BRITAIN HOLDS UP MUNITIONS FROM ETHIOPIA

ENGLAND JOINS OTHER NATIONS IN HALTING SHIPMENTS

By HAROLD P. BRAMAN
Associated Press Foreign Staff
LONDON, July 11 (AP)—Sir Samuel Hoare, British foreign secretary, speaking before an intense house of commons, today declared Italy's reasons for warring upon Ethiopia, pledged Britain to continue efforts for peace, defended her past efforts and, in passing, indirectly invited Anglo-American cooperation in world problems.

Even as the foreign secretary delivered his formal review of the policy of the nation's recent foreign policy, the British government was reported holding up export licenses for arms and munitions shipments to Ethiopia.

Assailing "wild statements" in the Italian press concerning Britain's efforts to avert war in Africa, Sir Samuel said his government was concerned only with peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

He recognized Italy's need for overseas expansion, though he declared that need and Italy's complaints against Ethiopia insufficient cause for war, and pledged that England would not abandon "any reasonable chance which may offer itself for helping prevent a disastrous war."

Sir Samuel refused to divulge the lines being adopted toward this end, but he nevertheless, assured the legislators there was no foundation for rumors the government had asked the French to join a blockade against Italy or that Great Britain was preparing "some isolated form of coercion."

He said Great Britain was willing to accept her full share of collective responsibility and fidelity to the League of Nations and its principles.

Well-informed sources said today that the British government was holding up the granting of export licenses for the shipment of munitions to Ethiopia.

The statement was taken as an indication that Great Britain was joining other arms manufacturing countries in withholding war materials from France, Czechoslovakia, and Denmark, previously having indicated that those nations have halted shipments of arms to the African empire.

Authorities in quarters said that the final British decision on the granting of arms export licenses had not been reached but that at least two applications for them had not been granted while the question is being considered.

Reports from Ethiopia were received within the last ten days. After Ethiopia found her supplies of arms from other places had been shut off.

Great Britain's statement in the Italo-Ethiopian impasse today as France brought to a crowded house of commons a frank declaration of British foreign policy.

Government sources said the foreign secretary's statement emphasized Great Britain's desire for peace, not only in East Africa but throughout the world, and affirmed its belief in a collective system of security.

Not to Act Alone
Sir Samuel's first declaration of the foreign policy of British Minister of State, Lord Halifax, re-affirmed government Downing street sources said covered an unusually wide field.

Besides outlining a new light on the Italo-Ethiopian controversy, he said it surveyed the situation since the Anglo-German naval agreement and questions cropping up in the far east.

It became increasingly clear that while the government was willing to do all possible to avert hostilities in Ethiopia, it was not prepared to allow official reports said that Italy itself has put forward a plan to preserve peace in East Africa, thru its ambassador to London, Dino Grandi.

The unconfirmed rumors said that the Italian ambassador suggested

Virgin Islands Probe Recessed After Talk With F. D. R. GRUENING HITS BREWSTER CHARGE

TYDINGS ENDS HEARING SOON AFTER PARLEY

PRESIDENT TALKS WITH ICKES, ROBINSON AND TYDINGS

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—The senate's investigation of the Virgin Islands was recessed "subject to the call of the chair" by Chairman Tydings (D., Mo.) today on his return to the hearing room after a conference with President Roosevelt.

The action was taken without explanation after President Roosevelt personally had taken a hand in the controversy between Secretary Ickes and Tydings over the conduct of the investigation by summoning both to the White House. No indication of what the president said to Tydings during their talk lasting an hour was given beyond a statement by Senator Robinson, the democratic leader, who accompanied the territorial committee chairman to the White House.

"We have discussed various phases of the Virgin Islands situation," he said.

Immediately upon his return to the room where the investigation was in progress, Tydings abruptly announced that the hearings were recessed and would make no statement beyond saying:

"There is nothing to add to Robinson's statement."

He asked witnesses summoned from the islands to leave their names and addresses with the secretary, but gave no indication as to when or where the inquiry would be resumed.

Ickes, who precipitated a heated clash with the committee chairman by charging that he had "whitewashed" a witness at the inquiry, preceded Tydings to the White House. He was to return there again for luncheon with the president.

Tydings answered with a letter advising the interior secretary to "first get elected to the senate" if he desired to continue the investigation.

Cardenas Acts To Take Peons Out of Misery

MEXICO, D. F., July 11 (AP)—The government of President Lazaro Cardenas inaugurated today an ambitious program to improve the social and economic conditions of the Mexican peasant classes.

Instructing the national revolutionary party to form a confederation of 900,000 farmers who have received land from the government, the president pledged passage of laws to provide farmers against crop losses and said that peasants would be provided with accident and life insurance.

Of the peasant confederation, Cardenas said:

"Formation of this organization will, in the political order, provide small land holders protection from the grave injuries caused by sterile personalistic struggles. In the economic order it will definitely free them from the disorganization and misery in which they are living; in the social order it will raise them to an active factor capable of obtaining the conquests for which we have been struggling."

The national revolutionary party will supervise formation of the organization and also will draw up the new insurance bills. After groups have been formed in the various states, a national convention will be held to formulate a definite program.

BOY DROWNS
DENISON, July 11 (AP)—Marshall Busbee, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Busbee, was drowned yesterday when seized with cramps after diving into a swimming hole.

Mother Bat Goes to Doctor To Deliver Babe

THIS IS A true story of a mother bat who, anticipating a happy event, quite appropriately flew into the office of a Pampa physician yesterday morning.

When Dr. John Hooper noted the presence of the flapping light-blinded visitor, he was somewhat surprised that one of the night-flying animals should be found here, where they are somewhat rare.

Unaware of the bat's need for pre-natal care, he nevertheless placed her in a box and encouraged her to drink water.

Came the afternoon and the bat, in the manner of mammals—of which man is one—gave birth to her baby. But it, alas, was born dead. A tiny, folded form, it was 2 1/2 inches across when its translucent wings were stretched upon cardboard.

Dr. Hooper placed the babe in a bottle of alcohol to preserve it.

Meanwhile, the mother bat is recovering under post-natal care and, one of these nights, will probably flap her leather-like wings and point her mouse-like face toward the place of her regular abode.

24 KILLED BY SEVERE QUAKE IN JAP AREA

RICH TEA AND ORANGE DISTRICT IN JAPAN IS SHAKEN

TOKYO, July 11 (AP)—Twenty-four persons were killed and 58 injured today by a severe earthquake in the rich Shizuoka district of Japan from which America buys millions of dollars of tea and oranges.

A police survey showed that the casualties and the more serious damage was confined to Shizuoka City, 100 miles southwest of here with a population of 136,000, and Shimizu, with a population of 56,000.

A total of 47 buildings were reported destroyed with many more seriously damaged.

Fires broke out but were subdued before they spread seriously. Electric power plants were out of commission and the cities in darkness at 8 p. m., but authorities said they hoped to restore the service during the night.

The earthquake was felt here. Hamamatsu reported experiencing a heavy shock, but only slight damage.

Fragmentary reports said many houses collapsed at Shizuoka City, on the south central coast of the main island.

The Shizuoka radio station, prefectural office and nurses' home attached to the Red Cross hospital, were reported to have partly collapsed and it was feared there might be some casualties.

The tremor was felt throughout a 250-mile wide belt from Tokyo to Nagoya, with the epicenter in the valley of the Oi river west of Shizuoka.

Nagoya reported a heavy shock, but slight damage. Telephone and telegraph communication between Nagoya and Shizuoka was disrupted.

Lemon Had Lived In Pampa a Year

Elmer Lemon, killed at Broken Arrow, Okla., Monday night when he was shot by the home of his fiancée, Miss Ora Benedict, had been a resident of this section for the last year.

Mr. Lemon was an employee of the Phillips Bowers City gasoline plant.

Funeral services for the Pampa man were conducted yesterday at Broken Arrow. Homer Gibson, superintendent of the Bowers plant, drove to Oklahoma to attend funeral services.

Oklahoma officers are searching for Garland Creemore of Broken Arrow, wanted in connection with the shooting of Lemon. Creemore's abandoned car was found a few miles from Broken Arrow yesterday, according to Associated Press reports.

Mercury Sizzles At 107 Degrees

The same thermometer which earlier in the week registered at season's high of 103 1/2 degrees went to 107 this afternoon.

It is located at the Santa Fe station. Other instruments averaged about 103.

There was little wind. The sun glared through in very light clouds at times but the beams were little interrupted.

Most of the other thermometers inspected here registered between 102 and 104 degrees.

