

Pampa Girl Finds Pen Pal In South Viet Jungle

Terry Stafford
... has Pen Pal

By TEX DEWEESE
News Staff Writer

A one-word answer to a question by the Pampa Daily News Inquiring Photographer has formed the basis for a correspondence acquaintanceship between a 16-year-old Pampa girl and a 19-year-old Marine fighting for freedom in the rice paddies and jungles of South Vietnam.

Miss Terry Stafford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gayle M. Stevens, 1116 S. Christy, has just received her third letter from Steve Mastin, the marine, whose home is in the State of Washington.

The first letter came after Mastin, by chance, picked up the Oct. 27 edition of the Pampa News which he said had been received by a buddy in his First U.S. Marine Division (Rein.) FMF, Vietnam.

On the first page he saw Miss Stevens' photo and a question that had been asked her by The News' Inquiring Photographer. The question was: "What Makes the World Go 'Round?'"

Miss Stevens' one-word answer was: "Boys."

In that first letter Mastin sent to her, he simply introduced himself and stated he was writing to her because he liked her answer to the question. He did not name the buddy from Pampa who had received the paper.

Miss Stafford's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Stevens, an employe in the city tax department, said the letters always mentioned how important it was for the fighting men in Vietnam to receive mail from home.

"There are lots of them who never get mail," he wrote.

In one of the letters, which Miss Stafford shares with other members of her family, Mastin said he hoped some day it would be possible for him to visit Pampa and meet her and her family.

In the last letter received last week by Miss Stafford from Mastin, he stated because of the holiday season he was sending along a poem he thought was appropriate at Christmas time. The poem is a parody on "The Night Before Christmas," entitled "Vietnam's Night Before Christmas."

It goes like this:
'Twas the night before Christmas
And all through the Nam,
Not a creature was stirring
Except the Viet Cong.

The guards had been posted
On their posts with care:
In hope that Charlie would Never be there

Men were all nestled
and snug
In their beds,
While visions of home
Danced through their heads.

With the guards on their posts
And me in my rack,
I just settled down for
A long night's nap.

When out in the paddy
There rose such a chatter,
We sprang from our racks
To see what was the matter.

When under the light of the Moon what should appear
But eight gook regiments
All loaded with gear.

Their leader was short
Slant-eyed and thin;
And across his face
He wore a big grin.

He pointed here and there
And shouted to all,
Through the barbed wire
And over the Wall

So with helmets on head
And rifles in hand
We spring for the lines

To make our last stand
Explosions from mortars and Rockets were seen
everywhere
While hundreds of stray
Rounds flew through the air

The yappers came over the Wall with a bound;
And they blew up bunkers
Everywhere around.

The sight of them reminded Us of Christmas elves;
But we charged them
Anyway to save ourselves.

The battle was fierce
And a bloody mess;
But we kept on fighting

Multi-Million Dollar Road Projects Slated

Blueprints Okayed For County Roads

By TEX DEWEESE
News Staff Writer

Highway improvement projects totaling an estimated $10-million are now under construction or programmed for 1970 in Pampa, Gray County and the immediate surrounding area, it was revealed Saturday by Tom R. Kelley, resident engineer for the Texas Highway Department.

Two projects now under construction are expected to be completed in May. They are a 5-mile stretch on Hwy. 70 south of Pampa being widened at a cost of $617,000 and a 4 1/2-mile strip on Hwy. 70 in Roberts County from Chicken Creek to the Canadian River bridge at a cost of $499,600.

Kelley said a contract is due to be let in January on Hwy. 60 from Hobart St. to a point four-tenths of a mile east of the East city limits of Pampa at a total expenditure of approximately $500,000 each for the city and state on the two-mile improvement.

Another contract is scheduled for letting in February for stage two construction on a farm to market road east and south of Laketon from Hwy. 152 south

Time Fuse Sets Fire Drilling Co. Damaged In Early Morning Burglary

By RON CROSS

Hudson Drilling Co. was burglarized and sustained extensive damage from a fire believed set by the burglars early Saturday morning.

Richard Solsbery, 23, Canadian and Gary L. Rabe, 21, Dodge City, Kan., were being held in Gray County jail in lieu of $5,000 bonds each. Bonds were set by Justice of Peace E.L. Anderson on the pair, both charged with burglary.

Taken in the burglary was a check protector, payroll check book and personalized checks of the Hudson's.

Pampa fire department answered the call at the company at 2:25 a.m. and had the blaze under control a few minutes later.

A spokesman at the fire department said Saturday the blaze was set by a "time fuse," a lighted cigarette and matches rolled up in a newspaper.

The Hudson office is located in a trailer house. Damage to the entire structure was extensive firemen said.

Solsbery and Rabe were arrested in Amarillo shortly after noon Saturday by Amarillo police after they tried to cash checks in Gibson's Discount store in Amarillo. Police found checks totaling $5,662.55 made out on the company, that had already been run through the check protector.

Amarillo and Pampa merchants had been alerted to watch for checks on the company. When the pair tried to cash the checks in Amarillo, a clerk got a description of the vehicle they were in and called police.

Police recovered all the items stolen in Pampa and also found two rings, a .38 caliber pistol, cartridge belt with ammunition and two pawn tickets.

Both men were first arraigned by Potter County Justice of Peace Bonita Potter and had bonds of $5000 each set on the burglary charge.

They were then returned to Pampa by deputy C.L. Wallace.

Newark Solons Asked To Suspend Selves

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—Pressure mounted Saturday on Newark Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio and other city officials under federal indictment to suspend themselves until charges of extortion and income tax evasion have been disposed of in the courts.

An expanding list of organizations, newspapers and individuals have called on the mayor, three city councilmen, a judge, two officers of the City Water Authority and one of the Public Works Department to remove themselves from office, at least temporarily.

Addonizio and 14 others—including 10 past or present city officials, three contractors and a reputed Mafia lieutenant were indicted Wednesday by one of three U.S. grand juries probing organized crime and official corruption in New Jersey.

Congress Struggles To Finish Tax Task

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Democratic-controlled Congress fought its way Saturday toward expected adjournment early next week, responding to Republican charges of behaving like Santa Claus by trying to portray President Nixon as Scrooge.

Caught in the middle of an old-fashioned political brawl was a compromise $19.8 billion appropriations bill for the Health, Education and Welfare Department, the Labor Department, the Office of Economic

Child's Bones Found In Box

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Dr. A.N. Lopez of the county medical examiner's office believed Saturday that a child whose skeleton was found in an abandoned railroad coach was a girl who may have died of a skull fracture.

Johnny Zaragosa, 38, found the remains of the child, 3 or 4 years old, in a coach near the union stockyards.

Dr. Lopez, assistant medical examiner, said the top of the skull appeared broken but the bones were in such a bad state it could not be determined whether they were broken before or after death.

Turkish AFS Student Re-Visits 'Hometown'

By DORIS E. WILSON
News Staff Writer

One of Pampa's most popular American Field Service students, Turan Soyomez of Ankara, Turkey, returned to his adopted hometown Thursday and brought with him a very pretty Danish wife Ulla, and a handsome two-year-old son, Tugrul.

During his year's stay in 1962-63, Turan made his home with the Dr. J.B. Veale Jr. family. They were also hosts for his holiday visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Soyomez were here only briefly and left Saturday with the Veales to spend the holidays in Red River, N.M.

Though Texas held surprises for pretty Ulla, the slopes at Red River will not.

"She's a good skier," said her Turkish husband proudly.

"And," he added, "she's quite a good artist, too. She was graduated from the Art College at the University of Copenhagen, majoring in commercial art and design."

Even though Turan's visit here was brief, he did manage to see a lot of his old friends with whom he has kept in contact during the past seven years.

Gas Rate Hearing Recessed 'Til Jan.

Cross-examination of witnesses for Pioneer Natural Gas Co. in the Texas Railroad Commission hearing on the utility company's request for a 26 per cent rate increase to 61 cities in its West Texas System were concluded Friday in Austin.

Commission examiners recessed the hearing to Jan. 12 when witnesses for the cities will testify and counsel is expected to argue several points in Pioneer's application filed Oct. 2.

The gas company is asking a rate increase from the current 28 cents to 35.33 cents per 1,000 cu. ft.

More than 45 cities served by Pioneer joined forces to share the cost of the fight to determine whether the company's request is justifiable.

Pampa is one of them. Mayor Milo Carlson, City Manager Charles Hill and City Atty. Bob Gordon attended the opening of the hearing in Austin Nov. 24. After two days of testimony by Pioneer witnesses it was recessed until last Monday when cross-examination began and continued all week.

It is expected Pampa will again be represented at the hearing when it reconvenes Monday, Jan. 12.

Littlefield City Manager Jim Shearer said at the conclusion of Friday's hearing he considered Pioneer's case "not entirely out of line with other companies' recent rate increase proposals."

"Shearer is chairman of the 49-city committee created at the outset to challenge the company's requested 26 per cent rate increase.

The Littlefield city manager said the cities are expected to spend several days arguing the case when it picks up again in January.

In commenting on the week of cross-examination, Shearer said: "We think the company is vulnerable in some areas and these issues will be raised when the hearing reconvenes."

He added that the week-long (See RATE, Page 2)

American War Prisoners To Receive Food From Magnate

DALLAS (UPI)—Millionaire H. Ross Perot said Saturday he still plans to fly 90 tons of food and supplies to American prisoners of war despite a message from North Vietnam advising him to operate through normal channels.

"Where I made my mistake was not getting over to them the size of the project," Perot said.

He said he received a telegram from the Hanoi government at 2 a.m. CST. The telegram assured him that the North Vietnamese were treating American prisoners humanely. The normal procedure for mail to the POWs is through Moscow.

Perot said he sent a return cable to Pham Van Dong, prime minister of the Republic of Vietnam, explaining that "Operation Understanding" is too large for normal postal channels.

He also said he stressed the humanitarian aspect of the project and that it has no government affiliation.

The project, conceived and organized by the computer company chairman, includes two plane-loads of 1,400 Christ-

Santa Claus Strikes Up Quite A Correspondence With Mom, Son

Oct. 12, 1969 Dear Santa, I am sure you are watching—and know everything Steve has been doing, but just in case you have forgotten, I will remind you. First—he beat in the front of my triple dresser with a belt and left a hundred little holes. Second—he scratched the top of Granny's antique round table with a can opener. Third—he sawed the arm of the brown rocking chair. Fourth—he spilled nail polish on the headboard of the bed and then tried to remove it with polish remover, which took off the finish and made a horrible mess. And fifth—today he stuck a Kleenex in the stove, and when it burned his hand, he dropped it, burning a huge hole in the middle of our brand new carpet in the T.V. room. All of this has happened in three days, from October 9-Oct. 12. What will he do tomorrow? Steve's Mom The above letter was enclosed

Astronauts, Adolescents Set Fashion Pace During Soaring '60's

DO-YOUR-OWN-FASHION-THING (almost anything) had carried the style day by the end of the Breakaway Decade.

JACKIE KENNEDY'S Inauguration pillbox symbolized the quiet elegance with which the fashion decade began.

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor
NEW YORK (NEA) — Whether a current fashion is a calico look or a velvet look, a hemline, a shape or a topless swimsuit, it is always a reflection of the tempo of the era which gave it birth.

The 1960s have been "breakaway" years. Man broke away from his natural habitat and went to the moon. The youth of the nation, now half the population, joined together to break away from long established conventions.

Many thinking young people showed active resentment toward the world they inherited and parents didn't know whether to fight 'em or join 'em.

The 1960s will be remembered as the decade that put the words "generation gap" on every tongue. And space travel and youth seeking its own identity were responsible for the clothes that made the fashion parade.

Yet the decade started out with a quiet elegance that may well have continued had upheaval not lurked in the stage door. For the first fashion influence of the '60s was

FRIENDLY COMPUTER
FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service has filed a civil suit demanding the return of $1,911 from Brent M. Summers, a Fresno construction worker who apparently appeals to computers.

The IRS said in 1966 Summers received a refund of $956 when he was supposed to get $10; in 1967 he got $611 when he should have gotten only $86, and in 1968, when he had no refund coming, he got $551.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Richard Nichols said the "computer just ran amuck" when it came to Summers' checks.

Jacqueline Kennedy. Her inauguration pillbox hat was still selling in 1965. Her Somali leopard coat started a run on leopard. Her mink sweater was the inspiration for a raft of sweaters in fur. But time marched and fashion joined the parade.

Alan Shepard was rocketed into space in 1961. In 1964, French couturier Andre Courreges said, "I have put fashion on the moon." His played the moon men in that role. Because of the young people we have had the mod look, unisex, the mini, the maxi, the no-bra look, the seethrough, the gypsy dress. And each of these looks was a byproduct of social discontent—a flaunting of rebellion against tradition.

The "Mod" or London look came early in the '60s. A few enterprising British designers—Mary Quant the troop leader—foisted on young Americans, already searching for any kind of garb that would set them apart from their elders, ghastly brief garments that looked as though they had been sewed up by mother's loving hands. The kids went for them. They became an identity for their generation.

But mom, trying to achieve a meeting of the mind with her daughter, slipped into the silly little things, too. This soon killed the "mod" look. The kids' aim was to break away, not to look alike.

Unisex was another manifestation of the young—a badge bought at first in the Army Navy stores to distinguish the youth from the establishment. Boy from girl matter not. Only young from old.

