FDR AND CHURCHILL CONFER ON SECOND FRONT

Symbol of naval revolution is the aircraft carrier—looming as the new spearhead of the fleet.

Carriers Taking Battleship's Place As Fleet Spearhead

By THOMAS M. JOHNSON
NEA Service Military Writer
WASHINGTON, June 19.—"What we need to win this war is a hundred and fifty aircraft carriers," exploded a naval officer back from the Far East.
Before Pearl Harbor the battleship admirals would have snorted in derision. But the battles of Midway and the Coral sea have shown that the war in the Pacific is today largely a carrier war.
The navy has put air-going sailors on the bridge, and their imaginations soar unfettered even up to drawing-board talk of a flying carrier, a dirigible, towing planes through the air.
That may actually come, someday. Meanwhile, Jan. 1 will surely see the navy nearer 150 carriers than seemed possible a few months ago. Congress will soon vote a big new program to free the seagull's wings.
The navy is quietly undergoing a revolution in tactical doctrine toward air-power which is projected over the high seas by carrier much farther than the biggest shell is projected by gunfire.

Girl Injured When Truck Hits Horse

Ernestine Crane, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crane, farmers residing three miles northwest of Pampa, suffered head and back injuries when thrown to the pavement after the horse she was riding was struck by a light truck last night about 10:30 o'clock. Her condition was reported favorable in a local hospital today.
Two girl friends riding with Miss Crane were uninjured although one of them, Virginia Covington, was thrown to the ground when her horse bolted. Billy Kay Coombs, another member of the party, managed to stay on her horse.
The three girls, according to city police officers who investigated the accident, were riding west on Alcock street when they were overtaken by a truck driven by H. R. Young of the Public Construction company. Young told officers that he failed to see the horses until he was close to them. He said he tried to miss the horses but that the one ridden by Miss Crane was struck.
About an hour after the accident the Crane horse was located near noon today on trace of the horse ridden by Miss Covington had been reported to police. Miss Crane's horse was cut on the left rear leg but was otherwise uninjured.
Miss Crane was unconscious when taken to the hospital in a car. She regained consciousness about an hour after the accident.

Private First Class Charles O. Slavens, 25 son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Slavens of Skellytown, is missing in action, according to a letter from the war department, received yesterday by Pfc. Slavens' parents.
The Skellytown man was last reported in service in Java with Battery B, 131st field artillery.
Slavens enlisted in the army on November 15, 1940, was trained at Camp Bowie, and went overseas just one year to the day from the time he enlisted.
He was a graduate of the high school at Lebanon, Mo., but had lived in Skellytown for eight years, where his father is an employee of the Cabot Carbon company.

Land-Based Army Planes Struck First

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia, June 19 (AP)—A new chapter in the stirring story of last month's Coral sea battle was unfolded today by American land-based army fliers who told how they delivered the first of a series of blows that sank 15 Japanese ships, set more than 20 afire and sank the scattered remnants of a great invasion armada fleeing northward.
For four solid days, the fliers disclosed, they ranged the sea in relays, striking at the Japanese fleet and retreating to their bases only for fresh loads of bombs and gasoline.
In adding new details to the accounts already given from naval and other quarters, the fliers said the action was fought out over a wide area, with the rival surface squadrons at least 200 miles apart, probably a record range for a naval engagement, and with the aerial missiles entirely replacing fleet broadsides for the first time in history.
Had the Japanese failed to turn back, declared Capt. Harry Spieth of Portland, Ore., not one of the 70 to 80 vessels which originally composed the armada would have survived.
Credit for striking the initial blow against the Japanese fleet was given to Lieutenants Maurice Hargan of See ARMY PLANES, Page 8

Grandma Rogers Tells Why She Has Lived To Be 100 Years Old

By THE ROVING REPORTER
Four years ago, the Roving Reporter visited Grandma Martha Rogers near McLean, and he told her that he wouldn't miss attending her 100th birthday celebration.
Well, yesterday the R. R. attended that inspiring party, and after dinner he hunted up Grandma Rogers and asked her:
"Grandma, why have you lived so long?"
"Well, I've always had so much to do and I was so slow about doing it, that it's taken me 100 years to do it and I'm not finished yet."
Later on, Grandma Rogers said, "I'm not tired of living," and you believed her, because she looked better yesterday than she did last year. She now has to support herself continuously with a walking stick everywhere she goes, but she goes plenty.
She's not as young as she was the day she was 92. That day she hoed all morning in the garden and she got really tired. In fact, she got so tired that she didn't feel like walking around to the gate on the side farthest away from the house. So she just decided she'd club a fence, and she did.
The birthday party was held at the home of Mrs. Nida Green, a grand-daughter of Mrs. Rogers.
Mrs. Rogers at 100 years of age is a remarkable woman. She still reads hours every day, and without glasses. Her hearing is perfect. She is not the least bit childish, her memory is amazing, and her mind is as keen as ever.
Nobody else knew how many descendants Mrs. Rogers has but Grandma Rogers knew, and most of her 44 grandchildren, her 60 great-grandchildren, and her 25 great-great grandchildren were present yesterday, and in addition,

Sevastopol And Tobruk Encircled As Briton Arrives

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor
Fateful decisions hung in the balance today as Prime Minister Churchill, arriving in the United States for the second time in seven months, conferred with President Roosevelt on win-the-war strategy and presumably on the urgency of creating a second front in Europe.
The urgency was high-lighted as Adolf Hitler's field headquarters asserted that German shock troops, scoring "decisive successes," had pierced the last northern defense lines in the siege of Sevastopol.
The Nazi command said Axis troops attacking from the north had reached Sewernaja bight, opposite the town of Sevastopol.
"The entire northern part of the fortress with the exception of one coastal fort in the southwestern sector has thus fallen into German hands after 12 days of heavy fighting," a German communique said.
Under siege for eight months, the great Black sea naval base is the last Russian stronghold in the Crimea barring the way of a Nazi thrust into the rich Caucasus oil fields.
With the need of Allied counter blows sharpened by critical developments in the battles of North Africa and Soviet Crimea, world capitalists displayed electric excitement over Churchill's new flight across the Atlantic.
In London, British newspapers hailed it as definite evidence of momentous events in the making.
"Second Front, Talks Start," said the London Daily Express.
High significance was attached to the fact that Churchill was accompanied by Gen. Sir Alan Francis Brooke, chief of the imperial general staff, who last month told American troops in Northern Ireland their opportunity to fight "will come soon."
Other London quarters said they believed one of Churchill's main purposes was to seek more United States help in holding the Middle East against expected German thrusts from Libya toward Egypt and from the Russian Ukraine into the Caucasus.
The extreme gravity of the Libyan-Egyptian situation was viewed today by competent sources as likely to postpone until 1943 any really big United Nations land offensive in western Europe, although Commando raids may be increased. The hit-and-run raids would meet the clamor for a second European front now—something which the British man-in-the-street hopes will result from Churchill's newest Washington visit.
Strategists know that Egypt must be held if the Allies are to bar Hitler from the Middle Eastern oil fields and they know that it is the main bastion against Nazi union with the Japanese somewhere east of Suez, a route to the riches of the Indies and a cutting of allied supply lines to southern Russia.
The presence of American army bombers and other war equipment in this theater proves President Roosevelt's regard for the importance of Egypt and the Sudan, just as the successes of the Axis Libyan commander, Marshal Rommel, prove that the present forces in the Middle East still are not enough for safety.
From a purely military standpoint, the British success means:
1—The British may have to divert some troops and thus leave the country adjacent to oil-rich Iraq open to Nazi air-borne invasion—just at a time when they are increasing reports of German glider exercises in the region of Crete.
2—The Germans probably will start heavy bombing raids on Alexandria, a naval base key to the eastern Mediterranean.
3—If the Axis can draw away British air and naval strength the Axis might try to invade Malta to ease the Italian-German supply route from Italy to Africa.
4—Rommel can be expected to open a big land offensive toward Egypt, Alexandria and Suez when and if he can remove the Tobruk thorn from the Axis Libyan flank.

