along fine until Jason Dillingham (Harry Kelley) swung aboard and started twirling his mustaches and snickering at the nefarious swindle he had cooked up to do Ma out of her rich land.

Jason's daughter, Carmelita, played by Helen Blocker, complicated matters by falling in love with the ranch foreman, Tex Hardy, played by Bunny Shultz, and then Jason's son, Jason, Jr., (Max Presnell) goes overboard for Ma's daughter, Sarah Jane (Bunny Sheltan).

Jason's solo, "Who Can Understand A Woman?" just before the finale, gives a clue to the surprise ending.

Bennett's "Indian Boogie" was not the only one of his hit tunes that stopped the show last night and demanded encores. Jeanne Willingham's solo ballet, "Waltz of the Winds," with Helen Blocker and the chorus; Max Presnell's "Texas"; and "Clap Your Hands," with Bunny Shultz singing and Miss Willingham and Rhul Samples dancing, also required curtain calls before the show was allowed to go on.

All proceeds from last night's show, and from the coming fourth smash performance Wednesday, will go to the annual March of Dimes drive for funds to fight infantile paralysis.

feet of natural gas produced at the well. Tufares estimated it would produce around 42 million dollars a year.

Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake is ready to go with a bill probably calling for a tax of one cent on each 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas. He figures it would bring in from 32 to 34 million dollars a year to the state.

McLellan sought unsuccessfully last session to push through a similar bill.

Among important bills introduced in the Senate yesterday was one to bring state food, drug and cosmetic regulations in line with federal laws. The original Texas Food and Drug Act dates back to 1911.

By Senator John J. Bell of Cleburne, the measure has been endorsed by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer.

Bell's bill would:

- Bring all cosmetics except toilet soap under control; outlaw cosmetics which might be injurious to users, except plainly labelled coal tar hair dyes.
- Prohibit false or misleading labeling.
- Bring such devices as "cancer belts" under strict controls.
- Prohibit traffic in drugs and therapeutic devices which are dangerous to health under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling.
- Prohibit traffic in new drugs until they have been thoroughly tested.
- Require drugs intended for use by persons to be labeled warning against habit formation if they contain any of the narcotic or hypnotic habit-forming substances, and otherwise control the indiscriminate distribution of dangerous and habit-forming drugs.
- Require more informative labeling.
- Provide for embargoes on products suspected as being in violation of the Texas food and drug laws pending laboratory analysis.

CHING

the administration is out to repeal, established the independent stature of the conciliation service.

Some Congress members have predicted that the administration, despite the big democratic majorities in the Senate and House, will have difficulty winning approval for ending its independent status.

Senator Smith (R-N.J.) predicted flatly that Congress will not agree to another administration proposal to do away with the Taft-Hartley provision for court orders to block national emergency strikes.

Ching shifted his big (six-foot, seven-inch) frame in the committee's witness chair and told the senators he felt his mediators would not receive the same confidence from employers and unions if they were working for the Labor Department. He intended no reflection on Tobin or other department officials, he said.

Ching said that able conciliators "found the doors of many employers closed to them" when the service was in the Labor Department before passage of the Taft-Hartley Law.

When it was made independent, Ching said, these same men "found such doors ajar." The men themselves hadn't changed, he commented, but the status of the service had.

Ching did not say directly in a prepared statement whether he would step out as director of the service if it is placed under Tobin. But friends are certain he plans to quit if that is done.

The Taft-Hartley provision which Smith predicts Congress will keep is the one which lets the government get 80-day injunctions to prevent strikes which imperil the national health or safety.

The administration bill, which Secretary of Labor Tobin outlined to the committee yesterday, would replace that machinery with a 30-day voluntary cooling-off procedure. Under it, emergency boards appointed by the President would recommend terms for settling disputes.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), leader of the fight to block repeal of the present labor law, said after Tobin testified that the administration's voluntary plan is entirely inadequate. He laughed at Tobin for saying the force of public opinion would make it work.

Taft questioned Tobin only briefly at yesterday's session. Tobin is coming back tomorrow for further cross-examination, and Taft has announced he plans to fire away at the cabinet officer then.

Besides setting up new machinery to deal with critical strikes, the bill would, among other things, ban jurisdictional strikes (disputes between two unions) and secondary boycotts where the motive is to help put across a jurisdictional strike.

The call for aid went out at 10:20 a.m.

"We still do not know what caused the illness," said Myers, "except that it was gas. We are assuming it is monoxide. Schools will not be allowed to open until the matter is settled."

First indications of trouble came in the third grade room, which with the eighth grade room suffered the most casualties. Mrs. Maurine Arbuton, the room teacher, sent one pupil home when he complained of being ill. Then two others said they were ill.

