Gen. Somervell Arrives In London To Plan Air Assault

Two-Thirds Of U. S. Staff In England

LONDON, May 27 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Brehon B. Somervell arrived here today to round out the United States military mission conferring with British war chiefs, and London commentators expressed belief a united air assault was planned to blast the way for a future Allied landing on the German-occupied continental coast.

General Somervell heads the United States army's supply division, which is charged with handling the thousands of tons of food, clothing and munitions needed to keep any major expeditionary force in the field.

He is an assistant chief of staff, in charge of "G-4," the supply division.

Brigadier Generals Leroy Lutes, Charles P. Gross and William C. Lee accompanied him.

"Plans for a combined Anglo-American attack on the Axis powers are being discussed," The Daily Telegraph said. It can confidently be predicted that one outcome will be a great intensification of the air attack on Germany from the west.

The United States officers conferred with the corresponding officers in Britain's air, sea and land services.

The American mission is headed by Lieut. Gen. Henry H. Arnold, head of the army air forces, and Rear Admiral John H. Towers, chief of naval aeronautics.

Other members include Maj. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, head of the operations division of the war department general staff, and Maj. Gen. Mark W. Clark, chief of staff of the army ground forces.

The arrival of this group was disclosed in London yesterday, coincident with authoritative statements that the Allies were preparing harder air blows and with increasing popular demands for more direct action against Germany.

Nationwide Gasoline Rationing Predicted

Senate Steps Into Primary In Oklahoma

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Put on notice that nationwide gasoline rationing may be the next step in the rubber conservation program, the house interstate commerce committee called on government rubber experts today for an explanation of the situation and what is being done to meet it.

Representatives of the army, the commerce department and other agencies dealing with rubber were requested by Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) to tell how essential needs were being met and would be met in the future.

The state election board is holding a hearing on Senator Lee's protest that Farmer Lee's candidacy was frivolous, fraudulent, and not in good faith.

The state hearing continued today, despite White's request for a delay to allow Senator Lee to appear before the board when he returns to Oklahoma later this week.

The questioning of the senator would be interesting to say the least, said Dean Spies.

Farmer Lee tills 180 acres near Vinita, and is the father of eight children. He filed for president of the state board of agriculture in 1938, and finished second with 127,940 votes to the winner's 129,580, although he made no campaign.

Others in the race for the Democratic nomination for senator are Orel Busby, former state supreme court justice, and William H. Murray, former governor.

Japs Boast Of Future Conquests

(By The Associated Press)

Japan's war leaders today boasted of future conquests while Allied fighting men were scoring new successes against the invaders on far-flung land and sky fronts.

Japan's Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo sounded a new threat to Australia, asserting boastfully that "the naval forces in defense of Australia have disappeared, with nothing standing now to defend that country before the onslaught of the imperial Japanese forces."

Evidently a "fishing expedition" in quest of information, Gen. Tojo's repetition of Japan's claim of victory in the Coral sea battle—discredited by Allied accounts—was accompanied by a renewed pledge of Japanese support for the Axis.

"Japan will do her utmost to contribute her share as the partner of Germany and Italy," he told the Japanese parliament, in the presence of Emperor Hirohito.

But, as if to dispel the idea that Japan would help Germany by attacking Russia, Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo carefully explained: "Relations between Japan and the Soviet Union have undergone no change even after the outbreak of war in Greater East Asia."

"Enemy countries will, I presume, intensify their efforts to alienate Japan and the Soviet Union, but there is no chance for such intrigues to bear fruit so long as the Soviet Union firmly maintains the attitude mentioned."

In addition to his threat against Australia, Gen. Tojo warned India that "as long as British and American troops remain in India, Japan is inflexibly determined to annihilate them."

He said Australia was "now helplessly expecting Japan's attack after the battle in the Coral sea wiped away naval units put up for the defense of Australia."

Oil Men Take Hope From Three Plans

(By The Associated Press)

The Southwest's oil industry, in a sink-or-swim struggle against a flood of petroleum in the face of proposed rationing, took hope today from three developments:

President Roosevelt's press conference statement that he would advance money from an emergency fund for construction of a Florida pipeline provided he had reasonable assurance congress would then appropriate funds;

The War Production Board's decision to put plans for a Texas-New York pipeline under consideration again;

Announcement by Rep. Mansfield (R-Tex.), chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors committee, that he hoped to get right-of-way for immediate action on his bill to authorize intracoastal canal construction from Brownsville to New Jersey.

The industry, seeking desperately to whip the problems of oil accumulation because of lack of transportation, also looked with interest on another pipeline project from within its own ranks.

The proposal was by Todd Lee Wynne of Dallas, president of the American Liberty Pipeline company, that the concern transplant a 200-mile eight-inch line from Texas to Florida. This line would connect with barge lines on the Gulf and Atlantic sides, it could move 35,000 barrels of oil a day, it could be completed in four months, and no new materials would be required.

Rents Ordered Cut Back To March Level

The government today designated Gray county as a "defense-rental area" which means that rents will be cut back to March 1 level if they are now above that figure.

In all, the government placed 18 additional communities and the entire territory of Alaska in that bracket, continuing the drive against high living costs in important military training centers.

Approval of a contract for the drilling of a water test well at the site of the twin-engine bomber training school, 11 miles east of Pampa, was given by the city commission at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon.

H. H. Heskell is the contractor. Size of the well is to be 500 feet deep, with a hole 13 inches in diameter, and 12 3/4-inch casing.

One clause of the contract states that the well may be abandoned or completed as the city may direct.

Purpose of the test is in response to war department request. Later on the city may call for bids for drilling other wells when specifications can be determined.

Object is to get wells capable of producing 750,000 gallons of water daily.

Although the contract was approved yesterday, this act was merely a follow-up of a previous move in which the city's signature to the contract was authorized.

Location of the test well is described in the contract as being in section 177, block M-2, B. S. & P. survey.

Selection Of Retail Articles Discussed By Coltexo HD Club

Coltexo Home Demonstration club held its regular meeting recently at the community hall when a program on "The Selection of Retail Articles" was presented.

Each member answered roll call by giving her best production or purchase this year.

Mrs. J. H. Romines gave a demonstration on "Foods Canned," in which she stated that 45 million people live below the safety line, because they do not get the food they need, that meals which leave the body hungry, that are not well planned, or that neglect protective foods, breed danger.

Mrs. Romines stressed the fact that everyone can live above the safety line, that this is a job for a nation of people and in it there is work for everybody. She emphasized that vegetables which have been fertilized with phosphate, furnish an abundance of phosphorus which works with calcium by hardening the teeth and bones, and helps in the building of all tissues of the body.

She concluded her demonstration by saying, "We can make America stronger," by making Americans stronger.

Following Mrs. Romine's lesson on foods, Mrs. E. Burton discussed cloth material, in which she made note of the fact that two-tone novelties are produced by mixing rabbit hair and the down of geese or duck with wool, which gives a wavy effect, leaving bare spots. Mrs. J. E. Loman was appointed assistant reporter.

Members present were Mmes. R. E. Burton, J. E. Willis, J. E. Loman, Melvin L. Roberts, and J. H. Romines.

HERE'S A QUICK and complete change from the pompadour hairfix. The flat-topped coil points up a strong new wartime trend—an utterly smooth brow and crown. Locks are brushed out in horizontal line, from a center part, and are secured with barrettes above the ears. To balance this rather severe effect, back hair is waved and rolled up in softly rounded contour.

"As Simple As 'Good Morning'"—That's New Flat-Top Coiffure For Summer Fashion

By ALICIA HART
Your summer hairdo will be a real comfort for you, this time. Fashion as well as your wartime schedule demands it. And if you want to look really prophetic—try a style without a pompadour.

Newest idea being offered, just now, is a group of "good morning" coils. The fine stylist who created them took the name from a saying they had for simple things in France—before the war. They'd say such things as "Simple as 'Good Morning!'" And you'd say the same thing about these haircombs or any other that's really fashionable and in good taste this summer.

This expert tells me that a good many women say they no longer "feel right" in too many curls. One day last week, he did the locks of five of his customers with permanent for back ends only.

POMPADOURS ARE BECOMING "PRE-WAR"
This is what goes with the pompadourless smoothie which is illustrated. The tresses are tossed out from a center part, perfectly simply, and caught with barrettes above the ears. Back ends are turned up in a roll which is both tailored and soft. More casually, this stylist brushes out the back hair so that it has just a flick of an upward curl at the end.

Not every face will be flattered by such plain treatment of the brow and crown of the head, especially when such handling presents a startling contrast to pompadours on every side.

Well, the pompadour is not yet done-for—not quite. A style so universally adopted, for the very good reason that it flatters practically every woman who breathes, will be a long time dying. Many women will wear it smartly this summer, especially when it is arranged to hug the head and look trim and simple. Many will wear it even in the fall and they should as long as they feel better in it.

But by the end of summer it is going to look good and pre-war. Short and simple will be the watchwords—and for really glamorous effects, extra hair is the answer.

Hollywood scouts right now report a trend toward more "severe" hair styles. Lynn Bari sweeps her tresses straight up at the sides and back, and tucks ends into a pompadour. But a high severe one, Jane Wyman is brushing her blonde locks smoothly down all around.

So, whether you wear your locks in casual feather cut or in tailored fashion—keep 'em simple! Go to a good stylist and tell him at least the kind of effect you wish to achieve, and then let him suggest an adaptation of a fashion that both adjusts easily to your speeded up beauty regimen and adds to your charm.

Policies Related To Operation Of School Adopted By Board

(Editor's Note: This is the first of two articles relating to policies adopted by the Pampa school board. The second article will appear in tomorrow's paper. Persons residing in the Pampa school district are asked to give an insight into the way their school is being operated.)

The Pampa School Board has adopted policies regarding the use of school buildings for meetings, method and time of hiring teachers, summer school program, duties of various administrative officers, teacher activities, etc. In the past there has been no set policy to which the board could refer.

Also, when new members were voted to the board they were at a loss to know how the board and the schools operated until procedure was explained to them or until questions arose and decisions had to be made.

Several copies of the policies will be printed and will be available to new board members and for reference.

Collected by the board after each had been stated.

Auditorium Use.—The use of the school auditoriums for purposes other than school is limited to civic and community organizations. A flat fee of $5 to be paid by check to the business manager of the school will be charged. This fee is estimated to cover janitorial and utility expenses. Any waiver of this fee must be approved by the school board through the superintendent.

Permission for use of the auditorium must be obtained from the superintendent at least two weeks prior to its use.

Method and Time of Payment of Salaries.—Teachers' contracts are dated from first of September to the first of September. Salary during the school year will be paid at the first of the school month and summer checks will be paid at the first of each calendar month. Summer salary checks cannot be obtained in advance unless the teacher is leaving the system.

