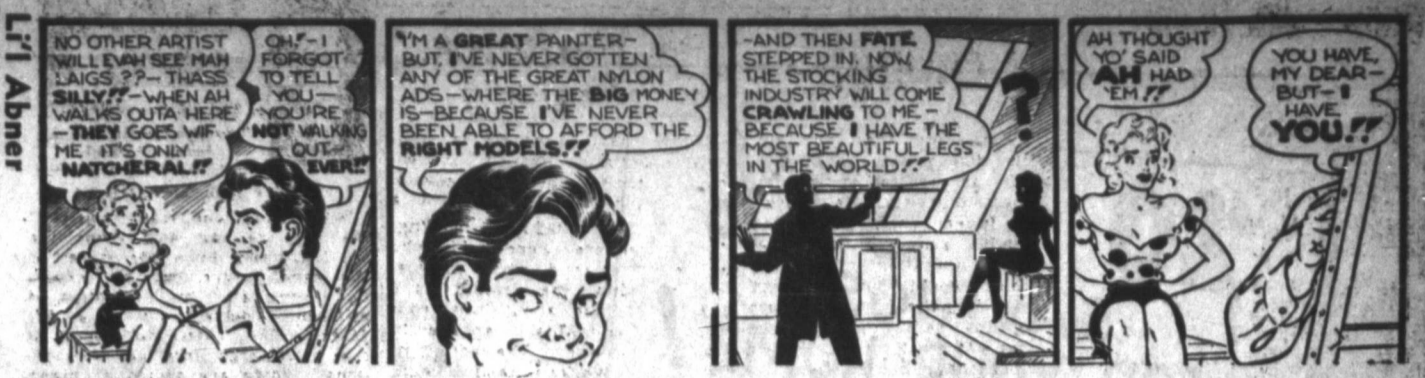

There also ought to be some rules set up for the calf show in particular. A calf should rate so much for looks, so much for "feel" (for, as few folks know, age of 25).

BROTHERHOOD WEEK — The editor, keeping me posted on possible topical tidbits of this column, tells me that this is the first day of Brotherhood Week (Feb. 20-27)...

HERE AND THERE—Saw Mrs. Lynn Boyd in the first spring hat—a dazzling red covered with flowers...

HEARD a humorous yet might-have-been tragic story on Frank... Seems Vera was packing away winter clothes for storage...

HOME-MAKING—Am all wound up over the way Ruth and Charlie Woolley have redecorated their new home...

BON VOYAGE—The Cashes left Friday and the Cabots Saturday for the East to leave for England...

STRICTLY SCUTTLEBUTT—Understand the Guy Andis home is for sale...

COUNTRY CLUBBERS had a big evening Saturday a week ago when they strayed from their regular weekly plans...

BASKETBALL'S the thing—Dee Patterson and Lucy Sanders were among the excited spectators who undoubtedly enjoyed the Harvest-Sandle game at Canyon Thursday P. M.

WHAT'S UP, Doc?—The new oil field about 30 miles from Pampa is the big news—even I'm excited...

I think this Brotherhood Week is really a good thing, after thinking it over for several paragraphs.

Faithfully, PEG O' PAMPA

★ WE, THE WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT NEA Staff Writer

By RUTH MILLETT NEA Staff Writer
Keeping a man through the years doesn't always take a lot of effort on a woman's part, but keeping him interested through the years always does. The woman whose husband continues to find her interesting through the years usually does most of these things:
Keeps up with him mentally. That doesn't mean she has to know just as much as he knows about any certain subjects. But it does mean she has to keep her mind active and alert enough so that he can discuss ideas with her.
Doesn't load him down with the dreary details of her job as a homemaker. She does her job as well as she can, and lets him judge her worth by the result, rather than trying to sell him on what a hard job she has. MIXES 'EM UP

Mixes her dependence on him with some independence—so that he is never sure that either she couldn't possibly get along without him or that she could get along without him very well. Surprises him occasionally by not reacting to a situation in the way he expects.
Keeps right on learning and wanting to learn.
Doesn't become less feminine with the passing of the years. The middle-aged wife who becomes bossy, loses interest in her looks, etc., is actually letting herself become less and less feminine.
Never forgets that a man wants to be able to say, "This is my wife" with pride as well as affection.

Beware of Romance

By Roberta Courtland

XXXVII

AUNT JANE had spoken truly when she had said that Marshallville would rise to the bait of an attractive, eligible young visiting man. The telephone began ringing early the next morning, and parties were arranged that would easily have occupied a month of Mike's time, except that Mike said he could only stay a week at most. He had planned only to stop over for a day and a night, but when everybody protested at that and insisted hospitably that he must stay for "my party on the tenth," he seemed quite content.

The Chamber of Commerce gave a luncheon for him and listened attentively to what Mike insisted was "the darnedest fool speech" any fellow could make, which he had extemporized, and in which he spoke warmly and sincerely of his admiration for the town. There were picnics, luncheons at a country club, dinners, and several dances.

On a warm Sunday morning following Mike's announcement that his visit must end on Monday because he had long overstayed his time, he came down to breakfast to find Merry and Aunt Jane dressed for church.

"We weren't sure that you'd care about going, Mike, and you're not really expected to. The morning papers from Atlanta are on the terrace, and we won't be gone long," said Aunt Jane briskly.

Mike said quickly, "I'd like to go with you, if I may."