But designers took over and ruined that one for the youngsters, too. At $200 and $300 an ensemble they offered sophisticated versions of that unisex-theme. And mom bought it and wore it, still trying to breach the generation gap.

The little disco dress that could be bought in a boutique for a few dollars was turned out as "the little black slip dress" at a whopping price. Mom bought it and learned to do the "monkey" and the "banana," and made the kids scene. She was thinking "young."

The flower children of the hippy movement wanted to look different as a social protest. But again, the flungtogether hippy clothes were the forerunner of today's gypsy look and at least to some extent responsible for the kind of designer thinking that made the '60s an era of costume rather than clothes.

But their elders won't let them go it alone. Still, as designer Vera Maxwell said, "It's got to stop somewhere. How far can mature people go?"

"I like girls to look like girls," she added. "But women should realize that a girlish look is simply girlish after 30."

Perhaps the '70s will bring the realization that the generation gap can't be bridged with a mother-daughter look.

The only fashion likely to be helpful in closing the wide abyss between the young and their elders in these frustrating days is a good, durable thinking cap the purity of line of his futuristic architectural little dresses, his white boots and helmets all had the look of a rocket stewardess.

Shortly after the Courreges showing an American fashion magazine offered page after page of gilded space maidens in such tortuous positions that the details of the "moon fashions" were hard to define. That issue caused a well-known newsman to dub the fashion mags "comic books for adults."

But the influence remains even as the '60s end. The helmet hat, the pants and the boots are still with us.

Spacemen and kids are an odd combo to be fashion trend setters. And the kids even out

But designers took over and ruined that one for the youngsters, too. At $200 and $300 an ensemble they offered sophisticated versions of that unisex-theme. And mom bought it and wore it, still trying to breach the generation gap.

The little disco dress that could be bought in a boutique for a few dollars was turned out as "the little black slip dress" at a whopping price. Mom bought it and learned to do the "monkey" and the "banana," and made the kids scene. She was thinking "young."

today's gypsy look and at least to some extent responsible for the kind of designer thinking that made the '60s an era of costume rather than clothes.

"I like girls to look like girls," she added. "But women should realize that a girlish look is simply girlish after 30."

Perhaps the '70s will bring the realization that the generation gap can't be bridged with a mother-daughter look.

Soil Conservation

The 10 year extension and broadening of the Great Plains Conservation Program in legislation recently enacted by Congress can mean a doubling of the needed soil and water conservation work on Texas farm and ranch lands, State Conservationist Clyde W. Graham of the USDA Soil Conservation Service said today.

The law extending the program, which was launched in 1957 to give landowners in the Great Plains help in building greater stability in farming and ranching enterprises, was signed by the President on November 18, 1969. The program had been scheduled to end Dec. 31, 1971, but has now been extended to 1981.

The legislation authorizes an additional $150 million in Federal funds for the cost-sharing of conservation measures.

In addition to cost-sharing regular soil and water conservation work, the broadened program will provide for the enhancement of fish, wildlife and recreation resources on farms and ranches where it will improve the economic condition of landowners. It will also provide assistance on agriculture-related pollution problems in keeping with the program's over-all objectives.

It also authorizes the Secretary of Agriculture to enter into contracts on land not generally considered to be agricultural but where erosion is so serious that conservation work is needed to protect farm or ranch holdings.

Graham pointed out that the law brings the responsibility of soil and water conservation districts more sharply into focus, stipulating that "approved conservation plans developed in cooperation with the soil and water conservation district in which their lands are situated shall form a basis for contracts."

In Texas, 10,008 farmers and ranchers have signed contracts covering 13.7 million acres and obligating $37 million in cost-share funds. Nearly 1,200 Texas farmers and ranchers have applications on file to take part in the program.

The seeding of unsuitable cropland to grass, development of water resources, reduction of the soil erosion hazard through various conservation techniques, control of invading brush on rangeland, improvement of irrigation systems to use available water most efficiently, and better grassland management are among steps taken by landowners in the program to create resistance to drought and other emergencies and thereby reduce suffering and financial stress once common in the Plains. Plains farmers and ranchers have returned nearly 2 million acres of hazardous cropland to grassland uses in the program.

Graham said that although the program in Texas has reduced dust storms on the Plains, the job is far from complete. He said a recent survey showed that only 15 percent of all needed conservation work on the Plains has been done.

Panhandle Water

Last week this column touched on the highlights of the Panhandle Economic Program Finance Seminar that was held in Amarillo on December 4, and the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, Money For Irrigated Agriculture-Agri-business Program December 5.

One of the speakers on the Amarillo Finance Seminar was Lynn Futch, State Director for the Farmers Home Administration. Futch is well known to the Pampa area, having managed the Canadian Production Credit Association for a number of years before assuming his present position. He spoke on What The Lending Institution Looks For In The Individual Agricultural Borrower. We are carrying the outline of his address. The main points covered by Futch are an exceptional and valid guideline for area farmers to measure themselves and the farming situation by.

FUNDAMENTALS OF AGRICULTURAL CREDIT
Agricultural Credit must be supported with Agricultural Income. Farmer or Rancher has three basic resources with which to create Agricultural Income. These are: Land, Labor, and Capital. His progress over the years will depend on how well he is able to manage these resources.

Assuming that borrower has land and labor, lender will be primarily concerned with furnishing capital, and determining whether the borrower can do an acceptable job of managing these resources when they are made available to him.

LENDER'S APPRAISAL OF AGRICULTURAL BORROWER

Why has it changed so much? (A) Size of Economical Unites Continue to Increase; Creates need for more land, Creates need for more capital, and Need for additional labor may be absorbed through more and bigger equipment. (B) Agriculture continues to become more highly specialized and technical. (C) Lender has to be more selective because of today's tremendous demands on his loan funds. Management is compelled to carry a much heavier load than in past years to keep up with all of these changes that are taking place.

LENDERS SELECTION OF AGRICULTURAL BORROWER
How does lender go about selecting the borrower that can furnish the management to handle more land and capital in a situation such as we have today, when there aren't always enough loan funds to go around? Some Basic Principles likely to be used by Lender in making his actual selection of the individual borrower; (1) The man; honest, good general character, intelligent, energetic, enthusiastic, reputation of getting along with people. (2) Financial Statement (Accurate); How did he accumulate present worth? How stable are his assets? Liabilities as compared to total net worth; How many creditors does he owe? (3) Income or repayment (capacity of his farm or ranch operation) (A) How stable is his expected income? How does his plan compare with what he has done in past? Can he be affected drastically by weather, prices, or other unknowns? (B) Expected income as compared to obligations he will have to meet. Does he have any margin for errors? (4) Purpose of Loan—What does he plan to do with the money? Refinance debts? Other Capital Credit? Expansion? New Project? (5) Security for requested loan. Can lender's security be clearly identified? Example—Most lenders do not like to finance cattle on the same place where another creditor has cattle on the place as security. Lenders experience many situations where security is adequate, but borrower is still unsound based on one or more of other four factors we have just mentioned.

The man who comes up with a good rating in all five of these basic principles that we have just discussed, very likely will be able to handle the all important job of Management.

ONLY 1,550,000 MORE ROCKFORD, Ill. (UPI)—Concordia Lutheran School needs only 1,550,000 more cake mix coupons for a new school bus to replace the 11-year-old yellow bus on its last legs. Students and friends have contributed 23,000 coupons and when they reach 1,575,000 they'll be able to get a new bus.

Farm Bureau Expects Some Clash On Policy Issues

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The American Farm Bureau Federation Friday pointed to a clash with the Nixon administration in 1970 over the issue of support payments to producers of major farm crops.

News From Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) You love Lucy. You've proved it by keeping the Lucille Ball shows near the top of the ratings for 18 years now under four different titles: "I Love Lucy," "The Lucy-Desi Specials," "The Lucy Show" and "Here's Lucy."

The comedienne is as remarkable a woman as she is performer. Under the orange-pink hair and patina of lunacy is an extraordinarily feminine woman, dedicated mother and an expert on situation comedy.

Of her longevity on the tube, Lucy said, "There is so much change in the world today and so little we can hang on to, that our show is safe and seems permanent. It's always been broadcast on Monday nights."

"We're not just a flash-in-the-pan that's here today and canceled tomorrow. So viewers find some security in watching us. It's more than habit. Our series keeps pace with the times."

Some elements of Lucy's show have changed tremendously, principally its cast.

Back in 1951 when the first black and white half-hour show was aired, the episode cost $28,000. In those early years Lucy and Desi made 39 segments a year.

Today the half-hour color show costs $115,000 per episode and, as is the custom with most series, only 24 segments are filmed.

"Labor costs, along with the rise in prices for everything accounts for the increases."

Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin has indicated he favors continuing the payments in modified form. But the nation's largest farm group with 1.8 million member families ended its golden anniversary convention Thursday by re-endorsing its demand that such programs be phased out.

The delegates renewed their support for transitional aid to no policy stand on proposed crackdowns on "hobby farmers" who convert farm losses into income tax benefits.

Charles B. Shuman was reelected president. David H. Sloan, president of the South Carolina Farm Bureau, was which would move as rapidly as practical to the market system by phasing out acreage bases, allotments, marketing quotas and compensatory payments."

The delegates dropped earlier opposition to extension of a "Class I base" dairy pricing plan. And they decided to take

FILIPINO BODY HUNT

MANILA (UP)—Soldiers began intensive search today for the graves of between 80 and 100 Filipino landowners and farmers believed kidnapped and murdered by Communist-led Huk guerrillas. A constabulary team, guided by Huk deserters, dug up four bodies Friday.

Every one should remember Bobby Adair with his thoughts and make a contribution to his Christmas fund at the First National Bank. We hope he has a Merry Christmas and is back with us soon.

About forty 4-H'ers and guest recently enjoyed a Christmas party and dance. This is a new activity for 4-H'ers and seems to be a good one.

The Automotive project is being completed for the fall and will resume again next spring. Among those enrolled were Tommy and Doug Watson, Teddy Atwood, Elly McKeen, and Jim Pepper. Mr. Ted Atwood and Mr. Frank Skidmore are the leaders of this project. Anyone interested in this project will be able to participate in the spring.

The Decoupage project group completed their work and held a contest for the best work. Their work was judged and displayed at the club meeting.

Agriculturally Speaking

By FOSTER WHALEY

Four ounces of Di-syston applied to 100 pounds of triumph seed wheat gave six to seven months control of green bugs on wheat plants according to an Entomologist of the Bushland Experiment Station.

The test was conducted on both dryland wheat planted at the rate of thirty pounds per acre and irrigated wheat at the rate of sixty pounds per acre. These tests were run in the 1968-69 wheat year.

Additional studies will be required to determine a practical level of chemical treatment when more severe green bug infestations occur, according to the Entomologist making the study.

I do not know what the cost of such treatment might be or if Food and Drug people would approve this idea but this could prove very practical if all the details could be worked out.

Cotton harvesting is near one hundred percent complete over the county. According to the McLean gin, approximately seven hundred fifty bales were ginned. Some of this comes from Donley County. Some of our cotton producers in the Pampa area haul to Wheeler County. The cotton was of poor quality. Most of the varieties we now use mature much quicker than older varieties. However, the quality of the cotton seems to be much poorer than from the older varieties.

Wheat pasture varies from the best we have had in years to only fair. For those that got their wheat sowed in early September, the dryland has actually been better than much of the irrigated. The unusually wet Fall and cooler than normal temperatures has held the growth of wheat to a desirable progress. We have had a few very short Indian summers to prod the wheat growth some.

CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS offer time for meeting friends away to college. Wyatt Earp, left, dresses in a Pampa High School trend of style, welcomes Tommy Jack Davis home from Panhandle State College. Wyatt is wearing slim pants, a soft cardigan and boldly striped tie popular with the PHS set. Tommy goes along with the college trend calling for bold plaid, flair-bottomed pants and checks mixed with stripes and plaids.

ON CAMPUS, Tommy Jack, son of Jack Davis, 1514 N. Faulkner, would wear the very "in" trend toward bold patterns in pants and ties. A black shirt show tie, which is nearly five inches wide, to its advantage. The style is straight from men's fashion headquarters on the East coast, making young Texans one of the group which now favors a "total look" in new fashion.

NEW DRESS LOOK is chosen by Wyatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Earp, 1124 Garland. A Pampa High School student, he wears grey pants with white leather shoes, black blazer and bright shirt, accented with a wide striped tie as party or dress attire. Very much in the swing of the style revolution, Pampa students have developed their own trend parallel to the Ivy League set. It's new and different and students insist, "It's here to stay." # Pampans Accept New 'Total Look' For Men

By ALETHA DAVIS
News Staff Writer

What to buy for that man on the list? Young or old, from kindergarten through sedate professional fields, men's clothes are becoming exciting and attractive; bold patterned and colorful enough to brighten the dreary grey days of winter. And most men are excited about the trend.

The selection now available in local haberdashers is wide, the choice is up to the girl-type shopper who wants to please her man. Shopping for the man in your life has become exciting and abundant.

...gination can be used with color and design. Anything goes! Plaids with stripes, accented with checks, bold colors, contrasting shades and shocking design. They are all "going" in Pampa.

Fashionconscious young gentlemen a decade ago always wore jeans, rolled from the bottom to show off socks that matched his shirt. This year's young man on the campus, is styleconscious and "up" on the latest. Local menswear dealers are happy with the revolution, promoted a great deal by women.

