Stevenson Will Appeal Decision

By the Associated Press
Dan Moody, attorney for Coke Stevenson, said at Austin today that Stevenson would appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court in his hot fight against Lyndon Johnson for Democratic nomination to the U. S. Senate.
Moody, a former Texas governor, said Stevenson would file a motion in the high court asking that an unfavorable order by Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black be set aside.
Black last Tuesday stayed an injunction against the sample ballot sent out by the Texas Department of State to each county judge, a telegram was received yesterday by County Judge Sherman White ordering him to place the name of Lyndon B. Johnson on the ballot as the Democratic nominee for U. S. senator. The telegram, signed by Frank R. Mallory, assistant secretary of state, read:
"I certify that the Democratic Party of Texas has certified to the secretary of state as its nominee for United States senator, Lyndon B. Johnson, and you are hereby notified that he is entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot for the general election to be held on Nov. 2, 1948."
The county judges of the other 285 counties received similar wires.
On the sample ballot, sent out earlier by the Department of State, Johnson's name was deleted. Six political parties were listed on the sample ballot with only the Democratic Party having a candidate for each office. Appearing on the sample ballot are: Democrats, States' Rights, Republicans, Prohibitionists, Progressives and Socialists.
An injunction issued by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson which had prevented the name of Johnson from going on the sample ballot was set aside by the Democratic nominee. The effect of Black's ruling was to allow Johnson's name to go on the ballot and to halt an investigation of alleged vote fraud which Judge Davidson had launched in Duval, Jim Wells and Zapata counties.
Stevenson's appeal would be to the full Supreme Court that meets Monday.
Moody made his statement before the Supreme Court of Texas. Attorneys for Johnson had asked

Meaning of Rotary Told

What Rotary stands for and what it means to its members as well as the community was stressed yesterday by Dr. Ira E. Woods, Littlefield, district governor, Rotary International for the 127th district, during the Pampa club's weekly meeting in the Palm Room, City Hall.
Woods told Rotarians in institutions are known for what they do and not what they say. From this he developed into his talk stressing Rotary's mottoes of "service above self" and "the profit's most who serves the best." In explaining the latter he said it took more than one hour a week of service to Rotary but instead was a 24-hour-a-day job, Monday through Saturday.
He was introduced by Steve Matthews, president of Rotary.
Prior to the district governor's address Jack McCarter, local jeweler, was inducted into the club by Travis Lively.
Dr. Woods spent last night with the Club Assembly, made up of the committee chairman, and this morning with the Aims and Objectives Committee.
The school season's first junior Rotarian, Gene Garrison, acting sports editor of The News, made his last appearance and expressed the gratitude of himself and fellow students for being permitted to attend Rotary meetings for a month at a time.
Virgil Mott led the club singing.

Moscow Aims Propaganda Guns at Iran

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moscow's propaganda guns are hammering so hard at Iran that American diplomatic authorities are wondering whether Russia is considering a new move in that part of the world.
Four Moscow radio broadcasts assailing the Iranian government and criticizing conditions in the oil-rich Middle Eastern land were recorded in a single day this week by U. S. government monitors. A secret "Azerbaijan democratic station" joined in the anti-aviation chorus with two additional verbal attacks.
The campaign has been going on for months, but it appears now to be increasing in intensity. It was the scene of a mid-fired Russian adventure of two years ago. Soviet occupation troops finally were pulled out of Iran's Azerbaijan province under pressure from the United Nations Security Council in a crisis somewhat similar to the present Berlin dispute.
One Moscow broadcast this week charged the Iranian government with failing to carry out an amnesty order freeing pro-Soviet leaders rounded up after the Russian troops withdrew. Another claimed that Iran is about to enter an Arab bloc which "will serve the interests of the Anglo-American monopolists of the Middle East." A third reported that danger of "famine" is increasing in Iran.

City Allows Gas Company New Increase

An increase in the minimum service charge to help offset increased costs of maintenance and equipment was granted to the Texas Gas and Power Corporation by the City Commission this week.
The new charge, which will take effect Nov. 1, and will be reflected in the bills sent out Dec. 1, will be $1.50 for the first 5,000 cubic feet of gas used, and $1 for the first 3,000 cubic feet.
While the minimum charge is raised, and while summer consumers who use less than 5,000 cubic feet of gas will pay $1.50 instead of $1, all consumers are actually getting gas cheaper than under the old minimum. Jake Garman, president and general manager of the gas company, pointed out.
Under the old minimum, gas cost 33 and one-third cents per 1,000 cubic feet; under the new charge, 1,000 cubic feet of gas will cost only 30 cents.
The company showed the commission business records for the past several years that showed an increasing operating loss during the summer months.
With increased costs of pipe, meters, labor, maintenance, and installation, the company felt, and the commission agreed, that the minimum charge should be raised.
It was pointed out at the meeting that gas rates are not affected. (See CITY, Page 16)

Truman Tours Coal Fields In Search of Votes for Demos

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—President Truman asked Illinois workers today for Democratic votes to stop "big business" Republicans from continuing to "nail the American consumer to the wall with spikes of greed."
He offered them a choice between "another era of fear under the Republican reactionaries" and "another era of hope with liberal democracy."
Mr. Truman prepared his remarks for delivery in the Southern Illinois University McClelland Stadium.
The President assailed the Republican-controlled 80th Congress as "the puppet" of big business, and the real estate, power and grain speculators' lobbies and rapped its passage of the "reactionary Taft-Hartley Act" over his head.
"Instead of improving the Wagner Act as I recommended," Mr. Truman declared, "they cut and hacked away at the workers' new rights. The Taft-Hartley law, I doubt there were deeper defects lurking in his subconscious, but the acquisition of a new house cured his depression and his alopecia."
Enroute with Dewey to Salt Lake City (AP)—A bi-partisan foreign policy anchored to "peace with honor" is expected to be Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's answer to the critical event situation.
Traveling toward Salt Lake City and his first major foreign policy statement of the campaign tonight, the Republican presidential nominee had up-to-date information on the Berlin blockade crisis.
It came in a communication from John Foster Dulles, his foreign affairs adviser in Paris, before the candidate's train left Great Falls, Mont., last night.
Dewey's Salt Lake City speech was not yet complete. But the New York Governor gave some advance indication of his ideas in talks in Montana yesterday.
Speaking before a Hillside Park crowd in Helena, he called for a stand "so consistent, so well grounded in facts and so deeply understanding" of the world's problems that other nations will respect us. He said he thinks he speaks for Democrats and independents, as well as a Republican.
In Great Falls the Republican nominee told a crowd of 5,000 persons who overflowed the civic center that a "lack of understanding" hang over the Paris meeting of the United Nations.
Asserting that the American people "are united," he said that "totalitarian states must understand what is happening" in around the presidential campaign.
In an indirect reference to President Truman, Dewey said: "They mustn't assume that because of a person in a position of high importance in the nation is going around preaching disunity, that we are in fact divided."
He added, "let me send this message from Great Falls to Paris and beyond through the iron curtain: the Republican Party is engaged in this campaign for the election of President Dewey, to bring our people closer together so that they can realize their great future and (See DEWEY, Page 16)

Baldness Cured By Buying House

LONDON (AP)—The case of a man whose baldness was cured by acquiring a house was reported today in The Practitioner, a British medical journal.
Dr. F. F. Hellier, dermatologist, wrote that "the essential cause of alopecia areata (patchy baldness) is psychological."
"A patient of mine revealed that he was 'fed up' at living in his mother-in-law's house. No doubt there were deeper defects lurking in his subconscious, but the acquisition of a new house cured his depression and his alopecia."
The West Texas Chamber of Commerce work program was outlined at the District I referendum meeting held at the Panhandle First Christian Church yesterday. Roy Bourland, local director and temporary chairman, said this morning.
C. P. Dodson of Decatur, president of WTCC, outlined the program of work set up by the Executive Board to be followed during the coming fiscal year.
An elaborate portfolio on surveys, plans and proposals was submitted on soil conservation, farm-to-market roads, West Texas water supply and state affairs.
Bourland presided over the business session. Other Pampa representatives attending the meeting included: Reno Stinson, local director of WTCC; Sherman White, county judge; Bruce Parker, county judge-elect; C. A. Huff, mayor; Joe Key, president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce; Irvin Cole, local director; Quentin Williams, local director of the Gray County Soil Conservation District; E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. Clara Mae Cooper.
Reports were given by Dodson, D. A. Handeen, Max Bentley, L. A. Wilkie and Joe Janis.
At the meeting a resolution was approved by the group in memory of the late R. E. Wertz, who served as chairman of District I for several years.
A general meeting of the entire delegation of the WTCC will be held in November at Abilene.
Meanwhile, the various local Chamber of Commerce boards will study the proposed work program and approve or reject the proposals.
Ladies of the Panhandle First Christian Church served homemade pie and coffee to the 40 delegates representing towns of the Texas Panhandle comprising District I.

County Road Bids Asked

Bids for the completion of the 10.5 mile-long, fast-to-a-rocket highway from Lefors to Abeneed are being asked by the State Highway Commission and the contract for the job will be let on Oct. 27, County Judge Sherman White said this morning.
Several weeks ago contracts for the construction of two bridges along the highway were let by the commission and work has already begun, Judge White added.
The new road, when finished, will replace the old highway connecting the two southerly Gray County towns. It will be hard-surfaced black top. The project has been under consideration and planning for over a decade.
Judge White said he did not know just how soon work would start on the highway after the contract was let.

House Is Burglarized

Now they're burglarizing moving houses with wrenches!
The Gray County Sheriff's Department learned this at a refinery today when the Danciger Refinery Plant to pick up an intruder caught by the house mover himself.
Gerald Bigham, local house moving contractor, was moving an 11-room house from Hogan on the eastern part of the city to N. Russell. Bigham pulled up along the railroad tracks along the Danciger Plant to sleep for the night. While lying under the house he felt water drip on him. He jumped up, grabbed a shotgun and went into the house on the truck. There he found a man attempting to remove lavatory fixtures from the house. The intruder had a large stilton type wrench in each hand. The dripping water came from a tipped over flush box.
When Chief Deputy Sheriff Rufe Jordan arrived Bigham had the man standing in full view of the truck's glaring headlights—the business end of the shotgun a few inches from his quarry's chest. Jordan said the prisoner just "wilted into my arms like a dish rag."
The man was being held in the County Jail today until officials determine whether he will be charged with theft or attempted theft.
Defense ministers of the five nations decided at a meeting in London today to establish a permanent international command to prepare for defense.

Montgomery Heads Forces

LONDON (AP)—The British cabinet today approved the selection of Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery as head of a joint armed force of the five-power Brussels Alliance.
A government source said the selection of Montgomery, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, will be announced soon in Paris by the five powers—Britain, France, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Belgium. The informant said the choice was made by the defense ministers of the five countries at Paris early this week.
Montgomery presumably will resign as commander of Britain's Army.
London newspapers earlier had predicted Montgomery would resign to take over the Western military command.
They said also that Gen. Alphonse Juin, French commander-in-chief in North Africa, will hold the five-power land command; British Fleet Admiral Sir John Sutch would lead the joint Naval units and Royal Air Force Marshal Lord Tedder would be chief of the air forces.

Douglass Says Dixiecrats Are Here to Stay

PARIS (AP)—The United Nations Security Council on Monday takes up the most explosive issue of its three-year history—the Western charge that Russia threatens the peace of the world by her blockade of Berlin.
The council announced today that Chief U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin will be in the chair as the October session opens. However, the U. S. delegation said it expects Austin will step down when the case comes up and surrender the chairmanship to Argentina, next in line for it.
If the Russians try to bar the Berlin case from the agenda, Austin is reported planning to proceed to a battle is over. Seven votes are required to approve admission of an item, and the big-power veto does not apply.
The council's announcement came shortly after the East-West dispute on atomic controls went before the 58-nation Political Committee of the assembly. Austin, in a speech to the committee, reaffirmed United States' readiness to submit its atomic energy production to international control.
Austin said it was Russia's fault that international control of atomic weapons never came into being. He urged big-power cooperation on the atom and reaffirmed American support of the much debated Baruch Plan for control.
The American people, Austin declared, are willing to subordinate their plans and the future possibilities of atomic energy to international control because "they want peace."
But, he went on: "Fear has supplanted hope because the Soviet Union has insisted on the need for a new spirit of international security for all."
The American people, Austin said, do not want a monopoly on atomic force. U. N. delegates, he continued, should focus the attention of the world on the need for a new spirit of cooperation. He concluded his statement with a declaration:
"Our offer still stands."
The atomic issue came up for debate on the Canadian demand that a workable control system be set up.
Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton of Canada led off in the Western battle in the Political Committee to find out who is to blame for the Atomic Energy Commission's failure to wipe out the atomic bomb after nearly three years of wrangling.
The committee had before it (See AUSTIN, Page 16)

State Agrees To Need for Canadian Bridge

Prospects for elimination of the interstate travel bottleneck on U. S. Highways 60 and 83—the Canadian River Bridge at Canadian—became brighter yesterday when Hemphill County officials and Chamber of Commerce representatives got a nod of approval from the State Highway Commission.
Hemphill along with delegations from 11 other counties said road and bridge requests before the commission in Austin.
Commission Chairman John Reddit expressed "complete accord" with the Hemphill County delegation in the Associated Press reported, and promised they would consider the request for replacement of the narrow bridge, but added the biggest problem, at present, is stretching of limited funds to cover all needed projects.
Reddit signified to E. A. McAdams, secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, that the commission was in full accord with the county's arguments for having the bridge replaced.

Purvines Rites Are Held Today

Funeral services for Carroll Purvines, 76, pioneer Carson County rancher, were held at 3 p. m. today from the family home at Panhandle, with the Rev. George York, officiating.
Burial was in the Llano Cemetery, Amarillo.
Purvines had been in ill health for more than a year before his death Tuesday afternoon.
He was born in Pleasant Plains, Ill., and went into the cattle business with his father. When he was in his late 20s, he moved to the Osage Territory, Oklahoma, where he stayed for about two years before moving to Carson County in 1901.
He settled on a ranch 14 miles northwest of Panhandle, and named the family community Pleasant Plains after his birthplace. His cattle holdings were reputed to be one of the largest in this area; at one time he was running more than 2,000 head.
About 25 years ago, he moved his home from his ranch to town and lived in Panhandle since.
He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Kate Blanche Irwin Purvines; by three daughters, Mrs. Fred Surratt and Mrs. Lewis Williams, both of Panhandle, and Mrs. Earl Chapman of Midland; by a brother, Dr. Walter Purvines of Pampa; and by two sisters, Mrs. Alice Atherton and Mrs. Vila Farrey, both of Pleasant Plains.

A Few Russians Control the Rest

A recent article in the Saturday Evening Post concerning conditions in this country, ought to be enlightening, even though the article is entitled "In Defense of the Russian People."

The article was written by Alexander Barmine, once a Soviet official and general in the Red Army, who came to this country before the war and later served with the American forces. The theme of his article, as suggested by the title, is a defense of the Russian people as a whole as opposed to the Soviet rulers. Barmine thinks that we make a terrible mistake when we refer to the "Russian masses" and the Russian leaders to be tarred with the same brush. This attitude, he says, "rejects the Russian people as potential allies of the democratic world in its crucial struggle with the Soviet totalitarian empire."

