A small town must be one in which the heat gets only a paragraph in the local paper.
Seems like our balloonists have so many accidents that we ought to have a few communists standing around just as an alibi, "in case."
The meaning of patience is easily understood by any of us who has tried to poison half a dozen "beds" of red ants. Just when we begin to forget the things, they stage a comeback.
The depression won't be over until most everyone has time to give thought to the way the younger generation is going. Or is it going?
Lobbying is an overgrown example of what goes on all the time in all the communities of the land. It's bad, in any place, when overdone.
Musing of the moment: And when you analyze a lobbyist is somebody who is working for something that you're against. . . . Some day gentlemen will wake up to the fact that a necktie is a crazy instrument of torture on these hot days. And unventilated shoes are a little better.

Brevitorials
NEW GOVERNMENT reports on world cotton production bear out the statement that this country is yielding deliberately under the Bankhead act—much of its foreign market to competitors. It is estimated that 13,986,000 bales will be produced in other countries, compared with 9,636,000 bales in this country. Foreign production increased by 464,000 bales and U. S. production dropped 3,400,000 bales, according to these predictions. Brazil has hiked her production 47 per cent. At the same time, U. S. exports dropped 37 per cent. Stocks of American cotton advanced and are considerably reduced. The American cotton farmer takes the position that he cannot compete with foreign growers while paying the high prices which high tariffs and high wages force him to pay for the things he buys.

MORE DATA on proposed state amendments.
At present, the legislature can submit proposed changes in the constitution only at regular sessions, which are held every 2 years.
Presently no one has the right to amend the constitution at a time when the legislature is not in session. The submission of amendments at special sessions. It is pointed out that in emergency cases, particularly on relief matters, that it might be necessary for Texas voters to vote on an emergency measure at a time when the regular session of the Legislature is quite far distance in the future.
The original purpose of the provision which makes submission possible only at regular sessions was to make amendments law hard to amend and change. Two schools of thought are at variance here. The one believing that the constitution should be easy to change—particularly in emergency cases, and the other that every safeguard should be placed around it to make it difficult to change.
If the proposed amendment is adopted, the legislature in any special session can submit proposed amendments to the voters—provided such amendments are submitted by the governor for the legislature's consideration. If the amendment is rejected the present system will obtain; that is, constitutional amendments can be submitted to the people only at regular sessions of the legislature.
The 44th legislature submitted thirteen amendments to the voters in August of this year and six in November of 1936. These were all submitted during the regular session. Under the proposed change the 44th might yet submit additional amendments for the voters' consideration.

THIS IS THE time of years when we put much effort and money into the summer outing and justify the expenditure on the ground that we and our families require an opportunity to recuperate through change of surroundings and to improve our well-being. But there is often very little common sense in the management of the vacation. The essentials of good care are ignored, so that the child is often in less satisfactory condition, physically and mentally, at the opening of the school in the fall than he was at the beginning of the summer. EYE-WITNESSES OF LOCAL STABBING TESTIFY

QUARREL AND STORY BEGINS IN POOL HALL
EVENTS ON EVENING OF SLAYING TOLD BY KIDWELL
Somewhat meager details of the events of the evening of last February 23, when Kenneth Campbell, 18-year-old Pampa youth, was stabbed fatally during a fist fight, were given today in 31st district court by James Kidwell, first State witness in the trial of Glen Earl Davis, who is charged with the homicide.
Kidwell's story began at a pool hall in the basement of the Combs-Worley building, where Campbell and Davis played at separate tables and without conversation between them. Campbell, accompanied by several other boys, stopped playing and went upstairs. Shortly afterward, Davis followed. The two met in the lobby of the building.
"Do you want to see me," Campbell was quoted by Kidwell as saying as Davis walked by him.
"Yes, I want to see you," Davis said to have replied.
"Fight is stopped."
With these words they started fighting, Kidwell said Davis struck the first blow. The janitor stopped them and they went outside. While no direct conversation was recalled, Kidwell said they apparently agreed to "finish it" elsewhere.
Campbell and Davis crossed the street, went to Cuyler, down Cuyler to the Magnolia filling station near the tracks, and walked side by side to the southeast corner of the Stark & McMillen elevator. A short distance behind them walked Kidwell, Fred Mason, and Davis' cousin, Leonie Coburn. Alvis Smith and Virgil Frazier drove up in a car about the time the fighting was resumed.

HUNT SLAYER OF POLICEMEN NEAR TACOMA

Believe 'Brains' of Weyerhaeuser Kidnaping Slew 2 Washington Officers
TACOMA, Wash., July 16. (AP)—Department of justice agents joined possmen today in the search for the slayer of two Puyallup policemen. Some authorities expressed the belief the fugitive was William Dairford, alleged "brains" of the George Weyerhaeuser kidnaping.
With highways blocked by police, searchers plunged through underbrush in the Puyallup valley hoping to trap the killer who shot the officers while they were seeking a bank robber.
The victims were Chief of Police Frank Chadwick and Patrolman Harry W. Storem.
Two justice department agents joined the search, a fact which increased speculation on whether the slayer might be Dairford, alias Mahan.
The officers were killed in a burst of gunfire on a road outside Puyallup while they were seeking the man who held up and robbed the Oring State bank of $500.
Shortly after the robbery was reported, Chadwick and Storem raced away to intercept the bandit. Near the farm of John Urdea the officers drew alongside the robber's car.
Urdea said the man got out of his car, walked around to the police automobile and suddenly opened fire.
"There were no shots from the police car," the farmer said. Then the man jumped into his car and raced toward Buckley.
Both officers died within a few minutes and less than an hour later the killer's automobile was found near Sumner.
Dairford, an ex-convict, is wanted on bank robbery charges in four western Washington cities.
The justice department has maintained headquarters here since a short time after George Weyerhaeuser was kidnaped from $200,000 May 24.
Since then the government was sent Harmon M. Waley to prison for 45 years after his plea of guilty to the abduction and conviction his wife, who will be sentenced Wednesday.
Dairford escaped Butte, Mont., police about a week after George was released, abandoning an automobile containing $15,000 in ransom money.

GOVERNOR WILL NOT CAMPAIGN FOR DRY CAUSE

Allred Will Ballot Against Repeal In August
AUSTIN, July 16. (AP)—Governor Allred announced today that while he would vote against repeal of the prohibition amendment he would not take the stump in the campaign to submit it in an election August 24.
Governor Allred said his position in favor of submitting the question of prohibition modification and his intentions to vote against repeal had not been altered.
Concerning a newspaper story from Dallas to the effect he would be asked to make speeches opposing repeal of the prohibition amendment, Governor Allred said:
"My position remains just the same as it was during the campaign. I favored submission. The question has been submitted. I stated that personally I would vote against repeal, but that I accorded every other citizen of Texas the same right to his own convictions on the subject.
"I was elected governor not only by the vote of my dry friends but with the enthusiastic support of many liberals who, while they disagreed with me as to the best method of handling the liquor question, respected my views. Personally and officially, I am against liquor, but feel that my friends on both sides of the question are entitled to the same respect for their views which they extended me."

FOES OF ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT ARE DEALT CRUSHING DEFEAT

FORT WORTH, July 16. (AP)—Executive committee members of the Young Democrats of Texas today dealt a smashing defeat to a resolution seeking to oust Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, as vice-president of the state organization.
Thunderous shouting and hand-clapping accompanied a vote of 16-2 as committee members voted down the young Roosevelt, whom they had termed "the crown prince and rubber stamp from the east."
It was the second, and final such defeat for anti-Roosevelt forces within a month. A previous attempt to have an ouster resolution approved met a similar fate at a tumultuous meeting of the Dallas County Young Democrats.
Phil Overton, youthful Dallas attorney, as fiery in his speech against the junior Roosevelt as his shock of red hair, said no further attempts would be made to have El-

ANTI-JEWISH RIOTS BRING NEW WARNING

Raid Berlin Jewish Shops; Students Sentenced for 'Snooting' at Hitler.
BY LOUIS P. LOCHNER, Associated Press Foreign Staff.
BERLIN, July 16. (AP)—Anti-Jewish rioting last night brought forth a "warning to elements inimical to the state" by the state police today.
It followed demonstrations on the Kurtfuerstendamm boulevard which lasted until the early hours of the morning and which the press called putting a "damper on growing Jewish arrogance."
The police warning said:
"It is understood that demonstrations against the provocative behavior of Jews once again yesterday attracted all sorts of dark elements which believe that in situations like this they may pursue their anti-governmental purposes and, through tumults, bring the state and the (naz) movement into disfavor."
"The sub-divisions of the naz movement, especially the (naz) organization and the storm troops, immediately placed themselves at the disposal of the police in order to cut the ground out from under these dark forces by quickly re-establishing order."
"Thanks to the cooperation of the police and the sub-divisions' movement, it was actually possible within a very short time to prevent further disturbances."
"It needs no further mention to point out that the state and the movement in the future, too, will cooperate most intensively in order to prevent every disturbance of public order."
The usual evening promenade in this fashionable west end section was upset considerably before an emergency squad finally succeeded in quieting the excitement by guarding a number of Jewish restaurants.
Curious crowds, however, moved about early today, discussing the incidents in the course of which one Jew was knocked unconscious and several show windows were broken.

