British Smash Another Axis Tank Assault

Marshal Erwin Rommel was reorted moving strong Axis reinforcements into the bloody 11day-old battle of North Africa today as the British announced they had smashed an Axis tank assault on Bir El Hacheim for the second time in two days.

Bir El Hacheim, a desert water hole, is the southern anchor of a 50-mile British defense line stretched across the hot sands to the Mediterranean sea.

British headquarters said Britsh and Indian troops struck from the rear to relieve the Free French and Indian garrison at Bir El Hacheim after the defenders had twice rejected German demands that they surrender the key stronghold.

Rev. Sumrall To Speak On "State's Witness" Sunday

"The State's Witness" will be the sermon subject Sunday at the 11 o'clock hour by the Rev. T. D. Sumrall, pastor of Central Baptist church.

"This is a sermon of judgment. In a world of lawlessness, we are prone to forget that somewhere sometime judgment must overtake the offender. It is well to search the scriptures to see if men and nations reap what they sow. There s a similarity in the sins committed and the punishments for such among nations today. Jesus will bring all things into judgment and He will be the sole and only judge, Rev. Sumrall pointed out.

With Senator LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.) pressing for a showdown vote on Monday, influential senators who had sought more time for compromise efforts admitted privately they had little doubt that the higher figure would be adopted.

The house arranged meanwhile to take up on Monday a family allowance bill passed by the senate yesterday under which wives of military men receiving $78 a month or less would be paid $50 monthly for their support, the first child $12 and other children $10 each.

The senate-approved measure would require the enlisted man to contribute $22 of this amount, the government paying the rest. In addition, he could elect to contribute $5 more, to which the government would add $15 for a dependent parent, $25 for two parents and $5 for each additional brother, sister or grandchild. If the soldier had no wife or children, his contribution to the latter class of dependents could be $22, on a voluntary basis, and the government would add $15 for one parent, $25 for two, and $5 for a brother or sister. A house version of this measure would provide only $40 for the wife, of which the enlisted man would contribute $20, with the government providing $10 for each child.

Another provision of the senate bill would authorize the selective service, under the President's di-rection, to fix the order in which registrants could be called for active service.

Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) said this section ought to make it fairly cer-tain that men of 30 or over who had been married before the draft would be the last to be called. He said Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Her-

Well, here it is another weekend -- my second in the U. S. Army -and I'm not a General yet. But give me time.

As a matter of fact, I have too much time on my hands -- not on weekdays, but on evenings and weekends.

You see, the nearest village is 5 miles away. And when you get there, all you find is a general store, a garage and a canning factory -- nowhere to gc for any good clean fun, unless you find a smoke-filled juke joint on the way.

Well, Mom, in that connection, there's a big favor you can do me. It's about this U. S. O. drive. They're trying to raise $10,765,000 to run clubs for us, outside of camp. Places with lounge rooms, dance floors, games, writing rooms. Places you can go for a bite to eat without paying a king's ransom.

Now I know you don't have an idle million lying around, but if you could get the family interested and some of the neighbors, and if that happened all over the country, the U. S. O. could raise $10,765,000 overnight.

Besides, there are a lot of people in this country who feel we are doing our bit, and they'd like to do theirs, and this is certainly their chance.

I'd appreciate it a lot, Mom, and so would every other mother's son in the U. S. Army and Navy. Love

Air Transport

Inspired by the enormously effective part which the airplane has played in this war, we are getting a bit over-enthusiastic about post-war probabilities.

Already, in a casual way, we are talking about time not far distant when family planes will be as common as family flivvers are today.

We take for granted the prophecies that after the war huge aircrafts will largely supplant trains on land and ships at sea in the business of transporting both passengers and freight.

Though probably we don't really argue that far, we envision hazily the day, soon after we have pounded the Axis out of existence, when we shall fly to the unmourned funerals of the automobile and the railroad and the steamship.

Such a dream could come true, of course. In speed, in carrying capacity, in ease of control and in fundamental safety, the airplane has made unbelievable

Without doubt, after this war airline's passenge express and freight businesses will be multiplied

We shall have thousands of huge planes, built as bombers and transports and war freighters, plus the capacity to turn out more thousands every year. The railroads and steamship lines will face intense competition. Efficient plants, which have been making fighters and trainers, undoubtedly do their best to sell us family planes in place of automobiles.