Within moments, the corridors were filled with sick, retching children. They were laid down and

FORT WORTH—(AP)—A new right landing gear was installed on a huge B-36 super bomber here Sunday and more details made available on the record 42-091 bomb load it carried to a bombing range in California.

The plane's landing gear collapsed as it landed Saturday after the bombing run.

Some of the plane's six engines, damaged by fire fighting chemicals sprayed on the craft as a safety measure, may have to be replaced.

It was reported that the two "earthquake" bombs were each 26 feet, 10 inches long and four and one-half feet in diameter. The bombs carried a plaster compound instead of explosives and were not armed with war heads.

The ship was over the target at Muroc, Calif., at 2 p. m. The first bomb was dropped at 2:30 p. m. from 35,000 feet. The second was dropped from more than 40,000 feet.

This is a diesel ... a modern locomotive that means better service to you.

Leaders of two unions think it's a feather-bed ... a 'make work' grab that means less service to you.

Leaders of unions representing railroad engineers and firemen seek to force railroads to add extra, needless men on diesel locomotives. This is sheer waste—a "make-work" program which would mean fewer improvements and higher costs—for YOU!

Railroads use modern diesel locomotives because they are one of the means of giving faster, better service to you.

Two men compose the crew of a diesel. They occupy a clean, comfortable cab at the front. The engineer handles the throttle. The fireman sits and watches the track ahead. With no coal to shovel, he has practically nothing else to do.

No Benefit To You

Now the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers want to use the diesel locomotive as a means of forcing a feather-bedding scheme on the railroads. The extra men they propose to add to the diesel crews are not needed. There is no work for them.

The union leaders are fighting among themselves about which union should furnish these extra, needless men. The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have even threatened a strike. You may not be interested in this dispute of these two unions, but you would be vitally concerned if these groups succeed in putting through this feather-bedding scheme, because it would mean a slowing up of the improvement program of the railroads—of which the diesel is the outstanding symbol.

Diesel crews are among the highest paid railroad employees—real aristocrats of labor! Their pay is high by any standard. Granting of these demands, therefore, would mean that the railroads would be paying out millions in unearned wages to those in the very highest pay brackets.

We'd Like To Spend This Money On You

You know how much the diesel has meant to you in increased speed, comfort and convenience. The railroads have many more of them on order for even greater improvement in service to you. But needless drains of money, such as this present demand of the unions for needless men on diesels, reduce the ability of the railroads to spend money on better service for you.

Proud as the railroads are of the diesel, it is only a small part of their improvement program. Since the War, literally billions of dollars have been spent on improvement of tracks and stations, on new passenger and freight cars, as well as on diesel locomotives, and on the many other less conspicuous details of railroading that contribute to improved service.

Feather-Bedding Means Less Service To You

But brazen feather-bedding schemes like the one now proposed would, if successful, divert large sums of money from our present improvement programs. Even worse, they make improvements like the diesel worthless, by making the cost of their operation prohibitive.

These demands are against your interests—as well as those of the railroads. They are schemes to "make work". Neither you nor the railroads should be forced to pay such a penalty for progress.

That's why the railroads are resisting these "make work" demands to the ditch—and why they are telling you about them.

We've Got to Have More Money

We have to go back as far as 1916 to find a year that counted as many cases of polio as did 1948. Last year, with a total of 27,558 cases, ranked second only to 1916. When there were almost 50,000 cases reported.

California, North Carolina and Texas were the hardest hit states last year. Those three states accounted for 35 percent of the total incidents. The highest basis of 1948 population estimates, had an incidence rate of 2.46 per 100,000 persons or a total of 1,780 cases.

The fact that last year was the second worst year for the disease probably accounts for the fact that the National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis and all its chapters in every county in the United States are without operating funds.

The fact that Texas was one of the three states hardest hit should stimulate interest in the current drive for funds for the famous "March of Dimes."

We in Gray County should take especial note of the drive, giving our dimes and our dollars, in view of the fact that this county had 23 cases reported last year. Of course, it goes without saying funds didn't go very far. At the outset, we had but little money, a fact understandable when it is recalled there had been very little threat in the county in prior years.

The people of our county haven't taken very kindly to these facts. They have contributed their money possibly with the thought that polio is something which happens to somebody else's children. That's the reason we have not raised the $10,000 so dearly needed. That's the reason local and state officials have decided to continue for at least 10 days the drive that should have been finished yesterday.

We've got to come across with some more money. We need it for debts already incurred, and there will be more this year. Let it not be said money from the national foundation had to be sent to this county to help take care of our children. For that money came from thousands of other counties in the country, most of which were not hit half as hard as Gray County.

The President is carrying out his campaign promise. We trust that the 81st Congress will likewise make good on its pledges to the American people.

President William Green of the AFL.

The United Nations is but the mirror of international life. What is needed is not a better world, but a better man. A greater willingness on the part of the players to abide by the rules.