Substitute Teachers and Salaries.—All substitute teachers that are used in the system must be on the substitute list and must be approved by the superintendent and the school board. They will be paid at the rate of $4 per day for elementary school and junior high school; and $4.50 per day or $1 per period for senior high school. The substitute teacher who completes the year for some teacher who has dropped out will be paid at the rate of $100 per month.

Election and Contracts.—Teachers are passed on by the school board after the recommendation by the superintendent. The minutes of the board meeting constitute a contract. A written contract is prepared and signed by the superintendent after the applicant has been passed upon by the board.

Teachers who wish to be released from their contracts must notify the superintendent at least one month before the opening of school.

Summer School Attendance.—It is the policy of the school to require all teachers who have a bachelor's degree to complete six hours of college work, which can be applied to their master's degree or which is approved by the administration of the school, each three years.

All teachers who have a masters degree must complete as much as six hours of work, approved by the administration, each five years.

It has been agreed that the time for the completion of the first six hours work shall be Sept. 1, 1942. Any teacher who has a bachelor or a masters degree and who has not completed at least six since Sept. 1, 1937, will be asked to meet this requirement by that time.

For those teachers who do not have a degree, the requirements are outlined by the State Department of Education and requires that a teacher must complete 12 hours of work each three years. The first period for the completion of 12 semester hours closed Sept. 1, 1937, and the second period terminated Sept. 1, 1940.

The compulsory features do not apply for the duration of the emergency, but the superintendent and principals may reserve the right to request individual attendance.

Procedure for the Purchase of Teaching Supplies and Equipment.—The board of education holds the administration and every school employe strictly responsible for the handling of orders and requisitions through the proper channels and in accordance with the following policies:

1. The superintendent is directly responsible to the school board for the proper administration of the school budget. All orders and requisitions, which entail an expenditure of the funds of the Pampa Independent School District, must be passed upon by the superintendent of schools before they become effective. All purchasing is done by the business manager.
2. All requisitions dealing with teaching supplies, health and physical education, and library should be made in consultation with and with final approval of the school principal. From the principal they should be brought to the office of instruction. After the approval of the director of instruction, requisitions are given to the superintendent for final confirmation. In other words, all requisitions should be passed upon by the principal, the director of instruction, and the superintendent of schools.
3. All requisitions for equipment that is directly associated with class room teaching should likewise be handled through the office of instruction.
4. No employe of the school is authorized to make any purchase on the account of the Pampa Independent School District unless he has first obtained an official order form signed by the superintendent and approved by the business manager.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—The market opened with a modest buying revival in stocks today and many leaders pushed up fractions to end the session.

Welcomed among the day's speculative factors were hopeful interpretations of Phipps' stand against the drive and the statement of Donald M. Nelson that inventory controls being readied by his war production board, affecting retailers and wholesalers, would not be issued for a number of weeks and would not become operative for several months thereafter.

On the adverse side were more divided reactions and emotions, but the market took these in stride.

Chrysler, up 2 or so at the best, and General Motors ahead around a point, were at new highs for the year. Well in front were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Electric, Union Carbide and Johnson & Johnson. Showing fractional progress were General Electric, U. S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, Inter-American, Westinghouse, Santa Fe, and Pennsylvania. United Corp. preferred had a fair rise on the declaration of a 33 cent dividend against arrears.

Dallas Calls Off Texas State Fair
DALLAS, May 27 (AP)—A victory and fun festival for a week of the fall period during which the State Fair of Texas ordinarily is held was considered today by the Victory Committee of Texas.

R. L. Thomas, committee chairman, said plans for such a festival depended upon whether the fair buildings and grounds were in use by the army or a government agency.

It was decided yesterday to call off the 1942 Exposition because of the transportation situation.

Harry L. Seay, fair president, said, "The railroad transportation problem is so acute that exhibitors will be unable to obtain cars to bring livestock and agricultural displays to the fair."

The fair grounds and buildings will be tendered to the government for any use it desires to make of them, Seay added.

U. S. Warship May Have Sunk Sub
RIO DE JANEIRO, May 27 (AP)—An unconfirmed report from Recife today said a United States warship, answering the call for help on May 18 of the Brazilian freighter Commandante Lyra, chased the undersea attacker and was believed to have sunk it.

This was the third enemy submarine reported sunk in waters off Brazil in nine days. American bombers sank one U-boat near Fernando Noronha, about 125 miles off Brazil's northeast coast, last Friday, the pilots declared, and another was reported sent to the bottom yesterday off Recife.

The Commandante Lyra was at first abandoned by its crew which was later put aboard and towed to port by a United States warship. The freighter's captain, Severino Sotero, said United States patrol planes signaled for help almost immediately after his ship was attacked with torpedoes and incendiary shells.

When the warship arrived on the scene it dropped many depth charges in the chase, today's report said.

The Brazilian press continued to attack Germany for the assaults on Brazilian ships and urged the government to begin an active defense with its planes and warships, but the government permitted no word to be published of the sinkings of submarines off the coast by United States forces.

In overhauling approving the bill, the house reversed its earlier communications sources any time they suspected an offense against the national security under legislation approved yesterday by the house and sent to the senate.

And if they obtained some damaging evidence by this method, they could use it in court.

Republicans and Democrats alike argued the necessity of the measure to combat subversive activities. One of his chief supporters, Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), told the house judiciary committee lines earlier today that "there would have been no Pearl Harbor attack" had the legislation been in effect prior to December 7, 1941.

The judiciary committee called to the attention of the house an excerpt from the report of the Roberts commission on the Pearl Harbor attack citing the difficulties government agents encountered in following Japanese activities in Hawaii prior to last December 7.

In overwhelmingly approving the bill, the house reversed its status of last summer when it rejected a similar proposal on the ground it might lead to abuses and invasions of privacy guaranteed by the bill of rights. But it limited the effective period of the new legislation to six months after the end of the war, unless terminated sooner by congress or presidential decree.

Army Empowered To Tap Phone Lines
WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The FBI and the army and navy intelligence services would be empowered to tap telephone lines and other communications sources any time they suspected an offense against the national security under legislation approved yesterday by the house and sent to the senate.

And if they obtained some damaging evidence by this method, they could use it in court.

Republicans and Democrats alike argued the necessity of the measure to combat subversive activities. One of his chief supporters, Rep. Hobbs (D-Ala.), told the house judiciary committee lines earlier today that "there would have been no Pearl Harbor attack" had the legislation been in effect prior to December 7, 1941.

The judiciary committee called to the attention of the house an excerpt from the report of the Roberts commission on the Pearl Harbor attack citing the difficulties government agents encountered in following Japanese activities in Hawaii prior to last December 7.

In overwhelmingly approving the bill, the house reversed its status of last summer when it rejected a similar proposal on the ground it might lead to abuses and invasions of privacy guaranteed by the bill of rights. But it limited the effective period of the new legislation to six months after the end of the war, unless terminated sooner by congress or presidential decree.

Dallas Calls Off Texas State Fair
DALLAS, May 27 (AP)—A victory and fun festival for a week of the fall period during which the State Fair of Texas ordinarily is held was considered today by the Victory Committee of Texas.

R. L. Thomas, committee chairman, said plans for such a festival depended upon whether the fair buildings and grounds were in use by the army or a government agency.

It was decided yesterday to call off the 1942 Exposition because of the transportation situation.

Harry L. Seay, fair president, said, "The railroad transportation problem is so acute that exhibitors will be unable to obtain cars to bring livestock and agricultural displays to the fair."

The fair grounds and buildings will be tendered to the government for any use it desires to make of them, Seay added.

'Shot' Tire Really Shot
INDIANAPOLIS, May 27 (AP)—When Rowe Grogg says one of his tires is "shot" he means just that. When he discovered a flat tire on his car in a parking lot, Grogg called a station attendant.

"Your tire was shot," the attendant reported. "I found a bullet in it."

Really NEED a New Car? Liberalized rules may let you get one

Who is Eligible to Buy a New Car?

There are seven major classifications for persons eligible to buy new cars under basic rationing rules.

These include persons engaged in the production of war materials or in the production of the war, directly or indirectly, physicians, nurses, clergymen, veterinarians; car-owners engaged in public service, such as fire departments, public health, highway maintenance etc.; owners of taxicabs and other means of transportation; farmers; newspaper wholesalers; and traveling salesmen in certain fields.

Your Buick dealer will be very glad to help you determine whether you come under the rules of eligibility. He also will be glad to help you fill the proper applications.

Don't guess about your eligibility—see your Buick dealer now and make sure.

Under newly liberalized rationing rules it is easier than most people think to replace cars now in use with brand-new, long-lived, gas-thrifty 1942 Buicks.

Maybe you can wash out worries about tire-life by starting afresh with a complete new set—tires that will last longer, if they're on a Buick, because new Broadrim wheels both ease the ride and lengthen tire-life.

Remember, the 1942 models your Buick dealer now has ready for immediate delivery were built to serve you through the duration and beyond.

They are wartime tough, durable beauties built to last, built to go a long, long way with a minimum of upkeep.

So if you're eligible, you may be money ahead getting a new Buick now rather than trying to make an old car "do."

Why not drop in, talk it over and see if the new liberalized rules do not entitle you to a new automobile now?

If you're eligible for a new car— Better Buy Buick!

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Mr. Sidwell Is Right!

There is more than meets the eye in school board member E. C. Sidwell's protest against raising salaries of Pampa school administrators. Mr. Sidwell points out that this is not the time to raise salaries, and The News not only agrees with him, but the President of the U. S., the congress, capital and labor, all agree that the time for raising salaries is past. We thought that issue was settled when the government decided that the people were making too much money for the amount of goods they could buy.

Is there any reason why the same rules that apply to labor and capital should not apply to the administrators of the Pampa school system? If so, what are they? Why should their salaries be raised when the rule is not to raise other people's?

Mr. Sidwell makes the point that due to the uncertain status of the petroleum industry in the Panhandle and the resultant unstable tax situation, the board should not have saddled a new burden upon the tax-payers. That being true, and who will dispute it—naturally the ability of local bond buyers to help finance the war will be impaired.

It would seem that the school authorities ignored the national needs of the moment in raising the school administrators' salaries.

Newlyweds' Homes

The OPA's decision to limit installment buying works an unintended and unfortunate hardship on newlyweds.

Unless they can save in advance, or borrow or beg the money, young couples will find it hard to furnish their homes. Under the regulations there must be a down payment of at least 20 per cent on furniture, as on other things, and the balance must be paid within a year.

The only solution Mr. Henderson's experts have found is for the youngsters to buy a few general utility pieces at a time, instead of outfitting the home all at once.

At The Post Exchange

One of the War Production board's recent orders is going to prove a boon to recruiting agencies.

Cocoa to make candy for civilians has been rationed severely. But the beans used for the benefit of soldiers, sailors and marines will not be charged against processors' quotas.