But that is only one side of the picture. The men who design and manufacture planes tell us, truly, such developments are mechanically feasible. The men who will have to find the income to pay the expenses want to know about some other phases.

Huge bombers are built to give superspeed, to fly at extreme altitudes, regardless of the cost of construction or operation. Governments at war can't worry unduly about economy. But experts say these big planes will need a whale of a lot of revamping before anybody can use them to haul payloads in a self-supporting business venture. Moreover, there is a question how much freight and how many passengers are in sufficient hurry to pay the premiums to finance air transport.

As for family planes, did you ever stop to think how much more extensive terminal facilities, involving how much greater tax cost, are required for a plane than for an automobile? Do you know how your community could finance such costly improvements, at the same time maintaining streets and highways-for, of course, the plane owner must have a car to travel from home to airport.

None of these problems is insoluble. Some aren't even relatively difficult. The point is that such problems, and dozens more, exist and at best will require time for their solution.

Don't sell the railroads, steamship lines and automobile manufacturers too short right away. Let's keep our shirts on.

Today's War Analysis

By DeWITT MACKENZIE Wide World War Analyst

Expansion of the Japanese raid on Dutch Harbor into an attack on our Midway island, with heavy naval and air forces, compels us to take a wider view of these operations and note they are further indications that we are on verge of a general Axis onslaught which will try to force a ecision in the world war this year.

While the precise purposes of the Japanese raids are still in doubt, they fit perfectly with the signs that Axis volcano is about to erupt Certainly the fact that the Japs struck at little Midway in strength even employing a battleship, would seem to indicate that they are bent something more than hit-andrun raids. They are building towards

THE ONLY DANGEROUS KIND OF SOCIALISTS

Strange as it may seem, the most dangerous kinds of socialists are those who, themselves, think they are not socialists.

The man who believes that socialism only consists of all people having equal incomes is not a dangerous man. He is not dangerous because there is no danger of this kind of socialism being accepted by the great mass of people.

But a man does not need to believe that all people should have equal income to be a socialist. Any man who believes the government should have the power to in any way reduce the inequality of income is a dangerous kind of a socialist. If he believe in the government giving any man anything but protection or any kind of a discriminatory tax he is a socialist.

And I confess that I have been guilty in the past of advocating this most dangerous kind of socialism. I have advocated a graduated consumer tax which is a dangerous form of socialism.

The danger of socialism is that it creeps on people; that it starts in a very small way by sympathy and emotion, attempting to have the state protect the least efficient to give them different terms from what the efficient people have under the state.

This belief has led us to pass such socialistic laws as the Clayton Amendment to the Sherman Anti-Trust law, the Norris-LaGuardia Act, the Wagner law, the Minimum Wage law and the Graduated Income tax law. These discriminatory laws lead on and on to more and more curbing and thwarting the initiative of the efficient. And the more of these laws we have the more trouble we have in increasing our standard of living, the more socialistic laws are passed until finally some individuals, or group, seize control and more nearly permit each man to get all he produces.

Yes, by far the most dangerous socialist is the parlor-pink—the man who contends he is not a socialist. The man who simply wants to establish minimum wages and contends the poor man should not be required to pay taxes on the same basis as the efficient man. It is men who believe they have the right to reduce the inequality of income, who have led this country step by step for the last 35 years into its present state where prices are regulated, goods are rationed, men's services are drafted, men lose their civil rights as the Japanese born in this country have lost theirs and property is confiscated without reward.

Yes, these are the dangerous kinds of socialism. These are the men who need to be watched. These are men who create strife, confusion, chaos, poverty and wars.

WHY COLLECTIVE BARGAINING CANNOT WORK

It seems foolish that people will thoughtlessly believe in a thing that, on the face of it, cannot be made to work.

As an illustration, it seems impossible to believe that the capitalistic system, or free enterprise or the democratic way of life can be made work, when our government has decreed that each industrial unit has a right to decide for itself what rewards it will receive out of the total production, and have the right, if it does not receive what it itself desires, to stop the whole machine

This theory of collective bargaining gives each selfish, shortsighted group entirely too much

No group should have the exclusive right of establishing the relative value of the services it renders.

