Conferees Fail In Effort To Agree On Utility Bill

Twinkles The best explanation of the Ethiopian situation seems to be that Italy wants all or part of Ethiopia.

Headlines of the sort long desired: 'Last Gap To Be Open Late Today on Highway 9'—Lubbock Avalanche. It referred to 15 miles from Tulla to Happy.

Ethiopians can hardly be termed 'wets' because they intend to foul all the water which Italians may desire to drink.

Musing of the moment: Don't make the mistake of getting rough with all lobbyists. Pampans have done a tremendous amount of lobbying in recent years for or against oil legislation.

Brevitorials

MUCH PITY is wasted on the residents of small towns. Attorney General William McCraw gives as quoted by the Associated Press, some amusing proof of this fact.

HIS FINDING is understandable. Small town folk have a better perspective on this than a whole. Most of them read at least one daily paper, and read it thoroughly.

WOMEN'S HOME demonstration clubs went through a period when their standing was nothing to shout about. The idea of farm women meeting to talk together did not appear logical.

A FEW WORDS on taxation: Probably no taxpayer thinks that the sums he collects are exorbitant. It is the sum total of taxation which reaches staggering proportions.

However, the United States could issue a call for the conference anywhere, including London.

Last Landing Brings Death

The same air tragedy that snuffed out the life of Will Rogers, also took the life of Wiley Post who circled the globe and won the admiration of the world. The one-eyed pilot who was born on a Texas farm and raised in Oklahoma, showed a brand of courage and pluck that endeared him to millions.

Ship Falls 50 Feet And Both Die Instantly

SEATTLE, Aug. 16. (AP)—Will Rogers, cowboy philosopher, actor and air-travel enthusiast, and Wiley Post, who circled the earth alone in a plane, were killed last night when their plane crashed 15 miles south of Point Barrow in northernmost Alaska.

The word of their death came today to the United States army signal corps headquarters here from their Point Barrow station.

The first terse message said: "Post and Rogers crashed 15 miles south of here (Point Barrow) at five o'clock last night. Have recovered bodies and placed them in care of Dr. Grist (in charge of a small Point Barrow hospital). Standing by on Anchorage (Alaska) hourly."

Later he wirelessly the plane crashed from only fifty feet in the air after taking off from a small river.

"Native runner reported plane crashed 15 miles south of Barrow. Immediately hired fast launch proceeded to scene found plane complete wreck, partially submerged two feet water.

"Recovered body of Rogers then necessary tear plane apart extract body of Post from water.

"Brought bodies to Barrow turned over to Dr. Grist, also salvaged personal effects which I am holding. Advise relatives and instruct this station fully as to procedure.

"Native camping small river 15 miles south here claim Post and Rogers landed, asked way to Barrow.

"Taking off engine mis-fired on right bank while only fifty feet over water.

"Plane out of control, crashed, tearing right wing off and tipping over forced engine back through body of plane.

"Both apparently killed instantly. Both bodies bruised.

"Post's wrist watch broken stopped 8:18 p. m.

Henry W. Grist operates the Presbyterian hospital at Point Barrow, which is maintained primarily for the care of Eskimos.

Post and Rogers were on an aerial vacation which Post had planned would take him to Moscow but Rogers had not decided whether he would accompany him further than Nome where Wiley planned to establish a base for his projected flight across Siberia.

Early plans for the flight included arrangements for Mrs. Post, the wife, to accompany them. At the last moment Mrs. Post withdrew and Post and Rogers flew into the north.

Wives Notified. Mrs. Rogers, wife of the humorist-philosopher, and Mrs. Post were notified of the tragedy by Captain Frank E. Stoner of the signal corps headquarters here.

A coast guard cutter, the Northland was ordered to turn back to Point Barrow, which it left yesterday, to pick up the bodies and bring them to Seattle.

The crash occurred as Post was pointing his pontoon-equipped plane toward Point Barrow, 500 miles away, on a flight from Fairbanks.

The department of commerce at Washington, through Secretary Roper, ordered inspectors to proceed at once to the scene of the wreck. The inspectors, however, lack jurisdiction to act, as the accident did not occur on a regular airline.

Killed

Only in memory and on the screen will be seen the friendly, homesy smile of Will Rogers, humorist, philanthropist, actor, who with Wiley Post was killed last night on the bleak tundras of northern Alaska in a plane crash. Rogers, often termed an "American institution," was one of the most beloved men in the United States.

As soon as word of the death of the two men was received President Roosevelt, a good friend of Rogers' and Post, was informed by the Associated Press.

Wanted To See Brower. Rogers had been especially anxious to get to Barrow, the small settlement 11 miles from where Point Barrow just into the Arctic ocean, for he wanted to chat with Charles Brower, known throughout Alaska as the "King of the Arctic."

Brower has lived 51 years within the Arctic circle. He operates a trading post and whaling station at Barrow.

The plane in which the Oklahomans went to their sudden death was a new one, having been constructed at Burbank, Calif., especially for the Alaska-Siberian flight.

It was of a distinctive model, of low-wing construction, and resembled the plane used by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh in their 1931 flight to Japan and their 1933 flights across the north and south Atlantic.

The territory south of Barrow in which the crash occurred is tundra land. It is generally devoid of bodies of water large enough to accommodate the landing of a plane.

Before Morgan's last message was received Lew Parmenter, an aviation mechanic of Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, expressed the opinion that Post must have experienced motor trouble or some other mechanical difficulty while flying through the fog-banked area.

Good Flier. "Post was an excellent bad weather flier," Parmenter said. "That it, bad weather couldn't stop him, and he flew expertly in bad weather as in good. For that reason I think he probably got engine trouble or something, and had to come down."

I Saw...

He caught it and many other perch and smaller catfish at a lake at McLean where he and other Pampans go fishing several times a week. The doctor has a boat, "City of Pampa," on the lake for fishing purposes.

The U. S. flag being flown at half-mast at the Hotel Adams in honor of Wiley Post and Will Rogers, G. M. Holt, manager of the hotel, ordered the flag lowered.

POST'S HOME TOWN RUSHED WITH SORROW

WILEY WAS NOT 'BIG-GETY' IN MAYSVILLE, OKLA.

MAYSVILLE, Okla., Aug. 16 (AP)—Wiley Post's home town, where he was "always a home town boy and a friend of everybody," was incoherent today with grief over the noted flier's death.

Friends were dispatched to bear the news to his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Post who live on a little farm two and a half miles out of the little town in the northern part of Garvin county. There is no telephone at the modest residence.