These people, he continues, "are not the authors, but the principal victims, of the Kremlin's crimes." If Barmine is correct, the Russian people have been ruthlessly and efficiently enslaved by their masters. Stalin, according to him, has 100,000 of his countrymen in concentration camps. He has a secret police force of 2,000,000 members, with almost unlimited power to imprison and execute, to keep the nation in line. So, he says, "when we judge the conduct of the individual Russian, we must keep in mind the shadow of the secret police behind him."

One of Barmine's most startling statements is that the Allies, during the last war, actually helped to keep the Russian people in chains. His story is that as the war approached its end, desertions from the Russian Army were reaching disastrous proportions from the Kremlin's viewpoint, and that millions of Soviet citizens, prisoners of war and others, were refusing to go home. At Yalta, he says, Stalin successfully persuaded Roosevelt and Churchill to guarantee the return of every Soviet citizen in Europe who left the Russian state after 1927 for any reason. This agreement, he says, kept to the letter. Barmine thinks that most of those returned were executed and their families sent to concentration camps. He says that many killed themselves and their families rather than face repatriation. He terms the agreement a "most gigantic violation of the sacred principles of political asylum."

All that Barmine has to say probably is true and as such ought to serve as a vital object lesson to the American people. It ought to serve Americans as a lesson that it is not necessary nor even expedient to control all of the people of a nation in order to subject them.

The best method is to control only a minority and have that minority backed up with the guns of government so that no protesting voice may be raised. While we must all feel sorry for the Russian people as a whole, it is certain that if there existed in their bones and fibers the real desire for peace and liberty, they could not be enslaved by the merciless, relatively, of police.

Gen. Hoyt B. Vandenberg, chief of staff, U. S. Air Force. The Air Force is out to get a dollar's worth of air power for each tax dollar. We expect in the future also to become preoccupied with the idea of efficiency and economy.

Fair Enough - - by Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK — The rally of the Communists at the Yankee Stadium on the night of Sept. 10 was the official beginning of the presidential campaign of Bubblehead Wallace in the state of New York. The entire folly curled up and died just eleven days later when El Stup got up at a dinner at the Commodore Hotel and announced that he and Mrs. Wallace were planning to be "just plain bourgeois" after election day.

The Wallace episode of 1948 has been amusing and frightening, both. But on the profit side we find the fact firmly established at last that in 1940 Franklin D. Roosevelt and the sordid gang of political bums around him knowingly exposed the trustful people of the United States to the risk of incurring by his death a president who had secretly mingled with a dangerous cult of adventurers in black magic, dream-stuff and cosmic confusion. Until about 18 months ago, all the survivors of this had crowd of common selfish professionals and treacherous dupes who had secretly mingled with a dangerous cult of adventurers in black magic, dream-stuff and cosmic confusion. Until about 18 months ago, all the survivors of this had crowd of common selfish professionals and treacherous dupes who had secretly mingled with a dangerous cult of adventurers in black magic, dream-stuff and cosmic confusion.

In failing to publish the information Michelson died loyal to an evil political force which may yet prove to have destroyed the integrity of the United States. We don't know yet whether the cement has crumbled. The same accusation of prior loyalty to Roosevelt's party lies against all the famous men and women, official and unofficial, some of them posing as silent wise guys and elders of the nation, who knew of this terrible situation but kept quiet. If all the evidence against Henry Wallace is true, and I am prepared to prove that most of it is, these people had a patriotic duty to dare death as silent wise guys and elders of the nation, who knew of this terrible situation but kept quiet.

It was the worst default of civic and patriotic duty in the history of the United States. History will take note of the episode but perhaps without sufficient prominence at the least of these people apparently at least a hundred of them. The soldier little ones nor long remembers the shell that didn't hit him.

Although Wallace speaks of building a "party" around himself for 1952, the danger from him expires after the four first years when the vain Roosevelt was hurrying to his doom. The danger ended in the 1944 convention. Wallace will not be useful even to the Communists in 1952.

Rebecca West, the English writer, took a chance that American journalists avoided when she described the ugly people who formed the Wallace crowd at his "convention" in Philadelphia. I have no idea whether she is a beauty or less than such. But, courageous and correct. The reports that beauty is only skin-deep and that Miss West isn't no orcid had nothing to do with the fact that there was in this reckless, wanton, licentious mob of unslum creatures, and parrotting bumptious American Negroes, these calling, neuritic wayward American campus girls, a loathsome, boss personality. So many of the white or sallow brothers and sisters were so distinctly European, their conduct so reminiscent of political wolf packs in the streets of Europe, that it was fascinating that one wondered whether Wallace was craftily trying to foment riots.

Such was the character of many of the crowd at his rally in the U. S. stadium. A large portion of the nasty juvenile delinquents were not voters at all. Wallace, a most moral fellow, may shrug off personal responsibility for the mischief obviously in the making among these bad young girls and men. It was the dirtiest crowd that ever befouled the Yankee Stadium. The management had exacted $6,000 for expenses in addition to $10,000 rent. Cleaning up the fifth, chiefly millions of fragments of torn newspaper, cost all of the $6,000.

Common Ground by R. C. HOLES

"Give Me Liberty" (Continued) I have been quoting for the past several issues from the book "Give Me Liberty" by Rose Wilder Lane. It is a masterpiece on the treatise of individual liberty. This book is available at the office of this newspaper for the sum of 50 cents.

In the last issue Mrs. Lane stated that the two major political parties in this country have contained the spirit of the American people and the American politics has been a professional sport and a vote getting proposition. I continue with more passages from this book: "Meanwhile, during half a century, contrary influences from Europe have been shifting American thinking onto a basis of socialistic assumptions. In cities and states, both parties began to socialize America with imitations of the Kaiser's Germany: social welfare laws, labor laws, wage-and-hour laws, citizens' pension laws, and so-called public ownership.

"Eleven years ago this creeping socialism sprang up among with Federal power and Americanism suddenly, it seemed—confronted for the first time in his lives a real political question: the choice between American individualism and European national socialism. In an American dream, the Constitutional law that divides, restricts, limits and weakens political power, and thus protects every citizen's personal freedom, his human rights, his exercise of his freedom in free, productive, capitalist economy and a free society?"

"Or will he permit the political structure of these United States to be replaced by a socialist state, with its centralized, uncollected police power regimenting individuals into classes, suppressing individual liberty, sacrificing human rights to an imagined 'common good,' and substituting for civil law the edicts of 'directives,' once accurately called tyranny and now called administrative law?"

"This is the choice that every American must make. There is no escape from this choice; the present situation puts it before us and requires a decision by the citizen."

"Every American is living today in the first political crisis he has ever known, and upon his decision and action depend his right to own property, his exercise of his freedom, and the safety of his own life. For nothing whatever but the constitutional law, the political structure, of these United States protects any American from arbitrary seizure of his property and his person, from the Gestapo and the Storm Troops, from the concentration camp, the torture chamber, the revolver at the back of his neck in a cellar. I am not an alarmist; that is plain fact.

"The major political parties do not yet represent this political issue. In 1933 a group of sincere and ardent collectivists seized control of the Democratic Party, used it as a means of grasping Federal power, and enthusiastically, from motives which many of them regard as the highest idealism began to make America over. The Democratic Party is now a political mechanism having a genuine political principle: national socialism."

"The Republican Party remains a political mechanism with no political principle. It does not stand for American individualism. Its leaders continue to play the 20-year-old American professional sport of vote-getting, called politics."

"Americans (of both parties) who stand for American political principles therefore have no means of peaceful action. A vote for the New Deal approves national socialism, but a vote for the Republican Party does not repudiate national socialism. Defeating the New Deal at the polls might possibly check our country's back-sliding, but it is not enough to set America on its forward way again. The collectivist state was not invented in 1932. The New Deal's political principle comes from Friedrich von Hayek, the Dark and Middle Ages to various developments, by Machiavelli, Rousseau, Fourier, Hegel—who defines freedom as 'submission to the State.'"

"Karl Marx adopted this ancient lie from Hegel and founded the II. Marx wanted Hegel's 'freedom' for the working classes. Bismarck took the idea from Hegel and Marx; used it to crush the German liberals, and founded upon it his Sozialpolitik, which is now called Social Security here. "Lenin agreed with Marx in principle, but not in method. In 1903, at a conference in London, Lenin split the Second Socialist International on a question of method, and thus began the conflict between factions of collectivists which became warfare between communists and fascists. European Socialists from the Volga to the Mediterranean are killing each other, not for opposing principles of liberty and tyranny but for different methods of using the same principle of tyranny."

"After crushing the attempt to establish human rights in Germany, Bismarck built the centralized, socialized, despotic German State, and the world's statesmen and reactionary thinkers fervently admired it. Forty years ago, America's 'prince-intellectuals' were ceaselessly repeating, 'Germany is fifty years ahead of us in social legislation.'"

"I find to America and worship-ping Europe, these reactionary pseudo-thinkers 'shitted America' thought into reverse, in an effort to catch up with the Kaiser's Germany. They called it 'liberal' to suppress liberty, 'progressive' to stop the free initiative that is the source of all human progress, 'economic freedom' to enslave all freedom, and 'economic equality' to make men slaves."

"They taught my generation that the American Revolution was only a war that ended in 1782. We never heard that these United States are a political structure unique in all history, built upon a natural fact never before used as a political principle: the fact that individual persons are naturally free, self-controlling and responsible."

"Any way you look at it, VA is destined to get into the real estate business in a big way. This situation could become almost as big as the whole GI insurance program. Between it and the unpaid mortgage, and then take title to the house. This has already been done on 324 houses, 139 of which have been resold. The VA, however, can make a new deal with the veteran. It can take over the vet's mortgage and adjust the terms. A large-scale use of this method will obviously put Uncle Sam in the real estate business. The policy on this is now being worked out. It is expected that if a depression should come, considerable pressure would be put on the VA by the veterans' organizations to make this sort of deal the general policy. Under this same authority the VA could rent the house back to the veteran who had failed to keep up payments. If this is done to any extent, the VA could become the greatest landlord in history. The thousands of veterans who have been stuck with shoddily-built homes complicate the picture. It means that as the houses become more ramshackled, more veterans will give up trying to make payments. When the VA then comes to re-appraise the houses, their value will obviously have gone down far below the first sale price. This will stick the VA with a large loss. The government for the large payments to the lenders, even though it was the lenders' mistake in financing a bad house. Any way you look at it, VA is destined to get into the real estate business in a big way. This situation could become almost as big as the whole GI insurance program."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The American Legion will formulate no new major demands for presentation to the next administration and Congress at next month's national convention in Miami, which will be addressed by President Truman.

Although entertaining the Democratic presidential candidate in his role as Commander-in-Chief, and as a Legionnaire, the political and legislative agents of the organization are so sure of a turnover at Washington next January that they do not want to become involved in controversy.

"In our ignorance, we could not see that the Kaiser's Germany and the Communist International were merely two aspects of the Old World's reaction against the new, the American, principle of individual liberty and human rights. American leaders of thought, whom we respected, told us that the Communist reaction was the world revolution. "That was the lie that deceived us. Americans are world revolutionists. These United States stand for a political principle that must conquer and change the whole world, because it is true. Three generations of Americans have been creating a new world, the modern world. It is our tradition, our heritage, the unconscious impulse of our lives, to destroy the old, to create the new. Our ignorance betrayed us; we believed labels. We wanted the ancient thing that was marked 'New.'"

Lady Godiva Rode the Horse (It Says) But Was It Sidesaddle or Astride?

It was way back in the 11th Century that Lady Godiva, so the story goes, rode naked thru the streets of medieval Coventry to free its citizens of heavy taxation.

Nine hundred years later that ride still is causing friction in that modern English industrial city arising from the ruins of the war time blitz.

The argument which has the whole town talking is whether Lady Godiva mounted her steed astride or sidesaddle.

The dispute was touched off when two oil paintings of Coventry's Saxon benefactress were hung in the city hall. Sir Edwin Henry Landseer, noted for his animal studies, painted one about 100 years ago showing Lady Godiva riding decorously sidesaddle and screened by her luxurious tresses.

CITIZENS CHOOSE SIDES
The other painting, the work of John Collier, who died in 1934, depicts the city's celebrated historical character riding astride. Both artists have their supporters among the city's leading citizens.

J. B. Shelton, Coventry's city chamberlain, backs the Collier school in insisting that the astride position is historically correct and the only way Godiva could have ridden in the days of William the Conqueror.

"That's the way women rode in those days," said Shelton. "The sidesaddle wasn't introduced until 300 years later."

The opposition, headed by W. H. Bassett-Green, who describes himself as "an old Coventrian" and who presented the Landseer painting to the Coventry council, says that Collier is all wrong. "Lady Godiva certainly didn't ride astride and Landseer was absolutely right in showing her riding sidesaddle," said Bassett-Green. "What Lady Godiva actually did was to ride sideways on a loin cloth placed on the horse's back. If that isn't riding sidesaddle, what is?"

KEPT HIS PROMISE
Godiva was the wife of the earl of Mercia, lord of Coventry, who levied heavy taxes on the local citizens. She appealed to her husband to remit the tolls.

Legend says that he granted her request on the condition that she ride naked thru the town.

Before undertaking the ride Lady Godiva issued a proclamation that all citizens should remain indoors. One person disobeyed the proclamation and was known as "Peeping Tom." He was said to have been struck blind.

After the famous ride, Lady Godiva's husband kept his word and abolished the obnoxious taxes.

Jet Busses in 4 Years Are Seen

NEW YORK — New Yorkers may be riding in jet-propelled busses four years from now, Sidney H. Bingham, member for the City Board of Transportation, predicted here.

Bingham, who just returned from England, said he watched experiments by British engineers in the use of jet-propulsion for railroad and water transportation.

However, he added, it may be from two to four years before jet power would be in general use.

The French people contributed $250,000 to pay for the Statue of Liberty in 1884 and Americans raised $280,000 for the pedestal.

Hospital to Probe Cancer Is Foreseen

HOUSTON — A $800,000 allocation of federal funds may mean the beginning of construction early next year of the University of Texas M. D. Anderson Hospital for Cancer Research in Houston.

Dr. R. Lee Clark, Jr., director of the hospital, said approximately $3,000,000 is available to supplement the $800,000 grant which was authorized by the State Board of Health under the federal Hospital Survey and Construction Act. Through this legislation Texas has received about $4,800,000 for each year of a five-year period, which began in 1947-48, to assist in financing hospital construction.

The grant of $500,000 is for 1948-49 and University of Texas authorities have urged that a similar grant be made each year for the next two years further to assist development of the cancer hospital which now occupies temporary buildings.

The new hospital will be constructed within the Texas Medical Center. Together with the Dental School, it will comprise the University of Texas units within the big medical center.

The M. D. Anderson Hospital was eligible for participation in the federal grant because it is a hospital for specialized care which accepts patients from all parts of the state and, thus, to this extent, relieves hospitals throughout Texas. Grants are made on a matching basis of one dollar of federal funds for two dollars of local funds. Through legislative appropriations, public subscriptions, assignment of private endowment funds and assets of temporary buildings the university now has about $5,000,000, in addition to the federal grant available for the cancer hospital and dental school buildings. Construction may begin early next year on the dental school building as well as the hospital. Working plans and specifications for both structures are in preparation.

About 600,000 building fires occur each year in this country.

