13 Ships Sunk In Caribbean In 12 Days

Wholesale death and destruction the like of which the Spanish Main saw in pirate days was wrought by enemy submarines which over a 12-day period sent 13 United Nations merchantmen to the bottom of the Caribbean.

This was disclosed by the navy yesterday on the blackest of its announcements of ship sinkings since the war began, and with the announced loss of two more vessels in the Atlantic swelled to 309 the war total of western' Atlantic area sink-

Casualties ran high, with 48 known dead and 87 missing in the Caribbean sinkings occurring between

June 3 and 14; three dead and 85 missing in the June 15 sinking of a medium-sized U.S. merchant vessel off the New England coast and five dead in the torpedoing of a British freighter the same day in the same

The Caribbean victims were five U. S. ships, two medium-sized and three small: five British merchantmen, four medium and one small; and one Honduran, one Norwegian, and one Dutch vessel, all small.

Six hundrey thirty-five survivors, including 126 passengers, related tales of suffering and heroism on being landed at a Caribbean port; told of encountering English-speaking Axis submarine commanders and of being photographed by a German cameraman aboard one the undersea craft.

Torpedoes, shell fire, or both, were used in sinking the Allied ships, they revealed. The June 15 sinking of the American ship 75 miles off the New England coast was one of the war's worst torpedo disasters to a U. S. merchantman, with more persons lost than rescued.

The three dead were U. S. soldiers, regular drill last night. while 15 other American soldiers their ship sank, said:

Many Candidates In Governor's Chair

AUSTIN, June 24. (AP)-Pointto a new conception of the political possibilities of the secondranking state office, the largest field of candidates for any full term state office is out to lasso lieutenant-governor's post in the July Democratic primary.

Extending back to 1845, when Texas was admitted to the union, the lieutenant governor's office has with few exceptions marked the political demise of its incumbents in Lone Star state politics, leading politicians to term it the jinx office of state government.

With Vernon Lemens, Harold Beck, Virgil Arnold, Doss Hardin, Alton Mead, J. Dixie Smith, Boyce House, Arthur Miller and John Lee Smith as entrants, the contest for the right to preside over the state senate during the next two years looms second only to the battle of

U. S. senatorial heavyweights. Coke R. Stevenson escaped the political dead end that for decades has marked the lieutenant governorship and ascended to the governorship last summer—the first lieutenant governor in 24 years and the second in this century to become chief executive of Texas. Since 1853, when J. W. Henderson became the first lieutenant governor in Texas history to succeed to the governorship, only eight of 31 Texas lieutenant governors have attained the governorship.

Before Stevenson, no lieutenant governor since 1917-when Governor James E. Ferguson was removed from office and succeeded by Lieut. Gov. William P. Hobby-had won the governorship, either through direct election or succession.

Market Briefs

By VICTOR EUBANK

NEW YORK, June 24 (P)—Stocks lost a little ground on balance today in one of the quietest sessions of the year.

Until near the closing hour minor fractional gains an ddeclines were about evenly distributed. The scales were tipped in favor of the minus side by a slow retreat in oils and industrial specialists. Coppers and a few aircrafts were resistant. Motors were mostly a little in arrears.

Dealings approximated 250,000 shares for the five hours.

Inaction was held by brokers to reflect a general unwillingness of market followers to take on new contracts in the face of unpalatable war reports and tax bill imponderables. At the same time these factors produced no appreciable selling.

Bonds and commodities were irregular. Chicago wheat closed ¼ to % cent a bushel higher and corn was unchanged to up ¼. Cotton futures in late trades were 30 to 50 cents a bale lower.

CHICAGO, June 24 (P)—With buying sentiment chilled by war news and uncertainty regarding legislation vitally affecting grains now pending in congress, wheat prices drifted fractionally lower today partly as a result of small scale hedging operations in connection with the new crop movement but later rallied.