DECISION IS DELIVERED BY CIRCUIT COURT

BOSTON, July 16. (AP)—The United States circuit court of appeals today held unconstitutional the processing and floor taxes imposed under the agricultural adjustment act.
The court found that no such authority to impose taxes had been delegated to the secretary of agriculture by the constitution or by decisions of the Supreme Court.
The circuit court's decision was based upon a test case brought by receivers of the Hoosac Mills, which sought recovery of $81,694.46.
"The collection of some $700,000,000 of processing taxes hinges upon the question of their constitutionality."
The Hoosac Mills suit was one of many brought by textile corporations who sought recovery of taxes paid on constitutional grounds. The Hoosac suit was chosen by United States attorneys as a test case to be carried to the United States Supreme Court chiefly because of the initial success of the government in obtaining a favorable decision in the district court.
The court's decision held both the processing and floor taxes levied under the AAA unconstitutional.
The Hoosac corporation had sued for the recovery of $44,097.94 in processing taxes and interest, and $37,596.64 in floor taxes and interest.
The decision was subscribed to by Judges Scott Wilson and George F. Morris. Judge George H. Bingham, senior justice, dissented.
"It is clear," said the decision, that the main purpose of the act, "is to control and regulate the production of the so-called basic agricultural commodities of the several states through agreements with the producers and in consideration of what is termed rental or benefit payments, to reduce acreage or production for market sufficient to increase the current average price of such products to that elusive point where the returns to the farmer from the production of such commodities will purchase under present conditions the same amount of industrial products that the returns to the farmer from the same products would buy in the five-year pre-war period from July 1909 to August 1914."
"The power of congress to regulate interstate commerce does not authorize it to do so by taxing products either of agriculture or industry before they enter interstate commerce, or otherwise to control their production merely because their production may indirectly affect interstate commerce."
"The issue is not, as the government contends, whether congress can appropriate funds raised by general taxation for any purpose deemed by congress in furtherance of the 'general welfare,' but whether congress has any power to control or regulate matters left to the states and lay a special tax for that purpose."
The court also set forth that "the power to determine what the law shall be, what property shall be affected by taxation, or regulation, and what standards shall govern the administrative officers in administering acts of congress, has Persistent rumors circulated that Mussolini himself intended to go to one or both of the Italian colonies to inspect the preparations there. He has a penchant for stimulating personally all government projects.

Informed circles expressed doubt that Di Duce would make such an inspection tour at present because of the pressure of business in Rome, but said they believed Crown Prince Humbert might set forth soon on a visit to East Africa.

HOUSE TABLES A MOVE TO ADJOURN

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—The house today tabled, 111 to 48, a resolution to force adjournment of this session of congress on next Tuesday.
The resolution, not debatable, was offered by Rep. Deen (D., Ga.). Immediately one of the democratic leaders, Rep. O'Connor of New York, moved it be tabled. That undoubtedly kills it.
Speaker Byrnes announced O'Connor's motion had carried on a voice vote, but a standing vote was demanded. On that, the count was 111 to 48.
The vote was almost strictly on party lines, six other democrats voting with Deen and against the motion to table. Two republicans joined the democrats.

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—Testimony that Rep. Brewster (R., Me.) expressed the opinion he could obtain 25 republican votes in the house for the provision in the utilities bill to abolish "unnecessary" holding companies was received today by the house rules committee.
This was given by Reps. Rankin (D., Miss.) and Maverick (D., Texas) to the committee named by the house to investigate lobbying for and against the utilities bill.
Brewster later voted against the abolition provision desired by President Roosevelt.

NO DIPLOMATIC PLAN POSSIBLE SAYS JOURNAL

ROME, July 16. (AP)—The authoritative newspaper Giornale d'Italia—which often mirrors the Italian government's views—today said flatly no diplomatic formula for settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute could be found.
Such formulae, the newspaper asserted, "are capable only of altering the conditions of the conflict without eliminating its inevitability."
Militarists asserted that the mobilization of two new military divisions would make Italy ready for any eventuality in East Africa.
This confidence was based on military opinion that for the present at least, ten white divisions, aided by some 75,000 native troops in the colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, would be more than sufficient for a push into Ethiopia.
Thousands of blackshirt volunteers flocked to registration quarters, eager to join the new blackshirt division created yesterday for service against the warriors of Emperor Haile Selassie.
The army machinery was speeded up to effect rapid mobilization of the "Sila" division of the regular army, also called out yesterday, and to supply Di Duce with recruits for the original unit in Italy.

FATHER KILLS MUSIC TEACHER OVER DAUGHTER

KENEDY, July 16. (AP)—Trouble over a 12-year-old girl student was believed by officers today to have led to the fatal shooting of F. M. Johnson, 50, music teacher of the Methodist church at Beville, for which the girl's father, Leslie Wright, was charged with murder.
Johnson, father of one son and two daughters, and known as an active church worker, was shot to death yesterday when he drove up to the grammar school here to teach his weekly class.
Wright was charged with murder soon afterward and later was released under $2,000 bond.
Deputy Sheriff Tom Donnell said that after a fist fight last week between Johnson and Wright officers and Kenedy merchants had asked Johnson not to return here for further work.
Officers said the trouble came up over Wright's young daughter, who had been a pupil in Johnson's class.
Deputy Sheriff Doc Haines said five charges of buckshot were fired into the car and that three wounds were found in Johnson's body. Deputies said they were holding a 12-gauge pump shotgun.

COLLEGE OFFERS GENERAL TRAINING

In this period of readjustment, in which no institution is likely to escape the pressure of change, the West Texas State Teachers college is announcing policies which show the alertness of its president and faculty.

High schools and colleges have felt the demands for bringing their course of study into line with current economic and social trends. The Teachers college is a pioneer in assisting high school teachers to study the curriculum revision which is taking place throughout the country. Demands upon teachers are constantly growing. Formerly the 3R's guaranteed a person of character and average ability a job, at least in rural communities. Today teachers have a need for far more knowledge, which preferably includes music, art, dramatics, or similar abilities. Today we have better teachers, longer terms, better informed pupils, better teaching facilities than ever before.

For 25 years the state college at Canyon has served a territory bigger than some states. Although its curriculum provided the basis of a general education, it has been known principally as a teacher-training unit. Dr. J. A. Hill now has a plan to familiarize the public with a broadened scope of service. He has announced this program.

"1. Two years of academy work, covering the fields of English, mathematics, history, economics, government, business administration, agriculture, art, music, manual arts, modern languages, physics, chemistry, biology, geography, public speaking, and home economics, without any requirements in education or preparation for teaching. Perhaps it would be better understood if we called this part of our program a Junior college.

"2. Two additional years leading to a bachelor's degree, with psychology and the history of education as the only courses that are specifically designed for teachers. In other words, a four years' course culminating in a bachelor of arts or a bachelor of science degree may be taken with no more professional preparation for teaching than is offered in psychology and the history of education.

"3. While certification of teachers at the freshman and sophomore levels will be continued for those who choose to take required courses for such certificates, it is our purpose to begin intensive professional work for teachers with the third or junior year. We believe that the time has come when no teacher should be employed who has less than two years of academic college education, plus a certain amount of strictly professional work, and we are consciously moving toward this goal. But, in order that we may not advance in this respect more rapidly than our sister colleges, and more rapidly than the law permits, we shall continue, for the present, to give those who want it the usual professional training in freshman and sophomore years.

"4. We are adding a fifth year to our curriculum, and devoting it to intensive preparation for teaching. Those who comply with our requirements will receive at the end of this fifth year a master's degree. It is believed that such people will be prepared to serve, with conspicuous success, the public schools of all kinds, sizes, and classifications in the respective position for which their preparation is designed to qualify them. It will not be our purpose, in this fifth year, to develop research workers after the traditional university type. We shall be aiming at the development of master teachers, and we are going to stand behind our products."

Certification of teachers in Texas has long been too easy, a fault for which the legislature may chiefly be blamed. There was some excuse for this when the supply of teachers was inadequate, but in today's over-abundance of certified persons the State has a chance to improve its instruction. Good building and long terms are desirable, but no school can be better than its teachers.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—It would be most extraordinary if politicians of all stripes did not have varying suspicions as to the intentions of Jouett Shouse and his American Liberty League in the presidential campaign of 1936.

They have. Many regular Republicans, for instance, suspect that Mr. Shouse would like to place one of his favorite conservative Democrats at the head of either a Republican ticket or a coalition conservative ticket next year. Lew Douglas or Al Smith or Owen D. Young, maybe.

The regulars are a bit sarcastic about the idea, because they insist on nominating a Republican.

Similarly, the Roosevelt Democrats and the progressives whisper that the Liberty League, if it can't effect such coalition, is likely to try to organize a conservative Democratic political movement which would draw a lot of votes from the Roosevelt ticket.

No one can imagine that the league, after its career to date, will fold up for the period of the campaign and take no sides. It has issued a series of pamphlets blasting every important legislative proposal supported by the administration in this session of Congress.

The United Press reported earlier this year that the league was under control of a group representing financial and industrial organizations possessing assets of more than $37,000,000,000—which means a large section of the interests including utilities. Which now oppose Roosevelt with almost hysterical venom.

The series of "grass root" meetings might be climaxed by a convention of the proposed presidential candidates.

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE,
Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.

Renewed left-wing efforts to organize a first-line third party have served chiefly to demonstrate how remote such a development really is.

Nearly all of the nationally-known liberal leaders who would have to be depended on to give force and standing to the movement have either shied away from it or counseled delay.