FIVE PERSONS INJURED IN CAR CRASH AT ALANREED; 2 BROUGHT TO HOSPITAL HERE

Two of the five persons injured in an automobile collision at Alanreed last night were brought to Worley hospital for treatment. Miss Dorothy Smith, Wink, is still in the hospital. Her companion, Cleburne Howell of Amarillo, was able to be taken to his home after receiving treatment.

Labor War Threatens Sugar Bowl

The man with the hoe, in this instance, is an important contribution to the nation's sugar supply. He is one of hundreds who till the sugar beet fields of Ohio. He and his comrades have become industrialized, belong to the Agricultural Workers' Union and bitterly contend that the back-straining labor of wielding a short handled hoe is worth more than $10 an acre.

When growers renege their demands, they threaten to strike on the 10,000 acres they cultivate but compromised in an agreement to continue at the present scale until their contract expires.

AMERICAN NUDE DANCER GOES TO TRIAL ON MORALS CHARGE

Plaintiff Claims Dancing of American Is Lowering Birth Rate of Paris.

BY ROBERT PARKER. PARIS, July 11 (AP)—The presiding judge admitted it took more than mere nudity to shock him as Joan Warner, American dancer who maintains that clothes hamper her art, went on trial here today on charges of offending Paris morals.

The painter, Maurice Delvaminck, regaled the court room, which presided over the trial, with a denunciation of the dancer, who he said had been denied the right of Miss Warner doing her dances for its benefit, with his dissertation upon "artistic nudity." Mere nakedness, he remarked, failed to shock him.

"Well, Monsieur Delvaminck," the judge put in, "giving confidence for confidence—it doesn't shock me either."

PARIS, July 11 (AP)—Aviators, painters, novelists, and even a zoology professor rallied to the defense of Miss Joan Warner, the American nude dancer, when she went on trial today on a charge of offending the morals of Paris.

At the opening of the hearing, the judge announced there would be no debate as to whether her dance, which brought down the wrath of the Association for the Increase of the French Population, was obscene or artistic.

He announced it was artistic and that the case would be based solely on the question of whether the American girl's "antics" were a danger to public morals.

The courtroom was packed. The spectators heard M. Bouverat, vice president of the plaintiff association, asked for the condemnation of all nude dancing in Paris with Miss Warner, in particular, being made an example.

Said Bouverat: "Since Hitler supported the case, it was authoritatively learned today."

GORCORAN DID NOT THREATEN SAY OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Ernest Gruening, interior department official, testified to the house rules committee today that no threat or promise was made in his presence to persuade Rep. Brewster (R., Me.) to vote to abolish "unnecessary" holding companies as desired by President Roosevelt.

Brewster had charged that Thos. Corcoran, RFC official, threatened to stop construction of the Passamaquoddy Maine tide-harnessing project unless the representative supported the president.

Testimony was received that Bruening, former editor of The Nation and of a Portland, Maine, newspaper, was present at the conversation between Brewster and Corcoran.

Corcoran has denied the assertion. Earlier, Gruening testified that Brewster told him he intended to remain at his hotel and not be present at the house vote on abolishing "unnecessary" holding companies.

However, he did vote against the administration.

"My God! You can't do that," Gruening said he told Brewster.

He testified after Corcoran had denied he "thumbed his nose" at a house member opposed to the abolition of the holding companies.

White (R., Me.) had said his vote on the utilities bill was not "influenced" in any way.

The house investigation of lobbying was started after Brewster had asserted Corcoran threatened to stop construction of the Passamaquoddy, Maine, tide-harnessing project unless the representative voted to abolish certain holding companies as desired by President Roosevelt.

Gruening was present at a capital conference between Corcoran and Brewster.

Before the meeting, Gruening

Heat Prostrates Borger Salesman

BORGER, July 11 (AP)—Roy Moreland, a salesman for a Amarillo grocery concern who has been missing 22 hours, was found seriously ill today 100 yards from highway 117 north of Borger.

Moreland had sent a note by a passerby to his son, LeRoy, asking him to come to him.

Sheriff Dan Harder found Moreland unable to talk and nearly blind. A physician said the heat was responsible.

Safety Council To Meet Friday

A meeting of the new Pampa Safety council will be held at the Black hotel in Borger tomorrow at 2:30 o'clock.

By-laws have been prepared by a committee for adoption at the session. Members of the council and prospective members are urged to be present, promptly for consideration of the by-laws and other business.

FUND ALLOTTED

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—President Roosevelt today allotted $5,184,207 of work relief funds. The bureau of entomology and plant quarantine received $13,713,117 for eight projects for disease and insect control.

WORDS O.E.H. Words are things.

Twinkles Third parties are made up of that peculiar psychology which makes them satisfied to "also run."

Well, anyway, Italy is giving us a better opinion of Japan, by comparison.

But the fact that these idiotic examples of international intrigue do not start an immediate big war is encouraging. Big brother tactics are not so popular right now.

Perhaps we should not overlook, however, that our teachers 15 years ago referred to Italy as a decadent, debt-ridden country which would never "come back" because of loss of her best blood by population movements to newer lands.

Skippy, the family pup, thanks the boys of the shop for a big sack of fireworks but he still insists that noise is a nuisance unless he makes it.

Musing of the moment: Our self-government was based on the assumption that we would as citizens study government and preserve our personal and state rights. . . . Indications are that we have been too busy with golf, football, baseball, bridge, and crossword puzzles to give any serious thought to such a "dry" subject as self-government. . . . Lamentably, we have come to think of government as something done FOR and TO us rather than BY and OF ourselves.

Brevitorials ADMITTEDLY, IT'S pretty hot of a late-in the daytime. We have no patience, however, with those who quarrel about the heat. A drought is bad, but heat goes with summertime. Of course, it would be nice for some folk if they could go to the mountains for the summer. We like mountains, too, although a week or two in them makes us hunger for an unobstructed view. . . . The point to remember here is that humidity is such a "dry" subject that you can't find not only hot days but hot nights by going below the caprock. Actually, we have a very nice summer climate.

HOW'S YOUR mind today? If you have a disease of the mind, you may not know it, but your friends do. But a healthy mind indicates more than absence from mental disease. You can be apparently sane and still have an unhealthy mind. Many persons have unhealthy minds in that their attitudes toward and toward work and toward the government have become warped. We liked the following written by an Englishman:

"I would describe the healthy minded man as one who combines personal harmony with social effectiveness in the following way:

"1. He must have the will to live.

"2. He must be able to enjoy all normal biological functioning.

"3. He must have enough feeling of self-mastery to maintain adequate independence of circumstance and environment.

"4. He must be ready to face conflict, internal or external, with a minimal recourse to evasion; or, in other words, he must be able to maintain subjective harmony with the least possible objective distraction.

"5. He must have a scale of values whereby experiences and memories that have purpose and significance are preferred to those that lack them.

"6. His social effectiveness must be characterized:

By a reasonable confidence in his fellow-men.

By a broad toleration of human idiosyncrasies.

By that sense of social responsibility which only manifests itself in those who recognize in social contribution a prerogative rather than a duty."

This is a good list against which to check our mental health.

BOYS AND GIRLS WILL ORGANIZE OWN THEATER TONIGHT

ALL CHILDREN WHO WISH ARE ASKED TO JOIN

PLAYS FOR SUMMER PRESENTATION PLANNED

A Children's Theater will be organized this evening in a meeting at high school gymnasium, sponsored as a unit of the summer recreation program. Miss Ella Faye O'Keefe will be in charge, assisted by Ben Gull, city recreation supervisor.

Miss O'Keefe has had special training for this type of work. She spent last summer in a dramatic course at Northwestern university, and has won a scholarship for next year. As a high school student here, she was active in speech and dramatic classes.

All boys and girls of the city are invited to join this new theater group, which will start work at once on plays to be presented this summer. The meeting this evening is to start at 7:30. Parents are invited to be present with their children.

The Summer Theater for adults, formed several weeks ago, has already presented plays and amateur programs, and members are at work now on their major production, a modern version of Shakespeare's Taming of the Shrew.

More men are needed for the cast, and membership in the group is still open.

One of the newest groups formed in the recreation program is an art class conducted by Mrs. W. S. Bennett. A large membership is working enthusiastically, and others are invited to join. No age limit is set for this class.

Loyal Women's Class Has Study

WATCHMAN KILLED
EAST BERNARD, July 11. (AP)—J. L. Hargis, 55, night watchman, was found shot to death here today. The body was found at a filling station. Hargis' pistol was missing and there was evidence of a struggle. Several hours later bloodhounds brought here from Central State prison farm at Sugarland led officers to a man who was drunk and asleep in a ditch some 60 yards from the filling station.