Gals seem to enjoy escorts in clothes that are something to "talk about". Pampans of the feminine gender are elated with the styles from reports of their shopping habits. Girls are buying accessories; chain metal cuff links, chain bracelets, and rings for their men. Lots of jewelry doesn't mean "gypsy" today. It's a part of the "total look."

High school students are setting their own trend, not unlike those in the fashion centers which in days gone by seemed so far away. Caught between the "in" style of the East Coast and the "way out" style of the Californian, Top O' Texas gentlemen created their own, sedate-style a grey, a blue and a black suit "for Sunday". The change has come about and in a hurry! Local clothing dealers say blues in bright bold shades, yellow through bronzed gold, and greens in shades from pale to the darkest, running the gamut of bright hues, are popular here.

High school students have created a trend that sets the image of a wellgroomed style conscious young gentleman. They have their own "image" not like "Joe College" which used to set the styles for those under 25.

Students returning to Pampa from college campuses bring ideas of their own and good ones at that but one student remarked "At school it's bright plaid flair-bottom pants, and when I come home, I go back quieter" clothes." However the high school set could ask "why?"

Who has contributed to the change? A local haberdasher says, "Women." They enter a store to select a gift and immediately love the color and patterns available. The resulting purchase is an item from the new trend to color and excitement.

Often, reports the dealer, a sheepish male comes into the store a few days later and announces that he has to have something to go with the gift; explaining loudly that the bright idea isn't really his choice, but it was a gift. A new necktie, bright colored and boldly striped, can be the motivating force in the purchase of a sherbert colored shirt and a peacock blue suit. "It works nearly every time", says the haberdasher.

Local store buyers state a profound belief that the day is gone when a man will be satisfied with just any old style or color. The revolution came about through closer communication with fashion centers and the male of the '60's is ready to step up and be noticed.

Pampans are getting "with it". High school and college students would never be "typed" as stogy, corny, square (or whatever the right term may be) on an Eastern campus.

The orientation in clothes selection would be so complete that the hometown boys would be mistaken for a seaboard Ivy league member to the onlooker. They are coming to the front in the style world.

A young Texan can walk down the street and fool any Madison Street executive, those fashion leaders of the nation. Yes... he'd do just fine until he smiled and said "Hi, ya'll!"

Strange Texas Crimes Still Mysteries Of Decade

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

A young man and a girl registered at a Pecos, Tex., motel on July 5, 1966. The girl was especially pretty — 18 to 20 years old, 5 feet, 5 inches tall, long, dark brown hair and big brown eyes.

The man registered them as "Mr. and Mrs. Russell Batout."
While he took a nap, the girl went swimming in the motel pool. But something happened. A maid, walking by saw the girl's body motionless on the bottom of the pool.

Awakened, the young man helped pull the girl out. There seemed no doubt she was drowned but an ambulance was called anyway.

As the ambulance left the motel with the body of the girl, the man dashed into the motel office. "Let me have our registration slip," he said. "We are not known around here and it will help me identify us at the hospital."

Had Belongings
The clerk behind the desk, who had just helped fish the girl's body out of the pool, handed it over. Nobody noticed at the time that the young man also had his and the girl's belongings in his car.

He gunned his automobile and left the motel only a few moments behind the ambulance. The ambulance went to the hospital, where the girl was pronounced dead.

That was almost two-and-a-half years ago and still nobody knows where the young man went. The girl's death was one of the strangest in Texas in the past decade—10 years of many bizarre killings.

Thousands of people viewed the body of the girl. Couples from all over the country with missing daughters came to Pecos, looked and sorrowfully shook their heads. Finally, the people of Pecos buried her in the local cemetery.

Picture Circulated
With the help of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Reeves County Sheriff A. B. Nail circulated pictures of the body through all 50 states, Canada and Mexico. If anybody recognized her, he has not come forward.

"I looked up the law and there is nothing to keep a man from abandoning his wife after she is dead," Nail said. "The worst he can be handled for is not paying the motel bill — a matter of $10 or $12. All we want from him is to find out who the girl was."

There is no evidence, of course, that the couple was married. The young man's flight made it look the other way.

In contrast with the macabre comedy of a young man trapped by death in a motel try and trying to escape public exposure was the murder of five Mexican migrant workers 50 miles north of Sonora, Tex., April 17, 1968.

The killer slashed, shot and beat his victims and his savagery indicated he enjoyed his work.

The victims were Eduardo Arellano, 18 months; Rosa Elia Santos Arellano, 21; her brother; Manuel Arellano Sr., about 30; Arellano's wife, Monica, about 30, and Leticia Arellano, about 2 1/2.

Manuel Arellano Jr., 5, survived, though stabbed and shot. Rosa was stripped, raped and left dead in a pasture.

What happened was that a tire blew out on the Arellanos' automobile. They were seen trying to flag down help on Highway 277.

Later, a passerby saw a sandy-haired, freckled man with a rash on his neck talking to the family. He was husky: 6 feet to 6-2, weighing about 200 pounds. The boy who survived evidently was affected by his ordeal. He has not been able to help investigators. The man with the rash on his neck has never been caught.

The death of Henry A. Marshall, 51, at his farm eight miles north of Franklin might never have become a mystery if Billie Sol Estes, the Pecos speculator, had not been big news at the time. Marshall, as a U.S. Department of Agriculture employee, was in charge of cotton allotments in Texas and a story got around that he was the first to blow the whistle on Estes.

Body Exhumed

Marshall was found dead June 3, 1961. A justice of the peace ruled suicide by gunshot and he was buried two days later. Burial failed to stop the talk that there was something fishy about the whole thing. With the Estes scandal as a catalyst, exuma-tion and an autopsy were ordered by Dist. Judge John Barton. Dr. Joseph Hackimczyk, the famous Houston pathologist, performed the autopsy. His autopsy and additional investigation by the Rangers showed:

Five bullet wounds, each requiring five movements for the rifle to fire the shot; the marks of an "incapacitating" blow on the left side of the head and a 30 per cent concentration of carbon monoxide in the blood (30 to 40 per cent is fatal).

Called It Murder

Jachimczyk said it was murder but did not completely rule out suicide. A grand jury could not decide which it was. An investigation by a congressional committee came to nothing. Ranger Capt. Clint Peoples said it was murder and it is on DPS records now as murder.

though no suspect has ever been caught.

A series of torso murders, never solved, started in Texas in 1959, touched New Mexico, Georgia and Florida, and abruptly stopped in mid 1964. Parts of a dissected body of a man were found in the Rio Grande near El Paso on June 20, 1959. They were in a green suitcase. More parts of the same body were found July 5, 1959, near Tularosa, Mexico.

The head and fingers were never found, so it was not possible to identify the body.

The torso of a man, apparently killed by a blow on the head, was found in a drainage ditch near Roswell, N. M. Dec. 6, 1960. The body was identified, because the head was not removed, as that of Charles Cox.

NEW AWARENESS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew reviewed the Nixon administration's accomplishments and said "Above all, we have restored ... a sense of real awareness in the ability of the government of the United States to govern the people of the United States."

"We have seen respect for the presidency itself increased," Agnew told about 120 Cabinet and sub-Cabinet members Friday. "This has not come about through accident but because of the high moral tone of the Nixon administration."

Then President Nixon invited the members and their families to a Christmas party in the White House.

Not Many Calls For Used Spaceships

HOUSTON (UPI)—A spaceship that carries three astronauts to the moon and back costs $100 million and you won't find any in a used car lot.

The spacecraft is good for one trip and then it gets dumped. At least that's the way it has worked up until now.

But Dr. Thomas O. Paine, the chief of the U.S. space agency, says the space budget for the next decade can be one tenth its present cost if space ships can be more like airplanes—take off, fly the mission and then soft land at some airstrip to fly again another day.

COACH LEHNICK'S TRACK SQUAD WILL BE HURT BY LACK OF EXPERIENCE.

RESLITE ALL-WEATHER TRACK HAS JUST BEEN INSTALLED AT PAMPA HIGH'S STADIUM. THE DISTRICT 4-AAAA MEET IS SCHEDULED TO BE HELD ON THE NEW TRACK THIS SPRING

Chiefs Close Out 'Broadway Joe'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Len Dawson, his wobbly left knee holding up well on a partially frozen turf, hit reserve flanker Gloster Richardson with a 19-yard scoring pass with 11:06 left to play Saturday and sparked the Kansas City Chiefs to a 13-6 victory over the New York Jets in the first game of the American Football League's playoffs.

'DAY' SET AUGUST 2

The Chiefs, who will meet the winner of Sunday's game between Oakland and Houston for the AFL championship, preserved the victory by turning back three New York drives inside the 15-yard line in the final 11 minutes of play.

Dawson, whose knee was the subject of much concern for the Chiefs during the week, could not move his team into the end zone until the final quarter when he drove them 80 yards in just two plays.

After the Jets' Jim Turner tied the score at 6-6 with a 7-yard field goal, Dawson connected with Otis Taylor on a 61-yard pass which carried to the New York 19-yard line. On the next play, Richardson outmaneuvered cornerback Cornell Gordon and took Dawson's perfect pass without breaking stride in the end zone.

It appeared for a while that Richardson's touchdown would hold up easily, but Joe Namath rallied the Jets to within touchdown-striking distance in the final six minutes of the game. Namath moved the Jets inside the 20 with 6:01 left to play but the Chiefs' defense, sparked by cornerback Emmett Thomas, broke up three successive pass plays and Kansas City took over on the 18.

Lots Of New Due In Pampa With New Track

There is going to be a lot new around when the Harvester Thrindals take to the track this Spring.

One of the new things will be a Reslite all-weather track. The new surface, as the name says, is designed to be used in every kind of weather. The inch-thick surface is made up of a patented combination of rubber and vermiculite mixed with specified sands and liquid asphalt. The result is a subtle resilience that lasts for years without maintenance.

The District 4-AAAA track meet, scheduled this year for Pampa, will be run on the new track. Coach Ed Lehnick says that the track will be the scene of other competition but no definite dates or teams are finalized at the moment.

And, there'll be many new faces on the Harvester squad. In fact, Coach Lehnick will be leaning heavily on a crop of talented but untested sophomores to carry the load. About the only veteran returning is weight man Scotty King. Last year King tossed the shot put in the neighborhood of 52 feet and the discus 128 feet.

One of the brightest prospects facing his first year of varsity competition is Tommy Montgomery. He's a hurdler and pole vaulter. But the Pampa youngsters will have plenty of opportunity for seasoning — painful though it may be. Once the season gets underway, they will find themselves involved in meets almost every weekend. Among others, the Harvesters will compete in the Bulldog Relays at Plainview, the Amarillo Relays, as well as those at Vernon, Perryton and Dumas.

Huskers Whip Georgia 45-6

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI)—Paul Rogers kicked four field goals in the first quarter and Nebraska scored two touchdowns in less than a minute in the third quarter Saturday to give the Cornhuskers a 45-6 win over Georgia in the 35th annual Sun Bowl.

Rogers, taking advantage of a favorable 12 mile per hour wind, booted field goals of 50, 32, 42 and 37 yards and Jeff Kinney scored on an 11-yard run to give Nebraska an 18-0 lead in the first quarter.

Georgia, which crossed midfield only three times, scored its lone touchdown on a six-yard run by quarterback Paul Gilbert late in the final period. After Brownson hit Green with the 11-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter, Nebraska got the ball right back when the Cornhuskers intercepted a pass and ran it back 43 yards to the two, setting up Brownson's run.

The injury-riddled Bulldog offense was completely stopped by Nebraska's "Black Shirt" defense, which came up with six pass interceptions and two fumbles.

Three of Rogers' field goals were set up by Bulldog mistakes. Rogers, who kicked three field goals of 50 yards or better during the regular season, opened the scoring with a 50-yard boot with 11:14 left in the first quarter.

On the ensuing Georgia drive, fullback Julian Smiley fumbled at his own 31 and Nebraska tackle Dave Walline fell on the loose ball on the 31. Six plays later, Rogers booted his second three-pointer.

Coyotes Edge San Antonio, 28-20

WACO, Tex. (UPI) — Quarterback Lawrence Williams raced 62 yards for a go-ahead touchdown midway in the fourth quarter Saturday to send Wichita Falls to a 28-20 victory over San Antonio Lee and hand the Coyotes the Class AAAA Texas High School Football Championship.

Williams had teamed with halfback Joe Aboussie to stake a lead in the first quarter. Nebraska, the Big Eight champions, put the game out of reach with its scoring spurt in the third quarter. Quarterback Van Brownson hit fullback Mike Green from 11 yards out for one touchdown and plunged over from the one for the second.

The Cornhuskers' other touchdowns came on a one-yard plunge by reserve quarterback Dan Schneiss and a two-yard run by Jerry Tagge in the fourth quarter.

Georgia, criticized by some Georgia sportswriters for accepting the Sun Bowl bid despite only a 5-4-1 regular season record, played without first string quarterback Mike Cavan, who was sidelined with injuries suffered late in the season.

The win was Nebraska coach Bob Devaney's second win in the Sun Bowl. His 1958 Wyoming squad whipped Hardin-Simmons 14-6. The loss evened Georgia's coach Vince Dooley's record in the bowl at 1-1. Georgia's win at El Paso was a 7-0 upset of Texas Tech in 1964.

