FDR AND MOLOTOV AGREE ON SECOND FRONT AS BRITAIN AND RUSSIA SIGN 20-YEAR TREATY

WAR IS ROLLING along the great circle route, which is actually a straight line over the earth's curved surface, the shortest distance between Japan and the U. S. west coast. Jap attacks on Dutch Harbor —almost midway along the great circle between Seattle and Tokyo—may be the beginning of a series of clashes in northerly, thinly settled arena mapped above.

O'Daniel Back In Texas To Open Tour

By L. T. EASLEY
WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—There won't be a lot of stump speaking this election year by Texas' 21 United States representatives, all seeking to return for the first roll call of the 78th congress next January.

Grasshopper Poison Spread In City Parks

Chickens can't read so owners take notice.
The city is going to do something about the swarms of grasshoppers in the city parks. They're going to spread a couple of loads of poison around tomorrow, which means that Pampan residents near city parks letting their chickens wander over the parks had better keep them penned up or they'll find their chickens dead.

I HEARD . . .

Roy Bourland hoping that who ever found his raincoat will return it to him. He left it at Roadrunner park the other night. Roy said that every time he takes his raincoat it doesn't rain and he wants it to take to the 15 home games to be played in a row beginning tomorrow night.

Don't Be a "Phnyeh"

That's the cry we hear today. And what is a "Phnyeh"? Well, let me tell you.

THE BIG FELLOWS ROAR BY NIGHT, TOO—Night and day the four engines of Vega built "Flying Fortresses" roar defiance to our enemies as they are tested by service mechanics at Burbank, Calif., hangers after they roll out of the factories.

Tight Line Against Enemy Bombers

Battle Saved Islands From Jap Invasion

(By The Associated Press)
Dramatic new accounts of the battle of Midway revealed today that American flying fortresses and other U. S. forces broke up two huge Japanese fleets, beat off an attack by 180 enemy planes and saved the Hawaiian islands from invasion.

At the same time, Japan's leading civilian naval expert, Masanori Ito, gave the first authoritative suggestion from Tokyo that two Japanese aircraft carriers had been sunk, as claimed by the United States. This represented a shift from Tokyo imperial headquarters' admission that one had been sunk and another severely damaged.

Ito declared that "in view of the great success" of Japan's far-flung invasion forces "we should not be disappointed at the loss of two aircraft carriers."

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the U. S. Pacific fleet, said perhaps half of the enemy ships were sunk or damaged in the three-day battle which saw Japan suffer her greatest naval disaster in history.

Admiral Nimitz said thousands of Japanese must have perished—left to drown by their shipmates in flight before the Americans.

The battle ended Saturday when pursuing U. S. forces lost contact with the enemy in the darkness.

Eye-witness reports by American army, navy and marine fliers indicated there were about 20 ships in the transport force and "some 20 to 25 ships" in the battle squadron.

Nimitz listed American losses in the three-day battle as one destroyer, one aircraft carrier, damaged, and the loss of an undisclosed number of planes.

Against this, he reported Japanese losses as two and perhaps three aircraft carriers sunk with all of their planes; one destroyer sunk and three battleships and eight to 11 other ships damaged.

The Japanese officially admit loss of a carrier. They claim to have sunk two 19,900-ton American aircraft carriers, one transport and to have shot down 135 American planes.

Vice Admiral Ichiro Sato, a member of the Japanese naval general staff, blandly asserted that Admiral Yamamoto's fleet had made "a decisive advance toward absolute mastery of the sea" by inflicting "smashing blows" on U. S. naval forces at Midway and Dutch Harbor.

But the Japanese people were not told that their fleet, battered and broken, was limping toward the refuge of a base.

Coincidentally, Japan's reputation for veracity appeared to have slumped even in Berlin as the German radio broadcast Stockholm reports, discounting the Japanese boasts of victory in the battle of Midway and Tokyo hints that Japanese troops had landed in the Aleutian islands of Alaska.

Among all the presidents of the United States, Calvin Coolidge made the greatest number of appointments. They totaled 42,121.

USO Campaign Fund Up $200

Marching steadily toward the goal, the United Service Organizations campaign in Gray county today had gained another $200 toward the $4,800 quota, making a total of $3,600 raised to date.

R. G. Allen, in charge of industrial canvassing, and Bob Posey, heading the drive among the oil companies, were working hard at their part of the campaign.

Final returns on the industrial canvassing is due by next Wednesday or Thursday. Mr. Posey will have all his cards sent out to his list by the end of the week.

Gray county residents are giving to the fund with the knowledge that the U. S. O. is keeping its promises.

For example, the U. S. O. originally promised 339 service clubs outside of army camps, naval stations, defense production centers and overseas bases. In 125 major defense areas.

Today the U. S. O. is serving soldiers, sailors, and marines, and the men working in vital war industry in 407 clubhouses and 163 smaller units. Daily peak attendance at these operations is well above 1,000,000.

These 570 units are located in 289 communities of 43 states within our continental limits. In sub-Arctic Alaska and Newfoundland and in a great subtropic arc from Hawaii through the Panama Canal Zone and the Caribbean basins to Bermuda, U. S. O. is operating 10 clubhouses and forces substantial increased future need.

Six additional services not included in the original budget are provided by the U. S. O. These services were:

Hoping on maneuvers where local communities could not care for detachments, which totaled 400,000 troops.

Scheduled 24 professional road companies to bring free entertainment into army camps and naval stations.

Provided troops-in-transit with lounges, coffee and snacks, writing rooms, and showers at railway stations.

Brought USO comforts to men on detached duty.

Cooperating with citizens committees in inviting service men to homes, clubs and dances.

Helped bring 1,000,000 books to soldiers.

Pampans Attending Price Discussion

County Judge Sherman White, James B. Massa, chairman, and M. O. Pickett, clerk, of the Gray County War Price and Rationing board, were in Amarillo today attending the full-day discussion of the duties of war price and rationing boards on regulation of prices.

State officials and representatives of 25 Plains counties are attending the conference, which opened at 10 o'clock this morning in the Crystal ballroom of the Herring hotel.

Although the boards, formerly "rationing" boards, have now the prefix of "war price" instructions on how they were to operate under the new setup had not been released until today.

Mark McGee of Fort Worth, state rationing administrator, headed a group of OPA officials at the conference. A similar meeting will be held tomorrow morning at Lubbock.

Flight Guard Has 'Final Review'

Flight D. 11th squadron, Texas Defense Guard air corps saluted the United Service Organizations as the airmen gave their "final review" last night.

Along with other similar units over the same, the flight has been mustered out, and guardsmen asked to join the Civilian Air Patrol.

Each member of the local flight has been donating money to the flight to care for supplemental expenses of the unit. The sum amounted to $29 when a check-up was made at the flight's last meeting last night.

This money the airmen voted to turn over to the U. S. O., representing a patriotic contribution from all who have donated to the flight fund.

Action of the flying guardsmen was purely voluntary and at the suggestion of one of their own members.

Since there are no planes available, the air corps here will be disbanded. Planes are necessary for participation in the CAP. Originally there were four planes, but three of these have been sold by their owners, leaving only the plane of Captain Henry Reynolds.

Uniforms, which were furnished by the county, are to be turned in and be available for the rifle company of the guard, Company D.

Tax On Cigarettes Will Be Increased

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee decided today to increase the federal tax on cigarettes from 6 1/2 cents to 7 cents a package in order to raise $65,500,000.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) said the committee had tentatively agreed to raise the present $3.25 per thousand tax to $3.50 and had rejected a treasury proposal that a tax differential be established between 10-cent brands and 15-cent brands.

Doughton said that the committee planned to dispose later in the day of treasury requests for increased taxes on cigars and smoking tobacco designed to raise another $40,000,000.

The treasury had proposed that the tax on 10-cent cigarettes be made $3.50 per thousand and the rate on 15-cent brands be raised to $4 a thousand and its experts said such increases should produce about $188,000,000.

Japs Have Lost Two Million In China

LONDON, June 11 (AP)—Japanese losses in China up to the end of 1941 exceeded 2,000,000 killed and wounded, K. C. George Yeh, director of the Chinese ministry of information in London, declared today.

Yeh said he was unable to disclose Chinese casualties, but added grimly: "I would be lying if I were to say we have suffered smaller losses than our enemy."

Well, He Got Results

INDIANAPOLIS, June 11 (AP)—Russell Grant, patriotic Kokomo youngster who swallowed an angle worm on a dare to get money to purchase war savings stamps, apparently has achieved his aim. Employees of a local manufacturing company are collecting funds for a $25 bond for the 10-year-old boy.

PHANT OILERS WILL RETURN HOME TONIGHT

Hubbers Will Be Foes On Ladies Night

The Pampa Oilers got even in season mud battles last night when they dominated the Berger Gassers 17 to 14 in a wild game played at Gasser stadium in Berger.

Tomorrow night the Oilers return home to battle the Lubbock Hubbers, who last night defeated the Lamesa Dodgers 1 to 0. Lubbock has practically a new team.

The Hubbers also will be here for a Ladies' Night game Saturday and a game Sunday afternoon.

Last night's victory for the Oilers, coupled with Lamesa's loss, put Pampa within one game of the second-place Dodgers, and a game ahead of the fourth-place Amarillo Gold Sox.