So, it seems, if you like chocolates yourself or your friend does, you will find an unlimited supply at post exchanges and ship canteens—for men in uniform.

For Powder, Not Tires

The grain farmers, who would like to see surplus wheat and corn used in the war effort, are misdirecting their efforts. They ought to shoot at the munitions end, not at rubber.

Scientists working on the rubber problem tell us that short of a miracle petroleum will always beat grain as a source of synthetic rubber, because the process is more direct. But grain is an ideal source of alcohol, now being made from molasses at the cost of sugar rationing for the public. Nobody yet has given a convincing reason why we can't make the alcohol for United Nations' munitions out of grain, freeing the sugar for heat-producing food.

Today's War Analysis

(This daily feature, conducted by DeWitt MacKenzie, Wide World war analyst, is being written in his absence for a fortnight by Fred Vanderschmidt.)

The Mediterranean situation is full of unpleasant military possibilities, and it would be dangerous to disregard any of them. Yet the current dickerings of Germany, Italy and the dismal Vichy "government" of Pierre Laval have created such a smoke-screen of rumors that it may be well to look at the realities as they are known.

These are facts, as separated from futurities: Germany: Her primary preoccupation is and must continue to be Russia. It is, however, to her advantage to immobilize in the western Mediterranean the greatest number of United Nations aircraft, warships and machines. Because of her vast needs in the east, Germany wants to do this (a) by a nerve war as well as by military feints (b) by using the men and equipment of her allies, or vassals, to do as much of the actual fighting as may be necessary. Given the necessary "collaboration" she could, of course, use the French war fleet to considerable advantage in the Mediterranean, but the report that she is planning to man them with German crews must be accepted with considerable reserve. It must be remembered she has taken no such action with regard to the highway Italian battleships. It is not certain, either, that she has either the trained personnel or the oil to spare.

France: Pierre Laval, so far, has actually delivered to the Germans little more than trouble, although that certainly was not his intention.

Common Ground

"I speak the gas-word principle. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which I cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."—WALT WHITMAN

"NO FINANCIAL INTEREST" AHI!

Invariably socialists and New Dealers, who attempt to defend the graduated income tax, imply that they are more nearly right in their views on the wisdom of a progressive income tax than those who oppose it for the reason they claim they have no financial interest in the income tax.

As a matter of fact, they have a very, very great financial interest in the income tax, so their judgment is not at all impartial. They have a financial interest in the income tax because it temporarily relieves them of their personal obligation to be useful and helpful to their unfortunate brothers. If these defenders of the income tax, who directly pay nothing themselves, can compel someone else to pay more taxes then they themselves will have to pay less taxes in order that the government can render the same identical service.

So it is a fallacy based either on stupidity or chicanery for non-income taxpayers to contend that they have no financial interest in the income tax.

In addition to the above financial interest, they have a very great financial stake in the graduated income tax. It really costs them a great deal because it requires them to do more work to satisfy their wants because the government confiscating the wealth that would go into tools enables workers to produce less with a given amount of work.

So the next time you hear one of the socialists defending the unAmerican, socialist, communistic scheme of progressive taxation, don't let him get away with this holier-than-thou, disinterested policy. He is, in reality, very much interested in trying to shirk his part of the obligation which he owes to his fellowman.

These defenders of the progressive income tax can write no universal, impersonal, eternal rule of rightness or honesty, excepting their own changeable opinion. In fact, it is very hard to see very much difference between them and Hitler, and Stalin, excepting in degrees.

AN INTELLIGENT HINDU'S CONCEPTION OF GOD

I have been reading the book, "The Ethical Ideals of Jesus in a Changing World," by G. Bromley Oxnam, bishop of the Methodist Church. I want to pass on from this book a wise and beautiful thought. I quote:

"To compare our religion at its best with somebody else's religion at its worst is not good sportsmanship, much less Christianity. Years ago, standing beside a filthy pool in a Benares Temple, I found myself judging Hinduism. I saw a poor woman coming from the abysmal poverty of India giving a coin to a priest for the privilege of bathing in the pool and thereby acquiring merit. I resented it. To see anyone in the name of religion preying upon the poor and perpetuating superstition was repulsive. Later I journeyed from Calcutta to Bolpur to meet Rabindranath Tagore, the great poet of India. During the course of our conversation, I asked the question, 'Sir Rabindranath, what does God mean to you?' I shall never forget his answer. He said, 'One morning before the sun was up, when I was just a boy, my father took me into the jungle. We stood there together in the darkness. My father told me that sweet smelling earth was God's, that he was in it, that he was of it, that he had created it. The light began to filter down through the leaves of the trees; and my father told me that God was the light, that he was in the light, that he had created the light so I might behold all the beauties of the world. Then the birds began to sing and, the great poet said—I think I can quote him almost exactly—'my father turned to me there in the early morning and said, 'My boy, you are living in God's world of harmony and of beauty. I want you to promise me that as long as you live you will never strike a harsh or dissonant note.' Then, very quietly, he added, 'That is what God means to me.' No one can understand India until he has apprehended the results of the age-long search for God, the search that has characterized the people of that vast land."

ERIC VON STROHEIM—"I believe it is my patriotic duty to be a vicious, hateful Nazi—on the screen. During the last war I made people hate the enemy so much that they rushed out of theaters and straight to recruiting stations. And I want to do that again."

No; they said, 'Mae, that's what the public wants, so let's give it to 'em.' So we gave it to 'em, and the public got tired of it, and I got tired of it. That's when I started turning down picture offers. They said I was temperamental, but I was just smart, that this spy picture will prove it. Note to Miss Margaret Jones, sponsor of the high school annual: Last spring when I looked at the annual and couldn't tell Betty Mounts from Wayne Fade, I said, it can't happen here, and lightning never strikes in the same place twice, but yesterday when I looked at the new annual and couldn't tell Bill Bell's picture from Frankie Lou Keehn's, this question gushed into my mind: do you print the annual on a mimeograph, Miss Jones?

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

They don't open the meeting with the singing of "Deep in the Heart of Texas," but every Wednesday noon the congressional delegation from the Lone Star State has lunch together in the private dining room of the speaker of the House.

They can do that, of course, because Speaker Sam Rayburn is from Texas and he invites the delegation to use the accommodations of his office as meeting place. The speaker is host, but the affair is strictly dutch treat and not at government expense.

Every member of the delegation believes and every important Texas politician, banker, oil man, plainsman or cattleman who comes to Washington on a Wednesday manages to drop in on his congressman and get invited. All guests are introduced to each other, for the mid-week lunch hour at least, the heart of Texas is deep in Washington. The Hon. Wright Patman presides. There are no set speeches, but about the only subject of conversation heard or listened to is Texas and folks back home.

The talk is all as flat "a," silent "g" and brassy "r" as you'll hear at any Panhandle or brandin' barbecue! They even eat barbecued steer meat. If they didn't, the delegation would hear about it from every rancher in the state.

This Texas delegation in congress is something. One or both of the senators, Tom Connally, the blushing bridegroom, and Pappy O'Daniel, usually stroll over from the other side of the capitol to break biscuits with the 21 representatives. The number is reduced to 20 now by Lyndon Johnson's absence on leave to serve as a commander in the navy, though his wife, Lady Bird Johnson, who has stayed in Washington to run the office for him (without pay), sometimes is invited, for the affair is stag except on special occasions like honoring the new WAAC Major Hobby.

The delegation doesn't have to worry about or be embarrassed by Republicans, who just don't get elected in Texas. The Democrats down there fight among themselves like wildcats in the primaries. New Dealers lining up against conservatives, and machines going all out for some candidate. Victory in a primary is as good as election in Texas, however, so when the run-offs are over, it's just one big happy family again.

BROTHERLY BEEF: To see the delegation chewing Wednesday is a picture of beautiful brotherly love and affection in the wholesome, he-man Texas way. Behind the scenes there may be jealousies. Speaker Rayburn and Senator Connally aren't believed to be any too cooperative. Pappy O'Daniel is respected largely for his ability as a guitar player. Lyndon Johnson was considered too New Dealerish for some, Martin Dies is, well—Martin Dies.

But by and large, this is a Texas gang and they stick together to pack a terrific punch in the conduct of the affairs of the lower House. All of its members have lived most of their lives in Texas, from baby Congressman Lindley Beckworth of Gilmer, who is 28, to wise old Judge Hation W. Summers of Dallas. Only five were born in the state—O'Daniel, who originated in Ohio; Rayburn and Robert E. Thomason, who were born in Tennessee; and Ed Gossett and hard-working young George H. Mahon, who came across the border from Louisiana.

IN MOST STATES: In the House of Representatives, this Texas delegation is so assigned to committees that their finger is in every important pie. Of the 50 standing committees which steer the affairs of the House, you will find Texas on all but eight, and those eight are not too important, being largely concerned with reading, writin' and such literary matters—committees on education, library, printing, memorials, and so on. But how they ever overlooked even those eight is a mystery.

Of the score of Texas congressmen, five hold chairmanships of important committees—Judge Summers of Judiciary, Fritz Lanham of Public Buildings and Grounds; Joseph J. Mansfield of Rivers and Harbors, Wright Patman of Small Business, and Martin Dies of the Select Committee on Un-American Activities. And in addition they have Speaker Rayburn, boss of the whole works.

Other states have larger delegations, but because of its solidarity, its lack of opposition, the strategic placement of its members on committees and their willingness to work together as a unit, no state delegation yields more influence, and none has more color when you consider such personalities as Connally, O'Daniel, Joseph Jefferson Mansfield in his wheeled chair, Summers, Dies and Richard M. Kleberg of the famous King ranch, who, with his pet rifle, will shoot a hole in a half-dollar if you throw it up in the air for him.

An electric tricycle operating on batteries has appeared in Sweden as one solution to the gas shortage. . . . Women are to be accepted for training as airport traffic directors. . . . Picked high school students are to get pilot training. . . . No more colored sheets after July 1. . . . Rubber restrictions may set maximum mileage on recapped tires at 5,000 miles a year. . . . War expenditures may hit $4 billion a month for May. . . . Belts on nightgowns are limited to half-inch width.