Receipts of cash wheat continued to run in excesse of arrivals a week ago but were well below volume at this time last year. Traders said this reflected lagging new crop movement due to wet weather and scarcity of storage space.

Late shore covering and buying attributed tao mills converted wheat losses of as much as ½ cent into small net gains. Wheat closed ¼-5% cent higher than yesterday, July 1.185%. There'll Be Some Changes Made!

We are at last beginning to feel the colossal changes war has forced on the economic and social life of the nation. And, in the next six months or so, changes in a far greater degree than anything we have yet experienced will inevitably take place.

It should be clear to everyone by now that the American standard of living, which has been infinitely luxurious by comparison with that of most of the rest of the world, will be largely abandoned for the duration. This year, our national income will be the largest in our history. But the amount of money which the people will have to spend for goods and services will be down to the lowest depression levels and perhaps lower. There are three principal reasons for that. First, and most important, is the tax burden which will be felt in the lowest income groups, and will reach staggering proportions in the middle and high income groups. Second, war bond purchases, whether voluntary or enforced, will take a substantial part of everyone's remaining income. Third, the price level is far above that of 1932 and

For the most part, we have not yet felt any particular lack of "luxury goods." While manufacture of such goods was stopped some time ago in most lines, stocks on hand have kept store inventories adequate. Soon it will be impossible to buy a refrigerator, an automatic heating plant, a radio, an office machine, and ten thousand and one other items, unless you have a first-class priority rating, and the item is needed for a purpose directly connected with the war. Rationing of public transportation services may make pleasure travel impossible. And it is generally expected that a card-rationing system, similar to that now in effect for sugar, will be extended to other foods, to clothes and to many additional necessities.

Whole professions are being virtually wiped out For example, there is the plight of the salesman There is no need for his services if his industry is engaged in war work. If his industry is not in war work, its production is swiftly declining and he has less and less to sell. These people are being absorbed by war industry, for the most part. After the war they will face another difficult problem of readjust-

Whole industries are in the same position. The mortality, for instance, in the businesses which have been built up about the automobile-service stations, repair shops, roadside restaurants, resorts, etc.—is great, and before long it will be tremendous. All their proprietors and employes can do is to close shop and get a war job. There is no place for their businesses in the war picture.

The face of American communities of all sizes is changing swiftly. Gigantic war plants are being developed in sections where there was little industry before. In many defense areas, population growthunprecedented in its rapidity-has created an exceedingly severe housing and transportation problem. These problems have not yet been adequately solved, and they will grow worse. They constitute a major headache to governmental authorities.

The population trend from country to city is intense. Agricultural workers, attracted by the big wages paid by war industry, are literally leaving the farms in droves. The farm operator can't get enough labor, and, even when he can, he must offer wages that in many cases are beyond his ability to pay. This has offset a good part of the benefits of increased farm income.

The foregoing simply illustrates a few of the almost revolutionary changes that are occurring in this country. And they illustrate, by inference, what our post-war problems will be. Authorities in both business and government seem convinced that none of the problems are insoluable. They know that there will be many mistakes, many errors in judgment. But they believe that, after the war, this nation's incredible industrial plant will be able to provide jobs for all employables, and will in time bring the general standard of living to a level well beyond anything we have known. It is a healthy sign that, even as we grapple with the immense problems of war, we are also thinking ahead to the peace to come. Some high government officials, such as Vice-

OUR AIRPLANE WEAKNESS

After one has read "Victory Through Air Power" by Major Alexander P. de Seversky, the airplane stories issued by the manufacturers, as to the wonderful feats in combat, do not go down so well.

On June 16, the Curtiss-Wright Corporation quoted General Arnold, chief of the Army Air Force, as to what their planes had done in the Aleutian Islands action. They quoted Arnold as saying, "Without the P-40's they (the workers) produce by day and by night we might have Seversky's book says many of the P-40's are not even uncrated when they are sent to England. They are so inefficient that they cannot compete with the German planes. They have sent a few of them down to Africa to compete with the inefficient Italian planes.