'One-Pound' Baby Growing Up

Six years ago Barbara Jean Rowley was a "one-pound" baby at whom all Utah marveled. Then she could wear a wedding ring for her bracelet, and her face was smaller than a silver dollar. Doctors agreed she wouldn't live, but she fooled 'em. Above, Barbara is shown with her father, L. D. Rowley, of Pampa, when she weighed five pounds; at left, as she is today, 42 pounds of happiness and an accomplished dancer.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Eggs are so cheap this year that you ought to use them often as meat substitutes. Only when you feature eggs in the meal proper, be careful not to serve an egg-y dessert such as custard or soufflé. All summer vegetables combine deliciously with eggs, and scrambled or poached eggs and a crisp salad make a fine luncheon.

Unless many vegetables are included to furnish bulk I usually serve eggs on a toasted foundation. Eggs, Chilean style, are piquant and appetizing. Try them for dinner some hot evening.

Eggs, Chilean Style
Two cups chopped fresh tomatoes, 1/4 cup grated cheese, 1/4 cup chipped dried beef, 1 teaspoon green onion, 2 tablespoons shredded grape pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 1 tablespoon butter, 4 eggs, 4 squares hot buttered toast, fresh cream.

Press tomatoes through a coarse sieve to remove seeds. Add cheese, dried beef finely chopped, onion, pepper and paprika. Cook over a slow fire until cheese is melted. Add butter and eggs slightly beaten. Stir and cook until eggs are just set. Serve on hot buttered toast and surround with watercress. The tang of the cream is perfect with the egg and cheese combination.

Eggs and Ham Timbales
Four eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, few grains pepper, 1-4 teaspoon onion juice, 1 cup finely chopped ham, 1 cup milk, six rounds of toast.

Beat eggs until light. Add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Turn into individual, well buttered timbale molds and place on many thicknesses of paper in a pan of hot water. Bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes or until firm to the touch. Turn each timbale onto a round of buttered toast and surround with creamed peas. Garnish with tiny sprigs of parsley and serve at once.

Peach Fritters
Three or four peaches, 1 cup flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 3 tablespoons sugar, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1-3 cup milk, 1 egg.

Pare peaches and cut in thin slices. Mix and sift flour, salt, sugar and baking powder. Beat egg until light with milk. Stir in dry ingredients and when well blended and smooth add sliced peaches. Drop from spoon in deep hot fat heated to 370 degrees F. or a fat thermometer or hot enough to brown a lunch cube brown in sixty seconds. Drain on crumpled paper and serve with red raspberries crushed and sweetened.

Tomorrow's Menu
BREAKFAST: Pineapple juice, cereal, cream, creamed codfish, combination muffins, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Egg and ham timbales, creamed new peas, assorted rolls, jellied cucumber salad, peach fritters with raspberry sauce, milk, tea.
DINNER: Veal cutlets with milk gravy, rice, potatoes, spinach in lemon butter, stuffed tomato salad, blueberry cottage, pudding, milk, coffee.

Flood Damage in New York Is Set At $25,000,000

ALBANY, N. Y., July 11. (AP)—With the final death toll listed at 40, and property damage estimated at $25,000,000, reports from the New York state flood zone today gave definite assurance that the danger of further high water had passed.

Thousands of Red Cross, TERA, CCC, and other state and local employees labored under fair skies to remove wreckage of buildings and to clear highways and homes of mud and debris.

In most of the "southern tier" villages and cities affected—more than a score—shattered water mains were being rapidly restored, and it was hoped that the threat of typhoid fever the usual aftermath of floods, had been overcome.

The tremendous task of rehabilitating the stricken communities was shared by CCC, TERA and volunteer workers. In some of the hardest hit areas, particularly Hornell, Bath, Hammondsport, Watkins Glen, and Binghamton, mud and wreckage was piled from two to ten feet high in the streets.

Unlimited funds were made available for flood sufferers by the American Red Cross and the state obtained $300,000 in TERA funds to finance rehabilitation work.

Wellington To Bring Team Of All-Stars Here Friday

Daney Pitches Pampa To 2nd Victory Over Owls

The Road Runners made it two in a row over the Watonga Owls last night when Lee Daney again pitched masterful ball to enable his teammates to win, 10 to 9.

On tomorrow night, Wellington will bring a team of Red River Valley all stars here for a game with the Road Runners. Game time will be 8:45 o'clock with the same admission charge.

Scaling continued to fatten his batting average by connecting for three hits, one double, on five trips to the plate. The Road Runners collected 12 hits while Watonga got 10 bingles, well scattered excepting in the fourth inning, when they got four singles.

Daney "pulled one" in the third when he hit a double off the left centerfield fence and it turned into a double play. Horton was on first when Daney hit the fence. Hall fielded the ball, threw to the shortstop, who in turn pegged to Dieder to catch Horton at the plate. The catcher threw to Dieder at second when Daney got off the bag. Dieder missed Daney but threw to Otis, shortstop, who finally tagged the Road Runner pitcher.

A couple of feinting gems were staged by Brickell and Seitz in the Road Runner outfield. Seitz made a long run and a one-handed stab of Otis' fly ball. Brickell made a great catch of Hall's fly ball in deep left centerfield and then almost had his glove torn off his hand by Graham's line drive.

The Road Runners scored three runs in the first inning on three hits and four consecutive walks, which saw Hawkins go to the showers. Three more were added in the second stanza on an error and consecutive doubles by Scalling and Nell. The other runs were "singles."

Watonga scored four runs in the fourth on 4 singles. The other Owl counter was in the eighth on two singles and an error.

Otis Watson, shortstop, handled 14 hot grounders with two miscues, both made after he had been struck on the arm.

Pasadena Star Loses in First Longwood Upset

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 11 (AP)—Jane Sharp, young Pasadena star, provided the first upset in the women's invitation tennis tournament, being held in conjunction with the forty-third annual Longwood bowl competition.

She bowed yesterday to Mrs. Carlton R. Manley Jr., of Brookline in a third-round match.

Reports at the Longwood Cricket club said Miss Sharp entered the third round play with a strained tendon in her side. The Californian would not comment on any such injury, however, giving Mrs. Manley full credit for the victory.

Guy Cheng, top-seeded Chinese Davis cup player, and third seeded Gilbert Hunt of Washington, qualified for the quarter-finals in the Longwood bowl competition.

The second-seeded Wilmer Hines of Columbia, N. C., and all the other seeded players, except the 12-Holmes Perkins of Cambridge, ranked sixth, came through their second round successfully. Perkins was defeated by John Hill of Waco, Texas, in a first round match.

Amateur Tourney To Have Largest Field in History
NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—The largest field in the event's history will tee off in the National Amateur golf championship at the Cleveland Country club, September 9, as the result of changes in the tournament plans made by the U. S. Golf association.

VAN BEBBER TO MEET CLIFF CHAMBERS ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Jack Van Bebber, the speed maniac who thrilled wrestling fans at Road Runner park last Monday night in a semi-final draw with the great Bob Cummings, Arizona snake charmer, will be a headline attraction next Tuesday night when he meets the renowned Cliff Chambers of Shreveport, La., in the main event at Road Runner park.

Now a resident of Pampa, Van Bebber has quietly been getting in condition after being connected with a local oil company for many months. Van Bebber gave a lesson in the art of wrestling when he out-peeded and out-wrestled Cummings, much to the surprise of that worthy and fandom in general.

Van Bebber's opponent for next week is another speed merchant. In the east, where he has been wrestling for the last year, Chambers has been billed as the Louisiana speed marvel. Chambers has been meeting the cream of the middle-weights. He "came west" when he heard the Masked Marvel was in this section of the country.

Supporting the fast main event will be another sizzling affair between the veteran Claude Swindell, Nebraska cornhusker, and Dan Carver, young favorite of Pampa fans. Swindell was here two years ago and gave fans something to remember with speed and cunning. Carver depends largely on speed and his terrific strength to handle his opponents.

A good preliminary will be staged at 8:30 o'clock. The bout has not been named but there is a rumor out that Curly Lewis and Andy Dowler will meet in a one-half finish match. The two had a misunderstanding last week when Dowler was wrestling and Lewis was referee. The referee challenged the wrestler and it was agreeable to both.