Actor Pleads Not Guilty To Charge

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Robert Mitchum and two of his co-defendants pleaded innocent today to narcotics charges after his attorney failed in an attempt to have the indictment dismissed on a legal technicality.

Jerry Giesler, noted criminal lawyer representing Mitchum, asked dismissal with the argument that a portion of the indictment is not in the English language and is therefore unconstitutional.

He referred to the section which charged the defendants with possession and conspiracy to possess "flowering tips and leaves of Indian hemp (cannabis sativa)." Mitchum, 31, actress Lila Leeds, 20, dancer Vicki Evans, 25, and Robin Ford, 31, real estate man, are charged with possessing a drug weed popularly known as marijuana.

The four were arrested shortly after midnight last Sept. 1, at a secluded cottage in Laurel Canyon, north of Hollywood.

ENGLISH NAPOLEON

Napoleon nearly was born an Englishman. It was just before his birth, in 1789, that the controversy between England and France over possession of Corsica was settled in favor of France.

Mitchum, well-groomed and wearing a blue sports coat and grey slacks, spoke a clear "not guilty" after his lawyer's arguments failed. Ford and the blonde Miss Leeds also pleaded innocent. Trial for the three was set for Nov. 22.

The four were arrested shortly after midnight last Sept. 1, at a secluded cottage in Laurel Canyon, north of Hollywood.

Your Most Important Right

Now that the bandstand has been painted, and the park re-landscaped, we have about the nicest village green in the county.

And it's all because, at the last town election, folks got out and voted—85 per cent of them! That way, they passed the amendment calling for park improvements—over those opposing it.

Reminds you again how important the right to vote is in this country. And it's a right we can retain only by exercising it! ... like all the other individual liberties—from freedom to enjoy a glass of beer or ale, to a woman's right to vote along with men.

Folks can thank themselves that on summer evenings they'll be able to listen to band concerts in a well-kept park... enjoying a bottle of beer or soda pop (whichever they prefer). Because from where I sit, that's a freedom they've earned by exercising a still more important freedom: Voting!

More College Men Needed—TU Dean

AUSTIN — The belief that any deserving youngster can get college education if he wants it is erroneous, says University of Texas Education Dean L. D. Haske.

Lack of money keeps an estimated 10 to 15 percent of college-type youth from getting a chance at higher education, he insists, while more college-trained persons are needed in all businesses than ever before.

Dean Haske suggests five means of financing education: slight increase in tuition and fee charges; a system of state scholarships to deserving but needy youngsters; federal government grants to assist in financing such scholarships; increased state

Repatriation Program Now Over Peak

WASHINGTON — All World War II temporary military cemeteries overseas will be closed out by the end of November, and the twelve regional distribution centers in the United States will be the newly appointed chief of consolidated into six by that time, Memorial Division, Office of the Army Quartermaster General, announced today.

Brigadier General Kester L. Hastings stated that remains awaiting return to the United States for final burial will be concentrated shortly at centers overseas pending availability of shipping. By the end of November, the only overseas cemeteries remaining in operation will be fourteen designated as permanent American military cemeteries and two in outlying U. S. possessions to be known as national cemeteries.

Still awaiting disposition are the remains of 16,987 armed forces deceased whose next of kin have failed to return the final burial forms addressed to them by the quartermaster general of the Army. American Red Cross chapters are currently cooperating with Army authorities in efforts to locate these next of kin.

By Sept. 30, General Hastings said, the Army will have returned to the United States, at the request of next of kin, the remains of 81,500 individuals who died overseas. By the end of the year, the figure will stand at approximately 113,000. A total of approximately 150,000 are expected to be returned before the program is completed.

Though the Congressional act authorizing the return of remains allowed the Army five years—up to the end of 1951—progress to date has enabled the Army to effect important economies, General Hastings said. One of the outstanding reductions will be the elimination of six distribution centers in November. The centers at Schenectady, N. Y.; Charlotte, N. C.; Memphis, Tenn.; Ogden, Utah; Kansas City, Mo., and Philadelphia will receive no remains after mid-November.

Figures on the scope of the program, released by General Hastings said, show that the total combined estimate of overseas deaths, for Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard and Air Force during World War II is 358,967. Of this number 275,782 were buried in temporary cemeteries, and the remaining 83,205 have not been recovered. Though the majority of the unrecovered remains are known to be irretrievable (through such catastrophes as sinkings at sea), searches are being continued where circumstances indicate they are warranted.

Of those hitherto buried overseas, 18,832 remains are carried on the Quartermaster General's records as unknown. This figure, General Hastings said, would be reduced as a result of improved and painstaking identification procedures being carried on in overseas laboratories.

The estimated 150,000 remains which will be returned to this country represent about 54 percent of the recoverable remains. Success in current efforts to reach the next of kin who have not replied may increase this figure somewhat. However, unless the Army is able to locate the missing next of kin within a reasonable time, these deceased will be interred overseas in permanent cemeteries, General Hastings said.

The fourteen permanent military cemeteries are located at Cambridge, England; Neuville-en-Condroz and Henri Chapelle, Belgium; St. Laurent Epinal, St. Avold, St. James and Draguignan, France; Florence and Nettuno, Italy; Carthage, Tunisia; Margraten, Holland; Hamm, Luxembourg, and Fort McKinley, Philippine Islands. In addition, national cemeteries at Honolulu and at San Juan, Puerto Rico, will be used for the permanent interment overseas of World War II dead. The permanent cemeteries will be beautified in a manner similar to the eight World War I cemeteries where 30,967 dead are interred.

COLLEGE STATION — Freshmen at Bryan Air Field Annex of Texas A&M College were a bit surprised when they learned how quickly their aptitude and achievement tests, taken during orientation week, had been corrected and graded. Tests which took three days to give were all graded and available to consultants on the fourth day.

Back of the mystery of the swift grading was an electronic machine located in Bizzell Hall in the offices of the Veterans Guidance and Appraisal Service, a college division. This machine, of the type often called "mechanical brains," graded individual test papers at an average of 350 an hour.

Papers were rushed from Bryan Field Annex to the College Station campus as soon as students turned them in. The grading machine was operated from 10:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m., and all day for the next two days. The first day 4,250 sheets were graded. The machine is one of four in

When 41-year-old Lt. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was named to head the Strategic Air Command, it marked another exhibit of the Air Force's "young blood" policy since youthful Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg became Chief of Staff. Other young men in top posts are Lt. Gen. Lauris Norstad, head of Air Force Operations and reportedly in line for the deputy chief of staff post; Lt. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, tactical air commander; Maj. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell, Air Transport Service commander; Maj. Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, commander of the 15th Strategic Air Force; and Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, commander of the 8th Strategic Air Force. The 15th and 8th are the two heavy bombardment outfits.

Texas Cities Improve Traffic; Much Yet to Do, Says Report

Texas cities have made great progress in combating traffic accidents, but they still have plenty of room for improvement. This was the gist of a report made to Governor Beauford Jester and the Coordinating Committee of State Officials for the traffic control program in Texas. Submitted by Managing Director George Clarke of the Texas Safety Association, the report was based on a detailed analysis of the traffic safety programs in the ten largest cities participating in the annual traffic safety contest sponsored by the Safety Association and the National Safety Council. The report pointed out that: There is little indication the cities are using accident reports as a basis for their accident prevention programs. It was strongly emphasized that accident records should be available to and used by enforcement, engineering and educational agencies. Only one of the ten cities had adequate police personnel, although four were considered to have the proper number of officers assigned to traffic work. The other six had 263 traffic officers against the 460 recommended. Three cities were commended for having an adequate number of traffic court convictions for hazardous, moving traffic violations. Convictions in the others ranged as low as one-third of the recommended standard. Two cities had adequate traffic engineering personnel. None was up to standard in engineering investigations and surveys, and only two had satisfactory records in the provision of traffic aids and improvements (signs, signals, crosswalks, etc.). In three instances it was recommended that traffic engineering be removed from police supervision and delegated to the department of public works or similar agency. Six of the cities do not earmark parking meter revenue for traffic improvement. The National Safety Council insists that "parking meter revenue should be used exclusively for traffic improvements so that the motorist will receive the benefits." Three cities' school systems were commended for keeping records of out-of-school accidents involving students. Seven were criticized either for not having a supervisor of safety education or for permitting this official to spend too little of his time on safety work. Strong emphasis was placed on need for behind-the-wheel driver training in every high school. Splendid cooperation by press and radio was noted, but in no

Barbiturates Leading U.S. Poisoners

NEW YORK — Barbiturates are now the leading cause of death from accidental poisoning in the United States, accounting for more than a quarter of the yearly toll of 1,500 lives, according to statisticians of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. In the early 1930's only about one-eighth of the annual number of deaths from accidental poisoning was attributed to the barbiturates. Many of the poisonings are the aftermath of children getting their hands on "pretty pills" or on a poisonous substance looking like sugar or other food. Adults take poison-containing compounds by mistake for medicine or a beverage, or by eating food containing a poison. More than a quarter of those who die from accidental poisoning are children under five, and a sizable proportion are two years of age or younger. A study of the records of deaths among the company's industrial policyholders in 1947 and 1948 shows that although more women than men are victims of the barbiturates, the death rate from poisons as a whole is about 50 percent higher among men than among women. This is due mainly to the great preponderance of males among those killed by drinking wood or denatured alcohol, either because they mistake it for grain alcohol or believe it can be taken without harm. "The marked rise in deaths from the barbituric acid derivatives is especially disturbing," the statisticians comment. "Greater control by the health authorities over the sale of these sedatives may bring about a reduction in mortality from them." The marked rise in deaths from the barbiturates was the public education program as a whole considered adequate. "The ten cities covered in this report are San Antonio, El Paso, Houston, Dallas, Amarillo, Austin, Waco, Fort Worth, Corpus Christi and Galveston." The Safety Association has mailed a detailed analysis of the safety program to local officials in these cities and 16 others participating in the contest. The latter cities are Big Spring, Corsicana, Denison, Denton, Highland Park, Lubbock, McAllen, Palestine, Pampa, Port Arthur, San Angelo, Sherman, Sweetwater, Temple, Tyler and University Park.

Mahogany's Reputation Is Dated Back Many Years

During the 18th Century mahogany became widely used in England and in the colonies. Later in the United States, it built for itself a splendid reputation as an ideal cabinet wood. At the end of the century, Thomas Sheraton wrote, "Other woods, formerly used for cabinetwork, are quite laid by since the introduction of mahogany." This was not literally true as mahogany at that time was a luxury wood and was used only for the furniture that went to the titled, or the wealthy who slavishly aped the titled gentry. The common man of that day did not have mahogany furniture. His crude furniture was made of the wood nearest at hand and available at the least cost.

It was during the "Golden Age of Furniture," however, actually from 1725 to 1825, that mahogany became recognized as the outstanding cabinet wood of the English-speaking and Spanish-speaking world. Even in those far-off days, there was some confusion as to what was and what was not mahogany. In fact, the very earliest use of mahogany in England of which we have definite record, was in the construction of Nottingham castle in 1680. But at this early date, there was no distinction between cedar (Spanish cedar) and mahogany, so the reference is to cedar. This particular "cedar" however, was very heavy and hard, so the conclusion is that it must have been West Indian mahogany.

As the reputation of mahogany increased, other woods were imported and offered to the cabinet trade as some kind of mahogany. By the slow process of trial and error, the cabinetmakers learned to distinguish genuine mahogany and substitutes became known by their true names. In the meantime mahogany had been discovered on the American mainland: and, according to Sheraton (1790) Honduras mahogany was the kind generally used by cabinetmakers having largely replaced the Spanish (West Indian) mahogany used in the days of Chippendale.

Long after American mahogany had become well established in the British Isles and in North America, it was found on the west coast of Africa. It did not become an important wood in commerce until the last quarter of the 19th Century and its principal exploitation has been during the present century.

Mahogany Substitutes
Since mahogany gained its fine reputation as a cabinet wood over 200 years ago, there has been a world-wide search for something "just as good." At the same time many woods have been used and finished to imitate mahogany. Of our native woods, gumwood and birch are most often given a mahogany finish. Also they are the woods most used for frame work in combination with mahogany-faced plywood panels. Such furniture, of course, is not genuine mahogany and should be sold as "mahogany and gumwood" or whatever the substitute wood happens to be. Another term often used is "combination mahogany." Not to be misleading, this description should be "combination mahogany and gumwood." Again the substitute wood should be given if mahogany is mentioned.

Another place where the unwary buyer often is misled is on the term "mahogany finish." The tags used by a great many furniture and department stores have no space provided for the name of the wood. Besides numbers, there may be only a line for style which "Duncan Phyfe" and for finish which may be described as "Mah" or "Mhy." The unsophisticated buyer very often assumes that the piece is made of mahogany as mahogany is the name of a wood; and, all too often, the salesman does nothing to correct this misapprehension.

One way of making sure that you are getting genuine mahogany or solid mahogany is to look for the official tags or labels put out by the Mahogany Association under a penalty contract. All furniture made of genuine mahogany may not bear these labels or tags, but all furniture with them is genuine mahogany or solid genuine mahogany as they may indicate.

Another splendid rule to follow in buying mahogany, or any other kind of furniture for that matter, is to insist that the description as given by the salesman be put on the invoice. If the furniture is not as represented you will find it out before it is too late. If the improper designation does go on the invoice then the buyer has definite evidence on which action may be taken. The best rule of all is to make proper inquiry and be sure that you are dealing with an established firm with a reputation for integrity. Most firms are honest, but in a great industry there always are a few "twilight" operators who get by with a series of one-time customers, especially in metropolitan areas.

Mahogany Tomorrow
In the matter of supply, mahogany is going to last a long time—indeed, in fact. The total reserves may be as great as all the mahogany that has been cut for the past 100 years. Nobody knows for sure how much there is. We do know, however, that the reserve supplies are increasingly far from civilization and transportation. Today we are getting out virgin mahogany that was totally inaccessible only a few years ago.

When it comes to style, there is no indication that mahogany will ever go out of style. As long as there is an appreciation of beautiful and faithful cabinet woods, mahogany will hold its top rank both with the fabricator and the ultimate user of fine furniture. This is true whether it is in reproductions and modifications of the Golden Age of furniture-making or a succession of contemporary styles which is the any"—and, really, there isn't.

For dignity and quiet elegance, traditional 18th century dining room furniture, as shown above, still leads the field. There are suites designed for both small and large rooms.

Good Design Not Expensive

Good design and durability are not necessarily dependent upon cost. New mass production methods make the finest furniture available at moderate prices.

Fabrics are produced in such large volume as to sell at reasonable prices, too. Not since pre-war days has such a wide selection of furniture covers and drapery materials been offered by stores.

Modern of today and will be the traditional of tomorrow. The more one learns about cabinet woods, the more likely one is to come to the century-old conclusion, "After all, there's nothing like mahogany"—and, really, there isn't.

Dual-Purpose Approach Appears In New Fall Decorating Fabrics

The dual-purpose approach has taken hold among fabric designers, so that the big news in decorative fabrics this year is found in materials which can be used for both draperies and upholstery—cloths that couple firmness of weave and aptness to drape, giving them a variety of uses. Similar to this dual design approach is the trend toward making fabric designs more flexible. There is less tendency to stamp a fabric 18th Century, modern, etc. Instead more fabrics are adaptable to a variety of interiors and backgrounds.