"Well, I'll fall into suitable soap and be right down in a jiffy," said Mike, and seemed honestly to look forward to the experience. "Of course I wouldn't want you to think that going to church is exactly a novel experience, however. I've attended quite often—Christmas Eve and Easter Sunday and at weddings and things."

"Of course," said Aunt Jane, her eyes warm. "It's a part of our life here, Mike. I'd like you to go if you'd care to."

When he came down, Merry smiled warmly at him, and said as they went out into the hot sunshine, "You drive, Mike. I'll sit in the middle."

Mike nodded and slipped beneath the wheel of her car. The air was fragrant with gardens and woods and fields; the day was bright and sunny and warmer than a northern June. And it seemed to Mike that the sound of church bells laid its own charm on the scene. From all over the town they came—a deep-toned, mellow; brisk and hearty.

The church was of ancient red brick, bowered in the camellias for which Marshallville was noted. This morning their leaves were as shiny green as though they had just been waxed, but the blossoms were not to return until the mild winter coaxed them out again.

There were friendly greetings as they passed up the walk, pausing now and then to exchange a few words with friends and neighbors; then inside to the warm, decorous quiet, the organ music, the voices lifted in praise and thanksgiving. And then the sermon. After it was over, and they came slowly down the aisle, once more pausing here and there to chat, the minister came toward them, smiling warmly.

"Good morning, Jane. And, Merry, it's wonderful having you back in town again. I dislike very much looking down at an empty pew where you and your family have sat for generations," said he. Merry thanked him and introduced Mike. "Ah, yes, Mr. Channing. I had the pleasure of hearing you at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon. A very good speech."

"That's awfully good of you, sir," but I'm afraid I'm not what even my best friends could call a born speech-maker," admitted Mike.

The minister smiled. "Perhaps that's just as well, Mr. Channing. We seem to have a plethora of expert speech-makers, and a painful dearth of doers!" he said frankly. "I wish I could hope that there was some faint chance of your settling in Marshallville. We need young men like you."

MIKE'S eyes opened in astonishment, but before he could say anything, the minister had been claimed by another group and Merry tucked her hand through Mike's arm, and smothered a small chuckle until they were once more in the car.

"Mouth's open, Mike," she told him demurely.

Mike stared at her, even as he set the car in motion.

"Did you hear what that perfectly grand old gentleman said? That he'd like me to settle down in Marshallville?" he demanded.

Merry's laughter ebbed just a little.

"Dr. Lawton is a lamb, Mike. He's been here for 30 years. He loves Marshallville; he couldn't possibly know what a shocking suggestion that was to you—since he knows nothing of New York or all the places that are as familiar to you as Marshallville is to him, she said quietly. "He didn't realize that he was making such an absurd suggestion."

Aunt Jane looked swiftly from one to the other, and then turned her eyes to the road. Inside her neat gloves, her fingers were crossed and she held her breath.

Mike said after a moment, "So you think the suggestion is absurd, do you?"

"Of course. What in the world would you do in Marshallville? You'd be bored to screams in no time at all."

Mike's jaw set and he drove without answering her. When they reached the house, Aunt Jane said briskly, "Dinner will be ready in a few minutes, so don't you two children go away."

Acheson Proposes Alliance Be Made Effective Pact

By DEWEY MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
Secretary of State Acheson entered the warm debate over the projected North Atlantic Alliance with the declaration that the United States proposes to make it an effective security pact.

This followed Monday's Senate discussion which demonstrated there was strong opposition to making any pledge which would lead other members of the alliance to expect American armed aid to be automatic in case they are attacked. That is to say, the opponents wouldn't pledge the country to war in advance of the event, but would make the decision when the crisis arose.

The signs now are that the prospective members of the alliance will have to be satisfied with this clear declaration of determination.

One inevitably recalls the world-rocking debate over this same issue in the Senate back in 1920. That august body then refused to ratify the German peace treaty mainly because it included the covenant of the League of Nations. The covenant in turn contained an article pledging the signatory powers "to respect and preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league." The Senate wouldn't swallow that.

As a matter of fact, David Lloyd George, Britain's famous war-time prime minister, had suggested to President Woodrow Wilson that the Senate might take just such an attitude. This was while the two statesmen were attending the Paris Peace Conference, and it provided one of the historic moments of that party.

The "little Welsh wizard," as Lloyd George sometimes was called, advocated that the covenant be kept separate from the treaty. But President Wilson was said to have felt sure of his ground, and he wanted the covenant in the treaty. So that's where the covenant went, for Mr. Wilson was the dominant figure at the conference and he was father of the League.

Four columnists saw the dramatic signing of that treaty in the Palace of Versailles. He saw the big three — Wilson, Clemenceau and Lloyd George—descend to the palace gardens in response to the demand of the vast crowd. There the trio walked arm in arm among the eager throng, while thousands crowded about in an effort to touch them with adoring fingers—and secret-service men sweated blood for fear of some "accident" to one of the great men.

That probably was the crowning moment in the lives of the big three. Much of the tribute to the multitude was for the achievement of the League of Nations, the hope of universal peace.

Yet a little later the covenant went on the rocks of that article, committing America to fight in advance of the event.

Honeylamb Thought She Was a Dog

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK.—(AP)—This is the tale of Honeylamb, the sheep that thought she was a dog.

A year ago a newspaper friend of mine in Washington, D. C., achieved the dream of most city people—a place in the country. It was an old acre in Maryland. My friend, Herman Allen, his wife, Emmy Lou, and their two small daughters loved their life there immediately. So did Flash, the family's Springer spaniel.

