BLOCK NEW BONUS ATTEMPT

Twinkles
The President's proposal to issue tiny "doughnut" coins indicates that he contemplates no drastic inflation. With inflation, it might be necessary to buy a burro to carry enough of the things around.

But Mr. Roosevelt's plan for new coins indicates that he thinks state sales taxes are here to stay. But they think a half-cent is small enough.

Albuquerque seeks an air base. Well, why not ask one for Pampa; we've got just as much air as Albuquerque.

A tripper just returned from Louisiana, says the people down there are strong for Huey Long despite his leadership. And Huey, we're told, has even made the short pine grow long.

Smile: As scarce as ice in Old Mexico. They serve beer and Coca Cola "warm" at bullfights.

Musing of the moment: If you must grouch at your wife, don't do it on wash day, says the Higgins News. Every day is wash day in Mexico. Clothes are spread on cacti, there being no clothes lines.

Give John Bull credit for courage in putting anti-war pressure on Italy. And, to be wholly fair, credit Mussolini with courage in trying to get more land on which Italy needs desperately to expand.

OFFICE TO BE IN CITY HALL
ASSERTS HALE

SET-UP INDEPENDENT OF ALL OTHER STATE DIVISIONS

Pampa today became the headquarters of the Texas Relief commission in the Northeast Panhandle, operated independently of the Amarillo office or any other district office.

S. F. Halle, district administrator, arrived this morning from Austin, where he was in the state department and immediately began setting up his office in the basement of the city hall. His staff includes:

Miss Opal Cline of Spearman, his secretary, who has been in the Austin office.

Mrs. W. H. Davis, former county relief administrator here, and now district case supervisor.

X. C. Umphres, district supervisor of commodity distribution.

John S. Berry, district auditor.

F. L. Stallings of Pampa, district certifying officer.

Mr. Halle, former chamber of commerce secretary, for a time was administrator of relief in Moore and Howard counties. His district is No. 16-A. It includes Gray, Donley, Collingsworth, Wheeler, Hemphill, Roberts, Hansford, Ochiltree, and Lipscomb counties.

Under the new plan, relief lists will be reduced as WPA projects are started. County set-ups will continue to be necessary in relief dissemination, but on a smaller scale.

A vast amount of work confronts Mr. Halle and his assistants in organizing their district. County set-ups will be continued in an advisory capacity.

Pampa must furnish the district office space, store room for surplus commodities, utilities, and transportation of the commodities.

Two Killers

C. L. Johnson, top photo, was a victim of oldtime frontier justice when hanged by a mob at Yreka, Calif., for his alleged participation in the slaying of Police Chief F. R. Daw of Dunsmuir. The bottom picture is that of Robert Miller, wanted as the companion of Johnson in the brutal murder.

HOPSON SEEN LAST NIGHT IN HOTEL ROOM

POLICE ARE ASKED TO SEARCH FOR HIM TODAY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—The aid of Washington police was sought today by the house rules committee in its effort to locate H. C. Hopson, dominant figure in the Associated Gas and Electric system, whose testimony is wanted by two congressional investigating committees.

Impatient at delay in locating the long-sought witness, wanted for questioning in the utility lobby investigation, the house committee gave a description of him to the police department.

It took this action after a fruitless search was made at the Shoreham hotel for Hopson by the house and senate committees.

The search was started when the house committee received testimony from B. B. Robinson, associate's Washington representative, that he had talked with Hopson at the hotel last night.

Herbert A. Boomquist, chief senate investigator, and C. H. Tavenner, house committee investigator, arrived at the hotel with a subpoena.

Hopson, however, apparently had left. Hotel officials said he was not registered as a guest and had not been.

Pressed for more information as to Hopson's location this morning, Robinson said he did not know and: "If you want to know what I think, I don't think it makes any difference."

Robinson said he went to the hotel "to have some fun as I had a few minutes with nothing else to do."

He added he thought the room Hopson occupied was on the fourth floor. He said he talked with him about five minutes.

Frozen Monkey Revived—Loses Its "Nerves"

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 6. (AP)—Jekal, a pet Javanese monkey, chattered amiably in his cage today, apparently in the best of health after being frozen stiff in a below zero ice chest.

Jekal was the object of a test by Dr. Ralph Willard, gland researcher, who declared the monkey "died" and was brought back to life to prove his theory that certain malignant organisms and dead tissues can be killed by freezing.

"I am particularly pleased to discover that the period of frozen death did not affect Jekal's health," Dr. Willard said. "The only change I can see so far is his emotional apparatus. He used to be excitable, with a marked tendency toward viciousness. He is tamer now."

Jekal's death and revivification was part of a triple monkey test made by Dr. Willard. His sister, Matilda, was put to death last Friday and failed to rally from the freezing process. A third monkey remained in the ice chest today to be brought forth later.

RIDERS WILL BE AVOIDED IN PASSING BILL

COMPENSATION LATER TO HAVE PREFERRED PLACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—A decision to block efforts to attach payment or other "extraneous" issues to the Roosevelt tax bill was reached today by senate democratic leaders.

At the same time they agreed to give bonus legislation preferred status at the next session of congress.

Expressing hope that this would speed adjournment, Senator Robinson, the majority leader, said many bonus advocates felt a tax bill amendment would not develop the full strength that the proposal might muster if offered separately next year.

Earlier, Robert H. Jackson, internal revenue bureau counsel, told a senate committee considering the tax bill that added revenue to go toward balancing the budget, and paying the cost of fighting the depression should be contributed by the "privileged class" according to its ability to pay.

He declared there had been a "general conspiracy" among the rich to evade taxes in the past.

Prior to the leaders' decision, Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) had planned to offer the Patman bonus bill, which the senate refused to pass over President Roosevelt's veto, as a rider. Senator Frazier (R., N. D.) also planned to offer his bill to re-finance farm mortgages with a $3,000,000,000 issue of new currency.

A statement by Robinson said: "At a joint meeting of the steering and policy committees of the senate majority held this morning, it was decided to make the subject matter of bonus legislation a special order for a date in January—the exact date to be hereafter fixed."

"Many advocates of the bonus feel that it is impracticable to secure action during the present session and realize that attempts to attach bonus legislation as riders to bills on other subjects would result in subjects being dropped in consideration and to develop the strength of any fair bonus measure that might be advanced as a rider."

"The committee felt that this subject should not be complicated with other legislation, but should be dealt with separately and on its merits."

"It was, also, agreed that if riders proposing legislation irrelevant to the subject matter of the bill under consideration at any time during the remainder of this session be offered, the chairman is authorized to move to table the same."

"While no attempt was made to fix a date of adjournment, it is felt that this policy will contribute to the conclusion of the work of the present session."

He Clings to Murder Denial

His eyes downcast, obviously tired under long hours of questioning, Mandeville Zenge is shown, right, as he stubbornly denied to Chicago police any knowledge of the murdering operation which killed his successful rival for the hand of Louise Schaffer, pretty Kirksville, Mo., nurse. Dr. Harry E. Hoffman, left, watches the prisoner intently.

WILL ROGERS TO ACCOMPANY WILEY POSTS TO ALASKA

Wants to See What Democrats Have Done to Republican Colony There.

SEATTLE, Aug. 6. (AP)—Two famous cronies of the air—Wiley Post and Will Rogers—were nearly ready today to take off in Post's new red monoplane for Alaska, the first jump in the plane's journey to Siberia and Moscow.

Unfavorable weather ahead and Post's last-minute decision to test pontoons with which he replaced wheels on the plane were expected to delay the start until tomorrow.

Those acquainted with Post's sudden changes of mind and conflicting announcements about his plans waited at the Renton airport, 12 miles south of here, early this morning in case the flier, his wife, and Rogers should attempt a secret start.

Rogers, who arrived here late yesterday by plane from San Francisco, said he intended to accompany the Posts to Alaska, "probably as far as Juneau. He added he had no intention of continuing from Nome across Bering strait to Siberia."

"I've never been to Alaska," Rogers said, "and as Wiley's a mighty good flier, it's a good chance. I want to have a look at the Matanuska colony while I'm north. I want to see what the democrats have done to the republicans."

Approved in broad outlines at least, by President Roosevelt at a conference with senate and house members yesterday, the measure was submitted by Chairman Cole (D-Md.) of a special oil subcommittee of the house interstate commerce committee.

Give congressional ratification to an interstate oil and gas conservation compact effected February 19 at Dallas and signed to date by five oil producing states.

Re-establish the petroleum administrative board as an agency independent of the interior department with authority to cooperate with the industry in working out voluntary agreements to promote fair competition and working conditions and avoid waste.

Make permanent the Connally act barring interstate trade channels to oil produced in excess of state quotas.

To get away from supreme court attacks on delegation of legislative power, one major change was put in the measure at the last minute.

Instead of merely asserting that whenever imports were held to be in need of regulation the oil board could recommend presidential action to limit them, the bill would state a congressional policy of limitation.

New Oil Bill Submitted Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—A new oil bill, designed to plug part of the gap left by the demise of the oil code was introduced today in the house as a basis for a congressional drive for legislation before adjournment.

Murder Charges Will Be Filed In Double Killing

LINDEN, Aug. 6. (AP)—Sheriff Q. T. Hardin of Cass county said today against R. P. Gillespie, 50, and his son, Wallace, 22, for the family trouble slaying yesterday of Jack Parton and his 15-year-old daughter, Kaydel.

Officers said the shooting grew out of the elopement of R. P. Gillespie's daughter, Carrie, 17, and Clyde Hammond, 24, brother-in-law and hired hand of the slain man.

The couple obtained a marriage license in Texarkana Saturday night. Officers were told that Parton and his daughter helped them to elope and that Gillespie was opposed to the match.

Parton was killed instantly near his home when shot three times with an automatic shotgun. His daughter, shot in the head, when she ran from her home with a pistol in her hand after her father had engaged in an argument with two men, died several hours later.

Local Jaycees in Shamrock Talks

Requirements for admittance to the national and state junior chamber of commerce were outlined to members of the newly organized Junior chamber of commerce at Shamrock last night when a group of Pampa Jaycees attended a meeting of the Shamrock Jaycees.

An invitation to join the state body was extended by Jim Collins, president of the state organization. W. T. Fraser told of the advantages of being a member of the national body.

R. Q. "Dick" Hughes presided and introduced the Pampa visitors who included Charlie Malise, Jack Duth and John Osborne.

SAYS OIL TO FLOW
WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Secretary Ickes predicted today a heavy flow of oil in California and Texas this fall. The secretary, at his semi-weekly press conference, said the oil companies would draw on their reserve stocks this summer and would have to start production this fall at which time "hot oil" would start to flow.