Old-time fabrics that recall bygone days seems to be heading fall's choice, with the spotlight focused on Provincial prints, the homespun look in woven goods, documentaries. In fact, the popularity of Provincial furniture has inspired fabric designers to provide suitable cloth. Documents are playing an especially important role in this Provincial story. They are being reproduced authentically in many cases, or given crisp, contemporary look through recoloring and rescaling. Calicoes, so popular in ready-to-wear this year, are influencing many designers to work intricately mottled grounds.

Texture interest continues more strongly than ever. Nubby yarns are being used in both warp and filling to give a new knotted ef-

Museum of Science Exhibits Model of an Ideal Community

NEW YORK—The exhibit, "Tomorrow's World—an Ideal Community to Work, Play and Live!" sponsored by the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, to be shown at the Museum of Science and Industry at Rockefeller Center, Oct. 1-29, will feature a model of the ideal community. It has been announced by Eleanor Pepper, chairman of the Exhibition Committee of the chapter.

Glass Makes New Glass Curtains

News of interest to the discriminating homemaker who is urging her favorite decorator to obtain eye-catching new curtains for her home was contained in an announcement of the first truly GLASS glass curtains in history.

Made possible by a new corning process developed by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., these new-type curtains of lovely soft shades are marquisettes woven of Fiberglas yarns. They definitely are an answer to the homemaker's prayer from the early 17th Century, when curtains first were used in Europe, to the present in that they are stretchproof and shrinkproof, wrinkle-resistant, easily laundered, water-repellent and they eliminate arduous ironing and stretching.

They're just as easy to sew as any curtain material, too. Ruffles and pleats for crisscross curtains can be made easily. In fact, they have all the good qualities of the best conventional curtains you ever had, plus the advantages of glass given a revolutionary new treatment.

At present, the glass curtains must be obtained through a decorator.

The name "Empire State" applied to New York dates back to 1784 when George Washington, after a tour of the state's harbors, waterways and fertile acres, called New York the Seat of Empire.

Textile interest continues more strongly than ever. Nubby yarns are being used in both warp and filling to give a new knotted ef-

The three dimensional model, 30 feet in diameter, will represent an area of approximately 2 square miles and will attempt to show that while people work, play and live in buildings appropriate to the activities conducted within them, these buildings should be related one to another to make for a well-planned community. Models of individual buildings have been taken from plans of actual or proposed installations submitted by architect members of the chapter.

The exhibit also points out the architect's role in making the home a place of pleasure; in making offices and factories healthier and safer, and shopping places more comfortable and convenient. The model shows, too, the architect's contribution to the planning of parks and recreation places. This ideal community illustrates that his efforts in building and planning a neighborhood are directed towards raising our daily life to a more ideal standard.

Booths at the museum, occupied by firms in allied fields, will show the latest innovations in home construction and decoration. Just as the architects will show in their buildings their preoccupation with the everyday working and living problems of men and women, so will the products displayed in booths show their concern about the average man's home problem. Some of the merchandise and methods to be shown are available now, while others are in the planning stages.

In addition and in connection with the exhibit, will be daily programs of talks by prominent architects, demonstrations by exhibitors and daily showings of industrial and educational films.

Lighting Fixture Versatile

"The old order changeth yielding place to the new" is the motto of the Gotham Lighting Corp., manufacturers of architectural and display lighting equipment. Their contributions to the architectural world has been constant improvement in the lighting field, brought about by thorough research and experimentation. The "Formlite" — their latest contribution to the field of fixtures is an outstanding example of the need for good design in the modern interior. Not satisfied with the so-called streamlined shapes that have been appearing in the past year, the corporation wanted to bring about the birth of a lighting fixture that would combine the simplicity of the modern with the elegance of the old. They turned to the past to find the answer to their need. And it was in Italy, where the finest tradition of beauty and design has been maintained throughout the years, that they found the perfect shape. Formlite is an American citizen with the best Italian tradition behind it.

Not only does its design recommend it as ideal for home use, but we can list many of its functions that add to its desirability. Flexibility in application; numerous mounting arrangements; adaptability for accent and overall lighting for modern interiors; easy installation on standard outlet box; and availability of pin-up and desk type with cord and plug for those lovers of bedtime reading, are just a few of the attributes that come along with the clean-cut and graceful design.

There are over 16 different kinds of applications for this fixture, making it adaptable to every conceivable home use, and making "Formlite" tops in form and function.

BAKE SPINACH AND EGG
To make a delicious luncheon dish put a layer of chopped, cooked, seasoned spinach in an individual baking dish. Slip an egg on top and sprinkle lightly with salt, pepper and celery salt. Pour a tablespoon of heavy cream over the egg and sprinkle thickly with coarsely grated soft yellow cheese. Bake the individual dishes in a moderate (375 F.) oven for about 20 minutes, or until the egg white is set.

"Functional" is truly the word for this room, which doubles as a desk and guest room, with plenty of storage space supplied by the handsome twin chest. It is ideal for either a man or a woman.

American Homemakers Favoring Tints of Green

New York City — American homemakers may be seeing red about high prices, but they definitely are seeing green when it comes to home decoration. Green is emerging as the most popular single color family in home furnishings and decoration, according to Frederic H. Rahr, color consultant. He based his conclusions about current and future home furnishings trends on the Rahr Color Count, a series of recent nationwide surveys conducted in leading stores by the Rahr Color Clinic of which he is president.

American homemakers cast an overwhelmingly large vote for cool colors for walls, floor coverings, fabrics and accessories for almost every room in the house, he said. Although a large percentage of the 115,000 shoppers interviewed said: "Make mine green," individual choices for very specific tints, tones and shades of green were apparent. Some want deep forest green. Others want sprout or yellow-green while still others were positive about wanting cool kingfisher green.

Despite a generally cool household palette, homes are not going to be devoid of warmth. Most popular accent colors currently are bright red tones which homemakers are using effectively as warm notes. Variations of this hue include geranium, flame and bright stop-light red which are being used in decorative accessories, fabrics and some other home furnishings items.

NEW INTEREST IN PURPLE HEATHER

Surprise color of the year according to the report is purple heather. A new interest in this color, ranging from light to dark and blue to red, may skyrocket this hue to real popularity as both a basic and accent color during the next few months.

Citron yellow and a strong pink are other colors voted popular by women across the nation.

Two trends, predicted in 1946 by the Rahr Color Count, have developed further. Walls are getting darker, floors are getting lighter. The gray rug, which women indicated as first color choice in 1946, continues to be a best-seller across the country, but indications are that its popularity may soon swing toward cooler, cleaner colors for some rooms. Less important than gray, beige also takes on interest as a floor color in line with the demand for neutral carpets and rugs.

Gray as a wall color also is a current favorite, survey results show, and the gray gradually is growing darker with even black coming in as a high fashion note.

STRONG COLORS PREVAIL

Gone are the buffs, tans and

Home Needs Plenty Of Electric Outlets

Unless a home has sufficient electric outlets it is impossible to make fullest use of lamps and labor-saving appliances. A double outlet for each wall of every room in the house is not too many. These are most convenient when mounted in the baseboard.

In the kitchen, the outlets should be placed over working surfaces to make most efficient use of the various kitchen appliances without stooping to reach an outlet or trailing a long extension cord across the floor. Where there are not sufficient outlets in existing homes, it is usually simple and inexpensive for an electrician to install additional facilities. The added convenience more than makes up for the cost.

mic pastels, maroons, wines and dark blues of pre-war fabric popularity. They are being replaced rapidly by strong pure colors. Even the kitchen and bathroom, once thought of only terms of clinical white and off-whites, have gone kaleidoscopic. The kitchen possibly is the most revolutionary new-look room in the house with color wanted everywhere, even in major appliances. Yellow and red are popular accent colors in the kitchen.

Not only are homemakers across the country clamoring for more color, but they now have a voice in getting the colors, they want. Mr. Rahr said. Merchandise in the popular colors will be available early this fall since many of the nation's leading manufacturers and retail stores have styled and bought goods in accordance with the Rahr Color Count report.

Regional differences and diversified income levels do not change color appetites to any great extent, the report shows. The west coast, generally believed to go in for brighter color than other sections of the country, is very little different from the east coast and the middle west this year. Surveys run in high fashion stores reflect about the same color thinking as those run in budget departments, with a few marked differences for certain items, he said.

A comparison of 1948-49 results with those run in 1946 has convinced us that American women have developed a far more sophisticated color sense in the past two years," Mr. Rahr said. "The emphasis on cool colors for so many home furnishings items may point to plans for decorating rooms in several tints, tones and shades of the same color with small contrasting accents.

Color Is Gay In New Trend

The trend toward bright colors will be even more pronounced during the coming season. Bold use of color in all home furnishings is apparently here to stay, and suppliers, keenly aware of trends in popular taste, are making available furniture, rugs, fabrics and accessories that make it easy for the average homemaker to be her own decorator. Color co-ordinated merchandise is not confined to the top price lines, but is available in every price category.

High Style at Low Cost Now Available in Rugs

An encouraging innovation in the carpet and rug market is the definite trend for high style in the lesser priced wool carpets and rugs.

Carpet manufacturers are paying great attention to consumer demands for smartly styled, well-colored price groups. These are not only excellent copies of far more expensive texture weaves and exquisite patterned fabrics, but in many cases offer real competition to the luxury items.

The 1948 market offers a generous selection of popular priced Axminster in artfully embossed and sculptured effects, achieved through variations of a single color. This is good news indeed for the average homemaker who wants a wool carpet or rug as well styled and skillfully colored as expensive designs but at a price she can afford. Today machine weaving has spread from there are many designs which answer this demand.

Several interesting items which are now on the market point up wood tones this year. The delectable predictions made by home fashion experts. Over-scale florals are still good but small scale, which have captured so many closely set repeat patterns in the hearts are still good, but these less busy designs are forging floral motifs have given way to ahead. The ground is drawn from a high fashion color, an intensely deep green which seems almost black. Deep, Rich Colors

Deep rich ground colors with a "black look" are worth watching. Fashion experts feel that upholstery and carpets as well as drapery fabrics are going to lean heavily on these tones in the coming year.

In the plain-colored field, a smart new Axminster with the shaggy appearance of a fine handloom tweed fabric is making its debut. Here, too, one finds the intense dark shades such as gunmetal grey, hunter green and rich tobacco beige. The textured appearance of this carpet is achieved by a special weaving process.

Found wire texture weaves are gaining in importance. Hand and machine carving has spread from border designs to all-over motifs. Carpet stylists are influenced by wood and wood grains as well as are now on the market point up wood tones this year. The delectable predictions made by home fashion experts. Both ends of the rainbow receive attention in carpet colors. While grey and medium green are still tops, a whole handful of unusual carpet colors are moving rapidly into the foreground. Grey, once a high fashion color, is now shown in all price brackets. Grey with a yellowish, gold cast is gaining ground. Yellow green and willow green have replaced chartreuse. Copper tones and tangerine, the later ranging from almost pure orange through apricot and coral, bear watching. As mentioned before, ground colors in almost black seal brown, intense green and plum are important. Grey and medium green, mentioned above, beige and rose are still good and in this order, particularly for the homemaker who is doing a refurnishing decorating job.

Bordered Rugs

Bordered rugs are coming out from under the cloud, too. Excellent and authentic copies of Orientals, Persians and Chinese are being shown by several manufacturers. Great advances have been made in these designs. Wonderfully softened colors give the desired "aged" look to these rugs. Clear, clean, yet far from sharp, ground colors in cream, blue or red are a far cry from the either too intense, or too muddy colors formerly found in many of these patterns.

Midas Touch Casts a Golden Spell on Textiles for Homes

The Midas touch which has cast a golden spell on everything from weaving metals with wool or silk had passed without a change until the invention of lurex with its odorless, non-tarnishable and lighter weight advantages, she pointed out.

The display of modern textiles woven with lurex covered the full range from sheerest chiffon to luxuriously thick pile carpeting. Tissues, ginghams, taffetas, tweeds, metal-embroidered fabrics, velvets, brocades, upholstery and drapery in raw silk and woolen were all represented. In addition, many types of lurex-patterned braids, some in the fashion category and others intended for upholstery purposes, were included.

The adaptability of the aluminum-base lurex fiber to hand or machine weaving was proved by its use in both warp and filling construction, from the barest suggestion of gold flicker and softly colored wools to a blaze of metal

In lame, sometimes quilted.

Metal Adds Variability

"Now that lurex has come into the textile field," said Miss Liebes in introducing the fabrics, "it's no longer possible to say that there's nothing new under the sun. But certainly there is nothing new about the use of metal. It is simply an extension of our color palette, adding beauty and variability to fabrics. Since the beginning of time, artists have tried to enhance their colors by insinuating 'sunlight and moonlight,' or the magic of 'glint.'"

A length of the lurex upholstery fabric woven for Princess Elizabeth's new residence, Windlesham Moor, Surrey, was on display. In white wool with a thin back stripe of silver lurex, the interesting ridged fabric was designed by the English textile house, Tibor, Ltd.

Also shown was a hand-loomed drapery or upholstery fabric in rayon cotton and lurex, combining deep pink, green and gold, one of a collection woven by the blind, from Stockholm and Romann.

Included in the drapery and upholstery fabrics were a grey horizontally striped loop pile wool with gold lurex from Collins and Aikman; a nubby yellow cotton striped with silver lurex from Louisville Textile Co.; a coral and blue cotton-and-rayon woven stripe with gold lurex from F. Schumacher & Co., and Goodall's metallic sheer casement cloth in white cotton and mohair with gold lurex stripe.

Exhibit of Furnishings

The home furnishings exhibit, arranged by Tom Lee, included the work of well-known decorators, furniture designers and manufacturers. A number of the pieces shown were brought to New York from Chicago, where they had been introduced in the recent Furniture Market Week. Both modern and antique pieces of furniture were arranged in abstract groupings, highlighting the lurex-woven upholstery or drapery fabric used. An important aspect of the display was its lighting. Tom Lee points out that most people live and work the major part of their time under electric light, and that metallic fabrics, whether used as upholstery, drapery, rugs, lampshades or tablecloths, give new depth and texture in decoration.

The fabrics woven are particularly adaptable to modern design adding warmth to rooms where simplicity of form is paramount.

Chinese-Inspired

One furniture and textile grouping suggested a modern room with Chinese inspiration. In this group were a Lobel Chinese modern settee, with back and seat upholstered in Joan Maag's narrow, striped coral chenille and gold lurex fabric. It was shown against Dorothy Liebes' handwoven screen of Chinese grasses and gold lurex, with a length of Lehman-Connor's dull apricot and silver lurex twill drapery fabric.

Sofa Beds Are Useful, Decorative

A blend of functionalism and beauty correctly describes the new styles in sofa beds and convertible love seats introduced recently. The demand for double-duty sleep equipment is still high because of inadequate housing. The elimination of guest rooms in new homes creates a further need. So bedding manufacturers have devised new models which will furnish comfortable sleeping facilities and at the same time add decorative charm to the home.

Improved mechanisms make the process of converting the sofa into a bed a quick and easy operation. The comfort of these pieces, too, has been greatly improved. Wire used in the coil construction has been to war and profited in resilience and durability by the extensive research which was done to make it meet rigid military requirements.