"It is just too early to tell about things," said William E. Shown, publisher of the Mayville News and one of Wiley Post's first backers in his aerial career. "I don't know whether burial will be here but certainly there will be memorial services for the most famous of Mayville's sons."

Word of the death of Wiley Post and his friend, Will Rogers, spread rapidly through the town. People gathered in little groups to talk of it, their faces mournful, their voices hushed.

"It is just too early, we don't know what we'll do," Shown continued. "This is the thing that Mayville has always been hoping against."

"You know, I was very close to Wiley but for that matter, so was everyone else in town. He was our big hero. We liked him more because he was such a regular 'home town' boy. The more famous he got, the friendlier he was. There was nothing 'biggy' about our Wiley."

"He came here with his folks along about 1921 when they bought their farm. He was always tinkering with something and it wasn't long before he had the flying bug. I don't know just how he got his early training but I do know that I sort of 'passed that hat' and raised $50 to back Wiley in his first parachute jump here, along about 1922."

POST BORN ON TEXAS FARM AT GRAND SALINE

Rose To Greatness As One Of World's Noted Fliers

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 16 (AP)—From a modest farm near Mayville, Okla., Wiley Post rose to become one of the world's greatest fliers, not satisfied with making the fastest time around the globe but pushing on to new achievement in the stratosphere.

Post had early ambitions to become an airplane pilot, and they were not stopped by an accident in a machine shop several years ago that cost him the sight of an eye.

With Burrell Tibbs and Dorsey Askew as his instructors, he learned to fly and joined them as a parachute jumper in their "flying circus."

After three years of "barnstorming" Post settled down to become the personal pilot of P. C. Hall, wealthy independent operator who later became his backer in the flights that brought Post and the Winnie Mae world fame.

The stocky flier had Harold Gatty for a navigating partner in June and July, 1931, on his first record-making flight around the globe. Their time was 207 hours, and 51 minutes, less than 10 days.

In 1933 Post set out alone from Floyd Bennett Field, New York, bent on breaking that record with the help of navy fliers. Less than nine days, in just 186 hours and 49 minutes he had flown around the earth and landed again at New York.

Post was born at Grand Saline, Texas. The notation "barn first" bit him in 1919 while he was a rigger's helper in the Oklahoma oil fields.

His original investment in aviation was $25, which he took from the lean purse of a barnstorming pilot to give him "the works" of an ancient "jenny."

It was five years later before Post flew again, but the virus of the flying "bug" had taken effect. This time, he went out as a parachute jumper, $25 a leap.

He saved enough to learn flying, but in 1926 he tired of flying borrowed machines and went back to the oil fields to get together a stake for a ship of his own. The second day of his search and search he was struck by a steel spliner which chipped off a link pin.

DEATH STILLS BIG VOICE OF JAMES MASON

HIS 'FOG HORN' GAVE JITTERS TO MANY A PITCHER

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—The "fog" voice that helped fan the "human windmill," Harry Greb, and later brought cascades of laughter from baseball fans throughout the nation has been stilled in death.

Death came suddenly to the former manager of Greb in a Chicago hospital last night. Apparently on the road to recovery after a heart attack Tuesday, Mason suddenly collapsed and died. He was 67 years old.

Since the death of Greb in October, 1926, Mason had been in virtual retirement except for his part time services as special Chicago representative for less renowned fighters, most of them from Pittsburgh. Instead, he spent most of his time, studying baseball and watching the game.

At Chicago and other cities he and his fog horn voice were almost a general two of grees. Daily he would hide in a small megaphone in a paper sack and sit down, usually behind the plate. When a player fumbled, you could hear his voice in all parts of the park.

Mason's body will be shipped to Pittsburgh, his former home, tonight. His invalid brother, Edwin Mason, is his only survivor.

The late John McGraw of the New York Giants once said Mason ratle more pitchers than any man he knew.

"He pulled us through many a crucial series," McGraw once said. "When we got into a tough series, I used to be sure that 'Red' was in the stands. He would haul out his megaphone and start in. Many a pitcher blew up against 'Red's' blast. During Giant rallies, he was supreme."

Facts Gathered Slowly In Post Mystery Death

Nazis Whipped Into Frenzy By Jew-Baiter

POST, Aug. 16. (P)—The slow gathering of facts concerning the mysterious death of J. W. Huff, 48-year-old tenant farmer, continued today as officers called a resumption of a court of inquiry into the case.

In a session yesterday in which District Attorney F. H. Nelson of Tahoka questioned ten witnesses, Jack Huff, 20, son of the farmer, qualified a previous statement that his father shot at him from ambush last Friday, shortly before the disappearance of his parent.

Young Huff said yesterday he was "not sure" who his assailant was.

The district attorney revealed that Huff had a paid up insurance policy of $3,000. Mrs. Huff was named beneficiary.

The farmer's body was found floating on a lake near here last week.

American Woman Is Mentioned In Streicher Blast

Nazis Whipped Into Frenzy By Jew-Baiter

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (P)—A more intensive phase of the Nazi anti-semitism drive was foreseen today for Germany on the basis of Julius Streicher's denunciation of Jewry as the nation's racial economic betrayer.

Most ruthless of anti-semites, Streicher whipped thousands of listeners to fervor when, in addresses before two mass meetings last night, he assailed Jews, the foreign press, bolshevism, and the Catholic baptism of Jews.

All of these, he implied, were linked with an anti-German plot. Despite the ballyhoo that preceded the speeches of the "Nürnberg" publisher of the anti-semitism, Der Stürmer and which led to fear of new outbreaks, his visit was unattended by disorder.

Jews, warned by their leaders, kept to their homes, while storm troops and police patrolled the streets until daylight.

The only open resentment was shown by Americans, who were astounded by a direct reference to a member of the family of United States Ambassador William E. Dodd, Americans in the audience expressed the opinion the remark "wouldn't go unnoticed in diplomatic circles."

Streicher, known as the "Oar of Francoism," was vigorously outspoken in his advocacy of "steps against the racial discharge of mixed marriages" between Jews and Aryans.

"We are proceeding into a great German future," he said, "which will again save all humanity from the Jewish race."

In denouncing the foreign press reports of anti-Jewish disturbances, Streicher demanded that the press report "typical justice in America." His reference to a member of Dodd's family was made in his comment on the leading of a woman through the streets placarded "racial traitor."

"Present at the time this incident occurred," he said, "was, I believe, the wife of the American ambassador, who was shocked. The American press said that in Nürnberg Jews and girls were led through the streets with placards 'racial traitor' on their breasts."