And that is exactly what collective bargaining attempts to do. The only way the capitalistic system can be made work and do justice to all the people is to permit all people to help establish the values of the different operations (the value of the labor) in productive enterprise.

Why continue to try to make collective bargaining work when it cannot even be made to work in theory? It is basically unsound because it gives too much power to selfish shortsighted

His present brief job of helping with the dancing in RKO's "The Big Street" is the result of a personal friend's persuasion, and Hale will return to Manhattan right away to whip together a new ice because he has found that Hollywood and its methods have improved a lot. SPECTACLE SPECIALIST

Lesson

Text: Mark 15:33, 34; Luke 23:33-46 By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

The tragic story of the death of esus on the Cross is the theme of our lesson, with particular empha first mother to rush that daugh- sis upon the words of Christ from the Cross.

The scene on Calvary followed uickly the agony of Jesus in the garden of Gethsemane. We are wont say that there is an agony of oul that is greater than any physical pain, but that is not quite true, for physical pain means agony of soul as well. A martyr may bear his sufferings, upheld by his faith and determination to let nothing induce im to renounce his fidelity to right and truth. But while man lives and is conscious, the body cannot be eparated from the spirit, and bodily pain, no matter how courageously it is endured, often means agony of

It is in the light of this that we nust interpret the cry of Jesus, "My 3od, my God, why hast thou foraken me?" Here, as in the agony in the garden of Gethsemane, is emasized the deep and real humanity of the Christ who suffered on the Cross. It was the human cry that Job in another way had uttered when, under the burden of afflictions, he had been tempted to curse God and die. It was a momentary cry of intense anguish, but the spirit of Jesus uner suffering was manifested more truly in His attitude toward the pentent thief He knew in the moments following His outcry that God had not forsaken Him, for He said to the thief, "This day shalt thou be with me in Paradise," and as the sun's light failed and darkness came over the land, and the veil of the temple was rent in twain, in the ame spirit in which He had prayed n Gethsemane, "Not my will, but thine be done," He cried, "Father, nto Thy hands I commend my spir This was the final word from he Cross.

But a significant part of the scene contained in the passage in John 19:25-30, which it is suggested should be compared with the verses in our esson from Mark and Luke. Here is a scene that mothers will understand, for we are told that there stood by the Cross the mother of Jesus. The woman who had cherished her babe in Bethlehem; and who had kept and pondered in her heart all the things that suggested the great part that her son was to fulfill, followed Him all the way to the Cross, there sharing His suffering and giving Him the help of her presence. Could mother-love have been greater? Jesus still had a thought for His mother, and even in His agony commended her to the beloved disciple John. There are mothers to day in many homes in our land who cannot be present to share the agony of sons in far-off battle scenes mortally wounded or in deep pain May they be upheld by the Christ who died and by the spirit of the mother of Jesus who was faithful to the end! production in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1942. There is heard in Washington a little doubt that it will be possible to spend this much on war production alone since there may not be enough of some raw materials or semi-finished products to keep proernment will be able to raise the oney. The only question is how. One theory is that this whole sum might be financed by taxation. That is, if the national income reaches $117 billion a year, it would not be too much of a thing to absorb $77 billion, or 65 per cent of it in taxes. This would have the advantage of holding down the national debt, which is plenty big enough already. The trouble with this idea is that it might ruin a lot of businesses not considered essential to the war, and it would make the war terribly unpopular. It is therefore crossed off as a political impos-

The decision has apparently been made to raise only $24 billion of the $77 billion by taxation. This year's bill was intended to raise about $20 billion. To boost the tax revenues to $24 billion means that another $4 billion must be raised, and that's what the House Ways and Means committee which writes the tax bill is seeing and sawing about now. A guess is that $10 bilion of the $24 billion total will come from direct taxes, and $14 billion from indirect

Subtract that $24 billion of taxes from the $77 million to be spent and you get $53 billion, which the amount of additional money to be begged, borrowed or stolen if the munitions makers are not to be paid off in printing press IOU's. Of this $53 billion, about $10 billion can be accounted for. An increase in social security deductions is planned, to raise an additional $2 billion or a total of $5 billion a year. Then about $5 billion more, to make the $10 billion can be raised by sales of government securities to insurance companies and savings banks. LOOK OUT

That leaves $43 billion still to be raised. If all that $43 billion is raised by borrowing from the banks, look out for inflation. That means simply putting a lot more money in circulation. It would mean price controls would have to be expanded. over-all rationing might have to be applied, the avoidance of an extensive bootleg or black market would be practically impossible and rationing and price fixing would have to be continued after the war is over.