Brevitorials

MEMORIES OF Mexico: Living in a frankly experimental state, Mexicans must be prepared for all manner of changes, some of them some brutal. In striking at the dominant church to decimate its power and once huge holdings, the government has suppressed all churches in some degree. A pastor of a church must be a citizen of Mexico, hence the churches are being closed. A doctrine of infallibility of the government is taught through the schools, and most church schools have closed. A few states do not permit public worship and private schools as we know them, although private instruction is being carried on throughout Mexico. It is the purpose of the government, however, to dominate the schools and through them the philosophy of the people. A fascist dictatorship is rapidly forming.

DEFINITELY capitalistic in selling lands for free distribution to the poor by paying for it when and if, the Mexican government is so advanced, or radical, or socialistic in other theories that its experiments may eventually affect the United States. Its labor laws are much more in favor of workers than laws of the States. Discharged workers must be paid wages of from one to three months. Reasons for discharge may be reviewed in the courts. Federal permission is necessary to shut down a factory. Wages have been hiked as much as 300 per cent in the last 15 years. Illiteracy is declining. Per capita holdings are rising. Women workers are protected.

IN THE MIDST of it all, one hears all manner of comments. The poorer classes, while bewildered by the laws on shipping and grants with the labor laws. Students like the government in general but bitterly oppose its theory on suppression of freedom of conscience, speech, and press. Students, condemned by big business men as "Reds" at every opportunity.

Diego Rivera, No. 1 Mexican painter, and often called the world's greatest mural artist, formerly was a Communist and was ousted from a contract at Radio City because he inserted the face of Lenin in a picture he was painting in granting all power to the state and is still in beliefs socialistic. And he is popular. The "revolution" in Mexico today is not one of guns but of theories. It will prove more effective, and possibly more dangerous, than the armed rebellions of the past, but much progress will be made. With this we leave the Mexico situation for the present.

I Heard...

Florence Jackson telling friends that she had just received word from Lorene McClintock, who said she certainly would be glad to get back to Pampa and cool nights. Miss McClintock will return this week-end from Mexico, where she has been vacationing for two months.

Gene F. Shere, Kewpie Doucette, and Paul Camp, just back from the Conejos river in Colorado where they fished, and caught some, telling about arriving at the scene of the TWA plane crash near Albuquerque a couple of hours after it happened. They took several pictures which turned out fine.

Zenge Pleads Not Guilty to Murder Charge

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Mandeville W. Zenge, young Missouri carpenter, today pleaded innocent to the charge that he murdered Dr. Harry E. Hoffman, Kirksville, Mo., osteopath, by mutilation.

The plea first was entered in Zenge's behalf by his attorney, Joseph Green, when the prisoner was arraigned before Judge Justin F. McCarthy in felony court. Judge McCarthy then asked Zenge if he wished to make a plea personally. Zenge said he did, and pleaded innocent.

He was remanded to the custody of the sheriff and taken from state's attorney's officials, who in five days of questioning had been unable to shake his contention that he knew nothing of the death of Dr. Bauer.

Robbery Attempt Here Is Stopped

An attempt was made to enter the Tom Rose Motor company early this morning but vigilance of the city car patrolmen and night watchmen prevented the would-be thieves.

The police car had driven down the alley behind the motor company about 3:30 a. m. and saw nothing amiss about the building.

About 15 minutes later the night-watchman saw the alley and found a window at the rear of the building smashed. Officers were called and the place was searched, but the marauder had apparently not gone inside.

G. V. Webber reported to city officers this morning that a tire and rim had been stolen from his car at 401 Malone street. The tire was nearly new Goodyear.

While Traffic Officer Alvin B. Johnson is away on a combined honeymoon and vacation, R. J. McKinley will act as traffic officer.

J. D. TINSLEY DIES
AMARILLO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Funeral services were scheduled at 7 p. m. today for J. D. Tinsley, 65, general agricultural agent for the Santa Fe Railroad company since 1925. Mr. Tinsley died Monday. Formerly associated with New Mexico A. & M. college, Tinsley had been in failing health for several months. He was survived by his widow, two brothers and two sisters.

Claude Smith was admitted to Pampa-Jarratt hospital last night.

CITY MANAGER AND MAYOR IN FISTIC BATTLE

Wichita Falls Men in Quarrel on Use Of Auto

WICHITA FALLS, Aug. 6. (AP)—City Manager Mack Thomas, 61, was confined to his home with a badly wrenched back following a fist fight with Mayor John T. Young, 68, in the city manager's office here Monday morning. Both men were bruised about the face.

The mayor said the fight started when the city manager ordered him out of his office after refusing to let the mayor have a city car in which to drive to Fort Worth to attending a PWA meeting.

"When he told me to get out I caught his arm and said, 'you come along out too.' Mayor Young declared when interviewed. "Then he hit me and I knocked him down."

After the fight had lasted several minutes, the two were separated by other city officials. The others present, all of whom refused to be interviewed, were Alderman J. B. Stokes, City Engineer F. M. Rugeley, and City Tax Collector W. R. Hoyer. Mr. Thomas also declined to make any statement.

The mayor's shirt was dripping blood from his nose but after changing clothes he remained at his office. The city manager had to be assisted to an automobile and may be confined for several days.

No charges have been filed.

The council has been at cross purposes for the last year. Thomas was an appointee of the majority bloc while Young was leader of the minority group. The council Monday night had authorized the mayor to make the trip to the PWA meeting in Fort Worth for which he asked the city manager for use of a city car.

Segregation for First Offenders Is Asked by Board

HOUSTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—A prison board proposal to complete segregation of first term convicts from repeaters and hardened criminals was on its way today to Governor James H. Doolittle.

The program, which calls for a complete classification of prisoners and a number of changes in the prison system, was recommended by a special committee of board members and was given full endorsement by the board. The plan grew out of a recent survey of conditions in the prisons of the state.

Board Chairman W. A. Paddock said Governor Allred would be asked by the board to request the legislature for appropriations totaling $168,900 to consummate the program.

Emperor Forming Red Cross Units

ADDIS ABABA, Aug. 6. (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie today directed personally a new phase of Ethiopia's preparations for possible war with Italy—the ceremonial launching of the empire's Red Cross.

An imperial tent, lavishly decorated in Oriental style, was erected in the court of the building especially leased as the new Red Cross home. A dias was built for the king of kings.

The first meeting was called today to press the campaign for Red Cross subscriptions, elect a board of directors and complete organization of the body. Foreign Minister Beilaten Guesta Heroy was named president by the emperor.

From the humanitarian viewpoint, Ethiopia's adherence to the Red Cross was understood to mean that there would be no repetition of the sequel to the crushing of an Italian expedition at Adua 40 years ago when many Italian prisoners allegedly were mutilated.

Taxes Take Most of Company Profits

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Standard Oil company of Indiana's 92,000 stockholders were asked today by President Edward G. Seubert to request congress not to assess any additional taxes against the company on basis of its size.

In a letter to the stockholders, Seubert said that in 1934, the company paid a total of $4.88 per share in all taxes, leaving $1.25 per share to the stockholder.

IL DUCE CALLS 75,000 MEN TO TAKE UP ARMS

Ethiopia's Doings Are Spurring Him To Action

ROME, Aug. 6. (AP)—Premier Mussolini today called 75,000 more men to arms "as a consequence of heavy Ethiopian mobilizations."

Specifically, he ordered the mobilization of two regular army divisions and a volunteer fascist black-shirt division and created two replacement divisions.

The long-expected "communique No. 9" announced the new increase in Italy's fighting strength.

It stated the Asietta division of the regular army, commanded by Gen. Riccardi has been called.

The mobilization order brought the number of divisions already sent to East Africa or in training for service there to seven regular army and six black-shirt militia.

Estimating the strength at an average of 15,000 men to a division, the order will bring Italy's white forces in East Africa to 195,000 men.

A check of southern embarkation points indicates that almost 100,000 of these already have departed.

Natives to Serve.
Two divisions of natives, raised in East Africa early this year, increased the regular territorial forces of 100,000 men.

Thus, it is estimated that 140,000 troops already are in line in the two colonies.

With the arrival of the new contingents in training, about to start training in Italy, the total figure will be swelled to 235,000.

Well-informed sources explained, however, that this was only an estimated total. A report long has circulated that Premier Mussolini, keeping his own council, has created in East Africa or sent there numerous battalions of which the world knows nothing.

Communique No. 9 stated that the Asietta division of the regular army, commanded by Gen. Riccardi has been called.

The communique also mentioned creation of the "Trento" division

Legal Liquor Is Taken at Cleburne

CLEBURNE, Aug. 6. (AP)—Two men were robbed by three gunmen near Albany, Texas, last night of a $3,000 load of legal liquor.

The pair, Sam Morris, 25, and A. B. Harley, 25, were left tied in a field between Grandview and Cleburne. They succeeded in freeing themselves shortly after midnight, and walked to a farm house, where they called Sheriff Oran Smith at Cleburne.

The two were driving a truck for the West Texas Wholesale Drug Co.

FIGHT ON TARIFFS GOOD IN THEORY, DECLARES WALLACE

AMARILLO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace considers a threat by Texas farm interests to fight legality of tariffs in retaliation for processing tax injunction as "a good idea in theory."

"Theoretically I think it is a good idea," the secretary said last night before leaving here by train for Washington. "But I wouldn't care to discuss before conferring with our legal staff at Washington."

Wallace said he hadn't heard until yesterday of the threatened fight, made by a number of farm organizations in Texas that charge injunction with "destruction of the AAA processing tax."

Speaking before a group of Texas county agents, Wallace defended the AAA's program and demanded protection for agriculture equal to that enjoyed by industry under the present tariff system. He declared farmers were entitled to the same benefits industry receives and that the farmers should be educated to fight for their rights of a tariff equivalent.

Charging that most of the criticism directed at the AAA came from sections which had benefited most from the tariff, Wallace said that "it first should be asked that tariff give the same protection to the consumer as does the processing tax."

"Second, we should say we will do away with the processing tax if you will do away with the tariff."

The secretary said a statement in a previous address that tariff privileges should be taken from industry "was perhaps a little too hasty."

He predicted one showdown after another on the AAA program and said "we had better be prepared to go down the line and keep out of production 30 or 40 million acres every year."

THE COLLECTION OF TAXES

Congress is passing a huge tax bill. Every legislature implored to find new sources of tax income. In Texas prohibition repeal is being urged as a tax-raising measure. The sales tax issue is not dead. Proposed old pensions will, if voted, make additional state income imperative.

It is a bit remarkable that so much attention is given finding new taxes and so little to a fair, equitable, and scientific means of assessing and collecting taxes already voted. City, county, state, and school taxes involve three collection agencies. One could do the work receiving money and centralize collections for the convenience of the public.

Astonishing differences in assessments exist. It is assumed that city and school assessments are to be on a higher percentage of value than county-state taxes, because of the greater need for revenue. But when values vary far from the difference in percentage, there is obviously a mistake on the part of some board of equalization.

Boards generally are not immune from politics and enmeshments, because they are human, but the present chaotic condition of comparative tax values throughout the State of Texas is due more to a lack of system than anything else. Over a period of years, differences tend to multiply. Once established, the value of a piece of property is not apt to be changed much.