BASEBALL PLAYERS INVITED TO SUNDAY EVENING PROGRAM HOW THEY STAND

Baseball players of all teams in and around Pampa have a special invitation to attend the outdoor service at First Methodist church Sunday night at 8:28, when the pastor, Rev. Dean Root, will speak on the subject "Baseball."

An accordion quartet composed of Gerald Brown, Betty Ann Cuberson, Jean Lively, and Ernestine Holmes, will render special numbers.

NEW YORK—Bill Terry says that if the most valuable players in the National league were named right now, the award would have to go to Mary Anthony Koenig.

The same Koenig, who four years ago was waived out of the majors because his sight was failing, has supplanted Hughie Critz as the regular second baseman of the league-leading New York Giants.

This is indeed the year of the Forgotten Man, as observed by Koenig, who tried pitching in a desperate attempt to hang on with Detroit in 1931, a big league star again.

Jimmy Braddock, rocketing from relief to the heavyweight championship, Tony Cansoner, regaining the lightweight leadership, Walter Hagen, practically swiping the show in the United States Open, Charley Gelbert, replacing Leo Durocher at shortstop for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, on a leg long to stretch by bucketshot.

Lefty Grove, able to win again with a considerable share of his old-time speed.

A Forgotten Woman has returned to stir up trouble, too. Mrs. Helen Willis Moody already has one important tournament to her credit.

And how about Head Play, the Forgotten Horse, which bids fair to become the handicap champion of 1935.

Mark a Luck Piece.
Few utility men ever were kept as busy as Koenig has been this season, with the Giants' infield torn apart by injuries to Hugh Critz, Stoney Jackson, and Dick Bartell. It has been Koenig's remarkable work at second base, third, and shortstop, and his batting that has kept the club out in front. No other one player has contributed nearly as much to the Giant cause.

Koenig might have saved the Giants from falling apart in the closing days of 1934 had Terry been able to land him when he tried last summer to get him from the Cincinnati Reds. He should make the pennant possible this trip, together with the Giants pitching and other improvements.

Fernando follow Koenig around. He assisted the Yankees to three, in 1926, 1927, and 1928, and the Chicago Cubs to their gonfalon in 1932.

How to Break "Death Grip"

A lesson in life saving that may aid swimmers in cutting down America's dreadful annual drowning toll of 8,000 is graphically pictured in the above under-water scene. Here, a "drowning victim," left, has his would-be girl rescuer in a front chest stranglehold. To break the "death grip," a life-guard places his right foot against the "drowning" man's neck, grasps the girl's chin with his left hand, and proceeds to pry the two apart.

Tiger Winning Streak Halted By Washington

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON Jr.
Major league baseball's longest winning streak of the season stood at 10 games today, but the leading pitcher's unbroken chain of victories had a new link yesterday.

Washington halted Detroit's triumphant march yesterday, defeating the Tigers, 12 to 11, while Hal Schumacher of the New York Giants forged his eleventh consecutive victory at the expense of Pittsburgh, 10 to 3.

Another long streak—one of failure—also was broken. The St. Louis Browns defeating the Athletics, 7 to 2, after dropping nine games in a row. The St. Louis string to losses has been exceeded only by the Browns themselves.

Schumacher earned the top place on the day's honor roll, allowing only five hits in his tenth straight complete game. It was his thirteenth triumph of the season against two defeats.

The league leaders, getting 15 solid blows, increased their lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to 7½ games.

The Tigers made a gallant but unsuccessful effort to evade defeat.

PUBLIC GOLF LINKS TOURNEY BEGINS AT DALLAS SATURDAY

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer
Dallas, July 11. (AP)—When the 12th annual Texas Public Golf Links association championship starts Saturday at the Dallas Tension Park course, youthful Halbert Grumbles of San Antonio will be ready to defend his crown. He indicated as much yesterday when he toured the front nine in even par, getting eagle threes at the first and ninth holes.

A trio of Wichita Falls stars, Ed Pizer, Frank Williams and E. Landis scored in the middle seventies to serve warning that representatives of the North Texas city will be in the championship running.

The par 35-37-72 Tension Park course was crowded today with visiting and local players anxious to get in as much practice as possible before inauguration of the tournament. Professional Erwin Hardwick said all entries should be filed not later than 6 p. m. Friday.

President Johnny Noble was enthusiastic over the flood of entries from out-of-town. San Antonio was expected to have at least 12 players. Wichita Falls will be represented by several, as will Waco, Austin, Fort Worth, Beaumont, Orange, Port Arthur, Houston, Amarillo, Goose Creek and other cities.

The first 36 of the 72-holes will be played Saturday and the final 36 Sunday. Players within 16 strokes of the pace-setter Saturday night will remain in the championship bracket. Players more than 16 strokes behind the leader will compete Sunday in a special 36-hole first flight championship.

Billy Morrow pitched the first half of the game for the Peewees before being relieved by Claude Heiskell. Doyle Aulds was behind the bat.

The Morgan brothers worked for Kingsmill but were unable to hold the hustling midgets who hit the ball far and often.

U. S. Davis Cup Team Resumes Hard Practice

LONDON, July 11. (AP)—After a 4-day vacation, America's Davis cup tennis team resumed hard practice at Wimbledon today.

The players who will represent the United States in the interzone finals against either Germany or Czechoslovakia here starting July 20 already have been informed of that fact by Joseph W. Wear, non-playing captain, but the selections will not be made public until Sunday night.

Wilmer Allison and Donald Budge are believed to be certain of the singles berths with Allison teaming up with John Van Ryn in doubles.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

By The Associated Press
Hal Schumacher and Hughie Critz, Giants—Schumacher limited Pirates to five hits, Critz knocked down four runs with two triples and a single.

Harland Cliff, Browns—Led attack on Athletics, hitting four singles and scoring three runs.

Charley Root, Cubs—Held Braves to four hits in 6 1-3 innings of relief hurling.

Ossie Bluege, Senators—Drove in four runs with three hits in triumph over Tigers.

West Ferrell and Bing Miller, Red Sox—Perrell blanked White Sox with two hits and knocked homer; Miller had perfect day at bat with four hits.

Bill Myers, Babe Herman, Reds—Each drove in three runs against Dodgers, former getting four singles and latter homer and single.

Perfect Game In Texas League Is Pitched By Cole

27 Oilers Go to Bat And 27 Go Down—Just Like That

By The Associated Press
Eddie Cole of the Galveston Buccaneers pitched the first perfect game in Texas league history last night and it was won on a home run with two out in the ninth inning.

The young right-hander mowed down 27 Tulsa Oilers in a row and kept the Buccaneers in the lead in the loop pennant race. Tulsa got no hits and not an Oiler placed a foot on first base. In the sixth inning he issued three balls to Helen Mueller and then shot three strikes by the Oiler batsman. The last two Oilers at bat in the ninth went out on called strikes. Cole fanned eight men.

Ed Selway opposed the "perfect" hurler. He held the Bucs to four hits and only two Galveston players reached second until Maggie McGhee walked to the plate with two down in the final inning and clouted a circuit drive.

Beaumont took a double-header from Dallas, 5 to 4 and 3 to 2, to step up into third place. In both games the Steers staged final inning rallies that came close to being turned into victories. John Berly was charged with both defeats. He entered the first game in the ninth and then pitched two-hit ball in the afterpiece. He issued four walks in the final two games.

The Oklahoma City Indians kept their second place standing intact by defeating the Houston, 3 to 1. Charley Moncrief hurled for the Indians and he pitched shutout ball until the Bucs made a one-run spurt in the last inning. He allowed but four hits while the Indians were getting 10 off McGee.

Fort Worth defeated San Antonio in a free-throwing contest that was featured by extra base hits. Jonnard went the route for the Panthers and was hit 11 times. Miller and Eyle gave the Cats 14 hits.

Baer's Hands Not Seriously Injured
BALTIMORE, July 11 (AP)—Max Baer is "ticked pink" that his hands are not seriously injured and still believes he is "the best of the heavyweights."

The former champion would like another crack at James J. Braddock, the man who plucked away successfully at his title, and says he is ready for a couple of priming fights this fall.

Johns Hopkins hospital physicians who examined Baer's hands here yesterday informed him he would be able to fight by September.

While here the ex-champion emphatically denied reports of a rift between himself and his bride, the former Mary Ellen Sullivan. The reports, he said, were "all wet." He left here last night to join his bride at Long Branch, N. J.

CLASH BETWEEN ICKES, TYDINGS GROWS HOTTER

Maryland Senator Is Author of Sizzling Letter

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—The controversy between Secretary Ickes and Senator Tydings over the conduct of the Virgin Islands investigation has flared into one of the hottest clashes of the year. Congress of "whitewashing" and "cheap publicity" are being tossed back and forth.