The lambs on the farm finally dwindled to one, which the Allens decided to keep over the winter.

"As we might have known, she became a pet," said Herman. "Not a pet really, as far as we were concerned, but Flash's pal. They played together, ate out of the same dish and went together to meet Ann coming home from the school bus."

Ann gave the sheep her name. Watching her frolic with the dog, the little girl said:

"Why, she's Flash's honeylamb." The strange analogy immediately became the talk of the neighborhood. People would come by and say, "Well, your dog and your sheep were up to our place to day. Never saw anything like it before."

Their friendship might have gone on for years except that Honeylamb apparently got it into her head that she was a dog herself. And that would have been all right—except that no other dog but Flash understood it that way.

Recently there was a coon hunt in the neighborhood. A Maryland coon hunt is a special kind of thing. The hunters turn their dogs loose and sit in their cars, perhaps belting a little bourbon as they listen to the yowling on the trail. It is the dogs and the coon, if any, who get the exercise.

Well, Flash came from a hunting breed himself. So when he heard the hounds out the other night he left his shed to join in the chase. And Honeylamb faithfully set out after him. She wanted to be in on the coon hunt, too.

Allen wrote me what happened: "I missed Honeylamb the next morning, when she didn't show up to follow me to the car. But I figured she was just sleeping late."

"Later in the morning Emmy Lou phoned me at the office. She had found Honeylamb down by the creek. Flash, Honeylamb, her throat was chewed to ribbons. 'She thought all dogs were like flash.'"

IF STOMACH BALKS DUE TO GAS AND BLOAT

Help Get Food Digested to Relieve Yourself of This Nervous Distress

Do you feel all puffed-up and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in helping your stomach do the job—it should be doing—in the digestion of its food.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restlessness, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent acting ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood, you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with over-doses of soda and other alkalis to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

U.S. May Get Red Faced Over North Atlantic Pact

By JAMES MARLOW WASHINGTON — (AP) — It's like telling a pal "We have to protect each other and if anybody slugs you, you can count on me."

The pal says "Count on you, how?" and you get red and confused and you can't answer.

That's how it is with us now after all the talk about a North Atlantic pact.

Our State Department has been talking for months with Canada and the nations of Western Europe about an agreement.

But these questions will hit the heart of any agreement between this country and the Western European democracies:

1. Will the agreement mean anything at all unless we give an iron promise to fight for any ally that's attacked?
2. And how can we keep any allies, or expect them to stand up against threats or attack, unless we give such a promise?

And right there the problem unfolds: Congress, alone under the Constitution, has the power to declare war. If war comes in the future it'll be the job of the Congress in session at the time to declare the war.

Then how can this present Congress promise that some future Congress will declare war? This country never before has entered a military alliance before getting into a war.

A few days ago Senator Connally, Texas Democrat, startled the world by saying of the agreement:

It wouldn't mean we'd have to go to war to help an ally that was attacked; it wouldn't even

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK — (AP) — There is a theory that a man can't come out ahead playing the races, because you can't win from losing.

But Fuzzy proved that sometimes a man can't lose from winning. The only catch was—he didn't end up rich because he was betting money he didn't have.

Fuzzy and Roy are two pals with a bad case of bang tail disease. For years they have been gradually "improving the breed" at the rate of $2 a race. But they haven't improved their own finances at all.

Secretary of State Acheson, very concerned, issued a statement whose tone seemed to be "everything will turn out all right." What he said seemed to me no clearer than Connally's statements.

The point is: what Connally said is important because he's important. He's chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which looks over the agreement before the Senate can vote on it. And the Senate is unlikely to approve what the committee disapproves.

So the agreement, whatever it is, will have to please Connally and his men.

The Southern Invitational Boxing tournament will be held in the University of South Carolina field house on March 24, 25 and 26.

both had won $200,000. Unexpected winners, paying off at big odds, had put them ahead of the game.

At the end of the second week, however, the two were getting rid of their money. Roy fell to $500,000, Fuzzy was well below his original $1,000,000.

The close of the third week found Roy, cursed by three wins at long odds at one track on the same day, up to $1,800,000. Fuzzy was down to his last $200,000.

On the last day — the bet was limited to four weeks — Roy ran his money out on the first five horses. He was broke and happy.

But poor unfortunate Fuzzy. The day before he had put $10,000 on a maiden named Piate's Dream, and she galloped home first to pay him $500,000. That was at the rate of $172 for a $2 bet. And on the last day two other nags came in, one paying $230,000 and the other $190,000.

Fuzzy, at the end of the final race, had $2,000,000. In trying to pick losers he was 100 percent ahead after 28 days of desperate betting.

So he mournfully paid Roy $2 and went home with the mythical $2,000,000 in his empty pocket. I asked Fuzzy if this experience had taught him a lesson.

"Yes," he said. "It has convinced me there is an element of doubt in horse racing."

Woman Charged With Slaying

EL PASO — (AP) — Mrs. Velma Griggs, 36, charged with slaying her husband, was scheduled today to be under observation of the county psychiatrist.

District Attorney Roy D. Jackson said he asked the psychiatrist to observe Mrs. Griggs for several days.

Sheriff Allan G. Falby said Mrs. Griggs told him she killed her husband because she thought he planned to harm his first wife and six children. She said the first wife lived at Baytown, Tex.

Falby said he believed, from questioning Mrs. Griggs, that her husband was shot about 4:30 a.m. Tuesday. The body was found about 6:30 a.m. Tuesday by sheriff's officers.