What inequalities can cause was illustrated by the city of Chicago, where a virtual taxpayers' strike resulted. No private business could operate on the basis of charges as unequal as taxes. Equalization of levies is tremendously difficult, as the boards now at work in this county can testify. Tax theories are involved. Should residence, of comparatively short life, be taxed on the same basis as a brick business structure of longer life? How much, in the lifetime of a structure, should pay in taxes? A study of this kind will reveal the injustice done to property owners through the ad valorem tax.

But this fact does not obliterate the truth that perpetual scientific studies of properties, by men of special ability, should be made. It is only by painstaking comparisons and studies that tax inequalities may be eliminated. If every taxpayer had the time and opportunity to compare his assessments with every other piece of similar property, he would see immediately that some values should rise, some should fall. But values cannot be fixed on the basis of front footage and exterior appearance alone. Nor is location a true criterion unless a pedestrian and motor traffic movement is studied.

Eventually, we believe that ad valorem taxes will be drastically lowered and that an income tax system more reflective of the revenue production of a property will be used. Since we inevitably must pay taxes, and more and more taxes, it is imperative that taxpayers feel that they are paying no more than they should and others less.

THE NEW DEAL IN WASHINGTON

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — With a NRA, along with its other research tasks, is running a "world's meanest man" contest with plenty of entries.

At least several score employers, NRA field agents report, are insisting on repayment by workers of some or of the wage increases received under NRA codes.

Such workers, usually in the lowest wage group, find themselves back on pre-code wage scales—with an additional deduction from their pay envelopes to restore the boss the money he paid them "illegally."

On the other hand, some employers are turning out to be good sports. NRA was left with something like a million dollars collected from those who had chiseled wages and payable to employees.

Following discard of the codes, the money presumably was repayable to the employers. But certain of them are saying that they have charged off the sum of their books and that NRA can turn the money over to the workers.

NRA is still the best place to find out what's happening to wages and hours since codes were canceled. The most significant thing you hear is that some of the larger corporations—but thus far very few—are beginning to reduce labor standards.

Previously, lowering of standards had been confined strictly to smaller companies.

Insiders look for a big wave of strikes this fall and winter.

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas, the soldierly man, has been both worried and sore.

Congressman Nat Patton of Texas was virtually unopposed in Washington or elsewhere—before the Senate lobby committee investigated his receipt of a box of cigars or something, coincidentally with his purchase of $500 in bonds while receiving $3100 in salary.

The names of Patton and Patman are sufficiently similar, according to Patman, to have confused a lot of people. Mr. Patman would like to have everyone understand that Texas sent Congress a Patton as well as a Patman.

Public opinion in this town is of insignificant importance as compared with public opinion outside. Just the same, it's at least an historical note that not in the last couple of years has your correspondent heard so many comments of criticism and disgust as followed the firing of Dr. Amy Stannard, eminent psychiatrist, to make a berth on the Federal Parole Board for Judge T. Webber Wilson, the Mississippi politician who quit the Virgin lands after Secretary Ickes had publicly charged he was unfit.

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings, who has made the Department of Justice a haven for political hacks and who has appointed as a roster of U. S. district attorneys as any Republican administration ever disavowed, is taking the brunt of criticism—especially since he himself has been loudly critical of parole policies in the states.

The appointment of Judge Wilson despite his atrocious record in the Virgin is just another one of the wards which go to Senator Pat Harrison, Wilson's backer, for his sturdy performance as a Senate administration leader in support of New Deal policies which he privately dislikes.

Washington scientists have devised a machine that measures the strength of rays that cause sunburn. It's a little more accurate than a slap on the back.

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—The good ship City of Waco rests snugly atop Governor Alford's desk. The trim little miniature of a sailing vessel, hand-carved and varnished, recently was sent the governor by a relief worker at Waco.

It appears Governor Alford may be forced to forego the realization of a long-cherished dream, a trip to Mexico City.

For years he had planned to visit the capital of the southern republic and circumstances had shaped, it seemed, to make it possible this summer.

Now, however, Mr. Alford is hesitant about leaving the state. With the election in August and the possibility of a special session of the legislature in September, he feels someone should stay home and plan a legislative program.

At a press conference a newsman asked whether the governor would submit other matters to a special session, in the event prohibition were repealed, making enabling legislation necessary.

"That's one reason why I may not get to make that Mexico trip," Alford replied. "I need to study the situation and clarify things in my mind."

He has not definitely relinquished the foreign visit but the prospects he will go have dimmed considerably. Mrs. Alford had planned to accompany him.

The supreme court in session is the most dignified official body about the capitol. When the nine members, including three justices and six commissioners, file solemnly to the bench everyone in the courtroom stands, and the bailiff solemnly intones:

"Oyez! Oyez! Oyez! The Honorable supreme court of Texas is now in session."

It is the one place in the capitol where a coat is indispensable. If one doesn't have a coat and must be in the court room, he has to borrow one.

A press correspondent, sleeves rolled up, remarked one warm morning to a fellow reporter as they emerged from a conference with Governor Alford, he had to get a coat "somewhere." A few minutes later in the supreme court chamber, he had one, almost matching his trousers.

COSTLY ERRORS LOSE ROAD RUNNERS' BATTLE WITH DENVER ICE COMPANY

SURFACE AND SCALING HIT WELL—DANEY IS UNNERVED

Errors, the kind of bloopers that make a pitcher wonder why he ever became a pitcher, started Lee Daney to the showers in Denver last night when the Road Runners lost a 6 to 5 game to the Denver Ice company team. Unnerved by errors and misplays, Daney was nicked for three runs in the fifth and left the mound, being replaced by Chedy, who pitched sensational ball, allowing two hits and fanning eight men.

Joe Surface, taken to Denver from Phillips of Berger, tried to put the Road Runners in the game with a home run in the third with one man on base. He succeeded in giving his team a lead, but soon saw it disappear. The reliable Sam Scaling also did his share with the willow, getting a double and single on three trips to the plate. Brickell got on base once by a hit and twice by being hit.

The Iceers opened the game with a run in the first inning. The Road Runners got to Cabbie for hits and scored four runs in the third. Then the Pampa nine blew up and allowed two runs in the fourth and three in the fifth. The Pampa nine added another run in the seventh but from then on Cabbie, a left-hander, had things his own way and the Road Runners couldn't put across the tying run.

Chedy relieved Daney in the fifth and allowed only two hits in the fourth and two-third innings he was on the mound. He fanned eight and walked only one.

At Summers continued to play heads-up ball at second base. He handled six chances without an error. The Road Runner outfield had only one putout.

The game was featured by several sensational plays:

Johnson Retires to His Farm

But "Big Train" May Manage Minor Loop Nine

By ANDY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer
Walter Johnson, having doffed his managerial garb, is retiring to his Maryland farm, but there are some who predict he eventually may pilot a minor league club.

For more than 20 years he baffled batters with a ball that came down the alley with velocity something akin to a bullet.

The American league bestowed on him its highest award, the distinguished cross of baseball, a maltese cross studded with 20 diamonds.

Then he became a manager. After a long illness he took over the reins of the Newark Bears in the International league. In 1928 he went back to pilot the Senators, the team with which he had spent his big league tenure.

In 1932 he was ousted from that position and took the helm at Cleveland. With the years the cheers turned to jeers.

He wanted to buy the Oakland club in the Pacific Coast league in 1924, making a cash offer of $385,000.

Many a ball player has slipped into some comparatively quiet town after his arm lost its whip or his batting eye dimmed with the years, and managed a minor league team.

Four of them are in the Southern association: Clyde Milan and Doc Froehner formerly with Washington; Fred Hoffman, who once caught for the Yankees and Eddie Moore, who was with the Cleveland Indians in 1931.

In the Texas league are Hank Shapiro, veteran catcher of the Browns, and Yankees; Art Griegs, who was with Cleveland; Alex Gaston who was with the Red Sox years ago, and John Heving, who caught for the Athletics and Red Sox.

Five more, including Art Shires and Billy Meyer, who with the Athletics, are in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

The Cleveland Indians got off to a good start under their new Manager Steve O'Neill yesterday, playing heads up baseball to defeat the Chicago White Sox 4-2.

Ralph Garner, a tribal rookie, was sent in to pitch and turned in a masterful job, holding the Sox to six hits. Shortstop Mike Appling, who drew a balk in the fifth, was the first Chicagoan to get on the path.

O'Neill resumed his usual position as coach at third base once when the White Sox complained that Winegarner was not keeping his foot on the rubber as he pitched. O'Neill settled the dispute in true managerial fashion.

The Yankees welcomed the Red Sox 10-2, and Washington turned back the Athletics 10-7 in other American league games.

In the National league the Giants beat Brooklyn 5-4, Philadelphia beat the Boston Braves 9-1, and the Cincinnati Reds the Cubs 3-1.

PAMPA SLUGGERS WIN OVER STANOLIND YELLOW JACKETS

Visitors, The Without Several Star Players, Turn in Excellent Game.

The Pampa Sluggers, girls' playground ball team, continued on its undefeated way yesterday afternoon at Magnolia park by defeating the Stanolind Yellow Jackets, 15 to 5. It was the hardest tussle of the season for the Pampa team, which had been riding roughshod over all opposition.

Stanolind failed to field several star players who were out of the city or ill. The Stanolind battery of Watts and Horton were missing from the lineup.

The Yellow Jackets will meet the Skellytown Panthers in their next game, the date to be set soon.

INDIANS' GRIP FIRMER ON PERCENTAGE MARKS

By The Associated Press
The Oklahoma City Indians, winners by an 8 to 4 count over Houston last night, had a firmer grip on the Texas league lead today, and the Dallas Steers who bobbed up a time or two lately for daylight were well back in the dark recesses of the cellar. A 10 to 1 defeat at the hands of the Beaumont Exporters gave the Steers their setback.

Mareau pitched eight-hit ball to give the Tribe its victory while his mates batted Phippen and McGhee for 11 safe ones.

The Exporters had little trouble in rounding up the steers and putting the cellar brand back on them. Clarence Phillips limited the Herd to three doubles while his mates were bouncing Sal Glatto and Red Wright for a dozen hits, including a homer by Archie in the seventh with one out.

A bit of fireworks was injected in the fourth when Manager Milt Gaston was chased by Umpire Davis after Bates had been hit with a pitched ball. Gaston protested that Bates, Beaumont centerfielder, was not hit, and when he kicked too long and loud, he was thumped from the park. Glatto joined in the argument later and then followed his skipper out of the game. Tauby, Steer left fielder, was hit on the preparations, but Steer claims said he would be out of the game for at least four or five days if the finger were not broken and possibly out all season if the finger had to be splinted.

Fort Worth made a determined move to stay out of the cellar by bunting hits for an 8-6 victory over San Antonio. The Cats unlimbered long range guns for four home runs and treated four Mission hitters badly.