A few months ago a formidable third-party ticket, to the left of Mr. Roosevelt, was regarded by many politicians as almost assured. Several things have contributed to the change. On the one hand, Mr. Roosevelt himself is looked upon now by a large section of political opinion as having moved rather definitely toward the left, with his advocacy of such measures as the Guffey cool bill, the Wagner labor bill, the new tax plan, and stringent utility regulation.

Besides, there is much food for thought in what the republicans are doing. A definite revival of republican hope is apparent as steps are taken to reorganize that party along more conservative lines. If the republicans are to become ultra-conservative, say some of the left-wingers, why enhance their prospects of winning in 1936 by splitting the left-wing opposition?

Democrats Keep Senate.

One of the oddities of the 1936 situation is that, whoever is elected president and, no matter what kind of a landslide may develop in the house elections, the democrats are sure to retain control of the senate for another two years.

Normally, one-third of the senators are elected at one time. Two-thirds of the present membership will not be in any way affected by the 1936 election. And exactly 50 of these holdovers are democrats—a clean majority of the full senate membership of 96.

If the republicans sweep every one of the senatorial elections next year, they still will be in the minority.

On top of that, 12 of the 32 seats to be filled in 1936 are in the democratic south—in Tennessee, North Carolina, Alabama, South Carolina, Virginia, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Kentucky, Louisiana, Arkansas, Georgia and Texas.

Normally, all of these 12 places would be expected to go to the dem-

BEAUMONT MOVES UP TO SECOND RUNG

(By The Associated Press.) A tie game between Oklahoma City and Galveston left the Indians in the Texas league lead but forced the Bucs to give up second place to the idle Beaumont Exporters.

The Indians came to life in the ninth inning and scored two runs to gain a 4-to-4 tie with Bucs. They played another inning but neither team was able to score. The Indians had to catch a train, so the game ended in a tie. Jack Jabucki and Braehen hurried for Galveston and Stieley and Murray took turns on the mound for the Indians.

After the San Antonio Missions had finished a four-run lead, the Dallas Steers started hitting the ball and came from behind to win the game, 7 to 5.

It was a free-hitting affair in which Wiltsie and Mills of the Missions took their share of medicine. They were touched for 15 hits. Tauby with five and Stroner with four led the Dallas attack.

The Houston Buffs clubbed out an 8 to 4 victory over the Tulsa Oilers. Mike Cevengros, veteran left-hander, had the Oilers well in hand until the ninth when he eased up and Tulsa chased home three runs.

While Svengros was giving up seven hits, five of which came in the last two innings, his mates pounded Whitworth, Griffin and Hubbell for 14 wallops.

Fort Worth and Beaumont had a day's rest. The clubs made up for yesterday's game in advance in a twin-bill Sunday.

TOPEKA, Kas., July 16 (AP)—Oh, well, if you were a monkey and you'd just gotten out of your cage and there were no palm trees and coconuts handy, maybe you'd throw green apples, too. That's what the simian belonging to Laverne Bonawitz did. It took half the neighborhood and a couple of cops to round up the "critter."

Visitors Blow up as 'Goofy' Dean Aims His Troubles

By connecting hard with the few balls that found the plate, the Pampa Road Runners last night swamped the Amarillo Shamrocks 15 to 5 in a game of walks at Road Runner park.

The Road Runners will tangle with Huber Blackfaces of Berger in a ladies' night game tomorrow and with Coltexos of LeFors on Friday night. Women will be admitted free to the game with Huber.

Amarillo's chumpers were wilder than hares. They walked 13, hit two, and made a wild pitch. To offset the wildness were sensational plays and a couple of injuries. Douglas, Amarillo catcher, received a broken bone in his right hand when he was hit by a foul tip in the sixth inning.

In the fifth inning Seitz, Road Runner centerfielder, pulled one of the most sensational plays of the season when he raced deep into centerfield, reached high over his head and made a one-handed stab of Caher's long drive. Seitz fell as he caught the ball, crashing into the fence. He received the force of the impact on his outstretched hands, which knocked the ball from his hand. The hit went for a triple. The big fielder inched his right leg and stayed in the game until the end of the sixth inning, when he had to be taken out.

Coburn, former Coltexo right-hander, started on the mound for Amarillo and was nicked for four hits and five runs in the first inning. Most of the runs resulted from two errors by Evans, third baseman, and Pachak, centerfielder. Nell, Summers and Horton doubled in the inning. Coburn pitched to two men in the second before being relieved by Joe "Goofy" Dean. Stewart pitched great ball for the home club.

Sealing greeted the "Goof" with a double, which apparently unnerved the youngster. He hit Nell and then proceeded to make wild pitch after walk Patton and Seitz. The next two went out. Dean got by with a run and two walks in the third but the fourth saw him heading for the showers after he had walked Patton, Seitz, and Summers on 14 pitched balls. Pachak relieved Dean and walked in two runs before retiring the side. The lefthander finished the game.

Dean's record while on the mound showed 13 batters to the plate, one hit, seven walks, a wild pitch, and five put outs, with three runs crossing the plate and the bases drunk and nobody out when he went to the showers.

The cousin of the great "Dizzy" and "Duffy" Dean, remarked after the game that a few hits to have a little support and a little less eripine before he can play ball. The "Goof" said he had been pitching only one game a week before joining the Amarillo Shamrocks and that he wasn't in shape. He further remarked that he hadn't allowed many hits this season. A who overheard the conversation said, without stuttering, that the "Goof" probably didn't get enough balls near the plate to have them hit. Mr. Dean didn't cotton to the remark, but let it pass.

"I'm going to get in shape and show these Panhandle Wolves that the Deans can take it and go places," declared honorable "Goofy." "Why I might even get me to Pampa if they would get me a job," he declared.

Nell was the hitter of the evening, connecting for a double and two singles. Summers got two doubles and Brickell and Sealing hit a single and double each. Floyd Lysie gathered singles on his two trips to the plate.

Gaither, with a triple and single, was Amarillo's big hitter. Sawyer and Young got two singles each.

After Seitz had pulled his circuit attempt in centerfield, the two infielders decided that it was time to put some pep in the game. George opened the fireworks by racing deep behind second base for a hot rouser and getting Gaither at first. On the next play he went "chind third for a ball to get Evans at the initial cast. Not to be outdone, Summers pulled another impossible play when he took a one-handed ground skinner behind first to rob Davis of a hit. Bailey, former Road Runner, now with Amarillo, nabbed Patton of a hit in the eighth when he raced behind first for his "hot grounder and pegged to first or an out.

WEST PITCHES ONE-HIT GAME FOR LAKETON

WHITE DEER DEFEATED 14 TO 1 IN SIX-INNING GAME

Five games in the Two I league have been reported with two being rained out and one being postponed. Results of the other games are unknown.

Games between the Rams and Kingsmill and between the Indians and Magic City were postponed because of rain. The Coltexo-Phillips tilt was postponed when Coltexo went to Memphis for a game.

Several good games were staged with Skellytown going 14 innings to down Cargray. West, Laketon's silent hurler, allowed White Deer only one hit.

Coming from behind with a four-run attack in the ninth when Larry Trenary lifted one over the fence with the bases drunk, Shell defeated Sinclair-Prairie in a well played game, 10 to 8. Shell outdid Sinclair-Prairie 14 to 8 with Trenary and Keeling leading the way with three hits each. C. Chisum got three for the losers.

Keeling pitched good ball for the winners, getting 14 strikeouts including the side in the second and seventh innings. Dilman was on the mound for Sinclair-Prairie and had the game won until he grooved one for Trenary in the ninth.

Skellytown Wins in 14th. It took Skellytown 14 innings to win an 18 to 12 encounter from Cargray. The Cargray slugger evened the count in the last half of the ninth after Skellytown had scored twice in the first half of the inning. Each team scored once in the tenth, once in the eleventh, four in the twelfth, none in the thirteenth and then Skellytown put across six runs in the fourteenth stanza.

T. Horner and Howard hit two home runs each and Heater connected for one. Carroll, D. Horner, and M. Sorenson saw pitching duty for the winners with C. Williams receiving. S. Osman and Christie Austin divided the hurling assignment for Cargray with Hol Wagner behind the bat.

Sumoc Sluggers Win. The Sumoc Sluggers took a 14 to 2 tilt from the Pampa Independents when Webber held the losers to four hits while his teammates were getting to Farley and Shephers for 16 hits. McArthur hit for the circuit and Wilson got two doubles and two singles. Webber got 13 strikeouts with Wilson behind the bat. Higgins was behind the bat for the losers.

Advertisers Down Stanoiloid. Playing their best ball of the season behind Halley's steady hurling, the Pampa Advertisers took a 6 to 4 game from Stanoiloid Oilers. James was behind the bat. Stanoiloid staged a three run rally in the ninth but it fell short. Terry and Bryant were batteries for the Oilers.

West Back Again. Laketon celebrated Silent Alf West's return to pitching form to set White Deer down 14 to 1 in an abbreviated six-inning game. The contest, cut short by a rain that failed to last, broke a three-game losing streak for Laketon and set up another brilliant twirling victory for West, who allowed only one hit and struck out 11 batters.

A flashy double play saved the Oilers. Urbanczyk-Bednorz fraternity in the first inning, but the Laketon Jack-spies got their long range guns trained and combed the offerings of two pitchers for 11 hits, including a homer by Carter, a triple and four doubles. Manager Kalka started on the hill for White Deer but was replaced by Buiz Urbanczyk in the fourth, who got the only hit, a double, off West in the fifth. White Deer's lone tally was unearned and came in the third. Laketon's first baseman and catcher handled the 18 putouts as they did in the first game again the Rams.