This Young Man's War, Says Major

DALLAS, June 19 (AP)—The present world conflict is a young man's war because it "demands stamina, resourcefulness and high courage on the part of officers and men," Maj. Gen. Eugene Reybold, chief of engineers, U. S. Army, declared today.
"That this is a young man's war is evident to anyone who has followed the campaigns through the press," General Reybold said in an address prepared for delivery before the National Junior Chamber of Commerce convention.
"It is a war of flashing movement, of blinding speed, of terrific shock and power. It is a war of machines—of trucks and tanks and planes. It is a war in which life-and-death decisions must be made under conditions of heavy stress, a war in which the issue of battle may be decided within a matter of moments."
Every citizen, General Reybold added, is "in a real sense, a soldier—but, now as in the past, it is true that the special province of the young man is in the fields of combat and action. If the massed total of United America is a great sword, the young men of America are that sword's sharp edge."
The general asserted that "notwithstanding the initial disadvantage under which we have operated we have continued to hold the vital bases from which our ultimate offensives will be launched. We have See MAJOR, Page 8

London Says Middle East Caused Visit

By ROBERT BUNNELLE
LONDON, June 19. (AP)—One of the main purposes of Prime Minister Churchill's current visit to Washington is believed in some quarters to be enlistment of additional United States help in holding the Middle East against expected German thrusts from Libya toward Egypt and from the Russian Ukraine into the Caucasus.
The extreme gravity of the Libyan-Egyptian situation was viewed today by competent sources as likely to postpone until 1943 any really big United Nations land offensive in western Europe, although Commando raids may be increased. The hit-and-run raids would meet the clamor for a second European front now—something which the British man-in-the-street hopes will result from Churchill's newest Washington visit.

Court Fails To Act On Democratic Motion

(By The Associated Press)
The fifth court of civil appeals at Dallas today overruled a motion in behalf of the state Democratic executive committee asking for a ruling on the question of a special election to fill the railroad commission post vacated by the resignation of Jerry Sadler.
Meanwhile, the second court of civil appeals at Fort Worth was expected to hear an appeal filed by James E. Kilday of Austin from a ruling in 916th district court denying an injunction restraining the state committee from certifying any name but Kilday's as candidate for the place.
The situation remained hazardous on both the Libyan desert and Crimean fronts, but overnight developments indicated that the Russian defenders of Sevastopol were still holding stoutly against the German siege armies and there was no confirmation of the Nazi high command's claim that Axis troops had smashed their way into Sevastopol's fortifications.
"The heroic defenders of Sevastopol courageously and staunchly beat off numerous German attacks," Red army headquarters said.
On the North African front, British headquarters announced that Lieut.-Gen. Neil M. Ritchie's armies were holding strong positions on the Libyan-Egyptian frontier and in the Tobruk sector, 80 miles to the west.
It was clear, however, that a new siege of Tobruk had begun, with the thunder of heavy gunfire rolling along the perimeter of Tobruk's outer fortifications as the Axis moved up great 9-inch guns See SEVASTOPOL, Page 8

'Harvest Pool' Still Empty

Harvest time is right at hand but the "harvest pool" is still nearly as empty as Mother Hubbard's cupboard.
The "pool" is a plan for persons to turn in tires suitable for recapping so these can be used to equip farmers' vehicles in getting in the wheat crop.
There have been a lot of tires turned in, but they had to be rejected as they could not be recapped.
A vast amount of wheat will not find its way to the market if the tires aren't forthcoming. If you have tires available for this purpose, turn them in at once to either the Gunn-Hinerman Tire company or the Dixie Tire company, Pampa's two recapping stations.
Persons turning in suitable tires or casings will be given warehouse receipts which should be delivered to the Gray County War Price and Rationing board. In turn, this receipt, together with a recapping certificate, will be given to farmers applying for tires which cannot be furnished due to lack of quota.
Frank Culbertson, chairman of the transportation committee of the Pampa Civilian Defense council, is leader of the "harvest pool" plan.
Committee members, anxious because tires have not been forthcoming, see the scrap rubber campaign as a possible source for the "pool" and are working on a plan to obtain tires adapted for the purpose from the collection.

Father's Day... in wartime.

Dad, Your Country's Planning To Go 'All Out' For Wartime Father's Day

The Head Man had better get set. A pretty big to-do is going to be made over him, at home and in public, on June 21, That's Father's Day. And the 1942 celebration of it will include the customary family-circle observances, and international ceremonies linking the 32,000,000 heads of American families, as a group, with their sons, many of whom are on the American battlefronts.

The American Legion's International Father's Day program on the Mail, huge sreading green in New York's Central park, will be broadcast to the troops abroad, as well as throughout the United States. It is expected that a response will come back from a spokesman for the boys in uniform.

Exactly 484 communities already have set up local committees to guide civic, church, political, and patriotic leaders in town ceremonies. The National Father's Day committee, here, says the war has greatly intensified feeling for the holiday. About half the states' governors have arranged to issue proclamations; practically all the others will issue public pronouncements calling for universal participation.

Methodist. Until recently she hasn't missed a general conference of the Methodist church in 50 years. She believes in the old-time religion.

"There's nothing to this hold-your-hand-up religion," she said yesterday. "You've got to get religion before you can join a church, and to get religion you've got to pray at the mourners' bench and you've got to get under a conviction and repent. This hold-your-hand-up religion doesn't last very long. But when you get it at the mourners' bench it can last a hundred years."

Present at the celebration yesterday was the Rev. G. T. Palmer of Cleburne district superintendent of this district. Mrs. Rogers was a member of the congregation when Mr. Palmer was pastor of his first church at Wheeler in 1911. At that time Rev. Palmer had just been graduated from Southwestern university. Rev. Palmer talked briefly at the afternoon program and paid a glowing tribute to Mrs. Rogers.