The lines of both traditional and modern style sofa beds have been smoothed and streamlined to appeal to the most discerning eye. Cover fabrics are available in a much wider array than ever before. Their colors and designs have that "new look" which typifies the post-war era.

In fact, the new dual-purpose sleep equipment offers stiff competition to the finest in living room furniture in every way. A standard size sofa bed flanked by end tables, a pair of convertible love seats on either side of the fireplace or a convertible love seat and, perhaps, a sleep chair in a corner grouping add graciousness to the living room decor and conveniently solve the overnight guest problem. Time was when a sofa bed was purchased for convenience only. The stunning new post-war models, however, have changed the picture completely.

TU Scholarships Are Awarded

AUSTIN — Non-resident graduate tuition scholarships have been granted by the University of Texas for the 1948-49 session to students from 11 other states, Canada and China.

The states represented in the $125-per-semester tuition scholarships are Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, Iowa, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, New York and Ohio.

Also one Pennsylvania, Arthur Ernest Harriman of Lewisburg, received a $500 university graduate scholarship in experimental physics; and on the alternate list for a similar scholarship in business administration is George Robert Weed of Arton, Ala.

This capacious vanity is formed by placing two end chests at either side of a small dressing table. It is a striking example of the flexibility of much of the new furniture and provides ample storage space.

Radios Are Dual-Duty Surprises

A radio is no longer just a radio. Today it frequently combines a variety of other features.

For instance, there is a handsome new piano which is not only a fine musical instrument, but also a radio and phonograph! This triple duty instrument has built-in drawers on either side. Pull out one drawer and you have a radio, pull out the other and you get a phonograph.

Need a radio to bed with a good book, and turn on the bed lamp attached to the headboard. Just twist a dial on the lamp and you can also listen to the radio. Yes, it's a combination bedlamp and radio. The light is at the best angle for reading without eyestrain.

If you've got jangled nerves from a jangling alarm clock, there's a radio-alarm clock that's the answer to your prayers. Simply set the clock in your radio to your favorite program, and you can be awakened by the velvet notes of soft music. Or, if you like, by your early morning news program.

To answer the ash-tray problem, one radio now includes a smoking stand. For small apartment dwellers there's a radio-bar combination on the market. And in Hollywood, where they don't do things by halves, they're fond of a half-pint-sized radio, no larger than a cigaret case. It's built like a hearing aid, and plugs right into the ear so you can listen while you work. Nobody else can hear.

Modern radios offer a lot of surprises for those who want to be different!

The rocking chair, so popular with our grandparents, has a legion of admirers today, too. Furniture designers have not neglected those who like to rock!

Rude Tools of Ancients Found

ELLSWORTH FALLS, Me. —(AP)—Rude tools and weapons have been uncovered under four feet of silt disclosing three "layers of occupation" on Wasp Island in Union River.

Archeologists believe the island was used as a camp site by nomadic Indians.

psychology; and on the alternate list for a similar scholarship in business administration is George Robert Weed of Arton, Ala.

Hobbyist

This is "Miss Wyoming," nee Carol Held of Lusk, Wyo., who, in addition to having what it takes to compete for the "Miss America" beauty crown, has hobbies. They are piano playing, which won her a free trip to New York to take a Barbizon modeling course, baking cakes and pies and horseback riding. About swimming—we dunno.

Headboard Beds Are Attractive

Of all the bed styles in history, today's popular headboard beds are undoubtedly the simplest, yet most attractive. They require a minimum of floor space, and their lovely upholstery fabrics usually form the basis for a bedroom decorative scheme which is colorful and personalized.

Beds used by the ancient Greeks and Romans, made of ivory, gold and silver, would have small appeal for today's homemaker. The huge monstrosities of the Middle Ages, ornately carved and heavily encrusted with jewels, would probably vex her efficient, fashion-wise soul.

The five to seven-piece bedroom suites of not so long ago have lost favor with her too. The a la carte selection of bedroom furnishings which starts with headboard beds is much more practical and offers many more opportunities for original decorative ideas.

For example, she can choose a headboard upholstered in silk cloth, monk's cloth, corduroy, chintz, gingham, nylon, satin, taffeta, velvet, leatherette or plastics. It may be a floral pattern, a stripe, plaid, check, polka dot or solid color. Bedspreads, draperies and dressing table skirt can be made to match or blend, giving colorful continuity to the decorative theme.

Instead of bulky suite pieces, she can choose sectional storage pieces—as many or few as she needs—and group them together to save space. And the space saved makes room for a desk, perhaps, an easy chair or other furnishings which provide greater cause they are light to carry and light to look at. In offices and hotels, where furniture is often changed around and where massiveness means space limitation, they perfectly combine comfort and sturdiness with graceful design. For doctor's offices, schools and other institutions, they have already acquired the reputation of Posture Chair. A bone specialist was so impressed by their specially designed curved back, and the easy but firm give of their seat, practically forcing the body to recline in the perfect body position, that she recommended them to her patients for posture correctness comfort.

The back and seat members are in hardwood laminated bends, with tapered legs, in a special maple lacquer finish.

livability. The colorless drabness of bedrooms in the not-too-far-distant past is just as passe as the elaborate ornamentation of ancient hours. The simplicity, charm and individuality of modern design is definitely taking over.

When the poison from honey bees is injected into a cut in the human body in large quantities, it produces almost the same effect, as the bite of a rattlesnake.

Insurance Sales Gain Slightly

AUSTIN — Life insurance sales in Texas gained 2 percent from July to August, the University of Texas Bureau of Business, Research reported.

August sales in Texas totaled $62,581,000, or 2 percent above year earlier.

Throughout the United States life insurance sales fell 5 percent from July to $1,128,117,000 or percent above August 1947.

Multi-Purpose Furniture Is Big News This Fall

Multi-purpose furniture is the big news this fall, according to Retailing Daily editors. While this is no new phenomenon, this tendency on the part of designers of both traditional and modern to provide interchangeable and versatile pieces is now evident in most new furniture. It's no longer a buffet, but a piece of furniture that can be used in the living room, dining room or bedroom. Bedroom chests became dining room pieces with the addition of a hutch on top (also adaptable as a bookcase). Chests can be used side by side for Mr. and Mrs., or one chest can be used on top of the other to make a highboy. By a change of the interior fittings, chests can hold silver if used in the dining room or lingerie if used in the bedroom. Bedside tables are designed to be equally at home in the living room as lamp tables or end tables.

This modern conception of furniture designed for efficient use does not detract one iota from the beauty of period pieces; in fact it has made a real contribution to the old, traditional forms. Again we are approaching a period of elegance in the home as well as in dress. Once again you will find fashion distinction through the use of rare woods—teak, rosewood, rare mahoganies, cherry, walnut, ebony, korina. More emphasis is placed on natural grains; combinations of woods contrasting light against dark; dark finishes and colorful painted and lacquer finishes. There is more marquetry, more carving; more elaborate hardware; more metal trims and gold tooling or leather. Sofas are oversized, and extra back and side cushions add notes of luxury. Metallic fabrics also emphasize the luxurious look.

The Chinese chapter of the fashion story is one of the most significant. All versions of Chinese design are to be seen, all of them providing elegance either through sophistication of line, detail of painted ornamentation, metal trim or carving. And there will be a much wider choice of period styles. There is more

RUMPUS ROOM IS GOOD SPOT FOR SOFA BED

Double-duty sleeping equipment is a natural for use in a rumpus room. Today sofa beds and studio couches are made in several different styles and covered with a variety of attractive fabrics, many of which have a rumpus room motif. An ideal arrangement would be to use one or two of these in place of a number of chairs scattered around the room. This would provide plenty of seating space, yet keep the floor uncluttered for dancing, games and other recreational activities. It would also provide daytime lounging facilities where mother could take a nap or the children could spend after-school hours. Perhaps best of all, these double-duty pieces would take care of extra guests by letting the rumpus room double for a guest room. Two studio couches or sofa beds could take care of four guests with ease as they are simple to open and pull out, becoming well-built beds which comfortably accommodate two persons each. If a college student son or daughter should bring friends home for a week end, the rumpus room could be turned over to them and all their activities centered in it during their visit. There are any number of times when an extra guest room would be convenient so that family activities would not be upset by a doubling-up on sleeping accommodations.

UN-TERRIBLE LIZARDS
The word "dinosaur" means "terrible lizard," but actually the dinosaurs, as a whole, were not inhabitants of the prehistoric earth. Some of them could not even support their huge bodies, except in water.

PLAN LIVING ROOM FOR ALL LIVING

Plan your living room for full-time living. Plan for relaxed entertaining, letter writing, enjoyment of books, music, and radio—all the interests that create happy living for your family.

You'll want some brilliant color in your living room, but be careful. Make sure your overall scheme is restful, warns Christine Holbrook, home furnishings editor of Better Homes & Gardens magazine.

You'll be safest with plain walls. If you have an old living room, paint over any bad features—adaptors, fireplace, woodwork, doors—with the same color you use on walls.

When buying materials, get just one pattern. For the rest of the room choose solid colors picked from the pattern, and perhaps a harmonizing stripe, with patterned walls use plain draperies and rug. With patterned rug, everything else in the room must be subdued.

Wall-to-wall carpeting gives a restful, unbroken line and makes a small room look larger. When you use small throw rugs, remember two rules: (1) Make a rug part of furniture group. (2) Place throw rugs square with your room.

Simplicity, Service and Dash

Simple windows are the loveliest. While most curtains are floor-length, feel free to use them full or apron-length in an informal room. You may want some kind of blinds for light control and privacy. Or mount draperies on transverse rods so they can be pulled at night.

Don't buy or even keep a single piece of furniture you don't need. When you buy, select pieces that look well together but still keep some personality of their own. Sectional units, a pair of easy chairs, or matching end tables are a wise buy. They'll make it easier for you to plan a balanced arrangement without overloading your room with look-alikes.

When you shop be sure to pick furniture in scale with your room's size. If you have a small room, take advantage of today's double-use furniture, cabinets that combine desk, bookcase, and general storage; sofas that turn into beds; occasional chairs that may be moved easily. Don't be afraid to combine wood finishes. Bleached and dark woods complement each other. A room full of pale furniture takes on new sparkle if you add a strategic piece or two with red, dark green, or black lacquer finish.

Are there years of wear left in the furniture you have? Then fit the upholstered pieces into your new decorating scheme with slip covers. Bleach or lacquer old furniture to make them real assets to a room.

Good decorating is placing furniture the way it serves you best, whether that is the usual way or not. If you want a quiet alcove for reading, block off part of your room with sectional bookcases or a spinet desk.

Have a Dramatic Spot

Every room should have one dramatic spot. This center of interest may be a fireplace, or a bay or picture window. Balance furniture on either side of your strong feature to play it up. If your room has no natural center of interest, you can make one with a wall of bookshelves, or even a good sofa grouping.

Usually your main conversation group will be located at room's center of interest. Provide plenty of seating where you can chat with friends. Near every seat there should be an end table or coffee table for ash trays and refreshments.

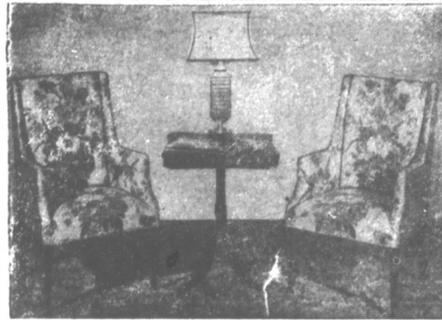

For reading you'll want a comfortable chair, a good lamp, and

You can't have too many tables. Properly placed, occasional tables give a room an air of unity. They're practical too, for lamps, ashtrays, refreshments and ornaments.

Attractive twin headboard beds with dust ruffles to match the headboard upholstery add color and charm to this bedroom designed for two sisters. The dressing table top and stool matches the headboard, and the ruffles on the curtains are bound in pale green to match the bedspread.

The classic wing chair, originally designed to protect Queen Anne from drafts, comes in a wide choice of present day adaptations.

Laundry Bill of 24 Years Overdue

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Mrs. Mary Petru says James Masek owes her for 24 years of weekly wash.

Mrs. Petru filed suit in Johnson County District Court seeking an end table, located as close as possible to bookshelves. For armchairs, provide a well-lighted card table and chairs. If you have a piano, consider the comfort of listeners as well as the musician. As you plan your room, bear in mind the natural traffic lanes through it. Keeping them clear will save you many steps.

When you are selecting accessories, one good general rule is to have them few and substantial. Pictures too, must look important. Pictures should be a part of a furniture group. Hang them over your sofa, fireplace, desk, or radio—not on an orphan expanse of wall. Whatever you do, don't let your decorating enthusiasm run away with you. Remember—your family's comfort comes first.

she collected a $1,196 laundry bill from Masek. She asserts she had done his laundry every week (at $1 a week) since 1924 and never has been paid.

DARK WALLS TREND IN DECORATION

Color revolution in interior decoration has reached such proportions that all colored illustrations analyzed which had appeared in the foremost home magazines, in a recent six-week period, over 90 percent showed dark walls, according to a survey by Lonore Kent, director of promotion and development of the National Paint, Varnish and Lacquer Association, Inc.

"Five dark colors shared the spotlight," said Miss Kent, who based her report upon proofs of more than half a hundred of the current color plates. "These five were deep green, dark grey (gunmetal), dark brown, dull red and a medium-to-dark blue. They appeared in the colored photographs of model rooms on display in important key cities, in the decorator-supervised rooms of private homes which are featured editorially by leading magazines, and in the advertisements of the country's outstanding manufacturers of furniture, rugs and carpets, fabrics, plumbing and heating fixtures, linoleum and asphalt tile, kitchen cupboards and mechanical equipment.

EFFECTIVE BACKGROUNDS

"Furniture makers foster the trend because of its style importance and because the dark walls show the increasingly popular light wood furniture so advantageously," continued Miss Kent. "They illustrate the fact, too, that deep-colored backgrounds also lend richness to dark woods.

"Rug manufacturers, with the light-toned floor coverings on the fashion up-and-up, feature the fashionable dark walls in their ads because they show their new wares to such advantage. The makers of other products which are primarily produced in white or light colors are undoubtedly fostering the trend for the same reason.

YELLOW FOR KITCHENS

"Yellow is appearing as a wall color only in the kitchen, but it is gaining popularity as a fabric and accent color, and as a color used for kitchen accessories.

"Grey is gaining steadily in popular acceptance—dark grey (gunmetal) for walls, lighter grey for rugs, drapery and upholstery fabrics.

"Yellow-green or chartreuse continues to gain headway for fabrics and accent accessories, while the orange-red tones, known variously by such names as persimmon, bittersweet, etc., are coming across the style horizon."

LIQUOR CUT

SHANGHAI (AP)—Chinese embassies throughout the world were ordered to cut down liquor bills in line with the austerity measures being taken within the republic.

Don't forget baby. You'll give your children a fine start in life with a room of their own. The miniature wardrobe and chest shown above will teach baby the importance of neatness at an early age.

Co-Ordinated Groups for Home Gain Popularity

Home furnishings in good taste, fashion-right colors and the latest decorator designs are holding the price line remarkably well because of improved store buying habits, according to Roscoe R. Rau, executive vice president of the National Retail Furniture Association.

More and more, furniture stores are beginning to feature co-ordinated groupings that make this possible, he stated, and no longer do buyers regard a piece of furniture as a separate, unintegrated, decorative item.