Pitchers paraded to and from the mound with monotonous regularity. Each team bagged 16 hits and each made four errors.

Big Price Brookfield was Berger's starting hurler and he lasted five and a third innings, during which he handed the Oilers eight hits for eight runs.

Bob Bailey paced the Oilers 16-hit attack with a double and two singles. It was Joe Isaacs, however, who drove the runs across the plate, sending four runs in with two singles.

Hitting star of the game, outside of Brookfield, was Rlorden, who managed for a triple, double, and two singles on six trips to the plate.

Florer relieved Brookfield, Rlorden replaced Florer, and Hawkins finished. Rlorden was the losing hurler.

Bob Bailey paced the Oilers 16-hit attack with a double and two singles. It was Joe Isaacs, however, who drove the runs across the plate, sending four runs in with two singles.

Hitting star of the game, outside of Brookfield, was Rlorden, who managed for a triple, double, and two singles on six trips to the plate.

Florer relieved Brookfield, Rlorden replaced Florer, and Hawkins finished. Rlorden was the losing hurler.

SPORTS IN WARTIME

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF Associated Press Sports Writer

Trace Beaumont's success in the Texas league race to that old one-two punch, missing last season when the Exporters finished far down the list but evident this season in the presence of young Dick Wakefield and Walter (Hoot) Evers.

These two fellows are making the Texas league a batters' loop instead of the proverbial pitchers' circuit about which so much has been said.

So with a colorful team and a couple of clouters who are at their best when ducks are on the pond, Beaumont has already drawn 35,000 into Stuart stadium.

And speaking of attendance gains: all last year Beaumont had only 25,500 at its home field.

Jack Zeller, general manager of the Detroit Tigers, owners of the Beaumont club, reminded the fans while on a visit the other day that this would be the last time they could see most of the Exporters at Texas league games.

"Next time it will cost them $165 for a box seat and they'll have to go to the majors even then," he said.

Fisticuffs are picking up in the Texas league. There already have been probably more scraps than all last season.

It hasn't been the league's fault—that is not for 12 years—that the boys failed to trade punches when their feelings were hurt.

President J. Alvin Gardner promulgated a rule more than a decade ago that when the players wanted to fight they should be permitted to do so.

Diamond Shop And WOW Win League Games

Play in the Pampa Softball league opened yesterday with teams playing in mid-season form.

Two more games will be played this evening, beginning at 6.30 o'clock. Games will be Diamond Shop vs. Knights of Pythias at Recreation park and the Woodmen of the World vs. Phillips at Magnolia park.

Last night's games were the ones postponed from Tuesday night when the league was to have started but rain interfered.

Keel of the WOW and Harvey of the KP's tangled in a pitching duel last night with Keel finally getting the best of the argument.

W. J. Brown was the winning pitcher for the Diamond Shop, outlasting Looney of Phillips.

Most of you folks have an army or navy outfit somewhere near, so how about taking a tip from the high school kids?

The marines have landed: When Marine Sergeant Farmer Seale, former Birmingham sports writer, learned that his outfit was trailing the army and navy in this dept., he passed the word along and a memo from southern recruiting division suggested that the outfit be in order.

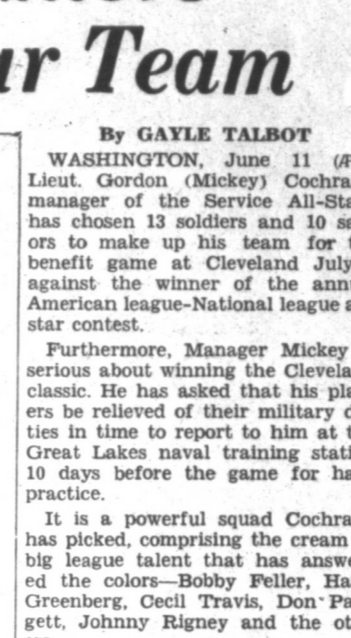

The next mail brought the news that a detachment led by Staff Sgt. Herbert Breen, who used to play football for Ole Miss, had invaded Rollins college in Florida and signed up the entire first string grid team for the marine corps reserve.

Word comes via the sporting news that army baseball at Fort Riley, Kas., carries the light touch. When Pvt. Ed Cole, former Brownie, was pitching a night game against a semipro club, the opponent protested because Cole's army identification tag had slipped under his shirt and the reflection was bothering the batters.

And when the lights were turned on at 9 p. m. for another game, Pvt. Joe Gantenbein, formerly of the Athletics, wisecracked: "Any referee made by our club this evening won't be coincidental; in the barracks they turn out the lights at this time."

Today's Guest Star Jack Carberry, Denver Post: "All work—and war—without a bit of play tossed in not only makes Jack a dull boy but it makes an awful dope out of Jill."

Roger Cramer Joins Select Circle Of 2,000-Hit Players

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer

Step by step the present stars of the major leagues are finding their way into the hallowed company of baseball's old-time all-time standouts.

The latest to earn a place on the permanent honor roll of the game is Roger (Doc) Cramer, the Detroit Tigers' outfielder, who made three hits against the New York Yankees yesterday to lift his lifetime total to 2,001, a level that has been reached by only seven other players still active in the major leagues.

Dick Bartell of the New York Giants entered the 2,000 hit class in April and Mel Ott, Paul and Lloyd Waner, Jimmie Foxx, Joe Cronin and Charley Gehringer already were there.

Cramer's achievement in his 14th year in the American league called attention to Paul (Big Poison) Waner, who in his 17th season needs only five hits to total 3,000.

Including Cramer, just 77 batters in the history of the major leagues have passed 2,000 hits, but only six have reached Waner's goal. Everyone that made it now is memorialized in baseball's Hall of Fame at Cooperstown—Ty Cobb, Tim Lincecum, Honus Wagner, Eddie Collins, Nap Lajoie and Cap Anson.

The three hits by Cramer were important individually, but they had nothing to do with the Tigers beating out the world champions, 4-1.

The blows that counted in that battle were a homer in the fifth by Jim Bloodworth and another by Ned Harris with two on in the 11th.

Paul Waner notched his 2,995th hit last night, but his Boston mates collected only three other hits of Rip Sewell, who pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-0 shutout over the Braves.

It was the sixth straight win in the longest streak of the season for the Bucs and the ninth straight setback for the Braves.

In another night contest, the New York Giants climbed into a third place tie in the National league with Cincinnati by beating the Reds, 6-1, their fifth straight victory over the Redlegs.

Big Bill Lee acquired his eighth victory of the season as the Chicago Cubs rallied for five runs in the seventh inning to beat the Phils, 5-2.

Weather kept the Brooklyn Dodgers idle at St. Louis again.

Army Elevens Will Battle Across Nation

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—Two powerful army football teams, made up of the finest college and professional talent in the service, will battle the clubs of the National Professional league across the nation's gridirons this autumn in a series of games principally for the benefit of army emergency relief.

In six bustling weeks the two service elevens—one representing the "East," the other the "West"—expect to appear in cities all the way from Los Angeles to Boston and reap a million dollars or more for charity.

Organization of the gridiron program is in line with the military's present campaign to encourage every sort of competitive athletics and probably will serve to encourage schools and universities that might have worried about their football prospects for next fall.

It is planned for the two army squads to begin training Aug. 22.

Army authorities have not yet selected their coaches, but it is certain that Wallace Wade, famous as coach of the Duke Blue Devils and now major of a machine gun battalion, will handle the eastern squad. The coaches will pick their own squads and select training sites.

To make things handy for them, the army has compiled a list of 1,500 football stars, past and present, professional and collegiate, who are in uniform now.

All the coaches will need to do is go down the list with their pencils and mark an "X" now and then when they detect a 200-pound halfback who can run the hundred yards in 10 seconds flat. No subsidizing. No proselytizing.

Martin Winds Up Ahead Of Earl Stewart

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF DALLAS, June 11 (AP)—Little Iverson Martin, a young man with a fighting grin and a putter that behaves, conquered rugged Lakewood course only to step out today against an even tougher foe in the battle for the Texas Amateur Golf championship.

Par had eluded the state's top golfers in every tournament round at Lakewood until yesterday.

Then up came the Fort Worth veteran at 24 years to take the course apart with a fine 66—two under regulation figures.

So with the medal in his pocket and his putter blazing hot, Martin marches today against stocky Jack Munger, Dallas star, in the headline match in the 36th annual tournament which drew its record field in qualifying rounds yesterday with 153 entries.

Martin finished four strokes ahead of Earl Stewart of Dallas, the national intercollegiate tournament champion.

Other standbys of Texas Golf prominence in the championship flight included such worthies as Tyrell Garth, Jr., the 17-year-old Beaumont sensation; David (Spec) Goldman, Dallas veteran; Bill Welch of Houston, national public links champion; and Harry Todd, the big Dallas belter who was low amateur in last year's national open and is returning to tournament golf after a lay-off of several months.

Garth, who just finished high school this year, meets another schoolboy in today's match play, tackling Ray Kenney of Dallas. Todd engages Norris Russell, Denton veteran.

Other first-round matches included R. H. Nix, Dallas, vs. E. C. Gaunt, Greggton; Jack Spencer, Dallas, vs. H. R. Stroube, Corsicana.