BIGGER CROWD NECESSARY TONIGHT FOR OILERS TO SURVIVE

Pampa Wins Close Game From Lamesa

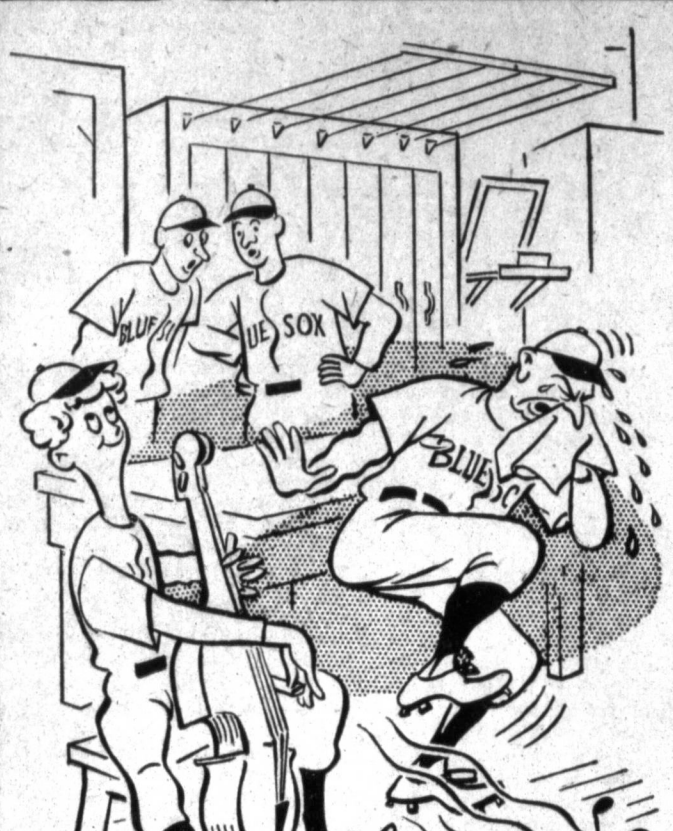

Walter Buckel and Lloyd Summers came through in the clutch last night and the Pampa Oilers won a rip-roaring 6 to 4 ball game from the Lamesa Dodgers at Road Runner park. The same two teams will battle again tonight and there's going to have to be a large crowd in the stands if baseball is to survive. That was the blunt announcement made by stockholders last night.

There were less than 400 fans in the stands last night. The weather was perfect. It wasn't too hot and it wasn't too cold. On top of that a defense bond was given away.

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock the Oilers and Lamesa will give up single, double, triple, and home runs. They may have to close up shop. Elkins will be on the mound for Lamesa with Barnett, Boal and J. D. Isaacs all ready for the Oilers.

Isaacs and the Dodgers went to the mound last night and except for throwing several extra-base balls was sensational. He fanned 10 batters and walked only two. In the first three innings he threw only eight balls that weren't strikes. But during that time he gave up a single, double, triple, and home run.

Krist Wins 12th Straight Since Last Defeat In 1940

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Editor

It is high time for someone to introduce Howard (Spud) Krist to the major league public because his pitching record for the St. Louis Cardinals is one of the most remarkable in the big show—15 victories and one defeat spread over four seasons.

The tall righthander was overlooked last year when everybody was agog about Whit Wyatt, Kirby Higbe, Thornton Lee, the conebreaker of Lefty Gomez, and the promise of Howie Pollet, but Krist won 10 games without a loss in 1941 and he has won two more without a setback this season.

Krist's specialty is relief and it was in this role that he earned his second success yesterday as the Cardinals knocked into the Chicago Cubs 3-1 in ten innings.

For seven scoreless innings the game was a pitching struggle between Max Lanier and Vern Olson, making his first start since breaking two fingers on his pitching hand during the Cubs' spring training.

Terry Moore broke the spell with a homer in the eighth and the Cubs came roaring back in the ninth to tie the score.

Three men singled, one run was in and two were out when Krist stroled to the mound. He promptly forced Olson to pop to Shortstop Martin Marion. Then in the tenth Enochs Slaught and Coaker tripled and drove in the winning run.

Krist checked the Cubs although giving up a single and a walk.

In the day's only other National league game the Boston Braves retained their grip on second place by turning back the New York Giants 4-2 on the six-hit hurling of Al Javery.

The New York Yankees continued their domination of the American league by belting the Boston Red Sox 9-2 with a 13-hit assault while Atley Donald pitched six-hit ball. It was the world champions' 15th victory in their last 18 games and Boston's 11th loss in 15 contests.

Washington smeared the Philadelphia Athletics 8-3 as Steve Sundra kept 11 hits capped and pitched carefully in the pinches.

A pair of streaks evaporated under the lights in the league's two night games.

At Cleveland, Les Fleming punched out a ninth inning single that drove Jeff Heath and Buster Mills across the plate for the Tribe's first triumph in six starts. The 2 to 1 decision was the seventh setback of the season for the Chicago White Sox's Edgar Smith.

The St. Louis Browns' four game victory stride was broken up by the Detroit Tigers, whose Al Benton allowed only four blows in the 3 to 1 struggle. Benton also knocked out a double that was the main ingredient of the first Tiger tally.

Maguire Wins First Flight In Tourney

Haskell Maguire, representing the Pampa Country club, won the "B" or first flight in the Greenbelt tournament which closed in Quanah yesterday with L. S. "City" Walker of Quanah winning his fourth Greenbelt title in the championship flight. He drew O. B. Smith of Memphis, co-medalist, and lost a 4 to 3 match. McGinnis drew a bye in the first round of consolation play and lost in the second round to Wink Cole of Altus, Okla., 4 and 3.

Maguire, who won a $25 war bond, first defeated Greg of Frederick, Okla., 2 and 1. Then he took Faulkner of Childress out of the tournament, 3 and 2. He beat Putsa of Altus, 5 and 1, in the semi-finals. To win the flight he downed Bob Crawford of Altus, 5 and 3.

Exporters Win 32nd Ball Game

By The Associated Press

Beaumont had only two hits and the San Antonio Missions had nine, but the Exporters won their 32nd Texas league ball game last night, 2 to 1.

A three-base hit by Len Schulte in the first inning was the only run. Earl Cook kept the Missions' hits well separated.

It was a mound duel at Shreveport, with Paul Dean in the winning role as Houston bested the Sports, 2 to 1. Doyle Lade was the opposing pitcher. The Buifs squared the count, by their last night's victory, in a three-game series.

Fort Worth's young Loren Bain kept the Tulsa battered under control and the Cats triumphed, 6 to 1. Bain gave seven hits, all singles, while his mates gathered 13 hits off Henry Wyle.

The Dallas Rebels, by virtue of Merv Conners' homer in the first with two on, defeated the Oklahoma City Indians, 4 to 2.

H. K. Perry, Dallas pitcher, gave the losing pitcher, in the most powerful of the ninth after walking the first man at bat, Eddie Marleau, who replaced him, retired the next three batters.

Clovis Team May Be Put On Block If Game Crowds Fail

CLOVIS, N. M., May 27 (AP)—The war-time bugaboo of the minors—a poor gate—is causing trouble for the Clovis club of the West Texas-New Mexico league, it was disclosed today.

Because of small crowds and little in the till, the Clovis club may be open for offers for its franchise, and a meeting has been scheduled for Friday night to consider the matter. The Pioneers won the loop title last year.

Roy Hackworth, club chairman, said the Pioneers had received no offers.

From El Paso, however, came word that Grover Wilson, manager of the El Paso organization in the now defunct Arizona-Texas league, had been offered a franchise by a WTNM club seeking a new home. The identity of the club was not disclosed beyond the fact that it was not Clovis.

Of the eight-team circuit, Wichita Falls fell by the wayside early in the season, transferring its franchise to Big Spring, Texas.

Wilson said directors of the old El Paso club were favorable to a team coming to El Paso if its owners could promote baseball there without local financing.

El Pasoans recently turned down a request from Wichita Falls to move there.

Meeting To Form Softball League Set For Tonight

A meeting to organize a softball league here will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the corporation courtroom in the basement of the city hall.

An invitation is extended to all desiring to sponsor teams and to team managers to be present at the meeting. It is hoped by the group planning the league that organization can be completed at the meeting tonight.

With the long evenings because of war time it will be possible to play twilight games this summer. Sponsors of the league hope to be able to secure a diamond in the city that it won't be necessary to use cars to reach the playing field.

Byrd-Snead Duel Holds PGA Interest

By GAYLE TALBOT

ATLANTIC CITY, May 27 (AP)—Sixteen exhausting 36-hole matches were down from settlement today in the opening round of the Professional Golfers association championship at the Sea View club, but about nine-tenths of the interest was concentrated on one battle—Sammy Snead vs. Sammy Byrd.

Byrd is the former Yankee outfielder who quit the diamond to see if he could make a better living at golf. Only now has he completed his five years apprenticeship and become eligible to compete in the PGA.

He has blossomed into a consistently fine golfer. Though Snead was logical choice to beat him today, there was nothing foregone about it. However, some thought Byrd's two great qualifying rounds—67-72—might have earned him a little better break in the draw.

Only one player out-shot Byrd the last two days. That was Harry Cooper, the Minneapolis veteran, who recaptured his wizardry of a half dozen years ago to score 67-71-138 and win the medal. The only other player to do as well as Byrd was Corp. Jim Turnesa, and they shot the same cards, 67-72. Cooper's first round opponent was Mike Turnesa of Elmsford, while Corporal Jim met E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Camp Hill, Pa.

Snead steadied after his opening day's 73 and came in with a 71 yesterday, clipping a stroke off Sea View's par and finishing with a 34 on his second nine.

National Open champion Craig Wood, who opened a pair of 70's to qualify in fourth place, drew first Monday of Toledo, Ohio, as his first opponent. Byron Nelson, pre-tournament favorite, figured not to be seriously excluded by Harry Nettles of Avon, Conn. Ben Hogan drew Ben Lovin of Long Meadow, Mass.

Another who, like Byrd, was extended no favors by the matching-up committee was Corp. Vic Ghezzi, the defending champion. He was paired against Jimmy Demaree of Detroit, who shot a brace of steady 72's the last two days. The corporal was qualified automatically.

SPORTS IN WARTIME

In New York, the director of tire rationing has ruled that school buses used primarily for transporting students from home to places of instruction may be used for transportation of athletic teams.

By "primarily" it was meant 75 per cent or more of the time. In other words something less than one-fourth of the normal use of a school bus can be diverted to transporting athletes. Buses used for transporting athletic teams exclusively are not entitled to new tires. Athletic trips have to be limited to a 100-mile radius.

The Jefferson (San Antonio) sprint relay team doesn't blow hot and cold, therefore the Mustangs ought to win this event with comparative ease in the state meet at Austin Saturday.

The Jefferson quartet has been consistently under 44 seconds most of the season. For instance, it made the distance in 43.4 its last time out and that's two-twentieths of a second over the state record.

Incidentally, the record was first given out as 43.6, but it develops that Jefferson last season had a 43.2 in the preliminaries and thus that became the record since anything you do at the state meet counts regardless of whether it's in the finals.

Muses Hal Scherwitz of the San Antonio Light: "All Manager Ralph Winegarner had to do was threaten to go out and I saw him pitch himself and the Mustangs got three brilliant pitching jobs in as many nights. Now if Winegarner will threaten some of the hitters!"

