Parking Ban Issued To City Workers

A directive has been issued by City Manager Charles Hill ordering city employees to stop the practice of all-day parking in regulated curb-side spaces around the city municipal building.

In addition to "tying up" the parking places for persons with business at City Hall, the city manager pointed out that the practice requires taking time out to leave work and move cars every two hours to keep from getting a parking ticket.

The city manager's directive encouraged city workers to use the Atchison St. public parking lot, about one block south of City Hall.

The notice to all city department heads stated "disciplinary action will be taken should continuation of utilization of regulated parking areas around City Hall persist."

Veto Threat

Huge HEW Bill Could Be Stalled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House figure was $1 billion too much. Nixon urged Congress to shelve the matter until January, after the Christmas recess. In order to allow HEW and the other agencies covered in the bill to stay in business, the Senate approved 65 to 10 a resolution allowing HEW and all other government agencies that have not been funded to continue operating at their old levels into the new year.

Thus if the Democrats do succeed in getting the welfare appropriations bill to Nixon's desk in its present form, and Nixon makes good his threat to veto it, Congress would not have to come back before the first of the year to keep HEW running. The House must also approve such a continuing resolution.

An incidental victim of the Nixon threat was an amendment to the appropriations bill that began as an attack on government school desegregation and wound up as a potential weapon in the government arsenal.

Mrs. Wanda Carter, chief deputy clerk in the Gray County Clerk's office, today filed with Democratic Party secretary Bob (M) Baker, her intentions to seek the office of County Clerk on the democratic ticket.

Charlie Thut, who has held the post for a number of years, has indicated that he will not be a candidate this year.

Mrs. Carter has 17 years experience in the clerk's office. She and her husband, James, a Cabot employee, reside at 422 E. 18th with their son, Randy, who is a student at Robert E. Lee Junior High School.

Baker said Mrs. Carter is the first filing for the upcoming elections that will see primaries in May, 1970 and runoffs in June.

Car Climbs Guy Wire Before Overturning

By RON CROSS
News Staff Writer

A freak one-car accident claimed the life of a 21-year-old Pampa man shortly after midnight last night when the car he was driving climbed a guy wire before overturning on its top.

Killed in the accident was Raymond Mitchell Haralson, 417 Crest. A passenger in his car, Brenda Hale, also 21, of 433 Hill, suffered a shoulder injury in the accident and did not require hospital treatment.

Haralson was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of Peace E. L. Anderson, acting as coroner.

Pampa police Sgt. Gene Aufleger, who investigated the accident, said the distraught woman told him Haralson had almost hit a center media in the 900 block of Wilks then served sharply to the right.

The car hit a curb in front of a grocery store then traveled up the guy wire about 12 feet and slammed over on its top. Haralson's head was either crushed in the accident or went through the front windshield.

The Hale woman was helped from the car by passerby.

Haralson, who was living with a brother, Ernie, was taken to Duenkel Funeral Home where rites are pending.

He attended grade and junior high school in Pampa and left high school here in 1965.

The victim had been out of the service since October, 1968.

His mother lives in Garland and he has a sister, Mrs. Troy Parks, 935 S. Dwight.

Haralson had worked for Cabot and Triangle Well Servicing Company.

His father was killed in a car accident three years ago near Canadian.

His death is the first in Pampa since Sept. 1, 1968 when two-year-old Harry Joe Coulter was killed in the 300 block of Elm St.

Police were told by the Hale woman that she and Haralson had been drinking coffee in a cafe west on Highway 60 and were returning to Pampa.

The couple was traveling east on the highway about 12:45 a.m. when Haralson apparently did not see the media and swerved to avoid hitting it.

Congress To Wrap Up Tax Package

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House and Senate negotiators all but wrapped up the biggest tax reform, tax cut package in modern history today in a 17-hour session that ended at 3 a.m. EST.

The 14 conferees planned to meet again at noon EST. They said they definitely planned to finish their work today. The whole tax package would then go before both houses for a final vote, probably Monday.

Otherwise during Thursday's busy congressional session:

—President Nixon threatened to veto the spending bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and related agencies because he said it would be inflationary.

—House-Senate compromisers agreed to continue the war on poverty to another two years, with few changes—a victory for the Nixon administration.

—The Senate passed 55 to 35 a foreign aid bill totaling just over $2 billion, but not including $34.5 million for a squadron of jet fighter planes as approved by the House in its $1.6 billion measure.

—Congress passed and sent to President Nixon its biggest annual money measure—appropriating $69.8 billion for military spending.

—Congress passed and sent to the White House a bill setting limits on coal dust levels in mines and providing millions of federal dollars in compensation for disabled miners.

—The House passed and sent to the Senate legislation for hiring an additional 600 policemen to help guard both the White House and foreign embassies.

—The House slashed to 30 percent a proposed 46 percent increase in educational benefits for veterans. The 46 percent increase had been passed by the Senate.

—House and Senate conferees agreed to give President Nixon standby power to order controls over business and consumer credit transactions.

—The Senate, in a 52 to 37 vote, said, in effect, it does not agree with the Nixon administration's "Philadelphia plan" for bringing more Negroes into federally contracted construction.

Chicago Mayor Called To Testify After Christmas

CHICAGO (UPI)—After the judge denied a motion for Christmas weekend recess in the trial of the "Chicago Seven," the defense said Thursday it will call Mayor Richard J. Daley to testify the day after Christmas.

Weinglass made the announcement after U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman ruled there would only be a recess for Christmas Day in the trial, which began Sept. 24.

Daley has said he will make no attempt to quash his subpoena. The defense wants to question him on his role relating to violence surrounding the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Seven men have been charged with conspiring to incite riots here during the convention.

In court testimony Thursday, the director of the Broadway hit "Oh Calcutta!" said he met Yippie defendant Abbie Hoffman in New York in January, 1968 and gave him advice on how to plan a "Festival of Life" during the August, 1968, convention.

Jacques Levy — long-haired, mustachioed and wearing mod clothes—said Hoffman told him, "We're going to give people an alternative. They have the Democratic party and there's going to be our party (the Youth International party) there, too, and people in Chicago will realize that our party is better."

Levy said he worked with Hoffman, Yippie Jerry Rubin and Timothy Leary, the former Harvard psychologist who advocates the use of LSD, in planning the festival, which dissolved into violence.

Earlier, Judge Hoffman denied the appeal of Chicago attorney Stuart S. Ball—former president of Montgomery Ward & Co. and brother of former presidential adviser and United Nations Ambassador George Ball—to allow his son to stay on the defense team.

USA Lifts China Embargo

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is close to a decision to lift partially the 19-year U.S. trade embargo with mainland China, informed sources said today.

The sources said the Nixon administration is planning an announcement shortly. The action would allow foreign subsidiaries of U.S. companies to trade with Peking.

Officially, the State Department declined comment.

The embargo went into effect in 1950 and is controlled by the foreign assets control regulation administered by the Treasury Department.

Under the anticipated decision, trade between subsidiaries of U.S. companies abroad and Peking would be in nonstrategic items. Peking would be able to buy trucks, razor blades and other items not considered of strategic defense importance.

The expected decision appeared to be in line with a statement by Secretary of State William P. Rogers Nov. 18.

Rogers said: "We would like to have more travel between the two nations (the United States and Mainland China) ... better communications and trade relations, to some degree at least."

The move also supplemented the administration's announcement in July that U.S. tourists would be allowed to bring back $100 worth of Chinese manufactured goods.