In a letter published today the Maryland senator suggested to Ickes that if he desires "to tell the United States senate how to conduct its business," he should "first get elected to that body."

Tydings' letter followed Ickes' verbal demand that federal Judge T. Webster Wilson of the Virgin Islands be removed for "judicial misconduct" and a letter from the interior secretary accusing the former newspaper man and other witnesses appearing, whose administration of the Virgin Islands is under fire.

Wilson told the committee there had been "administrative interference" with his court. In reply to this, Ickes wrote Tydings: "There was no cross examination to test his truthfulness and if any statement ever needed such a test, it was his."

The interior secretary whose department has supervision over American island possessions, also charged that Tydings and the investigating committee's lawyers aided Wilson in "glossing over his maladministration of the district court of the Virgin Islands."

Tydings' letter accused Ickes of indulging in "cheap publicity" and advised him to "confine yourself to the duties for which you were appointed."

PAMPA TOPICS OF OUR CITY

See Church Plans

Members of the First Presbyterian church enjoyed dinner-on-the-lawn last evening, then were shown plans of the proposed new building. C. H. Walker explained how the present building could be extended south 26 feet and a wing west 24 feet, and the height doubled to give a structure beautiful in appearance and well arranged for church purposes. The main entrance would be on the east side. Plans sketched by O. A. Davis, local contractor, were made into an attractive, colored perspective drawing by two of Harry Kelley's manual training students, Gerald Chism and Pascall Massey.

Condition Favorable

Despite a restless night, condition of J. R. Henry was reported favorable this morning from Pampa-Jarratt hospital where he was taken following an automobile accident Monday afternoon. Mr. Henry received a fractured vertebrae when the car in which he was riding crashed with another car on the Bowers City hill. Other occupants of the cars received only minor bruises and cuts.

Postal cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. George Briggs at Pike's Peak. They are in Colorado on a week's vacation trip.

Charles Andrews, small son of Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Andrews, 210 North Ballard street, received emergency treatment at Pampa-Jarratt hospital last night after a car had run over his foot. He was able to be taken to his home.

A Monte Carlo Plunger

Well heeled (with new shoes), Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., set out to prove that he was a chip off the old block in a gamble with death when he was barred from risking his money at the high stakes tables of Monte Carlo casino. Emulating his famous father, he mounted the railing at the roof of the resort's highest building. Just then blonde Laura LaPlante came on the scene. Fearing he might lose his balance and fall into bad company, several stories below, she rushed to the rescue in the nick of time.

ing one. At least 16 good teams are expected to enter. One factor is worrying the sponsors: Baseball attendance has been poor this year, although quality of play is admittedly good. Many persons "just haven't got started" going this season. With a big cash ($1,000) guarantee necessary in first place to draw strong teams, the Jaycees just naturally hope that the fans will begin taking baseball a bit more seriously.

QINCE THE war between the states, July 4 has never been celebrated as much in the South as it has been north of the Mason-Dixon line, largely because Southerners were not enthusiastic about the Union. Youngsters long ago formed the habit of having it cut with fireworks on Christmas instead of July 4. Dan McGrew, who furnished this information, said that Pampa resembled a "northern" city on July 4 of this year. Many Pampans mentioned the fact that the fireworks explosions were unprecedented. Mr. McGrew pointed out that in cities farther down in Texas, no fireworks are sold for the simple reason that they are not wanted.

LONG BLISTERED OVER RADIO FOR 'VOTE THEIEVERY'

New Orleans District Attorney Attacks 'Kingfish'

NEW ORLEANS, July 11. (AP)—Charging that Senator Huey Long has deprived him of the right to name his assistants and clerical help, District Attorney Eugene Stanley told a radio audience that the Long-controlled legislature "has driven the final rivet in the shackles of Louisiana's white democracy."

"He wants to stop me from showing how he steals elections," Stanley said of the senator, "and from holding future investigations into ballot box thievery."

He said Long had achieved his dictatorship not through rights which the people "collectively surrendered to him" but through "abuse of the powers possessed by some of the officials you elected."

He said Long ruled the state thru control of "97 persons—the 67 majority of the house of representatives, the 26 majority of the senate, the office of governor and the office of attorney general."

Stanley said the special session of the legislature which ended Monday, along with five other sessions, "has driven the final rivet in the shackles of Louisiana's white democracy."

"No deputy sheriff, no city employe, no court employe, no teacher, no municipal, parochial or town employe can continue in his employment without the approval of the politically controlled board," (civil service commission) he said. "It has been the greatest political grab of patronage ever attempted in the United States."

"It adds to the number of state employes from whom can be obtained a monthly contribution for campaign expenses."

He criticized Long for "publicly insulting" President Roosevelt in recent speeches.

Mrs. Arvis Talley was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital yesterday afternoon.

YANKEES AND JAPS SET FOR A NAVAL RACE

WASHINGTON TREATY WILL EXPIRE IN DEC., 1936

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—Talk of battleship building in the United States and of greatly increased sums for Japan's navy today served as a reminder of the situation confronting the world's sea powers.

Less than 18 months from now—on Dec. 31, 1936—the London and Washington naval limitation treaties expire. Unless some other agreement is reached meanwhile, the sky will then be the limit. The world will be free to engage in the naval race which many students fear.

Sojourn assurances that there is no intention to begin such a race come from the great powers. Secretary Swanson disclaimed any idea of "starting any competition" in disclosing yesterday what the navy department is planning for the fiscal year beginning next July 1.

The plans call for construction of 12 destroyers and six submarines that year as part of the navy's drive to build up to treaty limits. The Vinson act provides for a treaty navy by 1942 and under it 36 destroyers and 18 submarines, in addition to 24 ships being built this year, would be needed to increase American forces to past strength.

The American navy also is considering asking a new battleship to replace the old Arkansas—though no decision on that has been reached.

In Japan, the admirals are seeking for the fiscal year beginning April 1, 1936 the largest appropriation in Japan's history. The navy's budget commission set the figure at 712,000,000 yen (about $178,490,000). This is 35 per cent higher than this year.

The new figure is predicated on the assumption that the lid will be off the world's navies starting Jan. 1, 1937. The navy, it was said, would be designed, not for new construction, but to complete present programs intended to attain a full treaty strength navy by Dec. 31, 1936.

Admirals of the powers apparently would like to have their decks cleared for action in case any one starts a naval race after the treaties die. Meanwhile, Japan continues to express hope for a new naval parity in 1935 and Secretary Swanson says the United States won't go beyond the treaty limit unless some other nation does it first.

New Town Begun In Quemado Vale

EAGLE PASS, July 11. (AP)—Establishment of a new town at the edge of Quemado valley, 12 miles north of here, was started last week with the clearing of a 100-acre tract west of highway 85. The site is on the crest of a high plateau overlooking the irrigated valley. It will be named "Little City" after a Maverick county ranchman. Law-

NOTICE is hereby given that the Commissioners' Court of Gray County, Texas, will on the 12th day of July, 1935, receive proposals for the purchase and installation of four water cooling units for the courthouse.

is entirely TOO EXPENSIVE

Low-grade paint always costs far more in the long run than high-grade paint. That's because good paint—like Lowe Brothers High Standard—covers more surface to the gallon, retains its finish much longer, cuts down painters' time and looks better. Before you paint come in and get the facts about paint economy. We can save you money.

testified, Corcoran told him by telephone: "Where is Ralph Brewster? I think your friend is a double dealer. I think he is going to run out on us."

"I said I don't think that possible. I don't believe for a moment he is going to run out. I called his office and his secretary said he is here."

"He said: 'I am sorry for what I said and you had better call him. He certainly has been active so far in behalf of this bill.'"

When Corcoran testified Brewster told him he was going to "duck" the vote, the representative shouted out: "You're a liar."

Brewster voted for substituting the house bill, which did not contain the "death sentence" for the senate bill, which did.

He voted against eliminating from the house bill the section giving the securities and exchange commission power to simplify the holding company structure.

He voted for final passage of the house bill.

Shortly thereafter Senator White (R., Me.) denied to the committee investigating lobbying that he had in a way been "influenced" in his vote on utility legislation.

White, mentioned in previous testimony by Brewster and Corcoran as having been spoken to by Brewster on his "death sentence" vote, said the testimony "has been irritating to me" and he wanted the record kept straight.

Reciting his string of votes against the holding company bill the senator said: "This course of action is my answer to any statement or suggestions I have been influenced in my action."