Lake McClellan Casting Tournament To Be Held Sunday

Postponed last Sunday because of rain, the annual Lake McClellan Casting Tournament will be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock at the boathouse on the north side of the lake.

The tournament will be in two divisions, one for distance and the other for accuracy.

Six prizes will be awarded by Pampa merchants, three in each division.

In the accuracy division, casts will be made at 20, 30, 40, and 50 feet.

Prizes will include: Bass Master rod from Pampa Hardware; three plugs from White's Auto Stores; Pflueger Ackron reel from Thompson Hardware; tackle box from Hillson Hardware; assorted tackle from Lewis Hardware; and a leather-bound reel and strap from Montgomery Ward company.

Recent heavy rains have raised the water in the lake more than four feet. Yesterday the water was running three inches deep over the entire width of the spillway.

ed one cruiser or battleship which was left in flames, as were also one transport and one destroyer.

The following morning, army planes took off anticipating that Japanese planes from the second enemy fleet—which was much closer than the force bombed the previous afternoon—would hit the island.

At 8:30 a. m. army heavy bombers—flying fortresses—attacked the Japanese fleet from a high altitude, hitting one carrier (possibly the army bombers also damaged other enemy vessels, inasmuch as at the time of writing all the reports still were not received).

Meanwhile, Japanese planes from carriers were attacking Midway. Their first attack made at a high level with heavy demolition bombs, lasted 38 minutes and was directed against both Sand Island and the nearby Eastern Island, which together comprise Midway.

Japanese dive bombers then slipped out of the sun and attacked Midway's ground installations while pursuit planes followed with strafing attacks. At least 180 enemy planes participated in the attacks.

Marine fighters engaged the enemy planes and the marine ground defenders cut loose with everything from anti-aircraft to sidearms.

The Japanese did not bomb runways, apparently expecting to occupy the islands and use them for an airbase.

Shortly after the Japanese withdrew, the American planes returned to defend and take more bombs.

"This was the critical period of the entire battle for our land-based air force," said General Hale.

"But the enemy didn't come back. They were too busy protecting themselves. From then on the Japanese were withdrawing and it was a series of mopping operations."

The army heavy bombers safely completed refueling and rearming and took off again. They located the Japanese battle force more in the afternoon and damaged one heavy cruiser and possibly another.

Col. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., of San Francisco, led the squadron of flying fortresses in attacks both on June 3 and 4.

Sweeney and other crewmen of the B1's praised their planes most enthusiastically, some saying: "These planes will win the war." Crews of the flying fortresses said the Japanese fighters never pressed home attacks on the American bombers, not a single one of which was shot down, whereas the fortresses downed three and possibly four enemy zero fighters.

Sweeney's squadron lost two men on the ground at Midway but the only other casualty was one rear-gunner who was shot through the finger.

Fortress crew members said the zero pilots feared the firepower of the fortresses, and, except for isolated cases, seldom came close.

The fortresses were operated at high speed for many hours and stood up superbly, their crew reported. Several of them came home on two motors.

Sweeney gave this account: "We first contacted the enemy far out in the Pacific on the afternoon of June 3. There were over twenty Japanese ships lined in columns, with big ships in the center. We circled to the westward and came in with the sun at our backs.

"When the Japs sighted us they immediately deployed, each ship turning individually, trying frantically to avoid attack.

"We were at a medium altitude because of clouds, and anti-aircraft was soon spitting at us. It was far more accurate than we expected, and our planes were bounced around a bit but none was seriously damaged.

"We picked out as our targets the biggest ships in sight, and laid our bombs in a pattern. Our bombardiers and rear gunners saw direct hits on one cruiser, one transport and possibly a second cruiser. One of our planes also reported hitting a battleship.

"Frankly, we didn't stay around too long to check up. Anti-aircraft was making things hot, and we left in a hurry.

"We really were happy as we headed home. We had our first taste of battle and had given the Japs a taste of our striking power.

"Over the inter-plane radios the gang was full of life and pep. We knew no fighters were in the air since there had been no carriers around the Jap ships, so there was nothing to worry about en route home.

"We landed at our base and crews started immediately to get the ships in shape for the following morning. We knew the Japs would be over then. Pilots snatched a little sleep, since in the air they have to be awake all the time while others are able to doze a bit.

"We hopped off the next morning at dawn under orders to attack the same enemy force. We climbed 'way up and headed on out. After a short while new orders came over the radio, and we were told to attack an even larger Japanese battle-front which already was close to Midway.

"That change didn't puzzle our navigator, Lieut. Bill Adams of San Bernardino, Calif., who as far as I'm concerned is the best navigator in the world. He did the navy job throughout, as did the super patrol bombers which had the enemy localated perfectly, and gave Adams information which enabled him to take us straight to our targets.

"Adams told me we would reach our targets at 34 minutes after the hour, and sure enough we hit it to the minute. Capt. Paul Payne of Des Moines, Ia., sighted the enemy first through broken clouds.

"There was a big battle line, with destroyers outside, then cruisers, battleships and away back the carriers which we picked for our target.

"We headed for the biggest carrier and picked for it.

"The minutes our bomb-bays opened, the ack-ack started coming up. It was fine shooting, and the Japs must have good range-finders because the first shots were right at our altitude.

"The Jap ships started their frantic escape maneuvers but our pattern of bombs blanketed a carrier. We got at least one definite hit on the port bow of the carrier and saw flame and smoke of the explosion.

"Even in the midst of the attack we have time to chuckle over one bombardier who coolly remarked over the plane's radio: 'My God, that anti-aircraft looks beautiful through this telescope.'

"It looked beautiful, all right, but it also looked dangerous, so we headed out and away.

"A few zeros came up at us but we lost them quickly due to our speed and their faint-heartedness.

"We streaked for our base and found that Midway had been bombed while we were out there. We expected the Japs would come back, so we loaded as rapidly as possible and got back into the air and sped back toward the battle line.

"Adams was doing his job as usual, and at four p. m. we found the enemy. We saw one carrier and one capital ship burning. They were lying dead, not making headway, and obviously they were badly damaged.

"No undamaged carriers were visible, so we picked out the biggest ship we could see—a heavy cruiser. We let go at it. One bomb struck it directly amidships and left it smoking and badly damaged.

"When we got back to our base our planes and crews both needed rest badly, so Lieut. Colonel Brook Allen took over with his squadron."

(Colonel Allen was a member of the Roberts committee which investigated the Dec. 7 Pearl Harbor episode).

"I am sold on the effectiveness of high-level bombing. If we can get enough planes for attacks like these, nothing can escape us since we can lay bombs in patterns which no ship can avoid.

"We all had a grand time. Everybody was ready. Everybody did everything they should have done. There was perfect cooperation among the three branches of the service—the army, navy and the marines."

SOVIET

Britain and Russia agreed to render one another "all possible economic assistance after the war" and to avoid participation in any alliance directed against the other contracting power.

In the reconstruction of Europe, the two nations agreed to be guided by the principles of "not seeking territorial aggrandizement for themselves" and "not interfering in the internal affairs of other states," Eden said.

The two countries have agreed, Eden said, that they would "work for the organization of security and economic prosperity" in Europe, taking into account the interests of the United Nations.

Britain and Russia are willing "to unite with other like-minded states in adopting proposals for common action to preserve peace and resist aggression," Eden said, forecasting a post-war organization similar to the league of nations.

Eden said the treaty would remain in force until Russia and Britain recognize it has been superseded by adoption of proposals for a long-term system of international security" but in default of such proposals "it shall remain in force for a period of 20 years and thereafter until terminated by either of the contracting parties."

U. S. Ambassador John G. Winant was in the diplomats gallery of the House of Commons when Eden made the announcement.

He heard the foreign secretary declare the "whole terms of the agreement" were published in a white paper and "there are no secret engagements or commitments of any kind whatsoever."

The pact designed to become either the bulwark of a new security system or alternatively to run its own 20-year term, was quickly interpreted as a new avowal of a battle of extinction against Hitlerism between two European fronts.

Announcing the agreement in the house of commons, Eden said that Britain and Russia were in complete accord on the "urgent task" of opening a new European front against Germany, having paralleled their treaty talks with new military consultation, but he did not say positively that it would be opened this year.

In addition to second front strategy, the military discussions which had been carried on also in Washington concerned means of further improving deliveries of planes, tanks and other war materials to Russia.

The mutual assistance treaty, in which Russia and Britain fore-swear interference with the internal affairs of other nations and territorial aggrandizement, represented the word of nations controlling five-twelfths of the earth's surface.

In negotiating an accord Russia's first wish was for a treaty guaranteeing her western frontiers, including the Baltic states (Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia) but it was understood that this was abandoned in favor of the present, broader commitments.

Russia absorbed the Baltic states in 1940 but all now are in German possession.

Battle Of Midway 'Better Show Than The World Series'

By CLARK LEE GENERAL EMMONS HEAD-QUARTERS, Territory of Hawaii, June 11 (AP)—"A better show than the world series," was the way crew members of one of the army's big B-17 bombers described the battle of Midway.

Pilot Captain Charles E. Gregory of Houston nudged his co-pilot and fellow Texan, Lieut. Robert O. Pate of Dallas, the first time they saw anti-aircraft shells coming up at them.

"We felt so good to be in action," the captain recalled today, "that we just laughed at these shells."