WASTE, OUR KEYNOTE . . . . . by Upton Close

WASHINGTON — The situation in China is a glaring example of waste in United States foreign policy.

Fair Enough -- by Westbrook Pegler

WASHINGTON — James L. Brown, the editor of the Idaho Statesman of Boise, has asked me to verify statements in these dispatches on Jan. 28, 1946, three years ago, concerning the amount of money which Eleanor Roosevelt receives from the taxpayers of the United States. Mr. Brown was criticized by a New Dealer for stating in an editorial that "The Statesman does not know a single instance where Pegler has lacked facts for his statements."

In the three years since the story was published no word ever has been received from Mrs. Roosevelt or the officious Malvina C. Thompson, otherwise known as Scheider, who is Eleanor's secretary, claiming any error or false statement. At any time Mrs. Roosevelt could have had a correction by asking for it if she were interested in truth for its own sake, especially in matters of Roosevelt's filthy rackets such as Elliott's dead-end loans and her own radio programs on the notorious coffee and candy accounts. She could have made a full statement here within a few days. I never found her to be so interested.

The statement that her job with the United Nations was a political sinecure is uncontroverted. I wrote about it in April, 1946, she expressed an excessive demur. She seems to be conceding. Public Law 264, 79th Congress, "United Nations Participation Act of 1945," says that our representatives "shall be entitled to compensation at the rate of $12,000 per annum."

There is nothing in that language to inform any honest reader that the delegates shall receive pay at that rate only for days actually worked. No other language in the act mentioned any per diem arrangement or limitation.

The same discussion said Mrs. Roosevelt's $12,000 a year, plus expenses at her perquisites, was in addition to her pension of $5,000 a year as the widow of a former president.

The pension was proposed by John Lesinski, a CIO congressman from Illinois in June, 1945. Six months later, the chairman of the Committee on Invalid Pensions, Lesinski favorably reported his own bill. On Jan. 28 as I have said, the article was printed assuming the fact of this favorable report to a Democratic Congress, the pension would be granted. However, on Feb. 5, 1946, when the bill was called up for passage, Congressman Rich, of Pennsylvania, said: "I understand she is now a member of the United Nations conference drawing a salary from the federal government of $12,000 a year."

By the plain language of the United Nations law reasonably engaged a congressman professionally engaged in legislation the same understanding that I got.

Another member, Mr. McGreggor, said "reliably informed there have been no hearings on this bill."

Therefore McGreggor asked referral back to the committee for further consideration. This was done.

Under the laws, Mrs. Roosevelt would not have been required to waive her pension while she was drawing pay from the United Nations, although the same law does forbid payment of such compensation to any government payor for civilian duties after retirement.

There is an impression that Mrs. Roosevelt turned down her pension. She did not. She never has a bill to turn down. Her pension, as it never was voted, had such attribution of selfless denial, therefore, is incorrect.

The Budget Bureau was guilty of this error. It may have been intentional for a political purpose. If not, this bureau had much less excuse for honest mistake than a single-handed reporter bucking the organized bureaucratic resistance of entrenched dynasty passed, and the long period of strife between warlords began, America's "Open Door" policy in Asia was being gobbled up. We sent a little army along with European, Japanese and Russian contingents to the rescue of missionaries and diplomats besieged in Peking by the "Righteous Fiats" called in Chinese "Boxers", a sort of Chinese Ku Klux Klan, which was backed by a white-man-hating empress, Teddy Roosevelt protesting the first soldier over the old Peking wall a Captain Crozier, to a full brigadier general. When the boxers had been destroyed we insisted that China's capital city be restored to the Russians who had come into Manchuria until they got out.

We led the movement to give back treaty ports — sea ports the weak Chinese government had signed over to foreigners. We returned indemnity in the form of education. We built a path of cajole and bought the British out of their strangle-hold on various departments of the Chinese government. We helped them throw the Germans out during World War.

We began bucking the Japanese effort to take the place of the British and Germans — way back in 1915. I got the strange keynote at that time as a reporter on Jap infiltration to Woodrow Wilson — all we had at that time in the form of intelligence. The United States ended up by fighting the most bitter war of human history to keep the Japs from closing our "Open Door" in China.

Then a man from Hyde Park, advised by boys from Harvard, gave the key to Russia. The "Open Door" was the most honorable, most profitable, most dignified foreign policy this nation ever had toward a temporarily weak, but potentially great and rich neighbor. Followed through, it could have protected our Pacific flank forever, and built us a trade and industry on the Pacific Coast as great as that on the Atlantic.

We have thrown away a position it took a hundred years to build, wasted several billion dollars, frittered away thousands of lives in a war with Japan from which we got no fruits, all throws away. After forcing the pagans to let our missionaries teach them Christianity and Western enterprise, we are letting the new paganism, communism, suppress Christianity once more throughout China and the mission work that has been America's pride.