"Mr. Brewster to my knowledge never sought to influence me."

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—After eliminating every major provision objectionable to President Roosevelt, the house today passed legislation to broaden the power of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

It now goes back to the senate for action on amendments added by the house. The differences probably will be adjusted by a conference committee representing the senate and house.

Already, the utilities bill has been sent to conference by the senate to attempt to agree on whether to retain the provision desired by President Roosevelt to eliminate "unnecessary" holding companies in seven years.

The house rejected this twice and the senate approved it by a one-vote margin.

Twice before the final TVA vote the house affirmed its action in eliminating a clause that would have given TVA a limited time in which to work out a self-sustaining power development.

CHEANEY RESIGNS
BROWNWOOD, July 11 (AP)—Joe Bailey Cheaney, head football and basketball coach at Howard Payne college the last seven years, resigned today to accept a similar position at the Southwest Texas State Teachers college at San Marcos. McAdoo Keaton, assistant to Cheaney, is expected to be offered the Howard Payne job.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—The stock market reversed itself today as profit taking appeared in more than usual volume. Some of the alcohols, metals and chain stores bucked the trend, but favorites of the past few weeks backed up fractions to 2 or more points. The close was heavy. Transfers approximated 1,000,000 shares.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON
NEW ORLEANS, July 11 (AP)—The point by point decline continued during the morning, and while there was no concerted pressure against the market, light offerings proved sufficient to bring about price recessions.

July dipped to 11.94, off 14 points from its previous close, while Oct. at 11.80 lost around 75 cents a bale. Some of the offerings today were profit-taking operations after two days of rising prices.

As the new crop starts to move in the extreme southern portions of the belt and the weather continues ideal over large areas traders are becoming a little wary about purchases of cotton.

While some crop commentators have expressed the opinion that conditions have not been very favorable, especially in Texas, the weather map and the weekly weather reports showing normal temperatures and rainfall do not bear out their contention.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, July 11 (AP)—Notwithstanding trade assertions that the domestic southwest wheat crop has been officially over-estimated 40,000,000 bushels, wheat prices late today failed to recover in full from early severe setbacks.

Throughout the day, the grain pits displayed unusual nervousness and registered many rapid changes in sentiment. Heaviest hedging sales of the season were a complicating factor, together with bearish effects of government crop estimates.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 to 1 1/2 cents under yesterday's finish. Sept. 84-84 1/2¢; corn 1 1/2-1 1/4¢; Sept. 74¢; oats 1 1/2¢ off, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal advance.

ANGRY, LAURA INGALLS TAKES OFF ON FLIGHT

Hopes to Set Speed Record for Women Across Nation

NEW YORK, July 11 (AP)—Angry because she had to take off in a cross wind, Laura Ingalls roared toward Burbank, Cal., today in a low-winged monoplane with the hope of setting a trans-continental speed record for women.

Her plane lifted from Floyd Bennett airport at 4:31:30 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, after a run of 2,500 feet on a 3,100-foot run runway.

The trip if successful will be the first east-to-west non-stop flight by a woman. The women's trans-continental record of 17 hours 7 minutes and 30 seconds was set west-to-east by Amelia Earhart on July 8, 1933. Prevailing winds favor the West-to-east flights.

When Miss Ingalls arrived at the airport to supervise the loading of her plane more than two hours before the takeoff, she proposed to nose her plane directly into the wind on the long runway towards the airport's buildings.

Because of the plane's heavy load, F. William Zeiler, aviation commissioner of New York, forbade her to use the long runway.

The flier turned angrily to Captain Kenneth Behr, manager of the airport and official timer for the NAA, and complained: "I can't express myself. It's unfair."

Her plane was equipped with a radio compass and she planned to follow the radio beams of the TWA transport route, which would take

New Mexico Birth Rate Is Highest

WASHINGTON, July 11 (AP)—America's birth rate rose in 1934 for the first time in 10 years, census bureau figures revealed today.

Births in the whole nation in that period were 17.1 per thousand of estimated population compared with 16.6 for 1933, the lowest ever recorded in the United States. The total number of live births was 2,158,919.

Statisticians and health officials would essay no explanation for the increase.

New Mexico, with 27.9 births per thousand of estimated population, had the highest birth rate during 1934 and California the lowest with 12.7.

Joan's witnesses included the famous French fliers, Paul Coudes and Raymond Delmotte; the painter, Maurice Delvaminck, and the Dutch zoology professor, Hoogen.

Henry Torres, the counsel for the defense, suggested that his client dance nude in the courtroom to prove "in the interests of justice" that the dance was all art.

The judge, however, demurred, answering: "Despite the fact that it is a hot day, it cannot be done, for I am afraid I would have to allow the spectators to strip, too."

Torres submitted: "Miss Warner's dance in Paris is a good deal cleaner than those done in Chicago today. There is propaganda in America against tourists coming to France on the grounds that they would be contaminated. Let's set them right."

Max Baer Back Home With Bride

LONG BRANCH, N. J., July 11 (AP)—Well, anyway, Max Baer got back today to his bride's cottage.

He arrived from Baltimore early in the morning, paused on the front porch of his bungalow, and said all the talk about a rift between them was "mixed up."

He repeated yesterday's numerous denials that he had said his marriage to the former Mary Ellen Sullivan was "on the rocks."

The report of a separation got started, he said, because he was misunderstood when he told of religious differences with his wife.

"I was simply explaining why it is that we won't be able to have a Catholic ceremony for at least a year," he said.

The investigation was recessed shortly after Paul Yates, deposed administrative assistant of Governor

Talks at Shrines
John Glasgow today told Pampa Lions that the carnival spirit in connection with the Texas Centennial should not be allowed to detract from commemoration of the deeds of the founders of the republic. He told of a recent visit to San Jacinto and of the sense of patriotism which is engendered by visits to the shrines of Texas. He urged that occasional programs feature the lives of noted Texans.

Awards of Lions pins to twelve clubmen who had perfect attendance records during the last six months were announced by Dr. H. H. Hicks, retiring president. The members are Roy Bourland, George Briggs, Dr. C. P. Callison, C. A. Clark, R. B. Fisher, Dr. H. H. Hicks, Carson Loftus, Roy McMillen, H. Otto Studer, Ralph Thomas, Charlie Thut, and Ray Wilson.

Panhandle Boys To Demonstrate Life on Ranges

CANYON, July 11. (AP)—The profitable spending of their leisure time in the camps of the Shoe Bar and Mill Iron ranches is the magic carpet that will soon carry two West Texas boys to a summer camp in New York to show some of Father Knickerbocker's boys how cowboys live in the open spaces.

Howard Weatherby and Ed Todd of Lakewiew, Texas, began working on ranches before they were old enough to go to college. Weatherby occupied his spare time learning to "spin a rope" and in his hours of idleness Todd tramped a guitar and memorized all the cowboy songs he could collect from old-timers of the range.

After entering college they became members of the "T-Anchor" troupe, a group of "cowboy" entertainers. News of their rope twirling and singing somehow reached the East and they were invited to come to the camp. Their unit of the summer camp will be known as the "wagon train."

Weatherby, spokesman for the pair, said: "I am taking my saddle, traps, boots and my gun. I will be in the East to know the real cowboy and not the cowboy of the movies. I want them to learn to love the West and know something about it." The two boys expect to return to Texas.

Matador Opposes Rail Abandonment

MATADOR, July 11. (AP)—Matador citizens have drafted plans to fight the request of the Quanah, Acker and Pacific Railroad company to abandon its eight-mile line extending to Matador.

Groundwork for the fight was laid at a recent mass meeting of Matador and Motley county citizens. Petitions opposing the proposed abandonment have been circulated, and a committee named to solicit funds.

Date of the interstate commerce commission hearing at which a request will be argued has not been announced.

Dates for Cross Plains Picnic To Be August 14-15

CROSS PLAINS, July 11. (AP)—Dates for Cross Plains' fifty third annual picnic and old settlers reunion have been set for August 14 and 15. Plans are being made to entertain 10,000 people, announces Ralph Chandler, chief of the local fire department, who is in charge of the celebration.

Features of the program will be addresses by speakers of sectional and state-wide importance. Governor James V. Alford will be invited. Cross Plains business men accompanied by a band are planning a motorcade on this trade territory to advertise the celebration. Towns and communities to be visited will be: Pioneer, Sabanno, Scranton, Atwell, Putnam, Baird, Clyde, Opila, Eula, Denton, Admiral, Rowden, Cottonwood, Coleman, Burkett, Cross Out, and Rising Star.