It is expected in diplomatic circles after a lapse of two years Peking will agree soon to resume ambassadorial conversations with the United States. These talks, which were begun in 1955, have been carried out in Warsaw, Poland in recent years.

Whether China would respond to the relaxation in the trade embargo was a question. It was expected at first Peking would probably scorn the move, but after weeks or months might show some interest.

14 other persons—including 10 present or former city officials—by a federal grand jury Wednesday in a widespread investigation of alleged crime and corruption in New Jersey. Addonizio was expected to plead innocent.

The 15 are charged with conspiracy to extort and 65 counts of actual extortion of between $500 and $37,000 from Conzrad, Inc., an Oldwick firm that has done considerable work for the city. Paul Rigo, a top-echelon company official, is believed to be the main informer who broke the case open in talks with federal officials.

Three federal grand juries investigating alleged crime and corruption in New Jersey are reported in recess for the Christmas holidays. One jury indicted 55 persons Tuesday on interstate gambling charges.

SAIGON (UPI)—The Viet Cong shelled Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport today for the first time in six months and announced they have made "deals" on truces with elements of three South Vietnamese divisions.

Ground fighting across the nation was reported light.

Four long-range rockets hit Tan Son Nhut—it serves as the commercial airport and as a U.S. Air Force Base—at 3 a.m., landing in a housing area for the families of government troops. One civilian was killed and four wounded.

The airport had been free from attack since June 29. One rocket hit the downtown section of Saigon Wednesday, wounding four persons, in the first shelling of Saigon in four months.

The two salvos into the capital came after the South Vietnamese army assumed the defense of the so-called "rocket belt."

Liberation Radio, the Viet Cong's broadcast outlet, announced that the guerrillas had agreed on standstills with elements of three South Vietnamese divisions—the 7th, 21st and 25th—since the U.S. withdrawal began.

"The platform of the National Liberation Front (political arm of the Viet Cong) encourages these deals," it said.

According to the broadcast, the Viet Cong and certain units of the three divisions have agreed not to fight each other. The identities of the government units involved were not disclosed.

"This is reasonable because the mercenaries (South Vietnamese) have no reason to die for the Americans," Liberation Radio said. It added:

"American troops in the program of Vietnamization do not come to the rescue of mercenary troops, and with the withdrawal of American troops

Police Seek California Man Who Threatened To Get 'Dudes'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Authorities today sought the identity of a middle-aged man who bought a rifle in a downtown pawn shop, walked outside vowing to get "three or four dudes," and opened fire at passing cars and pedestrians. He wounded two men, one fatally, before taking his own life.

The gunman signed the name "John Price" on the pawn shop register, but police said they were attempting to establish his true identity through fingerprints.

Donald Zorbrak, 35, the pawn shop manager, said the man entered the shop, paid $90 for the 8mm automatic Mauser and asked to see shells for it. Then he loaded the gun.

"I told him he couldn't do that in the store, but he just waved the gun in my direction," Zorbrak said. "Then he started backing out of the store and said he was going to get three or four 'dudes' before anybody got him."

Pedestrians loaded with Christmas packages and a gas company crew working in the street scattered as the man walked along Mission Street, swinging the rifle back and forth on his shoulder.

Accident Victim Satisfactory

James Preas, 44, Davis Courts, remained in satisfactory condition in Highland General Hospital today where he was taken Thursday following a truck turnover 11 miles northeast of Pampa.

Preas, according to the highway patrol, was the driver of a truck filled with grain that overturned after swerving to make a cutoff when he saw a train after topping a fog covered hill Thursday morning.

Peace And Goodwill Should Be Mixed With Common Sense

The Christmas season is traditionally a time set aside to think of peace and goodwill. Local officials remind area residents that it is also a time to exercise common sense and an extra bit of caution.

Gray County Rufe Jordan stated that, "This time of year we get a lot of 'checkers,'" in referring to shoppers that may be passing worthless instruments. He advises business personnel to ask for and record identification of shoppers using checks for payment.

In the event of the slightest doubt, he advises that a license number be recorded, aiding the department to locate the offender if the check proves worthless.

He also reports that increased patrols in the rural areas are continuing, stating that the coinciding Christmas-hunting season poses a problem in those areas. In keeping hunters within legal bounds, the department can also patrol areas that might be targets for break-ins.

A statement concerning holiday precautions and advice was issued by Pampa Police Department through assistant chief George Wallace. He advises residents and drivers to use caution and precaution in making holiday plans. He stated that the biggest problem is the increased traffic, pedestrian and vehicle, in the downtown and shopping center areas.

He stated that driver courtesy could eliminate a great amount of this problem. Late shopping hours and possible bad weather before the Christmas Eve deadline add to the hazard of pedestrian and motorist involvement.

He also advises persons to securely lock automobiles and homes and remove the temptation for theft. He advises that neighborhood children can be offenders in cases where a home is entered through an unlocked door. He added that the temptation can easily be removed by locking doors securely even for short absences.

Fire Chief Fins Dyer advises everyone to check wiring on Christmas lights, keep wrapping and packing material away from heaters and to use precautions to keep the season a happy one. He added that all lights should be turned off when a family leaves the premises or retires at night.

Wind blowing limbs or causing friction by rubbing wires against rough surfaces can cause a short in the wiring quickly. Outdoor lighting should be checked often for wear, he advises.

Also he reminds shoppers to look for the National Fire

Children Bring Out Best In Christmas

by DORIS E. WILSON

The Party of the Year was held last night in the Patio Room of First Methodist Church.

If you missed it this year, circle your social calendar as a "must do" next year, when the Gray County Association for Retarded Children send out invitations!

Sharing the fun and excitement of Santa's arrival, were parents, friends, neighbors, brothers and sisters of students of the association's pre-and post school Satellite Day Care Centers and students from Special Education Classes in the public schools.

While not too many just plain interested individuals were there, their monetary contributions were, in the form of Christmas gifts for each of the more than 80 children attending, two sacks each of candy, fruit, and gum that was distributed to each child.

Santa brought along his "missus" this year to help distribute gifts and candy. His visit was timed perfectly to follow entertainment provided by Mr. and Mrs. David Campbell of First Baptist Church, who provided a program of trumpet and flute numbers and led the youngsters in group singing of Christmas carols.

The beloved "Christmas Story" was told in flannelgraph by Mrs. T.R. Kelley.

Santa's emissary last night was J.C. Roberts, who has long provided the jolly touch to the children's party and remarked, "This is one visit I wouldn't miss for the world."

This year, he brought along glamour, in the form of Mrs. Claus, alias Mrs. Jim Hughes.

A Christmas Party, hosted by the Gray County Association for Retarded Children is one of the most heartwarming places in Pampa on the night it is given.

Gratefulness, appreciation, love, and "that once-in-a-lifetime" childish belief in all good things is evident everywhere.

And to an onlooker, it is evident that the children enjoy seeing and being thrilled over what their friends receive as the gifts they receive themselves.

Children Made Wards Of Court

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Three children of Mrs. Betty Lansdown Fouquet, accused of abandoning her 5-year-old daughter next to a busy freeway, were made wards of the court Thursday during a closed hearing.

The hearing, however, failed to reveal the whereabouts of the woman's missing 8-year-old son.

Mrs. Fouquet, 26, was arrested with her common-law husband, Ronald, 31, after the woman's daughter by a previous marriage, Jody, was found clinging to a freeway fence near Bakersfield, Calif., Oct. 25. The couple faces trial in Bakersfield Feb. 2 on child abandonment charges.

