Pipe Line Urged At Statewide Hearing

BORN TO FLY—Cadet A. Victor (his first name is Alex) of Vinton, Louisiana, is one of hundreds of "Hell from Heaven Men" at the world's largest bombardier school at Midland, Texas, who fly night and day over vast ranges perfecting their bombing skill.

AUSTIN, May 11 (AP)—Construction of a 24-inch pipeline from Texas to eastern industrial centers is the ultimate solution to the complex oil transportation problem of transportation and the Federal Petroleum Coordinator is taking steps to obtain priorities for the line. E. DeGolyer, OPC director of conservation, today informed Texas oil men attending an emergency statewide proration hearing.

The hearing was called by the Texas Railroad commission to obtain reports from crude purchasers on amounts needed from individual fields upon which the commission will base allowable production scheduled for the last 15 days in May.

Federal Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes has recommended a slash of 200,000 barrels daily to curtail statewide yield to 960,000 barrels daily and members of the commission, asserting the cut would force 3,000 small operators into bankruptcy, has refused to accede to Ickes' request.

The commission issued proration schedules allowing production of more than 1,000,000 barrels daily the first half of May.

Before DeGolyer discussed efforts of the OPC to solve the transportation problem, which developed because of tanker losses, Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the commission expressed the opinion federal loans to operators would keep them out of bankruptcy. "Pending solution of the transportation problem by pipe lines and barges using the intercoastal canal," Thompson asserted, "the federal government may have to purchase and store crude and gasoline in order to keep the small operator and refiner from being forced out of the picture."

"The storage facilities are available and the oil can be gotten to storage. By this method, the operator can pay his bank loans and keep up his search for oil. We had better

Nazis Warned Not To Use Poison Gas

LONDON, May 11 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's brightest war report so far was overshadowed today by the terrible prospect of gas warfare which he raised yesterday with his warning to Germany that Britain could, and would, strike back fearfully if the Nazis dared to start it.

The British attitude was one of abhorrence for the use of gas but of confidence that Germany would invite disaster for her cities and people by starting it—and had better think twice if as the Russians already have reported, she is testing it on the Crimean front.

British newspapers, recalling that Churchill accurately had foreseen "events at hand" in the past, took for granted that he spoke of an imminent possibility. They renewed warnings to civilians to carry gas masks and their military writers dwelt on Britain's capacity to wage such warfare.

Speaking two years after the Germans had stormed across France to Dunkerque, 20 miles from England's shore, when he could promise nothing but "blood, sweat, and tears" amid the darkness of western Europe's collapse, Churchill yesterday gave Britain and her Allies what he called a well-earned "message of good cheer." It was his second anniversary as prime minister.

He declared the "awful balances" finally had turned and now "we have only to endure and persevere to conquer."

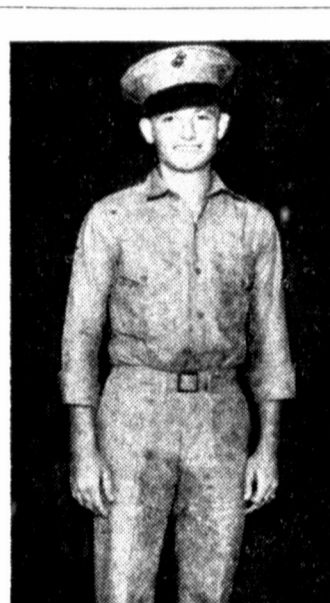

Contrasted even with his last message, when he informed the British Empire that Singapore had fallen, Churchill yesterday gave it heartening news from all continents—of an impending nighty American bombing offensive against Germany, of the stalwart defense and growing strength of "Our Russian ally," of the occupation of Madagascar, of British and American seapower in the Pacific which he said would "grip and hold the Japanese."

On a second front, Churchill said: "We are urged from many quarters to invade the continent of Europe."

Jap Reinforcements Cut Off From Aiding Trapped Army

ROUTINE TELEGRAMS informing Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Davis and Mrs. Marie Day that their sons, George Davis, right, and James R. (Dickie) Day, left, respectively, will be carried on the records of the marine corps as missing pending further information. He will be carried on the records of his death has been received and he may be a prisoner of war," the messages from Lieut. Gen. Holcomb, commandant, U. S. Marines, said. Other parents in this area who have boys in the marines and who were stationed in the Manila bay area are expected to receive similar telegrams. The fact that the Davises and Mrs. Day received telegrams the same day, yesterday, is believed due to the fact that the messages were sent out in alphabetical order. Dick enlisted in the marine corps, July 29, 1940, and was sent to the Philippines six weeks after enlistment. George enlisted in the marines in September, 1940. Both were on Batavia and Corregidor and were apparently captured by the Japanese. Parents of other boys stationed in the Philippines who receive telegrams pertaining to their sons are requested to contact the News in order that the anxious public may be informed of latest developments. A copy of the telegram received yesterday by Mrs. Day and Mr. and Mrs. Davis follows:

4,500 Japs Killed On Burma Road

CHUNGKING, May 11 (AP)—Japanese reinforcements rushing to the aid of a trapped column of their comrades in western Yunnan province were intercepted today at Chienfeng, 25 miles inside China on the Burma road, precipitating heavy fighting, a communique said.

The original Japanese invasion force—of which the Chinese previously reported they had killed 4,500—was said to be still surrounded by the Chinese army.

The communique confirmed Japanese reports of the fall of Bhamo, alternate terminal of the Burma road 170 miles northeast of Mandalay, and Myitkina, 250 miles north of Mandalay.

Jap Ship Toll In Coral Sea Now 21

By CLYDE A. FARNSWORTH Associated Press War Editor

The aerial sequel to the battle of the Coral sea raised to 21 the count of Japanese ships destroyed or damaged in a week off Australia; the Japanese on the Burma-China front were attempting to wipe out a drastic reverse; India braced for Japanese assault, and the threat of gas warfare such as the world has never seen overhung the European theater.

These were the main threads woven, over the week-end and today, into the pattern of conflict girding the earth.

United Nations bombardiers ranging the Coral sea Saturday and Sunday scored bomb hits on a seaplane tender, a tanker and two submarines. It is possible that the submarines now lie on the bottom.

"What must be realized," he added, "is that a large Japanese expedition is beginning."

On the Burma-China front, the other more active sector of war in the Orient, the Chinese appeared to have turned the tables on the enemy, with the Japanese in flight back through the hills of Yunnan province toward the Burma border, 4,500 dead marking the sectors of their disaster.

Tokyo, silent on Chungking's specific victory claims, nevertheless declared that British imperial and Chinese resistance in Burma was tottering and that on Burma's Indian frontier the lines of Allied retreat into the Indian province of Assam had been cut by Japanese seizure of all strategic points.

In Europe, the war still lay largely in the psychological realm of nerves, fears, expectations, and threats.

It was dominated by Prime Minister Churchill's declaration of war against Germany and wide against military objectives in Germany" if the Germans resorted to unprovoked use of this weapon on the Russian front.

He also added the weight of his word to the already apparent prospect of a combined British-American bombing offensive against the Reich, but kept his counsel on the possibility of a second European front, against the Axis.