The Cross Plains annual picnic is one of the oldest celebrations of its type in Texas. A recent check by the newspaper here revealed that the local celebration is ante-dated only by the Hico old settlers reunion, which has passed its sixty-fifth year.

Chapter 40

Katharine hadn't wanted, really, to go on the motor trip with the Millards. Dirk Millard and his handsome, resourceful, managing Hilda had been very insistent, however. It was to be a two-day picnic in the mountains. Oh, but they often did it! And they were going east soon—Dirk was having a show on Fifth Avenue, and this would be their last chance. Miss Strykhurst really must come. Evelyn Vincent, too, Frank Millard, Dirk's big, handsome brother, a football player at Berkeley, was going along. Frank had "fallen for" Katharine. Hilda said enthusiastically. The party would simply be spoiled if Katharine did not come.

More to please Evelyn than for any other reason, the girl had consented. Frank Millard's attentions were not unpleasant; indeed, she found herself liking the big fellow with the rich, scalloped, golden hair and the beautiful profile.

They had tents and bedding rolls; they had a de luxe equipment of cups and plates and spoons and forks, all neatly fitted into a great leather case strapped on the side of the big touring car. There was space in the trunk at the back for their few bags. It was all very gay and casual and Bohemian.

After the sun of Rome the green of the mountains was cool and grateful. Streams tinkled in unexpected places. Dirk broiled bacon and made coffee and bathing in crystal-cool rivers and playing Dirks' pet gramophone which went with him wherever he went.

"He took it with him to Russia last year," Hilda said. "Imagine, my dear, Russia!"

She talked incessantly, spreading her hands, punctuating all her sentences with gestures and lifted eyebrows and smiles. Almost, in this amusing company, Katharine forgot what the summer and the early days of autumn had been like. She enjoyed it and thought she wished it could go on forever.

Frank Millard worshiped her with his eyes and his inarticulate words. The others smiled on them benignly, as though they saw romance blossoming and were glad of it.

The two days passed serenely enough. There had never been such dawns and sunsets. The food was marvelous. You slept eight long hours, wrapped in an army blanket, and woke to drink water and fall wolfishly on toast and coffee, eggs and bacon.

But the Millards admitted reluctantly that they had to turn their faces toward the ranch and Roanoke. Dirk had work to do before he left for the east. So the big car was packed again; the women, in riding breeches and jerseys with handkerchiefs knotted at their throats, helped.

Katharine wore a lemon-yellow sweater, and her old jodhpur breeches were shabby and stained. She sat on a rock, both russet boots stretched out before her, drinking coffee from an enameled cup. Her fair hair was ruffled; there was a deep apricot tinge on her rounded cheeks. The pale girl who had alighted from the eastern train a few weeks ago could scarcely have been recognized in this bronzed Aurora.

"Fun! It's been marvelous," she said simply to the blond giant at her feet. "I never in my life had such a glorious time."

"Honestly do you mean it?" Frank Millard wanted to know. "I mean it's swell if you do, because we do this all the time and you're staying forever, aren't you?"

"Oh, I don't know about that!" She was laughing, but some inner terror for an instant darkened her eyes and chilled her smile.

It was sweet to be admired, to be the center of this agreeable group. Why couldn't this be enough for her? Why should her thoughts go harking back to one man, out of all the world, who had flouted her?

Frank drove on the homeward drive and the three insisted that she sit beside him in the front seat. Hilda was heavily tactful about this; Katharine didn't mind. They were nice people and they liked her and showed it. She glowed in the atmosphere of admiration and easy laughter. Frank didn't talk much—he wasn't given to idle chatter—but every now and then he gave her an eloquent look.

He had to give most of his attention to the driving, however. There were traitorous dips in this canon road. Sometimes a sheer drop appeared on their left without an instant's warning. But Frank had a sure hand on the wheel. Katharine wasn't afraid. They took the journey in leisurely fashion. It was the way, Hilda explained, they like to travel. That night they camped on the edge of the desert under the stars. Frank had his guitar with him—he'd been in a college orchestra—and he played "Parlez d'amour" with a good deal of feeling. The stars and the music and the campfire all made an unforgettable scene.

Life would be so simple, Katharine argued with herself, if one could follow the line of least resistance. She might, for example, marry Frank Millard and bear him fine children and love him quite uncritically and make a sort of picnic of existence. But she had muddled up her life before she met him. She liked him a lot—he was as kind as a big Newfoundland and a friendly child. But love? Well, she had known that once; it hadn't been exactly pleasant. It had been all dizzy heights and awful depths. She would try to steer clear of it in the future.

All of this she thought as Frank stammered the plaintive music and the smoke of Dirk's and Hilda's cigarettes curled toward the red glow of the campfire. Evelyn Vincent was asleep, propped rather uncomfortably against the seat cushions of the car. Presently they all untied their bedding rolls and said yawning good nights. The women had the tent. Dirk and Frank arranged their beds by the fire.

Katharine did not sleep for a long time. A mood of wakefulness was upon her, and for the life of her sleep would not come. She could see one great, unwinking blue star through the tent flap. Miss Vincent snored and Hilda stirred uneasily in her sleep.

"Speak to me of love..." After a long time her eyes closed and she breathed easily and quietly. There were tears on her cheeks. No one was moving about when she awoke. Dressing hastily, running her ivory comb through her flyaway curls, she glanced out to see that Frank and his brother lay in the relaxed and rather touching abandon of persons deeply asleep.

Restless, Katharine stroiled about. She needed exercise, she told herself. Before the sun came up she would have a brief walk. Just as far as that mesquite bush in the middle distance.

She walked alone, absorbed in her thoughts. Tomorrow she would be back at Silencia; the pleasant, easy life would begin again, with sun-drenched days filled with sketching and music and bridge, and the books in the library of the adobe house. It was not a bad life, but for a young, restless, eager girl it was not everything.

She glanced over her shoulder. Perhaps she had better be turning back. Someone would wake and miss her, perhaps be alarmed. But when she looked in the direction from which she had come, she could see nothing of the car or the peaked tent or the sleeping men. Her heart beating a little faster, she whirled, increasing her pace. Her feet, in their russet boots, squeaked in the sand, slipping with every step. Oh, but she'd see them all in a minute. She would hear Frank's hearty laugh and smell the smoke of the breakfast fire and the good scent of boiling coffee.

She walked as quickly as she could, shielding her eyes from the rising sun. That was east... and certainly she had walked west when she started. Or had she?

Silence and sand and cactus. A gopher that hopped out from the shadow of a bush and stared at her curiously. Silence and a wheeling red ball in the heavens...

Katharine was lost. Michael went up to the great iron bell that dangled between two redwood posts and pulled the rope vigorously. A dark-skinned girl in a print frock appeared, stroking her crisp apron and smiling at him with a flash of dazzling white teeth.

"Miss Strykhurst? But she has gone..." His heart sank like lead in his breast. Gone? Gone where?

The dark-haired maid did not seem to know. But she would call Miss Daisy Ingram. Miss Daisy would tell the gentleman.

Michael found himself in a cool, low-ceiled room with white walls and liches in which curious bright figures appeared. Over the polished floor the heels of Miss Daisy came tapping.

"A friend of Miss Katharine's? Well, how very nice." She beamed at the young man. "They've gone to the mountains. A matter of several hundred miles, I believe. You will wait until they return?"

Michael said, rather grimly: "If you can tell me the way I'll follow them."

Governor Scans Ominous Clews

GRANE, July 11. (AP)—Men and women have been digging in the sand hills of West Texas for years in search of buried treasure. One legend is that $184,000 in gold was buried by robbers in 1864. C. N. Newland, who has been a West Texas ranchman since 1868, says the loot is supposed to be hidden 12 miles from Midland, near a lake.

Newland says robbers waylaid a caravan of Spanish merchants near Horsehead crossing on the Pecos river. The merchants were murdered and their wagon burned but Texas Rangers set a trap for the outlaws, killing all but one. Just before the fight started the gold was buried. The man who escaped the Rangers' bullets was sentenced to a life term in the penitentiary.

Twenty-five years later, Newland relates, the convict revealed the hiding place of the gold to the warden. The convict died soon after and the warden gave to a friend in West Texas a map of the treasure cache the convict had given him.

The map later came into possession of W. M. Bryant of Midland, who hired Newland in 1914 to stay on his ranch and do nothing but search for the treasure. Newland says he found a half circle of an old oxen bow and some yoke rings near the place specified on the map. The wagon tires from the caravan had remained intact and had been removed to a ranch nearby, Newland says.