Following the couple's arrest, Billie Joe Lansdown of Camas Valley, Ore., revealed their 8-year-old son Jeffrey, who is in Mrs. Fouquet's custody, had been missing for several months.

Man Goes Berserk On Bus

BEAUMONT (UPI) — A 25-year-old man went berserk and started hitting and choking passengers on a Greyhound bus Wednesday.

Four police officers subdued and arrested James Harris Jr. of Mobile, Ala., and the man was taken to the Beaumont Neurological Center for treatment.

"He was just sitting there and the next thing anybody knew he jumped up and started hitting a guy in front of him," a police officer said. "He started grabbing people and hitting and choking people."

"What it amounted to was we had 43 people (42 passengers and the driver) on the bus who got out real fast," he said.

The police spokesman said no one was injured seriously and the bus continued on its Houston to Lake Charles, La. route.

"He just kind of terrorized people a little bit," the officer said. "He didn't appear to be drunk or on any kind of drugs that we could tell."

Tiny Tim Gets Union Scale For TV Nuptials

NEW YORK (UPI)—Tiny Tim, married to 17-year-old Victoria May Budge on NBC-TV's "Tonight" show Wednesday, received the union scale $265 for his appearance.

His bride received a lesser "honorarium," according to an NBC spokesman. He said an estimated 20 million persons watched the program.

Bulb Thieves To Be Prosecuted

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Chief Deputy Sheriff Roy Nixon said Wednesday the Shelby County sheriff's department will begin prosecuting all persons caught stealing items from outdoor Christmas displays.

Earlier in the day, Nixon reported that someone had taken 25 light bulbs from the Christmas decorations at his home.

Sinatra Asked To Testify In N. J.

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Lawyers for entertainer Frank Sinatra urged the creation Wednesday of a three-judge federal panel to determine the constitutionality of a commission asking him to testify about any knowledge he has of organized crime in New Jersey.

U.S. District Court Judge James A. Hollahan reserved judgment in the matter after listening to two hours of arguments. The deliberations came as investigations continued into alleged crime and corruption in the Garden State. At least 70 persons have been indicted within the past two days.

Sinatra's lawyers argued the entertainer was the subject of a "fishing expedition" by the state investigation commission (SIC). Sinatra, cited by a state judge for contempt for ignoring the subpoena issued June 25, has charged the SIC was trying to stage a "circus" with him in the center ring.

Christmas Ghosts Stalk Teenagers Who Killed Parents and 10 Others

(UPI)—The ghost of Christmas stalks two Parkersburg children. There is no Christmas present. Perhaps no Christmas tree.

Susie Bailey, 15, is in Wirt county Jail. Her brother, Roger, 13, is at an undisclosed detention home.

The two face trial on 12 charges of first-degree murder the fire deaths of their father and mother and 10 brothers and sisters.

A spokesman at the Wirt county Jail said Susie has not been visited by any of her relatives since her confinement out six months ago. Relatives of the two children refuse to discuss their plight.

Last June 9, a warm Sunday morning, the Baileys' modest home here became a hellscape.

Charles Bailey, 41, his wife,

Ruby Jane, and their 10 children, ranging in age from 6 months to 17 years, perished.

Obie Bailey, 63, the children's grandfather, was the only one inside the house to escape.

The state based its case against Susie and Roger on their alleged confession they had set fire to the house. The confessions came two days after the fire.

Susie was reported to have told investigators she used gasoline, with Roger helping her, to set the blaze. She allegedly was resentful because her father wanted her to stop seeing a boyfriend.

Susie and Roger have nothing now but the memory of Christmas past.

Wall Street Chatter

Hayden, Stone Inc. warns against chasing stocks during rallies that lack any especially bullish incentive and are not preceded by necessary price consolidation or base building. There is nothing to indicate that a final bottom has been reached and, in fact, up until just recently the market was still probing for even a trading bottom, the firm says.

Hardy & Co. notes that the most severe inflation in recent history has taken place during a year of the most severe fiscal and monetary restraints. The situation suggests the restraints themselves may be the inflationary fuel, that high interest rates are a contributory cause and not a symptom, the firm adds.

Most Federal Reserve Board governors are worried more about "underkilling inflation" than overkilling the economy, Argus Research Corp. observes. The fact that the October-November stock market rally was accompanied by a boost in capital spending plans could not have escaped the notice of Fed money managers, Argus says.

Washington Window

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: Florida real estate circles say the oceanfront home of the late Joseph P. Kennedy at Palm Beach, Fla., is available for sale. Placing this scenic, historic house on the market is being done quietly and selectively.

If this is the case, the soft, scarcely audible sell may reflect the wishes not only of Mrs. Rose Kennedy, widow of the former ambassador, but that of her only surviving son, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.

It would be easy to jump to another conclusion—that the house would command a greater price by a widely heralded announcement. After all, this was the winter home of Kennedy's three sons, all of whom made it to the U.S. senate, one to the Cabinet as attorney general and, of course, one who reached the pinnacle, the late President John F. Kennedy.

Shudder At Thought

Surviving members of the family would shudder at the thought of having the graceful old Palm Beach relic sold at any price to an insensitive sort who might exploit, even commercialize on the famous men and women who sunned and swam there.

Any suggestion of a sensationalized scramble for the house might influence the family to hang on to the place. This, however, might prove hard to do, even for a wealthy family, for the Joseph P. Kennedy property overlooking the blue-green sea would command a hellishly high price for land alone.

Because of a stroke several years before his death, Joe Kennedy was not able to read during his late life. He could make out larger newspaper headlines, but it was questionable how much the stroke victim comprehended.

1970 Car Sales Will Be Down

DETROIT (UPI)—Chrysler Board Chairman James M. Roche predicted they would range from 9.2 to 9.5 million units.

These figures, dovetailed with Townsend's prediction of sales would be good, but not quite as good as last year.

Townsend pointed out that it now takes about 7 million cars a year just to replace those being scrapped.

A thought for the day: President Woodrow Wilson once commented, "Sometimes people called me an idealist. Well, that is the way I know I am an American. America is the only idealistic nation in the world."

He refused to join the heads of the other two Big Three auto companies in setting a figure on possible sales. Last week Henry Ford II, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., predicted 1970 sales between 9 and 9.5 million, including imports, and Wednesday General Motors

Hollywood In Review

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Dean Martin's impending divorce is a textbook illustration of what destroys a celebrity's marriage. The Martin marriage was never billed as one of Hollywood's happiest to begin with.

Last year his wife, Jeanne, said she bored her husband and that he spent little time at home. Usually he played golf during the day, played cards in the evening and fell asleep in front of the television set at home.

Moreover, Jeanne said, she was aware that her charming, easy-going husband was a magnet for other females. And he didn't throw rocks at all the curvaceous cuties who surrounded him.

Looked Away

But like many a wife of a movie or television star Jeanne Martin looked the other way. There were reasons. Pride. The children. Her love for the man, and a myriad of circumstances that are privately hers.

But beautiful, blonde, shapely, blue-eyed Jeanne was fighting insurmountable odds from the beginning.

She seemed to sense it. Her husband is enormously successful, wealthy, glamorous, abounding in sex appeal and thoroughly male.

Most Hollywood females live with such a situation. Better to be Mrs. Somebody in the limelight, than Mrs. ex-Somebody with a large financial settlement and an empty life.

For better or worse, marital disasters in show business work both ways.