That's the way the whole crew felt, from bombardier Lieut. Henry H. Pitts of Macon, N. C., who sat in the nose and saw his bombs hit a Japanese aircraft carrier, to Tail Gunner Corp. Melvin E. Lomax of Wichita, Kas., who during the fight called to Gregory over the inter-plane radio, "Hay, captain, slow down and let that Zero (Japanese fighter plane) catch up with us!" None of the crew had much time to think of being scared, although Navigator Lieut. Yale H. Lewis of St. Louis, Mo., commented, "The first time I saw those Jap bullets flying past, I began thinking awfully hard about my girl and hoping I'd get back to see her some day."

These men all came back without a scratch, and with their plane undamaged by Jap bullets or shells.

Randolph Field Officers Pay Visit To Pampa

Pampa firms interested in building new houses under the defense area program are asked to contact Manager Garnet Reeves at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The city's housing situation was discussed here yesterday when Major W. E. Hochkiss and Lieutenant T. A. Kraus, both of Randolph Field, San Antonio, visited Pampa and met with representatives of finance companies and lumber companies.

In order to construct new houses, firms must fill out a questionnaire and file it with the government. All information may be secured at the chamber of commerce.

Several hundred persons will come to Pampa when the new air corps training base east of the city is completed. There will be many civilians employed at the base along with the officers, pilots and ground crews.

Excavation work on the runways and ramps is progressing favorably with huge tractors and trucks leveling the ground for laying of the runways. Poole Brothers of Shawnee, Okla., have the contract.

Noxis Lend In Caucasus

LONDON, June 11 (AP)—Reuters said today it had recorded a Vichy broadcast reporting that German planes had crossed the strait of Kerch and landed on the Caucasus mainland, occupying the town of Anapa.

This report has not been confirmed by any other source. The broadcast quoted "an Ankara dispatch."

O'DANIEL

Hal Collins, candidate for governor.

While O'Daniel was getting back to Texas, most of the other Texans in congress were pointedly asserting that their duty, as they saw it, was to remain here so long as congress was in session. However, nearly all expressed hope a recess would be called in July so they would be able to be at home a few days before the first Democratic primary election, July 25.

The trio from one-county districts are Hattin W. Summers, Dallas; Paul Kilday, San Antonio (Bexar county); Albert Thomas, Houston (Harris county).

Representative Ewing Thompson of El Paso, who in several previous races for congress drew no opposition, said that unless congress recessed he felt he would "remain here at my post of duty" despite the fact that this year he had a candidate opposing him.

Speaker Rayburn, of Bonham, was understood to have a Baptist minister opposing him in the July primary but his aides said Rayburn could not form any campaign plans now because of the uncertainty of a congressional recess.

Representative Nat Patton of Crockett, facing opposition, may not even go home if and when recess is called. He said he believed that with conditions as they were, it was the first and highest duty of a congressman to be on hand in the capital for any emergency.

Representative Joseph Jefferson Mansfield of Columbus, whose district includes Galveston, said he would try to go home early in July if congressional matters would permit. The veteran chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors committee has been one of the leaders in the efforts here to find some way of getting oil from Texas to the East.

Representative Lindley Beekworth of Gilmer said he was unable to make any statement regarding his bid for a return to congress from his East Texas district, because of uncertainty of what congress would do.

West Texas' Charles South of Coleman, with two opponents, said he intended to spend a few days going over his district before the first primary.

Representative Poage barely got by without opposition in his campaign. Several weeks ago Waco City Manager Will Torrence announced against him, then later withdrew.

Water Changed In Pool Once Every 12 Hours

By THE ROVING REPORTER

The Roving Reporter opened his swimming season yesterday and he got an eye-opening that is the best news water lovers have had in 10 years, because it has been just 10 years since the swimming pool opened, and in all that time the pool pump, filter system, and boiler have never worked in unison at the same time, and to the satisfaction of everybody concerned.

But now for the first time in 10 years they are all working to everybody's satisfaction, and the water in the pool is changed once every 24 hours by the filter system, and actually once a week. The water will be changed tonight and the pool scrubbed.

Dr. N. L. Nicholl, assistant city health officer, and O. J. Payne, city water superintendent, in his spring decided they would do something about the operation of the pool which is a headache to the city every summer.

The reason they didn't do something before is because for years the blueprint of pipes and pool construction has been missing, and it would take an excavation job or a Superman vision to untangle the maze and web of pipes at the pool, but Dr. Nicholl and Mr. Payne put their noggins to the matter and figured it out, and as a result they found a lot of useless pipe and took it up. Then they found a lot of gummy sacks in the pump.

Now the pump really shoots the water from the filter system back into the pool, and the water when it leaves the filter system is so pure and clear you could safely drink it.

The filter system consists of three deep concrete vats filled half full of sand. The pool water filters through the sand and is purified. Don't think the patrons do not appreciate the clean water a good pool, either. Good crowds have been in swimming every day despite cloudy weather. Dr. Nicholl also eliminated a lot of useless chemicals that were being used for some obscure reason in the water. The chemicals didn't make the water any purer, but they did hurt swimmers' eyes, so Dr. Nicholl abolished them. Now nobody complains that the chemicals hurt his eyes.

Of course the ideal way to run a pool is the Texas A. & M. system. Dr. Nicholl says. There the water has not been changed in seven years. All swimmers must wear rubber caps to keep their oily hair from touching the water; they cannot wear wool bathing suits because the fuzz from wool clogs up the filter system; and they can't get into the pool without taking a shower. Dr. Nicholl hopes all that will come later here.

But for the present the pool is doing better than it ever has. Even Dr. Malcolm Brown has put his stamp of approval on the way it is working.

Russia, and the "fundamental problems of cooperation of the Soviet Union and the United States in safeguarding peace and security to the freedom-loving peoples after the war."

"Both sides state with satisfaction that the statement declared the unity of their views on all these questions."

Molotov, bespectacled, 52-year-old right-hand man of Premier Joseph Stalin, arrived in Washington on May 29 and left on June 4. He is safely back home, the White House said.

The statement released today was approved by both Molotov and Mr. Roosevelt and withheld until the former had returned. The discussions entered into while the foreign commissar was a secret guest at the White House apparently ranged over the whole field of military and economic problems of mutual concern to the two nations.

Mr. Roosevelt, at their conclusion, asked Molotov to inform Stalin that the chief executive "feels these conversations have been most useful in establishing a basis for fruitful and closer relations between the two governments in the pursuit of the common objectives of the United Nations."

The members of the official Soviet mission to this country were not announced by the White House statement referring only to the Molotov "party."

But participating in the discussions here were Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet ambassador to the United States, whom Molotov succeeded as foreign commissar in April, 1939; Harry Hopkins, key adviser to the president on supply problems; General George C. Marshall, chief-of-staff of the army; Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the navy; and, in the non-military nature of conversations, Secretary of State Hull.

These quarters said the position was not regarded as vital to the British campaign, whose main goal is to destroy the Axis' armored forces.

In the Russian campaign, bitter fighting raged in the seven-day-old German offensive against Sevastopol, Russia's big Crimean naval base, with 10 Nazi divisions of perhaps 150,000 troops thrown into the attack.

A bulletin from Hitler's field headquarters, which yesterday claimed that Axis siege forces had lunged into Sevastopol's fortification system, declared today that the Russians were making "desperate" counterattacks and were being repulsed.

Mainly About People

Sgt. Stanley Vollmert of Fort Bliss, El Paso, will leave tomorrow after spending 10 days furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Vollmert.

One man, charged with being intoxicated, was fined in city police court today.

Mr. and Mrs. Dixie White of Lubbock are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sweetman, here.

Geel Barnett, of Elwood, Ind., is visiting friends here for a few days. He was formerly linotype operator at the Pampa News.

Student Jack P. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Morgan, 442 North Yeager street, has just completed the second half of his basic training at the Enid, Okla., flying school.

From the office of County Superintendent Wayland B. Weathered was sent today 550 books to L. A. Woods, Austin, state school superintendent. The shipment, packed in 10 sacks, represented books to be returned from use due to the 12-year-school plan.

Two offices are now occupied by the Gray County Selective Service board. Installation of a door connecting 301 Court House with the adjoining room to the west was completed yesterday.

There were 11 federal prisoners in the county jail today, received here over a two-day period, and including some who had already been tried and are awaiting transfer to prison.

Laura Lane, associate editor of the Texas Extension News, College Station, was in Pampa today to address the first meeting of the Gray County Victory Agricultural council, to be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon in the county court room. From Pampa, Miss Lane will go to Amarillo, thence to Canyon.

Two Pampans were among Kemper Military school students presented with awards at the school's annual awards program, at Bonville, Mo.: Jacob W. Garman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Garman, 108 W. Browning, and Raymond W. Harrah, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Harrah, 621 N. Frost. Cadet Garman was named a tennis letter man, rifle marksmanship letter man, and received a Company D rifle letter; Cadet Harrah received a Company C football and baseball letter.

James D. Lovelace of Pampa, who has been employed at the Corpus Christi Navy war work center, has been appointed by the civil service commission to the Corpus Christi naval air station as a helper trainee. The Pampans were referred to the Navy war work center by the United States Employment service.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Ballard have returned from a two-weeks vacation trip to Fort Worth, Dallas, Greenville, Athens, and Sherman. Mr. Ballard is the Texas Highway patrol station here. Formerly there were two patrolmen, but Mr. Ballard is the only one here now, as D. G. Halyard, the other, has enlisted in the coast guard.