Seversky quotes General Arnold as saying, " no longer rate the P-40's better than a good pursuit trainer." This statement was made on November 28, 1941. Yet nothing has been done to eliminate this model from production.

Seversky also says, "It is known that the accident rate for the P-40's in routine training flights has been larger than for any other pursuit built for the Army. Where the casualties in the flying ranks are about as heavy in noncombatant flights as in combat, an airplane hardly qualifies as a first-rate trainer. The high cost per unit on this craft, moreover, makes it absurd to continue to produce it merely for trainer purposes." The American People Fooled

As to the qualities of our airplanes, Seversky makes the following statement:

"There was no need, after the launching of our defense program, for high-powered salesmanship in behalf of aviation. Demand far exceeded supply. Yet the advertising and 'public relations' campaigns went on without abatement. A magnificent job has been done to overcome nonexistent sales resistance by glorifying American models. Everyone was 'sold'-the public, the editorial writers, the radio commentators-except, alas, Hitler and the Japanese, who knew the truth about American aviation only too well. The fantastic performance credited to our aviation at home did not discourage the Mikado from attacking us."

So one must take with a grain of salt what ever he reads as airplane manufacturers' propaganda, when he realizes so many of our planes that are now being produced are absolutely worthless, when it comes to defending our country.

WHEN IS FORCE JUSTIFIED BY THE STATE? Inasmuch as all states, or governments, are orms of force and coercion, it becomes important that we come to understand when force and coercion are justified and when they are not

Our socialistic New Dealers are constantly saying that because we use force in one form of government, force is justified by the government in other lines The only place where the state is justified in the use of force is to protect the lives and property of its citizens and to compel an individual to pay for the damage done by the violation of a contract he voluntarily made. This would not give the government the right to use force to make people pay taxes in order to give wealth to other of its citizens who do not pay taxes on the same rule. This would not justify the government in passing discriminatory laws that protected one group by the power of the state and did not protect another group under the same terms. This would not give the government the power to abridge the universal law that all men are equal before God.

Our whole trouble is that our government has used force and compulsion in numerable instances where an honest, true, democratic, Christian govenment never had any right to use force.

But socialists, New Dealers and closed shop abor unionists know no law but the law of force to accomplish anything that satisfies their ego and vanity and gives them power and position.

President Wallace and Undersecretary of State Welles, have made interesting speeches of late, which cast a light on this nation's world destiny.

It is said that we will be the leaders in stabilizing the world after the war, and in maintaining order. But it is also said that our program will not be imperialistic in the traditional sense. Past imperialism has been based on subject peoples and nations. The new kind of imperialism, as Mr. Wallace puts it, is the Misses Goddard, Lamour and to be based on equal peoples, working together to- Lake form a glamor trio and sing ward a common goal of peace and security.

propaganda campaign to precipitate I've remarked before, the indications are that the Japs don't want to fight Russia now, because they already have more on their hands than they can take care of.

However, there's no doubt that opportunist Tokyo is getting set for the contingency. Fresh troops have been sent into Manchukuo and the Nipponese have in the neighborhood of a million men on the Siberian border ready for action. It's likely, too, that the extension of the Jap operations in our Far Western Aleutians is part of this preparation—a defensive action calculated to hamper American aid to Russia across the Bering sea shortcut and to guard against American bombing of Japan from Alaska or the Aleutians. - BUY VICTORY BONDS

By PAUL HARRISON HOLLYWOOD, June 24 - It ought

o be a heartening indication that the movie business has attained a certain confidence and dignity when t and its bosses feel they can afford to poke fun at themselves on the screen. Anyway, the fans are going to see something unusual when 'Star-Spangled Rhythm" is unveiled It takes place all over the Paramount

The story was written as an omnibus to carry all the company's tars—Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Mary Martin, Dorothy Lamour, Veronica Lake, Paulette Goddard, Fred Mac-Murray, Ray Milland, Vera Zorina and on down the list-into a big nusical. It will invade sound stages audition and projection rooms and an executive office to watch these people performing — apparently in the making of other pictures. The actual production head, B. G. De-Svlva, will be represented as "B. G DeSoto" by Walter Abel playing a neurotic executive who complains of persecution by his enemies. Paranount's president, Y. Frank Freeman, is to be impersonated by Cecil Cecil DeMille and Preston Sturges play themselves.