Wife and Star

There is the struggling young actress married to the struggling young (choose one) plumber, actor, agent, leech. She becomes a star and her spouse continues to struggle, hampered further by his marriage to a woman who spills more money in the beauty parlor than he earns.

The tragedy is, in most cases, that the individuals involved are unprepared to cope with the cornucopia of success. Their values blur.

A glamorous star cannot continue to play wife to an economic inferior, unless as often happens, he becomes her agent or personal manager and, in some cases, a slave.

Neither can the virile male star always resist aggressive, available young chicks.

It's a bad scene in any case. It replays in Hollywood as often as the late, late show.

Now Dean and Jeanne have the starring roles. Next week it will be somebody else.

No Smoking Areas Asked For Planes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A group called Action on Smoking and Health (ASH) has asked the Federal Aviation Administration and the Transportation Department to set up no-smoking sections in airliners.

ASH's petition asked for no-smoking sections instead of an outright ban because it said the airlines could easily provide the separation at minimal cost. Earlier this month, consumer advocate Ralph Nader asked the government to ban smoking on airliners because it was a health and safety hazard.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The horror of nuclear warfare was first realized with the destruction of Hiroshima. The World Almanac recalls, however, that the fire bombing of Dresden, Germany, in February, 1945, was the greatest single case of destruction in human warfare. An armada of British and American aircraft dropped incendiary bombs that consumed an estimated 135,000 people. In comparison, the first atomic blast killed an estimated 80,000 people.

Featured at the 8:45 a.m. service will be Miss Cynthia Carter singing "I Wonder As I Wander" by John Jacob Niles. The Youth Choir will sing "Carol of the Shepherds" arranged by Gustav Holst. As an offertory at both morning services, Mrs. John Eld and

Stephen Kille will play a violin duet, "What Child is This?" The 11 a.m. service will feature Miss Suzy Benton singing "The Virgin's Slumber Song" by Rieger. Miss Benton is presently a senior at Texas Tech and is visiting for the holidays. The Sanctuary Choir will sing the anthem, "Thou Must Leave Thy Lowly Dwelling" by Berlioz. Tracy Cary, organist, will play "Carol Rhapsody" by Richard Purvis as a prelude, and "Festival Postlude" by Andre Marchal for a postlude. The evening service at 6 p.m. will be a program of Christmas music by the combined choirs of the church under the direction of Morris Kille, Minister of Music. Featured with the children's and adult choirs will be the Youth Bell Choir and Miss Phoebe Skelly, flutist. The service will also include Christmas readings read by Miss Berkley Evans.

Jehovah Witnesses

The Pampa Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will hear the public discourse entitled "Do Vain Works or Worthwhile Works Fill Your Life?" Sunday at 10 a.m. in the local Kingdom Hall, 1701 Coffee. The speaker this week is A. Melanesi from the Dalhart congregation. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Immediately following the public talk will be the weekly Watchtower Study contained in the Dec. 1 issue of the Watchtower magazine. The study covers scriptures found in the eighth, ninth, and tenth chapters of Revelation. Richard Fetter, study conductor, stated that many questions concerning these chapters will be answered. What are the symbolic locusts resembling horses with stings like scorpions? What are the myriads of lion-headed horses breathing out fire? The answer to these and many others will be discussed during the lesson. Fetter said all persons are welcome, and encourages all to participate.

Christian Science

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" This question constitutes the subject of next Sunday's Christian Science Lesson-Sermon. The lesson contains this verse from Revelation: "We give thee to come; because thou hast taken to thee thy great power, and hast reigned." A related passage from the denominational textbook Science and Health with Key tanks, O Lord God Almighty, which art, and wast, and art to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy, states: "The central fact of the Bible is the superiority of spiritual over physical power."

Local Minister Plans For Jamaican School

Guy Caskey, resigning minister of Mary Ellen and Harvester Church of Christ, and his wife, Mrs. Jessie L. Caskey, are making plans to establish a School of Preaching in Jamaica. Other plans include a Bible School, a primary school and a special work for teenagers of Jamaica. Eventually they plan to establish an Industrial Arts School that will give students vocational training that they might be self-supporting as they preach the gospel to their own people. The local congregation will supply a portion of the couple's working fund.

GUY CASKEY
Charles Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Hester were in charge of the reception plans.

MRS. JESSIE CASKEY
Doug and Dick Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Gage, Mrs. Al Smith, Edgar Wood and Harvey Waters.

Members of the "cast" of the presentation included Mrs. Joe Martin, Jack Pape, Don Fletcher, Mrs. Ernest Fletcher, Mrs. Dona Cornutt, Jim Hughes, Mary Hughes, Don

Mrs. Foster Whaley and Mrs. Mitchell designed a money tree which was presented to the couple by Harvey Waters.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The giving and receiving of gifts is what makes Christmas such a joyous occasion. A boy gets a ball or train; a girl gets a doll or dishes, and both would be overwhelmed with happiness. Mom or Dad may need something more to fulfill their happiness such as a car or new home. Thus, as you know, giving gifts is probably the most common tradition of Christmas. Yet these earthly gifts will not bring the answer to man's needs.

There will still be wars, racial conflicts, crime, taking of drugs, student rebellion and all other troubles that seem to overtake man today.

Though these gifts are not the answer — there is one true gift, that is the gift God gave the world—His Son. For God so loved the world that he gave His only Begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life. . . John 3:16.

There is great hope for peace in the world today, through God's gift—His Son. Isaiah prophesied "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given; and the government shall be upon his shoulder; and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The Mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace. . . Iso. 9:6.

Also the Angels sang at His birth "Peace of Earth, Goodwill toward Men." The need of the world today is that we haven't found the reality of the gift of God. Because of God's gift we can have a hope that earthly gifts do not bring. Rom. 6:23. . . For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is Eternal Life, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

If man would put their trust in Him, he would fulfill the needs of their life today. . . II Cor. 9:15 — Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift. This gift brings about the glorious season, and in it only, can you find the true meaning of CHRISTMAS.

OUR CAPSULE POLICY

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TEXAS PANHANDLE TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me!

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessings. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others. To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

'NET' Means Propaganda

The initials "NET" (for National Educational Television) are grimly appropriate; for, if past experiences with governmental schooling efforts are any indication, that is precisely what "NET" will turn out to be—a net to snare your children's minds and fill them with more socialistic pap.

Not satisfied with the twelve years they now have the child under their influence in the tax-supported school system, and having learned that children develop much of their intellectual capacity prior to entering school, the powers-that-be are now reaching for the mind of the child from the moment it leaves the cradle through a government controlled program piped into the home via the medium of television.

Billed as "a supplement" to the government financed and controlled "Head Start" program, NET made its debut Monday, Nov. 10, with the beginning of a series called "This Way to Sesame Street," which, according to some promotional material, was broadcast "on more than 170 educational television (NET) stations from Maine to American Samoa."

Designed in Washington, D.C., scheduled to be aired daily on a continuing basis, and so broadcast as to virtually blanket the nation, "Sesame Street" is an instrument ideally suited for a massive assault on the pre-school child's mind.

"When the nation's No. 1 educational administrator takes to the air waves to advise parents to have their children watch a television program," the promotional material tells us, "and uses phrases to describe it such as 'significant innovation in mass education' and 'historic

'Using The Wrong Numbers'

"The other side of the news" is not the side that generally interests the reader.

But Donald S. MacLeod of the North American Rockwell Corp. thinks it should. MacLeod notes that:

—96,459,483 men did not commit a criminal offense last year.
—4,868,720 college students did not participate in campus demonstrations, and —201,498,710 citizens did not use illegal drugs.