GARDEN HEAD SAYS MAX BAER WILL FIGHT MAX SCHMELING

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—It seems that Max Schmeling is going to fight somebody in September, but his opponent's identity has been obscured in a cross fire of contradictory statements.

The most that can be said at present is that the Teuton slugger will fight either Joe Louis, Detroit negro or Max Baer, the biffing bridegroom from Livermore, Calif.

James J. Johnston of Madison Square Garden announced last night he had closed negotiations for a 15-round match between Schmeling and Baer on or about September 26 at the Garden bowl on Long Island.

Mike Jacobs of the 20th Century club previously had announced that Schmeling had been matched to fight Louis at the Polo Grounds on September 19.

Johnston said he had concluded his arrangements yesterday over the trans-atlantic telephone with Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American manager, who is in Berlin.

"As a matter of fact," said Johnston, "we already had Schmeling under contract. We signed Baer, through his manager, Anell Hoffmann, last Friday."

The news incensed Mike Jacobs, who immediately called his name sake in Berlin.

Turning from the telephone he denied that Johnston's statement was based on actual developments.

"So Johnston said he called Joe Jacobs at Berlin, did he?" he fumed. "Well, I just this minute finished talking to Jacobs myself, and he said he never held a trans-atlantic conversation with Johnston."

"Moreover, Jacobs told me he was sending a cable immediately to verify the fact that Schmeling has signed to meet Louis."

Joe Jacobs, reached in Berlin, said however, that in as much as Schmeling had not yet returned to Berlin from a hunting trip, he had signed nothing.

Hoffman, manager of Baer, stood behind Johnston's statement and said prompt attention would be given to the sore hands of the laughing puncher who lost his title to Jim Braddock last month.

He said Baer would be ready to fight at the Garden's pleasure.

DIZZY DEAN KEEPS ILLINOIS GOVERNOR WAITING 2 HOURS

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 16 (AP)—Jerome (Dizzy) Dean kept Gov. Henry Horner and 2,000 baseball fans waiting last night while he satisfied himself with steak and potatoes.

The St. Louis Cardinals' ace was scheduled to pitch the first ball in the finals of the annual Catholic diocese baseball tournament, with George former catching.

Dean was met on arrival by a reception committee headed by Mayor John W. Kapp. The older of the brother stars was informed that pregame ceremonies had been held up pending his arrival.

He informed the committee he would be even later getting to the park, in as much as he intended to eat first.

When the committee insisted that the governor was waiting, Dizzy told them he would be glad to see him, but "his excellency" would have to wait until Dizzy gets some steak and potatoes."

CUBS WIN 8TH STRAIGHT AND PAY OWN WAY

MR. WRIGLEY'S DOUGH HAS RUBBER BAND AROUND IT

CHICAGO, July 16 (AP)—That big Wringley bankroll, which used to be dangled in front of club owners as bait for their high priced ball players, is doing all right with a tight rubber band around it.

And so are the Chicago Cubs, once the milk and honey boys of baseball, who are strictly on their own these days with orders to hustle and make good or prepare themselves for the axe that already has cut 15 members of last year's team from the squad.

For a club that has been shaken up completely from the front office down to the bat boy within less than a year, the Cubs have been doing remarkably well this year. Riding on a tide of eight straight victories, Charlie Grimm's youngsters today were trailing the league leading New York Giants by seven games with hopes of winning the pennant yet.

The failure of Chuck Klein to produce undoubtedly caused owner Philip K. Wringley to jerk back his big bank roll and announce that henceforth the Cubs would build up from the bottom with young players. Klein was purchased for approximately $100,000 from the Phillies.

Fort Worth Has A New Skipper

FORT WORTH, July 16 (AP)—The Fort Worth Cats of the Texas league had a new skipper today.

Business Manager Roy Meehan, now in Houston with his club, said Harry McCurdy, former Texas leaguer and manager of the Wilmington club of the Piedmont league the past two years, had been named manager to succeed Johnny Heving who resigned yesterday.

McCurdy, who will be playing manager, planned to fly from Wilmington to Houston today to take charge of the Cats tonight.

A change in the field management of the Fort Worth club, next to the bottom in the loop standing, had been expected for some time.

McCurdy, veteran catcher, was with Houston in 1924-1925 and was sold to the Chicago White Sox, where he remained through 1928 before going to the Philadelphia Phillies in 1931. He returned to Houston in 1933 and was sent to Columbus, The Cincinnati Reds obtained him in a trade and he was sent to Wilmington.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By MARY E. DAGUE

NEA Service Staff Writer

If you haven't served Swiss chard, don't let this summer go by without introducing it to your family. There are several varieties and others with broad light-colored leaves. Whatever the variety, my folks like the thick white mid-rib cooked and served like asparagus and the leaf, used as greens, equally well.

Chard rivals spinach in iron, so it's a good substitute for meat during hot weather. Besides, it's cheap and the vitamins are present in goodly amounts. Chard also supplements the protein deficiencies of other vegetables and cereal foods and contains a substance which enables the body to use all the mineral content.

Use Little Water

Cook in as little water as possible and for only a short time. Pep up with lemon juice and other seasonings that your family favors.

Many calories can be added to chard by dressing it with butter or a rich Hollandaise sauce.

The other day I had luncheon at a fashionable tea room noted for its delicious and unusual foods. The cream of chard soup was excellent and was made like cream of spinach soup, adding the cooked and sifted vegetable to a thin cream sauce. I made it at home, seasoned with lemon juice and a suggestion of sage and onion.

An attractive way to serve chard is to cut the thick center rib in

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Baked sweet apples, cereal, cream, cinnamon toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cream of chard soup, croutons, jellied fruit salad, cheese sandwiches, Boston coles.

DINNER: Salisbury steak, mashed potatoes, chard with Hollandaise sauce, tomato and celery salad, blackberry pie, milk, coffee.

uniform lengths and tie in small bundles. Cook in boiling water, adding salt after the first ten minutes of cooking. Cook the thin part of the leaves just as you would spinach—in the water that clings to the leaves. When tender, chop leaves fine and arrange in a border on a deep serving platter. Garnish with hard cooked eggs and fill the center with the thick ribs in Hollandaise sauce. This is an exceedingly nourishing and economical dish for a summer meal.

Tender Leaves for Salad

The tender small leaves of chard can be used raw in salads and tastes like romaine.

If cooked in the stock in which ham was boiled, the flavor of the meat adds much to the taste of the dish.

With rich cheese sauce chard may be put into a shallow baking dish and the top browned in a hot oven before sending to the table.

Four-Months-Old Injury Is Fatal To Denton Woman

FORT WORTH, July 16 (AP)—A four-months-old infant, received when an automobile crashed into a telephone pole at Haltom City, proved fatal here this morning for Mrs. Ethel Lewis, 32, of Denton.

She died in a Fort Worth hospital at 7 o'clock without knowing of the death of her 75-year-old father, J. G. Hester, in Denton three weeks ago.

Relatives said Mrs. Lewis had never been entirely conscious since the accident on the night of March 17, and had not recognized members of her family.

She had a fractured skull. Her father, in bad health because of a kidney ailment, was hastened to his death because of grief over the condition of his daughter, said relatives.

Mrs. Lewis and W. P. Robinson, also of Denton, were driving to Ft. Worth when their car crashed into the pole. Robinson suffered only slight injuries but the woman was unconscious for days. After several weeks in the hospital she was taken home but was returned here on May 6 when her condition became critical again.

Her death brought Tarrant county's traffic toll to 46.

OPPOSITION TO TAX RICH PLAN GOING STRONG

GENERAL SALES LEVY IS OFFERED AS SUBSTITUTION

BY CLARENCE M. WRIGHT, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Legislators predicted today that vigorous attempts soon will be made to write into President Roosevelt's new tax plan several proposals unwanted by the White House.

Drives for a general sales tax, tariffs and repeal of some of the present "nuisance" levies were mentioned as some of the things the president's supporters must fight before they can get the tax program out of the house ways and means committee.

Republicans flatly refused to be bound today by any agreement to limit the tax bill to the levies Mr. Roosevelt suggested.

Rep. Jenkins (R., Ohio) was one of those who refused to be bound. In fact, he did not even know that the committee had voted to limit its hearings—and tacitly its tax bill—to the matters outlined in the president's message.

"I certainly didn't vote that way," Jenkins said. "Even the republicans who were present at the secret meeting when that agreement was reached refused to vote."

Rep. Trethewey of Massachusetts, ranking republican on the committee, long has advocated two measures and he is likely to offer them as amendments.

They are the sales tax, and the idea of forbidding the federal government to issue any more tax exempt securities. President Roosevelt has proposed a ban on future issuance of tax exempt bonds, but he wants it done by a constitutional amendment. His supporters say the amendment should apply to the restriction to federal and state bonds simultaneously, giving neither an advantage over the other.

The democrats generally feel that they are bound to vote only for: (1) new taxes on inheritances; (2) increased taxes on estates; (3) stiffer levies on large incomes, probably those above $100,000 a year; (4) new taxes of some kind on corporation incomes; (5) levies on dividends received by corporations, to prevent "evasion" of the corporation income assessment.

There has been no decision by the committee on specific rates, and there is no prospect of one for several days. The democrats are divided on whether they should decide first what rates to fix or how much money to raise. They have drafted, for purposes of the hearings, 29 schedules which would apply varying rates and raises from $118,000-000 to $901,500,000 a year.