The only solution, therefore would seem to be some plan of borrowing this $43 billion directly from the people, taking it out of their income and so reducing their spending power. Take a look at the picture from the income side of the ledger. The generally accepted figure on national income for the next fiscal year is $117 billion. Subtract from that the $10 billion of direct taxes to be levied, and you get a net income

It is estimated that the amount of ivilian goods available for purchase this next year-food, clothing, shelter, furniture, amusements and so on-will be around $70 billion. Subtract that from your $107 billion and you have a remainder of $37 billion. This is excess spending power, or the so-called inflationary gap. If this $37 billion could be applied to financing the war, it would be necessary to borrow only $6 billion more from the banks.

Getting this $37 billion out of circulation by enforced saving is the trick that has to be performed, somehow. Sales of war bonds and stamps are running at only $5 billion a year. Multiplying that seven and a half times by voluntary subscriptions seems out of the ques-

Interesting information crops up in the most unexpected places.
. . . For instance, hidden in the Statistical Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is tan gible evidence of the conquest of pneumonia as result of the more general use of the sulfa drugs. . The bulletin reports on de the first three months of 1942. The death rate from the pneumo during the period was 41.9 per 100, 000, which is 18 per cent be for the same period in 1941. It is 37 per cent below the average for the past four years and 61 per cent below the average of the five years mmediately preceding the introduction of the sulfas.

Incidentally, the report reveals the first quarter of 1942 the healthiest three months of the year that we have ever had, with lower death rates for practically all diseases. . . . It seems irony that while one group of men, repgles night and day to overcome d sease and stretch the span of life, other groups work just as hard to find new means of warfare for ending life.

People who work eight hours and leep eight hours don't fit into the war program-when they're the same eight hours. . . . The best reason for keeping your temper is that nobody else wants any part of it. . . . With all the kids playing out in the yard, it won't be lawn now. . . . Maybe the fellow who speeds is just anxious to have his accident and get it over with. Cold feet often carry a hot head away from trouble.

NEW YORK, June 5 (P)—Led by a number of so-called war babes that recently have been on the sick list, the stock market today negotiated another selective upswing, the third in a row.

Modest advances at the start soon encountered profit selling on the rally which got under way Wednesday. This was well absorbed, however, and steels, aircrafts, chemicals and assorted specialties came to the fore around mid-day for gains or fractions to 6 points or so. Rails, coppers and utilities participated to a certain extent. Motors, mail roders and scattered climbers otors, mail roders and scattered the past few days displayed tendencies.

While small declines were seen here and there near the close, plus marks were well in the majority. The pace slowed toward the last and transfers for the full proceedings approximated 500,000 shares.

The Japanese grand strateg was still to be disclosed, and Wash ington authorities could at best only cite the possibilities based on what has been announced to date.

The Midway and Dutch Harbor ssaults, however, were viewed as evidence of a carefully conceived plan which may have any one of these ultimate actions in view:

1. An effort, preliminary to an attack on Russia, to destroy or conquer Alaskan bases and thereby cut a route over which aerial rein forcements might be moved to the Soviet armies in Siberia.

2. Clear the way for a new and

3. A new threat to cut U. S.

supply lines into the Southwest Pacific by forceful attacks on the guardian islands south of Hawaii, having diverted American forces

4. A knockout try against the bases from which Japan may be or may have been attacked, including past and future air raids on the Japanese homeland and submarine operations against Japanese ship-

The relation of Midway and Dutch Harbor to any projected at-tacks anywhere on the North American continent arises from the fact that they flank the vast expanse of ocean over which an assaulting fleet would almost certainly move. Planes operating south of Dutch Harbor and north of Midway should be able to keep a fairly good watch over the 1,653-mile stretch of water between those two points.