"He is thought to have meant Martha Dodd, the ambassador's daughter, who was quoted in America two years ago after a visit to Nürnberg."

Clingman And Van Bebber To Grapple Tuesday

Sailor Otis Clingman will return to the wars of the mat on Tuesday at the Road Runner park. This time instead of battling a villain of the game, Clingman will be wrestling the new idol of Pampa fans, Jack Van Bebber, in the main event.

Promoter C. E. Garrison is bringing someone in to meet the wild and ferocious Jack Domar of Chicago and things are liable to happen in the semi-final when Domar meets Gorilla Pogi, the Argentine wild man.

Opening the big card will be Pat Garrison and Cliff Chambers, also scheduled to be of the tough variety. "Bull" Burch will again be the third man in the ring. Burch is working out daily with Van Bebber and Garrison and learning how to break the grapples.

The main event between Clingman and Van Bebber will be one of speed and science, fans are promised. The other two—well, anything can happen. Van Bebber showed fans his real ability and the reason for his being seven times amateur champion last week when he defeated the best of California in a grudge battle which saw Hill lose his head and go native.

Clingman, back from a vacation in the mountains, is in the best condition in years. The sailor will need all his conditional speed and cunning to offset Van Bebber's tenacious holds.

Farmers Attack Federal Officers At A Foreclosure

PLATTSBURG, Mo., Aug. 16 (P)—Sullen farmers who mauled four federal officers in forcing postponement of a foreclosure sale here, abandoned Plattsburg in the night and mattered talk of similar action at a rate ordered at Mayville, 40 miles to the north, later today.

Mayville was quiet in the dawn hours, but the hundreds of farmers in the throng that manhandled U. S. Marshal Henry Dillingham and three associates here left no doubt in their threats to be present and halt the sale, by force if necessary.

Dillingham, seeking to sell the 320-acre farm of Sam Devilbills to satisfy a $16,000 claim of a Newark, N. J., insurance company, was held captive on the courthouse lawn here for three and one half hours yesterday afternoon.

George Colbern, a federal court bailiff who accompanied Dillingham and two other officers, E. B. Fisher and Robert Pulliam, were bruised by the determined farmers who insisted they held no grudge against the government but were angry at "those modern shysters, the loan companies."

BRICKELL'S DOUBLE NOSES OUT OVERTON TEAM 9 TO 8 IN TENTH INNING

HUMBLE NINE TO PLAY HERE AGAIN TONIGHT

LEE DANAY WILL HURL GAME FOR ROAD RUNNERS

A double by Brickell against the left centerfield fence in the last half of the tenth scored Joe Berry, who had singled, to give the Pampa Road Runners a 9 to 8 win over the Humble Oilers of Overton last night at Road Runner park.

The same two teams will meet again tonight at 8:30 o'clock. Lee Daney, known in his native country as Chief Whitehorn, will be on the mound for the Road Runners, probably opposed by F. Jones, leading Overton hurler.

Tiger Joe Berry pitched sensational ball up to the ninth inning, when, with a three-run lead, he started easing up. The Oilers, noted for their ability to take advantage of every opportunity, jumped on Berry for four singles which, mixed with McLary's error, sent four runs across the plate. Big Gordon Nell, nicknamed "Little Nell" in the Denver tournament, stepped to the mound and lifted one of Relief Pitcher Black's slants over the centerfield fence to tie the score and send the game into an extra inning.

Overton went out in order in the first half of the tenth. Lyle, first Road Runner batter, whiffed on three pitched balls. Berry, determined to do his bit, singled for his third hit on a fielder's choice when McLary was caught going into third. Berry then came through with a screaming double which rattled the boards in center field and Berry crossed the plate inches ahead of the ball.

Chambers To Showers

Mr. Chambers, the lefthander who eliminated the Road Runners from the Denver tournament, stepped to the mound for the visitors. The first ball he pitched to Manager Brickell nearly tore down the center field fence and the Pampa manager perched on third base, but not for long. McLary walked. Sealing walked, and then Chambers walked right under the showers in the club house. Beach, an elongated righthander, took the mound. Nell was safe on a fielder's choice when McLary was caught going into third. Brickell scored. Patton scored Sealing with a single. Nell going to third from where he scored on a wild pitch. The next two batters fanned.

The Road Runners added two more in the second. Lyle went out and then Berry beat out an infield hit. Brickell hit one that bounced high to the second baseman and he got a hit. Berry crashed into the fielder and was out for interference. McLary was hit by a pitched ball. Sealing singled to score Brickell and Nell followed with a single, scoring McLary.

Krauss singled for Overton in the fourth and Frey lifted one over the centerfield fence for the circuit.

Thines went fast until the seventh when Karow lifted one over the center field fence. In the same inning Grover Seitz apparently put the game on ice when he hit a home run over the left centerfield fence, scoring Nell, who had singled.

Overton Leads

Overton took the lead in the ninth, the Road Runners tied it when up on Nell's home run and then went on to win in the tenth.

Nell collected a home run and two singles. Brickell connected for a triple and two singles. Berry had three singles and Seitz hit a homer and single. Frey was the distance hitter for Overton with hit a homer and a double. The other hits were well divided.

Summers and Nell combined to make a couple of sensational plays. Ollie came up with several plays that showed why he was picked on the Denver All Star team. Seitz had the only two putouts in the Road Runner outfield.

Giants Win 5-4 Decision From Cardinal Nine

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR., Associated Press Sports Writer

Whether Bill Terry's Giants stole last season's debacle by walking off with the National league pennant, they apparently have no intention of letting the rough-and-ready Cardinals take it away while they're playing each other.

Just as they rallied in St. Louis a couple of weeks ago and routed the Cards in one "crucial" series, the Giants have started to dispose of another St. Louis threat in the current meeting. By winning a 5-4 decision yesterday they prevented St. Louis from taking the lead by direct attack.

The triumph in a bitterly fought game that ended with another magnificent "beef" as Manager Frankie Frisch fanned with his bat on his shoulder and the tying run on second base in the ninth, gave the Giants a four-game lead over their challengers. The series has only two more games.

The Cards dropped back into the odd position of holding second place on the percentages while actually trailing the Cubs by a half game. Chicago moved up again by plastering an 11 to 3 defeat on the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The chief Cardinals hopes are that the Cubs will knock off the Giants and then be knocked off in turn, or that both those teams will prove weak on the road. Of the 48 remaining St. Louis games, 30 are on the home lot. The Giants' and Cubs' programs are about evenly divided.