(We do not know the source of MacLeod's news. The exact figures in such cases may be suspect. But they must at least be approximately correct.)
"We're using the wrong numbers in America's social

Also, that the U.S. has reduced the troop level there by only 400 since the Tet Offensive 19 months ago. Please comment and give us your views on the subject.

ANTI-AMERICAN UNESCO

The United Nations Educational, Scientific, and Cultural Organization, widely known as UNESCO, tries consistently to destroy national allegiance in the minds of American school children.

This purpose is set forth in a series of nine booklets, directed to teachers, with the overall title of "Toward World Understanding." UNESCO insists that the prime function of American public education must be that of capturing the minds of our children at the earliest possible age for the cause of political world government. The teacher is urged to get rid of any words, phrases, descriptions, pictures, maps, classroom material or teaching methods that might lead a pupil to express a particular love for or loyalty to the United States.

One booklet explains that this training should begin in kindergarten in order to "correct many of the errors of home training." The booklet points out that "it is frequently the family that infects the child with extreme nationalism" and tells how to "combat family attitudes that favor jingoism."

UNESCO urges that the child be taught only the good things about other nations so that he will lose habits of prejudice toward other societies. At the same time, the teacher is to stress the negative aspects of American life so the pupil will feel that other lands are more desirable than his own and other people are better behaved than Americans.

This is the kind of anti-U.S. propaganda that has been dinned into our children's ears for the last 20 years. It gives all the more reason for teaching patriotism in the home.

Elbee Jay is still at it. Retirement simply means he has more time to rook the taxpayer.

You take those memoirs of his. He has more than a dozen government archivists plowing through an estimated 31 million pages of private gov't files, taken with him into retirement.

They have been appraised at $40 million geets. When they are eventually donated to the Johnson Library, Elbee Jay will be eligible for a substantial tax reduction. For a 70 per cent bracket taxpayer, the savings can be huge. It's really a racket.

These documents will not be released to historians until they have been used for memoirs and TV interviews from which he stands to realize $1.5 million in fees and royalties. Proceeds will go to the library and the Johnson school of public affairs—another tax deduction.

J.J. Williams (R. Del.) says, "These people are making a profit out of property which properly belongs to the government. These papers are developed by government officials on government time, typed by gov't secretaries on gov't paper, and stored in government files."

How true it is. Scholars too, are disturbed by the discrimination against them in obtaining access to these collections. That's because Johnson has specified that papers in his vast collection tending to "embarrass" anyone may not be examined!

O, Brother! What a cream puff history that will make with only the so-called achievements shown, none of the mistakes. You'll be better off reading Little Lord Fauntleroy.

STRAIGHT TALK:

Many Misguided By NCC

By TOM ANDERSON

Black Panther organization. Morrie Ryskind has revealed the following in his syndicated column: "Early this year, the National Council of Churches released and distributed an 'exclusive' interview with Gus Hall, head of the Communist Party here, in which that 'sainted' defender of Russian intervention in Czechoslovakia (and everywhere else) had this to say: 'Communism and the church share so many goals that they ought to exist for one another. Our fight is not with God; it's with capitalism and all that capitalism has done to oppress people. Communist goals are identical to those espoused by the liberal church. We should work together for the same thing.'"

Mr. Ryskind then comments: "You don't have to read the Daily World, apparently, to get Communist propaganda. Not when the National Council of Churches is sending the news of Gus Hall's conversions to 40 million protestants."

Motive Magazine, formerly a magazine for Methodist youth, is now the magazine for UCM, the University Christian Movement, an ecumenical organization of church young people on college campuses.

Motive is printed by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church. Month after month this magazine contains articles promoting radicals and treason.

For example, in the October, 1968 Motive, there was a lengthy interview with Huey Newton of the revolutionary Black Panther organization. Newton called for white revolutionaries to aid the Black Panthers in their revolt against the establishment and the police. This eight page article contained a repulsive explanation of the Negroes' idea of their sexual superiority. There was no comment or refutation accompanying this article.

The first research director of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, Dr. J. B. Matthews, attended Union Theological Seminary and later Methodist's largest school, Boston University. Dr. Matthews was at first taken by his leftist associates, but later saw the light and made amends. He testified that more than 8,000 clergymen and people affiliated with the clergy were deliberately helping the Communist cause. Most were not members but fellow travelers, front-joiners who do most of the Communists' dirty work.

Not only have these misguided churchmen, traitors, or Communist plants, as the case may be, been able to sell the big lie that the basis of Christianity is Marxism, but they have been successful in turning many ill-informed Americans against our fundamentalist Christians and anti-Communists.

Thus, since the National Council of Churches and affiliated organizations are talking and acting like traitors, you may well surmise this: They are traitors!

The Doctor Says

By DR. W. G. BRANSTADT

Emphysema May Cause Fibrosis in the Lungs
Q—What is the difference between fibrosis of the lungs and emphysema?

A—Fibrosis is the formation of tough, fibrous tissue anywhere in the body. It may occur in the lungs of persons with asthma, chronic bronchitis or emphysema. When it does, it not only reduces the amount of available air space but also the lung's elasticity, making breathing more difficult.

Q—Is emphysema contagious? Will an operation relieve it?
A—No to both questions.

Q—I have had emphysema for six years and have been taking aminophyllin daily. My wife has asthma, for which she has been taking Deltasone. Since our symptoms are the same, what is the difference between these two diseases? Could we both use the same drugs?

A—The differentiation between emphysema and asthma is sometimes difficult. In asthma, the attacks of shortness of breath are brought on by eating or inhaling substances to which one is allergic. In emphysema, they are brought on by exertion or smoking.

Aminophyllin is given primarily for asthma or coronary heart disease. If, after it is taken for a long time, it appears to have lost its effect, this is most likely due to progression of the disease process.

Deltasone is a cortisone-like drug that is given to combat inflammation. It may have some beneficial effect on both emphysema and asthma. The proper dosage of these drugs should be determined by your doctor.

Q—What is a globus hystericus? Is it serious?

A—This is a persistent feeling that there is a lump in your throat. It is caused by a contraction of the muscles in that region and may be brought on by emotional stress or fatigue. In some cases, it is associated with hysteria. Most persons who worry about this symptom are relieved if the cause is explained to them and if an examination reveals no tumor or other organic disease. In itself, it is not serious.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt can't answer individual letters, he'll answer letters of general interest in future columns.

Inside Washington

—And So's Christmas — With Money Bills Unwrapped

JOHN GOLDSMITH

ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders are driving hard to complete action on appropriations bills before Christmas, but there are plenty of pitfalls ahead.

That is to say, there is a very real possibility that President Nixon will have to make good on his recent threat and call the lawmakers back into session right after the holiday.

Most of the trouble, as usual, is in the Senate. By tradition (and not by constitutional edict, as is sometimes claimed) the House originates all the money bills. They have been syrupy in reaching the Senate this year.

Now, with the holiday deadline ahead, there is an additional hazard in the Senate's permissive rule book which lets any senator or group of senators and talk on it at length. A senator willing to risk the displeasure of his colleagues can make publicity mileage that way, even if he is beaten in the end.

Moreover, the annual appropriations bills tend themselves to re-play major controversies, recent and long-gone. So there are many temptations for senators who have failed to get their way on authorizations, previously rejected (or approved).

Before this year's appropriations bills are all sent to the President's desk, the Senate may even have to fight another skirmish in the battle over defense spending and renew the struggle over civil rights.