Mrs. Rogers doesn't eat black-eyed peas on New Year's for good luck. She reads the Bible all day long. She says that brings her what she needs, "It's the power of God through prayer," she said.

Grandma Rogers has still another reason why she lived to be 100 years old.

"When I was five years old," she said, "I thought that Jacob's ladder was a real ladder, and later on I began to see it as a ladder of life. It got into my mind that Jacob's ladder had 100 rungs. I thought, 'Year I have gone up Jacob's ladder one rung, some years I have felt like that I made two rungs, but I reckon today that I have gone up those 100 rungs on Jacob's ladder.'"

From Arlington Heights Methodist church in Fort Worth came the Rev. Finis Crutchfield to talk on the program. He referred to Grandma Rogers as "Aunt Martha." He knew her when he was a boy and he called her that then.

"It was at a camp meeting on Beaver creek," he said, "when I got the call to preach, and Aunt Martha Rogers was there praying with me," he recalled.

Later Rev. Crutchfield and the Rev. Leo Rippey of Nashville, Tenn., head of the adult education department of the Methodist church, sang a song entitled "I'm Climbing Jacob's Ladder." Rev. Rippey is a grandson of Grandma Rogers.

In the afternoon program, Grandma Rogers spoke rather lengthily of the slide of the tall locust trees with her descendants seated on benches around her. She related her Christian experiences.

"I have read the Texas Christianian for 50 years," she said. "The Advocate is the journalistic organ of the Methodist church."

Mrs. Rogers recalled that she was married 85 years ago yesterday.

"The Rogerses all talked about the War of 1812. So I feel like I have lived through five wars," she remembered.

The children present yesterday were Mrs. Lucy Rippey, Mrs. Nellie Stone, Amarillo; Mrs. Charles Rogers, Phoenix, Ariz.; John Rogers, Austin; Mrs. Emma Barrett, Oklahoma City; not present were Frances Rogers, Springfield, N. M.; and Frank Rogers, Phoenix, Ariz.

Descendants from El Paso, Melrose, N. M., Norman, Okla., Oklahoma City, Shamrock, Wheeler, Pampa, McAlester, Tennessee, Arizona, and several other places attended the centennial birthday party.

Five daughters of Mrs. Rogers' only brother, now deceased, attended. They were Mrs. N. R. Ross, Dallas; Mrs. Will Powell, Marietta, Okla.; Mrs. Adda Lay, Houston; Mrs. Nell Kerns, Oklahoma City; Mrs. Mollie Jones, Norman, Okla.

At noon was served an array of food which seemed to be as plentiful when everybody had finished as when they began. The food was brought by the relatives and furnished by Mrs. Green, Mrs. Rogers. Just to mention a few of the dishes: a tub-full of fried chicken, giblets and noodles, 15 kinds of salads, a dozen kinds of fresh vegetables, hams, roasts, steak, cakes, pies. The women saved up sugar for several weeks to make the cakes.

The birthday cake was in the form of a giant "W" and had one hundred candles on it.

It was a happy day for Grandma Rogers. She refused to take a nap, and when everybody left she began to inspect the gifts piled high on a table.

Mrs. Rogers is the third Wheeler county person to have reached the age of 100 years in the last five years. Mrs. Wray of Mobeetle, now deceased, lived to be 100 years old, and "Dad" Lovelace of McLean and Shamrock is now 104 years old, and still walks up town and plays dominoes every day. He, too, is a faithful Christian, a member of the Nazarene church.

FIRST PRIZE WINNER. This outdoor cooking scene, typical of Girl Scout activities, won first prize in a nation-wide photographic contest conducted by and for Girl Scouts. This will be one of the activities in the day camp program which will open here Monday.

Marriage Of Miss Buckingham And Lt. Sparks Announced

PANHANDLE, June 19—Announcement was made in Panhandle last week of the marriage of Miss Florrie Buckingham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Buckingham of Sulphur Springs, to Lieut. John S. (Connie) Sparks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Sparks, Sr., of Panhandle.

The Rev. G. H. Mood, minister of the First Methodist church, officiated at the single ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents.

A mirrored mantel formed the background for an improvised altar which was decorated with magnolias and flanked by fern and baskets of white gladioli and shasta daisies. Arrangements of gladioli, roses and gardenias were in the reception room.

The only attendant was Nolan Sparks of Panhandle, who served as best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of white waffle flannel trimmed with net insertions with matching off-face hat. She wore a white orchid.

The couple will be at home at Albuquerque, N. M., where the bridegroom is a bomber pilot.

RICH BROWN STEW

To make a rich, brown stew, brown the meat in a heavy pan before the liquid is added. If you prefer a light-colored stew, add liquid to meat without first browning. Vegetables should not be added until just long enough before serving to cook thoroughly. Overcooked vegetables lose color, shape and vitamins. When all is cooked tender, thicken liquid with flour to make gravy.

Rev. Sumrall Will Speak On 'The Church And Why It Has Lived'

The Church and Why It Has Lived" will be the sermon subject delivered at Central Baptist church at 11 o'clock Sunday morning by the Rev. T. D. Sumrall, pastor. "Surely the church has lived through every age. Unfriendly governments, wicked and evil rulers, and even heathenism have combined against the church and the Bible but all through dark ages of war and strife the church has stood the test. There is a reason for the church living on and on and growing stronger. This one institution exists for man's light and guidance," Rev. Sumrall pointed out.

"The Day of Trouble" will be the sermon subject at 8 o'clock Sunday evening.

"We are in a land of trouble; the attitude in which we meet trouble determines character. Troubles have come to many people, but fixed purposes, determined goals, and much persistence have turned these troubles to stepping-stones of success. The Bible tells us what to do in that day of trouble. There is a way out. The outlook for our country and world is dark but even in that there is a remedy and a way out. There is a way out of every dark trial and trouble if men will find in the word of God that way, and obey it in time. We invite the public to hear this sermon," he continued.

Rev. Sumrall is conducting a revival at the First Baptist church in Tipton, Okla., where his brother, the Rev. Troy Sumrall, is pastor.

Atomic Force To Be Lesson-Sermon Topic

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden text is: "The Lord by wisdom hath founded the earth; by understanding hath he established the heavens (Proverbs 3: 19). Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For thus saith the Lord that created the heavens; God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the Lord; and there is none else (Isaiah 45:18).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Spirit, God, has created all in and of Himself. . . . Spirit is the only substance, the invisible and indivisible infinite God. Things spiritual and eternal are substantial. Things material and temporal are insubstantial" (page 335).

Rise In Cost Of Living Stymied

WASHINGTON, June 19 (AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson reported today that, for the first time since November, 1940, the steady rise in living costs had come to a standstill—actually, declining slightly—and he credited the government's over-all ceiling on retail prices.