Today, while tax and bill-drafting experts worked on a measure for the committee to consider, members talked informally about the proposals. They also met to give final approval to a bill setting up a federal alcohol control tax and a bill dividing the treasury. The agency would administer plans which, in effect, would continue codes that existed under the FACA.

Jail Condemned At San Angelo

FORT WORTH, July 16 (AP)—The Tom Green county jail at San Angelo has been condemned as a federal jail, and after July 18 will not be used for housing federal prisoners, it was learned here today.

The announcement came in a letter from the director of the U. S. bureau of prisons, to U. S. Marshal J. R. Wright.

Bates wrote that Roy J. Casey, inspector for the bureau, had found conditions in the Tom Green county jail very unsatisfactory.

"He found a kangaroo court in full operation, with the approval of the jailer who is the wife of a deputy sheriff," wrote Bates. "The court rules included whipping of prisoners for failure to pay fines, or refusing to beg fines from visitors."

"It has been the practice of the jailer to permit prisoners to prepare food in their cells. As a result, food containers, cans, utensils and other trash are strewn about the place.

"Trustees are allowed to come and go at will and are permitted to rub errands.

"Visitors go directly to the cell blocks.

"The jailer admitted that under the present system it would be possible for drugs to be smuggled into the jail. The only course is to condemn the jail.

Chapter 44

Zoe said, "My dear, I'm terribly sorry. I knew you'd have to know sooner or later, but I hoped it would be some other way."

The marriage certificate of Michael Heathcote and Katharine Stryker lay on the table between her and Dr. Kaye. He glanced at it, glanced away.

"But I had thought," he said in a puzzled tone, "when she left I certainly thought—"

Zoe patted his hand. "I don't know what this is all about," she said. "But I'm certain Katharine never meant to hurt anyone. She must have had a very good reason for not telling us."

The lean, ascetic young doctor flushed under his recent tan.

"I don't doubt it," he said. "You—you were crazy about her, weren't you?" Zoe asked simply. He nodded.

"I've been there, myself," she added after a moment. "I guess you know about that. Loving anyone and finding out you don't count, and feeling nothing's worth while but you know all about that. You saved me from something terrible. I'll never forget it. That's why I wish I could help now."

"It's all right," Dr. Kaye muttered. "It's my own fault. I was just a fool, I guess."

Much, much later, after he had gone, Zoe reviewed the scene, remembering the way he had looked—the hurt in his eyes. She had tucked the tell-tale document away in an envelope and had mailed it to Katharine at Silencia, Roanoke, New Mexico. With that out of her hands, she felt definitely safer.

It was a pity Dr. Kaye had had to learn the news this way. If it had not been for Gerda and her hateful shepherd dog, it never would have happened. Gerda was definitely a trouble maker, but this time she had been an unwitting one.

Zoe went through the morning room. Gerda was picking up fallen flower petals, the vases were late chrysanthemums in all the vases. Gerda turned, holding something out to Zoe. "I guess the doctor dropped this."

Zoe took it. John Kaye's pigskin glove. It was a special golfing glove, one of an old and beloved pair. She recognized it.

"Thanks, Gerda. I'll see he gets it."

She went upstairs. Her own beautiful room was in perfect order. Her dinner dress, an affair of delicate blue lace, was laid out on the bed. Her little buckled slippers and transparent stockings were there too. Gerda flung hers. If down on the taffeta-covered chaise longue and closed her eyes. She had John Kaye's glove in her hand. How he must have loved Kaye, to look to troubled when he learned of her deception!

Zoe shivered a little; there was a man any girl might love with an aching tenderness. She had always noticed him growing up. But he had been Katharine's special friend. Then the night he had worked over Zoe, after her mad attempt to kill herself, she had begun to think of him again. She had refused to admit it, but she had marked herself as light and flicker, but actually before she had reached Colorado on her trip in search of health she had admitted Dr. Kaye to the secret places of her heart. Gibbs had thus been easily blotted out. She could look back at Gibbs now as at a far-off figure in another existence. She had grown up since that night.

She wouldn't be foolish about this. She'd keep out of John Kaye's way. She respected him, honored him. If the sound of his quiet, authoritative voice stirred her more than a little, she would let her feelings go no further than that. But, oh, what a lucky girl she would be who was singled out by this serious, gentle, hard-working young man!

"Not for me," said Zoe, springing to her feet and dashing into the bathroom to run a luxurious bath.

"Talking to yourself, darling?" Mrs. Parker wandered in, wrapped in a negligee of dull rose, her pretty hair set in scalloped and delicately pinned waves.

John Kaye went back to the Stryker house with a heavy heart. That Katharine should be actually married to another man was a stunning blow. But that she hadn't confided the news to him was more crushing still.

Poor child—she had few people to confide in, the young physician mused, watching Bertine preside at her dinner table later. Bertine, massaged, cosseted, groomed to the last inch of her healthy, middle-aged body, beamed at him, little suspecting the thoughts her young kinsman was directing at her.

"Gracia is coming over for bridge later, John. Can we count on your support?"

He answered as graciously as he could. His thoughts were far-away.

"I'll be glad to, although I may have a call from town. Miss Mearsham telephoned me just before dinner. She's to call later. Something about a consultation at the Medical Center—"

Bertine pouted. "Oh, you doctors! Always on the wing. I hope it doesn't go through. Gracia will be so disappointed. You knew her engagement to Captain Byrne was off, didn't you? Gracia decided they just weren't meant for each other."

John Kaye scarcely knew what he ate. The soufflé on his plate was delicious. He scarcely touched it. His office nurse telephoned just as coffee was being served in the drawing room, and as Gracia McIlvane bustled in.

"Wiv, Dr. John, we meet again! Won't that soufflé fight too awfully?"

Drat the woman, thought the man resentfully, making his excuses and plunging out to the telephone.

Miss Mearsham was properly apologetic. The doctor needn't come in tonight, after all, Dr. Abbott said tomorrow morning would do just as well.

John Kaye came back to the drawing room and lied manfully. He had to rush, he said. He would be back as quickly as he could. Perhaps they would not have finished the rubber.

Regretfully Gracia watched him go. John could hear Victor Stryker telephoning Mrs. Willetts, asking if Luq wanted to make a fourth. He felt guilty, but escape was too tempting.

Driving past the Parker's gateway, he felt an unaccountable impulse to see Zoe again. Her warm and impulsive sympathy had been very sweet that afternoon. Perhaps he could talk to her about Katharine.

The girl who came toward him was fragrant in delicate blue lace. Her brown curls rioted about her small head. Her eyes were fringed with dark lashes.

"Why, Zoe's a beauty," thought John Kaye, surprised that he had not noticed it before. He had always counted her a mere child, frivolous and amusing. Today she had shown a sweeter, deeper, more womanly side. Some ancient scales seemed to have fallen from his eyes.

For a moment they stood, regarding each other. Then the man said, haltingly, "I thought I dropped a glove here today."

Zoe shook her head. "Don't believe so. Gerda would have given it to me, if you had."

That glove was in her childish treasure box, along with other hoarded mementoes.

"Some day, perhaps," thought she with sudden prescience, "I shall tell him about it."

BRITISH AIR DEFENSES TO BE EXPANDED

$25,000,000 APPORTIONED TO KEEP UP WITH ITALY

LONDON, July 16 (AP)—Great Britain apportioned more than $25,000,000 today to maintain its own security by strengthening its air defenses as diplomats, confronted by the new Italian mobilization, persisted in seeking a peaceful solution to the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

A supplementary estimate, totaling $5,335,000, was issued to meet the costs of expansion for the royal air force.

The estimate included provision for additional personnel and cash payment for combatant and training aircraft. Much of the equipment will not be delivered until the next financial year.

The revised program, drawn in conjunction with plans announced in July, 1934, entails provision for nearly 50 new air stations.

Great Britain's attention to her own defenses was concentrated further in view of the debate in the house of commons late today, in which the government organization of air raid precautions came up for discussion.

Premier Benito Mussolini's mobilization of two new military divisions for action against Ethiopia in East Africa was displayed prominently in the press but there was not a single comment.

Lord Davies tabled a motion, which was to be presented to the house of lords today, viewing the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, "with grave anxiety and calling for 'immediate steps' to achieve a peaceful settlement in accordance with the pact of Paris and the covenant of the League of Nations.

Lord Davies said he would ask the government if it would advocate appointment by the league council of an impartial commission to undertake a full investigation of the dispute.

He intended also to ask if Great Britain would make an "unequivocal declaration" that it is prepared to carry out the obligations of the league covenant for cooperation with other league members.

The government has been negotiating with France, hoping the two nations may find some means of settlement which could be presented to a meeting of the League of Nations council about July 25.

SAW STARS TOO

MINNEAPOLIS, July 16 (AP)—Warren Forehand, 8, was seeing the first lunar eclipse of his memory from a building roof. Fascinated as the earth's shadow blotted out the moon's light, he gazed upward, paying no attention to where he was standing. With a crash he stepped through a skylight and fell 20 feet to a stairway. His injuries were not regarded as serious.

NEW RECIPROCAL TRADE PACT WITH GERMANY IN PROSPECT

BY LLOYD A. LEHRBAS, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Confronted with a demand for the abolition of the law on which it bases its reciprocal tariff policy, the new deal today gave every indication of going on with the program.

The fact, authoritative sources disclosed that the United States has offered to conclude a new reciprocal trade agreement with Germany, Secretary Hull made the offer in a note handed to Dr. Hans Luther, German ambassador, before the latter left recently for a visit in Berlin.