The Beaumont win and a Tulsa loss to the tune of 9 to 7 to Galveston put the Oilers and Exporters in a tie for second place in the win column. The Bucs hopped on Pop Griffin to build a 5 to 2 lead in the first two innings, but Ed Selway kept them silenced until his mates gained a 7 to 5 advantage in the seventh. Then the winning runs were made off Dick Whitworth.

GERMANS FEAR OLYMPICS MAY BE YET LOST

This Fact Said to Inspire Attacks on Newspaper Correspondents There.

BERLIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—An authoritative source expressed the belief today that fear of losing the 1936 Olympic games because of the campaign against Jews, and "political Catholicism" lay behind Nazi attempts to obstruct foreign correspondents.

Loss of the games at Berlin would come close to being a major setback to the Nazi regime, economically as well as politically.

Millions of marks are being spent in preparations, with officials counting on an influx of foreign money to stimulate declining business.

Informed sources said certain Nazi quarters were convinced that there existed among foreign correspondents a scheme to have the international committee cancel the games.

The ousting of some newspaper men and the influencing of those remaining against sending abroad reports of the attacks against Jews, and "political Catholicism" were said authoritatively to be the method of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, for dealing with the alleged plot.

Members of the Foreign Press association said they were mystified as to why government officials should believe charges of the existence of any plot.

The authoritative source said, however, that the Olympics stand as the center of present Nazi objectives, and anything which appears to endanger their success is likely to suffer blows.

Besides the building of a whole city at Deshritz and houses at Kiel for boat training, as well as expenditures at Garmisch and Partenkirchen for winter sports, crews of laborers already are brushing up the capital.

Although the foreign reaction to the drive on Jews and political Catholicism was said to be feared, Goebbels himself asserted in a recent address that the attacks would persist.

Black Cats Win Their 18th Tilt

The Coltexo Black Cats of LeFors won their 18th game of the season on Sunday afternoon, taking an 11 to 5 game in Childress from the team entered in the Red River Valley league.

Lonnie Ables, Coltexo veteran moundsman, let Childress down with six hits while his teammates were getting to Alexander and Shires for 11 clean singles.

Four Black Cat batters gathered all the hits for their team. Seago got two singles and a triple. Bellah hit for the circuit and also a single. Ables and Ehard got two hits each, both singles.

Perry Hale, brother of Sammy Hale of Coltexo of LeFors, got a home run and triple to lead the Childress attack. Powell also got a triple. Alexander singled for the other Childress hit.

Batteries: Coltexo — Ables and Leggett. Childress — Alexander, Shires and Wood.

TWO DENVER, ONE CALIFORNIA TEAM NOW TIED FOR LEAD IN DENVER POST'S TOURNAMENT

DENVER, Aug. 6. (AP)—Two Denver clubs and a California team are tied for leadership in the baseball tournament sponsored by the Denver Post.

They are Colorado Ice and the White Elephants, a negro outfit, and the Los Angeles Californians. Each has won two games in as many starts.

Two more teams are scheduled to be erased from further competition after today's games. Here is the slate:

1 p. m.—Louisville, Colo., vs. Denver Holsum Bread.

3 p. m.—Alper's Clothiers, Denver, vs. Denver All-Stars.

8:30 p. m.—Rumble Oilers, Overton, Texas, vs. Lexington, Neb.

The losers of the afternoon games will be eliminated, as each of the four has been beaten once.

Results yesterday were:

Golden, Colo., 12; Gering, Neb., 0, C. 2.

Boulder, Colo., 17; Idaho Springs, Colo., 5.

Colorado Ice, 6; Danziger Road Runners, Pampa, 5.

"Bud" Cabbie, left hander, marked up his second victory in leading the Road Runners to seven hits.

He had one bad inning when the Texans scored four runs in the third on a hit batter, an error. Scal-

YOUNGSTERS IN FOREIGN TEAM ARE PROMISING

ARGENTINE BOYS WILL BE HERE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Amish baseball team from the Argentine Republic which will play Coltexo of LeFors at Road Runner park tomorrow night, at 8:30 o'clock is composed of young men 21 years of age and under. Every one of the players is good at his position and has been playing ball since childhood.

The Amish team is from a religious organization of Swiss extraction now living in the pampas of Argentina. A number of families left Switzerland in 1760 and settled in Canada and Pennsylvania. A hundred years later, many of the gull moved to the Argentine where they acquired large amounts of land. There are 200,000 in the colony today.

Although living simply, they encourage sports of many types. They make their own clothing, using no buttons, do all their work with horse and oxen, motor vehicles being barred, and work on a co-operative basis.

The young men, unmarried, are beardless but as soon as they marry, they just grow a beard and keep it well trimmed. No mustaches are allowed.

The team is not a freak one, but one of the best in the semi-pro ranks today. Winning more than 100 games from some of the best professional clubs in the country is quite a feat.

The team lines up with Meyers in centerfield, Lik at second base, Geig in left field, Frey behind the bat, Herr at shortstop, Lenz at first base, Russell in right field, Kalb on the hot corner, and Mark, Kirsh, Gorn and Mayer on the mound.

Mayer is a cripple who has astounded thousands by his performances. His legs are withered and he walks on stumps, yet he has a terrific fast ball and a change of pace which is baffling. He won his first nine games in Texas, defeating San Antonio and Houston of the Texas league.

Manager Sammy Hale will send his strongest lineup to the field against the Amish players. Pampa fans will have their first opportunity to see Parker, former Kansas City hurler; Grouse, former Kansas City outfielder; and Bacuss, brother of Whitey Bacuss of St. Louis.

The two teams play at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in LeFors.

Texarkana Man Is Skeet Champ

TEXARKANA, Aug. 6. (AP)—Beck Morgan of Texarkana held the Six States skeet shoot championship today. He was declared the champion yesterday after he broke 197 out of 200 targets.

Second honors went to Lee Weiland of Paris, Texas, who had a card of 195. Billy Clayton, 17-year-old Oklahoma state champion from Calvin, tied with Jim Lockery of Shreveport for third place with a score of 194.

A team from Houston composed of Bullard, Debes, Gripp, Barcelona, and Lange won team honors with a total of 958 out of a possible 1,000.

It will be remembered that the "baby-faced" Clingman can get just as tough and tough as the next one whenever the occasion arises. Clingman likes the going according to rules, but when the other fellow gets too mean, things happen. Clingman will have the permission of the fans tonight to get just as mean as he likes.

Red Michael has already shown fans that he is a fast, clever grappler and he will get a chance to show his ability tonight against Van Beber. The Dutchman learned holds, and speed as an amateur and he uses them to good effect now that he has become a professional.

Former Champs To Meet EXTRA LARGE GATE LIKELY AT LOUIS-LEVINSKY BOUT

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—A gate that may reach $200,000 was in prospect today for the heavyweight fight at Comiskey park tomorrow night, between Joe Louis, Detroit's knockout sensation, and King Levinsky, the glorified ex-fish peddler.

When the box office traffic was opened today, Promoter Joe Foley announced $110,000 was already in the strong box. He predicted another $100,000 would come rolling in before the walloping Chicagoan and the Detroit negro started throwing punches at each other's chin. Louis, who quit work in a Detroit automobile plant a year ago to receive $50 for his first fight, has been guaranteed 30 per cent of the receipts, with 20 per cent going to the Kingfish.

Louis, weighting 194 pounds, which was a bit lighter than he expected to be, was resting at the summer home of one of his managers, Julian Black, near St. Joseph, Mich.

Levinsky, after taking a long walk and a bit of light exercise, planned to leave his camp at Round Lake, Ill., late this afternoon.

Levinsky, weighing 198 pounds, the lightest he has been in five years, is completely satisfied with his physical condition and believes he will win. However, there was an attitude of "we hope he'll win" around the Kingfish's training camp.

New Classification Of Geology Seen

CANYON, August 6.—Fossil specimens found in the Palo Duro canyons will lead to a reclassification of our geological formations, according to Lyman H. Daugherty, University of California paleobotanist.

This comment came after Mr. Daugherty had made a personal tour of the prehistoric plant deposits of the Palo Duro and Ceta canyons on July 15. He was accompanied by Warren D. Mather and Mr. C. Stuart Johnston, instructor in science and paleontology, respectively, at the West Texas State Teachers college.

MISS FRANCES TALLEY AND ALVIN JOHNSON MARRY TODAY

SERVICE READ THIS MORNING AT AMARILLO

BRIDE IS MEMBER OF FAMILY LONG IN COUNTY

Miss Frances Talley and Alvin Johnson left this morning for Amarillo, to be married at 9 o'clock at the home of the Rev. F. W. O'Malley, former pastor of First Christian church here.

They were accompanied by the bride's parents, Sheriff Earl V. Talley and Mrs. Talley, who will witness the ceremony. The entire party was to leave for Denver, starting a 10-day trip through Colorado and New Mexico mountains.

Miss Talley, member of a pioneer family of this county, has spent her entire life here. She attended Pampa schools, graduating in 1934. Mr. Johnson, formerly of Kansas City, has been a member of the police force here the past year.

Teachers Write History Workbook

CANYON, Aug. 6.—Hattie M. Anderson and Jean Moore, instructors at the West Texas State Teachers College, have written a Texas History workbook.

Miss Anderson is associate professor of history in the college, and Miss Moore is an assistant professor of Education in the demonstration school.

The manuscript, entitled "Directed Study Guide in Texas History for Grade Six," will be published in August and made available at a nominal price.

Fossil Rock Found

CANYON, Aug. 6.—A 3,500 pound rock is one of the new attractions at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Museum, Canyon. This rock is sandstone, well filled with bones of pre-historic cats, dogs, camels, horses, tigers, mastodons, that roamed this region five million years ago.

Scanning New Books

BY MAE STEVENS ISAACS, Canadian, Texas.

INDUSTRIALIZE TEXAS

John W. Pirtle of Belton came to Texas in 1890 when a young lad, his father moving from their home in central Tennessee to a Texas cotton farm. He states that he originated the plan for economic recovery in the south as given in this book back in 1920; states reasons for publishing the plan; tells us that we can produce in Texas whatever is needed as well as it can be produced anywhere; and that he believes the proposed organization set forth in his book would create a million new jobs in Texas alone.

The following quotation from Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of Riverside Church, New York City, is made: "If the present economic order can be reformed and managed so that we can share with all people the security, decent livelihood, and opportunities to the children, and open doors for personal and family fulfillment, then we can keep our economic order, but if not, then nothing on earth can save it."

Some statistics are given. The author reminds us that a state is judged not by its acreage but by the creative ability of its citizens. The Bankhead Cotton Control bill, now a law, which was proposed by the Bankhead brothers of Alabama, one of whom was in the house and the other in the senate, is discussed with its probable effects upon the industry.