Henderson declared that a special survey of 21 cities, made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics for the period from May 15 to June 2, showed that "if we are really serious about it, the battle against inflation can be won."

From the outbreak of the war in Europe until imposition of the general maximum price regulation May 18, the cost of living had climbed 17 1/2 per cent, his office said.

The survey showed the greatest reported decline came in rents, which PA reported had dropped 1.2 per cent as the result of or in anticipation of rent freezing regulations. Clothing prices also declined 1/2 of 1 per cent while food prices increased 3-10 of 1 per cent.

The ceiling prices must be back-stopped, Henderson said, by a reduction in consumer buying power, including increased savings, more purchases of war bonds, higher taxes, and stabilization of wages and farm prices.

Tomorrow Deadline For Candidates Fees

If you intend to be a candidate in the July 25 Democratic primary, you'd better put your money on the line in a hurry.

That was the admonition today of John V. Andrews, Gray County Democratic Executive committee chairman as he stated that midnight tomorrow, Saturday, June 20, is the deadline for candidates to pay election assessments.

"If the fee isn't paid by that time their names won't go on the ballot," said the chairman.

There are many candidates who have not paid the assessment to date.

Among the changes in the political setup is the naming of J. L. Nance as Democratic chairman for precinct 15, replacing Reno Stinson because the latter has moved from that area; and the candidacy of D. M. Jones for chairmanship of precinct 1.

Keep Credit Free "If the American banking system passes into government ownership or under complete government control," writes Dr. Paul F. Cadman, the distinguished economist, "the American enterprise system will be doomed. The day when the government takes over the function of granting or withholding credit to private enterprise, the latter will cease to exist. By the very nature of government, the political control and distribution of credit would force bring all business directly under the domination of the agency which had the power to extend or deny credit without regard to the true character of the risk."

In these times of incredible expenditures for purely military purposes, it is clear that a very large expansion of government financing is inevitable. The goal we should keep in mind is to hold this expansion to the minimum extent consistent with war needs. It is unquestionably true that many a governmental finance agency is now doing work which could and should be done either by the banks or by other private financial institutions. Public money should not be used for a job which can be done by private money.

No industry has done better in adapting its vast facilities to war purposes than banking. A list of banking activities directly involved with the war effort would fill many pages—and, on top of that, banking must carry on its regular services to business, individuals and the government. It is operating with complete efficiency under the most difficult conditions. It is decisively demonstrating its ability to meet the present crisis.

BUY VICTORY STAMPS—One of the anomalies of this war is the American attitude toward Finland. Both official Washington and the general public continue to think of Germany's little northern ally differently than of any other Hitler associate. We have declared war on three Nazi stooge nations. Secretary Hull merely warns Finland to watch her step.

The answer is, of course, that we generally regard Finland as a real democracy. We sympathized when big Russia beat her down by sheer weight of numbers and seized her territory. We understood when Finland took advantage of Hitler's attack on Russia, and went along for a cheap ride to get back her own lost provinces. We know now how impossible it is for Finland to pull out of her bad bargain.

Behind The News In Washington By PETER EDSON Washington legends are legion and a corollary to that cliché is that apocryphal stories, fairy tales, war-time rumors, and asserted plain and fancy lies die harder in your nation's capital than anywhere else outside the gossip marts of Hollywood and cafe society. Give a good gal a bad name and any other mud slung in her direction will stick to enhance her ill repute, and all the press agency and cosmetic whitewash in the world are required to restore even a semblance of the pre-smear party. The same thing goes for men in public life. A correction never quite catches up with the original version, and two striking incidents in Washington have recently emphasized this maxim.

The first concerns Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce. Six months ago he unquestionably was one of the two or three most important men in Washington. Then some of the Jones-made directives to these agencies, the shortness of time that Jones was busted and the inference was that he should resign.

HE FOOLS 'EM Well, Jesse is still doing business at the same old stands, only more of it. He still controls his check-books and this matter of issuing directives turned to be nothing more than the power to work with the Jones agencies and tell them to finance operations in places and situations they haven't been working before.

As a matter of fact, the Board of

Common Ground

By E. C. BOILES

"I speak the peace-word. I give the sign of democracy. By God I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." WALT WHITMAN

A PENNY A POUND FOR SCRAP RUBBER It is little wonder that no one knows how much scrap rubber is available to be used to make tires. When the Administration sets the price at $18 a ton, or less than a penny a pound, for scrap rubber, it hardly makes it worth the time and energy for people to search their premises for rubber and to discard some rubber articles that might still be useful to the owner.

But this error in establishing the price of rubber is a natural result of an Administration that thinks it is wiser in establishing values than the wisdom of all the people.

The principal difference between a dictatorial form of government as the New Deal is rapidly approaching and a real democracy, as aimed by our forefathers, is that all the people have a right to help establish values of different things and services and not the government representing a bare majority. Certainly the wisdom of all the people is greater than the wisdom of part of the people.

And while we are paying such a low price for rubber as to eventually make our cars of little or no value, we are paying over twice the price for silver that the law of supply and demand warrants. We are also paying so much for certain kinds of labor, arbitrarily established by force with the consent of the government, that we have a great supply of certain kinds of workers and a scarcity of other kinds of workers, due to the low price; as for instance farm labor.

While we pay less than a cent per pound for scrap rubber, we pay $35 an ounce for gold. Our price is so high on gold and silver that it comes from all over the world. And what good is the gold and silver in helping us win the war and feeding and clothing us?

But these are only natural mistakes in a socialistic government like we are fast becoming. Cause of Our Betterment

The reason this country had its standard of living raised faster than any other country in all the world was that we more nearly than any other country permitted all people to help establish values. But since the government started to foster labor unions, in establishing arbitrary wages, and since it established various prices for gold and silver and wheat and numerous commodities, our standard of living has not been increasing as it did for 150 years.

Possibly when people begin to discard their cars due to the mismanagement of the government, they will sooner or later realize that free enterprise is better for all concerned than a totalitarian government where those in power establish prices with the idea of not benefitting the people but solely of keeping themselves "power."

 EQUALITY OF RIGHTS PROBLEMS

Man by nature has equality of rights, but not equal capabilities. This is demonstrated by the fact that men are created in the image of God. And since things that are equal to the same things are equal to each other, and since all men are created in the image of God, all men are created with equal rights—the equal right to think, to pursue happiness and to exchange services.

The foundation of any successful society is based on the equality of rights of all men. It is because we have disregarded this natural law, this God-given law, that all men are equal before God, and attempted to make them more equal in accomplishments, that we have unemployment, wars and so much unnecessary poverty and misery.

POWER OF GOSPEL CAN SATISFY NEEDS LONG AFTER WORLD CRISIS IS ENDED Text: Matthew 28:16-20; Mark 16:14-20; Luke 24:49-53.