Mrs. Griggs was in their trailer-home with the dead husband, a bus driver, when officers arrived.

Cattle Disease Breaks Out Again

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Recent outbreaks of foot and mouth disease may result in shortening the vaccination interval from six to four months.

A veterinary scientist of the U.S.-Mexico Alfosa Commission said European experience indicates alfosa vaccine is good for six to eight months, but the period may be shorter in Mexico.

An unauthorized movement of cattle apparently caused the fresh outbreak in two Mexican areas, veterinarians believe.

About 1,000 cattle have been slaughtered as a curb measure around Matanzas and Lago Moreno in Northern Jalisco. The cattle were slaughtered Feb. 12.

There has been no reappearance of the infection there since the commission said.

Each gave himself a mythical million dollars. They agreed to bet $10,000 each on every race at every track. Whoever lost his million first would be winner. As there were four tracks operating, each with eight races, Roy and Fuzzy had to bet $320,000 a day apiece.

The first two days Roy started out well by losing $200,000. Fuzzy had a couple of winners. By the end of the week, strange to say,

Armistice Chances Reasonably Good
 RHODES —(P)— Dr. Ralph Bunche believes that the chances for an armistice agreement between Israel and Egypt are only reasonably good.
 The acting U.N. mediator said reports "we have the agreement in a pocket" were not true, and actually the negotiations are balancing on "a very narrow margin."

Polio Fund Makes Grant For Research

GALVESTON — A March of Dimes grant of $2,850 will aid scientists at the University of Texas medical branch here to continue research on how polio virus enters the body through the alimentary tract.
 The grant was announced jointly by Basil O'Connor, National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis president, and Dr. T. S. Falter, University of Texas president.
 The investigation, initiated in 1947, on polio virus infection in the intestines will continue under direction of Dr. Ronald Duncan, professor of anatomy, assisted by Dr. R. M. Moore, professor of surgery, and Dr. Morris Pollard, associate professor of preventive medicine and public health at the medical branch. Aim of the research is two-fold: to determine through what sections of the food passages the polio virus gains access to the nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord; and to find out where in the food passages the virus multiplies.
 Scientists generally regard the food passages as one of the important ways the polio virus may enter the body, Dr. Duncan explained. However, he emphasized, it is important to determine if certain portions of the alimentary tract are more involved than others in virus growth and transmission to the nerve cells where the virus does its actual damage. University of Texas scientists, he disclosed, will isolate surgically various segments of the gastrointestinal tracts of experimental animals and try to determine which of those portions are importantly involved in the entry and multiplication of the virus. New surgical techniques and post-operative methods of care for animals have recently been developed to make possible that difficult type of research, Dr. Duncan said.

Retail Sales Under Last Year

AUSTIN—Texas January retail sales, estimated at $321,268,000, were 6 percent under those for January, 1948, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported.

Apparel and combination stores, with less than 1 percent decreases, and nondurable goods and food stores, with less than 2 percent declines, had the best records. Lumber and building materials sales tumbled 28 percent from January, 1948.
 Greatest gains for 1948 were by family and men's and boys' clothing establishments — 5 percent. Drug stores, florists and filling stations showed 2 percent increases. General merchandise, eating and drinking places maintained nominal increases of less than 1 percent over January, 1948.

Warning Against Raw Milk Drinking Issued

AUSTIN — (P) — Texans were warned to drink only milk from approved sources as a safeguard against undulant or Malta fever.
 Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, said that humans usually acquire the disabling disease from the raw milk products coming from cows infected with Bang's disease.

Possibilities Of Television Are Discussed

HOLLYWOOD —(P)—Will Hollywood have a place in the television picture?
 Hal Roach, Jr., says definitely yes. Edgar Bergen says "maybe not."
 The Roach studio, famed in Hollywood history, has cast its lot with the new medium. The Roaches see it as a bonanza for the film industry.
 Roach offered this as proof of Hollywood's TV future: "bankers have approached me asking how they could fit into the television industry." He figures if bankers are after it, it must be a sure thing.
 Taking the negative view is ventriloquist Bergen, one of the first star performers to become interested in video. He has just returned from a survey of the industry in New York.

 "That's the big league of television back there," he said. "They seem to think that they don't need Hollywood. It's much cheaper to do a show directly than to set up a film company."
 "There are the two sides. Time will tell which is right."
 Capsule review: "Streets of Laredo" (PAR) demonstrates there's nothing like a Western. The plot is as familiar as your own hand and they're little new in the action. But somehow the whole thing turns out to be exciting. Maybe it's because of the capable cast — Bill Holden, MacDonald-Carey, Mona Freeman, Bill Bendix.

Not until the end of the 16th Century did the cult of pillar saints disappear.

The people of Canon City, Colorado, are preparing for another quiet winter evening. Snow is just beginning to fall. Dusk almost hides the grim silhouette of the State Penitentiary on the edge of town.

Suddenly it happens! A siren screams—then another—shattering the air itself with their terrifying wails.

Twelve desperate convicts—murderers, kidnapers—armed with crude shotguns, clubs and knives have battered their blood-mad way to freedom in the most spectacular jailbreak of our time!

Dragging as hostages four brutally beaten guards, they force their frenzied way into homes at gun point . . . a reign of terror broken only when the town fought back!

Congress on the Spot With Bill for Veterans Pensions

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON —(AP)— Congress is right on a spot with the bill to give war veterans a pension. A lot of veterans are going to get sore at a lot of congressmen if the vote is "no."