If I was a college student I'd camp on the trail of DeWitt Coulter of Masonic Home and Keith Vineyard of Edgewood with a stout lassie ready.

That's the kind of college prospects that two youngsters appear to be.

Coulter weighs 205 pounds, is 6 feet 3 and there's not an ounce of fat on him.

Vineyard weighs 210 and is over 6 feet but is somewhat chubbier than Coulter.

I had been told Coulter had no form whatever at throwing the shot, that he did it all with his arm.

Tch, Tch! Somebody didn't know form when they saw it. Coulter has great coordination and he gets his body into every throw.

Vineyard also looks good with the shot but is best at the discus.

Well, Clyde Littlefield, Emmett Brunson, Doug Collins, et al, what a combination for one track team!

Speaking of Arkansas, here's a tough break:

Bubba Smart, 17-year-old star who was twice state amateur golf champion, has enrolled at the Fayetteville school.

But Arkansas probably will discontinue golf next year because of the difficulty in obtaining equipment.

Grid Coaches Have Double Trouble

By ROMNEY WHEELER

ATLANTA, May 27 (AP)—As if football coaches didn't have enough to fret about with war, worried alumni and next Friday's appointment with the dentist—comes now an academic speed-up program.

This stepped-up production of college graduates is just beginning, and the coaching profession is having a fine case of fidgets trying to figure out the angles. Seniors are leaving, freshmen are arriving, and two classes will be graduated by this time a year hence—a gentle reminder that last season's sophomore stars have only one more season for toting a football, instead of two.

But the really delicate problem posed for the deep South's gridiron biggies is that involving the Sept. 1 rule. This—in both the Southern and Southeastern conferences—says it's illegal to practice football before the first of September. Technically, a coach can't even take the boys onto the field for a pep talk before midnight, Aug. 31.

In an awkward spot are teams like the University of Georgia and Kentucky which meet Sept. 9; Louisiana State and the Texas Aggies dated together Sept. 26; Tulane, opening against Southern California the same day; Tennessee and rough, tough South Carolina paired in another Sept. 26 get-together; and Clemson and V. M. I.

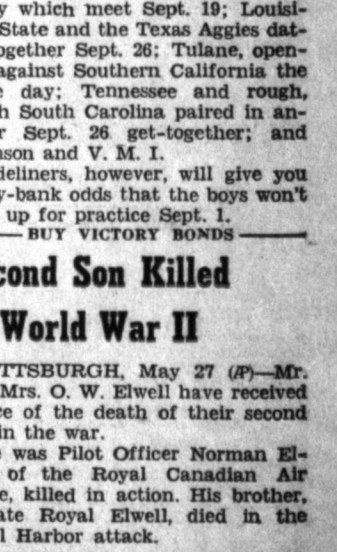

Sidelineers, however, will give you piggy-bank odds that the boys won't turn up for practice Sept. 1.

Second Son Killed In World War II

PITTSBURGH, May 27 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Ewell have received notice of the death of their second son in the war.

He was Pilot Officer Norman Ewell of the Royal Canadian Air Force, killed in action. His brother, Private Royal Ewell, died in the Pearl Harbor attack.

In the last inning, with his team out in front, he fanned the first two batters and forced the third to fly out to Ballou.

Lamesa scored in the first inning when Koenig, first batter, hit the first ball across the first base bag and down the right field foul line for three bases and scored on Stevens' single. In the second Palmer hit one over the left field fence. No more damage was done until the sixth when Stevens walked and Haney and Drake singled in succession. Stevens scoring. Last Lamesa run came in the eighth when Stevens parked one over the right field fence.

Coulter hurled great ball for five innings but weakened in the sixth. With two away, after a couple of forceouts, Summers parked a single between short and third and Cunningham and Ratliff crossed the plate. Then in the eighth he weakened again and the damage was done. Ratliff, first man up, walked. Skeber dumped a Texas league single into center. Summers walked, filling the bases. Isaacs forced Ratliff at the plate. That brought Big Walter Buckel to the plate and he drove one into center, the damage was done. Skeber and Summers. When the throw in from center got away from Catcher McGraw, Isaacs scored all the way to third. Andy Mohrlock went to the plate for Tribe and he pulled a perfect squeeze bunt to score Buckel.

There was legal robbery at Road Runner park last night and the man with the gun was Koenig, Lamesa shortstop. He made four assists and three of them robbed Oiler batters of sure hits.

Ray Surratt, Oiler left fielder, was the big noise at the plate with three singles while Summers bagged a pair of singles.

Stevens, Lamesa first baseman, shot the works with a single, double and home run for a perfect night at the plate.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Baseball's big wartime test may be the twilight all-star game here July 6. If that doesn't draw a crowd, the ball clubs might as well figure on doing on a week-end basis for the duration. So far the customers have been turning out in great numbers on Sundays but even the army-navy relief games haven't called them in week-end except in Brooklyn. Cleveland, out to beat the Dodgers' mark after a big newspaper build-up, drew only 7,959 last Monday and St. Louis did about the same. Maybe this only proves that most folks are too busy working to win the war to take time off from their jobs to see ball games, but it also proves that there's a condition that the clubs will have to face. P. S.: Did you notice the Dodgers and Phils played their twilight game in 1:28? Apparently the way to make their players hustle is to delay their dinners.

Sports Roundup

Mathematics Exam
Fred Hunter, the Red Sox scout, reports that ball players in the Big Ten are getting entirely too good at math since they heard about the bonus Dick Wakefield got for signing with the Tigers. Recently one kid he approached demanded $15,000 for his signature and at the same time admitted he didn't know whether he could make the grade on the Sox Piedmont league team.

Hunter asked how come, and the boy explained: "Well, the Detroit club gave Wakefield $45,000 and I think I'm a third as good a ball player as he is."

Since Buck McCormick's consecutive game streak has been ended, the longest continuing string in the National league is Danny Littlefield's 177 games. Joey Haddad, the Patterson, N. J., puncher, has won 25 fights by knockouts and claims he never yet has hit a guy on the chin; he did it all with body punches.

Today's Guest Star
Tommy Tucker, Cleveland Newsy "Shangri-La" Shucks, every baseball fan here knows where that is. It's the place from which Cleveland gets American league pennants.

According to his wife, Capt. Hewitt Wheelie, the flier recently cited by the President for heroism, was just a pretty good quarterback for a 145-pounder when he played for the University of Texas, but his best sport is poker.

Last Laugh
Down at the P. G. A. tournament, Corp. Vic Ghezzi encountered Sam Snead, who will go into the navy right after the affair ends. Vic remarked, "Sam, Gene Sarazen wanted you to go to Australia two years ago for a $5,000 guarantee. You didn't take it. Now it looks as if you will go there for nothing."

Goebel At Midland
MIDLAND, May 27 (AP)—Maj. Arthur C. (Art) Goebel, holder of the distinguished flying cross and winner of the Dole trophy for the first flight across the Pacific to Hawaii, reported today as a member of the Midland army flying school.

Maor Goebel came to the bombardier training center from a Florida base. His assignment has not been announced.

Japan 'Our Most Powerful Enemy,' Says Upton Close

SAN ANTONIO, May 27 (AP)—Japan, not Germany, is our most powerful enemy, in the opinion of Upton Close, former newspaper editor in the Far East.

A quick end to the war with Japan is possible if the United States can get the support of Asiatic peoples, Close said, but it will be an all-out effort, struggle if American aims are not made clear and such support is lost.

Close spoke to 1,000 delegates to the Texas Bankers association convention.

Today the bankers heard addresses by Gov. Coke Stevenson, President Homer Rainey of the University of Texas and Henry W. Koencke of Ponca City, Okla., president of the American Bankers association.

slush don't stop them and you'll find them running about the hilly, cedar-brake country around Austin almost any evening.

In planned little battles, the squads divided forces, scatter, and then tangle catch-as-catch-can. The idea was to hurt your opponent to the ground and pin his shoulders in the dirt; or to the him up and hold him back to "camp."

Tricks, deception, and "dirty work" are encouraged.

After a series of little battles, the classes decided to stage a major engagement. Ninety-two men split into two battle forces, one with headquarters at a fort on top of a dump which served as a hill and the other stationed itself in a creek bottom some distance off.

Sneak tactics were employed. Men clashed in hand-to-hand wrestling, three or four pounced on one, knocked him to the ground, tied him up and dragged him to their base of operations.

The hill group fought a defensive action for a while and then suddenly launched a heavy assault. There was a terrific, free-for-all mele. When the dust cleared off, one group had not only managed to set its own prisoners free, but had captured every last one of their opponents.

The armies then called it a day and retired to the gymnasium where trainers helped patch them up.

The course, in which Instructors Harry Leinbach, Joe Bowling, and Bill Crenshaw assist Barlow, is the first of its kind among Texas colleges. Barlow says Tulane, Purdue, Georgia Tech, and other schools have or are setting up similar types of training.

"The course is designed to put them in top shape physically and will save the armed forces a lot of trouble in conditioning, so far as these boys are concerned," Barlow said. "On the average, each man has gained four pounds. One lost 18."

"We're not out to provide recreation or build morale. Incidentally, you shouldn't worry about morale among college students. They've got it. They're not as soft and flabby as you think. Just give them a chance. They'll battle like wildcats."

"The bunch we have now are all winners. Among them are youthful faculty members getting ready to join the army."

Barlow added that another class, soon to be organized, would go right through the summer—five days a week, or six, if the members want it.

"We're going right ahead," he declared, "and we'll have hundreds enrolling next fall."

Exporters Win 32nd Ball Game

By The Associated Press

Beaumont had only two hits and the San Antonio Missions had nine, but the Exporters won their 32nd Texas league ball game last night, 2 to 1.

A three-base hit by Len Schulte in the first inning was the only run. Earl Cook kept the Missions' hits well separated.

It was a mound duel at Shreveport, with Paul Dean in the winning role as Houston bested the Sports, 2 to 1. Doyle Lade was the opposing pitcher. The Buifs squared the count, by their last night's victory, in a three-game series.

Fort Worth's young Loren Bain kept the Tulsa battered under control and the Cats triumphed, 6 to 1. Bain gave seven hits, all singles, while his mates gathered 13 hits off Henry Wyle.

The Dallas Rebels, by virtue of Merv Conners' homer in the first with two on, defeated the Oklahoma City Indians, 4 to 2.

H. K. Perry, Dallas pitcher, gave the losing pitcher, in the most powerful of the ninth after walking the first man at bat, Eddie Marleau, who replaced him, retired the next three batters.

Japan 'Our Most Powerful Enemy,' Says Upton Close

SAN ANTONIO, May 27 (AP)—Japan, not Germany, is our most powerful enemy, in the opinion of Upton Close, former newspaper editor in the Far East.