Oakland Hosts Oilers In AFL Playoff Today

OAKLAND (UPI)—All the Oakland Raiders need to do is look back to the beginning of the American Football League season to realize they have no bargain in today's inter-divisional playoff game against Houston.

The date was Sept. 14, 1969. The place was the Oakland Coliseum. The score was Oakland 21, Houston 17, following a 64-yard scoring hookup between Daryle Lamonica and Warren Wells.

But the key play was yet to come. Oiler quarterback Pete Beathard, scrambling for an upset in the closing minutes, spotted the swift Jerry Levias slanting across the middle, ahead of two Raider defenders. Beathard unleashed the ball, an accurate spiral, and Levias took it chest-high on the run—and let it skid away.

Since that shaky season opener, the Raiders have established a 12-1-1 mark and streaked to the top of the AFL West for the third successive year. But Oakland's chief touchdown threat, the speedy Wells, will not be around Sunday after suffering a shoulder separation.

Despite a second place finish in the AFL East, this year's playoff system gives the Oilers as good a shot as New York, Kansas City and Oakland of getting into the AFL championship game.

Favorites—But So the Raiders, 13-point favorites, can't afford to take the Oakland coliseum skirmish lightly.

Oilers Hopeful The Oilers have attempted and completed more passes than any other AFL club, yet they've had trouble getting on the scoreboard. Houston has racked up 31 touchdowns, compared to 45 by Oakland.

Britain To Offer Golf's First $60,000 Winner's Prize In New 1970 Tournament

LONDON (UPI)—The richest first prize in golf—$60,000—will be offered in a bid by Great Britain to attract the top names in professional golf in 1970, it was announced Friday.

Only the $300,000 Dow Jones Classic, scheduled for next September at Montclair, N.J., can equal the Player Classic first prize.

The field will include two top amateurs from summer competition involving 1,700 British golf clubs, and of the qualifiers, 10 will come from the 140 taking part in a qualifying meet Aug. 31-Sept. 1, 20 from the British Professional Golfers' Association—rankings and 20 from the leading money winners on the American pro tour.

SPORTS

Aboussie then scored with only two minutes left in the game on a four-yard touchdown plunge.

The Lee combination of quarterback Tim Trimmier and wingback John Ziegler had kept the Vols in contention until the closing minutes of the game.

Ziegler ran 12 yards for a second period touchdown, and Trimmier rolled in for the conversion to leave Lee trailing 14-8 at intermission.

The San Antonio crew, which had 14 straight victories under its belt, then knotted the score 14-14 early in the third period as Don Ryden fumbled from the three into the end zone and guard Mike Barry recovered for the touchdown.

'SUPER' SOPH Richard Bunton lines up a free shot. Bunton, who has been playing basketball only two years, hit a season high of 19 points Friday against Amarillo and led Pampa in rebounds with 11. The Harvesters lost, 69-65. See story page 13. (Staff Photo)

Amarillo Outshoots Harvesters, 69-65

By RON CROSS
Sports Editor
AMARILLO—Pampa hit on 50 per cent of its shots from the field, had its best night from the free throw line (13-16) but got started too late to handle hot-shooting Amarillo, here Friday night in a District 4-AAAA cage tilt.

Amarillo was just as hot as Pampa, hotter in the first half when they raced to a 10 point lead and then held off the Harvesters surge for a 69-65 victory.

The loss was Pampa's third in a row. Pampa is now 5-5 for the season and 1-2 in the league play while Amarillo is 12-0 and 4-0 and is tied with Monterey and Tascosa for the district lead.

Both teams had three players each hit in double figures but 6'6 senior Jim Gallman's 23 led both clubs. It was Gallman's hot hand in the final half that almost brought Pampa from behind as the talented postman scored 19 points in the final 16 minutes.

Super sophomore Richard Buntun scored a season high 19 points and continued his outstanding rebounding with 11.

Senior Randy Marsh hit from the outside for 12 points to help keep Pampa in the game in the first half. Marsh also collected four rebounds.

Senior Kenneth Roberts led Amarillo 21 and Hershel Mitchell collected 19 while the district's leading scorer Kyle Pipkin was two points under his season average with 19.

Raiders Place Seven Players On AFL Team

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders, who finished the regular season with the best record in the American Football League, have placed seven players on the United Press International's 1967 AFL all-star team.

The Raiders, who won the Western Division with a 12-1 record, named five players to the offensive unit and two to the defensive squad. The team was selected by 26 sports writers who cover the AFL on a regular basis.

Quarterback Daryle Lamonica heads the list of Oakland players selected to the offensive team. The 27-year-old veteran received 21 votes and easily outdistanced Joe Namath of the New York Jets, who got the remaining five votes.

In addition to Lamonica the Raiders placed guard Gene Upshaw, center Jim Otto, tackle Harry Schuh and wide receiver Warren Wells on the offensive first team. Cornerback Willie Brown and safety Dave Grayson were the Raiders named to the defensive squad.

The selection of Otto marks the 10th consecutive year the Oakland veteran has been tabbed as the No. 1 center in the UPI balloting.

Cowboys' Hill Named NFL's Rookie Of Year

NEW YORK (UPI)—Calvin Hill, who made the jump from the Ivy League to pro football with ease, today was named the United Press International National Football League rookie of the year by a landslide vote.

Hill became the first member of the Dallas Cowboys ever to win the rookie award when he received 40 votes from the 48-member panel of experts around the nation—three in each league city.

"Mean Joe Greene" of the Pittsburgh Steelers, the charging defensive tackle from North Dakota State, was second with seven votes. One other player, running back Larry Brown of Washington, received one vote. Hill, the only rookie selected this year on the NFL all-star team, said he was "pleased" with the honor although he never expected to get it when the season started.

"I just wanted to make the Cowboys' 40-man roster," he said.

Hill not only made the roster, he became the top rusher in the league and also showed skill at throwing the option pass. A jammed toe slowed him down late in the season and he's now second in the league in rushing with one game left. Hill has gained 899 yards in 106 attempts for an average of 4.7 yards a carry. He has scored seven touchdowns and his longest run from scrimmage was 55 yards.

Gale Sayers of Chicago leads in rushing with 972 yards. Sayers won the rookie award in 1965.

Hill's selection broke a two-year hold on the record by the Detroit Lions. Mel Farr won in 1967 and Earl McCulloch took the award last season for the Lions.

Dallas had the 24th pick on the first round last year in the college draft and there were a few eyebrows raised when the Cowboys drafted Hill from Yale.

Hill had fine credentials in the Ivy League but only a handful of Ivy League players usually make the pros and they're not usually considered first round material. Ironically, another Ivy Leaguer—quarterback Marty Domres of Columbia—was also drafted on the first round by the San Diego Chargers.

Of course, it may have been an omen, but in last year's Super Bowl there was one player from the Ivy League in action—John Dockery of the New York Jets, who played at Harvard. Neither Notre Dame nor Grambling, two of the schools who usually lead in producing pro players, had a player in the Super Bowl.

No More Doubts
Even the Cowboys weren't sure that Hill could make it as a running back and thought of moving him to tight end. But once he started carrying the ball he was an instant success and he easily beat out Craig Baynam and Dan Reeves for the starting spot and he added new spark to the Dallas offense.

The toe injury slowed him down at the end of the season and may hamper him in the playoffs but Hill should have a bright future in the league.

Greene was expected to be a star the minute he stepped into a uniform even though he wasn't from a big name school and he's lived up to his reputation.

One scout called him "the best defensive tackle I've seen in the last 10 years."

Although it's tough to become an all-pro at the defensive tackle position with players like Merlin Olsen, Alan Page and Bob Lilly around, Greene should be challenging them in a year or two.

Vikings Mirror Grant On, Off Field 100%

By IRA BERKOW
BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (NEA)—What marks the Minnesota Vikings, now the most awesome team in professional football—after having beaten Baltimore 51-14 and Cleveland 51-3 and having a relatively easy time defeating Los Angeles (the 20-13 score is misleading), what marks this team is a relentless coolness, as devastating as the 85 straight hours of snow that fell on the Twin Cities recently.

This steady, effective devotion to purpose mirrors the coach, Harry Peter (Bud) Grant.

"A championship team must have one personality, one common character, and we have it—Bud's," said Gene Washington, Minnesota Viking wide receiver, about his head coach.

"We mirror Grant 100 per cent," said Grady Alderman, offensive tackle.

Jim Finks, the general manager, hired Grant in 1967, when Norm Van Brocklin quit. A dearth of spirit enveloped the team, as well as a dearth of victories, only four in 14 games. "I want Bud," said Finks, "because I watched him coach for seven years when we both were in Canada. His teams win or lose, always were poised and disciplined. He never panicked."

BUD GRANT
... top receiver

to follow the act of Van Brocklin as flamboyant, mercurial, charming, peevish and legendary as a Greek god, was difficult.

Some big-name men sought the job, Bob Waterfield, Bill McPeak, Nick Skoric, among others. Finks sought only Grant. In his first season, the Vikings won one less game than the previous year. Last season they won the Central Division title, then lost to Baltimore in the play-offs. This season, they won

Donna Kay Haynes, James M. Brown Exchange Rings In Marriage Service

MRS. JAMES MORRIS BROWN
... nee Donna Kay Haynes

Donna Kay Haynes and James Morris Brown pledged evening wedding vows in an eight o'clock ceremony Saturday in First Christian Church. The Rev. Carlton S. Downing, pastor, officiated for the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danford D. Robbins, 1925 N. Sumner. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Brown, 1800 Williston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length white velvet dress with empire waist, high boat collar, and long finger-tip length sleeves. Her dress was accented with pearls around the neckline and sleeves.

She carried a white satin covered Bible borrowed from a cousin for her something borrowed. ### Removal by Wax Is Best Face hair is best removed by waxing. Bleaching only makes it more noticeable and doesn't last as long. Waxing seals off hair growth at the roots.

Iona Eason, Billy Rhodes Pledge Vows In Skellytown

SKELLYTOWN (Sp) — Iona Eason, daughter of Mrs. Bob Eason, 1205 Hemlock, and of the late Mr. Eason, became the bride of Billy Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Rhodes, Skellytown, in a double-ring afternoon ceremony recently in the First Baptist Church of Skellytown.

The Rev. Murie Rogers read the nuptial service in the church decorated with baskets of white gladioli and pink carnations. Mrs. Curtis Prescott played traditional wedding selections on the organ and accompanied Ruth Giesler, who sang, "Because," and "I love You Truly."

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Ronald Eason. She wore a gown of white lace and satin styled with a high neckline, fitted bodice, long sleeves marked with rainbow pearls, and floor-length controlled skirt. Her tiered veil of bridal illusion, applied with lace motifs, was attached to a floral coil and self bow and swept into a long flowing train.

Denise Dickson, Denver City, was maid of honor with Lisa Dickson, Denver City, as bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of hot pink satin trimmed with lace. Each carried a nosegay of white carnations.

Tom Henson, Skellytown, was best man, and Roger Simons, groomsmen.

Ushers were Steve Heare, Pampa; Jim Maule, Amarillo and Tommy Knutson, Skellytown.

Terry Selvidge, Skellytown, was candlelighter. Bobby and Tracey Eason, Borger, were ring bearers.

Larinda Wheeler, Pampa, flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of hot pink satin trimmed in lace.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Eason wore a green double knit suit. Mrs. Rhodes, mother of the bridegroom, wore a purple knit suit. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

At the reception in the social room, the bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over pink satin and centered with an arrangement of pink carnations and white gladioli. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bridal pair, was decorated with pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Robert Rhodes registered guests. Other assistants were Mrs. J.P. Wheeler, Pampa; Mrs. Jim Hicks and Mrs. Robbie Selvidge.

The bride wore a multi-colored double double knit, one-piece dress for traveling and wore a white carnation corsage. The couple is at home at 1205 Hemlock.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Von Dickson, Denver City; Maxine Dalton, and Mrs. L. Pelham and daughters, all of Amarillo.

Lota Pounds Off Awards Basket To Mrs. Hassler

Lota Pounds Off TOPS Club met recently with 20 members attending the weigh-in at Central Baptist Church and Christmas party and salad supper at Mrs. Donna Rodgers' home.

Members drew numbers for a Christmas gift, and played the white elephant game. Mrs. Alice Hassler received the fruit basket for the week.

Blond Boys Unpopular? A recent quickie radio-telephone survey showed that few women and girls preferred blond men. Thought them "pretty boys" or too self-absorbed. Most like brown hair and darker shades. All admitted it didn't really matter much; it was the guy under the hair that counted.

All girls in the troop received the ToyMaker Badge for their doll house work. Susanne Walsh earned the Needlecraft Badge and Kim Hagerman the Sewing Badge for extra work on the house. Troop members are fourth, fifth and sixth graders of St. Vincent's Catholic School.

Hostesses Fete Cynthia Hogsett

Miss Cynthia LaJean Hogsett bride-elect of Steven R. Price, was honored with a bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. Archie Maness, 431 N. Sumner.

Other hostesses were Mmes. Cliff Searl, Eugene Turner, Billy C. Cox, George Collingsworth, Kermit Rasco, Jim Hughes, and James Dougless and Misses: Shari Lawley, Lyla Gage and Becky Douthit.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth with sequined snow figures on the front. The centerpiece was a snow covered branch hung with purple and orchid Christmas ornaments.

Beside the silver holders with purple candles was a "Letter to Santa" written in purple glitter that read: "Dear Santa, One husband-to-be, trimmings for a wedding, household accessories. Signed, Cynthia."