The Russian front still was quiescent as compared to the fury which prevailed in the German offensive last summer and the Russian counteroffensive of the winter months. Winter was having its final fling on the northern and central sectors while the world waited for the fury to break anew, either there or in some other potential battle zone of Europe.

The Russians, in advance, had given point to Churchill's threat of retaliatory gas warfare on behalf of the Soviet union by reporting officially on Saturday that the Germans were testing a new gas technique on the Crimean front, using gas mines to disperse a lethal vapor.

Britons, knowing Churchill's capacity for judging events at hand, took thought of their own defense against gas, confident, however, that the RAF would have the whip hand in any gas warfare waged from the skies.

The German high command acknowledged localized attacks yesterday on the Russian front but declared that the Red army thrusts either collapsed or were repulsed and claimed for the air force a 27- to 31 score in planes shot down on the far northern front, listing 23 British Hurricanes among the Russians' losses.

In other eastern front air action, the Germans claimed a merchant ship sinking in the Kerch straits of the Black sea and bomb attacks in the Murmansk region of the Arctic.

With heat gripping the Libyan battlefield, the war in the African-Mediterranean theater over the week end was fought largely in the air, centering on the island of Malta.

The Germans said they attacked a warship docked at Valletta with heavy bombs and, with the Italians, claimed destruction of 17 British planes over Malta and two others in North Africa.

The British side of this story was that 41 Axis planes were destroyed or damaged in the Malta fighting Saturday night and Sunday.

The Germans also claimed the firing of a 5,000-ton merchantman off Alexandria, British Egyptian bases, and damage to a similar vessel off See CORAL SEA, Page 6

Court Rules Patentee Not Price Fixer

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the holder of a patent "cannot control the resale price of patented articles which he has sold."

Chief Justice Stone delivered the 8 to 0 opinion in holding invalid contracts by which the Univis Lens company of Dayton, Ohio, disposed of lens blanks for bifocal glasses to wholesalers and retailers. Justice Jackson did not participate.

The lens company, together with its affiliate, the Univis corporation, were accused by the justice department of violating the anti-trust laws by attempting to fix prices of its product.

In another anti-trust decision, the high court upheld the department's contention that 10 manufacturers or distributors of building materials violated the Sherman Act through agreements to fix prices in the hardwood industry. This decision was 7 to 0 with Justice Roberts and Jackson not participating.

"The declared purpose of the patent law," Chief Justice Stone said.

All Philippine Islands Conquered, Japanese Claim

TOKYO (From Japanese broadcasts). May 11 (AP)—Domei declared in a French-language broadcast tonight that "the conquest of all the islands of the Philippines by the Japanese forces now has been completely achieved."

Quoting a dispatch from Mindanao, the Japanese agency said that Major General William F. Sharp, described as commander in chief of the American-Philippine forces in the Mindanao region, surrendered unconditionally last night.

Thus, the dispatch said, "four days after the fall of Corregidor, all the American-Philippine forces in the Philippines have submitted."

Civic Improvement League Will Meet

A special meeting of the Civic Improvement league has been called for 8 o'clock tonight at the B. M. Baker school.

Purpose of tonight's meeting will be to work out a way to get streets cleaned for the summer and to improve drainage on South Cuyler street.

Organized a year ago, the league aims to secure better streets and other improvements for the south part of Pampa.

D. V. Burton is president of the league.

Austin Major Will Inspect Pampa Guard

Uniforms of Company D, Texas Defense Guard, are due for another trip to the cleaners.

After the uniforms had been worn at the extended order drill north-east of town Friday night, at which the men "nose-dived" into green grass, stickers, and rocks, and after the uniforms had been worn in the Borger parade Saturday, the crisp look took a bad beating.

Reason for all this hurry-up cleaning and pressing will be the inspection to be held here tomorrow night when Major Thomas Gahagan of Austin reviews the local company.

Major Gahagan will come to Pampa after inspecting the headquarters detachment at Borger at 6 o'clock.

Mayor Fred Thompson, County Judge Sherman White, and other officials are to be invited to the inspection, which will be held at the high school.

U. S. May 'Draft' Private Vehicles

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Joseph B. Eastman, director of defense transportation, warned Texas in a radio program Sunday that motorists must be confined to essential services.

Appearing on the "Texas Forum of the Air," directed by Representative Wright Patman of Texas-Kansas, Eastman declared that government requisitioning of private automobiles or tires may become necessary in order to provide transportation for workers in war industries who live considerable distance from the plants and do not have public transportation facilities available.

Brigadier General Walter B. Byron of Houston, now on active duty here as assistant to the secretary of war and recently named head of the Texas Safety association, participated in the forum with Patman and Eastman.

"Because essential passenger car transportation must be maintained, each automobile owner has a responsibility in conserving tires to assure that maximum service will be obtained from equipment now in use," commented General Byron.

Move To Construct Pipeline Revived

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—A move to build a 1,500-mile pipeline from Texas to the populous New York-Philadelphia area has been revived as the only alternative to severe gasoline rationing along the eastern seaboard.

A third application for priorities on the metal required for the pipeline will be submitted to the War Production board this week by Petroleum Coordinator Ickes, government officials said. Twice Ickes has been refused the metal for the project.

Ickes has been informed by the petroleum industry war council that the huge conduit afforded the only means of relief to eastern motorists' gasoline shortages.

Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum coordinator, said the line was "the central and most important part" of the planning of means to ease the oil shortage.

"We have high hopes," he added, "for the line from Texas would just about assure meeting the east coast's essential requirements entirely by overland transportation."

Ickes said at his last press conference that the line would now be pouring about 350,000 barrels of oil daily into the east if metal priorities had been approved last August, when his office filed the first application.

Under the original proposal the line would have cost approximately $80,000,000, would have been jointly owned by several oil companies and privately financed.

Full Quota Cotton Production Sought

VERNON, May 11 (AP)—Representatives of three southwestern states will attend a meeting tomorrow sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce for discussion of problems affecting cotton production.

As a means of relief from a threatened shortage in fibers and cotton oils, the meeting will be urged to endorse full quota production of cotton as a war measure.

Weed Wardens To Meet Here Tonight

Details on the clean-up on weeds and trash in the city-wide cleanup drive will be outlined at a meeting of the weed wardens to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the county court room.

Mrs. Dan Williams, chairman of the weed wardens, Steve Matthews, city manager, and others will be in charge.

Sponsoring the movement is the Pampa Garden club and the city.

Weed wardens have been named for each block. Names of all wardens will be published in The Pampa News. First in a series of lists is printed below. Wardens are identified by their residence address, but will cover the entire block. Thus, Paul Carmichael, 1222 Charles, will also be in charge of the removal of

Flooded Trinity Laps At Pavement Edge

LIBERTY, May 11 (AP)—Highway engineers worked today to keep open the Houston-Beaumont highway as waters of the flooded Trinity river lapped at the pavement edge.

Sandbags were piled along lower parts of the highway in the seven-mile section between here and Dayton, which had been turned into a huge lake as backwater spread.

The stream's crest today was reported about eight miles upstream opposite Hardin. The crest was expected to reach the highway bridge between here and Dayton by early tomorrow. In the lowlands, the backwater crest was expected some 24 hours later.

The South Liberty oil field remained isolate, following a washout in the road Saturday night. About the same time a levee two miles south of here broke, flooding several hundred acres of farm and ranch land.