Effects of the plow-up campaign are gone into in detail. The author says, "... scarcely anything that could happen would shake our faith in the sincerity of the president and Secretary Wallace to bring relief to the people. But as a method of raising the price of agricultural products, we question the policy of destroying any valuable commodity in a nation full of destitute and poverty-stricken people."

"This pertinent question is asked, 'If it was a sincere belief that to destroy a certain amount of cotton the price would advance, why did they not condemn and destroy three million bales of worthless cotton that is a carry-over and is used to exert a bearish influence on the market? That method would have been sure to destroy three million bales of actual cotton, whereas, it is unceasing as to how much cotton was destroyed in the acreage reduction campaign.' He mentions that, not only did labor lose the amount of work which would have been required to finish and gather the growing crop plowed under, but many more days of labor would have been required in mills and factories to make the cotton into goods, thus making employment for many but had the price gone higher on account of reduced acreage, the speculators who held quantities of carry-over cotton would have benefited more than the farmers.

Delightful For Growing Girls

This Smart Dress With Its Pretty Cut and Stitched Plaits

By ELLEN WORTH

Not only growing daughter, but mother will see its qualities too. This dainty dress is of well loved dotted Swiss, which everyone knows, wears forever and a day—in spite of the wash tub. Crisp white organdie was used for the little "boy" collar and ruffled trim.

Of course, hosts of other lovely cottons could be used for this dress, including gingham, seersucker, etc.

Style No. 334 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 1/4 yards of 35-inch material with 1/4 yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Joan was a year old on Aug. 4.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Everything comes out in the wash—even stains—if only you will take a few precautions before wash day. Heavy ice cream and frosted drink stains, for instance, found all too often on your best table cloth these days, need two pre-tub treatments. They are usually a combination of sugar, cream and color from fruit juices. The cream must first be treated with a grease solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride. To erase the fruit juice, pour boiling water through the spot.

Salad oil may be unnoticeable when wet, but unless all grease or oil is taken out it will show up as grayish brown stains when the fabric is ironed and will be almost impossible to get out then. The trick is also to treat mayonnaise and oil stains with carbon tetrachloride before washing.

Removing Grass Stains
If you can take care of a grass stain while it's fresh you can usually take it out with soap and water, but if it is a day or more old staining with denatured alcohol is effective. Unwashable materials, of course, must be given the alcohol treatment to begin with.

After using a bleach, rinse articles thoroughly. The bleach weakens the fabric if left on.

Colored Fabrics Will Bleach
Tea and coffee and fruit stains are removed by pouring boiling water through the spot. After laundering, these stains, too, must be given the bleaching treatment. Of course if you attempt to remove stains from colored fabrics with bleach, the color will come out.

Lipstick comes out in the ordinary wash.

Make a practice of going over laundering to remove spots before putting the clothes into the suds. These red marks will save many a flour of work and annoyance later.

Every once in a while somebody throws a damp towel in the clothes hamper and traces of mildew make their appearance. In the early stages of its growth this stain comes out by washing in cold water before putting into hot suds. If, however, it is stubborn, white cottons and linens may be bleached with Javelle water. Small scattered spots can be stretched over a bowl of hot water containing a few drops of ammonia. Then, with a dropper, put the bleach on the stain and immediately rinse the material in the water in the bowl. You may need to repeat this several times. Large spots are more easily taken out if they are soaked in a solution of two tablespoons of Javelle water in one part of clear water.

Mr. Bertha Neil, who will spend the remainder of the summer here.

W. H. Morgan has gone to Hot Springs, N. M. for medical treatment.

Ross Alexander and family are on vacation at Eagle Nest Lake, N. M.

PARADE TO BE ONE EVENT OF DRY CAMPAIGN

Choirs to Rehearse Tomorrow for Rally

An automobile parade will be held Saturday afternoon, August 17 at 2:30 o'clock by young people from Pampa churches. H. D. Tucker, youth director of the county prohibition campaign, announced today.

Plans were made at a mass meeting of young people Sunday night after church services. Plans include securing 100 or more automobiles to be decorated with streamers and covered with banners in the interest of the state dry law which will be voted upon on August 24th.

All young people of Pampa are invited to take part in the parade, which will be led by the municipal band.

Young people will also hold a watermelon feast on the lawn of First Methodist church, Friday evening Aug. 23rd at 6:30 when they will do some special work in the interest of the election.

All Pampa churches are invited to join in a union service Sunday night at the First Baptist church, when a guest speaker will be present in the interest of prohibition. All church choirs are requested to meet at the First Baptist church tomorrow night at 8:45 following the mid-week services and regular choir rehearsals to plan special music for the Sunday night meeting. R. E. Gatlin, will be in charge of this group meeting.

TAILLESS AIR CREATION WILL CONTINUE TRIP

FLIVVER PLANE NEEDS MINOR REPAIRS IN EL PASO

EL PASO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Pilot John H. Geisse, undaunted by breakdowns and delays, was ready today to continue his trip from Santa Monica, Calif., to Washington, D. C., in the new "tailless" plane. He said he would take off early today and make stops at Midland and Fort Worth on his flight across Texas.

Geisse, head of the development section of the federal aeronautical bureau, landed the ship here late yesterday and turned the quiet-looking craft over to airport mechanics for minor repairs.

He left Santa Monica August 1 and flew to Tucson, Ariz. The plane was cracked up in a forced landing at Lordsburg, N. M., August 3 and remained there until it was overhauled.

The craft, said to be the newest thing in inexpensive air travel, was designed by Waldo Waterman of Los Angeles. Geisse was detailed to take the plane to Washington to show it to department of commerce officials.

The "tailless" ship, capable of 3 hours continuous flight, was built to meet government specifications for a dependable ship to cost about $1,000.

It was put through successful tests in California and will be tested further by officials in Washington.

Clothing Workers May Organize As AFL Members

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Formation of a new organization of clothing workers to make an intensive, nationwide membership drive was considered today by the American Federation of Labor's executive council.

Representatives of the five principal needle trades unions were here to report their views to the council after a conference this morning.

If the needle trades union chiefs favor the plan, the council probably will authorize establishment of a needle trades department within the federation, corresponding to the organization of the building trades and the metal workers unions.

The five principal needle trades unions—Amalgamated Clothing Workers, the Ladies Garment Workers, the United Garment Workers, the Millinery Workers and the Fur Workers—embrace about a half million workers, reports to the federation show.

The council's first session of its third quarterly meeting was devoted yesterday to considering a report from Hugh S. Johnson, new York work relief chief, on the "security wage" and the dispute between the foundry and moulders unions.

Johnson defended the $93.50-a-month wage that the government intends to pay skilled craftsmen on New York relief projects, saying that they would make more at that rate than by working a few days a month at the prevailing local scale.

The workers, however, have rebelled against the relief wage.

Pat Hurley to Testify Soon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war and the Hoover cabinet, will appear before the senate lobby committee, possibly tomorrow, to tell of his work for the Associated Gas & Electric system.

Hurley sought the hearing to discuss recent testimony that he received $25,000 from the company in connection with the campaign against the Wheeler-Rayburn bill to abolish certain utility holding companies in seven years.

Soon after the testimony was given, Hurley issued a statement saying he had done no lobbying and that all his work was of a legal nature.

"Almost anyone would have sense enough not to hire me to use my influence with a new deal congress, as that influence would not be worth a nickel," he said.

The lobby committee was in recess today, though the house rules committee, also conducting an investigation into activities in the utilities bill fight, was called together to hear testimony by Bernard B. Robinson of Chicago.

PAID FOR RAISING PIGS!
MANCHESTER, Iowa (AP)—"Sure" Lyle Sutton, Manchester farmer, said today, "I believe in Iowa—$12-181 worth."

He recently sold 442 hogs, averaging 260 pounds for $10.60 a hundred. He bought them for six and eight cents a pound when they weighed around 90 pounds.

"And," he added, "I've got 385 more in my feed lot. They'll be ready for market in September."

You see them here on arrival at New York from Europe, where they reached a reconciliation. Mrs. Piermonte, the former Madeleine Force Astor Dick, will get her first glimpse of her newly-born grandchild, the son of John Jacob Astor III.

READY MADE WIFE

Chapter 14
SHOCK FOR WANDA
Wanda continued:
"Ferdie left me all his money. We can do everything we like. We can forget everything about the past; we can go all round the world. All I want is to make you happy, to be happy with you."

"I have my job," Rex said.
"Nonsense! I couldn't bear to think of you flying again!"
She was in a way like himself; she was pulsating with strength, with energy; the wine of life ran in her veins. And she was a woman starved of love, and she had found the man she desired more than anything on this earth.

She was looking at him with burning eyes.
"You have forgotten because you want to," she said bitterly. "And all this time I've been thinking of you and longing to find you. Ferdie thought you must be dead, because you never let us hear from you. But, somehow, I always knew you were alive."
"I am sorry," his voice was grave. "But I have my life to live. I have my work. I have my chance again. It's seldom a man gets such a chance twice over. My life is my job. I will pay you back all that I owe you in money. I can't bear to be in your debt. Ever since I came back, I've thought of nothing else. But beyond that—it's impossible."

"How dare you insult me like that?" Her eyes glowed red with the fury of balked passion. "You are a miserable coward. No, I don't mean that, Rex!"
Her voice changed, became abject. "I'll wait. I know how you must feel coming back to your job. I won't stand in your way. You shall do all you want to. You shall show the world that you are the finest sirman in it. Everything I have shall go to help you. But say you haven't forgotten! Only say you'll love me as I love you! That's all I care about."

He shook his head.
"You mean you want me to marry you, Wanda?"
"Of course."
"I can't do that."
"Why? Because I am rich? Don't be a fool! You owe me so much already."
"I know I will pay it back."
"You can't, Rex, you can't have forgotten what you said when you sat out those nights in the garden, and you were so dear, so sweet to me? I told you I couldn't live without you, and you said—oh, so many things, but always that fate had been unkind to us, we had met too late, and—"

He interrupted her harshly.
"Please don't! I didn't mean—I don't know what I said."
And indeed, he did not know. In that dazed period of seeing again, of looking on a new world, of the miracle of emerging from that awful darkness—what had he said? What could a man have said to this woman to whom he owed his eyes, his life? To whom he could give nothing real, nothing that mattered, nothing that she wanted? Only gratitude. What could he say to her?

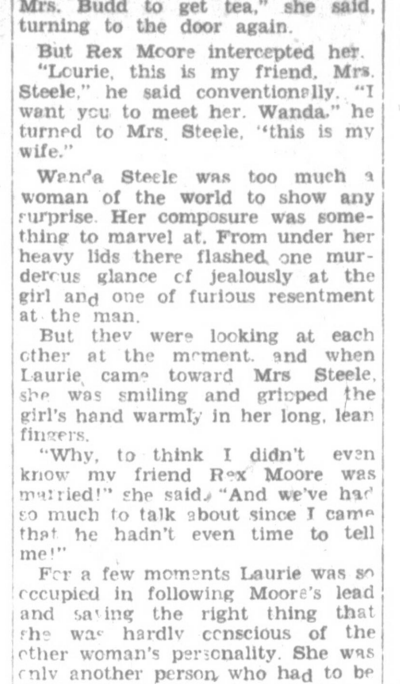

The man was striding up and down the room, his hands clenched.