By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D. Editor of Advance

It is not easy for us to grasp the full significance of what is often called the Great Commission, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." We do not know the exact date at which these words in the Gospel of Mark were written, but it was near the time of the very beginning of Christianity. We live in a world so accustomed to Christian institutions and so aware of the spread of Christianity to almost every part of the world that it is almost impossible for us to visualize the conditions under which these words were written. The events that have become the most important in all history for us were then unknown or unimportant to the greater part of that ancient world. Christians were comparatively few, and were for the most part either despised or persecuted.

The growth of the early church was remarkable immediately following the fulfillment of the commission that Jesus gave to His 11 faithful apostles and the missionary labors of St. Paul and his associates, but even this remarkable growth was small in comparison with the vast number who had never heard of Christ. The religion of the Galilean seemed feeble and unimportant, with its groups meeting in homes, or in lonely outdoor places, or even in the hidden catacombs, in comparison with the elaborate temples of Grecian and Roman cities and the official and popular religions that they represented.

Yet, one must attempt to reproduce something of that picture to grasp in any way a conception of the true nature of the faith and its association with the largeness, boldness, and courage of Christian faith in its idea that the Gospel it professed could be a boon to all mankind, and that its power and blessings could be preached to every creature. Surely, the faith and vision never dared elsewhere to contemplate anything so stupendous! The Christian enterprise, thus initiated in the very beginnings, leaves one breathless in consideration of the grandeur of the plans of those who have sought to bring all the world under their domain by military conquest.

The world of today seems in some measure to mock the grandeur of the enterprise and the vision of those who have been professedly Christian nations in deadly combat, and practically the whole world involved in war and violence, with the disruption of the entire withdrawal of our Christian missionaries from certain areas whither they had hitherto achieved much progress. But we must not be discouraged and we must guard against seeing the world in the false perspective of despair. As the boundaries of the world have enlarged and progress has developed, the powers of evil have increased along with the powers of good. The present crisis is, perhaps, deeper, but it is inherently no different from successive crises in which powers of anti-Christ have sought unsuccessfully to overthrow the Christian church and undo all that has been accomplished in the name of the Master.

The promise of God is still to the faithful, and it is as true today as it was in the dark hours when Jesus proclaimed it that the triumph of His Gospel is sure. When the world passes out of this period of hate and violence, there will still be human needs which the power of the Gospel to meet them.

Two prominent guests yesterday at the 100th birthday party for Grandma Rogers at the Green farm home near McLean, were Judge and Mrs. M. M. Miller of Dallas. Judge Miller was county judge of Wheeler county from 1912 to 1916. After Judge Gregory of the 31st district court was killed at LeFors, Judge Miller was one of three who announced for district judge. The other two candidates were Frank Willis and Judge W. R. Ewing who was elected. Judge Miller now calls himself an oil man, and he certainly has a right, too. The Longhorn pool is located on his ranch in Deval county. He is a wealthy man now, but he still remembers the days when he was poor and he remembers his friends of those days. Grandma Rogers was present when each of the three Miller children was born, and the Miller's have never forgotten what a good neighbor Mrs. Rogers was, and they have attended nearly every one of her birthday parties. Up until last year, Judge Miller sent Mrs. Rogers a check for $25 each year and last year he got it into his mind somehow that she was 100 then and he sent her a $100. A short time later he found out his mistake, but when he came to the party yesterday he brought another $100 check with him. Mrs. Miller brought a lovely bunch of orchids for Grandma Rogers. The bouquet was from Cadet Orville B. Miller of the Naval Air station at Corpus Christi, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller. Orville will get his wings soon. He was one of the Miller children Grandma Rogers helped bring into the world. ... Three years ago, Judge Miller sent Mrs. Rogers her first radio, and since then she has worn out three sets of batteries. She has listened to more than 150 sermons on the radio. She never misses a news broadcast. Her greatest worry right now is that priorities will not permit her to get another battery, but Judge Miller assured her that he'd see to it that she was kept supplied with batteries. Grandma Rogers has her favorite preachers on the radio, and never misses them when they go on the air.

One of Mrs. Rogers' numerous descendants lives in Pampa. She is Mrs. A. W. Mann. She is a great-granddaughter of Mrs. Rogers. A sister of Mrs. Mann married Paul Jensen who used to work at a creamery here. ... Supt. C. A. Cryer of McLean, who will be superintendent of the Berger schools next year, was at the party. He is a relative by marriage of Mrs. Rogers. His wife is a grand-daughter of Grandma Rogers. ... The Cryers will move to Berger about July 1.

At one point in the birthday party, a sack containing 1100 pennies was dumped into the aged woman's lap and she said, "Good, now I can pay the 'pennies'! The pennies were given by her children, 100 for each.

We are more than ever aware that it is only the Christ who can satisfy the needs and longings of mankind, and that is true, as in the ancient day, "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." Note, also, that the world that Jesus said He had overcome was a world of trial and tribulation, not unlike the world in which we are living.

TEX'S TOPICS

By Tex DeWeese

When the thermometer hikes up to around 100 in the shade, people begin getting off the war for topics and turn to the weather. ... The weather is always good conversation when you can't think of anything else to say. ... Incidentally, Claude Roberts got so fed up with war news that something got wrong with him so he went to his doctor. ... And what do you think the medico told him? ... Well, he told him to lay off reading and listening to the war news until he got straightened out again. ... Some hold that too much war news gives you both the big and little jitters at the same time, and that's pretty bad.

But getting back to the weather—if you must talk about it, hang onto your hats, here we go! ... This is just about the time of the year when the city editor gets an idea to send a reporter to interview one of the city health officials on how to keep healthy in hot weather, how to keep from letting the heat get you down and slump you. Here's the boiled down advice from about five years of such stories as found in the files: ... Avoid heavy foods, wear light clothing, keep your temper cool, drink plenty of water, bathe frequently, be moderate in sport and play, be temperate with those "long, cold drinks," and unlike "mad dogs and Englishmen," stay out of the mid-afternoon sun. ... The advice is free.

Under the storm and the cloud today And today the hard peril and pain— Tomorrow the stone shall be rolled away For the sunshine shall follow the rain. —Joquin Miller.

We never have had the urge to run for public office, but if we had the bug right now we'd sure get around to The News office and see the man about that big county-wide political edition that goes into every home in Gray county west from Sunday.

We've just been taking another look at it. ... And it's the biggest thing of its kind ever to be done in the Texas Panhandle. ... Ordinarily we don't plug things like that in this space but it's so good that we didn't want any of our candidate friends to come around later and "put us on" for not tipping them off. ... Really, this one is a natural.

Just received a card from Doc Pursley and the Pampa Kiwanians who are doing the international convention at Cleveland, Ohio. ... It's one of those cards that burn you up. ... You know, "having grand time, wish you were here" and that sort of thing. ... What two Pampa young ladies went swimming and nearly caused an aviator to crash the other evening? ... Oh, boy! ... You've heard of it.