LeFors Youth Makes London Radio Talk

A mother in LeFors didn't hear her son in England sending her Mother's Day greetings during a war department radio broadcast yesterday afternoon, but neighbors heard the broadcast and told her. The mother was Mrs. Boston Mullin who is visiting in the home of another son, C. C. "Bill" Mullin, district supervisor at the Colteco Gasoline plant three miles east of LeFors.

The son was Dempsey Mullin, 21, who attended LeFors high school in 1934. He has been in England for two months with a special observation group.

Members of the United States armed forces in all parts of the world broadcast greetings on behalf of their units to mothers. The boys making the broadcasts were picked by drawings. They were not allowed to give their last name or their unit but could give their first name.

Young Mullin's greeting was "Hello, Mother, this is Dempsey. I'm a long way from LeFors, Texas, but LeFors sure is different than London." Then on behalf of all American boys in England he extended Mother's Day greetings to all mothers.

Dempsey isn't the only son Mr. and Mrs. Mullin have in the armed forces. Major Clayton Mullin is with the engineer corps and is stationed at Fort Belvoir, Va., and Private Carl D. Mullin is in the quartermaster corps but his whereabouts is unknown. Another son, James Mullin, is waiting to be called to service.

Mr. and Mrs. Mullin are natives of LeFors.

Price Control

Confusion and misunderstandings probably are inevitable, as the new price control regulations go into effect. There will be deliberate frauds, sly chiseling. But these will be in the minority. The real trouble will arise from honest but careless errors; from ignorance on the part of both merchants and customers; from suspicion, intolerance, hot-headedness. Most of the disputes will be started by customers who believe that they are being charged illegal prices. Nine out of 10 of these—perhaps 99 out of 100—can be avoided if buyers will make certain of their facts. Actually the price control system is simple so far as the consuming public is concerned.

All you need to remember is this: Except for certain exempted commodities, the merchant is forbidden to charge more for any article after May 18 than the highest price for which he sold the same thing during March.

That ought not to leave room for misunderstandings. But it will. There are a million and one possibilities.

Many merchants keep no real records. They price merchandise as it comes in, sell it, and a month later have no good idea of what they charged for it.

These men must now go over their stocks, determine for each item their highest March price, and mark their goods accordingly.

There will be innumerable instances in which items now in stock differ from those sold in March. The merchant must try to determine what things he sold in March are most similar to those he has in May, and fix prices accordingly.

In so huge a task, it would seem improbable that honest mistakes can be avoided.

Moreover, the buyer's memory may prove fickle. Under our setup, each merchant has his own price card for every article in stock. The price charged next door has nothing to do with the matter.

If we remember buying a certain brand of coffee for 27 cents, and the grocer asks us 31, we should be very certain that the lower price was not at some other store before we accuse him of violating price control rules.

Leon Henderson, who is not given to over-patience with violations, has emphasized the enormity of the task and the need for patience, understanding and co-operation.

This does not mean we should permit chiseling. It means rather we should make sure we are right before we cause trouble.

Let's give both the merchants and the Office of Price Control a fair chance to do as well as they can, with wages and farm products left to run wild.

WAGE INCREASES AND COST OF LIVING

New Dealers and labor union leaders are constantly contending that wages must be increased as the cost of living goes up. They fail to explain, however, if this is attempted, how those who have their wages increased as the cost of living increases, will be paying anything to the defense of the war. If this were done for a few people, then all the rest of the people would have to bear more than their just share of the cost of the war.

If there is any statement that has done more to fool the people and more damage to the nation's welfare, it is the statement by the Administration that wages must go up with the cost of living.

It is simply impossible for wages to go up with the cost of living when we have a war.

Normally Wages Should Increase Faster Than Living Costs

In normal times, wages have increased faster than the cost of living, and this is exactly as it should be. For 150 years, real wages increased faster than the cost of living by one and one-half per cent a year. This was due not to labor unions, not to class legislation, as the New Dealers would have the unthinking public believe, but it was due to more efficient tools and more knowledge, making it possible for each worker to produce more and, thus, earn more.

But in war times, when a large part of the production is used for destroying life and property, then we do not produce enough to increase wages with the cost of living.

In fact, real wages in war times, of necessity, must be lower as we take a larger fraction of production for destructive purposes rather than for consumption.

The war will be over more quickly if we face the fact that every citizen will have to be rewarded less for his labor in war times than in peace times. There is no other way. It is simply mathematical. You cannot consume more consumable goods than is produced.

SOCIALISTS ATTEMPT TO SERVE TWO MASTERS

The admonition of Jesus that no man can serve two masters, does not seem to be understood by those who claim to be socialists and, at the same time, claim they are Christians. Jesus' admonition did not apply only to serving God and Mammon. Probably the attempt to serve God and material riches is not nearly as harmful as attempting to serve freedom and coercion at the same time. That is exactly what the socialists are attempting to do, when they claim to be Christians. They are attempting to be loyal to the Christian principle that all men have certain inherent rights which no one dare interfere with and, at the same time, they are attempting to be loyal to the theory that the bare majority can confiscate the property of the minority by the force of the tax collector and distribute it as the majority sees fit.

They even go so far as to permit the majority to be bribed, in order to keep the socialists who would do the distributing in power.

Nor can one serve truth and mysticism. We cannot be loyal to both truth and, or the light and mystery, superstition and or darkness.

We cannot be loyal to freedom and believe in persuading our fellowman and, at the same time, believe in prohibition of an inherent right and, or coercion.

Every man who attempts to serve two masters, whether it be God and riches, or freedom and tyranny, truth and superstition and mysticism, will be loyal to one and not to the other. It is a mockery to attempt this dual, impossible act. It has caused us to lose our inherent rights and plunged us into strife and confusion.

Around Tollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

NEA Service Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD, May 11.—Of all the trade and technical secrets cherished by the motion picture industry as illusion preservatives, none is more closely guarded than the names and strategies of the press agents themselves.

Before a camera begins turning on a new movie, the exploitation and publicity geniuses assemble in closed conference and belabor their brains for angles in selling the epic to the public.

By chance, I have got hold of the campaign script evolved from an idea meeting on Paramount's "Happy Go Lucky," a musical now in production. There are 88 detailed suggestions dealing with all sorts of generalities.

The Allies lost no time in retreating, and from that time on it was used by both sides. Since then much more terrible gases have been produced in many countries, and if these are now let loose we are likely to witness frightfulness such as the world never before has known.

The halt in the battle of the Coral Sea easily may be merely a breathing spell after the first phase of a great engagement which will continue to swell until it has to do with determining the control of the Southwest Pacific.

It will be passing strange if this fierce clash between combined air and naval forces is being dropped like a hot potato. It's probable that either the grievously wounded Jap fleet, which has been compelled to retire before our arms, will secure reinforcements and return to the assault, or that General MacArthur will find himself in more favorable position to initiate a further offensive against the New Guinea and Rabaul bases from which the Nipponese are threatening Australian and American communications.