White napkins were printed in silver: Steven and Cynthia, 1-1-1970. Becky Douthit served coffee and spiced tea from the silver service with Lyla Gage serving pastries.

Corsages of white carnations tied with purple ribbon were presented to Miss Hogsett and her mother Mrs. Derrel B. Hogsett. Janet Blair, Borger, assisted the honoree to open her gifts. About 95 people attended or sent gifts.

The wedding will be performed at 2 p.m. Jan. 1 in the Church of Christ at Mary Ellen and Harvester Streets.

Imaginative Tree

If you fancy tradition, but are tired of a usual blinking lights, tinsel and ornaments you may want to make your own Christmas tree.

An unusual tree can be made with paper doilies, and other materials purchased from a variety store at relatively small cost. The framework for the tree is chicken wire and a broom handle anchored in a porcelain container filled with polished stones.

The paper doilies are easily inserted in the chicken wire openings, and can be highlighted dramatically by bunches of blue bachelor buttons tied with red and white ribbons or by other types of bouquets or ornaments. Use your imagination!

A Chicago wallcovering manufacturer, suggests that the doily tree makes an excellent accent for traditional furnishings. Also, it will provide a pleasant contrast from brightly lighted outside decorations, or as a second tree in the library or recreation room.

DOLL HOUSE DECORATORS Susanne Walsh, 10, and Teresa Martinez, 11, arrange doll house furniture and family members before delivering the two-story house to the Panhandle Children's Home. Susanne and Teresa are members of Girl Scout Troop 75 who made furniture and dressed a doll family to live in the house. The 22 Troop members and their leader, Mrs. Charles Walsh, visited the children's home Thursday afternoon to deliver the house and organize a Christmas party. (Staff Photo)

Santa's Aides Wear Girl Scout Badges

Quivira Girl Scout Council's Junior Troop 75 started celebrating Christmas in October when they began making furnishings for a doll house for the Panhandle Children's Home.

The 22 scouts and their leader, Mrs. Charles Walsh, with assistant leader, Mrs. Jules Fontenot, presented the house Thursday during a party they organized at the children's home. Each Girl Scout took a dozen cookies for the children as party refreshments.

Charles Walsh, husband of the troop leader, built the two-story white wooden house which is roofed and trimmed in blue with a red and white chimney. The miniature doll family which lives in the four-room house includes a father, mother, boy, girl and baby.

Patrols were assigned a specific room to furnish in the four-room house, a kitchen, living room and two bedrooms. It's completely furnished, with pictures, a painted stove and refrigerator, rugs on the floor, and kitchen utensils on the table.

"The girls adapted household items into doll furniture by making a round table from the top of a spray net can covered with a round tablecloth, and an embroidery picture framed with a curtain ring," Mrs. Walsh said.

"The girls have gotten quite attached to the doll house after their two and a half months work and hope the girls at the home will use and enjoy it for

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband died nine years ago leaving me with two small children. Friends rushed in, offered their sympathy and we were promptly forgotten. Months, even years go by without an invitation to have dinner with a "complete" family.

I have often invited married couples and their families to my home for dinner, but they politely decline for they are not interested in coming to a lady's home where there are only the lady and her children. I have my women friends, and the children have their school friends, but aside from this, we don't even exist.

I once considered joining an organization for parents alone, but when the first invitation closed with, "bring your own bottle," I decided it wasn't for me.

A well-known young men's service organization announced a Sunday father-son swim hour. When I called and explained that my son's father was dead and asked if my son could attend anyway, I was told that the boy would feel "uncomfortable" with boys and their fathers, and he was refused permission to attend.

Please, Abby, appeal to your readers who are fortunate enough to still have their "complete families" to remember those who do not. My story is not unique. Ask anyone in these circumstances.

PARENT ALONE

DEAR PARENT: I cannot imagine a "service organization" rebuffing your son in the manner (and for the reason) you describe. (In which city was this? I'd like to know more about it.) And as for having your dinner invitations "politely" declined, because "no one is interested in coming to a lady's house where there is just the lady and her children": If that is indeed the reason, I'm surprised that you haven't thought of inviting a gentleman to be your "host" and escort. Surely in the past nine years you must have met one such gentleman who could fill that role.

DEAR ABBY: Talk about weird problems, check out mine! I am a college student and have recently been fitted for contact lenses. I love them because I've worn glasses since the fifth grade. My problem is my boyfriend. Believe it or not, he likes me better in glasses! He wants me to throw away my contacts, but I am not about to, after having invested $200 in them. I much prefer contacts over glasses and I think I should be the one to decide, don't you?

My boyfriend says he has to look at me. He's even offered to reimburse me the $200 if I get rid of the contacts.

So far we've compromised. I wear my glasses when I'm with him, and my contacts when I'm not with him, but this is a stupid arrangement and can't last very long. Can you help me?

GLASSY-EYED

DEAR GLASSY: You're right. You are the one who should decide. If whether you wear glasses or contacts is going to make a difference in your relationship, it's best to find out now and act accordingly.

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNCLE MILTON: If you lend a friend $10 and never see him again, it's a good investment.

Martha Snodgrass Repeats Vows With Parker Stewart In Bovina

Martha Alice Snodgrass became the bride of Parker Newton Stewart in a double-ring ceremony recently in Oklahoma Lane Methodist Church in Bovina. The Rev. Vernon Willard officiated for the candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.G. Snodgrass, Bovina. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Boyd Stewart, 505 Powell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a gown of lace over peau de soie, which was designed with short, scalloped lace sleeves, rounded neckline and empire waistline. An overskirt of matching lace nearly encircled the waistline and flowed into a full chapel train.

She wore a headpiece of a satin pillbox, with a shoulder-length veil of illusion. Her something old was her mother's first wedding ring; something new, her wedding dress; something borrowed, a penny and something blue, a garter. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white roses atop a white Bible.

Wedding attendants were Mrs. Tally Kelson, Amarillo, as matron of honor and Nelda Stepp, Canyon, bridesmaid. Both attendants were dressed in floor-length pastel blue embroidered taffeta with rounded necklines, short sleeves, and empire waistlines. Bows in front and floor-length streamers in back accented their dresses. They wore pillbox coifs, with short blue veils and carried long stemmed white roses.

Best man was Phillip Savag Pampa, with J.T. Roger Pampa, as groomsman. Tom Snodgrass, Tulsa, Okla., as Bill Scrivner, Pampa, seated wedding guests and candlelighters. Lisa Phill Amarillo, was flowergirl, with Randy Jones, Amarillo, as ring bearer.

Mrs. Donald Christie, organist, accompanied Mr. Roger Ezell, soloist, for wedding music.

The church was decorated with candelabra, flanked by baskets of white gladioli and greenery and two candelabra trees with greenery.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue coat dress with matching accessories and corsage of white roses.

For the reception in the church Fellowship Hall, the serving table was decorated with white net over a satin tablecloth. Blue tapers and the bride's bouquet centered the table which was appointed with milk glass and accented with a three-tiered cake.

Houseparty hostesses were Mrs. Eddie Corn and Mrs. E. Gene Snodgrass.

The bride's traveling costume was a three-piece orange suit with navy trim and navy accessories.

She is a graduate of Bovina High School, attended East Texas State University, and has been employed at Bovina Medical Center. The bridegroom, a Pampa High School graduate, attended Panhandle State College, Goodwell, Okla. Both plan to return to school at Panhandle State in January and are living in Farwell until then.

Separate Apartments

New housing concept for the whole family. Living quarters are separate, pavilion-like buildings with parents in one, children in another, dining and kitchen in another, recreation in another. Parents' master suite is plenty close for visibility, supervision and help but far enough away for both to have quiet and privacy and own important activities.

SUNDAY, DEC. 21
Your birthday today: The Sun goes from Sagittarius into Capricorn today at 7:44 p.m. EST. In most years this change occurs on the 22nd. Babies born before this hour and minute this year are Sagittarians. Those born afterward are Capricornians. Both Sagittarians and Capricornians with birthdays today face a year of consolidation of interests, more concentrating on making the home significant.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): This interesting and busy Sunday is full of fleeting new contacts which deserve, in many cases, a more thorough follow-up later on.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Do what your community expects of you today. Spend any idle time in checking out your budget—you need to know very soon just where you stand. The evening hours may hold a surprise.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Sunday routines are about as usual. Time devoted to hobbies is pleasant and rewarding. Encourage others to ask questions. Unusual tactics advance romantic interests quite well.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Rest and relaxation is much needed this Sunday, so make full use of the chance while it lasts. Divert yourself with sedentary pastimes, light reading.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Satisfy your need for a fuller social life. Set up appointments with people you find difficult to reach during the week.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): No great issue can be resolved this Sunday. Do the expected routines, find time for your hobbies, personal experiments. Meditate in the later hours.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): New people meet today are of passing interest. Use the slow pace now to set your own patterns. Get in some serious study of unfamiliar materials. Self-improvement is an excellent investment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Volunteer your time and efforts for the good of institutions nearby. While doing so, it is likely that new ideas for later application will occur to you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Friendly social relations are strongly favored. Unaccustomed activity, however, finds you low in energy. Take it easy rather than forcing strenuous exercise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Intellectual or theoretical considerations attract your interest. Think about the events and phenomena which meshed to produce your current situation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): This normal Sunday offers an opportunity to do all the pleasant little amenities expected of you and enjoy the company of friends and loved ones.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Home life now is ever so much more rewarding than public or commercial entertainment.

MONDAY, DEC. 22

Your birthday Monday: In most years some of the people born today are Sagittarians, and some are Capricornians. Both groups face a year of larger responsibility and greater recognition in the affairs of their community. The very late Sagittarians succeed a bit easier in commercial efforts, while the very early Capricornians prefer public service. Both types are ambitious, no matter what the patterns in their individual character may be.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): The work week starts with neither great ease nor special problems. Pitch in early and keep at it for a full day of intelligent application.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Emotional pressures are involved in purchases Monday expressed as haste and lack of attention to quality. Save your money.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Various schedules run into conflict in the evening. Comparing of notes in the morning helps ease the situation. Give other people a chance to work at their convenience. It will be appreciated.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Delays increase as the day progresses. Older people pose unanswerable questions. With no particular invitation, think about a program to take care of your health.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Social activity becomes expensive Monday, with decreasing probability of results. Hurt feelings are not to be taken as a reason for going out of your way to offer financial assistance or protection.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Make sure that your loved ones know how you feel about them and your home Monday.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Preoccupation on your part is apt to be misinterpreted. Project your feelings so there is no confusion among those you care about.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Be alert with both people and mechanical things Monday. Steady persistence is beyond price. The main difficulty is that nobody really has a clear image of what he wants.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Pending matters can be settled more effectively on a lump-sum quit-claim basis now. Negotiations on other terms are tedious.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): It is your turn to be sensitive, but go ahead despite unsolicited criticism.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Moderation in all things is a good motto Monday. Some people squabble for lack of any better way of expressing themselves or due to an absence of definite goals.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Your work hours run longer than your personal affairs will tolerate without great inconvenience and perhaps complaints. Promise nothing that you aren't sure you can do.

Lamb Chop Broil
Orange and lemon slices add tang to broiled shoulder lamb chops. Salt and pepper 4 chops, about 3/4-inch thick. Broil 3 to 4 inches from heat source about 10 minutes. Peel and slice 2 medium oranges and 2 medium lemons. Turn chops, top each with fruit slices and sprinkle lightly with brown sugar. Continue broiling 5 to 6 minutes, or until chops are done as desired. Makes 4 servings.

Make Sense of Scents
In this age of scented everything, make sure that the numerous fragrances you are wearing — scented deodorant, hand cream, skin lotion, makeup, hair spray and perfume — don't clash. Musks and floral scents do not go together.

By JOANNE SCHREIBER
'Tis the season to go all out with sparkle and glitter, to make the most of a high voltage fashion mood, to be the star that twinkles brightest at the winter parties. Fashionably speaking, it's a vintage year for you ladies who sew. The stores are jammed with opulent fabrics, glorious glitter trims, sparkling buckles and buttons and all the ingredients to turn that pattern into a Wow power outfit.

Today's fashion suggestion is the perfect example of a sewing pattern with important fabric-and-trim impact. Only three basic pieces of black velvet make the little vest to be worn over a classically tailored white silk shirt, plus matching velvet pants, maxiskirt or miniskirt. The trim is made of inch-wide satin ribbon, given a liberal dose of decorative stitching, concocted by the sewing experts.

To make this sort of ribbon trim, be sure to practice your stitching on a test-strip first.

Some zigzag machines will repeat a selected pattern so the spacing is uniform; with simpler machines, it is better to choose a stitch design which is stitched continuously down the length of the ribbon in parallel rows. If the ribbon seems to slip, try backing it with a strip of lawn or organdy and sew through a strip of tissue paper on the right side.

When ribbon is completed, baste it in place on the vest, pleating the ribbon so it rounds the curve smoothly. Sew a medium satin stitch, using the ribbon into position on the vest. Accent with glittery buttons or sequins, if desired.

Make the Indian headband the same way, backing the ribbon with felt to keep it from slipping, and add a short strip of elastic at the back.

The colors used with the black velvet are orange and gold, with black stitching for accent.