MOORE BETTER For perhaps the second time in his ill-cast Hollywood career. Victor Moore gets a role in keeping with his Broadway accomplishments He is shown as an old western sta of silent pictures who has sunk to the position of studio gateman Trouble is, he has a son (Eddi Bracken) in the navy who has told shipmates his father is the big boss of Paramount. When the men ge leave. Bracken and a Paramoun phone operator brazen out the lie by putting Victor into "B. G. DeSoto's" office and using every means except murder to keep the rightful tenant out.

Hollywood takes a ribbing all the way, including a number in which "A Sweater, a Sarong and a Peekaboo Bang." The fancy offices of studio moguls are satirized when thing else happens instead: A yes man pops in, all the Venetian blinds shoot up, music blares, a nasseur appears.

Most astonishing of all is the au tomatic bar. When Moore touches a button, the whole top of the desk moves out into the room and things begin rising, unfolding and sliding into place until there stands a bar complete with dozens of bottles glasses, spigots, ice, apron and towel.

AND NO KIDDING

Such devices are not very farfetched, at that. About a year ago Paulette Goddard was given a glittering, stainless steel make-up table, on wheels, that looks like a cross between a soda fountain and juke box. Matter of fact, it is just that. Push one of a row of buttons and a side panel moves down to reveal a radio. Another button controls a similar panel on the other side, ann when it opens a little bar swings out, with glasses, siphon and a brace of decanters.

Negro Woman Survives Night In Refrigerator CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 24

(AP)—"I prayed a lot and 'jived' my shoulders a little." That, said Genevieve Raisor, negro kitchen attendant at Erlanger hospital, is how she managed not to freeze while trapped in a cold storage compartment at the hospital all of Saturday night. She was found early Sunday morning by Chef Victor Jones when

Hackney Acting County Agent

It takes 13 words to give the title of two Gray county officials. That's according to the Texas Extension service which make plain "County Farm Agent G. T. Hackney" "Acting County Farm Agent of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical return to work here as county farm agent, if he chooses, as the job is held open. For all practical purposes, how-ever, Mr. Hackney is county farm agent, despite the technical distinction of "acting."

Reason for the lengthy title, which also applies in the case of Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, "county home demonstra-tion agent of the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college extension service" (also 13 words), is that the extension service wants Texas to be "extension service" conscious

State Police Director Homer Gar rison announced today that pa-triotism, curtailment of traffic and stronger law enforcement reduced traffic fatalities 19 per cent during the first five months of 1942.

Houston led the state among cities with more than 100,000 population in city motor vehicle traffic fatality ratings for the first five months of the year. Galveston was first among cities between 50,000 and 100,000 population, and Port bracket.

Commented Garrison: "It is en couraging that Texas is leading the nation far and away in traffic death reduction but Texans have done so many outstanding things in this war that Texas leadership is taken for granted.

"But that's not enough." the diector added. "It's not enough that 138 lives have been saved in five months. We must think of the 574 lives that were lost in that period We must forget any notions that the traffic problem has solved or will solve itself."

Garrison cautioned that "this needless loss of human life will not stop until pedestrians and motorists alike accept their patriotic respon-sibility to be careful for the sake of the war effort."

Last month the state highway patrol arrested or warned 25,624 persons, against 20,125 in May, 1941 for traffic law violations, he stated, saying "this was a 22 per cent increase and it may be larger in