We still lack details to enable us to appraise the full significance of this initial round, and it may be a somewhat time before we secure all the facts. However, it is clear that we have dealt the enemy a heavy blow, especially in their air arm, through the sinking of one aircraft carrier and the disabling of another.

artifices and art—mostly leg art—and I believe you may be enlightened by a few excerpts:

"Mary Martin is as co-operative as ever and has agreed to let us shoot scenes of leg pictures—and her legs are plenty good. Leg art on Mary will be one of the most important factors in the campaign."

"Betty Hutton smartly wants to do anything we propose, and a she has a swell figure, too. (Eddie Bracken will stand for anything.) Dickie Powell is willing to co-operate. (Rudy Vallee is hanging back a little, but agreeing to anything reasonable. He doesn't like fan magazines or women interviewers."

MORE MARY
There are six regular girls, most of them Louisiana Purchase babes, and they will give plenty of leg art. A layout should be made showing Mary as the strippingest of them all.

"A tame psychologist can be rigged to do a 'Character Reading by Method' for art and, if we don't want to pay a psychologist, use someone on the lot."

"Where Have You Seen These Legs Before?—good for a roto layout using famous gamins of Dietrich, Joan Crawford, Lamour, etc."

"Ten Best Undressed Women of 1942" good layout, featuring Mary Martin and Betty Hutton.

"Vallee should re-introduce the old song 'Happy Go Lucky,' which is the song in the picture, on his radio program. He is top song plugger of country."

"We ought to have some fun with that perfume, saying we have actually developed something accidentally or quoting some scientist to the effect that there is such a thing as love potions."

"The phrase, happy-go-lucky, is a campaign in itself. Get a congressman, educator, commentator to say that America needs to continue the war effort to the extreme, but remember to be happy-go-lucky. Let's not lose the American principle after the war is over."

LOVE LESSONS

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

First act on arrival in Washington for one of the many oil company executives now holding important war jobs in government was to call up the department of justice. "I want to give notice," he is reported to have said in effect, "that I'm going to have to break every anti-trust law in the books, and I want you to lay off till after the war ends. The day war's over, you can indict me on every count and I'll plead guilty. You can then send me to Alcatraz or Atlanta. I don't want to go to Leavenworth, that's too hot. Any place but there. I'll be needing the rest, anyhow, so you can make the sentence as long as you like. But to solve the petroleum problems of this war, we'll have to do a lot of things that we've never done before and I just want you to know about it in advance."

That is a dramatic statement of the case, but probably is not much of an exaggeration. Breaking a few laws is perhaps the least of the changes that must be made in the gigantic oil industry, for as Secretary of Interior and Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes told a congressional committee the other day, the problem is to shift the economic base of the industry and to do it in weeks instead of years.

You are familiar with the main events of the background—the tanker shortage, eastern seaboard fuel oil shortages, gasoline rationing for a third of the nation's motorists, the rubber shortage reducing the need for gasoline, increased haulage by railroad tank car and tank truck. These are the points where the petroleum industry touches the public at the consumer level. But above this consumer level is where revolutionary things are happening.

As consumption declines, as transportation becomes tighter, the stocks of gasoline are increasing at many southern seaboard refineries. This is happening despite the fact that crude oil production has been curtailed from the 1941 daily average this kind of advertising. We didn't use sex but we certainly had tempter and I guess a good many of us wrote our complaints. At any rate advertising has taken a turn for the better. A lovely and expensive hat is offered now without sex. The Star Spangled Banner and a band. Men of the armed forces are not so often drawn into the ads to sell pretty dresses. Women are still women and it is a big relief to the advertisers. Nobody need worry about women not being pretty. It was a man who was admonished "costly thy habit as thy purse can buy." No woman needs such advice.

It is right for a woman to look pretty in war time just as she does in peace time, but it is horrible to pretend that looking pretty has anything to do with winning the war.

of 5.1 million barrels to around 5.5 million barrels.

CHANGE IN TECHNIQUE

Refinery technique must be changed to cut down the production of regular gasoline, while the output is increased for 100 octane aviation gas, fuel oils, and heating oils. These changes involve a major industrial revolution, but they are being undertaken.

Also to be considered is the increased production of petroleum products from which synthetic rubber can be made—butadiene and styrene, which in ratios of 80 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively, to make the Buna S rubber, which the government is financing to be produced at the rate of 700,000 tons a year, by the end of 1943. To do this it will be necessary to use less than 150,000 barrels of oil a day. Fortunately, the oil is there, though the equipment to do it with is not.

One phase of this conversion which has not been pushed as much as it might be is the emergency, temporary use of existing refinery equipment for the production of synthetic rubber components. Refinery experts say that both butadiene and styrene can be produced in high temperature thermal cracking units. Half the country's normal gasoline supply comes from this thermal cracking process, where temperatures of from 800 to 1,000 degrees are employed to break down the crude petroleum. When the temperature is raised to 1,300, a 4 per cent yield of butadiene and styrene can be obtained. This can be done only in the best refinery equipment that will stand this extra high temperature. Costs may be higher, yields lower, by this means than production, but immediate production can be obtained.

CALLS FOR PLAN

Here is where a demand comes in for national planning on a vast scale. Refineries that can make only gasoline would have to be given that job. Other refineries would have to be allocated to 100 octane gas production, and those that can produce the materials for synthetic rubber would be given that assignment.

WASHINGTON PIPELINES

Links between existing petroleum products pipeline systems are being considered as one method of increasing eastern seaboard deliveries. . . . For instance, an existing gasoline pipeline map, Phillips has line from Texas to East St. Louis; another has line from Roxanna, Ill., near St. Louis, to Lima, O., and Sun has line from East Akron, O., to Philadelphia and New York. . . . Links between St. Louis and Roxanna, or between Lima and East Akron might help on some supply problems, and there are dozens of similar gaps in crude and gasoline lines where short connecting lines might solve supply of minimum use of steel. Catch it that competing companies are now restrained from getting together and fear establishment of connecting links if they would make lines common carriers, open to all producers. . . . Aerial pipeline pictures is now being surveyed and action to make existing lines get together may be forthcoming.

People You Know

By Arch Fullingim

It was in April that President Roosevelt asked for a name for the war. On March 10, at the Navy Relief Society show in Madison Square Garden in New York, Joe Louis said about the war, "We are going to win because we are on God's side." He called it God's war. Carl Byoir, New York public relations counsel and co-chairman of the Committee on Public Relations during the First World War, wrote a poem about it which was published last week in Collier's and which is reprinted below. It was widely published over the week-end, and this columnist heard it over the radio three times yesterday.

JOE LOUIS NAMED THE WAR

By Carl Byoir
Joe, you have named the war.
I don't think you knew that you were naming the war.
But you named it.
You named it when you said,
"We are going to win
Because we are on God's side."
You were right, Joe.
And you have named the war.
This is God's War.

Maybe you read in the newspapers
That the President asked the name of the war.
Our President is a very great man,
Joe.
But he does not know very much about whom to ask
To name wars.
Romeans are men who think with their heads.
No one could name this war out of his head.
It had to be named out of the heart and out of the soul.
And out of some instinct that reaches back
Thousands and thousands of years;
Back through all the struggle of mankind
To establish the rights
That we are fighting to keep now.
But you were right, Joe.
You named the war.
This is God's War.

Maybe you are the first human being in five thousand years
Who was not too conceited in naming the war.
For in all the wars that men have fought in the past,
Men on both sides said, "God is on our side."
I think you are the only man in all history
Who ever said, "We are on God's Side."
Of course I know, Joe,
That you were not thinking about naming a war.