Common Ground

By R. C. HOLLES

"If a nation values anything more than freedom, it will lose its freedom; and if it values more, it will lose that too." -W. Somerset Maugham

Political Education Yesterday I quoted from a speech by Hon. Ralph W. Owens, one of our Representatives on the question of the effects of the state supporting education. I want to quote further from his speech: "Millions of our fellow citizens have come to have such faith in education by the political state that they see no ill in it except such as money can cure. All that is lacking is money. So they propose to subject our education to the healing strength of money and call on the compulsory power of the Federal Government to make the towns, cities, counties, and States do what the Federal Government thinks they should do."

"Millions of American citizens have no fear of statism. Their faith is in it. They teach it. They crusade for it in the name of doing good for the people through the Government."

"Admittedly, some of our States are poorer than others and find it burdensome to provide such educational advantages that neighboring States seem to have. At that, there is a great disparity in educational opportunity even within the various parts of our richest States. It is also true that illiteracy is widespread, especially political, economic and religious illiteracy. Those whose faith is in the governmental power of Washington, therefore, submit that even the richest States need to be prodded by Washington."

"Will Washington money cure these evils? If it will, we should expect to find even now in our richest States where the greatest appropriations are given for education — evidence of the highest level of spiritual, cultural, and political health. And then, what do we find, especially in our richest big cities? There we find the most deeply entrenched one-party political machines with the worst political corruption. These same wealthy cities nourish the greatest degrees of far, of personal inadequacy and dependence on the Central Government for food, shelter, health, education, and employment. Here, the religious and religious centers of communism and foreign ideologies, of pagan faith in some form of the god-state and the most widespread denial of faith in the one true God and man's fitness for freedom and personal responsibility."

"Thus, while it is a fact that such States spend more for education than the poorest States, they spend four times more for liquor than for education, while $27 go for chewing gum for each dollar spent on books and $15 are spent on combat crims. They support institutions for the mentally sick than in the poor States."

"It follows as a matter of course that many persons and pressure groups that descend from Russia in Washington from these rich cities will look to the same false God — the Central Government for their salvation. They will demand that the Central Government ward the remedies to which most of all the peoples of the earth have lately turned to remedy their ills — money."

"They argue that the 'free towns, cities, and county boards of education, and the legislatures of the individual States, have betrayed their trust of the education of the American youth. They show little educational insight. Washington should take the force them to do right by education."

"Without compulsion from Washington, the individual States will collect insufficient taxes for school purposes. Washington will make them spend what they should know how to get top-notch results from the school dollar. Washington should take their school dollars to the Washington bureaucrats and send part of them back with instructions as to how to get better education than they can manage for themselves. 'Thank God,' the educational federalists say, 'we can look to Washington.' Their propaganda slogan is 'Federal aid to education without control.'"

"A free school in America, the only school worth while, is one that has its roots in the cultural ambitions of a free community. What of it, if the schools of Manhattan are different from those of Annapolis, or the schools of Minnesota different from the schools of Wyoming. In fact, the question needs to be raised whether there is not already too much uniformity in our American schools. For too long the emphasis had been on conformity and conformism rather than on local individuality and cultural independence. Whoever professor of New York experiment-ed with or dogmatically proclaimed must be aped and adhered to."

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The most fascinating but least publicized story of the political planning and speculation which accompanied the recent inaugural festivities here is the undercurrent of sentiment for President Truman's renomination in 1952.

It is not too much to say that the movement is already underway, and that his closest friends are making no attempt to hinder it.

The proposal to rename the man who "didn't have a chance of election" as late as last September presupposes two happenings between now and 1952:

In the first place, the nation must be enjoying relatively the same prosperity that it has now. Secondly, he must have improved our foreign relations, if possible, and have kept us out of war.

AGE — Although Mr. Truman will be 72 years old four years hence, it is doubtful if his calendar age will be held against him, barring a severe sickness. He looks and acts like a man of sixty.

HE EMERGED FROM FIVE DAYS OF INAUGURAL carnivals, sleeping less than five hours a night, and attending half a dozen social or political affairs a day, fresher than many younger men.

In fact, some wondered if he did not deliberately set out to impress his healthy condition upon the public and politicians. It reminded many of the late days of the 1944 campaign, when Franklin D. Roosevelt drove through a New York rainstorm in an open car to refute rumors that he would not live through his term, it receded.

HOPEFUL — The frequent suggestion of "Truman for 1952" does not spring from the fact that teachers and school boards throughout this vast inventive, adventurous, creative, and multifarious land are so glad to get out of school. Of course, if the principle of majority rule education is right and the majority has a right to coerce and force the minority to pay for anything that the majority wants, it is hard to really argue against Federal control and supporting of education. It makes no difference, from a moral standpoint, whether the majority vote and compel one or 19 to pay for an educational system they think will destroy the country, or whether 20,000,000 people vote and make manage for themselves. "Thank God," the educational federalists say, "we can look to Washington." Their propaganda slogan is "Federal aid to education without control."