A quick end to the war with Japan is possible if the United States can get the support of Asiatic peoples, Close said, but it will be an all-out effort, struggle if American aims are not made clear and such support is lost.

Meeting To Form Softball League Set For Tonight

A meeting to organize a softball league here will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the corporation courtroom in the basement of the city hall.

An invitation is extended to all desiring to sponsor teams and to team managers to be present at the meeting. It is hoped by the group planning the league that organization can be completed at the meeting tonight.

With the long evenings because of war time it will be possible to play twilight games this summer. Sponsors of the league hope to be able to secure a diamond in the city that it won't be necessary to use cars to reach the playing field.

Grid Coaches Have Double Trouble

By ROMNEY WHEELER

ATLANTA, May 27 (AP)—As if football coaches didn't have enough to fret about with war, worried alumni and next Friday's appointment with the dentist—comes now an academic speed-up program.

This stepped-up production of college graduates is just beginning, and the coaching profession is having a fine case of fidgets trying to figure out the angles. Seniors are leaving, freshmen are arriving, and two classes will be graduated by this time a year hence—a gentle reminder that last season's sophomore stars have only one more season for toting a football, instead of two.

But the really delicate problem posed for the deep South's gridiron biggies is that involving the Sept. 1 rule. This—in both the Southern and Southeastern conferences—says it's illegal to practice football before the first of September. Technically, a coach can't even take the boys onto the field for a pep talk before midnight, Aug. 31.

In an awkward spot are teams like the University of Georgia and Kentucky which meet Sept. 9; Louisiana State and the Texas Aggies dated together Sept. 26; Tulane, opening against Southern California the same day; Tennessee and rough, tough South Carolina paired

150 Wait In Costa Rica For Plane

MEXICO CITY, May 27 (AP)—At most complete cessation of passenger ship transportation and a reduction in air service has stranded voyagers throughout Central America, a roundup of various countries showed today.

The worst case was reported from San Jose, Costa Rica, where 150 persons are waiting for plane space to Panama. Formerly Pan-American Airways ran three flights north and three flights daily, but their schedule was reduced to one each day when the United States government took over some equipment.

One of the two northbound flights from Mexico City to Brownsville has also been cancelled. However, train service from as far south as Guatemala City is available to the United States border.

Here's A Letter To Your Soldier

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of letters giving news of Pampa and the Top O' Texas, for transmission to your soldier, sailor, or marine. Fill in the blanks and send it to one of the men in the service.)

Dear _____
 A Christmas present in May is what the Red Cross is working on now. The Pampa chapter is fixing up kits to be sent to soldiers, making the kits themselves and Pampans are donating money to have them filled.

It rained twice last week—about 1 1/2 inches in all.

It's graduation time again and most of the schools have already given diplomas to the proud grads. Webb held his eighth grade graduation, with two in the class, Benny Eugene Edney and Lesley Wayne Quarles.

Canadian has 36 graduates. Pampa High's commencement is to be Sunday. They have 92 grads, while Junior High has 215. Diplomats are to be given the latter on June 1. LeFors graduated 44, the largest class in its history.

An emergency hospital plan that would provide for the care of Pampans and others of this region in case of a great disaster, such as a cyclone, air raid, explosion, is the latest scheme of the Pampa Civilian Defense council.

Plan is to use five Pampa churches as emergency hospitals. Walter Biery is head of the committee working out the plan.

Spring training of the 1942 Harvesters ended Friday with a full-length scrimmage against the exes, which the Harvesters won 7 to 6.

There is lots of activity around Pampa now with construction officials arriving to start the ball rolling for the construction of the big twin-engine bomber training school to be established 12 miles east of Pampa along Highway 152. The Culberson building is headquarters for the army engineers here to start the project.

The leathernecks are back in Pampa. Recruiting officers of the marines have made a visit here seeking rookies.

Pampa's scrap metal drive has the best record of any in the state, it was revealed at a meeting of the Panhandle Royalty owners association in Borger. Pampa alone shipped 125 carloads, Borger 100.

We're getting set for the U. S. O. drive here, with a series of rallies held just to warm up. Gray county's quota is $4,800. Last year our quota was $2,000; we raised $2,500.

Joe Bowers is back on furlough from Fort Bliss. Also back on leave is Stu Johnson, former ad man here, now a leatherneck in California.

Pampa is going to have its greatest Memorial day observance Sunday, with special tribute paid to you men now in service and to G. T. Hall, Richard Nels, and E. T. Autrey. These three have been reported as killed or missing.

The horse and wagon came back to Pampa—or rather will be back soon. Pampa Ice company has a horse and wagon for its downtown deliveries. Driver will be Louis Allen, who has been delivering ice in Pampa for 17 years.

The Gray County Rationing board now has to handle the maximum retail price law. They moved their office this week from the chamber of commerce in the city hall down to the city commission room.

During the past week the following births have been announced:
 To Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kirby, a son, Darrell Gaynor; to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rocknagle, a daughter, Linda Gail, born at Austin; to Pvt. and Mrs. Lendell Cox, a son, Billy Earl. Pvt. Cox is stationed at Camp Wallace.

An 18-year-old Mexican boy, Ray Vierli, was drowned at Cuyler lake. Another death, that of Jack Money of Skellytown, 29, who was killed in a fall from a water well mast pole.

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Miss Yvonne Garland of Phillips and Staff Sgt. Jim Arndt at Sayre, Okla., on September 1. Sergeant Arndt is stationed at Lubbock.

Other marriages were those of Ruth Darnall and Louie W. Natho; Carolyn Kiser and S. E. Wilson; Ione Gill and Oden Stroud; Rose Byrd and O. L. Powell.

The Pampa Oilers are now in fifth place in the West Texas-New Mexico league, they've won 14 and lost 13, putting them just above Albuquerque and just below Amarillo. Clovis is leading with 17 wins compared to nine losses. Pampa had a long trip to make, 375 miles from Albuquerque, where they arrived Sunday afternoon.

They were all worn out from the trip and lost 6 to 4. Bob Bailey led the Oilers at the plate with a triple and two singles; Lloyd Summers got a pair of singles.

Pampa business men are going to join in the Victory sale of war bonds and stamps on July 1, when every retail merchant in the U. S. will suspend business for 15 minutes on that day and devote that period to the sale of bonds and stamps.

It won't be long now until there is another batch of potential soldiers—registration of boys 18 to 20 has been set for June 30.

House Likely To Vote For $50 Base Pay For Soldiers

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—Fearful of the outcome of a record vote on whether to establish a $50 minimum base pay for the armed forces, House proponents of a $42 floor cast about today for some means of averting a roll-call when the bill comes up tomorrow.

They conceded privately that it would be difficult to retain the $42 recommended by a senate-house committee if the issue were put squarely to a vote, which Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) said he would demand.

It was Rankin who proposed the amendment overwhelmingly adopted by the house May 13 to increase the base pay of privates and apprentice seamen to $50. The senate had voted the $42 figure and this was accepted by the house military committee. The present pay is $21 for the first four months of service, $30 for the next eight, and $40 monthly after one year.

"It would be political suicide, this close to the elections, to vote against raising it to $50," said one military committee member who said he favored the $42 proposal. "If we can avoid a roll-call vote, and there may be ways to do it, there will be no difficulty in retaining the $42, but there's not a chance to do it on a record vote."

Jap Plane Flies Without A Pilot

AN AUSTRALIAN OPERATION—AL BASE, May 27 (AP)—When Lieutenant Charles I. Hitchcock of Winchester, Ind., got a close up view of a Japanese Zero fighter bearing down straight for his bomber over Lac, New Guinea, there was no pilot to be seen at the controls.

"I pulled almost straight up as quick as I could and got out of the way and then the Zero went on to the ground in a crash," Hitchcock related today.

"Ten other Zeros had been doing quite a lot of shooting at us but we still were okay. They pulled away and I noticed this one kept flying along parallel with us.

"The gunner told me later he put a tracer straight through the middle of the cockpit but the Zero kept coming right at us and pretty soon he seemed close enough to reach out and touch. I looked into the cockpit and there was no pilot.

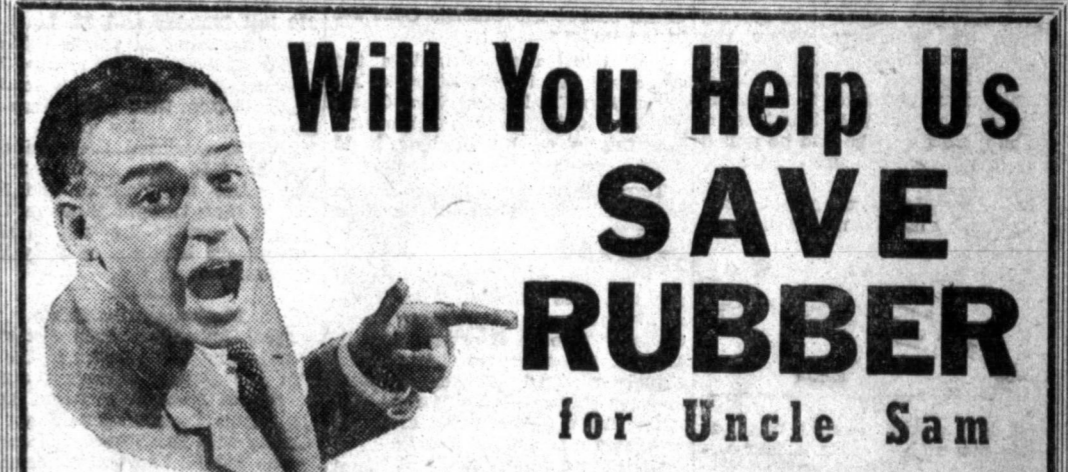

"I suppose the pilot was killed by that bullet through the cockpit and slumped over out of sight, either dead or with just enough consciousness to try to crash into our bomber."

BILL PAYS A VISIT

CHAPTER XIV
DRONINGSGADE was bustling with mid-morning activity when Bill Talcott, with MacDowell grimly at his heels, came down the hill from Hotel 1829. Islanders thronged the narrow walk on the shady side of the street; tourists traveled in detached groups, inspecting bargains in the windowless shops, taking pictures, talking animatedly amongst themselves. Naval and Marine trucks rolled on the left side of the attenuated road, their drivers swearing at fare-seeking taxis. Blast of juke boxes, melody of horns, loud talk and laughter, and, somewhere nearby, the braying of a donkey were Charlotte Amalie's complement of morning sounds.

"The tropics," MacDowell grunted, his nostrils flaring at the pungent odor of bay rum.

They had bettered Talcott's prediction by almost two hours; had arrived in Pillsbury Sound while the Blue Petrel was still blowing for a pilot. They had luck at Tortola dock. The harbor master and immigration officer were on hand, busy with a group of foreign natives whom some smuggler, possibly Jackson, had dumped in their laps. June Paterson had called her friends and then had gone off, taking Martha Swenson with her; Halsey and the Professor found lodgings elsewhere. Sebastian followed his usual custom of sleeping in the launch.