You just put into words something that you felt
Way down inside of you,
So maybe it was your great grandfather
Who named the war.
I imagine he was born a free man,
Joe.
And then someone brought him to America
And made a slave out of him.
And maybe through the long nights
he dreamed
Of being free again
Because he knew the bitterness
And the agony of slavery.
He knew the value of freedom
And wanted it again.
And maybe he was there, Joe,
When Abraham Lincoln wrote the Emancipation Proclamation
And said that this really was a free country.
And made it come true,
That white men and black men
were all free.
That here it didn't make any difference
About a man's race or creed or color.
That this was really a country where all men were free.
Maybe those words were stamped

HIGH LIFE And low life in The BIG City

When the war started there was the greatest excitement in the advertising departments of dress manufacturing concerns. It had nothing to do with priorities. A lot of males were in a panic when they saw a few women in uniform. They had so little faith in sex that they believed women could pitch their right in the sea for the duration, and men where would motherhood be, and incidentally, the dress business?

This panic was reflected in page ads in the papers calling on women to hold fast to charm, i. e., sex. They couldn't say keep out of uniform, but they could advocate expensive perfumes (they manufactured one specially for canteen workers), captivating undies and negligees designed to conquer males on the home front. They even went so far as to say that men hadn't anything to fight for unless they carried the vision of Miss Fluffy Putty into battles. The advertisers were scared stiff.

There must have been thousands of women who got indignant over

WAR QUIZ

1. Here is an insignia of the U. S. Marines. With its crossed sword and key, you might guess the wearer is keeper of the house. Is that correct?
2. Army men speak of a "honey wagon," which would seem to indicate something sweet-smelling. How about it?
3. In the Middle East war scene, Egypt holds a key place and the Wahidists are at present all important in British calculation. Who are they?

So They Say

We must rectify our wrong conception that American soldiers cannot fight.
—CHUNGKING newspaper, commenting on stand of General MacArthur's men.

We know that only he who accepts surrender is beaten.
—Queen WILHELMINA of the Netherlands.

On your great grandfathers' heart, And maybe they were burned into his soul.
And maybe he came to love America And to cherish its freedoms More than some people who just inherited them.
And so, maybe, you just felt what he felt
And so you named the war.
This is God's War.

This is not the first time That someone like Hitler Thought he was bigger than God, Or that someone like Hirohito Thought he was God.
The whole history of mankind Has been a history of struggle Against men like this.
And that's why we can be sure That we are on God's side, Because in the long run the people Who are on God's side Have always won.
The rights of free men Were not won all at once. God has been fighting these wars As long as there have been men to set free.

Through all the dark centuries A lot of people believed That freedom for mankind was not God's plan.
But they were wrong, Joe. Men have come out of the darkness. Men who believed in God; And after a while, because they believed in God, They knew they could win back their freedom.
But always, Joe, it was a struggle. Winning it and losing it, and winning it back again.

Everyone knows that here in America We had to fight to be free; And we had to fight to stay free; And we are fighting now to stay free.
What too many of us forget, Joe, Was just what you have reminded us of,
That freedom is part of God's plan for mankind.
So, if we want to be free men now, Let us all pray for faith And wisdom and strength. To fight through to glorious victory On God's side. In God's War.

HAPPY LANDING CHAPTER XXIII

BALDY stirred in his sleep, brushed the handkerchief from his mouth, and sat up with all the alacrity of an anemic hippopotamus. The sun was warm, the nap had been pleasant, and he felt lazily prepared to cope with any and all conspiracies against him. As for Peggy, now—

He looked around for her. No Peggy. No canoe. No one, a shambling search revealed, on the island. The lake was annoyingly calm under a noon sun, with no sign of life on any of its shores, no one on the wharf.

Not pleasant to Baldy the crafty, Baldy the shrewd, was the teasing thought that Peggy had doubtless crossed him. At the while she had been pretending to work with him. And all the while she had been plotting with that bunch of deadheads. The little so-and-so! I'll give her a chance, he thought viciously. I'll give her a chance to break her nasty little neck, and that's all.

Fay . . . ah! he thought sorrowfully. She'd never have done this to him. No, it was the others. After all he had done for Fay, she'd never have the nerve to do this to him. But by the saints, he'd get even with those others if he had to take that little so-and-so to New York and break her spirit!

As time wore on and he got hungrier, his thoughts became progressively bleaker. Eventually they reached the murderous stage as he paced hungrily around the confined island. He was hotter and hotter as the afternoon grew heavy with humidity and little trickles of perspiration glistened on his bald head. He began to speak his thoughts aloud. Fortunately, only the trees were within range of his mutterings.

At last he saw a lone figure on the wharf and then a canoe wobbling dangerously as someone paddled toward the island. Baldy stopped his muttering and stared. It was the sister! He groaned as he thought of Myra's skill with a canoe and shuddered at the thought of the waterfall they had nearly died on.

As the canoe came nearer, Myra steered it with dangerous incompetence toward the island. "I've brought you some sandwiches and a bottle of beer," she said cheerfully, without any attempt at explanation. Baldy forgot about explanations. The sight of food and drink was like a beacon to a shipwrecked sailor. He caught the edge of the canoe and stepped in.

FRANTIC WEEKEND

BY EDMUND FANCOTT

"Hey!" yelled Myra, "Don't do that!"
She was too late. She was in the water, so was Baldy, so was the food and the beer, the beer at the bottom of the lake and the sandwiches disintegrating slowly. Baldy groaned and floundered ashore with Myra who dragged the canoe with her and emptied the water with difficulty.

Baldy sat down and held his head in his hands, his sports suit dripping around him shapelessly.
"Now," said Myra, "step in carefully this time."
"No," said Baldy. "Not if I have to live here the rest of my life! I ain't going to risk going over those falls again . . . or drowning in the middle of this lake. I can't swim."

"So bad," said Myra. "What are you going to do?"
"You try and get back and send someone who can work one of those things."

"All right," Myra spoke quite cheerfully, but with a jutting smile in her eyes. "It might take some time."
An hour later the bedraggled Baldy climbed up the path to the house with Ferdie. They passed the rockery and Baldy's neck went red with a sudden desire to commit murder when he caught a view of Peggy suddenly releasing herself from the arms of Nigel.

She ran to meet him. "Oh, Baldy," she cried. "Did they only just get you? They said they'd go right after lunch."
Baldy eyed her with a glittering hatred. "You little . . ." Then he paused as he saw Nigel's fist clenched significantly.
Peggy's eyes warned him to keep quiet. "I've fixed everything," she said. "Not a word."
She pushed Nigel back and walked with a suspicious Baldy.

"I've got a new idea. I've fixed everything," said Peggy confidently. "Maybe you weren't born in a large family like I was. If you were you'd know that when they get tough the only thing to do is to string along with them for awhile and then get your own way later. It is the easiest way in the end."
"So what?" grumbled Baldy rudely.
"You go and change and I'll be waiting for you with a Collins," she said.

"Make it three, and six sandwiches," he growled.
A LITTLE later Baldy emerged in a suit and loose jacket in a pale rose shade, beautifully pressed, with a shirt of deep blue, almost maroon, as a final probable touch.