This is one of the rare instances in which the actual knockout has been recorded by the camera.

FUNDS ALLOTTED CCC WILL CARRY WORK THRU WINTER

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—President Roosevelt today allotted $200,000,000 of work relief funds to help carry the civilian conservation corps through the current fiscal year.

The money will be used mainly to expand the CCC to full strength of 600,000, the announcement said. The enrollee strength now is 425,000. No definite date was set when the 600,000 peak is expected to be reached. There have been reports that some difficulty was being experienced in finding enough young men to take jobs in the CCC. Among other reasons given was the seasonal opening up of work on farms.

Part of the new funds will be used to finance forest and park improvement work in Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Approximately 4,400 men will be given employment on these projects, officials said. In addition, they expressed the intention of putting 12,500 Indians to work on Indian reservations. This, they said, would bring the number at work on conservation projects to more than 650,000.

Since April 1, a total of $521,734,000 has been allocated to the CCC. Officials said the work to be done this year would be similar to that already in progress—forest protection and improvement projects in forests and parks, soil erosion prevention work, wild life conservation, drainage, and reclamation projects. Today's allotment followed the allocation of more than $500,000,000 of work funds yesterday to assist farm families in resettling on better land and to conduct a census of aged persons eligible for pensions projects.

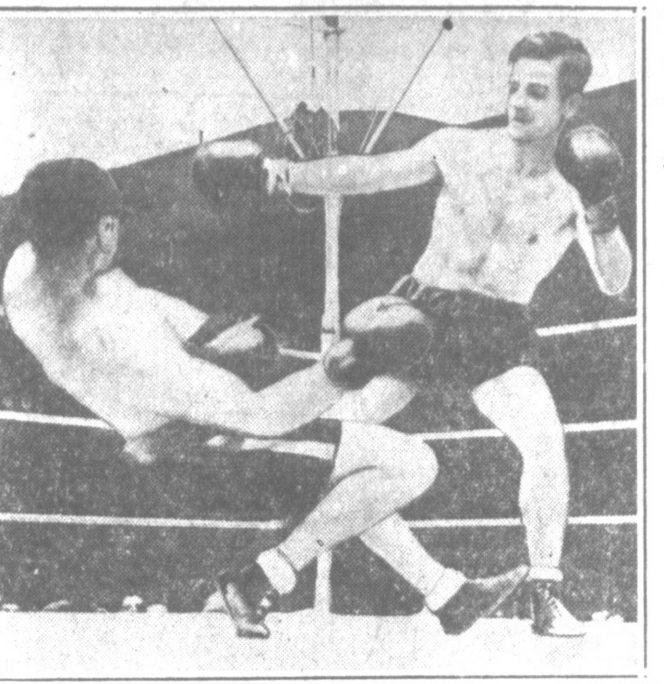

The rural resettlement division said it would aid 30,235 farm families find new homes. The commerce department said it would employ 72,000 white collar workers in listing the aged, making a census of business, and studying retail distribution.

ANOTHER FARMING EXPERIMENT BY UNCLE SAM RUMORED--MANY PERSONS EAGER TO TRY PLAN

TRANSPLANTING RURAL FOLK IS UNDER STUDY

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 6 (AP)—Eager Americans clamored for a chance at frontier farming today as it was disclosed the government is considering a "super colony" along Matanuska lines in Kenai Peninsula.

Mayer Don Brownell of Seward, returning from Washington, D. C., announced federal officials were thinking seriously of transplanting 2,000 families from various parts of the United States to the Peninsula, which lies between Anchorage and Seward.

At the same time Don L. Irwin, manager of the Alaska rural rehabilitation corp., said 650 farmers, representing every state in the Union, have applied, hoping to fill vacancies in the ranks of the colonists in Matanuska valley.

"These persons want to take the place of any dissatisfied colonists quitting or applying to quit the Matanuska colony," Irwin said.

Mayer Brownell did not say how far advanced the plans were for Kenai Peninsula.

He said he thought such a project would be marked by greater preparations for reception of the colonists than at Matanuska.

All necessary lands would be acquired in advance, roads would be built and buildings erected before the colonists were brought from the States, he said.

Irwin announced the names of all applicants for places at Matanuska, some have filed and would be ready to start in any such movement.

Walter Brown, the town nearest Matanuska, was expected to have been the first to start.

A report that has been heard here is that the plan is to be carried out in the near future, and that the government has been thinking seriously of transplanting 2,000 families from various parts of the United States to the Peninsula, which lies between Anchorage and Seward.

He said he thought such a project would be marked by greater preparations for reception of the colonists than at Matanuska.

All necessary lands would be acquired in advance, roads would be built and buildings erected before the colonists were brought from the States, he said.

Irwin announced the names of all applicants for places at Matanuska, some have filed and would be ready to start in any such movement.

Walter Brown, the town nearest Matanuska, was expected to have been the first to start.

A report that has been heard here is that the plan is to be carried out in the near future, and that the government has been thinking seriously of transplanting 2,000 families from various parts of the United States to the Peninsula, which lies between Anchorage and Seward.

At the same time Don L. Irwin, manager of the Alaska rural rehabilitation corp., said 650 farmers, representing every state in the Union, have applied, hoping to fill vacancies in the ranks of the colonists in Matanuska valley.

"These persons want to take the place of any dissatisfied colonists quitting or applying to quit the Matanuska colony," Irwin said.

Mayer Brownell did not say how far advanced the plans were for Kenai Peninsula.

He said he thought such a project would be marked by greater preparations for reception of the colonists than at Matanuska.

All necessary lands would be acquired in advance, roads would be built and buildings erected before the colonists were brought from the States, he said.

Irwin announced the names of all applicants for places at Matanuska, some have filed and would be ready to start in any such movement.

ATHLETES SAY: "THEY DON'T GET YOUR WIND"

So Mild! YOU CAN SMOKE ALL YOU WANT!

JOSEPHINE McKIM, Olympic champion swimmer: "One of my rules in connection with smoking," she says, "is that I always choose a Camel. Camels are such a mild cigarette. I can smoke them steadily. They never bother my wind. I'd walk a mile for a Camel!"

LOU GERRIG says of Camels: "I like their mildness. They never interfere with my mind or my fighting trim. When I feel tired after a game, I get a 'lift' with a Camel."

GENE SARAZEN: "It's important to me that Camels are milder. Extra millions are spent for the choice tobaccos in Camels. They never get my wind or upset my nerves."

LESTER STOFFEN, U.S. tennis doubles champion: "No matter how steadily I smoke, Camels are so mild that they never get my wind. And Camels have a better flavor."

HOMEMAKER—Mrs. Charles F. Ryder: "I PICKED CAMELS LONG AGO. I CAN SMOKE THEM CONSTANTLY WITHOUT AFFECTING MY PHYSICAL FITNESS, BECAUSE CAMELS ARE A Milder, GENTLER CIGARETTE."

FLYER—Ted Ashford of TWA: "LIKE MOST ATHLETES, AVIATORS PREFER CAMELS, TOO. I GET A 'LIFT' IN ENERGY WITH A CAMEL. AND CAMELS ARE SO MILD THEY DON'T GET MY WIND."

ELECTRICAL ENGINEER—G. E. Goodwin: "TO KEEP MYSELF IN GOOD SHAPE I, TOO, SMOKE CAMELS. THEY DON'T IRRITATE MY THROAT OR NERVES, AND CAMELS JUST SUIT MY TASTE."

FASHION DESIGNER—Emily M. Boyle: "I'M NOT A FAMOUS ATHLETE BUT IT'S SATISFYING TO SMOKE A TRULY MILD CIGARETTE... CAMELS. I SMOKE LOADS. CAMELS HAVE A SWELL FLAVOR!"

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!
Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

Legal Notice

SHERIFF'S SALE
THE STATE OF TEXAS, COUNTY OF GRAY.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Tarrant County, on the 16th day of July, 1935, by W. E. Alexander, Clerk, by R. A. Calder, Deputy of said District Court, for the sum of four thousand six hundred sixty-six and 1/2 cents ($4,666.00) Dollars and cost of suit, under a Judgment in favor of Keystone Pipe and Supply Company, a corporation in a certain cause in said Court, No. 10985-A and titled "The Keystone Pipe and Supply Co., a corporation vs. J. E. Taylor, a corporation placed in my hands for service, I, Earl Talley, as Sheriff of Gray County, Texas, did on the 22nd day of July, 1935, levy on certain Real Estate situated in Gray County, Texas, described as follows: to-wit:

The leasehold estate in and under the Northwest 1-4th of Section 24, Block 25, H. & G. N. Ry. Co. Survey in Gray County, Texas, together with the gas well located thereon, known as the well of the McLean Oil Company, including all contents, materials, equipment and appurtenances in and about said well and connected therewith, and levied upon as the property of McLean Oil Company and that on the first Tuesday in September, 1935 the same being the 3rd day of said month, at the Court House door, of Gray County, in the City of Pampa, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, at the property of said McLean Oil Company.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Pampa Daily News, a newspaper published in Gray County.

Witness my hand, this 22nd day of July, 1935.

EARL TALLEY, Sheriff,
Gray County,
By Buford Reed, Deputy
Jul. 23, 30, Aug. 6.

SCOUT NEWS

J. H. Williams, scoutmaster, W. J. Dewey, assistant scoutmaster, and P. E. Partridge, with members of the Hopkins Boy Scout troop No. 18, returned Saturday from a week's tour of the Wichita National forest and game preserve near Lawton, Okla.

Three days were spent in the forest in fishing, swimming and mountain climbing. Mountain climbing was omitted from the program after two trips as the boys were leaving too much of their clothing in the mountains from sliding down some of the large rocks.

One night was spent at Medicine park, where the group visited the state fish hatchery.

Several hours were spent at Fort Sill Military reservation. Sergeant Tomlin detailed an escort to the party, which drove around over the grounds and out to the Field Artillery museum. This was very interesting as the guides explained everything from the gross bow to the eleven-drum pound. A 2 1/2 r. r. bomb. At the old fort, several of the party found lead balls of the muzzle loading rifle type.

Camp was made at the Lost Bridge camp ground east of Lawton, where all the boys enjoyed a swim. The pool is fed by a 915-foot artesian well which flows 440 gallons of water per minute. This was one of the cleanest pools noticed on the entire trip.

The return trip by Granite was a disappointment. Inmates were all inside the walls and visitors were not allowed.

The entire trip was enjoyed by all and very successful. No sickness or injury was experienced. All boys are looking forward to the trip next summer; no definite plans have been made other than a trip will be made.