But if the vote is "yes," the pension plan will add billions of dollars to the cost of running the government.

Since President Truman's administration is trying to keep down costs, his leaders will try to keep the bill from coming to a vote.

No one is guessing in exact figures how much the plan would cost the country. But the New York Times says the cost ultimately would be "fantastic."

As it stands, the plan, or bill, calls for a pension of $90 a month to all veterans of World Wars I and II when they reach 65.

That would be $1,080 a year for each. There are now 18 million veterans.

About 203,500 veterans would be eligible this year, if the bill passed. The pension for them would cost about $129 million. As more veterans reached 65, the cost would climb into the billions.

Any congressman with a yen for reelection — and an eye on the veterans he might anger in his district — might well be expected to hesitate about saying "no."

But one congressman took his stand right away. He's Rep. Byrnes, Wisconsin Republican. Stepping before the House, he said:

"This legislation is dishonest. It attempts to deceive the veterans into believing they are getting something for nothing when, as a matter of fact, in 10 years our veterans will be shouldering half the nation's tax burdens, including the tremendous increase this bill contemplates."

Byrnes said that if congressmen don't have the courage to point out to veterans in their district the "dangerous fallacies" in the bill, they don't belong in Congress.

Certainly not all veterans would be angered at seeing the plan killed. The American Veterans Committee, opposed to general pensions for veterans, told Congress this bill is a "political handout."

But two big organizations want pensions reaching $60 a month for veterans reaching 60. They're the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion.

The AVC charge of "political handout" infuriated Rep. John Rankin, Mississippi Democrat, who daddied the bill through the committee which he heads.

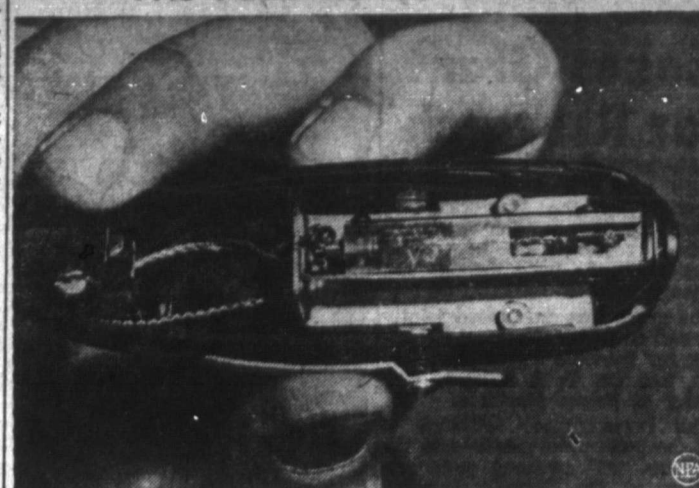

It was Rankin's House Veterans Committee which okayed the bill, after a stormy session, and sent it up to the House for a vote.

But some members of Rankin's own committee got so sore at his tactics that they walked out of the committee, charging that he was "railroading" it through and acting like a dictator.

The Arm Lends a Hand

What may be the answer to the phonograph record muddle is this new pick-up arm, which will play the standard records and new long-playing ones. Displayed in New York, the pick-up has twin sapphire points. One plays the standard 78-rpm records, the other both the 33 1/4-rpm and 45-rpm discs. As the arm switches from one point to the other, the pressure on the record also changes.

Mexican Peso Drops in Value

MEXICO CITY —(AP)— Mexico's uneasiness over her money brought further drop in the peso Wednesday.

Mexican banks bought dollars at 7.15 pesos and sold them at 7.30. The National City Bank bought at 7.15 but took a profit of only two centavos.

The 7.15 rate contrasts with the 6.89 of Monday.

Banks said the Bank of Mexico probably would enter the market later, offering dollars to forestall any general lack of confidence that might start a real panic.