At the door of the Radiomarine office a huge man whose great paw was filled with cables yelled an enthusiastic greeting to Bill Talcott; an equally huge though shorter man on the opposite curb yelled at both Talcott and the cable bearer. "Jack and Sparky," Talcott said in response to MacDowell's question. "Rum. One makes it, the other sells it."

MacDowell acted as though he'd like to learn more about the rum business, but Talcott gave him no opportunity. In New York, Federal Chemical would have been going full blast for an hour. Old Man Winters would be working on his second cigar of the day.

Talcott passed up a radiogram in favor of the phone, and his remarks to MacDowell that the booth had been built for one brought no withdrawal. Presently "Federal Chemical, good morning!" sang in his ears.

"This is Talcott, Plant Number Six. I want to talk to Winters."

"Sorry, Mr. Winters is in Washington."

"He might be known. 'When'll he be back?'"

"He has to be here tomorrow in time to make the Clipper. He has appointments in London."

He might have known that too. With all the need for nitrates the Old Man would be busier than a mother hen. He said, "Let me talk to his secretary."

"Just a moment. I'll connect you—A buzz, click and a new voice, 'Mr. Winters' office."

"This is Bill Talcott. What's all this baloney about not getting my duplicate vouchers?"

An appreciable pause. Then, "Sorry, I'm not allowed to discuss that."

"Blast your regulations! I mailed those vouchers, every last one of 'em. Struthers is trying to burn me at the stake!"

"I'm sorry. I have been given explicit orders not to discuss the matter," and click she rang off.

So that was how it was to be. The old steamroller, Bill Talcott's eyes narrowed grimly. No sense in trying to locate Winters by phone; like as not he'd be appearing before a Congressional subcommittee, telling them how to run the war. Quitting the booth he seized a blank and composed a message. A message that was calculated to make Winters miss three Clippers if necessary. Then, more slowly, he wrote another and after long study signed it "Bill."

MacDowell, crowding over his shoulder, gaped in astonishment when he saw the name "Captain Lowell Byrd," and the designation "G-2."

The detective's attitude had changed noticeably when they again reached the street. His oft-repeated suggestion that he still had to get reservations was supplemented with a hasty, "After you been to the bank, o' course!"

Talcott's fear that Struthers might have attached his account to the bank, crowding over his shoulder, gaped in astonishment when he saw the name "Captain Lowell Byrd," and the designation "G-2."

Talcott's fear that Struthers might have attached his account to the bank, crowding over his shoulder, gaped in astonishment when he saw the name "Captain Lowell Byrd," and the designation "G-2."

He hadn't ignored the amount of Bill Talcott's bank withdrawal.

In the Square, MacDowell east longed eyes at the Bamboo Bar's inviting entrance. "Ya know, it's awful hot," he suggested.

Talcott didn't respond. "Do I have any liberty?" he asked abruptly.

"What's on your mind?"

"There is someone I must see before I leave."

MacDowell grinned. "Oh. Has she got a friend?"

"This isn't a she."

"Yeah? In that case I'll come along anyhow. I got nuthin' else to do."

BILL TALCOTT shrugged and started for the quay. At an arched entrance between buildings he turned off through a tiled way whose masonry walls were dark with age; climbed stone steps and entered a door.

A bright-eyed young woman sat at a typewriter, and at sight of Bill Talcott she said cheerily, "Hello! Haven't seen you in a coo's age!"

"Hello yourself. Is the big boss in?"

"He is if it's important enough."

"It is," Talcott said grimly.

She vanished through a door and in a moment was back. "Please don't stay long," she admonished. "He's really, terribly busy."

The room they entered was a counterpart of the first. Plainly, even sparsely furnished, a desk, a filing cabinet, a few straight chairs. A calendar and nothing more on the wall. At the desk was a man with thinning gray hair and handsome weathered face in which thoughtful gray eyes considered them. His eyes were remarkable; like polarized lenses, they seemed to take in everything, give out nothing. They went over MacDowell from unbrushed hair to unshined shoes, and the planes behind MacDowell's mustache became red.

The man nodded to Talcott but did not rise, nor did he speak.

Bill Talcott said, "Can you do anything on Abas?"

The man at the desk pursed his lips. "We can watch it," he said in a slow musical voice.

Bill Talcott said, "When an auditor frames a Federal Chemical Company unit for bankruptcy, thereby leaving himself in sole charge of the Island, it'll bear watching."

The gray eyes clouded thoughtfully; long, immaculate fingers dipped into the desk drawer, reached and brought forth a photograph. "Is this your auditor?" his slow, musical voice asked.

Prices Of Fall Styles Frozen

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The price of new fall styles of women's and children's outerwear garments was frozen today at the level of 1941 prices by one of a new series of war orders.

Manufacturers, retailers and wholesalers were forbidden to charge more for 1942 fall styles of women's and children's coats, suits and dresses than they charged last fall for similar material and workmanship. They also were forbidden to add any lines of garments selling at higher prices than they handled for the fall season of 1941.

Another order set maximum measurements for women's and children's robes, housecoats, negligees, lounging pajamas and beach coats at less than is now customary, especially in sleeves. Use of wool in such garments, except that presently in the hands of manufacturers, is forbidden.

Man Pleading His Own Case Wins U. S. Supreme Court Suit

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—The supreme court ruled today that the federal district court at Waco, Tex., had acted incorrectly in dismissing a $750,000 damage suit brought by a Waco writer against the Railway Express Agency, Inc., for failure to deliver the manuscript of a book called "Male and Female" which was addressed this way:

To: Mr. Robert Benchley
 Address as unknown as he is well known
 Hollywood, California

The suit was filed in the federal district court by Robert L. Peyton, who acted throughout as his own attorney. The fifth federal circuit court commented in its opinion that Peyton "argued his case in a very interesting manner." Oral arguments were not heard by the supreme court, the case being submitted on briefs.

Dismissal of the suit was ordered by the district court on the ground that the receipt accepted by Peyton limited the express company's liability to $50. District courts usually do not have jurisdiction over cases involving less than $3,000. The circuit court upheld the decision.

Peyton said the manuscript had been sent to Benchley, a prominent movie actor and writer, on November 22, 1939, as part of a "build up" looking toward finding a publisher. The package was returned 28 days later.

Damages were sought, among other things, for "failure of publication" of the book and production on the screen, stage and radio.

Chief Justice Stone read a brief order giving the supreme court's views on technical procedural questions.

NEW YORK, May 27 (AP)—Charles J. Marsh, 25, social register bank clerk whose $27-a-week salary wouldn't even buy spare parts for his two airplanes, was in Tombs prison today after District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said he admitted embezzling $171,000 since 1939.

Charged with grand larceny, Marsh, who was employed by the Knickerbocker Federal Savings and Loan association, was held without bail for grand jury action after the bank was forced to seek a loan because of the shortage, the district attorney said.

Piracy Accusation Made By Latvian Ship Against Axis

MIAMI, Fla., May 27 (AP)—An accusation of piracy was made against the Axis here by the first officer of an unarmed Latvian merchant ship that fell victim to a submarine recently in the Caribbean sea.

The entire crew of 34 was saved. They landed in Cuba, were sheltered at a naval station there and 28 of them came to Miami. Naval authorities released news of the enemy attack yesterday.

"Under international law, we were a neutral ship," said First Officer Rudolf Pekens, whose bride of one month lives in Boston. "We were unarmed. Sinking of such ship without warning becomes piracy."

Japs Use Bomb Trick To Repel Air Raids

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, May 27 (AP)—Japanese zero fighters taught to respect the firepower of Allied bombers in direct encounters, were reported to be using pear-shaped shrapnel bombs as a new weapon against raiding formations.

Norman Stockton, war correspondent of the Melbourne Herald, quoted United Nations pilots at an advanced base as saying the bombs had been employed by the aerial defenders of both Rabaul, New Britain, and Lae, New Guinea.

The zero fighters wait until the Allied bombers complete their mission and regain formation, he said, then climb to a position 1,000 feet above and somewhat ahead of the bombers and release the time-fused "pear drops."

These burst with considerable violence, the pilots said, sending out showers of shrapnel and bluish white smoke.

(This dispatch did not touch upon the effectiveness of the bombs. Recent communications, however, have disclosed no heavy losses in Allied raids upon Rabaul and Lae and even such relative slow craft as surface warships can maneuver to dodge missiles dropped from a reasonable height.)

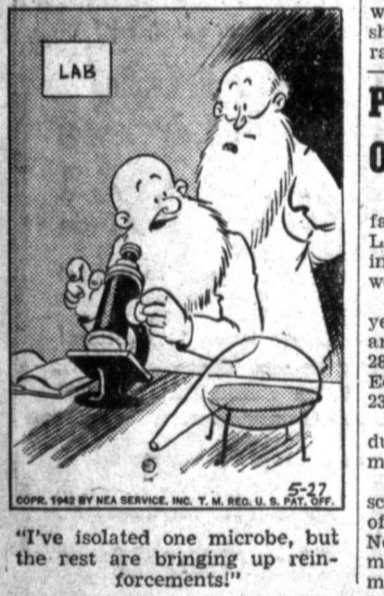

Plastic Teeth Can Fool Naked Eye

ST. LOUIS, May 27 (AP)—Now your fillings, inlays or even false teeth, can remain a secret known only to you and your dentist.

Teeth made of this material defy not only the naked eye, but also the most powerful camera in a movie closeup.

College Student Hops To England On His Day Off

CLEVELAND, May 27 (AP)—There's nothing like a quick trans-Atlantic plane ride, professor, to add zest to one's college training.

John Slesman, 23, is a junior in Fenn college, where students may alternate between classroom study and job experience.

He has been getting his work training at an Ohio war plant.

"The boss" told him one morning to get a day's supply of clothing.

"When I came back I hopped into a waiting plane loaded with shipments," said John. "I didn't know where we were going until after the plane took off."

It turned out to be England.

Eight hours after landing John was on another plane, returning home.

3. Across the Mediterranean from Crete, Greece and the Dodecanese islands.

German parachute troops were reported training in Crete, and strong Italian garrisons are stationed in Greece and the Dodecanese islands to support any trans-Mediterranean thrust.

Omens of a gathering new storm included:

1. British Middle East headquarters reported that Field Marshal Edwin Rommel's North African armies were on the move again, with strong Axis troop and tank columns advancing toward the main British defense lines.

Simultaneously, the Italian high command reported intense air activity over the Libyan desert battle theater—a familiar prelude to an offensive.

2. Reports of an Axis squeeze on France to gain control of the immobilized French fleet.

3. Premier Pierre Laval's discussions with his naval chiefs.

4. Reports that 300,000 Italian troops were massing along the French border, ready to back up Italy's demand upon France for Tunisia, Corsica and Nice.