Mrs. J. F. Hall of Dallas is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Bo Barrett and other friends this week. Mrs. Hall is the former Velma Robinson.

Peggy Alice White of Earth is a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bo Barrett.

Mrs. Leut. Wilks Chapman has her sister, Mrs. Emma Spraberry, of Anson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and daughter, Barbara Jean, returned Wednesday night from Roswell, New Mexico, where they visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wears, former Pampans. Also they visited Sergeant and Mrs. Tommy Bicknell at Midland and went through Carlsbad Cavern party going to Roswell. Sergeant Bicknell and Mrs. Wears are brother and sister of Mr. Anderson.

Pampa Lodge Knights of Pythias will confer the rank of esquire on Page E. A. Seawall at tonight's meeting. The Knights of Pythias softball team lost to the Woodmen of the World team in a game played last night at Sam Houston school ground. The score was 6 to 5. Vernon Woods and "Dink" Altman hit home runs for the K. of P. and Gise and Oswald hit homers for the W. O. W. The K. of P. will play the Diamond Shop this evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Sam Houston school diamond.

For 10 years Dr. Bellamy has served as chairman of the club's crippled childrens committee and service.

The club presented him with an honorary membership, an award given to Rotarians with a minimum of seven years membership and pre-eminent service.

At the Country club last night, a farewell party was held, as another tribute to Captain Bellamy, and he was presented with a cigarette case stamped with the club emblem. Captain Bellamy will leave for Oklahoma City Monday.

Other parts of the program at the club luncheon included two accordion solos, "Home on the Range" and "Whispering Hope," by four-year-old Herman Keney; an analysis of the war to date with special reference to the El Paso valley by Ivy Duncan, and a talk on the requirements for enlistment in the army by Sgt. Robert D. Short.

Attendance at the luncheon was 33. G. H. Everett of Ardmore, Okla., was visiting Rotarian. Guests were Sergeant Short of Pampa, and Julian Key of Galveston.

A Plain Statement about WESTERN VACATION TRAVEL

NATIONAL PARKS ARE OPEN. The national parks of the West—including Yellowstone, Glacier, and Rocky Mountain—are open to vacationists this summer. Park hotels and resorts will be open, and regular motor bus service will be in operation during the season between rail gateways and hotels, and between hotels within the parks. Sightseeing side-trips have been suspended.

COLORADO ROCKIES. Hotels and resorts in the Colorado Rockies are opening. While sightseeing bus operations have been suspended, it is possible for vacationists to reach nearly all the principal scenic regions by train or regularly scheduled buses. Resort operators, upon notice, will meet guests at nearby rail or bus stops.

DUDE RANCHES. More than 100 dude ranches in Wyoming, Colorado and Montana reached by the Burlington are accepting guests this season. Upon advance notice, ranchers will meet guests at nearby rail station. Limitless sightseeing trips are available from ranches by horseback or wagon.

WARTIME TRAVEL INFORMATION. For information on train schedules, equipment and resort accommodations, consult your local Burlington ticket agent. Now, more than ever, it is important to obtain travel counsel so as to avoid conflict with war traffic.

War Traffic is the No. 1 Job

The most important job of the Burlington for the duration is to provide fast, dependable transportation for troops and war materials. This has been done and will continue to be the primary purpose of the entire Burlington organization.

In addition to the expeditions handling of war traffic, the Burlington has the capacity to care for the

Enemy Subs Have Sunk 266 Allied Vessels

(By The Associated Press)
Enemy submarines operating in the Western Atlantic and Eastern Pacific areas were credited as of today (Thurs.) with having sunk a total of 266 Allied and neutral ships since Pearl Harbor.

The latest announced victims included two small American fishing craft, a medium-sized English merchantman and a medium-sized United States merchant vessel for an Atlantic war score of 259 sinkings.

The latest announced sinking was of a United States vessel whose survivors said the submarine commander helped the American lifeboats make a safe getaway.

Texas Youngsters Are Going To Get Tough In Constructive Way

(By The Associated Press)
Texas youngsters are going to get tough. Not in the sense implying Peck's Bad Boy antics but constructively. School girls and boys are signing up by the thousands for the "Hale American Physical Fitness" program, sponsored by the Interscholastic League in cooperation with the state's civilian defense program.

Rodney J. Kidd, league athletic director, foresees a membership of at least 50,000 children.

It's more than a big muscle building scheme. Its purposes include development of mental vigor, stamina and endurance that will prepare children for civilian defense, armed service or industrial work which someday they may be called on to perform.

The Aids herds its youth into muscle-building and stamina producing activities.

Texas and America have a better way, founded on a democratic method—challenge.

A prerequisite of membership in the Texas clubs which are being organized in elementary, junior and senior schools is a physical exam.

Have a medical and dental examination yearly and be vaccinated. Spend at least one hour daily in vigorous physical exercise.

Eat balanced meals. Get at least eight hours sleep nightly.

Refrain from physical excesses. Participate weekly in some physically active recreation.

Honor sportsmanship and fair play. Try to keep happy, confident and friendly.

Keep physically fit and ready to serve country. Then comes the challenge.

Every member must meet certain standards of performance and sportsmanship—or no certificate is awarded.

The standards have been set above average, purposely. Milk toast programs won't produce the needed results these days.

The standards have been varied to care for different age levels. If she earns a certificate here is what an elementary school girl must accomplish:

Show evidence of medical and dental examinations and vaccination. Give evidence of regular good health habits.

Walk two miles without stopping. Run 50 yards in nine seconds. Run a half mile at a trot.

Do two pull-ups (chinning) in succession. Do three push-ups (dips) on the floor in succession.

Do eight sit-ups in succession from a lying position, arms folded on chest. Climb a rope to a height of 12 feet, or vault a bar or fence at hip height.

Do a standing broad jump of four feet, six inches. Jump into the air, make a full turn to the right and land in the same spot without losing balance.

Throw a baseball 75 feet, or a softball 60 feet or a basketball 40 feet. Swim 20 yards, or ride a bike two miles in 15 minutes, or run and walk a mile in 10 minutes.

Play in 10 games in some sport as a member of a team. Have a reputation for good sportsmanship.

From this starting point on up through the boys' senior school advanced level the requirements become tougher.

Lettering in a team sport in inter-school athletics does not substitute for the program. It can replace only one in 23 items for advanced high school boys.

Students cannot participate if a physician advises against it after an examination.

The program is one aspect of the total school fitness program and will not interfere with other phases now in operation.

* Some schools have good health education programs but a majority of the schools have no well organized activity.

The number of students in one club is not limited but authorities suggest several clubs with membership of 30 to 40 each rather than one club of 200 members in one school.

Each group will have an adult sponsor, a faculty member or an outsider approved by the principal or superintendent. Sponsors must keep accurate records of club accomplishments.

On the theory that a certificate is not sufficient reward for meeting standards the league is considering an individual insignia, possibly a button, for members.

Whether or not the buttons materialize the sponsors feel that pink cheeks, knotty muscles and mental alertness will identify club members.

Texans Describe Air Battle With Jap Zero Fighters

GENERAL EMMONS HEADQUARTERS, Territory of Hawaii, June 11 (AP)—Lieut. Edward A. Steedman, 26, Sherman, Tex., and his copilot, Second Lieut. D. K. Carpenter, 21, of Monroe, Ore., were members of a bomber formation headed by Captain Cecil Faulkner of Bellevue, Tex., which bombed a Japanese transport and aircraft carrier in the Midway action of June 3 and June 4.

"We took off without knowing exactly what we were up against although we knew our boys had a flock of Japs spotted," said Steedman. "Our captain just flew along and we came in out of the sun and saw an invasion fleet of 26 vessels. We dropped our load on a transport. Next morning we started out again as soon as daylight and found and hit a carrier. Our bombardier put one right on the bow."

Three Japanese-zero fighters attacked their plane and one of them was shot down by the tail-gunner. Somebody asked Steedman: "Did you feel good when you saw that Jap go down?"

"Oh hell yes," answered Steedman. "It was either he or I."

Later four zero-fighters got under the bomber's tail but it got away without a scratch.

Said Steedman and Carpenter: "Put three of those 17s together and they'll tackle anything. We would just as soon be in one of them over Tokyo as any place we can think of."

Ranch Horses Again Swim Plains Creeks

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
CANADIAN, June 11—Ranch horses still know how to swim.

Recent rains and, probably, snow melting in the mountains have brought lots of water down the river and Red Deer creek this week.

The bridge across Red Deer creek washed out in the flood of a year ago and while a new bridge has been accomplished, material for going on to completion is not yet available.

Ranchmen on the west side have to make trips to town in the old-time way, whether over the dry sand or through the deep water.

Bud Brainard rode over on horseback from his ranch Monday morning.

Carson Farmers Hear Farmers Union Speaker

SPECIAL TO THE NEWS
SKEELYTOWN, June 11—The White Deer Creek Agricultural association met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buel Gray, Friday evening.

Invited as principal speaker was Frank Oberturn of Amarillo, assistant agent for the Farmers Union.