The nation's homemakers are now requiring stores to show well-balanced furniture groupings—upholstery covers that blend with draperies, rugs, lamps and other household accessories.

The world of fashion has at last invaded the home furnishings field, he said; and colors that are chic one season give way to popular trends just as they do in apparel and millinery.

Army guns put up in cans can be preserved in perfect working order for 50 years, Ordnance experts estimate.

Maple furniture in authentic early American reproductions is favored by many. The room above is authentic in every detail, yet is suitable to the demands of modern living.

Attractive Floors Are as Important as Furniture

Attractive floors are as important to the beauty of a home as fine furnishings or tasteful decorations. Drab or poorly maintained floors can nullify the effects of otherwise attractive rooms, while gleaming, well kept floors accentuate the beauty of their surroundings.

They dominate unobtrusively, forming the subtle background which plays such an important role in determining overall appearance. They impart an air of dignity and refinement to even the most modestly furnished home.

In a very true sense—and with no pun intended—they can be said to reflect the personality and character of the homeowner.

By far the most extensively used of all flooring materials in American homes is oak, long famous for its mellow beauty and timeless durability. In Europe today are structures several centuries old, with oak floors still intact and possessing their original splendor. In America, too, are colonial homes whose oak floors have retained their beauty after more than 200 years of wear. Other hardwoods used for flooring include maple, beech, birch and pecan.

FLOOR HARMONY.

Home designers point out that floors should harmonize with the architectural style of the house or with the furnishings. This harmony is easily achieved with oak flooring, since various types are manufactured. A specific type may be obtained to match any style or period. The selection includes many varieties of strip, plank and parquet or pattern flooring.

With ordinary care it is a simple matter to keep oak floors clean and sparkling. A daily sweeping with an untreated dust mop and an occasional cleaning and waxing are the fundamentals of maintenance. Brushing from time to time with a weighted floor brush or electric polisher will keep the floors gleaming. Most experts advise against use of soap and water for cleaning, since it may harm the finish. They recommend special floor cleaning preparations now on the market. These contain wax but not water, and thus give the floor a thorough dry cleaning. Such cleaners also coat the floor with a thin protective film, which helps ward off dirt penetration.

WAX PROTECTS FINISH

To obtain the utmost satisfaction from the rich gleaming beauty of oak floors it is best to re-wax them several times a year. Wax protects the finish

Modern Furniture Is Leader

If your home is furnished in modern, you're at the peak of the fashion, for that style is now firmly entrenched as America's number one preference, a survey conducted by the National Retail Furniture Association discloses. Its popularity has skyrocketed to such heights during the last year that more modern is being purchased for American homes than any other single style, and shows no signs of diminishing.

Walnut appears to be the favorite wood for the modernists, and the trend to the new simplified designs is particularly noticeable in dining room and bedroom suites.

It should not be construed, however, that modern is "running away" with the American home, although this new fledged style accounts for 50 percent of all living room suites sold.

It is unlikely, according to style authorities, that modern will permanently replace the traditional period styles for all time. The modern influence will creep into even the traditional designs, but these established periods are so well founded through long use and intrinsic esthetic value that it is unlikely any new style will drive them completely from even the modern home.

As one designer puts it, "Modern is disappearing as a definite and sharply limited style, but expanding simply as good design with modern feeling. There will definitely be more of this as time goes on."

Hence, while the contemporary influence is more manifest this season than at any time in the past, it is not the bizarre, weird moderne of several years ago, but rather a much modified modern more adaptable to the average home, and more in harmony with the established periods.

Nearly 75 percent of the bedroom furniture sold in California last year was modern in design, while New England still clung to the elegant, traditional 18th Century bedroom suite. Thirty-five percent of sales in New England were traditional and only 28 percent modern.

Early American designs are preferred by 10 percent in both California and New England. Sales of 18th Century bedroom suites were the lowest in California. The most popular wood was walnut.

Mahogany leads in the 8-piece dining room suite category in all parts of the county, but ties for first place with walnut on the West Coast.

Kitchen Can Be Given Glamour

One new idea can work wonders in your kitchen. Here are four suggestions from Better Homes & Gardens magazine, guaranteed to increase the efficiency of your kitchen and give your workaday spirits a boost.

If you need a kitchen towel rack, look for a spot where it not only will be handy, but will also have show-off value.

Or perhaps you need a spot in your kitchen where you can plan the grocery order and a place where you can serve a between-meal snack. Then put idle wall space to work for a shelf-and-dropleaf combination.

For really practical beauty, try a kitchen table with a double-decker top. Bottom deck is put away for Daily newspaper, Put-by comic books, your cookbook, or a magazine you like to thumb through while the kettle simmers. With this neat trick you can double table area, and the family has no alibi for clutter.

"We haven't read this one, Muffin," she remarked very casually, and only her eyes betrayed her, large and brightly blue, with languid lids. "I wonder if it's any good."

"Well, I didn't find it very helpful," Hilary admitted, adoring her gameness. "I was hoping to learn something about the technique. The trouble is, they all take their hunting so seriously. It's too bad I haven't got some chains to rattle!"

She searched the shelves briefly and returned the book to the empty space it had left, then went on with her dusting, silent and very thoughtful.

Lamps Add Touch of Individual

Modern youngsters know their coats when it comes to furnishing a home.

Instead of the old fashioned method of buying furnishings and accessories in a package, many present-day homemakers have realized the thrill of piece-by-piece selection and it has proved to be just as inexpensive in the long run. No more of those stereotyped—it looks as if I've been here before—living rooms. With taste and individuality today's moderns have begun to make even the tiniest apartment an expression of themselves.

A large lamp corporation of Chicago demonstrates that the most outstanding contribution to this self-expression in the home may be noted in the quality and variety of new lamps. This company has designed lamps of simple distinction to conform with both the traditional and modern decorating trends. Well-chosen and well-placed, these lamps are more than just an accessory in a room. They become the center of attraction.

The concern has achieved this happy union in a new collection. The unusual ceramic reproductions of authentic art treasures, such as an ancient African mask base finished in hand-glazed pottery and mounted upon solid wood with bleached mahogany finish, serve to bring art into the home where it belongs. For those who prefer the traditional, there is a practical end-table lamp of solid maple with a swinging arm three-way reflector lamp. Each of these together with every other model in the line is functional as well as eye-catching.

Care Required In Decoration Of Small Bath

Small spaces require more care in their planning and decoration than large, and the bathroom is no exception to that rule.

Plenty of color may be fine in the rest of the home, but the bath should be kept simple and done in one or two carefully selected shades, says a Tile Council of America report.

Best idea, it suggests, is to plan the bathroom walls and floor as a background rather than as the dominant room element. Major color interest can then come from towels, shower curtain and bath mat. A change of shade in these will give the effect of a redecoration and because the price is right the appeal is unlimited.

Bathrooms Are Easy To Bring Up to Date

Most bathrooms in homes built 20 years ago were the last word in architectural design at that time, but are out-dated now, with their white-tile floors and walls. It is easy and inexpensive to modernize bleak, undistinguished bathrooms by the generous use of bright color. A suggestion: A new plastic shower curtain, with salmon background overprinted in black, as a bright contrast to pale green walls above white wainscot. Window curtains to match the shower curtain. If your tastes run to more brilliant hues, give them full sway in modernizing the bathroom.

For shelves over your range try open shelves with chromium finish. They support the dishes and pans without forming a heat pocket below and between. They are easy to clean and add sparkle to any kitchen.

THE STORY: Dying in the Indian desert, British doctor, Hilary Sheehan, feels a desperate need to get back to England and to see his family home. He doesn't know the house has been bought by a woman, 37-year-old Sabrina, whom he has never met, has adopted his old room and exactly as it was. Hilary does return to England and to Nuns Farthing—after death. When he sees Sabina, he realizes she is the girl he would have loved best. Hilary's room is locked after George, his brother, brings word that Sabina has been seen by Mrs. Patten, the housekeeper, unless she comes to see Sabina. Hilary knows then that Hilary has come home. But Aunt Effie, beginning to feel a strain, says she has to go to bed. Hilary goes to bed. Sabina is upset when she finds out that Hilary is in the house. She persuades Sabina's father that they must move from the house and that Sabina should be sent to a school in Switzerland.

collect the vases to be changed. "Aunt Effie's mind was just settling down again, and now he's gone and got her unsettled."

"I'm sorry about last night," said Hilary, very contrite. "But I always did like lots of light."

Sabrina returned from the bathroom with a vase full of fresh water in each hand. She placed them on the desk and began to fill one with roses and one with tall delphiniums which raised their pale blue spires well above her shining head.

"Have you any idea how pleasant it is for me to see you come into this room with your arms full of flowers?" he remarked irrelevantly.

SHE was wrapping up the faded flowers neatly in the newspaper to take away downstairs. She put the newly filled vases back in their places and took a dust-cloth out of the desk drawer. "I must say he's a very tidy person to keep house for," she remarked. "No cigar ash scattered about, no laundry to send away, no—"

She stood still, looking down at the seat of the armchair under the reading-light. A book lay there—a book she had never taken off the shelf. And the loose silk cushions was crumpled down into the corner against the arm.

"Wrong again," said Hilary uneasily. "I'm getting careless. I meant to put it back."

Behave sensibly, Sabrina, she told herself. He can see you. Behave as though it was not unusual of him to leave things lying about. Be tactful, Sabrina.

Almost automatically she reached for the cushion and plumped it and set it back in place. Then, more slowly, she picked up the book he had been reading. It was black, with its title in gold letters—"True Ghost Stories."

Homesick Convict Asks for Pardon

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Members of the Pennsylvania Board of Pardons said they are considering the commutation plea of a prisoner who wrote "Frankly, gentlemen, I am homesick."
 The board identified the prisoner as Percy Reid Miller, 24, of Lancaster, Pa., serving a three-to six year sentence at Eastern State Penitentiary, Philadelphia, on robbery charges.
 The board, in a letter to District Attorney John M. Ranck of Lancaster County, quoted Miller as writing:
 "Frankly, gentlemen, I am homesick. . . give me a crack at the outside world again, and if I fail you, I will be more surprised than anybody."

Young Women Given Warning

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII said the modern young woman, because of an illusion of worldliness, is in more peril than the women of past generations.
 "She has the illusion of experience and believes herself, on her own authority, superior to the young women of past generations," the Pontiff told representatives of the Society for the Protection of Young Women.
 "Her experience is superficial, insufficient to guard her against the roguery and hypocrisy of seducers. . . she believes herself able with impunity to read everything, taste everything. She is disarmed before the peril."
 The Pope urged the group, holding its 11th international congress, to extend its efforts through-

U.S. Demands Russia Return Lend-Lease Ships

WASHINGTON (AP)—Under Secretary of State Lovett said the United States has renewed its demand for early return of several ships sent to Russia under the wartime Lend-Lease program.
 The vessels are three ice breakers, 28 frigates and some smaller naval craft.
 Lovett said a news conference the demand was contained in a new note several weeks ago calling for resumption of negotiations to settle Russia's long overdue, $11 billion Lend-Lease account.
 He said the United States wants the Soviets to return the naval ships.
 The Soviets have ignored several earlier American requests for the return of the ships, part of a total Lend-Lease.
 In reply to questions, Lovett said there are a number of steps this country can take to force Russia to give back the vessels. He would not indicate what these actions might be.

 Kelley pleaded innocent at a special court session and was held for a hearing Oct. 19.
 The girl, the daughter of Rep. and Mrs. Edward F. Burns, was an office worker.

Harvesters Engage Lions in Grudge Tilt Friday Night

"BABE" RUTH WON FREAKISH GAME AS ACE SOUTHPAW PITCHER FOR RED SOX

Babe Ruth, baseball's greatest drawing card, played a prominent part in many record-breaking events during his twenty-two years in the major leagues.

But the Bambino, whose life saga, "The Babe Ruth Story," Roy Del Ruth's Allied Artists Production starring William Bendix, Claire Trevor and Charles Bickford, opens Sunday at the La Nora theatre, early in his career performed in a game with one of the oddest endings in diamond history.

Back in 1917, Ruth was a left hand pitcher for the Boston Red Sox, and of the best of that era. Hurling against Washington in the Capitol City one day, the Babe had the Senators licked, 2-1, in the last of the ninth inning, with runners on second and third and two men out.

Chick Gandil, Washington first baseman, fouled off two pitches and then clouted one of Ruth's losses high up on the left field fence. As the tying and winning runs scampered across the plate, young Ruth started for the dug-out, head bowed and cursing his fate.

Excited yells from the crowd and several of his teammates, however, brought the Babe's head up, and he looked toward home plate where all was excitement.

Gandil, who had hit the long blow, was lying on the ground between home plate and first base, struggling to rise. After swinging he had started to run to first, only to have his knee go out of joint as he turned.

Out in left field, Duffy Lewis of the Red Sox had retrieved the ball as it bounced off the barrier. As Gandil fought to his feet and hobbled toward first, Lewis

KILGORE—(P)—Amarillo tries to keep the Kilgore Drillers from tying up the playoff for Texas Class C baseball championship here tonight.

The Drillers crept up a game last night, winning the fifth game, 7-4. Amarillo, which now leads three games to two, could win the series between the champions of the West Texas-New Mexico League and the Lone Star League with a victory tonight.

Pampans Seeking Revenge For Last Season's Drubbing

By GENE GARRISON
News Sports Editor

A rough and rowdy band of Vernon Lions tapered off grid rehearsals yesterday afternoon, in preparation for their tilt Friday night with the undefeated Pampa Harvesters in Harvester Park.

Although the Lions are rated a slight underdog, it would be foolish to misinterpret their abilities and those of their shrewd mentor, Buscè Dixon. A lesson known already too well by the local schoolboys lies in waiting, should they relax in Friday's tussle. Rated as the seventh-best team in the state last year, the Harvesters were dropped like hot potatoes by the Lions, 32-14 in Vernon.

Tomorrow night's contest has the earmarks of a thriller as the Harvesters seem determined to get their long-awaited revenge, and the Lions are just as determined to prevent the Pampans from completing their task.

According to a statement by Lion Coach Dixon, the Vernon club is undaunted as they face this fourth test of the current campaign. They have been rated underdogs in all three of their tilts thus far—and have upset the apparent favorite.

Pat Gerald's potent Sweetwater Mustangs lived up to expectations by trouncing the Lions, 20-0, to start the season. But then a much older and experienced Allus, Okla., eleven fell victims to the Lions by a narrow margin of 13-12. Last week the Vernon team showed extensive improvements by whipping the Sherman Bears, 13-8.

The Lions have three lettermen back in uniform, but in addition to these, two other gridsters drew starting assignments in several contests last year—including the game with the locals. Listed as lettermen are Dwayne Sparks, alternating center and backfield man, Bill Hoffman, fullback, and R. C. Harris, tackle. Noel Dockery, one of the chief headaches last year for the Harvesters, is also back in uniform and so is Gene Rook, who started at left end against the Pampans last year.

It is doubtful if Dockery or Rook will see much action tomorrow night, since both are on the ailing list due to injuries received earlier in the season.

Billy Hoffman, high stepping, 150-pound fullback, will probably cause most of the trouble tomorrow night. Hoffman, a letterman last year, has thus far been the Lions' leading ground gainer.