AFTER Strickland Ballard had left, Hunter sat on his cot wanting somehow to laugh, though it was much nearer a crying matter. Ballard had come with a vague hope of fastening the crime on Hunter. His real reason was to shield poor Junior. Because Hunter's motive all along had been pretty much the same thing, it might seem as if they could get together. The trouble was that Hunter Dent was not quite prepared to carry a crime of which he was innocent to save another who seemed guilty.

Whatever Ballard's call, it took him hastily away. When Anderson came for Hunter to talk over the telephone, he laughed ironically.

"If I have any more high-and-mighty guests like you, Dent, I aim to install a private phone. There you are."

"Hello," Hunter said. "This is Tracy Hanning. I can't be with you until 10 o'clock. Will that be time enough?"

"Okay, We'll make it time enough." Hunter returned to his cell. Anderson obligingly brought the morning paper. Aside from the war news, the most interesting thing to Hunter was the dope on the local mystery. The girl, Sarah Kiker, had been released. The police would be watching her every moment to discover her escort the night of the murder. The long-expected break in the ordinance plant scandal came. The elder Ghibardo had been arrested in the charge of fraud in the contracts for building the great plant, and his case would come up in Federal Court. The First National, and other local financial interests, were allegedly involved. Other financial interests meant Strickland Ballard, who had his finger in every pie that came along. Perhaps it was this involvement that had taken Ballard away so quickly.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON

HOLLYWOOD, June 19—Tyrone Power, handsome as anything in a pair of floppy black pants and nothing else, and Miss Maurine O'Hara, had-fashioned lace union suit, had just escaped the clutches of that evil pirate, George Sanders, and they were ready to hide in a thicket beside the lagoon.

"They had escaped by leaping overboard from Sanders' brigantine, anchored nearby, but they didn't look it. Too dry, "Let's go," called Director Henry King. "Light's getting bad."

"And in the wind's coming up," whimpered Miss O'Hara, going over to a contraption that looked like a modern water heater set at the edge of 20th-Pox's jungle. It was in fact, an electrically heated tank with a shower nozzle. The actress tossed away the robe that had shielded her shivers between scenes and stepped under the shower while a make-up man soaked her 18th century lingerie and her currently blond hair.

TECHNICOLOR BLUES Power got wet, too, and they took their places before the camera. "Roll 'em," said the director. "Hold it," called the sound man. "That airplane's making too much noise."

"B-r-r-r," shuddered Miss O'Hara. "The plane went away, finally. And so did the sun, and it's raining. When the light got a little better there was another delay while King called for the makeup man. "Fix Miss O'Hara's face," he said. "And, Maureen, please remember that this picture is a technicolor. So stop turning blue."

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

Washington legends are legion and a corollary to that cliché is that apocryphal stories, fairy tales, war-time rumors, and asserted plain and fancy lies die harder in your nation's capital than anywhere else outside the gossip marts of Hollywood and cafe society. Give a good gal a bad name and any other mud slung in her direction will stick to enhance her ill repute, and all the press agency and cosmetic whitewash in the world are required to restore even a semblance of the pre-smear party. The same thing goes for men in public life. A correction never quite catches up with the original version, and two striking incidents in Washington have recently emphasized this maxim.

The first concerns Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce. Six months ago he unquestionably was one of the two or three most important men in Washington. Then some of the Jones-made directives to these agencies, the shortness of time that Jones was busted and the inference was that he should resign.

HE FOOLS 'EM Well, Jesse is still doing business at the same old stands, only more of it. He still controls his check-books and this matter of issuing directives turned to be nothing more than the power to work with the Jones agencies and tell them to finance operations in places and situations they haven't been working before.

As a matter of fact, the Board of Office Cat... The man had just got through paying a bunch of bills and was talking with a friend.

Friend—I don't know how things are with you, but it seems to me that I have a hard time meeting expenses these days.

Man—I'm quite different here, I assure you. For my part, I seem to find expenses at every turn.

Wife—How dare you deny that you had been drinking last night? Here you are in bed with your shoes and pants on.

Hubby—But you see, my dear, lately I have become addicted to walking in my sleep and I thought it best to be prepared.

So They Say I'm afraid my job is bombing Germany, not making speeches.

not apply to stores—just dwellings. One hundred and seventy-five million clearance federal housing projects have been transferred to exclusive use by war workers.

"Buy Coal Now" campaign has brought results, as evidenced by increased car loadings at mines. WPA has salvaged 6,000 tons of scrap steel from abandoned street car lines and the question is how soon the communities will wish they had 'em back again when auto transportation is curtailed to the limit.

The City of Pampa maintains two Interest and Sinking Funds for the purpose of servicing the Bond and Warrant Indebtedness of the City. A fund termed "General Interest and Sinking Fund" is used for the purpose of servicing all Bond and Warrant Issues of the City with the exception of the 1938 Water Revenue Issue. The income of this fund is derived entirely from taxes collected. A fund termed "Water Revenue Bonds Interest and Sinking Fund" is used for the purpose of servicing the 1938 Water Revenue Bond Issue and the income of the fund consists entirely of direct transfers from the "Water and Sewer Fund."

The Bond and Warrant Indebtedness of the City consists of eighteen separate issues, bearing interest from 4% to 6%. Although a number of the Bond and Warrant-Issues were issued for the Water and Sewer Department, they are all paid by taxes, with the exception of the one issue.

WATER AND SEWER: The only Bond Issue which is serviced by the Water and Sewer Department is the 1938 Water Revenue Bond Issue, the average annual requirements of which amount to $15,912.27. Revenue from the Water and Sewer Department in excess of its operating needs and the servicing of the Bond Issue, can and has been used for General Municipal purposes.

Operations for the year ending March 31, 1942, resulted in a Net Profit of $91,805.59, before debt requirements and depreciation—this profit was used for the following purposes:

Cash transferred to General Fund to operate the City	$60,500.00	65.90%
Cash transferred to 1938 Water Revenue Bond Fund to pay principal and interest	16,363.68	17.82%
Cash spent for improvements to the Water and Sewer Departments	16,012.05	17.44%
Leaving a net decrease in other assets of the Water and Sewer department of	1,070.14	1.16%
Total	$91,805.59	100.00%

Complete detailed reports are on file in the City Offices, open to anyone interested in more information. Another reduction was made in water rates effective June 15, 1941 based on the results obtained from a special survey made of water rates.

Customers' Meter Deposit at the close of the fiscal year amounted to $15,150.71, in comparison to $14,478.61 at the beginning of the year. Water and Sewer Account Receivable increased from $12,191.83 to $12,290.28 during the year.

Louis Ordered To Finish His Army Training By AUSTIN BEALMER NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—The fighting talents of Corp. Joe Louis will be reserved for the army, at least until he completes his basic military training and possibly until a victory is won in the scrap that is neither bound by ropes nor governed by the Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Secretary of War Stimson, whose activities in the fighting business have been confined to more important things than two-man struggles for money and titles, stepped into the ring picture yesterday and announced that Louis had been ordered to a training center to finish his course in soldiering.