"A free school in America, the only school worth while, is one that has its roots in the cultural ambitions of a free community. What of it, if the schools of Manhattan are different from those of Annapolis, or the schools of Minnesota different from the schools of Wyoming. In fact, the question needs to be raised whether there is not already too much uniformity in our American schools. For too long the emphasis had been on conformity and conformism rather than on local individuality and cultural independence. Whoever professor of New York experiment-ed with or dogmatically proclaimed must be aped and adhered to."

ELIMINATED — Despite their dizzy state, the Republicans also talked 1952 as they prepared to pick up the pieces of their shattered party at the Omaha conference. Their backroom conversations were more interesting for the men they eliminated than for the possibilities they proposed.

It is generally agreed that Governor Thomas E. Dewey, whether he seeks another try or not, is the we-want-a-winner crowd figure that a man who could not come through in 1948 can never make the grade. Moreover, he won no friends among the big boys by the kind of campaign he conducted.

The same consideration applies to Governor Earl Warren of California. Mr. Dewey's running mate, Senator Vandenberg has no ambition for the honor at his age.

ELIMINATION — Thus the elimination contest, ironically, boils down to the two GOP-ers who recently met in combat over the post of the Senate Policy Committee — Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts. The so-called "liberals" are pushing the Bay State.

Mr. Taft's prospects depend on the ups and downs of the new four years. The fight on him, in the opinion of his friends, has strengthened him. He was depicted as far more open-minded and forward-looking on labor and welfare issues than some of his opponents. And his outstanding ability has never been questioned by his enemies.

BAITER IS BETTER THAN NO TRADE (The Vancouver Daily Province) During the war and after, Canada supplied Great Britain with tremendous quantities of foodstuffs and timber. She made contracts and kept in exchange, maintaining continuous supply, making capital commitments in order to do so.

Now our market is going on. The reason while keeping up a continuous supply of goods, we did not also keep up a continuous supply of American dollars to enable Britain to buy the goods. We couldn't supply the American dollars we didn't have enough for our own use.

Because Canada deals on a dollar basis, and Britain lacks dollars, Canada is seeking her trade in bacon, eggs, timber and other things slipping away to Poland and other European nations.

These nations have even fewer American dollars than we have. But they do not need dollars. They are willing to barter. They will sell timber and foodstuffs and take steel and machinery and manufactured products in exchange.

Why can we not do that, too? Apparently because we have not come to see the necessity of it. We remember the very pleasant, but profitable exchange of goods of other years. We bought largely from the United States, selling largely to Great Britain and other countries. The United States dollars with which to pay for our American purchases.

That was an easy way of doing business, for the balance was more or less automatic. It was most satisfactory if the old plan could be restored. But, apparently it can not be restored — at least not yet. The automatic balance will not work. Too many countries lack United States dollars and can not get them.

Under the circumstances, it looks as though we shall have to adopt the barter system to some extent at least or forego a large part of our foreign trade. It is a clumsy system. But it works and is better than the present system.

Premier Byron Johnson pointed out when he was in England some weeks ago, it should be possible for Great Britain, which has steel and much time and labor, and British Columbia, which has timber and needs steel, to get together.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — I've said it before and I'll say it again — newspaper headlines can't hurt a movie star. Rita Hayworth and her marquis prince currently are taking editorial blasts from Hollywood trade papers as well as London newspapers.

I'm not defending Rita. I'm just predicting she'll eventually return to Hollywood and be bigger box office than ever.

It's happened to Errol Flynn, Lana Turner, Bob Mitchum and others before them. Many a producer in Hollywood is saying today: "I wish I could co-star Rita and Bob Mitchum in a picture. Brother, that would REALLY be box office."

'Fightin'est Heart' Award to Harvester Gridman

Harvesters Play Bulldogs In First of 'Must' Games

Pampa's Harvesters square off tonight against the Berger Bulldogs to open the final half of the district cage race. The Green and Gold can't afford to lose another conference game if they intend to take the district title this season. The loss to the Sandies was very expensive, as well as heart breaking.

The Harvesters held a hard workout yesterday afternoon to prepare for the fast, sharpshooting Bulldog five. The Harvesters downed Tex Hanna's boys at Berger about three weeks ago by a 22-20 score, in a game that saw the outcome in doubt through the entire four periods.

The Harvesters will probably open with the same lineup, Gallie and Bond at forwards, Davis at center, and Douglass and Howard at the guards.

For Berger the starting lineup will probably be Hooper, Glass, Brown, McCord and Hampton. Brown led the Berger scoring in the previous game with the Harvesters, canning eight points.

