can be achieved, but they are actually convinced that America will prove more vulnerable to propaganda and other forms of political attack than did the disintegrating Third Republic of France and they reason that if the "Strategy of Terror" worked well in France, it will work even better in the United States. Further, they believe that sensational results can be achieved oon, before our rapidly mounting war-production can turn the tide of battle in Europe and in the Pacific-in other words, before the end of 1942.

Maybe the Axis political experts are wrong about America as they were wrong about England and about Russia, but their plan is not a fantastic or irrational one-granted the means of action they possess in this country and the reasonable hope they have of continuing military reverses for the United Nations in the weeks to come. On the contrary, it is something which should be taken seriously by the American people and government-in fact it is only if the Axis plan is taken very seriously that it is likely to

In addition to averting a possibly deadly menace to America as a free the smashing of the Axis nation. political warfare plan against us would be a positive contribution to victory. It would deprive the Axis do not identify the needlers as enthe war and thereby shatter their morale to pieces, for they know that they cannot possibly win if America fights the war wholeheartedly and would not have atunless they felt reasonably confident we could be prevented by some kind of trickery from doing so AMERICA IS REAL BATTLEFIELD

It looks, therefore, as if the really decisive battle of this war were going to be fought not in islands of the Pacific nor on the plains of Russia, but in the ities, towns and villages of the United States with every American eitizen in the front lines. Consequently every citizen should understand just what kind of an unpleasant surprises the Axis may have in store for us in the way of sabotage, espionage, armed attacks by fifth-column bands, etc. The underlying propaganda strategy of the enemy is crystal-clear, however, and if his propaganda attack fails so will all his other attacks.

In the first place he is going to try to repeat the strategy which worked so well in the first phase of the war-to split up the united front against him and get us quarreling with our allies, as he succeeded in doing with the French and British. He will try to whip up feeling in this country against England and Russia and then in his propaganda to Britain and Russia quote anti-British or anti-Russian outplicated and implausible but the mechanism is really very simple. The enemy short-wave radio gives agents n this country their cue by deoting most of its programs to atacks on England and at the same time feeds them with anti-British arguments and "facts" which can serve as the basis for whispering campaigns.

The enemy agents-there are tens of thousands of them still at largethen go around to their American 'contacts' - bitter-end isolationists and Rosevelt-haters-and 'needle' them. The contacts do not always emy agents-or at least do not realize what they are really up to-but they are always ready to believe anything unfavorable to the British. Russians or the Administration. They needle very easily and when properly needled open their mouths in Congress, in the newspapers and among their friends.

The result is a great wave of critcism or pessimism about our allieselped along by insidious articles or statements by enemy agents disguised as patriots and interventionsts-which is strongly reflected in the American press.

Will Congress Answer?

A "war" is being fought in the Pacific Northwest which is of immense importance to the entire country. That "war" is being waged by government officials, in charge of the Bonneville administration, against the private utilities of the area. The decision reached will provide a precedent for the country as a whole.

These officials have one announced goal: the complete socialization of all private power companies in the Northwest. They are driving for that goal despite the fact that it is delaying private power levelopment which is vitally needed for national defense. They are striving for it despite the fact that the majority of the citizens of the region have expressed themselves, through public ownership elecons, as being opposed to the destruction of one of their principal tax-paying assets. They are working for it despite the fact that state socialism and all it entails is the very thing we are fighting against on the bloody military fronts of the world. The Bonneville administration has long refused to join in a power-pooling arrangement involving both public and private power agencies, which experts say would create thousands of additional kilowatts at minimum expense in money or materials. It has refused to cooperate with established companies. That is the record. Here are the questions it raises: Is "politics as usual" to be permitted to endanger this country's war production? Is the free enterprise system to be destroyed from within while we spend billions of dollars and untold numbers of lives fighting the aggressions of state socialism from abroad? Only Congress can answer those questions. It must answer them soon unless it is willing to permit the spread of federal socialization of power in every section of the country.

-BUY DEFENSE STAMPS A Tribute To Retailing

A recent release from the bureau of agricultural economics testifies, by indirection, to the great operating efficiency and economy achieved by the retail food industry.

According to this authority, the proportion of nonfarm family income spent for food during 1941 was smallest in 29 years of record. In other words, the average family income increased more than food prices.

During the year, practically all the rise in retail food prices was passed back to the farmer. The cost of marketing foods has steadily declined, and none of the retail price increases for food have been absorbed by higher marketing margins.

The retailers must be given much of the credit for both those achievements. Thousands of stores,

UNINTERRUPTED PRODUCTION"

The President, in his Monday night speech digressed from his prepared manuscript to point out that it was necessary for us to have uninterrupted production, if we are to win the war in the shortest possible time and with the possible loss of lives.