The aerial route may be well used Friday night as little Billy James, 145-pound quarterback, specializes in slinging passes and has proven himself to be a top-notch field general. Louis Yoakum and Dwayne Sparks, Jerry Coffee will fill the two halfback posts.

The Lion forward wall has been sparked by Troy Hand, bruising 180-pound tackle. Hand and R. C. Harris, another 180-pound tackle, are reportedly two of the roughest in district 2-AA, which includes Wichita Falls, Graham, Childress, and Quanah.

Gene Rook and Newman Young have been chosen by Coach Dixon as probable starting ends, as both are capable receivers with lots of experience.

For the Harvesters, everyone seems to be in fair shape. Bill Bond, 185-pound end, has been out most of the week with a sprained knee, but may see a little action. Harbord Cox, 165-pound senior fullback, is still out with a bone infection, but may be ready for the Wichita Falls game. Aside from this, the local picture is relatively the same as last week.

The starting lineups:

Team	Pos.	Team
Vernon	Team	Pampa
Rook	LE	Smith
Hand	LT	Phillips
Anton	LG	Phillips
Rogers	RG	Hill
Harris	RT	Hutsell
Young	RE	Davis
James	QB	Lively
Yoakum	RHB	Kieth
Sparks	RHB	Williams
Hoffman	FB	Taylor

Shortage of Milk Seen by Professor

LUBBOCK—Don't be too hard on your milkman if you don't get all the milk you want. The milk situation promises to get worse on the campus of Texas Tech, and over the nation generally.

This warning was issued by Dr. J. J. Williamson, professor and acting chairman of dairy manufacture at Tech, in answer to urgent requests from consumers and bottlers for "more milk."

Yanks and Red Sox Must Win To Stay in AL Pennant Fight

By the Associated Press

Victory is a must today for the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees. They have to win in order to keep their slim mathematical chances of overhauling the front-running Cleveland Indians in the American League pennant race.

The Indians, two games ahead of the Red Sox and Yankees, are idle today. New York and Boston defeats would assure the Tribe of no worse than tie for the crown.

Should both the Yanks and Red Sox show the Indians can clinch their first flag since 1920 by beating the Detroit Tigers Friday. All three contenders have three games to play.

Boston clashes with the seventh-place Washington Senators in Fenway Park while the Yanks tackle the tough Athletics in Philadelphia.

The Indians maintained their commanding two-game bulge by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 5-2 yesterday. The Yanks downed the Athletics, 4-2 and the Red Sox turned back Washington, 5-1.

While the battle for the American League's World Series entry raged, the National League's representative, the Boston Braves, suffered a jolt.

The Braves lost the services of Jeff Heath for the rest of the year. Heath broke his left foot in a game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Braves won the game, 4-3, and Johnny Sain recorded his 23rd victory.

A scheduled first game of the Senators, Righthander Ellis Kinder allowed the Senators 11 hits in staggering to his 10th victory.

In the only other American League game Lefty Hal Newhouse turned in his 20th victory in pitching the Detroit Tigers to a 4-0, six-hit conquest over the St. Louis Browns.

The Cincinnati Reds snapped their seventh-place tie with Chicago by beating the Cubs, 5-3. A scheduled first game of a day-night doubleheader between the Cardinals in St. Louis was postponed because of rain but the night game was played with the Pirates winning, 2-1.

The New York Giants and the Philadelphia Phils were idle.

CCNY ATHLETES 'BAT' 607

NEW YORK—(P)—City College of New York's 14 varsity athletic teams won 74 contests out of 125 during the 1947-48 season for a .607 average. Although the cross-country team was the only Beaver squad with a perfect (4-0) record, nine teams emerged with a better than .600 won-lost mark. In addition the fencing team won the NCAA title.

The season records (numbers indicate contests won, lost, tied): baseball, 12-8; basketball, 15-3; basketball, women, 5-3; boxing, 0-1-1; cross-country, 4-0; fencing, 4-1; football, 2-8-1; lacrosse, 3-7; rifle, 4-8; soccer, 5-3; swimming, 6-1; tennis, 5-3 track, 3-1; and wrestling, 3-4-1.

Battery Improves Use Hearing Aids

NEW YORK—A new dry cell battery which breathes air through "lungs" and works three times longer has been developed by the National Carbon Co., Inc.

First use of the battery is for hearing aids, although other uses are foreseen.

Dr. Lauchlin M. Currie, vice-president, in charge of research, said one small battery will give 81 hours of service.

Coach John Bond and his Pampa High Guerillas meet their third test of the current season at 8 p. m. today when they engage the Borger Bullpups in Bulldog Stadium in Borger.

Both teams will be seeking their second win of the season, although the locals have one loss on their record while the Bullpups have still to taste defeat. Both hold wins over the same team—the Plainview Bullpups—the Guerillas by a 16-33 count, and the Borger club, by a 13-7 score. The locals were beaten by the power-laden Wheeler Mustangs, 12-0.

The Bullpups will be looking for their first win over the Guerillas in the past four years. The Guerillas hold wins of 21-14, 20-12, 20-19, and 33-0 over the Borgans.

Farm Fires Toll 3,500 Lives Yearly

Farm families are urged to exercise greater caution during the fall months to reduce steadily mounting farm fires which take 3,500 lives annually, according to a statement released by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

As the nation prepared to observe Fire Prevention Week October 8 to 14, the National Board called for organization of more farm fire-fighting units and greater attention to periodical drills by existing units during the fall and winter months, when most farm fires occur.

Nearly one-third of the fires which ate up $100,000,000 worth of farm property during 1947 would have been prevented by installation of lightning rods of the proper type on every farm building.

Ninety percent of the fires involving gasoline are caused by simple carelessness in handling the dangerous fuel. Special care was suggested in filling gasoline-burning machinery to avoid spilling the fuel or allowing it to drip over a hot muffler or a heated engine.

Gasoline should be stored in underground tanks equipped with standard pumps. Smaller supplies of gasoline may be kept in safety cans or metal drums in a well-ventilated shed at least 40 feet away from all buildings. "Bottled gas," that is, liquefied petroleum gas tanks, also should always be stored outside of homes or barns, and installed according to National Board of Fire Underwriters standards.

Chimneys and flues rank second only to lightning in the number of fires caused, and the yearly cleaning and repair of both is essential.

The increasing use of electrical equipment on farms has also introduced new hazards, the National Board stated. Farmers are cautioned to have any extension in wiring checked by the local inspection authority, and to clean and oil all electrical equipment regularly to prevent overheating.

All electric lights and wiring should be placed out of the reach of animals, and should be equipped with metal guards.

Many grain-field fires can be prevented by the use of an approved safety mufflers. Individual fire extinguishers attached to tractors, threshers, and other machinery are helpful in fighting fires in the field.

Farmers were also warned not to throw away burning cigarettes or matches, one of the major fire causes in both rural and urban areas.

The old rule against burning over land on a windy day should be rigidly observed, and when land is burning fire authorities and forest rangers should be notified in advance.

The growing tendency to dry hay and feed grains with power-driven farm equipment and artificial heat has introduced another farm hazard. These dryers burn oil, coal, or bottled gas. The chief hazard is careless handling of fuels and overheating of equipment.

All drying equipment should be inspected by local inspection authorities, and for greater safety farmers should use only equipment inspected by the Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.

There were 31,000 fires in the U.S. in a single year from defective or over-heated chimneys and flues.

Iowa Man Named to Judge Milking Shorthorn Show

One of the nation's leading Milking Shorthorn breeders, John Holland of Milton, Iowa, has been appointed judge of the National Milking Shorthorn Show to be held Oct. 13-22 at the 1948 State Fair of Texas, Hon. E. Cabell, chairman of the Fair's livestock committee, has announced.

With $5,000 in premiums offered to outstanding exhibitors, the Milking Shorthorn will be judged Monday, Oct. 18 (maximizing this show) the following day will be the National Milking Shorthorn Sale.

Selected from show entries, outstanding breeding Shorthorn cattle will be sold at auction to provide southwestern breeders, 4H Club members and Future Farmers with an opportunity to obtain the best quality foundation animals of this breed.

Fifteen state groups have indicated that they will send outstanding herds to the State Fair's National Milking Shorthorn Show. Competing with Texas breeders for top honors will be representative herds from Minnesota, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, California, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Group entries will be sent from the New England states, the Virginias and the Dakotas.

One thousand delegates are expected to attend the National Milking Shorthorn Society's annual banquet and meeting Oct. 18 at the Baker Hotel. Plans for this meeting are being worked out by the Southern Milking Shorthorn Association, the Texas Milking Shorthorn Association and officials of the State Fair.

To insure a representative cross-section of the nation's best Milking Shorthorns, the National organization has worked out a plan of freight equalization so that breeders in the most distant states may ship animals to the Fair without penalty.

"Milking Shorthorns are a breed which fills every need of the farmer for cattle which can produce milk and beef on a profitable basis," Cabell said. "These red, white and roan cattle have proved themselves on many farms in the Southwest; their importance to the farmer is reflected in the nationwide competition entered in this show," Cabell declared.

Most of Texas Has Dry Weather
AUSTIN—Continued dry weather over most of Texas favored harvesting operations, but rain was needed urgently to help winter pastures, the United States Department of Agriculture said.

Its report was for the week ended Tuesday.

Soil moisture was adequate only in the South, South Central and South East, and seeding of small grains and winter cover crops everywhere else was delayed because of moisture shortage.

Cotton harvest went on without interruption. Picking was practically complete in the south central area, it had passed the peak in central and eastern areas, and was in full swing in the high plains.

Fall tomatoes, peppers and eggplant made good growth in the Laredo-winter garden area, but many fields were too wet in the lower valley for active planting and transplanting of fall and winter vegetables.

Southern and coastal counties favored by rain reported good growth of range and pasture feed. Elsewhere dry and short grass was bringing some shrinkage of fleshy livestock despite increased supplemental feeding.

How Much Do You Know of Texas Cattle Population?

By LOUIS FRANKE
Extension Editor

You hear a lot these days about the Texas beef cattle population being so low.

Some of the talk comes from professional consumers who want ranchmen to hold back breeding stock—even if it means less beef goes to market this year, when there is a plentiful supply of corn and grain sorghum for the feed-lots—and keep more heifer calves so that total meat supplies of the next few years will zoom.

On the other hand, a lot of people want cattle numbers cut down still lower—certainly not increased. They argue that no matter how low cattle numbers are or may be, ranges will still be overstocked.

The trouble is that both these arguments ignore the human factor—in this case, the ranchman. One puts too much weight on charts and records and the other thinks more of the grass itself than of the family that is making a living off of that grass, or of the people who would eat the beef the grass could produce.

On top of that, could be both sides have got their facts or assumptions wrong.

Cattle numbers aren't actually very low. We reached the all-time peak in cattle population in 1945, and present estimates on number of beef cattle in Texas is 6.5 million, higher than the 1934 figure of 6.3 million, when a record drought and the government cattle buying program combined to change the upswing of the last regular cattle cycle.

Two things make people think there are fewer cattle, when actually there are more than usual. It's all done with mirrors.

1. Americans with money in their pockets are competing for meat and driving up the price. In 1947 Americans ate an average of 155 pounds of meat per capita—70 pounds of beef—the highest figure since 1907. The average person ate 23 percent more meat—28 percent more beef—in 1947 than in any of the five years before the war.

2. The human population is increasing by leaps and bounds. In 1948, with an estimated U. S. population of 146 million people, we have 320 head of cattle per 1000 people. In 1918, with 102 million people and fewer total cattle, we had 405 cattle per 1000 population.

More people eating more meat adds up to a meat shortage and high prices.

Cattle numbers are actually about 10 percent off of the 1945 peak—but beef production has held fairly level.

The answer to that riddle is that beef production is becoming more of a cow and calf business and less of a steer proposition. Cows and year-old heifers now make up 50 percent of the total cattle population as compared with 40 percent in 1940. It's the number of cows that will determine the amount of beef that goes to town next year, not the number of steers.

Texas ranges have taken a beating in the past couple of years but it has been because of prolonged drought rather than cattle numbers. I've seen lots of tanks that the owners tell me, "never have been dry before." When you get to checking on that, you find that "never before" usually goes back to 1925—23 years ago.

Most successful ranchmen figure on stocking their pastures not to capacity for an average year, but at a rate that the pastures can carry in a severe drought. But this one, by and large, has been longer and more widespread than most.

A. H. Walker, the extension range specialist at Texas A. & M., says the immediate danger is overstocking when the drought breaks. The grasses are in mighty good shape and if they are heavily grazed before they have a chance to build up their strength, it will take a long time for a pasture to come back.

Jack Miller, head of the Texas A. & M. animal husbandry department, has about the most sensible summary of the cattle situation I've run across yet.

He says the USDA estimates that there will be about 4 million cattle in commercial feedlots come New Year. That's 200,000, or 5 percent, more than last year. Some people think the cattle increase may run as high as 10 percent over 1948 totals.

Whether you like the 5 or the 10 percent estimate, Dr. Miller says add something more to that in terms of pounds of beef, because with grain plentiful, the feedlots will keep animals in the feedlots longer, market them at heavier weights.

As to the total cattle population, Dr. Miller thinks that will take care of itself. Cattle numbers won't start building up again until the annual slaughter is below 21 million head, and as long as beef prices are where they are now, ranchmen are going to keep on going to town with their beef, including some she-cattle.

Last year U. S. slaughter was 36 million head; so far this year it's running at a 33 million rate. When you hear that slaughter figures are down to 31 million—in maybe 1951 or 1952—you can figure that the downswing in the

Public Invited to Attend Woodward, Okla., Event

Farmers, stockmen and the general public from this section have been invited to attend the twelfth annual range improvement field day to be held Oct. 9 at the Southern Great Plains Field Station, Woodward, Okla., it has been announced.

A number of interested spectators from Gray County and surrounding counties have attended these field days in the past and a good attendance is being anticipated this year.

The experimental range at nearby Fort Supply will also be included in the program for touring. Station Supt. D. A. Savage said the highlight of the day will be inspection and discussion of grassland improvement through breeding, reseeding brush control, and grazing management on native range and reseeded pastures. R. Leland Ross, manager of the N. W. Oklahoma Cattlemen's Association, will be the program chairman.

The program will start at 9 a. m. at the Field Station headquarters one mile south of Woodward (at the south end of 18th Street).

A free lunch will be served at cattle number cycle has been stopped.

Meanwhile one thing has happened that's mighty encouraging—lots of Texas ranchmen are thinking in terms of how much beef they can produce rather than how many head of cattle they can raise.

It's not the same thing.

The afternoon program will include inspection of 20 lots of yearling Hereford steers which have been grazed on different grasses and under different systems of management for the past year.

During the world championship mixed team-of-four contest at Chicago, I was sitting beside Mrs. Virginia Harms and William McGhee of that city, when board No. 56 came to their table. McGhee had a great deal to do with bringing the national tournament back to Chicago, and he is one of the fine card players of the Midwest.

The development of the play on this hand by Mrs. Harms was interesting. The bidding given is exactly as it occurred at the table. One opening lead of the nine of hearts, the ten was played from dummy and East covered with the king. Mrs. Harms won with the ace and led the eight of spades. West played low and declarer went up with dummy's queen, came back with the five of spades, putting on the jack from her hand and West winning.