DEFENSE — In July, August and September the Senate spent six weeks on the military authorization bill. About a month of that period was devoted to President Nixon's controversial plan for deploying the Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system.

Two very close votes, 51-49 and 51-50 (with Vice President Agnew casting a vote) approved the ABM deployment. Now two pro-ABM senators — Karl Mundt, R-S.D., and Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M. — are ill and not available for roll call votes. That would appear to change the ABM alignment.

Supporters of the ABM think Russia's continued ICBM buildup gives them a stronger case than ever against delaying the Safeguard deployment. With strategic arms talks in progress, their case against unilateral action is a strong one. For the present it does not appear that a major drive will be made against the ABM.

The House has approved funds for the deployment. All Senate opponents could achieve now in the eventual Senate-House compromise would be a reduction in the deployment funds. That may not be worth the pre-holiday effort, since a similar opportunity will be offered early next year.

There is sure to be some talk, however, on the ABM and on other weapons projects which figured in the long procurement controversy. That talk will be time-consuming as the Christmas carols echo elsewhere.

CIVIL RIGHTS — Also pending in the Senate is the annual money bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In recent weeks Senate Southerners, led by Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., have been making speeches highlighting school segregation in a number of Northern states.

If they seek to restrict availability of funds for the office of education, they could tie the Senate in knots and dim hopes for pre-Christmas approval of all the money bills.

There is another civil rights controversy which could cause delay. It involves the so-called "Philadelphia Plan" devised by the Labor Department, which requires contractors on government construction projects in the Philadelphia area to meet goals for employment of Negroes and other racial minorities.

Comptroller General Elmer B. Staats has told a Judiciary subcommittee that the Philadelphia Plan is a quota system—discrimination in Reverse—and is therefore barred under civil rights laws. Atty. General John N. Mitchell is supporting the Labor Department and the plan.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., chairman of the subcommittee which heard Staats' testimony, has asked Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Appropriations Committee to have Congress withhold payment on any contracts which include a "Philadelphia Plan" arrangement.

There are parliamentary difficulties in the course which Ervin has privately proposed to Russell. To be effective for all government construction a withholding amendment would require a two-thirds vote in the Senate. It is possible, however, that such a proposal might be offered first in the house and escape that parliamentary trap.

In any event the "Philadelphia Plan" could cause delay if opponents seek to void it through one of the still-pending money bills.

NOTE — Even if President Nixon calls Congress back to Washington right after Christmas, to work on money bills not then approved, that summons is no guarantee of quick approval. A quorum of the Senate and House must be on hand to pass compromise versions of the bills. Chairmen of the cognizant appropriation subcommittees must be on hand also, and Democratic leaders must be ready and willing.

Congressional leaders are hopeful, but it could stretch into January.

South Viet School System Builds For Nation's Future

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON Correspondent

WASHINGTON (Nea) — Some time back this reporter rode from Saigon to Can Tho with a remarkable man, intelligent, dedicated and resolute. He was the Saigon government's head of education for all of southern Vietnam — something over 30 per cent of the nation — and he was determined that somehow and some way every child would be educated despite the war and the lack of money and teachers.

He had left his wife behind in Saigon when moving to Can Tho because (although he was a high official in the education department) she had to stay at home where she had a job in order that the family would have enough money to support itself.

(Some teachers in South Vietnam have been known to moonlight as bar girls — for 10 to 15 times what a teacher is paid.)

Yet with all this, the poverty, the war, the below-living wages, the corruption and the harassment of the Viet Cong, the South Vietnamese, with American aid, have wrought a miracle in education — the past 15 years.

This very real miracle, almost unnoticed in the United States because it has been overshadowed by the shooting war, will have a deep and profound impact on how the war ends, how South Vietnam is governed and who does the governing.

In 1954, when the government of South Vietnam was set up less than 16 per cent of its children, aged six to 10 were in school and less than 3 per cent of its children 11 to 17.

The average South Vietnamese had less than three years of schooling. Many had none. Many dropped out to work after two years.

Total school attendance in the first five elementary grades was 40,000. There were 53,000 in middle- and high school. The university population was 2,900.

This past school year there were 2.1 million students in the first five years of school, five times as many as 14 years ago. Eighty per cent of all South Vietnamese children of primary age were in attendance. (Though figures are not available here, it is understood that the 1969-70 school year figure will come out at around 85 per cent.)

This past year there were 543,000 students in middle and high school, 10 times the 1954-55 figure.

Today there are 40,000 university students, 14 times as many as 14 years ago. U.S. aid has built thousands of new schools, trained teachers, and supplied 16 million textbooks.

Business As Usual For Newark Mayor

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio conducted the city's business as usual in city hall Thursday despite his indictment for extortion and tax evasion and demands that he get out.

A federal grand jury, one of three investigating Mafia control of crime in the state and accused Addonizio and 14 others, most present or former city officials, of extorting $255,000 from a corporation doing business with the city.

Addonizio and the others—including three city councilmen, six former city officials and Mafia lieutenant Anthony "Tony Boy" Biardo—were scheduled for arraignment Friday in federal court.

The mayor, who is free in $25,000 bail and looking forward to "our day in court," and at least five others who have surrendered, are expected to appear to plead to the indictment.

But Biardo, a reputed member of the Gerardo "Jerry" Catena Mafia family, is not expected to show up. He has been missing for two weeks and is being sought by federal authorities. A subpoena previously had been issued for his appearance before the grand jury.

Biardo is the son of Ruggiero "Richie the Boot" Biardo, who is on the FBI list of Mafia members.

The indictment of Addonizio and the others was the second federal bombshell exploded in the federal-county-state investigation of organized crime and official corruption in the Garden State.

On Tuesday the nation's top law enforcement officer, Attorney General John N. Mitchell, announced in Washington the indictment of 55 persons, including 11 reputed Mafia members, on illegal gambling charges. Twenty-four hours later Mitchell, who had promised to root out corrupt officials, announced the indictment of Addonizio and the other present and former city officials.

The Newark Chamber of Commerce has called for the removal of Addonizio and the Newark Star-Ledger said in an editorial Thursday that "there is a cloud of suspicion" should remove themselves from office."

Outgoing State Attorney General Arthur J. Sills said Thursday there is no way "that I know of legally that the state can act" to remove Addonizio. He said it would be up to the people to institute action for a recall election.

playing Santa in London's Selfridge's department store.

"Do you know judo?" he said. No, I said.

"Well, the thing is to work out with barbells. Makes you tough. Enables you to handle the children," said Santa.

"The worst ones are the nine and 10 year olds. The boys. They stand there in front of your throne and call you phony and try to yank your beard off," Santa said.

"And don't go calling yourself Santa Claus."

Children Are Suspicious
In England Santa's common name is Father Christmas. "These are children of a suspicious world. Tell them you're Santa Claus and they'll know something's wrong," he said.

Santa helped me into my outfit. I filled out the suit nicely.

"You Yanks eat well," Santa said.

I put on the white boots, the white wig, the white walrus mustache and the white beard. A snap on the red jacket popped open.

A young lady who helps out as a dwarf—she hands balloons for Santa to pass to the children—told me not to worry about the snap.

"The beard will cover it up. And the kids won't notice because they're too scared of you," she said as she gave me a bunch of balloons.

Santa sat down on a stool in the dressing room and pointed to the door leading to Santa's throne.

Little Folks Waiting
"The little folks are out there waiting for you. Pound on the wall before you go out and then tell them Rudolf the red-nosed reindeer's been acting up."