"Appearances other than those in behalf of the armed forces will not be undertaken" by the heavyweight champion of the world until he completes his training, said Stimson, spiking all talk of a possible title fight this summer.

And from the army information service of the 2nd corps area came an announcement that the champion had been ordered transferred to Fort Riley, Kas., one of the leading cavalry centers.

"Presumably," said Stimson, the question of a championship bout will be considered when Joe finishes this stage of his training.

New York boxing circles, noting that Stimson left the way clear for a defense of the championship after Louis completes the training period, began speculating immediately on the possibility of a September title bout.

Among certain army men, however, speculation ran the other way. They regarded it as highly improbable Joe would be allowed to defend the title as long as the war is going on, even if the proceeds were earmarked for relief.

Rabe Tackles Wolves And Goes To Bat With Umpires

George Milledad did some great pitching while Fred Tschudin, new catcher, and Ray Surratt, veteran right fielder, exploded base hits all over East Rucker park last night to give the Pampa Oilers an easy 15 to 3 victory over Frexy Price's Pirates. It was the first game of a three-game series, of which the second battle will be staged tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Either Andy Mohrloch or Jim Boyle will be on the hill for the Oilers tonight. Manager Neal Rabe has not decided which of his Orphans he'll send to the hill.

Fans who don't particularly care for baseball but who like to see a good show are advised to visit Road Runner park tonight and tomorrow night where they'll see a real show—a one-man show—staged by Manager Rabe himself.

Last night Rabe and a couple of fans in the "wolf section" had the biggest battle of words of the year while Rabe and the umpires did everything they could to keep Rabe from coming to blows.

The first home run seen in Road Runner park in a long, long time, and the first by a Pampa player in a much longer time, gave fans a big kick last night because it was Fred Tschudin, new popular young catcher, who parked one over the left field fence in the third with one teammate aboard.

The Pirates drew first blood, in the second, when Brown beat out a Texas league blooper over second and Timmons and Wheatley beat out bunts to fill the bases. Brown scored when Timmons was forced at third. Then Buckel pulled an unassisted double play at third to nip the rally.

Oilers slugged Pitcher Johnston for six hits in their half of the second, good for four runs. They added two more in the third on Tschudin's homer and followed up with a four-run spurge in the fifth and a six-run barrage in the sixth. Manager Rabe took over and stepped the Oilers attack with his "nothing" ball.

Prof. A. R. E. Wyatt, Ph. D., B. D., M. D., captain of Chicago U's first football team: "After an experience of 16 years of university life, four years as a teacher, 15 years as a minister and over 30 years as a Chicago physician without losing a day from illness or injury, I retired with the abiding conviction that what I learned from intercollegiate football was of vital importance in my life's success."

One-Minute Sports Page Billy Brown, the Bronx Coliseum matchmaker, told the boxing community the other day: "If Mike Jacobs can't get matches for the Garden, I can." Okay, Billy, let's see you get Louis vs. Copps.

Maybe that vacation trip you plan this summer is only 50 miles away. But the 100 miles of driving will use up enough gasoline to carry seven army "jeeps" with seven guns and 21 fighting men 20 miles closer to the enemy.

Medwick Sets Off Battle With Slide

By JUDSON BAILEY Associated Press Sports Writer Baseball's fiercest feud in many seasons—the two-year-old rhabarb of the rowdy Brooklyn Dodgers and the scrapping St. Louis Cardinals—has broken out again.

St. Louis came steaming into Ebets field last night with a seven-game winning streak and visions of shaving down the Dodgers' 4 1/2 game National league lead during their crucial five-game series.

But the Dodgers diverted the Redbirds' attention with a free-for-all at second base in the sixth inning and sneaked off with a 5-2 victory that eventually may prove one of the most vital of the season.

It was two years to the day from the game in which Joe Medwick was named by Bob Bowman of the Cardinals as the sixth inning and sneaked off with a 5-2 victory that eventually may prove one of the most vital of the season.

When it was over Lefty Max Lanier was so unsettled he gave up a walk and two singles to let Brooklyn tie the score at 3-2 and had to be replaced by John Henley to get the final out in the sixth.

The Cards seemed to be still thinking of the skirmish when the Dodgers drove three runs across in the eighth to set up the game.

This was the only contest carded in the senior circuit and only three games were played in the American league.

The Detroit Tigers tumbled the New York Yankees again 3-1 on the four-hit hurling of Virgil (Fire) Trucks. This gave Detroit the series, three games out of four, and also gave the Tigers an edge in their season's rivalry with the champions, six victories to four defeats.

Early Winn's seven-hit pitching and the lusty hitting of his batter-mate, Jake Early, provided the Washington Senators with a 7-1 verdict over the Cleveland Indians. Catcher Early drove in four runs with a double and two singles.

The Chicago White Sox exchanged positions with the Philadelphia Athletics again by winning 7-2 on the five-hit hurling of Buck Ross and Joe Haynes, who worked the last inning. Ross allowed just two hits till the eighth.

Every Track Man Of Consequence In National AAU Meet NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—New York's greatest collection of track and field stars since the Olympic tryouts at Triborough stadium in 1936 took over the same arena on Randall's island today for the start of the 46th annual National A. A. U. championships.

Held in the nation's largest city for the first time since 1906, the meet has attracted virtually every track athlete of consequence, including 16 of last year's individual champions and all the recently crowned national collegiate title-holders.

The New York Athletic club, winner of the team title six times in the last ten years, has entered a squad of 49 and is rated a strong threat to the three-year reign of the San Francisco Olympic club, which is defending its championship with 16 men.

The sure winner, however, is army emergency relief, scheduled to receive at least $75,000 from gate receipts and program advertising.

A noted absentee is Barney Ewell, 100-meter champion in 1941, who was forced out by an injury he suffered in the N. C. A. meet.

Sausages are mentioned in a cooking book in the year 228.

The Italian high command said Axis spearheads were already in contact with Tobruk's outer defenses, while the Germans declared that Marshal Erwin Rommel's armies had completed encirclement of the historic fortress on the shores of the Mediterranean.

Tobruk has been in British hands since Jan. 22, 1941, when 25,000 Italians surrendered there, and successfully withstood eight months of assault by Axis siege armies.

Without capturing Tobruk, military experts said, Gen. Rommel could not hope to attempt a major offensive into Egypt and on deeper into the Middle East for a liaison with other German armies striking down through the Caucasus—an Axis strategy apparently envisaged.

Besides the thorny problem of Tobruk, Rommel's forces had to cope with harassing attacks by the British forces in new positions along the Egyptian border.

British headquarters said these operations had already started, with swift mechanized columns dashing out from the frontier and lashing at Rommel's troops in a surprise attack from the south.

In the Soviet campaign, the Russians said Nazi shock troops again suffered bloody losses in fierce but futile attacks upon Sevastopol. Red army headquarters said a Russian company attacked two German companies, killing 100 and sending the survivors into "a disorderly retreat."