Baldy took a deep draught at one of the four glasses in front of him and bit deep into a sandwich. His eyes did not meet those of Peggy, who sat deep in a chair swinging one leg over the arm.
Baldy groaned and floundered ashore with Myra who dragged the canoe with her and emptied the water with difficulty.

"That mitt?" muttered Baldy, "His mouth full. He felt he was beyond caring."
"He's not a mitt! He's terribly strong too," said Peggy. "But that isn't the point. If I became engaged to Nigel the family would be settled and then when I come back overseas I could come down to New York."
Baldy took a long drink and tackled another sandwich.
"Then I thought," continued Peggy, "that if Mike proposed to Fay and they were engaged she would be in the family and I could persuade her when he went overseas to come with me back to New York."
Baldy sneered at the thought of a topline like Fay Ransom mixing it with a mere lieutenant.

"So I suggested to Mike that he should drive her into Montreal by himself and at last try . . ."
Baldy sat up as if shot.
"She's gone? Where's she gone?"
Peggy scooped him by pushing the third drink invitingly nearer. "They drove away about an hour ago, just the two of them . . ." She paused while a hint of apoplectic crimson darkened Baldy's neck and she spread over his domestic head. He gulped the third drink and grabbed the fourth.
"But I've got the best idea of the lot to bring it all in the family. Daddy couldn't very well object to me being managed by a son-in-law . . . Baldy got up and looking at Peggy queerly, he backed away. Peggy rose from her chair and followed him.
"So I thought if you proposed to Myra . . ." She stopped suddenly. "Baldy had turned and was disappearing rapidly. Myra came into the room.
"I've found a husband for you," said Peggy with an eager smile. "Isn't it wonderful, at last!"
Myra's lips tightened to an unnatural smile. She glared at her young sister, green eyes bright and cheeks flushed with excitement.
"Hear that car?" said Myra. "That's Baldy getting out as quick as he can. Get your things packed. We're going before you get a chance to marry Ferdie off to his aunt!"
Peggy was unperturbed. "Isn't it wonderful!" she murmured. "We'll be driving back in Nigel's car."

War material shortage limits telephone service

You probably have heard about certain government restrictions on telephone service and equipment now in effect. We should like to tell you a little more about these restrictions—why they are necessary, and what they mean to you.

The reason for them is simple and complete. They are to save materials which are needed to fight the war.

What will they mean to you, the telephone user?

If you have a telephone now, they mean no change except that in many Texas cities affected by war growth you may have to have other parties on your line. And, in all cases, you can't get an extension telephone in your home if you haven't one already.

For people who have no telephones and want them, or for present users who move to new locations, we shall supply at least party-line service wherever there are now enough lines and switchboards. But in general, where new construction of this type would be necessary, we shall not be able to provide service.

But Devine said: "Has he the spirit and the character. We can make ball players out of young men who are physically fit and with those attributes."

No matter how long he pitches, Herb Simons, Chicago Times, is not likely to get a better job than he did in his debut last week. A third baseman, Green decided to try pitching when his St. Rose High school wasn't doing so well and his first start he turned in a no-hitter.

When Bob Whitlow, army pitcher, socked the ball over a fence 325 feet from the home plate at West Point the other day, he only got credit for a double instead of a home run. . . And military officials are now studying the possibility that a hit would strike one of the branches hanging over the field, had a ground rule for what might happen in the air.

Tulsa Oilers Double Victors Over Beaumont

(By The Associated Press)
Beaumont, clinging to the Texas league title by only one game as a result of a double defeat, 14-13 and 3-2, at the hands of the up-and-coming Tulsa Oilers yesterday.
If the Oilers drop a game today and Tulsa notches another victory the second-place Oilers will climb to the top of the heap. Beaumont, which started the season at a blazing pace, crumpled completely in the series at Tulsa, losing three in a row.
Outfielder Marvin Rickert of Tulsa banged out three homers in three appearances at the plate in the first game.
The Houston Buffs split a twin bill with the Cats at Fort Worth, dropping the first 2-5 and taking the second 5-1. The Shreveport Sports lost to the Indians at Oklahoma City 2-4 in the first game of the double-header, but managed to win the nightcap 7-5. The last-place Dallas Rebels, with the sad record of only 7 won out of 24 games this season, did a nosedive before a discouraged group of home fans, allowing the four-place San Antonio Missions to beat them twice in an afternoon, 6-5 and 6-3.

Clard Horton of Fort Worth batted for the Buffs in the opener and would have had a stunner if Monk Tucker hadn't stumbled off after a high fly in the ninth. Paul Dean raked up his third straight Texas league win for Houston in the second contest. The solo Cat run off Dean came on Roy Easterwood's circuit clot in the sixth.
Pitchers featured the opening Shreveport-Oklahoma City game in the double-header, with Mack Jones of the Tribe still home to score and knocked Catcher Del Dalinger off his feet. The pair traded punches and then wrestled as team-mates swarmed onto the field, but order was soon restored.

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—John Heydler, ex-president of the National league who can tell you about baseball almost back to the beginning, comes up with this explanation of why modern clubs murder the pitchers with those big innings. . . It's because they swing any time they think they can hit the ball, even going for the 2-0 and 3-0 pitches. "In my day," he says, "we would have been benched for trying to hit after three balls had been called instead of waiting out a walk. . . Story around town is that when and if Private Joe Louis fights Private Billy Conn next summer, the army emergency relief will get $100,000 off the top and then Louis and Mike Jacobs will contribute six per cent of their shares and Conn will kick in three per cent.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., May 11 (AP)—For the 22nd time in recognized competition, Cornelius Warmerden, the California school teacher, pole vaulted more than 15 feet at the Cotton Carnival track and field meet here yesterday.
The double defeat pulled the Cards into a fourth place tie with the Reds and turned third place over to the Boston Braves, who divided a twin bill with the Philadelphia Phils.
The Braves won the first game, 5-1, behind the four-hit pitching of Al Javery, but Ernie Kohl blasted a three-run homer that gave the Phils the nightcap, 4-3.
In New York, the Yankees streaked through their current winning streak to seven games and kicked their American League lead to two lengths with a twin win over the Washington Senators as Cleveland and Detroit split and the Philadelphia Athletics knocked off the Boston Red Sox twice.
A squeeze play in the ninth inning scored the run that gave the Yanks the first game, 4-3, and the second game went ten innings before Jack Wilson uncorked a wild pitch with a man on third, handing the world champions a 3-2 decision.
Tommy Bridges pitched five-hit ball in giving the Detroit Tigers a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game, but the Tribe snapped a six game losing streak to take the second, 6-5 in ten innings.
Big Bob Johnson's bat knocked the Boston Red Sox out of a second place tie with Cleveland and Detroit as the Athletics swept the bargain bill, 4-2 and 6-5. Johnson collected six hits in eight trips to the plate during the afternoon, including a homer in each game.
The St. Louis Browns and Chicago White Sox divided the top of the afternoon, with the Browns taking the opener, 5-2, and the Sox the finale, 9-7, with Bob Swift of St. Louis and Joe Kubel of Chicago deciding each issue with a home run.