This vest was made from a mix-and-match pattern grouping available exclusively to readers of this newspaper. To order your vest pattern, plus two blouse patterns, send 50 cents with your name, address and zip code to Sitchin' Time, in care of Pampa Daily News, Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. Ask for Pattern No. 8285, sizes 8 to 18. Another 50 cents will bring you Pattern No. 8387 for lightly belled slacks in sizes 7 to 15; or you can order Pattern No. 8138 for a mini-or maxiskirt, plus ruffled blouse, also in sizes 7 to 15.

MRS. GLENN LEE JUSTICE nee Reba Faye Ray

Reba Faye Ray Weds Glenn Lee Justice

The First Christian Church altar was decorated with tall white wicker baskets of peach colored gladiolas for the wedding service of Reba Faye Ray and Glenn Lee Justice. The Rev. Carlton S. Downing, pastor, performed the doubling ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth A. Ray, 833 Deane Drive. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Justice, 1321 Charles.

Stores Register Bride's Choices For Nuptial Gifts

SOUTH BEND, IND. (UPI) — Make use of stores' bridal gift registries. It saves a lot of problems like the newly weds receiving four salad bowls, five irons, three coffee pots.

"Gone is the day when the hapless bride had to be braced for the possibility of opening four toasters in succession at a prenuptial shower," says Mrs. Mary Gaffney, director of a home care institute here.

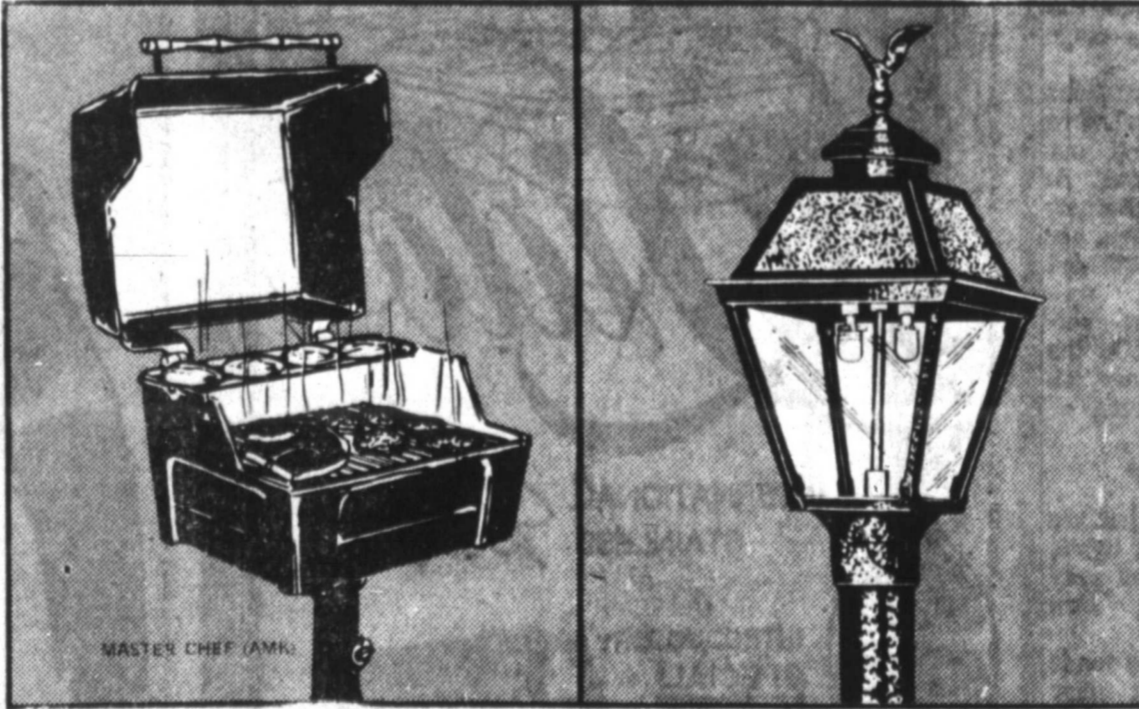

"Today, when a bride registers her choices with a competent store, she not only winds up with coordinated gifts of her own selections, but the store provides a carte blanche for exchanges if duplication is made."

"Such an arrangement eliminates the gift 'gaffe' and is a blessing to both giver and receiver."

Even if the bride you have in mind is not registered in a store, a few judicious questions put to her family or close friends can give a sound clue to personal choice. This, plus some facts on buying patterns from the records of major stores can guide to a successful choice.

Mrs. Gaffney says that sales records show that most of today's brides are interested in sterling flatware, good china, crystal, silver holloware serving pieces, colorful table linens and small kitchen appliances.

Christmas Holiday Preparations Catch Queen Searching For Tree

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II is keeping her eyes open literally for a Christmas tree.

During her horseback rides on weekends at her estate surrounding Windsor Castle, she is looking for a tall fir which can be cut just before the long Christmas weekend. The family will spend the holidays at Windsor.

The tree, part of the Christmas tradition which the queen loves, will be gaily decorated and set up in a corner of the castle ballroom to be illuminated at dusk on Christmas Day.

Holly and mistletoe will be brought in to decorate the rooms, along with masses of white chrysanthemums from the hothouses. The kitchens will be busy cooking roast turkey, Christmas pudding and mince pies for the traditional dinner.

Before leaving Buckingham Palace for the castle, about 25 miles up the Thames River from London, the queen will be the chief guest at what must rank as the world's most exclusive Christmas staff party.

The Buckingham Palace Social Club gives the annual buffet dance for the staff of the royal household. The queen dons a ballgown, lends one of her white and gold state rooms for the evening, and goes along to dance with her chauffeur or telephone operator or perhaps the chef. Prince Philip, her husband, partners with a household or sewing maid.

Princess Margaret, the queen's sister, once danced with a junior footman who long had cherished a secret admiration of her and enlivened the moment by reciting a long romantic poem he had composed in her honor.

Once Queen Elizabeth, the queen mother, faced with a blushing gardener who had never been round a dance floor before, said, "Well, just hold my hand and walk round but please don't tread on my toes." He didn't.

While in London, the queen also will slip out one day for her only shopping expedition of the year to choose personal Christmas presents.

All her clothes and wares of the year are brought to her at the palace or purchased by a lady-in-waiting in accordance with court etiquette. But she can shop in public if she is buying gifts for somebody else, so she makes the most of the opportunity at one of the big department stores.

She drives up to a side door and is escorted around by the manager as she goes through the long list — four children and 21 god children for a start, not to mention friends and relatives.

The queen does not pay cash. The checks go later in triplicate to the treasurer at Buckingham Palace.

For the Christmas weekend, Elizabeth invites the queen mother, Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon with their children, the Duke and Duchess of Kent with their Princess Alexandra and her businessman husband, Angus Ogilvy, with theirs, and the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester with their younger son, Prince Richard.

The elder, Prince Michael, is abroad in the diplomatic service.

On Christmas Eve, the adult members of the party attend a carol service in the local church and exchange their gifts on returning home. These are generally modest because expensive presents are reserved by custom for birthdays.

The children find their gifts in their stockings when they wake up on Christmas morning. They also get to see Prince Philip the way the public never does — dressed up as Santa Claus.

Christmas Jobs

Now is by no means too late to find your Christmas vacation job. Likely lucrative spots — local post offices, large department stores which always take on extra wrappers, cashiers and salesgirls, large gift shops that specialize in fancy gift wraps.

In job hunting, remember the law of averages. If you make enough applications, one of them is bound to result in a job. Also, never regard lightly the experience your first job or two affords — the more you can look back on, the more you will have to look forward to.

Here's a holiday baking tip from home economists: A layer of buttered chopped nuts on top of your favorite fruit pies will provide a delightful crunchy topping.

For Healthy Skin

There's no substitute for healthy, shining skin. One of the things that keeps skin healthy is a minimum of make-up. Most make-ups can clog pores — hiding dirt rather than getting rid of it. A light liquid foundation, applied with a dampened sponge, is best.

Austrians Really Live It Up During Yule

VIENNA (UPI)—In the land where "Silent Night" was written, Christmas now means jelled carp, three varieties of Santa Claus and a five-day weekend.

This Christmas, Austrians will have a chance to wine and dine for five consecutive days. Children will have more time to wonder who actually brought their gifts, Christking (Christ Child), or the Christmas Man, or St. Nicholas—the three Austrian versions of Santa Claus.

Dec. 24, "Holy Evening," is a semi-holiday here, one of the two nights (Ash Wednesday is the other) when all businesses close down at sunset by law, from the tiniest store to the state opera.

The Christmas season starts on Dec. 5, "Krampus Day," when St. Nicholas comes in person to give candy to good children. But with him comes the evil Krampus, the Devil, who spans naughty boys.

Psychiatrists Complain

In recent years, psychiatrists complained that Krampus caused too much trauma for the little good done by St. Nicholas. So the coalition of the saint and the Devil has lost popularity among parents. But teen-agers still enjoy their Krampus parties, their version of Halloween (which does not exist in Austria).

After St. Nicholas leaves, "Christmas Men" start walking the streets for the rest of December. They are men hired by department stores and children clearly understand that these "Christmas Men," dressed like Santa Claus, are helping hands, at best, for the Christking.

Actual Christmas also comes earlier to Austria than to most other countries, on the early evening of Dec. 24, a bit unusual for a predominantly Catholic country—elsewhere Catholics are supposed to observe fasting till noon, Dec. 25.

Right after sunset Christking sneaks in, as invisible as the Easter Bunny. The eternal child, Godlike and with angelic wings, deposits all the presents under the Christmas tree, and flies off again.

Use Real Candles

The Christmas tree is lit by real candles, causing an average of four fires each year. Immediately after Christking leaves, the big Christmas Eve dinner starts. In former times, the main course usually was a fried carp.

With rising living standards, this fat fish, raised in hundreds of small artificial lakes surrounding Vienna, advanced to a fancy hors-d'oeuvres—the spicy jelled carp.

Vienna's Cardinal Franz Koenig keeps urging his countrymen to remember Christmas was primarily a religious affair, but with little success. Austrians are proud of the song they gave the world 201 years ago, "Silent Night," and are convinced they have done their duty.

TIRES OF NICKNAME

King's LYNN, England (UPI)—The Royal Antediluvian Order of Buffaloes got tired of its nickname, so it raised $600 to buy an oxygen tent for the children's ward at King's Lynn Hospital.

"We were known as the Boozy Buffs," a spokesman for the order said. "We thought it was time we did something to dispel the image."

TIT FOR TAT — CRAWTHORNE, England (UPI) — For Mrs. Aileen Holmes, it was an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth—a splash for a splash.

Motorist Francis McKee splashed her when he drove through a puddle. Later, Mrs. Holmes confronted him with a bucket of water and demanded "Apologize, or you get this." McKee refused and got the water in his face.

Police refused to get into the act. "It's a domestic matter," a spokesman said.

Agnew Might Change Image

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has suggested he might be persuaded to help reduce public hostility generated by his criticism of television news if the media presents what he considers more balanced coverage.

That appeared to be the only significant outcome of an hour-long private meeting Thursday between 18 radio and television news directors and Agnew in the Executive Office Building adjacent to the White House.

"He's holding out a carrot, saying 'if the networks go along—I could do something to reduce the pressure,'" said J. W. Roberts of Time-Life Broadcast Inc., president of the Radio and Television News Directors Association.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss concern of the news broadcasters that Agnew's criticism in a Nov. 14 speech represented a threat of government control over news media inhibiting coverage of controversial news.

Among those attending the meeting was James A. McCulla of ABC News. Roberts said the National Broadcasting Company and Columbia Broadcasting Company had decided not to attend.

Harrison, Wife Separated

LONDON (UPI)—Rex Harrison, 61, is living apart from his wife, actress Rachel Roberts, 41, his lawyer announced Saturday.

The attorney, Eryan Eagles said Harrison had instructed him to make the announcement.

"In view of certain rumors that have begun to circulate about his marriage to Miss Roberts, he has authorized me to announce that he and his wife are living separate and apart," Eagles said.

Harrison married Miss

Roberts, his fourth wife, in 1962. She had been married once previously.

Officially There's No Christmas In Russia

There is no Chirst in Christmas. But this officially atheist nation has all the trimmings, from trees to Santa Claus, and Christmas is as collectivized as the farms.

The Soviets have chosen New Year's Day for their traditional midwinter holiday and they transferred to it all the secular trappings of the old orthodox Christmas, which falls on Jan. 13 instead of Dec. 25.

The central figure of the day is Grandfather Frost, a jovial figure with red cap and red nose who goes through the land distributing toys and gifts to children who have been good. His assistant is Snegurochka, or Snow Maiden, the good fairy of the good season.

Add Peculiar Twist
The Soviets have added a peculiar twist, however.

Organizations have sprung up which, in the interests of efficiency, have collectivized Grandfather Frost's annual rounds of gift giving. Parents may pay a small fee in return for which a costumed Grandfather Frost, sometimes accompanied by a blond Snegurochka, will make a nocturnal visit with his bag of toys.

In a variation of the same system, large factories and offices set up a new year fund to which parents make contributions. Then, on Dec. 31, a factory volunteer equipped with a load of toys and a list of addresses makes the rounds of gift-giving.

In many homes it will be the babysitter, not mom and dad, who greet Grandfather Frost on New Year's Eve, since the night is also the big adult celebration of the year.