Luther is due back in Washington with Germany's reply August 2. Hull's note answered overtures for a trade agreement made by Luther. It informed Germany that the United States will be glad to conclude a reciprocal pact if basic agreement is reached that it will conform what is termed Roosevelt "equality of treatment" policy. Officials here have felt that Germany's trade policy has resulted in discrimination against American goods.

The demand for abolition of the reciprocal tariff law was voiced in the senate yesterday by Senator McCarran (D., Nev.). He introduced a resolution to repeal the law, under which the president can lower or raise tariffs by as much as 50 per cent in negotiating trade agreements which do not require the consent of the senate.

The action by McCarran follows a Soviet-American trade pact announced last week. American manganese producers in particular have attacked this pact, because it involves tariff concessions on Russian manganese.

JAMES BAUSCH, Olympic Decathlon Champion, says: "I've been a Camel smoker for years. Camels are so mild they don't get my wind or cut down my speed and endurance. And Camel is a better-tasting cigarette; always rich, smooth, and mellow."

JENNIE ROONEY, famous circus aerialist, says: "I have to guard my wind. It means a lot that Camels, being so mild, don't upset my nerves or get my wind. And Camels never give me any throat irritation."

BRUCE BARNES, the tennis champion, says: "Camels are so mild! They never cut my wind—and I smoke a lot, too. Their flavor? Always rich and good. And when I'm tired out, a Camel eases the strain."

WILLIE MACFARLANE, former U.S. Open Champion, adds: "You hear a lot about mildness. Camels are mild. I smoke steadily. They don't get my wind or make my nerves jittery. I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

SO MILD YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!

Camels COSTLIER TOBACCOES!

Girl's Screams Cause Kidnapers To Release Her

PORTLAND, Ore., July 16 (AP)—Neva McCrary, 31, unremoved her captors by her screams and was released early today after she was seized in her bedroom and carried away in an automobile by three men, police reported.

Patrolman Cliff Miller and Ferdinand Gaunt said the girl reported she bit through her gag and started screaming so loud that her captors freed her.

She was found by W. W. Miller, one of the neighbors who heard her terrified cries when she was taken from her bedroom shortly before midnight. Waller and others had joined the search. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCrary, reported hearing her screams before she disappeared.

The officers reported the family was of modest circumstances and doubted if there was any intention to hold the girl for ransom.

Because of the recent heat, the front door of the McCrary home was left open last night, giving easy access to the front bedroom in which the girl slept.

The patrolmen said they were told two men attempted to enter the girl's bedroom July 13, an attempt unreported until the girl's disappearance. At that time two men cut the screen from her bedroom window, but ran when she screamed.

J. Edgar Hoover Calls Hauptmann Trial 'Disgusting'

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the justice department's bureau of investigation, today termed the Hauptmann trial a "disgusting spectacle" and a "Roman holiday."

He thus registered vigorous agreement with criticism voiced by a committee of the American Bar association. The committee, it was disclosed yesterday, will say in a report to the association that "to treat a simple trial as a public show is to cheapen life itself."

Hoover, who directed the justice department's part in the hunt that resulted in the arrest of Bruno Richard Hauptmann for the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby, said:

"I worked on the case and I am convinced Hauptmann was guilty. But I think a man who is on trial for his life is entitled to a little consideration."

"This thing of making a circus out of a murder trial is disgusting. I would be the first to pooch-pooch false dignity, but I think there are certain proprieties that should be observed."

"The press is not to blame," he added. "If you put on a dignified show, the press will report it as such. If you put on a dignified trial, I am convinced the newspapers will cover it as such."

"The Bar association is to be praised in taking a vigorous stand."

Grace George, the actress, attributes the recovery of her health to her acting in the Broadway play, "Kind Lady."

GEORGIAN FOR ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Multiplying signs of restlessness in congress today raised the question whether legislators might not stampede toward adjournment without acting on the Roosevelt tax proposals and other major measures.

Some observers saw a possibility of such a bolt in a congress irritated by heat and long controversy. Others discounted it, believing the leaders would be able to stop any such move, if made.

All watched for the results of a step by Rep. Deen (D. Ga.). He prepared a resolution calling for adjournment next Tuesday—which would be weeks sooner than the leaders contemplate.

"In my humble opinion," Deen said, "the democratic party is losing ground, prestige, and votes every day by continuing to rush through legislation, improperly considered and some of which appears to be unconstitutional."

Such resolutions as Deen's go to the house rules committee for consideration. Among legislators who feel as Deen does, there was some talk of circulating a petition to force the resolution out of the committee for a vote on the house floor.

Loud applause and cowboy yells greeted Deen when he told the house that this share-the-wealth legislation, some of which I am in favor of, can wait six months."

Besides Deen, some other members in both houses and both parties have suggested quick adjournment.

KING GEORGE REVIEWS HUGE BRITISH NAVY

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., July 16 (AP)—The greatest array of British fighting craft since the 1914 review—some 100 ships—steamed off to their world war stations—lined the spithead waters today for the silver jubilee review before King George.

King George boarded the white royal yacht, the Victoria and Albert, with the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the Duke of Kent, to inspect the 11 lines of steel-gray warships.

Thousands of spectators thronged the shore and piers for the spectacle.

Twenty-one years ago, the king viewed 59 capital ships and 55 cruisers on the same scene. In his post-war review of 1924, there were 11 capital ships and 9 cruisers.

Today there were nine capital ships and 17 cruisers. There were destroyers, and submarines in greater numbers and two aircraft carriers—new, since such ships were unknown in world war days.

The British fleet, a major part of which entered into the ceremony, displayed a strength which, although still powerful, was considerably weaker than in 1914.

Great Britain's navy, like that of the United States, has been cut radically in size and regulated by the Washington treaty, which Japan has denounced, effective at the end of 1936.

The program called for the king to steam first past the battleships Queen Elizabeth, Royal Sovereign, Ramilies, Revenge, Resolution, and the old Iron Duke, Admiral Jellicoe's flagship during the war and now a training ship.

Then came the battle cruisers Hood and Renown, the aircraft carriers Courageous and Furious, the new cruisers of the Leander class and a long line of destroyers and submarines, to a point several miles away, opposite Lee-on-Solent.

Ninety-five vessels other than men-of-war also were drawn up for Royal inspection, including cargo ships, yachts and fishing vessels.

Among the five foreign ships in the line was Gerald Lambert's racing yacht Yankee—the only vessel flying the stars and stripes.

FIGHTING SHIPS MASS IN GREATEST ARRAY SINCE 1914

After parading to the palace here, students proceeded to newspaper offices where speakers shouted, "Death to Garrido."

Amid cries of "burn Garrido's house," the crowd then marched toward the residence of the former secretary of agriculture. Heavy rains thinned their ranks, however, and the few who approached the house were dispersed.

Student leaders asserted they intended to "force Garrido to leave the country." They arranged demonstrations to be held in the capital and other cities.

Authoritative sources said that President Cardenas would be forced to take decisive action to prevent the situation from getting out of hand.

That he is not in sympathy with the radical anti-church policies advocated by Garrido was evidenced by his forcing the Tabasco dictator out of the cabinet three weeks ago.

Oklahoma Tennis Star Is Beaten

DES MOINES, Ia., July 16 (AP)—With all the men's singles favorites but one swinging safely into the second round, contestants in the Missouri Valley Tennis tournament were ready to open full competition today with initial pairings in doubles and women's events.

The major upset of the first day of play was the elimination yesterday of Don McNeill of Oklahoma City, seeded No. 5. The zooming Oklahoma star lost 9-7, 6-4 before the form strokes of Kenneth Black of Peoria, Ill., University of Chicago star.

Both Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines and Bill Kiley of Kansas City, top ranking entrants, sailed

MEXICAN STUDENTS ORGANIZE EXPEDITION AGAINST GARRIDO

Anti-Church Leader of Tabasco Accused in Slaying of 'Clericals' Group.

BY CLARK LEE, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

MEXICO CITY, July 16 (AP)—Students organized an expedition today against Villa Hermosa, Tabasco, to avenge five of their companions who died—with two opponents—in a campaign against Tomas Garrido Canabal, dictator of the state.

The conflict was precipitated after 20 young Tabasco students returned to their native state yesterday to contest the political rule of the anti-church leader.

An official report from Governor Manuel Lastra Ortiz, terming the student group "clericals," said they had attacked members of the red shirt "bloc of young revolutionaries."

Telegrams from Rudolfo Brito Foucher, leader of the students, however, protested that Garrido himself, Governor Lastra and other officials, opened machine gun fire on his companions while they were walking through the streets.

The five students, Manuel Brito Foucher, Cesar Pedredo, Juarez Medina, Bernardo Galzardo, and Jovito Perez, died under the machine gun fire. Two followers of Garrido, Antonio Garcia and Miguel Serrano, were killed in a later clash. The five students and two state deputies were wounded.

In the absence of President Lazaro Cardenas, who is traveling in Jalisco, his private secretary, Luis I. Rodriguez, promised 4,000 students who thronged about the national palace that an impartial investigation would be made and that those responsible for the killings would be punished.

Representatives of the president departed by airplane today for Tabasco.

From Guadalupe, Cardenas instructed authorities to provide guarantees for the surviving members of the student group, who took refuge in the federal garrison at Villa Hermosa.

After parading to the palace here, students proceeded to newspaper offices where speakers shouted, "Death to Garrido."