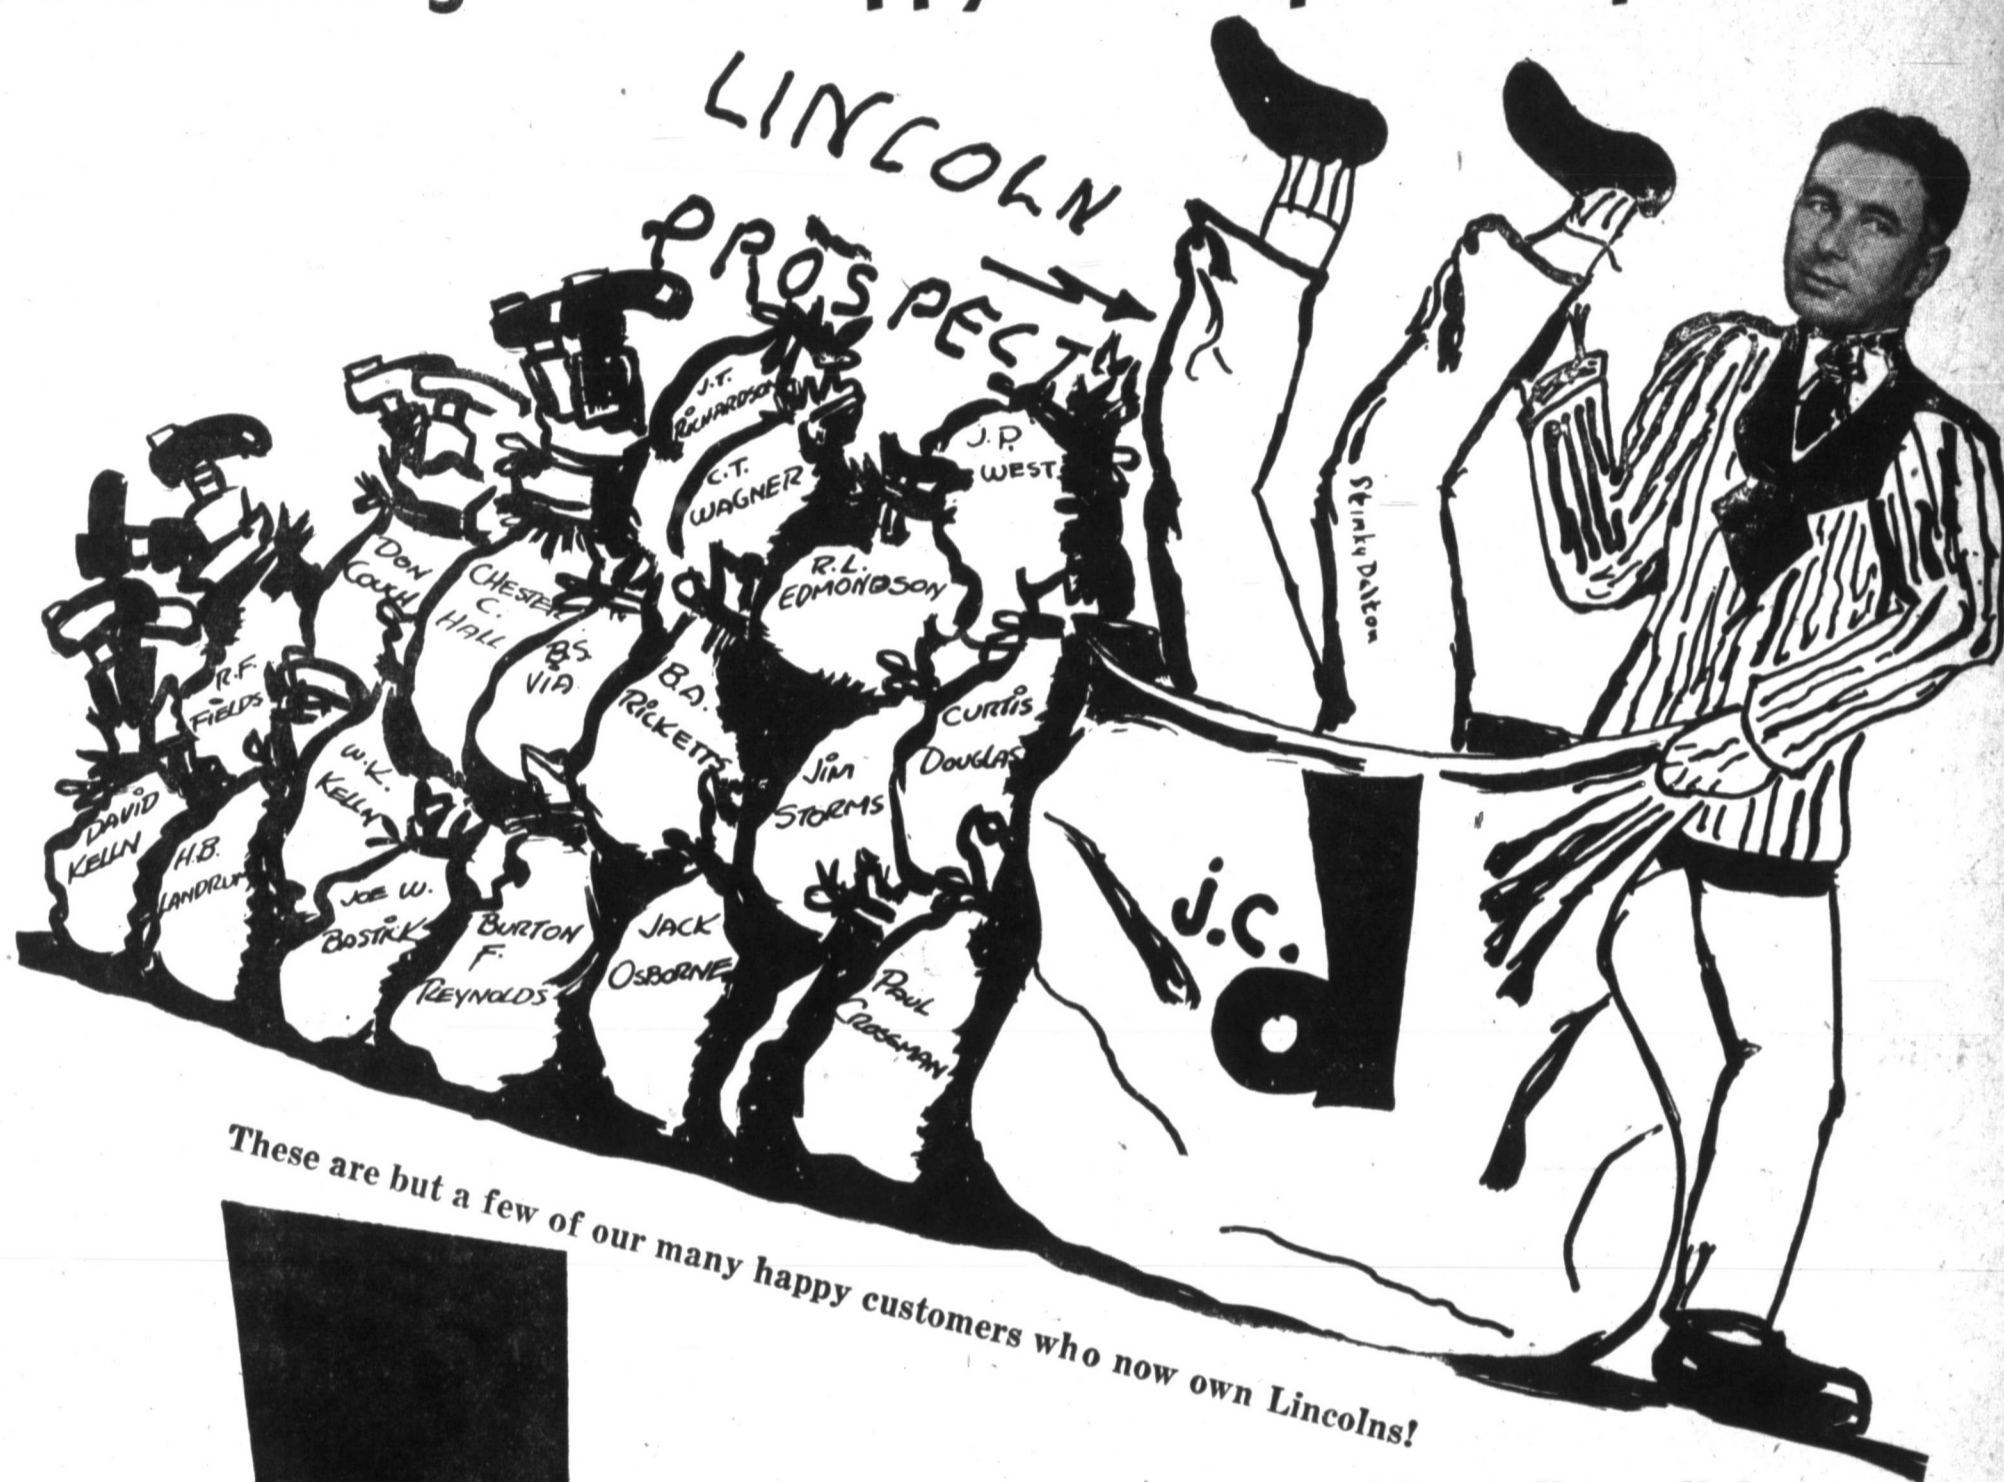

The peso closed at 7.10 to the dollar Tuesday after opening at 6.9025. For months before it had not moved more than a centavo or two from 6.89.

A scramble for gold coins, touched off by the higher price for South African newly mined gold, led to the sharp change in the peso-dollar rate.

Population of Europe, more than doubled between 1800 and 1900, increasing from 187,000,000 to 400,000,000.

Traveler Tells of Communist Persecution of Protestants

EDITOR'S NOTE: A report which purports to describe circumstances leading to the arrest of 15 Bulgarian pastors on treason charges has been delivered to the Associated Press.

It was delivered by a traveler from Europe who said it was given him by associates abroad who stipulated that its source could not be disclosed because of possible retaliation to "friends" in Bulgaria.

The traveler, a responsible official, said he has no knowledge of his own that the report is correct, but adds:

"I am certain that the source is reliable. I think it is as documentary as it can be because anyone who tries to get full documentation across the border is asking for trouble."

NEW YORK — (AP) — A report received here says that a program of "outright persecution" of Protestants in Bulgaria began in January, and on the basis of secret Communist Party orders.

Since that time, the report says, between 30 and 40 pastors of the United-Evangelical Church, which includes four denominations, have been imprisoned.

The report was delivered to the Associated Press Tuesday by a responsible person just returned from Europe who specified that neither his name, his position nor source of the report could be disclosed.

He said the report was prompted by the recent arrest of 15 Bulgarian Protestant leaders for alleged treason, spying and violations of foreign currency laws.

The campaign began, the report says, when Communist central headquarters in Sofia sent a directive to Communist leaders in which the Evangelical pastors were accused of "undermining the foundations of the people's power."