The new scoreboard will finally be back in action. The new parts have been installed, and everyone will know the correct score and the correct time all of the time, through the courtesy of the Pampa Jaycees.

Game time is 8 o'clock.

Phillips Wins From Dalhart

PHILLIPS (Special) — The Phillips Blackhawks quintet eked by the Dalhart Wolves here Monday 35-33 for their seventh win against seven losses for the season. The Hawks had to overcome a 4-point deficit at end of the third period to emerge victors in the bitterly fought contest. Dalhart also led at halftime, 20 to 15.

Hoyt Earnest, Hawk forward, singled the nets for 13 points to pace the winners while Roy Hubbs, 6 foot 8 inch Dalhart center, tallied 22 of Dalhart's 33 points for high-point honors for the evening. The tilt was a rugged affair with 38 fouls committed, 21 against Phillips, compared to 17 against the Wolves.

Bill Braden, Hawk guard, sank the clincher on a long set shot late in the game with the Hawks leading 33-32. The Phillips cage-men trailed, 29-25, with four minutes remaining.

In the preliminary match the Dalhart B squad overwhelmed the Phillips B boys, 39-31. Lavato captured high honors as he hit the hoops for 10 points to pace the winners.

Kentucky Takes Over Lead As Nation's Number 1 Team

BETTER BOWLING

HIP ACTION: To keep the ball from hitting high on the headpin you must not let the swing go outside the arc. Keep it close, so it feels like you could "put it in your hip pocket." But to do this, the body must be completely relaxed during the stride (run) to the foul line.

The slightest tenseness of the body as the stance is taken will reduce the amount of push-away and shorten the swing so much that the ball will immediately go outside the arc (right) as it starts back. And it will, of course, be far off line at the top of the swing.

The ball will then be directed high on the headpin, or even to its left — on the Brooklyn side. As the ball is pushed away from the body in perfect timing with the first step, the swing will go straight back, close to the body — in the groove, only when you are relaxed. "loose."

When the ball reaches a point just beyond the hip in the backswing, where the arm is fully extended, the hip turns slightly inward, or to the LEFT — OUT OF THE WAY (see illustration). That is what puts the swing in the arc, and keeps it there in control for an accurate delivery and swing-through.

Relax the body to get the hip out of the way. Concentrate on the push-away to get swinging in a hurry to deliver the ball. Make the downswing automatic. Let the ball SWING ITSELF.

Then only will the arm swing in line so that the ball can be directed consistently on the desired, RIGHT SIDE of the headpin.

NEW YORK (AP) — Kentucky is the new No. 1 basketball team of the nation, replacing St. Louis University in the third weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

A 24-point victory involving the magic name of Notre Dame sent the Wildcats out front for the first time. Kentucky has won 14 and lost 1. St. Louis has a 13-1 mark.

Forty-three different schools were mentioned by the 71 participants who gave Kentucky a 39-25 margin in first place ballots. The other No. 1 votes were divided among Oklahoma Aggies, 4 and Western Kentucky, Illinois and Stanford, with one each.

Back of Kentucky and St. Louis come the Oklahoma Aggies, who avenged an earlier loss by thumping DePaul of Chicago, 37-26.

Illinois, which handed Minnesota its first loss after 13 straight, 45-44, edged into fourth place ahead of the Gophers.

Western Kentucky (16-1) knocked out the unbeaten division by Eastern Kentucky, 42-40, slipped two pegs from fourth to sixth.

Then come Villanova (12-1) and Hamline (14-0), the nation's only unbeaten major team, seventh and eighth, respectively.

Stanford moved into the top 10 in the poll, based on games played through Saturday night, by downing San Jose State and Pittsburgh to make it 17-2 for the year.

San Francisco, a 56-49 victor over Arizona, dropped one place to tenth.

Stanford is the only new face in the top 10. It ousted Utah which was upset by Brigham Young twice in three days.

Others receiving votes were: Texas, 4, and Baylor, 2.

Giants Sign Negroes

NEW YORK (AP) — Monte Irvin and Ford Smith, two of the most talented players in Negro baseball, will draw their paychecks from the New York Giant organization this coming season.

The Giants purchased Irvin, an outfielder, and Smith, a pitcher, from the Negro National League Friday for their Jersey City International League farm club.

Reapers Score Upset Victory

The Reaperville cagers turned in an upset victory yesterday afternoon, downing the Sam Houston Rangers of Amarillo 25-22 at the Junior High gymnasium.

It was a tight game all of the way, being tied several times in the final period.

The Reapers led at half time 12-8.

The scoring honors went to Donnell of Sam Houston who tallied 10 points in the final half.

The Reaper scoring was shared by Bob McPherson and Mary Bond, who each tossed in 9 counters.