Dance In The New Year
Most of the country's gymnasiums, theaters, and trade union halls fill to capacity with Soviet merry-makers who eat, drink and dance in the New

PROBABLY WORTH IT
CLACTON, England (UPI)—The more than 40 children in his schoolbus were giving him enough troubles but when the pellet hit him on the back of the neck Driver Robert Lancaster figured he had had enough.

With the help of other boys, Lancaster took the 11-year-old offender to the rear of the bus and stuck him in the trunk for the rest of the mile-long bouncing trip home.

Monday, Lancaster was fined $12 when he pleaded guilty to assaulting the youth.

celebrants traditionally go into the woods, decorate a birch tree, and bring in the New Year by eating hot shashlik and drinking cold champagne. Later they stroll through icy roads until the first gray light of dawn.

When Christmas actually arrives 13 days later it is largely ignored by most Soviets. But in the few churches that still function, a dwindling number of the faithful gather to mark the birth of Christ with austere religious ceremony.

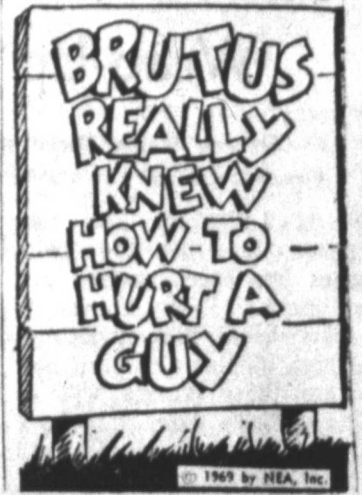

Year. The younger and harder

Respond!

Whether you're a prize-winning cook or a beginner still having trouble with fundamental sauces, your cooking will respond to a gas range. And, your family will love you for it.

The real secret of better cooking is fast, accurate heat control. And nine out of 10 professional chefs agree that only a gas range gives you the control needed for gourmet meals... that's why so many of them use gas.

A gas range gives you an infinite number of temperature settings, not just a few pre-set push buttons. You can see the blue flame, adjust it, always know how much heat you're getting. And, when you turn on a gas range the flame is there... no waiting for warm-up. Turn it off and the flame and the heat disappear immediately — precision control for every phase of top-of-range cooking.

There are lots of extras you can get with a gas range, too. Like high-speed infrared broilers, the Burner-with-a-Brain that makes every pot and pan an automatic appliance, automatic controls that start and stop ovens at preselected times and hold food at serving temperature without over cooking, and ovens that clean themselves. All these things to give you greater kitchen freedom.

The fact is that a gas flame cooks better than an electric coil, and costs less too. So, whether you're a prize-winning cook or a beginner, respond to a gas range and your family will respond to you. See your gas appliance dealer.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Michael Douglas is a handsome young actor who, inspired by the instant success of many newcomers to films, wore the look of a man who has had a bomb explode in his hip pocket.

Loosely speaking, that is precisely what happened to Douglas. His first movie, "Hail, Hero!", was acclaimed unambiguously by critics as a bomb of hydrogen proportions. Public indifference at the boxoffice substantiated the critics' reactions.

Still in Shock
Douglas is only 25 years old and still in shock.

He spoke: "After Ali MacGraw, John Voight, Liza Minnelli and Dustin Hoffman made big hits in their debut pictures, you get a fantasy that you're going to be a great smash, too."

"You know, you get all pumped up. If it could happen to them, it could happen to you."

Instead of laurels, however, Douglas went down with a turkey.

He won some individual praise for his work, but it was insufficient to overcome a bad picture.

"When the picture bombed I was depressed for a while," Douglas said. "Now I'm happy and relieved. I can buckle down and work again."

"Who knows, if the movie had been a hit I might have gone bananas. I'm only 25, and maybe I wouldn't have known how to handle myself with all that success."

Famous Dad
"Sudden success can cause you to lose all sense of proportion even though you're raised around a great success in show business."

Michael was making reference to his father who is Kirk Douglas, an actor of considerable note who has encouraged his son to carry on.

Since his first failure, young Douglas has completed a second picture for Cinema Center Films, "Adam at 6 A.M." Once more the aspiring actor will be in almost every scene and much of its success or failure rests on Michael's broad young shoulders.

"It's gotta be an improvement over my last one," Douglas said, his voice filled with hope.

FLEE WITH CASH

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Robbers were waiting for Alex Bartkiw, 47, when he opened his West Side Tavern Thursday.

They took $3700 in cash from the tavern owner and fled.

The tavern is across from the Second District Police Station and Bartkiw had intended to use the money for cashing police pay checks.

Red Cross News

Our chapter has had a special Hurricane Camille Certificate of Appreciation for Gray County's making its goal for the victims of Camille. The Pampa United Fund gave us $1500 and our friends in the community gave us $879.00 which makes our goal of $2379.00. We are grateful to our friends of Red Cross and to the Pampa United Fund. Latest reports indicate that $20 million will be spent in assisting the victims of this hurricane, the greatest to hit the shores of the United States in recorded history. Mass care was given to 659,665 people and to date rehabilitation assistance has been extended to more than 27,000 families. How grateful we should all be for the work of the American Red Cross in disaster.

Linda Poorman, teacher sponsor for Lamar Elementary School brought into our office lovely tray mats and nut cups to which we added Christmas candy and napkins. The tray favors were to go to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Amarillo for Christmas. Horace Prince who works at the VA is kind enough to take our supplies to the VA Hospital. Thanks again, Mr. Prince.

Thanks to all of the friends of Red Cross for coordinating your Christmas baskets through the Welfare Index. The Red Cross works with the Index and what a joy it is to see those who have less than many, be helped by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Cub Scouts and organization in our town. Our Pampa Firemen do a wonderful job in this work and my thanks to Vernon Pirkle for his help in delivering baskets & toys.

A committee from Robert E. Lee bought, packed and shipped gifts for the children at the State Home in Waco. The following helped with this project: Donna Adkins, Darlene King, Dana Rogers, Judy Crossman, and Dana Chisum. Thanks to the High School Red Cross in Lee Jr. High for their help this year.

High School boys and girls placed a Christmas tree in the foyer of the Highland General Hospital Wednesday afternoon. They were glad to give of their time to make others happy.

Starting Jan. 1970, water safety instructors whose authorization expire on Dec. 31, (and who have not been retrained) can requalify if they enroll and take the regular Part Hospital Volunteers attended the Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Luther Pierson with Mrs. Frank Yealy co-hostess. Mrs. Yealy greeted the guests and then poured at beautifully decorated Christmas table. Coffee and cakes were served to the guests. Miss Inez Club was introduced and brought the Christmas story of "Mr. Jones Meets the Master." Mrs. Ivo Denson volunteered to work on Christmas Eve day & Mrs. Hupp Clark will work Christmas Day so that the Hospital work may continue uninterrupted.

Merry Christmas to each and everyone who reads the column, and may 1970 be a happy year for you and our Red Cross organization. Again your secretary will be going to Fort Worth to spend Christmas, with her family, and Mrs. R.D. Wilson, 669-7387 will take care of the emergencies for Red Cross.

Hanoi Radio Allegedly Beams Holiday Messages

SAIGON (UPI)—Hanoi Radio, in programs beamed to the Far East, has begun broadcasting Christmas messages from American war prisoners to their families in the United States.

Mayhew, a pilot, was captured Aug. 17, 1968 after his plane was shot down over North Vietnam, according to the U.S. Military Command.

The command said today it was aware of the English language Radio Hanoi broadcasts, which began earlier this week, but had no way of determining their authenticity.

The broadcast allegedly made by Mayhew urged his family not to worry about him.

"They will make Christmas very pleasant for us here with a good Christmas dinner, lots of goodies, Christmas music, decorations, church services, and I'll be looking forward to your Christmas package again this year," it said.

New 'Revolution' In Russia

There appears to be a first class revolution in Russia. This time it may not be as easily put down as some of the other rebellions and the odds are that the government over there is going to have its hands full.

Before you get any ideas that this is a revolution like others in the land of the Kremlin, forget it. It could be worse. It's a civil war of the miniskirts.

Naturally, the short, short skirts are being branded as a capitalistic scheme to warp the minds of Russian men and degrade the morals of the women. They will cause an economic change because along with the mini-skirts go the expensive and perishable and inevitable panty-hose.

Nevertheless the question now is whether to allow the miniskirts or have them declared illegal by edict.

Russian newspapers have joined in the controversy. One writer, A. Raskin, said the Russians are getting too excited about the whole matter and he said he admired the few daring Russian women who venture out with their thighs showing.

He's against fining them. Others have proposed that the authorities assess fines of up to $33.33 for appearing in the briefs and that sounds like the price women in the U.S. are paying for about a half yard of fabric worn around the hips.

Writer Raskin says fining the women is more dangerous than the naked knee because it's an abridgement of their rights, which also sounds like the Americans who are lately experts at yelling about their rights.

Anyway, a war veteran from Kiev said he was indignant about seeing girls in miniskirts sitting in the park "improperly close to boys students preparing for exams."

Who said the boys are studying for exams? With all the legs showing, we can't help but wonder if the capitalistic system will not be accused of sabotage when exams are graded and the Russians realize how many boys flunked out.

To be sure, the Russians are now willing to admit they didn't invent the mini-skirt. That's something.

Wrong On This Score Too

Karl Marx hated the institution of marriage and, in the Communist Manifesto, predicted its disappearance. Let's see what kind of a seer he was.

In one of the most widely quoted statements, Clare Boothe Luce averred that life was chancy for many of the young women of today. Young men just don't want to get married any more, and the only answer to that, she said, is for the girls to be "super-sexy."

"Fortunately for woman, her body is still a trap—if no longer a baby trap, a man trap," said Mrs. Luce.

Alas, the accomplished Mrs. Luce who is an outstanding example of the felicitous combination of both beauty and brains, hasn't been reading the right statistics.

The annual number of marriages in the United States has been increasing without interruption since 1958. In the past seven years, the increase has amounted to 32 per cent. (In the same period the birth rate steadily has declined, so she may be right about part of it). In 1968, more than two million American marriages took place, the highest of any year except the immediate postwar year of 1946, when everybody was a little wacky.

True, the number of marriage-eligible people also has been increasing, but there has been no appreciable change in the percentage of spinsters or bachelors.

Some males may not complain if Mrs. Luce helps launch a trend to "super-sexiness," even if it does lead to more marriages — although the statistics show the girls must already be doing something right. But the trouble is that too often the bait is removed after the man trap is sprung.

Therein may lie the story behind many of the 400,000 divorces in this country every year, and behind possibly a far greater number of unsatisfactory marriages which don't deteriorate as far as divorce.

And, Marx! Wrong again!

Free Market Testimonial

Accurate statistics, correctly interpreted, can play hob with nostalgic ideas of what it was like in the old days. Nearly everyone assumes feeding a family now is much more costly than a generation ago. This simply is not true.

In the immediate post-World War II period, the American family spent 26 per cent of after-tax income for food. Late figures reveal that today's average family spending of after-tax income for life's most basic necessity — food — has declined to 16.8 per cent. This is the lowest point in history.

If the same foods were being consumed today in the same way as they were in the late 1940's food would represent less than 11 per cent of disposable income — a 50 per cent reduction.

And this, mark you, in spite of monetary inflation, exorbitant taxes, and union wage demands, all of which add to the cost of food.

The main point is not merely that the cost of food has dropped as a percentage of family income — important as that — but the cold figures attest to the superiority of the free market, high-volume, mass distribution system.

Once again, it has been shown that capitalism, private enterprise competition and free choice in the marketplace guarantee consumers more for their money than any other system ever devised.

Try The Moon, Baby

A late issue of Nation's Business carries a recital of some of the Horatio Alger success stories of young U.S. businessmen, ranging in age from the early 20's to the early 40's. The experiences of these young men are the best possible answer to the dreary charges that business turns off America's youth, that the "establishment" must go, and other similar laments and threats that are repeated ad infinitum.

The truth is that there is probably more opportunity in the U.S. today for the young progressive, enterprising businessman than in any previous era. Nation's Business describes the rise of some of them. For example, in Memphis, Tenn., a young Negro, 40 years of age, is head of a life insurance concern with $18 million worth of policies in force. He employs 110 agents and is vice president of the Memphis Area Chamber of Commerce. Another young man made a fortune working "17 hours a day" selling home fire alarm devices. This year the firm, which he heads, expects to gross $10 million and is planning a $750,000 office building. These are but two examples out of many ranging from farming to computers. Of today's militants, one of these young men says, "If you want to pull down American flags, let's see you get the one on the moon, baby."

As long as the U.S. has young people like this, we can look forward to a bright future.

Clearing House

Get something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

Parents of the future should certainly start child-planning early. If parents want children on either the west or east side of Hobart they should see that they are born on the desired side. Never try to cross the street.

Now it looks like the machine that did away with horses is well on the way to doing away with people. Recently a youngster was harmlessly knocked down by a car in reverse. His father said, "I wouldn't cry like that, son." The son replied, "I will cry like I please, and you can do the same."

Horsepower was a lot safer when it was possessed only by horses. Another base that should be touched, is that it is better to have loved and lost than to have to help school kids with the new math.

A school boy asked his teacher, "Can you give me a hint as to what questions to expect on our next exam?" The teacher looked around over his shoulder and whispered, "Can you keep a secret?" "Yes sir," whispered the boy. "So can I," whispered the teacher.

Let's remember that there is no harm in letting children believe in Santa Claus, provided we teach them there is not, before they become of voting age.

Another thing to remember about medicine, is that an ounce of prevention is worth ten to twelve bucks.