The directive is said to have called for questioning of pastors by Communist leaders, which have resulted in a series of arrests, hearings and confinements, which are described in detail in the report.

Then in June, 1948, the report says, the government addressed a letter to church leaders, telling them they should, among other things:

"Not criticize the government; support nationalism, acknowledge and preach that the state stands above the church; support fully all government measures. . . counteract anti-Communist and anti-Russian propaganda from the pulpit and the church press."

Later, the minister of foreign affairs is said to have threatened to close the churches unless they did "something to aid the government." As a result, the report says, the churches made "certain concessions" and the foreign affairs minister "assumed editorial control."

Nevertheless the arrests continued, the report says, adding: "By November, between 30 and 40 in all were in prison. Some were held as hostages for others who could not be found."

College Seniors Say Money Comes First in Picking Job

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON — (AP) — Looks like dough comes first when college boys pick a job.

You mean they'd put pay ahead of doing a public service, like working for the government? Sure.

That's what the Hoover Commission found after sending questions to 3,448 Seniors in 94 colleges.

The commission is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. It's been working 18 months to find ways of making the government better.

And it told Congress it learned these things from questioning the college Seniors:

Over half the Seniors said salary is the most important thing to them in choosing a job.

And the pay in the government, they said, isn't as good as in private business.

That fact isn't new, of course, but it's one of the main reasons why only one out of four of the Seniors said he was interested in a government job.

And what's the second most important thing to the Seniors in looking for a job?