"Shout, 'Hush, Rudolf!' It always makes them happy," said Santa.

I beat a fist against the wall and went out. The children were frightened.

Karen, Caroline, Stevie, Douglas, Dottie, Alvin, Nancy, Elsie, Abdul, Sharon and Daisy all said they had been very good.

Their mothers and fathers smiled. The children enunciated their yule desires—dolls, space outfits and model trains were the favorites.

Gets Finger in Ear
Mark acted as if he was about to wet my knee but his mother rescued him and me. David did get a finger in my ear.

Almost all appeared frightened or awed.

Daddy and mommy had to remind them to say thank you for the balloon.

I turned and rapped on the silver-papered wall and shouted out a question about how Dunder and Blitzen were getting along. There was no answer, so I explained to the children I had better check on the reindeer and went inside.

"Had enough?" said Santa.

Pampa-Amarillo To Clash In Top Game

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor

AMARILLO — Pampa will step from the frying pan into the fire tonight when the Harvesters try to break a two game losing streak against unbeaten Amarillo in a District 4-AAAA basketball game.

Pampa and the Sandies will begin their battle at 8 p.m. and the Pampa Shockers will also try to snap a two game sked when they test Amarillo's Junior Varsity at 6 p.m.

Pampa is currently 1-2 in district play while the Sandies have run past three straight foes. The Sandies are 13-0 for the season and Pampa is 5-4, having a five game losing streak broken last Friday.

The Harvesters, short on experience and height, have been beaten by Plainview and Monterey in their last two outings and will have to have their best defensive effort of the season to stop the run and shoot Sandie offense.

Amarillo, with three starters back from a 18-12 campaign a season ago, is averaging 73.2 points per game while giving up 58.7 on defense. The Sandies have four players averaging in double figures, headed by Kyle Pipkin's even 21.0 mean.

The Harvesters have two players in the double figure bracket in 6'6 senior Jim Gallman, third in the district in scoring and sophomore Mike Edgar, averaging just over 10 points per contest. Another sophomore, Richard Bunton, has raised his average to 9.3 points per contest and leads the team in rebounds in the three district games with 28, two more than Gallman.

Besides Pipkin the Sandies have senior Hershel Mitchell averaging 14.5 points per contest; senior Johnny Johnson at 12.5 and junior Kenny Roberts at an even 12 points per game.

Pampa's defense has been its strongest point until last Tuesday when Monterey was able to work the ball through Pampa's defenders and hit 62 per cent of its shots, most of them from close range.

Besides Gallman, Edgar and Bunton coach Sterling Gibson will start Randy Marsh and Vernon Johnson although Steve Scott or John Jenkins could get the starting call.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS

Joe Willie Says 'Marry Xmas'

NEW YORK (UPI)—The sentiment is perfect.

Appropriate, too, for this time of year.

The message reads: "Merry Christmas Happy New Year." Off in the lower right-hand corner, in small letters, is the name Joe Willie Namath.

You can hardly miss seeing the greetings because they are prominently displayed on six large billboards throughout the city. The shaggy-haired quarterback for the world champion Jets paid for the whole thing out of his own pocket because, according to one of his closer associates, "The holidays mean a lot to Joe, and so many people have been nice to him that he simply wants to show how he feels about them. You might say these billboards are something like big Christmas cards."

Plays It Cagy

Joe Namath didn't show that much Christmas spirit Wednesday when he popped in exactly one minute before he was supposed to report at noon at Shea Stadium, slipped neatly past the various media people and dallied in the trainer's room so that he could be at home alone with the assorted rolls of adhesive tape, vitamin bottles and tongue depressors.

Namath needn't have bothered playing hide-and-seek before the Jets went out for their practice session for Saturday's American Football League playoff opener with the Kansas City Chiefs. This was one time most of the attention was focused on the other quarterback, Kansas City's Len Dawson.

Everybody's interested in Dawson, or at least in his condition, because he has been ready to start," Stram said, answering a newsman's question about Dawson's condition. "I like to think he's much better this week than he was nursing a bad knee the past few weeks and whether he can throw the ball or not Saturday will have a lot to do with who meets Sunday's Oakland-Houston winner en route to the Super Bowl.

Telephone Hooked Up

A special telephone was hooked up at Shea Thursday so Hank Stram, the KC coach, could offer his comments from Kansas City and among the interested listeners assembled in the press room, where he later talked about the Jets, was their coach, Weeb Ewbank. "He's greatly improved and last week."

After Stram finished talking on the phone Wednesday someone asked Ewbank what physical condition he thought Dawson actually was in at the moment.

are." One Players View
One of the Kansas City players sees it this way:

"If Leonard is not completely healthy where he cannot throw with his normal efficiency Saturday, then it's going to be a very long afternoon; if he can, I really believe we can beat the Jets."

The man the Chiefs will key on, naturally, is Namath, but Jerry Mays, their top-drawer defensive and concedes sometimes there is no way of stopping him.

"I remember the last game we played against him, he went back to pass and as he threw the ball his arm hit my shoulder between my upraised arm and my head. That's how close I was. In other words, he threw the ball between my arm and head.

Houston Helps Defense As Oilers Climb High

HOUSTON (UPI)—O.J. Simpson went up for a pass and came down with a headache so severe that it lasted more than a week.

The tackler was strong safety Ken Houston of the Oilers by the same name. Punishing tackles and unerring pass coverage have converted Houston from a benchwarming rookie to one of pro football's premier safeties in three years.

The 6-3, 195-pound Houston has surpassed cornerback Miller Farr, an all-pro the last two years, as the outstanding member of the Oilers' defensive backfield.

He has intercepted four passes and returned them 8 yards and one touchdown. Last year he intercepted five and, as a rookie in 1967, he picked off for r.

Houston, a native of Lufkin, Tex., and a graduate of Prairie View, Tex., A&M, was drafted ninth by the Oilers, but almost left the training camp after one week because he thought he was not good enough.

Scout Tom Williams said Houston came by his room at noon Saturday after the first week and thanked Williams for giving him a chance. Houston had a bad morning at practice and thought he would be cut anyway.

Williams persuaded the quiet, soft-spoken Houston to talk to coach Wally Lemm before he left.

"Lemm told him what he wanted to hear so he decided to stay," Williams said. "The next day he and (Alvin) Reed (the Oilers tight end from Prairie View) went out and practiced every day. Then the next week Kennedy did pretty well and he made the squad."

Houston, who runs the 20-yard dash in 4.4 seconds, saw infrequent duty until Bobby Jancik turned an ankle midway through the season. Houston replaced him and has started every game since. The veteran Jancik retired and joined the Houston Police Department.

Houston is one of the most unusual men in pro football because he doesn't smoke, drink or cuss. He never has, according to Williams and to middle linebacker Garland Boyette, Houston's roommate.

"I watch my language around him," Boyette said. "He's devoted to his family and deeply religious. He sings in his church choir."

Instead of a cocktail party, Houston goes hunting or fishing.

"I don't like to admit this, but when we go fishing he always comes back with the biggest stringer," Boyette said. "When we go squirrel hunting, he uses a .22, and he's a good shot. I use a shotgun."

Houston and Boyette were among a group of Oilers who were stranded all night once this season on a boat in Galveston Bay when the boat's motor stalled.

"Ken kept on fishing," Boyette said. "Then during his watch, he cleaned his fish. He doesn't get rattled. He was more concerned about how his wife felt about it."