Countering these portents of a gathering storm, London commentators saw indications that a mighty Allied aerial assault may be imminent to blast the way for a landing on the German-occupied "invasion coast."

The belief was further strengthened by the arrival in London of Lieut.-Gen. Breton B. Somervell, assistant chief of staff, U. S. army division, to round out the United States military mission now conferring with British war leaders.

High significance was attached to General Somervell's arrival because of the fact that his division would handle the thousands of tons of food, ammunition and clothing needed to keep any major American expeditionary force in the field.

Approximately two-thirds of the top-ranking American general staff members are now in London.

On the Russian front, Hitler's field headquarters reported rapid progress toward annihilation of Soviet armies described as caught in the meshes of a giant encirclement maneuver 80 miles below Kharkov.

If successful in turning the Russian flank, Hitler's armies would be in a position to strike anew at Rostov-on-Don, northern land gateway to the Caucasus oil fields.

Submarine Shells Fishing Vessel

BOSTON, May 27 (AP)—The first sinking of a New England fishing vessel since the war began and the killing of one of her 21-man crew by shellfire from an enemy submarine was described by survivors upon their arrival at an Atlantic port.

Captain Daniel J. Maher, 59, and his men were as anxious to get back to sea as they were contemptuous of the submarine crew's marksmanship.

They estimated that 60 to 70 shells were fired, some at extreme close range, but that only about 30 struck the 220-ton steam trawler.

The attack occurred shortly after noon, May 17, as the trawler was steaming toward the Western Banks, Captain Maher related.

"Shells came at us as fast as they could fire," said Captain Maher, who then told how, with 17 men in the lifeboat, they rowed 85 miles in 29 hours to Sambro lightship, off Halifax, N. S.

Gas Rationing Protests Mount

TULSA, Okla., May 27 (AP)—From the petroleum industry's land of plenty came a groundswell of protest this week against the proposition of nationwide rationing of gasoline.

The wisdom of denying gasoline to motorists in states where storage tanks are filled and overflowing was questioned by governors and congressmen and by many executives of the oil industry so vitally affected.

There was no apparent selfishness or lack of patriotism in the wave of indignation that swept across the country following the War Production board's announcement that such rationing should be placed in effect. There was merely a desire to know if such a move, bearing strongly upon the economic life of almost every man, woman and child in the nation was a necessary step toward winning the war.

Such a plan, the industry insisted, should not be tried without complete knowledge of all that is involved. To that end, opponents of the program asked that it be deferred until they had been given a chance to be heard.

While the WPB reported that nationwide gasoline rationing was necessary as a tire conservation measure, state officials and oil men doubted if the disastrous effects on the industry and the innocent bystanders given a chance to be heard.

A resolution approved by a group of oil executives in a meeting here declared, in fact, that such a move would retard rather than speed the war effort.

For example, they pointed out, the fuels and lubricating oils essential to the war machines, as well as some of the ingredients of explosives and synthetic rubber, cannot be produced without manufacturing gasoline in the same refining process.

Already, though, there is so much gasoline in storage in some states that refineries have been forced to close and if sales to motorists are restricted the gasoline will have to be burned for lack of additional storage space.

The referee complains that gasoline is his chief money product and unless he can sell what he produces he will operate at a loss. Fuel oils which are manufactured for the armed forces, he says, bring less than the cost of production because peacetime prices still prevail in the face of greatly increased operating costs.

And so it goes back to the crude oil producer, who argues that rationing will force him to curtail production or shut down his wells, and to the state governments, which will be hurt by the loss in oil production taxes.

But dark as the picture is painted, most oil men have proclaimed their intention of cooperating in any move which will aid the war effort, regardless of its disastrous effects on their own business.

They describe nationwide gasoline rationing, however, as "silly" and "astatine" and before it is accepted graciously they insist upon being convinced that it is essential to victory.

OIL MEN

he said. The line now extends from the East Texas field to Houston, he said, and the plan was to take it up and re-lay it.

In Washington, Mansfield said he hoped to receive within a day or so a green light for his bill, which would also authorize construction of a large canal and pipeline across the Florida peninsula to relieve the petroleum shortage in the East. He said he had appealed to the House Rules committee for immediate consideration. The measure already has approval of the Rivers and Harbors committee.

Speaker Rayburn has also agreed to push the measure, and proponents of the Mansfield plan were encouraged by President Roosevelt's press conference remarks yesterday to the effect that he would be willing to advance money from a special emergency fund at his disposal to construct the Florida pipeline if he had reasonable assurance congress would go ahead with the appropriation of funds. His advance would be made under those conditions without waiting for congressional action.

Part of Mansfield's plan calls for an extension of the Texas intra-coastal canal from Corpus Christi to Bayville. Surveys for this section of the waterway have been completed.

Chairman Donald Nelson of the WPB said that a technician would be appointed to represent each WPB member on a special committee which would "meet constantly and attempt to solve the oil transportation situation." He said the board rendered no decision on a Texas-New York pipeline proposal, submitted by Ralph K. Davies, deputy petroleum coordinator, but that special studies were being made of proposals that oil be piped through Florida and moved north by barge.

At Austin, Railroad Commissioner Jerry Sadler requested that the Office of Petroleum Coordinator raise its recommendation of 1,068,600 barrels daily liquid petroleum production for Texas in June. War needs could not be met under the OPC recommendation, he asserted. Ernest O. Thompson of the commission added his voice to the protests over proposed nationwide rationing of gasoline, saying Texas was "literally swimming in oil."

Rep. Kelly (D-Ill.) said in Washington yesterday that not "a pound of steel" would be made available for a proposed oil pipeline from Texas to Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and added his information came recently from Nelson Davies, however, told Kelly and the House Interstate Commerce committee that the pipeline was needed to "meet essential requirements."

Congressmen from oil producing states have been called to meet Friday to discuss possible methods of preventing rationing in areas where there is an abundance of the fuel.

The meeting was called by Sen. Connally (D-Tex.) and Sen. Spencer (D-Ark.). From Little Rock, Gov. Homer H. Adkins of Arkansas sent a proposal to President Roosevelt that section conferences of governors be arranged to discuss voluntary curtailment of gasoline use as a substitute for rationing.

Trailer Camps Must Obtain Permits

Anticipating unhealthful conditions that might arise from "boom housing," the city commission at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon passed an ordinance under which all automobile trailer camps must secure a permit from the city department of public health.

Although the term "trailer" covers the main intent of the law, the application of the ordinance is not limited to that type of vehicle or camp alone.

"It shall be unlawful," reads section 2 of the ordinance, "for any person, persons, firm or corporation to establish, maintain, or operate within the limits of the city of Pampa, Texas, or its sanitary district, any automobile tourist camp or park or any location or plot of ground for use of transients by the day, week, month, or season, whether charge is or is not made, who does not possess a permit from the department of public health of the city of Pampa, Texas."

Reason for the ordinance is that the city administration does not wish to see repeated in Pampa the unsightly and unhealthful conditions that have prevailed in other cities when there was a sudden influx of population, and people were housed in all possible ways, without regard for the sanitation of the community.

While members of the commission admit that the ordinance may not be needed, the opinion was expressed that it was better to have such an ordinance ready in the event of a housing "boom" than to have no ordinance in advance at all, and then try to cope with the conditions that might arise.

The lengthy, four-page typewritten ordinance, is divided into 23 sections, covering in detail the rules for inspections, water supply, fire protection, garbage disposal, plumbing, ventilation, reporting of communicable diseases.

Enforcement of the ordinance is put under the department of public health and the department of police of this city.

Violation of any provision of the ordinance is to draw a penalty of a fine of not more than $200. Each day operated in violation of the ordinance is to be treated as a separate offense.

It is provided in the ordinance that there shall be one toilet for each sex for every 10 units or fraction thereof, one shower or tub for each sex for each 10 units or fraction thereof.

All floors in shower and toilet room are to be disinfected daily by use of chlorine compounds.

Plumbing installations must comply with the city and state codes as all electrical outlets must comply with the electrical code of the city.

Minimum space for each unit or site reserved "for the accommodation of any automobile trailer or house car shall include a rectangular area not less than 25 feet by 33 feet."

Another section of the ordinance classifies a house trailer or house car from which the wheels have been removed as a permanent residence, except where the wheels have been taken off to make temporary repairs or to place the wheels in dead storage. When under the heading of "permanent" the residence must comply with all of the Pampa building code and any applicable state laws.

critical Chekiang province theater, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's armies were reported to have started an offensive in an attempt to hamstring Japanese columns storming at the gates of Kinshwa, Chekiang provisional capital.

Chinese dispatches said Gen. Chiang's troops were attacking in the Hangchow-Kashing-Wuhing sector 100 miles below Shanghai, behind the bases from which the Japanese drive against Kinshwa was launched.

Far to the west, in the Burma-China war zone, the Chinese position along the Burma road was reported sharply improved as Chinese troops continued to push the invaders back from the Salween river and American "Flying Tigers" blasted Japanese bases repeatedly without meeting opposition.

American airmen bombed the Japanese three times within 48 hours, inflicting great damage on the enemy's advanced bases.

Latest information indicated that the 150,000 Japanese troops in Burma may now be planning an invasion of India rather than a drive up the Burma road into China.

On the Australian front, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported that Allied fliers attacking over New Guinea destroyed three of 16 Japanese zero planes.

Firemen Answer 3 Alarms In 3 Hours

Pampa firemen answered three alarms within three hours yesterday evening, two of them outside the city limits. Considerable damage resulted to two buildings, both in the Tulsa addition. Only one previous run had been made this month.

First alarm was at 3:30 o'clock, to the rear of 410 Malone street where trash in an alley was burning and threatening a nearby building.

While the truck from the South Pampa station and one of the trucks from the main station were at the East Malone street fire, a call was received from 412 North Christie street. Firemen found the kitchen on fire. Water from the booster tank soon had the blaze under control and damage, excepting from smoke and water, was confined to the one room. The fire caught from a stove, Chief Ben White said.

The third and last alarm was received at 7:15 p. m. from 1520 Alcock street where a small shed was on fire. Water from the truck booster tank was used to extinguish the blaze. Children playing in the building are believed to have started the fire, Chief White said.

Moe Annenberg Will Be Paroled

WASHINGTON, May 27 (AP)—M. L. Annenberg, Philadelphia publisher, serving a 3-year sentence at Lewisburg, Pa. federal prison after conviction in the largest individual income tax evasion case on record, will be paroled June 11 because of ill-health, the justice department announced today.

This will cut five months off the so-called "minimum term," since Annenberg, who is 65, was scheduled for release November 11. The full term runs until July 21, 1943, and until that time he will be under supervision of the United States parole board.