Bobo Risks Fight
Taking On Dorazio
PHILADELPHIA, May 11 (AP)—Harry Bobo, one round knockout conqueror of Lem Franklin, risks a possible title bout with Joe Louis in taking on Philadelphia's veteran Gus Dorazio tonight.
The Pittsburgh negro, who returns to the ring where he won the national junior A. U. heavy-weight championship three years ago, may close out his big career by taking a shot to retain a top rating among Louis' challengers.
Dorazio, a 13 to 5 underdog in the overnight betting, lasted less than two rounds against Louis in an injury bout here two years ago. But he's made a come-back since then and in his last fight, his reputation of Melio Bettina.
Lewie Polk, Jr., a senior, took over the track team.
Of a squad of 32 that reported for practice, only four had ever competed in track events. Even Lewie had never been on a track team in his life. Today, Lewie's boys are state track champions, winning the title Saturday.

Bob Bailey Hits Three Homers And Three Singles

Bob Bailey, Pampa right-hander, won his fourth straight game of the season against Hubbers yesterday afternoon with the able assistance of Bob Hubbers who slugged three home runs and three singles on seven times at the plate. Although nickered for 18 hits, Schmitt and company beat the Lubbock Hubbers 19 to 8.
Pitching assignments for tonight's game have not been released by managers. Money Stratton, Lubbock leader, used four pitchers yesterday, including himself. Manager Dick Ratliff will have the job of selecting a starter from Floyd Hatcher, George Unfer, J. D. Isaacs and Walter Barrett. Hatcher is a local boy who started the season, while Unfer was signed after being released by Berger. Isaacs is the middle brother of Joe Isaacs, leftfielder, who came in Wednesday. Barrett, huge right-hander, reported Saturday from Muskogee.
Two other former Muskogee players made their appearance in the lineup yesterday. Manager Ratliff released Robert "Pepper" Martin and started Robert Cunningham at second base. He used Ray Rhoads at shortstop. The combination worked fairly well, however, both boys appeared a little slow for the important infield positions. They may snap out of it and be the answer to Ratliff's prayer for a combination that can complete a double play. At the plate, Cunningham batted three singles on five official times at bat. Rhoads got one hit for three official times up and walked four straight times.
Bob Bailey was the hitting star of the game with three home runs, one inside the park, and three singles. Bailey got a suit of clothes from fans for the second home run of the season. First suit of clothes went to Manager Dick Ratliff who lifted one over the fence in the first inning. Bailey's homer came in the second when he searched a line drive to center. Reynolds, Lubbock center fielder, came in fast to play the ball on the first bounce, but the ball took a freak hop and skidded past Reynolds going to the fence. Knight, right fielder, finally grabbed the ball against the fence but before he could make the throw home Bailey had crossed the plate. Walter Buckel, third baseman, also batted a homer in the third.

18 Hurlers Go Distance In Major League Program
By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's a long way to the World Series, but the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers appear to be heading toward a return engagement.
Both teams strengthened their positions at the head of their respective pennant races yesterday when their closest pursuers were knocking each other off or being kicked around by upstarts from the second division.
The accent was on pitching in the day's 18 hurlers went the distance and it is to show appreciation for the huge Sunday crowds which kept the turnstiles working overtime.
In the only singleton of the afternoon, the Brooklyn Dodgers stretched their National league lead to two and a half games by dumping the New York Giants, 5-3, as the second place Pittsburgh Pirates split with the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds knocked the St. Louis Cardinals out of third place with a double shutout.
Rookie Ed Head limited the Giants to eight scattered hits in gaining his fourth straight triumph over Carl Hubbell, who went looking for his first victory of the year and wound up instead with his second defeat.
Phil Cavarretta drove in the runs which gave the Cubs a 4-2 triumph over Pittsburgh in the first game of the series.
Tommy Bridges pitched five-hit ball in giving the Detroit Tigers a 5-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in the first game, but the Tribe snapped a six game losing streak to take the second, 6-5 in ten innings.

SMU Will Play Naval Air Team
By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS, May 11. (AP)—Those former All-Americans who want to get in some tough football while preparing to take a swipe at the Japs can figure on top-flight competition in the Southwest next fall. They can meet any kind of team they feel capable of tackling because the Southwest conference has made provisions for freshmen, reserves and varsity squads all to play service teams.
Already one game has been lined up. James W. St. Clair, conference secretary, announced scheduling of the naval air station at Corpus Christi with Southern Methodist university in Dallas the method of Oct. 24.
"The Texas naval base has such footballers as Dave Rankin, All-American at Purdue in 1940, and Bob Saugau, ex-Notre Dame great, on its roster."
The Corpus Christi-Southern Methodist game was announced only a few hours after the conference faculty committee met and made secret arrangements for service games.
1. Raised the limit on freshmen games from three to six so that service teams could be scheduled.
2. Authorized formation of B teams from varsity material to play the Army and Navy boys.
3. Increased the varsity conference schedules from ten to eleven games with the extra one to be played with a service team.

Withholding Tax Advocated By Committee

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—Plans to compel every American wage earner to invest a part of his weekly pay check in the war effort were put forth in both branches of congress today.

Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Finance committee advocated a withholding tax of from 5 to 10 per cent on all wages, salaries, and dividends, while Rep. Core (D-Tenn.) came forth with a bill to deduct a percentage of every wage, beginning with 6 per cent in the $20-$50 unmarried class, and ranging upward.

In the higher brackets, annual income would be limited to $25,000, after payment of taxes, with the remainder going into the purchase of bonds. That was the limit favored by President Roosevelt in his recent share-the-war speech.

Senator George's 5-to-10 per cent withholding tax plan was offered as an alternative to the treasury's proposal to obtain $1,100,000,000 in new revenues by lowering income tax exemptions.

Asserting that the treasury plan would place a "terrific burden" on the low income groups, George predicted that congress would be forced to turn instead to some new form of taxation such as a withholding or sales levy. Of the two, he said he preferred a withholding tax.

500 Air Corps Men Get Commissions

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., May 11 (AP)—The air corps made commissioned officers today of nearly 500 soldiers who spurned the glamorous side of Miami Beach while studying and living in some of its fashionable retreats.

It was the first class of new second lieutenants to be graduated from the army air corps officer candidate school which three months ago hastily converted ballrooms into study halls, restaurants into military messes and guest rooms into barracks.

Col. James S. Stowell, commander of the school, said the fledgling officers "are ready for duty anywhere. They are ready physically, and above all, mentally. The motto is, and above all, mentally. The motto is, and above all, mentally."

Puerto Rico, however, had the biggest week, winning three games to this edge to the top of the second division. The Owls beat Southern Methodist 5-1 and Texas Christian 3-3 and 9-3.

Only a few games remain on the schedule and they mean nothing in the conference race.

Army Saves Millions Opposition To Car Seizure Develops

WASHINGTON, May 11 (AP)—The army reported today that its experiments in the seizure of automobiles today against legislative proposals which would permit the government to seize privately-owned automobiles.

One bill, introduced by Senator Downey (D-Calif.), would establish a $5,000,000 fund to be used to build up a government stockpile of cars, tires, and parts, by donation, purchase, or requisitioning.

Another proposal, by Senator Reynolds (D-N.C.), would fix a nationwide 40-mile-an-hour speed limit and authorize the government to commandeer all cars found traveling at greater speed. The owners would be paid for their cars.