The status of the American league race remained unchanged as the Tigers and Yankees both won handily and remained six games apart.

Detroit turned back the Senators 6-3 as Charley Gehringer, injured second sacker, left the bench to drive in the deciding run in a three-run burst in the eighth.

The Yanks held to one hit in six frames by Willis Hudlin, blasted him from the hill with a five-hit, three-run rally in the seventh to beat the Indians 3-1.

The third place Red Sox turned back the White Sox of Chicago 3-1 as homers by Cronin, Werber and Cooke decided a inconed duel between Lefty Grove and Les Tietje.

The Athletics knocked off the cellar-dwelling Browns again, 5 to 3.

Bob Brown, who had not won a game all season, turned in a two-hit shutout for the Braves and received the backing of Wally Berger's 26th homer as the Braves whitewashed the Reds 8 to 0.

The Phillies cut loose with a 19-hit assault and trimmed the Pirates 9 to 1.

500 Employees Of Phillips Co. Attend Picnic At LeFors

Five hundred employees of the Phillips Petroleum company and their families held an all-day picnic on the Saunders ranch east of LeFors yesterday. At noon the women spread a basket lunch.

The Pampa municipal band, directed by Winslow Savage, gave an enjoyable program following the lunch.

The Phillips women's playground ball team opened the athletic contest by defeating the Stanchion Tigerettes 20 to 19 in a hard-fought game.

Jack Van Beber, former Olympic wrestling champion and now an employe of the Phillips company, took a two-fall match from Pat Garrison, another Phillips grappler. In a preliminary, Andy Dowler of Pampa defeated Ike Allen of LeFors.

The Phillips baseball team then won a 7 to 5 victory from the Colton Black Cats of LeFors. Haddock was on the mound for the winners, with Pulliam behind the bat. Ables and Leggett were the battery for Colton.

The Phillips team is now tied for third place in the Two-I league, with seven wins and three losses. The team is open for an engagement on Sunday afternoon, their league game with Cargary having been won by a forfeit. Cargary withdrawing from the league with the closing down of the company gasoline plant.

Any team in this section desiring to play Phillips may get in touch with R. R. Kirkpatrick, phone 9025. A dance at the Southern club, attended by 150 couples, closed the day of celebrating. Music was by the Texas Tech orchestra.

Report Business Gains In Lines Due To Be 'Off'

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (AP)—Dun & Bradstreet in its weekly survey of business conditions issued today found that increases replaced decreases customarily for most lines at this time.

"While the advance in retail distribution was less emphatic than during the week preceding, the advantage over 1934 comparative generally was maintained or extended," the report said.

"It was in the wholesale branches that activity was most pronounced, as buyers hastened to replenish depleted inventories on a rising market, replacing long-postponed orders as delivery delays grew imminent."

It was found that the between-season influence and the severity of the heat combined to prevent sizeable enlargement in distributive totals for the week. Compared with 1934, however, average retail sales for the country were 14 to 35 per cent higher.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Aug. 16. (AP)—The stock market found a rift in the profit-taking clouds today and recoveries were the rule in a rather active session.

Rail, mine, utility, merchandise and specialty issues led the resumption of the forward push. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 1,600,000 shares.

ROGERS

to landing, then found there was no water on which to land."

Mrs. Post, the flier's widow, was told of the accident at Ponca City, Okla., to which she went a couple of days ago to avoid publicity attendant upon her husband's flight. Also at Ponca City is L. E. Gray, Post's brother-in-law, who said he believed motor difficulties caused the accident.

"I never took chances with my defective mechanical parts," he said. "I've past record and his care in making those stratosphere flights proves that. I feel confident it was 'not' trouble."

It was in the stratosphere flights that Post was most recently active. He had hoped, and made several attempts, to send his "Minnie Mae" round the world plane from the Pacific to the Atlantic coast in new record time by flying into the stratosphere and flying the entire distance at that great height. None of the attempts succeeded.

Further details of the accident were being vigorously sought today, both in Ponca City and elsewhere here and by the world of friends both victims had.

The only source of information for many hours was Sergeant Morrison, Dr. Greist, and an American Red Cross nurse, who were the only white people in the lonely Barrow region.

After stops at Point Barrow and Nome, Post intended to continue his trek to Siberia where he said he was going to "hunt tigers."

It was generally understood that Rogers planned to go along, but before they left Fairbanks yesterday the humorist said he had not definitely decided. Two days ago in Anchorage he remarked that he might spend the winter in Alaska with "sourdoughs" dined up in their cabins along the Yukon and Mackenzie rivers.

Before leaving Fairbanks Post "cracked up" in Alaska. That was when his red monoplane, the "Minnie Mae" was damaged in a forced landing near Pt. in Central Alaska, on the "un-f-the-world" flight which set the record—a record still unbeaten.

Post and Rogers had been entertained in Fairbanks for several days while their plane was being serviced. They flew in a regular transport plane to Fairbanks, where they visited the Matanuska colony near there.

The pair left Fairbanks last night but set their plane down on Hard Lake. The plane was in a bad way, lifting of dense fog in the Barrow region.

Rogers, freed from his moving picture work for a time, then flew north and joined them here on Aug. 14. He is known under an assumed name, but his identity was soon discovered and he was welcomed here.

Kids Mrs. Post
On the next day, the look test (Post) in the plane, which had by then been equipped with pontoons, and Rogers also found time for a polo workout with polo players here. He was their guest that evening and they had a number of other things that he was going to "get a polo team going on the Matanuska project" as that was about the "only thing the democrats haven't done for the colony."

These last lines, sent from Fairbanks, Alaska, follow:
"Visited our new immigrants. Now this is no time to discuss whether it will succeed or whether it won't; whether it is a really big thing or whether it is not, and to enumerate the hundreds of mistakes and confusions and rows and arguments and management in the whole thing at hand and here."

"As I see it, there is now but one problem that they are here, and that is to get 'em housed within six or eight weeks."

"Things have been a terrible mess. They are getting 'em straightened out, but even now not fast enough. There is about 700 or 800 'em. About 200 went back; also about that many workmen sent from transient camps down home (not CCC) and just lately they are using about 150 Alaskan workmen at regular jobs. But it's a just a few weeks to snow now and they have to be out of the tents, both workmen and settlers."

"There is plenty food and always has been and will be. They can always get that in, but it's houses they need right now and Colonel Hunt, in charge, realizes it."