West returned the queen of clubs. Mrs. Harms played the king from dummy. East played the ace and Mrs. Harms trumped it. Now she led the ace of diamonds. West, not realizing that maybe he would have to unblock, played the nine. Then Mrs. Harms cashed the eight of hearts and took two more rounds of hearts in dummy, discarding a diamond from her hand. Next she led the eight of clubs and trumped it, thus stripping her hand and dummy of hearts and clubs.

A diamond was led. West had to win, and had nothing to return but a club. Thus Mrs. Harms was able to discard dummy's losing diamond and make five-odd for a top score on the board. Remember that in tournament bridge, it is the extra trick that counts. At the other tables, most

A Plea for More Passes At Girls Who Wear Glasses

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer
It's many years now since I started going to the movies. Lots of things have changed cinematically since I was a girl. For one thing, talkies replaced the silent. But one thing hasn't changed a single bit, and I want to complain about it, bitterly.

The most recent example was a very good film entitled "A Foreign Affair," and the offender was a good looking blonde actress named Jean Arthur. In this movie, Miss Arthur enacts the role of a junketing congresswoman, checking up on morale among the troops in Berlin.

For about one half of the film, she has Miss Arthur doing the classic role of an ugly duckling. She is shown being brisk, business-like, making notes on what she sees. She is all business, serious and intent. Okay, okay, that's all right with me. But to make sure that everyone knows Miss Arthur is a very unattractive young woman, they have placed a pair of glasses on her nose.

By movie standards, presumably accepted throughout the civilized world, the sure sign that any woman who isn't a grandmother is unattractive is a pair of glasses. And just as inevitably, round about the middle of the picture—after no male has even looked at her—she ups and throws her glasses away. Usually she also gets a new hairdo and blossoms out in some very tight-fitting clothes, too. But the sign to the movie audience that she's changed, emerged from her emotional and intellectual shell, is the fact that off come the cheaters. Immediately, the fellers flock around in such quantities the heroine has to beat them off with a stick, to give her own true love a chance. To be perfectly honest about Miss Arthur, in "A Foreign Affair," she doesn't change her hairdo, she doesn't get a whole new wardrobe in the heart of occupied Berlin. All she does is take off her glasses, and permit the new, soft woman to emerge. This device on the part of people who make movies should by rights, enrage all the opticians and lens manufacturers and eyeglass frame manufacturers in the nation. After all, they spend a lot of money every year trying to persuade the public—particularly women—that optical aids won't cause all their friends to desert them, break up their happy homes and send husbands or sweethearts flying into the arms of Another Woman.

The fact that it's an unwritten rule of film that no attractive woman ever has recourse to spectacles undoubtedly has had its effect on millions of females whose vision is something short of 20-20.

There certainly must be another way to portray the familiar heroine. How about having the heroine first show up with gray spots all over her white pique dickey? How about having her constantly in need of a shampoo or even a comb? How about bad teeth—your can always have them capped or put on braces when the right man comes along. How about having her bite her fingernails? Let's get a little variety in this leaving of the cocoon.

And when we're on the subject, how about having a heroine, in magazine or movie, who gets her man in spite of tortoise-shell rims and without getting fitted for contact lenses?

Mickey Archer Feted At Birthday Party

LEFORS — Mickey Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Archer, celebrated his fifth birthday with a party at his home at the Coltex Gasoline Camp of Lefors.

Guests present "pin the nose on the clown." Judy Upham won the prize.
Before you purchase eyeglass frames, try on various shapes. It is best to take a friend along so that she can give you an honest opinion. After the frames are selected pick your color. Tortoise-shell type frames seem to be the most practical as they will go with everything. Gay glasses in brilliant red, blue or green frames may be impractical unless you have several pairs of glasses.

Hollywood wonders whether the bobby-soxer is a thing of the past. At one studio where they were all set to make a picture about a bobby-soxer, a studio fashion scout set out to observe a teen-ager so that the picture's star could be put on the beam. In the script the girl was described as wearing sloppy-joe sweaters, wool skirts and bobby-sox.

What happened?
The fashion scout prowled casually about New Hopewood High School and says "there was hardly a bobby-soxer to be seen. The girls all look so grown up I'm frightened that maybe now there will be no teen-age group at all—we'll just jump from childhood to adulthood in one bounce."

So now the studio's dilemma is this: Most people still think teen-agers wear bobby-sox, they'll complain if they don't wear 'em in the picture. On the other hand the high school set will resent bobby-sox being worn when they are old hat.

If bobby-sox are out in the West, that isn't necessarily so of the East. Girls at the Mahopac High School in New York are wearing Pom Pom Sox. The Pom pom on the ankle of the Sox matches their class color and this is a fad, say the girls, that definitely will catch.

STYLE AWHILE. Fall dresses are all set at twelve inches, coat and suit lengths at eleven and twelve inches, say fashion experts. They should stay that way and on into the winter so you won't have to worry about lengthening your dress hems for a long time.

OUT OF THE MUSIC BOX. Hair of Gold, Eyes of Blue is a catchy tune about a Santa Fe beauty queen. Viennese Waltzes by Johann Strauss, Joseph Strauss and Joseph Lanner, lovely tunes for romantic nights. Tommy Dorsey's dance selections including "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You."

START WITH A GOOD FOUNDATION. Mending girdles and bra sets in maize, blue, black, some with lace trimming, bows, hearts, fans and flower appliques make a hit with fastidious teen-agers.

When buying girdles remember to buy them high enough to control waist flesh, long enough to keep hips and legs flesh in line and so that boning doesn't conflict with hipbones.

FILBERTS ON TOP To give frosting a buttery taste, sprinkle the batter with finely chopped filberts before baking; do not use on sponge-type cakes since the batter is not heavy enough to hold the nuts and they will sink to the bottom.

In making griddle cakes pour the batter on the griddle from the TIP of a tablespoon to obtain best, regular shapes.

Pampa Book Club Hears Review of Betty Smith Book

"The little people of the world and their hope for a better life" is the theme of "Tomorrow Will Be Better," reviewed by Mrs. Joe Coffee, Amarillo, at the Pampa Book Club meeting Monday evening.

Mrs. Coffee retold the new novel to 54 club members and guests. Written by Betty Smith, author of "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," the new work is laid in the same setting, the Brooklyn tenements. Mrs. Coffee added that Miss Smith's next work will have a Middle-Western background. Mrs. G. F. Branson introduced the reviewer.

Mrs. O. L. Station, president, welcomed new members and described the club's purpose, "helping to bring more good reading to the membership and the general public." She read a letter from Mrs. Lillian Snow, public librarian, thanking the club for 45 books presented to the library. Mrs. Bedford Harrison of Shamrock will review a new publication at the October meeting.

FLounder FILLETS
Filets of flounder are extra crisp when dipped in cornmeal before frying. Serve them with mashed potatoes dusted with paprika, green peas, and apple or peach chutney.

Garlic FLAVORING
If your family likes the flavor of garlic try sprinkling carrot and celery sticks with a dash of garlic salt before serving. Flowerets of cauliflower and radishes may also be sprinkled in this way before serving.

SNAP BEANS

A new way to serve snap beans is to team them with cream sauce and top them with grated cheddar cheese. If crisp strips of bacon and broiled herbed tomatoes are added you will have a delectable vegetable luncheon plate.

APPLE FRITTERS

Apple fritters make a delicious accompaniment for chicken or ham. Serve with maple syrup if desired.

HOLLYWOOD - (NEA) - Exclusively Yours: Hollywood is betting 3-1 that Dick Powell and June Allyson tell their troubles to a divorce judge. June told a friend: "I'm not sure what will happen but I think it will be a divorce." Richard Widmark goes to the hospital for an operation on his shoulder after he completes "Down to the Sea in Ships."
 Lana Turner probably won't return to Hollywood until after the birth of her baby.
 M-G-M will team Susan Hayward and Peter Lawford in "The One Love," a remake of "The Little Shop Around the Corner."

HUSTLE NATURE BOY
 Nature Boy, Eden Adler is just about to sign an radio contract which will turn him into a health commentator. Gene Austin, the Sinatra of the '20's, is making a film comeback warbling "My Blue Heaven" in a musical short for Martin Murray Productions.
 John Lund and MacDonald Carey are wearing tighties for "A Mask for Lucretia." Maybe they'll retitlle it "Father Wore Tights."
 Tough break for Marilyn Maxwell, who was set for the lead opposite Joel McCrea in "Tempest-see's Partner." When Enterprice folded, the picture went down with it.
 Producer Lester Culler wants to get Lorraine Day's name on a contract for "House of Cards." He'll also ask Leo Durocher if he would like to play a bit in the picture.
 The actress had charged Look with indicating she had undergone plastic surgery on her nose.
 Her attorney, Jerry Geisler, filed a disclaimer of the action in Superior Court. He declined to give the reason.
 More trouble for Maria Montez. Producer Charles Rogers is suing for $47,000—charging breach of contract for a film titled "The Scarlet Feather." The only thing he got out of Maria was a tickle.
 Howard Hughes is starting to move at RKO. He's signed Cary Grant for five pictures and Ann Sheridan for three.
 Betty Rowland, burlesque's "Ball of Fire," says she's giving up the runway for good. She'll concentrate on movies and singing. First song she'll record after lifting of the Petrillo ban will be "Never Go Steady With Betty."

Teen-Agers' Spree Ends

AMARILLO — Nabbed in the act by Amarillo City Police, nine teen-agers—seven boys and two girls—had their five-day spree of burglaries and car thefts ended suddenly as they were completing the burglary of an Amarillo grocery store.

Most of the group had made statements to police and sheriff's officers by noon yesterday, each of them implicating others.

The crime wave pulled off by the youths reached from Stinnett to Muleshoe starting last Friday with the theft of a car in Borger.

Held in the City and County jails at Amarillo are:

- Raymond Russell Bybee, 17, 312 N. Buchanan.
- Tommy L. Cooper, 16, 2202 N. W. Fifth.
- Grover Martin Dudley, 16, 1207 N. Filmore.
- Jesse Lee Freeman, 16, 513 Pierce.
- Lennie J. Baugh, 19, Fort Worth.
- Bobby L. Bradshaw, 19, Fort Worth.
- Bobby Ray Foote, 16, Fort Worth.
- Lorence Locher, 18, 2404 Cleveland.
- Anne Varney, 17, Vensel, Ark.

The youths admitted other burglaries in Muleshoe, Amarillo, St. Francis, Panhandle, White Deer and Borger. They were also being questioned in connection with the break-in at the Skellytown Depot where five fur coats were stolen last week. One of the youths, when caught, had a bone-handled knife known to have been stolen in a burglary at Panhandle. The Bybee youth, when frisked by officers, had a .32 calibre pistol in his pocket.

They were caught by police as they were leaving an Amarillo grocery store they had burglarized a couple of minutes before. One of the two girls has a six months old baby and is the wife of an ex-convict.

Winborne Returns From New Mexico Fishing Trip

Fire Chief and Mrs. Ernest Winborne returned Tuesday afternoon from a week's fishing trip near the Chama River in New Mexico. Several friends boasted that their chief really brought home the fish.

Sure enough, Ernie still had a good portion left of the 57 trout he caught. They had been quick frozen and couldn't count them one by one to see if they were all there, but there were so many we were finally convinced of the existence of a fishing fireman.

Mrs. Winborne admitted that Ernie had caught more of the trout than she had. "However," she said, "I caught the biggest one."

The Winbornes were joined by Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Weavers, formerly of Pampa, at Moriarty, N. M.

DOUGLASS

legislation at one time or another, publicly, within the next year.

In his outline of the proposals of Dewey, Truman and Wallace that he termed "isms and foreign ideologies" he called upon all Texans not to "follow blindly for the sake of a party name" and followed up by asking Governor Jester and other state party leaders who "blindly follow the party label" to explain their stand why they follow a candidate they have "renounced and a platform they have repudiated."

It was then that he predicted the disintegration of the Democratic Party when he said a vote for Thurmond would show "those who are seeking to destroy our government that Texas will never yield... and that we must be given recognition in national affairs. It will mean the formation of a new party which will be the haven for all who believe in our way of life. I predict that you will see a complete collapse and disintegration of the present Democratic Party... should the Republicans gain power, only a short time will elapse... until they go into a state of collapse. Where then will all right thinking... Americans go? It will be the ranks of the States Rights Party."

He closed by declaring neither Democrats nor Republicans were sure of victory because both were campaigning heavily in Texas where no Democrat has ever had to campaign before.

U.N. Faces Greatest Crisis Over Berlin, Analyst Says

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The United Nations faces its greatest crisis as America, Britain and France throw the bitter conflict into the lap of the Security Council, charging that the Red blockade is a threat to international peace.

Indeed the situation is so grave that the three-year-old peace organization is in danger of splitting, with the democracies and the Soviet bloc going separate ways. British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was voicing the thoughts of many statesmen when he warned the General Assembly in Paris that the U.N. might fall apart.

The Soviet press in Moscow also told the Russian public yesterday that the two camps in the U.N. might go their separate ways—this despite the fact that Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky was quoted by a London paper as saying in an interview: "We shall not abandon the United Nations."

Well, supposing the U.N. does split; what follows? Bevin answered that in a horse-sense way by saying if it's impossible to work on a world basis, "We must proceed on a regional basis." That is, the Russian bloc would have its own organization and the democracies would have theirs.

As a matter of cold fact there never has been a "United" Nations. The organization has been split wide open since the start, with the Communists using it for purposes of obstruction and as a grand sounding-board for Red propaganda. Thus actually the U.N. has been used by the Soviet bloc on the issue of human freedom, which she termed the "basic problem confronting the world today."

So if the Muscovites want to desert the U.N. there couldn't be collaboration. It will be rather reminiscent of Japan's action in 1932 when she walked out of the League of Nations in anger over the Lytton report charging her with aggression against Manchuria. Also, in passing, one might note that Russia was expelled from the League in 1939 for aggression against Finland.

But, says somebody, a split in the U.N. sets us further away from the ideal of "one world." I'm not so sure about that. We certainly are kidding ourselves if we think we are going to get one world through trying to make democracy and communism mix. They can't be made to mix under any circumstances. The Reds keep on telling us that our economy and form of government must be destroyed. Do they have to knock us down and drag us out before we recognize the situation? Would-be mixers of oil and water might consider a statement

Pampans Return From Celebration

Three Pampans returned yesterday from the two-day Socorro celebration.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt in an address at the Sorbonne in Paris Tuesday night. She charged Russia with ruthless suppression of human rights at home and with interference in other countries' affairs. She urged the U. N. not to compromise with the Soviet bloc on the issue of human freedom, which she termed the "basic problem confronting the world today."

The oil and water mixers also might lend ear to Belgian Premier Paul Henri Spaak, former president of the U.N. assembly, who told the Russians in a speech before that body:

N. M., celebration commemorating the completion of U. S. Highway 60 through New Mexico.

Frank Culberson, Bill Graham and John O. Pitts flew to Socorro to represent Pampa at the celebration. Approximately 100 persons attended the meeting which included several Oklahoma, Arizona and Texas towns.

Delegates were urged to "dress up" the towns that lie along Highway 60. When the 38-mile stretch in Oklahoma is completed in 1949 a paved highway will run from Texas to Los Angeles.

The Texas City, Tex., waterfront explosion killed 468 persons.