A certain spring was designated by the convict and the gold was recorded as being buried three hundred and fifty yards from the wagon tires and in a southeasterly direction from a spring, the spring remains, Newland says.

Though the gold has not been found, Newland believes he will re-

Relief Heads to Cooperate With Local Officials

AUSTIN, July 11. (AP)—J. B. Keely, chief engineer of the Texas relief commission, has advised county relief administrators to develop projects in cooperation with local governments for construction under the new works progress administration.

Keely said that although no definite instructions had been received the engineering department would receive applications in the form of briefs and pass them through proper channels for consideration.

He said briefs should include accurate estimates of costs for various types of labor, materials, equipment and other items. Local governmental agencies would be expected to cooperate in financing projects.

Preliminary information, Keely said, indicated projects would be considered eligible if, among other things, a large portion of the money spent would go to wages, an ultimate return of money to the treasury would be promised, activities could be completed in a fixed period of time and employment provided for those on relief rolls.

RAILROADS FIGHT NEW TAX

A proposal by the state tax commissioner to greatly hike the intangible assessments of railroads has the latter much worried.

In a period when "soak the rich" proposals are numerous, the railroads as usual have to fight for their economic existence. There was a time when railroads were rich and arrogant. That day has passed. The roads today are just a few jumps ahead of bankruptcy.

Though their revenue has been drastically reduced by the depression, the railroads have paid their taxes commendably and have been the salvation of many schools, counties, and cities. Many a school district knows the value of having a big taxpayer like a railroad which can be depended upon to pay its taxes virtually on demand, or when the schools need the money most.

The proposed tax hike might be justified, but it must be remembered that Texas tax authorities long have ridden the railroads hard. Compared with some other industries, the record of the roads in proportion to earnings is very, very good.

Texas still needs railroads. The counties through which they pass need the taxes they pay. It must be understood that if public ownership of rail lines is forced by over-regulation and excessive taxation, the public will be the loser of millions of dollars of local taxes.

Railroads are strictly regulated. Their earnings, in good years, are restricted. In depressed times their surpluses are used up and their taxes continue high. We need the railroads. We grant that they should pay their full share of taxes. But we look with considerable skepticism upon the wisdom and fairness of piling millions of new values on their assessments at this time. Inequitable taxation cannot be justified in law or reason.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHEP
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Frequently at critical moments in the continuous drama of Capitol Hill, the careful observer catches the bare whisk of a coat-tail from behind a piece of scenery, indicating intense activity on the part of a character who never gets out to the footlights.

This gent, as is no mystery to most of the players, is none other than the vice president, Mr. Jack Garner. Almost the exact antithesis of the celebrated Throttlebottom who immortalized the vice presidency as something it has often been, but is no more, Garner impresses many insiders as a "master hand" in Congress.

A very shrewd and able fellow, wise in the ways of Congress after more than 20 years in House and presiding over the Senate, Garner leaves few traces of his influence and never overplays his hand.

One of his great specialties is straightening out messes. And his highly developed streak of horse sense has also kept the White House out of various first-class messes.

It was hard-headed Garner who dissuaded the administration from plumping for his friend Sam Rayburn for speaker, realizing the impossibility of licking Joe Byrns and the danger of putting Roosevelt in an awkward hole.

More than anyone else, Garner brings administration pressure to bear in the Senate. His influence is even felt in the House. There's the vice president watches his step for fear of accusations of encroachment, but he has dealt with the fellows in that body for years and maintains many close contacts.

The holding company bill, TVA amendments, and the tax program are among the measures on which Garner lately has helped the administration considerably. Roosevelt discussed the "soak-the-rich" program extensively with Jack before announcing it.

If your memory is long, you'll recall that Garner for years fought for a somewhat similar program against the opposition of Secretary of Treasury Andy Mellon.

The fact is, Garner is much more a New Dealer than Robinson, Harrison, or Byrns. There's no one more outspoken in face-to-face deliberations with Roosevelt, and yet no one more devoted to the president.

Garner has a distinctive dislike for the big bankers and big industrialists of New York. Thus, much of the New Deal is right down his alley.

For the benefit of those whose eyebrows went up when Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries, celebrated for his ability to find Communists behind every other bush and his advocacy of poison gas in warfare, was made chairman of the NRA committee to study the effects of code abandonment on business and labor standards:

The appointment was due to the efforts of Prentiss Coonley, chief of NRA's division of business cooperation, who developed a huge admiration for Fries while serving under him in the Chemical Warfare Service.

Fries is subject to gag. He has been told to make no statements without submitting them for inspection and high officials of NRA say a "careful watch is being kept on him."

SCREW-WORM FLY SHOWN UP IN 'TRUE COLORS,' SAYS REPORT

press service of the United States department of agriculture, "has been shown up in its true colors." For many years it masqueraded as one of its comparatively harmless relatives.

The culprit fly (Cochliomyia Americana) lays its eggs in open sores or blood spots on live animals and the maggots or screw worms that hatch bore into the living tissues and usually kill the animals unless prompt treatment is given.

It is less dangerous, and much more common, relative (Cochliomyia Marcellaria) breeds principally in the carcasses of dead animals. Externally the two members of the large blowfly family look almost exactly alike, the report explains, but internally they differ.

This variation in internal structure, proving the presence on the range of two screw-worm flies was discovered by E. C. Cushing, entomologist of the department of agriculture.

For years entomologists, veterinarians, doctors and stockmen had attacked the whole screw-worm problem from the angle of their knowledge of the more common and less destructive fly.

Intensive studies to ascertain exactly how the primary screw-worm fly breeds, feeds and has its being are under way. The facts obtained, Mr. Cushing said, will supply the firm foundation without which no insect-control campaign may be successfully carried out.

The extensive research which led to the original control measures, Mr. Cushing explained, has not been entirely in vain. Many of the practices based on it have been effective in combating both species of screw-worm flies.

Panhandle May Be Visited By President In 2 Months

Rayburn Delivers an Eloquent Plea for 'Death Sentence'

WASHINGTON, July 11. (AP)—President Roosevelt may visit Texas twice in the next year or 18 months.

He assured Representative Marvin Jones recently that he would address the last convention of the United Confederate Veterans at Amarillo two months hence either in person or by a telephone and radio hookup.

This potential trip to the Panhandle is conditioned on how rapidly congress disposes of pending business and his consequent ability to leave Washington.

Vice-President Garner has been trying to get the president to visit him in his Uvalde home for months and there is some possibility he might accept.

President Roosevelt does not commit himself far in advance, however, and Texans can only hope.

Just before the house voted against the "death sentence" for holding companies Representative Rayburn, chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, made a last plea for support.

Let the record speak: "This has been to us members of the committee a long and in many instances a bitter struggle.

"I know the power, political and financial, of the people with whom we deal. But as far as I am concerned I want to say today to them in closing this debate that for the propaganda, for misrepresentation, for the falsehoods that have been circulated in my section of the country, I despise their methods and defy them.

"Some say this business of holding companies has been one racket. I have never called it that. There are some men in the United States who have been using the consumers and the investors as the basis for a racket."

"Whom will you stand by today, the chosen leader of the American people, the president or follow the man who has fleeced the American people in this business."

"I want to say to this house that what we want to do is what we did to the security bill what we did in the stock-exchange bill—when these people came to talk to me—I said I demand on said partnership are to be presented to M. P. Gentry, Clarendon, Texas.

Transients Told To Stay off Road AUSTIN, July 11. (AP)—Texas transients have been advised by relief officials to "settle down and stay off the road."

Adam R. Johnson, Texas relief director, warned that federal officials had appealed to motorists and railroads to refuse free transportation to transients, and that transients would find "conditions no better at distant points."

"Unless they have a job waiting for them somewhere," Johnson said, "Texans contemplating hitch-hiking trips ought to stay at home for other states and counties have their own unemployed."

Warning that "people who offer free transportation are sometimes assaulted." Johnson counseled tourists not to pick up hitch-hikers and residents not to provide "hand-outs and small cash donations to persons making house-to-house canvasses."

Transients on the road were instructed to go home or to nearest transient division camps, which are located near principal cities.

Match Between Vines and Perry Is British Plan

LONDON, July 11 (AP)—Officials of King George's jubilee trust fund have launched negotiations for a match between Fred Perry and Ellis Vines for the "world's tennis championship," it was learned today.

Vines, generally regarded as the greatest of the professionals, already has been approached to play the British ace who is conceded to be king of the amateurs.