On the Kharkov front, 400 miles north of Sevastopol, drenching thunderstorms slowed the fighting, but a Soviet communiqué said Red army troops had killed more than 1,000 Germans and destroyed nine tanks in three days.

Military dispatches said Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's offensive around Kharkov, which began June 19, was restricted to a 15-mile sector.

It was Capt. John Roberts of Seese, Ark., however, who was credited with spotting the main Japanese fleet after it took off while he was flying ahead of a Coral sea patrol formation.

"Roberts sighted the Japanese ships 15 minutes before we did," declared Capt. Spieth, leader of the formation.

"He was pretty excited as he rallied back the information that a big force, including an aircraft carrier, was dead ahead."

"When we arrived they were sitting 20,000 feet below us. There was one aircraft carrier, a seaplane tender, several cruisers and a number of destroyers. Away off we could see another large convoy."

"We came in right behind Roberts and let them have all we had. We scored near misses and a direct hit. One of the cruisers which erupted smoke started to blaze furiously."

"As our bombs dropped, the Japanese aircraft carrier did a 180-degree turn. He really was trying to escape. . . . And so were the others."

"Their wakes looked like wriggling white worms as they turned in all directions as if a hen was over them trying to pick them up."

"Those Japs threw everything they had at us. They were rocking our plane like a feather."

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 19 (AP)—Most recovery leaders drifted to moderately lower levels in today's stock market.

The list was a bit shaky at the start as the war news remained unsatisfactory and many potential purchasers stood aside to await clarification of Prime Minister Churchill's surprise visit to the United States.

The comforting angle of the market was that real selling pressure never appeared. The ancient Wall Street dictum that "when Erie common pays a dividend there'll be ice in hell" went out the window. Directors actually voted a 50-cent payment on the junior shares and certificates, first such disbursement for any Erie company in 16 years.

In stocks the greater part of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Dow Chemical, Allied Chemical, J. C. Penney, Anacosta, Santa Fe, Westinghouse, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, Western Union, InPort, and Texas Co.

Rubber Matinee To Be Held At Rex Next Friday

Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette, plus hundreds of Pampa children, are going to help put over Gray county's campaign to get scrap rubber scrapping the Jap.

For the benefit of the drive, a rubber matinee will be held at the Rex theater from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. next Friday, June 26, when children up to the age of 14 years will be admitted on presentation of five pounds of scrap rubber.

Picture showing at the Rex for the special matinee will be Republic's "Home in Wyoming," with Gene Autry and Smiley Burnette. Plot of the film combines mystery with a western.

There'll be guessing on the amount of rubber. Scales will be set up inside the theater lobby to weigh the rubber as it is presented in lieu of admission. Rubber will be piled up in front of the theater, then after the show is over the filling station men will be called on to haul it to one of the bulk stations, the collection depot.

Money paid by the bulk station for rubber will go into a special fund of the Pampa Lions club to be used to provide recreational facilities for soldiers who will be coming to Pampa as soon as the bomber school is in operation.

Filling station operators were visited today by Carl Benefel, theater manager, and by Crawford Atkinson, member of Pampa Civilian Defense council, sponsor of the rubber campaign.

Some children have already donated rubber at filling stations, bringing in rubber dolls to help Uncle Sam.

Oil field packing, and tank stripping are some of the items donated. Contributed to date to the county collection has been 61,919 pounds. This total is double yesterday's total of 30,850. Six wholesale agents reported a combined total of 31,069 pounds had been collected since yesterday's report.

Here's an additional list of articles you can check up on and find if you have, then turn in to the scrap campaign:

Elk, pedals, nursing bottle caps, baby bathtubs, rubber bolts and belting, rubber corset foundations, rubber covered cords, rubber sheets, rubber gaskets from drums and cans, rubber boots, lawn mower tires, bicycle tires, syringes, garters, rubber collars, rubber-set brushes, football and basketball bladders.

In connection with the scrap rubber campaign, the division of information of the office for emergency management mentions Pampa in a regional release declaring: "Important decisions hinge on the results in Pampa, Tex., Wewoka, Okla., and DeKiddler, La. . . ."

Reference to Pampa may indicate that the federal government intends to use the scrap rubber campaign result here and at the other places named, all oil centers, as a guide in ally considered that the Midway victory, was due largely to land-based army bombers, still it clinched the value of the naval bombing plane, as demonstrated in the Coral sea. These air-sea battles of world unprecedented nature are vital in naval history. Our fast carriers, with good warning devices, proved less vulnerable than expected to air bombing, certainly less than slow battleships. The first-hand flows, brought back by naval flying officers for the president, admiral King, and key congressmen, are having an effect as explosive as an aerial torpedo.

The carrier is in many ways taking the place of the battleship as spearhead of the fleet. The navy's vast shipbuilding program is being reshuffled to bring the new trumps uppermost.

Not "battle-wagons" but "covered wagons" get the center of the road, if only to catch up with Japan whose carriers are more varied than ours and were twice as numerous before Midway.

If they lost three sunk, or even one sunk and two damaged, this was a highly important result for the tactics of the American task force—to knock out their carriers. For all their carrier casualties save one were big carriers, and even though one of ours was damaged, the balance is tilted our way.

Officially, we have with the fleet seven big 78-120 plane carriers, plus the first few of an ultimate 30-odd cargo ships now being converted to 15-30 plane carriers. The navy confesses nearly a score more big ones in the works.

Big carriers are needed for striking forces to bomb Japanese invasion fleets threatening Australia or other coasts, and later Japanese battleships and cities.

deciding whether to establish gasoline rationing.

This is the second time Pampa has gained recognition for its efforts in collecting salvage materials. National prominence came to the Gray county capital in the Salvage For Victory (scrap metal) campaign last April.

Retail Sugar Stocks Will Be Increased

A higher "allowable" has been granted to Pampa and other American sugar retailers by the office of price administration.

As announced by the national OPA office in Washington and by Mark McGee, Texas rationing administrator, a way has been provided for temporary or permanent increases in retailers sugar stocks in an effort to insure consumers of ample supplies under the rationing program.

Local rationing boards over the nation have been instructed to make adjustments for all retailers who certify that they require additional sugar to meet demands of their customers.

In the original registration of retailers and wholesalers, the allowable inventory was based on average weekly receipts of sugar by each establishment in November, 1941, or sales for the week ending April 25, 1942.

OPA officials pointed out that in some cases the November figures were not representative of the entire year of 1941, due to heavy buying in preceding months.

Under the new formula, the allowable inventory will be based on the weekly average of receipts for the entire year of 1941, or for the portion of the year the business was in operation. If those figures are not available, sales of sugar during the entire month of April, 1942, may be used.

Retailers and wholesalers seeking an increase in allowable inventory will apply to their local rationing board, supplying the information required in applying the new formula.