Mr. Oberturn, a man with many years farming and ranching experience to his credit, gave a short sketch on the disastrous fall in prices of farm products after the first world war and again in the 30's, with farmers being foreclosed and forced on the W. P. A. rolls.

He said that the farm people must organize to prevent this happening again, and gave as the Farmers Union objects:

1. More crops, with less control.

2. Cheap credit, through farmer co-operatives, and not through government allotment and appropriations.

3. Tenant purchases plan, whereby worthy and honest tenant farmers would be allowed credit under Federal Security association for purchase of farms.

4. Young peoples camp in which the young people are taught how to organize and operate efficiently farmer owned co-operatives, and how to plan for recreation in their own neighborhood.

Mr. Oberturn stated the Farmers Union has a number of co-operatives including fire and hail insurance, co-operative elevators, and oil stations. He also said that no person except a farm man and his family were eligible to join the Farmers Union, and that both farmer and farmer's wife have voting privileges in the union.

Mr. Oberturn closed with the remark that there was no cause for bitter controversy between the Farmers Union, National Grange, and Farm Bureau, since on the whole, their objectives were the same: to give farm people a chance to live on the farm, where they can produce the greatly needed livestock and food, and give them good enough prices for their farm products that they can live decently, thus encouraging the young farm men and women to stay on the farm, where they are so badly needed, instead of going into town in order to get more income and better living conditions.

There followed a short information, please during which members of the association asked questions which were answered by Mr. Oberturn.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Messrs. and Mrs. E. L. Harlan, C. E. Terry, Buel Gray, Mrs. W. W. Jones, Misses Margaret Moser, county home demonstration agent, Juanita Gray, Joe Jones, Alec Gray, Merl Harlan, Louella Harlan, R. L. Harlan, Jr., and E. B. Terry.

Allred Speaks In South Plains Towns

TAHOKA, June 11.—James V. Allred, who is taking his candidacy for United States senator direct to the people this week in a West Texas swing, was given a rousing welcome here Thursday morning upon his arrival.

The former governor and federal judge delivered a patriotic address at noon before civic club members.

Allred arrived here from Big Spring, where he told a crowd gathered there on the courthouse lawn Wednesday night that obstructionist tactics would never win the war.

"I really want to help the President win the war, write the peace and intelligently meet the problems of readjustment and rehabilitation," he said.

Allred was in Lamesa part of the morning-enroute here. He goes to Lubbock for a campaign speech Thursday night.

275 Czechs Already Slain, More Marked For Firing Squad

BERN, Switzerland, June 11 (AP)—With 275 Czechs already slain in retaliation, the Germans made known today that the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich would mark the beginning of new, sweeping punitive measures not only in dismembered Czechoslovakia but throughout all the restive occupied countries.

Continuing attacks against occupation armies in the north, west and east confront Germany with a potential second or third front and require vigorous counter-action, dispatches from Berlin said.

Prague, Paris, Amsterdam, and all Poland and Yugoslavia were regarded here as likely to feel first the effects of the increased death penalties.

Executions up to now have been averaging ten a day in occupied France. Czechs have been shot in groups of 25 or more at a time since the attack which took the life of Heydrich, Gestapo hangman who became acting reichsprotektor of Bohemia and Moravia.

Figures of the toll being taken in occupied Yugoslavia rarely are seen in print, but travelers tell of talking to persons on trains who offered to act as guides to villages where virtually the entire population has been wiped out because

Two Texas Officers Win Navy Gold Star

WASHINGTON, June 11 (AP)—The navy announced today award of decorations to two navy officers for "meritorious performance of their duties during operations against the Japanese."

Details of the officers' feats were not disclosed.

Lt. Commander William L. Wright, 39, of 1215 Second street, Corpus Christi, Tex., and Lt. James C. Dempsey, 33, of Germantown, Pa., won the gold star in lieu of a second navy cross for "extraordinary heroism in action against the enemy."

Both had won the navy cross in earlier phases of the Pacific war.

Destroying The Man Who Helped

It is reported that congress is being flooded with communications from retailers throughout the country, requesting that the general price freeze order be reopened to public hearing to review the disastrous situation facing thousands of stores. On top of that it is reported further, manufacturers are tremendously concerned over the probable loss of distributive outlets.

One can sympathize with the point of view of government officials who believe that the most stringent possible measures are necessary to prevent a ruinous price inflation. But it is becoming evident that the price freeze will literally dislocate and destroy a large part of the retail businesses of this country unless adjustments are made to take care of the very wide lag that has long existed between wholesale and retail prices.

The merchants who are writing congress and the OPA are not asking for big profits and a chance to profiteer. They are simply asking the chance to price their goods at a level which will return them sufficient profit to stay in business. If the current order stands as issued, merchants will have to replace stocks at present wholesale price levels and sell them at the prevailing March retail levels. That means that the sale of many items would be made with no profit—and that the sale of some items would have to be made at an actual loss. The public-spirited merchant, who cooperated with the OPA and priced his wares on the basis of original cost, not replacement cost, would take the worst beating.

It is difficult to exaggerate the potential effect of this on the country. The small store will be hit hardest and will go to the wall first—large retail organizations, with capital behind them, can last longer and can better adjust themselves to changing conditions. The tens of thousands of little retail businesses which are the backbone of the American private enterprise system are in danger of extinction. That is the immensely grave situation which confronts congress and the OPA today.

Fill It Before It Rolls

The remarkable achievement of the railroads in handling record loads without delay, congestion or car shortage is primarily due to two things.

First, better equipment has made possible better, more efficient methods. Today's freight train turns out more than twice as much transportation service for each hour it is on the road as did the freight trains of the last war. And each freight car now produces one and three-quarters as many ton-miles per day as did the average car of 1918.

Second, and equally important, is the progress made in the relationship between those who produce rail transportation and those who use it. Many years before Hitler's rise to power, the railroads began preparing for precisely the kind of emergency that exists today. In World War I, the so-called collapse in rail transportation was the direct and inevitable result of failure to promptly unload cars. Thousands of cars stood immobile on sidings for weeks and months at a stretch, while shippers begged for empty cars. So the railroads got together with shippers and laid their plans. And the fruits of those plans are evident now. Both carriers and shippers are determined that cars shall be loaded, unloaded and sent on their way in the shortest possible time. They are determined that every car and every locomotive shall contribute the last possible ounce of service to the war effort.

But more can be done. Too many cars are still only partly loaded. The goal now is to load every car to the brim before it rolls. And no one who has

GAS RATIONING TO SAVE TIRES, BLOATED EGOTISM

For the government to ration gasoline in localities where there is plenty of gas, in order to compel car owners to save tires, is in reality bloated egotism on the part of the Administration. The New Deal is in reality telling the people that they are too dumb to know how to use their tires; that they have to be treated as children and as people in Europe are treated; that the bloated, conceited bureaucrats know so much more about the needs and wants and abilities of the humble workers that they must be their brothers' keepers. All people must be put under the same mould so that they will use the tires, which they have worked for and earned, in the way the bureaucrats want them used.

And while they are doing this, they keep the price of scrap rubber and the rewards for building tires reduced, by discriminatory taxes, so that we have an unnecessary shortage of tires. These same bureaucrats who contend, like all dictators do, that the public is too dumb to know the value of things and how to preserve them, are paying over twice what silver is worth and a great deal more for gold than it is worth, while they are keeping the price on rubber at much less than the working public says it is worth.

But under dictatorship and the New Deal, the public is not supposed to know how they should use even the things which they have worked for and paid for.

But this is only a natural result of an administration that knows no impersonal, universal rule of conduct; that is, a law unto themselves.

But if this rationing of gasoline eventually causes the workers to realize what the Administration is trying to do to them, and how it is leading us to a government only different in degree from Russia and Germany, then this inconvenience, this being obliged to do without gasoline, in order to let rubber rot rather than wear out, will be worth all the inconvenience it costs. Anything that will educate the public as to the difference between the capitalistic system, free enterprise, a true democratic and American way of life, as contrasted to the socialistic, dictatorial way of life in Europe, is worth all it costs.

A UNIFORM TAX WOULD SIMPLIFY COLLECTION

News reports contend that the Secretary of the Treasury hopes to have employers deduct income taxes from workers pay envelopes which the workers would eventually have to pay direct to the government the following year. But it is almost impossible to collect income taxes at the source where there is an exemption, say of $800 or $1000, before the taxpayer is obliged to pay a tax or where the tax is graduated. No employer would know how much or what percentage to take out, when there is an exemption or a graduation or progressive tax, if he did not know the total income for the year.

If all people paid on a uniform basis, as they should in any democratic or truly American form of taxation, then it would be a simple matter to have every employer deduct a certain percentage from the money he paid as payroll, as interest, or as dividends.

But we have ceased to be a democratic nation where all people are equal before the law and we have become a nation of pressure groups where the taxes are laid with the idea of getting the most votes.

The great majority of people believe that there is some magical way of robbing that does not hurt the robbers. And when any group contends that they must get services from the government and that they must not pay their exact proportionate share of government expense in proportion to the amount of this world's goods they consume and enjoy, then that group is attempting to rob the group that they demand shall pay more than their proportionate share.

Yes, collecting a uniform tax would be honest and would greatly simplify and reduce the cost of collecting taxes.

Seen American industry at work will doubt that goal will be reached.