The question is how we are to get uninterrupted production with laws which the President nsists upon maintaining that give the labor racketeers the right to make any demand they see fit or guit work and draw government pay and prevent others from having the right to work.

One could overlook the Administration's errors in the past, in coddling organized labor, if it would now correct errors and permit the repeal of the Wagner law and the Minimum Wage and Hour law

But the President gives lip service to production and permits laws to remain on the statutes that make it impossible for production manager Donald Nelson, or those with the best goodwill, to really, serve their country as it should be served. With industry tied up by labor* racketeers, labor unions are even refusing to work ten hours a day at the Bethlehem Steel company shipyards, even with time and a half for over eight hours.

It is a nice example of giving people power without responsibility. Labor organizations know no law but force. They have no regard whatsoever for the equal, inherent rights of other citizens-the basis on which our country was founded. It is very difficult to get uninterrupted production so long as the Administration keeps laws on the statutes that protect these men and give them rights without responsibilities.

Yes, we certainly need uninterrupted production, both to win the war and to reduce, insofar as possible, the poverty that exists in this country.

A CLASSLESS SOCIETY

Whether or not we want a classless society all depends upon what one means by the expression, "a classless society". It can mean something that will be beneficial to man and it can mean something that will create almost untold poverty and misery. If it means that all peple shall be equally free to attempt to produce and enjoy on equal terms and that the primary purpose of the government is to help keep people equally free, without any regard to their probability of success, then it is desirable.

On the other hand, if it means that people shall have equal possessions and equal incomes or that the government shall attempt to reduce the inequality of ability or incomes, then it is something that we do not want.

I have a three-page radiogram received from from a movie location in the Arizona desert some 45 miles from Hewlett Johnson, Dean of Canterbury, at Lon-Phoenix: don, eulogizing the Russian people and contend-I warned you you'd better come ing that they believe in a classless society.

County Has More Adults Than Minors

The majority of Gray county inhabitants are more than 21 years old. Next largest age group is the 25 to 64: smallest, those 65 years of age or older.

These are a few of the facts brought to view in a census report on Texas counties, covering sex, race, age, and rural-farm residence for 1940, by the bureau of the census of the U.S. Department of Commerce. Out of Gray county's total population of 23,911, there are 14,556 perwho are 21 or older; 12,041 ages 25 to 64; 772 who are 65 or der. Children under 5 total only 2.386

Male and female ratio of the county is fairly even: 12,197 males to 11,714 females.

MEXICAN TRIP FOR ARM CHAIR TRAVELERS By JAMES E. HELBERT

Clifford Gessler heads up the bib-ography of his new book, "Pattern Mexico" (Appleton-Century: $5), with these quoted ominous words: "There are no good books on Mex-

Possibly the quoted Mexican educator set too high a standard, for there are certainly many books on Mexico which give at least clear glimpses of that neighbor country from many angles, and are not only informative but pleasant reading for Americans. Gessler's, the most recent, is one of the pleasantest adorned as are its 420-odd pages with delightful pencil sketches by the late E. H. Suydam, a master in that medium.

Gessler takes you in a series of leisurely jaunts through all the tourist lanes of Mexico, and down several by-paths less frequented by foreigners; he adds brief chapters on history, politics, art, economics and the practical problems of tourists to form a workable background for the journeys.

He has a knack of collecting little legends, traditions, ghost stories, and local anecdotes. These he has scattered liberally through the bool to relieve the tedium of travel, which is apt to be felt even in travel via book and fireside chair, if unrelieved.

There is no pretense here of having written the book which the Mex-ican educator says doesn't existthe ideal, perfect book that tells all and tells it truly. But as a single book for the American who con-templates visiting the neighbor re-public, or who can't but wishes he

Farmers To Discuss

Cotton Insurance

A meeting of Gray county farm-ers to discuss cotton crop insurance will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Odd Fellows hall in McLean. The meeting is pre-liminary to the deadline on cotton crop insurance, which in Gray coun-ter will be on March 21 ty will be on March 31.

In charge of the meeting will be Ralph R. Thomas, Pampa, county farm agent, and John B. Rice, Mc. Lean, vice-chairman of the county ommittee. R. Homer Wilson is otton crop insurance superviso for the county.

Federal cotton crop insurance protects farmers against all unavoidable hazards such as drout hail, wind, rain, boll weevils, and other insects. It does not protect growers from losses due to defec-tive or poor seed or bad farming practices, damage to quality, y theft, or failure to irrigate when nsurance is written on irrigated