Almost half said chances for promotion. And on that one, too, they think private business is better than the government.

On three less important counts they said government work was better than private business:

Their job in the government would give them more chance for public service; and there would be more benefits like leave, or time off, and retirement pay.

This is one of the reasons why the commission told Congress it had better do something about making government jobs more attractive. This will give an idea of what a merry-go-round the government is in hiring and keeping people: In 1939 only 900,000 people were working for the government. The war came and by 1945 there were 3,700,000 people on the payroll. There are still 2,100,000.

This drop from 3,700,000 was due to the government's getting back on a peacetime basis and dropping temporary, or wartime, workers.

But — since 1945 the government has released or lost 2,900,000 employes and hired 2,800,000.

When you add the 3,000,000 dropped since 1945 to the 2,800,000 hired since then, you wind up with a total of 6,700,000 people who moved in and out of government jobs in only three years.

This is a pretty sad story for people who may be thinking of trying to make a career out of government work.

Astaire to Make Musical

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Fred Astaire is spending these days watching his nags run at Santa Anita, but he won't be idle long.

MGM is whipping up a vehicle for Fred and he expects to be back at work. The emphasis at that lot continues to be on tune films and Fred is the top musical star. The new picture will not be with Ginger Rogers, with whom Fred makes a return appearance in "Barkleys of Broadway." Judy Garland may be starred.

Meanwhile, the deal for "White Christmas" with Fred and Bing Crosby has bogged down temporarily. Paramount and Irving Berlin can't agree on terms.

Wanda Hendrix and Audie Murphy are spending their honeymoon apart. He's on tour with "Bad Boy" and she started work here with Alan Ladd in "After Midnight." The perfect bridegroom, he sends her two dozen roses daily.

Frankie Laine is hunting for a ranch home here, even though he spent only five weeks in town during 1948. He hopes to cut down on his touring and breed horses.

'Accidents' Result From Carelessness

AUSTIN — There's nothing accidental about accidents or the people who have them. Director Homer Garrison of the Department of Public Safety said today, "You can set your watch by the regularity with which collisions occur." Garrison said, "You can predict with absolute accuracy what violations of the safety laws will cause the collisions. And you can pick out most of the people who will have them, because they are the people who habitually violate the laws, either ignorantly or deliberately."

Emphasizing the Texas Safety Association's campaign to teach people more about traffic laws and the reasons for complying with them, Garrison said: "Headless people can get by, for a time, with cheating the laws on speeding, passing, driving while drinking, and pedestrian regulations. But the law they can't cheat is the law of averages."

The law of averages catches up every day with many drivers who make a habit of crowding their luck, the assistant director said. Speeding, he explained, does not mean simple disregard of the arbitrary limits of 60 in the daytime and 55 at night. "You violate the speed law anytime you drive faster than you should, in view of the conditions prevailing at the time," Garrison declared. "Pedestrians, side roads, small communities, livestock on or near the road, narrow bridges, turns, wet or icy pavement, congestion all these are hazards that call for extra alertness and slower speeds."

Eighty percent of the drivers involved in fatal collisions on Texas highways are found to have committed violations, while 87 percent of the pedestrians killed and the reasons for complying with them, Garrison said: "Headless people can get by, for a time, with cheating the laws on speeding, passing, driving while drinking, and pedestrian regulations. But the law they can't cheat is the law of averages."

General Omar N. Bradley, United States Army chief of staff and one of the outstanding commanders in World War II, preaches a powerful sermon on the dangers of "delinquent citizenship" in an article in Collier's weekly.

As a matter of fact, this ordinarily quiet-spoken soldier rolls up his sleeves and administers a sound drubbing to shirkers. The burden of his rebuke is that we Americans can lose the battle against statism if we fail to make our contributions to the welfare of the home, the school, the church and the community. That means everybody—not just the other fellow, but you and me.

The general is dealing with such a vital truth, in such a forceful manner, that this column welcomes the opportunity to report his views. He imparts the feeling that it's high time for us to take stock. He points out that our struggle against the forces of evil may be long and that "ideas are as important as the atom bomb." He sums it up bluntly like this:

"Our danger lies not so much in a fifth column whose enmity is avowed. It lies in a first column of well-meaning American citizens... who are 100 percent Americans in their daily protestations and ten percent citizens in their daily routine of neglect."

General Bradley assessed the faults of the younger generation against the elders. The failure of the elders to meet the demands of citizenship is responsible, he believes, for "political immaturity, economic ignorance, philosophical indifference and spiritual insolvency" of many American youth.

That strikes home to those of us who have children just arriving at maturity. It seems to me that the younger generation is reaching for ideas as youth never has before. Unhappily that search is being conducted in the unhealthy atmosphere which follows any great war and which is especially bad these days as the result of the division of mankind into two hostile ideological blocs.

My personal observation is that the younger generation is actively trying to find its feet. I have two young folk of my own who are placing their problems before me. Many of those problems relate to the question of where our duties lie as citizens. And how much greater are the problems of the youths who have been away to war and have come back to adjust themselves to a new world.

Prisoner Escapes By Hook and Crook
BAIRD, Tex. (AP)—Columbus Wright, a prisoner in the Callahan County jail here, escaped "by hook and crook," literally.

Sheriff Joe Pierce said Wright attached a hook to the end of a pole made from broom and mop handles. With this the prisoner, held on burglary charges, fished keys out of a drawer in an office adjoining the cell. He unlocked the doors and walked away. Wright had been transferred here from the Abilene jail.