Amid cries of "burn Garrido's house," the crowd then marched toward the residence of the former secretary of agriculture. Heavy rains thinned their ranks, however, and the few who approached the house were dispersed.

TWO MAJOR FAMILY FIGHTS IN AFL ARE NEARING A SHOWDOWN

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—The American federation of labor's two major family quarrels are nearing a crucial fight.

The larger of the two, the scrap between industrial and craft unionists, has grown so bitter that some labor men believe it threatens to split the federation.

The other controversy involves building trades workers. Talk of withdrawal from the federal has been heard among the chiefs of one set of building trades unions, at odds for the past year with another group over who should head the federation's building trades department.

Both fights are expected to break out anew at the August 5 meeting of the federation's executive council at Atlantic City, N. J. Both have been aggravated by recent developments.

Supporters of craft and industrial unions have been disputing for years over how mass production industries should be organized. Upholders of the craft union idea say, for example, that machine shops, coal mine machine shops should enlist in the machinists union.

The industrial unionists, on the other hand, contend all workers in mass production industries should be organized by industry, not by trade. Machine shops, they say, should belong to the United Mine Workers.

The federation convention last fall ordered William Green, A. F. of L. president, to organize the aluminum, automobile and cement industries upon industrial lines. When the executive council decided to charter the United Automobile workers, however, it stipulated that several craft unions were to have jurisdiction over certain classes of auto workers.

A jurisdictional fight over craftsmen at the Anacostia Copper company's mines and the machinists' repeated attempts to organize machinists at coal mines have kept the feud white-hot.

Green's call for a building trades department convention here August 1 has stirred up the other scrap again.

"Green is doing the very thing right now that the court said he didn't have any right to do," Michael J. McDonough, called president of the district by one set of unions, told newspapers.

McDonough said the 12 unions supporting him would not attend the convention. He also pointed out that he had filed an appeal from the District of Columbia Supreme Court's decision that neither he nor J. W. Williams, the other "president," was legally elected.

Graduate Work Will Be Restored In Plains College

CANYON, July 16.—Graduate college work in nine departments of the West Texas State Teachers college will be offered during the coming fall semester.

The departments of chemistry, education, English, geography, government, history, mathematics, sociology, and Spanish will offer graduate work under professors holding Doctor of Philosophy degrees.

This is the first time since 1933 that work further than a Bachelors degree has been offered at Canyon college. Students working toward a Masters degree will be expected to do two semesters of residence work, approximately half of it being in the major field, and the other half of it being in one or two minor fields. The usual requirement of a thesis will be expected of the students seeking Masters degrees.

Woman Declares Texas Convicts Are Overworked

HOUSTON, July 16. (AP)—Mrs. C. A. Teagle, new member of the Texas prison board, charged in a public statement today that Texas convicts "worked as long as 14 hours per day" in violation of state law.

The statement of the only woman member of the board made no specific reference to the death of five convicts this week from heat exhaustion.

"I have put in 17 days visiting all the plants but one," Mrs. Teagle said.

"It appears to me that more dormitories should be erected as the men are in close quarters and sleeping in three tiers. The prisoners are worked as long as 14 hours per day, when only ten hours is permitted by law in case of emergencies.

There should be a system of selecting men for labor for which they are best fitted. Men from cities and towns are put to hard labor in the sun when perhaps they have never done manual labor."

W. Brown, state health officer, points out that insufficient rest and over-exercise are particularly common. It is more difficult, of course, to see that the child obtains sufficient rest during the summer, the long days and planned diversions being largely responsible; but more rest, not less, should be the rule during the summer months.

Heat and exercise may interfere with proper digestion, indiscretions in diet are often permitted or even encouraged. Milk, the child's staple food, which deteriorates rapidly in warmth, is not sufficiently protected; and other foods are subjected to contamination which would be less likely to occur in winter.

A sudden change from an indoor to an outdoor life, often leads to long exposure to the summer sunshine and when this is unduly prolonged sunburn often results. Children who have played out in the sun all the year have become more or less hardened to the effects of the sun but those that don't sun-tan suffer for the first time should be careful not to prolong the exposure at first. Exposing the skin a short time at first and gradually increasing this will soon build up a beneficial tan without sunburn. Sun tans appear to be popular with Pampa children this summer.

Connally Will Not Amend His 'Hot Oil' Law

WASHINGTON, July 16. (AP)—Senator Connally (D., Tex.) has been asked to amend his "hot oil" law to make it inoperative in some instances—but he will not acquiesce.

He said today a request came from Texas to suspend the law long enough to permit movement out of state of many barrels of illegally produced crude and gasoline which had been purchased from the state at a "confiscation" sale.

"I simply told them down there," Connally said, "that an amendment could not be enacted suspending the law itself. If they're running hot oil down there, this law will let them sweat a while."

The measure forbids interstate shipment of crude or its products produced in excess of a state allowable. State officials have confiscated what they termed "hot oil" and have sold it at auction for the benefit of Texas school children.

Plainview Asks For City Pool

PLAINVIEW, July 16. (AP)—Application for PWA loans and grants of $110,000, of which $10,000 would be for a municipal swimming pool and an addition to the American Legion home and the remainder for paving and other local projects, has been authorized by the city council.

The application will ask for these funds on the basis of 45 per cent grant and 55 per cent loan. The paving loan would be divided among property owners and the city.

The Ray Blakemore post of the American Legion would assume the obligations incurred by building of the pool and addition to the organization's home.

MOON ECLIPSE IS LONGEST IN HALF-CENTURY

Millions in Nation See Celestial Spectacle

(By The Associated Press.)

The moon, totally eclipsed by the earth, shone copper-colored from refracted rays last night and early today in a celestial spectacle that kept millions of Americans up past bedtime.

The eclipse was the longest visible in this country in 50 years. There will not be another of such length for another half century.

The phenomenon came with direct alignment of sun, earth and moon, the moon sliding through the earth's umbral cone, which extends 860,000 miles into space, at a point approximately 226,000 miles away.

The moon touched the penumbra, in which part of the sun's light is cut off, at 9:15 p. m., Eastern Standard Time, and reached the umbra, or totally dark shadow, at 10:12 p. m. By 11:09 it was in total eclipse, emerging from the other side of the thick cone an hour and 40 minutes later, and clearing the penumbra at 3:35 a. m.

The refracted rays from the sun, which gave the eclipsed moon a pale phosphorescent copper color and made it still visible, were bent around and directed into the earth's umbra by vaporous substances about the earth's surface.

The Atlantic seaboard had favored seats for the show, since the middle of the eclipse was only slightly past its meridian. Thick white clouds, fleeting by in rapid formation, frequently obscured the view in New York and many other sections of the country.

In some regions rain and clouds made visibility impossible. The west coast had clear skies, and so did Texas and most of the region west of the Rocky mountains.

Most of the south had an excellent view, the visibility being only slightly hindered at Miami and New Orleans.

Philadelphia and Providence, R. I., and many places in New England reported cloud interferences.

Astronomers at the naval observatory in Washington made many photographs of the spectacle, but made no effort to check their time instruments. The haze with the earth's shadow made accurate observation impossible.

Harvard university scientists were handicapped by the clouds. They were not even able to take pictures. Scientists at Yerkes observatory in Wisconsin said their observations showed no changes in the craters on the moon's surface since the last eclipse.

Tri-State Fair To Be State's Biggest in 1935

AMARILLO, July 16.—Catalogs for the Tri-State fair here September 13-21, listing more than $15,000 in cash premiums, are available now.

Copies will be furnished upon request of O. L. "Ted" Taylor, secretary-manager. The catalogs set forth all the entry rules.

This year the Tri-State fair will be the largest exposition in Texas and complete in every department.

Racing, with more and better entries than ever, again will be the feature attraction, but there will be plenty of other amusement, including Beckmann and Gerey, largest midway shows in the United States. These "world's best shows" will come direct from Detroit, Mich.

Concessionaries already are applying for space at the 1935 fair, which in recent years has developed into an elaborate show window of the southwest, daily attracting thousands of men, women and children through its free gates from several states.

Applications for concession space should be sent to Secretary-Manager Taylor.

Wilbur C. Hawk, president of the fair association, said today community and county fairs throughout the tri-state territory probably would be held during the week just preceding the exposition here.

"These will provide elimination contests so only the best of exhibits will be concentrated for the Tri-State fair," he said.

The fall racing meet of the Tri-State fair will begin Friday, Sept. 13. The fair proper will open Monday, Sept. 16, and continue throughout the week, including Saturday, Sept. 21.

LONG-RANGE AND MORE ACCURATE WEATHER FORECASTING POSSIBLE

CHICAGO, July 16. (AP)—Pioneers may some day be able to plan on the weather as well as the menu several days in advance.

Dr. Irving Krick said today that scientific weather observers were approaching longer range and more accurate forecasts than previously have been possible.

Dr. Krick, assistant professor of meteorology in the Daniel Guggenheim Graduate School of Aeronautics at the California Institute of Technology, is an exponent of the Norwegian-originated belief that observation of the tropopause boundaries is an important factor in weather prediction.

The tropopause, he explained, is the boundary between the troposphere, or lower layer of the earth's atmosphere, and the stratosphere.

"The oscillations, or variations in the height, of the tropopause apparently are due to horizontal movements in the upper layers of the troposphere and the lower layers of the stratosphere," Dr. Krick said.

"These lead to large scale changes in the troposphere pressure distribution, which in turn enables forecasters to anticipate general conditions for several days over the affected area. Also the periods of active interaction between air masses of the troposphere may be anticipated some time before they develop."