McPherson scored on several fine drive-in shots, while Bond scored on some nice pivot shots from the center post.

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor
DALLAS — We would not question the sincerity or the facts presented by Stan Lambert, publicity director of the Texas High School Coaches Association, in stating that the coaches favor the return of spring football practice.

We are sure that a majority of the coaches want it. However, there is one fact that should be pointed out to the mentors: They do not do the voting on questions presented by the Texas Intercollegiate League. If they did there would be nothing much except football. The school administrators are the ones who have the say-so when the question of restoring spring training is presented in an athletic referendum. The coaches will be just like expectant fathers waiting in the hospital corridors.

Also, we are not in accord with what Lambert says in the submission of the question of spring training. He avers that they think this means that after a year without spring practice the league advisory council sees the mistake made in the referendum to abolish it from the spring calendar.

Getting another vote does not mean general dissatisfaction with anything. This is a democratic country and many points have been brought up again and again because factions were not satisfied and wanted to make another effort to get their point across.

Lambert takes an opinion expressed by the Intercollegiate League that the school men should consider the welfare of the boys involved and vote accordingly as an endorsement of spring training. We disagree. What is the welfare of the boys going through days of spring football when he might be playing basketball or baseball or running on the track? Lambert says the men who have the closest contact with the boys point out that in the large schools particularly many of the boys who want to play football find themselves without a spring sport because they are not fast enough to compete in track and are either not interested or not well enough coordinated to play basketball. Are we reading this right? A boy who is so slow he can't

WARREN'S WARM UP

By Warren Mason—News Sports Editor

QUESTION: When was night baseball first played in the major leagues?

PLAYING THE PERCENTAGES: The loss to the Sandies last Friday night put the Harvesters clearly behind the eight ball. They can't drop another game if they intend to take the district crown all by themselves. Lubbock has proven that they are definitely a strong contender for that title, too, and they play the best schedule of any of the teams. The lone contender remaining on the West-erners' schedule is Pampa, and they play at Lubbock.

In addition to the game at Lubbock, the Harvesters must play Berger and Amarillo here. Lubbock has already downed Amarillo twice this year, and the locals hold two decisions over the West-erners, but none over Amarillo.

The standings at present show the Harvesters to be a full game out of first place, and half a game out of third place.

Lubbock	5	1
Pampa	3	1
Amarillo	2	2
Borger	1	2
Brownfield	2	3
Plainview	0	4

The race could wind up in a three-way tie between Lubbock, Pampa and Amarillo. Each team could finish with an 8-2 record if Pampa beats Lubbock and the Sandies down the Harvesters, again, and these teams lose no other games. Whether the championship would be decided by a flip of a coin or by a round robin tourney would probably be determined at that time, if the race should end up in a triple tie.

Lubbock has always been a tough team when they are at home, and teamed with their strong zone defense they have managed to keep the opposition scoring to a minimum. The Harvesters will know they have a battle when they finish with the West-erners, win or lose. But we look for and hope that they will win Friday night.

Then the next night they stop off at Brownfield to engage the Cubs in the return game. So this will indeed be a busy week for the Harvesters, and it could be a profitable or a disastrous one.

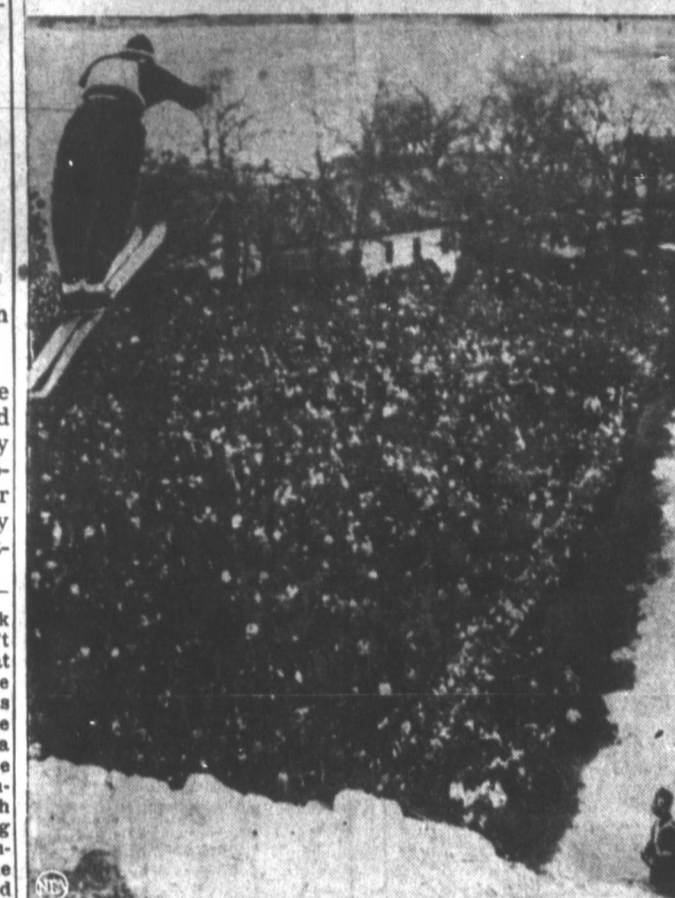

ANSWER: The first major league night baseball game was played in Cincinnati in 1935.