"You know, after all, there is a lot of difference in pioneering for gold and pioneering for spinach."

"Yours, Will Rogers."

On these high altitude flights he used a landing gear fastened in such a manner that it could be detached upon taking off, to reduce the wind resistance. The plane was landed on its "belly," on a small wooden skid.

"His primary purpose, Post said, was not to break the existing speed record but to "prove my theories as to the possibilities of stratosphere flying."

"The Winnie Mae is not a racing plane," he said. "The only special equipment on it is the super-charger and radio. Its normal cruising speed at ordinary altitudes, with landing gear, is 150 miles an hour."

He returned to Fairbanks, where their plane had been serviced, and they followed their tragic flight north to Point Barrow, ending in disaster near their destination.

"Pioneering for spinach is different than pioneering for gold," said Rogers, but his other comment was favorable. "I didn't see any mosquitoes there," he said.

They returned to Fairbanks, where their plane had been serviced, and they followed their tragic flight north to Point Barrow, ending in disaster near their destination.

IDEA OF PROPERTY APPRAISAL IS ADOPTED BY LOCAL BOARDS

Every evaluation system whereby each piece of property in the city of Pampa would have a similar basis of value for taxation by county, city and school, was unanimously approved by the three equalization boards after its presentation by County Judge C. E. Carey, who invited the board members to meet with him and hear his plan.

So favorable were county commissioners that a fund to pay the county's part of the program will be named in the budget. Members of the other two boards agreed to place the idea before their respective bodies.

The plan calls for appointment of experienced appraisers by the city commission, school board and county commission. The three appraisers would be given a plat of the city showing every individual piece of property. With the owners assigned, the three men would appraise the property from every angle and then set a value for taxable purposes. It would not mean that the same percentage of value would be assessed by each body.

With every piece of property having the same taxable value, the county, city and schools could then set the percentage of value to be assessed to give them enough revenue for operation.

In explaining his plan to the boards, Judge Cary said, in part: "Under the present setup, the county may have a place valued at $2,000, the city at $2,500 and the school board at $3,000. Each pays a tax rate and the owner pays and pays. My plan would be to have each piece of property in the city valued from the standpoint of age, condition, location, re-sale value, repairs needed, and other factors. The three men might disagree on their price but reach a decision. The same method can be done with farm lands, with the county and schools working together. I favor taxing business property the same or even more than residential property, which is now carrying the burden."

If the residence property was not taxed so high, there might be more homes owned by individuals instead of so many rent houses in the city."

After a lengthy discussion of the plan, those present voted unanimously to foster the move.

The county equalization board is composed of the county judge and the commissioners, namely, Judge C. E. Carey, chairman, and Commissioners John Haggard, Tom Kirby, M. M. Newman, and Arlie Carpenter.

The city equalization board is made up of J. E. Williams, chairman, Alex Schneider and J. S. Wynne.

The school board is composed of Siler Faulkner, chairman, Earl O'Keefe and Mack Graham.

Three Branches Of M. E. Church Voted To Unite

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. (AP)—Representatives of the three leading branches of Wesleyanism today voted approval of a plan to merge the Methodist Episcopal church, the Methodist Episcopal church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church into one body.

To be effective, the plan must be ratified by the general conferences of the three churches. It will be presented to the northern and southern units of the Methodist Episcopal church next May and to the Methodist Protestant church conference in 1938.

The approved plan involved approximately 8,000,000 members more than a billion dollars in church property. The merged church would become the largest Protestant denomination in the United States.

is a memory expert clerk for a woolen manufacturer. The action centers principally about Fields' efforts to attend a wrestling match.

Fields' petty young brother-in-law steals his ticket while the comedian, in one of his famous retiring scenes, has gone to the cellar to investigate the presence of burglars in the house. His troubles begin at once, for the moment he is jailed instead of the housebreaker, to the time he gets to the fight after the boss gives him the afternoon off to attend his mother-in-law's "funeral."

In a series of hilarious events, which establish Fields as the outstanding laugh purveyor of modern times, the worm begins to turn and in a funny but strangely pathetic scene Fields walks out on his "in-law" with his daughter. From that time on his luck begins to change. The sequences where he retires for the night, appears at the breakfast table, tries to "un-park" his car, arrives at his office are priceless bits of comedy which establish his artistry even more completely than his past successes.

Beauty Of Green Island Described

HARLINGEN, Aug. 16. (AP)—Green Island, just off the coast of the lower Rio Grande Valley, has been described by Alexander Sprunt, Jr., of the National Association of Audubon societies as one of the prettiest sanctuaries under its jurisdiction. Sprunt visited the valley sanctuary, more commonly known as Bird Island, this year.

"Among other things he found black skimmers nesting on the island for the first time. It also was noticed that birds arrived earlier, departed and returned so that there will be nesting on the island probably later than usual. It is expected that birds with young will be found until September.

BYRNS CERTAIN DEMO CONGRESS WILL BE NAMED

Long Praises Davey For Political Sagacity

BY ROGER HAWTHORNE, Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Clashing predictions as to how the parties will fare in the next elections served today to keep the capital conscious of approaching campaigns.

A forecast yesterday by Rep. Bolton of Ohio, as chairman of the republican congressional campaign committee, that the G. O. P. would pick up "at least 75 or 100 house seats" in 1936 elicited chuckles from democratic leaders.

Told of Bolton's prediction, Speaker Byrns grinned. "That's a damn fool statement," he ejaculated.

"Seriously though," he said, "there is no question but what the democrats will maintain every bit of their majority. "The country not only will re-elect President Roosevelt, but will show its approval of the aims and policies of the administration by re-electing every democratic congressman."

Rep. Drewry of Virginia, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee, termed Bolton's figures "preposterous."

Meanwhile, Senator Long (D., La.) was saying a special congressional election in Ohio now would result in defeat and "repudiation" of the democratic party.

In a senate speech, he said he would congratulate Governor Davey of Ohio for his "political sagacity" in refusing to call a special election this year.

Court action has been started in an effort to force an election to fill a house vacancy caused by the death of Rep. Trux, democratic congressman-at-large.

International Sunday School Lesson

By DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic:—Martha (A Home Maker). Scripture Lesson: Luke 10:38-42; John 11:17-28. 38. Now as they went their way, he entered into a certain village; and a certain woman named Martha received him into her home.

39. And she had a sister called Mary, who also sat at the Lord's feet and heard his word. 40. But Martha was cumbered about much serving; and she came up to him, and said, Lord dost thou care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me.