—Troop Scriber.

Meeting Postponed
Last night's city commission meeting was postponed because Mayor W. A. Bratton and Commissioner W. T. Fraser were out of the city. Mayor Bratton will not return for a week. The two commissioners, however, will meet tonight.

V. F. W. to Meet
Discussion of the fall program and advancement of plans for organizing an auxiliary will be chief business at a meeting of the local chapter of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, at 8 o'clock tonight in the Legion hut. Commander Hamp Waddell will preside.

New Motor Here
A new motor for the sewage lift plant at southeast Pampa arrived last night and was being installed this morning. The old motor broke down Sunday, and it was deemed inadvisable to repair it.

On Vacation Trip
Sheriff and Mrs. Earl Talley left this morning for points of interest in New Mexico and Colorado, where they will fish and rest. They will be gone two weeks.

To Meet Later
The E. C. D land committee, appointed to secure bids on ground for a permanent place to hold future celebrations, will meet with the city commission and directors of the Board of City Development at a later date. The meeting was scheduled for last night but absence of several members of the various bodies caused postponement.

Return from Abroad
Mr. and Mrs. John J. Corrigan returned to Pampa Sunday night after a leisurely trip through the northern and central states following a visit to Ireland and England. They enjoyed sightseeing in Ireland, as well as visits with Mr. Corrigan's relatives. Points visited in England included London and Wembleton, where they saw the international tennis matches which Mrs. Helen Wills Moody regained the world title. Returning to New York July 16, they spent some time at Niagara Falls, Chicago, and St. Louis, then visited Mrs. Corrigan's mother in Stamford before returning here. They started the Hoover faction in the party than Vandenberg.

New Nurse Is 'Tops' With Marie

Just as pleased with her new nurse as with her Sunday finery, Marie Dionne seems the picture of content, perched on the lap of attractive Eva Gagne. A young housewife, Mrs. Gagne is "subbing" for Nurse Yonne Leroux, on vacation for the first time since the quins were born, 15 months ago. Nurse Gagne is Ontario-born, was trained in the Ottawa General hospital, and is very fond of the quins—as who isn't?

TWO REPUBLICAN LEADERS ARE CLASHING—PARTY IS WORRIED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—Political observers speculated today over the likely long-range consequences of a senate clash between Senators Vandenberg of Michigan, and Dickinson of Iowa, both often mentioned as republican presidential possibilities in 1936.

In the senate yesterday, Dickinson attacked the senate munitions committee report and its counsel, Stephen Raushenbush, Vandenberg, a member of the committee, vehemently replied that the Iowan did not know what he was talking about.

While democrats enjoyed the spectacle, republicans wondered whether the bitterness engendered by the exchange might not echo through the republican campaign of 1936.

It was the first open break in the ever-widening field of republican presidential possibilities. Though the party convention is less than twelve months off, prospective candidates have carefully refrained from criticisms of each other.

The Iowa senator has been one of its most outspoken opponents in the senate from the outset of the Roosevelt administration. Keynote in the 1932 convention, he has been more closely identified with the Hoover faction in the party than Vandenberg.

The clash between the two came on the subject of war profits and neutrality. Dickinson contended the munitions committee had chosen Raushenbush as chief investigator despite "socialistic tendencies" and that its report was shaped by him.

"If we let a communist into the war department and have files of confidential information," Dickinson said, "he could give the committee what information he desired but reserve the rest for other use."

Jumping to his feet, Vandenberg replied to the Iowan:

"I give him credit for not knowing what he is talking about."

A TOUCH OF HEAT
KANSAS CITY (AP)—Milkman Richard T. Beedle, 28, parked near the home of J. C. Coghill, 43, street-car motorman, to eat a late lunch yesterday.

Coghill rushed out and shot Beedle twice, shouting "you can't break up my home."

"Jim was insane," said Mrs. Coghill. "The sun must have affected him. I never saw the man Mr. Coghill shot. We do not take milk from him."

Mrs. E. H. Martin and baby daughter were to leave Pampa-Jarrat hospital this afternoon.

ARMY TAKING STEPS TO KEEP MILITARY SECRETS CLOSELY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP)—The army is tightening up on the lid it clamps on military secrets.

The war department has issued revised regulations designed to prevent certain information about new methods or machines of war from getting out.

Time or 30 years or death in wartime. No "restricted project" may be displayed or discussed with casual visitors to army establishments.

The regulations, approved by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff, authorize the chief of air corps, ordnance and other branches to designate any secret research work, designs, tests, or production of military equipment as "restricted projects."

Details of the "restricted projects" may not be made public or transferred to any unauthorized persons under penalty of heavy fine or imprisonment.

Officials and army officers put the new regulations into effect in declining information concerning tests of a new ray to detect airplanes or ships at long range. The tests are now under way in New Jersey.

The war department also recently refused to permit photographs to be made of the new Martin and Douglas bombers which are to be tested late this month in Dayton, Ohio.

All commercial companies, bidding on or engaged in production of army equipment, are required by the new regulations to sign agreements pledging the utmost secrecy about any equipment designated as "restricted projects."

Violations are declared to be punishable under the espionage law of June 15, 1917, which provides fines of $10,000, two years imprisonment, or both, for "gross negligence" in the revelation of military secrets.

It is said that anyone transmitting secret "restricted project" information to any foreign government or its agents, or for use against the United States, would be subject to 20 years imprisonment in prison.

Strike Ends and Wages Increased

ATHENS, Aug. 6 (AP)—Four thousand strikers, their revolt crushed, returned to work in Crete today with a 15 per cent wage increase negotiated by Gen. Bakopoulou.

The general, after accepting the surrender of the rebels, was instrumental in settling the strike issues, outstanding among which was the wage question.

A check of casualties from the street fighting at Candia yesterday showed that six persons were killed and 51 wounded.

RAILROAD COMMISSION ISSUES DRASTIC ORDER TO STOP HOT OIL

TAX RECEIPTS ARE DEMANDED TO GIVE CHECK

MORE TAXES ARE PAID THAN TENDERS JUSTIFY

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—A drastic order of the Texas Railroad commission requiring applicants for permits to ship refined petroleum products to exhibit a certificate showing the quantity of gasoline on which it has paid state taxes became effective at 7 a. m. today.

The commission acted after sharp criticism from a special legislative investigating committee which produced figures at a recent hearing showing many refineries paid taxes on more gasoline than was declared in tender applications.

"The commission finds that certain oil operators and refiners of crude petroleum are making sworn reports to one state department and other reports to other state departments concerning the same oil or refined products," the order stated. "The commission finds they have been using the above means to evade the orders of the commission and the conservation laws."

The plan was devised so the commission could check back from the tendered products to the source of the crude from which it was processed. The commission based its order on the prevention of physical waste caused by production in excess of allowances.

"No tender on refined products shall be approved unless a certificate from the comptroller's office has been supplied and offered in the record as part of the application for the tender," the order stated. "This certificate shall be attached to the application."

"This certificate shall show the quantity of gasoline on which applicant has paid taxes for the preceding month. This certificate shall be returnable with all gasoline tenders applied for on or after the 20th of each month."

To obtain a base for comparison the commission ordered all shippers to obtain a comptroller's office certificate showing gasoline tax payments since January 1.

Certificates would not be required on proper showing the gasoline was actually destined for interstate or foreign commerce.

Gasoline purchasing companies seeking tenders would be required to make the same showing as refiners and to file certificates showing from whom the products were acquired and the amount of taxes paid by the manufacturer.

Yugoslavia Sells Gas Masks BELGRADE (AP)—Gas masks and complete anti-gas costumes are being sold to the public by the Yugoslav government factory "Obilich." A simple mask costs $1.00. One with triple eye pieces and with special gloves and chemically treated trousers and blouse can be had for $9.

Icelandic Eagle Lands in Poland GDNIA, Poland (AP)—An eagle from Iceland, exhausted by a long battle against Atlantic winds, flopped on the steamer Kosciuszko en route from New York to this port. The bird arrived here refreshed and was sent to the Warsaw zoo.

ORCHESTRA AT PLA-MOR ONE OF VERY BEST

One of the outstanding orchestras which is touring the country at present will entertain dance and music lovers tomorrow night at the Pla-Mor ball room. Jean Calloway and her 12-piece colored Victor recording orchestra play a variety of dances. Plans are being made to care for a large crowd which is expected to attend the affair.

The Calloway orchestra is widely known for its Victor recordings and through the ball rooms and dance palaces where it has played several long engagements. An interesting and entertaining floor show will be held in connection with the dance. This show alone is said by many who have seen it to be worth the price of admission. Various numbers will be given with a variety sure to please.

Hailed throughout the country as the "dynamic personality," Jean Calloway has won acclaim as the queen of hi-de-ho.

She and her 12-piece orchestra have appeared in every major city in the country being featured in the leading RKO Public Fox, Pancho and Marco theaters from coast to coast.

The band is on a limited tour of this territory direct from a record breaking run at the Lion Club in New York and the Cotton Club, Chicago, and each and every place where the band has been presented tremendous crowds have greeted them at their appearances.

The youngest of the famous Calloway family, her music is said to rival that of the first of the family that has made the name Calloway so internationally renowned and famous. The well-known Cab Calloway.

Dancing will begin at 9:30 and last until 1:00. Plans are being made to care for a large crowd.

Dusting The Covers Of Texas History For THE TEXAS CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION OF 1936

AUSTIN, Aug. 6 (AP)—Among the accomplishments of Gideon Lincoln, one of Texas' earliest and most passionate naturalists, was a considerable knowledge of geology and other practical sciences. In his diary, covering the years 1846 to 1870, the daily notes he made of his activities reflect his keen interest in every phase of nature. Butterflies, ants and other insects occupied much of his attention, but his notations indicate that he was observant of the geological and geographical aspects of nature as well.

In fact, one of his numerous expeditions, taken in 1867, appears to have been primarily for the purpose of collecting fossils and other geologic specimens in Central Texas. Excursions from his diary, now in the library of The University of Texas, show his appreciation for the possibilities afforded to future generations by physical attributes of this section of the state. His observations on human nature are somewhat tart, and appear to grow more acrimonious as he advances in years.

His notes on this geology field trip begin as of March, 1867. The numbers he includes, in his notes refer to the specimens he has acquired on the trip.

"20 Tuesday—Made no observations today. Arrived at Austin at 11 p. m. Saw one or two thinking men, but did not bottle them up, though they were very rare. I hope to find more of them. The weather has continued bad, have made no collections worth naming yet. Austin is situated in the cretaceous formation, and is full of marine fossils. Nothing new discovered by me yet. I shall appropriate a day to the examination of the river and the little mountains above Austin.

"22 Thursday—Wrote to Lysander, Oniser, and Doran, and worked at my ants. Dr. S. B. Buckley has leave from the governor to accompany me in my scientific excursion.