THROUGH THE YEARS: One year ago today: The Harvesters 20-game win streak fell before the Sandies, 40-39. Five years ago: The major leagues were worrying about putting the returned veterans back on their former jobs. Ten years ago: Pampa dropped Borger, 46-23, and getting 17 points. Fifteen years ago: The Harvestettes won the county girls' championship, beating Letors 24-22, Kentingling 11 points.

DOTS AND DASHES: The University of Texas has won 60 of its last 70 basketball games over a period of three seasons — Hank Iba, cage coach at Oklahoma A&M, is busy these days denying the rumor that he has invented something new, namely defensive basketball. The story is current that A&M cagers pay so little attention to offensive play that Iba hasn't had to buy a new set of basket nets since before the war. "That's not true," grins Iba, "I put a new net on the south goal the year Bob Kurland graduated." Five members of the Berger Gassers have signed for the new season. They include Eddie Carnett, manager; Vallie Eaves, Hugh King and Jim Cain, hurriers; and Jack Crow, capable of playing anywhere. Eaves comes from Texarkana of the Big State League. He spent several trout periods in the ma-run the mile in track and who is so poorly coordinated he can't play basketball is prime bait for the football squad? Come now, coaches; what kind of boy are we using on the football team? Does it take more coordination and speed for baseball than football? What of tennis and golf and swimming?

The final point in Lambert's statement floors us. He says the coaches have learned a lesson when spring training was voted out—the coach will no longer exert pressure on a boy to come out for spring practice with the threat that he must come out "or else." This contradicts the statement that the boys who want to play football find themselves without a spring sport because of slowness, lack of coordination, interest, etc. If they were so eager to come out for spring football why did the coaches have to threaten them to get them out?

I asked Doak Walker, Southern Methodist University's two-time All-American, this question: "Since you have gained all the honors a boy could expect in football what incentive do you have in your last season? What else is there to win?"

We mentioned that he had won all the trophies, been named the greatest Jeweler in the nation and here just didn't seem anything left to earn.

Answered the Doaker after deep thought for at least a half-second: "Don't be silly; I've got to learn about football and besides I like the game. Also, do you think I'd let my teammates down. No, sir; I'll be out there doing everything I can to better what I may already have accomplished."

The answer drew an emphatic second from Coach Matty Bell: "Walker likes competition too much not to be giving all he has all the time. That's incentive enough."

Sportsmen Meet Tonight; Bring Food for Birds

The Sportsmen's Club will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8 o'clock at the Court House. Discussion about the actions taken at the present session of the Legislature will be held. After the discussion movies will be shown.

Announcement was made late yesterday that feed is needed for the birds who are unable to find food due to the heavy snow. Anyone who can contribute grain or stale bread or any other food that the birds would like can phone 372 and it will be picked up. Or it may be left out at the bird base, which will be the feeding station.

Announcement was made today of a fine, new award to be given by the Chamber of Commerce. It will be given to some member of the Harvester football team annually, and will be known as the "Fightin'est Heart Award."

The trophy will go to the Harvester footballer showing the most ambition and eagerness and fight through the football season. The award will be based on performance in practice as well as during games and a boy need not be regular to win the award. It will be based entirely upon performance, regardless of game time played.

The winning boy's name will be engraved upon the trophy and it will be placed on display in the school trophy case. The boy will not receive the trophy to keep permanently but will have his name engraved upon it, and be permanently remembered as the boy with the "Fightin'est Heart" on his team.

The first presentation of the award will be made Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce football banquet honoring this year's Harvester football team. The entire team will be guests of the C of C, and each will be introduced to the crowd.

The guest speaker will be Eck Curtis, backfield coach at the University of Texas. And as his guests he will have Randall Clay and Carl "Red" Mayes, both Pampa boys, former Harvesters, now playing a lot of football for the Texas Longhorns. As a special attraction, the complete movies of the Orange Bowl football game will be shown. That is the thrilling game in which the Longhorns scored a big upset over the University of Georgia. The Longhorns were led in this victory by a big number 16, Randy Clay.

Tickets for the banquet are still on sale at the Chamber of Commerce office, Wilson Drug, Richard's Drug and the Court House Cafe. The banquet will start at 7:30, Thursday night, and will be held in the Senior High School cafeteria. It will be a fine evening's entertainment for all of the Pampa football fans, male and female alike.