This fall railroad traffic will reach a peak. Every shipper must work to attain maximum utilization of every car. This is vital to victory.

WEST OF MIDWAY

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, June 11 — You'd probably imagine there could be only one Charlie McCarthy, but today I saw three on the set of "Here We Go Again". No. 1, the real pal and alter ego of Edgar Bergen, lay in bed in a tent that had been invaded by a bear, and Berg crouched just out of camera range so he could manipulate the frightened dummy.

On a table offstage perched another McCarthy, this one as full of mechanism as Major Hoople's robot. There's a speaker in him, plus a motor, and he can talk and go through simple motions without Bergen being near.

McCarthy No. 3 is a midget named Jerry Maren. His features have been built up to resemble the dummy's, and his height (3 feet, 6 inches) and slim build allow him to double for McCarthy in scenes such as the ones where he's chased by the bear.

Being a double for a ventriloquist's doll is perhaps not an exalted occupation for an actor. But it's as good as doubling for a chimpanzee, which Maren does on occasion. Sometimes he gets to play himself a midget and speak a few lines, and he was one of the dancing Munchkins in "The Wizard of Oz."

In "Beyond the Blue Horizon," Maren was Dorothy Lamour's chimpanzee in several sequences. More recently he donned the monkey suit for "Well, I'll Be a Monkey's Uncle." Bob Hope and Bing Crosby are languishing in a sultan's prison, and while idly fingering a bauble that turns out to be a magic charm, Hope remarks that he wishes he had a drink. Instantly a drink appears.

"Well, I'll be a monkey's uncle," murmurs the awe-stricken Crosby, and in the blink of a camera's eye he turns into an ape. That's Jerry Maren again in a zippered chimpanzee skin.

A PUG'S PROGRESS Until a few days ago the casting directors at Warners were going crazy trying to find an actor-prize fighter with a convincing cockney accent to play Jack Burke in the new Errol Flynn starrer, "Gentleman Jim." It's Jim Corbett's lucky knockout of the former British champion that starts his fabulous career.

Movietown is full of ex-pugs who can make a valiant stand in screen brawls but are unable to hold their own in the dramatic department. Some of them were being considered, though, when a scout brought in for testing a strapping individual named Art Foster whom he had coaxed from the California Shipyards. Foster lived in England 20 years, fought professionally, quit and became a rigger of heavy machinery. Obviously, though, he had missed his calling. He is a natural actor.

An overnight leap from the Boiler-makers Union to the Screen Actors Guild hasn't ruffled the rugged Mr. Foster. He's handling his sizeable speaking role with an assurance that causes veteran actors to forget their lines in sheer amazement.

High Life And Low life in The BIG City

They say up in Connecticut that you can't throw a rock in any direction without hitting an author. But these are not ordinary authors. They have already arrived and are continually arriving via their serial stories in magazines and Hollywood royalties. They have the utmost suspicion. You have to have a map plotted out for you before you can even find them. They are successful enough to live in simple grandeur far from the highways.

Now I am not snobby enough to despise success. I have an admiration for success and I do not believe the husband deserves a little ride for himself once in a while. And with a woman working as steadily as did our lady writer, servants were essential if she were to eat and go on working.

The visit was a most enjoyable one. Our hostess provided the most excellent dinner and with coffee in the drawing room we had the most beautiful music. Everything about the house and garden was as near perfection as money and science can make it. Far from the city there was electricity, steam heat and all the comforts of city life. The husband of this successful woman proudly showed us her work room, the simplest part of the house, a small room with blank walls, a desk with a typewriter and a window without a view.

In this room our successful writer worked every day except Sunday. There is less envy in the world that one supposes. Our own eyes told that I did not envy her anything, not even the swimming pool. The husband was a haunting character. I could have felt better about him if he'd had a hobby of any kind. "Kenny dear" fell too often from her lips to convince me. Especially, since I'm told she always called him "Jack" before she became successful.

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

If you're still sitting up nights trying to think of a good name for this war, you might consider calling it "The Trillion-Dollar War."

Speaking glibly in terms of millions of dollars became popular with the New Deal, and talking in terms of billions has become common during the defense era. But before this fracas is over, someone may speak of a trillion dollars as the cost and be talking sense.

After all, a trillion dollars is only 1,000 billions. Total U. S. appropriations have already reached $190 billions and will undoubtedly be $200 billions before you can say "Where are you going on your vacation, dear—if you get a vacation?"

Two hundred billion dollars is a fifth of a trillion dollars, and when you consider that anybody's and everybody's money is good in this kind of a spending spree, it doesn't take much arithmetic to multiply $200 billion by five and get $1,000 billion.

No one really knows what the war is costing today. The statistics of 1941 already are so obsolete as to be ancient history. A guess would be that military expenditures in 1941 ran close to $100 billion. There you are again. A 10-year war even at that pile's pace of spending would give you a trillion-dollar expense account.

Best estimates on war expenditures in 1941 run something like this: United States . . . . . $35 billion Great Britain . . . . . 23 " Russia . . . . . 8 " Germany . . . . . 8 " France (inc. occupa.) . . . . . 9 " Japan . . . . . 6 " Italy . . . . . 4.5 "

There's $95.5 billion a year for you, and it omits the expenditures of Canada, China, Netherlands, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Finland and others.

Just how obsolete those figures are is indicated by the U. S. expenditures. While this country spent $35 billion in 1941, the estimate for fiscal year 1942 is $77 billion and it may go higher. The sky is apparently the limit in this slap-happy lease-lend land.

Lower standards of living, lower wage scales, lower costs of materials and the depreciated currencies of other countries are reflected in those figures. Soviet Russia, for instance, with an army and a military machine and a war effort far vaster than anything in this country, gets by with a budget of from a third to a seventh as big, in dollar exchange equivalent, as the Soviet, too, all the profit has been wrung out of war costs.

If you add on to the strictly military expenditures the cost of rebuilding all the bombed cities, the pensions for crippled fighting men and survivors of the dead, the cost of the war is a trillion dollars or more. A trillion dollars for the total? Don't be a tight-wad. Make it two trillion and you'll come closer.

WAR COSTS AND CANALS For an appreciation of just how meaningless all these figures of billions and trillions of dollars really are, you can take the word of J. S. Knowlson, director of industry operations in the War Production board.

"A billion dollars is just a figure to me," confessed Knowlson in a recent speech, "but a few came in last week," he continued, "and said a billion dollars is two Panama canals. Perhaps that means something. It's impressive to think that we turned out six or seven Panama canals last month."

Take that Panama canal yardstick and apply it to the cost of the war and see what you get. America's war expenditures in 1941 were equal to 70 Panama canals. For the next fiscal year, America will be building the equivalent of 144 Panama canals. And if the cost of the war reaches the all-but-unthinkable two-trillion-dollar mark, that will be 4,000 Panama canals. The question is whether the world needs so many.

Today's War Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Wide World War Analysts The Japs, whose reputation for veracity isn't above reproach, claim they haven't been able to occupy western islands in our Aleutian chain off the Alaskan peninsula, and they emphasize this as having "pointed a sword at the enemy's throat."

Washington replies through a navy spokesman: "We have no information about any Japanese on Alaskan soil. Certainly none of our inhabited areas, islands or rocks are troubled with uninvited visitors up to this time."

Well, if the little men of Nippon are lying, who can blame them for trying to save face with their home folks in view of our great victory at Midway? Admiral Nimitz, commander of the U. S. Pacific fleet, discloses that our Midway forces routed an armada of over 30 warships and that perhaps half the vessels of this great fleet were casualties, with the resulting deaths of thousands of Japanese. That will take some explaining to the people of the Mikado's domains, and the claim of the Aleutians may make the task easier.

To give the devil his due, we can't rule out the possibility that the Japs may have boarded some tiny, unoccupied rock. Anyway, if none of our "inhabited areas, islands or rocks" have been occupied, any argument about the matter is a tempest in a teapot. There are plenty of uninhabited spots among the volcanic pimples which form the islands in the western Aleutians where a Jap or a monkey could climb ashore and hang on, though such precarious perch would be a painful liability.

The Aleutians swing westward from the Alaskan peninsula in a comet-like curve for a thousand miles towards Russian Kamchatka and Japan. Most of these islands are volcanic and some are active. They have rocky coasts and are very dangerous to approach because the land rises sharply from the sea to steep mountains.

The weather is an abomination, for through most of the year the Aleutians are shrouded in fogs which frequently give way to hurricanes. June and July are the only months which provide decent weather and this fact presumably was one thing which encouraged the Japs to attack. By the same token they may return to the assault.

Unalaska, which lies near the tip of the Alaskan peninsula, is the biggest of the Aleutians and our air-naval base of Dutch Harbor is on an island in Unalaska bay.

The position of Dutch Harbor becomes more significant when the National Geographic society points out that "though it does not appear so on the flat map, Dutch Harbor is virtually on the same possible route from Seattle to Tokyo. This is true because of the curvature of the earth, which makes the great circle route the shortest distance between two points."

Had the Japanese captured Dutch Harbor they would have created a serious position for us.