"April 4 Thursday—Dr. Beauchamp of Cameron directed us where we might find a deposit of coal. We found 16 miles from Port Sullivan in a bluff on Little River, on the north side of the river. Dr. Buckley declared it to be the largest deposit he had seen in the state. On what is called the River road up the Brazos, and from one to five miles below Pond creek, is an immense quantity of iron ore. It is a very fine stream. It may be a good reservoir, as the oil is seen seeping out in 5 or 6 places in a circle of a mile or two.

"24 Wednesday—Passed over the mountains to Lampasas river, and set up camp on the S. side, we shall ascend the river on this side to the sulphur springs. The high mountain region we came over today is beautiful beyond description. It is, after one gets on top of it, a level country, shaded over with mountains and peaks composed of lime shell, and crystalline rocks. They rise to the height of from one to two hundred feet above the common level of the elevated region around. I never saw more lovely scenery. It was 30 miles across, and well stocked with cows and horses.

"29 Monday—I found the Lampasas springs greatly changed, since my visit to them in 1856. The water is still rushing from the same places, some of them, however, have greatly diminished in the quantity discharged. The largest spring discharged then 200 barrels of water per minute. Now, I do not think it discharges exceeding 20 barrels per minute. There are a great many springs gushing out from the banks and the bed of the creek, to the distance of 7 miles along the creek. It is a great place and will eventually be much resorted to.

"May 21 Thursday—The falls on Hamilton's creek, where it has cut its way through a considerable mountain of marble rock, at the Mormon Mills, is, in the space of 100 yards, about 60 feet. The fall portured by Governor Throckmorton to write an account of his excursion and have it published. Several weeks later he made this entry:

"17 Monday—Captured some nice butterflies, coleoptera, hymenoptera, diptera and neuroptera. Also wrote a letter to the governor, or rather finished one to him, giving a short account of the mineral resources of Texas, examined by me during my travel of three months, in 18 counties—Washington, Burleson, Bausgroop, Travis, Williamson, Milam, Falls, Bell, Coryell, Lampasas, Burdett, Blanco, Hays, Comal, Guadalupe, Gonzales, Caldwell, Gillespie, Bexar."

"3 Friday—We left the Mormon Mills, passed over a very rocky mountain in Backlove valley. This valley is in some places stony, others very coarse gritty sand, while some are good soil for tillage. We camped at Marble Falls on Colorado. The water pitches over ledges of black marble, making several falls of 8 to 10 feet in course of a mile. This marble is of fine character and will be valuable in time to come. The entire falls at this place, in course of a mile and a half is about 60 feet, according to my judgment.

Packsaddle Indian Fight In Llano County Occurred 62 Years Ago On Sunday

Eight Frontiersmen Routed Band of Redskins

LLANO, Aug. 6 (AP)—Sunday was the 62nd anniversary of the historic Packsaddle Indian fight, which occurred on Packsaddle mountain about 15 miles from Llano, Aug. 4, 1874. It was the last encounter with the Redskins in Llano county.

The Llano county centennial committee has asked for a cash appropriation from the historical advisory board of the Texas Centennial committee for a marker to be placed on the site of the battle and for the building of a path to the top of the mountain.

The eight heroes who successfully routed a band of marauding Indians three times their number, were the three Moss brothers, J. R., Stephen B. and William B. Moss, Ed. Lloyd, Arch Martin, Pink Ayers, E. D. Harrington, and Robert Brown. All are believed to be dead except Lloyd, who is said to be lying near Bandera, and Harrington, who resides in Pantano, Ariz.

Carried Lead to Grave J. R. Moss, who died in 1924, was elected captain of the small band. W. B. Moss, who was seriously wounded, went to his grave in 1926 carrying the lead from an Indian's weapon. Stephen B. Moss died here several years ago. They were the sons of the late Matthew W. Moss, who came to Llano in the late '50s and settled on a league and labor survey granted him for his services in the battle of San Jacinto. The Moss men were pioneer ranchers of this county.

The story of the Packsaddle fight, written by J. R. Moss a few years before his death and retold recently by Harrington, relates that the Indians had made raids in the neighborhood of the J. R. Moss ranch, in the southern part of Llano county, the day and night before the battle. They ran off a number of horses belonging to the white settlers, but an arrow found piercing the leg of a milch cow on the Moss ranch was the incident that precipitated the fight.

Indians Well Armed Help was quickly obtained from nearby ranchmen and early the next morning the party followed the Indians' trail eastward to Packsaddle mountain, some 25 miles distant. Leading their horses up the mountain the Moss party came suddenly upon the Indians grouped around a camp fire eating roast beef. The white men placed themselves between the Indians and their horses and the fight began. The Redskins were armed with guns and pistols. Three times the Indians fell back behind a ledge of rocks, rallying and making a new attack in each instance. Finally, they retreated down the mountain, chanting as they went. Three dead Indians were found and four of the white men, Bill Moss, Arch Martin, Ed. Lloyd, and Pink Ayers, were wounded but all recovered. They were carried to the ranch home of the late John Duncan, Sr. on Honey creek where their wounds were treated. A shell of this substantial old rock ranch house is still standing, it having been partially destroyed by fire several years ago. It was estimated that 17 men, two women and one boy were in the Indian band. Harrington, left behind after the fighting to bring up the horses, tells this experience.

Scalped the Chief "I turned to getting the Indians' and our horses together. When I started them north they went up beside the battleground, so I went up there to turn them back. At that time I saw the old chief on the ground. I said, 'old boy, when you folks kill our people you always take their scalps so I am going to take yours.' I stepped off my pony and scalped him, taking his ears. By the time I hung it on the horn of the saddle and stepped on my pony the horses had gone back down the battle line.

"When I had gotten down that way I saw another Indian, the one that Bob and I killed, and I said to myself, 'one scalp is lonesome.' So

I put in a few minutes and got a mate to the chief's scalp. "By this time the horses were all around the Indians' camp so I went to picking up and putting on a horse bows, quivers, shields, blankets, Indian lariats and anything I could, including the old chief's breast plate. When I had gotten as much as I could handle I rounded up the horses and started off the mountain. When I got to the brakes I saw the boys about two miles ahead. I battled the 24 horses with all the power I could and finally got them off the mountain."

Kentucky Must Co-duct Runoff Democratic Poll

(By The Associated Press.) Mississippi balloted today in a state office democratic primary as Rhode Island voters filed with Charleston university in an election generally regarded as a new deal test.

Kentucky counted last Saturday's votes which indicated a necessity for a runoff primary to decide its gubernatorial contest between A. B. Chandler and Thomas S. Rhea. The latter was leading with a margin too small to permit claim to the nomination. Three other candidates were eliminated.

Voters of the first congressional district in Rhode Island lined up to choose between democratic candidate Antonio Prince's "back the new deal", and Republican candidate Charles F. Risk's "repudiate the Roosevelt administration's acts."

Five Mississippi gubernatorial candidates awaited the popular verdict after disputing among themselves as to which was being backed by Senator Huey Long of Louisiana. Nomination is tantamount to election.

Virginia nominated state senators, delegates and county officers, with the campaign concentrated on local issues.

A "bargain" Is sometimes a bargain—

A good many people look on August as their lucky month—and we don't mean those who spend it lying on the sand and taking in salt air.

We mean those people who have formed the habit of buying things when other people aren't... porch rugs and luggage and towels and lamps and all sorts of things, for use now and for use next season. Of course they have learned that "bargains" are not always bargains. They know how to recognize quality and style and worth, how to find the strong points and how to avoid weaknesses. And much of their knowledge has come from the advertisements in this newspaper.

All of us follow advertising, but some people study it so thoroughly that they know exactly what they want and where to get it. They are the ones who find the real bargains. Their money buys more things and better things—in August and all through the year.

Well Spacing Is Subject in Suit

AUSTIN, Aug. 6. (AP)—The board of mineral development, opposed to the acreage method of oil proration, today entered litigation in the supreme court concerning the railroad commission's well spacing rule.

Governor Allred, member of the board, said the decision of the court in the Brown vs Humble case, if followed as now interpreted would result in a tremendous loss of value and revenue to the schools.

The governor said the board interpreted the decision as a forward stride toward utilization of oil pools by a method he termed disadvantageous to labor as well as the public school fund.

The mineral development board controls the state's largest venture in the oil business—392 wells in the Sabine river through the East Texas field. The average per well averages 3.48 acres, because the governor said the tracts are in a river bed or small vacancies.

which will be a mechanized unit to replace the militia division.

Another division, called Cassera 11, was ordered created to replace the original division of that name.

These developments have been heralded for some time, but it was explained at the propaganda ministry that the announcement was withheld until after the League of Nations council session at Geneva.

It was explained that the government has a definite military program, inspired by Il Duce himself, with the objective of reaching a million armed men, which Mussolini considers necessary in the field by October, both to protect his East African interests and to maintain his military preparedness in Europe.

The newspaper, Papolo di Roma, published today a long dispatch from Addis Ababa describing E. Italian military preparations.

The dispatch said "great concentrations of troops were in progress in the vicinity of the Ethiopian capital, near Harar."

The same article ascribed to diplomatic circles at Addis Ababa the opinion that League of Nations activities were of "scant importance" and that "hostilities were inevitable."

Red Flag Waves In Striker Parade

BREST, France, Aug. 6. (AP)—Strikers fought police and soldiers today at the naval arsenal as an aftermath of yesterday's demonstration in which shipyard workers dropped their tools and marched in a procession headed by a red flag.

Many persons were hurt in today's affray.

Stones, bolts, tools, and bottles were thrown by men who refused to work under the heavy police guard established at the docks.

The guards tried to drive the men out of the building through a single door.

Strikers swarmed through the streets singing the communist hymn "Internationale." They were joined by other ship workers.

The strikers had been working on the new French cruiser, Dunkerque.

professionals and the trade buoyed prices a few points.

Trading fell off at the end of the first hour and active months lost most of their early gains. Oct. dropped back to 11.41, Dec. held at 11.22, Jan. sold at 11.21 and May at 11.11.

There was little in the news to affect prices. The weather continued excellent for the crop with normal temperatures and little rain reported. Private crop estimates appeared, but the trade was evidently awaiting the government's report before making any commitments.

WHEAT IS LOWER

CHICAGO, Aug. 6. (AP)—Wheat prices broke more than two cents from early highs today as the market largely ignored authoritative estimates of serious crop losses in parts of the domestic northwest and in Canada as a result of rust infection.

Increased liquidation, some of which was attributed to profit taking and selling to stop losses, accompanied weakness in corn, with crop conditions reported favorable. Some selling was associated with grain concerning possible importation of Canadian wheat.

At the close wheat was 1 to 1 1/2 cents below the previous finish, September 90 1/2, and corn was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 off, September 75 1/2, 76 new crop deliveries at new 1 was for the season. Oats lost 1/2, rye 1/2, and barley was unchanged. Lard advanced 17 to 50 cents.