41. But the Lord answered and said unto her, Martha, thou art anxious and troubled about many things: 42. But one thing is needful: for Mary hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

John 11:17. So when Jesus came he found that he had been in the tomb four days already. 18. Now Bethany was nigh unto Jerusalem, about furlongs off: 19. And many of the Jews had come to Martha and Mary, to console them concerning their brother.

20. Martha therefore when she heard that Jesus was coming, went and met him; but Mary still sat in the house. 21. Martha therefore said unto Jesus, Lord, if thou hadst been here, my brother had not died.

22. And even now I know that, whatsoever thou shalt ask of God, God will give thee. 23. Jesus saith unto her, Thy brother shall rise again. 24. Martha saith unto him, I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day: I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me, tho he die, yet shall he live:

25. And whosoever liveth and believeth on me shall never die. 26. She saith unto him, Yea, Lord; I have believed that thou art the Christ the son of God, even he that goeth into the world. 28. And when she had said this she went and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The teacher is here, and calleth thee.

Golden Text: Jesus loved Martha, and her sister, and Lazarus. John 11:5. Introduction There is only one Martha named in all the Scriptures, tho there are many different Marys. The word itself means "mistress" or "lady," and is often found in the Talmud. Martha lived with her sister Mary and her brother Lazarus in the little village of Bethany, about two miles from Jerusalem on the southeast side of the Mount of Olives, just over the top of the ridge on the road to Jericho. A careful study of all the incidents that took place in Bethany in the Lord's lifetime gives the undeniable impression that the house of Mary and Lazarus was one of comparative wealth, and that they were the outstanding people probably of their community, for Bethany is called the "Village of Mary and Martha."

Jesus in Bethany (Luke 10:38-42) The event described in Luke 10:38-42 occurred during what we are led to believe is the first visit of Jesus to this home. It may be that he knew these beloved followers of his for some time previous to this particular visit. It was in Dec. A. D. 30, about four months before the pasover and his death. From this verse, one would assume that Martha was the Mistress and probably the elder sister. There is no foundation whatever for the tradition which has been accepted by some modern writers that Martha was the widow of Simon the leper.

Martha a Busy Hostess "But Martha was cumbered about much serving." One characteristic of Martha marred a life of usefulness and love. And she came up to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? bid her therefore that she help me." In such a mood as this, Martha did the incredible thing she did—her temper. Lost her temper in attempting to please the Lord Jesus by making everything for him as convenient and restful as possible.

A Complaining Hostess (Verse 40) Excited with a multitude of cares, she rushed into the unto the Lord himself, the Guest of the home, crying out: "Dost thou not care that my sister did leave me to serve alone? Bid her therefore, that she help me." It was an explosive act of another family member before guests. Yet how many Christians are guilty of this sin! Women complain of and rebuke their husbands when guests are in the table, and men ridicule and deliberately embarrass their wives at some public gathering, or parents bring the faults of their children to the attention of some visiting friend or pastor with the children in the room.

One Thing Is Needful (Verse 42) "One thing is needful." How true that saying! The longer we live in the world, the more it will appear. The nearer we come to the grave, the more thoroughly we should assent to it. Let this little sentence be continually before the eyes of the mind. "The true Christian's fortune is the grace of God, the only portion which really deserves the name of 'good.' It is the only good thing which is substantial, satisfying, real and lasting. It is good in weakness and good in health—good in youth and in age—good in adversity and good in prosperity—good in life and good in death—good in name and good in eternity."

Sickness and Death of Lazarus (John 11:1-15) The scene opens with critical illness in the Bethany home. There was only one thing for this family to do, namely, to send word to Him who previously so honored and glorified their home, and left him of the distress through which they were passing. Strange it is to read that, when Jesus received the message of Lazarus' sickness: "He abode at that time two days in the place where he was."

"We need to remember that Lazarus was already dead when the messenger arrived to tell Jesus of the sickness, for when Jesus got to the tomb, they informed him that Lazarus was a four-day-old corpse. There was no need then for Jesus to hurry to Lazarus. He could finish the work where he was, and the miracle in Bethany would be all the greater when he arrived there."—Albert Hughes.

Know Her? She's Mrs. Townsend!

Practically everybody has seen pictures of Dr. F. E. Townsend, of old age pension fame. But few will recognize his modest, self-effacing wife, the nurse he wooed and won in a Black Hills mining town years ago. Mrs. Townsend is shown above in one of the few photographs ever taken of her.

But somebody identified with the Cub organization probably saw the possibilities of the left-handed hitting O'Dea, who undoubtedly would have solved most of the problems of, say, the Cleveland Indians and the Philadelphia Athletics.

The Indians launching the campaign with Frank Pytko and the aging Glenn Wyatt, finally had to call gray-haired Eddie Phillips from Albany. Phillips craves the big show every time a club runs completely out of catchers, and got another chance when Pytko failed to recover from a stomach ailment that bothered him last year and Walter Johnson fired Glenn Wyatt for talking too much, or something.

The AAAAAAs were so sorely pressed for a catcher this spring that Connie Mack switched Jimmy Fox to his old chores, only to send him back to first base when inferior pitching continued to take the outfit nowhere in a hurry. Young Cub Star Corcoran Throwing Fault

Hartnett gave O'Dea a nifty boost after the Cubs' No. 1 man had slid all the way to Chicago with an injured left ankle in scoring in Pittsburgh. "O'Dea should be able to handle things without trouble," remarked Hartnett. "That kid can really vlop the ball, and he's a better catcher than some people are willing to admit. He had a little difficulty with his throwing for a while, but I believe that he has corrected that. He was firing the ball too high and it would take off on him."

BUCKLERS IN CALIFORNIA FORT WORTH, Aug. 16 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buckler are spending the summer in Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Buckler's mother, Mrs. B. S. Walker of Fort Worth. Before their marriage in June, Mrs. Buckler was Miss Joe Alice Walker. After a wedding trip to Bermuda, they were here a short time before going to California for the remainder of the summer.

ALLRED TO PRAHA AUSTIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—Governor Allred said today he would attend a church celebration at Praha, Fayette county, tonight and would review national guard troops at Palacios tomorrow. Mrs. Allred planned to accompany him. To collect North American material for the American Museum of Natural History, plans have been made to use mobile laboratory units, drifting with the seasons thru various parts of the United States.

SPORT SLANTS by Pap

Interest in the little ring warriors has been practically nil this summer because the heavyweights have completely monopolized the picture. But with new faces springing into the fistie limelight fight fans are beginning to sit up and take notice of the little fellows.