In California, Dr. Krick said, conditions are such that his staff has been able to make accurate predictions up to ten days. "General atmospheric conditions do not yield oscillations of the troposphere of the same magnitude in central and eastern part of the nation and predictions for those sections cannot be made on the same scale until we know more of the relation of the movements," he explained.

The new forecasters divide air masses of the United States into six general classes depending upon the region over which they attain identifying characteristics. When masses of different types get together, the forecasters know what probably will happen.

The telephone goal of Europe is JUST A GOOD JOB here

The fast, clear, far-reaching telephone service of America has never been equalled by European nations. Differences in equipment, methods and policies have barred the way to such service among the many countries there.

In America, your telephone service has over-leaped state and regional lines. Here there are no telephone boundaries.

Team-work Your telephone is "first cousin" to each of 13 million other Bell telephones here. It is designed and manufactured to meet uniform operating standards.

Every Bell telephone line, local and long distance, is built to conform to uniform tests of clarity and volume in carrying your voice.

Every Bell telephone operator, whether in New York, in San Francisco, or in the thousands of towns and cities between, is trained to use the same methods . . . the same team-work in operating the vast national communications network.

Organization That these things are true is due largely to the Bell System form of organization.

American Telephone and Telegraph Company, the parent company, studies and standardizes better and more economical methods, apparatus and materials for the 24 operating companies of the System. Bell Laboratories carries on the research work. Western Electric manufactures, purchases and distributes.

Without this organization behind them, the Southwestern Bell men and women here who give your telephone service could not do their job so well. For many years it has materially helped us, as one of the group of operating companies, in holding the cost of good telephone service low to the user.

Shewmaker Body Brought to City

The body of Charles M. Shewmaker, 30, killed in an automobile accident near Amarillo Saturday night, was brought to Pampa last night. Funeral arrangements are pending the arrival of a sister, Miss Clara Lee Shewmaker, who is en route from Seattle, Wash., where she was attending a convention. Miss Shewmaker is expected to arrive here tomorrow afternoon.

Shewmaker, superintendent of the Western Carbon company's plant at Berger, died of injuries received when his car and another driven by Chester Watson of Amarillo, also killed in the crash, met a mile west of the English airport. Shewmaker is survived by his father, a step-mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Shewmaker, and his sister.

The body will be at rest at Pampa funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

Water Probe in New Mexico and West Texas Asked

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—The works relief administration reported today the following applications had been received from government departments for funds to carry out construction projects and surveys:

Texas and New Mexico: Department of Interior: For an investigation of the origin, quantity and availability of the ground-water used extensively for irrigation, and for municipal and industrial supplies throughout the high plains in western Texas and in adjacent areas in New Mexico. $100,000.

The application said: "Because the area considered is semi-arid, and is underlain practically everywhere by abundant underground water, irrigation by pumping is of interest. A number of irrigation districts which utilize shallow ground water have already been developed. As ground water is a natural resource that is definitely exhaustible, it is essential that the quantity and availability of the supply be determined accurately as possible, in order to protect the existing developments and to provide the basic data necessary for expansion. This project would provide the means to obtain data necessary to determine the safe yield of the area."

QUARREL

being heard when the noon recess was taken. Kidwell said that while they were walking behind the contestants they saw something in Davis' hand that might have been the butt of a knife. Just before the fight, he said, Mason admonished the boys to "fight fair and not use any weapons."

In the shadow of the elevator the boys "squared off" and began slugging. They slipped to the ground once near the railroad tracks. Back on their feet, they exchanged blows several times before Campbell sank to the ground.

Kidwell and Mason testified that Campbell appeared dazed, rose to his knees, nearly reached his feet, then collapsed, limp. No other blows were struck.

Thinking Campbell was merely knocked out, the boys decided to place him in the car which had been driven up nearby. Davis and Coburn walked across the tracks to Wilson drug, where Davis asked the others to report when Campbell had revived.

At the Masonia station, Kidwell dampened a handkerchief and wiped Campbell's face. The boys then crossed the tracks in the car and drove about 5 blocks east on Tenth. They put Campbell out on the grass by the street to "give him air." The last words Campbell had said as the fight ended were that he wanted air.

Examining the unconscious youth, the boys noted a blood stain on his shirt, then a small slash in the garment. Alarmed, they rushed him to Worley hospital, where a nurse told them he was dead by the time he was laid on a bed.

Timony showed that Davis and Campbell had been close friends for several years. There were allusions to a fight near the Pils-Mor auditorium in which Campbell allegedly knocked his lighter antagonist, Davis, down several times. Neither witness had seen this fight. Defense Attorney John Sturgeon on cross-examination asked questions designed to infer that Campbell visited for Davis in the lobby of the office building and invited trouble.

The witnesses testified that they saw no weapon in Davis' hand during or after the fight. Neither made any attempt to stop the encounter. They were interested in seeing a "fair fight." The fatal duel occurred about 11 p. m. Mason held the fighters' hats.

There had been considerable talk among the boys about town concerning the break-up of the Davis-Campbell friendship and the trouble which followed.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, July 16 (AP)—Specialties were again brought to the front in today's stock market while most of the so-called leaders were rather neglected.

Price changes, generally, were quite narrow and profit-taking seemed to be well absorbed. The close was fairly steady. Transfers approximated 900,000 shares.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 16 (AP)—Favorable weather combined with the decision from the United States court of appeals at Boston declaring the AAA unconstitutional brought selling into the market during the morning and prices dropped from 11 to 16 points.

Traders speculated that under the court decision there was a hint that the market might have to go along without supporting loans for the 1935 crop.

July slipped to 11.85 on the downward movement, October was down to 11.52, and May was off 16 points at 11.40. Activity failed to increase on the decline and after registering losses the market held comparatively steady.

never been held to be an administrative function.

"The power to impose a tax and to determine what property shall bear a tax can only be determined by the legislative department of the government. If congress undertakes to lay down a guide for an administrative officer to follow in carrying out its mandates, it must be by an intelligible and a reasonably definite standard."

"The balance between production and consumption of certain commodities or the equalizing of the purchasing power thereof between certain widely separated periods alone forms no such standard."

"If congress has the power to control or regulate the production of agricultural products within the several states, and issues a tax on their processing or sale for that purpose, it is obviously legislative in character. Query then has congress set up any definite standard for the secretary's action in making rental or benefit payments to producers and thereby imposing a processing tax?"

"We find no definite, intelligible standard, set up in the act for determining when the secretary shall pay rental or benefit payments in order to reduce production of any particular commodity except in his own judgment as to what will effectuate the purpose of the act."

"The declaration of the emergency in the agricultural act contains no such standard for the secretary of agriculture to follow in entering into restrictive agreement with the producers, to determine when a reduction of acreage or production of any one of the agricultural commodities which is has termed basic should be resorted to to accomplish the act, when rental or benefit payments are to be made and in what amounts, and thereby to determine through the initiation of the benefit payments or rentals the consequent imposition of a tax."

made a proclamation; rental and other benefit payments are to be made with respect to cotton; and a processing tax automatically followed.

To Appeal Promptly.

WASHINGTON, July 16 (AP)—Prompt appeal to the supreme court of the adverse ruling on the constitutionality of processing taxes by a circuit court of appeals at Boston was promised today by justice department lawyers.

Pending an opportunity to study the decision, AAA officials declined comment. Previously government attorneys had said the case would be appealed regardless of the ruling, and that a final decision on constitutionality of the AAA and the processing taxes was expected "before Christmas."

Attorney General Cummings and lawyers in his tax division said the Hoosac case probably would control more than 150 other suits now on file in various federal courts attacking the processing taxes and asking refunds and injunctions against payments.

They had predicted there would be little activity on these cases pending the supreme court ruling. Benefit payments to millions of farmers and nearly a billion dollars in collected taxes are involved.

Newspapers asserted unanimously that Jewish boldness was responsible for the riots which followed the sentencing of six Jews and six Aryan women yesterday to concentration camps for alleged intimate relations.

Six Heidelberg students, allegedly guilty of lese majeste in its modern German form, are explaining their frivolous behavior in a concentration camp, the nazis weekly, "Landpost" reported today.

Instead of listening reverently to the broadcast of a speech by Adolf Hitler, the six scions of aristocratic families made unseemly noises, it was charged, and started a farcical discussion of how der fuhrer ate asparagus.

Their antics caused a two-year suspension of the famous Saxo-Borussian fraternity, but the nazis started a clamor for more drastic punishment.

The Landpost reported: "These young sprigs of aristocracy have been transferred to another educational establishment where black-shirted wardens are teaching them both manners and manual labor."

Thomas Corcoran, RFC attorney, and that no one but Corcoran knew his position at that time.

Maverick said no one was invited to the RFC meeting, which he arranged, until he had ascertained the person invited was for the abolition clause.

"I asked him if he was for the senate bill and the death sentence," the Texan testified, adding he had talked with the former Maine governor on several previous occasions and found they saw alike on the power issue.

"He said 'yes.'"

"When I saw Mr. Brewster walk through the long line (in the teller vote by which the abolition provision was defeated), I like to have felt out of my chair," Maverick added.

Maverick said Brewster agreed at the meeting to make a half-hour speech for the "death sentence" and suggested writing a letter on the subject.

The Texan said Brewster appeared enthusiastic and in earnest in his stand for the senate bill and gave no other indication "unless I am weak-minded and couldn't see it."