A patient says — about hay fever — It doesn't breathe, it doesn't smell.

It doesn't feel so very well. I am disgusted with my nose. The only thing it does, it blows.

A young boy swallowed a coin, his mother yelled, "send for a doctor," "No," shouted the father, send for our preacher, if anyone can get money out of a person, it is him."

Now to settle any question about who might have been the greatest gambler in history, it must have been Lady Godiva. She put all she had on a horse. L. P. Fort, 129 S. Faulkner

H. L. Hunt Writes

COMMUNISTS ON THE PUBLIC PAYROLL

Earlier this year the University of California, which has promoted, publicized, defended and given positions of authority to persons who openly proclaim their allegiance to movements committed to breaking the law, hired an admitted communist named Angela Davis to teach philosophy.

The people of the state of California, whose taxes pay the salary of University professors, had the right to expect that the regents of the University would fire Miss Davis and maintain their policy of refusing to employ professed communists.

Yet a Superior Court judge has ruled that the University of California regents may not discharge members of the communist party from the teaching faculty, thus forcing the employment at public expense of teachers who openly work for the violent overthrow of our government.

It is as though a man owned a house in a city where the courts ruled that he had to allow thieves and robbers to enter his house at will. Under such circumstances his title to the house and property would be meaningless.

By this decision, the courts have completely usurped the authority of the regents of the State Legislature. If the ruling is upheld by the United States Supreme Court, tax-supported colleges and universities throughout the country will become open propaganda forums for the avowed enemies of freedom and of our Republic.

No right of free speech or association guarantees an individual a tax-paid job. Congress, which has the power to limit the jurisdiction of the courts, should act to protect the rights of the people's representatives to determine how public funds should be spent.

'Scorched Earth' Policy Urged on Wheelus AF Base

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — The $100 million Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya should be completely dismantled and all its facilities, including the runways, made totally unfit for use if it has to be abandoned.

Further, the right to do the same thing should be reserved in all other countries where the U.S. has military bases.

These admittedly drastic measures are being urged by Rep. William Bray, Ind., a ranking Republican member of the House Armed Services Committee, as the U.S. and a Revolutionary Command Council now ruling Libya negotiate on the future of the huge strategic airbase.

In letters to Secretary of State Rogers and Defense Secretary Laird, Bray, a Silver Star-decorated World War II veteran, vigorously stressed the danger of Wheelus, falling into Russian hands if relinquished without adequate precautions. "There are many difficult questions to be settled," wrote Bray, "but there is one I believe supersedes all others and which, to the best of my knowledge, we have never faced before. This key question is: What will the Libyan government do with the facilities at Wheelus when we leave?"

"Wheelus can handle long-range jet bombers. If the Soviet-equipped Egyptian air force moved in, we can be certain Russian technicians would not be far behind. This, in turn, would mean Russian moves to fit Wheelus as a standby field for Soviet bombers.

"Thus, in regard to Wheelus, we are faced with two very dangerous 'possibles.' The first is that Nasser's forces might be given access to and use of a major military facility within relatively easy air strike distance of Israel. The second, and worse is that the Soviets would in effect be handed a base with extraordinarily high strategic value, due to its location on the North African shore of the Mediterranean."

It is understood that Bray's outspoken views are supported by other leaders of the powerful Armed Services Committee—Democratic as well as Republican.

Privately, they are voicing grave concern about the fate of the Wheelus base. They are particularly disturbed over the point made by Bray that this highly strategic installation — which cost American taxpayers $100 million — will be taken over by Russia.

WATCHFUL WAITING — There is a special significance to Rep. Bray's letters to Secretaries Rogers and Laird.

In addition to forcefully spelling out possible courses of action regarding Wheelus, they also serve notice on the administration that the negotiations with the Libyan revolutionary government are being closely watched. Any arrangement reached is

Pregnancies Improbable After 'Change of Life'

Q — What day before or after my period am I most likely to become pregnant.

A — The ovary discharges an ovum about midway between menstrual periods. Pregnancy is most likely to occur in the two or three days following ovulation.

Q — When a doctor speaks of the 10th week of pregnancy, does he figure back to the first day of the last menstrual period or the time of probable conception — about 14 days later?

A — The time of probable conception.

Q — Is it possible for a woman to become pregnant after her periods have stopped for two years?

A — It is most unlikely after they have stopped for 10 or 11 months.

Q — Not knowing that I was pregnant, I took Midol to ward off premenstrual distress. Will this hurt my baby?

A — The chief ingredients of Midol are aspirin and caffeine. These drugs would injure your baby only if you took large amounts throughout most of your pregnancy.

Q — I have always believed that a late baby was good for parents. When their children have grown and their home is paid for they can give more time to raising a child properly. Are there any special hazards involved when a woman of 41 or 42 has a baby?

A — The hazards involved in delivering a baby after 40 apply only when it is a first pregnancy, in which case the labor is likely to be difficult and prolonged unless a Caesarean section is performed.

Q — What are the symptoms of pseudocyesis or false pregnancy?

A — Cessation of menstruation, morning sickness, protruding abdomen and feeling life in the abdomen. These symptoms are based on mental and emotional factors plus a misinterpretation of natural physiologic phenomena.

Q — If a man and woman have all their clothes on, could sperm swim through their clothes and cause pregnancy?

A — No.

Q — How early in pregnancy can a reliable test for pregnancy be made?

A — About four days after a missed period by testing the woman's urine against sheep's red blood cells that have been treated with an extract of human placenta.

The Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWEESE Editor

ONE OF the interesting stories of the week came out of Waco, Texas. It concerned the mayor of nearby Robinson who was convicted of violating the 1967 Texas open meetings law.

It was the first test case of the statute. Having been a bit suspicious of loopholes, it was gratifying to learn the law has teeth in it.

Usually, slick public officials who have something to hide can find plenty of ways to circumvent the law and shove aside barriers that stand in their way. Not so this time.

Mayor E. A. O'Dowd of Robinson was convicted of closing a city council meeting last March 18 when he ousted five persons, including two or three reporters, from the session at which several citizens had gathered to air complaints about the way the mayor and councilmen were running things.

The man who filed the complaint was C.B. Threadgill, one of those given the bum's rush by the mayor. Another shown to the door and told to get going was Larry Surratt, a Little Rock, Ark., UPI newsman who was then with the Waco Tribune.

The state's open meetings law makes it a criminal offense to close a public meeting, except under special circumstances, and provides for a fine of $25 to $200 for offenders. The jury in the Robinson mayor's case set his fine at $150.

THAT STORY brought back memories of several years back when The Pampa News had open meetings trouble with the Pampa Independent School Board. There were several occasions when the board called closed meetings to discuss "personnel matters".

Nine times out of ten the personnel matters drifted into what the closed meetings really were called for — discussions which somebody on the board thought was none of the public's business, especially none of The Pampa News' business.

But that was in the days before the Texas Legislature passed the open meetings law. Apparently closed meetings are a thing of the past (we hope) in Pampa.

If there have been any closed sessions in the last couple of years, the perpetrators of them have done an excellent job of keeping them top secret.

In fact, the City Hall Cat gives us his James Bond and Secret Agent 007 word that everything currently is on the up and up insofar as local public meetings are concerned.

However, he has been advised to keep his beady eye and furry ears wide open at all times. You just can't be too sure about things like that.

WHERE YOU one of the en-bee-cee teevie guests at the wedding of Miss Vicki and Tiny Tim the other night? It was a real plush affair and everything apparently went off without a hitch, but we didn't see Mr. Cratchett anywhere around.

One of the impressive things about it were the vows, most of which were written into the ceremony by Tiny and Vicki. We liked the promise that went like this: "to be loving, understanding, patient and not puffed up." Never heard that "not puffed up" promise before. It's a good one, though, because it can be interpreted two or three different ways. Think about that.

It was a black-tie affair, carried out with all solemnity. Johnny Carson, Ed McMahon and Doc Severinsen were decked out in their after-six best.

When it was all over Tiny sang a couple of love songs to Vicki and the champagne bottles were broken open for the wedding party and guests on the show. Tiny and Vicki, being teetotalers, shunned the alcoholic beverage. Milk and honey cocktails were stirred up by the bridegroom for Vicki and himself. Carson and the others raised their glasses and toasted the newlyweds for a "long and happy marriage" just before the final commercial closed the show. Millions of people across the nation sighed, then turned off their sets and went to bed.

POLITICAL RUMOR: The City Hall Cat hasn't been able to pin it down yet, but has it on good authority, he reports, that Don Cain will be a candidate for county judge in the May 1970 Democratic primary election. Cain is a former county attorney who was an unsuccessful candidate for district judge in the last election. The current county judge is Sherman Lenning, a Republican.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS

The Reaction May Be Tough

By PAUL HARVEY

The year 1970 will be characterized by counteraction.

In every area of human affairs where permissiveness has borne such bitter fruit, expect resistance.

Isaac Newton's third basic law says that "For every action there is an equal and opposite reaction."

His physical law is altogether as true when applied to psychological reactions.

It was public antipathy toward instances of police brutality which caused us to legislate and demonstrate in the opposite direction. Now we have gone too far in the opposite direction. Now we are protecting the "rights of wrongdoers" at the expense of everybody else.

Reaction: toughness. Evidence is everywhere that police, school administrators and civic officials are themselves getting tough.

When a dozen black militants seized the administration building at the University of Akron, Gov. James Rhodes immediately labeled it a "disgrace," immediately alerted the National Guard, immediately flew personally to the scene.

The demonstrators had occupied the building for less than four hours when they decided to leave.

Last Veterans' Day in Santa Cruz, California was profaned by some character who ran up a Viet Cong flag. The Mayor of Santa Cruz, Richard Werner, personally ripped the flag down. And when the demonstrator tried to use the law to punish the mayor for "malicious mischief," the jury within minutes found in favor of the mayor, the jury foreman congratulated the mayor and the mayor said, "You're darned right I'd do it again!"

Resistance has set in. The Air Force decided its regulations apply to everybody,

At Cannon Air Force Base a black airman refused to cut his Afro-stytle hair.

A five-man court martial board reduced his rank, fined him $180 and sentenced him to three months hard labor.

Resistance has set in. The Mafia gradually gained such control over business, industry and politics that it appeared almost immune to prosecution.

But when the Black Hand got a stranglehold on the whole state of New Jersey—including federal revenue agents in that state — the FBI got tough, pulled the rug out from under this biggest and most diabolical of all crime syndicates.

The symptoms of resistance are everywhere. From Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's knife in the heart of the Mafia to Spiro Agnew's fist in the mouth of prejudiced newsmen, a nation—choking on an overdose of sympathy and soft soap — is regurgitating. 1970 will be remembered as the year the fever broke.

Another Switch Plagues 'Myra'

SULTRY SINATRA is Tina, Frank's youngest, who has decided on an acting career instead of singing because she doesn't want the "inevitable comparisons" with other members of her family.

Today's Audiences Seem Shockproof

NEW YORK (NEA) — "The Front Page," which is enjoying a successful revival on Broadway, has a famous, if a blanket, blank stole my goddam sonuvabitch stole my watch."

The Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur play originally opened in October, 1928, and the strong language was deliberately saved for the end of the play.

It was felt that if it was used any sooner, a good portion of the audience would leave in shock.

Today audiences are seemingly shockproof. You can go into Broadway or off-Broadway theaters and see naked people, rape, masturbation and several variations of sex acts, all those things which used to be home entertainment.

You can hear all the four-letter words used, many times to the point of ennui, and not

In history the decade of the 1960s will be known, from an artistic point of view, as the era of freedom.

There's More To Day Than Daisies

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Two poodles and a schnoodle slept on the couch, while Doris Day earnestly discussed peanut butter.

"I'm not as bad as Lew Ayres about peanut butter," she said, freckling up. "He was on the show and he said how he loved peanut butter so much he even ate it on ice cream. I don't eat it on ice cream, but I do like to eat it right out of the jar."

The schnoodle - half-schnauzer half-poodle — shifted a little and Doris had to shift a little to make room.

"Did you ever have that rack of lamb with peanut butter they do at Trader Vic's? It's wild — and wonderful."

When you drop in on Doris Day, you have to be prepared to discuss things like peanut butter. She is a lady of great enthusiasms. Her image may be daisies, dandelions and decals, but the real Doris Day is more emotional than that.

She talked about her CBS show — rolling along in high gear in this, its second season — and how close she came not to doing it at all.

Her late husband, Marty Melcher, had made the deal for her to make a television series. Then, six weeks before it was to start, he died. Her son, Terry, was to be executive producer of the series and she told him—

"I told him I wasn't going to do it. I couldn't do it."

Terry took her down to Palm to look Springs for a weekend.

"And he sat me down where I could see the mountains and he said 'Remember how Dad always said "A deal is a deal?" Well, we had a deal.'

It was true. Melcher's respect for the details of a deal and his off-repeated maxim, were things she knew very well. A deal. So she did it.

"Now I'm glad," she says. "I enjoy it. I like the people. I like the way we work. I used to fret on movie sets — so many takes, and I'm a first-take girl. The spontaneity goes away after so many takes."

But she says that last season she felt she was cheating the network — and cheating the public. She thought—they just had her saying a few straight lines, and it wasn't really what she thought the public expected a Doris Day Show to be.

"So last summer," she says. "I didn't take any vacation. I worked on the show with Terry and the rest, and we made the show something different."