This is particularly true of the lightweight division, long one of the most popular classes. In the 135-pound class Al Roth, rugged little Bronx battler, punched out a surprise victory over the highly touted Davey Ray, stablemate of Welterweight Champion Barney Ross and one of the leading challengers for the crown now held by Tony Canzoneri.

As a result of his gaining the judges' decision in most convincing fashion, Roth stepped right to the head of the parade of little men who challenge the veteran Tony's right to the lightweight championship robes. Unless the New York State Athletic commission pulls a favorite son out of thin air Roth will meet Canzoneri early in the fall.

Early Punch Gets Day Short and stocky, with the powerful back of an iron worker, the little Bronxite is a busy battler in the ring. Against Day he showed a right that packed plenty of dynamite. A few seconds after the opening gong he fainted the tall, emaciated Day into an opening and almost dropped the Chicago boy with a sizzling right and had Day in very bad shape when the gong ended the first session. Day came back but never fully recovered from the first punch he took and could not figure a way of escaping Roth's damaging right.

Both took up fighting when he knocked out amateur champion in an informal back yard sparring match. He showed some promise as a featherweight but it was not until he grew into a full-fledged lightweight that he found his full effectiveness. His victory over Leonard Del Genio, picked by Jimmy Johnston as the coming lightweight champion, started him on his way to the head of the parade of lightweight challengers.

Roth, Frankie Kilek, Cleto Locatelli, Lou Ambers and Wesley Ramsey just about comprise the field of little fellows who will fight it out for a chance at the lightweight title. Ramsey is entitled to special consideration, perhaps, on the strength of a victory scored over Tony Canzoneri in an over-weight match shortly before Tony lost his crown to Barney Ross.

Judith's Fight Talk Ross may find a bit of action in the near future now that Harry Dubinsky of Chicago has been nominated by the Illinois commission as its No. 1 challenger for the welterweight title held by Ross. There doesn't seem to be anyone else capable of arguing Ross' right to wearing the crown unless Jimmy McLarin decides he wants another chance to regain the championship.

Jack Doyle, the Irish crooner, musician, actor and fighter, has returned to the ring and done right well in his first three bouts in this country, scoring early knockout in each.

Jack came over from Ireland with no great inclination to exhibit his wares in the ring. He headed for Hollywood and dreamed of a career in the movies. And then the Killarney lad's admiring wife, Judge Allen, a former Follies beauty with a bit of experience in the movies.

Mrs. Doyle decided that her Jack was wasting his time trying to follow a movie career and decided that he would fare better by returning to the ring. She lends her moral support by sitting at ringside whenever Jack fights and gives the fans and added thrill by sending her husband off to work in the ring with a big kiss. This little stunt never fails to get a big response from the ringsters.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—A 12-cent loan on the 1935 cotton crop appeared possible today, despite reported strong opposition from the farm administration. Confronted with a statement by Senator Bankhead (D., Ala.) yesterday that a 12-cent loan would be announced by the end of this week, Secretary Wallace said an announcement would be made "in due time."

Some AAA officials admittedly were worried about the cotton loan situation, and some were known to oppose "definitely" my loan announcement at this time. When the agriculture department last week presented a total cotton crop this year of 11,798,000 bales, Secretary Wallace announced that "adequate credit facilities" would be made available for orderly marketing of the crop.

POLITICS at random

BY BYRON PRICE, Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.

President Roosevelt's projected swing to the west coast and back is expected universally to provide the chief focus of political interest during the early fall. That he will talk directly to the farmers and the western liberal is taken for granted. He also is being advised to show himself to the public as often as possible along the way, to scotch the "whispering campaign" about his health.

As part of the democratic strategy now seems to be to give Senator Long so many things to worry about in Louisiana next year that he will have no time to devote to other states—for instance Arkansas and Mississippi, where Senators Robinson and Harrison, respectively, will be running for re-election.

At least the usual amount of under-surface politics is stirring in politically-minded Indiana. Two former republican senators, James E. Watson and Arthur Robinson, are being put forward quite earnestly by their respective friends for the presidential nomination in 1936. Whatever that may mean nationally, it forecasts a determined struggle for control of the state republican organization.

G. O. P. Contributions Up.

Increased personnel and activity around the Washington headquarters of the republican national committee suggests that party contributions must be stepping up. For a long time the going was particularly hard; many of those who had money refused to contribute, unless they were satisfied the party would take the conservative side of the argument in 1936. The conviction is widespread now that such a course is assured. Some western cattlemen are disturbed over reports that the Roosevelt reciprocal tariff bargain are preparing to lay down the tariff barriers against Argentine beef. The actual situation is that Argentina has been seeking to open reciprocal negotiations but the state department, thus far, has side-stepped. The warnings from the west have not gone unnoticed in Washington. Gen. Hugh S. Johnson is reported by close friends to be still undecided whether to run for senator in the Oklahoma democratic primary next year against Senator Gore. He figures a lot of money will be spent in the primary contest, and is said to be very doubtful whether the prospect would be worth the gamble.

Hitchcock Was Right.

In spite of all the recent speculative publicity, there is no mystery about the intentions of the democratic high command with respect to Senator Borah of Idaho. The democrats plan to run a candidate against Borah next year, and if they see any real chance to beat him they will try hard to do so, just as they will try hard to beat all other republicans who did not support Mr. Roosevelt in 1932 and show no sign of supporting him in 1936. The death of Frank Hitchcock, one-time republican national chairman, recalls that he was elected the republican scout in 1932 whose reports to headquarters turned out to be correct. He sent in word early in the campaign that the entire west was lost to Hoover. Few around headquarters believed him. News comes from the midwest that the Klan is trying for another political comeback. Road signs have appeared in Ohio, saying: "Communism will not be tolerated. The Ku Klux Klan sides again." The exact destination of the expedition remains undisclosed.

Rogers Wants To 'Den Up' With Old Miners In Winter

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 16 (AP)—Will Rogers, humorist and film actor, disclosed today, he may "den up with sourdoughs" on the Yukon and McKenzie rivers this winter.

While here with Walter Post, around-the-world flier, Rogers said he intended to return to Alaska this winter and fly where he chose.

"I will start back soon to the states to make another picture," Rogers said. "But I plan to fly north to visit Alaska and the McKenzie river country this coming winter. I want to get right in with old sourdoughs den up in their cabins, for the winter. The exact destination of the expedition remains undisclosed.