A Galveston County sheriff's department boat rescued the party at 5:30 a.m. the next morning. Some AFL receivers would like to get Houston in that position.

Pampa Jr. High Cagers Extend Winning Streaks

Pampa Junior High ninth and eighth grade basketball teams continued their winning ways Thursday with both posting victories.

Pampa ninth ran its season record to 5-1 and conference mark to 3-0 with a 62-42 victory over Borger South Middle School. The ninth now has won 29 of its last 30 games.

Fred Wilton paced the scoring with 21; Rick Smith had 12; Don Proctor and Richard McCampbell, 11 each; Bill Lemons 3; Ricky King and Tim Holt, 2 each.

Pampa eighth won its fifth game in as many outings and went 3-0 in the conference with a 44-24 victory over the same Borger school. In a season and a half Pampa eighth grade teams have now won 19 straight games.

Kim Snell paced the scoring with 11 points; David Nipp had 8; Steve Mathis and Ray Powell, six each; Bob Hendricks, 4; Rick Smith, 3; David Givens and David Griffin, two each.

Pee Wee Cage Teams Show Scoring Punch

In Pee Wee cage action Thursday night in the fifth grades Baker downed Horace Mann, 39-11; Wilson beat Travis, 33-21 and Houston Clipped Lamar, 21-11.

In sixth grade action Wilson beat Travis, 33-25; Baker edged Horace Mann, 20-16 and Lamar swamped Houston, 51-28.

For the fifth graders Rayford Young had 16 points, Jimmy Hunt had 12 for Wilson and Mike Lancaster 11 for Travis while Gary Black hit 10 for Houston and Joe David 11 for Lamar.

In sixth grade Dub Taylor had 11 for Wilson and Dicosmo 11 for Travis. Roy Mallard hit 7 for Baker while Joe Winton, Tim Hill, Charles Turner had four each for Horace Mann. Chigger Bunton hit 24 for Lamar and Jimmy Crocker had 10 for Houston.

Mart Seeks Upset In Tilt With Sonora 11

By United Press International

The upstart Mart Panthers, riding a 13-game winning streak and feeling perfectly at home on the friendly turf of Austin's Neelsen Field, try to dethrone Sonora as state Class A school football champions tonight.

The Mart-Sonora battle will be the first of four state prep championship games on tap this weekend and it is rated as much of a tossup as the other three: Wichita Falls meets San Antonio Lee at Baylor Stadium in Waco at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, for the Class AAAA title.

Brownwood vs. West Columbia at Baylor Stadium, 8 p.m. Saturday, for the Class AAA crown.

Iowa Park plays Klein at Memorial Stadium on the University of Texas at Arlington campus at 7:30 p.m. Saturday for the AAA title.

Mart, which hasn't been beaten since it lost its season opener 23-12 to Valley Mills, has taken on a giant-killer role the past two weeks in knocking off White Oak 12-7 and 1968 finalist Poth 14-7 in the quarter and semifinals.

It was on the same Neelsen Field that the Panthers' Lewis Thornton capped a 168-yard rushing night to score with 53 seconds left and beat Poth to gain the finals.

Sonora, which lost a pair of early season games to Class AA rivals Big Lake and Ballinger, used the passing and running of David Wuest to earn Honey Grove 21-6 in the other semifinal.

Lee and Iowa Park own the only spotless records among the eight survivors, but only lone ties mar West Columbia and Klein records.

The Lighter Side

std hed the lighter side
By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Since Christmas shoppers buy a lot of adult parlor games as gifts, I thought it might be fun to invent an adult parlor game called "Christmas Shopping."
The rules are pretty complicated, so pay close attention:
Before the game begins, each player draws a card upon which is written his "gift list."
He then receives $100,000 from the "bank." The object of the game is to try to acquire all of the items on the "gift list" without having to get more money from the "bank."
The game is played on a board shaped like a suburban shopping center. Spaced around the board are a number of "obstacles," which are called "parking lot," "Santa Claus," "department store clerk," "Escalator," "elevator," "bargain basement," "gift wrap," "Aunt Maude," "credit card" and "sold out."
Determined By Dice
To begin play, each player places a colored marker on the space marked "go." Progress around the board is determined by rolling dice. Every time a player lands on a space marked "store," he may purchase one item on his "gift list." The price is determined by drawing a "price" card.
But if a player lands on one of the "obstacle" spaces, he must draw a "penalty" card.

Here are the "penalty" cards:
—"Parking lot full. Circle board 10 times."
—"Your kid sees Santa Claus and asks for 10 things not included on your 'gift list.' Go back 10 spaces."
—"When you finally find a clerk, she turns out to be a temporary employe who was hired for the holidays and has only been on the job one day. Go back 12 spaces."
Back Three Spaces
—"You try to reach third floor via the escalator. Go back 3 spaces."
—"You try to reach fourth floor via the elevator. Go back 4 spaces."
—"One of the items on your 'gift list' is on sale in the bargain basement. Go back 20 spaces."
—"You decide to have your packages gift wrapped by the store. Remain in place."
—"You notice you don't have anything on your 'gift list' for Aunt Maude. Return to go."
—"The store will accept 12 different credit cards. You have 12 different cards with you. None of them matches. Lost next turn."
—"You stand in line 20 minutes to buy a certain item. The last one was sold 15 minutes ago. Go back 20 spaces."
At the end of the game, the player with the fewest gifts that need exchanging becomes the "winner."

"Texas" Musical Drama To Start Casting January 2

One hundred salaried positions will be filled in the company of the "Texas" musical drama before the opening rehearsal on May 31, 1970.
Actors, singers, dancers who wish to try out for the 1970 season, will have the opportunity on Jan. 2, 1970.
Auditions will be held in the Branding Iron Theatre on the campus of West Texas State University. The theatre is in the Fine Arts Building on Highway 87.
The director, William A. Moore, who has been with "Texas" since its beginning and is responsible for its smopth production and his staff, will start to hear applicants at 1 p.m.
Stage technicians and instrumentalists (banjo, standard guitar, violin, accordion and string bass) will also be interviewed.
During the past season, in 1969, the company included people trained in more than 17 colleges and universities. They came from five states and had had work from numerous private instructors.
The directors invite everyone who is interested to try out, bringing a short memorized selection to show acting ability, a memorized song to indicate the quality of the singing voice, and rehearsal clothes if they wish to try out for dance.
Since almost all roles involve some singing and dancing, applicants must demonstrate both abilities. The directors understand, of course, that most people are stronger in one area than in the other.
A second audition in Canyon will take place on Jan. 24 in the same location starting at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m. There will also be one on Feb. 28 in Dallas at El Centro College and one to be announced in Norman, Okla.
Members of the cast must be free to report on May 31 for rehearsal and be prepared to start through Aug. 31, end of the season.
For further information, write to "Texas," Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015.

Broadmoor Unveils New Bubble

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—Guests and club members of the Broadmoor Hotel are now able to go "indoors" for a set of tennis following the recent unveiling of a new big top tennis bubble.
It is the first such structure in the country.
A tennis exhibition introduced the innovation to the public given by two of the club's top netters.
The 108 x 118 foot structure is kept up by two blower fans. The fans blow some 6,000 cubic feet of air per minute which produces some 500,000 British thermal units per hour.
The nylon-plastic bubble, weighing two tons, is 40 feet high and was built by the Polydrom Co. of Balsta, Sweden. The two center courts of the Broadmoor are covered by the erection.
Some 80 fluorescent light fixtures will span the top.