However, the best they claim is occupation of something or other in the western Aleutians. That need not cause undue anxiety, for this part of the island chain is virtually uninhabited, since the volcanic rocks present neither strategic nor economic inducement to man.

four inches in length, instead of three inches, as before. . . Carving sets, pen knives and manicure implements have been classified as essential cutlery, and therefore curtailed in production. . . Army long underwear will be made in three grades—all wool for the north, half wool for temperate zones, a fourth wool for the deep south. . . Grocers have to paste all those sugar ration stamps on cards before turning them in to the wholesaler to get more sugar to sell the customers. . . A hundred million bolts, nuts, screws and rivets are used daily in war production. . . Printers are now permitted to use up existing stocks of bronze powder. . . The official doctrine on gas rationing now is, "Cut your mileage in half, regardless of what type of card you hold."

SERIAL STORY
SPORTING BLOOD
 BY HARRY HARRISON KROLL

COPYRIGHT, 1942, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORM: Strickland Ballard, pompous, paternalistic medicine king, has politely stolen a prize horse and a new strain of corn from young Hunter Dent, his farm manager. Hunter bets his next year's salary that before the year's end his water-loving employer will restore his horse and corn, and apologize. He repeats the bet before Ballard's daughter, Bella. Late that night Hunter finds Ballard's disinherited son, Junior, lying on the floor of his room. Bella's alarm is a snitch containing $1,000.

"You know, mysteries always charm and challenge me," Bella said. "I'll wager you that if I had a clew I could solve this deep dark mystery."

CHAPTER II
 HUNTER DENT dazedly counted the sum of money again, and replaced the large denominations in the leather bag. A goldleaf monogram, almost obliterated by use, was of the First National Bank, Middletown. The Ballard Laboratories had their account in this bank. It was possible the money was Mr. Ballard's. Hunter went and looked down at the boy. He was breathing with a gargling noise and seemed dead drunk. "Poor brat. Well, this is the fruits of too much paternal indulgence. I'd better get him to his room and to bed."

First, however, he must safeguard the money. He put it in the new steel safe, the combination to which only Hunter knew, as the safe was recently installed and Mr. Ballard had not got around to checking on the installation. Hunter then hoisted the limp young man across his powerful shoulders and carried him into the night. The party seemed to have broken. Hunter knew his way about. He toted Junior to his room and without taking off his clothes put him on the bed and came away.

He made a round of the house. Odd about the party's breaking up. Usually these things lasted all night. The house was as deserted as a tomb. He searched for Junior's car, a powerful, costly roadster, but it was not in the garage nor parked under the trees in the drive. "Funny," Hunter commented in his mind. The thought that struck Hunter made his pulse bound. Junior Ballard in all likelihood was so intoxicated that he would remember nothing of his coming to the office, of Hunter's carrying him to his bed, perhaps not even how or where he had got the money!

"All I would need to do," Hunter thought, "would be to keep the money in the safe. Junior will almost certainly get into trouble over it. Just before he has to go to jail, or the hot seat, I can have my inning with his daddy. Ballard will do anything for the boy. . . I've got him with his tail in the fence-crack, and all I need to do is let the fence drop smack-dab down on him!"

Maybe it was a little shabby. But when you have just yielded up the fruits of some years of your own life because of an underdog, and you manage in turn to grab yourself an underdog even stronger, is that a moment in which to weaken? Hunter stiffened his spine and went in, going to bed so as to catch some more sleep before he rose early in the morning.

HE did not sleep very well. He waked before sunrise, according to his habit. He went down to the barn. There he set the colored boys to feeding the horses, and getting the milking done. Sunrise was gathering on the hills and valleys and river when he was through with the morning chores. "Top of the morning!" called a cheerful, contralto voice from the bottom step as Hunter came around the corner of the office.

"Hullo, Red," Hunter said, eyeing her with disapproval. Bella Ballard wore a bright peasant dress, a milkmaid's dress. If she had ever milked a cow he had not seen her. But for her father's registered herds she might have supposed milk grew in bottles and was plucked from trees. Her gay parody on a working-girl's costume somehow outraged the young manager. She was just a little too lovely, her lips were just a bit too kissable. She hadn't any right to be so damned attractive. It would have been different if she still followed him around as she did as a teen-kid. Now she was grown up. She would be married at Christmas to Oliver Tisdale.

TRUE, all this was poor excuse for his cantary venom. "What are you doing here? Clear out," he told her. He supposed this was jealousy. But she got on his nerves. "What's that you've got?" "The morning paper. It comes by the dawn cream truck. Since you seem to be illiterate I'd better read you the news which has crowded the war news off the front page." She shook the paper out.

"That's interesting," Hunter grunted. "Yes, it is. A bank messenger was shot last night and seventeen thousand—"

Hunter grabbed the paper, read furiously, hitting the high spots. The slugged bank messenger was near death. Unconscious, and the police had been unable to question him. Identity of assailants unknown. The supposition was that a payroll, or secret movement of money in currency, had cleared through the First National on short notice, but bank authorities had not been contacted at the time of going to press. The job had all the earmarks of an inside stunt.

U. S. Task Force Joins British In Blockading Germans

LONDON, June 11. (AP)—Powerful United States naval units have joined the British home fleet in the tasks of blockading the Germans and protecting vital Allied shipping lanes by keeping Adolf Hitler's mightiest warships from joining the battle of the Atlantic.

The American forces, whose arrival was announced today, apparently are sufficiently strong to cope with the German super-battleship Tirpitz, the cruiser Admiral Hipper and other lesser craft should they venture forth from the Norwegian bases where for weeks they have constituted a potential threat to

Gulf Fish Being Hooked Despite War

(By The Associated Press)

When the water and weather are right, despite the war, submarines and regulations, fishermen are still catching mackerel, trout, pompano and other fine game and eating fish out of the Gulf of Mexico.

At such famed resorts as Port Aransas, the boats are still going out, albeit under the nose—and eyes—of the navy, although other sections of the coast are restricted for bombing range purposes or for other reasons.

Fishermen who plan to spend their vacations, if any, on the coast are advised to inquire in advance in the particular area where they hope to fish, to determine the local situation.

Fort Aransas and Mustang Island, for example, are still drawing good summer crowds.

Outliners at the resort report that fishermen are not spending as much time as they once did, but they're still coming, and the local regulations such as the ban on cameras are not burdensome. The jetties and piers are open to the public, and there have been some fine catches of pompano and trout.

Ensign E. R. Sneringer, USCG, captain of the port at Corpus Christi, is authority for the following generalized regulations.

"According to coast guard regulations, it is necessary for each person going on the water to have a coast guard identification card. However, in the case of a wife going with her husband, it will not be necessary for the wife to have a card.

"In addition to the identification card, it will also be necessary for owners of boats to have a coast guard license for the boat. In order for the owner to obtain this license, he must first have the identification card. Also, if the boat has a certificate of award, it must accompany the application for license. There is no charge for these services.

"To obtain these identification cards it is necessary to fill out an application form and accompany it with four full-face photographs taken with hat and glasses removed. At present we do not have many of these applications, but persons who come to our office at Corpus Christi or Rockport for cards can be supplied."

Aviators Performed Uncounted Feats Of Bravery, Gallantry

By CLARK LEE

GENERAL EDMONDS HEAD-QUARTERS, Territory of Hawaii, June 11. (AP)—Army aviators performed uncounted feats of gallantry and bravery in the battle of Midway but the boys who did them shrug them off as nothing compared to the deeds of the United States marines.

"The unbelievable devotion of the marines, both on the ground and in the air to their duty was an example to us all," said Col. Walter C. Sweeney, Jr., commander of the flying fortress squadron.

Only a portion of the story of what the marines did can yet be told.

One army pilot who led a low-level attack on a Japanese carrier through devastating anti-aircraft fire and fighter opposition said: "I can't get over those young marine pilots, many of them kids just out of flying school.

"One marine pilot couldn't get his wheels retracted after the take-off, so he was unable to fight. Instead of flying away from the battle area he stayed at 48 feet above the water. He let a Zero fighter get on his tail, then led it over our anti-aircraft which shot it down. Then he did the same stunt with another Jap."

Another army pilot said:

"When we landed after bombing the Jap fleet the morning of June 4 we found Midway had been attacked. Many of the marines were dead but the survivors were the coolest and most determined bunch of men I ever saw.

"Gunners were sitting around patting their guns, picking their teeth, glaring skyward and saying to one another: 'I wish those --- would come back soon.'"

Daughter Of Indian Claims Portion Of Rich Burnett Estate

WICHITA FALLS, June 11. (AP)

—Whether the late Tom Lester Burnett, wealthy landowner and cattleman, and Jennie Ho-We-Ah, beautiful Comanche girl, lived together 40 years ago as man and wife near Lawton, Okla., is before a district court jury here.

Mrs. Pena McArthur, daughter of the Indian, is contesting Burnett's will and seeking to establish claim to his estate on the grounds that she is Burnett's daughter by his tribal law marriage to Jennie Ho-We-Ah.

Members of the Comanche tribe testified to that effect yesterday. Among the witnesses was Rev. White Parker, son of Chief Quannah Parker and grandson of Cynthia Ann Parker, white woman captured by the Indians.

He said that from 1905 for several years it was understood among the Comanches that Tom Burnett and Jennie Ho-We-Ah were man and wife.

Mrs. McArthur's petition values the Burnett estate at $3,000,000. If it is established that she is Burnett's child, there will be another trial on her charge that the will is illegal.