It could not be learned whether Rogers and Post were nearing a packing of the ways—Rogers to return to California and Post to winter on westward across Bering Strait to Siberia and thence to Moscow.

"She's a great country, and everything will be all right if they don't let the United States take her over."

READY MADE WIFE

BY CORALIE STANTON

Chapter 23
MRS. STEELE AGAIN
 Gladys giggled. She was stirred in her facile emotion. What a funny girl Laurie was! Fancy having been married to this man before he left Australia—and never having talked about him at all. Why, he was the most alive thing she had ever come across! She had the most curious feeling herself. It was like being in a room with a bomb and never knowing when it was going off.

The telephone rang.
 Moore had a moment of curious pause for a hero. He signed to Gladys.

Answer it please! If it's a newspaper man, say I'm not here—and leave the receiver off!"

"Hello!" said Gladys light and clear but very ordinary voice. "Mr. Rex Moore? I'll see!"

"It's a lady," she said, putting down the receiver. "Mrs. Steele."

MEET! Gladys' Petaoinnrunnuuuu Rex went to the telephone with a heave of his shoulders.

"Rex—it's you! Oh, what a relief! Wanda Steele's high-pitched voice, with the little drawl, and at the moment a throb of emotion. "I've just seen on the tape-machine in the hotel that you're back. I had to ring up. I wanted to be the first one of your friends to greet you, and to say you hero!"

"Please, but that out!" Moore gave a shamefaced laugh. "I'm feeling blue because I had to leave by comrade over in France. He did just as much as I did. He's a splendid fellow."

"You're much too modest. How proud your wife must be of you! Do give her my love."

"I will when I see her. She's out

But almost at once she began to reproach him.

"Rex, how could you have sent me money? Crude bank notes—a thousand pounds! It broke my heart. Do you think you could really repay me like that? And with such cold, business-like words? I felt—I could never see you again. But when I heard you were back tonight, I was too glad—I couldn't help myself."

She was not actually crying, but she held her lace handkerchief to her eyes.

"Wanda, you must try to understand," he said. "I should have repaid you what I can. Your care and kindness—that is impossible. But the money you spent on me—that I can do. Please don't make me say it again, but if I do not repay it, I am only a beggar and waster. You took pity on me. It's not fair to me. I don't suppose that was nearly enough. You must look on it as a first installment. You must have spent a fortune on me."

Rex Moore did not know women, or he would not have said these things that made Wanda Steele hate him almost as much as she loved him.

"I don't feel I can discuss it with you," she answered, with a kind of magnificent sorrow. "I haven't the slightest idea how much money we spent. We didn't think of money, neither Ferd nor I. I gave the money you sent me the other day to a hospital. If you insist on sending more, I shall do so."

"You are unkind and unfair," he said angrily. "No woman is ever just."

She laughed miserably.

"Is a man ever truthful? How could you have kept me in the dark about your marriage—all the time you were with us in California! How unkind—never to mention that you had a wife! And she must have

WHEN CLAUDETTE DIVORCES NORMAN, SALLY BLANE MAY BECOME NEXT MRS. FOSTER

BY HUBBARD KEAVY.

HOLLYWOOD—An admission that Hollywood has been expecting for high on to six years was made by Norman Foster the other day.

He said that he expects his actress-wife, Claudette Colbert, to divorce him. And it seemed there was the implied hope that Claudette do it soon, because Norman admitted he is in love with Sally Blane and that he wants to marry her as soon as he is free.

When the Fosters came here for the movies, after appearing together in the New York-made "Young Man of Manhattan," they continued to occupy separate residences as they had in the east. They were married, they say, during the run of the play, "The Barker," and they decided then to keep their separate homes. So, soon after the marriage, Claudette went back home to her mother, who still lives with her, and Norman returned to his bachelor apartment.

Two-House Marriage.
 During their first year or two in Hollywood, Claudette and Norman were seen together occasionally at shows and the dining-out places. During that period, Claudette had a house in town and Norman lived in another on a faraway hillside. And if Norman had a particularly early studio call or an early engagement, such as the 5 a. m. yachting date he had once with Kenneth MacKenna, he spent the night in his wife's home.

Neither Claudette nor Norman would talk about their two-house arrangement, even to their friends. Interviewers were warned by her studio that if they asked Claudette about her marriage to Foster, she would simulate the clam and the conversation would end then and there. Foster gave evasive answers when questioned about Claudette.

But Hollywood Knew.
 Even after their separation became more than geographic, the Fosters never would discuss their former or present marital status. But Hollywood knew, when it saw Claudette very often in the company of Dr. Joel Pressman, a doctor squireing young ladies of the cinema, that the end had come.

The stay-up-lates insist that Dr. Pressman, an eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist, is exclusively the star's best boy friend. And they knew for a long time that Norman had more than a passing interest in Miss Blane.

And so when Foster said he intended to marry Sally as soon as Claudette divorced him, Hollywoodites were anything but startled. They just wondered how the two-house marriage has lasted as long as it has.

30 Pens Used By FDR In Signing Security Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—President Roosevelt, embarking on the government on the new deal's vast social security program, foresaw further social and economic adjustments to come.

When he signed the security bill into law Wednesday, an informal ceremony, he said it was a "cornerstone in a structure which is being built but is by no means complete."

"The bill, which the president said would apply to 30,000,000 persons, provisions for contributory old age pensions, federal-state pensions for the aged needy, a federal-state unemployment insurance system, special care for dependent children and mothers. It contains a huge tax program to raise the funds."

Legislators and high officials surrounded the president in the cabinet room as he affixed his signature. He spoke into sound cameras recording the event. A secretary told newsmen that the president used "about 30 pens" to sign the bill, so that numerous requests for souvenirs would be satisfied.

There was no definite indication today as to when the president will appoint the board of three members which will administer certain phases of the program.

Among those invited to yesterday's ceremony were Secretary Perkins, Chairman Harrison (D, Miss.) of the senate finance committee, Senator Wagner (D, N. Y.), chairman Doughton (D, M. C.) of the house ways and means committee, and Rep. Lewis (D, Md.).

The president's talk was brief.

The measure, he said, "gives at least some protection to 30,000,000 of our citizens who will reap direct benefits."

STRIKERS GO FREE

DALLAS, Aug. 16 (AP)—Three women garment workers, jailed for contempt in connection with the stripping and beating of workers who did not participate in the garment strike here, were free today. A written apology to the court and a promise to obey an injunction requiring peaceful picketing brought their release and remittance of $25 fines each.