Senator Connally (D-Tex.) indicated he opposed any such drastic moves and declared the public reaction would be "terrible" if some cars were requisitioned and others were not.

One of the principal motives of the bills is to conserve the nation's "rolling stockpile" of rubber tires. Senator Byrd (D-Va.) expressed belief that this aim could be achieved by government purchase of the new automobiles now in the hands of manufacturers and dealers.

(By The Associated Press) Fifteen gallant Texans, members of the doughty Fourth Marines who fought a dogged delaying action against overwhelming Japanese forces on bomb-blasted Corregidor and at Fort Mills, have been cited for decorations and commendations in the battle of the Philippines.

One of them, Corporal William N. McCormack of Houston, was thrice honored.

The Eighth Naval District Zone public relations office in Dallas Saturday made public the honor roll of Texans among the 21 officers and enlisted men of the fighting marine regiment, and three officers and five men of the navy medical department, recognized for gallantry.

Their names were added to a long list of Texas fighting men—a list growing daily as warfare spreads—who have proved themselves to be heroes since Pearl Harbor and before.

No information was available as to the specific actions of which the citations announced Saturday were made. The medals awarded at Corregidor were army decorations.

Many Items Not Covered By Ceiling

Many commodities that Pampans, as well as other Americans buy, are excepted under the maximum price regulation which goes into effect today for wholesalers and May 18 for retailers.

Mr. McCullough listed the following commodities as NOT covered under the price control order: Any raw and unprocessed agricultural commodity or greenhouse commodity while it remains substantially in its original state...

Books, magazines, motion pictures, periodicals, newspapers, and materials furnished for publication by any press association or feature service; domestic ores and ore concentrates; stamper, logs and pulpwood; stamps and skins, precious stones, antiques and knotted Oriental rugs, paintings, etchings, sculptures and other objects of art...

The Paero Islands, north of the British Isles.

Today's Berlin communique repeated Sunday's special announcement that 21 more merchant ships totaling 118,000 tons had been sunk in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

Those were the newest highlights on the titanic canvas of world conflict two years and a day after Germany loosed the blitzkrieg on the Dutch, Belgians, French and British in western Europe...

Japanese dispatches, via Berlin, said that the Allied naval forces which participated in the five-day Coral sea test were of "exceptional strength and consisted by elements of the most powerful fleet units the Japanese navy has yet encountered."

The surface ship phase of the air-sea encounter was broken off last Friday, with the remnants of the Japanese force in flight, but the aerial counter-blooms continued. On Saturday a Japanese seaplane tender and a tanker were bombed and on Sunday two submarines were sunk or damaged — all off northeastern Australia.

In addition to the two submarines enemy seaplanes in the Louisiana islands off the southeastern tip of New Guinea were bombed, results undetermined. Five seaplanes, however, were known to have been destroyed or damaged in connection with Saturday's tanker-tender attacks and two fighters were destroyed by interceptors at Port Moresby, Allied base in New Guinea.

Churchill's speech yesterday contained this passage: "I am not prone to make predictions but I have no doubt tonight that British and American seapower will grip and hold the Japanese and snuff out the Japanese airpower which lay them low."

Hughes Will Be Main Speaker At API Tuesday

Don Hughes, consulting geologist and district representative of the Panhandle Geological Society, will be principal speaker at the meeting of the Panhandle chapter of the American Petroleum Institute tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Junior high school auditorium here.

His subject will be "Exploration Methods" or "The Finding of New Oil Fields."

The subject is of major interest at this time. Drilling in proven fields has been curtailed and wildcatting is being encouraged. Mr. Hughes will explain in as non-technical terms as possible the various methods of discovering new oil reservoirs.

The meeting will be free and everyone is invited to attend, Chairman R. T. McNally said today.

The remainder of May.

During the opening minutes of checking, the Humble Oil and Refining company indicated its original nominations remained firm but Magnolia Petroleum company reported it would not need as much oil as it had indicated a month ago.

DeGolyer, asserting he was appearing on the commission's request that the OPC be represented, said he had been asked by J. R. Parton of Houston, now OPC director of transportation, to make the report.

"I am here to review the oil transport situation which has undergone violent displacement," DeGolyer declared. "The OPC knows Texas is suffering and believes the ultimate solution is a pipe line job."

"Currently there are only 800,000 barrels of oil daily reaching the coast. That means we are short by 520,000 barrels. Of course, Texas, farthest removed from the market, cannot produce the oil if it cannot be transported."

Jerry Sadler, commission member, reiterated previous statements that he had received reports smaller refiners had been refused oil by major purchasers.

"In my opinion," Sadler declared, "this situation is unsound and appears to be a move to put the little man out of business. We now ask you to make your purchasing nominations for the last 15 days in May. If you cannot give us those figures, then you cannot expect the commission to help you solve your problems."

Gag-Wear Sheriff Gets Surprised. THE DALLES, Ore., May 11. (AP) — "I'm too busy," said gag-wear Sheriff Harold Sexton to the man who phoned to say he was tired of being a fugitive.

"If you want to be arrested, drop around to my office," he sighed, and hung up.

The fellow showed up in half an hour. He was wanted in Tacoma, Wash., for passing bad checks.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 11 (AP)—Steele, motors and other selected stocks overrode profit selling for modest gains in the latter part of today's market but many leaders failed to make much progress.

Fractional plus signs were plentiful in the final hour although minor declines were well distributed.

The ticker tape frequently was at a standstill and transfers for the full proceeds were around 300,000 shares.

A smattering of new highs for the year was again in evidence. Good year common and preferred and Goodrich were among these.

Coca-Cola pushed up 2 points or so on restricted volume. In the resistant division were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Celanese, Consolidated Edison, Chrysler, General Motors, Woolworth, Union Carbide, General Electric, Owens-Illinois and Yellow Truck.

said, in the lens company opinion, "to promote the progress of science and the useful arts by granting to the inventor a limited monopoly, the exercise of which will enable him to secure the financial rewards for his invention."

"His monopoly remains so long as he retains the ownership of the patented article.

"But sale of it exhausts the monopoly in that article and the patentee may not thereafter, by virtue of his patent, control the use or disposition of the article.

"Hence the patentee cannot control the resale price of patented articles which he has sold x x x."

their thrust to capture Mandalay and Lashio and invade Yunnan province.

Earlier reports had indicated the Japanese in Yunnan province had been lured into a Chinese trap, and that the defenders had slaughtered 4,500 of the invading shock troops.

The Japanese had been reported receding back from the invasion of China, closely pursued and in peril of annihilation.

The Chinese announced last night that they had deliberately allowed the enemy to rush headlong up the Burma road into China's Yunnan province, then suddenly had smashed the enemy's wings and pounced on the main body of the invading force with an artillery blast which left 3,000 enemy soldiers dead and the remnants in flight.

Now, they said, the routed Japanese are facing certain annihilation, sandwiched between their Thompson read 1937 figures showing that at that time 87.9 per cent of oil produced in the southwest moved to market by water routes and the remainder by pipe lines, railroads and trucks. He declared railroads now were carrying 600,000 barrels daily but that the figure lacked 40,000 of being sufficient for eastern wartime industrial needs.
